W. E. Putnam Named City's 'Man of 1948'

Wayne E. Putnam, president of the Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce, last night was named Iowa City's "Outstanding Young Man of 1948."

Awards consisting of distinguished service key, a certificate and a cigar humidor were presented to Putnam during a Jaycee "bosses night" dinner meeting at Hotel Jefferson.

The 28-year-old Jaycee president was selected for the outstanding young man honor by seven judges headed by SUI President Virgil Hancher. Dr. L.L. Dunnington, pastor of the First Methodist church and one of the judges, presented the awards.

Cited as outstanding by the committee of judges was Putnam's work in numerous Jaycee activities during the year, which included director of the local Fourth of July celebration, leader in the air scout program for teen-age citizens, co-chairman of the local traffic safety drive and, as president, director of various Christmas programs.

As local winner of the distinguished service award, Putnam will automatically be entered in the state "Outstanding Young Man" contest. The state winner will be announced May 1, 1949.

Principal speaker of the evening was Prof. Walter L. Daykin of the college of commerce, who pointed out several trends in labor-management relations.

He said that labor movements and social legislation indicate clearly labor can no longer be considered just a factor of production.

Daykin stressed the "mutual indispensability" of labor and capital involved in collective bargaining. "Industries which do not take this into account will cease to exist," he warned.

Following his being named for the outstanding young man award, President Putnam presented in behalf of the Jaycees certificates of "recognition and appreciation" to The Daily Iowan, the Iowa City Press-Citizen and radio station KXIC.

Iowa City Doomed to Below-Zero Weather

Two potent storm fronts moved in over Iowa City last night; one bringing snow, the other extreme cold.

The weatherman said one was a snow-laden low pressure area moving up from the south, the other a cold front from the north. The weather bureau predicts that the new "cold wave" will drop temperatures to five above tomorrow morning readings of ten below are expected for this area.

Police said that Iowa City streets are snow-packed and very slippery. However, they added, no increase in auto accidents has taken place.

Over four and a half inches of snow had fallen on Iowa City by 12:30 last night, and it was still snowing heavily.

At the Iowa City airport it was reported that most commercial flights were being cancelled for the present at least. The storm was closing in constantly, the airport said, and at 6:30 p.m., Iowa City had a ceiling of 300 feet and one-fourth mile visibility.

The Union bus depot reported last night that some of their buses were running over an hour behind schedule. Roads were slick and hazardous at many points both in and around Iowa City.

Trains were running on schedule in and out of Iowa City last night. No train was more than 15 minutes late, Rock Island officials said.

The weatherman said the current cold wave could be the most severe of the winter. The cold was carried into Iowa by blustery northwest winds, which will reach velocities of "30 to 40 miles an hour and stronger" by today.

The Highway Patrol advised motorists to stay off the highways if possible. Snow was falling hard throughout a fan-shaped area extending south and east on a line from Atlantic, extending through Waterloo and Decorah, the Highway Commission added.

Midwest Swept by Heavy Snow, Sleet; Temperatures Drop

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter slammed the weather-grogy midcontinent with a new flurry of crippling climatic punches yesterday.

The heaviest snow and sleet and worst cold of the winter lashed parts of the area. In some sections, the triple assault threatened to make winter's previous efforts seem like little more than a dress rehearsal.

Snow piled up at an inch an hour rate in Kansas City, stalling traffic, closing schools and forcing some business houses to shut down. Kansas City was under a seven inch blanket by noon and another five inches was forecast.

Meanwhile, a sleet storm, spearheading a bitter cold wave, spread a sea of ice from Texas northeastward to central Illinois and Indiana. The new storm hit the midlands just as the section was recovering from the worst ice damage to communication lines in years.

The weather bureau in Chicago said the cold wave would send temperatures skidding below zero today in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma.

MRS. THELMA GRIFFIN (left), waitress, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Whiddon, tavern operators, were with Baker the night he died. Officers are not holding the trio, as they feel the death "doesn't look like murder."

Believe Baker Met Accidental Death on Ride

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) —

Officers leaned toward an accidental death theory yesterday in the mysterious plantation trail shooting of a 27-year-old heir to a multi-million dollar banking fortune.

State attorney William D. Hopkins said the death of socialite Grenville Baker of New York, whose grandfather amassed a $100-million fortune on Wall street, "doesn't look like murder."

Young Baker was found dying of a pistol bullet wound through the head early Monday shortly after his jeep wrecked. He had been riding in the moonlight along a lonely dirt road with pretty Thelma Griffin, a young divorced tavern car hop who had met him only a few hours before at a night club.

The state attorney said "it is very possible" that the discharge of the pistol was accidental. He emphasized, however, that a suicide theory has not been discarded. A coroner's jury Monday night ruled that Baker was killed by a pistol held by an unknown party.

The shooting occurred on the vast plantation of Baker's mother, 12 miles north of this historic Florida capital.

The young divorcee shed no light on the shooting, telling officers she was thrown out of the car and dazed when it hit an embankment. She recovered consciousness and saw her companion lying in the road, then heard him groan.

Air, Sea Armadas Search for Plane

HAMILTON, BERMUDA (AP) — Air and sea rescue armadas combed the Atlantic yesterday for a British airliner missing since Monday with 20 aboard.

The craft, the British South American Airways Tudor Aerial, disappeared on a five-hour, 1,000-mile flight from Bermuda to Kingston, Jamaica. She sent no SOS and gave no other hint of trouble.

Columbia Lures Bing Crosby from ABC

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting system announced last night that Bing Crosby will be heard over CBS next fall. The singer has been heard this season on the American Broadcasting company network.

The CBS announcement said an arrangement has been reached between the network and Crosby to cover his radio and television appearances for an extended period, although there are no immediate plans for television shows. The network quoted Crosby as saying: "I look forward with great pleasure to my return to the network which gave me my start in radio."

Crosby, one of the nation's top boxoffice attractions in the movies and possessor of a huge radio listening audience, was on CBS. Later he was heard over the National Broadcasting company network for several years and switched to ABC three years ago.

Communists Seek Dismissal of Case

NEW YORK (AP) — The 11 top Communists in the United States sought dismissal of federal charges against them yesterday on grounds their trial jury will be picked from the "silk stocking" classes that have the most to lose under a Communist state.

The defense challenged the jury system after William Z. Foster, veteran chairman of the U.S. Communist party, was judged too ill to stand trial on the charges of conspiracy to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

Federal Judge Harold R. Medina severed Foster's trial from that of the others over vigorous defense objections that he was the party's "flag bearer" and the "indispensable" man in fighting a government attempt to "execute a major political party." They sought a postponement but Medina ordered Foster's 11 co-defendants to stand trial immediately.

In attacking the jury system, the Communist leaders charged they were selected from the social register, "who's who in New York," financial directories and telephone books which could be scoured to make sure the majority came from the Park avenue and Fifth avenue sections rather than Harlem or the lower east side.

'Get Rich' Schemer Of '20s Dies in Rio

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Get Rich Quick Charles Ponzi, the little man who swindled the American public out of big money in 1920, has died in poverty of a blood clot on the brain.

Partly blind and paralyzed on his left side, he was 71. Ponzi's body was claimed by a legal agent at the public morgue yesterday. The agent will pay for burial with $75 Ponzi managed to save from a small Brazilian government pension.

This was the man who attracted more than $15-million in sucker money to his Boston office in a few months of 1920 with the cry "double your money in 90 days."

Inch-an-Hour Snow Snarls Kansas City Traffic

STORM-SNARLED TROLLEY BUSES stack up behind a stalled vehicle in downtown Kansas City as the heaviest snowstorm of the season strikes the city. Traffic was at a standstill yesterday as the snow fell at the rate of an inch an hour. The weather bureau predicted 12 inches would be on the ground by nightfall with the storm continuing until this afternoon.

Senate O.K. To Acheson

Vandenberg Warns Acheson Approval Doesn't Guarantee Sanction of Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dean Acheson, 55-year-old lawyer-diplomat, won senate confirmation as the new secretary of state by an overwhelming 83 to 6 vote yesterday.

Before the vote Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) served notice that confirmation does not necessarily mean approval of future developments in administration foreign policy. He praised Acheson, but said President Truman's foreign policies may be "impromptu and unpredictable."

