The Weather

Army, 'Dozers Sent to Blizzard-Struck Areas

The army moved in yesterday on the worst blizzard disaster areas of the west for "the biggest bulldozer operation since the Ledo road."

Given virtually a blank check by President Truman for "the relief of this area," the Fifth army brought in personnel and more heavy equipment to break the snow blockades in the Missouri river basin.

Clear cold weather, meanwhile, spread over most of the blizzard-stricken west.

The weather was a boon to expanding rescue efforts, but an additional hardship for hungry, snow-stranded livestock.

Eases Flooding

The cold wave, which extended east to the Atlantic, also relieved the present threat of major floods in the midwest.

The President authorized Defense Secretary Forrestal to dip into funds set up for river and harbor control to speed relief work in the disaster areas. Forrestal can spend for blizzard relief such funds as are available in the military establishment.

The President will ask Congress for a supplemental appropriation to replace blizzard relief funds spent by the military branches. He also sent to congress a request for a supplemental relief appropriation of $500,000.

Pick Named

Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, who directed wartime construction of the China-Burma road, was placed in charge of storm relief work in all the Missouri basin except Montana.

At Omaha, he described the job as the biggest since the Ledo road. General Pick is the Missouri river division engineer.

Planes, bulldozers, helicopters, tractors, weasels, jeeps and huge primitive sleds already are at work in the disaster area. Now, however, General Pick will have the assistance of scores of private contractors, many of whom have been working on Missouri basin development dam building projects.

Additional Machines

The contractors will supply some men and many of the machines. The army engineers will supply additional machines, and the Fifth army additional personnel.

General Pick placed his engineers on a 24-hour-a-day basis and said "every available resource at our command will be thrown into this fight to break the snow blockades and bring relief to suffering people and livestock in the snowbound area."

Continued Cold For Iowa City

There's little major relief in sight from freezing weather for Iowa Citizens. The weatherman predicted more of the same and more snow tomorrow.

Last night's temperature hit 15 below zero at midnight. At 2:30 p.m. it was 3 below.

Snow Tonight

The weather bureau said the snow will begin tonight in south-west Iowa and spread over the western half of the state tomorrow. There was a bright side to this news. The snow will not be nearly as heavy as that of Thursday.

Although Iowa temperatures remained below zero, diminishing winds enabled highway maintenance workers to open main highways throughout the state.

Planes Grounded

However, United Airlines planes were grounded here for the eighth consecutive day. There still is nine inches of snow over the runways. Rock Island trains are catching up on their schedules. Most trains were not running more than two hours behind time.

Bus service was reported good. The north-south runs were arriving at the Union Bus depot only thirty minutes late.

Broke for Smoke, Appeals for Cure

LONDON—(AP)—A plaintive advertisement in the London Times yesterday asked readers:

"Can anyone recommend a cure for smoking for gentleman who is being impoverished by the cost of tobacco? No suggestions calling for will power, pls."

In heavily-taxed Britain, a pack of 20 cigarettes costs three shillings and sixpence (70 cents).

B-36 Lifts Record Bomb Load During Test in California

WASHINGTON (AP)—A United States B-36 bomber carried 42 tons of bombs aloft yesterday — greatest bomb load ever lifted — and dropped them on a California bombing range, the airforce announced.

The bomb load consisted of two guided missiles.

The two huge bombs, without explosive charges, were dropped separately.

Round Trip

The B-36 took off from Carswell base, Texas, flew to a bombing range at the Murdoc, Calif., air test base, and returned to the Texas field, ordinarily a round trip of 2,400 miles. However, additional time over the target and other deviations in the route brought the total distance to 2,900 miles.

The previous bomb lift mark was set last summer by a B-29 which carried one missile weighing 42,000 pounds. Since then the superfortresses have carried similar 21-ton payloads on many test missions.

First Attempt

Yesterday's flight marked the first attempt by a B-36 to carry the full 42 ton load.

The weight of the two 42,000 pound bombs lifted by the six-engine Consolidated Vultee plane was equivalent to a wartime B-17 flying fortress.

Plow-Train Crash Injures 7 Persons

LA PORTE CITY, IOWA (AP)—Seven persons were injured, one seriously, when a snow plow rammed into the rear end of the stalled Minneapolis-St. Louis Rocket two miles north of here yesterday.

The dispatcher's office of the Rock Island railroad at Cedar Rapids said the crash occurred after frozen brakes halted the Rocket. The snow plow following behind crashed into the observation car.

Burn Flora, Cedar Rapids, snow-plow brakeman, was the most seriously injured. He suffered head injuries and was taken to the Waterloo hospital.

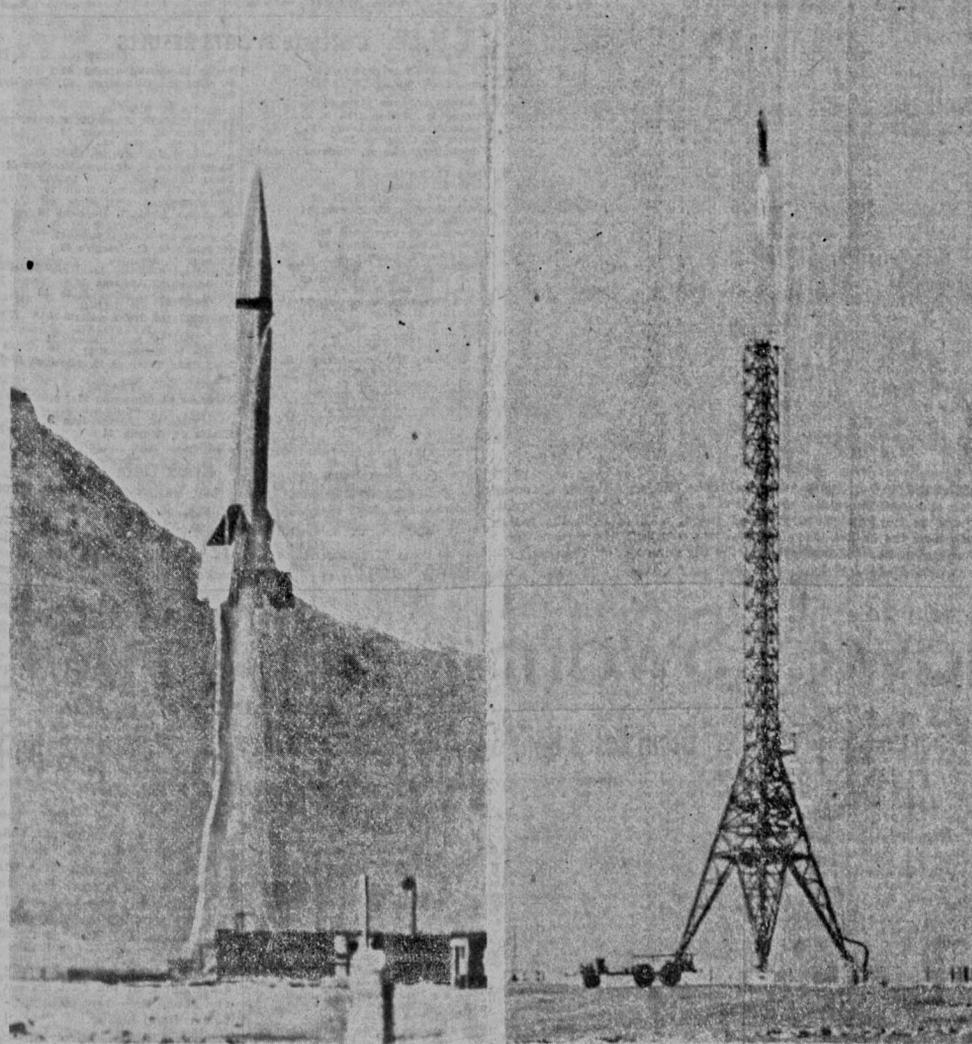

Three others were treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises. They were J. R. Bus, Cedar Rapids, Boyd Hoff, Santa Fe, N. Mex. and Fred Rhody, St. Paul, Minn. Others injured were given first aid on the train.

Staff employees and a nurse made no secret of their concern over the condition of Vishinsky, one of the top figures in Soviet diplomacy.

The statement of his illness was the first official disclosure that Vishinsky was in Czechoslovakia. It was given out after a conference with one of his attendants.

Airforce Guided Missiles Streak Skyward

HIGH ALTITUDE GUIDED MISSILES streak skyward from an airforce testing ground in New Mexico. At left: the Consolidated Vultee 774, 32 feet in length, powered by a liquid fuel motor. It is capable of reaching altitudes of more than 100 miles and can travel at supersonic speeds, according to the airforce. It is the first U.S. guided missile to approach the size of the German V-2 rocket. At right: the NATIV (North American Test Instrument Vehicle), 13 feet long, 18 inches in diameter. It has reached altitudes of 10 miles. An airforce spokesman said that "these are true guided missiles, which can be launched in one direction, then changed in their flight to hit another target." Both will be used for tests and research.

Jail Chiang or Else: Communists

Diplomat Vishinsky 'Gravely Ill' from Nervous Disorder

PRAGUE (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky is "gravely ill from a nervous disorder," a staff member of a Russian army sanatorium at Karlsbad said last night.

