Truman Plans Plea for Help To All Groups

Expect Price Curbs, Repeal of Labor Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman will invite big business and labor to help him carry out his major campaign pledges, it was disclosed yesterday, but he is ready for determined action if either group fails to cooperate.

The "action" side of his plan was underscored by Sen. Alben W. Barkley (D-Ky.), the vice-president-elect. He told a press conference the administration will fulfill its pledges to repeal the Taft-Hartley act, curb high prices and enact a civil rights program.

He said further that he assumes the President will back his own civil rights program and that it will be carried out. The new congress, Barkley added, probably will pass anti-inflation legislation similar to the standby rationing and price control proposals rejected by the 80th congress.

The senator also said he expects changes in the Wagner labor relations act if the Taft-Hartley law is repealed. And he predicted that rent control will be continued after March 1.

Sen. Kenneth McKellar (D-Tenn.) said last night that he would vote to repeal the Taft-Hartley labor-management law "in accordance with the expressed will of the people."

McKellar is one of the southern Democrats who voted to override President Truman's veto of the act during the 80th congress.

Republicans publicly doubted that the act would be repealed in view of the large number of southern Democrats who voted with the GOP to override Mr. Truman's veto of the law.

McKellar's willingness to reverse himself may be the signal to other southerners to go along with the President and push a repealer through.

Administration sources revealed the President's plans shortly after his triumphal return to the White House. He met briefly with Barkley and his cabinet, but reserved discussion of the program until he goes to Key West, Fla., tomorrow for a two-week vacation. At Key West he is expected to map long-range strategy with leaders of the new congress.

Thirty-Eight Lost In Three Aircraft

SEATTLE (AP)—Thirty eight persons were listed yesterday as missing on three planes along the rugged north Pacific rim.

Combined searching operations were probably the most extensive ever carried on for missing aircraft in the Pacific Northwest-Alaska sector.

At least 40 searching planes were scanning vast areas extending thousands of square miles of land and sea between Washington state and the Bering sea. They failed to find any clues.

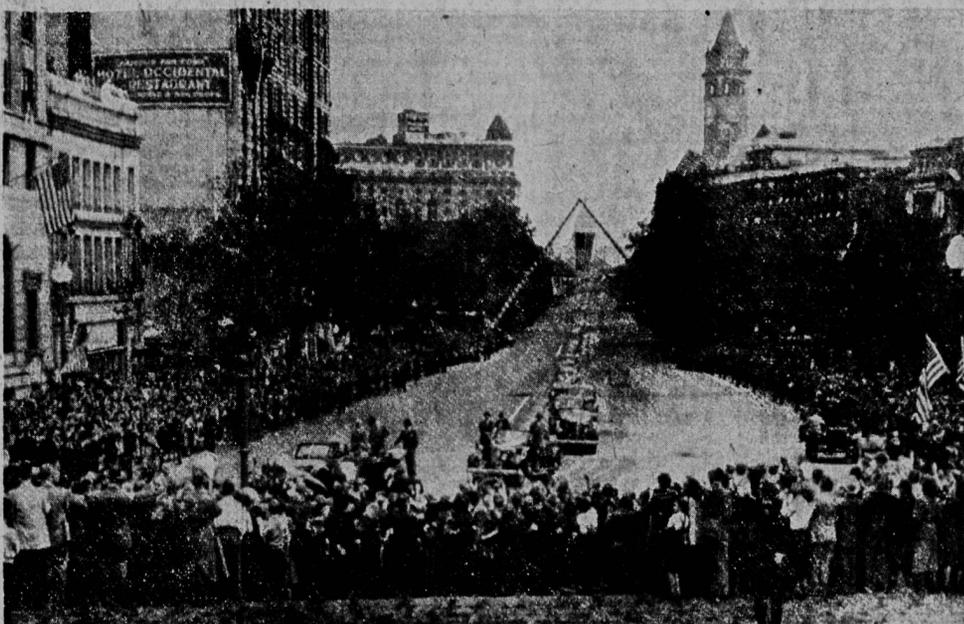

Two of the missing planes are navy craft with 21 men aboard. The other is a DC-3 transport of the Pacific Alaska Air Express on a flight from Anchorage to Seattle. A report from Anchorage, Alaska, said yesterday it carried 17 persons.

Suit Filed by Folsom Asks Truman Electors

MONTGOMERY, ALA. (AP) — Gov. James E. Folsom filed a suit in federal court yesterday to force Alabama's 11 Democratic electors to cast their votes for President Truman.

Alabama gave its popular vote to Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, States Rights candidate.

Capital Crowd Cheers Winner, Still Champ

Truman Gets Hero's Welcome

750,000 People Line Pennsylvania Avenue To Cheer the Beaming President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman, who in the past three years repeatedly has slipped in and out of town practically unnoticed, yesterday came home to a hero's welcome.

No one knows what a president thinks, of course. But surely Mr. Truman must have thought, as he rode along in the open car while thousands cheered, how times have changed. About 8,000 were at the station. Other thousands were outside. The crowds along famous Pennsylvania avenue were nine deep in some places.

Only once before has Mr. Truman had anything like it here — and then it wasn't for him. He rode down the street with President Aleman of Mexico, and the crowd had been urged to attend as a demonstration of all-American friendship.

But yesterday, ah — how different! The bands blared, the crowd, gusted at 750,000, roared, and Mr. Truman? He beamed and beamed and beamed.

For once, political big shots didn't have the best ringside seats. The Pennsylvania railroad had parked a mail car on the next track, so the best view of all was had by a couple of surprised, but pleased, railway mail clerks.

All's well that ends well, and it looks as if the forecasters are on the beam at last. It was a gloomy, misty morning, but shortly before Mr. Truman arrived, the sun came out and it turned into a fine autumn day.

Just as the weatherman said it would.

Tornadoes, Winds Kill 8, Injure 45 In Southern U.S.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Eight persons were killed and 45 others injured when small tornadoes and heavy windstorms ripped through sections of Louisiana, Mississippi, Kentucky and Georgia early yesterday and last night.

