Invasion Starts Open Warfare In Costa Rica

Nation With No Army Struck from Nicaragua

SAN JOSE, COSTA RICE (AP) — Costa Rica which abolished its army nine days ago was invaded yesterday from Nicaraguan territory.

Climaxing months of mounting political tension throughout Central America, the invasion was seen by close observers of the situation as the spark that could ignite the whole Central American powder keg. They said that if Nicaraguan planes attacked Costa Rica, Guatemala would enter the war and attack Nicaragua from the air.

The government said the invaders were headed by former President Calderon Guardia, and that Costa Rican territory and towns already had been occupied.

Jose Figueres, military leader and head of the junta governing Costa Rica, disbanded his army of 5,000 because, he said, his country loves peace and there was no trouble in sight. Last night men were called to arms.

(Costa Rican broadcasts picked up in Guatemala quoted Jose Figueres, as saying "This is not a counter-revolution. This is war between Costa Rica and Nicaragua.") (Mario Esquivel, Costa Rican ambassador in Washington, said his country would invoke the Rio de Janeiro western hemisphere defense pact to get assistance in repelling the invasion.

Costa Rica's urgent request for a special session of the foreign ministers met prompt response. The meeting will be held this afternoon.

(In Managua, Nicaragua War Minister Anastasio Somoza declared "Calderonistas have not invaded Costa Rica from Nicaraguan territory." But he said he had unconfirmed information the rebels landed at Puerto Soley.

Managua newspapers reported that a revolutionary movement had broken out in Costa Rica, coincidentally with the invasion, and involving the provinces of San Jose, in the center of the country, and Heredia and Alajuela, bordering on Nicaragua.

After the Palestine commission was established, the Israeli delegation reiterated its willingness to negotiate directly with the Arabs but attacked commission membership as "one-sided." An Arab delegate told newsmen the Arab states were generally satisfied with the commission membership.

Palestine Peace Commission Picked; UN Time Extended

PARIS (AP) — The United Nations created a three-nation Palestine conciliation commission last night in another attempt to bring permanent peace to the Holy Land. It named the United States, France and Turkey as the commission's members.

The 58-nation assembly then took up the Korean question and ran into a Soviet filibuster which delayed plans for final adjournment of the Paris meeting this morning.

The Slav bloc is fighting a majority plan which would continue the UN's Korean commission and recommend approval of the government of the republic of Korea.

At 7 a.m. (Iowa time) Dr. Herbert V. Evtatt of Australia, president of the assembly, called off the lengthy meeting until 8 a.m. Iowa time today.

Defenses Near Capital Struck By Communists

NANKING (AP) — This Chinese capital's Hwai river defenses were reported pierced yesterday by two Communist columns — possibly 30,000 men — bent on cutting the vital supply route 71 miles northwest of Nanking.

The Communist crossing was reported to have been made about 40 miles east of Pengpu and 90 miles west of Nanking. No other details were available. But it appeared that the line — last Nanking defense save the Yangtze river itself — had been penetrated rather than broken.

Nanking high command sources said the immediate result of the struggle for Nanking's close approaches hinged on ability of the government sixth army group to liberate remnants of the trapped 12th army group about 145 miles northwest of Nanking.

A top-level staff officer predicted the liberation in about three days. Such a development might make untenable the position of the Communists below the Hwai.

(In Shanghai, American and other foreign business men delayed decisions whether to leave as a result of Vice Adm. Oscar Badger's promise to place U.S. marines there if needed.

(Although Admiral Badger stressed that the marines would not intervene in the war or take over law enforcement, but would merely protect American lives and essential property, his words reassured the foreign community.)

Say U.S. to Avoid China Interference

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will avoid any interference in China's internal affairs during the present crisis, diplomatic officials said yesterday.

This "hands-off" attitude toward direct involvement in China's civil war reaffirmed U.S. support of an American-British-Soviet agreement on China signed at Moscow three years ago.

Penn Students Rally To Protest Barbers' Negro Discrimination

STATE COLLEGE, PA. (AP) — More than 300 students of the Pennsylvania State college joined in a frosty outdoor rally yesterday protesting discrimination against Negroes in downtown barber shops.

The rally took place in front of Old Main, Penn State's traditional meeting ground. Some blocks away, students maintained picket lines at the six barber shops which refused to cut the hair of Negro collegians.

Two faculty members, David McKinley and Scott Keyes, spoke at the rally, commending the students—mostly whites—for establishing the boycott. Both are economics professors.

William Lawless, college student president, urged his fellow classmates "to stick with it until all discrimination is ended."

Ames Pet Peeve Goes Full Circle

AMES (AP) — A dog and cat fight at the veterans housing project of Iowa State college went the full circle yesterday.

A student city council outlawed the pets in the area after holding an election whether to ban dogs and cats. The pets lost.

But one group of 280 residents petitioned that the "whole issue was not handled fairly." They asked for a separate vote for their area.