"Mr. Vishinsky is unable to concentrate on anything," the staff member said. "He cannot be seen by anyone."

The sanatorium is located in the Hotel Imperial, one of the show places of Karlsbad, an ancient health resort 70 miles west of Prague not far from the German border.

Accuse Li of Aiding 'Criminals'

NANKING (AP)—The Chinese Communists coldly told Vice-President Li Tsung-Jen yesterday he must arrest Chiang Kai-Shek as a war criminal or "you will be punished" without mercy.

The Communist radio in north China accused Li of "conniving" in the flight of government leaders from Nanking. It wanted all other government officials on the Communist list of "war criminals" arrested.

Gone South

Since Chiang and almost all others on the list long since have gone south, it is impossible for Li to comply, even should he wish.

The Communists demanded a prompt reply, but there was no official public reaction. Li, inside his strongly-guarded home, was the only responsible official left in the capital. Not a single cabinet member could be located.

The victorious Communist armies were idling on or near the north bank of the Yangtze at many points. Coupled with this, the new political demands plunged Nanking hopes of a negotiated settlement to new lows.

Want Japanese

The Communist broadcast, by an unidentified spokesman, also angrily demanded re-arrest of Lt. Gen. Yasutsugu Okamura, last Japanese commander in China. He was acquitted of war crimes before a Chinese government military court Wednesday.

Five U. S. Soldiers Killed, 10 Missing In Fire in Japan

TOKYO (AP)—The bodies of five American soldiers were recovered and 10 more believed still missing early this morning in a fire that swept a two-story airforce barracks at Yokota airforce base near here in early morning hours.

The casualty toll was announced by allied headquarters as firefighting crews probed the ruins of the pre-dawn fire for further casualties.

Five men were seriously burned in the conflagration which totally destroyed the barracks. Ten of 12 other victims were slightly injured. Those seriously injured were rushed to the fifth station hospital for treatment. Lesser injured were treated medically at the base.

None of the victims were immediately identified and when they have been identified the names will be withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The barracks housed 90 men.

Export Controls

Meanwhile both senate and house banking committees will work on a 28-month extension of wartime export controls that expire Feb. 28. This is expected to move through congress without major opposition.

Despite Lucas' optimism about teamwork, there is one issue coming up which is certain to split Democratic ranks wide open. That is the attempt to amend senate rules to outlaw the filibuster, or unlimited, time consuming debate designed to prevent senate action.

Stork Wins Race with Expectant Hitch-Hiker

BLACKFOOT, IDAHO (AP)—Mrs. Allen Tenema, 17-year-old Fort Hall Indian and expectant mother, started to hitch-hike from the reservation to a hospital, but the stork traveled faster.

Mrs. Tenema's seven pound baby was born in a milk truck. The temperature was below zero, but mother and child were reported in good condition.

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY (AP)—The peoples' court prosecutor announced yesterday that the trial of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, who was the nation's highest Catholic clergyman, and his "accomplices" will start Feb. 3.

Shift in German Control Is Asked Of Mr. Truman

Royall Urges that State Department Take Over in American Zone

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army, appealing to President Truman, wants the administration of the U.S. zone of Germany turned over to the state department as soon as possible, it was learned last night.

Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall urged the switch in a formal recommendation to the White House.

Neither the White House nor state department, however, wants to rush through any quick change in the American setup in Germany, a political and economic battleground in the cold war.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay reportedly is again pressing officials here to be allowed to retire as military governor, but President Truman is represented as anxious to keep him on the job a while longer.

Disposition Pending
Responsible officials said disposition of Royall's proposal will turn largely on the advice to be given President Truman by Secretary of State Acheson.

Acheson, in office little more than a week, has been swamped with other matters.

Moreover insiders regard it likely that he would want an exhaustive review made of the whole German problem, including the specific issue of administration.

Recommendation
Royall's recommendation to Mr. Truman, with copies to the secretary of state and other interested officials, is reported to have been made in mid-January. He returned from a tour of Germany Jan. 3. Friday he left Washington for a visit to Japan.

The recommendation does not constitute any new army policy. The military have made repeated attempts in the past to shift the occupation task to the state department. It was decided long ago that the shift should be made in Germany with the changeover in Japan to come along later.

Clay Altimatic
Some informants said that what lends a quality of urgency to the present situation is that Gen. Clay has become more emphatic in expressing to Royall and others his desire to retire. This, in Royall's reported opinion, apparently made it timely to raise the whole problem of civilian versus military control again.

Any move to replace him, however, will be complicated by Russian propaganda, which in the past has dealt with rumors and reports of his possible retirement as evidence of a change in American policies in Germany.

Export Controls
Meanwhile both senate and house banking committees will work on a 28-month extension of wartime export controls that expire Feb. 28. This is expected to move through congress without major opposition.

Despite Lucas' optimism about teamwork, there is one issue coming up which is certain to split Democratic ranks wide open. That is the attempt to amend senate rules to outlaw the filibuster, or unlimited, time consuming debate designed to prevent senate action.

'Tulsa Plan' Faces Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney General Clark has instructed federal district attorneys to study carefully any mass issuance of eviction notices for evidence of illegal conspiracy.

This was announced last night by the justice department, which said the attorneys were directed to present any possible law violations to a grand jury.

A property owners group in Tulsa, Okla., has ordered a number of evictions of tenants within 60 days and has called on landlords in other cities to follow suit.

The Tulsa group took the action in an announced protest against proposed new federal rent control bills now before congress.

President Truman said at his news conference Thursday that he doesn't believe property owners will get away with the plans. Shortly afterward, Housing Expediter Tighe Woods said he will seek court injunctions against landlords who refuse to withdraw such eviction notices.

76 Drownings Recorded Throughout Iowa in 1948

DES MOINES (AP)—One more drowning in Iowa in December brought the water death total for the state for 1948 to 76, the state division of vital statistics reported yesterday.

The 76 compares with 64 drownings in Iowa in 1947. A three-year-old Mitchell county boy was the last victim of 1948.

New Labor Bill Would Drop Injunction as Strike Weapon

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Truman administration urged congress yesterday to throw away the weapon of court injunctions for blocking national emergency strikes. It called instead for a voluntary cooling off procedure.

Formally submitting legislation for revising basic labor laws, the administration demanded repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and a restored Wagner act bearing "improvements" President Truman wants.

Erasing the Taft-Hartley law also would junk these familiar union restrictions:

The requirement that union officials must swear they are not Communists if they wish to deal with the national labor relations board.

The prohibition against political spending by unions.

The ban on the closed shop, which requires employers to take on only union members.

Supporters of the Taft-Hartley law already have begun a fight to keep those and many other provisions of that act on the books.

The question of how to deal with "national emergency" strikes is one that has given officials charged with drafting the new bill considerable thought.

The Taft-Hartley measure dealing with labor-management relations, lets the government get 80-day court orders to prevent strikes that imperil the national health or safety while mediators try to work out a settlement.

Administration officials debated for weeks whether to keep the injunction provision. Organized labor protested vigorously against it. The idea finally was dropped.

In national emergency strike threats, the new bill would depend mainly upon the moral force of recommendations by emergency boards—as in the railway labor act. While the boards are at work and for five days thereafter—a total of 30 days—the bill says both labor and management shall continue operations. But no injunctions or penalties are provided in case they don't.

In fact the only injunctions allowed under the entire bill are those which the national labor relations board can get to enforce its "unfair labor practice" findings.

Certain boycotts and strikes of a "jurisdictional" nature (in which a union seeks to beat out another union to do certain work) are made "unfair labor practices" under the new bill. A union conceivably could be subject to injunctions in those cases—but only after the NLRB had found them guilty of violations.

The new bill was sent to the capitol by Secretary of Labor Tobin. He will discuss it tomorrow before the senate labor committee.

Mr. Truman's drive to get rid of the Taft-Hartley law already has stirred furious debate in congress. Backers of the present law predict the move will fail. Poes are claiming that repeal is a foregone conclusion.

Amazing Illini Surge Socks Gophers, 45-44

Substitutes Lead Late Drive, Clamp 1st Loss on Minnesota

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. — Illinois' basketball team staged a sensational comeback drive last night to hand Minnesota's Gophers their first defeat in 14 games, 45-44.

The Illini, at one time in the first half 13 points behind, came out like champions in the second to run the Gophers into the court and hand Minnesota its first defeat this season, breaking a 13-game winning streak which included five Big Nine wins.

It was two substitutes, Jim Marks and Don Sunderlage, who really carried Illinois to victory. Trailing 27 to 20 at the half, the Illini held Minnesota scoreless while Fred Green, Marks, and Sunderlage dropped through enough points to put Illinois ahead, 28 to 27.

Minnesota's Whitey Skoog bucketed a shot to put the Gophers ahead again and they stayed there for five minutes. But with 10 minutes left to play, Burdette Thurby dropped a set-up to make it 36 to 35 for the Illini.

Sunderlage and Marks hitting nearly every time they threw at the basket, kept Illinois in front until there were less than four minutes to play.

Fieldhouse Open for Recreation Next Week

The fieldhouse will be open for recreation Monday through Friday of next week, 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., Dr. Frederic S. Beebe, director of intramural sports, announced yesterday.

The fieldhouse will be closed Feb. 5, due to commencement, and Feb. 7 and 8, because of registration.

