A Paul Bunyan Job —

LOS ANGELES' candidate for the nation's tallest Christmas tree (above) was erected yesterday in Pershing square, where palm trees provide a semi-tropical contrast. The evergreen measures 95 feet from ground to tip, not including the star. This is five feet more than the tree to be erected in New York City's Rockefeller Center but three feet less than the one Redding, Calif., plans to put up.

Truman, Forrestal in Defense Plan Huddle

KEY WEST (AP) — President Truman and Secretary of Defense Forrestal went into a 45-minute huddle yesterday on diplomatic and defense problems but postponed a discussion of the crisis facing the Chinese Nationalist government.

The defense secretary, fresh from an inspection of the European peace fronts, submitted a ten-page memorandum and reported orally to the President on his observations of the peace outlook in Europe.

No Resignation Talk

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the Chinese situation did not come up and that there was no discussion of Forrestal's pending resignation which Forrestal has said would become effective at the "will of the President."

Forrestal flew here for the conference and returned to Washington in the afternoon.

Major Review Monday

The Chief Executive's conference with the defense secretary is preliminary to a major review of the entire outlook for peace to be held at the White House Monday. He is flying back to Washington Sunday to await this parley with Secretary of State Marshall and W. Averell Harriman, roving ECA ambassador.

The President, meanwhile, emphasized the continuing nature of this nation's bi-partisan foreign policy.

Dulles in Charge

He designated John Foster Dulles, foreign policy advisor to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, his Republican opponent in the recent presidential campaign, as acting chairman of the United States UN delegation during the absence of Secretary Marshall.

The President also appointed Benjamin V. Cohen, former state department counselor, as United States delegate to the general assembly to replace Warren Austin, who returned home temporarily because of illness. Dean Rusk, a state department official, was appointed to Cohen's place as alternate delegate.

Find Nurse's Body After Long Search

OSSEPEE, N.H. (AP) — Ruth Eisenberg, 22, missing Newark, N.J., nurse, was slain struggling with a sex fiend who jammed her silk panties down her throat and threw her body in a lonely foxhole grave, a medical examiner indicated last night.

Medical referee Francis Dube said the girl was suffocated by the wadded silk and her skull crushed in a wild battle in summertime woods "three to four months ago."

Ruth vanished last July 20, after leaving a Newtown, Conn., home where she was employed. Police said they hold no clues to her slayer.

Two Bandits Rob Keokuk Loan Firm

KEOKUK (AP) — Two young men armed with revolvers held up the Public Loan association here late yesterday and escaped with $2,100.

The amount of money taken was disclosed by Chief of Police Louis Atkins, after checking with Kenneth Kallman, who was in charge of the loan office at the time of the holdup.

Midwest Gets Snow Blanket; Expected Here

Although winter doesn't arrive officially for over a month, Iowa City may get a little "winterization" today, according to the weather bureau.

The rain, which began yesterday afternoon as a slight drizzle, will change to snow today—if the weather bureau is correct. Heavy snow was predicted for the north-west part of the state last night and it is generally moving this way.

Tomorrow the weather bureau forecasts clearing and cold and Sunday will be warmer with rain or snow late in the day.

Iowa City and the rest of south-eastern Iowa was surrounded by snow storms last night. One storm, centered in Kansas, passed south of Iowa last night, according to The Associated Press.

The snow today should be light in this section of the state but motorists, hunters and stockmen were warned that special precautions should be taken.

Temperatures did not fall in Iowa yesterday but the weather bureau said they will fall over the entire state today. Temperatures in the southeast are expected to go below 36 degrees today.

Snow and sleet storms driven by high winds raged from Texas to Minnesota last night with blizzard conditions isolating many towns.

Cold air masses sweeping down from the Rockies spread snow up to a foot deep over eastern Colorado, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and parts of New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle.

The weather bureau at Chicago said the storm in the central part of the country was almost a true blizzard, lacking only the severe drop in temperature to be called a blizzard.

The only part of the country to escape the storms was the east where temperatures yesterday were reported as normal.

Maritimers' Tieup Idles 143,000 Men

NEW YORK (AP) — The maritime strikes that have sealed off this country's major ports from the rest of the world have idled 143,000 workers and 647 ships and are costing the nation's economy almost $50-million a day, a survey revealed yesterday.

There was slim hope that the strike of dock workers on the east and west coasts would end this week, despite efforts of federal mediators.

The only bright spot in the strike picture was the statement by a high-ranking union official that the tieup could be "settled in a minute if the companies want to go to arbitration."

Nationalist Victory Proclaimed In Crucial Battle for Suchow

NANKING (AP) — A complete government victory was proclaimed yesterday the "fateful" battle of Suchow. Masses of Chinese Communists were reported surrendering or retreating after suffering 130,000 casualties.

Maj. Gen. Chang Liu-Shih, military spokesman, asserted that east and south of the big base had been broken into small bands and were grounding arms. He listed government casualties at 40,000 men.

(The Communists radio, for the first time since the battle broke, made no new claims of victory. As heard by the Associated Press at San Francisco, it was content with reshaping events of three days ago.)

General Chang told his news conference that "the battle for Suchow can be considered as concluded," but added: "What the Communists will do now is a subject of conjecture."

Speaking to the American club of Paris, Dulles said Americans want a strong and unified Europe capable of standing up for itself. He denounced as "ignoble" any charge that the United States wants to use the continent merely as a base for achieving world mastery.

