Highway Bridge Collapses With Truck, Cuts Off Gas Service

COLLAPSE OF THIS BRIDGE cut off gas service in Cardinton, Ohio. The main highway bridge on U.S. Route 42 collapsed with a truck-trailer yesterday morning, breaking a gas main. Gas service to about 500 residents of the village was disrupted. The driver and his companion were uninjured.

Present Cabinet to Stay, Dewey Campaign Asset Truman Tells Newsmen

Price Outlook Brightens

Truman Hears Experts' View

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government experts advised President Truman yesterday that the fight against high prices is taking a brighter turn. However, it may be late 1949 before housewives can really celebrate. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's economic advisory committee, called on Mr. Truman at the White House and later he told newsmen he informed the chief executive: There has been a "flattening out of some prices" and "they don't seem to be jumping through the ceiling." "Food has had quite a turn down and is now moving down at a somewhat slower rate." "There has been a softening of prices on quite a number of clothing items," but rental charts still show a "creeping advance."

Mme. Chiang To Talk With Pres. Truman

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman said yesterday he's not angry with anybody, and there will be no changes in his cabinet at this time. Every man in the cabinet has been asked to stay on, and they are all perfectly willing to do so, Mr. Truman told his first Washington news conference since his Nov. 1 election sweep. That was only the highlight of a question-and-answer discussion that ran the range from significant to trivial, a discussion to which Mr. Truman brought a seemingly new-found sureness and skill. As question after question came up, Mr. Truman disposed of them this way: 1. Of all the influences in his election, he regards Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican presidential nominee, as his greatest asset. This, at the end of the conference, was delivered deadpan for an instant and then with a wide grin and chuckle.

Speech Meet Of 16 Schools Opens at SUI

Speech students from 16 universities and colleges will arrive in Iowa City today to participate in SUI's seventh annual intercollegiate conference on world problems. Prof. A.C. Baird, director of forensics, will give the welcoming address at the opening meeting of the two-day conference at 9:45 a.m. today in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. Featuring events in discussion, debate, public speaking, after-dinner speaking and extemporaneous speaking, the conference is being managed by L. L. Cowper-tawait, speech instructor and director of men's debate. His assistant is Miss Margaret Woods, communication skills instructor and director of women's debate. The schools participating include the Universities of Chicago, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Northwestern, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Purdue, South Dakota, Wichita, Michigan State, Marquette and the U.S. Military academy.

Okay to 'Rump' Regime

Russians Recognize Berlin Government As Tension Mounts

BERLIN (AP) — The Russians announced last night their formal recognition of the Communist rump government in Berlin. This further step in dividing the city came as German Communists clashed again with political opponents and police at a western Berlin political rally. It was the second successive night of such violence. ADN, the Soviet-sponsored news agency, said Col. Alexis Jelisarov, the acting Soviet commandant, had announced recognition of the Communist government by the Soviet command. Jelisarov made the action known in a communication to Ottomar Geschke. The latter was chairman of the Communist-led "extra-ordinary city assembly" which hand-picked the rump government two days ago. With tension mounting over next Sunday's elections in the western sectors of the city, scores of Communist toughs invaded a Christian Democratic rally in the borough of Spandau in the British sector. There were 24 other rallies in the British, French and American sectors of the city but these were peaceful. Anti-Communists in the audience at Spandau pounced on the hecklers and with the aid of police tossed out 15 of them before the rally was an hour old. A few were roughed up but none was injured seriously. No arrests were made. Police used clubs to subdue some Communists, among whom were women planted in the crowd of 1,500, police said.

Shelve Israel Membership; Chilean Flays Russia in UN

PARIS (AP) — The security council yesterday shelved Israel's request for membership in the United Nations by sending the application to a membership committee. At the same time an odd combination of pro-Arab and pro-Israel countries killed two of the main sections of a British plan for a Palestine settlement which was before the assembly's political committee. The two clauses turned down referred to the UN partition plan approved Nov. 29, 1947 and to the report of Count Folke Bernadotte, slain Palestine mediator. Delegates said the committee action left the conciliation commission a free hand, without reference either to the original partition or the Bernadotte plan. Meanwhile, Luis David Cruz Ocampo, former Chilean Moscow ambassador, whose only son is a voluntary exile in Russia because his wife is denied permission to leave denounced the Soviet regime yesterday in one of the bitterest and most unusual speeches ever made before the United Nations. Cruz Ocampo addressed the UN legal committee in support of a Chilean resolution accusing Russia of violating fundamental human rights by refusing to let the Russian-born wives of foreign citizens leave the Soviet union. Enforce Ordinance, 15 Tickets Issued

Iowa City police last night cracked down on violators of the no-turn sign at the Dubuque and Washington street intersection. Police said they gave out 15 tickets in a short time to drivers who disregarded the sign which is switched on during the noon and evening rush hours to the enable pedestrians to cross the intersection. Officers said they would continue to give tickets to drivers who turn at the corner in violation of the sign which requires them to continue straight ahead when it is lit.

Union Admits Staging Raid

KALAMAZOO, MICH. (AP) — Thomas Shane, CIO united steel workers regional director, admitted yesterday that his union staged the destructive raid of 200 to 400 men on strike-bound Shakerspears plants. Shane said that he was in the group that invaded the plants early Wednesday and according to police injured eight workers, overturned a dozen cars, burned one, and terrorized employees. Meanwhile, Circuit Judge John Simpson of Jackson was named a one-man grand juror to investigate the disturbance which Gov. Kim Sigler described as "an organized conspiracy of a goon squad." Shane charged that the company, maker of fishing tackle and auto parts, had imported strike-breakers to halt the walkout by the United Steelworkers who struck Sept. 7 in a dispute over seniority.

Communists Announce Taking Of Suchow; Threat to Nanking

NANKING (AP) — The Chinese Communists announced last night they had captured Suchow, and Government reports gave no reason to doubt it. Along the 211-mile route from Suchow to Nanking, the Government was left with three large bodies of troops, all in critical plights. One was the 250,000-man government force moving tardily out of Suchow. Its advance parties were reported stalled by Communist interception 25 miles to the south. The second was a 100,000 man group trapped 130 miles northwest of Nanking in a rapidly-tightening Communist noose. The third was the last main reliance of this alarmed capital: 80,000 troops hotly engaged around Pengpu, on the broad Hwai river only 100 miles northwest of Nanking. This last force was reported in some danger of a Communist encircling maneuver. Behind it lay only sketchy local defenses and the broad Yangtze river, with Nanking on the south bank. The Foreign Ministry nevertheless informed the foreign diplomatic corps that it had no intention of removing the capital. Shih Chao-ying, foreign office spokesman, said that Jacques Meyerrier, French ambassador and dean of the foreign diplomats, had replied that heads of missions also all would remain in Nanking. The Communist radio, heard in Nanking, said Suchow fell at 8 p.m., Wednesday. It gave no details.