The project's council was stumped. They said college officials who operate the project will have to make the final decision.

But it was the college which originally asked the veterans for their preferences about the pets.

The state winners were determined here Friday by contest judges Prof. Orville Hitchcock and Leroy Copherwaite of the SUI speech department and John Highlander, program director at WSUI.

Federal Grand Jury to View House Committee's Microfilms

NEW YORK (AP) — Microfilms of government documents hidden by Whittaker Chambers in a pumpkin on his farm will be brought here over the weekend for scrutiny of the federal grand jury.

As the jury concluded a Saturday session, U.S. Attorney John F. X. McGohey announced that the house un-American activities committee had authorized the move.

The committee and the justice department have been in a tug-of-war over the films which the jurors will examine tomorrow.

McGohey said the jury would meet nights if necessary to complete its work by Wednesday, its expiration date.

Rep. Richard M. Nixon (R-Calif.), a house committee member, said in Washington he would bring the films here himself.

Twelve of the secret papers were made public last night by the committee.

The jury yesterday heard three of the former government officials accused by Chambers of supplying him the documents for delivery to Russian agents.

One, William Ward Pigman of Appleton, Wis., a one-time chemist in the U.S. bureau of standards, appeared for the first time.

Chambers, who resigned from a $30,000-a-year job as a senior editor of Time magazine yesterday, had charged Pigman, along with other former government employes with passing along secret information to Communist spies.

After testifying, William Pigman issued a statement in which he said "I categorically deny that I have ever had any dealings with Whittaker Chambers or that I ever knew the man."

"I further unqualifiedly deny that I have ever given to Chambers or to any other person any authorized governmental information."

Hawkeyes Trounce Creighton, 77-38

Iowa Cagers Win 3rd Straight Over Smaller, Inferior Jays

By BUCK TURNBULL
Sports Editor

Pops Harrison's cagers met little resistance from a small Creighton university quintet at the fieldhouse last night and but annihilated the Nebraska opponent, 77-38.

The victory was Iowa's third straight easy non-conference triumph, boosting the Hawkeye home court record to 35 consecutive non-league wins. The Hawks meet Ithaca college in the season's fourth game here Monday night.

Last night's struggle was almost ludicrous after the first 10 minutes. Creighton, a vastly inferior club to the Bluejay teams of several years back, just did not have the height or shooting ability to match the Hawks.

The Jays scored two baskets in the first 10 minutes while Iowa was quickly running away from them, 23-5. During that period Creighton committed 14 personal fouls. The Bluejays incurred 38 penalties throughout the game with six players receiving five apiece.

However, only five of the six could leave the game since the Jays only brought a 10-man traveling squad. So when Guard Tom Belford was caught erring for the fifth time late in the contest, the officials allowed him to remain in action.

By halftime Iowa had mounted the count to 39-13. Sophomore Center Al Weiss dropped in 13 markers to match Creighton's total for the first half. Weiss didn't play in the last period.

Harrison poured every member of his 22-man squad into the fracas and only three failed to notch at least one point. The scoring was well divided with Frank Calsbeek and Bob Schulz, trailing Weiss with nine and eight points respectively.

The lineup that functioned the smoothest for the Hawks included Glenn Dille and Charlie

Stuhldreher Quits as Badger Coach, Keeps Director's Job

MADISON, WIS. — Harry Stuhldreher gave up his post as head football coach at the University of Wisconsin yesterday. But the surrender didn't cost him much.

The little general, under heavy fire all season, resigned in a dramatic move but kept his position as athletic director and his $12,000 yearly salary.

"The double job was getting too tough," he said. The board of regents agreed and sent University President E. B. Fred into the market place to find a successor.

Stuhldreher's 1948 team would up in the Big Nine cellar with a single conference victory. It won one other game in nine starts. The "Good-Bye Harry" boys, who unfurled their banner in the mid-season Yale game — which favored Wisconsin lost, 17-7 — spearheaded a statewide assault on his position.

His resignation came four days before a student referendum on his status. But, Stuhldreher said, that had nothing to do with his decision, which actually was made last Tuesday. Anyway, the vote was called off.

Stuhldreher, who quarterbacked Notre Dame's famed four horsemen, under Knute Rockne, found his 13th season a jinx. It ended the longest current tenure in the conference. His teams won 45 games, lost 62 and tied six. His top team was the 1942 squad, which won eight, tied one and lost one, finishing second to Ohio State in western conference standings.

Expect Final Decision On MSC Bid Today

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Nine yesterday deferred action on Michigan State college's application for membership until today, but approved a new scholarship code fixing limits on financial aid to athletes.

The Michigan State question will be discussed at a joint meeting of the faculty representatives and athletic directors this morning with final action expected this afternoon.

Both Michigan State and Pittsburgh, each with membership application on file with the Western conference, had representatives at the Big Nine's winter meeting. Neither school, however, was invited to the faculty representative's afternoon session.

