Britain to Accord Israeli Recognition

LONDON (UP)—Commons gave Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin a vote of confidence, 283 to 193, on his Palestine policy last night after the Labor government frantically rounded up members by telephone for fear it would be defeated.

Bevin told commons, in a full dress debate, that the government was now prepared to recognize Israel on the understanding that there would be no more fighting.

It was the first confidence vote the Conservatives had demanded since Labor took office in July, 1945.

Many Labor members had left in the belief there would be no vote.

Suddenly reports swept parliamentary lobbies that the government, due to defection of left wing laborites, would get only a majority of 20 to 30 and might even be defeated, in which case its resignation might have been possible.

Labor party whips urgently collared members in the building and summoned others by telephone. Soon members were racing to the parliament building for the vote.

Bevin vigorously defended his Palestine policy and said that Britain and the United States saw "eye to eye" on basic middle eastern policy.

Labor Gains Seats In Israel Election

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israel's first election appeared yesterday to have given labor a firm voice in her new government.

Premier David Ben-Gurion's moderately leftist labor party, Mapai, had received 35 percent of the total vote cast, at the half-way point of the official count.

Mapai was running up a vote more than twice as large as that cast for either of two other contenders fighting it out for second place. They were the United Labor Party, Mapam, and a bloc of five parties which want the country to base its laws on ancient Jewish scriptures.

Militant right wing parties and Communists trailed in the field of 21 parties competing for seats in the powerful constituent assembly. The 120-member assembly will form a government to succeed the present provisional government and write a constitution.

U. of W. Prof Protests, Quits

CHICAGO (AP)—Thomas I. Cook quit yesterday as professor of political science at the University of Washington after the dismissal of three other faculty members in a controversy over asserted present or former Communist activity.

Three other University of Washington faculty members were placed on probation Saturday. They had been similarly accused.

"I resigned," Prof. Cook told a news conference, "because of the conspicuous violation of the proper processes for deciding issues of freedom and tenure . . ." at the university.

Prof. Cook has been a University of Washington faculty member for nine years. Currently, he is at the University of Chicago as a visiting professor.

Dr. Cook said a faculty committee had recommended that only one of the six be dismissed. The committee exonerated three of the six and held that the accusations against the other two had not been proved.

"In no sense," Cook said, is his resignation "motivated by sympathy for communism but rather for the due processes of established law."

House GOP Quits Seniority Selection

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of self-styled progressive house Republicans claimed a major victory yesterday as GOP leaders agreed to overhaul their policy-making group and abandon seniority as a basis of selection.

They won unanimous backing of the Republican committee on committees for a resolution abolishing the old GOP steering committee and replacing it with a policy committee chosen largely on a geographical basis by the members themselves.

Registration Dates—Q's Given Time, Too

If your last name begins with the initial 'Q,' you can unpack your bags. You don't have to leave SUU.

According to the registration schedule, the Q's didn't have a time to register for next semester at SUU.

But a check with Registrar Ted McCarrel last night saved the day for prospective Q initiated scholars, as well as the 15 students, ranging from Quade to Quist, now listed in the student directory.

Persons with the initials R-Rot, the schedule said, start the registration period at 8:00 a.m. Feb. 7 and students with initials Pet-Pz close the period at 4:00 p.m. Feb. 8.

Minding his P's and Q's, McCarrel merged the Q's in with Pet-Pz group, forming Pet-Q. Simple.

Students in liberal arts, commerce, education and the graduate college—including the Q's—will register in the north gymnasium of the fieldhouse.

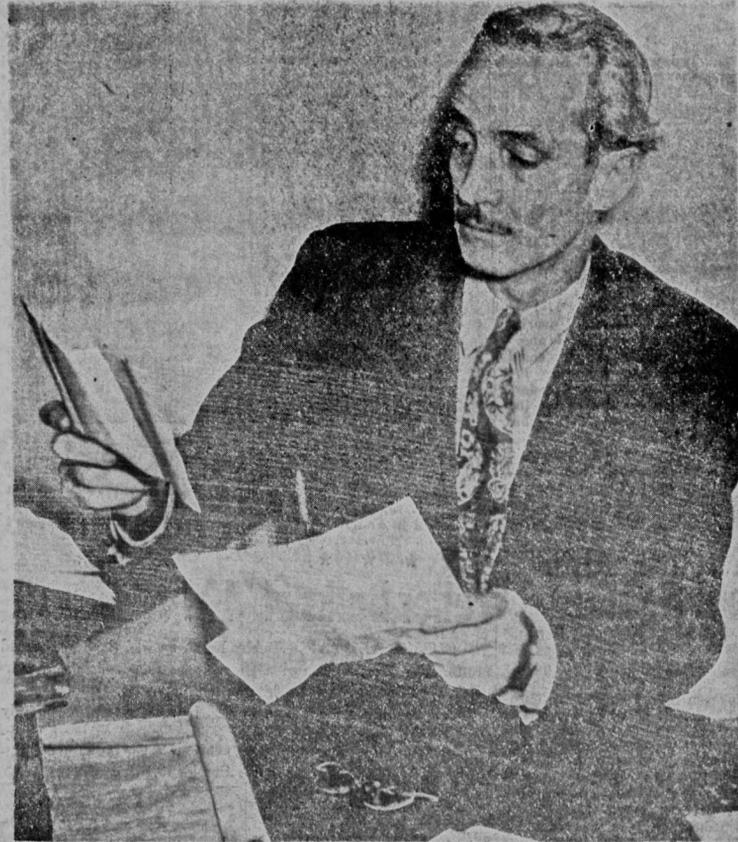

Requests by students to register at a time earlier than the time indicated on the schedule will not be granted, but those unable to register on the scheduled hour may register at any later time.

Tulsa Plan Snowballs

KINGPIN OF THE LANDLORD REVOLT. The Rev. Wallace J. Murphy, Baptist minister and executive secretary of the Tulsa Property Owners Association, examines some of the scores of wires he said congratulated the group's announcement its members were serving 1,000 eviction notices in order to pull their properties off the rental market. Murphy said the action was in protest to what he called "slavery" rent control proposals before congress and that it was hoped the movement would spread.

Landlords Protest Rent Bills With Mass Eviction Notices

CHICAGO (UP)—The "Tulsa plan" of mass eviction to protest rent controls was recommended last night to the Kansas City Property Owners association, but the Indianapolis Home Owners' union rejected the proposal.

