Strikers' Rift May Extend Dock Tie-up

Brooklyn Group Vote 'No' to Pay Proposal

NEW YORK (AP) — Prospects for an end of the 17-day east coast dock strike darkened yesterday when 2,000 Brooklyn longshoremen voted to reject for a second time a settlement reached by their union negotiators.

The Brooklyn members of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) voted by a show of hands to reject the 13-cent hourly wage increase to which union negotiators and shippers agreed Thursday. The vote was unofficial, with the official secret ballot scheduled for today.

This first rejection was made at a gathering called to form a rank and file committee to fight acceptance of the new pact. They represented some 13,000 dock workers in 13 Brooklyn locals.

Meanwhile, Joseph P. Ryan, who heads the east coast stevedores, termed this rejection "an attempt by the Communist party to becloud the issues."

Ryan added that the vote to be cast today by secret ballot will be by "members of the union in good standing," and added that "our strike committee doubts very much whether these men will have a vote" at that meeting.

Representatives of longshoremen in Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore attended the Brooklyn meeting. Philadelphia's striking workers voted officially to accept the terms and go back to work.

Many perishable cargoes rotted during the walkouts and on the east coast alone, 200,000 sacks of overseas mail and $30-million in Marshall plan aid were heaped on almost deserted docks.

On the west coast, strikes by CIO marine cooks and stewards, CIO radio operators and independent firemen also must be settled before ships can sail, even though longshoremen began to unload and re-load. It was believed the stevedore strike would be the key to the other stoppages, however.

MacArthur Office Acts To Hush Hanging News

TOKYO (AP) — General MacArthur's public information office said yesterday a statement would be issued each morning telling whether Hideki Tojo and his six companions had been hanged.

No other news releases would be made concerning the executions, the announcement said.

The statement will be issued at 9 a. m. (7 p. m. the previous day, central standard time).

This apparent move to tighten the secrecy of the executions of the seven doomed war criminals was taken by the supreme commander himself.

Correspondents have received no reply to requests that they be allowed to attend the executions or to visit Sugamo prison beforehand.

Date and hour of the hanging have not been set, according to Lt. Gen. Walton Walker, whose Eighth army is to carry out the sentences. Walker has said, however, the men convicted by the international tribunal Nov. 15 would be given "a reasonable time" before hanging.

Tojo's wife yesterday sent a letter to MacArthur asking she be given the body of her husband and the bodies of the others all be released to their families. It is not known whether she received a reply.

Now George Wants Any 4-Legged Dog

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. (AP) — Little George McLaurine Jr., a pet duck came to a parting of the ways yesterday because people wouldn't let them alone.

Neighbors—children and parents alike—wanted to see and share a pet, which isn't any ordinary duck. It has four legs.

George's grandfather discovered the oddity at a duck farm and bought it for the three-year-olds.

Yesterday the four-legged duck was on display at a zoo here and George was looking around for another pet—an ordinary one.

AMBASSADOR RESIGNS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Emmet Neal, U.S. Ambassador to the Philippines, revealed yesterday he submitted his resignation to President Truman.

Runaway Taxi Smashes Bathroom

(AP Wirephoto)

INVASION OF PRIVACY is just one of the charges that could be leveled at this runaway taxi in Los Angeles. The cab crashed into the bathroom at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Swanson here yesterday. The driver reported the cab stalled at the top of a hill. He got out to push and it rolled over an embankment, skidding 300 feet into the house. His passenger, Marie Johnson, 18, suffered a possible brain concussion.

Chamber of Commerce Spokesman Reveals Santa Plans Early Iowa City Stop

Santa Claus may show up in Iowa City today. Nobody knows for sure, but Santa has told the Chamber of Commerce he "just might be able to make it."

Ray Vanderhoef, chairman of the retail trade division of the chamber, has made several long distance telephone calls to the north pole lately trying to persuade Mr. Claus to get down here early and look the place over.

Vanderhoef said yesterday he isn't certain yet but "I rather expect Santa sometime Saturday, although I couldn't even guess what time the old boy might get in."

At any rate Iowa City small fry are in for a good time. All the theaters in town will open their doors to the children for free movies from 9 to 11 a. m.

Playing at the Capital will be "Mother Carey's Chickens" with Anne Shirley. The Englert will feature Wallace Beery in "Stable Mates." Mickey Rooney is the featured player at the Strand in

Loudspeaker Finds Two Lost Hunters

BLIND RIVER, ONT. (AP) — The bellowing voice of a high-powered public address system guided two lost hunters through six miles of wild Algonia bushland to safety recently.

