The Weather

Fair and colder today. Cloudy and warmer tomorrow. High today 15; low -5. Yesterday's high 24; low -2.

Cold Today, Snow Again Tomorrow

Clear and cold weather brought an end to Iowa's worst snow storm of the winter yesterday. Zero weather is expected in Iowa City today with winds up to 20 miles an hour.

The temperature had dropped to two below zero at midnight last night, an average of a de-

Cold Irks Clock Works

It's been 10:25 for several hours, according to the city hall clock. Following its usual winter pattern, the faithful old timepiece freezes up when wintry blasts blow.

Freeze and a half an hour from a Thursday midnight high of 24.

Increased cloudiness and light winds from the northeast are forecast for tonight. Tomorrow should bring slightly warmer weather with a possibility of snow tomorrow night and continuing Monday.

Transportation

With clearing weather, bus and train service out of Iowa City has improved. Trains are running on time or only a few minutes late. Buses are as much as a half hour late from the north, east and south. No bus service west from Iowa City is operating.

Main roads in Johnson county were clear for two-way traffic at 9:00 p. m. last night, but winds were drifting snow badly at that time.

No flights by United Air lines are scheduled. Runways at the municipal airport are covered by 15 to 20 inch drifts and the field has been closed to all air operation. Snow driven by the wind was making clearing operations impossible last night.

5-Inch Snow

CAA reported five inches of snowfall in the storm of Thursday night and yesterday morning. A total of nine inches of snow, sleet and ice covered the ground timed all last night.

City employees were busy yesterday clearing streets of the business section and work was continued all last night.

Residential streets are still snow-covered and slippery. Chains are advisable for any driving, according to a police report.

Storms Slow Rescue Work

More planes and bulldozers were thrown into the battle of the western blizzards yesterday, but a new storm dealt rescue efforts a severe set-back in some areas.

The new snow, forerunner of another cold wave, whipped across Wyoming, Nebraska, eastern Kansas and southeast South Dakota and on into southeastern Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin.

It intensified the suffering of snow-stranded livestock and humans in the stricken western areas.

Federal Relief

President Truman allotted another $500,000 for blizzard relief during the day, boosting the amount of federal aid so far to $800,000. He signed legislation appropriating that sum to his emergency disaster fund and turned the money over to the federal works agency immediately for that purpose.

In Nebraska, one of the hardest hit blizzard states, the storm virtually ice-locked the state. Twelve inches of snow fell in Omaha, with lesser amounts elsewhere. Scarcely a road in the state was open.

Bulldozers

The fifth army headquarters in Chicago shipped 30 more bulldozers to Nebraska to augment 57 army bulldozers and 29 half-track weasels already at work in the storm area.

In Utah, the major "catastrophe area" where 1,200,000 sheep and cattle are snowbound, rising temperatures cheered ranchers.

DES MOINES (AP) — Emergency legislation to lend snow removal equipment to storm-stricken Nebraska was pushed through Iowa's general assembly yesterday without a dissenting vote in either chamber.

3 Contests Pending In Coming Primary

Iowa City Republicans yesterday completed their slate of candidates for the February primary election as nine candidates filed little more than half an hour before the 5 p. m. deadline.

The completed ticket indicated that there will be three contests among the Republicans. Two candidates have filed for each of the offices of mayor, second ward alderman and fifth ward alderman.

Mrs. Howard L. Beye, 7 Rowland court, filed for mayor. She has been a member of the Iowa City school board for the last nine years and is its president now.

Dean - emeritus Wilber J. Teeters of the SUI college of pharmacy, former mayor, filed for second ward alderman. Dean Teeters resides at 301 Main street.

The fifth ward candidate for alderman is Gordon Webster, 502 Clark street.

Previously Carl E. Rendenbaugh filed for mayor as a Republican. Eugene T. Larew filed for second ward alderman and Edwin Morley for fifth ward alderman on the same ticket.