A Fireman Did It with His Little Hatchet

(AP Wirephoto)

ALL BURNED UP, Des Moines fireman P. R. Wallace almost did too good a job of clearing off his lot yesterday. He had chopped down 11 trees on his lot and they fell the right way. The 12th one, however, got off its course with the above result. Wallace and a neighbor had worked from 6 p.m. to midnight Wednesday cutting the trunk of the 65-foot cottonwood when the tree fell on his house, smashed through the roof and bowed out two walls. Mrs. Wallace had been called from the house minutes before the tree fell. No windows were broken.

Labor Act Repeal Predicted by Long

CINCINNATI (AP) — Senator-elect Russell B. Long, son of the late Huey Long of Louisiana, told the AFL yesterday a lot of congressmen who supported the Taft-Hartley act will vote for its repeal.

"It is my hope that by the time congress is in session one month, we will have taken that law off the statute books," Long said.

He spoke after Daniel J. Tobin, head of the Teamsters, handed AFL President William Green a check for $62,500 as his union's share in the political league's program for the next 14 months.

Little 'Tom Edison' Blasted from Pants

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Less than an hour after he told his teacher he wants to be a chemist when he grows up, a 13-year-old boy blew off his pants and the cellar door of his home.

Young Larry Rose escaped with slight burns of his legs and arm in the explosion that resulted from his efforts to make a rocket.

The family residence did not get off so easily. The cellar door was blasted off, a back window shattered and a neighbor's garage window blown out.

CBS Makes Play For Benny Talent

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting system last night appeared to be all set to take Jack Benny away from the National Broadcasting company in a multimillion dollar deal.

And the radio comedian was all set to get a basketful of cash and a big tax saving in a transaction under which he would "sell" his services as a business to the network on a lifetime basis. Trade circles estimated the amount at close to $4-million, but a source close to the negotiations called the figure too high.

Just one week ago, NBC, over whose network Benny now broadcasts for $25,000 a week, was reported to have a similar deal with Benny practically sewed up. CBS said then it had dropped out of the battle of dollars for Benny.

CIO Sees Little Chance For Reunion with AFL

PORTLAND, ORE. (AP) — Top level CIO officials shrugged off the new AFL peace proposal last night and made it clear that they saw little hope for an early reunion of the labor movement.

While formal action, if any, on the labor unity problem must await the CIO convention next week, CIO leaders were not expecting any solution to the issues which split the labor movement into the AFL and CIO 13 years ago.

Short-Change Artists Victimize Four Local Theater Cashiers

Several local theater officials yesterday said they were cheated out of cash Wednesday night when two short-change artists tricked cashiers into giving them extra change on ticket purchases.

A cashier at one of the theaters said she had become confused into giving the pair an extra ten dollars. The shuffle of bills be-back the twenty," he said. "You don't want that large a bill anyway." The cashier then gave him the $20 bill for the money he handed her.

The two men left before the cashier realized she had given them $10 too much.

When police were notified, they called the other theaters to warn them but the short-change artists had already been to all but one of the Iowa City theaters.

The manager of one theater later displayed a letter from the district manager's office which was sent out this summer warning cashiers of short-change operators.

The cashier described one of the men as short, dark complexioned, dark haired and wearing a jacket and a brown suit. The other was tall and blonde. He wore a blue striped suit and was hatless.

Britain Seeks To Cut Israel

PARIS (AP) — Britain asked the United Nations yesterday to repartition Palestine and reduce the size of Israel by three-fifths.

The British submitted to the general assembly's political committee a draft resolution calling for solution of the Holy Land problem on the basis of the plan of the late mediator, Count Folke Bernadotte.

It would reverse the original UN partition decision of last Nov. 29 by giving western Galilee to Israel and assigning the Negev desert in southern Palestine to the Arabs.

Israel opposes giving up the Negev which it hopes by modern farming methods and irrigation to make habitable for thousands of Jewish immigrants.

The original partition plan gave the Jewish state an area of 5,579 square miles. Bernadotte's plan would reduce its size to 2,124 square miles.

Meanwhile, the Israeli government said it welcomed the action of the security council two days ago in calling for an armistice as a bridge for a Palestine peace. Israel urged the UN to name the time and place the Israelis could meet representatives of the Arab states "to begin negotiations for a permanent peace."

Bunche Asks Talks

Only last night in Paris the acting Palestine mediator, Dr. Ralph Bunche, asked Israel and the seven Arab states to begin negotiations for an armistice to replace the present holy land truce.

UN officials said the UN had not yet been advised of the Israeli decision against withdrawing from the Negev.

The Israeli position will have to be studied by Dr. Bunche before he makes any further recommendations.

U.S. Consulted

A British spokesman declared the United States delegation was consulted "on an official level" during drafting of the resolution calling for a Palestine settlement on the basis of the Bernadotte report. The spokesman said the British were hopeful the proposal will receive American support.

An American informant said the U.S. delegation will make a preliminary statement on Palestine at the next meeting of the assembly's political committee.

The committee had been scheduled to meet today, but the meeting was postponed last night. No reason was given.

Sergeant on Trial Hears Own Voice Deny Murder Guilt

MARTINEZ, CALIF. (AP) — An airforce sergeant who said he "must have killed" his wife, yesterday heard a recording of his own voice tell an entirely different story under the influence of a "truth serum."

Kenneth Long, 26, on trial for the murder of his wife, listened while the court-admitted wire recording of his voice accused another man of the slaying.

Yesterday, he testified he "couldn't remember" what happened June 27 when his wife, Mrs. Barbara Jean Long, 22, was killed with a knife in their Richmond apartment.

"From the looks of things I guess I must have done it," he said.