A vicious tornado smashed through Cedar town, in northwest Georgia, last night, injuring five persons, wrecking several buildings and leaving the town in darkness and confusion.

Tornadoes struck early yesterday morning at Ripley, Miss., close to the Tennessee line; near Benton, Miss., in the central area not far from Jackson; and in rural Catahoula parish, La., about 38 miles northwest of Natchez, Miss.

Violent winds also swept the central section of Kentucky causing injuries and damage. And another hard wind struck near Alexandria, La.

And in Arkansas Thursday night a small-scale twister concentrated on the municipal airport at Searcy, Ark., wrecking two hangars and demolishing nine planes. No one was hurt.

Youth Admits Brutal Slaying

Mr. Gallup, Here's Your Man!

CHARLESTON, W. VA. (AP)—President Truman was not entirely alone in believing he would be reelected.

On October 23, about 10 days before the election, West Virginia Democratic Chairman Ernest L. Bailey wrote out his forecast, sealed it in an envelope, and put it in a safe.

Opened yesterday by Campaign Chairman Emmett J. Bush, Bailey's prediction was that Truman would carry 28 states with 311 electoral votes.

The unofficial result: 28 states, 304 electoral votes.

Single Clue Leads Police To Suspect

NEW YORK (AP) — Traced through a paper matchbook cover, a handsome former salesman confessed last night he engaged in a drunken fight that caused the death of a wealthy Canadian businessman in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, police announced.

Ralph Edward Barrows, Grand Rapids, Mich., tall, dark and slender, told police he spent Thursday evening drinking with Colin Cameron MacKellar, 56, Montreal, and three male companions, according to Assistant District Attorney Harold Birnes.

Barrows, a former navy man, said he and MacKellar left the others about 2 a.m. yesterday and went to the Canadian's swank three-room suite at the Waldorf, Birnes said. There they had "several drinks", got into an argument and Barrows hit the older man, knocking him to the floor, where he left him unconscious, Birnes said.

MacKellar's body, "punched, kicked or stomped to death," was found yesterday morning in his suite. The skull was fractured and his trousers pockets and wallet had been rifled of all U.S. money.

Police would not reveal whether Barrows admitted hitting MacKellar more than once.

A murder charge will be filed against him, Birnes said.

The assistant district attorney said the former auto salesman arrived in New York Thursday and spent the afternoon watching the movie "Kiss the Blood Off My Hands." He spent the evening in taverns and met MacKellar at the Astor hotel bar about midnight, Birnes said.

Following up the one major clue found in MacKellar's suite, detectives went to a mid-Manhattan cafe whose name they found on a matchbook in the dead man's room.

Dulles Tells UN Russian Bloc America 'Intends to be Strong'

PARIS (AP)—John Foster Dulles told the Russian bloc yesterday that the United States has stopped disarming and "intends to be strong" so long as fears grip the free peoples of the world.

From the tone and manner of his speech it was apparent that a firm American policy in the United Nations assembly is shaping up quickly after last Tuesday's presidential election.

Dulles, the Republican party adviser on foreign affairs, thus indicated the election had not changed in any way the general foreign policy supported by both Republicans and Democrats.

He denounced as "vicious falsehoods" Russian charges that the United States aims for world mastery. Dulles told the UN political committee:

"Our growing national strength no doubt displeases some; but it does not, I believe, frighten any. I ask each delegate to search his own mind and come to his own conclusion as to who and what his nation fears. I shall be satisfied with a silent verdict, for I know that some fear even to express their fear."

Americans, Dulles said, make no apology for their decision to stop disarming "because our strength is not for ourselves alone." He added: "It is our purpose so to unite and strengthen the forces of freedom that they will not have to fear."

Dulles spoke in a debate on the Balkans.

Gillette, Humphrey To Attend Luncheon; Truman Asked, Too

President Truman, Senator-Elect Guy M. Gillette and Senator-Elect Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota have been invited to a Democratic victory luncheon here Friday noon, Mayor Preston Koser announced yesterday.

Both Gillette and Humphrey have accepted the invitation to the luncheon which will be held at the Iowa Union, Koser said.

The President has not yet answered the mayor's wire which was sent late yesterday afternoon. When queried on the possibility of Truman appearing, the mayor said, "After last Tuesday, you can't predict anything about the President."

The invitations also include the Iowa-Minnesota game Saturday afternoon.

The committee in charge of the luncheon includes Mayor Koser, Ed Lucas, Democratic county chairman, W. R. Hart, first district Democratic committeeman, and Jack C. White, Johnson county attorney.

The invitation from Koser to Humphrey, present mayor of Minneapolis, concluded, "After congratulating you on your victory at the polls, we will sympathize with you on Minnesota's football loss to Iowa's Hawkeyes."

The complete list of those attending the luncheon celebration has not yet been arranged.

Brussels Alliance Plans Pact Outline

PARIS (AP)—The Brussels alliance will begin next week the outline and perhaps the actual draft of a proposed North Atlantic pact with Canada and the United States, British and French sources said last night. The object is to have the treaty ready to submit to congress in January.

This development followed the disclosure that the U.S. already has re-equipped three French divisions in Germany from surplus material. The Russian-licensed press in Berlin termed this action the implementation of a new "Truman doctrine for France," a reference to American military aid for Greece and Turkey to prevent the spread of Communism.

Give Wide Powers To China General

NANKING (AP) — Generalissimo Chang Kai-Shek, in an unprecedented move, yesterday granted General Fu Tso-Yi full power over military operations in north China in an order so sweeping it makes the Nationalist commander a "virtual dictator" in the area.

A source close to Chiang told the United Press that Fu was given carte blanche in the conduct of military affairs after a dusk to midnight meeting at which the two men discussed China's critical military situation.

Today's Game Crucial for Iowa

Illinois Victor Last Six Years

By BUCK TURNBULL
Sports Editor

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. — Iowa's battle-scarred but courageous football team faces a task here this afternoon which no previous Hawkeye contingent has been able to accomplish for the last six years.