Public Recognition Means Little, Says Spence in Lecture

"Public acknowledgement is a very sorry joy if you have no one to share it with," author Hartzell Spence said of his life last night. Though he achieved fame and money by the writing of a book, "One Foot in Heaven," he said his life was empty and lonely. Speaking on "My Pursuit of Happiness" to an audience of about 800 people at the Iowa Union, Spence gave an autobiographical account of his search for many years to find his place in life. Spence said he spent many years writing 12 books. None were published until he realized his writing was not real. Up until five years ago, he said, he and his wife had made a botch of their lives. Upon this realization they bought land in Virginia and an old house and began to mold a life that would be beneficial and dissolve their loneliness. The house and land they bought was a degenerated monument of past dreams and living, Spence said. In rebuilding the house and land they found a place to plant their roots, to establish traditions. He, his wife and two children began to live as a family instead of four frustrated individuals. Speaking of his college days here at SUI, Spence said he worked his way through school by writing for "True Confessions." He dug into many of the experiences of his father, a Methodist minister, and colored them with incidents from his fraternity house. Spence said he wrote his first book when he was in the fourth grade and a 100,000 word opus when he was in the sixth grade. When in high school he wrote serious stories and turned them in as installments for assignments.

Marshall Talks to China's First Lady

Their meeting was at Walter Reed army general hospital where Marshall is undergoing a check-up. WEST COAST MARITIMERS ORDERED BACK TO WORK SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Seafarers and stevedores were ordered back to work last night for the first time since the west coast maritime strike. Orders were dispatched from union hiring halls to seagoing and shoreside workers to get steam up and begin loading operations on four ships so they can sail "as soon as possible."

Warns of Danger in Education Monopoly

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Ford II, president of the Ford motor company, said last night that private colleges and universities must compete with tax-supported institutions to keep education from becoming a government monopoly. Ford spoke at the annual class agents dinner of Yale university alumni fund association. "I am very much against an educational system that depends entirely on the state with a capital 'S'—that is, centralized under government control or supervision," Ford declared. "It would suffer from all the faults of every monopoly. It would grow fat and unimaginative. But worse than that, it would tend to teach the views of the government in power." Ford warned that the country's private colleges and universities would find themselves more and more in competition with tax-supported institutions.

Truman's 'Defeat' Greets Him Daily

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman has a new desk piece—a metal reproduction of a Chicago Tribune election night headline: "Dewey defeats Truman." Reporters in the front row at Mr. Truman's news conference yesterday spotted it quickly. The President, asked about the item, chuckled and said it had been presented to him by the Chicago Sun-Times.

Cards' Stan Musial Named Most Valuable NL Player

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, whose potent bat rattles rival hurlers and distant fences, yesterday became the first man in the history of the National league to win its most valuable player award three times.

STAN MUSIAL

Musial has both the technique and the habit. The 28-year-old outfielder, who paced his circuit in batting last season with a .376 average, first captured the MVP award in 1943 during his third year in the majors and repeated the accomplishment in 1946.

Joins Foxx, DiMaggio
The slender slugger from Donora, Pa., who also topped his league in runs batted in with 131, thus joined the select company of Jimmy Foxx and Joe DiMaggio, only three-time winners of the award in the American league.

Musial, who received 22 first-place votes in 1946, gathered only 18 first-placers for 1948, but his point total of 303 was 80 points better than the 223 points polled by runnerup Johnny Sain of the Boston Braves.

Only six of the 24 baseball writers who voted failed to give Musial their first-place vote. The cardinal outfielder received four second-place votes and one vote each for third and fourth place. Votes were counted on the basis of 14 points for first place; nine points or second place, eight points for third place and so on down the line.

Sain, the Boston right-hander who won 24 victories last season, received five first place votes while the only other first place vote went to his team-mate, Shortstop Alvin Dark, who wound up third in the balloting with 174 points, 49 less than Sain.

Third Baseman Sid Gordon of the New York Giants was fourth with 72 points, followed by Southpaw Harry Brecheen of the Cardinals with 61 points.

Others who received votes were Pee Wee Reese, Dodgers, 60; Ralph Kiner, Pirates, and Enos Slaughter, Cards, 55 each; Dan Murtaugh, Pirates, 52; Stan Rojek, Pirates, 51;

Richie Ashburn, Phillies, 48; Johnny Schmitz, Cubs, 37; Bob Elliott, Braves, award winner in 1947, 33; Warren Spahn, Braves, 31; Jackie Robinson, Dodgers, 30; Andy Pafko, Cubs, 25; Johnny Mize, Giants, 22; Rex Barney, Dodgers, 15; Johnny Vander Meer, Reds, 13; Johnny Wyrostek, Reds, 9.

Ralph Branca and Roy Campanella, Dodgers, and Bob Cheshnes, Pirates, 8 each; Phil Cavarretta, Cubs, 6; Eddie Miller, Phillies, 4; Del Ennis, Phils, and Grady Hatton, Reds, 3 each; Larry Jansen, Giants, and Dixie Walker, Pirates, 2 each; Gil Hodges, Dodgers, Whitey Lockman, Giants, and Hank Sauer, Reds, 1 each.

Honorable Mention
Players receiving honorable mention were Pafko, 10; Mize and Schmitz, 9 each; Cheshnes and Spahn, 8 each; Brecheen, Jansen, Rojek, Sauer, Slaughter and Vander Meer, 7 each;

Jeff Heath, Braves, Tommy Holmes, Braves, Lockman and Robinson, 6 each; Elliott and Reese, 5 each; Ashburn, Barney, Campanella, Ennis, Sheldon, Jones, Giants, Kiner, Ed Waitkus, Cubs, and Walker, 4 each; Phil Masi and Earl Torgeson, Braves, Murtaugh, Rip Sewell, Pirates, and Wyrostek, 3 each;

Frank Baumholtz, Reds, Buddy Kerr, Giants, Mike McCormick, Braves, and Marty Marion, Cards, 2 each; Bruce Edwards, Dodgers, Harry Gumbert, Reds, Frank Gustine and Wally Westlake, Pirates, Harry Lowrey and Bob Scheffing, Cubs, Eddie Stanky, Braves, Bill Rigney and Willard Marshall, Giants, Terry Moore, Ted Wilks and Howie Pollet, Cards, and Emil (Dutch) Leonard, Phillies, 1 each.

Claims Army's Blaik Refused Orange Bowl Because of Irish

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Army Kenneth Royall, replying to a statement that he had given Army permission to play in the Sugar Bowl football game, said yesterday that he had done just the opposite.

"The question of the Army team playing in the Sugar Bowl was discussed with me by Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, superintendent of the Army Military Academy," Royall said. "It was decided negatively after careful consideration of all of the factors involved."

Earlier, Hap Glaudi, sports editor of the New Orleans Item, said the Royall had given Army permission to play in the Sugar Bowl but that Coach Earl (Red) Blaik refused because of the possibility that the opponent might be Notre Dame.

Blaik, he said, "considered, hesitated, then refused."

In New York, Blaik who was there to accept the Lambert Memorial trophy, emblematic of Eastern football supremacy, said that "for the past several seasons, Army has received invitations to play in the Sugar, Orange and Cotton Bowl games."

"These invitations have been declined with thanks," he said, "because Army's policy is against post season games."

"Permission for Army's participation had been granted by Royall, a North Carolina alumnus, who is a Sugar Bowl admirer," Glaudi said.

Glaudi asked the question "why did Blaik refuse?" then answered it.

"He is well aware of the close tie between the Sugar Bowl and Frank Leahy of Notre Dame and figured perhaps correctly, that with Army as a lure, the Sugar Bowl would have offered the other invitation to Notre Dame."

"There is little doubt that Leahy and the Irish would have waived preliminaries to make the acceptance. It is common knowledge that Blaik, for reasons of his own, desires no part of Notre Dame. And, certain that the Sugar Bowl would not permit him to select his foe, Blaik was careful not to be caught in a moment of bowl weakness."

