Washington Has 'Party' Look

Capital Dons Festive Air, Lavish Decorations For the Biggest Inauguration in History

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—This staid capital yesterday splashed itself with red, white and blue and lined its broad avenues with bleachers for the biggest inauguration party in history.

Pennsylvania avenue from the White House to the capitol resembled a mile-long carnival ground on the eve of the big show.

Acres of wooden bleachers flanked the historic way along which President Truman will ride to Capitol Hill to take the oath of office at noon Thursday from Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson.

Flags whipped in the wind from every lamp post and 12,000 fresh-painted "no parking" signs dotted the center of town. Police reinforcements from as far away as New Orleans were on hand to cope with the more than 750,000 visitors who will begin flooding into the city this weekend.

The face of the capitol itself looked like a movie set, covered with temporary stands and structures to house the television, movie, radio and press communications lines that will send the inaugural story around the world.

Forty bands and 40,000 marchers will follow the President in a two and one half hour parade back to the White House after the swearing-in ceremony. Governors of most of the 48 states will be in the line of march—but not New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. Dewey said he couldn't make it.

A flight of perhaps 800 airforce, navy and marine planes will cross the parade route in combat-formation, led by six B-36 super bombers.

Seats along the way cost up to $12 in store windows, hotels and out in the open in wooden grandstands. Seats for the swearing-in ceremony at the capitol are free, but are obtainable only by invitation. All the invitations have been sent out.

The inaugural committee even invoked price-controls on refreshments. It set ceiling prices of 20 cents per hot dog and 15 cents for a cup of coffee.

It was less successful, however, with some hotels, which have raised their room rates to as much as $32 a day.

The biggest float in the parade will be the Oklahoma entry, a $7,000 creation that is 70 feet long. It features an orchestra playing hit tunes from the musical show "Oklahoma," with cowgirls, Indians and hillbillies dancing between miniature oil derricks and a picture of Will Rogers.

Missouri has entered a $3,000 float paying tribute to "our greatest Missourian," the President.

Federal workers are getting a four-day holiday beginning at quitting time Wednesday. Tens of thousands of other Americans across the country will shut up shop before then to get here for the jamboree.

Some high-ranking Democrats in charge of arrangements were chewing their fingernails over the visitor problem. They're afraid that many Democrats who got routine invitations to the ceremonies will show up without having made proper reservations in advance.

The inaugural events are all sold out, and a lot of loyal but unscheduled Democrats may find themselves out in the cold.

One thing is certain. The busiest Democrat in town this week will be President Truman.

Sophoulis Resigns In Greek Squabble

ATHENS (AP)—Ailing, aged Premier Themistocles Sophoulis resigned yesterday for the second time in three months and Royalist Leader Constantinos Tsaldaris immediately began efforts to form a new cabinet.

The 68-year-old premier resigned to protest plans to reorganize his government, a coalition of his own Liberal party and Tsaldaris' Populists.

A few hours after Sophoulis presented his resignation to King Paul, Tsaldaris went to the palace with dissident Liberal Leader Sophocles Venizelos and two other ranking politicians to propose to the king that they be allowed to form a new coalition.

With the support of Venizelos and the two less leaders—George Papandreu of the moderate leftist Republican party and Panagiotis Kanellopoulos of the Unionists—Tsaldaris could count on a majority of 225 of the 354 member parliament.

Race Riot Ebbs in South African City; Many Dead, Injured

DURBAN, SOUTH AFRICA (AP)—Bloody race rioting appeared last night to be dying down, but it was believed casualties will far exceed police estimates of 100 killed and 1,000 injured. Damage runs more than $1-million.

Cyprian, King of the Zulus, pleaded with his native subjects to stop the fighting with the Indians, which has wiped out whole families.

"It is my earnest wish," he said, "that the trouble should be settled in a peaceful way."

Conference

At the same time South African Minister of Justice C.R. Swart, and Defense Minister F.C. Erasmus arrived from Capetown and went into a huddle with police and local defense officers over means of stopping the bloodshed.

The Durban police said about 100 have been killed and 1,000 injured in the three days of fighting between Zulu and Indian inhabitants. But officials at Johannesburg estimated 300 were killed and a Durban member of parliament said the figure was nearer 500.

Started by Fight

Cause of it all was a fight Thursday in which an Indian peddler injured a Zulu boy. Incident followed incident, swelling into the worst race rioting the country has seen.

Whole streets were reduced to ruins by mobs swarming through them killing and pillaging. Entire sections were set aflame by torch bearers and the people burned, or killed when they tried to escape or resist.

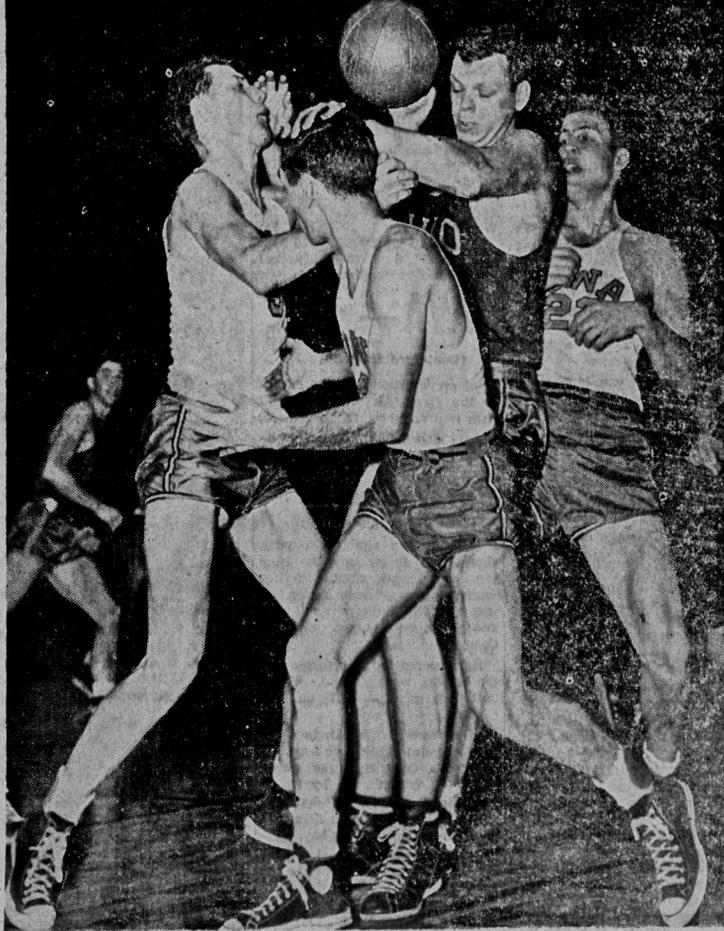

Many casualties were caused by heavy stones, clubs and knives.

Bull in China Shop 'Highly Overrated'

HAMILTON, ONT. (AP)—That bull-in-a-china-shop phrase kept running through his mind, so yesterday Jack Rankin, "the madman of Main street," turned frisky one-year-old Ferdinand loose in his own china shop to find out just what would happen.