But Chairman Connally (D-Tex), chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, hailed the vote as a "ratification of our foreign policy of firmness and vigor." He called Acheson eminently qualified to handle the "gigantic" duties of the nation's No. 1 diplomatic post.

Acheson is expected to be sworn in Thursday or Friday as the fifth secretary of state the nation has had in five years. He succeeds ailing Gen. George C. Marshall, who resigned following a serious operation.

Six Republicans cast the only votes against Acheson. They were

IOWANS VOTED YES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Iowa's senators, Hickenlooper (R) and Gillette (D), voted with the majority yesterday when the senate confirmed Dean Acheson as secretary of state, 83 to 6.

Senators Bridges (NH), Capehart (Ind), Jenner (Ind), Knowland (Calif), Langer (ND) and Wherry (Neb).

Wherry told his colleagues he was going to vote against confirmation because, he said, "it is common knowledge that Mr. Acheson has been an appeaser of Russia."

In public and secret sessions of the senate foreign committee, Acheson had vigorously denied that he was an "appeaser" and had blasted communism as "fatal" to a free society and to human rights.

In dealing with contentions that Acheson might be "a softie toward communism," Vandenberg quoted Acheson's own testimony given to senators last week. At that time, Acheson declared:

"The things I read about myself as an appeaser are so incredible that it is difficult for me to believe that even disinterested malevolence could think them up."

Vandenberg went on to praise Acheson's "long and distinguished career in public service and said he has always found him "reliable, helpful, cooperative and trustworthy." Thus, he said, Acheson is entitled to be "affirmatively recommended."

After stressing his belief that Acheson will follow the Truman line on foreign policy, Vandenberg added succinctly:

"When he fundamentally disagrees, he knows how to resign."

Delay Security Council Meeting on Indonesia

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canada, postponed last night for 24 hours security council meeting on Indonesia. Informed sources said this step was taken because the United States plan for a settlement of the conflict does not yet have enough backing to pass the council.

Push House Wage Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats pulled open the throttle yesterday for swift house action on a bill to raise the statutory minimum wage from 40 cents to 75 cents.

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, the Democratic leader, told the house he hopes to get a vote on the measure next week. The increase is one of the basic points in President Truman's economic program.

Other developments came fast yesterday as congress tried to clear away its pending business for the inaugural whoop-la tomorrow.

1. The senate bucked over the administration's traces and killed a bill to exempt tickets to the inaugural parade and ball from federal amusement taxes. The deciding vote was 47 to 44. The house already had approved the measure.

2. Chairman Spence of the house banking committee introduced legislation calling for a seven-months extension of the voluntary agreement anti-inflation controls made law by the Republican-controlled 80th congress.

3. The airforce asked congress for $200-million to enable it to set up a testing range for rockets expected to travel more than 150 miles horizontally.

Everybody's Talking About 'Whitey' Skoog —

Naturally there was only one topic of discussion in the local coffee shops, cigar stores and barber shops yesterday. You couldn't walk one city block without hearing the name of "Whitey" Skoog from at least a dozen passers-by.

The feat accomplished by Minnesota's tow-headed sophomore star in tossing in 26 points against Iowa Monday night just about shook this town loose from its bearings. If you weren't one of the 14,000 persons who saw the Gophers' 61-45 victory over the Hawkeyes you were out of place in this vicinity.

It wasn't exactly Skoog's high point total which touched off cage lovers. Rather, it was the manner in which the blonde-haired Minnesota hero made every Hawkeye attempt at stopping him appear hopeless, futile and what have you.

There were those who argued that it wasn't humanly possible to stop a player of Skoog's extreme versatility. And there were many more who thought he could be hand-cuffed. And there were others who just gaped, left speechless by his 11 baskets in 19 shots at the burning hoop.

As might be expected, many conversations dealt with Skoog versus Murray Wier, Iowa's 1948 all-American. Who was the better ball-player? No matter which side you took, arguments were plentiful.

It's always that way and always will be. How many times have you heard arguments on such stars as Joe DiMaggio-Ted Williams, Joe Louis-Jack Dempsey, Red Grange-Tommy Harmon, etc? You can't answer them.

The same goes for Skoog and Wier. Skoog came a year too late or Murray left a year too soon. We'll admit, though, they'd make a wonderful match.

A Minneapolis sports writer stuck Pops Harrison with the Skoog-Wier question right after the Gopher triumph Monday night. He wanted to know if Pops thought Skoog would rate in the same class with Wier.

"Well," Pops pondered, "that's pretty difficult to answer. They're altogether different types of ball players. And, golly, Skoog was awful hot tonight."

"Yeah," replied the scribe, "but he's that way every game." We wondered about that. Maybe it's true, but we don't see how any human could be that remarkable all the time.

Two Iowa basketball players sat on the sidelines yesterday talking about Skoog.

So we asked, "Do you guys think he can be stopped?" "Aw, we'll stop him next time," chortled one.

"With what?" puzzled the other.

"I got it all figured out," answered the first. "We'll take an axe along with us when we go to Minneapolis."

"That's about the only thing that would stop him," said the other.

Two Iowa fans seem to think they've got the answer to all these Skoog miseries.

They suggest that SUI form a "Let's Buy Skoog Club." Every student would contribute $1.00 to a Skoog fund. Then the club would give Skoog $10,000, plus, as a birthday gift and suggest subtly that it would be nice if he'd consider enrolling at SUI.

Anybody got a dollar. We'll have to wait until the first of the month.

Although Skoog is only a sophomore at Minnesota, he has played a lot of basketball in his 22 years. He started out at Brainerd high school, a small town just outside Minneapolis, in 1940, but didn't make the regular five until his junior year.

He played guard as a junior and then as a senior shifted over to center, even though he was only 5-feet, 11-inches tall.

Skoog entered the navy in 1944 for a three-year hitch. Two of these years were spent in Green Cove Springs, Fla., where he starred on the base team as a guard. While his team played at Jacksonville he was publicized as "one of the best performers ever seen on a Florida court."

But "Whitey" doesn't only shine on the hardwood. In high school he was outstanding in football and baseball and is a major league prospect as a pitcher.

We're quoting Pat Harmon's Cedar Rapids Gazette column of yesterday on the following little note, which is rather appropos to the situation of past and present:

"Leaving Iowa City Monday night, a gray Buick convertible bearing a Minnesota license blew a tire. Its passengers piled out on the side of the road to repair the damage, but they didn't work long. Up came a state highway patrol car bearing Joe Smith and Virgil Johnston, out of the Cedar Rapids office.

"Officers Smith and Johnston took over. They jacked up the man's car, pulled off the bad tire, inserted the new one. When one of the passengers tried to fasten some of the bolts, Johnston brushed his hands away. 'You'll get yourself dirty. I got gloves on.'

"One of the Minnesotans asked, 'Do you guys always do this?'"

"We're here to help motorists in distress," replied Smith, "and to clear the highway as soon as possible after the game."

"The passengers in the gray convertible introduced themselves. They were four men who have been telling their readers back home what poor sports and inhuman hooligans we Iowans are. They were Sports Writer Sid Hartman, Dick Cullum, Jimmie Byrne and Tom Breire of the Minneapolis Tribune and Star."

30 Swimmers to Compete in AAU Meet at Ames Saturday —

Ris' Knee Is Big Question Mark

Handicapped Wally Ris will lead a squad of twenty varsity and ten freshman athletes into Ames Saturday to compete in the Iowa AAU swimming and diving championships, Coach David Armbruster announced yesterday.

Ris, who favors his trick knee during a race, will anchor one of the two groups in the 400-yard free style relay, Armbruster said. He will also try to set a new record in the 100-yard free style.

Except for Ris and Kenny Marsh, who has a strained back, the squad is in good shape. Marsh may not compete at all this week, the coach said. "Our other men are not yet in the best competitive form but they are on the verge of reaching it," Armbruster added.

Bowen Strassforth, Ed (Rusty) Gars and Duane Draves have shown great improvement in their specialties, and the addition of Bob Busch, who becomes eligible Feb. 7, will be a valuable addition to the sprint squad in later meets, Armbruster said confidently.

Iowa will enter three teams in the 300-yard medley relay and two teams in the 400-yard relay at Ames. Ris will not compete in the 220-yard free style in which he holds the Iowa AAU record.

The varsity entrants will score points for the university, but the freshmen will compete as unattached athletes since they cannot as yet represent the school.