A party searching for Ray Mussen and Alphonse Desjardins found no trace. Tom Nash, one of the searchers, rigged up his loudspeaker on a hill. Then Nash called the hunters by name and asked them to fire a shot if they could hear him.

The sound of a shot came back. Nash asked the hunters to light a fire. When the smoke appeared

It Cost $4-Million — CBS to Get Benny Show

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting system, which lost some of its top talent to the National Broadcasting company a year ago, announced yesterday that Jack Benny, one of NBC's top comedians for the past 17 years, will transfer his Sunday night program to CBS on Jan. 2.

CBS and NBC have been battling for Benny's program for some weeks, and it was a sure bet in radio circles that the comedian pinched pennies just as hard in the real life negotiations as he does on his program. Some sources put the CBS purchase price at $4-million.

Benny followed Amos 'n Andy from NBC to CBS and the trade paper "Variety" speculated that other performers might follow suit.

The Benny switch from NBC to CBS followed by just a year in the other direction. NBC then lured away such CBS shows as Jimmy Durante, The Hit Parade, Take It or Leave It, and Ozzie and Harriet.

The Benny deal came on top of a trade report that NBC was going to pay $4-million for outright purchase of Benny's entire amusement enterprises set up, and it was indicated that CBS paid at least that sum. Day, Harris, Miss Faye and other artists are included in Benny's amusement enterprises.

CBS said the Benny program will continue to be sponsored by the American Tobacco company for Lucky Strike cigarettes. The program originating in Hollywood will be broadcast from 6 to 6:30 p. m. (Iowa time) over all Columbia stations and rebroadcast over the CBS Pacific network from 9:30 to 10 p. m. (PST).

Truman Okays Spending ECA Fund Before April

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman yesterday approved recommendations of Paul G. Hoffman to spend all of the $4,055,000,000 appropriated for European recovery by April 2.

Congress had intended the funds to last for 15 months, or until June 30, 1949, but it provided that the President could authorize their expenditure during a 12-month period if he considered it necessary to speed up the recovery program.

His action clears the way for Hoffman to ask the new congress covering the April-June period. The ECA chief has indicated he

New Chinese Premier Takes Over as Yuan Votes Appeal to U.S.

NANKING (AP) — As Communist armies edged closer to Nanking's Langtze river barrier yesterday, Sun Fo became premier of the uneasy Chinese government.

Elevation of this son of Sun Yat-Sen, "father" of the Chinese republic, might be the first step towards creation of a "war cabinet" to try to cope with the critical military situation.

Some observers, however, said Sun apparently took the job because President Chiang Kai-Shek

SAYS U.S. AID NEEDED SHANGHAI (AP) — Sen. George W. Malone (R-Nev.) said yesterday he was convinced that, with prompt and effective U.S. military assistance, the nationalists could halt advancing Communist armies.

He said after high-level conferences with Chinese and American officials in three cities that the military situation was far from hopeless, although without U.S. aid, the government faced possible defeat.

Malone and his wife flew to Canton yesterday. In Nanking they visited Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek and U.S. Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart and his assistants.

could not get anybody else. This was the case when the outgoing premier Wong Wen-Hao was chosen six months ago.

Sun Fo has been president of the legislative Yuan since 1932. He has close support of the nationalist clique, but is not generally regarded as a "strong man."

The legislative Yuan voted to send an appeal to the United States for military and economic aid, dubbing the Communists the instruments of an "international aggressive bloc."

Government dispatches from Suchow headquarters said both sides were bringing up reinforcements for a major battle expected momentarily. Its outcome may well determine control of the entire northern Yangtze region.

May Cut Enrollment If SUI Budget Short

DES MOINES (UP) An enrollment ceiling at the State University of Iowa, Iowa State college and Iowa State Teachers college was suggested yesterday by Henry Shull, Sioux City, president of the state board of education.

Climaxing a day-long budget hearing before Gov. Robert D. Blue and Gov.-Elect William S. Beardsley on the board's request for an $82,868,149 appropriation for operations and building during the next two years, Shull said:

"These three institutions were only built to accommodate one-half to three-fourths of their present load.

"Our classrooms are overcrowded, our teachers are overcrowded, our dormitories are inadequate.