At Milwaukee, the Milwaukee County Property Owners board of directors voted to call a special meeting of members Jan. 31 to vote on the "Tulsa plan." The total number of units affected by possible action was 5,000.

Members of the Sacramento Apartment House and Property Owners association pledged yesterday not to pay property taxes until they obtain relief from federal rent controls.

Property owners in several cities drew up mass eviction notices yesterday and property owners in other cities debated similar action.

Landlords who took action said they preferred to withdraw rental property from the market and leave it vacant rather than face possible tighter rent laws.

Started at Tulsa: The movement started at Tulsa, Okla., where members of the Tulsa Property Owners association sent 60-day eviction notices to more than 1,000 families. The notices warned that the new rent bills may end in "government ownership" of property.

Federal Rent Director Tighe E. Woods questioned the landlords' actions as being in "good faith" which the law requires for taking a rental unit off the market. He threatened legal steps to restrain wholesale evictions if the landlords are found not to be acting in good faith.

Harry Hansen, member of the board of directors of the APOA, also said at Omaha that he was recommending that members not follow Tulsa's lead.

Their association has affiliates in 20 cities, including Tulsa, and some scheduled meetings to consider similar action.

Landlords at Grand Rapids, Mich., were preparing to mail 2,000 evictions and a Minneapolis association representing 1,300 landlords said after a meeting yesterday that it looked like Minneapolis would follow Tulsa's lead. The association said many members planned to get out eviction notices at once.

The list of cities where property owners groups were scheduled to debate following the "Tulsa plan" included Detroit, St. Louis, Denver, Madison, Wis., Lincoln, Neb., Philadelphia, Chicago and Carthage, Mo.

Some Opposed: Not all the groups were sure, however, that members would want to go out of business, and in many other cities landlord associations denounced the action and said they had no plans to follow suit.

Another Tulsa landlord group, the Real Estate board, said it wanted no part of the doings of the Tulsa Property Owners association.

The CIO national housing committee, meanwhile, called upon the government to stop the evictions by injunction.

Federal officials and lawmakers condemned the action. Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) warned at Washington that the movement may "boomerang" on landlords when congress takes up the proposals to put new teeth in rent control.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Gergette Brucks, at 21 soon to become mother of her fourth child, will go through with a court-ordered sterilization although she earlier had said that she did not realize that the order would strip her forever of the rights of motherhood.

A superior court judge ordered she be made sterile as part of the probation imposed on her plea of guilty to manslaughter in the fatal beating of her seven-months-old illegitimate son, Howard.

Judge Thomas L. Ambrose also ordered that she give up another son, Donald, 20-months, and the yet unborn child. Judge Ambrose made the rare ruling Tuesday after the mother and her lawyer agreed to it.

Earlier yesterday Mrs. Brucks, almost childlike in appearance, said she had misunderstood the effect of the sterilization operation.

"When I went into court, I thought that the operation would prevent me from having children for about six or seven years, or until I got settled down," she told reporters from her cell.

Her attorney, Walter Anderson, said the operation was carefully explained to her before she agreed to submit to it. He said that it had been decided on after findings of several psychiatrists.

After Anderson had talked with Mrs. Brucks yesterday afternoon, she told newsmen that she now understands what the sterilization is all about and added: "I won't fight it."

Since 1945 she has been the common-law wife of Donald Redman of Los Angeles. Redman is the father of Donald, the slain baby, and the one expected in April.

VOLCANO ERUPTS: HILO (AP)—Mauna Loa, which never was quieted since its spectacular eruption Jan. 6, spilled more lava from its summit crater yesterday.

Peace Prospects for Chinese Civil War Now Appear Gloomy

NANKING (AP)—The Chinese government and the Communists accused each other of bad faith yesterday. As peace prospects dimmed, the Nationalists hastily tried to establish a new defense line south of the Yangtze.

The Communist radio asserted acting President Li Tsung Lin was trying to get a breathing spell while organizing further resistance. It called on him to show his good faith by immediately detaining leading war criminals.

(As heard and translated in Shanghai, the broadcast called on Li to "detain" Chiang Kai-Shek and other "war criminals.")

It was reported on high authority that Chiang Kai-Shek would return to power should the peace talks fizzle. This report came from sources so high they can be considered unimpeachable.

A government spokesman accused the Communists of stalling. He called on the Communists to name peace delegates now and select a place for a conference.

Almost as in answer to this—although there was no direct connection between the two statements—the Communist radio said the Nationalists were plotting to distort peace talks into "a false peace."

The foreign office announced early yesterday that all government functions would cease in Nanking Feb. 3 and the new capital of government-held China would be set up at Canton, effective Feb. 5.

President of Brazil Invited to Visit U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman announced yesterday that President Dutra of Brazil has accepted an invitation to visit the United States May 18.

The Brazilian president's departure from his country must receive the approval of the Brazilian legislature.

Mr. Truman visited Rio de Janeiro in 1947, and has asked the Brazilian chief executive to Washington for a return visit.

Attorneys for Communists Call Grand Jurors

NEW YORK (UP)—Counsel for 11 U.S. Communist leaders called to the witness stand yesterday 13 members of the grand jury which indicted them last July.

The defense, trying to prove that the grand jury was a prejudiced "rich man's club," questioned a Wall street broker and accountant, a textile firm owner, a cement salesman listed in the New York social register, a retail jeweler, a Western Union supervisor and a baseball coach.

As the snail-paced trial resumed after a four-day recess, the defense were again reprimanded by Presiding Judge Harold R. Medina. And once again they accused him of being prejudiced.

Thomas Renamed To Old Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican leaders yesterday chose Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) to retain his membership on the un-American activities committee.

The GOP leaders followed tradition in naming Thomas to continue in the house group, which he served as chairman during the last two years of headline-making investigations under the Republican-controlled 80th congress.

With rare exceptions, holdovers are assigned to their old committees.

The New Jersey legislator is scheduled to go on trial Feb. 7 on charges that he defrauded the government by accepting salary kickbacks from persons "listed on his congressional payroll."

Thomas' selection by the GOP committee on committees is subject to approval of a party conference today.