Defense Attorney George T. Davis did not place Long on the stand yesterday but asked and received permission from Superior Judge Hugh Donovan to introduce the wire recording, taken last Oct. 30 while Long was under the influence of sodium pentothal.

After the recording was played, Judge Donovan recessed court and ordered the sheriff to begin an immediate search for a former sailor who disappeared from Richmond a few days after the slaying and is believed to be in the north-west now.

In the recording, Long said he stood silent with horror as another man stabbed his wife.

Dr. Meyer A. Zeligs, a member of the University of California medical faculty said he used the drug on Long because he found him to be the "typically passive, submissive type," to whom murder is alien.

Firemen Dry-Run As Girls Wonder

False alarm girls. When firemen projected their new 85-foot extension ladder to the top of Currier hall yesterday morning, they weren't looking for a roof fire or trying to help some coed elope. They were just checking to see if the ladder would extend to the roof. It will.

Boston Awaits Iowa Game Saturday

Boston, the "home of the bean and the cod" will welcome a midwestern note this morning when 35 Iowa Hawkeyes debark from their train from Iowa City.

The Hawkeyes, who left here 9:15 yesterday morning, are due to arrive in the Hub city at 9:50 a.m. EST today for the Iowa-Boston university football game Saturday.

Closely Watched

The game will be watched closely by the New England fans to see how their Terriers stack up against a Big Nine team.

The tilt, which will be played at Boston's Fenway park tomorrow, is being built up as a contest of passers and pass catchers.

Al DiMarco, Iowa's diminutive passer, is supposed to match arms with the Terriers' Southpaw John Toney.

It will also give Iowa's two ace receivers, End Bob McKenzie and Jack Dittmer, now ranking second and fifth, respectively, in the Big Nine records, a chance to compare their specialty with Boston's sophomore, George Salima. Salima is currently ranked twelfth nationally in yards gained on completions.

Doran Leads Loop

Western conference statistics released yesterday revealed several other Iowans among the leaders in various offensive departments.

DiMarco stands third in the conference in both passing and total offense.

Ralph Doran is safely out in front for rushing honors in the Western loop. Doran, in his first and last season of collegiate ball, has rolled up an average of 8.3 yards per try, two yards better than his nearest rival.

Glenn Drahn paces the Big Nine in the thievery department. Drahn has accounted for 61 yards on pass interceptions, the top total for the conference.

Although the Hawks have had only three days to prepare for their season's final, following a grueling schedule with some of the top-notch teams in this section of the country, they have been conceded heavy favorites for the game.

Carideo Worries

Frank Carideo, Iowa backfield coach, is skeptical of the odds. "I'll settle for a 3-0 score right now," said Carideo yesterday morning, casting quickly over his shoulder for a field goal kicker. Head Coach Dr. Eddie Anderson was equally respectful of the Terriers before the Iowa team left yesterday. Anderson had made full use of the three days he had for workouts, drilling the Hawks on defense against the Boston winged "T" formation, and coaxing more from the offensive attack Iowa began to develop late in the season.

Top-Shape Terriers Drilling Offense Now

WESTON, MASS. (AP) — With every member of the Boston university football squad in top shape, Coach Buff Donelli wound up his Terriers' serious preparations for Iowa yesterday with a light drill that stressed offensive maneuvers.

Donelli said he plans to start a lineup of four seniors, six juniors and one sophomore, End George Sulima, his leading pass receiver, against the Hawkeyes in Saturday's intersectional clash at Fenway park.

Purdue Bomed With Propaganda

LAYFAYETTE, IND. (AP) — The annual "Old Oaken Bucket fever" hit a new high yesterday when the Purdue university campus was "bombed" with thousands of leaflets from an airplane. They presumably originated at Indiana university.

Purdue and Indiana clash Saturday in the 51st renewal of grid warfare between the two big state universities.

Enraged Purdue students read: "What the hell can you expect with a kid prexy from dear old Oxford, with a bunch of hick students with no spirit, with an inexperienced high school coaching staff with 11 old men—flops of the year?"

The score was predicted, "I U 40, Cow college 0."

CAGERS MEET SPARTANS EAST LANSING, MICH. (AP) — Michigan State college yesterday announced a 21-game basketball schedule for this winter.

'Pops' Says It'll Be a Tough Basketball League'

— Without Wier, Spencer

BY EVERETT MONTGOMERY

Don't despair men and women of SUL. Coach Lawrence "Pops" Harrison promises to have a Hawkeye basketball team this year. It's true that fans this winter won't be able to cheer the court wizardry of a flashy, scrappy redhead — one Murray Wier. Gone too is the calm, cool and level-headed Jack Spencer.

Spencer, rated by "Pops" as the best defensive guard in the conference last year, and Wier, all-American, all-conference and most valuable player in the Big 9 last season, are both graduated. It is evident that men like this don't crop up often and their loss leaves a large hole in the Old Gold squad to be plugged up.

But leave us not become disheartened. Great ball players have come and gone from the Hawk cage scene before but Iowa has always come out of the corner for the next round fighting.

The Hawkeye's overall record for the past five years is the best in the league, according to the Hawk's court boss. During this period they have copped one undisputed crown, shared one title and have been runner-up once.

The pre-season dopsters and so-called "experts" last year "awarded" Iowa the conference cellar with an outside chance of bagging one or two league contests.

But Harrison and Co. couldn't agree with these "experts." They played each game as it came and in the finale at Ann Arbor they were battling mighty Michigan for a share of the title. But that's all in the past. Another year of cage wars is rolling around and "Pops" is building anew.