Other Republicans filing yesterday were Jasper A. W. Davis, 227 1-2 East Washington street, for first ward alderman; Wayne E. Putnam, 1011 East Washington street, for fourth ward alderman.

Ray Thornberry, 654 Governor street, and John B. Wilson, 501 Kimball road, for alderman - at-large.

Earl B. Raymond, 416 Grant street, for city treasurer, a position he now holds; John Knox, 921 East Jefferson street, for police judge, a position he formerly held, and Alonzo De Haan, 249 Woolf avenue, for park commissioner.

One Democrat filed yesterday. He was Robert H. Lorenz, 418 River street, filing for park commissioner. He is a retired businessman, formerly associated with the Lorenz shoe store.

When the general election is held in March, only two offices will be uncontested. The Republicans have no candidate for the third ward alderman position. Charles T. Smith is the Democratic candidate.

Iowa City Democrats have no candidate for the office of fourth ward alderman. The Republican candidate will be Wayne E. Putnam.

Benelux Countries Join Action

LONDON (AP)—Britain and her Brussels alliance partners joined last night in a decision to recognize Israel. Australia and Switzerland announced recognition earlier.

The actions bring to 29 the number of nations which have taken such a decision. Five more—New Zealand and the nordic countries of Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Iceland—are preparing to grant recognition in the near future.

The recognitions and pending recognitions constitute a major diplomatic triumph for the young Jewish state and are expected to make brighter Israel's chances for membership in the United Nations.

The United States and Russia accorded recognition soon after the Jewish state proclaimed its own existence last May 14.

France, a member of the Brussels alliance, recognized Israel last Monday. She joined the other four members—Britain, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—in announcing last night there was a general agreement that the "stage had now been reached at which de facto recognition could be given the government of Israel."

A foreign office spokesman said later Britain, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg would make their own individual announcements of the decision to recognize Israel.

The British announcement is expected today.

The decision was announced in a communique after a meeting of the foreign ministers of the five powers in London.

A foreign office spokesman said later Britain, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg would make their own individual announcements of the decision to recognize Israel.

The British announcement is expected today.

The compromise decision was made following a conference of the foreign ministers of Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. It constitutes a major step toward a full-fledged western European union.

CHICAGO (AP) — An explosion ripped off the roof of a gas company mixing plant yesterday, injuring 115 persons, most of whom were cut by flying glass.

Only one person was reported critically hurt.

Russia Rejects U. S. Protest on German P.O.W. Repatriation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia has rejected an American protest that the Soviets failed to repatriate some 400,000 German war prisoners on schedule, government officials said last night.

The Russians, however, indicated they would return the prisoners some time during 1949.

The American authorities said the Russian foreign office sent a note to the U.S. embassy in Moscow, contending that the Soviet government never was obligated to return the Germans by Jan. 1, as the state department maintains.

The United States, in a formal note Jan. 3, accused Moscow of violating a four-power agreement signed by Russia, the United States, France and Britain at Moscow in April, 1947.

The American government completed its repatriation six months ahead of schedule.

Airmen Backtrack, OK Truman's Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's top air leaders endorsed President Truman's 48-group air force program yesterday with little outward show of disappointment at backtracking from their original 70-group goal.

But Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington told the house armed services committee, referring to "When we can afford it, I think it's essential to the security of the United States."

Both Symington and Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, told the committee they favor authority for eventually building up to the 70-group figure. Vandenberg said it is necessary for planning purposes.

First Structural Steel for Benton Street Bridge

STRUCTURAL STEEL — THE FIRST LOAD — arrived in Iowa City yesterday for the new Benton street bridge. Yesterday's load (above) was reinforcing web steel for the understructure. Work on the bridge has been held up since December for lack of steel. Two more truckloads are due from Kansas City, Mo., within a few days. They have been delayed by road conditions.

Restore Indonesia, UN Orders Dutch

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — The security council overrode Dutch protests and approved yesterday an American-backed plan designed to restore the Indonesian republic.

Key sections of the scheme barely squeezed through the council with seven votes required for passage by the 11-member council.