Three More Congressmen Join the Fraternity

Nevada Haylift Winning Battle Against Livestock Starvation

Aided by good flying weather, the Nevada haylift for snow-stranded range livestock appeared to be winning the battle against starvation Wednesday.

However, January storms lashed some other sections of the country and conditions were growing more critical in ice-locked northern Nebraska.

A new blizzard and cold whirled into the southern California mountains and desert and sleet formed a sheath of ice across a large area of the midcontinent.

Despite the success of airmen in getting feed to starving range livestock in Nevada, ranchers fear that the arctic cold and snow—worst in 60 years—will take a large toll.

The hay run, being operated by flying "boxcars" of the fourth airforce, continued in temperatures near 30 degrees below zero. Twenty-three flying boxcars made flights to the northeastern Nevada ranges. The planes dropped 190,000 pounds of hay to hungry sheep and cattle Wednesday.

Full extent of losses will not be known until roads are opened and a detailed check can be made.

President Truman, meanwhile, made another $200,000 available to help relieve suffering in snow-bound western states. Another $100,000 was allocated Monday for aid to Indians and stockmen in the blizzard affected areas.

Earlier Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska appealed personally to President Truman for army help in reaching snow-bound humans and cattle in 22 northern counties.

Storm Aid Funds Granted 5 States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Works Administrator Phillip B. Fleming last night divided $175,000 equally among five states—Nevada, Utah, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming—for emergency storm relief.

Fleming, President Truman's director of disaster relief, held out $25,000 from a new $200,000 relief allocation, announced yesterday, for further emergency use.

He said the total sum was so far short of the need, on the basis of reports from governors of the states and federal officials here, that the immediate allocation to the five states was deemed advisable.

1. He said that a "very great" reservoir of private capital is available to finance President Truman's new program to raise the standard of living in backward areas of the world. But he served notice that countries desiring such help must create conditions "attractive" to private investment.

2. On the military front of the cold war, Acheson endorsed the plans worked out by former Secretary of State Marshall and retiring Undersecretary Lovett for a military alliance with western Europe.

Acheson declared that "we are convinced that we can best contribute to the maintenance of peace by joining with other nations in making it absolutely clear in advance that any armed attack affecting our national security would be met with overwhelming force."

He further indicated for the first time officially that the North Atlantic defense agreement, in negotiation for many months among the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, is about completed. He said that he hoped "to be able very soon" to talk about it in specific terms.

Flannery's 20 Points Pace Ramblers in Intra-City Win

By LELAND OLSON
A determined St. Patrick's five fought neck and neck with St. Mary's, its cross-town rival for three full periods before and then fell, 37-29, before an overflow crowd at the junior high gymnasium last night.

Strangely enough, it was an Irishman who was the thorn in the side of the Irish. He was the red-headed Paul Flannery. He netted six baskets and eight free throws for 20 big points.

THE IRISH HAVE THE BALL as Forward Bob Grady of St. Pat's goes into a feint to hold onto it. St. Mary's Guard Paul Flannery reaches out from behind to see if he can steal the apple. Al Streb (left) and Jerry Cunningham (right) watch anxiously as the tight traditional battle unfolds between the intra-city rivals. St. Mary's won, 37-29.

It was alert defensive play, combined with a cold St. Mary's team that put Father Pacha's boys into a 17-16 lead at the end of the first half.

Midway through the second quarter the underdog Irish quintet nosed into a 15-14 lead on a fielder by Bob Grady from the free throw circle. A few seconds later Jerry Cunningham dropped one in from underneath the hoop to increase the margin to 17-14. However, Flannery and Seydel completed a couple of charity tosses just before the intermission to set the score at 17-16.

A nip and tuck third quarter saw the lead change hands about as fast as the scorer could change the numerals on the scoreboard. Then Bob Henderson's two free throws put the Ramblers in front 27-26 going into the home stretch.

St. Mary's, beginning to click at this point against the weakened Irishmen after Al Streb and Bob Grady left the game via the foul route, pulled away to the win.

A 'Feller' Needs Money These Days

WE'LL TALK ABOUT MONEY AGAIN, says Bob Feller (right), famed hurler for the World Champion Cleveland Indians. Here he departs from the office of Tribe President Bill Veck after a brief 1949 salary huddle yesterday. The attendance prospects, so important in Feller's final salary, was the point the pair couldn't agree on. However, they parted on friendly terms.

Feller Balks at '49 Pay Terms

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bobby Feller spoiled the joyful mood around the World Champion Cleveland Indians' teepee yesterday by balking on terms of his fat 1949 contract.

Only a day after his manager, Lou Boudreau, cheerfully signed a two-year contract calling for an annual salary of $65,000 or more, the grey-suited fast ball pitcher announced unsmilingly after a conference with President Bill Veck:

"It's simply a disagreement over the number of fans the Indians will draw this year. That's all."

But that number is important. The gravy in Feller's contract after a guaranteed starter of $40,000-odd, has been in those attendance bonuses.

And it's there where the expected pay cut will come. Feller estimated the slash — before yesterday — at $10,000.

In 1947 and 1948 his salary is believed to have hovered above $80,000.

Veck took the position yesterday the Tribe would draw approximately as many fans as last year's record-breaking 2,600,000. Feller felt the 1949 attendance might not be as high.

Yet Feller isn't the only member of the world champs showing a tendency towards displeasure at his 1949 salary. For example:

Gene Bearden, the star pitcher of the world series, wants to see Veck about the figure in his proffered contract.

Bob Lemon, another important pitcher, sent his contract back unsigned.

And Kenny Keltner, the Indians' third baseman, telephoned Veck yesterday to say there were a few contract clauses he wanted to talk to him about. They will meet in Milwaukee, Feb. 14.

In fact, only four contracts have been returned to the Indians' office, outside of Boudreau's. They have come from less important players and rookies.

At yesterday's abortive conference with Feller, Veck made it clear that they parted friends. And he called out to Bob as he left the office:

"You think those figures over, Bob."

Feller shot back: "All right, Bill. I'll be seeing you in New York."

Cincy Scoring Slows; Illini Now in Third

NEW YORK (AP)—Cincinnati's point-making Bearcats still lead the nation's major college basketball teams in scoring, but the gap between them and the runners-up is narrowing.

The Bearcats, according to National Collegiate Athletic Bureau statistics of games through Jan. 22, had scored an average of 72.7 points in 12 games. This is 1.7 points below their top figure of a week ago.