Looking over the shop after Ferdinand's departure, Rankin said the phrase is overrated. He said the experiment showed:

1. A bull does less damage than you'd think.
2. He'd rather smash cheap pottery than expensive chinaware.
3. Spectators attracted by such an event cause as much damage as the bull.

'I Must Have a Hand of My Own Somewhere ...'

Not a Legal Leg to Stand on

TOKYO (UP)—Police yesterday arrested a one-legged pick pocket who used his hollow wooden leg to store his loot. He was caught when he tried to pick the pockets of a plain clothes police woman in a streetcar. In the artificial leg police found 20,000 yen in crisp 100-yen bills.

Sullivan Expects Higher Navy Budgets as 'Price of Peace'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy does not expect present international controversies to lead to war, Secretary John L. Sullivan said yesterday, but believes a powerful defense is the price of peace.

"Literally speaking, that price is rising," Sullivan said in his annual report for 1947-48.

Following within a week President Truman's request for $14-billion for the armed services—the largest peacetime military budget in the nation's history—Sullivan declared future navy budgets "inescapably" will be even higher.

The reasons he listed—Inflation, more complex war machines and exhaustion of wartime stockpiles—presumably would apply with equal force to army and air-force money needs.

"It is felt that the international controversies developing since World War II are susceptible to eventual resolution," Sullivan commented, adding:

"In any event, a strong defense is the greatest deterrent to attack, and is therefore a powerful influence for peace. The navy's plans and condition of readiness are geared to provide that influence."

"Radical" changes in anti-aircraft guns, heavier and faster planes, faster submarines, faster ships and better detection and destruction methods are being developed against the major threats of "fast deep-diving submarines, high speed planes and guided missiles and atomic weapons," he said.

Third Blizzard for Beleaguered West

CHICAGO (AP)—The third big blizzard in two weeks howled into Utah, Idaho, Nevada, Montana and North and South Dakota last night marooning hundreds of travelers and halting relief operations for the last storm.

Two transcontinental highways were blocked on the western side of the Rocky mountains and snow-plow crews doubted that they could keep a third highway clear as the new storm grew stronger. Snowplows were ordered off highways because of the storm in Northwestern and west-central South Dakota.

SENTENCE OF 199 YEARS IN PRISON for her husband brought this reaction from Mrs. Lowell Feintess in a Chicago court yesterday. Feintess was convicted of being a partner in the "mad dog" slaying of Emil Schmeichel in 1947. Also convicted on the same charge was James Morell. He was sentenced to death in the electric chair. Here two deputy sheriffs try to calm Mrs. Feintess.

Bucks Give Hawks First Victory, 53-49

By BUCK TURNBULL

Sports Editor

Iowa's basketball team went on a victory rampage at the fieldhouse last night and tucked away its first Western conference triumph of the 1949 season, 53-49, over Ohio State university.

The Buckeyes were forced to play without their spark-plug forward, Dick Schnittker, who was hospitalized here at University hospitals yesterday afternoon with a sore throat and a temperature of 101 degrees.

Schnittker was placed in the isolation ward. Besides a sore throat, which had been bothering him for more than a week, he was also developing a rash. It was doubtful whether he would be able to accompany the Ohio team to Wisconsin for its game with the Badgers tomorrow.

Regardless of Schnittker's absence, the Hawkeyes were a much improved ball club last night, both in shooting and rebounding. In contrast with the two Big Nine losses to Purdue and Indiana, Iowa had no second half lapse to plague its victory effort.

Pops Harrison, realizing that there is no substitute for speed, started Charlie Mason and Floyd Magnusson at forwards against the fast-breaking Bucks. Mason and Magnusson, noted for their scrappy play, never let up until they were relieved in the second half.

Hays Surprise Starter

Don Hays was a surprise starter at center but his second half play, when the tension of the speedy action increased, was an enormous factor in the final outcome.

Ohio State stepped into an early 10-4 lead at the five-minute mark before the Hawkeyes began to function smoothly. Then started on Iowa drive which consisted mainly of field goals from beyond the free throw circle.

Magnusson pumped in a push shot at 6:45 and Bob Schulz followed 30 seconds later with a bucket of the same variety.

With eight minutes gone in the half, Ohio center Jack Pfeiffer connected with a hook shot to give the Bucks a 12-8 lead. But back came Magnusson with a driving one-hander, reducing the deficit to 12-10.

At this stage of the proceedings Iowa's muscular guard, Tony Guzowski, began a one-man scoring spree which turned the advantage over to the Hawkeyes and eventually set the halftime score at 32-26.

Tony's first set shot cracked

the cords at 9:40, tying the score at 12-12. During the next seven minutes, Tony cashed in on four more long, looping set shots and one lay-up. Only three free throws by Center Al Weiss were interspersed among Guzowski's 12 points.

Magnusson broke the Guzowski "spell" at the 18-minute mark with another push shot, giving Iowa a 28-24 edge. Guzowski scored six of ten shots in the first half. His 13 points were high for the game.

The Hawks retired at the intermission with a six-point 32-26 lead, leaving the crowd of 12,100 persons wondering if they could maintain the pace for another 20 minutes. They did.

Ohio Threatened

Ohio State never regained the lead in the second half. The Buckeyes made one concerted drive midway in the period, reducing a 41-31 Iowa edge to 42-41 before fizzling out.

With Hays in the pivot for most of the final half, the Hawkeyes worked as a smooth unit. Don banged in two hook shots before the Bucks made their comeback.

Then with the score at 42-41, he drew a personal foul by Bob

Tientsin's Fall Makes China's Plight Urgent

NANKING (AP)—The Chinese Communists captured Tientsin yesterday, sharpening the urgency of the government alternatives to yield to harsh peace terms or flee.

The cabinet and other government bodies were holding tense conferences, and the policy-making executive Yuan scheduled an emergency session today to discuss the Communists' conditions.

Those conditions, broadcast Friday night, amounted to a demand for unconditional surrender of the Chiang Kai-shek government. Nanking hopes that they might be eased went glimmering as the fall of Tientsin demonstrated the Communists' dominant military position.

Gloom Deepens

Deepening the government gloom was authoritative word that both the United States and Britain had declined to use their good offices to seek peace talks. There appeared no reason to believe that France or Russia would heed similar pleas.

Conquest of Tientsin after a month siege and a day of artillery bombardment cost the government another 60,000 of its dwindling troops and freed an estimated 150,000 Communists for new operations.

Route Clear

The Communist radio stressed the obvious fact that the capture cleared a rail route all the way from Manchuria down to the Yangtze river front before Nanking.

This hurried the continuing flight of government offices from this dejected capital.

It was learned authoritatively that the bulk of government gold and foreign currency already had been moved to the island of Formosa, more than 500 miles by air southeast of Nanking. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was reported also to have sent many of his personal possessions there.

Peace Clamor

Public clamor for peace at any price was increasing, and even in official circles there was a feeling that Communist conditions were not unreasonable in view of the military situation.

The universal reaction was that the Communist terms left no room for bargaining. They included punishment of war criminals, destruction of "reactionary elements," and abandonment of the constitution.

Snow, Cold Seen For Iowa Tonight

Snow flurries and much colder weather are scheduled to move into the north and west portions of Iowa tonight and cover the entire state by tomorrow morning, the weather bureau said last night.