"If this student population were temporary it would be different. Enrollment at the State University of Iowa and Iowa State would go again to 7,000 each, we would need capital improvements so.

But our surveys indicate that future enrollment there will probably never drop below 10,000. The enrollment at Iowa State Teachers college below 3,000. Even though the number of veterans in the GI bill of rights has already fallen off.

Institutions "Outgrown" We have got to pour more money into these institutions. Our only source of money is forthcoming from the state—and it has been cut—we will have to cut accordingly.

We cannot have these young people studying in the aisles and in basements. It would be better to put a ceiling on enrollment and do a better job."

Shull said the drop in the federally-financed veterans program has already caused many state institutions to raise their tuition rates and go back to pre-war normal enrollment, for which their plants were built.

Beardsley suggested this trend probably is adding to our own unemployment burden, isn't it?" Shull, State University of Iowa student Virgil M. Hancher, and a State college President Charles Friley nodded quick agreement.

Includes Salary Increase Hancher said the request of university and its hospitals $12,762,900 annually—a 50 percent increase—included provision for raising the overall salary total 15 percent.

It also included a provision for 10 percent increase in the salary bill if it becomes necessary place the university and hospitals

Officials Say Mme. Chiang To Visit U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chiang Kai-Shek won't get an official White House invitation to come here to discuss China's plight. But his wife is planning on a visit.

President Truman turned down a suggestion by Rep. Sol Bloom (D-N.Y.) yesterday that the Generalissimo be asked to come to the United States to present a first hand account of conditions in China. Emerging from the President's office, Bloom told reporters that Mr. Truman "didn't see how Chiang could leave China at this time." The congressman, who is slated to head the house foreign affairs committee, said he reached the same conclusion after talking over the matter with the President.

But Bloom added: "What we need is real information about the Chinese situation, information of the kind we cannot get simply by sending men into China to stay a few weeks."

Meanwhile, Madame Chiang's impending visit was made known by the state department and confirmed by the Chinese embassy.

Both said they knew no details at all, even the time of her arrival or the length of her stay.

There appeared to be little doubt in any quarter, however, that the prime purpose of her mission would be to solicit further and stepped-up help from the U.S. for the central Chinese government in the war against the Communists.

Bloom suggested that she might testify at an informal joint session of the senate and house foreign affairs and appropriations committees.

The attractive, 50-year old first lady of China made a broadcast to Americans last Sunday from Nanking in support of Chinese requests for "more and quicker" U.S. help.

On the basis of Secretary of State George C. Marshall's remarks to a news conference Wednesday, Madame Chiang faces a cool official reception.

Marshall clearly indicated that top U.S. policy-makers are weighing carefully the question of what more, if anything, this country can afford to do to help the beleaguered Nationalists against advancing Communist armies.

Strike-Bound Liner Costs $160,000 Daily

SOUTHAMPTON, ENGLAND (AP) — Cunard White Star line officials estimated yesterday that the delay caused by the U.S. east coast longshoremen's strike had cost the company $160,000 in extra docking charges, wages and fuel.

The Elizabeth is now slated to sail with another delay last night when local stevedores balked at loading baggage in overtime night shifts.

Stevedores of the transport and general workers union ruled against work after normal quitting time to load heavy baggage of 300 passengers who were rebooked on the liner. Union officials said they would try to persuade the stevedores to reverse their decision so that baggage may be loaded in time for the liner's scheduled sailing.

In its reply the Soviet Union stood pat on the Moscow agreement of Aug. 30 for the introduction of the Soviet zone mark as Berlin's only currency as a condition to the ending of the blockade.

The accord never was put into effect because the four military governors of Germany split on interpretations of how the mark would be controlled by the four powers.

The joint western reply showed Britain, France and the United States called for a four-power financial commission to supervise the activities of the bank in the Soviet sector that would issue the marks.

Meanwhile Israel insisted last night that Egypt must agree to armistice talks before the Jews free 1,200 Egyptian troops trapped at Faluja in the Negev.

Aubrey S. Eban of Israel told the security council's seven-nation Palestine committee that his government was willing to review the entire Negev situation.

Beth Snyder Engagement Announced

New Rules Given By Red Cross for German Civilian Aid

The local Red Cross Chapter has received word that charitable, personal and family remittances may now be sent to German civilians residing in the American, British and French zones.

There is no limit as to the amount of these gifts of money and no restriction on who may receive them.

The plans worked out by the department of the army and office of U.S. military government, include all transactions except those pertaining to business.