Fieldhouse courts need not be reserved. It will be a case of first come, first served. However, if another team is waiting, tenure will be limited to one hour each.

Knox Defeats Cornell

MT. VERNON, IA. (AP) — Knox college, showing remarkable accuracy at the free throw lanes, stopped Cornell 63-51 last night for its third Midwest conference basketball victory in seven games.

Suprunowicz Back In Form, Scores 19; Schnittker Checked

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (AP) — A favored University of Michigan basketball team moved a notch up the Big Nine ladder last night with a narrow but convincing 54 to 48 victory over Ohio State in Yost fieldhouse.

Mack Suprunowicz, Michigan's top scorer last year, finally found his basket eye and poured in 19 points to help the Wolverines to their second conference victory in four games. Ohio State now has a 3-3 Big Nine record.

Action was spirited, with Michigan finally breaking out in front after the first ten minutes to take a lead it never relinquished.

The Wolverines, stealing a leaf from the Minnesota Gophers, deserted their fast break for a control type offense at times.

Suprunowicz, nuchted 15 of the Wolverines' 29 points in the first half and Guard Bob Harrison took over in the second to pour in 13 and ice the game for Michigan.

Both teams played aggressively and frequent skirmishes spilled players to the floor.

Forward Dick Schnittker kept the Buckeyes in the game with his 15 counters, but they never threatened seriously after the first few minutes.

Suprunowicz, who has been anything but impressive in earlier conference tilts, was able to penetrate the Ohio State defense time after time to score from short range.

Leo Vanderkuy and Elliott bore the brunt of Michigan's defensive chores. The Wolverines led at half-time, 29 to 25. A small crowd of 5,800 saw the game.

CR Hopes to Enter Central Association

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — The Cedar Rapids Citizens' Baseball committee voted yesterday to join the Central association provided it can be operated on a one-year basis.

Lee Thomas of Burlington, president of the Central association, had contacted local citizens about replacing Fort Madison, which withdrew from the league Friday. Thomas is now polling league cities to see if they will accept Cedar Rapids on one-year terms.

If it gets in for one year, Cedar Rapids will probably try to transfer to the Three-I or Western league in 1950.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday bought pitcher Murry Dickson from the St. Louis Cardinals for an undisclosed sum.

Ray Flaherty New Coach of Rockets

CHICAGO (AP) — Ray (Red) Flaherty, once a coaching hero of the rival National Football league yesterday was named head coach of the rebuilt Chicago Rockets in the All-America conference.

The surprise announcement by league Commissioner O.O. Kessinger swept out Coach Ed McKeever after a lamentable one-season showing. The Rockets won one game and lost 13.

Flaherty thus returns to the new league. He coached the New York Yankees during 1946 and 1947 before quitting the AAC in a row with Owner Dan Topping early last season.

The genial 44-year-old native of Hayden Lake, Idaho, had entered the All-America conference after seven coaching seasons with the Washington Redskins, whom he directed to two National Football league titles.

Little Hawks Swamp Dubuque, 57-36

Hettrick's 25 Leads Victory

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
DUBUQUE — Iowa City's Little Hawks remained unbeaten last night as they won their 13th straight by trouncing the Dubuque Rams here, 57-36. It was the Hawks' ninth win against no defeats in Mississippi Valley conference competition.

Paced by Center Gene Hettrick, who scored 25 points, the Hawks were never headed after Dubuque had taken an early 3-1 lead. The visitors came back to take an 8-3 lead early in the first period.

The Rams were able to narrow the margin and trailed by only two points, 14-12, at the end of the first quarter.

Baskets by Hettrick, Dick Kennedy and Whitey Diehl shot the Hawks into a 20-13 advantage, and Dubuque never came close again.

Forward Dick Kennedy was outstanding defensively in his last game for the Hawks. He scored eight points. Dick is a mid-year graduate.

Leading by 30-17 at the half, the Hawks kept driving. With Whitey Diehl playing an outstanding game off both boards, the Little Hawks widened their third-quarter margin to 16 points, 41-25. It was the best played period of the game, with Ralph Richmond, high scorer for the Rams with 14 points, leading a spirited but futile come-back attempt.

With the game safely tucked away, both coaches substituted freely. At that, the visitors increased their winning margin by five more points to finally end with a 57-36 rout.

In the preliminary contest Dubuque salvaged a consolation win when its sophomores edged out the Iowa City Freshmen, 54-47. The Freshmen had to be substituted for the Hawklet Sophomores who were competing in the Johnson county tournament at Iowa City.

Veteran Iowa Golf Team to Commence Practice Feb. 10
Iowa's golfers will begin banging the ball into the fieldhouse practice nets about Feb. 10, Coach Frank (Bucky) O'Connor announced Friday. The nets are located in the room above the swimming pool.

The Hawkeye squad will probably include eight men who were awarded major letters last year. They are:
Willard (Skip) Carlson, Galesburg, Ill.; Lester Fields, Cresco; Robert Graham, Kewanee, Ill.; William Martin, Clear Lake; Gene Matthews, Iowa City; James Rasley, Iowa City; Warren Strout, Milton, and Donald Taylor, Mechanicsville.

At present the Hawk card includes 10 meets, six of which are league engagements. Coach O'Connor said that several more foes may be scheduled later.

Tiffin, Lone Tree Win County Titles

The Tiffin high school boys and the Lone Tree girls both produced victories last night to cop championships in the Johnson county basketball tournament played at the City high gymnasium.

Tiffin's 43-32 victory over last year's title holders, the City high sophomores, was scored from the free throw lane. They hit 23 out of 33 gift tosses, the first 15 in a row. From the field Tiffin was outscored, 13-10.

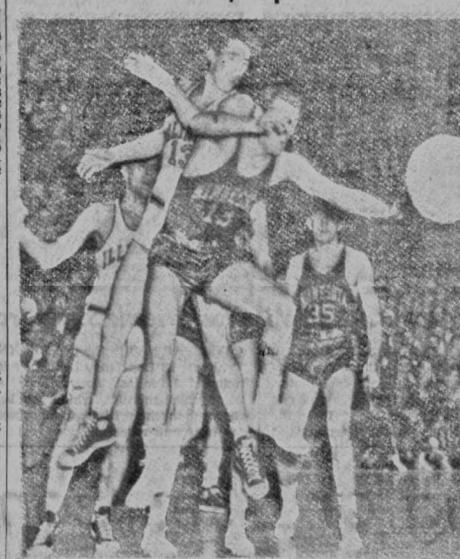

Tiffin increased its lead in every quarter and was never in danger of being overtaken. The victory was Tiffin's 15th, against one loss.

Lone Tree's title-winning game was never a contest, as the girls from Tiffin failed to score a field goal after Katherine Brant opened the game with a two-point.

Alpha Tagge led Lone Tree to its 14th win as she poured in 21 points in the 42-9 rout. Lone Tree succeeded Oxford as the Johnson county girls' champs.

Currier Housekeeper Has Full Time Job

By MARY HEALY

How would you like to keep house for approximately one thousand people? Meet a woman who actually does—Mrs. Fannie Beers, housekeeper for Currier Hall, its cottages, houses and Madison court.

Mrs. Beers has been employed by the Currier system for the past four years and has been housekeeper for the last three. In her official capacity, she oversees the maids, janitors and others hired to help in Currier.

"If you don't think it's a job keeping house for almost a thousand girls, try it some time," she suggested.

Mrs. Beers' day begins at 7:30 a.m. in the linen room. She issues linens to the maids and gets about to check and count the sheets and pillowcases that go out and come back from the laundry.

From then on the troubles of Currier occupy most of Mrs. Beers' time, and "there's never a dull moment."

"When a maid tells me that a mirror in a room on fourth floor is hanging on a thumb tack, I hold my breath and hope it isn't smashed before I get there," she said.

The request that amuses her most is the one for a box that was stored or misplaced years ago, while "something just found may go unclaimed for months."

"You can't tell what's going to happen from one minute to the next," Mrs. Beers remarked.

A light bulb burns out, a window gets broken, and the paper chute overflows. Then a practical joker goes off the deep end. They're not too troublesome, though. In fact, Mrs. Beers is often amused by their antics.

When Currier is vacated for the Christmas holidays, there is no vacation for Mrs. Beers and her force of workers. That's when they roll up their sleeves and give the dormitory a general cleaning.

All in all, the little woman with white hair does quite a job of seeing that the wheels of the biggest dorm on campus go round.

New Sweaters Are— Soft and Feminine

By JEAN McFADDEN

Soft and feminine! That's the up-to-'49 sweater!

Big brother can have back his boxy, oversized sweaters. That type is disappearing from side-walks and college campuses. Girls who know their knitting are wearing light downy pullovers and cardigans as feminine as a lace handkerchief.

High on the list of college favorites are the fleecy angora sweaters. The proud owners of these fluffy creations may well prize them for the angora sweater comes with an expensive price tag.

For those who object to the lint and fuzz that angoras sometimes leave on flannel skirts and coats there is "the poor man's cashmere," a sweater made of a combination wool and rabbit hair yarn.

Both the angora and the poor man's cashmere come in a variety of pastel shades and tints which add to delicate, feminine appearance. Some of the newest colors this year are turquoise, pistachio, toast, cherry and Kelly green.