The varsity squad includes: 220 and 440-yard freestyle—Herman Lehman, Paul Ruttinger and John Boyd; 60-yard free style—Ed Gars, Kenny Marsh, Ervin Strubel and Bob Kotler; diving—Dave Brickway, Jack Wilson and Jack Wichman; 100-yard free style—Wally Ris, Ed Gars, Strubel, Kotler and Dennis Hoffnagle; 150-yard back stroke—Duane Draves, Dick Maine and Henry Griesbach; 200-yard breast stroke—Larry Larimore, Bowen Strassforth and Dick Keith; and extra relay swimmers Ed Berge and Bill Hark.

Freshmen who will compete unattached include: Don Watson and Bill Lehman, 220 and 440; Bob Busch, Fred Lehman and Mike McGuire, 60 and 100; Earl Williams and Charles Hein, back stroke; Jerry Strassforth and Dick Keith, diving; and Eldon Dahl, breast stroke.

Iowa Cagers Visit Stadium To Battle NU

A Big Nine basketball clash with Northwestern in Chicago stadium and the Iowa AAU swimming championship meet in Ames top the sports competition for the Hawkeyes this Saturday.

Here in Iowa City the track men will warm up for the intercollegiate season with the running of the 25th annual all-university relay carnival Saturday afternoon in the field-house. The wrestling team, tied by Wheaton in their first dual meet, is idle until Feb. 5.

The basketball game with Northwestern will bring together two second division members of the Western conference and should be hotly contested all the way. The 22,000 fans who will jam Chicago stadium for the doubleheader will see Kentucky and DePaul battle in the other game. Kentucky is currently ranked second in the nation.

Northwestern will be after its initial Big Nine victory having lost to Ohio State and Michigan. In non-conference contests the Wildcats faced several better-than-average quintets and came out with two wins and five losses.

Victories were over Navy and Southern California while they dropped decisions to Western Michigan, Notre Dame, UCLA, Dartmouth and Missouri.

The Wildcat offense is led by Veteran Forward Bill Sticklen, who dumped in 170 points in 12 Big Nine frays last season. Coach Dutch Lonborg has several sophomore recruits this year in the hope of building a winning combination.

Hawkeye scoring is led by Guard Tony Guzowski, who sports an 11-point per game average. Tony has hit for 44 points in four contests, and is eighth in the Big Nine race.

Don Hays, shifted back to center from his forward slot, has made the speediest gain in points, grabbing second place with 28 tallies, good for a seven-point average. Charles Mason is right behind. The scrappy forward has 26 points.

Whitey Skoog, who treated the Iowa fans to the smoothest performance they had seen this season, is leading the Big Nine scoring race. He owns an 18.5 per game average.

Bob Rossie Scores One-Round Knockout

Bob Rossie, Iowa City middleweight, scored a one-round knockout over Bob Gardner, Rock Island, at the Rock Island armory last night.

The knockout came at 1:27 of the opening round and ended a victory string of 10 straight by Gardner. Rossie, who didn't have a blow landed on himself, ended the contest with a smashing right to the temple.

The 155-pounders were fighting a preliminary to the exhibition between Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and Dick Hagan, Chicago heavyweight.

Schnittker Is Scoring Winning Strep Battle

Ohio State star Dick Schnittker was reported last night to be in good condition at University hospital.

The Buckeye scoring stalwart was stricken with a strep throat condition a few hours before last Saturday's game with the Hawkeyes here. His team lost without him, 53-49.

It was not known last night when Schnittker would leave the hospital.

Iowa Fresh Sprinter Returns With Trophy

Marcellus Boston, Iowa freshman sprint star has returned to Iowa City with a big trophy which he won by taking the sprint series in the Washington Star track meet in Washington D.C. last weekend.

Boston won the 70 and 80-yard dashes and was third in the 100 for the low point score in the series.

Maimen Await 'Added Power'

Iowa wrestling Coach Mike Howard yesterday was satisfied with his team's work in tying Wheaton college last Saturday, but added that his second semester group will have "added power."

By this he meant the addition of Olympic Team Member Joe Scarpello, the presently ineligible Hawkeye who won the 175-pound Big Nine title last year.

The other new men will also boost the mat team. They are Delmar Lamphier, 165-pounder, also becoming eligible next semester and Virgil Council in the 145-pound division.

Council won a major "T" in 1945 but reported just ten days ago and is getting into shape now. Howard was pleased with the work of Eddie Steinhoff, 136-pound competitor, against Wheaton. The Ft. Dodge boy looked good in winning his match.

George Telsa gained praise for his 136-pound draw with Pete Wilson, Wheaton matman who had won 19 straight bouts.

The Iowa wrestlers won't face outside competition until Feb. 5 when they meet Northwestern in the Iowa fieldhouse.

Iowa Nine to Tour Midwest in April

An April midwest tour will replace the usual southern trip for Iowa's 1949 baseball team, preparing the Hawkeyes for the Big Nine race that opens in Iowa City April 22 and 23.

Coach Otto Vogel believes that with good weather the players will get "just as much out of a midwestern trip as they have out of the southern jaunts in past years."

The lateness of Easter vacation is the principle reason for cancelling the southland trip. The Dixie teams will be playing league games by the time Iowa could go south.

The midwestern jaunt will bring games with Bradley, Notre Dame, Western Michigan, Michigan State and Monmouth college.

Bob Vollers

Vollers is a 20-year-old, 6-foot, 2-inch junior from Keokuk. He was selected on the 1946 all-state five and was given honorable mention as a halfback on the football team. Vollers also played baseball.

In his senior year in high school, Vollers set the Little Six conference season scoring record with 238 points.

The record still stands. His season's total was 450 markers.

Vollers is a calm, cool player on the floor and is outstanding in his ability to rebound off both offensive and defensive boards.

He is majoring in commerce and wants to become a business administrator after graduation.

Vollers is married and has a one and a half-month-old daughter, Linda Sue.

Stan Straatsma

A three-year veteran of the Hawk cage scene, Straatsma was twice all-state forward at Sioux Center. In prep school he was a track and baseball man besides being a court ace.

In the 1943 state tournament Sioux Center was eliminated by Davenport in the first round.

Straatsma holds the intramural record in the high-jump at 5 feet, 9 inches.

He served 18 months in the Navy and attained the rating of seaman 1st class. He was stationed aboard the U.S.S. Coasters Harbor at both Pearl Harbor and Japan, while at Japan, he coached the ship's basketball team which won the Navy championship of the Far East.

Straatsma has been given the nickname "Stretch" because of his rebounding ability.

University Relays Saturday

Iowa's track squad will get its first taste of indoor competition when the Hawkeyes engage in several events of the 26th annual University Relay Carnival to be held at the fieldhouse this Saturday at 2 p.m. Preliminaries will be run off Friday afternoon at 4:30.

Besides the eight events in which varsity runners will compete, there will be Professional fraternity, Quadrangle, South Quad-Gables-Law Commons, Hillcrest, Married Students and Town relay races with awards going to the winning teams.

Most colorful event on the program will be the annual Sorority relay, in which track stars will run for the women's organizations that selected them. The six legs of the race will be over distances of 110 yards.

Captains for the various women's organizations are: Robert Crum, Alpha Delta Pi; Evan Fultman, Kappa Alpha Theta; Virgil Trayer, Delta Delta Delta; Bill Snook, Zeta Tau Delta; Ronnie

Helm, Chi Omega; Al Graftley, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Jack Davis, Alpha Xi Delta; Bill Bye, Sigma Delta Tau; Dick Tupper, Scottish Highlanders; Mel Rosen, Fairchild; Bill Remmes, Eastlawn; Ray McCreery, Gamma Phi Beta; Elliott McDonald, Currier; Jack Copeland, Federated House.

Varsity and freshman runners will compete in the 70-yard low and high hurdles, 60-yard dash, the polevaul, shot put, running broad jump, high jump and the sorority relay event.

Track coach Francis V. Cretzneyer will be in charge of the carnival.

New Cotton Styles, Fabrics Previewed By University Students

NO MORE WASHDAY BLUES for Marcha Teach, A2, Tiskilwa, Ill. She has learned that she can throw this black cotton trimmed with a "tango print" into the family washing machine with little fear of its fading or shrinking. An array of year-round cottons were modeled Monday afternoon in the Union in a style show sponsored by the SUI home economics department.