Dense fog and rain descended on Iowa City yesterday, along with a 51-degree temperature. Precipitation here amounted to .41 of an inch.

The fog, caused by warm air moving in over the cold ground, dropped visibility to zero at the airport and slowed up auto traffic.

East Zone Power To Bavaria Cut off

NUERNBERG (AP)—The Russians apparently made good their threat last night to cut off east zone power to Bavaria.

Officials at the Luernsheim power station near Nuernberg shortly before 9 p.m. said the customary flow of power from the Russian zone was not coming through.

Russian authorities threatened this week to cut off the flow of power sent to Bavaria in the American zone unless it was paid for in equipment rather than money.

$68-Million Paid in Benefits by UMW

WASHINGTON (AP)—A quarter million soft coal miners or their families have received welfare benefits of $68-million in 20 months, John L. Lewis reported yesterday.

Nearly a million separate checks have gone out.

The fund comes from a 20-cent royalty added to the price of each ton of coal produced under contract with Lewis' United Mine Workers. Last year's bituminous output was 630-million tons. There is a separate welfare fund for the 80,000 anthracite miners in Pennsylvania.

Meeting Between Rita, Aga Khan Is Reported

CANNES, FRANCE (AP)—Rita Hayworth, red-haired American movie actress, met Aga Khan, the fabulously rich Indian and father of her traveling friend, Prince Aly Khan, it was learned yesterday. Some French newspapers described the meeting last night as one between Rita "and her future father-in-law."

Minnesota Breaks Old Purdue Jinx, 67-52

Victory Smiles Finally Find Hawkeye Fans

HAPPY EVENING FOR SUI STUDENTS as they watch the Hawkeyes chalk up a win over the Buckeyes from Ohio State, 53-49. Victory was the first of the season in the Big Nine and with the expressions on some faces the fans seem happily surprised. Iowa was listed as eight point underdogs.

Mac Gets 20 Points, Skoog Hits 18 in Win at Lafayette

LAFAYETTE, IND. (AP) — Minnesota's Golden Gophers, one of the few remaining undefeated college basketball powers, last night whipped Purdue, 67 to 52, for its third straight Big Nine victory.

The Gophers, never perturbed about Purdue's feared fast-breaking game, went to work early to take a commanding lead. And with Jim McIntyre, their towering center, controlling both backboards for the greater part of the game, it was easy sailing for the visitors, who hadn't won a game here in seven years.

The triumph was Minnesota's 11th straight and gave the Gophers a share in the Western conference race with Illinois which played outside of the league last night.

Purdue, starting almost the same lineup which stopped Michigan's defending conference champs a few days ago, had a short-lived 6 to 4 lead with five minutes gone in the game.

But then Minnesota began showing its class, and with McIntyre getting the rebounds and chipping in with eight fielders, and Forward Harry Grant also finding the hoop easily, the Gophers made a walkaway of the contest which had been rated as a toss-up.

Grant contributed seven two-pointers, mostly in the first half of the fracas, to give Minnesota a fairly comfortable 35 to 26 halftime lead.

Coach Mel Taube used 10 Purdue boys, but none of them, including hot-shot Howie Williams was able to catch fire last night.

Bill Berberian, the Boilermakers' ball-hawk and defensive star, led the losers' scoring with 13 points.

Donham with seven minutes left in the game. It was Donham's fifth foul and he left the game.

Hays swished the charity attempt. Thirty seconds later he forced Pfeiffer to foul him in the pivot and made that one, too, giving Iowa a 44-41 lead.

After Schulz rimmed a push shot, Hays threw one in from the corner and again Pfeiffer fouled the rangy Iowa center. It was Pfeiffer's fifth personal foul and he joined Donham on the Ohio State bench.

Hays scored the free throw and the Hawks were ahead, 49-43, with five minutes left on the clock.

The Hawkeyes began to stall at that point with a safe margin. Although Ohio hit three more baskets, free throws by Hays and Schulz and a one-handed push by Forward Stan Straatsma kept the Bucks at bay.

For a change Iowa's shot percent in the second half was almost as good as in the first. The Hawks hit 12 of 45 field goal tries in the first period for .267 and 6 of 24 in the last half for .250. Their game percentage was .261.

Ohio State shot a cool 224 percent on 19 baskets in 85 attempts.

Meet Minnesota Next

Iowa now faces undefeated Minnesota in the fourth Big Nine game for both teams here tomorrow night. The Gophers are tied for the league lead with Illinois, both with three straight wins apiece. Minnesota has won 11 consecutive games this season.

As a result of last night's win, Iowa is now in a five-way tie for fourth place in the Big Nine.

Badgers Rally Over Indiana In 58-48 Win

MADISON, WIS. (AP) — Center Don Rehfeldt pumped in 27 points last night to enable Wisconsin to overtake Indiana and beat the Hoosiers, 58-48, in a Big Nine basketball game.

The first half was all Indiana, with the Hoosiers jumping off to a quick 10-3 lead and nursing it along for a 26-25 margin at the intermission.

But 15 points by Rehfeldt and seven more by Doug Rogers helped the Badgers move ahead in the wild second half, which saw the lead change six times before two quick rebound shots by Rehfeldt sent Wisconsin ahead, 41-38, to stay.

After that, baskets by Rehfeldt and Lou Watson and free throws by Rehfeldt and Rogers made it 45-40, Wisconsin, and the Badgers coasted in.

Bill Garrett, Negro forward from Shelbyville, Ind., was high scorer for the Hoosiers with 15 points. A pair of guards Bill Tosheff of Indiana and Bob Mader of Wisconsin, were ejected for a bit of fist swinging in the closing minutes of play.

A capacity crowd of 13,000 saw Wisconsin take its first Big Nine victory and Indiana its second defeat, each in three conference starts.

Wolverines Roll, 53-40

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (AP) — Michigan crushed an inept Northwestern basketball team, 53-40, here last night for its first Big Nine victory of the season. A crowd of 6,500 fans saw the Wolverines hand Northwestern its second straight conference loss.

Michigan was not in championship form but the Wolverines had little trouble beating a Northwestern team that now has dropped seven games in nine starts against all opposition.

Michigan had a 24-15 advantage at the intermission.

Northwestern trailed all the way after Michigan quickly overcame a 2-0 Whitecat lead in the opening minutes.

The wild real show of life by the Whitecats was a nine-point surge midway in the second half after Michigan had led, 41-21.

Ris Swims 100 in 52 Seconds —

Varsity Sinks Freshman Tankers

Pulling his lame knee and all, Wally Ris sprinted 100 yards in 52 seconds, flat, yesterday, only .2 of one second off the Big Nine meet record.

He added a :51.4, using a flying start, in anchoring a varsity sprint relay teams as the regulars flooded the freshmen, 58-26.

The new and relatively unfamiliar 25-yard course unveiled yesterday kept most of the other times from being too impressive. However, two freshmen showed what can be expected later by taking victories, and several sophomores took their places among the Hawks' strong scorers.

Don Watson, St. Louis freshman who placed fourth in two distance events in the outdoor nationals last summer, won the 440 in a good time of 5:02.8.