The scholarship program approved by the faculty representatives permits financial aid for tuition to needy athletes, who maintain a "C" average scholastically, or a maximum of $300 annually beyond tuition to eligible athletes, who maintain a "B" average.

Frank E. Richart, of Illinois, secretary of the faculty committee, disclosed that the Michigan State issue was No. 1 on his group's agenda yesterday. The faculty members, however, expressed a desire to confer with their athletic directors before making a decision.

Richart said it was his opinion that a simple majority—a 5 to 4 vote—which Michigan State partisans claim they have in their favor, would determine whether the Spartan school at East Lansing, Mich., gains mission.

Both Michigan State and Pittsburgh have had membership bids formally filed since spring of 1946.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Becker

Graduate Students United In Marriage At Student Center

Two graduate students of the State University of Iowa were united in marriage at 11 a.m. yesterday in the Catholic Student Center when Rosalie D. Halpern became the bride of James F. Becker.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Halpern, New York City. Mr. and Mrs. James A. Becker, Cascade, are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Leonard J. Brugman performed the double ring ceremony. The bride was attended by Mrs. Elinora Yadoff, Iowa City, and Rene Levin, New York City. Donald Crawford, Des Moines, was the best man.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the private dining room of the Iowa Union. The couple then left on a wedding trip to Chicago.

Mrs. Becker was graduated from Columbus high school in New York City and the State University of Iowa where she is now a graduate student.

Mr. Becker attended Western

Union college, Iowa State college and was graduated from the State University of Iowa. He is now a graduate student in the economics department.

The couple will make their home at 410 S. Clinton street after Dec. 15.

Archaeologist Plans Speech Tomorrow

Dorothy Burr Thompson, author and archaeologist, will speak at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the art building auditorium, the art department announced yesterday.

Mrs. Thompson will discuss the influence of gardens on the attitude toward nature and the treatment of space in ancient art.

Mrs. Thompson will be honored at a tea sponsored by the Art Guild in the main gallery of the art building following the lecture. The faculty of the philosophy, classics and art departments have been invited to the tea.

Mrs. Thompson has taken part places in Greece including Philus, Argive Heraion, and Etrusci. She was a member for two years of the American organization which excavated the site of the ancient marketplace of Athens.

Children in Hospital Continue Education In Perkins School

Admission to the State University of Iowa hospitals doesn't mean a lull in education for youthful patients. School goes on just the same.

Since Children's hospital was opened in 1919, youngsters from all over Iowa have been attending Perkins school, conducted by graduate students from the college of education. The school includes children from the age of five years through senior high. Named for the author of the bill establishing Children's hospital, the school operates under state appropriation for the care of indigent patients.

Good Discipline
The children are happy and noisy, but amid shouts and laughter, good discipline is always evident.

For bedridden patients, education is taken directly into the wards. Three instructors teach in the wards and three others handle classroom instruction.

Perkins school approaches education differently than most public schools. Psychological tests are given the children when they enter the hospital. These tests help form the basis for education while the child is hospitalized.

Emphasis on Reading
Emphasis is on reading because it is felt this is most important to a sick or handicapped child. But aside from the reading emphasis, courses offered follow closely those of the public schools. Some courses not in the regular schedule are offered in cases of special requests.

Another important part of the school is the school paper, "Perk-Up." The children write in the paper of homes, families and hospital experiences and some even resort to poetry and art to express themselves.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blackman, 1024 E. Burlington street, are the parents of a baby girl born Friday at Mercy hospital. The baby weighed 7 pounds, 13 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Sundet, 10 N. Van Buren street, are the parents of a daughter, Ann Elizabeth, born Dec. 8. The baby weighed 7 pounds, 4 ounces.

Members of the Child Conservation club entertained their children at a Christmas party yesterday at the Methodist Student Center annex. The children gave a volunteer program and Christmas carols were sung. The committee in charge of the party included Mrs. C.P. Peterson, Mrs. Martin Towell, Mrs. Pearl West and Mrs. M.L. Mosher.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Novy, 519 N. Johnson street, will entertain at a pre-Christmas dinner at their home today. Guests, all from Cedar Rapids, will be Mr. and Mrs. Wes Kremenak and daughters, Judy and Patty, Mrs. Anna Sirowy, Mrs. Vlasta Rabik and daughter, Arlene, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Sedlacek and daughter, Leola, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sedlacek.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding of Rosalie Halpern to James Becker yesterday were Mrs. Margaret Breen, Monticello; Mrs. Rose Crawford, Des Moines; Mrs. Frances Baldwin, Cascade; Rene Levin, New York City and Donald Crawford, Des Moines.

Youthful Patients Can't Escape School Work

Former Paratrooper Tells New Story

(AP Wirephoto)

DROPPING IN ON BLOCKADED BERLIN. Edward J. Lada, former paratrooper from Newark, N. J., was jailed by U.S. military authorities for illegal entry. Lada had two explanations for his ground-level penetration of the Russian zone. In one he said he wished to visit Ruth Reicke, mother of his two-year-old daughter. In the other he said he wanted to see Ursula (Boots) Schmidt, 21, a German singer, Ursula, claiming to be the "other woman" in Lada's love life, promptly left a sick bed to visit him (above).