Light, smooth and finely woven all-wool sweaters will probably never be entirely replaced, but the newer nylons are definitely gaining in popularity.

These sweaters have some advantages over the all-wool sweater in that they are easier to wash, dry quickly and have a silky smooth texture all their own.

Fitted waistlines and padded shoulders are features in some of the newer sweaters. One style selling in local stores has drop shoulders in which the shoulder lines are lowered to give the effect of broader shoulders.

A favorite for dress-up occasions is the fitted sweater of knitted wool, nylon or rayon yarn interwoven with gold or silver metallic thread. It has a high jewelry neckline, cap sleeves and may be worn with a matching belt.

Clever coeds dream up their own creations. With an eye for the unique and personalized sweater, women are knitting cardigans and pullovers to suit their own tastes. Handmade sweaters are distinctive with original patterns of weaves or figuring. Initials, names or nicknames are sewn or woven in, to add individuality. Buttons, sequins and beads are also used for decorations.

"Sweater and skirt" no longer denotes classroom attire. The best dressed lady at the dance may well be wearing the newest style in sweaters.

The '49 Sweater -- Soft and Feminine

SOFT AND FLUFFY ANGORA SWEATERS are the pride of any coed. Kathryn Simtz, A1, Davenport, finds this soft yellow angora is warmer and more stylish in winter weather than a blouse. The yarn for these sweaters comes from a special breed of long haired rabbits.

THE SHEEN OF THE RAYON YARN in this sweater makes it a favorite of Lea Spivak, A4, Ottumwa, for afternoon or evening wear. Blouse-like, it features cap sleeves and a special pattern of lace weave at the throat. It's simple styling makes jewelry and belt optional.

IOWA-ILLINOIS GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

Here's Where Those Tests Get Started

THE IMPORTANT JOB OF sharpening the special electrographic pencils used in the examinations is done by two electrical pencil sharpeners. James Gallier, an eighth grade student at University high school, demonstrates the proper technique in the left picture. The actual printing of an examination is accomplished on an offset printing machine operated by Ruth Ries. There were 18,263 examinations printed for the current testing week.

UNIVERSITY EXAMINATION SERVICE DIRECTOR Robert L. Ebel confers with Mrs. Bonnie Fisher, service secretary, regarding a question on one of the examinations printed for use next week. Ebel said his office hopes to give 24-hour service in the job of correcting the many examination papers.

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS MACHINE test scoring machines process the students' answer sheets. Approximately 90 sets of examinations will be marked on the machines operated by Mrs. Hope Hanley (left) and Mrs. Nadine Trump, before business in the examination service slacks off.

gives them to instructors for administration to their classes and then marks them. "Ordinarily, during the semester, we ask for a week's time to print and pack examinations submitted by instructors. We try to eliminate the last minute rush at the end of the semester by taking two weeks to process them," Ebel said.

ers had submitted their final examinations to be printed prior to the Christmas recess. Ebel outlined the series of tasks that go into processing examinations turned in by instructors. "Examination questions are electromagnetically typed on a special mat which is later used in the actual printing process. After the typing is completed, the results are read twice to eliminate errors," Ebel explained. Instructors often check the mats to satisfy themselves that the job was correctly done. "The printing is done on an offset printing machine. Then, the separate examination sheets are put in order and stapled. "Answer sheets and scratch paper are then inserted if they are needed," Ebel said.

packed. Instructors pick up the exams and electrographic pencils which are used by the students to mark the answer sheets. The pencils contain a special type of graphite which produces a solid coating of large graphite flakes on the answer sheet. The graphite conducts electric current utilized in the marking machines, sharp points for the students. An average of 10 percent of the pencils is lost after each examination. He added that 50 gross, or 7,200 pencils, bearing the examination service name have been ordered to combat loss. When the examinations are completed, they are returned to the examination service to be marked. If a student puts two marks for one question on the answer sheet, it shows up when the machine tabulates the number right and wrong. When this occurs the tests are referred to the individual instructor. During examination week 24 hour service on test marking is the aim of the examination service. Three additional people in the duplicating room and two in the marking section have been added during the present exam week to speed up service.

Dearborn Street 'Goes to Press'

EDITOR JIM points out some possible story material to his reporter-sister, Karen, 10, while brother Stevie, 5, looks over an old copy of the "Dearborn Press." A news printing press sits on the desk awaiting to be "broken in." As yet, 9-year-old Jim hasn't sufficient type, so he still prints his newspaper by typewriter.

Youthful Journalist Sets up Business

By BEVERLY OLTMAN

Iowa City's Dearborn street isn't being left out of the news these days. A 12-year-old editor has "taken over" and minds his five W's (who, when, where, what and why) like a veteran newspaperman.

He's Jim Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Hutchinson, and his "newsroom" is located at 821 Dearborn street.

Between delivering papers, going to school, playing basketball and shovelling sidewalks, Jim somehow finds time to be editor, publisher, reporter and circulation manager of the "Dearborn Press."

Covers Various News

The "Dearborn Press," a recent addition to Iowa City's journalistic enterprises, informs its sixth grade subscribers of neighborhood news, as well as other Iowa City events and weather reports based on the editor's inklings.

"Oh, I make 'em up, and you know, it really rained one day when I said it was going to," explained Editor Jim about his weather reports. They usually go somewhat like this: "Snow due to IC tomorrow or next day. Rain might come."

Jim, a sixth grader at St. Mary's school, began his newspaper last October after he noticed a classmate printing a "Gazette." Published in pencil everyday at first, the "Dearborn Press" now goes to press on a typewriter and is published at the editor's whim.

Has Three Reporters

Reporters for the 8 by 11 one-page newspaper are Donna Dee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Dee, 712 Dearborn, Mary Ann Pusateri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Pusateri, 622 Dearborn, and Jim's sister, Karen.

In addition to the columns entitled "Around Dearborn" and "Around Town," the "Dearborn Press" includes sports news, want ads, stories and jokes. As for the jokes, Jim says, "Sometimes I make 'em up and sometimes I just get 'em out of comic books."

Sells to Classmates

When asked about his customers, chubby, sandy-haired Jim's eyes sparkled — "I sell 'em to the kids in my class — as many as I can get typed (with two fingers), and just about everyone in the room wants to take it now. Costs 'em a penny."

Jim said that his customers take the papers home to their parents, and that "one family liked it so much they wanted all the latest editions brought home."

Despite this early experience, Jim says he might desert the newspaper profession to be a radio engineer or announcer. Besides printing the news, he sometimes broadcasts it over the "Tinker-Toy Network," consisting of a new-type tinker-toy microphone he's invented and designed.

Editor to Speak on Technical Writings

DeWitt O. Myatt, managing editor of "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry," and the associate editor of "Chemical and Engineering News," will speak to SUI engineering English classes Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Myatt will tell the engineers how they should write technical articles for publication. He will speak in studio E of the engineering building.

From 1938 to 1946 Myatt was chemical engineer of TVA. He is a member of ACS and the American Industrial Chemical and Engineering society.

The Washington, D.C., editor will appear here under the auspices of Robert S. Casey, director of research for the W. A. Shaeffer Pen company, Fort Madison.

C of C Sets Annual Meeting Tomorrow

Deadline for obtaining reservations for the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce annual meeting is tomorrow noon, Robert Gage, chamber secretary said yesterday. Members may have their reservations by phoning the chamber office, Gage said.

The banquet will begin tomorrow night at 6:30 in the rose room of Hotel Jefferson.

The program will consist of talks by Roland Smith, 1949 president; R. H. Lind, 1948 president; Ray Vanderhoef, last year's head of the retail trade division; and Dan Dutcher, head of the community parking committee. William Hart, local attorney, will serve as toastmaster.

LSA to Hear Talk By Miss Bohlken

Fern Bohlken, student counselor for SUI Lutheran students, will speak tonight at the First English Lutheran church on "What is LSA?"

Before her speech at the 6:30 regular meeting of the Lutheran Students association, there will be a supper hour at 5:30 at the church.

Miss Bohlken graduated from the University of Nebraska this summer, beginning her work with Lutheran students on the SUI campus in September. She also attended Wayne State Teachers college in Wayne, Neb., for two years.

Chairmen for the supper will be Ruth Orhtman, A3, Pocahontas, and Carroll Block, D1, Renwick.

Mrs. Lida Boulware Dies After Illness

Mrs. Lida Moss Boulware, 68, died Friday night at University hospitals after an illness of three weeks.

Mrs. Boulware has been making her home in Iowa City since 1944 with her daughter, Dr. Lois Boulware, 1027 E. Court street, who is a member of the University hospitals staff.

She was born in Perry, Mo., in 1881, the daughter of John and Sarah Richards Moss. She was married to James E. Boulware, who died in 1942.

She is survived by two sons, James, Attleboro, Mass., and John, St. Paul, Minn., and her daughter.

The body will be cremated and memorial services held later at Perry. Arrangements are in charge of the Oathout funeral home.

Col. Jenna Explains New Army Plan for Officer Appointments

Are you a college graduate who served as a commissioned officer in one of the armed forces during World War II?

If the answer is "Yes," then you are eligible to apply for a regular army commission as a second lieutenant, Col. W. W. Jenna, SUI military department head, announced yesterday.