Bobby Busch, who will be eligible for the varsity in February, was the official winner for 100 yards, since Ris did not swim as an official varsity entrant. Busch was barely ahead of Erv Straub and Ed "Rusty" Garst.

Bowen Stassforth won the 200-yard breast stroke by four body lengths over Larry Larimore.

Duane Draves continued his excellent pace as a backstroke in winning the 150-yard event in a fine early-season time of 1:35.6.

Behind Ris, the sprinters fought fiercely for positions. On comparative times for 100 yards, they arranged themselves roughly in this order: Busch, Draves, Straub, Garst and Bob Korte. Mainstay Kenny Marsh did not swim because of a lame back.

Ris put the clincher on the last event, the sprint relay, with his :51.4. Draves, anchoring the rival varsity foursome, had a lead of one body length which Ris ate up to win by less than a length.

The results, listing only official varsity men who placed (each time establishes the pool record):

300-yard medley relay: Varsity (Draves, Larimore, Ed Berger, Freshman Earl Williams, Eldon Dahl and Mike Mcquire). Time: 3:03.0.

Hawkeye Juniors Swamp Burlington

Early comers to the Iowa victory over Ohio State last night saw the junior varsity swamped Burlington Junior college, 74-42.

The Iowans got off to a fast start, were plenty accurate with their shooting and led at halftime, 36-19. Scoring was led by Center Ken Arnesen with 23 points, while Teammate Eddie Colbert chipped in with 11.

Minnesota has not won a basketball game in Iowa City in the last five years. Last season Iowa won here, 54-50, and lost at Minneapolis, 72-56.

Illini Bury Creighton On 39 Buckets, 96-30

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP) — With seven players scoring 10 points or more, Illinois racked up its 12th basketball victory in 13 starts last night by burying Creighton in a non-league game, 96-30.

The Illini hit on 39 shots out of 88 attempts while Creighton connected on only 10 out of 65. Creighton lagged, 39-16, at halftime and was held to 14 points in the second half while the Illini romped to 57.

Dike Eddleman, Van Anderson, Wally Osterkorn and Bill Erickson led the parade of 14 Illini players with 12 points apiece.

Tom Belford topped Creighton with seven.

HAWKS 'TOO TOUGH'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Marquette university yesterday announced a nine-game football schedule for 1949 that will be just a shadow of its grueling 1948 card.

The Hilltoppers are dropping such powerhouses as Iowa, Kentucky, and Pittsburgh as being too tough to handle.

Jim, Skoog Lead Attack

Minnesota's powerful Golden Gophers, led by the one-two scoring combination of Center Jim McIntyre and Forward Meyer "Whitey" Skoog, come to the Iowa fieldhouse tomorrow night to battle Iowa's Hawkeyes in the fourth Big Nine game for both schools.

The sell-out contest will begin at 8 p.m.

The Golden Gophers remained unbeaten with their crushing 67-52 win over Purdue at Lafayette, Ind., last night. Minnesota will place an undefeated mark of 11 triumphs on the line against the Hawkeyes.

The magic coaching of Ossie Cowles will be on exhibit to Iowa fans for the second time since Cowles began teaching the dribble and shoot sport in the Western conference.

Cowles coached at Michigan in 1947 and 1948, leading the Wolverines to the Big Nine title last year. Previous to that he had guided Dartmouth to seven Eastern intercollegiate crowns in eight years. His only appearance in Iowa City was in 1947 when his Michigan quintet lost to the Hawks, 55-46.

The slick coach has always

City Lacks Office Seekers; Primary to Be Held Feb. 28

With the deadline for office seekers to file for the city primary less than two weeks away, not one person had indicated up to yesterday noon that he intends to run for office.

And in addition to the lack of activity in public circles, some local politicians have said recently that nothing is happening behind the scenes.

The city primary will be held Feb. 28, in accordance with Iowa law. The deadline for filing to get names on the primary ballot is 30 days prior to the primary.

Eleven elective offices will be filled in the general election—held this year on March 28. Elective officials are the mayor, five ward aldermen, two aldermen at large, police judge, city treasurer and one park commissioner.

The present city government is overwhelmingly Democratic, the party holding 9 of the 11 positions. The two Republicans are James W. Jones, second ward alderman, and Earl Raymond, city treasurer.

None of the present councilmen or other elective officials have indicated officially whether they intend to file. Rumors indicate that both major parties intend having caucuses to line up a slate of candidates sometime this week, but again, nothing official has been said.

There are also rumors of a non-partisan league being formed in Iowa City to take the place of the two political parties but everyone is close-mouthed about it.

Several of the present aldermen have indicated at one time or another that they do not intend to run again. None have made any definite statements.

One alderman contacted yesterday said that from the time he was elected two years ago, he has been saying that he will not succeed himself.

Among the appointive jobs which either the mayor or council fill during their terms are city clerk, city engineer, city solicitor, police chief, fire chief, weighmaster, city health officer and various boards and commissions. Some of these officials are appointed by the mayor, others by the council and some by the mayor with the council's approval.

Elected Secretary Of New Association

Dr. Robert C. Kammerer, consultant at the SUI child welfare station, has been elected secretary-treasurer of the newly established Iowa Psychological association.

Dr. George D. Lovell, chairman of the Grinnell college psychology department, was chosen president.

Kammerer, who is also director of the division of psychological services of the board of control, said yesterday the election was held by mail ballot. The association will have its first formal meeting next spring.

The association is made up of fellows and associates of the American Psychological association. The Iowa organization will probably affiliate with the national organization in the future, Kammerer said.

At present the organization has about 50 members.

Junior Farm Bureau To Hold Bobsled Party

The Junior Farm Bureau of Johnson county will hold a bobsled party at the Russell Gardner farm Wednesday at 8 p.m. The Gardner farm is located a mile and a half south of Morse, or eight miles northeast of Iowa City.

In the event of bad weather, either a card party or a hayrack ride will be held.

A MARRIAGE broker tried desperately to persuade a likely young man to marry the daughter of a client. Finally he persuaded him to visit the prospect for dinner. On the way home he demanded,

"Did you ever see such class, such refinement? And such wealth! You noticed, I hope, the fine silverware and dishes?" "Yes," admitted the young man, "but how do I know they didn't borrow those things just to impress me?" Don't be a fool," snapped the broker. "Who'd lend those crooks silverware and dishes?"

George Jessel, presiding over a banquet in his inimitable fashion, suddenly stepped off the dais, dropped to one knee, and warbled "Rock-a-bye Your Baby To A Dixie Melody" in flawless fashion. As the party was breaking up, Gene Markey said to him, "George, I never knew you could sing that well." "I can't sing at all," protested Jessel. "I was just imitating Al Jolson."

Ohio Man Changes Plea from Innocent; Released on Bond

Marvin Krauth of Hamilton, Ohio, changed an earlier innocent plea to "guilty" yesterday in Johnson county district court in answer to a grand jury indictment which charged him with obtaining money and property under false pretenses.

Judge Harold D. Evans ordered that his sentence be fixed at a date to be set by the court. Krauth was released on his own bond without surety until the sentence date. He had been held in county jail under $2,000 bond.