'Little All-Americans' Named

NEW YORK (AP) — The football strongholds of the midwest and south contributed three players each to the 1948 Associated Press Little All-America.

The far west is represented by two players, as is the east. The southwest has a lone delegate. Two of the players on the 1948 aggregation are repeaters from the 1947 team — Guard James Nelson of Missouri Valley and Eddie Le Baron of the College of Pacific backfield.

Le Baron, one of the most nimble T-operators on the Pacific Coast, again is the youngest of the honored players. He now is 18 and a junior at the school which A. A. Stagg brought to the limelight in his years as coach there.

(Special to the Daily Iowan)
OTTUMWA — Dale Seydel and Paul Flannery led St. Mary's of Iowa City in a convincing rout of Catholic Central here last night, 41-23.

Flannery scored 15 points, 12 on field goals, and Seydel collected 14, including 10 from the floor.

The best individual total Catholic Central could muster was Gael Centor Andy Johnson's six points.

St. Mary's next game will be Monday against Loras academy at Dubuque.

Hamilton Undecided on Pitt Job

CAPT. TOM HAMILTON

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Navy Captain Thomas Hamilton asserted yesterday he still was undecided about taking the Pitt athletic directorship—but he brought his wife here to do some house hunting.

"She's here to look for a place to live," said the handsome Naval academy athletic director, adding hastily:

"That is if I take the post and am permitted to do so."

That was the punch line of an hour-long news conference featuring a day's visit to the university of Pittsburgh. Hamilton has been offered the athletic directorship by Pitt—and the university has undertaken a strenuous courtship to get him. But Tom said:

"I can't say there are any commitments. I'm going to talk here and I'm going back and talk with the navy again."

The navy's feelings in the matter apparently are the principal rub. A Pitt source said the university "hopes to make it so financially advantageous that Capt. Hamilton will see fit to relinquish his cherished navy attachments for the position here."

That financial advantage is rumored to be about $15,000 a year.

"I'm happy to be in Pittsburgh but I'm not prepared to say that I intend to stay," Hamilton said. "I have to talk to navy officials before I can make any decision. I want to do the right thing about the navy. I like it too well to do otherwise."

Hamilton's 20-years-plus service makes him eligible for retirement but the navy has the right to retain any personnel to the maximum retirement age of 65.

Feudin' n' Fussin' To End in Dixie

By STERLING SLAPPEY
BIRMINGHAM, ALA. (AP) — They'll take the bandages off a 41-year-old football wound Saturday to see if the scar is healed.

The wound is the rupture of athletic relations between Alabama's major colleges — Auburn and the University of Alabama — a strange schism which is credited to many and varied causes.

Whatever the cause was back in 1907 which brought about the end of football, baseball, basketball and all other sports competition between the Crimson Tide and Plainsmen, the trouble apparently will be cured on Birmingham's Legion field Saturday.

No one seems to know definitely what caused the break or what could have happened to make two schools so mad at each other. There are stories that the 1907 game, which ended 6-6, also ended in a blaze of fists, clubs and heels. But contemporary papers in Birmingham, Tuscaloosa and Montgomery mention no such fight.

A few oldtimers who saw that last game say Alabama used a semi-legal shift and caused Auburn to punt for 41 years. Others say Auburn used the shift and Alabama punted.

Alabama first went to the Rose Bowl in 1925, thereby becoming the power. Auburn made overtures after that but Alabama, the southern football king, was cool.

Through the years state legislators, even a couple of governors, pleaded with the teams to play. No one listened.

In 1945 a bill was presented to the Alabama legislature which would force a game. The bill died in the house. Last year a rider was attached to the general appropriations bill to withhold funds from Auburn and Alabama until they met. This bill passed the senate but was killed with an understanding the schools had until the next session to patch difficulties.

Nevada Accepts Game At Honolulu Dec. 17

RENO, NEV. (AP) — The University of Nevada yesterday accepted the University of Hawaii's invitation for a post-season football game in Honolulu on Dec. 17.

Coach Joe Sheeketski said Nevada agreed to a flat $17,000 guarantee offered by Hawaii.

Sports Evenings Swimming, Basketball In Fieldhouse

A variety of sporting events are available for students at all-university sports nights held at the fieldhouse every Tuesday and Friday evening from 7:30 until 9:15. The events include mixed swimming, basketball, badminton, table tennis, tennis, trampoline, squash and volleyball.

All activities are free, but participants must supply their own towels and tennis equipment. The program is open to all faculty, students and their wives, and employees. No children will be admitted to the pool.

"It's a wonderful opportunity for students who have no special degree of ability to participate in their favorite sports," said Dr. Donald Klotz, head man of the program.

Hawklets' League Tilts Begin Tonight

City High receives its first test in Mississippi Valley conference play tonight, when they entertain the West Waterloo Wahawks.

The Hawklets are going into the game boasting a pair of non-conference victories without a setback. They captured a 39-32 verdict over Newton in the season's opener and overwhelmed Belle Plaine 52-25 last Saturday night.

Claims Football in Colleges 'Monster'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A university president kicked yesterday about what has happened to college football.

The game has been kidnaped from the players, he said, and made a sacrifice to victory and box office success.

Dr. William S. Carlson emphasized he was not delivering a harangue on the purity of intercollegiate athletics, pro or con.

"And if the offspring is at times a Frankenstein's monster which threatens to obliterate the aims of the college itself," said the University of Delaware head, "at least it is a monster of the colleges' own making."

Dr. Carlson told the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic conference that any respected college has a reputation and a tradition of disinterested service which must apply even to the entertainment which they retail in the form of football.

Big 9 Ponders Scholarships; Studies Michigan State's Bid

CHICAGO (AP) — Big Nine headquarters yesterday disclosed that the league's athletic directors held an unannounced meeting here Wednesday to revise a new conference athletic code apparently rejected by some schools.

The athletic directors also discussed Michigan State's membership bid, although the conference faculty representatives have sole jurisdiction in the matter expected to be studied at the winter meeting here next week.

The revised code previously had been submitted to member schools for approval or rejection and necessary unanimous approval was lacking within a constitution-prescribed period of 60 days.

Hence, the athletic directors sought to correct objectionable points prior to the winter session where only a majority vote is necessary for approval.

Under the rejected code, an athlete who maintained a B scholastic average, or was in the upper 25 percent of his high school graduating class, was limited to a maximum scholarship of $300, exceeding tuition and fees.

Objecting schools, it was learned contended this discriminated against athletes, since other students eligible for the same type of scholarship could obtain larger financial remuneration.

Michigan State reportedly has mustered its strongest bid to gain a Big Nine berth after several brush-offs since Chicago dropped out of the conference.

Irish Lose 48-33 Game to Burlington

(Special to the Daily Iowan)
BURLINGTON — St. Paul's Hill-toppers of Burlington cleaned St. Pat's Irish at Burlington last night to the tune of 48-33.

The Irish suffered the loss of four of its first stringers who were suspended indefinitely by Father Pacha, Irish coach, for breaking training.

In the starting lineup replacing the seniors were Juniors Tom Falls and Earl Cooney at forward posts, Alvin Streb at guard, and Sophomore Jerry Cunningham at center.

Cooney made a good showing with seven field goals and two free throws.

Rumors of Resignation Of Father Pacha Denied

Msr. Patrick O'Reilly, pastor of St. Patrick's church, last night denied rumors that Father Pacha, basketball coach at St. Patrick's High school, had resigned.

The rumors of Father Pacha's resignation followed his action Wednesday of suspending four regular players from the St. Pat's squad for breaking training.