A new army plan calls for appointment of some 400 to 600 second lieutenants in two major increments during March and August.

An applicant for a commission must have at least one year of honorable, active duty as a commissioned officer in any component of the armed forces between Dec. 7, 1941, and Sept. 2, 1945.

Jenna said the applicant must have graduated from an accredited college or university and be between the ages of 21 and 27 at the time of appointment.

In addition, the applicant must be physically qualified, of a high moral character and free of any convictions by military or civil court for other than minor traffic violations.

Applicants must not be conscientious objectors or a member of any foreign or domestic organization advocating subversive policies or seeking to alter the U.S. government by unconstitutional means.

Jenna said applications for the commissions by persons not on active duty should be submitted directly to the major army commander concerned.

Others, who hold commissions in the officers reserve corps or national guard, should submit their applications through the regular channels to the major commander concerned.

Jenna said that application forms are available at his office in the fieldhouse. These forms may be obtained also at all army installations, recruiting stations and from national guard and organized reserve instructors.

The secretary of army's personnel board will select the best qualified applicants, he said.

Know the Answers You May Get a Job Next Semester

What can you do, and when can you do it?

If you're a job-hunting SUI student, those are two questions you will have to answer, according to Robert L. Ballantyne, manager of the Student Aid and Placement bureau.

"No jobs are available right now," Ballantyne said, "but there will be some opening up next semester."

Students who have filed cards with the placement service should determine their new schedules as soon as possible and bring their cards up to date.

"In order to refer a student to a job, we must know the hours he has available to work," Ballantyne said.

Ballantyne urged students to change their cards before registration by filing a tentative schedule. Cards should be left on the receptionist's desk in the office of student affairs.

This year the placement bureau has aided almost 3,300 students in securing jobs on and off campus, Ballantyne said.

Four Students Get Flying Club Offices

Four SUI students were elected to offices in the Iowa City Flying club, whose members own two airplanes on a co-op basis.

Gordon Clappison, M2, will be the 1949 president.

Other officers elected at their meeting in the Iowa Union Tuesday were Dr. Marshall Jones, assistant professor of psychology, vice president; Everett Nitzke, M3, secretary; Lawrence Burger, E2, treasurer; Darrel Warner, A4, vice-president in charge of maintenance, and Dr. Loren Borland, 10 Koser street, cross-country coordinator.

Discussion at the meeting included the advisability of selling one of the club's two planes and limiting membership to 20 members.

Movies and lectures will be given at their next meeting, Feb. 8.

Debaters to Argue Federal School Aid

Five SUI students will present a debate at Grinnell college Feb. 10, LeRoy Gowerthwaite, SUI speech instructor said yesterday.

The debate subject will be the current intercollegiate question, "Resolved, that the federal government should adopt a policy of equalizing educational opportunity in tax supported schools by means of annual grants."

Reid W. Digges, A2, Virginia Beach, Va., will act as chairman of the debate.

Affirmative speakers will be George McBurney, A3, Council Bluffs, and Murray Kniffen, A3, Rock Rapids. Negative speakers are Edward F. Diekmann, E1, Ottumwa, and Charles Tholdt, A3, Walcott.

MILKING CLINIC CANCELLED

The milking clinic, scheduled for yesterday in Iowa City, was cancelled until sometime after Mar. 18, according to Emmet C. Gardner, Johnson county extension director.

By BILL McBRIDE

I'M NOT much of an expert when it comes to medicaments, but an Agent left a bottle of Dr. Clark Johnson's Indian Blood Syrup in this office Thursday, and it looks like Ponce de Leon was wasting his time poking around in the Everglades.

To give you an idea of just how powerful this stuff is, it says right on the box it is a remedy for scrofula, old wounds, pimples, dropsy and blood poisoning of long standing.

No mention is made about short standing blood poisoning, but I suppose medical science has that pretty well under control by now.

THIS MEDICINE is perfectly all right because it is guaranteed under the Food and Drugs act of June 30, 1906. It couldn't have been very long after the act passed that this particular bottle was filled and corked to be sent out into the world to fight scrofula and old wounds.

Not only was the Syrup OK'd by congress in 1906, but it had been "thoroughly tested" for 40 years before that.

During that time "millions of bottles" were sold, so you can see this was no fly-by-night tonic.

THE BOTTLE has a label on it which makes all sort of declarations. The price was 50 cents, but has probably gone up these days.

A dejected Indian squaw is Dr. Johnson's trade mark. She wears a shabby blanket and has a papoose stuck up behind, indicating that the Syrup might be good for motherhood too.

There are a couple of droopy chicken feathers in the squaw's hair-do and she stiffly holds out a bouquet of ragweed. I guess Indians used to carry around a bunch of ragweed just for the heck of it... sort of a good luck charm.

Frankly, this particular Indian doesn't look like she could spare much blood for Dr. Johnson's syrup.

IN THE BOX with the bottle there is a circular telling all about the Indian Blood Syrup and how it cures so many diseases. There are also some pretty convincing testimonials. (Dr. Johnson claims to have thousands of testimonials, but he only gives us four here.)

Some of the data on this sheet couldn't be read because a little of the Indian Blood Syrup leaked out and ate holes through the paper... tough people, those Indians.

THE DOC hit on a good thing when he discovered how to mix his Indian Blood Syrup. This tonic is a three-way medicine... that is, it can be rubbed on externally for skin ailments, gargled with for sore throats and/or taken in a "wine glass of milk or water" for internal afflictions.

All Dr. Johnson asks is that customers shake the bottle before using. Anything from five to 30 drops three times a day is the usual adult dosage.

Children just get to smell the stuff.

THE TESTIMONIALS are pretty interesting. One from Star Place, Mississippi, says, "I am thankful to say to you that Dr. Johnson's Syrup is the best blood purifier, chill cure and preparation for female complaints I ever used." It is signed "William Gordon."

Another fellow tells how he had a "bad sore" on his leg for 20 years and never could cure it until he bought three bottles of the Indian Blood Syrup.

He must have set some kind of an all-time record for bad sores on the leg. I wonder if this tonic could help a fellow I know who has been a sore head all his life?

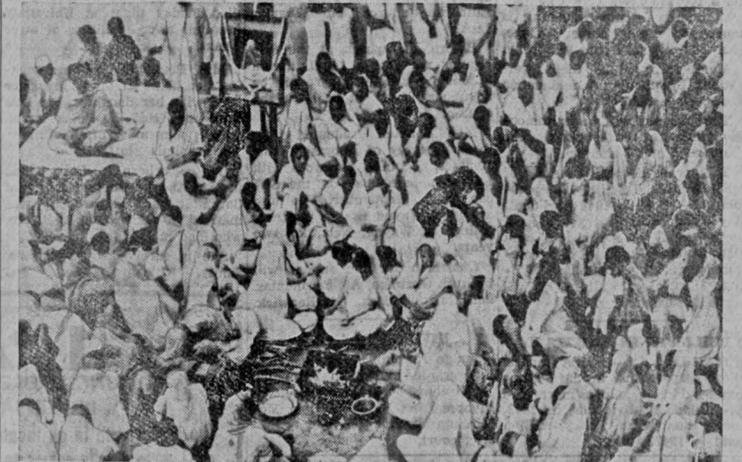

DR. JOHNSON says, "If the skin be sallow and muddy; if there be ringing in the ears, constipation of the bowels, bad pains in the side, sick headache, sick stomach, hot and dry skin, spots before the eyes, bad taste in the mouth, cold feet, sleepiness, giddiness, loss of appetite, bad circulation of the blood, swelled limbs, etc., etc., then you may conclude your liver is out of order..."

I would say that it is not only out of order, but has in general turned in a pretty unsatisfactory performance. You'd be better off without a liver at all than one which was as slipshod as all that.

IN CLOSING I remind you of Dr. Johnson's immortal words, "An enormous appetite and humble fare is better than the choicest viands when dyspepsia sits at the head of the table."

We've never had the Dyspepsias over for dinner, thank goodness!

Assassinated a Year Ago— Gandhi's Teachings Live On

THESE 'UNTOUCHABLES', branded by a centuries-old Indian caste system which held them down to the most menial tasks, have been freed by the new Indian constitution. The group in the above picture—taken a few years ago—is shown praying to Mohandas K. Gandhi, who championed their cause. He did not live to see their liberation.

By BHAGWAT PRASAD SINGH

"Whatever may happen in Pakistan—even if not a single Hindu remains alive there—in India no Moslem must be touched or feel unsafe." These are the historic words with which Mohandas K. Gandhi undertook his "fast unto glorious death" in January, 1948.

It was just after the termination of this fast that Gandhi was assassinated on Jan. 30, 1948, by a Hindu fanatic.

India is observing the first anniversary of his death this month, and it is against this background that the effect of Gandhi's principles are to be judged.

"I AM NOT aching for martyrdom, but if it comes in my way in the prosecution of what I consider to be the supreme duty in defense of the faith I hold... I shall have earned it," Gandhi had said.

He knew that service of mankind was not an easy task. There was the possibility that someone would not agree with him. So he said "but if someone were to shoot me in the belief that he was getting rid of a rascal, he would kill not the real Gandhi, but the one that appeared to him a rascal."