Russia, the Ukraine, France and Argentina abstained on sections setting up a United Nations commission for Indonesia and giving that commission authority to recommend withdrawal of Dutch soldiers from territory of the Indonesian republic.

The Netherlands told the council the Dutch would cooperate as far as their responsibilities in Indonesia permitted.

Indonesian republic spokesmen said their cooperation depended largely on what the Dutch did. They predicted the Dutch would defy or evade the council's orders.

The council took 28 separate votes on the long resolution sponsored by the United States, Cuba, Norway and China.

In its major actions, the council:

1. Called on the Dutch to release leaders of the Indonesian republic immediately and help them get their government going again. The vote on this paragraph was 10 to 0 with France alone abstaining.

2. Turned down a Soviet proposal demanding immediate withdrawal of Dutch soldiers from territory of the Indonesian republic. Only Russia, the Ukraine, Cuba and Egypt voted for this demand; the other seven council members abstained.

3. Created the United Nations Indonesian commission to supervise elections for a United States of Indonesia. The vote was 7 to 0 with Russia, the Ukraine, France and Argentina abstaining. The United States, Belgium and Australia, present members of the council's good offices committee in Indonesia, will make up the commission.

4. Told this commission to recommend withdrawal of Dutch troops from Republican soil as it saw fit and to assist in early restoration of the civil administration of the Republic. The vote again was 7 to 0 with the same four nations abstaining.

5. Recommended elections for creation of the United States of Indonesia and transfer of sovereignty by the Dutch to the new regime by July 1, 1950.

Dutch Representative J. H. Van Royen told the council his government "must fundamentally object" to the key provisions of the plan because the UN "is not entitled by the UN charter" to demand any such "sacrifice" by a member state.

Van Royen, while he did not flatly say the Dutch would defy the UN, left little doubt that Holland would reserve the right to scrap basic parts of the plan.

Labor Bill Delivered, T-H Repeal Is Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration delivered its new labor legislation to congress last night, one day behind schedule.

Some officials said they understood the delay was occasioned by President Truman's desire to change the language dealing with ways of averting "national emergency" strikes.

The legislation calls for repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and "improving" amendments to the old Wagner act which unions call their "Magna Carta." The latter act, among other things, outlaws "unfair labor practices" by employees.

The Taft-Hartley act, passed by the 80th congress after a series of big strikes, contains provisions restricting certain activities of unions.

The bill delivered last night was reported to lend itself to "one package" handling—that is, simultaneous repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and amendments to the Wagner law. But it was reported, too, that it could be broken up into two bills, with repeal in the first and Wagner act amendments in the second.

Labor unions want the two-package treatment; they want the Taft-Hartley law wiped out swiftly.

The text of the new bill was kept secret last night, but some officials who cannot be named said they believed that when it is made public, probably today, it will be found to contain the following Wagner act amendments, among others:

1. Machinery, somewhat similar to the railway labor act, to avert national emergency strikes for at least 60 days. Provisions would probably be made, these officials said, for use of court injunctions to prevent walkouts during the cooling off period.

2. Bans on jurisdictional strikes—which commonly results from rows between two unions desiring to do the same job.

3. Prohibitions on certain secondary boycotts.

Enemy Guns Reach Yangtze; Nationalist New Year Gloomy

NANKING (AP) — The Chinese Communists were reported mounting artillery on the north bank of the Yangtze yesterday in positions to cut this confused capital's communications with Shanghai.

The news contributed to the prevailing gloom of Nanking on the lunar New Year's eve, ordinarily China's gayest holiday. By the Chinese zodiac, the Year of the Rat has ended and the year of the Ox is beginning.

Military reports said the Communist guns were appearing at Icheng. While they apparently had not fired, they were capable of commanding traffic on the river and also on the south-bank railway and road.

The government's military spokesman in this half-abandoned capital said Nationalist troops recovered and then lost Yangchow (Chiangu), 17 miles northeast of Icheng, in an all-night fight. This was the only conflict reported in the civil war.