Muscatine Murray may be gone but Hawk fandom, by the return of Charlie Mason, will not be deprived of the color and aggressiveness that was Wier.

While not, according to "Pops," the "same type of player as Wier," Mason thrives on the race-horse, play-em-off-the-floor brand of ball that characterized the carrot-topped fireball.

Commenting on the vacancies left open by Wier and Spencer, the usually jovial "Pops" sorrowfully lamented that, after taking four years to get them to playing, you can't rebuild a team overnight.

The Iowa coach is neither optimistic nor totally despondent about his charges possibilities for the coming campaign. It's a "tough league," he declares, and it's too early to make any predictions.

Returning this year to give their all for dear old alma mater are lettermen aplenty which gives the Old Gold strength both in experience and depth. The squad consists mainly of juniors and seniors.

Rambling through the roster one finds such familiar names as forwards Floyd Magnusson, Bob Vollers, Mason, Bob Freeman and center-forward Stan Straatsma; guards Bob Schultz, Bill Hall, Tom Parker, Tony Guzowski and "Bucky" Harris plus centers Don Hays and Roger Finley.

Ready to supplement the veterans are sophomore standouts Dick Riecks at forward; guard Bill Andrews, and, in the center slot, are Albert Wiese, Glenn Dille and Frank Calsbek.

Fred Ruck, a guard from Davenport, will not be available to the Gold and Black until the second semester because of the conference one-year residence rule. Ruck entered Iowa last February.

There is the picture. Take it for what it's worth. You can rest assured that the Hawks will give all comers all the fight they'll want from the time the first ball is tossed up until the final basket is made.

Bob Rossie Still Waiting

State Title Fight in Cedar Rapids Falls Through When Jackie Parks Runs Out on Bout

Bob Rossie, promising Iowa City welterweight, is still waiting to fight Jackie Parks for the 160 pound professional title of Iowa. A bout scheduled for last Wednesday night in Cedar Rapids, pitting the two fighters in a title scrap, failed to materialize when Parks didn't appear.

Parks, who lives in Des Moines, declined to fight when his managers went to his home to take him to Cedar Rapids.

Buzz Lanning, who entered the professional ranks in 1939, was a last minute substitute for Parks for the Wednesday night tussle.

Rossie battled to a six round draw with his veteran opponent, in his second bout of his infant professional career. The fight marked the first time he exceeded three rounds, and his only previous professional start was a 45 second, first round knock out of his opponent in Minneapolis.

No definite plans are in the offing for Rossie, although a re-matching of the scheduled battle with Parks may be arranged soon. There is also a possibility for a return go with Lanning in a feature bout in Cedar Rapids in three weeks, and for fights in Kansas City and Des Moines.

Rossie compiled an enviable record as an amateur before becoming a professional this fall. He captured several Iowa amateur titles, and advanced to the semi-finals of the AAU meet staged in Boston last year. The local fighter also held the state amateur diadem in his weight division.

Although Parks is above Rossie's weight, Bob says that he "would like to fight him."

Seek Repeat Of '44 Win

COLUMBUS, OHIO (AP) — Michigan's wily Wolverines and Ohio State's rebounding Bucks are set for Saturday's No. 1 football fracas — a Big Nine game due to draw 80,000 fans into the big horseshoe stadium here on the banks of the Olentangy.

Football fever which mounted all season as the Bucks about faced from last year's dismal doings, rapidly neared the stage of hysteria around Ohio's capital yesterday.

The folk figured the twice-beaten local lads had an outside chance to whip the Wolves for the first time since 1944.

In the last three seasons the Michigans have piled up 86 points, 9 for the Bucks, but this time Buckeye hopes are high despite the fact the invaders are winging along with a 22-game winning streak.

Coach Wesley Fesler of the Bucks, in his second season at the helm, today stressed the "terrific attitude" of his clan, and declared: "We'll be ready Saturday."

Ten Ohio players will wind up their collegiate careers Saturday, two of whom — Chuck Renner and Ray Dipiero — played in the 18-14 win over the Wolves in 1944.

The other eight, who have never tasted victory over Michigan, are Howard Tiefke, Alex Verdova, Joe Whisler, Capt. Dave Templeton, Mike Cannavino, Brenton Kirk, Chuck Fazio and Bob Drosey. Ohio State's all-time grid great, Chic Harley, will be on hand for the fray after spending years in the veterans' hospital at Danville, Ill.

3 Intramural Titles Awarded in Football

Three more league championships were decided yesterday in intramural touch football games. Thatcher downed Loyola 13 to 6, in the best played game of the afternoon, to take the Town league championship.

In the Married Student league final, South Hawkeye beat Central Hawkeye 12 to 2. Remaining undefeated, South Quad II was assured the SGL championship yesterday when it trounced Law Commons B, 19 to 0.

Vote for Bowl Team If Bears, Oregon Both Win Saturday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There may be many anxious hours of waiting next Monday before the Rose Bowl vote of the Pacific Coast conference is announced.

"Anytime after 9 o'clock Monday morning," said the conference commissioner's office yesterday.

Conference faculty representatives of the 10 universities have been instructed to telegraph their vote to the commissioner's office by noon Monday.

The race hinges, of course, on California's final game against Stanford at Berkeley, and Oregon's battle with Oregon State at Corvallis.

If the two teams wind up in a tie, and the conference vote results in a five-five deadlock which cannot be altered after successive balloting then the team longest away from the Rose Bowl would draw the honor.

Oregon would be the team, in this event.

Oregon has challenged California to a post-season playoff in case of a two-way conference tie, but the Bears rejected the idea.