Paratrooper Names New Berlin Woman

BERLIN (AP) — Edward Lada, former paratrooper from Newark, N.J., who landed in a U.S. army jail after the breaking the Berlin blockade for love, switched signals—and frauleins—last night.

Lada previously had maintained that he came to Germany to marry Miss Ruth Reicke, unwed mother of his two-year-old daughter, and take them back to the United States.

He still wants to take his daughter back to Newark, he said. But, he added, he wants to marry another Fraulein, Miss Ursula Schmidt.

It was for her love, he said, that he entered Germany without a permit.

"I wanted to do right by Ursula," he said, "I wanted to marry her and take her back to America. I wanted to shield Ursula from all this. Now her name will be dragged in the mud."

Lada said everything between him and Ruth is finished.

Larry Fryer is quite proud of his little car "Jessica." As one of the elder members of the driven brigade, she has taken a lot of kidding by the boys at the Phi Delta house. Best story of the week concerns Audrey De Cou, Kappa, who attended a wedding in Bloomington last weekend. Everything went along fine until she took a nap in the Davenport bus depot while waiting for a Peoria bus. Missing the 5 o'clock bus by a matter of winks, she took the 7 o'clock bus instead, missed all connections in Peoria, and ended up by paying $27 for cab fare to Bloomington.

After the wedding, Beau Cou decided to ride to the Kappa house there with one of the bridesmaids. You guessed it, she fell asleep again and didn't wake up until night... riding down Harlem avenue in Chicago. She arrived home intact on the I.C.

Jo Stafford adds a Christmas note at SPENCER'S HARMONY HALL with her rendition of "Ava Maria". The backing, "Smiling Through", is also in the more serious vein, but nevertheless, a top notch disc through and through. It's a Capitol release.

Blue Lu Baker, a blues singer, has come up with a big hit on another Capitol record at SPENCER'S. It's the up-and-coming novelty that you've been hearing around on the juke-boxes lately. "A Little Bird Told Me." In case you haven't heard it yet, you will before long. The song is given the most enthusiastic treatment it has yet received on this recording with plenty of hand clapping and chorus-shouting to back up Miss Barker's vociferous. The reverse is a blues number, "What Did You Do To Me?", which features some nice combo backing.

Tommy Donsey's best seller, "Until", backed by "After Hour Stuff", is still available at SPENCER'S HARMONY HALL. "Util" is a pretty tune, done up by vocal groups; "After Hour Stuff" a fine instrumental suitable for dancing.

Just in at SPENCER'S is a new Freddy Martin release on Victor. "It's Whatcha Do With Whatcha Got", and "So Dear To My Heart".

Newest in floor decorations: a big heart, decorated with appropriate initials - done in talcum powder and toothpaste. Ann Wilson found it in her room at the Zeta house - but the decorators didn't bother to leave their names.

would be detrimental to British interests in the orient. A long message signed "Grew," dispatched from Tokyo at noon, Feb. 12, 1938, and marked "strictly confidential," told then Secretary of State Cordell Hull of Japan's rising temper against the British in China.

Quarrel with Ambassador
Grew told Hull of a stormy conversation between British ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craige and then Japanese Foreign Minister Koki Hirota in which he said that "for the first time in our respective dealings with him, Hirota twice lost his temper with Craige."

Grew's cable continued: "The minister's demeanor tends to confirm reports which have come to both Craige and myself that Hirota is steadily becoming harder and more intransigent as regards foreign interests in the far east. "According to Craige, the minister (Hirota) in some instances in their intercourse became very angry, inveighed against the continual British demands for renewed assurances, said that under present war conditions, Japan had given all the assurances that can reasonably be expected, and asserted that if warfare (with China) is prolonged Japan may be forced to occupy more territory whether insular or on the mainland."

Grew said the general tone of the Craige-Hirota talks "appears to have been acrimonious" and that Hirota's outbursts showed "a marked change in the minister's usually placid, courteous and friendly bearing."

Then he added: "He (Craige) believes that Japanese assurances of 'no territorial designs' are likely to be withdrawn at short notice. "These prospects so seriously concern British interests that he contemplates recommending, or has already recommended to his government that continued support of Chiang Kai-Shek, whether by furnishing war supplies and funds or otherwise, is detrimental to British interests."

They are Charles Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boyd, 209 N. Lucas street, and Jean McNamara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay J. McNamara, 532 S. Dodge street. Boyd, a freshman, is a member of the St. Ambrose college choral club participating in the festival. He graduated from St. Mary's high school in Iowa City in June, 1948. Also a freshman, Miss McNamara is a member of the choral club of Marycrest college. She is a June, 1948, graduate of St. Patrick's high school in Iowa City.