The Communists' slow maneuvering to isolate Nanking led to a growing conviction of remaining residents that there would be no battle for the city, except for the possibility a few Communist shells might be thrown this way.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman yesterday created an emergency board to avert strike action by locomotive engineers.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has set a strike deadline of 6 a. m. Monday on 15 western lines employing 25,000 engineers.

The union has demanded a second engineer on diesel locomotives.

Mr. Truman's executive order would delay a strike for 60 days. The board will have 30 days to report its findings, and the parties are required by law to negotiate for at least another 30 days on the panel's recommendations.

Although a strike was threatened on only the 15 western railroads, the emergency order was made applicable to other railroads in the nation since the engineers have made similar demands on them.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thieves entered Sonja Henie's apartment Thursday night and took two fur coats she valued at $28,000.

Detectives could find no trace of forcible entry into her suite in the Hotel Pierre.

The loss was discovered after Miss Henie returned to the hotel following her ice show at Madison Square Garden.

NEW YORK (AP) — The conspiracy trial of 11 top U.S. Communists was jolted yesterday by the disclosure that the presiding jurist, the defendant and their attorney have received threatening letters.

The disclosure first was made by Federal Judge Harold R. Medina after the court had been called back into session after a luncheon recess.

Addressing the court, Medina announced he had received threatening "communications" at his home and added:

"I don't think I am in any danger, but if I'm wrong, I'll face the risk calmly."

He said he had "no notion" of what inspired the letters.

Crackerjack to Prize Pupils

Professor Rewards 10 for Perfect Attendance, Bugle Awarded Most-Absent 13th

Twelve modern literature students walked out of Prof. Charles T. Miller's class yesterday with boxes of Crackerjack. A 13th student was toting a bugle.

It all started some time ago when Miller was taking roll and noticed that several students in two of his classes had perfect attendance.

"I promised them lollipops if they kept their records perfect," Miller said. "Then I forgot about it. But last week a fellow came up to me and said he had never been absent. He said he intended to come to the remaining classes, too, and would I please not forget the lollipops I had promised."

Miller couldn't find any lollipops so he brought the Crackerjack to class. He handed out 10 boxes for perfect attendance and gave the two more to students who had missed only one lecture.

The trumpet, a rare instrument manufactured by F. W. Woolworth, Miller gave to a girl who had been late to his class 25 times.

Illinois Given 2-Point Edge; Aggies Face DePaul Tonight

CHICAGO—Three of the nation's top ten basketball teams—Oklahoma A & M, Minnesota, and Illinois—see action on two Illinois courts tonight.

Oklahoma's Aggies, ranked third in the Associated Press cage poll, faces DePaul in a "revenge" meeting at the Chicago stadium. But the most sectional interest is focused on undefeated Minnesota's invasion of the University of Illinois for the pivotal contest of the Big Nine season.

Minnesota, rated fifth in the AP poll, is seeking its 14th straight victory against an Illini quintet which has dropped only one of 13 starts and holds sixth in the national ranking.

This only clash of the season between the Gophers with a 5-0 conference record and Illinois (3-0) will may decide whether Minnesota will grab its first undisputed league crown in 30 years.

Even the experts disagree on the winner of this Big Nine title clash.

Big Nine coaches asked to predict the outcome of the game, saw the contest both ways.

One said he liked Illinois because of its speed and "just about everything else." Another, whose team has already led to the unbeaten Gophers, described Minnesota as a "great collegiate team, much better than Michigan was last year."

A third estimated that the first 10 minutes of play would settle the game.

"If Minnesota gets a few points ahead and settles down to play that possession game, it ought to win because Illinois won't be able to get the ball," he said. "But if Illinois gets ahead and forces Minnesota to come out and run, then Illinois ought to win."

The game, one of the best of the year in the national picture, was certain to pack Huff gymnasium. Betting cards rated Illinois a two point favorite, probably because the game is on the Illini floor.