Not for Transportation

The purpose of this new service is to give persons in the United States an opportunity to supply civilians in Germany with money that can be used in Germany. It cannot be used to pay for transportation to the United States. Transportation for civilians living in Germany may be purchased through international travel agencies or companies.

Individuals in United States who wish to transmit funds by this new system must do so through their local banks or the American Express company. Both of the local banks in Iowa City are handling these transactions.

Exchange Rate

Arrangements have been made for the payment of the funds which include a rate of exchange at 30 cents per German mark, minus the service charges of the German bank. If the transaction cannot be completed within three months, the money will be returned to the sender.

Postal regulations prohibit the sending of U.S. currency through the mails and German civilians are not permitted to have it in their possession.

Reed Declines Comment On Recent Resignation

ELDORA (AP)—Supt. Charles W. Reed of the state training school for boys declined yesterday to comment on his surprise resignation.

He said he would prepare a statement for the press in a few days. The 49-year-old superintendent has held the position, which pays $5,000 a year plus maintenance, little more than a year.

"For now, I can only verify my resignation," he said.

This Little Turkey Went to Market

"JUST ENOUGH FOR SOUP!" exclaimed Mrs. Wallace Russell, 717 Finkbine park, as she prepared the remainder of a Thanksgiving turkey yesterday. Very little meat was left on the bones of the bird by the five student couples who shared Thanksgiving dinner with Mrs. Russell and her husband, a graduate student in the psychology department.

Polar Telegraph Says —

Santa Arrives Today

— For Christmas Season

Flash! Santa Claus is coming to town. He wired Iowa City merchants by polar telegraph that he will arrive bag and baggage today.

After setting up headquarters at a local department store in the morning, the jolly, red faced old gentleman will be feted this morning at the annual Children's party in Iowa City theaters.

Santa has assured that he will be in Iowa City to hear all the boys and girls Christmas wishes all during the pre-Yuletide season. Several loads of Christmas gifts made by Santa's elves and brownies have already reached Iowa City merchants and are stacked high on store shelves.

The boys seem to be in Santa's gift spotlight more than ever this year. There are plastic tractors that won't nick furniture and flashlight battery operated electric trains with bright, shiny cars that are bound to please.

A completely automatic firehouse has a firebell that rings, a door that opens automatically, followed by station equipment which rushes out, a hydrant that works, and a hose that spouts water and puts out fires.

Mother's Little Helper
For the little girl who is mother's helper around the house, a wider assortment of plastic dishes and a real electric iron that heats only to a "safe" temperature are the new items entering the scene.

Something that mother will really appreciate probably will be found with dad's presents Christmas morning. It is a metal pocket ashtray about the size of a small box of matches.

If the boyfriend or even dad is a bit of a dandy, a pair of collar bobs are sure to hit the spot. Designed to hold unwieldy collars down, they also add a bit of dash to the man-about-town's apparel.

Camera-Sized Radio
That special co-ed will certainly "oh" and "ah" over the black plastic camera-sized radio with "Iowa" lettered along the bottom in gold metal.

If you're a practical minded shopper, there are always gold woolen mittens with "Iowa" embroidered across their backs. They are guaranteed to rate a kiss on the cheek, anyway!

Two Local Men Enlist For Service in Europe
John R. Kelley, 17, 12 W. Prentiss street, and Russell W. Poggenpohl, 18, 307 S. Madison street, have enlisted for three years in the regular army, M/Sgt. O. A. McClung, Iowa City recruiting office commander, said yesterday.

After basic training at Fort Riley, Kansas, the men will serve in Europe, McClung said.

Eleanor L. Douglas, Leonard F. Ralston Married Tuesday

The marriage of two University of Iowa students took place Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the Congregational church when Eleanor L. Douglas became the bride of Leonard F. Ralston.

The Rev. John G. Craig officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Douglas, Macomb, Ill. Mr. Ralston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Clyde Ralston, Des Moines.

Thelma Douglas, Dallas, Tex., sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Dean Van Metre, Clemons, was best man.

A wedding reception was held in the Congregational church at 2:15 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Ralston then left on a wedding trip through the east.

Mrs. Ralston graduated from Bardolph high school and is now a senior in the college of liberal arts in the university.

Mr. Ralston, a graduate of East Des Moines high school, is also enrolled in the college of liberal arts in the university.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralston will reside at 511 Lucas street in Iowa City.