Closing in on Cincinnati are Rhode Island State, 72.4, Illinois, 70.5, Yale, 70.3, and unbeaten Western Kentucky, 70.1. Thus only 2.6 points separate the pace-setter from the fifth place team.

Oklahoma A & M is far in front in team defense. The possession-minded Cowpokes have surrendered an average of only 34.3 points per contest. Siena, of upstate New York, is the far-trailing runner-up with an average of 40.6, followed by Michigan, 41.5 and Minnesota, 41.8.

Western Michigan's collection of hot-shots has earned 317 of 814 throws to move into first place in field goal percentage with a mark of .389. Seton Hall is second with .383 and Wyoming, last week's pace-setter, is third with .381.

Colorado has taken over first in foul shooting, with 121 of 169 charity heaves for a .716 average. The Buffaloes were third in this department last week. Valparaiso is second with .707 and New York U. third with .695.

Taking Time Out

With Buck Turnbull

What Sort of an Eruption Is Forthcoming?

What a match that Illinois-Minnesota jam session at Champaign Saturday night promises to be. Man alive!

It brings together two teams with directly opposite styles of offense, both of which have been successful in guiding the two quintets to undefeated Big Nine records so far. The Gophers are currently riding the crest of 13 straight wins this winter in a 5-0 mark in the conference. Illinois is 3-0 in league play and 12-1 overall.

But the difference in the manner these conquests were compiled makes one wonder just what sort of a volcanic eruption will come forth from the Illini homestead some time Saturday evening.

For instance, Minnesota is the shyest shooting combine in the conference. The sleek Gophers of the newly born Cowles' era are averaging only 56 field goal attempts per game, but are hitting .336 percent.

On the other end of the scale comes Harry Combes' Fighting Illini. They are averaging 89 basket tries per game and springing a .243 percentage. Illinois in three games has attempted almost as many field goals as Minnesota in five.

The Gophers, besides having the best Big Nine percentage, are also the loop's top defensive outfit. They have held their five opponents, Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue, Iowa and Indiana to a meager 37.8 average. Illinois is higher up the ladder with a 51.6 defensive average.

On paper the nod must go to the Gophers. That's on paper, though not on the basketball court. We're still remembering the game finds Minnesota on the road, but that didn't seem to make much difference when the Gophers took Purdue and Iowa away from home by margins of 15 and 16 points, respectively.

The game Saturday is just about as even as any guy with a parlay card could bargain for.

McIntyre's Scoring Pair

Minnesota's deadly scoring pair of Whitey Skoog, the blonde bomber, and Jim McIntyre, the sky-scraping monstrosity, continue to roll along unhindered. The duo are completely dominating Gopher individual scoring figures.

In 13 games played to date McIntyre has pushed in 227 points to Skoog's 205. However, the white-haired sophomore star has hit more field goals than his big buddy, 81 to 80.

Skoog is also stealing the thunder away from the towering McIntyre in Big Nine action. Skoog heads the Western conference parade with 85 markers, followed by Ohio State's Bob Ralidiger with 79. Big Jim is tied for third with Purdue's Howard Williams, both of whom have hit 71.

Where would Minnesota be without the mighty one-two blast of Skoog-McIntyre. The three other starters, Bud Grant, Harold Olson and Jerry Mitchell, combined have scored 226 points. This total is one-point shy of McIntyre's output alone.

It's Not Bad Enough That Skoog Didn't Wreck Iowa

It's not bad enough that Skoog didn't wreck Iowa once with his 26-point explosion here last week. The Gophers want to have him really inspired when the Hawkeyes visit Minneapolis Saturday, Feb. 12.

Skoog's hometown faithful from Brainerd, Minn., are planning to have a "Whitey Skoog Night" in honor of the star who is doing so much to better the fair name of their city. And what better night could they pick to throw such a thing than coupled with the appearance of Iowa?

Luckman Will Coach in NY, Report Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Sid Luckman, quarterback of the Chicago Bears, will be the new coach of the Boston Yanks in the National Football League next fall, the New York Star reported last night.

The Star, in a copyright story by Clay Felker, said the former Columbia university star would sign for the post within the next two weeks.

He has been in conference with Ted Collins, owner of the Boston team which recently transferred its base of operations to New York, the paper added.

The move would be made with the approval of George Halas, owner of the Bears, the Star said.

Luckman is 34 years old and his retirement from active play has been expected for the last several years.

Undefeated Big Nine Leaders—Gophers Tops in League Defense

CHICAGO (AP)—Minnesota's Golden Gophers were leading the Big Nine basketball race yesterday with the top field goal shooting average in the circuit plus the best defensive record, official league statistics showed yesterday.

The Gophers have hit on .336 per cent of their attempts from the floor, and have attempted an average of only 56 field goals per game. Only one other team in the league, Ohio State, with a .315 record, has hit over the mystic .300 figure.

Defensively Minnesota's opponents have averaged only 37.8 points per game, nearly five points per contest better than the 43.3 mark which the Defending Champion Michigan five has established for second place.

Offensively Ohio State has the top scoring average with 60.6 points per contest, while Minnesota, with a 51 point average, ranks fifth.

In individual scoring, though, Minnesota has two of the first four with Meyer "Whitey" Skoog the leader with 85 points and Jim McIntyre tied for third with 71. The Gophers also have three men in the first 20 while Ohio State has a foursome of Bob Ralidiger, Dick Schmittner, Bob Donham and Bob Burkholder in the first 20.

Gets Choice Seat—

Iowa Citian Observes Truman's Inaugural

When Mrs. Virginia Silver, Delta Chi housemother, paid $10 for a ticket to watch the inaugural parade in Washington, D.C., she didn't think she was getting a bargain — but ask her now!

For her $10 Mrs. Silver got, first, a ringside seat to one of the most "lavish" parades she has ever seen, and second, a three-hour look at both the presidential and vice-presidential families, plus many other high-ranking Washington figures.

Mrs. Silver sat directly across the street from the presidential reviewing stands.

Other Iowans Lucky

She was not the only Iowan that lucky. The entire Iowa representation had seats last week in the same choice area, Mrs. Silver said. She also met Sen. LeRoy Mercey and his wife.