Blacks Win Frosh Tilt; Golds Try Again Today

In a spirited freshman football game, the Blacks edged the Golds, 13-7 yesterday on the practice field east of the stadium.

Another frosh intrasquad game will be held this afternoon at 4:15 at the same site.

Hard to Beat

NEVER A LOSER — Penn State Fullback Francis Rogel has never played with a losing football team. For two years his Penn State team has won 17 straight games. The year before that, Rogel played with the undefeated California, Penn. team.

Frosh Cagers Meet

Mercy Hospital Addition Grows

HERE'S THE MODERNISTIC WEST ENTRANCE to the new $850,000 Mercy hospital addition. Construction of the addition began in October last year and it was estimated then that the completion date would be sometime next year. The five-story addition will add 94 beds to the hospital's capacity making a total of 225 beds. Shown in the picture is John Schneider, Iowa City, an employee of the Tunnick Construction company of Davenport, contractors for the building.

Plan Talk by UWF Officer

United World Federalists from the first congressional district will meet here Nov. 29 to hear a National UWF officer advise them on how to run their local organizations.

The meeting, at which national UWF Field Work Chairman Samuel Levering will talk, will be divided into two parts.

Levering, who has been active in UWF since its founding, will report on local, national and international UWF progress during the past two years.

The Nov. 29 meeting will be co-sponsored by the SUI and Iowa City UWF chapters. Local officers have invited UWF members from Muscatine, West Liberty, Burlington, Fort Madison and Davenport to attend.

Levering will tie the national UWF conference results into the local discussion. Five Iowa Citizens and SUI students attended the conference in Minneapolis last week-

Economists Select Ten for Fraternity

Ten new members will be initiated Nov. 30 into the SUI chapter of the Order of Artus, honorary economics fraternity, Harold Strand, secretary, said yesterday.

The new members are Alex Kern, professor of engineering; C. Frank Smith, associate professor of commerce; Wallace B. Nelson, David A. Freedman, George T. Harris, Paul F. Roach, Robert H. Stroup, E. Eugene Davis, William A. Knoke and James B. Dumbauld.

Initiation ceremonies will be held in the private dining room of the Iowa Union, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Affiliated with the national Order of Artus since 1917, the Iowa chapter now has 66 members, Strand said. Membership requirements include completion of 16 semester hours credit in the economics field and maintenance of an above-average record in the department.

Engineering Students Plan Basketball Game

Students of civil and mechanical engineering will compete in a basketball game in the SUI fieldhouse at 7:30 p.m. today.

Don Walter, E4, is the coach of the civil engineers, and William Kelso, E4, of the mechanical engineers.

Iowans Are Fortunate, New Book Says

A recently published book by Prof. Robert H. Talbert, SUI sociology department, and Austin Porterfield, Texas Christian university, shows that Iowans are slightly better off than average Americans. The Hawkeye state ranked 20th in social well-being in 1940, according to the book, "Crime, Suicide and Social Well-Being in Your State and City."

The crime rate is lower and the way of living in Iowa is above the national scale. The author used housing, economics, suffrage, education, medical facilities and health for the social well-being scale. Iowa's total rating was five points above the average score for the nation. Housing in Iowa was 12 points above average. Suffrage was 21 points better than average, and education one point. But the Hawkeye state wasn't better off in all respects. The economic index showed Iowa 11 points below average. In medical facilities Iowa was 18 points below. General health, however, based on mortality rates, and draft rejection in World War II, indicated that Iowa was 23 points above average.

Goodwin Won't Miss Coffee in Britain

At least one of SUI's four Rhodes scholarship candidates won't miss his morning cup of coffee if he goes to tea-drinking England to study.

He is Jim Goodwin, who claims he's never drunk a cup of coffee in his life — just doesn't like the stuff. Goodwin drinks tea, instead, and is inclined to think those Boston "Indians" threw the wrong kind of party.

As far as he's concerned, they can keep that "awful lot of coffee" they sing about right there in Brazil.

England also looks attractive to Goodwin from another standpoint. He is chairman of the Young Republican League and after those recent elections — well, maybe they never heard of Republicans in England.

Says U.S. Elected Underdog

Nye Tells Reasons For Truman Vote

"Americans love a fighter and an underdog," Frank Nye, associate editor of the Cedar Rapids Gazette, yesterday told an Information First audience of 225 persons in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

But that was only one of the reasons he gave to explain why the presidential election went as it did.

A graduate of the SUI school of journalism in 1936, Nye is a political and editorial writer for the Cedar Rapids Gazette. He attended both major party conventions in Philadelphia this summer and was with President Truman on his campaign tour.

As "one of those who expected Dewey to win," Nye attributed the surprise to a combination of reasons.

1. Prosperity absorbs all criticism. "In good times voters tend to vote for the party in power."
2. The American people wanted to "show" the political writers and pollsters that they didn't know everything.
3. Many people resented the smug complacency of the Republican party and Dewey himself.
4. The Republican party failed to work at the precinct level to get out the vote.
5. Republicans failed to argue the issues. It is "good to carry a campaign on a high level," Nye said, "but not above the clouds."
6. Truman's campaign line—the Democratic party is for the people, while the Republican party is for special interests—impressed many people.
7. The farm vote came out for Truman.
8. Many Republicans resented the selection of Dewey over Harold Stassen as presidential candidate and didn't vote for Dewey.
9. Republicans thought Dewey was "in" before Nov. 2. They stressed too much the idea of "controlling the senate" to get his legislation through. "Control" is a bad word in any campaign, Nye said.