Dr. Cullen to Talk At Medical Society

Dr. Stuart Cullen, chairman of the department of anesthesia at University hospitals, will be one of two doctors giving a discussion at the Linn County Medical society meeting, Thursday at the Hotel Roosevelt in Cedar Rapids.

Cedar Rapids Man To Address SUI's Collegiate Chamber

Roy Swanson, assistant secretary of the Cedar Rapids Chamber of Commerce, will explain the various aspects of trade organization work to the Collegiate Chamber of Commerce tomorrow.

Swanson's talk will follow a short business meeting which will begin at 4 p.m. in MacBride auditorium. Engaged in Chamber of Commerce work for ten years, Swanson has been associated with chambers at Cherokee, Waverly and Knoxville, as well as at Cedar Rapids. He holds a certificate from the National Institute, which trains men for positions in the community and trade organization field.

Swanson's duties with the Cedar Rapids organization have been connected with the retail merchants, civic, convention and young men bureaus. The business meeting preceding Swanson's address will concern proposed amendments to the Collegiate chamber's constitutional by-laws. Bob Sweany of the chamber's board of directors said yesterday the meeting was a "very important" one, and he urged all members to be present.

Oxygen Revives 3 Coal Gas Victims

Firemen administered oxygen at 7 a.m. yesterday to three persons who were overcome by coal fumes. The three persons were Mrs. Lowell Hughtart, 925 Dearborn street, and her two daughters, Carolyn Kay, 5, and Judy, 2.

All three recovered satisfactorily, firemen said. Mrs. Hughtart said her husband, Lowell, got up at 5 a.m. and removed some clinkers from the furnace. He laid them on the cement floor to cool and then left for work. Fumes rose from the clinkers and overcame the three persons who were sleeping on the first floor, firemen said.

Business BRIEFS

A large sign was set up on Highway 6 yesterday to mark the site of the new drive-in theater now under construction near the west approach to Coralville.

The theater, which will be completed next April, will have a 400-automobile capacity. It will be operated by a corporation now being organized and will be under the general supervision of Leonard L. Kaplan, local manager of the Iowa theater.

Work was completed this week on the new home of Reynolds Motors, Inc., 325-29 E. Market street. The new brick and concrete structure measures 60 by 85 feet and houses a show room and service department for Chrysler and Plymouth motor cars.

The mystery behind the strange behavior of the revolving plastic ball in the Sears and Roebuck department store window has been solved. Rotating on "nothing" about three feet off the floor, the ball had defied gravity and explanation, but Sears officials have at last given away the secret. It's as simple as this: The ball is held in suspension by a blast of air which is shot from a concealed tank-type vacuum cleaner hose. The idea behind the novel stunt was dreamed up by L.E. Trump, assistant manager of the Sears store.

Formal openings of two businesses, located in the new building at 1000 Melrose avenue were held yesterday. The building was constructed by Nate Moore and houses the Nate Moore Wiring service and Lausen's Food store. Moore operates an electrical display room and shop in the new structure. The food store is operated by H.H. Lausen, manager of the City bakery.

Newsmen Kid, Lose Pants at Gridiron Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political writers who lost their pants on the election showed up that way last night to serenade President Truman at the Gridiron club's semi-annual dinner show.

The newspaper prophets put on their satirical revue in the Hotel Statler for the benefit of some 500 guests, including Mr. Truman and two of his defeated presidential rivals, Govs. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

It was the first meeting of the candidates since the election, and all saw themselves lampooned without mercy by their hosts.

But in token of newspaperdom's humiliation over wrong-guessing the presidential election, the writers cut themselves in for a big share of the kidding.

The entire Gridiron club membership appeared on the stage in the opening chorus in white ties, top hats and tails — and no pants. Dewey was presented with an invitation to all future Gridiron club dinners, an invitation which in the past has been reserved for ex-presidents.

Dewey responded with a brief speech in which he followed the Gridiron cue and poked fun at his own campaign while paying tribute to his successful rival.

President Truman echoed that theme in his own off-the-record talk at the windup of the show.

At the annual meeting of the club earlier, Richard L. Wilson of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, was elected Gridiron president for 1949.

Kintzinger, Tucker Take First, Second In Law Arguments

Charles A. Kintzinger and William M. Tucker won first and second places respectively in presenting their cases before a district court judge in Thursday night's Junior Law Arguments in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol.

Yesterday's story had omitted Tucker's name from the winners' circle. The two winners are now eligible to argue a case before the Iowa Supreme Court on Supreme Court day here in the spring.

Kintzinger and John R. Byers had argued for the appellant in an appeal case which tried to decide whether the new Iowa Motor Vehicle Drivers' Responsibility law is constitutional or not. Tucker and Donald D. Paul represented the appellee.

District court Judge R.G. Yoder of Sigourney presided.