The Coe college band from Cedar Rapids played "The Iowa Corn Song" as it marched past the presidential reviewing stands, and said Mrs. Silver, we all joined in and sang "to let the President know that Iowa was there."

Famous people were everywhere, Mrs. Silver said. The Delta Chi housemother shook hands with Harry Truman, saw police refuse Tallulah Bankhead a seat in the reviewing stand, and saw Margaret Truman in the new "Margaret Pink."

Article by Student Appears in Issue

Hutchings is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hutchings of Cedar Rapids.

Research Libraries Plan Consolidation

First steps toward the development of a central storage library for midwestern university research libraries were taken in Chicago Monday at a meeting of representatives from the larger universities in this area.

Dean Allan W. Dakin and Dr. Ralph E. Ellsworth, director of libraries, represented SUI at the meetings.

A gift of $500,000 plus $250,000 more on a matching basis for the erection of a building was announced at the meeting by President E. C. Colwell of the University of Chicago, chairman of the group.

The central storage library program will be the first part of a long range program of cooperative activities which the libraries represented will develop in order to increase the amount of research materials available to scholars in the Midwest.

Methodist Church Plans Organ Recital By Julian Williams

Julian R. Williams, organist of Sewickley, Pa., and brother of Mrs. C. B. Righter of Iowa City, will give an organ recital at the First Methodist church Feb. 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Prof. C. B. Righter of the SUI music department, brother-in-law of the organist, said Williams will arrive in Iowa City Feb. 5. Williams' recital at the Methodist church will be his first in Iowa City, Righter said.

Before coming to Iowa City, Williams will give a recital at St. John's cathedral, Denver, Colo., and one in Kansas City, Mo.

As a recitalist Williams has made many tours in the United States. He has been guest recitalist four times at national conventions of the American Guild of Organists.

Jewelry Adorns the Modern Male

IT'S NO TROUBLE AT ALL to keep a supply of men's jewelry accessories, thinks Ronald B. Fairchild, A1, Marengo. Like most men, he finds that each occasion calling for gifts means new cuff links, a tie clasp or other jewelry. Above he wears a silver identification bracelet, cuff links, wrist watch and tie clasp—all of which he has received as gifts.

Gifts Supply Men's Accessories

Gifts for birthdays, Christmas or graduation don't cause mid-lady alarm when there's a jewelry store at hand. When Dad celebrates a birthday, brother graduates from high school or Christmas comes along, the college coed will consider what new jewelry the man in mind might want. An exceptional girl may knit argyle socks if time allows, but the average American woman will ponder over whether to choose a gold or a silver key chain, an identification bracelet or a tie clasp, a ring or a watch.

Jewelry manufacturers capitalize on the fact that most men's jewelry is purchased by women. Many items are designed with thoughts of the female purchaser, one leading company reports. Women must be pleased, manufacturers claim, because they buy the largest share of men's jewelry.

Local jewelers agree. They sell cleverly designed tie clasps, masculine identification bracelets, different cuff links and novel key chains largely to women shoppers. Cigarette lighters and electric razors are boosted in gift selections by women, as well as watches, watch chains and rings. Men find they "never have too much" jewelry. There's always a new twist, an unusual design or a different look which adds real appreciation to the sentimental value of the item.

Information Received On Graduate Offers From 3 Universities
SUI's psychology department has received information on graduate fellowships, scholarships and assistantships being offered by three universities for the year 1949-50. Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore, Md., is offering assistantships in psychology ranging from $400 to $1,000 each. More than 50 psychological assistantships and fellowships are available at Syracuse university. The psychological services center and evaluation service center there are offering courses in general counseling, mental hygiene, improvement of learning and reading. Valued at about $1,000 each, the assistantships are usually renewable for another year. Students who have completed one year of graduate work are eligible for psychology fellowships offered by the University of Kansas. They are worth $500 to $600 per year. Also available at Kansas are departmental assistantships in psychology, worth $800 to $1,000 each. Applications for the awards at all three universities must be mailed by March 1, 1949. Further information is available at the psychology department office, C-106 East hall.

Wife Slays Husband After Baby Sitting For Rival's Children

MOBILE, ALA. (AP) — Mrs. Hortense Foster, 26, said yesterday that in her desperation to keep her family together she even took care of her rival's children. But finally, she said, her husband went too far so she shot him.

Her husband, John J. Foster, handsome 39-year-old telephone worker, was killed Tuesday night by three shots in the chest and stomach.

Mrs. Foster dictated a statement, admitting the slaying and telling the story of an anguished life because of her husband's philandering, police said. Charged with first degree murder, Mrs. Foster collapsed after she signed the statement and was in a state of hysteria.

Mrs. Foster, mother of a 20-month old child of her own, said in her statement that she was baby-sitter for the children of "the other woman" when her husband brought them by the house.

"I did not want to keep the children," she said. "But my husband insisted that I do it. I was doing all I could to try and keep the family together."

The statement said that the other woman lived in the same neighborhood. Her name was not disclosed.

The crisis came late Tuesday when Foster came home and refused to eat the meal she had prepared, Mrs. Foster was quoted.

They started the same old argument, she said, and Foster advanced toward her with his hands raised menacingly. She was quoted as saying she got a pistol from the kitchen cabinet and fired three times.

Mrs. Foster said she obtained the pistol from a private detective agency which she had retained to watch her husband.

Power Plans Wedding Today

ROME (AP)—Tyrone Power said he will marry Linda Christian at 3:30 a.m. today Iowa time regardless of any last minute legal hitch in California.

"If this marriage is not recognized in California when we return there we will get married all over again," he said.

The wedding of the Hollywood film stars will be held at the scheduled hour in Rome's Santa Annabella, the French actress, was performed outside the Roman Catholic church and thus is not recognized by the church.

Francesco Roman Catholic church with high-placed Italian society and Hollywood notables in attendance.

The legal hitch developed in California when it developed that final divorce papers for Power had not yet been signed.

Until the papers are signed the ceremony is not legal as far as the state of California is concerned, a Hollywood dispatch said.

Unless a special court order is obtained in California the signing could not take place before 11 a.m. Iowa time, or 6 p.m. Rome time. However, steps were reportedly under way in Hollywood to have the decree signed at midnight last night and word flashed to Rome before 10 a.m. Rome time. It was up to the judge to decide whether he would cooperate.