Nye said it was a "disturbing" fact that a minority has elected a President of the U.S. Of an estimated 93-million eligible voters in the U.S., about 48-million went to the polls, he said. Only one-fourth of the eligible voters cast a ballot for President Truman.

He suggested modification of the electoral college so that it would reflect the popular vote. This would accomplish two things, he said:

1. It would stop the practice of choosing a candidate from a state with a large electoral vote, and
  2. It would start a two-party system practice in many states.
- Nye's talk was the final lecture this semester in the UWA-sponsored Information First series.

Woman's Wallop — Humiliates Pugilist

By CLARE COX
NEW YORK (AP) — Packey O'Gatty, a pugilist who packs a wallop, never has been so humiliated. A 72-year-old woman gave him a stiff uppercut that landed him right on the seat of his pants.

O'Gatty fought to a draw for the world's bantamweight title in 1921 and once met Heavyweight Jack Dempsey in an exhibition match.

But he never felt anything in life like the sock in the jaw administered by Mrs. Betty Henderson, a society playgirl who appeared on the stage in the days when boxers wore tight.

"It floored me," O'Gatty said. "I can't imagine it. It really floored me. You know how it hurts when a tiny baby clouts you? Well, that sock came from a big baby."

O'Gatty, 48, is Mrs. Henderson's boxing instructor. Now that he has retired, he earns his living by teaching women how to keep the gents in line with a few well-placed rights and lefts.

For several hours three times a week, O'Gatty and Mrs. Henderson spar a few rounds in her swank Park avenue apartment. She wears 16 ounce boxing gloves, shorts and a halter. When she gets tired of beating him into a pulp he calms her down with a massage.

"A Good Sport" "Ma is a real good sport," he said. "I'm careful not to hit her very hard, but she packs a mean wallop."

O'Gatty, whose real name is Pasquale Agati, said he's trained a total of 200 women, including Arline Judge, the actress, who has sparred legally and otherwise with a handful of husbands. Also Hope Hampton, a former opera singer who once knocked him for a loop by loading her left glove with brass knuckles.

'Naughty Marietta' Well Done

By DONALD KEY
Victor Herbert's "Naughty Marietta," presented at the Iowa City high school auditorium last night, displayed the sparkling color of old New Orleans. The production was exceptionally good and the light, tuneful music of Herbert was flavored by the spontaneity of youth.

The well chosen cast performed the roles with an understanding superior to the usual high school standard. Marietta was played by Carly White who was as cute and charming as the part itself.

Dick Williams was an excellent Captain Warrington. He has a voice of rich and vibrant quality. The comedy was supplied for the most part by Ralph Reeds as Silas. His ability gave a lively pace to the performance. The contralto part of Adah was sung by Ann Murray who also has a very pleasing quality of tone in her singing.

Young Demos Make Post-Election Plans

SUI Young Democrats discussed plans last night to strengthen the organization now that the national election is over.

At a meeting in Schaeffer hall, the campus politico decided to take steps to enhance what they called a present political advantage afforded by the Democratic victories in the election.

Plans were made to have political speakers address the group on vital current problems. Since these speakers will no longer be candidates for office, the ban on campus political speakers does not apply. It was suggested that State Senator-Elect Leroy Mercer be invited to speak at the next meeting.

As a part of a program of instructing Young Demos on controversial issues, members were assigned to study and report on such problems as a state sales tax and a state fair employment practice commission. This program is being inaugurated so that the group can take a definite stand on these issues.

At the next meeting tentatively scheduled for Dec. 13 the Young Demos will hold their annual election of officers. As part of a social program to keep interest alive in the organization, a victory dance to be held in conjunction with the pre-inauguration was suggested.

Market Index Rallies; Hits $17.25 This Week

After suffering three straight weeks of steady declines, Iowa City food prices rallied this week, moving the Daily Iowan market basket index up six cents. The index hit $17.25 yesterday, compared to $17.19 a week ago.

Food items going up included butter, grade A eggs and coffee. Center cut pork chops was the only commodity to show a drop.

A survey of prices on 24 food items in seven representative Iowa City grocery stores, the market basket index represents the amount a student family of three will pay for food each week.

Butter, which had greased the skids for the series of price falls that began three weeks ago, led the way in this week's comeback. Iowa brand butter retailed at 69 cents a pound yesterday, a gain of four cents over last week.

Butter advanced steadily about one cent a day during the past week, local grocers reported. Judging from this week's Dun & Bradstreet survey of wholesale food prices, continued gains on butter can be expected. Butter was one of nine food items on increase on the wholesale markets this week, according to the survey.

Wholesale prices on ten other commodities were reported on the decline, however, and the Dun & Bradstreet index was slightly lower this week.

Retailing at 69 cents a dozen, grade A egg struck a new market basket high yesterday, breaking the previous mark of 68 cents set only two weeks ago.

Coffee also sold at its highest point since the survey was started in September, 1947. Hills Bros. coffee was up to 55 cents a pound yesterday.

Registering the week's only price fall, center cut pork chops dropped two cents, retailing at 67 cents a pound. This was the third consecutive week that chops have fallen. This week's listing represents an eight-cent decline during that period.

An autographed copy of "Grandmother Brown's Hundred Years, 1827-1927," prize-winning biography of Harriet Connor Brown, was sent by the author to University library last week. It has been placed in a collection of books by Iowa authors.

Mrs. Brown and her husband, now of Dundee, N.Y., visited in Iowa City in September. It was then that library officials requested a special copy of her book for the collection.