Another of the evening's three Big Nine contests—between Purdue (2-3) and Northwestern (1-2)—is the opener on the Chicago stadium program in which Oklahoma's Aggies will seek to avenge one of their only two setbacks this season.

Rapidly improving DePaul, ranked 16th nationally, defeated the Aggies, 39-32, earlier at Stillwater, only the eighth time the Cowpokes have lost at home in 136 games.

The third Western conference game is at Ann Arbor where Michigan's defending champions (1-2) entertain Ohio State (3-2).

Three Hawkeye athletic teams will plunge into competitive action next weekend after a two-week layoff for mid-year finals and registration.

The first squad to display its wares will be the mat team. The Hawks meet a strong Northwestern club February 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the fieldhouse. The Wildcats are seeking their first conference victory in two starts this season.

The following Monday sees two Hawk teams begin their February work with Purdue the opponent in both cases. The Old Gold cagers travel to Lafayette to engage the Boiler-makers while the tank team entertains Purdue at the fieldhouse.

Iowa thincads, fourth of the winter clubs, must remain idle until February 12 for action when they meet Marquette in a dual engagement at the fieldhouse.

Injuries Beach Iowa Tankmen

With Purdue lurking only 10 days away with a strong threat to Iowa's swimming ambitions, four potentially costly injuries have cropped up in the Hawks' record-setting sprint relay team of last year.

Captain Wally Ris is still waiting for his bothersome knee to get back into place so he will be in best form to race Keith Carter of the Riveters, currently one of the hottest swimmers in the Midwest.

In addition, Duane Draves, who was second to Ris in point-scoring last year, expects to be out of the water for at least a week with an earache. Erv Straub, number-two sprinter on the squad, has the same affliction.

Kenny Marsh has hardly been in the water since Christmas with a sore back from a kidney infection. It is doubtful if he will be in shape to swim against Purdue Feb. 7.

A further handicap to the Iowa sprinting department is the news that Bobby Busch, a star freshman, will not be eligible as a first-semester sophomore until Feb. 12 for the Ohio State meet.

Aside from his four relay men, Coach Dave Armbruster yesterday reported his squad in perfect physical shape. Bob Korte and Ed "Rusty" Garst have shown excellent form recently and would wage a serious battle for relay positions against the present four, whatever their condition.

Watts Equals 220 Tank Mark As Iowa State Sinks Illinois

AMES (UP)—Roger Watts, Iowa State swimmer, tied the intercollegiate mark for the 220-yard free style race yesterday as the Cyclones trounced Illinois 53 to 31 in a dual meet.

Watts flashed the distance in 2:9.7, duplicating the mark set by Haynie of Michigan in 1937.

Watts is expected to try for a new mark in the 440-yard free style against Kansas university today in a Big Seven dual meet here.

Iowa State completely dominated yesterday's meet, their first dual meet of the season. Illinois picked up only two first places as Don Klooney won the 200-yard breast stroke and Don Scherwath captured first in the 440-yard free style.

The Cyclones won the 300-yard medley and 400-yard free style relays, as well as four other races and the diving. Sam Schiffler won the diving competition.

Other race winners for the Cyclones besides Watts were Ed LaBerge in the 60-yard free style; Rush Smith in the 100-yard free style; and Bob Wyant in the 150-yard-back stroke.

Mason of Muscatine; Harris Chicago Cager

This is the tenth of a series of sketches of University of Iowa varsity basketball players.

Charlie Mason
This 21-year-old veteran forward-balls from Muscatine where for three years he was a teammate of Murray Wier.

While in high school he not only played basketball but was a footballer and track man as well. He was selected on the 1945 all-state cage team.

After Wier graduated, Mason proceeded to show that he had hoop talent also. During his senior year he scored 205 points for the season, eclipsing the school's individual point record set by Wier at 200.

Mason also proved his ability as a thincad that year by setting a new Little Six conference indoor pole-vault record, clearing the bar at 11 feet 8 3/4 inches.