Krauth was indicted Nov. 22 on a bad check charge by which he obtained money and groceries from the George Rebal market in Iowa City last July 20.

Swisher and Swisher were the defendant's attorneys.

Meanwhile, Ralph Guy's trial was continued until the February term of court. The Cedar Rapids defendant was indicted by the grand jury Oct. 4 on a charge of assault with intent to inflict bodily injury.

He was charged with assaulting Robert Strub Aug. 1.

Kenneth Moon of Cedar Rapids, and Swisher and Swisher are the defendant's attorneys.

Tomorrow, trial is scheduled to begin for Robert Eddy of Chicago. Eddy was indicted Oct. 4 on a burglary charge.

The indictment charged him with entering the SAE fraternity house at 303 N. Riverside drive with intent to commit larceny last July 9.

Swisher and Swisher are attorneys representing Eddy.

HUMANITY IS either going to have to start walking or doing something about finding a place to park its transportation.

It is a known fact that riding in an automobile from your home to the shopping center saves time.

THE PARKING problem in Iowa City is not a peculiar one. It exists in practically every community in the country.

In this glorious era of "no-haw" production and long life expectancy, we clever A bomb builders can't master a simple arrangement of temporary storage space.

THERE ARE those fortunate few who happen to be without the problem. Society makes a place for taxi cabs, buses, faculty members, dray companies, postal trucks and bicycles.

Others, such as policemen, fire companies, undertakers, coal delivermen, pop trucks and dogs are excused from observing stringent parking laws because of the very nature of their businesses.

Most of us, however, fall into that harried group classified as motorists, and nothing more.

AT LEAST one person that I know of has solved his parking troubles. He simply maneuvers his auto into the space which we like to think of as our driveway.

I know he means no harm, but if he does it just once more, I'm going to open both the back doors of his shiny new sedan and drive our 1936 model through in low gear.

PERHAPS IT IS just my nature to complain about such things. It may be that the shortage of parking space is a trivial matter, but on the 18th lap around the business section I begin to unravel a bit.

For instance, yesterday afternoon I was sent to the grocery store for celery. It wasn't a life or death mission, but it was raining and the lack of celery in our kitchen was holding up culinary production.

I DROVE TO the grocery store hoping against hope that I wouldn't have to walk too far in the rain with only my mild case of pneumonia to keep me company.

I drove around and around the block and finally, when I was halfway past it, spotted a space. All I had to do was back up five feet and the space was mine.

A fellow motorist behind me, however, also was prowling in search of parking space. He honked at me to get out of his way and I honked right back. I had seen it first. We sat for a while tooting our horns back and forth until I saw another car pull out from the curb ahead of me.

QUICKLY I drove to the vacancy and was almost congratulating myself on the success when a woman, who for the first time in her life, I imagine, managed to place her vehicle in an area with only two or three feet tolerance on each side without tearing off a fender.

About this time I began to grow bitter. It was getting the best of me, and it began to look like it was a case of survival of the fittest.

ANOTHER VACANCY appeared, but it was on the other side of the street. If I drove around the block I knew what would happen. Something snapped inside of me, and I slammed on the brakes, wheeled around and backed in diagonally with my rear wheels coming to a satisfying thump on the curb.

If they wanted to play by the old law of the jungle that was all right with me. Flushed with victory, I stalked in to buy the celery.

The Iowa City police force doesn't seem to recognize the law of the jungle as part of the city's ordinances. When I returned to our car there was an invitation for me to visit police court Jan. 21. I'm going to try to beat the rap with an insanity plea.

Receives Budget, OK's Acheson, Hikes Salaries

The Democratic congress stopped for breath this week, blinked at the work it had outlined for itself and went quietly to work.

Confirmation of Dean Acheson as new secretary of state (effective this Thursday, Mr. Truman's inaugural day) came next. After convincing the senate foreign committee that he aimed to continue the present foreign policy, Acheson won their unanimous support and headed for speedy congressional approval.

The presidential pay envelope was fattened in one of the first major bills cleared by the senate. The salary is increased to $100,000 a year with a new $50,000 tax-exempt expense allowance.

Into congressional hoppers went bills to: double the number of displaced Europeans to be admitted to the U.S.; extend rent controls for 27 months and abolish "voluntary" landlord-tenant agreements for 15 percent rent increases; finance private industry with a $15-billion fund to be administered by the RFC; repeal the Taft-Hartley act and restore the Wagner act, with or without modifications.

Big battles were shaping up as the senate rules committee called for public hearings — with senators only as witnesses — on the explosive question of blocking filibusters. The Democratic leadership is preparing an anti-filibuster bill; dairy interests retreated from their anti-oleo tax repeal stand and prepared a fight to have colored oleo banned from sales in stores and restaurants; southern Democrats began rallying strength to fight the Truman civil rights program.

The house un-American activities committee was blamed by a Pennsylvania Democrat for being responsible, directly or indirectly, for "either murder or suicide . . . broken homes, broken lives and shattered reputations."

Britain Enters Palestine Feud, Soothes Allies

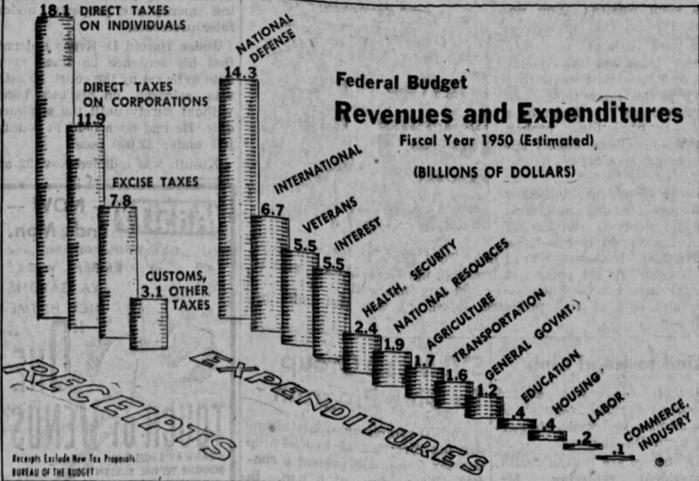

Great Britain — after having five RAF planes shot down by the Jews — entered the Holy Land conflict on the side of the Arabs. Stopping short of force, the British delivered blistering attacks against Israel in the UN and massed her Mediterranean fleet for action.

The U.S. refused to follow suit, brushing aside British requests. And Israel and Egypt — actual contestants in the latest battling — met on the island of Rhodes for armistice negotiations.

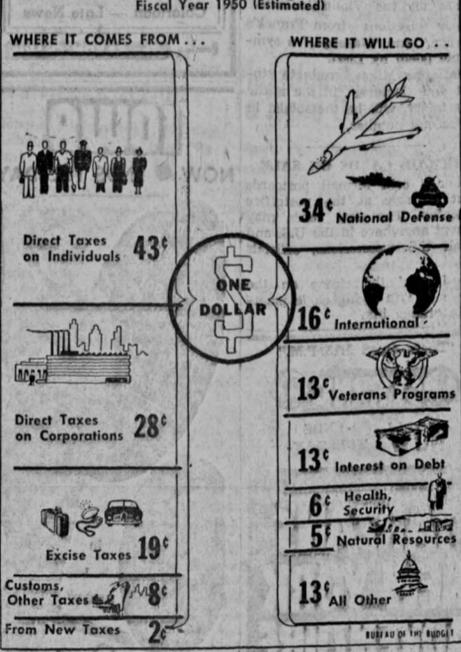

By the weekend, Britain was moving to patch up its troubles with its two allies, the U.S. and France. British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks hustled over to the White House for a talk with Mr. Truman while British and French foreign ministers Bevin and Schuman talked over differences in London.