COTTON HAS GONE NIGHT-CRAZY, TOO! says Carolyn Hunter, A4, Davenport, as she forecasts cotton for sleeping purposes. Her yellow flannel nightgown trimmed in white eyelet, is teamed with matching b'oties, nightcap and hot water bottle to create a demure, ready-for-bed ensemble. A blue chintz quilted robe lined with flowered-yellow cotton competes the costume.

WHILE JACK FROST NIPS AT THE NOSES, Ellen Meberg, A1, Iowa City, forecasts a taste of next summers fashions at she models this sleeveless cotton print play outfit. The matching stole is lined with black cotton. Shorts complete the outfit for the warm weather which accompanies summer. This year, fashion experts say, cotton will become an all-year around material for style-wise coeds.

Bedtime Fashions, Sportswear, Formals Shown by Home Economics Department

Don't be caught without cottons, fashion designers warn! Campus stylists have heeded the word of fabric and clothes designers and are carrying out the all-year-round cotton theme here.

The SUI home economics department recently previewed "what's - coming - in - cotton - styles" at a fashion show in the River room of the Iowa Memorial union.

Modeled by 24 university students, the style preview included bedtime fashions of flannel nightgowns and chintz robes; sportswear featuring skating outfits, bathing suits, shorts - and - midriff combinations and playsuits; daytime dresses in chintz, chambray, damask, calico, quilted velvet and combinations of cotton and velvet, and a series of formals fashioned from organdy, eyelet, and gold cotton materials.

Models included Lillian Brunsvold, Joan Ramsey, Mildred and Gladys Peterson, Corinne Baker, Carol Sywassink, Doris Doyle, Ellen Meberg, Marilyn Meredith, Marguerite Van Ginkel, Mildred Dosedlo, Dona Kadine, Marthabell Cooley, and Sally Clearman.

Others were Peggy Brodrick, Martha Teach, Jean Stoltenberg, Fay Christanson, Phyllis Troutman, Betty Jansen, Sonja Egnes, Shirley Beers, Eleanor Rolston and Phyllis Kersey.

Both practical and popular, cotton has recently taken its place as an all-year-round material, designers say.

That smooth gleaming look can now be retained on raincoats, thanks to quilted poplin or chintz materials, which have been treated with a water-repellent finish, fashion experts agree.

Demure styles in nighties are available in the new cotton flannel. Authorities point out that this material won't lose its color and its nap will resist matting and swirling.

Various treatments have been devised for cottons to retain their new look and give them an "appropriate - for - dress" appearance. Permanent starchless finishes keep them crisp - looking. Permanent glazing gives a taffeta-like sheen to date dresses and party cottons. Crinkled and anticreasing treatments cut down pressing time.

Cotton for coeds is advocated by the experts, too, because of its affinity for soap and water. Most cotton garments can be thrown into the family washing machine without a worry about fading or shrinking, they declare.

Cotton fabrics have been lifted from the housekeeper's wardrobe and elevated to the position of all-round wear. This year "King Cotton" has become queen of m'lady's wardrobe.

League to Send Mrs. Iverson To Attend Conference on UN

Mrs. Robert W. Iverson, 308 N. Linn street, will leave for New York City Sunday where she will represent the Iowa League of Women Voters at a League conference on the United Nations to be held January 25, 26, 27.

As state UN chairman, Mrs. Iverson will discuss future problems of the world organization with such leaders as Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, head of the UN commission on Human Rights. She will also talk to members of the United States delegation to the UN.

Along with delegates from other states Mrs. Iverson will visit sessions of the United Nations at Lake Success and attend meetings of the UN economic, security and trusteeship councils.

Delegates to the conference, Mrs. Iverson said, will be guests of League members living in the Lake Success area. She will be a guest of a member in Port Washington, N.Y. She expects to return to Iowa City Jan. 30.

The New York conference is the final stage of the league's "Know Your United Nations" year, voted at the national convention of the league at Grand Rapids, Mich., in April, 1948. Mrs. Iverson also attended that convention.

For the past seven months members of the local leagues have been learning about the UN. On returning, Mrs. Iverson, who is also vice-president of the Iowa City league, expects to visit the various Iowa leagues in order to help local leaders conduct their UN campaigns.

Dimitri Mitropoulos Plans SUI Concert

Conductor Dimitri Mitropoulos will make his final SUI appearance with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, Feb. 16 and 17. He will leave the Minneapolis group to join the New York Philharmonic orchestra next year.

Mitropoulos has been with the Minneapolis orchestra since 1937. His appearance on the campus with that group date back to the early 1940's.

The Minneapolis orchestra will come to Iowa City on the eastern leg of its tour through the United States and Canada. This tour includes appearances in Fort Dodge, Ames, Cedar Rapids, St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit and Milwaukee.

The symphony group is scheduled for two tours. The east and middle eastern tour will start Jan. 22 and the western leg will begin March 21.

Broek to Talk About Holland

Prof. Jan. O. Broek, geography department chairman at the University of Minnesota, will speak before SUI graduate students Monday at 8 p.m. in the geology building auditorium.

Topic of Broek's speech will be "Post-war Economy of the Netherlands."

Broek, a visiting lecturer at SUI in the summers of 1936 and 1937, has written a number of books and articles on political and economic geography. While on the SUI campus, he will also lead a discussion group of graduates.

A United States citizen since 1941, Broek lectured at the naval school of military government and Columbia university during the war. He served as research associate with the American council, institute of Pacific relations and in various U.S. intelligence agencies.

On an invitation from the Indies government in 1947, Broek acted as reorganization advisor in social sciences at the University of Indonesia, Batavia.

His authority extended to the university's new branch at Makassar in the state of East-Indonesia.

Born in Utrecht, the Netherlands, Broek studied geography at the University of Utrecht and followed the East Indies civil service course.

Broek studied in England and at various American universities from 1929 to 1931. He received his doctorate from the University of Utrecht in 1932.

Lasansky Invited To Art Conference

Prof. Mauricio Lasansky of the art department has accepted an invitation to be one of 11 key participants in a national conference sponsored by the University of Minnesota and the Walker Art Center, the art department reported yesterday.

The conference will discuss technical and aesthetic directions of contemporary printmaking, March 3-5, at Minneapolis. Other outstanding printmakers taking part in the conference will be Dehn, Fuller and Zigrosser.

'Check Rent Control Status,' Wilkinson Tells Home Buyers

T.J. Wilkinson, area rent director, yesterday advised prospective buyers to check the rent control status of property for sale.

Wilkinson pointed out that due to failure to check registration statements of property, buyers have made bad bargains instead of good investments.

The rent office does not give out this information to everyone. The former owner or the owner wishing to sell must authorize the release of the rent control status material.

"A check on property offered for sale is fully as important as looking into the physical condition of the property," Wilkinson said. The rent director cited cases where the buyer believed that the premises were not under rent control, or that the rent ceiling was higher than the records showed.

In other cases he said the seller quoted the correct ceiling rents, but the buyer did not understand that the rent included heat, public utilities or other services.

Wilkinson suggested that persons considering the purchase of rental housing ask these questions of the rent office:

1. Is the property under rent control?
2. If so, is it properly registered with the rent office?
3. What is the ceiling rent and what services must be provided by the landlord?
4. Is part or all of the property under rent-increase lease to present occupants?

Johnson's Second Volume Published

Prof. Jack T. Johnson of the political science department received the second volume of his book "Man and Society" from the publisher this week.

Johnson said this is a preliminary edition to be criticized by experts in the field. The preliminary edition of volume one was published last October.

This summer the two volumes will be combined and published in a final bound edition.

Johnson said he began work on the book in 1942. It is planned for use as a text in the "Man and Society" course at SUI and for similar social science courses.

Featured Soloist in Tonight's Concert

MENDELSSOHN'S "VIOLIN CONCERTO" will be played tonight at the SUI symphony orchestra concert by Marianne Mikes, graduate student and lecturer in the music department. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. and tickets were still available yesterday at the Iowa Union desk. Other numbers on the program will be Mendelssohn's "Overture to a Midsummer Night's Dream," four selections from Franck's "Psyche" and "Mazeppa" by Liszt.

Last Rites Planned For Local Visitor, Louise McDonald

Funeral services for Miss Louise McDonald, 49, who died Monday at University hospitals, will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Beckman's. The Rev. John G. Craig of the First Congregational church, will officiate.

Burial will be in the Masonic Odd Fellows cemetery at Montezuma.