Mrs. Brown also spent several days doing research in the library while here. Her novel, winner of the $5,000 Atlantic prize when it was published in 1929, is the biography of an Iowa centenarian, Mrs. Maria D. Brown, whose life span covers much state and national history. The author was born at Burlington in 1872.

Berlin: Split Hairs and Upper Hands

At first glance, it would seem that the western allies are splitting hairs in rejecting the Lie-Evatt proposal to enter direct negotiations with Russia over the German question.

If the world's diplomats didn't realize it before, they now know that the big four must solve big four problems among themselves. The UN has no power to enforce a settlement.

But there are deeper strains running through the drama. The western powers know that sooner or later they will have to enter into direct talks with Russia to hammer out a deal.

Then why the stall? It's basically a jockeying for positions before the diplomatic battle of four-power wits gets under way.

The westerners base their refusal to open big four talks at this moment around the Berlin blockade. They want the security council to rule that Russia has no right to impose such a blockade, that such a move is a threat to peace.

Naturally, a Soviet veto would keep the security council from going beyond this and taking action to make the Soviets lift the blockade.

That's unimportant. The allies seem willing to settle for security council denunciation of Russia—a move that would align world public opinion behind the west.

This would seem like mere hair splitting. But it is not. At the moment, Russia is holding tight on the Berlin blockade as a means of forcing the west to come to terms.

The city itself is not that important strategically. But the Berlin blockade has the west on the defensive. They dare not retreat; that would "lose face." And hanging on is an expensive proposition.

Take away the Berlin blockade and Russia's hand is greatly weakened. All she has is an imposing list of demands with nothing much to offer in return.

The Soviets want to move Polish borders into Germany to compensate for land taken over by Russia. They want a fabulous amount of reparations. They want to get their fingers into the Ruhr pie.

In return, Russia can offer only promises of friendship and non-aggression. But the west feels that it was fleeced before with such bait. The Berlin blockade brought a new element into the bargaining scene—force.

Supposedly, the west is to surrender the Ruhr and reparations just to have the Berlin squeeze relaxed.

Before they enter into negotiations with Russia, therefore, the west would like to eliminate the Berlin blockade as a bargaining factor. Just how that is to be done is hard to see. Apparently the allies assume that the magic of the UN and world public opinion will neutralize the blockade's effect.

Direct negotiations will come about sooner or later. Meanwhile the allies are not splitting hairs... they are cutting the deck in order to gain the upper hand.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITOR:

The recent dispute between the respective sports scribes of Iowa and Minnesota resulting from the heated fracas in last week's football game is one more reminder of the hypocrisy of Big Nine athletics and the hoax of amateur standing.

What sophisticated person can justly maintain that football is maintained on a strict amateur basis, when adult spectators and coaches, whose chronological age suggests an advancement over the teen age sense of value, completely forget themselves and hurl unwarranted epithets at each other? Essentially, what are they fighting about?

It is only a football game, traditionally supposed to be a valuable aid toward the goal of character improvement, eg., team play, sportsmanship, etc. But its nature has become pejorative. Football is no longer "extra-curricular," it is often the curriculum, unfortunately, and has risen to the heights of big business.

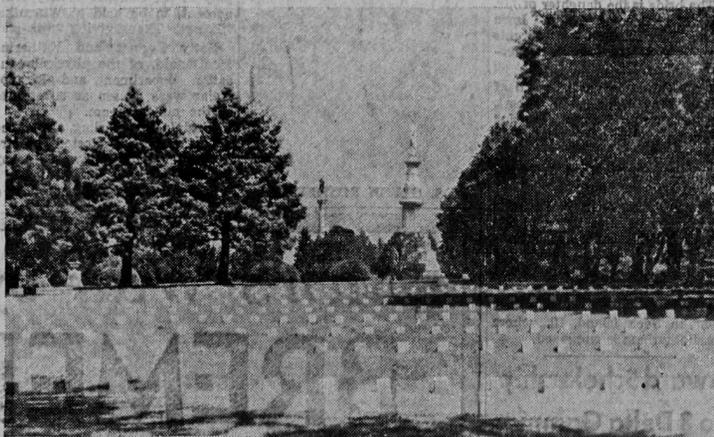

eligibility standards and amateur standing? Why not do what the "pros" do and pay the players salaries in return for their services. Football acumen under this plan will undoubtedly improve, and the petty rivalries between the state schools, reminiscent of the hoax of state sovereignty will disappear. Writing as a former football player in a school where football was truly extra-curricular, I can but deplore the outrageous condition and hypocrisy of Big Nine athletics.

The decay in public values is glaringly apparent when spectators may be aroused to so hysterical a frenzy as to applaud sadistically when a rival player is incapacitated. Reminiscent of the Roman Hippodrome, the glory of the combat is for the victor, and to the loser nothing but ignominy and injury.

Is this the goal of amateur athletics, and in particular the Big Nine, which is supposed to represent the ace of American sportsmanship?

Lincoln Delivered His Gettysburg Address Four Score and Five Years Ago Today

By H. D. CRAWFORD
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — President Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, which he delivered 85 years ago today, on Nov. 19, 1863, during dark and uncertain days of the Civil war, is one of the most famous speeches ever made and one of the most widely known and highly cherished documents in American annals.

Did you know, however, that Lincoln was an after-thought selection as a speaker to help dedicate the national cemetery at Gettysburg? And did you know that some persons had so little confidence in Lincoln's ability to speak on that solemn occasion that the program committee's letter of invitation specified that the president was to confine his contribution to "a few appropriate remarks?"