Plan CARE Concert By SUI Orchestra

The SUI symphony orchestra will present a benefit performance for CARE at the KRNT radio theater in Des Moines at 3:30 p.m. Dec. 5.

The concert will be a part of the Iowa CARE program, William W. Ringheim of Nevada, State chairman of the Iowa committee for CARE, announced yesterday.

Jim Ameche, ABC announcer, will come from Chicago to make the appeal for contributions to CARE, and Dorothy Anderson, Des Moines mezzo-soprano, will present a group of songs.

There will be no admission charge to the performance but the net proceeds from a collection to be taken at the concert will be used to buy CARE packages for shipment to needy families abroad.

CARE (Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe) is a non-profit relief organization which sends food and clothing packages to the needy in foreign countries.

Officers Named by International Club

Charles Kin, E4, Rangoon, Burma, was elected president of the university International club at a general meeting Tuesday night in the YMCA conference room at the Iowa Union.

The organization adopted its constitution. Other officers elected for the 1948-49 school year were Vishnu N. Bhatia, G, Lucknow, India, as vice-president; Miss Raos Igarzabel, G, Lavalleja, Uruguay, as secretary and Tuck Hop Lee, E4, Manui, Hawaii, as treasurer.

Four members were also named to the program committee. They are Miss Ranjana Sidhanta of India, Simon Ince of Turkey, Jacqueline Jobin of France and George H. Madany of Syria.

The organization here has a membership of 179 persons from 38 countries including the United States.

Fackler Appointed To Aid NYU Dean

Dr. Clarence W. Fackler, SUI graduate, was recently appointed assistant dean of New York university's graduate school of business administration.

Fackler, a native of Des Moines, received his bachelor of arts from SUI, his masters degree from the University of Cincinnati, and taught at the University of Illinois before going to New York University.

He joined the faculty of NYU in 1925 as an instructor of economics, was appointed assistant professor in 1929 and associate professor in 1936.

ROOM AND BOARD

DR. AND MRS. HARRY WILLIAM SNYDER, Onawa, announce the engagement of their daughter Beth to Wilbur Kemble Watkins Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Watkins of Walluku, Maul, Hawaii. Miss Snyder is a 1945 graduate of the State University of Iowa school of Journalism. Mr. Watkins, who received his B.S. degree from the college of commerce, University of California, recently completed a year of pre-law study at the University of Hawaii. The wedding will take place in late December.

Ladd to Speak in Des Moines

Dean Mason Ladd of the SUI college of law will speak on problems of law enforcement before a joint session of Iowa county attorneys and sheriffs at their annual meeting in Des Moines Thursday, the law office said yesterday.

Ladd will address the joint session at 10 a.m. at Fort Des Moines. Then, at 3 p.m., he will tell the county attorneys about "The Effective Use of Scientific Tests in Court Trials."

This will include a discussion of new developments of proof for use in court trials, such as voice recordings and motion pictures in the taking of confessions of drunk drivers or other demonstrative types of evidence.

The dean will also point out techniques in introducing various types of fluid tests, such as the blood test for alcoholism.

Ladd is chairman of the committee of the National Safety

The Marengo Experiment —

Relationship of Atoms, Molecules, Matter Is Explained

(This is the fourth in a series summarizing the Marengo lectures on the atomic age.)

By RUSS PAULDING

Atoms are the chemist's building blocks.

They can be compared to the bricks and boards which go into the makeup of your home, SUJ chemistry director George Glockler, said.

It takes many different types and combinations of bricks and boards to create new type houses and buildings, just as it takes combinations of atoms of the 96 elements to create the 400,000 substances known to man.

The interesting feature, Glockler suggested, is the fact "that bricks are made of clay, sand, and other things."

Why then, he asks, "is it not natural for the scientist to wonder if atoms do or do not have a construction of their own?"

Proof of the theory has been advanced throughout the years, offering more and more reasons to answer the scientist's question.

An illustration, he said, is evidenced by the flow of electricity inside a radio tube where tiny particles moving from one point to another make the tube glow and feel warm. The flowing particles are called "electrons."

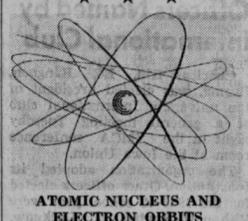

The chemist's building blocks — atoms — are believed to be made up of electrons revolving around nuclei. The electron then might be compared to materials which go into the makeup of brick. They are an important part of each atom just as sand is an important part of each brick.