In China, the Communists stormed besieged Tientsin and answered Chiang's New Year's peace offer. But their conditions were a thinly disguised call for unconditional surrender. Chiang

Communists Face Trial; Weather Plays Jukes

The supreme court ruled that 12 top U.S. Communist leaders must go on trial in New York tomorrow on charges of advocating the violent overthrow of the government.

But the defense for the Communist leaders — trying every effort to win new postponements — accused the jury selected to hear the case of being a "pent-house" jury which "systematically excludes workers, Negroes, Jews, and members of political minorities."

Weather kept up its chilly antics last week from rock-ribbed Maine to the ice-fleeted shores of snowy California. Southern California got four straight days of snow. Flowers and shirt sleeves blossomed out in a Dixie "heat wave."

But Americans took the rigors of the weather. For instance, the Nevada desert resort of Las Vegas whose slogan is "Fun in the Sun" — bewilderingly dug out from under a five-inch coat of snow. The Las Vegas chamber of commerce was swamped with telephone calls.

Miss Mike To Play

She'll Do Violin In Orchestra

Marianne Mikes, graduate and lecturer in music department from Hungary, will play "Violin Concerto" as the SUT symphony orchestra Wednesday.

Petite, brunette who pronounces her name "sh" (accent the first syllable) in the Hungarian manner in the fall of 1947.

Waldhauser She chose Iowa by violin teacher, Prof. I. Bauer, came here, the studied under Waldhauser Franz Liszt academy where she received a high honors in 1946.

Here, she is continuing studies under Waldhauser serving as his assistant music department faculty. She is also principal violinist of the university orchestra, co-leader of the chamber orchestra, member of the faculty quartet.

Started at Seven Miss Mikes started violin when she was 10. "Perhaps the darkest of my life were from 16th birthdays when I had a severe inflammation of the throat and had to stop violin. I didn't think I could play again."

Then she went to the conservatory. "Healing of my wrists done by the doctors, due to Prof. Waldhauser taught me the correct hand position and the bow and the mistakes of my earlier playing."

Waldhauser's instruction very good, for soon I was giving recitals in my own home and playing in the orchestra there.

She was soloist with best orchestra in Munich. She said she has been with the concerto for years and has many changes in her manner of playing during that time.

Although Miss Mikes is the violinist, she is also a pianist. "I like pictures. I possess a bright Van Gogh opposite my bed which I bought in a modern art this summer though she "likes Picassos" that time," she doesn't like a painter.

She'll Do Violin Piece In Orchestra Concert

Marianne Mikes, graduate student and lecturer in the SUI music department from Budapest, Hungary, will play Mendelssohn's "Violin Concerto" as a feature of the SUI symphony orchestra concert Wednesday.

Petite, brunette Miss Mikes, who pronounces her name "Mick-esh" (accent the first syllable) in the Hungarian manner, came here in the fall of 1947.

Waldbauer She chose Iowa because her violin teacher, Prof. Imre Waldbauer, came here, she said. She studied under Waldbauer at the Franz Liszt academy in Budapest where she received a degree with high honors in 1946.

Here, she is continuing her studies under Waldbauer while serving as his assistant on the music department faculty.

She is also principal second violinist of the university symphony orchestra, concertmaster of the chamber orchestra and a member of the faculty string quartet.

Started at Seven Miss Mikes started playing the violin when she was seven years old.

"Perhaps the darkest two years of my life were from my 14th to 15th birthdays when I had an inflammation of the right wrist joint and had to stop playing the violin. I didn't think I could ever play again."

Then she went to Waldbauer at the conservatory.

"Healing of my wrist was partly done by the doctors, but mostly due to Prof. Waldbauer, who taught me the correct way to handle the bow and corrected the mistakes of my earlier teaching."

Played in Budapest Waldbauer's instruction proved very good, for soon Miss Mikes was giving recitals in Budapest and playing in the municipal orchestra there.

She was soloist with the Budapest orchestra in Mozart and Bach concertos.

She said she has been familiar with the concerto for a number of years and has made several changes in her manner of playing it during that time.

Although Miss Mikes' chief interest is the violin, she is attracted to other forms of art, she said.

Likes Pictures "I like pictures. I prefer having some bright Van Gogh landscape opposite my bed to wake up with."

Miss Mikes took a course on modern art this summer, but although she "likes Picasso since that time," she doesn't hope to be a painter.

music in any form—in making music—particularly chamber music. I wish I had time to play the clarinet, but I probably never will."

Gives Cookies Away Miss Mikes is currently trying to eat and give away 10 pounds of "angel finger" cookies ordered for her in Paris, France, by her grandmother in Budapest.

"My grandmother had said in a letter that she had sent me a white formal to wear when I play the Mendelssohn concerto. I opened the box expecting the dress, and I found cookies. I don't know what became of the dress."

She offers cookies to everyone who comes to her office at 212 music studio building. "They're a little stale, but they're good," she said.

The cookies were mailed in Paris, Nov. 17.

"I am sorry WSUI works with so little frequency and my grandmother can't hear the concert Wednesday," she said.

Business BRIEFS

New York may have its attractions for the restaurant proprietor, but it's no place to raise a family.

That's the story behind the new neon sign put up last week announcing Renaldo's cafe, 127 Iowa avenue.

Co-owner of the restaurant, formerly the Tip Top, is John Renaldo. For the past 12 years, excluding time spent in the army, he has been associated with the dining service of Hotel Roosevelt in New York.

Renaldo was sold on the idea of locating in Iowa City by a former army buddy, John P. Bickel, Cedar Rapids. The two own the new cafe in partnership, although Bickel is not actively engaged in its operation.

Renaldo is certain his wife and three children will like Iowa City, if and when they get a chance to live here. The housing situation being what it is, he is having difficulty finding a family-size house. Meanwhile, his family is still living in New York.

Maybe pennies aren't worth much in these inflation-riddled days, but they are being used to advantage by P. G. McNeilly, manager of Scott's store, 114 E. College street.

To advertise his one-cent sale which began yesterday, McNeilly glued hundreds of the shiny, copper coins to the inside of one of the store's large display windows.

During the sale, which extends through next week, two articles of merchandise may be purchased for the price of one, plus one cent.

Inspiration for the unique display idea, McNeilly said, came to him one night when he couldn't sleep.

"My sales clerks said I was crazy," he related, "but from the number of favorable comments I've been getting from customers, I'd say it wasn't such a bad idea."

A new color scheme highlighted the recent redecorating work at Smith's cafe, 11 S. Dubuque street. Hues covering the walls are now coral, chartreuse and green-gray. The work was done by McNamara's, 229 E. Washington street.