"There's nothing to the rumors," said Father O'Reilly last night. He dismissed the reports as "gossip."

Groups Plan Fourteen Dances for Weekend

Fourteen dances will inaugurate a series of pre-holiday festivities at SUH housing units this week-end. The list of social events includes informal, semi-formal, formal and dinner dances. Next week's schedule will climax the year-end activities.

ALPHA KAPPA KAPPA—Members of Alpha Kappa Kappa, medical fraternity, will have their annual winter semi-formal dance at the chapter house tomorrow night. Dancing will be from 9 to 12 to music by Dick Tripp and his orchestra. Chaperones are Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Saar and Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Borts.

BETA THETA PI—The annual formal dinner-dance for members of Beta Theta Pi fraternity and their guests will be held at the chapter house tonight beginning at 6:30. Bill Meardon's orchestra will provide music for the dance which starts at 9 p.m. Chaperones and special guests include Mrs. A. Hammill, housemother, Mrs. George Hittler, Mr. and Mrs. Marc Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Harlan, the Rev. and Mrs. H. McGehee and Mr. and Mrs. William Morrison.

CURRIER HALL—"Debut in December," winter formal for residents of Currier hall and their dates, will be held in the dining rooms of the dormitory tomorrow night from 9 to 12. Nat Williams and his orchestra will play for dancing. Chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Huit and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ballantyne.

DELTA DELTA DELTA—Delta Delta Delta sorority will hold their annual Christmas formal at the chapter house tonight from 9 to 12. Chaperones are Mrs. Lida Mae Filkins, housemother, Mrs. H. F. Scholes, Mrs. Harriet Bauman and Mr. and Mrs. John Kamerick.

DELTA GAMMA—The annual winter formal for members of Delta Gamma sorority and their dates will be held at the chapter house tomorrow night from 9 to 12. Leo Cortimiglia and his band will play for the dance. Chaperones include Mrs. Ralph Overholser, housemother, Prof. and Mrs. Leslie Moeller and Mrs. H. F. Scholes.

DELTA TAU DELTA—Members of Delta Tau Delta fraternity will entertain their dates at a formal dinner-dance tonight from 7:30 to 12 at the Hotel Jefferson. Hal Webster and his band will provide music for the dance. Chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Farrell and Mrs. Hazel Foley, housemother.

GAMMA PHI BETA—"Joyeux Noel" is the theme of the annual Gamma Phi Beta sorority and their guests tonight. Dick Tripp and his orchestra will play for the dance. Chaperones are Mrs. O. H. Allbee, housemother, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Rehder and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Olin.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA—"Frozen Fantasy" is the name given to the annual winter formal for members of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and their dates to be held at the chapter house tomorrow night from 9:30 to 12. Chaperones are Mrs. M. H. Anderson, housemother, Prof. and Mrs. Jack Johnson, Prof. and Mrs. Fred Pownall, Mrs. A. W. Guernsey, Mrs. Marie Grant and Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Fenton.

PHI BETA PI—The annual winter semi-formal for members of Phi Beta Pi and their dates will be held at the chapter house tomorrow night from 9 to 12. Dr.

R. B. Gibson and Dr. and Mrs. S. B. Barker will act as chaperones.

PI BETA PHI—Members of Pi Beta Phi sorority will have their annual winter formal tonight at the chapter house from 9 to 12. Leo Cortimiglia and his band will play for the dance. Mrs. Harriet Evans, housemother, Mrs. Ralph Overholser, Prof. and Mrs. Wendell Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Koza will be chaperones.

PHI KAPPA PSI—Phi Kappa Psi fraternity will have their annual formal dinner-dance at the chapter house tonight from 9 to 12. The Savoy Septet will provide music for the dance. Chaperones are Mrs. Marie Grant, housemother, Mrs. M. H. Anderson, and Mrs. W. J. Cook.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON—Members of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity will entertain their dates at "Yuletide Lodge," a formal dance to be given at the chapter house tomorrow night from 8:30 to 12. Grant Eastham and his band will play for the affair. Chaperones are Mrs. A. J. Schermerhorn, housemother, Dr. and Mrs. William Coder, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. McCarty and Mrs. Rhea Dahl.

WESTLAWN—"Caps Caprice," annual dance for student nurses and their dates will be held in the main lounge of the Union tonight from 9 to 12. Nat Williams and his orchestra will provide music for the dance. During the intermission Dr. Russell Meyers, chairman of the division of neurosurgery at the University hospitals, will be a featured pianist. Misty Tennerman, N4, Deerfield, Ill., is general chairman for the affair.

NU SIGMA NU—Members of Nu Sigma Nu, medical fraternity, and their dates will attend an informal party at the chapter house from 8 to 12 tomorrow night. Joe Gottsch, social chairman, is in charge of the dance.

Student Orators Given Radio Time

Ten Johnson county high school students will go on the air tomorrow as they vie for honors in the Jaycee sponsored "I Speak for Democracy" contest.

The contest beginning at 2 p.m. in the city high auditorium, will be broadcast by Iowa City radio stations, KXIC and WSUI.

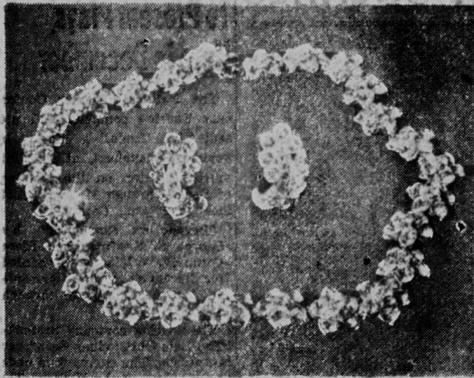

The ten orators, winners of preliminary contests held last week in Johnson county schools, represent the four Iowa City high schools, Oxford and Lone Tree. A $50 war bond will be awarded the winner and a transcription of his speech will be entered in a state contest.

Kelly, Gustafson Play Solos at Music Recital

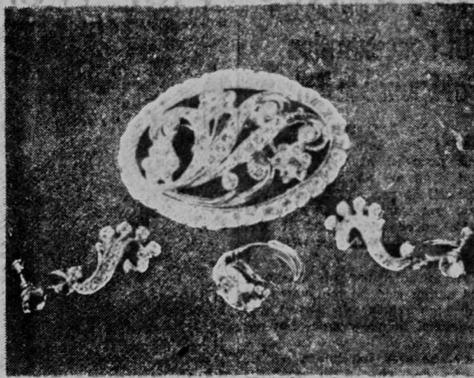

Mack Kelly, clarinet, and Carl R. Gustafson, tenor, will be the soloists in a recital tonight at 7:30 in the north music hall.

Nadine Knowlton and Kathryn Rose will serve as accompanists. Irene Gianedakis, violin; Marilyn McCreery, violin, and Charles Becker, cello, will participate in a quartet number in which Kelly will play the leading part.

Glittering Glamour on College Girl's Budget

FRAME YOUR FACE in dazzling rhinestones, say leading stylists. Glittering like diamonds, this matched necklace and carclip set is ideal for any dressy occasion. The necklace hugs the throat, lending sophistication to winter costumes. The floral design adds detail and richness to the ensemble.

MANY MALE CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS will choose rhinestone sets similar to this when they purchase that special Christmas gift. The dangling ear clips, gaining new popularity this season, the brooch and the ring will complement any holiday costume. This expensive-looking jewelry is moderately priced.