Like Abraham Lincoln, Gandhi died for the cause of humanity. The death of Lincoln could not checkmate the progress of the ideals for which the President was working. In the same way, Gandhi is dead, but his ideals are being put into practice with vigor and enthusiasm.

The frail body of Gandhi is no more in this world but he is alive in the memory of mankind.

JUST AFTER the death of Gandhi, communal riots ended throughout India. Since then, there has not been a single case of blood bath. His death cemented the friendship between all communities.

In its first year without Gandhi, India has proven true to his ideals. The leaders of the state have seen to it that Moslems are safe and communal harmony is secured. Untouchability has been abolished by an act of the constituent assembly of India.

The draft constitution of India clearly states that India will in the future be a non-communal, non-religious, secular state in which the rights of minorities will be safe. Specifically, discrimination on grounds of religion, race, caste, sex or place of birth is forbidden.

Of India's 330 million citizens, ten million are Christians. In keeping with the ideals of Gandhi, the 14-member cabinet of the central government contains two Christian ministers. One of the Christian ministers is a woman.

In addition, there are two Moslems and two scheduled castes (untouchable) ministers in the central government. The importance of the posts held emphasizes the secular nature of the state. Minority ministers hold portfolios of education, communications, labor, law, finance and defense.

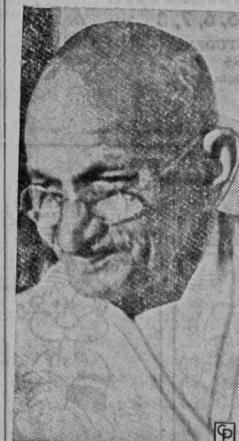

OUT OF THE total of nine governors of provinces, two are Moslems and one is a Christian. Special provision has been made to safeguard minorities and posts throughout the administrations are occupied by Moslems, Christians and untouchables.

Indian leaders have tried to ease the ill-will caused by the migration of Hindus, Sikhs and Christians from Pakistan.

Prime Minister Nehru in an independence day broadcast on Aug. 14, 1947, said: "All of us to whatever religion we may belong are equally the children of India with equal rights, privileges and obligations. We cannot encourage communalism or narrow-mindedness, for no nation can be great whose people are narrow in thought or in action."

When violence broke out in the Punjab, Nehru declared: "As long as I am at the helm of affairs, India will not become a Hindu state. If the people do not subscribe to my ideals and are not prepared to cooperate with me, I will have no way except to resign from the prime ministership and continue to fight for the establishment of a state where every citizen will enjoy equal rights, irrespective of his religion."

NEARLY 400,000 Christians have migrated from Pakistan to India. One prominent Christian leader declared "the attitude of the Pakistan government toward Christians was not helpful. Consequent on this unsympathetic attitude, almost the whole Christian intelligentsia has migrated to India where the provincial and central governments later absorbed them in various departments on an honorable basis."

After the death of Gandhi, Moslems and other minorities in India realized that they had a great friend in him. Their sense of fellowship has helped bring peace to India.

The cease-fire order in Kashmir also shows that India wants to remain at peace with its neighbors.

GANDHI HAD great concern for the teeming millions of Indian farmers. The government is launching new multi-purpose schemes to improve agricultural conditions and raise the standard of living of the farmers. Such

TO THE EDITOR: Miss Keeney writes (Friday's editorial page) with understandable misconception of my role as moderator. It was agreed prior to the meeting that I was to be permitted to take an active part, criticize the others and assert my own views, which I did. The title moderator was misleading. The discussion was indeed poor because the wider philosophical issues revolving around Marxism, adumbrated by me at the beginning of the meeting, were not discussed and scarcely raised. I felt it my duty, but failed in the attempt, to resuscitate them during the meeting.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT Faces Were Good Enough

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

If we keep on as we are going, soon it will take a dime and a non-Communist affidavit to get a ride on the subway. With the police commissioner of Detroit now requesting reporters who want press cards to sign the pledge, we have reached a new stage in this business.

At the rate at which we are pasteurizing and certifying each other, the average citizen may soon find it advisable to carry a commuter's pass. I can remember when Americans felt they used to know each other by their faces.

THE WORST of it is that the whole thing is an elaborate fiddle-faddle, with no meanings for good, only meanings for harm. In what way is our situation going to be one bit better, in what way are we going to be one jot safer, when some government warehouse, say four miles on a side, shall at last be filled to the brim with everybody's affidavits?

What shall we have accomplished, except to put on a painful demonstration that we do not trust each other? What shall we achieve, except to put the government, for the first time, into the business of noting people's thoughts, rather than their actions, and of attempting a gigantic and illusory bookkeeping of the human mind?

IT WILL BE said that the affidavit procedure helps to "smoke Communists out." But this is, I think, also a kind of illusion. If a man's overt actions are of a sort which are a danger to the country, it should be possible to note them, by normal administrative means, and we should not have to depend on this juggling of bits of paper to find out about it.

Surely, if there is a danger, it should be possible to set up an operational test to disclose its existence. And if you can't set up such a test, how can you prove the danger? The whole business of the loyalty oaths presupposes that we are beset with hordes of Communists who don't act like Communists, and who can only be "found out" by the oath method. But if they don't, ever, or at all, act like Communists or talk like Communists, where's the peril? What are you fighting?

IT IS ONLY on the level of action that we can ever be unsafe, and it is only on the level of administrative surveillance over action, not thoughts, that we can ever make ourselves safe. Our government must watch actions, not try to look into people's minds.

For when once it embarks on this latter course, it must sink down into the whole gooey mess of setting up abstract safeguards against abstract dangers, of establishing ranks and classifications of citizens, of countering unorthodoxy with an official orthodoxy, of unleashing unnecessary repressions and accumulating resentments.

It will, in a word, make our society structurally insecure, which is remarkably like the danger it thought it was setting out to avert.

"Tobacco is a filthy weed. 'Tis said the devil sowed the seed. It robs the pockets of the clothes. It makes a chimney of the nose."

The above verse is part of the creed of "Nicotine Unlimited", a counterpart to Alcoholics Anonymous. The organization has sprung up in a small Washington college town and is making a bid for national recognition.

"The people who drive Cadillacs are the ones who own the pinball machines, not the ones who play them."

This is one of the slogans of still another reform group, "Pinballs Anonymous", which seeks to reform frustrated, broke addicts. It grew up in a New Orleans dive known informally as "Little Franchie's" and is making a bid for wide recognition also.

Pinballs Anonymous will accept any addict up to 70. It feels that the life expectancy of any addict over that age is too short to make him worth saving.

The suspicion begins to creep into mind that perhaps the postwar trend of distrusting anyone is getting out of hand. There was a time when a person would throw away half a pack of cigarettes or slink past a pinball machine and it was his own business.

Not any more. Now wily Americans don't even trust themselves. To condemn or praise this is futile; if people want to band to rid the world of floundering addicts and chronic, let them.

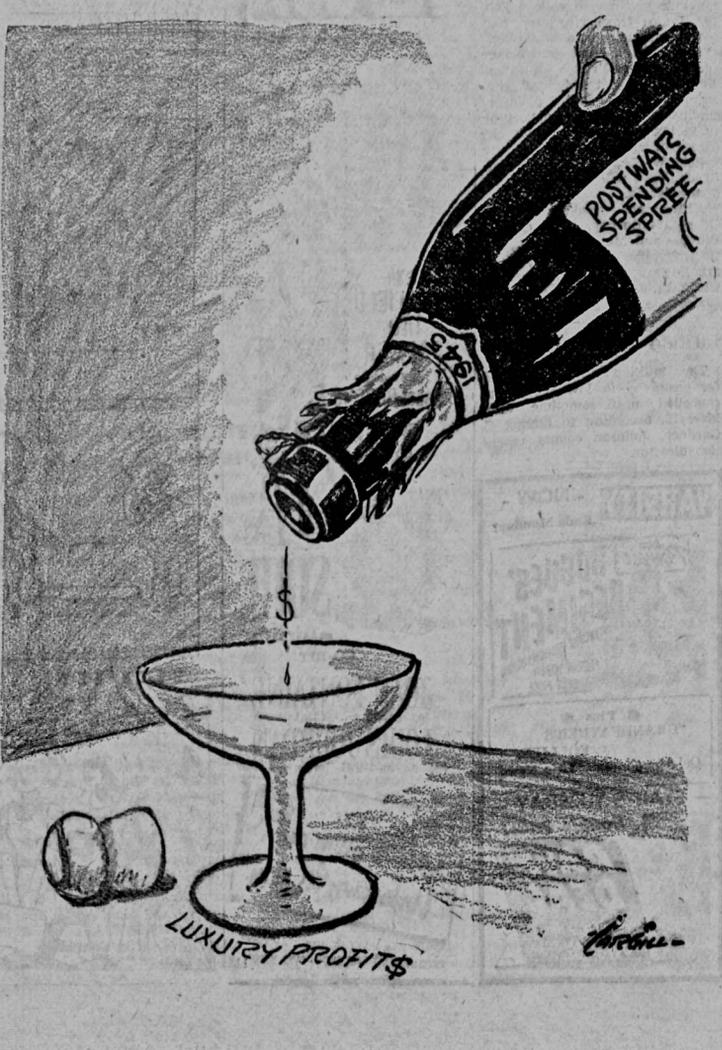

The smart thing to do would be to harness this new-found tool. Why not a "Vested Interests Anonymous" or a "Pessimism Unlimited"?