Last night Miss Christian, happy on the eve of the wedding, told reporters she plans to start having babies right away.

"Two at first," she said, "and later three more."

Furthermore, she expects her marriage to last. Both are Hollywood film stars.

"Most girls," she said, "get infatuated and marry right away. That's no good. I waited over a year after I met Ty until I knew him well."

City Residents Get 2 Building Permits

Two building permits were issued by the city engineer's office in the last week.

The second permit was issued to George Vrchoticky, 803 E. Market street, to inclose the front porch of his home. He estimated the cost would be $200, and he will do his own contracting.

House Democrats Cry 'Unfair' over Munger Vote Count

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa house Democrats cried "unfair" yesterday in a minority report filed in the Woodbury county contest over state representative.

Nevertheless, indications were that the Republican-controlled house would confirm the right of Rep. Robert P. Munger (R-Sioux City) to his seat in the house.

James R. Naughton, 23, Sioux City Democrat, is contesting Munger's election. Munger won by 248 votes in the official canvass but Naughton emerged with a lead of 190 votes after ballots had been recounted in four disputed precincts.

The majority members of the contest committee recommended, however, that precinct 15 not be considered in the recount because there were three more ballots in the box than there were names of voters on the poll books. That would restore Munger to a lead of 97 votes.

The Democrats filed affidavits yesterday purporting to show that the name of three persons who cast absentee voters' ballots were inadvertently left off the poll books in that precinct. Said the minority report:

"The only irregularity was the failure of election officials to write the names of three absentee voters in the poll books. The names of these three persons are Henry L. Bergstrom, Pearl H. Lundeen and Hazel R. Younglove."

Accompanying the statement were affidavits attesting to that statement. Signers of the affidavits were Eugene E. Connelly and Russell Madden.

Doctors Hail Drug As Great '48 Find

CHICAGO (AP) — The new miracle drug, aureomycin, was hailed yesterday as one of 1948's greatest medical discoveries.

Aureomycin is a golden-colored, well-tolerated drug that takes up where some other antibiotics leave off. Many doctors view it as a clue to the possible solution to such virus diseases as the common cold, mumps, infantile paralysis, measles and influenza.

The election of last year's outstanding medical advances was made by the heads of the nation's medical colleges and medical institutions. They were polled by the national society for medical research which announced the findings.

The doctors predicted the discovery of aureomycin "will shape up as one of the most significant medical advances of 1948 when the year is surveyed by researchers in future years."

It has cured virus pneumonia, spotted fever, typhus, Q fever, parrot fever and various infections.

Students, Professor In Motor Accidents

Two traffic accidents were reported to police by 8 o'clock last night.

Cars driven by Robert A. Stupay, A3, 202 Ellis avenue, and Prof. Earle S. Smith of the SUI college of dentistry, 613 E. Court street were involved in an accident at the corner of Jefferson and Madison streets at 5 p.m. yesterday. Damage to both cars was estimated at $50.

Another accident occurred at 6 p.m. yesterday on Washington street, 50 feet east of the Washington-Clinton corner. Drivers involved were Frank J. Eicher, Burkley hotel, and Robert L. Mandt, 109 Newton Park, and Carl Scott Linge, SUI student from Cedar Rapids.

William K. Maas, 1135 Franklin street, was fined $27.50 for failing to observe a highway stop sign on Highway 1, 14 miles southwest of Iowa City Dec. 30. An accident involving three vehicles resulted.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

GEN. JULIUS OCHS ADLER and Bob Considine stole the show at the annual banquet of the Overseas Press club, but John McCloy, president of the World Bank, won the biggest single laugh with a Winston Churchill story. During the war, it appears, the Foreign Office insisted upon its prerogative of reading Churchill's radio speeches before delivery.

In one of them, an undersecretary presumed to question the Prime Minister's ending a sentence with a preposition. Mr. Churchill summoned the offender and exploded, "This is the kind of arrant pedantry up with which I will not put."

When Considine was covering the atom bomb experiment at Bikini, he was one of a score of correspondents who loaned money to a cadging confrere. All efforts to collect proved fruitless until he dispatched this note: "If I don't get a check in the morning, I'm really going to fix you. I'm going to tell all your other creditors you paid me in full." It worked instantly.

Prisoners of War Hostile to 'Sally', Witness Testifies

WASHINGTON (AP) — A witness at the "Axis Sally" treason trial testified yesterday that American prisoners of war were hostile toward the women who allegedly betrayed the U.S. for Nazi gold.

"They didn't like to have her there," said the witness, Inge Sylvia Doman, 32, former announcer for the German radio.

Miss Doman also testified that the defendant, Mildred E. Gillars, 48, related that on one occasion American soldiers who had been captured by the Germans "threatened" her when she attempted to interview them.

The Maine-born defendant is on trial in federal court, facing a death in the electric chair if convicted.

Earlier, a stiff-backed former Nazi radio man, Hans Von Richter, 38, definitely identified the voice of Miss Gillars as the voice in the "Axis Sally" broadcasts. Another witness has testified that the aim of such broadcasts was to convince U.S. soldiers they were "fighting on the wrong side."

Von Richter was asked specifically if he had seen Miss Gillars speaking into a microphone. "Yes, many times," he said.

Following Von Richter on the stand, Miss Doman testified in perfect English that she saw Miss Gillars making live broadcasts over the Nazi radio "on one or two occasions — maybe three."

The prosecution called on both Von Richter and Miss Doman to pin down the identity of Miss Gillars "Axis Sally" voice because under American law, in treason trials, two witnesses are required to swear to the commission of an overt act against the United States.

Registration Continues Though Draft Stopped

Johnson county draft officials yesterday said all youths must continue to register for the draft, even though inductions have been suspended for February and March.

Prize Rooster Joins Poultry Elite

By MARY NELL GRAY
Two of Prof. J. H. Bodine's blueblooded silver-laced Wyandottes joined the elite of poultry society last week when they received top honors in the National Western Stock show in Denver.

Prof. Bodine, head of the SUI zoology department, raises the scientifically-bred chickens as a combination hobby and genetics experiment. So far, his 25 years of breeding and exhibiting poultry have netted a sizeable collection of prizes from shows throughout this country and Canada, including two grand championships.

New York Show
Last month Bodine's single entry in the highly competitive Madison Square Garden show at New York won a second prize.