Winter Formals Many Will Be Seen At Xmas Parties

Many new winter formals will make initial appearance this week end in the whirl of Christmas parties planned by housing units. Rose Marie St. John, A4, Daventport, will wear black at the Currier winter formal, one of the first parties of the holiday season. Her off-the-shoulder gown has a net skirt and velvet bodice. Her rhinestone necklace and bracelet will accent her costume as she dances to the music of Nat Williams.

Special guests at the Phi Beta Pi semi-formal dance tomorrow will be Dr. and Mrs. S. B. Barker. Mrs. Barker will be attired in a formal gown of burgundy and pink with burgundy gloves.

Lois Finders, A3, Oelwein, will go to "Frozen Fantasy," the Kappa Alpha Theta winter formal tomorrow, in a black strapless gown of more taffeta. She'll wear rhinestone accessories and a hip corsage.

A dusky-green satin gown will be worn tonight by Jo Patten, A2, Springville, when she attends the Gamma Phi Beta winter formal. Her gown has a low-cut neckline, a fitted bodice and a full skirt.

Also choosing black for her costume this week end is Mrs. Leslie G. Moeller. She'll wear a black net formal gown when she and Professor Moeller attend the Delta Gamma winter formal tomorrow as special guests.

Gifts That Glitter Sparkling Rhinestones Lead Fashion Parade; Dazzling Basis for Jewelry Collection

A sparkling addition to any glamor costume, dazzling rhinestones are again leading the parade of the fashion-minded. Glittering like diamonds, rhinestones are within the budget range of any college girl. They form the basis of many smart jewelry collections.

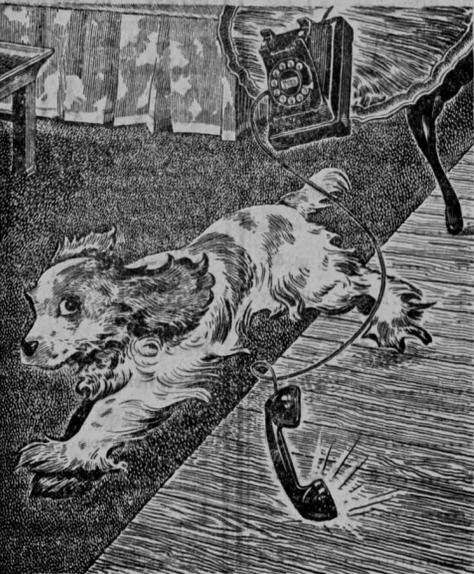

Jewelry departments in Iowa City stores feature rhinestones at reasonable prices in either sets or individual items. One clerk suggested accenting a black suit or a severely cut black dress with a dazzling brooch and ear clips of rhinestone.

"Rhinestones relieve the intensity of black or any deep color," she said, "and give the costume a very rich look."

Recommends Rhinestones
She recommended rhinestones as "a Christmas gift any girl would love."
Many college girls choose the gleam of a rhinestone necklace and matching bracelet to accent their formals. These sets are especially effective with deep-hued winter evening gowns.

Solid Colors
Because of the bright dressiness of rhinestones, they are usually worn with only solid colors.

'PROFILE' APPLICATIONS
Applications for Profile Preview chairman of University Women's Association may be obtained today at the Office of Student Affairs, UWA President Jean Gavronsky said yesterday. The applications will be due Dec. 17.

YOUR TELEPHONE must take hard knocks as they come—and go on working.

To make sure it can, we test samples of each day's production and put telephones through the equivalent of years of service in a few hours or days. For example: we drop handsets into their cradles 22,000 times—equal to 4 years' normal use. And not just once, but from 16 different positions, we drop sample telephones from desk-top height onto a hardwood surface. We even check their feet to be certain they won't scratch your table.

Here at Western Electric, we've been making Bell telephones since 1882. But telephones themselves are only about 6% of the equipment used in your service. The other 94% includes wire, cable, switchboards, trucks, poles, tools, office equipment. With the exception of buildings, we make or supply almost everything Bell telephone people use—and test it with utmost care.

Guarding the quality of things used in your Bell telephone service is one way that Western Electric helps to make it the world's best.

Junior Law Club Arguments Start Thursday at Old Capitol

The 1948 Junior Law club arguments of the SUI college of law will get underway Thursday in the senate chamber of Old Capitol at 7:30 p.m. Other argument days will be Dec. 13, 14 and a day shortly after Christmas vacation.

The arguments have been conducted annually since 1927 except for a three-year war period. This year they are being held under the supervision of Instructor Arthur O. Leff's supervision.

In these arguments 16 law juniors argue hypothetical law cases before Iowa district court judges. The winners of these arguments will be seniors next semester and will conduct senior arguments on Supreme Court day in the spring. The Iowa supreme court presides over these cases.

The 16 juniors picked to argue the cases are chosen by an elimination process. All freshman law students argue cases during freshman law club arguments. Student judges preside.

Of the students winning first or second places in these arguments, 16 with the highest scholastic standings are selected to take part in junior arguments.

District court judges who will preside over the arguments this year are R.G. Yoder, Sigourney; W.A. Newport, Davenport; M.C. Hamiel of Tipton and probably either Harold D. Evans, Iowa City or James P. Gaffney of Marengo.

Yoder will preside over the Dec. 9 arguments, Newport over

Says 'Key' Not Worth Sacrifice

SUI Concentration Put Spence in Rut

By JAC COLVIN
"The Phi Beta Kappa key I was awarded at the university had done me no good," Author Hartzell Spence, an SUI graduate, said yesterday. "In my line I have never once found it was worth the sacrifice that went into it," he added.

At an interview the 40-year-old author said he was convinced the high scholarship award was beneficial in many areas but not in his. When he was in school here, he was too intent on his books and studies to take the time to meet and know people and to learn the art of living, he added.

Spence said it took him many years to learn how to enjoy life and living and to dig himself out of the rut into which he had thrown himself by studious concentration and ignorance of the world about him.

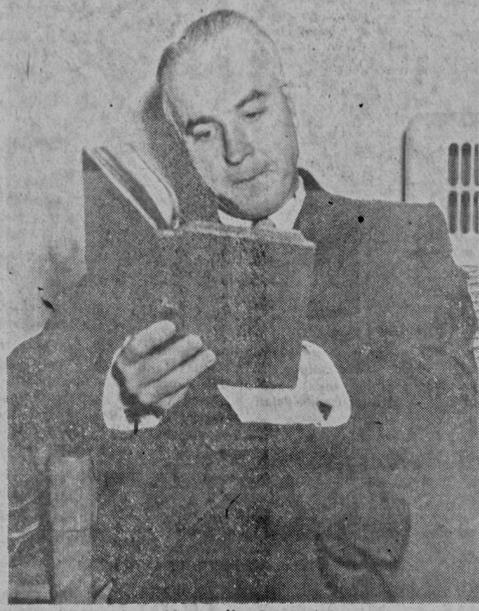

Spence was born at Clarion. His first successful book, "One Foot in Heaven," is written about his father, the Rev. William Spence, an Iowa Methodist pastor. This book and success came only after twelve books that flopped.

Spence was an assistant managing editor of The Daily Iowan in 1928-29 and he also worked with George Gallup. He helped Gallup "mark up papers" for his doctor's thesis.

As a word of advice to young authors, Spence said, "It is a great thing to aspire to write the great American novel, but don't convince yourself it is such." He said to write; sit down, write, say what you have to say and don't think about it being great or winning a prize.