Iowa has never beaten a University of Illinois eleven coached by Ray Elliot, now in his seventh year as the Illini tutor.

The Hawks, once again in the underdog role which has marked their outings for the majority of this season, bring a team to battle against Illinois which has refused to quit, no matter how strong the odds were stacked against them.

It will be the same story this afternoon. The Fighting Illini enter the game as a one-touchdown favorite.

Illini Climbing

Illinois has come along steadily as the season has progressed, reaching a higher pitch on each successive Saturday. The Warriors throttled Purdue two weeks ago, 10-6, and waged a furious fight before falling to Michigan last Saturday, 28-20.

Dr. Eddie Anderson has been equally successful in bringing his squad along an uphill grade gradually. The Hawkeyes have been going upward for five straight Saturdays, climaxed by their last-half surge a week ago to down Wisconsin, 19-13.

Either team could very easily suffer a letdown today. But physically Iowa will not have the manpower to cope with Illinois.

Injuries will sideline two stellar members of the backfield and hinder one other. Bob Longley and Mearl Naber were both unable to make the trip while Bill Greene's services — chiefly as a defensive plug — were doubtful yesterday.

The guards have been weakened considerably by the loss of Lou Ginsberg, who did not make the trip because of a sprained ankle, and Joe Grothus' knee injury. Grothus may see only limited action.

The Illini, on the other hand, will send a healthy squad onto the gridiron today for the first time since early in the season.

On paper the game shapes up as a duel of passing quarterbacks, Illinois' Bernie Krueger and Iowa's Al DiMarco. And both teams admittedly have below par pass defenses.

Krueger, the Big Nine's passing leader, has sparked Elliot's team ever since his yeoman work against Army almost upset the Cadets one month ago.

DiMarco's best pitching assault this year came against powerful Notre Dame. A replica of his masterpiece against the Irish could very conceivably bring victory to the Hawks today.

However, both teams have shown spots of excellent running.

Iowa must place its rushing attack on inexperienced ball carriers who have shown signs of improvement week by week.

Fryaut to See Action

Anderson plans to open with Jimmy Halliburton and Ralph Doran at the offensive half.

backs but stands ready to unleash Don Fryaut, Iowa City's pride and joy, for his second big collegiate test.

Fryaut's untamed running ability broke loose with sheer savagery against Wisconsin, leading Iowa's last-half victory march.

Illinois can match this running game with speed and power of its own. Russ Steger at fullback is one of the hardest runners in the conference, with the necessary speed coming from Halfbacks Paul Patterson, Jack Pierce and Dike Eddleman and Fullback Burt Schmidt.

The passing specialists, Krueger and DiMarco, have able receivers running at their ends. Illinois' Walt Kersulis, 6-foot, 4-inch basketball forward, and Tony Klimek gather in the majority of Krueger's tosses.

DiMarco's ace retrievers, Bob McKenzie and Jack Dittmer, have been termed by Dr. Anderson as the best pair of offensive ends in the Big Nine.

Hawk Line Favored

One point in the Hawks' favor will be their rock-lined forward wall. It will be in the front line where Illinois will be put to its greatest test.

Iowa will be seeking to clinch at least a 500 Big Nine record for 1948, now having two wins and two losses with only Minnesota remaining on the conference schedule.

The Illini, battling for a decent league standing, have won only one Big Nine start while dropping three others.

Illinois leads in the all-time series with Iowa, 17 to 9. Since 1942, Elliot's first year, the Warriors have rolled up 231 points to 42 for the Hawkeyes. Yet the only shutout was the 7-0 squeeze played in Iowa City in 1946.

Driver Makes Wrong Pass at Overpass

A TRUCKDRIVER'S MISCALCULATION in an attempt to go under a railroad overpass at Mason City Friday resulted in a beating taken by a crane mounted on his truck. Workmen are starting to dismantle the boom which fell and crushed the cab. The driver leaned sideways and escaped injury.

Greats Begin Final Bowl Bids

Blue Hawks Finish Third; Defeat Winfield, 13 to 0

(Special to the Daily Iowan)
WINFIELD—Scoring twice in the final period, the U-high Blue Hawks won third place in the Eastern Iowa Hawkeye conference here last night with a 13 to 0 win over Winfield.

U-high's first touchdown came on the opening play of the fourth quarter. Injured fullback Bob Ojemann, back in the regular lineup for the first time in three weeks, fired a pass to Jack Holdeman, who lateralled to Bob Ewalt. The play covered 57 yards, going to the Winfield three.

On third down Ojemann plunged over from the one yard line. His pass to Holdeman was good, making the score 7 to 0.

For three quarters it had been a see-saw battle but after the U-high scored their first touchdown Winfield cracked. A 53-yard drive, capped by an Ojemann pass to Holdeman made it 13 to 0.

The first half saw Winfield out-gain the Blue Hawks, but the Reds never were able to get inside the enemy 20-yard marker.

U-high's victory gave them a final conference record of five wins and two losses.

A win for Winfield would have boosted them into third place, the Blue Hawks holding just a percentage margin before last night's game.

In addition to the thrill of winning the "last one" the two touchdowns win made up for a 6 to 0 loss at the hands of the Reds last year, who went through their regular schedule with only one loss.

The win last night was the final high school grid game for six U-high seniors.

Indiana Harriers Win
SOUTH BEND, IND. (AP)—Indiana won the Big State cross country meet yesterday scoring 36 points to 49 for Purdue and 67 for Notre Dame.

Dave DeWitte paced the Indiana university team which completed the four-mile Notre Dame course in 20:29.5. Rain made the going rough.

Hawklets Triumph, 19-7

Ottumwa Beat With Passes

By HOBART DUNCAN
Iowa City's Little Hawks concluded the 1948 grid campaign on a victory note last night as they captured a decisive 19-7 triumph over an outcharged Ottumwa Bulldog aggregation.

The game was played on rain saturated City High gridiron before a sparse crowd.

The Hawklets, displaying a potent aerial offensive, tallied two touchdowns on passes and amassed a total of 95 yards through the air lanes.