Old Clothes Put to Good Xmas Use

JUST A PART OF THE MANY DONATIONS stacking up in the Johnson county courthouse basement to be distributed to needy rural families in the county. County Nurse Elizabeth Budreau called the response to her plea for clothing "wonderful." The drive will last until all needy families have been aided.

Clothing Drive for County Needy Successful

The clothing drive for needy families in the rural areas of Johnson county has been an overwhelming success so far, County Nurse Elizabeth Budreau said yesterday.

Clothing has been pouring into the basement of the county courthouse for the past few days as a result of a plea to help needy families get through the winter. Persons responded from all over the county.

The county nurse didn't know just how much clothing had been taken in so far but said, "The response was tremendous."

One Iowa City woman bought glasses for two children and is going to outfit two more children with new clothes from a downtown store. Others have responded to the plea with money donations.

Miss Budreau said the drive would last until the clothing was distributed among all the needy rural families in the county. Yesterday, the courthouse basement was alive with activity as families came to get blankets, sweaters, dresses, shoes and many other articles they sorely need. The county nurse said the Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce offered to distribute the clothing to underprivileged families who are unable to come to Iowa City to get the aid. Junior Chamber of Commerce president Wayne Putnam Jr. said, members of his organization will probably distribute the clothing to these families either Dec. 23 or 24.

Try and Stop Me

— By BENNETT CERF —

DIZZY DEAN, erstwhile star pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, and today driving purists stark raving mad with his radio broadcasts of games played by the Browns (classic example: "Keltner slud safely into third"), tells how he got Hank Greenberg's goat in a crucial moment in the 1934 world's series.

Greenberg strode to the plate, waving his menacing willow. Dean looked at him in mock surprise and asked, "What's the matter? Ain't you people got no pinch hitters?" Greenberg struck out.

"I won thirty games that year," continues Dean, "and what thanks do you think I get from the manager, Frank Frisch? He tells me, 'Anybody half as good as you think you are shoulda won forty — not a measly thirty!' Broadcasting's easier, I always liked to talk anyhow."

Ralph McFarland defines an old-fashioned girl as the kind who still takes a lighted cigarette out of her mouth before she pulls a diaphanous nightgown over her head.

Police issued another warning on bad check writers yesterday. This time they were warning merchants to be looking for a man using the name "Joe Vance".

He is wanted in Cedar Rapids on check charges. Police Officer Harland F. Sprinkle, who usually investigates false checks, expects Vance to be operating in Iowa City soon. Sprinkle said Vance's home address is Omaha. He is described as about 25-years-old, five feet, six inches tall, about 150 pounds and slender in build.

Council to Discuss Pay Raises, New 'Whiteway' Tomorrow

Proposed pay raises for members of the police and fire departments will be one of the four main issues discussed at the city hall.

The police and fire wage raise ordinance received its first reading at the Nov. 8 meeting. Pay raises for those in other departments also may be discussed.

Alderman W. H. Grandrath indicated last week that he would introduce resolutions at tomorrow's meeting concerning business district assessment for a proposed new "whiteway" for downtown Iowa City.

A public hearing will be held on the petition of Earl Shay for rezoning the vacant lot at the Bloomington and Dubuque streets crossing from residential to business district. The zoning and planning commission recommended the change to the council at the Nov. 8 meeting.

Bids on the proposed sewer extension from W. Benton street to the south city limits on Riverside drive will be opened at the city hall at 2 p.m. tomorrow. These bids will be acted upon at the meeting tomorrow night. The estimated cost of the project, introduced in two sections, is about $7,900.

Cadillac

PRESENTS ITS CREATIVE MASTERPIECE...

The world's newest engine—for the world's finest car!

No Cadillac announcement has ever been more significant than the one which appears on this page. For, this year, Cadillac presents its creative masterpiece—a wholly new V-type eight-cylinder engine—which is, beyond all doubt, the highest development yet attained in automotive power plants. * This great power plant has been twelve years in the building—for basic development work started in 1936. It has many unusual qualities which set it apart from all other creations of its kind. It is far more alert, powerful and responsive to the throttle—yet it affords an increase in gasoline economy of approximately twenty per cent. And the manner of its performance actually challenges the imagination. It is liquid smooth; it is quick and eager beyond all experience; yet the power application is so effortless that the driver is scarcely aware of the engine's existence. The car seems almost to move by automatic propulsion. * Even experienced Cadillac owners must put aside all previous conceptions of performance when they drive the 1949 Cadillac. It is a revelation—from silken start to silken stop. * There are, of course, many other advancements in addition to the history-making engine. There is new beauty in the front ensemble; there is a newly-designed, more attractive instrument panel, with all driving controls at your finger tips; and throughout the chassis and body will be found those characteristic refinements which result from Cadillac's unceasing search for perfection. * But the big Cadillac story, for 1949, is performance. It is not only the world's new standard—it is beyond the world's current conception.