He is majoring in mathematics and science in education and lacks one hour of getting his bachelor of arts degree in February. Next semester he plans to start on his master's degree in education administration.

The top event of his high school career was during the 1945 state tournament, Mason says. "We were tied with Ottumwa 27-27 and I put a shot in the air just as the gun went off and sank it giving us a 28-27 win."

Bucky Harris
Norman (Bucky) Harris is a 23-year-old junior whose home is in Oakland, Cal. His prep career was, however, at Palatine, Ill. where he played football, basketball and was a track man.

In his senior year at Palatine, Harris was named one of the outstanding cagers in suburban Chicago.

Harris served 32 months as a coxswain in the Navy. He served on the carrier USS Breton in both the European and Asiatic theaters of operations.

He played freshman ball at SU in 1946 and was awarded a varsity letter in 1948.

The biggest thrill of his high school days was when he was a sophomore. "When we beat Crane Tech," he said.

Harris likes all sports, plays golf and loves to watch professional baseball.

During the summer Harris is a counselor at Camp Owanka, Anandale, Minn., a camp for boys.

Dohnanyi Has Praise For SUI Symphony

Ernst von Dohnanyi, eminent Hungarian composer who thrilled the audience at his concert Monday night, has the highest praise for the SUI symphony orchestra after conducting it in a practice session Thursday night.

"It didn't sound like a college orchestra but played more like a professional group," the composer said.

He and Mrs. Dohnanyi are staying with Prof. Irme Waldbauer of the SUI music department while in Iowa City. They will leave late this morning for Kansas City where he will present two concerts.

At the invitation of Prof. P. G. Clapp, head of the SUI music department, Dohnanyi went through his own composition, "Suite in F Sharp Minor" with the SUI symphony orchestra Thursday night. This piece will be presented as one of the numbers in his concert Wednesday night, Dohnanyi added, and Prof. Clapp wanted the composer to conduct the group through the work.

He said, "The brass section was very good. I was surprised at the professional-like way they played." He also had high regard for the woodwind section.

The SUI music department is more advanced than any of the other music departments of schools he had visited, he said.

Dohnanyi is at present head of the music department of the University of Tucuman in Argentina. He went to the Argentine state university last September from the French Riviera where he and his wife had been living for over a year.

He said the school where he teaches is planning to build a big music conservatory and has given him the job of supervising the work. Most of the instructors in his newly-expanded department are European artists, he said. With a competent staff, he expects to build a good school.

"I will begin work on my plan for the expanded program at Tucuman when school opens in March," he said.

It is "summer" vacation for the Dohnanys now (Argentina is in the southern hemisphere where the seasons are directly opposite ours). They have been in this country since November.

He has conducted the Budapest philharmonic orchestra for over 25 years.

When he leaves for home, he will have conducted more than 20 concerts in this country.

Talley to Speak on Inter-Cultural Issues

A Congress of Racial Equality member will speak to YMCA members and their guests at a luncheon today in the soda fountain, Iowa Union.

The speaker is Manuel Talley, west coast representative of the CRE, who will talk on "Successful Techniques in Solving Inter-Cultural Problems." Talley is stopping here on his way back to California. The YMCA committee on racial equality is arranging his talk.

The Congress of Racial Equality is a national federation of local inter-racial groups working to abolish racial discrimination.

The YMCA board and cabinet have invited more than 175 faculty members and students to the luncheon. Ralph Scholming, YMCA executive secretary, said yesterday.

Following the luncheon, a seminar in local problems of discrimination will be held, Scholming said.

Craig Says Science Changed Meaning of Shakespeare's Work

Scientists of the modern world were pushed aside by the former head of the SUI English department, Prof. Hardin Craig, in his talk before the Humanities society last night in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Until the arrival of the scientific age, man was the center of his own universe, Craig told an audience of about 175 persons. Modern scientists, he explained, have changed the status which man occupies in the universe.

Man, until the 17th century, "knew certain things intuitively—things which could not be proven scientifically. This is the world for which Shakespeare wrote," Craig explained.