Iowa City scored its initial touchdown in the first quarter on Dan Dutcher's plunge from the eight, after five plays had carried the Little Hawks from their own 48-yard marker, for a 6-0 lead.

Dick Doran's conversion pass was batted down.

In the second quarter, Doran rifled a pass to Bill Fenton in the end zone from the 23-yard line to give the Little Hawks a 12-0 margin. Iowa City's plunge for the extra point was stopped by the Bulldog forward wall.

Ottumwa recovered an Iowa City fumble on the Little Hawks' 28-yard stripe in the last period. Sam Long, bulwark of the Bulldog backfield, carried the ball to the four on three charges through the reserve Iowa City line. Then Bob Moyer plunged for Ottumwa's lone tally.

Hammers passed to Burdene Traxler for the conversion, seconds before the end of the game to give the Little Hawks a 19-7 winning margin.

There have been claims that the Vikings' string of wins was broken during the war, when a team of Navy V-12 trainees played and lost under the school's banner.

But that poorly-coached club was made entirely of Navy personnel. College officials said it could not have been accepted as Missouri Valley's representative.

Last night's victory marked the 39th straight win under Coach Ashford, who took time off from his coaching to join the military during the war years.

The Vikings, under Ashford, have been winning steadily since it defeated Rockhurst to begin the string in 1941.

The team played two bowl games last year and won them both.

Taking Time Out

With Buck Turnbull

Look Out, Dr. Gallup, Predictions Again!

Congratulations to our experts! They're really getting sharp. Last week all our experts won six out of seven games, by far the best record of the season.

So we sit back and gloat this morning, for today could be another evil football day. At any rate, we're sitting pretty for the rest of this season — no matter how many we miss from here on in, George Gallup will still hold the record.

Excuse us, Mr. Gallup, but you left yourself wide open for a haymaker on your election polls. But you've got the pigskin pickers pullin' for you. We know how you feel — some days you just can't pick a winner.

Last week Leonard Raffensperger, freshman football coach, came through with the best weekly guest predictions so far this fall, six wins and one loss. Nice going, "Raff."

Our guest this week is Eric Wilson, director of the University of Iowa's sports information service. Eric has an excellent chance to pull our over-all guests' record above .500.

After last Saturday our record stands at 26 wins, 16 losses.

Iowa-Illinois — The Illini rate the favorite's role in this one, but an Iowa victory would certainly cap a marvelous season. Maybe our psychology of picking Illinois will work and turn the tables. Where there's smoke there's fire, and the Hawks could pull an upset. Final score: Illinois 21, Iowa 13.

Northwestern-Wisconsin — We'd like nothing better than to see the Badgers whip Northwestern. But with the Wildcats headed toward sunny Pasadena and the Rose bowl, they should side-step Wisconsin. Final score: Northwestern 20, Wisconsin 7.

Minnesota - Purdue — It begins to look like the Boilermakers were greatly over-rated. The Minnesota line will have it today. Final score: Minnesota 19, Purdue 6.

Michigan-Navy — Look out, Middies. Michigan wants to outdo the drubbing handed you by Notre Dame last Saturday, 41-7. You're in for a rough afternoon. Final score: Michigan 47, Navy 0.

Ohio State-Pitt — The Bucks may find trouble here but should win. Final score: Ohio State 20, Pitt 6.

Indiana-Notre Dame — Here's one sure winner for the day. Final score: Notre Dame 33, Indiana 7.

Oklahoma-Missouri — The outstanding game of the day from a close rivalry standpoint. Missouri will find the going rough in unfriendly Norman, Okla. This is strictly a toss-up. We like the home team. Final score: Oklahoma 20, Missouri 14.

Here are the experts' predictions:

Harold Yeglin (25-17)
Iowa 19, Illinois 14; Northwestern 21, Wisconsin 20; Minnesota 12, Purdue 7; Michigan 35, Navy 6; Ohio State 26, Pitt 13; Notre Dame 40, Indiana 7; Missouri 27, Oklahoma 13.

Don Sulhoff (23-19)
Iowa 14, Illinois 7; Northwestern 20, Wisconsin 13; Minnesota 21, Purdue 14; Michigan 40, Navy 7; Ohio State 27, Pitt 14; Notre Dame 35, Indiana 0; Missouri 21, Oklahoma 18.

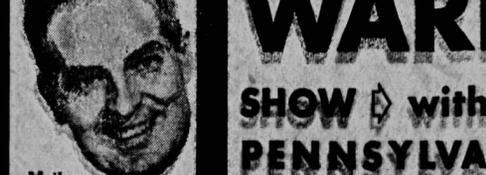

Spank Broders (20-22)
Iowa 14, Illinois 7; Northwestern 19, Wisconsin 6; Minnesota 20, Purdue 14; Michigan 40, Navy 7; Ohio State 27, Pitt 14; Notre Dame 45, Indiana 6; Oklahoma 20, Missouri 14.

Eric Wilson (20-22, guests' record)
Iowa 13, Illinois 7; Northwestern 20, Wisconsin 14; Minnesota 20, Purdue 13; Michigan 42, Navy 7; Ohio State 20, Pitt 7; Notre Dame 34, Indiana 7; Missouri 14, Oklahoma 7.

Penn, Tigers, Bears, Army Risk Records

By JOHN CHANDLER
NEW YORK (AP) — The clash of two Quaker state football titans, unbeaten Pennsylvania and oncedited Penn State, gets the nod as the No. 1 "big game" of today.

But they're all big games now, brother, for it's November — with the end of the season not far off and the lure of lucrative New Year's day bowl bids dangling high.

Most of the major college conference leaders find themselves today in alley-cat brawls in their own league backyards. The bowl scouts are in the stands, and a slip-up now will be just too bad for those entertaining visions of trips to warmer climes January 1.

While 78,000 jam Philadelphia's Franklin field to see Penn and State wrangle for the first time in six years, other thousands of fans will assemble for important battles far and wide.

The inter-sectional slate is rather slim, with Stanford's invasion of Yankee stadium for a crack at undefeated army the day's major fray in that category.