His hobby began almost 40 years ago, Bodine explains, when he became interested in a flock owned by his high school principal. Now he carries on the project at "Pinehurst," his 29-acre farm slightly over a mile northeast of Iowa City.

The silver-laced Wyandotte, whose name is probably associated with an Indian tribe, first came to the attention of poultry breeders in the 1870's in New York state.

Each bird is bred according to an ideal standard of perfection in body type and symmetry of markings, Bodine says. Hens are trapped so that the sire and dam of each offspring is known. Incubator-hatched, the chicks are wing-banded immediately for identification.

Flock Culled
Periodically, the flock is culled, with only those types which will transmit the most perfect characteristics being retained. Bodine's flock now numbers about 60 or 70 and is never larger than 100.

Although Bodine's chicken hobby is "just for fun," he occasionally sells breeding stock to other silver Wyandotte fanciers for prices ranging from $25 to $100 per bird. So, when the Bodines and their guests sit down to a savory chicken dinner, it's a fair guess that they may be biting into a $20 drumstick or mutilating an equally expensive wishbone.

Imports Stock
The zoology professor, who plans to write a scientific paper on his genetics experiments with poultry, has observed that certain hens produce fine types of young in one sex, while her chicks in the opposite sex are consistently less perfect. He has, at times, imported stock from Canada and England to improve the lineage of his chickens.

For the most part, Bodine exhibits the more brilliantly marked male birds in shows. However, his flock is largely hens, since the rooster population has to be limited because of their inherent belligerent nature.

"Strut Their Stuff"
Somewhat nervous, these high-brows of the poultry world are placed in special coops for a two-week training period before shows. Here they learn to "show off and strut their stuff" when the judges prod them with the telescopic wands used in demonstrating.

Bodine's two winners in the cock and cockerel division at last week's Denver show were a father and son combination. A cock is more than a year old and a cockerel is younger.

Poultry show judging is based on 100 points set up for perfection in type and quality, with the head, neck and other parts of the body structure and feathering receiving a specific grading. Standards are established by the American Poultry association.

Cotter Warns Of Refuse Tax

A garbage assessment will be made against married students in university housing areas if residents do not adhere to disposal rules, Robert Cotter said yesterday.

"Families are dumping glass, cans and paper into the food waste containers," Cotter, manager of married students' housing, reported.

Two trucks have been picking up the garbage, but service has been discontinued in some areas. The men who collect the garbage feed it to hogs and other animals. "Glass and other refuse in the garbage makes it useless to them," Cotter said.

"At present we have one of our own men collecting the garbage," he said. "The job will be too much for us to handle indefinitely."

"It will be necessary for us to hire someone to haul the garbage away if the situation does not improve," Cotter added. "Hiring someone means that we shall have to assess the students in the areas where such a measure is necessary."

The outstanding offender in the barracks area is Stadium park, Cotter said.

In each housing unit area, there is a central spot where cans for disposing waste are located. There are two cans, one for glass, tin cans, and other refuse, and one for paper.

MEET THE PRIZE WINNING ROOSTER which took top honors in the National Western Stock show at Denver last week. The silver-laced Wyandotte was entered by Prof. J. H. Bodine, head of the SUI zoology department, who raises chickens as a hobby. Another entry of Bodine's, a cockerel which is a "son" of the bird shown above, also won a first prize in the Denver show.

Few Changes, Additions Listed In Final Examination Schedule

Several changes have been made in the final examination schedule which will run from Jan. 29 to Feb. 5. Below is the schedule reprinted for your convenience.

Six two-hour examination periods have been provided each day except Jan. 29 and Feb. 5. Only morning periods will be used on those days.

Each instructor will be charged with informing his students of the time and place of the exams. Normally, the finals will be held in the room in which the class meets.

Where two courses in the same department conflict, the one with the higher course number will take precedence.

Rule on Absences
Absences from examinations will result in an incomplete unless the absences are authorized by the office of the dean of the college in which the student is enrolled. With authorization for an absence a make-up period will be provided.

In the schedule printed below, examinations in all courses having their first weekly meeting on Monday or Tuesday are listed by the day and hour of the first weekly lecture or recitation period.

An attempt has been made to spread the examination load as evenly as possible throughout the week.

First semester grades will be due in the registrar's office by Feb. 8.

GOP Showdown at Omaha

OMAHA (AP) — A committee of seven failed to reach any agreement last night on compromising the fight over the Republican national chairmanship.

Members said after a closed meeting that the battle to unseat chairman Hugh D. Scott Jr. probably will go before the full committee at a meeting this morning.

The compromise committee, headed by Werner Schroeder of Illinois, had sought to find a peaceable way out of the controversy spawned by an attack of opponents of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey on Scott as chairman.

Scott was named to the post last June at Dewey's insistence after the New York governor was nominated for president.

Walter S. Hallanan, West Virginia committeeman, who has been active in the fight against Scott, told reporters that Scott's supporters on the Schroeder group refused to consider any compromise which would move the chairman out of his job.

Hallanan said the anti-Dewey forces had agreed to drop their sponsorship of Roy E. Dunn, Minnesota committeeman, as a candidate for the chairmanship if Scott also would withdraw.

Herbert K. Hyde, carrying the proxy of Lew Wentz, Oklahoma committeeman, said the Scott forces were ready for a "finish fight" in today's committee session.

"We are not going to let them throw out Scott, a war veteran, for a 62-year-old man (Dunn) without a fight," Hyde declared.

Thus the argument over the chairmanship seemed likely to be settled only by a counting of noses in the 105-member committee today.

Spangler Blasts Dewey

Harrison E. Spangler, Iowa committeeman and former national chairman, in a statement to the press, attacked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, New York, as "a presidential candidate who threw the 1948 election away with a campaign of weasel words."

"The general effect of Mr. Dewey's campaign was to help the New Deal party and to injure the Republican party," Spangler said. "In the campaign our two-party system reached an all-time low."

"It was not a battle fought over great issues which are vital to the country, but turned into a contest as to which candidate was the most unpopular with the voters. It isn't strange with such a campaign that we now have a President of the United States who holds the high office by less than 25 per cent of the eligible votes."

"Dewey was up in the clouds and talking down to the people and murmuring sweet nothings." He complained the governor offered little more than a continuation of the New Deal, promising "to clear the New Deal gang" from Washington only to "install one of his own in its place."