Miss McDonald came to Iowa City last week from her home in Pasadena, Calif., with her sister, Mrs. Gretchen Coulson, 331 S. Johnson street. She was resting at the hospital in preparation for an operation at the time of her death.

She was born Feb. 23, 1899, in Montezuma but has been living in California for many years where she worked as a nurse. She was a life long member of the Congregational church.

Surviving are her mother, Mrs. Nellie McDonald, Des Moines, and three sisters, Mrs. Coulson, Mrs. Lloyd Ressler, Des Moines, and Mrs. Paul Scheyle, Chicago. Also surviving is a niece, Mrs. Margaret Coulson Ashby, 331 S. Johnson street, who also accompanied Miss McDonald from California.

PLAY TICKETS SOLD OUT. Tickets for "Beggars on Horseback," university theater's current production, were sold out yesterday at noon. The play will run through Saturday.

Faculty Members Questioned About Housing Desires

The SUI chapter of the American Association of University Professors recently sent questionnaires to about 800 SUI faculty members to determine their interest in some form of joint housing project.

"The response from these questionnaires will determine whether or not it would be advisable for the AAUP to take the lead in initiating a specific answer to the housing problem which confronts our staff," Physiology Prof. W.D. Collings, head of the local AAUP's housing committee, explained.

Will Not Push Project. The committee itself will not push a joint housing project if faculty members' replies show strong interest, but will probably recommend that some other SUI organization promote such a project, Collings said.

Collings reported that 380 questionnaires were returned and that his committee is now tabulating them.

The types of housing plans suggested in the questionnaire included:

1. Cooperatively constructed multiple unit dwellings with each apartment owned by the occupant.
2. Cooperatively constructed multiple unit dwellings with each apartment for rent.
3. A single dwelling housing development. The saving here would be derived from the initial purchase of the plot and the quantity purchase of materials.
4. Cooperative construction of single unit dwellings for rent.
5. A single dwelling pre-fabricated development for rent.

The questionnaire also queried the attitudes of SUI faculty members toward their present living conditions.

Prof. Aspel to Organize Paris University Alumni

SUI Prof. Alexander Aspel said yesterday that he has been invited by the City University of Paris, France, to organize a Paris university alumni association in the U.S.

Aspel, an alumnus of the university, is assistant professor of romance languages. He estimated that there are 4,000 to 5,000 Paris alumni in the U.S.

"The response from these questionnaires will determine whether or not it would be advisable for the AAUP to take the lead in initiating a specific answer to the housing problem which confronts our staff," Physiology Prof. W.D. Collings, head of the local AAUP's housing committee, explained.

Will Not Push Project. The committee itself will not push a joint housing project if faculty members' replies show strong interest, but will probably recommend that some other SUI organization promote such a project, Collings said.

1949 Valentines — Funny, Colorful

"I'm no Grable, you're no Peck, but let's go steady... What the heck!"

Stores in Iowa City where valentines are being sold in recognition of St. Valentine's day, Feb. 14, abound with catch phrases such as this.

Cards this year are as clever as ever, just as expensive, and just as large. But there aren't many "mean" comic ones.

Love notes range from the old "slam" cards — "Every time I look at you — Yipe!" Between come those for husbands, little nieces, fine big boys, mothers and finally sweethearts.

Wide Price Range. Prices range from five cents to $1.50. The most expensive type is the nearly foot-long, satin-hearted — and — lace mother and sweetheart issue. It has double value — the heart contains sachet and can be removed to scent the dresser drawer.

This year's Iowa City cards are most outstanding for color scheme, materials used and message.

Stiff, shiny black paper is the background for one. Unique Message. Fancy material and unique message are combined on another card. "Wanted!" reads the outside. "Be on lookout for this person! Huge reward," it continues. "This person" appears to the reader himself when he stares at a sign post with a mirror on it.

Turning the page, the loved one looks at his image again on the other side of the mirror. Words similar to, "Wanted for stealing the heart of..." and then the signature appears below. The whole thing is done on rough pulp paper.

One of the store owners who does a land office business in school supplies said he has a real problem with the cards.

"Two weeks before St. Valentine's Day," he explained, "I'll have to take the cards off the shelves and replace them with loveless text books for the next term rush."

Morley Files First For Alderman Post In City Primary

Edwin Morley, 920 Sixth avenue, yesterday became the first person to file for a place on the Feb. 28 city primary ballot.

Morley, a Republican, will seek nomination for fifth ward alderman.

Mayor Preston Koser and Alderman W.H. Grandth and Frank Fryauf Jr., Monday said they intended to be candidates in the primary. They have not yet filed their intention with the city clerk, however. All three are Democrats.

Morley was an unsuccessful candidate in a three-man race for the Republican nomination in the fifth ward in the 1947 primary.

All candidates, except those seeking the five aldermen positions, must file a petition with the city clerk signed by two percent of their party's vote at the last city election. Ward aldermen need only file an affidavit with the clerk.

Deadline for filing is Jan. 28. Offices to be filled in the general election March 28 include mayor, city treasurer, police judge, park commissioner, two aldermen-at-large and five ward aldermen.

Group to Take Poll On Library Hours

A poll of SUI graduate students will be taken to determine whether or not library hours should be extended for students having study desks in the main library, Jean Gallaher, chairman of the Student library committee, said yesterday.

The questionnaires to be sent by the committee will ask students to list the hours they use the facilities and whether or not the present hours handicap their work, she said.

If there is sufficient demand by the graduate students for extended hours, the graduate college may petition the state board of education through SUI officials for additional library funds to finance an increase in library hours, Miss Gallaher added.

The Decision Is in the Hands of the Law —

The drama may be confined to the heavily-guarded federal courtroom in New York City, but the trial of the top leaders of the U.S. Communist party has nationwide significance.

The entire party is on trial, facing charges leveled by the federal government. The majority of the people are on the sidelines — the impartial jury.

This is not the time to pass judgment on the intentions of the party or on the right of the government to bring the Communist leaders to trial.

In spite of the efforts of Communists, Communist sympathizers and others concerned, it is our job to watch the proceedings in New York City as a nationwide impartial jury.

That's not an easy thing to do. Most Americans are willing to write off the American Communist party as a branch of a Moscow-directed plot against the western world.

After all, just read the "confessions" of Just recall the party's zigzagging between the former Communist partyliners and leaders Russian-Nazi pact in 1939 and the invasion of Russia in 1941. Just observe the actions of the U.S. party in the cold war test of nerves.

It may be hard to view the New York trial impartially. The cards seem to be stacked heavily against the party. This does not reduce the need for sanity.

Look back a few weeks to the spy probe investigations of the house un-American activities committee. The criticism of the Thomas committee was aimed largely at its extralegal actions. No one could defend himself, the critics cried. Witnesses were deprived of legal counsel.

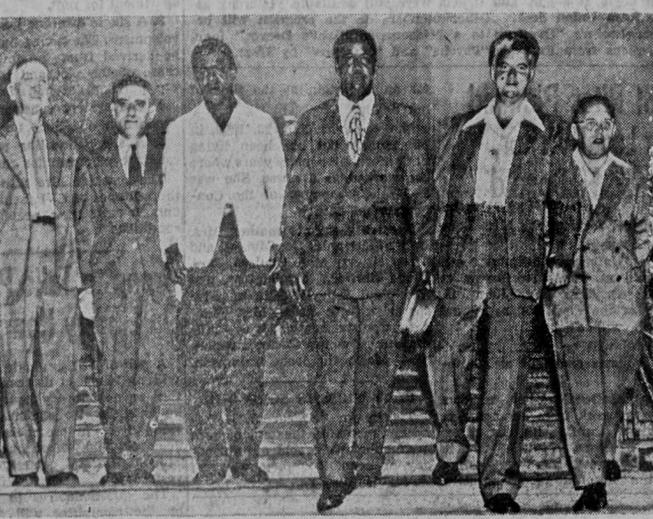

The reasons for criticizing the Thomas committee's methods are the same reasons for letting the New York trial proceed with a minimum of obstruction.

Formal trial, formal charges alleging violation of definite statutes, a fully prepared defense, a jury — these are the legal stage-pieces for the New York drama. Name calling and hysteria have been superseded by legal procedure.

It is a credit to the majority of the people that the case has been remarkably free of hysteria. The trial was postponed until after the November elections to remove the "political" tinge. No elaborate fanfare preceded the trial.