Off-flattened Navy goes into the Big Nine where Michigan plans a warm reception in an effort to get back in the No. 1 spot on the weekly Associated Press poll.

Notre Dame, which took the top spot and sent Michigan into runner-up in the poll by walloping Navy last week, should find Indiana little trouble.

Heading the backyard festivities is the clash between the Missouri Tigers and Oklahoma at Norman, Okla., for what could decide the Big Seven crown. Both have been beaten once, but not within the conference where they each have a pair of victories.

Kansas, however, might have something to say about this. The Jayhawkers have won three league games to lead the pack, and meet both Oklahoma and Missouri after taking care of Kansas State next week. Kansas, which got to the Orange Bowl last January, is idle today.

Out on the Pacific coast, California and Oregon can't afford to ease up against conference rivals in their bids for a berth in the Rose Bowl. Oregon appears to have the toughest assignment, taking on Washington at Seattle, while the Golden Bears entertain "little brother" UCLA at Berkeley.

North Carolina, the No. 3 poll team, puts up its unbeaten status against William and Mary at Chapel Hill, N.C., but is far from clinching the Southern conference crown. Tied for the top with the Tarheels is unbeaten Clemson, which has a date with Furman. Duke, unbeaten but tied in the loop, plays Wake Forest.

In the Southwest circuit, the Baylor Bears will put their title aspirations on the line against Texas at Waco. The Southern Methodist Mustangs, very much in the picture for loop honors and Cotton Bowl gravy, tackle Texas A and M at Dallas.

Georgia Tech, rolling along with a clean slate in quest of the Southeastern conference gonfalon, meets Tennessee at Atlanta. The Techmen may have ambitions for a Sugar Bowl bid. Georgia, with skirts clear in the conference but beaten by North Carolina, faces Florida.

Although Michigan appears a cinch for Big Nine honors, the Wolverines can't return to the Rose Bowl, so Northwestern's clash with Wisconsin takes on added importance. The Wildcats can sew up the Pasadena trip by taking Wisconsin and then Illinois Nov. 20.

Student Health Examinations Show Increase

YEAR	OFFICE CALLS	ROOM CALLS	HEALTH EXAMS
1945-46	25,763	387	1,686
1946-47	31,641	406	3,189
1947-48	33,821	553	3,479

Doctors at SU's Student Health services will probably give more health examinations this year than in any previous year.

Statistics made available this week by Dr. C. I. Miller, associate director, show that the 2,825 examinations conducted during September and October of this year represent an increase over the 2,561 given during Sept. and October of 1947.

This early increase may mean that health examinations for students this year will eclipse the all-time high of 3,479 hit in 1947-48.

Gastro-intestinal disturbances noticeable among 418 students last year are prevalent again, Dr. Miller said. During the past two months 136 students have reported for treatment. There are many others, Miller noted, who only phone in or do not report at all.

"We really don't know too much about these disturbances," Miller said. "But we believe we are dealing with a communicable virus infection of the gastro-intestinal system."

The numbers of office calls, room calls and health examinations for university students increased in 1947-48, according to the 18th annual report of the university department of health prepared by Dr. M.F. Barnes, director, and Dr. Miller.

The report for the year ending June 30, 1948, shows that the increase was not caused by an epidemic but was due in part to the increased enrollment at SU.

There were 33,821 office calls and consultations for students and nurses last year, 553 room calls for students and 3,479 health examinations for students. The numbers of office calls, room calls and health examinations for 1946-47 were 31,641, 406, and 3,189 respectively. In 1945-46 they stood at 25,763, 387, and 1,686.

Following a nation-wide trend there was very little influenza at the university last year. Since World War II, the report shows, malaria has become less frequent.

Mumps, usually infrequent among college students, increased here at the university last year. It is still too early to tell if mumps will be prevalent this year, Miller said.

No syphilis cases were discovered last year in 3,384 routine blood tests. Two cases were diagnosed in early stages, however by other means. The report notes that mental problems in 1947-48 of both married and single students increased over the previous year.

The total of office calls by students thus far this year has been under that for September and October of last year.

Since September, 7,329 students have made office calls at Student Health. Last year this time the figure stood at 7,510.

There have been 132 house calls by Student Health this year, an increase over the 92 listed this time last year.

Mabie Lists Seven Plays For Theater

The complete schedule of plays for the university theater's community series was announced yesterday by E. C. Mabie, director of the theater.

The plays for this season will be "Life with Father" by Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse, Nov. 10 to 20; "Beggars on Horseback" by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly, Dec. 3 to 14; "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder, Jan. 7 to 18; Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing" Feb. 18 to March 1.

March 9 to 19 the National Theater conference touring company will present either "The Circle" by Somerset Maugham, or "Berkley Square" by John Galsworthy. The company is made up of students from the Universities of Indiana, Illinois, Swarthmore, DePaul and Baylor.

These students are encouraged by the Theater conference to continue their graduate studies in the theater and at the same time to go on tour for six or nine months of the year.

"Lute Song," adapted by Will Irwin and Sidney Howard from the famous Chinese play "Pi-Pa-Ki," and "The Patriots" by Sidney Kingsley, will complete the season in April and May.

I Dream I Dwell in Marble Halls!

Happily Facing the Bleak Future

The Chinese field general retreating southward, the red-faced UN diplomat in Paris, the military planners of the western European union—these cold war warriors now know where the U.S. foreign policy stands.

Four days after the U.S. elections, the stop-communism planners are working at top speed. Let's consider the western union military planner.

He had looked to a Dewey administration to take up the bipartisan ball. Senator Gurney, GOP head of the armed services committee, had just returned from Europe.

There he promised in glowing terms American willingness to back up the western military alliance with peacetime lend-lease. Gurney was going to introduce the bill personally in congress.

The term north Atlantic alliance was coined overnight to inspire all—especially the U.S. congress. Things were looking bright.

Now that the ballots are counted, our European military planner doesn't have a Dewey administration coming up. He doesn't have Senator Gurney leading the armed services committee in the next congress.