Gettysburg National Military park today covers nearly 2,500 acres in southern Pennsylvania and is maintained by the national park service. It includes the areas where the greatest action took place in the summer of 1863 when Gen. George G. Meade's Army of the Potomac defeated Gen. Robert E. Lee's Confederates—a battle that turned the tide of the Civil war.

Today, 2,388 monuments, markers, and tablets tell in marble and bronze the story of the battle that has been called "the greatest contest of arms on American soil."

When President Lincoln journeyed from Washington on his special train 85 years ago, however, and then rode a big chestnut horse in a procession to participate in the dedication of the Soldiers' National cemetery, the scene was very different.

BATTLEFIELD sights were still shocking and sickening. Carcasses of cavalry horses still littered the area. Rains had washed away soil hastily spread over dead soldiers, and these bodies were in the process of reburial. The situation had become a health menace to the nearby town of Gettysburg.

Pennsylvania's Gov. A. G. Curtin had visited the battlefield shortly after the Confederate retreat, and he realized that patriotic pride of the North would be damaged unless Gettysburg's dead were given proper burial and recognition.

Governors of other northern states whose men had died at Gettysburg agreed to share the expense of burial and landscaping. Edwin M. Stanton, Lincoln's secretary of war, responded to a call for coffins. Some of them were still on the grounds that November day when dedication ceremonies were held.

Edward Everett was the unanimous choice to give the dedication oration. He was a distinguished orator. He had been secretary of state in President Fillmore's cabinet, had served in the senate, and as president of Harvard university. Everett in 1859 had made a substantial contribution toward the purchase and preservation of George Washington's home of Mount Vernon.

Dedication ceremonies at Gettysburg were postponed from Oct. 23 to Nov. 19 to give Everett more time to prepare his oration.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN was not even invited to take part in the ceremony until Nov. 2. Everett sent a copy of his oration to Lincoln in advance, evidently so the president would not cover any of the same ground.

Lincoln's slow train chugged out of Washington about noon on Nov. 18. The president and notables who rode with him reached Gettysburg at sundown. Serenaders tried to get Lincoln to make a speech that night, but he declined.

You probably have heard the story that Lincoln scratched off the Gettysburg Address on the back of an old envelope while on the train. Lincoln scholars now seem to be agreed that this is a myth. Lincoln wrote one draft of the speech, or most of it at least, before leaving Washington. He worked late in his room that night at Gettysburg.

About 11 p.m. Lincoln took sheets of notes to the house next door where Secretary of State William E. Seward was spending the night. Lincoln is believed to have written the draft of the speech which he used as his speech manuscript either late that night or early on the morning of Nov. 19, the day of the ceremony.

Drunken shouts, soap-box speakers, serenaders, and loud singing broke the usual quiet of Gettysburg that night. Homes and hotels were overflowing with persons arriving for the ceremonies at the cemetery. Estimates of crowds at the dedication have varied from 15,000 to 150,000.

Lincoln emerged from the house where he was a guest about 10 a.m. on the day of the dedication. He wore his famous high silk hat, white gloves, and black suit. The chestnut horse the president mounted was one of the largest that could be found for the occasion. Lincoln held a brief reception on horseback.

Everett's oration took up two hours. It was eloquent and suitable

GETTYSBURG ADDRESS

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent, a new nation, conceived in Liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battle-field of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN, November, 19, 1863.

for the occasion. The Baltimore Glee club sang an ode, and there were other things on the program, such as a band concert.

In order to get good standing space, persons near the speakers' platform had arrived three hours before the ceremonies began. These had been standing or sitting about six hours by the time the program reached President Lincoln's part.

LINCOLN'S speech took a little more than two minutes, being interrupted a few times by applause. A photographer trying to get a picture of the President speaking could not get his old-fashioned camera into action before Lincoln sat down. His ten-sentence speech was over before some newsmen realized the importance of what he was saying.

"President Lincoln's address was delivered in a clear loud tone of voice," according to a New York reporter, "which could be distinctly heard at the extreme limits of the large audience."

It was delivered (or rather read from a sheet of paper which the speaker held in his hand) in a very deliberate manner, with strong emphasis, and with a most business-like air.

Everett wrote Lincoln a note next day saying that he would be glad if he could flatter himself that he had come as close to presenting the central idea of the patriotic occasion at Gettysburg in two hours as Lincoln had in two minutes.

Lincoln's famous words are chiseled into marble in the Lincoln Memorial at Washington, but they are imbedded ever more deeply in the minds of Americans.

We look back 85 years to the occasion on which they were spoken, but never was it more important than it is in 1948 "that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

TWO TO SPEAK Dr. Ralston Paterson, director of the Holt Radium Institute in Manchester, England, will discuss social aspects of cancer at the second in a series of lectures presented by SU's college of medicine.

Dr. Ralston, president of the Sixth International Congress of Radiology, will speak Monday at 4:10 p.m.

British Labor Party Looks for Answers

Stressing that the British Labor party would strive always to remain democratic, Prof. Eric Lampard, London school of economics, last night explained problems of British socialism to the local American Veterans committee chapter.

Lampard, visiting professor at Cornell college, drew "two lessons" from his observations of the Labor party's "experiment."

1. Technicalities encountered in the Labor party's rise to power have forced curtailment of certain party plans.

2. Socialism may cure some of industry's evils, but in turn gives rise to trying political problems.

Two students have become junior members of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Executive Secretary William N. Carey announced.

They are Ellis B. Pickett, 1116 Muscatine avenue, and John D. Russell, 224 Hawkeye village. Russell, a graduate student in commerce, received his bachelor's degree in civil engineering at Iowa State college last June.