Don't write handsomely, the author said. "If any word, phrase, sentence or paragraph seems to be handsome, strike it out." Chances are, he said, it is an affection and will destroy the whole work.

Spence said when he starts a novel he writes the last paragraph first, puts it in front of him, then writes everything else thought. If it doesn't build up to that last paragraph he throws it out.

Spence, father of two children, lives on a farm in Virginia and raises beef cattle. He said his farm doesn't compare to Louis Bromfield's Malabar but that there in the country he has peace and a refuge from the artificialities of life.

At present Spence is working on another novel. As yet it is not named. He said he doesn't title his books until they're finished.

Touring Company To Present Plays Here in December

The National Theater Conference Touring company will present "The Circle," a comedy by Somerset Maugham, at the University theater on the evenings of Dec. 7 through 11, and a matinee at 2 p.m., Dec. 11.

"Beggar on Horseback" by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly, originally scheduled for December, will be presented Jan. 7, 8, and 10 through 15.

The touring company presented "The Late Christopher Bean" here last season. The company is under the auspices of the National Theater Conference and is financed by the Rockefeller foundation.

SUI Professor E. C. Mabie is a member of the Theatre Conference, a cooperative organization of directors of community and university theaters. He served 10 years on the organization's board of trustees.

The touring company is based at Indiana university where its members are graduate students. Mabie said the company may be based at SUI within the next few years.

This year's company includes Henry Biedinger and John Mc-

Mullen, of last year's cast. Biedinger took his undergraduate training at Indiana university and the Goodman theater. McMullen was a member of the Fort Wayne civic theater. Charles Parker, company manager and coordinator of the project last year, holds the same post this year.

Market Basket — Food Price Index Nears Low Point Set Last March 18

Iowa City housewives who went shopping yesterday got their best deal in almost eight months from local grocery stores, according to this week's Daily Iowan market basket survey.

The food price index, which is an estimate of the amount a student family of three will pay for food this week, slumped to $17.07 yesterday, just once cent over the mark set last March 18. The figure also represents an 18-cent drop from the index of two weeks ago. (No market basket survey was taken last week due to the Thanksgiving holidays).

Grade A eggs, Velveeta cheese and center cut pork chops fell in price this week, while gains were noted on first grade bacon and flour.

Grade A eggs retailed yesterday at an average of 65 cents a dozen, a slump of four cents during the two-week period. One local grocer said this fall's unusually high egg prices had probably passed their peak and he said the increasing numbers of pullet eggs now reaching the markets would tend to pull down prices on all grades of eggs.

Greatest single decrease this week was on Velveeta cheese, which fell 10 cents on two-pound cartons. This item sold at an average of 95 cents yesterday. The price posted by one store had dropped 20 cents during the preceding two-week period.

Fourteen Initiated By Eta Kappa Nu

Thirteen students and Prof. Carl Menzer were initiated Tuesday night into Eta Kappa Nu, the electrical engineering honorary fraternity.

The initiation was held in the electrical engineering building at 6 p.m., followed by a banquet at Hotel Jefferson.

Those initiated besides Menzer were Ray D. Tingleff, E3; Donald A. Edward, E3; William T. Metz, E3; Gerald Luecke, E3; Theodore R. Babcock, E3; Joseph F. Albin, E4.

Eugene L. Jesse, E4; Alan D. Nichols, E4; Walter H. Bernsten, E4; Donald E. Bentley, E4; William J. Streib, E3; Cecil L. Goodman, E4; and Arlo D. Pelley, E3.

Menzer, director of stations WSUI and KSUI, and an associate professor in electrical engineering, spoke at the banquet on his experience with the atomic energy experiment in the South Pacific.

Two Fraternity Men Report Stolen Cash

Two Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity members reported thefts of cash totaling $50 to police yesterday. The two men said the money was taken from their rooms Wednesday night.

The men were John Percival, Bonaparte, who said he had $40 stolen and Leroy Phelps of Downers Grove, Ill., who reported $10 missing.

United Nations Puzzler: What Next?

Russia's Vishinsky and America's Austin Joke
A Lot of Time to Do a Little Bit

If nothing else has moved along at the Paris meeting of the United Nations, Father Time has. With adjournment tentatively set for Dec. 11—eight days from now—vital issues are still up in the air.
The United Nations has taken a lot of time to do a little bit. Regarded with benevolent suspicion when it first convened, it has lived up to all expectations by becoming mired in the rut of the east-west cold war.
Delegates from the western hemisphere have booked trans-Atlantic passage home long in advance. 1,000 secretariat workers and delegates want to get home for Christmas.
As everything else the UN touches, the adjournment problem has turned into politics.
Argentina has proposed a special meeting next April at Lake Success, N. Y., to consider the problem of the veto. The Argentines do not want to abolish the veto but to replace it with some other voting formula which would deprive Russia of its present right to block action in the security council.
New Zealand, Egypt and Cuba are also booming the plan. Other "veto powers" in the council favor voluntary limitation of the veto.
While the U.S. is pressing for the Dec. 11 adjournment date, Britain is opposing it. Britain wants the UN to stay in session and consider the Italian colony question. She is afraid the U.S. soon may shift its policy which at present favors British administration of Cyrenaica under UN trusteeship.
The Palestine question has been half solved, the Berlin crisis is still a crisis, Spain hasn't been considered as yet.
The question now is whether to stay in session or to adjourn and meet in special session in the spring, presumably in New York. Time is no prime object. The UN has little or no hope of solving the Berlin tangle. With a little more time, the Palestine war may be ended. Spain and the Italian colony questions can wait.
A UN delegate—after sweating through the grind for more than two months—has little to look back upon with satisfaction. Ahead lies more deadlock, argument and frustration.
So 1,000 citizens of the world are asking, "What next?"

TO THE EDITOR:

Beside the internationally known UN which now meets in Paris, there are a number of somewhat similar student organizations spread over the country in different universities.

The one supposed to exist on our campus, is also supposed to be called the SUI International club. Members of this organization are to include, beside interested American students, all the foreign students representing over 30 nations on our campus.

Surprising enough is the fact that our organization, or to be more exact, our "organization under construction", tried to break the record in its similarity to the United Nations in some aspects.

To begin the story, all foreign students on our campus together with a few interested American students had been called on to formulate a constitution for the International club in a meeting held in the YMCA rooms of the Iowa Union last Nov. 28.

The meeting was operated on an "open house" basis and more than 50 persons attended to discuss the proposed constitution and to suggest any reasonable changes. More than 50 persons to discuss a constitution for a student organization in less than two hours!

The proposed constitution was read as quickly as possible on the assumption that it would be re-read again for detailed discussions. The discussions began, and as one might expect, the first page of the constitution had taken so much time that a motion was raised to have the rest of the constitution adopted as it stood. To my surprise, the motion was passed by all those who were present and who represented a "constitution committee."

But more interesting is what I may safely call the "follow the leader" policy adopted by the members of this committee who represent several countries. Being aware of what happens in the UN on occasions, it looks as if they tried not only to pursue the same practices of defeating their own purposes, rules and principles, but to overdo the UN.

The International club constitution indicated on its first page the requirements for being an active member and stated only active members have the right to elect the officers for the club.

None of the persons at the meeting fulfilled these requirements fully. However, they decided to elect permanent officers for this academic year.

A motion had been raised to elect only temporary officers, to publish the requirements for membership in the organization, and then to hold a general meeting where all the members who join could elect permanent officers. The motion was downed unanimously and officers for this year were elected by the non-members, thus defeating their constitution just endorsed by them at the same hour!