He said to understand and enjoy Shakespeare we should read his works with the medieval world in mind. Between the 12th and 17th centuries, Craig said, man had knowledge of truth from his senses, revelation and authority—knowledge which had aggregated through centuries and could not be proven scientifically, but which man believed in.

This is the atmosphere in which Shakespeare wrote and thus the student should keep these conditions in mind, he said. Craig explained that Shakespeare didn't classify and pigeonhole man. He didn't believe man should perform in his own narrow area and remain in one classification forever.

As an example, Craig mentioned the nameless third servant in "King Lear."

"He is as great a hero as can be found in Shakespeare. He explains the humanity of minor characters."

"No scientist ever observed man more closely or tried harder to discover truth than did Shakespeare," Craig said.

Craig's advice to readers of Shakespeare is to "exercise your imaginations and release your sympathies when reading. We may lack knowledge of drama and life, so we must get our sympathies out of ourselves and our immediate circles."

"We must provide our own setting of scenes. As we read we must hear a true human voice." This is necessary, Craig said, because Shakespeare, supreme among dramatists, relied less on scenery than did the others.

"Shakespeare's dramas exist as our own experience. We should be ingenious enough to see it," he added.

Craig is now head of the English department at the University of North Carolina.

Three Die in Subway Fire

(AP Wirephoto)

FIREMEN FIGHT FLASH FIRE in the Boston, Mass., subway which caused the death of two women and a man yesterday. Five other persons were hospitalized for minor injuries. Approximately 300 persons were in the subway station at the time of the fire. Fire Chief John F. McDonough said the fire may have started from an acetylene torch being used in remodeling work.

Jenna Tells Masons Dangers of Prejudice

Col. W. W. Jenna, speaking before the Masonic service club at noon yesterday, cited prejudice, which brings on fear, as the greatest roadblock to world understanding.

The head of the department of military science and tactics at SUI said prejudice is "easy to start, easier to spread and it moves like an epidemic."

Prejudice "brings fear," he said, "and where there is fear, there can be no understanding."

Saying that the United States had come out of the last two world wars the strongest nation in the world, the speaker emphasized that we should not be excessively proud.

We must be understanding of each other, said the speaker. We should practice "no distinction of race, creed or color. Let us serve mankind as a nation and we shall have contributed to world understanding."

Explanation Found For Light Flashes

More of those flashing lights seen last night were the cause of a false alarm that took Iowa City firemen out into the worst storm of the winter at 3:20 a.m. yesterday morning.

When firemen arrived at the Crandick street yard just south of Burlington street they found the cause of the alarm. Sparks created by the car's slide contact bouncing on the ice covered wire had been mistaken for a fire.

The unusual electrical display Thursday night was caused by sleet formation on the interurban trolley wire, according to Vincent Dvorak, Crandick railway agent.

'Rosalie'

She's Coming Home For an Exhibit

"Rosalie" will be back Feb. 9. The nationally-exhibited painting by Juan Miro will be featured at the opening of the all-university art collection at the Iowa Union. The full title of the painting is "A Drop of Dew Falling from the Wing of a Bird Awakens Rosalie Asleep in the Shade of a Cobweb."

The exhibition will consist of 36 outstanding works from the university gallery. Twenty of these have been on exhibition throughout the U.S.

Included among these is the nationally known Max Beckman triptych "Carnival" which consists of three panels. It is the largest work ever shown at the Union and requires a special pedestal.

Other art works are "Landscape," by Joseph De Martini and "Home from the Sea" by Fletcher Martin which enjoy special reputations. This is the first exhibit made up of all these paintings.

The exhibition is sponsored by the fine arts subcommittee of the Union board. The committee invites the public to attend.

The Rev. P. Hewison Pollock, pastor of the church, is conducting the series at Westminster foundation meetings in the parlors of the church.

Mrs. Brainerd N. Covert, student director at the church, yesterday said the lectures include question and answer periods. She added