McBride's Haul

By BILL MCBRIDE

While rummaging through a pile of old New York Times the other evening I was intrigued by an article in the education section which said college students should have at least eight hours sleep a night. By that you can see how old those papers were. For a long time eight, or even ten hours sleep was considered almost a necessity to growing boys and girls in higher echelons of learning. Recently, however, the trend has been toward less and less time in bed, until at this date it is not entirely unlikely that many students have little or no need for sleeping facilities at all. I believe an important point to be considered here is the discovery that college classrooms are restful and in some instances downright relaxing. After remaining awake all night, fretting over a stretch of bad luck with grade reports, a scholar can offset the restless evening by attending all of his classes the next day, promptly dozing off soon after roll is taken.

It goes without saying (but let's say it anyway) that under such a system, more hours carried in a semester schedule means more healthful sleep to the student. Sleep doesn't mean a thing, however, if it isn't handled correctly. Only the other day a professor stopped his lecture and called the class' attention to a dozing coed in the front row. He made several humorous remarks about sleeping in class, mentally took note of the girl's name and continued with his lecture. What the professor did not know was that 17 other persons in the room were also asleep. Why hadn't he noticed it? Those persons knew a few of the fundamentals about class room sleeping, that's why. When the professor made his humorous remarks about the sleeping girl in his front row, the majority of those other sleeping students chuckled at just the right moment. This bit of life-like action was the result of patiently training the mind to respond to certain stimuli even when unconscious. One of the most advanced cases of this type of training I can remember was exhibited in a Spanish class last year. The student I am referring to not only laughed at the instructor's jokes, but was capable of telling the complete story of little Red Riding Hood in Spanish without ever awakening. As a matter of fact, his snoring would never have been discovered if he hadn't gotten his stories mixed one day late in the semester, and related a tale which concerned itself with traveling salesman and a peon's daughter.

Another trick mastered by class room sleepers is the ability to create the illusion of taking voluminous notes, when in reality nothing goes into the notebook but a meaningless jumble of poor penmanship. If you are not a born-in-the-saddle lecture snoozer, this sort of activity may throw you for a loss come exam time. There is a sort of permanent futility about turning to lecture notes the night before an economics test and discovering "the basis of Gresham's law is two or more comfpl are eqstrb . . ." The statement ends in a simple straight line to the lower right-hand corner of the page. Apparently it was a restful class.

ANALYSIS OF THE WORLD'S NEWS AS —

IT HAPPENED LAST WEEK

Spy Probes

Chambers' Microfilms Launch New Probes

Excitement-addicted Americans were handed a king size hysteria reffer last week as the hunt for prewar Soviet spy rings was dramatically resumed. Whittaker Chambers, admitted one-time Communist courier, produced copies of documents stolen from the state department in 1937-38. His motive was to defend himself in a slander suit filed by Alger Hiss. Chambers called Hiss a Communist spy before the Thomas committee last summer and the case is still up in the air. Soon the house un-American activities committee and a federal grand jury investigating Soviet espionage were whipping into action.

While the grand jury in New York City quietly went about questioning witnesses and suspects, the Thomas committee — quickly grasping its new lease on life—went after the headlines.

The fact that Chambers hid his microfilmed evidence in a hollow pumpkin on his Maryland farm was exploited fully; the affair quickly was labeled the "pumpkin papers" case. Next, the prospects that foreign nations could have cracked the U.S. code with the stolen messages was explored. The grand jury and the Thomas group clashed over witnesses. There weren't enough to go around. President Truman asked the congressional unit to step aside and give the grand jury a free hand.

Claiming its work was "the prerogative of the United States congress", the Thomas committee refused to yield. On the weekend the Thomas group and the grand jury were holding each other off with one hand and trying to nab witnesses with the other. With the grand jury slated to dissolve this Wednesday and the Thomas committee headed for a change in about three weeks, anything can happen. . . and fast.

Global

Chinese Communists Drive Near Nanking

The battle for Nanking in the Chinese civil war raged on last week. The fight was still going against the Nationalists who had a 250,000-man garrison trapped in evacuated Suchow and other units struggling bitterly to retreat toward a defense line closer to Nanking. The Communists continued their devastating warfare as close as 35 miles north of the Nationalist capital. The Chinese were depending upon their airforce to reverse the long retreat of the land armies. Meanwhile, the U.S. government was considering the possibility of having marines evacuate American nationals from Shanghai. Keeping their stiff upper lips, Secretary Marshall and President Truman slithered uneasily at the presence of Mme. Chiang in Washington. Mme. Chiang was receiving plenty of sympathy, no dollars. Following on the heels of the Communist coup, Berliners in the western zones went to the polls last Sunday and defied the Communists with a record 86.2 percent turnout. The Social Democrats won 64.5 percent of the total; Ernst Reuter, their leader, will become the western mayor to challenge his Soviet counterpart, Friedrich Ebert. Still clinging to democratic trappings, Argentina's President Juan D. Peron cannot succeed himself under the present constitution. The only thing to do is amend the constitution. In a special election to pick delegates to a constituent assembly, Peron's supporters won with more than a two to one lead. There is no succession problem any more. Charged with having "bourgeois tendencies," Lajos Dinnyes was ousted as Premier of the Hungarian puppet government last week. After a wholesale purge of cabinet and party is completed, the puppet regime will be led by Minister of Agriculture Istavan Dobi.