But it doesn't matter. It is, after all, the Truman doctrine that is being applied and broadened. So our European friend feels that he has his bearings.

He and his other Brussels pact buddies have called a meeting for next week to outline or even draft the bold north Atlantic alliance.

The treaty must be ready to present to the U.S. congress when it meets next January. Mr. Truman and his working majority should do the rest.

Already the unofficial word in Europe has it that Mr. Truman is planning on full-scale conference between the Brussels pact nations and the U.S. and Canada in Washington next month.

Further proof comes from the fact—just made public—that the U.S. already has re-equipped three French divisions in Germany from surplus material.

So the European military planner faces the bleak future happily. He can optimistically map out the cold war. None of his friends is throwing in the towel.

Not with the Berlin dispute still stalemated. Not with Russia preparing to kill atomic-control proposals when they reach the security council veto-land. Not when China is collapsing.

The European planner, the red-faced UN diplomat and the Chinese general can now forget about the U.S. elections . . . and happily face the bleak future.

What's Being Said —

What education should do for success in a world of crisis was listed by Dr. W. Norwood, Indiana educator, to a Des Moines teacher group as "Above all, I submit that any educational system should produce understanding in the next generation!"

"Our strength is not for us alone"—John Foster Dulles on America's halting her disarmament.

"We are not out here to take part in the Chinese civil war. We are here to protect our nationals"—Commander of the U. S. west Pacific fleet after announcement that military personnel would stay in China.

"The story is probably as nonsensical as it sounds. I know nothing about it"—Aubrey Eban, Israeli representative, on the reports that the Jewish state had been getting arms and military supplies over a secret aerial route from Czechoslovakia.

The Presidential tour of triumph back to Washington was greeted by signs on every stop—sample: "Truman Gallup-ed to Victory"; and on the front of the Washington Post was spread: "Welcome home from the crowd eaters."

Scorning at the predictions that a Truman victory means a scrapped Taft-Hartley law, co-author Fred Hartley insisted that a repeal attempt would meet a quick rebuff—"The Taft-Hartley law wasn't the only issue in the campaign, and most of the congressmen who voted for it not once but three times have been sent back to Washington." Iowans, who sent eight such congressmen back, should know what he means.

After denying any definite date for quitting, Secretary of State Marshall puts it this way: "I have on numerous occasions expressed a very sincere desire to retire from public service."

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT FDR Tradition Has a People...

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

You look at the figures, and you can't believe them. Anybody who says merely that this election is the upset of the century is guilty of almost affected understatement. For the upset is important, not in itself, but because it marks a re-weaving of the very fabric and texture of our political life.

I am not going to try an extended analysis now, because I have a feeling that perhaps we won't be able to integrate our thinking about this election for maybe eight or ten years. But there are some notes that should be put down.

ITEM: Every pundit in the country is now going to tell Mr. Truman just what the election means, how he won it, what he must do in consequence of it, etc. But obviously Mr. Truman has a right, for a limited time at least, to look almost anybody of this sort in the eye, and to murmur: "Advice from you I plainly do not need."

ITEM: The election marks a fundamental change in relations between the President and Congress. The curious situation which existed during Roosevelt's last seven years, in which while he was being triumphantly re-elected and re-elected, he found the people steadily giving him congresses which hated and fought him, has now been ended.

From now on there must be a reasonable relationship between the policies of the executive and the policies of the legislature. The attention of the people, which had been focused almost exclusively on the White House because of Roosevelt's personal importance, has now widened and spread out to include congress.

The attack which Mr. Truman's political instinct told him to make on the eightieth congress was not merely an ad hoc election venture; it was of historical significance. The hoary and vexing problem of how to maintain good relations between President and congress is going to be solved by the simple means of insuring that both of them are of approximately the same mind on the national policy level.

This very uncomplicated answer has not occurred to most of the experts who have been tinkering and figuring in this field, but it is the kind of plain, good answer which does occur to the people as a whole, once their attention is focused and aroused. One of the things that has happened in this election is that Congress has begun to be transformed into a truly national body, instead of a grouping of people who have won local popularity contests.

ITEM: The great liberal middle in American life has become conscious of itself as a political force, and has begun to live a life of its own. It will continue to live alone and like it. It will not make terms with any extreme opinion, but will insist that the extremes make terms with it. It has discovered itself, in the same moment in which we have discovered it.

ITEM: The people have proved their existence and demonstrated their reality. To those who rejoiced when Roosevelt died, the news must be broken that they made merry too soon. Roosevelt taught them to listen to everybody and to vote for themselves, and they learned the lesson. From this election we learn that whereas the people once used to have a Roosevelt, the Roosevelt tradition now has a people.

Editorial Photo Report — Labor Finds Itself On Winning Team

Analysts looking back to labor's part in the 1948 election campaign will have to weigh the significance of the following facts:

The Taft-Hartley act passed by a Republican-dominated congress helped unite organized labor politically. During the first year of the act's life, organized labor swelled its ranks and its treasuries.

To avoid or fight provisions of the Taft-Hartley act, labor raised voluntary campaign funds instead of levying them and played politics in its newspapers after winning a court battle to do so.

The Democratic party came out for repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and appointed a friend of labor, Maurice J. Tobin, as secretary of labor in the heat of the campaign.

Not giving Mr. Truman much of a chance for election, labor turned upon the congressmen who voted for the Taft act. They ousted 51 house members and at least six GOP senators who voted for it.

Organized labor today must assimilate the triumph it helped win. Ideas on the Progressive party or a new labor party must be revamped. Labor finds itself on the winning team once more.

Campus Parade (a magazine on sale at newsstands for college students) certainly said some nice things about our institution in their October issue. They liked us so well that an aerial picture of the stadium, University hospitals, fieldhouse and a large portion of the campus was used for the cover.

It must be common knowledge by this time that the class of '48 will go down in university history as the bell ringiest group ever graduated. A master bell ringer (electric) has been installed in Old Capitol, and now the problem of what to do with the outmoded rope arises.