The nuclei is another factor which goes into the formation of the chemist's building blocks. Similarly, clay is another factor which goes into the formation of brick.

A combination of the two, whether sand and clay or nuclei and electron — determines either brick or atom.

Opposite sexes attract each other, Glockler said, explaining another feature of atom formation. This is true of the atom, since the negative electron is attracted to the positive nucleus.

These negative and positive relationships — the chemist's building blocks — are forces unifying electrons and nuclei. Building blocks in turn form the many

ATOMIC NUCLEUS AND ELECTRON ORBITS

BY SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

The two men behaved as if they had not seen each other for a long time. They followed out the ritual which prescribes that if you have not seen a friend for a considerable period, you must strike him several times on the back, between the shoulder blades.

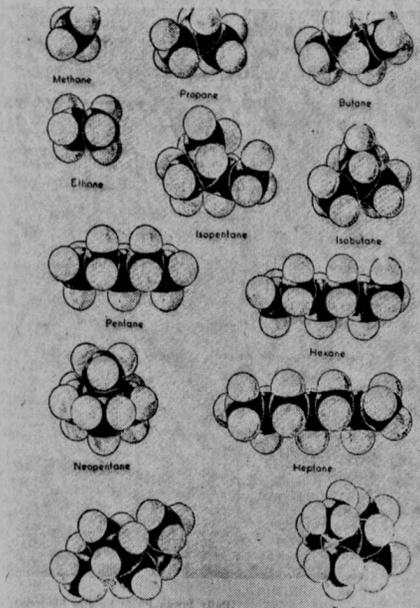

"It must be twenty years," said one of them.

"Long time," analyzed the other instantly.

"Sure has," said the other. "Depression and Roosevelt and war."

"The gift of second sight," said the first man. He seemed to like the idea, to be reluctant to leave it. "Just to be able to look ahead a bit."

He stopped, with an odd expression. "What's the matter?" asked the other. "Something wrong with your drink?"

ARCHITECTURE and the chemist, or how to build a model molecule. The 12 molecules are called hydrocarbons since each contains a combination of the elements, carbon and hydrogen. Knowing the "architecture" of different molecules, the chemist is able to develop new and better materials for everyday use. From the hydrocarbons we get gasoline, cleaning fluids, paraffin, and hundreds of other products. The white and black portions of each molecule show the numbers of each element — carbon or hydrogen — which go into the makeup of hydrocarbon molecules.

can be broken down or reduced to its two elemental parts — hydrogen and oxygen.

The atom — whether an atom of hydrogen, oxygen or sulphur — is not divisible.

Glockler said that this follows from the first lecture where we saw that "substances can be either elements, which cannot be divided into other substances — or compounds, which are combinations of elements, and can be divided back into their separate elements."

All matter is composed of molecules, which can be very simple — like salt with its two atoms — or very complicated. This is a way of thinking about matter, Glockler said, just as we think of houses being made of wood, brick or stone.

The constitution of matter is always a vast number of molecules. Each molecule has a fixed arrangement of atoms, whether it is solid, liquid or gas.

For example, the chemist said that water is always composed of the elements hydrogen and oxygen — H<sub>2</sub>O — whether it comes as ice, the hot or cold water or steam. The forms in which we find matter, solid, liquid or gas, are called "states of matter."

How tiny are molecules? It takes 602,400 billion billion water molecules to fill a thimble.

"We can also weigh and calculate the size of an atom," Glockler said. "To weigh it we divide the number of atoms into the mass or weight of the substance we have. Its size is something like four billionths of one inch. 'If that means anything to you,' he said, 'you ought to be a scientist.'"

The scientist has proven that different substances and families of substances have the atoms inside each molecule arranged in a very definite pattern.

In gasoline, for example, the atoms are arranged in straight lines. In some other substances, Glockler said, they are arranged in rings or in combinations of rings and lines. These combinations can become immensely complicated, like a modern painting, but unlike a painting, the structure is always symmetrical.

These varying structures of all substances might be called the "architecture" of a molecule. Glockler said that we can calculate the angle between one atom and another within a molecule, "just as you know that the kitchen is north or south of the living room within your house."

This is the basis for the development of synthetic substances — nylon, rubber, and many others. When we know the number of atoms, what elements there are and how they are arranged inside a molecule, "we can obviously construct that molecule," Glockler said.