Truman Is a Minority President, Totals Show

With official vote totals in for all states except Connecticut, President Truman emerges as the first minority president since Woodrow Wilson. The President got 24,104,548 votes while the combined total for his opponents was 24,575,461. Other statistics: Mr. Truman led Gov. Dewey by 2,184,923 votes. A total of 48,680,009 votes were cast for president, second highest on record. From Washington, President Truman said that the Greek war against the Communist guerrillas had reached a "stalemate" de-

Speaking for the administration on Pearl Harbor day, Secretary of Air Symington said "Remember Pearl Harbor" is the government's watchword in making destiny-shaping diplomatic and military decisions. But a B-36 bomber on a training flight flew over Hawaii on Dec. 7 undetected by the islands' radar warning net.

Korean Regime, World Bill of Rights Approved

As the UN lumbered toward a close this week on a round-the-clock schedule, the western bloc recorded all the victories. The south Korean republic was approved and the life of the UN Korean commission was extended. The bill of human rights was passed over Soviet shouts of "fascistic." Russian was rejected as one of the working languages of the UN.

Israel came up with a last minute decision to release 2,000 trapped Egyptian troops in the Negev desert. The path is now open for Israeli-Arab armistice negotiations.

In Washington, the Brussels pact nations and the U.S. were negotiating to put armed teeth into their alliance against Russia.

Wheat Parley Called; Wholesale Index Drops

The U.S. state department announced that the principal wheat producing nations of the world will hold a conference in Washington next January 25 to negotiate a new international wheat agreement.

Wholesale prices increased an average of one-tenth of one percent during the final week of November, the labor department reported. The department's wholesale commodity price index stood at 165.1 percent of the 1926 average.

Postmaster General Donaldson said congress will be asked to boost mail rates for newspapers, magazines, catalogues and other categories next year.

While a senate-house economic committee was studying business' record-level profits, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wy) said business seems to be trying to sidestep higher wages and taxes by claiming its profits have been "overstated."

CIO Transport Union Thumps Leftist Wing

The Chicago convention of Mike Quill's CIO transport workers union gave its left-wing delegates a cold shoulder by electing a 25-man, Quill-backed slate to the union's executive board and by barring Communists or members of "other subversive organizations" from holding any international or local office.

The transport workers announced that they will demand a flat $2 hourly wage boost for workers of the New York City transportation system.

Officials of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen announced a strike against the Southern Pacific railroad to start Dec. 15. The union, representing 3,000 employees, and the company are in disagreement over "several hundred" points in interpreting their contract.

Blue Balks on Move for Special 'Bonus' Session

Gov. Robert D. Blue rejected a proposal to call a special session of the legislature to finance the World War II veterans bonus from the state surplus, but a state senator predicted pressure from lawmakers might persuade the governor to change his mind.

State Sen. George Faul (R-Des Moines) contends that the general-revenue fund balance of $110-million as of Dec. 1 would enable paying all the bonus and still leave $20-million in surplus.

Four college students charged with failing to register under the selective service act were held in the Wappello county jail after failing to post $500 bonds. Another youth was released after posting bond.

Oskalcosa's stately shade trees along avenue "A" won't be protected by a permanent injunction, District Judge Frank Beechly ruled. He said the contract between the state highway commission and a contracting firm for widening the main thoroughfare was a valid agreement.

Read Your Finance Company Contract; Small Loan Sharpeners Running Rampant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Simple folks who sign blank contracts—or don't read contracts even when they are filled in—are helping the loan shark pull a weird variety of tricks.

Shady members of the small loan business have their own lingo for the things they do—"slap on the pack," "tack on the balloon payment," "make a snatch."

The unwary borrower often finds that the lender, in one way or another, has extracted from him one-third again as much as the money loaned for a year. Sometimes he loses both his money and his automobile, refrigerator or television set.

With more and more such goods coming to market, this sort of cheating is rampant in cities all over the country, according to the National Association of Better Business Bureaus and the American Automobile association. The department of justice has received many complaints and is studying the situation.

An old man of about 75 borrowed $100 to pay his wife's hospital bill. He paid the debt at the rate of $10 a month for twelve months—the extra $20 being the finance charge. But when he went to make his final payment, the sharper told him he still owed $98.

"That's the balloon payment," the lender explained. "We knew you couldn't afford to pay more than $10 a month, so we fixed it so you could put off paying the balance until your last payment."

The extra $98 was the premium on term life, accident and health insurance. The old man had unwittingly authorized it when he signed a blank contract.