Extending the ends of the large U-shaped counter was part of the recent remodeling work in the D-L grill.

To provide room for the additional counter space, four booths in the rear of the dining room were removed. The change makes for faster customer service.

Also added to wall panels were two large photographic murals of scenes at Iowa football games.

Paratroop Sergeant Praised for Coolness

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP) — Sgt. Robert Lee Hodgkins, 26-year-old paratroop jumpmaster who hustled 36 men out of a doomed flying boxcar seconds before it crashed yesterday got his general's praise for his coolness and was recommended for a medal.

Maj. Gen. Clovis E. Byers, commander of the crack 82nd airborne division, congratulated Hodgkins and said he was recommending him for the Soldier's medal, the highest award he could give him in peacetime.

The ground force general also sent a letter to Maj. Gen. William D. Olds, commander of 20th air force and the Greenville, S.C., air force base, praising the plane crew for saving the lives of the paratroopers.

Three air force men were killed when the huge C-82 transport crashed and burned five miles north of here Friday.

Few Recall SUI's Rival at Western College Now Gone From Little Town

By REYNOLD HERTEL

A small roadside town between Cedar Rapids and Iowa City once was the home of a college rivaling SUI — now is a deserted-looking hamlet of about 25 buildings and 80 people.

The college is gone from Western, 16 miles north of here, and its three buildings have been torn down. There is no visible hint of a Western college to the passerby.

Only three old men and a slender old lady living there now can recall the college buildings. But none of the four remember the college in operation.

They are Frank Netolicky, 73; Mrs. Netolicky, 64; Leroy Sword, about 62; and Charles Witousek, 66. "All the others who knew something about the college are either dead or have moved away," Mrs. Netolicky said.

Witousek, whose uncle bought the college lot after Western college was moved to Toledo, Iowa, in 1881, explained that the main college building was converted into a "simple country school. But I was too young to go there," he added.

All four agreed that it "hurt" Western when the college was transferred to Toledo. The town is now "dead" and most of the people living there moved to Western only recently.

But back in 1856, when the United Brethren churchless school was moved to Toledo, the town was the site for "espousing its higher education" in Iowa, Western showed all the signs of becoming a thriving college town like Iowa City.

The church leaders picked such an apparently out-of-the-way place because they believed a Christian education could best be secured in the quiet of the country. They pinned their hopes for success on two things:

1. A railroad from Iowa City to Cedar Rapids passing through the college town.

2. A farming community for miles around the college, made up of staunch supporters of the school.

Strangely enough — as it happens in the movies — these two "hopes," along with financial difficulties, turned against Western college and finally caused its removal from the town.

Despite determined efforts by the college's founders and early leaders, the railroad was built three miles west of town and the lands around the college were settled by people indifferent to education.

The college, at its peak in 1874, had an enrollment of 250 students.

year. A small amount was in cash and the rest was in products from the college's 240-acre farm, where students worked for their expenses. Included in the faculty (normally about 10 instructors) from 1857-58 was Dr. John C. Shrader, founder of SUI's college of medicine.

The college's executive board laid down a strict and strongly enforced set of rules for Western students. Students were not allowed to:

1. Leave town without faculty permission.

2. Use profane language and intoxicating liquors.

3. Be out later than 10 p.m. — and faculty permission was needed for such a "late hour."

4. Throw dirt, ashes or water from dormitory windows and spit tobacco spittles on the floors.

5. Visit each other during study hours. (Study hours were from 5 a.m. to 7 a.m.; 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.; 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 pm to 9 p.m.)

6. Interchange between sexes. "Ladies are not to receive the visits of young gentlemen... without special permission," one law stated.

But while student rules were strict, the methods of collecting money to run the college were lax. The executive board employed soliciting agents and assigned them to different districts in eastern Iowa. What funds each one collected, above his own expense money, were inadequate for the school's mounting expenses.

As a result, Western college was forced to borrow money and sell much of its land, including the college farm. A $34,940 balance in 1858 had melted to almost nothing by 1881. The school was moved to Toledo in the latter year. After encountering similar difficulties there, Western college (changed to Leander Clark college in 1906 in honor of a $50,000 donor) merged with Coe college of Cedar Rapids in 1919.

With the college gone and the railroad running three miles west of town, Western — which had about 43 dwellings and 300 people in 1857 — slowly changed into the deserted-looking roadside town it is today.

Faculty Committee Discusses Campus Political Talk Policy

SUI officials yesterday had not set a definite policy to regulate future political speeches on the campus and there was some doubt here whether a written list of "rules and regulations" would be drawn up.

A resolution adopted Friday by the state board of education ended the ban on campus speeches by political candidates. It stipulated that SUI, Iowa State college and Iowa State Teachers college make their own "rules and regulations" to conform to their educational programs.

Committee To Administer
The officials said that the university policy on political speeches — which may be either written or unwritten — probably will be administered by President Virgil M. Hancher's office in connection with the SUI auditorium committee. Prof. E. C. Mabie, head of the speech and dramatic arts department, is chairman of the committee composed of faculty members.

The committee will continue drafting a policy, officials said, and the university may issue a statement this week.

Three Methods Discussed
The committee reportedly is discussing three possible ways to regulate political speeches in university buildings. They are:

1. Political forums. Representatives from various political parties would discuss a specific issue with a faculty member acting as moderator.

2. Political speeches sponsored by student organizations. The organizations would invite candidates to speak here and would be assessed for light, heat and janitor expenses.

3. Political meetings not locally sponsored. Several places would be made available to candidates themselves or to non-campus political groups to hold a political meeting. Rent would be charged.

SUI officials yesterday would not confirm or deny a United Press report Friday that SUI President Hancher would confer soon with the presidents of Iowa State college and Iowa State Teachers college to set up a policy consistent for all three schools as to political speeches.

Argentine Generosity Upsets Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surprise mingled with embarrassment yesterday at the news that Maria Eva Duarte de Peron Social Assistance foundation of Argentina is donating clothing to care for 600 needy Washington children.

Mrs. Peron, the wife of Argentina's president, actively heads the foundation which bears her name.

"Surprised" was the reaction of Mrs. Fay Vawters of the Children's Aid society to which the clothing had been donated. "We never had any idea the Argentine foundation was being solicited."

Embarrassment was the reaction among state department officials. Although they declined comment, the officials were obviously concerned over the Argentine gift which seemed to imply the United States is unable to look after its own needy.

There was some apprehension as to what use Russia might make of the matter in view of the Moscow propaganda line that Americans live in pretty miserable conditions compared to those in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

New UN Proposal Offers Peace Hope In Holy Land Strife

RHODES (AP)—The Israeli-Egyptian armistice conference yesterday moved into the rough ground where it may come to wreck or success.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting UN mediator, was said by a reliable source to have attempted a bold stroke by submitting a draft proposal to each delegation covering all military and boundary phases of the Negev dispute.

If he succeeded in having it adopted the conference, for all practical purposes, would be over. All that would remain would be the actual drafting and installing of a permanent armistice agreement which probably war over the Holy Land.