None, that is, except the artificially-created protest drummed up by Communists and Communist sympathizers. One group called for a "Freedom Crusade" to descend on the Capitol in Washington demanding the release of the leaders. Another group picketed the New York courthouse. There have been demonstrations on the west coast.

The response to this artificial stimulation has been negative. The matter is in a court of law now.

SIX U.S. COMMUNIST leaders are shown (top) leaving the New York federal court after being indicted last fall on charges of conspiring to overthrow the government by force. Foster is head of the party in America; Stachel, educational secretary; Winston, organizational secretary; Davis, a New York city councilman; Dennis, general secretary; Williamson, trade union secretary of the party. Pictured below are three of the remaining six leaders indicted and now standing trial: Irving Potash, manager of the CIO Furriers' joint council of New York City; John Gates, editor of the Daily Worker; Gus Hall, chairman of the party in Ohio.

FIVE HUNDRED Communist sympathizers, without the usual banners and placards, marched back and forth across the street from the U.S. courthouse in New York Monday during a recess in the trial of the Communist party leaders. Over 400 New York police stood by. The "pickets" called the posting of police a "Goebbels technique" but created no disturbance.

Snow Gets the 'Go' on Two Highways

CHICAGO (P) — The heat's on — on some Oregon and Michigan highways. At points where ice and snow present a serious accident hazard, heaters have been built into the pavement. And the cost is less than would be required for snow or ice removal by conventional means. An article in Public Safety magazine, a publication of the National Safety Council, gave this review of the innovations: At Kiamath Falls, Ore., a pipe coil containing a mixture of water and anti-freeze is submerged in a 390-foot well drilled into natural hot water. The heated mixture then is piped through a series of pipe grids under the roadway. An inch of snow or a tenth of an inch of ice can be melted each hour. Two sections of state route 102 west of Ferndale, Mich., have been converted into a sort of electric toaster. Thermostats turn heating units on and off as the temperature dips to or rises above freezing. Even in severe weather, heating costs will be only about 75 cents an hour for 1,000 feet of highway, engineers say.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT Our Policy Will Change

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

I think our foreign policy is going to change. I think that a change is in the air, and that those supporters of a "hard" policy toward Russia, who are so obviously worried, have perhaps scented something in the wind.

But the change, if it comes, is going to be rather deep, and organic, and it will have very little to do with the crudities of whether we are being "hard" or "soft" with Russia. Maybe "grow" would be a better word than "change," anyway.

In saying this, I am not suggesting that Mr. Truman, with whom I have had absolutely no private conversations, is deliberately plotting to alter the bipartisan policy toward Russia. I think he thinks he is going to continue it. I think he is determined to continue it. But I have a feeling that the change which may be coming is of that kind which, when it is ripe, moves along regardless of conscious wish or declared intention.

A domestic reform program, in a curious way, squeezes hysteria out of the atmosphere, as one might squeeze water out of a wet cloth.

It does this, not by means of any fakery, but because of an actual change in confidence; this is a change from the belly up. Historians may yet decide that our chief problem in relation to Russia was that we were so scared of her. But now again we are busy with a dozen things, and that is a change.

And the foreign policy of a country which is seriously trying to improve the conditions of its internal life is going to be different from the foreign policy of a country which is not doing this, though no word of any formal declaration be altered.

IT WILL BE seen that the terms "hard policy" and "soft policy" are not adequately descriptive of these changes. They are taking place in more dimensions than these.

It is wrong to think that change can take place only along the line from "hard" to "soft" or "soft" to "hard." It is one of the best characteristics of democracy that it can produce intricate, valid and accurate change, in depth, of a kind which no one has plotted or foreseen, change far outside the curve of the expected.

We, who make our truth by majority, sometimes made more than we know, and without knowing quite how. And it will do the more summary philosophers of the "hard" school no good to try to halt this kind of deepening change.

That is like trying to keep the day from growing older, by holding your breath at three o'clock in the afternoon.

THIS DOES not at all mean we are going to be "soft" with Russia. That word sums things up too crisply. But it does mean that we may be moving out of melodrama into something quieter. It is a change produced by time, not men, and it is more a change in the texture of our policy than in its structure — like a change produced by aging, by the soft pressure of the years.

But even if it be the same policy, yet quieter, with a less awesome respect accorded to the

McBride's Haul
By BILL McBRIDE
WHILE LISTENING to Don Guthrie's bell-like voice over WSUI during the noon hour Monday, I heard him mention a style show in the River room of the Iowa Union.
Making a mental note of the event — be at the River room at 4:30 p. m. Monday afternoon — I turned back to our left-over baked ham, devouring it as if nothing had happened.
There was no sense telling Jeanne about my decision. She'd only start asking questions to which I would have weak-kneed answers. A man owes it to himself to see a style show once in awhile with no questions asked.
THE REST of the afternoon passed uneventful. I noticed four cars parked in yellow prohibited zones, watched a sparrow make a fool of himself trying to land on an icy rain spout (the show-off), and marveled at a waitress's perseverance in ignoring my efforts to obtain a second cup of coffee.
It was an ordinary afternoon, and nothing happened worth reporting. All that kept my spirits up was the anticipation of the style show.
FOUR-FIFTEEN found me in the River room along with five other men and approximately 300 women. Two of the men were with their wives, and the 300 women's presence was self-explanatory.
I haven't determined what the excuses of those other three men were. As for me, I was there by the constitutionally given right of freedom of the press.
IN THE SEARCH for a seat I received numerous stares from women on all sides, and I began to feel uncomfortable, wishing I hadn't come.
The other five fellows had seats and were trying to take the whole business casually. Their efforts to appear relaxed were sabotaged by one male, who at intervals laughed raucously.
The women thought the men were telling dirty jokes and scowled righteously.
JUST BEFORE the first model appeared in a flannel night shirt I found a seat behind one of the square pillars. There were eleven women in that row, and they all stopped talking to each other long enough to look me over.
With all of those piercing eyes boring into me I tried not to squirm. There is nothing like a cigarette to fill in blank spaces at social gatherings, so I pulled out a mentholated cigarette and, with a debonair flick of my lighter, puffed away majestically.
IN A MATTER of seconds the woman next to me was coughing with the violence of a bad TB case, and it was then I realized the cork end of the cigarette was glowing.
The room began to smell faintly like burning oak tails, but the only thing to do was go ahead and smoke the thing as if I liked inhaling the cork.
AS THE night-shirted model stepped out from behind the black curtain, which carried the banner, "Cotton Forecast," the lady beside me almost had herself worked into the sweating sweats over my smoldering cork, so I put it away to be used after the show.
That flannel nightie had a flannel hat and socks to match, and looked about as enchanting as a flannel nightie can.
AFTER THAT, there was a bevy of housecoats, be-snoozed skating costumes and an outfit made of "lemonade glazed chintz" (looks something like yellow oil cloth).
There was a cotton gingham affair with bare shoulders. The gingham that grandma used to wear would probably stand right up and scream if it could see this creation.
It has gold thread woven into the gingham and can be washed . . . bare shoulders and all.
THE FUZZY beachcoat and the strapless peckay bathing suit underneath got the men's vote for top honors.
When the lady at the microphone in her closing sentence said she hoped we had liked the show and that "perhaps it would give you ideas for a summer wardrobe," I could see that the fellows in the front row were impressed.
They had plenty of ideas.
JACOBS TO SPEAK
Prof. James A. Jacobs, director of research in nuclear physics, will address the Engineers Luncheon club in the Iowa Union today at 12:30 p. m.
The luncheon will be held in the private dining room on the main floor.

State's Case Presented in Jarrett Trial

County Attorney Jack C. White wound up the state's case against Ralph Jarrett of Iowa City yesterday in the Johnson county district court. Jarrett is charged with assault with intent to do great bodily injury.

The prosecution sent witnesses to the witness stand in an attempt to prove that Jarrett knifed James P. Montgomery, Iowa City, at the Mexi-Hot restaurant Aug. 8. The restaurant is located at the corner of Maiden Lane and Benton street.

Swisher Defends Jarrett
Defense Attorney Scott Swisher said that he intends to prove that Jarrett had acted in self-defense in the brawl, which was alleged to have involved at least five persons in and outside the restaurant.