I was on my way over to Old Capitol to see about just that matter when I ran into Ed O'Rourke, an old buddy who is an Irish setter.

It was raining and Ed was huddled in the doorway. You have to know Ed to understand him. He's getting along in years and his age is beginning to tell on him. If you want to know anything about the campus, though, just ask Ed.

I didn't see Ed until after I had the door about halfway open, squeezing him to some extent. The voice came from behind the door. "Get in or get out, but make up your mind. You're pinching my tail, knucklehead."

Then he saw who it was and said, "Oh, it's you. Why don't you clean those atrocious spectacles?" I tried to apologize, but that was the wrong thing. Ed was set on being indignant, and once he's set there's no changing him.

He got it out of his system and finally came around to being a little more friendly. We hadn't seen each other for several weeks, so I asked him where he'd been keeping himself. It turned out he'd been sitting up with a sick friend.

The friend is a young Dalmatian with black spots. Maybe you've seen him at football games. It was last week's game with Wisconsin which put Cal in the sick bed. "If I've told that fool once, I've told him a thousand times," Ed muttered, "to sit down and watch the game and not go cavorting about the field like a pup."

After agreeing with Ed, I gradually tried to work it out of him what the Dalmatian's illness was.

"He ate too many peanuts to begin with," Ed complained. "Just eating peanuts is bad enough, but Cal is always in such a hurry that he won't bother with the husks. He eats 'em husk and all."

"After that he went out on that wet field and ran around with a stray rat terrier, making an idiot of himself, and getting the referees all upset."

I agreed that was rather foolish, and tried to change the subject to the outmoded bell rope, but Ed would have none of it. He was off on one of his tirades.

Ed lowered his voice to a confidential tone and asked, "Did you see him at half-time?" I admitted that I hadn't and the old canine went on, "Well, I wish you had. It was perfectly disgraceful. If he wasn't a dog I'd disown him. When the Highlanders came on the field, Cal ran right out with them, wagging his tail in time with the bagpipes."

"He always does that, so I ignored him, but when Bill Adamson and his handsome little son started playing so well, I looked down the field and there was Cal trying to dance the Bolero with that little snip of a rat terrier!"

At the risk of hurting his feelings I told Ed that I hadn't managed to swing Ed away from Cal's foolishness, and asked him if he knew any of the fathers who were being honored that day. He replied, "Know any of them? I was one myself. Didn't you see me stand up when they asked us to?"

He let the subject drop there, and asked me what I was doing at Old Capitol. I told him about the rope question and he replied, "Cut the rope down and use it to hold back the crowd meeting the team when it returns from Illinois, of course."

With that he walked off and left me standing there. It does sound like a good idea when you think about it.

WALTER REUTHER, Auto Workers president, has led agitation for a labor party to be formed now that 1948 election is over. Most labor leaders consider his views too socialist. Labor has no reason to leave the Democratic party at this time.

WILLIAM GREEN, AFL president, threw his weight against Taft-Hartley congressmen and his moral support to Mr. Truman. He says he will bring up labor party proposal at AFL convention this month. Election results may change his mind.

Israel's Weizmann Says — Palestine War Virtually Over

REHOVOTH, ISRAEL (UP) — Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of new-born Israel, said yesterday that recent events in the Negev and Galilee areas had virtually ended the war in Palestine.

"Now that the fighting is practically at an end," he told the United Press, "we must make haste with peace plans. Israel will become a big country — not geographically — but through development of cultural values."

In both the Negev desert sector in the south and the Galilee area in the north, the Israel army scored big victories before the latest cease fire went into effect last Saturday.

During the interview, he deplored the suggestion in the United Nations of sanctions against Israel until she gave up the sectors she had just won. He indicated that his country would look toward India and the east. He disclosed that he had invited numerous leading American Jews to visit Israel.

Outlining Israel's future, the 74-year-old president said the nation's first aim was peace and its second, work.

Interviewed in his private office here, Weizmann looked physically fit and well-recovered from a recent operation which restored his eyesight.

Strong Wind-Fanned Fire Raging in South Carolina
LOS ANGELES (UP) — Fire fighters brought one roaring southern California canyon blaze under control last night but another still raged, threatening several populated areas.

The brush fires, fanned by 80 to 60 miles an hour winds have raced over 19,000 acres, destroying or damaging 100 buildings.

One fire which cut a flaming swath through Topanga Canyon, woodland retreat above Santa Monica, had been checked. County fire officials said that it was now on a "patrol basis."

The other, in Santa Ana canyon encircling Irvine park and threatening two residential suburbs, was still out of control. But forecasters said a steady wind was holding the flames in the 15,000 acres where "all the damage has been done that can be done."

Local Group Wires Wallace

The Johnson county Progressive party committee Thursday wired their congratulations to Candidates Henry Wallace and Glen Taylor for aiding "the triumph of liberalism" in Tuesday's election.

Although the Progressive ticket failed to win any electoral votes, local Progressives felt that Wallace and Taylor clarified the issue of the campaign and thus were in part responsible for the victory of New Deal "progressive" ideals in domestic policy.

The telegram to Wallace read, "The Progressive party of Iowa City congratulates you on making clear that the American people still demand the New Deal in domestic policy. A continuation of your vigorous leadership of progressives and liberals in all parties must now bring about a similar re-direction in foreign policy. This is your victory."

To Taylor, the group sent its "heartiest congratulations" for his "great part in the triumph of liberalism."

International Debate Draws 1,000 People

"Private enterprise lays itself wide open to boom and slump," a British student declared.

"Planned economy undermines the production incentive of both labor and management," an Iowa student retorted.

Such were the conflicting arguments tossed at an audience of 1,000 who heard SUI's 21st international debate last night in Macbride auditorium.

Anthony J. Cox, Bristol university, and Reginald Galer, Birmingham university, defended the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved: that modern society enjoys the greatest benefits under a planned economy," against Herman Cohen and Kenneth Thompson of SUI.

Opening for the affirmative, Galer asserted that the collapse of the economy of the U.S. would mean greater hardship than in a planned economy.