This is how synthetic substances are made. The position of the atoms, as well as what sort of atoms they are and how many, determines the nature of the substance. Scientists refer to this as "molecular structure."

Summarizing both lectures Glockler itemized the chemical ideas as follows.

1. The physical universe is made of matter.
2. Matter consists of different substances.
3. Different substances consist of different molecules.
4. Molecules are made of atoms.
5. Chemistry is their science.

Iowa's Gillette Keeps Touch As a Key Demo Vote-Getter

Second in a Series

DES MOINES (AP) — The best vote-getter Iowa Democrats have had in modern times proved on Nov. 2 that he still has his touch. He is U.S. Senator-elect Guy M. Gillette, 69, who will return to the senate after a four-year political retirement. He was defeated by Senator B.B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) in 1944.

Gillette rebounded, however, by defeating George A. Wilson, the Republican incumbent, by 165,000 votes.

Gillette bid frankly for the votes of both parties. He pledged himself to continue to vote independently of party lines in the senate — just as he did in opposing the Roosevelt court plan.

Iowans of every political stripe agree that Gillette "really looks like a senator." He's silver-haired and handsome and carries his six-foot, 200-pound body with soldierly bearing. He does not drink or smoke. For relaxation he plays an old-fashioned reed organ by ear.

Gillette once was acclaimed Washington's best-dressed senator, but he admitted he owned only one everyday necktie and but three suits. It has been said he's the only man in the capitol who

A Vital Distinction

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas was addressing a CIO convention — but his words were aimed at America — when he said:

American labor may help this country reach an understanding with labor governments rising in Europe since most diplomats lack an understanding of the labor struggle.

American labor also can help the Americans understand that "these labor governments of Europe are not to be scorned or feared" and help the Europeans to understand that the Communists are wrong in teaching "that the fate of man is to pit class against class in a series of great blood-lettings."

Douglas' words carry deep significance since negotiations looking toward an Atlantic alliance between western Europe and the U.S. and Canada may start in Washington next week.

The governments of Britain, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg all have Socialist leanings. Some are outright labor governments while others have labor parties in their ruling coalitions.

They will be discussing with the U.S. and Canada the means of putting the western union on its feet defensively. The Marshall plan is putting the western union, and 11 other western European nations, on their feet economically.

But the prospect of economic health isn't easing the pressure of Russian expansion. In fact, as the Marshall plan has been shaping up more and more successfully, Communists have stepped up their pressure correspondingly to wreck it.

Western Europe has been forced to consider a military line-up against possible Soviet aggression. Material from the new world is the key to their plans.

When the new congress meets, the American people will be given another opportunity to debate the advisability of pouring new millions into Europe.

Douglas' words should be repeated then. Western European governments — whether all or part labor — are dedicated to western concepts of parliamentary government and the freedom of the individual.

Firm opponents of the Communist class-struggle doctrine, they stand not as allies but as opponents of Russia. In China, the U.S. is stumped since no democratic power exists to receive our whole-hearted support.

But such powers do exist in Europe. A clear understanding of where they stand ideologically will make the future in Europe seem brighter.

Waiting for the Sunrise

Attention is constantly being focused on the house committee on un-American activities. Much of the attention comes in a negative way. Ever since that group began hitting the newspapers' front pages there have been as many countercharges as there have been charges.

Each interest group that has been dragged through the badly executed procedure of prosecution by implication has in turn sprung to its own defense with tirades against the house committee.

It has been a constant sore spot with the accused that the accusers did not see fit to exonerate them with the same emphasis that marked the original accusations. The committee, in other words, attempted to sustain itself on a god-like level and assure its own infallibility.

Even the attempts to make the committee look foolish, to make them look un-American themselves, were met with cries from its supporters that these tactics were "Communist."

When scientists protested the attacks on Dr. Edward U. Condon, the committee merely countered this with guarded hints that probably all scientists were a little subversive. And in spite of the rough treatment Condon had received he was not convinced that the committee should be abolished. He has said that the committee has an important and difficult function to perform and should be continued — adding, however, that its procedures should be changed to conform to the rules of justice and evidence.

The most recent incident in the long and dubious history of the committee is its attack on certain church-affiliated groups which it says are being used as un-American tools.

The committee neglected to note that one such group, the Epworth league, had been defunct for nearly a decade. It also did not reckon with the American mind which does not reconcile Communism with the church in any form. Therefore, at a time when the committee was looking pretty foolish anyway, they have hit a part of the "American way of life" which many Americans will support with blind prejudice — feeling that these congressmen are striking at the basic precepts of our nation. These people may number with former allies of the investigative committee.