Witnesses yesterday said they saw Jarrett hit Montgomery in the face with the back of his hand. Further testimony indicated that this started a fight in which Montgomery and Richard Callahan, 303 Benton street, fought Jarrett and Joe Ryan, who formerly lived at 1113 E. Burlington street.

Shows Wound to Court
At this point, Montgomery said that he felt a knife wound in his abdomen. He showed the court an inch-and-a-half knife scar over the left side of his stomach. Montgomery further reported that the wound kept him in a hospital for a week.

Callahan testified that he was cut over one eye, under the chin and in the side.
Judge Harold D. Evans excused the jury at 4:45 p.m. yesterday until 9 this morning. He said he thought the case would be finished today.

Heavenly Deed
Man Leases Space To Bar Rockets
CHICAGO (AP) — James T. Mangan was told yesterday that he will be given a deed to all outer space.

He wants the space so he can start a celestial cemetery and also keep a tight check on rockets and space ships.
An industrial designer, Mangan first tried to file a claim for space Jan. 8, but the county recorder of deeds wouldn't accept it until he checked with legal authorities.

State's Attorney John S. Boyle wrote a 2,000-word opinion to the effect that Mangan's claim is in order and should be acknowledged.
Yesterday Mangan filed his claim again and was told that he will be issued a deed.
The cigar-smoking Mangan, who says he got the idea while gazing out the window of his skyscraper office, plans to set up a model nation called "Celestia."

Petersen Wins Centennial Coin Award

SPECIAL RECOGNITION for his work on the State Centennial commission was given to William J. Petersen, superintendent of the State Historical Society of Iowa. During his last days in office, Gov. Robert D. Blue sent to Petersen a special centennial coin and a letter expressing appreciation for the work. Petersen helped to plan the minting and distribution of 100,000 centennial coins.

Historical Society's Superintendent Wins Special Recognition

William J. Petersen, superintendent of the State Historical Society of Iowa, recently received special recognition for his work on the State Centennial commission from former Iowa Gov. Robert D. Blue.

During his last days in office, Blue sent Petersen a special Iowa centennial coin and a letter of appreciation.
In his letter the former governor said, "Both the committee and myself are deeply appreciative of the assistance which you gave in making the distribution of the centennial half-dollar outstanding in the history of memorial coins."

Petersen helped to plan the minting and distribution of 100,000 centennial coins. His special coin has been encased in a transparent plastic block and coated with a permanent lacquer.
All but 1,000 of the coins were placed on sale. The price was $2.50 each for Iowans and $3.50 for non-Iowans.

"Sale of the coins was a big success," Petersen said. "Most Iowa counties sold their quotas within 72 hours after they went on sale."
The big demand for the coins has caused a rise in market value. At present they are selling for $4.50 each, Petersen said.

The remaining 1,000 centennial coins have been placed in a vault at the Iowa-Des Moines National bank in Des Moines.
Half of them will be removed and sold in 1996, Iowa's 150th anniversary. The other 500 will be released in 2046, when Iowa celebrates its 200th birthday.

A profit of more than $197,000 was made on the centennial coins. The money has been put in a trust fund to accumulate interest until the principal sum reaches $1-million.

'Just A Shaver' Delays Gophers

The motor of the chartered bus for Minneapolis was idling — all set to go.
It was 8:20 a.m. Twenty minutes late already.

The Minnesota students filed into the bus parked in front of the Iowa Union. They relaxed in their seats as Al Upin, head of their delegation here for the Iowa-Minnesota basketball game Monday, counted noses.
One, two, three, four, five... Al should have counted 35. But he stopped: 34? One missing!
"We gotta get goin', gang. Let's hurry up and find him!" That was the order.

It was concise and important. The long nine-hour trip to Minneapolis in mind, Al started a hurried search in the union, the most logical place to look for the missing student. (The group was to meet there shortly before 8 a.m. yesterday.)
The missing Gopher was located in about five minutes — shaving in the men's room of the union.
The motor of the bus was still idling — but not for long.

Demos Ask GOPs To Come into Fold

SUI Young Democrats last night whimsically suggested that the SUI Young Republican league disband and asked the "more progressive members" of that organization to join the Demo group.
A resolution adopted at a Young Demo meeting in Schaeffer hall stated, "Owing to the confused and reactionary leadership of the National Republican party, the SUI Young Democrats suggest that the SUI Young Republican league disband, and cordially invite the more progressive members to join the Young Democrats."

Earlier, County Attorney Jack C. White told the campus politicians that "we'll see the Iowa state house in the Democratic column" if the state Democratic party sticks together.
After Richard Puetz gave a report on the Tatt-Hartley labor bill, the president of the group, Hank Allan, urged all Young Democrats to attend the city Democratic caucus being held in the Johnson county courthouse Friday night.

Dodd Elected President

Charles Dodd, A2, Newton, was elected president of the Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity last night. Other new officers are Don Bruntlett, C3, Gowrie, treasurer; Dave Seibel, A2, Spencer, recording secretary; William Nicholas, A2, Mason City, corresponding secretary, and Peter Jepson, A2, Coronado, Calif., historian.

Crystal, Podol Win Bridge Tournament

Winners of the duplicate bridge tournament played Sunday afternoon in the women's lounge of Iowa Union were Emanuel Crystal, C3, and Richard Podol, A4. The Union Board games committee which sponsored the tournament announced the results yesterday.

Complete scoring of the tournament is posted in the lobby of the Union. The winners will be presented with a gold loving cup.
Forty-four bridge players took part in the tournament. O.V. Lindsay, president of the state bridge league from Waterloo, directed the playing.

Mike to Promote WSUI's Services for Listeners

MEET "MIKE," WSUI'S NEW MONOGRAM, created by Jack Hobbs and Burt Wertz, staff artists in the WSUI-KSUI promotion department. Mike's job is to aid the station in promoting its services for listeners. He will appear on all posters, bulletins and other publicity material used by the station. Mike has the same racial characteristics as SUI's Herky, but he hails from a distant branch of the family.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE terrible-tempered Mr. Monty Woolley arrived very late for a dinner party, limping. He explained, "That miserable dog in my new picture bit me in the leg just as I was leaving the studio. I kicked the brute down a whole flight of stairs."

Most of the guests sympathized, but David Selznick murmured, "I'd like to hear the dog's side of that story."
Edward Everett Horton once asked Woolley, "How do you like children?" Woolley answered, "Well done."
Schiller in his biography of Frederick the Great, tells of the monarch's visit to a Potsdam prison. One prisoner after another assured him that he was innocent, and the victim of a frame-up. Finally one man, however, looked down at the floor and said, "Your Majesty, I am guilty, and richly deserving punishment."
Frederick belowered for the warden. "Free this rascal and get him out of our prison," he ordered, "before he corrupts all the noble innocent people in here."

Vocation Conference Committees Named; Planned for March

Committees have been named for the annual vocational conference to be held March 25 and 26 in the senate chamber of Old Capitol, Charman Jean Gordon, A3, Moline, announced recently.
Sponsored by University Women's association, the two-day career conference will feature talks by outstanding members in six vocational fields. Speakers will discuss qualifications and job opportunities in their fields and will hold personal interviews with interested students.

The planning committee for the six fields consists of the following: Ruth Husa, A4, Iowa City sociology; Betty Janssen, A3, Champaign, Ill., home economics; Helen Costas, C4, Cedar Rapids, commerce; Helen Danner, A4, Iowa City, education; Marion Reynolds, N4, Madrid, nursing, and Jean Strong, A4, Cedar Rapids, communications.
Advisers are Helen Focht, Frances Camp and Helen Mary Barnes. The functional committee includes Shirley Thompson, A3, Fort Dodge, hospitality; Betty Jane Johnson, A3, Bedford, high school chairman; Ruth Bridgeland, A4, Winnebago, Ill., interviews; Eleanor Leedham, A2, Webster Grove, Mo., posters and art; Jean Anne Jarnagin, A3, Storm Lake, publicity, and Anne Gilson, A1, Kirkwood, Mo., and Phyllis Ginsberg, A1, Ottumwa, bulletin boards.
Two high school seniors from each high school between here and Des Moines have been invited to attend the conference and look over the campus, the chairman said.

Over 6,000 Auto Plates Sold in Johnson County

County Treasurer Lumir Jansa said yesterday that 6,104 auto license plates for 1949 have been sold to date in Johnson county. Jansa advised those who have not received their plates yet to buy them soon, as the deadline for getting the new licenses is Feb. 1.
After that, a penalty fee is assessed.
Jansa also said 1,191 truck licenses, 331 farm trailer licenses and 253 regular trailer licenses have been sold so far.