In supporting these deadlines, they talked about being practical. In what sense is practically explained and what place does it occupy in these decisions? Is it true that quick, unsound decisions are the basis for practical actions?

Or is it the fact that those who supported them wanted to gain the artificial fruits, if any, that their unsound decisions would produce and thus render the future members of the International club victims of our weak efforts to intelligently found this organization and of our lack of incentive to sacrifice for the benefit of our future fellows?

There is no doubt that some of the foreign students who are supposed to form the essence of the International club may represent their countries in international organizations in the future. If the meeting I mentioned before and the decisions which were taken are representative of the pattern they will follow in the future, I regret to admit that one can not be optimistic.

I wish the office of student affairs as a supervisor of student organizations would recognize the deficient foundations which were laid as the basis for the club and would ask for efficient action to make the club function successfully.

Finally, it must be realized that the present officers of the organization were elected by non-members as defined by the constitution passed in the meeting and that they do not represent the International club.

TO THE EDITOR

There is one aspect which has been overlooked in the present controversy over increased appropriations for state-supported schools. It is an aspect which has been at least partially recognized by some other states, but not by Iowa. That is the fact that some states do not have state supported schools, and therefore export their high school graduates to those states which do.

New York state (and at least until recently several other eastern states) has been the worst offender. New York, one of the wealthiest states, exports other states to educate tens of thousands of her young people every year. This hardly seems fair in light of the fact that New York already gains much by attracting other states with her job opportunities.

Some state institutions in the Midwest recognize this fact, and charge higher tuition to those students whose home states do not support similar institutions. I believe this is a very wise thing, and that Iowa should consider doing the same. For not only would it increase revenues at Iowa schools, but it would perhaps give people in states which have no similar school added incentive toward taking adequate care of their own college-age people.

I realize that many out of state students will object to this idea, since it would make this school nearly as expensive as those they have back home. But I say why should the sons and daughters of Iowa taxpayers suffer limited school facilities simply because taxpayers in some other state have not been farsighted enough to furnish the same excellent schools for their children?
Jean Thompson
507 Iowa Avenue

Just for the record: City College of New York, the municipal college serving approximately eight million residents, charges no tuition for any resident of the city. All veterans, no matter where they lived, are admitted without tuition also. New York state has no public university.

Also, the University of Iowa has at present higher tuition fees for out of state students. For instance, a semester in the college of liberal arts ($65 for resident students) costs $150 for out of state students. THE EDITOR.

Owner of Gloves Sought by Driver

An SUI student from Cedar Rapids can have his gloves returned if he will write to the man who gave the student a ride to Cedar Rapids Wednesday.

The man, Eugene Lehmickie of Stillwater, Minn., said he found the gloves in his car after leaving the student in Cedar Rapids and would like to return the gloves to the owner.

The student, Lehmickie said, should identify "himself by describing my car or conversation or anything of that nature," which will assure me that he is the one who lost the gloves.
Lehmickie lives at 133 S. Water street in Stillwater.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

It Would Come Like a Slap...

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

It would tone up Madame Chiang Kai-Shek's trip to the United States a great deal if she would announce in Washington that a quiet new, broader and more inclusive Chinese government had been formed.

Unless Madame Chiang carries news of this or equal importance in her reticule, it is hard to see what her trip will accomplish. If there is no new development of this order arriving with Madame Chiang over the Pacific waters, then her trip is just another trip. She will come, in that case, only to sell us, at a high price. The exclusive privilege of participating in the losing end of a civil war.

She will come to obtain from us a favorable verdict on the Chiang government after many of the Chinese people themselves have rendered an unfavorable verdict.

Whether by fighting against that government, or by not fighting for it, or by deserting from it and turning in the direction of communism.

Thermometer for Earth Described

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel prize-winning scientist, revealed yesterday that a way may have been found to determine whether the earth is cooling off or warming up.

Urey said the answer may lie in a method of determining the earth's temperature hundreds of millions of years ago through a "fossil" thermometer.

Urey, also a leader in atomic bomb development, and three associates have been applying nuclear studies to fossils for a year and a half. The research involves the temperature coefficient of calcium carbonate deposited by animals.

"If an animal deposits calcium carbonate in equilibrium with water in which it lives and the shell sinks to the bottom of the sea and is buried securely in the earth... it is only necessary to determine the ratio of the isotopes of oxygen in the shell today in order to determine the temperature at which the animal lived," Urey said.

He said data thus far obtained are not enough to draw sweeping conclusions, "but they are sufficient to lead us to believe that at least some measurement of past temperatures can be made."

Research into ancient temperatures may help strengthen geological claims that the earth's climate has fluctuated considerably and that warmer temperatures once existed at the north and south poles.

Urey said a set of 60-million-year-old belemnites from England showed temperature variations from about 17 degrees centigrade (62.6 fahrenheit) to 26 degrees centigrade (78.8 fahrenheit). Belemnites of the same age from South Carolina showed a temperature of 19 degrees centigrade, with some others measuring 20 degrees.

whether by fighting against that government, or by not fighting for it, or by deserting from it and turning in the direction of communism.

CHIANG'S government, shot through with reaction and corruption, has proven itself unable to hold China together under much more favorable circumstances than now exist.

Any offer to have us buy further into it under present strains is not a good offer. To do so might give emotional relief to those against communism, but the price involved is too high a price to pay for mere emotional relief.

It will be said if China turns Communist without having had a chance to try the democratic solution.

But it will have been Chiang, as well as the advancing Communists, who will have denied her that chance.

AND WHILE it will be grim indeed to see China fall, that event may have some beneficial effects. It will come like a slap of cold water against the overheated faces of those who have tried to persuade us that it is our duty to support every reactionary and authoritarian in the world, so long as he is against communism, or so long as the Communists are against him.

It is a peculiar business they have tried to lure us into, and one without much of a future. They have leaped into this game with a kind of juvenile intensity; they have tried to reduce the most complicated political problem which has ever faced mankind to a simple routine of sending donations to dictators.

The trouble in China may force all of us to grow up; it may compel us to realize that the defense of democracy is a more complicated and difficult process than it has sometimes seemed to be; it may, ideologically separate the men from the boys, so to speak.

For whatever is going to win in this world, reaction is going to die, and for us to entangle our cause with that of reaction is to go shopping for defeat in an hour in which we need victories.

IT WILL BE much sounder and more profitable for us to recognize that reaction is a kind of third cause in this world quite separate from ours, and that its defeats are its own, and not necessarily ours.

Democracy will do better in the end on its own, standing by its own merits, suffering, if need be, for its own defects, but without borrowing from failing causes that are not its own.

In an age in which reaction is quite clearly doomed, this is not a moral judgment, but a practical one, and Madame Chiang will have to make some quite ingenious speeches to gainsay it.

McBride's Haul

By BILL MCBRIDE

The fiction crime business is steadily going from bad to worse. It seems to me that a fresh approach to crime would give us all something to look forward to. Getting away from crime altogether is too much to hope for. Since the nation-wide game of You-be-the-Detective has taken over a goodly portion of radio time, comic strip space, screen, video and magazine fields, the best to be expected is a rejuvenation of crime methods.

This is probably more in the social science area than any other, but having successfully completed the core course... shall we proceed?

DOES CRIME PAY...

It may be faintly astonishing, but there is positive proof that crime does pay if handled efficiently, and there's no reason why authors, playwrights and cartoonists shouldn't be in on it.