"If there was no planned economy in Britain we should return to the boom-bust cycle, so vicious in its extremes that it would be disastrous to us as a nation and as an empire," the Birmingham student said.

Thompson, speaking first for Iowa, asserted that the "all-too-visible hand of government should not govern our entire lives."

He charged that planned economy undermines production incentive and that central planning boards are ineffective in trying to rule planned economy.

"Planning becomes all pervasive and affects everyone," Thompson said. "The techniques of planned economy destroy the very admirable goals our opponents set up as reasons for planned economy."

Galer's debating mate, Cox, defended planned economy on the basis of three reasons. He said it makes the best possible use of resources, assures better distribution of consumer goods, and helps prevent the booms and slumps which characterize capitalistic enterprise.

Cox emphasized that planned economy in Britain is a government of a "free people."

"If we don't like the government we can throw it out," he said. "If it goes too far it will correspondingly lose support."

In retaliation Cohen charged that planned economy is incompatible with political freedom.

"Planned economy demands the unanimous obedience of all people to its program," he said.

Voting on the merits of the question not the debate, the audience after the debate cast 297 votes for planned economy and 263 votes against planned economy.

Marcus Speaks on Judaism, Hellenism

You can not compare two cultures or civilizations by abstract ideas, you can only draw parallels and differences, Prof. Ralph Marcus, of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago, said last night at a forum at the Hillel foundation.

Marcus spoke to an audience of about 200 on "Judaism and Hellenism: In the World of Philosophy and Art" in the first of a series of Friday night forums on "The Intellectual Pilgrimage of Judaism." He stated many of the cultural differences of the Jewish and Greek civilizations that tended to separate them.

One of the greatest differences between the two civilizations, Marcus said, was the conception of the Greek gods and the Hebrew god. The difference of deity conception led to a varied association between the two religious civilizations.

Law School Dance Features Meardon

The SUI law students' annual Barristers' Ball will feature Bill Meardon's band Friday night at the Iowa Union. The dance will begin at 9 p.m., Earl Hoover, member of the Law School association's social committee, announced yesterday.

The dance will be informal and there is no admission charge to law students.

Prof. Daykin to Speak at Oklahoma University

Prof. Walter L. Daykin of the college of commerce will make "an analysis of selection and placement techniques" Tuesday at the University of Oklahoma, Norman, Oklahoma.

Spilled Ballots

Bonus, Heavy Voting Causes Overflow

Those long pieces of paper which carried the Democrats back into the center of the political stage Tuesday — the ballots — are spilling all over the Johnson county auditor's office.

A brown box, about the size of a stenographer's desk, in the past held the ballots after election until it was apparent that none of the elections was going to be contested.

Not so this year.

The record turnout of voters, numbering about 16,000 in this county, would fill at least two brown boxes, according to William L. Kanak, assistant county auditor.

The overflow of ballots is locked in the auditor's vault where they will remain "probably until the primaries next spring," Kanak said. The law stipulates that the votes be held at least six months, allowing time for an unsuccessful candidate to contest the count.

If the ballots are not recounted, they are taken behind the courthouse and burned in the presence of a member of each major political party.

Security measures, in the form of padlocks, are sprinkled through out the vault and the box itself.

"We can't let any of these ballots get away from us," Kanak explained.

The soldier's bonus vote accounted for more space used up by the bulk of ballots, Kanak said.

As soon as the tabulation of the ballots is reached, precinct captains bring the votes into the auditor's office. The last of the votes arrived at the courthouse at 4 p.m. Wednesday from precinct 2 of ward 2.

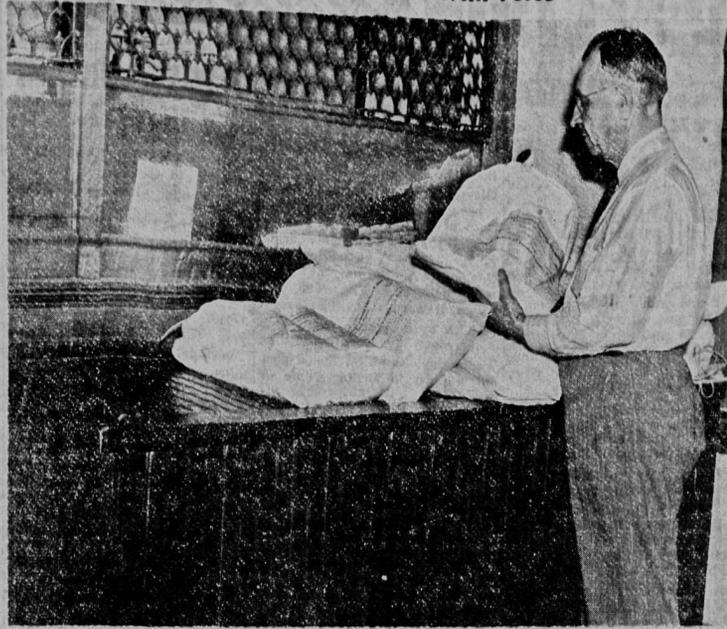

Tailfeathers to Make Bonfire at Pep Rally

Boxes and cardboard cartons are being recruited for a big bonfire Friday before the Iowa-Minnesota game here Nov. 13, Dean Crawford, Tailfeathers president, said yesterday.

Members of Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary service fraternity, this week are asking Iowa City business establishments to save cartons and boxes which will be taken Friday to the parking lot south of the Iowa Union.

Other plans for the rally are being made by the Tailfeathers pep rally committee, Crawford said.

Ballot Box Overflows With Votes

— A SIGHT TO CAUSE ALL DEMOCRATS TO JUMP WITH JOY is the pile of ballot bags viewed by William L. Kanak, assistant county auditor. Before Tuesday's election the box on which the bags rest could hold Johnson county's votes. However, the record-breaking number of voters caused the ballot bags to overflow into the office's vault and atop the box.

and garage at 820 Rider street. Hubert Miller is the contractor for this work.

The other permit was issued to William T. Cannon to build a $250 garage at 1822 H Street.