But the points on which Bunche sought agreement were those on which all cease-fires and temporary truces since October have been wrecked.

Included were the questions of Israel's lifting the siege of the Egyptian garrison of about 3,000 men at Faluja, the delineation of armistice lines to which the opposing forces would withdraw and the reduction of forces by both sides.

At stake were the probable future frontiers of Israel in the coveted Negev desert, which she seeks to make fertile and populous with settlers. Until now, at least, the Jews and Egyptians have held widely differing ideas on this subject.

The Jews were expected to accept after much argument the proposal to lift their three-month siege of Faluja, 30 miles southeast of Tel Aviv, to the extent of letting the Egyptians march away — but only on the condition that such an agreement would not be implemented until decisions have been reached on the other points.

Negotiations on each of the succeeding points promised to become progressively more difficult and complex.

Spokesmen for Bunche said it was unlikely any announcement would be made of agreement on any one item until work on the whole agenda has been completed.

U.S. in Move to Get Practical Atom Use

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States yesterday stepped up its drive to put atomic power to more conventional use by naming a top-flight scientist, Dr. Lawrence R. Hafstad, to head an expanded multi-million dollar program.

The atomic energy commission announced selection of Dr. Hafstad to carry out a program of designing and developing nuclear reactors for the practical application of atomic energy for power, for propulsion of ships and aircraft, for the production of isotopes (radio-active elements) and for research on reactors themselves.

Announcement of Dr. Hafstad's appointment followed closely the disclosure that the commission is seeking a substantial increase in federal funds during the 12 months beginning July 1 for development of atomic power plants.

University Helps —

War Brides Become Naturalized

By CHARLES WEISER
The State University of Iowa's extension division is helping war brides become citizens of the United States.

The division's school of correspondence study offers a 21-lesson course in fundamentals of American government, history and good citizenship. About four Iowa City residents and more than one hundred correspondent students throughout Iowa are enrolled in the course.

Acting as teacher, advisor and friend of these remote pupils is Miss Helen Williams, a diminutive, grey-haired assistant professor of the correspondence school.

Miss Williams corrects the papers as her pupils find time to work the lessons and mail them in.

She said some of the non-English speaking students have great difficulty with English words, grammar, and especially with abstract terms such as "federal government."

Marriage Rights

A question in one section of the course asks the pupils seeking naturalization to name some of the things they can do to be good citizens. Miss Williams said that since most of the answers are the conventional "be loyal," "vote in elections" and "obey the law," she often writes in the margin of the paper she returns, "How about cleaning your sidewalks?"

The answer "clean my sidewalk" often turns up among the answers to the same question in the final test, Miss Williams said, so she is hoping for a future rash of clean sidewalks in the state of Iowa.

The correspondence course has no official connection with the U.S. department of justice which has charge of immigration and naturalization. The applicants for naturalization still have to make out their papers and pass a federal examination before receiving their certificate of naturalization.

The correspondence course is a short-cut to the knowledge they would otherwise have to get on their own.

One of the school's Iowa City pupils is Mrs. Sofie F. O'Harra, 1115 N. Dodge street. She came from Vienna, Austria, a year ago last Dec. 7.

She said she was educated as a dietitian but unfortunately chose French as her required language instead of English. Consequently, her English is limited to what she has been able to pick up informally. Her husband, whom she met during the war in Vienna, speaks little German.

She started the course about six months ago, she said, and for a while a neighbor helped her but lately has been unable to do so.

Her husband, who works in a paint store, is sometimes able to help her in the evening, Mrs. O'Harra said. When they come to a word she does not know, and for which her husband does not know the German word, they talk around it and about it until she is able to understand what it means.

Mrs. O'Harra said she was "very interested in the American history of the course, but that she had to start from the beginning. All she knew of American history from her studies in Vienna was the discovery of America by Columbus and the trans-Atlantic flight of Charles Lindbergh.

Mrs. O'Harra said she would like to find a university student who would trade her English lessons for German lessons. She said she has the most difficulty with English grammar which is "backwards."

'Fire Dance' in Rehearsal

University Students Practicing Ballet Program For Possible Presentation This Spring

"Glissade, arabasque, glissade, tour jete" describes a series of graceful but difficult steps five SUI students were practicing Saturday morning in the basement of the Community building.

The students are rehearsing a ballet called "The Ritual Dance of Fire" under the direction of Mrs. Marie Gillette, 225 Stadium park. Mrs. Gillette hopes to have the ballet ready for a public performance on some local stage sometime next semester.

First of a Series

The "fire dance" will be one of a series Mrs. Gillette wants to do, including parts of "Carmen," "Rhapsody in Blue," and "Der Fleidermaus."

The ballerina of the group is Edith Moellering, A1, 629 N. Dubuque street, Iowa City. She said she started her ballet training "last summer some time."

The ballet-men are Tom Smith, G, Lincoln; Bob Denigan, A3, Waterloo; Dick Johnson, A3, Red Oak and Gordon W. Pollock, A3, New York.

The dancers' individual ballet experience ranges up to seven years. Denigan said his mother introduced him to ballet in California when he was a child. He would "like to dance professionally" but doesn't look to it as a career.

"Character Dancer"

Smith dances for "entertainment and exercise." Between leaps filled with rapid beats of his feet Pollock described himself as a "character dancer."

"That means a dancer who specializes in unusual and foreign dances," he said. Pollock said he has given demonstrations for the SUI Highlanders, teaching them a "sword dance" recently.

The "ritual dance" now in rehearsal will be a symbolic modern dance, said Mrs. Gillette, who will also dance in it. It has three characters: Man, Woman and Fire.

The story is not yet fully developed, but it will concern a conflict between Man and Woman which is resolved by the advent of Fire. It was composed by Manuel de Falla. Robert Peters, a local high school student of 1647 Morningside drive, plays the piano for rehearsals.

One of the men was a bit reluctant to give his name for publication.

"You're not going to send this to my home paper, are you?" he asked, "I don't think many of the fellows know I dance."

Not Sissies

"That's alright," said Mrs. Gillette indignantly. "A lot of people think ballet is sissy. It isn't. It's darn hard work. It takes a good man to dance ballet. A good man." The man waved his hand.

"Send my name to the hometown paper!" he said with a grin.

If anyone cares to try "glissade, arabasque, glissade, tour jete," start on your left foot. Step glidingly to the right, skip once, balance — with arms gracefully extended — on your right toe.

Turn, step glidingly to the left, skip once, leap into the air for one complete revolution with the legs kept artistically straight. Then try landing without falling.

DENTAL LIBRARY HOURS

The dental library will be open Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. until further notice.

University Students Injured in Accident

Three SUI students were injured early yesterday in an auto accident in Cedar Rapids when the car in which they were riding went into a ditch.

They were Catherine Billings, A4, who suffered a cut over her right eye and a bruised back, and Joan Catherine Hood, A4, leg bruises, both of 932 E. College, and Thomas M. Collins, A2, 710 N. Dubuque, head bruises. All were released after treatment.

The driver, Charles C. Hollaway, C3, 703 N. Dubuque, told police he missed a turn because fog hid the corner.

The four other passengers in the car were not injured, Hollaway said, except for being shaken up.