If a group of people can try to organize people who refuse to organize into an "anti-joiner" unit, we can band to cure another type of chronic with the "People Who Join Too Much and Contribute Nothing to Anything Anonymous." The possibilities are unlimited... not to mention anonymous.

We won't even worry about red tape. If things get too confused and allegiances too entangled, we can—in one fine collectivist sweep—establish the "National Anonymous Organizations Anonymous."

"WILL BEVIN GO?" asked the London newspapers as a squabble arose over the Labor party's stand on Palestine. Inside the party there was much discussion, but after a close vote the answer seemed to be—no, at least not right now.

Another political party was having a squabble—the GOP was holding a combination wedding and wake in Omaha. One faction was asking for the scalp of national Chairman Hugh Scott. The pointed question: "Is it a deathbed repentance that you (Scott) state you are no longer a Dewey man but a good Republican?"

Scott stayed by a 4-vote margin after the committee decided it was Dewey, not Scott, that they wanted to be rid of.

"The council believes it to be in the best interests of the city of Sioux City and to the police department"—as the city council there ousted police chief Myron, the superintendent of public safety appointed Myron acting chief. In-again-out-again Myron recently set himself up as a board of book examiners and banned from Sioux City stores books by Erskine Caldwell and others.

"I've been renting for four years at an enormous rent every month. Why should you pick on us poor renters? Why don't you go up to Washington and do it. You're barking up the wrong tree"—Ione shouting voice in a meeting of the Kansas City Property Owners association. No one knew how he got in, but a yell of "throw him out" answered his protest. KC property owners didn't throw him out, but they went to work on 2,000 renters who will, as in Tulsa, get 60-day eviction notices.

"Consultant of the Dead (Part Time)"—item in the new California state budget. They said it was a typographical error, but it was listed under salaries for special teachers for the handicapped.

Beauty Concoctions— Just Fruit, Vegetable

By RUTH CONSTAD

NEW YORK (AP)—Wanna be beautiful?

Take the juice of two water lilies, boil down some parsley, and add a dash of cucumber juice. The results are guaranteed to leave your complexion clear as crystal and smooth as old scotch. Helene Rubinstein, the queen of cosmetology, broke down today and revealed some of the strange concoctions she brews together to transform mildly from a pallid-fright to a paragon of beauty.

New Process

Take face powder. Little do girls with shiny noses know that they're dusting them off with raw silk. Miss Rubinstein explained that pulverized raw silk is a new powder process that sticks to the skin and leaves it feeling—literally—silky.

Among other ingredients that come off your powder puff, girls, are talc, zinc and cholesterol, to mention a few.

Then there's lipstick. Formerly when you painted that smile on, you were spreading mostly castor oil. But no more. Now your lucky mate gets a taste of vegetable oil, linolin, bees wax and violet.

Apples in Cheeks

Cream rouge, responsible for apples in your cheeks, contains in addition to vegetable oils and lanolin, some paraffin wax, special certified color, and a chemist's bit of magic called ylang-ylang, which the chief white doctor at the Rubinstein laboratories refused to describe further.

The night preparations, the cleansing creams and emulsifiers, sound like a cross between a vegetable and a fruit garden. In addition to vegetable oils the night creams have geranium juice and sandalwood. In the cleansing creams they ring in some orange water and rose.

If you want the skin men love to touch, then start squeezing some cucumbers. Miss Rubinstein said the juice (prepared by her own special method, of course) leaves the skin satin smooth and shining with health.

Try Honey

It's especially dry, whisk your breakfast honey off the table and spread it on your face. Honey softens dry skin, she said.

Even Italian parsley has its day. Baled the proper way this highly vegetable is capable of covering up skin defections.

Parsley, she insisted, will give the complexion a "transparent" look.

For erasing the wrinkles from your cheeks, the crows feet from around your eyes, and the worry lines in your forehead, try water lily juice. It's prepared to eradicate every past birthday but the last sixteen.

Business BRIEFS

Roses, ice cream and cake, coffee and door prizes vied with new Mercurys and Lincolns for attention Friday as over 1,000 persons attended the opening of the new Iowa City Motors show-rooms and garage at 14 E. College street.

Four new Mercurys and three new Lincolns were given a look by the visitors and Glenn F. Eves, manager, said yesterday that he was "well pleased" by the turnout.

Roses were given to the female visitors, and cake, ice cream and coffee were given to everyone.

Three gallons of anti-freeze, two sets of chrome license plate holders, a set of spark plugs, and cans of car wash, polish, spot remover and wax were given away as door prizes.

Officers and owners of the Iowa City Motors, Inc., are John Rhinehart, president; E. F. Lentz, vice president and secretary-treasurer; and Nell Burkett, vice president.

Sears Roebuck and company closed their doors yesterday at noon for its annual inventory. Every item on the inventory, including warehouse, stockroom and floor items were counted by 80 employees. The entire operation took nearly eight hours yesterday.

New manager of the shoe department at Yettlers department store is Sam Rothberg, an easterner who swears by Iowa as "God's country." Sam, and his wife who assists him in the department, came here recently from Fort Madison where they operated a business of similar nature. Before their Fort Madison business they were in the retail trade in a number of eastern cities.

The department is featuring an entire new line of women's shoes with many styles designed to appeal to college tastes.

Dr. Andrew C. Garvy, general practicing physician, began receiving calls Friday at his new office on the second floor of the Whetstone building. Before moving to this newly remodeled office Garvy was located in the Savings and Loan building.

Business on the whole was "soft" in Iowa City last week. Most of the retailers blamed the miserable weather for the lack of business. The outlook in general is good and most of the retailers throughout the city believe that the current slump is nothing that warmer weather won't cure.

Married Students— Co-op Sales Up 33 Percent

Sales have increased 33 1/3 percent in the last year for the married students' co-op store, Lester E. Person, president of the board of directors, said yesterday.

The co-op store sells groceries to persons living in the married students' housing units. The store is housed in the stone building, located a few hundred yards north of the university theater on the west bank of the Iowa river.

Newest addition to the two-year-old store is a meat department, put in within the last three weeks. The co-op has purchased a large "reach-in-cooler" and uses a smaller room in which to prepare the meat. Other equipment to be used by the butcher will be installed within a short time.

Approximately 300 married students hold shares in the organization. The requirement for membership is to contribute $25 toward the capital fund of the store. When students leave the campus, they may cash in their share.

Working strictly on a cash basis, the store delivers food to any of the university housing areas. There has been a great increase in the number of deliveries, Person said.

The delivery truck is a Model A Ford, owned and driven by Bill Jackson, the regular delivery man. His wife even helps him "tote" the groceries on Saturdays.

Prices have been consistently between seven and eight percent lower than those listed in The Daily Iowan Market Basket, Person said.

Because of the increase in business, another telephone has been added in order to handle all orders. A new cash register and beaver board ceiling have also been added.

A service offered by the store is distributing handbills regularly to inform customers and others of the price of foods.

"Much of the credit for the success of the store goes to Manager Don Messick," Person said. "We can't figure out when he studies as he spends most of his time here in the store."

Messick, who does all the buying, became manager in July, 1947. According to Person, the sales have increased steadily since then.

Director to Attend Church Conferences

Grace Hadley, student director at the Congregational church here, will leave today for Chicago to attend a four day meeting of student workers.

Miss Hadley said yesterday the student workers conference is being held in connection with Ministers' Week at the Chicago Theological seminary. Student workers, pastors of college churches and state conference directors of religious education will attend the meeting, Miss Hadley said.

One of the principal speakers will be Daniel T. Jenkins, former secretary of the British Student Christian movement. After attending the Chicago meeting, Miss Hadley will go to Cleveland Friday to attend a reconvening of the General Council of Congregational Christian churches.

The proposed merger of the Evangelical and Reformed church with the United Congregational Christian churches will be discussed at the meeting, she said.

Mrs. Iversen Back From Women Voters Conference in East

Mrs. Robert W. Iversen, 308 N. Linn street, had an "exciting time" watching the UN operate during the past week.

Attending a nationwide conference of the League of Women Voters in New York city as delegate from Iowa, Mrs. Iversen participated with 65 other delegates from 34 states in visits to the UN and in discussions.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt joined the league's discussion groups on the question of "How the UN Can Be Strengthened."

Mrs. Iversen said "most of the league members who went to the conference came away with the feeling that the UN is a living, working organization."

She said that "there are tremendous problems involved in getting 59 different countries to cooperate," mentioning as one of the major difficulties the problem of languages.

The Iowa delegate described Mrs. Roosevelt as being "a person of great poise" and "sincerely dedicated to the UN." One thing, she said, that impressed her about the former first lady was "her extreme modesty."

The two main purposes of the convention, Mrs. Iversen said, were to give state UN chairmen of the league a more concrete idea of what the UN is, and to give them an opportunity to exchange ideas on the dissemination of community information regarding the UN.

This conference was the climax

TALLULAH BANKHEAD, credited with the sharpest tongue in the Broadway showshops, met her match in a pert young understudy in her company last year. La Bankhead, in an affable mood, was reminiscing. "My first part," she said, "provided me with a whole scene alone with Abraham Lincoln. If I say so myself, I did it up brown. And who do you suppose played Abraham Lincoln?" "Abraham Lincoln?" suggested the understudy mildly.

The head of the local Prohibition unit was about to reach his one hundredth birthday. He proudly announced to an inquiring reporter, "I ain't never touched a drop of liquor, smoked a single vile cigarette, seen one wicked lot or movie, or talked to a good lookin' young hussy. And tomorrow I celebrate my hundredth birthday."

The reporter asked, "How?"

Israel Gets Recognition of Britain

LONDON (AP) — Britain recognized Israel yesterday, giving the Jewish state the recognition of all the big four.

Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg also climbed aboard the bandwagon.

The United States and Russia recognized Israel when the state was formed last May. France extended recognition Monday.

Among the world's large powers, only China has not yet recognized Israel.

Britain's recognition is de facto, or qualified, as was that of the United States. It means recognition of existence of the state. Indications are that Britain will not grant de jure recognition (meaning acceptance of full diplomatic and legal status as a nation) until Israel's borders have been fixed and peace has been restored to the middle east.

The British announcement followed shortly the decision of the Brussels pact powers Friday that the time had come to act. It followed months of bitter debate in Britain over the middle east policy of Foreign Secretary Bevin.

The Brussels pact powers are Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Joseph Linton, acting representative in London of the Tel Aviv government, said he trusted that "it may lead to the earliest establishment of normal and friendly relations between Britain and Israel."

Boy Scouts' Block of Dimes Aids Drive

BLOCK OF DIMES GROWS as a woman shopper places a dime on the plank. Iowa City's Boy Scouts sponsored a "Block of Dimes" drive for the benefit of the March of Dimes yesterday. Collections from shoppers totaled $153.

Boy Scouts Aid 'Dimes' Drive

Iowa City's Boy Scouts held a "Block of Dimes" drive on Washington street yesterday for the benefit of the "March of Dimes."

Shivering in sub-zero temperatures, the Scouts laid planks on orange crates along the sidewalk and asked shoppers to "lay their dimes, end to end."

Ninety four dimes totaling approximately $153. were collected, Jack McDavid, field scout manager, reported.

Members of troop numbers 2, 4, 10, senior outfit 1, and pack numbers 2 and 12 were on hand for the official "kick-off" over KXIC's. Boy Scout program at 9 a.m.

The first dime was contributed by Joe Schmidt, manager of the Kelly Optical company.

KXIC's Herb Olson originated the idea for the drive and the station sponsored the Boy Scouts.

Meanwhile, contributions from individuals and organizations brought the total for the March of Dimes drive to $558.83, Mrs. J. K. Schaaf, chairman for Johnson county, said yesterday.

The drive ends today but all donations will be accepted if sent to "March of Dimes", postoffice box 89, Iowa City, she said.

Engineers Publish Second Yearbook

The "1949 Senior Engineers' Yearbook" has been published and distributed.

Gordon G. Peterman, editor-in-chief of the "Iowa Transit", monthly magazine of the college of engineering, made the announcement yesterday.

The book gives brief biographical sketches of all senior engineers. This is the second year of publication. Its purpose is to acquaint prospective employers with the students.

Peterman said the book was sponsored by the Associated Students of Engineering and other students. One book is given to each student and 25 individual sheets are retained by each department.

New GI Students Urged to See VA

Veterans planning to enroll in SUI under the GI bill of rights for the first time next semester should report to the VA office, 110 Iowa avenue, as soon as possible, officials said yesterday.

Veterans must bring their certificate of eligibility or, if they are transfer students, their supplemental certificate of eligibility, officials added.

Students now attending SUI who haven't used the GI bill for a semester or more are advised by VA officials to report to the VA office in order to facilitate their registration.

Extension Director Tells of Approved Soil Testing Plan

A state-approved plan for soil testing was announced yesterday by the offices of the county extension director and the chairman of the county AAA committee.

Ray E. Smalley, county AAA committee chairman, and Emmett C. Gardner, county extension director, said the plan would become effective immediately.

The plan was made possible by an agreement between the Iowa branch of the production and marketing administration and the Iowa State college agricultural extension service.

AAA men will collect the soil samples on the farms desiring this service, fill out information sheets and send the samples to the college testing laboratories. The fee for this service will be $1, and will be collected by the man who takes the sample.

Recommendations of the laboratory will be sent to the county AAA office, county extension office and to the farm operator. The program sampler will then consult with the farmer on these recommendations and how they should best be applied relative to AAA incentive payments.

Farmers desiring to take their own samples may still do so. They may get containers and forms from their county extension office, according to Smalley and Gardner.

This process of testing is being included in the educational program of the extension service. The services are being made available to farmers to extend the soil testing program in line with the objectives of the AAA program.

Iowa State college soil testing facilities are being expanded to handle 30-40,000 samples a year. Sampling program men will attend a training school conducted by the extension service of the college in cooperation with the county offices.

Funeral Tomorrow For Raymond Rust

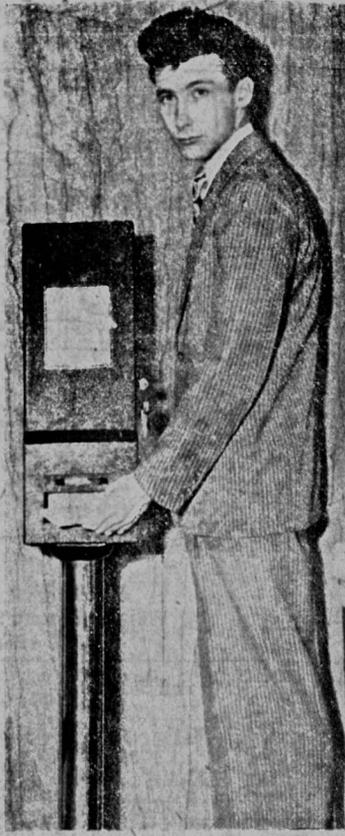

Private funeral services will be held for Raymond Roland Rust, 73, tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at Beckman's. Dr. L. L. Dunnington of the First Methodist church will officiate. Burial will be in Memory Gardens. The family requests that no flowers be sent.

Mr. Rust died at 6 p.m. Friday at his home, 108 S. Linn street, following a heart attack. Shortly before he came to Iowa City in October, 1948, he retired after 50 years of pharmacy at Marshalltown and Grinnell.

Surviving are one son, J. Bradley Rust, Iowa City architect; a daughter, Harriet, and one brother, E. R. Rust of Des Moines. His wife, Dr. Josephine Wetmore Rust, died Dec. 27, 1926.

Russ Blast Atlantic Pact

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Russia declared yesterday the United States and Britain are trying to undermine the United Nations, isolate Russia and grid for a new war through the projected North Atlantic pact.

The pact was declared to violate the UN charter.

The Western European union, likewise came under fire of the Soviet foreign ministry in a 34-page white paper, dated Jan. 28, made public here yesterday morning.

A few hours earlier the Western European union, made up of Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, announced in London a decision to form a council of Europe, in which other nations will be invited to take part.

The North Atlantic pact was proposed to link the United States and Canada with the Western European union in defense. President Truman has announced he hopes to submit the pact to congress soon.

The white paper, which took up nearly two full pages in the Moscow press, repeated numerous past accusations against Britain and the United States.

Inventory of Armory Equipment to Be Held

Its inventory time for the Iowa City national guard.

Sgt. Ed Windrem said yesterday the next three days will be spent checking all the general equipment in the armory.

Actually, it's no special occasion which calls for the inventory, but the assistant administrator of the 34th reconnaissance company would like to know exactly how much equipment is on hand.

Snowbound Sergeant Finds a 'Home'

AWAY FROM HIS SNOWBOUND HOME is Sgt. Charles Jennings shown above putting the finishing touch on one of his "home-cooked" meals. Jennings has been staying at the national guard armory since Thursday when a snowstorm blocked roads to his home three miles southwest of Iowa City. He is employed there as assistant administrator to company D of the national guard.

Iowa City Sergeant Snowbound

The latest snowstorm is playing tricks on Sgt. Charles Jennings, 20, assistant administrator in company D of the Iowa City national guard.

It seems that snows blocked the roads leading to the Jennings farm three miles southwest of Iowa City and so Jennings hasn't been home since Thursday morning.

The sergeant prepared to make the best of it. After phoning his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jennings that he wouldn't be home, he prepared a place to sleep in one of the army stock rooms in the armory.

The first day of Jennings "retreat" found him eating at a restaurant in the city. Rapidly tiring of this, the ambitious guardsman decided to cook his own meals, although he said they can't compare with his mother's cooking.

When Jennings has performed the duties of his position and night rolls around, he takes a couple of army blankets, covers himself, turns on a portable radio and listens to music.

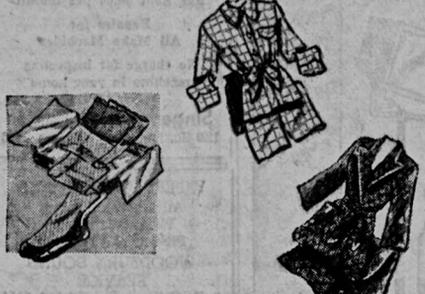

The unmarried sergeant said he expects to make it home sometime today although the roads were still blocked yesterday when he checked them.

But if a storm should blow up again today, well . . .