Opinion Research Conference Schedules Roper, Gallup Talks

The complete program for the Iowa conference on attitude and opinion research, to be held here Feb. 10-12, was released yesterday in a SUI extension bulletin.

The conference will bring together pollsters Elmo Roper, George Gallup, Archibald Crossley and other experts in the field of mass communications.

Representatives of industry, government, agriculture and mass communications have also been invited to attend. These men will make a critical survey of the basic methods of social science research, the bulletin said.

Sessions in Old Capitol
Conference headquarters and all sessions will be in Old Capitol. The program for Feb. 10 is as follows:

9:15 a.m. Address of welcome by President Virgil M. Hancher.

10:00 a.m. Basic social science research; Samuel Stouffer. Stouffer is from the division of social relations at Harvard university.

12:15 p.m. Luncheon; Co-operative research in the social sciences; Kenneth W. Spence presiding.

2:00 p.m. Applied social science; H. W. Saunders presiding.

8 p.m. The determinants of public opinion; Prof. J. W. Albig presiding. Albig is head of the department of sociology and anthropology at the University of Illinois.

Schedule for Friday

9:15 a.m. Causes of the disparity between poll findings and elections; Dewey B. Stuit presiding. Paul Lazarsfeld, director of applied social research at Columbia university, and SUI Prof. Norman C. Meier will lead a discussion during this morning session.

12:15 p.m. Luncheon; The SSRC committee report; Prof. Leslie G. Moeller of SUI presiding.

2:00 p.m. The future trends of opinion sampling; Crossley, Gallup and Roper presiding.

3:30 p.m. Technical session on sampling methodology; Clyde W. Hart presiding. Hart is director of the national opinion research center in Chicago.

8 p.m. Unsettled problems in social science research; Thomas McCormick presiding. Prof. McCormick is head of the department of sociology and anthropology at the University of Wisconsin.

Schedule for Saturday

9:15 a.m. Should political forecasts be made; Hancher presiding.

10:30 a.m. Unsettled problems of the sampling survey methodology; Robert P. Sears of SUI presiding.

12:30 p.m. Luncheon; General discussion.

Frivol Gets Entry In Beauty Contest

The first freshman girl to enter the Frivol beauty contest is Martha Jernigan, representing Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority.

Five freshman beauties will be presented in the March issue of Frivol, contest editor Charles Rogers said yesterday.

Twenty-five freshman women will take part in the annual affair, representing Currier and annexes, Madison Court cottages, town women and the social sororities. The number of entries for each housing unit were chosen on a proportional basis, Rogers said.

There will be two judgments, both by personal interview on the basis of beauty and poise. The first judging will limit the number of contestants to ten, and will be held the week following the entry deadline.

Deadline for the entries is Saturday, Jan. 22.

Goldwyn Leaves MPAA after Clash

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Samuel Goldwyn announced yesterday he is quitting the Motion Picture Association of America in a disagreement over policy.

Goldwyn said he resigned "to give my undivided support to the interests of the Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers."

He alone, among Hollywood producers, has belonged to both groups for years. The MPAA is headed by Eric Johnston. The society's new president is ex-Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia.

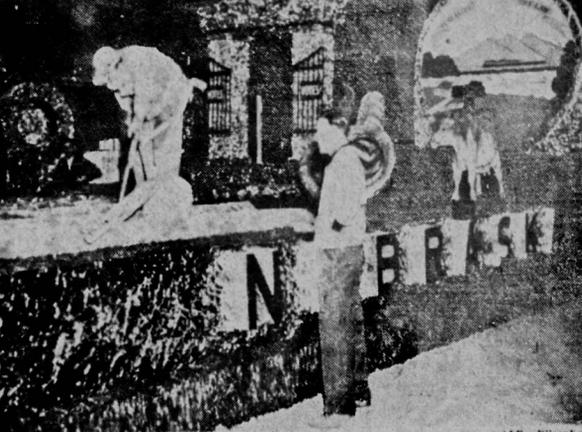

"I find myself unable to agree conscientiously with many of the policies formulated by the association," Goldwyn said in a statement, "and feel that they do not represent the interests of the independent producers."

Weather Promising; Senate Reaction Cool

WASHINGTON (AP) — The weatherman yesterday pledged reasonable cooperation in President Truman's inauguration on Thursday, but the senate threw a financial monkey wrench.

The forecast, for the hour when the President is sworn into his present job at better pay, is for wind, clouds and chill. No rain or snow.

But the senate atmosphere was frigid as it voted, 47 to 44, against exempting tickets to inaugural events from the 20 percent federal tax. It was the first administration defeat in the new Democratic congress.

Tickets Sold Out
The tickets have been sold out, with no tax collected. It was gessed unofficially that the tax on parade, inaugural ball and other tickets might be $80,000.

A spokesman for the non-partisan, non-profit inaugural committee said he supposed the committee "will have to pay it — there's no other way."

Nobody was able to say immediately whether the anticipated profit, which was to have gone to charity, would cover the bill.

The committee had thought congress would, as in past years, approve the exemption. The house did so Monday but the senate stunned administration leaders by voting no. And then, on a reconsideration vote, said no again.

Workers Get Holiday
Meantime Mr. Truman signed into law a bill giving federal workers here a holiday tomorrow and Friday, making possible a festive four-day inaugural weekend.

The White House announced that he will sign before tonight the measure raising his own salary by $25,000 and boosting his

Coe Band in Parade
CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — The Coe college ROTC band left yesterday for Washington, D.C., where it will participate in President Truman's inaugural parade.

The band, whose 43 members include 17 World War II veterans, will be the official Iowa musical organization at the inauguration.

It will be Coe bandsmen's fourth appearance in a presidential inauguration when they march down Pennsylvania avenue tomorrow.

Expenses of the band's trip, totaling $4,000, were covered by donations.

Smiths Present

The committee made its decision after conferring more than an hour following a two and one half hour hearing. Both Smiths, along with their attorneys, and an election judge and the county auditor appeared before the committee at the hearing.

Ballots Counted Again
Rep. C.M. Strawman (R-Anamosa), chairman of the contest committee, said the group's action was based on the counting of five absent voter ballots which had not been counted before. This gave Roy Smith a majority of two votes.

Bills Introduced
Three bills to increase the salaries of municipal court judges, clerks, bailiffs and court reporters were introduced in the Iowa senate yesterday.

The measures, sponsored by Sen. George Faul (R - Des Moines) would affect the officers of the municipal courts at Ames, Clinton, Marshalltown, Waterloo, Council Bluffs, Sioux City and Des Moines.

The pay raises for clerks and bailiffs would apply only to the municipal courts in Des Moines. A third bill would raise the pay of municipal court reporters from $10 to $15 a day.

Another of the bills would license drug stores at an annual fee of $6. Also introduced was a measure similar to one proposed in the senate. It would establish a civil service system for state employees.

New Player Gives 3 Record Speeds

CHICAGO (AP) — A new record player, capable of handling all three types of records made at present, was demonstrated yesterday.

The new player will be placed in full production next month by Scott Radio Laboratories, Inc., of Chicago. The price has not been announced.

The playing disk can be set for three speeds, 78 revolutions a minute at which the conventional record is played, 33 1-2 revolutions a minute required by Columbia's micro-groove record and a new slow-turning disk planned by Mercury, and 45 revolutions the new RCA Victor long player.

Conventional records are played automatically, but the slower-turning records must be played manually.

House Group Votes to Seat Roy J. Smith

DES MOINES (AP) — A special contest committee of the house of representatives decided yesterday to recommend that Roy J. Smith, Spirit Lake Republican, be given the house seat now occupied by Merwin Smith, Milford Democrat.

House to Vote
The committee's recommendation either may be accepted or rejected by a vote of all members of the house. If the house accepts the committee's recommendation the action is final.

The secretary of state's office and certified Merwin Smith as elected to represent Dickinson county. The official canvass showed Merwin Smith the winner by three votes out of a total of about 4,250 votes. Roy Smith then brought the contest.

Ballots Counted Again
Rep. C.M. Strawman (R-Anamosa), chairman of the contest committee, said the group's action was based on the counting of five absent voter ballots which had not been counted before. This gave Roy Smith a majority of two votes.