Spangler charged Dewey with responsibility for damaging the Republican party with mid-west farmers and cited the governor's refusal to address an organization of 75,000 farmers at Dexter, Iowa. The invitation then went to President Truman who accepted and scored one of his major campaign triumphs.

GETTING AN EARFUL from former GOP national committee chairman Carroll Reece is Roy E. Dunn (right), Minneapolis. Dunn is a possible compromise choice for new chairman of the Republican national committee now in session in Omaha.

Art Students, Faculty to See SUI Prints in Minneapolis

Prof. Mauricio Lasansky of the department of art and at least 13 students will leave tonight to see an exhibition of their prints at the Walker Art center in Minneapolis.

The show, "New Directions in Intaglio," will open Sunday and run through March 13. It consists of 42 prints by Prof. Lasansky and 120 works by his students during the last three years.

Swimming Exploit Saves Two Boys

HURFFVILLE, N.J. (AP) — A 24-year old garage mechanic saved two young boys from drowning yesterday when he swam 200 feet with one tucked in each arm.

Louis Siderio was enroute from his West Berlin, N.J., home to a Pitman, N.J., garage yesterday when he was stopped by Vincent Miland, a farmer.

Miland, speechless from excitement and fear, pointed to his two sons, Robert, 9, and Fred, 7, struggling in old Timber lake.

Siderio dove into the lake and brought both to shore. When the younger boy struggled, Siderio knocked him unconscious, the father recounted later.

The farmer said the boys had taken an old rowboat out on the lake and it sank. Miland said he couldn't swim himself.

Siderio was reticent about his bravery yesterday. "I got a motor half torn apart. I'd better get back to work," he said at the garage.

Concert Band Plans 5-Day Spring Tour

Prof. C. B. Righter, SUI director of bands, yesterday announced preliminary plans for the first 1949 Iowa tour of the SUI concert band.

The band will visit 13 towns and give an average of three concerts a day for the five days of the tour from March 28 to April 1.

Sixty members of the regular concert band will be taken on the tour. These members were chosen on the basis of ability in instrumentation and scholastic standings during the past semester. They will cover the route in two buses and will be accompanied by Righter, Arnold Oehlson, assistant director of bands, and a woman's counselor.

Most of the concerts are to be sponsored by the high schools in the towns to be visited. In these appearances host conductors will direct the SUI group.

The band is scheduled to visit Marshalltown and East high school in Des Moines, March 28; Hubbard, Ft. Dodge and Algona, March 29; Hampton, Belmont and Humboldt, March 30; Sumner and Oelwein, March 31; Independence, Manchester and Marion, April 1.

Des Moines Busses To Get Radios Soon

DES MOINES (AP) — Residents of Des Moines who ride busses to work are scheduled to have music while they ride.

The Des Moines Railway company, which operates the busses, said yesterday it has signed a contract giving radio station KCBC the right to broadcast programs to bus riders from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily.

Bodine Names Saxe To Zoology Position

Prof. J. H. Bodine, head of the SUI zoology department, yesterday announced the appointment of LeRoy H. Saxe Jr. as associate in zoology.

Saxe, a former University of Pennsylvania staff member, will begin teaching protozoology next term. His special interest is the study of single-celled parasites in rodents.

Saxe served two years in the navy studying new cures for malaria. Before that he was engaged in government research of blood substitutes. He took graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania and Duke university after graduating from Shippensburg State Teachers college in Pennsylvania.

House Committee Recommends Five Bills for Passage

DES MOINES (AP) — Five of the 11 bills proposed by the state interim flood control study committee were recommended yesterday for passage in the house by the house conservation of resources committee.

Meanwhile, in a long series of committee meetings, the Iowa farm bureau federation presented to the house roads and highways committee the bureau's highway proposals.

The bills recommended by the conservation of resources committee would:

1. Give the state health department authority to prevent stream pollution;
2. Increase membership of the state soil conservation committee from five to seven;
3. Authorize special assessments for construction of sewage treatment plants;
4. Eliminate some types of drainage district elections and boost the pay of drainage district trustees to $7 a day;
5. Allocate federal reimbursement of tax money lost through flood control projects on the basis of 30 percent to secondary roads and 70 percent to schools in the affected areas.

The major bill in the flood control series would create an Iowa Water Control and Resources council. The committee is expected to decide on its recommendation on that measure later.

Farm bureau spokesmen said they believed additional funds are necessary for all types of roads, with special emphasis on the secondary roads. The goal should be, they said, a hard surfaced outlet to every reasonably located farmstead in the state.

Board of control recommended passage of a bill to change the name of the Woodward state school for the feebleminded and epileptics to the Woodward state school.

Von Papen Freed Of 8-Year Sentence; No 'Major Offender'

FRANKFURT, GERMANY (AP) — A German denazification court freed Franz von Papen from an eight-year sentence and slashed his fine to 30,000 marks ($9,000) yesterday.

The court ruled von Papen, the grey fox of Hitler's diplomacy and a notorious international figure since he was kicked out of the United States in 1915, was not a major Nazi offender after all.

It convicted him of being only an offender, the second category of nazism, reversing his conviction in 1947 as a major offender. It ruled that, aside from the 30,000-mark fine, his imprisonment since 1945 was enough punishment.

All except 5,000 marks of von Papen's fortune, including estates in the British and French zones of Germany, had been confiscated under the 1947 conviction. These will be returned to him.

The new ruling barred von Papen from voting, from holding office, from joining a political party and from jobs molding public opinion, such as speaking or writing.

Von Papen, now 69 and suffering from hardening of the arteries, told newsmen he hopes to take a long rest.

Von Papen was expelled as Germany's military attaché in the United States in World War I for "improper activities in military and naval matters."

Once chancellor of the German republic and vice chancellor in Hitler's government, he was most widely known as the diplomat who helped drag Austria into the Nazi orbit and served Hitler in World War II in Turkey.

He was captured at a hunting lodge in the Ruhr by a detachment of the U.S. Ninth army April 11, 1945, and subsequently went to trial with Hermann Goering and other high German leaders on war crimes charges before the international military tribunal at Nuernberg.

He was acquitted, along with Hjalmar Schacht, former head of the Nazi banking system, and Hans Fritzsche, chief of the German radio propaganda service.