I hate to brag, but I have a success or two in crime myself. Only the other day at a duck dinner I managed to filch and unload, (notice the use of criminal terms) over half of the duck's giblets without leaving the slightest shred of evidence.

You will see how clever I was about it all when I tell you that I accomplished this before the duck was even placed on the table. How was it done? Ho! Ho! I'm not giving away trade secrets.

Another example of ingenious and novel crime success missed entirely by radio, etc., can be found under our very noses at any time of the day. I am referring to the sly rascal who has been spitting in drinking fountains all over the campus.

This is not only a case of initiative on the part of the criminal, but also shows extreme disregard for the welfare of humanity. What more could you ask for in the way of criminal make-up?

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY...

As it stands now the theory of most juvenile delinquency experts is that juvenile delinquency is not habit forming. After all, juveniles do attain adulthood eventually, and in doing so lose all the rights and privileges of a J.D.

If something new in the field of juvenile delinquency seems to be lacking in radio, screen and printed word mediums it is only because children and crime have been associated together so long.

A parchment dated quite a ways back shows that a child by the name of Little Orpheus Annum was directly responsible for the eruption of Vesuvius in 79 A.D. Because of previously adhered to Roman laws this is the first time the boy's name has been recorded. If the Romans want to prosecute, let them. We'll make a test case of it.

The facts of the Little Orpheus Annum case are muddled a bit because the parchment was written in washable ink. As nearly as I can make out, Orpheus (an orphan) had been thieving hub caps from fancy chariots for several months when the un-Roman activity committee got on his trail. (Up until that time the committee had devoted most of its time to the business of peeking into temple windows.)

When Little Orpheus learned he was being watched, the homeless waif placed all his loot—474 chariot hub caps—in a goatskin bag and started on the run for his hideout, a small thatched hut on the side of Vesuvius.

But the Un-Roman activity committee was hot in pursuit, and the frightened lad raced to the rim of the volcano and dumped all 474 hub caps into the smoking cavity so as not to be caught with the goods.

The slight jar caused when the goatskin bag hit at the bottom was all that was needed to set off jittery Vesuvius. Needless to say, neither Orpheus nor the committee was ever heard from again. Apparently no one missed the committee, since it is rarely mentioned in history books.

(I had meant to delve more deeply into the crime question, but someone has stolen some of my space here. I do have an interesting report on an evening spent with Inspector Gallstone of the Hearth squad and Mr. Trazer, the keen old miser of kindly persons, and if anyone is interested I'll write it up at a later date.)

Expect Attendance of 300 For Educators' Conference

Three hundred persons are expected to attend the thirty-third annual conference on administration and supervision in education at SUI, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The two day program will include demonstrations and discussions planned by the SUI extension division and the college of education.

Guest speakers at the conference will be John Marshall, director of research and school house planning, state department of education, West Virginia, and Dr. T. Z. Koo, eminent Chinese scholar and field secretary of the World Christian Student federation.

Prof. Herbert F. Spitzer, principal of University Experimental schools, will open the first day's program, Tuesday, with preview of observation lessons to be viewed by the delegates that morning.

Later in the morning the members will observe classes in the experimental schools and demonstration in University high school.

Those appearing on the morning programs include Prof. Ernest Horn, Prof. Mabel Snedaker, Mrs. S. Hannond, Miss Anne Pierce, Willard D. Unsicker, Prof. John Haefner, Paul Beckman and Prof. H. Vernon.

That afternoon the conference will meet in the house chamber of Old Capital in a meeting presided over by Horn.

That evening Koo will discuss "China in Transition; from Ancient to Modern in Education and Political Organization."

Wednesday morning the conference will again meet in Old Capitol. Prof. F. C. Ensign will preside.

Speakers will be dean of the college of education, E. T. Peterson, who will speak on "The UNESCO Seminar on Teacher Education for International Understanding," and John Marshall who will discuss "Procedures in School Building Planning."

The final meeting will be a luncheon in the Iowa Union where President Virgil M. Hancher and Prof. Harvey H. Davis will speak.

Progressives Plan Civil Rights Drive

SUI's Young Progressives last night instructed their civil rights committee to set up a basic policy for a civil rights campaign on the SUI campus and to sound out other SUI organizations for possible aid in the campaign.

This action followed debate among Young Progressive members, meeting in the chemistry building, whether to attempt the civil rights drive on their own or to ask other groups for help.

Vice-chairman Larry Kaplan argued that a campaign pushed by several organizations "might fall prey to bickering" between them as to policy. He suggested accepting aid from other groups only after establishing a definite Young Progressive policy.

Civil Rights Committee Head Charles Muhlstock called a meeting for his group at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Iowa Union. He set conference room one as a tentative site.

In other business, Young Progressives:

1. Heard Kaplan call for at least 12 SUI delegates to the state convention of Young Progressives in Cedar Rapids Sunday. Object of the convention is to form an Iowa YPA organization, Kaplan said.

2. Announced a social open to all SUI students at 8 p.m. Dec. 11 in the women's gymnasium.

3. Decided to send letters to the University of Illinois in support of a prospective Young Progressive group there that has not been recognized by the university.

'Ah Gee - Hand Me The Delinquent Slip'

THIS ISN'T A STICK UP! What this unfortunate delinquent student is getting—nobody else wants. Determined to remain anonymous, this coed donned a mask and a man's overcoat yesterday before venturing into the liberal arts advisory office to get her mid-semester delinquency report. Secretary Mrs. William Blecker can smile—she just works there.

SPEECH—

Bluffs, and Murray Kniffen, A3, Rock Rapids.

Mable to Speak

Prof. E. C. Mable, head of the speech department, will be the principal speaker at a conference luncheon Saturday noon in the river room of the Iowa Union.

Results of an attitude scale on 50 important issues of today will be announced at that time, John Oostendorp, graduate student in speech from Muscatine, said yesterday. All students participating will receive these attitude scales today and will be asked to express their opinions on the issues.

Results of all the conference events will be announced tomorrow at 3:05 p.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

ALUMNI TO ENTERTAIN

Mortar Board Alumni will entertain the members of the active chapter at their monthly potluck supper at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday, Mrs. W. M. Fowler, 318 Ferson, will be hostess.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A rich landowner in Sussex, England, had three daughters who were so ugly and mean-tempered that none of them could find a husband. In a coffee house one rainy afternoon the exasperated landowner declared loudly, "I'd give ten thousand pounds apiece to get those confounded girls off my hands."

An Irishman, sitting unobtrusively in the corner, stepped forward and said, "With your leave sir, at that price I'll take TWO of them."

Unlikely Bernard Shaw story No. 8611: The ninety-two-year-old sage visited a great London specialist for a general check-up. "You're in remarkable shape, considering your age," said that gentleman, "but you realize, sir, that various infirmities will crop up at this stage of the game. Unfortunately, we doctors have not yet found a way to make men younger."

"I didn't come to you to make me younger," snapped Shaw. "What I want to do is grow older."

TRESTLE BOARD TO MEET

Trestle Board, student Masonic organization will meet tonight at the Masonic Temple from 7 to 8 o'clock. President Keith McNurlen announced yesterday that this meeting will feature floor work in the degrees.

CITY HIGH PLANS DANCE

A Christmas dance for City high students, alumni and former members of the Paint and Patches club will be held tomorrow night from 8:30 to 11:30 in the social hall. The dance is being sponsored by the drama club.