So the committee bulls on; alienating here and there until one day they'll wake up and they won't have a friend in the world. It may not happen tomorrow — but we can wait.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT Here's to Our Second Sight

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

The two men behaved as if they had not seen each other for a long time. They followed out the ritual which prescribes that if you have not seen a friend for a considerable period, you must strike him several times on the back, between the shoulder blades. This they both did, and then sat down and ordered drinks.

"It must be twenty years," said one of them.

"Long time," analyzed the other instantly.

"Sure has," said the other. "Depression and Roosevelt and war."

"The gift of second sight," said the first man. He seemed to like the idea, to be reluctant to leave it. "Just to be able to look ahead a bit."

He stopped, with an odd expression. "What's the matter?" asked the other. "Something wrong with your drink?"

get rid of them and they won't get rid of us. But everything'll be kind of all right."

"You didn't see any atomic bombs going off?" asked the other man.

"No."

"End of the world? Anything like that?"

"Mankind starving? Big depression?"

"No. Rather prosperous. Just like now."

"No," said the first. "I had a funny feeling, just then. As if I could really look ahead."

"What'd you see?" asked the other. "I'll bet it was scary, if today is any sample."

"That's just it," said the first. "I had the funniest feeling. As if nothing very terrible is going to happen in the next twenty years. We're going to go plugging along, pretty much as we are now. The labor unions will go right on; they won't quit. Russia'll go right on, and we'll go right on. We won't

Files $10,661 Damage Suit

A $10,661 suit was filed yesterday in the Johnson county district court in connection with an auto-truck collision east of Iowa City June 6 when two persons were killed.

Arlo Barnes of Montezuma, driver of the truck, filed the suit against Vernon Willis of Muscatine, owner of the automobile involved in the collision.

Robert Crose of Muscatine was driving the automobile at the time of the crash. He and Mrs. Vernon Willis, a passenger in the car, were killed.

In three counts Barnes asked a total of $10,661. He asked $5,250 for damages to the truck and trailer, $4,750 for personal injuries and $661.85 for the two cattle which were killed in the crash. The cattle were being taken to Chicago in the trailer of Barnes' truck.

Barnes said Crose was driving the car with the knowledge and consent of the defendant.

Barnes is represented by McFarlin and McFarlin of Montezuma.

Move to Transfer Young Damage Suit

A motion was filed yesterday in the Johnson county district court to transfer a $75,000 damage suit to the U.S. district court in Davenport.

The suit was brought by Alton Young of Iowa City. Young's son, Robert, lost one hand by amputation after he came in contact with an electric circuit on the Benton street bridge.

The defendant in the case, the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company and the local district manager, Robert Lind, filed the motion. The motion also pointed out that the defendant in the case is an Illinois corporation and that Lind is improperly named as a defendant.

BUDGET—

pital facilities on a 40-hour week.

Earlier, Blue had asked the board to give him by Dec. 20 its views on the advisability of raising tuition fees to cut down on the requested increase from state funds. He reviewed the state's financial setup and said it could not handle the 80 percent budget increase asked by all state departments.

Particularly would that be true, Blue said, "If there is a price break."

The board of education's request consists of $50,517,872 for salaries, supplies and maintenance during the next two years — an increase of more than $25-million, and $32,238,257 for capital improvements, an increase of $29,958,536.

SUI Salaries Lowest

Most of the operating increase requested for each of the six state institutions administered by the board was for higher salaries. Hancher said the State University of Iowa salary scale for professors, assistant professors and instructors is, in each case, lower than that at any other state school in the big nine.

The building programs were headed by a proposed new $2,500,000 field house and auditorium at Iowa State college and a proposed $2,420,000 pharmacy-dental building at the State University of Iowa. It was one of 14 projects, costing $10,767,500, for which an appropriation from the 1949 legislature was asked.

An additional annual state appropriation of $4,612,500 is requested for University hospital, Psychopathic hospital, Bacteriological laboratory, handicapped children, and the Lake Side laboratory. This compares with a 2,702,500 annual current appropriation for these purposes.

A total of $10,767,500 is requested for capital improvements in the biennium at the university and its hospitals. This is in addition to the $12,762,909 annual request ($25,535,818 total) for operation of the university and hospitals. The capital improvement projects are:
