Opinion Conference To Open this Morning

The first Iowa Conference on Attitude and Opinion Research opens at 9:15 a. m. today in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. SUI President Virgil M. Hancher will deliver the address of welcome at the opening session.

Heading the list of 21 participants at the conference will be two of the nation's "big three" in the field of public opinion sampling, Archibald Crossley and George Gallup.

The third member, Elmo Roper, director of the Fortune magazine survey, will not participate because he is recovering from an attack of pulmonary pneumonia.

Today's conference program is highlighted by four sessions and a luncheon at 12:15 p. m. in the River Room of the Memorial ion.

Following Hancher's opening address, Harvey H. Davis, dean and professor of SUI's graduate college, will present "The Role of the University in Social Science Research."

At 10 a. m. Samuel A. Stouffer, division of social relations, Harvard university, will discuss "Basic Social Science Research." Following his talk will be a discussion period by Stuart C. Dodd, director of the Washington Public Opinion Laboratory, University of Washington, and Clyde W. Hart, director of the National Opinion Research Center, Chicago.

The luncheon will feature "Co-operative Research in the Social Sciences" with Stouffer and Kenneth W. Spence, chairman of the SUI psychology department, presiding.

H. W. Saunders, SUI department of sociology, will preside at the 2 p. m. session, "Applies Social Science."

Participating in this session will be Crossley, Bernard Berelson, dean of the graduate library school, University of Chicago.

Francis H. Russell, director of the office of public affairs, department of state, Washington, D. C.; Morris H. Hansen, assistant statistician in the bureau of census, department of commerce, Washington, D. C.; Ralph O. Nafziger, director of research, school of journalism, University of Minnesota, and Frank R. Kennedy, SUI associate professor of law.

At 8 p. m. J. W. Albright, head of the department of sociology and anthropology, University of Illinois, will preside over "The Determinants of Public Opinion" session.

Those participating will be Carroll D. Clark, head of the department of sociology, University of Kansas; Ralph Casey, director of the school of journalism, University of Minnesota, and Berelson.

A paper by Wilbur Schramm, former head of SUI's school of journalism and now director of the institute of communications research, University of Illinois, will be read. Schramm cannot attend the conference as he is representing the university in legislative matters.

Paul F. Lazarsfeld, director of the bureau of applied social research, Columbia university, will conduct the discussion period at this session.

Liquor by Drink Bill Filed in Iowa

DES MOINES (P) — A bill to legalize the sale of liquors by the drink was filed yesterday with the Iowa house of representatives.

The measure is similar to others which have been proposed unsuccessfully in several recent sessions of the legislature. It is sponsored by Rep. Edward A. Burlingame Jr., (D-Elkader) and five other Democrats.

One of the principal features of the proposal is that such sales be made a matter of local option by cities, towns and counties. Licensed would be taverns, clubs both in and out of cities, and railroad dining cars.

Jessup to Represent U.S. at Conferences

WASHINGTON (P) — President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson have chosen Philip C. Jessup to represent the United States at future major international conferences, it was learned last night.

Jessup, who would be given the rank of ambassador-at-large, has been this country's representative on the United Nations security council.

Truman Labor Bill Hits a Slowdown; Hearings Extended

Truman's bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley act ran into a slowdown yesterday when the senate labor committee extended its hearings until Feb. 23.

This is 13 days behind the deadline set for tonight. It is a nine-day extension, in terms of actual hearing days.

The committee made its decision at an uproarious three-hour session. The final vote was unanimous but that didn't mean everybody was happy.

It was a defeat for the Democrats on the committee, though they have an 8-5 majority. It was they who forced through the Feb. 10 deadline. They didn't want to extend it.

They had to swallow the pill because the Republicans questioned the witnesses so thoroughly that about 30 more witnesses remained on the list with the deadline almost here.

The Democrats on the committee want speed and more speed for the Truman administration's bill. So do labor unions. The bill would repeal the Taft-Hartley act and revive the original Wagner act with certain additions.

The extension apparently means a delay in getting the bill to the senate for debate.

What its long-range effect will be is hard to estimate.

Ambassadors Meet With Dean Acheson

WASHINGTON (P) — Ambassadors of Denmark and Sweden outlined to Secretary of State Acheson late yesterday their government's views on Scandinavian defense in connection with the projected north Atlantic alliance.

The envoys called at the state department only a few hours after Acheson serviced notice the United States will go ahead with the north Atlantic defense agreement despite strong Russian criticism. He rejected Soviet charges that the pact represents an "aggressive policy."

Diplomatic officials said the Danish ambassador, Henrik De Kauffmann, made preliminary inquiries about terms on which Denmark could join the western alliance. They indicated De Kauffmann and his embassy aides planned a more intensive study at meetings later this week.

Paper Says Wallace Invited Nenni for Tour

ROME (P) — The Communist Newspaper La Repubblica said yesterday Henry A. Wallace has invited Socialist Pietro Nenni to participate in an American "propaganda tour" against an Atlantic alliance and the European recovery program.

In New York, Wallace could not be reached but a spokesman for him said there was no immediate comment.

Russ Again Back Yugoslavian Claims To Austrian Land

LONDON (P) — Russia brushed aside her Cominform "family fight" with Premier Marshal Tito yesterday and backed up Yugoslav demands for a slice of Austrian territory.

The Soviet Union renewed its long-standing support of Yugoslav claims at the opening of new big four talks by foreign ministers' deputies who have tried since 1946 to solve east-west disputes on an Austrian independence treaty.

The Yugoslav demand for 800 square miles of southern Austria and $150-million in reparations was the main stumbling block when talks broke down last spring.

Austrian leaders asked for the new treaty meeting in the hope that Russia would backtrack on her support of Yugoslav claims because of the split between Marshal Tito and other eastern European nations in the Russian-led Cominform — the International Communist Information bureau.

But American sources reported Russian Ambassador Georgi Zarubin again endorsed Yugoslav territorial claims at the opening session, putting the talks back to last spring's breakdown point.

The big four talks were seen by western diplomats as the first decisive test of Russia's new "peace offensive." American, British and French deputies were awaiting any signs that the Soviet Union would back up her talk of wanting east-west agreement by giving in on the Yugoslav claim.

Mitchum and Lila Get 60 Days

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Robert Mitchum, $3,250-a-week hero of the bobby soxers, turned in his Hollywood tweeds yesterday for jail denim. He was sentenced to 60 days in the county lockup on a charge of conspiring to possess marijuana.

The handsome film star and actress Lila Leeds, convicted on the narcotics count growing out of an alleged doped cigarette smoking party, steadily eyed Superior Judge Clement D. Nye as he passed similar sentences on each.

He placed them on probation for two years and ordered another charge — of actually possessing marijuana — put off the calendar, but not dismissed. This means that anytime during the probation period they can be tried on the other count.

The sentence followed an eloquent plea by Mitchum's attorney, Jerry Giesler, whose legal maneuverings have proved valuable in the past to Errol Flynn, Charles Chaplin and other film colonists.

There's a chance that Mitchum and Miss Leeds, who says she's 20, may be out of jail in 50 days. Good behavior normally cuts five days off every 30 in a sentence.

House Votes 316-69 to Repeal Republican's '48 Tariff Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration won a smashing victory yesterday as the house voted 319 to 69 to repeal the 1948 Republican tariff act and to reinstate the original reciprocal trade law until June 12, 1951.

President Truman in requesting the action said the GOP act hobbled trade pact negotiations. He said its repeal is needed to promote commerce and aid world peace.

On final passage 238 Democrats were joined by 80 Republicans and the one American Labor party member. Opposing were 63 Republicans and six Democrats.

The legislation now goes to the senate.

The old reciprocal trade law, which will be restored if the senate follows the house action, gives the President the power to cut American tariffs 50 percent below Jan. 1, 1945 levels in trade pacts with nations that agree to reduce their trade barriers.

The Republicans, when they were in power last year, revised this law: (A) to set up independent studies by the tariff commission and (B) require the President to explain to congress if he cut any import duty against the commission's advice that such a cut would damage an American industry.

The GOP - controlled congress then extended the trade law only one year, to June 30, 1949, against Mr. Truman's request for a three-year continuation, without amendments.

FRENCH DENOUNCE TRIAL

PARIS (P) — The French government last night denounced the trial and sentencing of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty. A foreign ministry statement referred to the "troubling circumstances in which the trial took place."

Iowa State and VA Reach Understanding On Tuition Charges

WASHINGTON (P) — The Veterans administration and Iowa State college appeared yesterday to have reached some understanding regarding VA claims the college had been overpaid for instructing GI's.

Nature of the agreement was not disclosed by a brief joint statement issued by VA and college officials at the close of all-day "informal talks."

The statement said: "As a result of a conference today between officials of the Veterans' administration and Iowa State college, in regard to tuition charges for GI training, numerous detailed questions were referred back for checking in the field."

"Meanwhile agreements have been reached for proceeding with arrangements for a new contract."

The Veterans' administration had claimed that an audit of the college's books indicated overpayments of more than $500,000 had been made during the past two and a half years, as a result of duplicate payments from two federal sources.

Also at issue was the school's method of calculating ration charges for instructing GI students.

Acheson Blasts at Trial of Cardinal

Says U.S. Considering UN Action; House Urges Raising of Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Acheson yesterday coldly condemned Hungary's conviction of Cardinal Mindszenty as "wanton" Communist religious persecution which has "sickened and horrified" the free world.

The United States, he disclosed, is already considering possible action through the United Nations.

Britain and France are being consulted on the next move.

Throughout the non-Communist world, a storm of protest was rising:

In Vatican City, it was announced that Pope Pius XII has protested solemnly against "the grave offense inflicted upon the whole church." The pontiff summoned the Sacred College of Cardinals to a "secret and extraordinary consistory" next Monday. He is expected to address the cardinals on the Mindszenty case.

In New York, Francis Cardinal Spellman called on Americans to emphasize their protests by wiping out "every Communist cell within our own government, our institutions."

Cardinal Spellman said the sentence of life imprisonment meted out to Cardinal Mindszenty on treason charges is "far from merciless, his martyrdom the greater" than if the verdict had been death.

On Capitol Hill, the house unanimously passed a resolution denouncing the Mindszenty trial and urging the United States to raise the issue in the United Nations or by other "appropriate" means. There was no debate on the resolution, which now goes to the senate.

Acheson's blunt and angry condemnation of Hungary, setting forth the official American position, came at a news conference.

Diplomatic officials said it was one of the most extensive indictments of a Russian satellite country ever to come from an American cabinet member.

Acheson noted that Hungary is not a member of the United Nations. But he said the Soviet-controlled country is definitely bound "by the obligations set forth in article 2 of the treaty of peace with Hungary."

And on the basis of this treaty, which guarantees freedom and human rights, Acheson said the United States may bring violation charges in the United Nations.

Three Injured in Dallas Street Shooting

PASSERBY GIVES FIRST AID to a man shot by fire from a berserk gunman who barricaded himself in a sixth floor room of the YMCA in Dallas, Tex., and sprayed pistol shots on a street intersection. At right two men seek protection behind a mailbox. Rest of crowd is out of line of fire. Three people were wounded by the gunman who was identified as Charles Gordon, a World War II veteran. He told police he was "shooting at Communists."

Emerson Dayton, 72, In Serious Condition From Bullet Wound

Emerson Dayton, 72, was reported in serious condition in University hospitals late last night from what police said were self-inflicted wounds.

Police said Paul Griffith, neon sign technician, heard a shot about 11:10 a. m. yesterday while working inside a house next to 904 Third avenue, where Dayton lived with a niece.

Griffith said he looked out a window and saw Dayton lying on the ground. Police reported that Lowell Biggs, a city garbage collector, had talked with Dayton before the shooting.

Police said a .32 caliber revolver was used. The bullet entered through the mouth and came out the right-top side of Dayton's head, according to police. Investigation failed to uncover any message from Dayton, police said.

Dayton's niece, Mrs. Elsie Parker, said her uncle had been melancholy for several days, but Tuesday night he "ate a good meal and seemed very jovial." She said Dayton has been in poor health since suffering a stroke last July which paralyzed his right arm.

Mrs. Parker and her husband were both at work at the time of the shooting.

Russians Hand Back Battleship to England

The Russians borrowed the warship in 1944. Britain plans to break it up for scrap.

Okay Law Suit Against Majors

Federal Court Rules Gardella Can Contest 'Reserve Clause'

NEW YORK (AP)—Danny Gardella, a wartime ball player who jumped to the Mexican league, yesterday was given the green light to proceed with a $300,000 damage suit against Organized Baseball which he claims has deprived him of means of livelihood.

In a split decision, 2-1, the increased use of radio and television has impressed upon baseball "an interstate character," bringing it within provisions of the anti-trust laws.

Gardella's suit, brought against Commissioner A. B. Chandler, the New York Giants and the presidents of the two major leagues, charges that baseball is a monopoly because of the "reserve clause" which binds a player to one club.

Without the clause, a player could offer his services each year to the highest bidder. Chaos would result, officials of the game declare, if the reserve clause ever is successfully attacked.

Baseball alone wouldn't be affected since most other professional sports — football, basketball and hockey — operate under similar provisions.

Yesterday's decision, written by Senior Judge Learned Hand, reverses a ruling made last July 14, by Judge Henry Goddard in federal district court, when he dismissed Gardella's suit before trial. The reversal came as a shock to the leaders of the national game.

Judge Goddard's ruling was based upon the opinion — frequently challenged in the past — that baseball is not engaged in trade or commerce under the Sherman Anti-Trust act.

Judge Hand did not rule yesterday on the reserve clause, but Judge Jerome N. Frank, who concurred with him in the decision, commented that the clause is "something resembling peonage of the baseball player."

Gardella, a short, heavily-muscled player who hit well for the Giants in 1945, but left something to be desired in his fielding, is under a five-year suspension which was slapped on him by Commissioner Chandler after he jumped to the Mexican league in the spring of '46.

He played in Canada last summer and for the past two months has been employed in a hospital at Mt. Vernon, N.Y., on the night shift. Advised of yesterday's decision, he burst out: "Just say I'm glad — we'll push it to the limit."

The central figure in a case which might stand organized baseball on its ears said he was too busy with his duties as an orderly to comment further.

His attorney, Frederic A. Johnson, was more voluble. He said "Well go right to trial," but pointed out that the defense will have 20 days in which to file an answer to the decision of the appeals court.

Walter Mulby, assistant to Commissioner Chandler and secretary of baseball, said in Cincinnati that the case will be fought to the supreme court if necessary.

Justice Harrie B. Chase, who dissented in yesterday's opinion, wrote in a separate opinion that he did not think the Gardella case was greatly different from one brought before the supreme court in 1922, when Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes ruled that baseball was not interstate trade or commerce in deciding the federal league case.

He said that "with the possible exception of the allegations as to the sale of broadcasting rights for radio and television," the case is "not different in any essential from that before the supreme court in the federal case."

St. Mary's Defeats Ottumwa Five, 55-28

An improved St. Mary's quintet sped by Catholic Central of Ottumwa here last night, 55-28.

With Dale Seydel and Paul Flannery pacing the Ramblers, the Ottumwa crew could put up only a meager resistance to the host team's fast breaking offense.

Seydel sank six baskets and four free throws for 16 points to lead in the scoring department. Flannery hit for 11 markers before fouling out in the fourth quarter.

With 30 seconds remaining in the first period, Ottumwa threatened for the only time when Jim Murray hit a push shot setting the score at 11-8. Before the quarter ended, Flannery drove under the basket on a fast break to give his mates a 13-8 margin.

Gaining momentum, the Iowa City lads moved farther out into the lead in the second stanza and at half-time it was 29-11.

The score going into the final eight minutes of play was 44-18.

Cut Frosh Cage Squad to Eighteen

Eighteen players have survived the final cut of Iowa's freshman basketball team, Coach Frank (Bucky) O'Connor announced yesterday.

Only seven of the squad are under 6-feet 2-inches. Among the loftier men are Charles Darling, 6-feet 8-inches, Ft. Logan, Colo.; Hubert Johnston, Wheeling, W. Va. and Jack Miller, Lake Park, both 6-feet 5-inches and Wayne Freshour, Ottumwa, and Gene Gettys, Oskaloosa, both 6-feet 4-inches.

Yesterday's decision, written by Senior Judge Learned Hand, reverses a ruling made last July 14, by Judge Henry Goddard in federal district court, when he dismissed Gardella's suit before trial.

Taking Time Out With Buck Turnbull

Something to Tell Pop About His Generation —

Students of this 1949 athletic era needn't feel that they are a bunch of hooding bums in every sense of the word, although you kind of wonder whether crowd behavior at basketball games is getting worse throughout the Big Nine. It must have always been the same, but just recently newspapers and athletic officials have riveted their attention on it.

The official Western conference records book shows that Pappy, and maybe Ma too, got in his share of rebellious boos and hisses back in the "good old days," he tells us about.

We quote from the chronology section of the book regarding conference happenings. "Sept. 13, 1922—Meeting held with basketball officials to work out procedure for improvement of crowd behavior at basketball games."

So when Pop comes forth with some familiar saying like, "What is this generation coming to with all that booing nonsense? Why when I was in school . . ." you just read him the above squib and ask, "Didn't you graduate from college in the early '20s, Dad?"

Marcellus Boston, frosh track sprinting star from Washington, D.C., might make a pretty good break-away runner for the football team says Dr. Eddie Anderson. Naturally Track Coach Francis Cretzmeier doesn't think so, though. Might ruin him for track.

Boston came within one-tenth of a second of tying the American 60-yard dash record with his time :06.2 in the All-University Relay carnival Jan. 22.

The other day Anderson watched the speed-demon make a couple of fast turns around the indoor fieldhouse track. Then, undoubtedly thinking of the ruminous Buddy Young at Illinois, he suggested that Boston ought to come out for spring football and lend speed to the gridders' hopes.

When last seen Cretzmeier was telling Boston the evils of gridiron contract. "Yeah, it bruises your legs and hurts your muscles . . ." he said as his voice drifted away.

Wally Ris, Iowa's Olympic swimming champ, has already announced his intention of trying out for quarterback with the football squad this spring. After Hawkeye fans have seen Ris churn through the water in record time and watched Boston leg it around the track faster than most humans, it would seem odd to see Ris spin out of the T-formation and fire a lateral to Boston for a quick tour around an enemy flank.

We kind of doubt whether Illinois will miss Guard Burdette Thurlby as much as it might seem. Thurlby played his last game for the 1949 title-bound Illini Monday as they walloped Northwestern, 85-66.

Statistics show that his replacement, Don Sunderlage, may make them a little rougher in the final five games, the toughest of which could be Saturday night against Ohio State.

Although Thurlby was a regular and Sunderlage a reserve, you would never know it. By comparison: Sunderlage, 127 shots attempted, Thurlby 133; Sunderlage 40 field goals, Thurlby 36; Sunderlage 30 free throws and 12 missed, Thurlby 21 and 16; Sunderlage .315 shot percentage, Thurlby .271. Sunderlage is currently fourth in Illini scoring behind Dike Eddleman, Bill Erickson and Wally Osterkorn.

Thurlby, who is a junior, will be back with the Illini next winter.

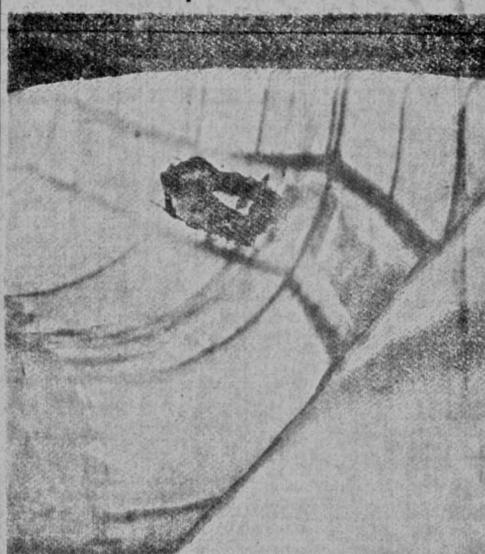

Iowa's basketball team is slowly falling behind opponents in the free throw department. The Hawks have a 90-60 record for .600, while their foes have 102-47 for .677. Purdue's free throwing against Iowa was remarkable this year: 47 made and only 14 missed in the two games for .753. Norris Caudell and Andy Butchko missed 10 of the 14 between them.

The sprint free style relay, last event, has decided three of Iowa's four swimming meets with Purdue. Last Monday night the Hawks won the relay and took the meet, 46-38. That was the same score as the 1947 meet with Purdue in the Iowa pool.

Illinois Paces Big 9 Scoring

CHICAGO (P) — Illinois' 1949 Big Nine basketball team, with a 6-1 record, is the highest scoring outfit in the Western conference. But only one of its players has ever scored as much as 20 points in a conference game, and only one Illini ranks in the 10 leading individual scorers in the Big Nine.

After seven conference games, Coach Harry Combes' Illinois squad is averaging 59.1 points to top the Big Nine. The Illini hit their peak Monday night, defeating Northwestern, 85-66. Yet, their field goal shooting average is .277, third best, and Forward Dike Eddleman is the only player to hit as many as 20 points, scoring those against Northwestern. Illinois' top scorer is Guard Bill Erickson with 78 points, good enough for ninth in the individual scoring standings.

Illinois' success depends upon group scoring. Erickson has scored 10 points or more in four games, hitting 17 twice; Eddleman has done the same thing in four games. Jimmy Marks has hit 10 or more in three games, scoring 13 twice; Burdette Thurlby has a similar record, with a high of 13. Wally Osterkorn has hit 10 or better in two games with a high of 18.

Ohio State is the conference's No. 2 scoring team with a 58.9 average, followed by Purdue, 54.8. Minnesota remains the top defensive unit, having held its opponents to an average of 40.3. The Golden Gophers also remain the most accurate shooters, with a team mark of 329, followed by Ohio State with 322.

This Saturday's schedule again matches the top scoring teams in the Big Nine with Ohio State at Illinois. Michigan engages Indiana at Bloomington, Iowa is at Minnesota, Wisconsin is at Northwestern and Purdue is at Michigan State.

'Pops' Encouraged By Hawkeye Play In Purdue Contest

Pops Harrison was encouraged by his team's performance last Saturday against Purdue, he said yesterday. Harrison had special praise for the new starting combination that had Stan Straatsma at guard.

"We got the shots, and close-in ones too, and our pressing defense made it tough for Purdue," the coach said. Iowa looked good as it broke up Boilermaker passes and made the home team commit costly fumbles.

"Charlie Mason did a nice job at forward as high scorer for both teams, but we can't seem to get scoring out of the other forward position," Harrison continued. Mason scored 14 points to take second place in team scoring for conference contests with 44 points. Tony Guzowski leads with 11.

In preparing for Saturday's clash with Minnesota at Minneapolis, special defenses are being set up to meet the Gophers' one-two punch, Whitey Skoog and Jim McIntyre. The two stars sank 41 points between them in the Jan. 1, contest here, which the Gophers won, 61-45.

Three Students Win Golden Gloves Bouts

Only three SUI students — Roger Welty, Dick Kanellis and Noel Knotts — survived last night's second evening of the 14th annual Cedar Rapids Golden Gloves.

Welty decided over Jerry Rohrer, Forest City, in the 147-pound division. Dick Kanellis decided Rodney Krome, Keokuk, also 147 pounds.

Heavyweight Knotts defeated Jack Scanlon in a bout that pitted two SUI fighters against each other.

Kanellis will meet Leo Martin, Keokuk, and Welty will fight Lesty Green, Dubuque, in 147 pound bouts tonight. If they both win they will meet in the finals later tonight.

Iowa City boxers defeated last night were Dale Seydel, 135 pounds, by Don Dochterman, Cedar Rapids (decision); Bob Berens, 175 pounds, by Cal Schoemak, Dubuque (decision), and Larry Lemme, 175 pounds, by Jim Sorenson, Toledo (KO, one minute, second round).

Windows Help Armbruster

— Coach Iowa Swimmers

Swimming Coach Dave Armbruster can observe his swimmers from under water without getting wet.

Though five glass windows installed in the sides of the swimming pool in the SUI fieldhouse, Armbruster can watch his tankers in action and thus better correct their swimming style.

Armbruster gains access to the windows in the pool walls through a tunnel built around the pool which was intended to make it easier to spot leaks in the walls.

Armbruster, realizing the advantage of being able to check on the form of his swimmers from beneath the surface of the water had the windows installed when the pool was built in 1927.

The Hawkeye tank mentor says he can get a "natural view" from the windows that is much like an underwater movie.

Armbruster pioneered the use of glass observation windows as an aid to coaching the water sport.

"I've done a lot of coaching from down there," he said. "Aside from watching the swimmers' form I take motion pictures to show the swimmers and to point out and illustrate mistakes I've discovered.

In his book, "Competitive Swimming and Diving," Armbruster gives instructions on how to construct an observation tunnel. He also tells the type of camera and lens to use for best results in taking pictures from observation windows.

NEW YORK (P) — Tommy Henrich, brilliant New York Yankee outfielder, yesterday became the fourth highest salaried player in the club's history when he signed his 1949 contract for a reported $40,000.

Civic Concert Brings Iva Kitchell

Dancing Satirist to Star Here Monday

Iva Kitchell, dance satirist and comedian, will be featured by the Iowa City Civic Concert series in the City high school auditorium Monday.

This famous dance humorist has performed throughout the United States and Europe. She began by dancing a few comedy roles with the Chicago Opera company but she soon joined the Ballet Russe, touring with them in the winter and performing in theatre stage shows and night clubs before starting her numerous appearances as solo concert artist.

Her most famous recital took place in Carnegie Hall in November when she presented a new series of satirical dances which kept her audience in a constant state of laughter. The noted critic, John Martin of the New York Times, said in his review of her concert, "She laughs at everything quite indiscriminately, but always in the best of humor and without a trace of malice."

The tiny, attractive, 27-year-old Iva Kitchell is best known for her impersonations and caricatures, notably the "Dances Murdering the Dance" and "Oriental Dance by an Occidental Girl." Also of wide audience appeal are her humorous characterizations of the old and young, store-keepers, shopgirls, artists, and housewives, and numerous take-offs of the classic ballet dances.

In explaining her approach to the art of humorous dance, Kitchell said, "I work on a thing until I know what I will be doing on every sixteenth note of the music. I labor over the technique until I am no longer able to improve it, then I try to forget the whole elaborate structure of the dance."

"Each time I give a concert I try to believe that I am doing dances which have never been done before. I never expect a laugh at a certain place, and when I have finished a concert that pleased me, I put it out of my mind immediately. I can't make people laugh tonight with last night's performance."

Bordwell to Speak At Dinner Meeting

Prof. Percy Bordwell will be the principal speaker at a dinner-meeting for past staff members of the Iowa Law Review to be held tonight at 6 p.m. in the Iowa Memorial Union.

The announcement was made yesterday by Jack C. Merriman, editor of the Law Review.

Guests of honor at the dinner will be Dean Mason Ladd and Attorney Tye Ingersoll, Cedar Rapids tax specialist.

Nine members of last year's board of editors will be awarded law review certificates for their excellent work, Merriman said.

Certificates will go to G. Duane Vieth, John Moodie, Donald Wine, Charles Harris, Thomas Lynch, Robert Barclay, Jack Heysinger, Dan McNabb, and Melvin Wolf.

A PICTORIAL GLIMPSE into Monday's civic concert program is shown above as a dance satirist and comedienne Iva Kitchell demonstrates one of her more intricate dance steps. The dance humorist, a former Ballet Russe artist, will present her program in the City high school auditorium Monday as part of the Iowa City Civic Concert series.

No Changes Until Saturday

Registration changes will not be accepted by the registrar's office until Saturday, Registrar Ted H. McCarrel said yesterday.

However, he added, students with schedule conflicts should obtain registration change blanks in the registrar's office. They should fill out the form and secure the signatures of their advisor and the instructor of the course to be added. Students must bring the completed form to the registrar's office in person.

Students should attend the new course but no registration changes will be accepted by the registrar during the first three days of the semester, McCarrel said.

Those receiving benefits under P.L. 346 or P.L. 16 should also obtain the signature of the director of the veterans' service.

Registration changes may be made before noon Feb. 28 with the approval of the student's advisor. After this date new courses may be added to the student's schedule only with the approval of the dean of the college, McCarrel said.

He said courses dropped within the first six weeks of the semester are assigned a mark of W (withdrawn).

Courses dropped after the first six weeks are assigned a mark of F if the student is passing at the time of the withdrawal. If the student is doing failing work a mark of F will be assigned for the dropped course.

Dentistry Students To Sponsor Dance At Union Saturday

The Apollonian Frolic, annual dance of the Associated Students of Dentistry, will be held Saturday evening in the main lounge of Iowa Union. Music will be provided by Bill Meardon's orchestra.

The dance is held in February in honor of St. Apollonius, the patron saint of dentistry. The medieval torture of St. Apollonius consisted of breaking his teeth and crushing them separately in order to wring a confession from her.

Guests at the dance will be President and Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher; Dean and Mrs. Carlyle Jacobsen; Dean and Mrs. A. W. Bryan; Dean and Mrs. R. A. Kuever; Dean and Mrs. Mayo Soley; Mary Wilke, president of the Student Pharmaceutical association; Darl E. Vander Ploeg, president of the Associated Students of Medicine, and faculty of the college of dentistry and associated departments.

Committee members for the Frolic are Keith McNurlen, D3, chairman; Harold L. Edwards, D1; Alfred Kokjohn, D1; Verner Strode Hinds, D1; Arthur Hussmann, D2; Stuart Foulke, D2; Elwin Muntz, D3; Robert Geiger, D3; Richard Geiger, D3; Henry DeJong, D3; Jack Miller, D3; Paul Horne, D3; Richard Folsom, D3, and James Cross, D4.

Two Manuscripts Added to Library

Two more original manuscripts have been received by the SUI library to add to its collection of manuscripts by Iowa authors, Assistant Library Director Grace Van Wormer said yesterday.

The manuscripts are "The Navaho" by Clyde Kluckhohn, former LeMars resident, and "The Birds of Arctic Alaska" by Alfred M. Bailey, former Iowa City resident.

After work at Culver Military academy, Princeton, and the University of Wisconsin, Kluckhohn studied abroad as a Rhodes scholar at Oxford and in Vienna, Paris and Madrid. Kluckhohn has taught anthropology at the University of New Mexico and at Harvard. He has written many books, most of them relating to the lives of the Navaho Indians.

Last year his "Anthropology and Modern Life" received the $10,000 prize from the McGraw-Hill Co. as the best book on science for the layman.

Kluckhohn is head of the Russian Research center at Harvard. Bailey received his bachelor of arts degree from SUI in 1916. He is now director of the Colorado Museum of Natural History in Denver.

Council To Act On Rules Shift

The Student Council will begin action on proposed changes in the council constitution at their meeting tonight at 7:30 in room 7, Schaeffer hall.

Aim of the revised constitution would be to provide a smoother working set of rules and regulations for the council, Evan L. Hultman, council president, said yesterday. The council has been working under a three-year-old constitution which has proven to be inadequate from past experience, he added.

Prof. Walter R. Goetsch, faculty advisor to the council, yesterday said revision is needed because the present constitution "does not delegate any specific duties to the Student Council."

In other actions the council will: 1. Appoint a constitution committee to study the revisions needed in a new constitution.

2. Discuss the proposed changes in future campus chest drives recommended by the chest committee at a previous meeting.

3. Hear a report by the orientation committee on recommendations for future orientation programs.

Committee Chooses Connor Chairman Of Interfaith Fund

William Connor, M3, Iowa City, was elected chairman of the Interfaith Scholarship fund committee at a meeting Tuesday night.

Plans were discussed at the meeting for Hans Umstaetter, graduate student from Germany who is being sponsored at SUI by the group, Mrs. Kelso said.

Ray Talley, E4, Amoria, Okla., will schedule the speeches Umstaetter will make at civic groups here after the German student has become better acquainted with the university. Umstaetter will speak later in the semester to each of the seven student church groups represented on the scholarship fund committee, Mrs. Kelso said.

The German student is living at a Quadrangle cottage and is teaching four hours a week as an assistant in the German department, according to Mrs. Kelso.

The Interfaith Scholarship fund committee is composed of married students from student church groups.

She Quit School to Join Army

ADMIRING THE ARMY AIRFORCE INSIGNIA and stripe on the trim uniform of her twin sister, Pfc. Virginia Roland, is Ruth Ann Roland, A3, Tipton, Virginia is visiting Ruth while enroute to Chanute field, Rantoul, Ill. She has been in the army airforce for three months.

'Pert Private' Likes Airforce

From home economics to the army is quite a change, but Private First Class Virginia Roland, 21, Tipton, likes her new life in the army airforce "very much."

Pfc. Roland arrived here Tuesday to visit for two days with her twin sister, Ruth, A3, and her aunt, Mrs. A.J. Schermerhorn, housemother at the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity house.

The pert private is enroute to Chanute field, Rantoul, Ill., for three months training in a weather observation school. After that she hopes to attend officers' candidate school in July. To be eligible for this training a woman must have completed two years of college and be from 21 to 26 years old.

Besides the change from coed at Iowa State college to soldier in the airforce, Virginia Roland's appearance underwent an alteration.

The army has failed to keep up with the "new look" and Virginia's skirts are appallingly short. She also had to trim her shoulder-length hair to a short bob to comply with army regulations.

Master Sergeant O.A. McClung of the Iowa City army recruiting office Tuesday verified the fact that Virginia has reason to be proud of her position in the airforce. Only two women a month are enlisted in the airforce from the Iowa-Nebraska district, he said.

Fields open to women include office work, radio work, mechanics and weather observation. A woman can choose practically any type of work she wishes after basic training, explained Pfc. Roland.

"I am very disappointed that they don't teach women to fly," she mourned.

One interesting experience Virginia has had during her service in the army was marching in the 1949 inaugural parade in Washington, D.C.

"Ninety girls from my squadron took part in the ceremony. It was quite a thrill!" she exclaimed.

Hillcrest Council Names Officials

The Tri-Dorm dance sponsored by Hillcrest, the Quadrangle and South Quadrangle may not be held as planned March 4.

Andrew Lorence, Hillcrest social chairman, said last night at a meeting of the Hillcrest council that no suitable name band has been found as yet that can fill the date.

Other council business included the appointment of Roland L. Vander Hamm as chairman of a committee to supervise the election of a new councilman-at-large to replace Mauro A. Checchio who graduated last week.

Council member Herbert Brown was named to the Hillcrest judiciary board to replace George D. Miller who also graduated.

Four-Car Accident Due to Icy Streets

Icy streets contributed to a four-car accident at 4 p.m. yesterday at the Burlington and Dodge streets intersection, police reported.

Elmer Hahn, route 8, driver of one of the cars involved, estimated $125 damage to his car. Cars driven by George Cole, 625 Fourth avenue, and Roy Gruwell, 1861 Muscatine avenue, each had about $50 damage, Hahn said.

The fourth car involved was driven by Mrs. G. H. Swails, 611 Oakland avenue. No damage to her car was reported.

Students Pick Their Own Speakers for Careers Conference

The collegiate chamber of commerce is now surveying SUI students to determine their choice of speakers for the annual Careers Conference April 27 and 28.

The conference is held for the purpose of acquainting SUI students with the requirements in various business fields.

Students in Prof. C. Woody Thompson's Public Utilities course and in Clark Bloom's Business Organization and Corporation Finance were polled recently as to their choice of speakers. All other students having any choice of interests or speakers may contact Bob Sweany, 102 Finkbine, Guy Ames, 226 Magowan avenue, or Prof. C. Woody Thompson, who is in charge of the Careers Conference.

Sweany explained yesterday that there is time in the two days conference for 36 speakers. The planners of the conference are anxious to know the students' wishes so only the most interesting and profitable speakers can be obtained.

Delegates to Attend Farm Youth Meeting

The Johnson County Junior Farm bureau will send from 12 to 15 members to the annual Iowa Rural Young People's assembly to be held at Ames, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Farm Bureau Director Emmett C. Gardner said yesterday.

Kenneth Smalley, treasurer of the Johnson County Junior Farm bureau, will be a candidate for a directorship of the Iowa Rural Young People's governing group. Smalley has twice been president of the local junior bureau.

A "womanless wedding" skit will be put on by the Johnson county group as part of the entertainment program in Ames. This will be the 14th annual assembly held by the young people's group at Iowa State college.

Among the guest speakers at the assembly will be Lauren K. Soth, editorial writer for the Des Moines Register and Tribune, who will speak on "What Comes After the Marshall Plan?"

County Dime March $938 Short of Goal

The latest total for the Johnson county March of Dimes drive now stands at $4,062.72, only $938 short of the $5,000 goal, Mrs. J.K. Schaaf, chairman, said yesterday.

Committee members were apprehensive about the success of the campaign when earlier reports showed the drive far short of the goal.

The $5,000 goal can be reached if rural residents return the rural mailing cards, Mrs. Schaaf said. Only 128 cards have so far been returned out of the 1,000 that were mailed to the surrounding Iowa City area, she said.

Mailing cards and contributions may be mailed to March of Dimes, post office box 89, Iowa City, throughout this month.

MR. KIDDER, of Kidder Peabody, was strolling through the cashier's cage when he spied an unfamiliar character counting thousand-dollar bills. "You look like a bright young fellow," commented Mr. Kidder.

"Where did you receive your financial training?" "Yale," said the character. "Fine," boomed Mr. Kidder, "and what did you say was your name?" "Yohnson," was the reply.

In London, a man named Castleton wandered into the incoming freight section at Waterloo Station and pasted labels, addressed to himself, on three bulky packages. The next day he complained bitterly to Scotland Yard. The packages were stolen between the station and his house.

GAZING AT the small device which we jokingly call our can opener, it came to me recently that no one has ever decided which came first . . . the can or the can opener.

It hardly seems probable that anyone could invent such a container as the tin can without first having developed a means of opening the aforementioned container.

On second thought, it hardly seems possible that a man one day walked through a five and ten cent store, picked up a can opener and then went home to invent a can to open with the instrument he purchased.

WHETHER THE can or the opener came first, however, is not primary in importance. The problem at present seems to be that no one has invented a good can opener.

During the period of a year we buy four or five can openers. It is not that these can openers wear out . . . they don't get a chance to . . . I throw them away first.

This is responsible for conflict and strife at our house, but if there's anything I can't stand, it's an uncooperative can opener.

CAN OPENERS always choose the wrong time to balk. When a man is hungry, he is short of patience. When he is short of patience dire thoughts are apt to present themselves in his mind.

It is fortunate we do not own an ax. If we did, there would be many divots out of our kitchen floor from operations on tomato and bean cans.

Even the uneducated sea gull has it over us when it comes to opening food containers. Do you know what a sea gull does with an obstinate clam? He flies up into the stratosphere with his clam and drops it on a slab of cement or a boulder.

That's the way I like to see things done.

MANY IS THE time I have thought of using a ball-peen hammer and a cold chisel in a moment of starvation.

When this happens I roundly curse the people who make it their business to put things in cans. They just go ahead blindly and seal up fruits and vegetables by the thousands, never giving a thought to how anyone will get the processed food to the table.

The canners of sardines try to help by giving special opening keys with their product, but once that key is lost the operation must be completed with pliers or gunshot.

THERE ARE TWO basic types of can openers; the ripper and the grinder.

The ripper is a device which functions on the principle of fulcrum and lever with a dull blade tearing the top off the can in great jagged rents. If you should accidentally step on a tin opened in that manner, you would immediately become an excellent prospect for an artificial limb salesman.

The grinder type opener has a toothed wheel which grips the bottom of the flange at the top of a can while a circular blade is supposed to neatly trim away the lid.

For the first six cans opened with the grinder type everything is roste. Manufacturers of this type opener, however, cleverly add quantities of lead to their product so that it becomes so dull after the first few openings that the instrument couldn't eat its way through a thin haze.

ONE TRICK that no one seems to have thought of yet is that of placing a small explosive charge beneath tin can lids.

With this system every meal-time would be a period of lively blasts punctuated by housewife shouting, "Fire One . . . BALOOM . . . Fire Two!"

China's President Li Wins Confidence of Skeptical Observers

NANKING — Acting President Li Tsung-Jen appeared today to be winning the confidence of many who viewed him with suspicion when he took over the government from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Li's task has been difficult. Most of the people who staff his administration had owed their loyalty and subordination to Chiang. They are still loyal to the retired generalissimo but are being less cool toward Li.

Certain diehard elements in the Kuomintang (National party), however, still do not like Li and mistrust his actions. They were the same group who sometimes questioned decisions of the generalissimo and on rare occasions rebelled against him.

Public confidence in Li was evidenced by growing optimism over prospects of an eventual peace settlement between the Kuomintang and the Communists. Quarters which previously blamed the government for the civil war are now shifting their attention to the Communists.

His confidence in a favorable outcome of the forthcoming peace negotiations, according to persons closely associated with him, has been shown by the clamor of some government officials to remain in Nanking and the return of many families which fled.

37 SUI 'Ambassadors' to Go On Minnesota Trip Saturday

About 37 SUI student representatives will leave Saturday for a weekend of activities in Minneapolis as guests of the University of Minnesota.

The group will be given reserved seats at the Iowa-Minnesota basketball game Saturday night and will be entertained afterward at a reception and dance in the Minnesota Union, Evan L. Hultman, Student Council president, said yesterday.

Plans received from Minnesota include overnight accommodations for the SUI representatives at Minnesota fraternities and sororities, Hultman said. The students will be taken on a tour of the Minnesota campus Sunday morning before leaving Minneapolis at 10:30, he added.

Hultman said the SUI group will leave the Iowa Union at 8 a.m. by chartered bus and expect to arrive in Minneapolis about 7 p.m.

The Minnesota Daily reported Tuesday that members of the Minnesota Student Congress "are in doubt as to whether they could finance the entertainment of the Iowa guests." Hultman said yesterday the report was "erroneous" and that he had received a telephone call assuring him that the Minnesota council would finance the visit.

The group will be accompanied by Dean Dewey B. Stuit, acting dean of the college of liberal arts, and Mrs. Stuit, Hultman said.

Organizations which will send representatives include the Student Council, Women's Co-op dormitories, Quadrangle, South Quadrangle, University Women's association, Tallfeathers, Hillcrest, The Daily Iowan, Union Board, Currier, Town Women, Women's Recreation association, Panhellenic council and Interfraternity council.

Compromise Settles Patterson Will Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $400,000 lump-sum, tax-free payment to her daughter yesterday ended the Eleanor M. Patterson will contest.

The $16,586,517 estate of the late Washington publisher had been at stake.

Mrs. Felicia Gizycka, Mrs. Patterson's only child, who contested the will, agreed to take the $400,000 in lieu of the $25,000 a year for life which her mother had bequeathed her.

Other bequests to Mrs. Gizycka are not altered in the compromise settlement announced yesterday. These include an estate on Long Island, N.Y., a ranch in North Dakota, jewelry, art and other personal property of Mrs. Patterson. Under the agreement, the executors will pay Mrs. Gizycka $100,000 within ten days, $300,000 within 9 days. The estate, in turn, will be reimbursed by the seven executives of the Washington Times-Herald who inherited the newspaper, and by two other beneficiaries.

His Honor Disagrees, Fires Jury for Life

SCRANTON, PA. (AP) — "You are very charitable," Judge Michael J. Eagen told 12 criminal court jurors yesterday after they acquitted Mrs. Wanda Sandy, 57, of abortion charges.

Then he ordered the names of the jurors — including the wife of Director of Public Works Joseph T. Halpin — stricken from the Lackawanna jury wheel "for all future time."

Sally's Recordings Reveal Hitler 'Sad'

WASHINGTON (AP) — American-born Mildred E. (Axis Sally) Gillars told U.S. women listeners in a 1943 Nazi broadcast that the war made Hitler "very, very unhappy."

This was brought out yesterday in the federal court trial of Miss Gillars on a 10-count treason indictment accusing her of aiding Germany's psychological warfare program by broadcasting Nazi propaganda.

The 48-year-old defendant, who collapsed in court Tuesday, sat listlessly while wax recordings of her German wartime broadcasts were played back to the jury yesterday.

The voice dealt with the familiar Nazi theme that World War II was "no war between Germany and America but a war between the Jews and Gentiles."

She said the war made "the fuhrer, Adolf Hitler" sad because he had "no interest whatever in America."

As brought out in numerous broadcasts, this was an ever-repeated Nazi contention — that Germany had no quarrel with the United States and that American soldiers were being sacrificed by the late President Roosevelt on behalf of the Jews.

Agricultural Group Adopts Practices

The Johnson County Agricultural Conservation association recently re-adopted six conservation practices and approved one new conservation practice for use by local farmers, AAA Director, Ray E. Smalley said yesterday.

Standard terracing, contouring intertilled crops, installing tile drainage facilities, making fertilizer plans, and using green manure crops were re-adopted as carryovers from last year's program of conservation methods.

The new conservation method, seeding or re-seeding lands to prevent erosion, was adopted for use of Johnson county farmers.

Under this program of approved conservation practices, the AAA will share expenses with the farmer on installation or use costs of the above practices. This is an attempt to insure the maintenance of the land and to induce the farmers to use practices that are locally approved, Smalley said.

"The use of these practices will insure the land for generations to follow those now working the farms," he added.

Committee to Consider Invasion Warnings Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house armed services committee will start hearings today on legislation to authorize establishment of a radar picket screen around the continental United States.

The legislation has the backing of the armed services and has been cleared by the budget bureau.

Its purpose is to set up a system of invasion warnings coordinated with existing off-shore radar equipment.

The motto of the drive is "open your heart—give—fight heart disease." The drive opened Monday and will extend through Feb. 28.

Pilot Tells Haylift Story

Relates Experiences as Hay Wagon Flyer In Recent Letter to Iowa City Sister

The "behind-the-scenes" story of "Operation Haylift," now being conducted in Nevada and Utah, was revealed by haylift pilot, Major Harry E. Novinger, in a letter received yesterday by his sister, Mrs. Merle Walker, 445 Riverdale village.

Novinger reported he has been working from 7 a.m. until midnight every day and that "I just haven't gotten to eat three meals some days."

In spite of this, he said, parts of the flight are "more fun than I've had since my first flying days." His enlistment in the air force dates back to 1940.

"It was my hardest day's work since I've been in the air force," was Novinger's comment about Tuesday, Jan. 25, the first day of the operation.

As of Jan. 29, the day he wrote the letter, he estimated that the haylift might have to be kept in operation for a month, even after the snow is gone, because "there isn't anything left (for the animals), to eat, and the ranchers are so financially hurt now that they can't afford to ship the feed in by truck."

"Without free transportation, which is us, the stock will die anyway," he said. "The lift pilots had not been able to make trips to all the ranches at the time the letter was written."

This is the worst winter in history for the ranchers, and follows a "very bad drought last summer," Novinger said.

He said the ranchers estimate they will lose half their livestock despite the hay that is being flown in. They had counted on losing two-thirds.

The planes carry four to five tons each trip, depending on how long the trip is to be, he said. As of Jan. 29, the haylift hauled 919,657 tons of hay, divided into 8,688 bundles. The bundles are divided into bales of 90 and 120 pounds. The pilots had flown 70,500 miles on their 112 trips.

They begin a round trip at Fallon, Nev., fly 200 miles to Ely, Nev., land and pick up a rancher, fly to his ranch and drop the hay. After the drop they return to Ely, drop off the rancher and return to Fallon for another load.

"We sometimes get in two such trips in one day if the weather is good, he said.

Novinger won the air medal during the war when a bomber he was ferrying back to the United States from Honolulu began to lose oil and all but one of its engines failed. They landed on a small island.

Johnson Predicts Drop in Consumer Spending for 1949

People in the U.S. will spend less for consumer goods in 1949 than they did last year, Prof. Robert H. Johnson said in an article in the Iowa Business Digest.

Johnson, assistant professor in the SUI college of commerce, predicted in the February issue of the Digest that the percentage of disposable consumer's income spent during 1949 will decline. It has been declining during the past 18 months, Johnson added.

This trend in consumer spending, Johnson said, is in line with other economic trends which have revived fears in the business world that the economy is on the brink of depression.

"The uneasiness which is evident in the business world is intensified by a general feeling that the boom has lasted about as long as can be reasonably expected," Johnson said.

In addition to decreased consumer spending Johnson mentioned declines in private construction and exports, and increased taxation as other weaknesses in the overall economic outlook.

Johnson listed seven "economic cushions" which he believes are likely to reduce the severity of downward adjustments.

These "cushions" are agricultural price supports, the social security program, government spending, minimum wage standards and wage rigidities, the fact that there is a large backlog of critically needed public works, expandable consumer credit, and the possibility of using certain types of fiscal policy as a means of preventing deflation and unemployment.

Johnson concluded that most experts are predicting a "sidewise" movement in the economy which means that most economists are unwilling to commit themselves with a definite forecast for the coming year.

New Bluing Puts Glow in Clothes

Do you shine at night? The reason may be your terrific personality or the fact that the "missus" is using soap or bluing that has new-type fluorescent dyes as an ingredient.

L.A. Bradley, manager of the SUI laundry, said these dyes are really white, but the ultra-violet rays in light make them look whiter than when regular soap or bluing is used.

Clothes washed in soap or rinsed in bluing containing the fluorescent dyes will glow vividly under an ultra-violet lamp.

Housewives are warned against advertisements that "build-up" bluing that tends to discolor clothes, leaving them yellow instead of the white glow intended.

To protect against bad results of defective bluing, whoever "does your laundry" should stop using dye and add vinegar as a neutralizing agent for one or two washings instead.

Educational Fraternity Hears SUI Official

Frances Camp, director of the SUI educational placement office and coordinator of the placement service, spoke on federal aid for education Tuesday night at the meeting of Pi Lambda Theta, honorary educational fraternity for women.

A potluck dinner preceded the meeting at the home of Alma B. Hovey, assistant professor of English at SUI.

More Marines Leave China; 1,200 Remain

SHANGHAI (AP) — Two ships pulled out of Tsingtao with 1,600 U.S. marines Tuesday as part of a program drastically reducing American strength in China.

With most of the leathernecks leaving, the U.S. combat force in China is left at roughly one marine battalion at Tsingtao and one at Shanghai (a total of about 1,200).

Both the battalions are afloat. That way they infringe less on Chinese sovereignty than when ashore. Also they are more mobile.

The liquidation last month of the joint military advisory group has taken out most of the U.S. soldiers and sailors. And further reductions of U.S. naval forces in China are ahead.

Naval sources in Tsingtao announced later that the troop transports Renville and Enrico would arrive in San Diego, Calif., with 1,600 marines about Feb. 24.

Those sources said the marines would go direct to the United States. They sailed away from Tsingtao Tuesday with a marine band playing "California Here I Come."

The marines remaining at Tsingtao are there for the protection of the 70 Americans still in that north China port, which is hemmed in on the landward side by Chinese Communists.

There still is considerable naval strength in China waters, but personnel for the most part stays on shipboard.

The Communists have been making propaganda out of the U.S. forces in China, but that apparently isn't the reason assigned for the withdrawals.

One reason given officially is the navy redeployment in the Pacific because of budget slashes. Another is the fact that with the Chinese government's reverses, the joint military advisory group ran out of work to do.

Liberating 'Dozers' Act as Snowplows; Predict New Drifts

OMAHA (AP) — Bulldozers of operation snowbound, which in 10 days have "liberated" enough persons to populate a city the size of Santa Monica, Calif., or St. Petersburg, Fla., or Irvington, N. J., faced new challenges last night.

The big machines, cast in the role of snowplows, retraced previously opened routes in Wyoming and South Dakota.

In Nebraska, officials of the fifth army's gigantic blizzard relief effort braced themselves for new snow troubles.

A cold wave and winds up to 50 miles an hour were predicted for northern Nebraska.

Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, commander of the three state relief project, said 25 mile winds are enough to cause re-drifting. Snatches of thawing weather in recent days have not been enough to anchor the drifts in Nebraska.

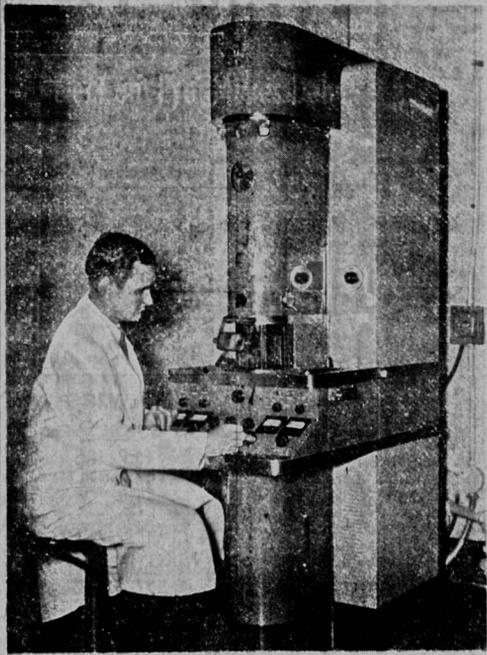

Some of the 1,000 'dozers' at work or enroute to the tri-state disaster area have been diverted to Wyoming, hardest hit by the new blow, Gen. Pick reported.

Despite the Wyoming difficulties, 4,982 miles of road were opened and 8,883 persons liberated from snowblocked farms, ranches and small towns Tuesday.

This brought the total for the week and a half to 27,831 miles cleared and 58,181 persons liberated. In addition, 1,406,161 cattle and 247,193 other farm animals have been given access to feed.

Electron 'Eye' Makes Debut at SUI

A "FUTURISTIC" MICROSCOPE IN OPERATION TODAY is the object of attention for Dr. Titus Evans, director of radiation research in the SUI college of medicine. The huge electron microscope, recently installed at SUI, can magnify an object 100,000 times, far surpassing "light" microscopes. Its 'eye' will be used in research on virus organisms—minute organisms associated with cancer, infantile paralysis and virus pneumonia.

Jet Wing Bomber Joins Show

WASHINGTON (AP)—A gigantic eight-engined flying wing joined an airforce demonstration of bomber might yesterday with a scorching 511.2 miles an hour, non-stop trip across the country.

Presenting a boomerang silhouette against the evening sky, the 213,000-pound jet bomber, known as the Northrop YB-49, crossed Andrews field four hours 25 minutes after taking off from Muroc, Calif., airbase. The distance was announced as 2,258 miles.

"The Wing," as it is best known, taxied into line with the airforce's largest, fastest and smallest jet bombers, first of the war-planes being assembled at Andrews field for a congressional review next Tuesday.

The other bombers are the Consolidated B-36 (world's largest bomber); the Boeing XB-47 strat-o-jet (world's fastest bomber), and the North American B-45, a four-engine jet which is the smallest the airforce has in production.

The B-36 flew in yesterday from Carswell airbase near Fort on a screen over a foot below. "You are really looking at a shadow of the observed object," Dr. Janney explained. "The image is formed on a fluorescent screen, as in television."

Has 17 Dials
 The microscope, operated by 17 control dials, is a "delicate instrument," Dr. Janney said. A luminous clock on the microscope has to be wound by hand because an electric clock might have enough magnetic power to upset the beam of electrons in the focusing field, he said.

Due to the tremendous magnification of the electron microscope compared with the light microscope, "you wonder at first just what you're really seeing," Dr. Janney said.

Interpreting the infinitesimal breakdown of the observed object is accomplished by first studying the specimen under a larger magnification of 5,000 and then gradually increasing it, he explained.

Still Experimental
 Though the instrument is still in its experimental stage at SUI's college of medicine, Dr. Evans said that some special research is already being done.

He explained one study on grasshopper eggs by J. Hurvey Shutt, G., as an example of the use of the new microscope.

"The grasshopper egg is about 1-8 inch long and about 1-16 of an inch in diameter," Dr. Evans said. "The studies are on the two membranes which surround the egg," he added, "lying outside of the original shell formed by the mother."

Accident Damages SUI Student's Car

An SUI student was involved in one of two local traffic accidents reported to police Monday.

The car of Thomas L. Peddicord, A2, of Fort Dodge, suffered an estimated $120 damages in an accident with a vehicle driven by Mrs. Robert Grass, 218 Stadium road. Damage to the latter car was estimated at $40.

In another accident on Prentiss street near Capitol street, a vehicle driven by Donald E. Reynolds, S10n, was damaged an estimated $75 and a car driven by George A. Staub, Oakdale, $125.

Georgia's Senate Passes Libel Bill

ATLANTA (AP)—The Georgia senate yesterday passed a stringent new libel bill and sent it to Governor Herman Talmadge for approval or veto.

The bill strikes that provision of the present law which makes it possible for newspapers or magazines to make retractions on "honest mistakes" in articles published in good faith.

Heretofore, a newspaper, by printing a retraction after receiving notice of intent to sue, was subject only to actual damages.

The new bill makes a newspaper subject to suit both for actual and punitive damages.

Sen. Crawford Pilcher, the bill's sponsor, said it would make newspapers "speak the truth at publication and not after publication."

ROTC Group Gives Top Job to Toland

Gordon R. Toland, A3, Spencer, was elected president of the Billy Mitchell squadron at their regular meeting last night.

Other officers of the organization elected were George Staub, A3, Weaver, vice-president; Everett Moline, C3, Albert City, secretary; Glenn L. Medhus, C3, Cedar Rapids, treasurer and George K. Mangold, C3, Washington, Iowa, social chairman.

Retiring President Raymond R. Renk, C3, Adaza, was elected to the advisory council.

The Billy Mitchell squadron is sponsored by the air section of SUI's ROTC department.

Norwegian Student Talks on Scouting, Impressions of U.S.

Siri Toverud, a Norwegian Girl Scout, spoke at a Girl Scout leaders' meeting at 8:30 p.m. last night. Approximately twenty leaders were present in the Girl Scout rooms.

Siri is the daughter of Dr. Kirsten Toverud, pediatrician at University hospital.

She arrived in the United States two weeks ago from Oslo, Norway. She is now enrolled at SUI as an unclassified student and plans to enter the school of medicine next fall.

The residents of Brooklyn, N.Y., "talked a very difficult kind of English" Siri discovered on a short visit there. New York was "too big" but Iowa City is a "very nice place."

Siri speaks English fluently and explained that Norwegian students are required to learn English in high school.

The organization of the Norwegian Girl Scouts is similar to that in the United States.

Troops with leaders are broken up into patrols. Both countries also have degrees within their organization.

There was no scouting in Norway during the war she explained—the Germans stopped it. "They made Nazi uniforms out of our uniforms and took all our equipment," she said.

After the war the groups were re-organized. During the summer of 1947, 6,000 Girl Scouts from 20 foreign countries, including the United States, camped in the country in Norway for a week.

Last summer the Boy Scouts of Norway were hosts to 11,000 foreign Boy Scouts.

Siri wore her Girl Scout uniform, a plain khaki dress and cap. She showed badges and stripes earned during her four years as a Girl Scout of Norway.

Protestant Missionary To Speak Here Tonight

The Rev. George Carpenter, executive secretary of the Protestant Mission Council in the Belgian Congo, Africa, will speak at Roger Williams house tonight at 7:30.

The Baptist Women's association will be hostesses at the meeting which will include a coffee hour.

Senate Gets Filibuster Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new debate rule, designed to snap off filibusters by a two-thirds vote, was recommended to the senate yesterday by its committee on rules.

It can't come before the senate for at least a week, however, and probably won't be considered until late in the month. And the proposed new rule is virtually certain to run into a filibuster—delaying talk—which may prevent its adoption.

It won't be adopted if a group of 20 Southern senators have the lung power and stamina to talk it down. They fought it in the rules committee and are prepared to campaign at length against it on the floor.

The Southerners say the filibuster-curbing proposal is the opening move in a drive to enact President Truman's "civil rights" program which they oppose.

Truman Democrats and a great many Republicans favor the rules change. But the Southerners say they are prepared to keep on talking against a motion to take up the bill, until the administration will have to drop it.

The vote in favor of the rules change in the committee was 10 to 3.
