"Atomic" Clock Nearly Exact
Scientists Didn't Know What Time It Was—Precisely

By LEWIS CASELLE
WASHINGTON—A new "atomic" clock being prepared for installation at the Naval Research Laboratory has demonstrated that the extraordinary accuracy of one part in 100,000,000,000 is not a demonstration of the accuracy of research but of the operation of the clock itself.

The new clock is an improved version of one that has been in operation for several years. It is based on the operation of the cesium atom, which is used in atomic clocks.

The clock has an accuracy of better than one part in 100,000,000,000, which is equivalent to a difference of less than one second in 20 million years.

In addition to its accuracy, the clock is also very stable. It is designed to work as a precision instrument for timekeeping, and is intended for use in atomic clocks.

To Introduce Victory Chant

A new Iowa song written by Prof. and Mrs. C.B. Howard, work are still on the切手 in. We think the song is a promising one to promote the war work.

Mrs. Howard, back from England, announced that the British movement wasn't something that was rushed up to be "to aid in the spirit of Oliver Cromwell," she said. "They had had our day and now we have our turn." She said the movement was "a moral uplift for the men."
West Can Combat Clash of Freedom, Force: Moehlman

The conflict between Israel and Egypt is the "strategic" conflict of our time in the western world, Prof. Herman B. Moehlman, college of education, said yesterday.

Speaking to members of the Hebrew society, the noted authority on Middle Eastern affairs, Israel, he said that the conflict between the two nations was an example of the conflict between the United States and Russia.

Moehlman, who was with the Israel Foreign Office for five years, said the conflict between Israel and Egypt would be fought not only in the Middle East but also in the Far East and in Europe.

After an address to the Hebrew society, Moehlman and the other members of the exhibition were taken to the city's art museum where they were shown the work of Israeli artists.

The exhibition, "Israel, A New Direction in Art," consists of the works of Israeli artists and is composed of four sections. The exhibition is in duplicate in the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center and will be held this school year.

The Iowa Union will be open Saturday night for the Iowa University basketball team in action.

Laff-A-Day
The Volatile Act of the Comic Book World Won't Work

Doubtless—like some other paper here and there—is talking the problem of comic books in the headlines of news two years ago.

But this week the Iowa city press added an ominous note concerning some of the types of comic books to be found in Iowa. Many specifically named are now featuring "horrific pictures or depicting crime or make of various, infamous, abominable". That doesn't give the Green Lantern or Superman much to boast about.

Neither boys nor girls are being violated by the most popular comic books. Apparently if the "reason" is not appealing to the average human eye, the comic book will not be bought. Production is back.

This warning also may be for the Women's Christian Anti-Saloon League, which this week is fighting to be given the right to circularize homes. It seems almost as if the people are being warned in this case as well.

No More Scars to Mar the Stars, Say the Stars ...

Hollywood, where ordinarily promises never seem broken, has promised that there will be no more scars to mar the faces of its stars in the years to come. The promise will be kept by art directors and painters who paint the scars over with color and are not interested in them looking exactly like the ones that caused the facial disfigurements. One such artist is Miss. Helen Mann. She will be working on the Mary Pickford picture "The Love Nest" amid new vectors and bright colors. She says she will be able to do anything she has ever done before, but with better color and more skill. She has signed a contract with United Artists to paint over the scars of stars over a period of years.

Missouri Governor Confronts Rutledge Extradition Papers

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Dr. Robert C. Rutledge of St. Louis won a first round delay yesterday in his fight to avoid a 25-year sentence in a fraud case.

The young physician accused of bilking his wife's alleged $10 million estate into $2.5 million was held in a Cedar Rapids hotel room last night. He was expected to be flown back to the room the next day.

But Missouri Gov. Phil M. Mason ruled yesterday's extradition grant did not carry legal weight in Rutledge's case. However, the FBI has threatened to make a formal request in the coming days.

The prisoner, 37, was held on bond in a St. Louis jail for $10 million when he was arrested in 1945 for defrauding an estate.

The Rutledge case is one of the most complex in Missouri history. A federal judge ruled the indictment was insufficient to support a federal conviction.

The Rutledge case is being heard in the St. Louis Circuit Court, where the prisoner is expected to be arraigned in the coming days.

St. Louis, Mo., Attorney General

Laughren of Looen. chair, the meeting was called to order by Rutledge at 9 a.m. after the decision was made to adjourn indefinitely in the absence of a quorum.
