Kathleen McCormac to Wed

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD L. McCORMAC, LETTS, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Kathleen, to Allen E. Matthews, Chicago. Mr. Matthews is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron L. Matthews, Clinton. Miss McCormac, affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta social sorority, is a graduate of the State University of Iowa. Mr. Matthews, also a University of Iowa graduate, is affiliated with Delta Upsilon social fraternity and Alpha Delta Sigma, professional advertising fraternity. He is now associated with Citrus Products company in Chicago. The wedding will take place March 13 at the Methodist church in Letts. After their marriage the couple will make their home in Chicago.

Marriage Lures Girls From Chemistry Labs

By JEAN JARNAGIN

Girls, there's a big opportunity for you in the field of chemistry if you can resist the call of matrimony.

Prof. George Glockler, head of SUI department of chemistry, said recently that there is little discrimination against the hiring of women chemists.

But the trouble begins, said the co-author of the books "Chemistry in Our Time" and "The Electrodynamics of Gases and Other Dielectrics," when the girl starts to work with 20 young male chemists.

She works just long enough to learn the job and then is swept off her feet by one of her co-workers and marries him. Next come the babies and fit-t goes her job.

Women are just as good as men as far as actually doing the work, Glockler pointed out. The fairer sex is more careful and more dexterous.

Teaching, analysis and research offer the best jobs for women, he said. Opportunities for women have greatly improved since pre-war days. Few women were hired then, partly because of the danger involved in the work.

During the war, said Glockler, draft boards had little regard for chemists and called them to arms just when chemistry was of utmost importance to the nation and their services were needed more than ever.

Women had to take over these vital jobs, and in doing so, proved their worth in the field of chemistry, he asserted. Today, although most of the men have returned to their jobs, there is an increased demand for women.

Many SUI chemistry graduates now have very interesting jobs, Glockler remarked.

Elizabeth Knapp, '43, is research assistant professor in pediatrics here in Iowa City.

Beatrice Edwards, '42, works for Western Regional Research laboratory in Albany, Calif. Another graduate, Mrs. Evelyn Cook, '42, is employed by the Hercules Powder company, Wilmington, Del.

Glockler estimated there are about 20 undergraduate women

Queen of Carnival To Reign Tomorrow At Church Benefit

Selection of a queen will be a feature of "Copper Capers," annual benefit carnival to be held at the Presbyterian church tomorrow night.

Proceeds from this year's carnival will go to the building fund for the proposed religious education addition to the church. Mrs. Brainerd Covert, student director, said yesterday.

The carnival, sponsored by Westminster fellowship in cooperation with the M and M club for married students, will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Included in the attractions will be a stage show, voice recordings, husband calling contest, fortune teller and cartoon movies, Mrs. Covert said. Admission charge will be one penny for each letter of your name, she added.

Chairman for the carnival is Clifford Thomas, G. New Cambria, Mo.

Serving on special committees are Mary McMahon, A2, Manning; Caroline Fickes, A3, Russellville, Ark.; Dorothy Zimmerman, A1, Newell; James Connor, A1, Dubuque; Robert Messerli, A2, Manchester; Merlin Hays, A3, Lake City; Stuart Thompson, G, Glendale, Ohio; Katherine Lynch, A2, Des Moines; Eleanor Briggs, A2, Lisbon; Norman Carson, G, Beaver Falls, Pa.; Frederick Biere, E4, Olin; Virginia Sievers, A1, Iowa City; Danie Dillinger, E4, Avoca, and Marcelle Harvey, A4, Cedar Rapids.

Prof. Everett Hall Adds New Course

"Problems in Effective Thinking" has been added to the philosophy class schedule this semester. Prof. Everett H. Hall, head of the philosophy department, said yesterday.

Hall said the class schedule was changed when about 125 persons enrolled in Prof. Edward Moore's course on "Problems of Individual and Social Conduct."

Rather than add another section to Moore's class, some of the students volunteered to enroll in the new course which will be taught by Hall.

YWCA Holds Hospital Services

Youngsters Want Christmas Songs

Religious services for persons in University hospitals, Sunday school for the children and worship services for adults, are conducted each Sunday by YWCA members.

Seventeen women take turns teaching the children from 9 to 10 a.m. every Sunday at children's hospital. The young patients sit quietly in a basement classroom to listen to Bible stories.

The children's questions sometimes stump the teachers. Each story requires careful explanation and invariably leads to more inquiries, such as "Where does the snow come from?"

The younger patients, from four to seven years old, sing religious songs. Nancy Kmetz, A1, said the most popular request is for Christmas songs — the whole year long.

The adult class, led by Fredrick L. Darley, G, has a regular Sunday worship. Joann Knew, A1, teaches the older boys and girls, and Muriel Wieman, A3, and Nancy Kmetz, A1, instruct the younger children.

Virginia Burt, A3, is chairman of the hospital program. Frances Henderson is in charge of the Sunday school at children's hospital. Joy Wilson heads the program at the school for handicapped children and Julienne Jensen directs the service in general hospital.

Artist to Give Talk On 'Art and Reality'

Prof. Paul M. Laporte of Olivet college, Olivet, Mich., will speak on "Art and Reality" in the SUI art auditorium tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Laporte's paintings have been shown in exhibitions throughout the U.S. He is author of many articles for art journals.

Laporte is head of the Olivet college art department. He came to the college as a professor in 1945, the same year he received his United States citizenship.

A former German citizen, he came to this country in 1939. He holds a doctor's degree in art history from the University of Munich.

(Daily Iowan Photo by Bill Rodgers) CONCENTRATING ON THE EXPLANATION of a Biblical picture given by two YWCA members is little Max Hart, 2½, Muscatine. Nancy Kmetz, A1, and Muriel Wieman, A3, teach Sunday school at Children's hospital from 9 to 10 a.m. every week. The children sing religious songs, listen to stories and play games.

Army Would Defend Japan, Royall Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Royall said yesterday the United States is "prepared to meet all comers" in the event of an attack on Japan.

Royall denied he told newsmen in Tokyo that the army would abandon Japan if attacked by Russia or that the United States considers Japan to be indefensible.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson said American policy on the occupation and defense of Japan is still the same and no change is planned.

Acheson declined, however, to define U.S. official policy in Japan in exact terms.

When a reporter asked him to say definitely that the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Japan in an emergency is not contemplated, Acheson replied with a mild show of impatience. He said the question represented an attempt to draw him out on the basis of reports already denied.

With the air still not entirely clear, newsmen then turned to Royall, who had been quoted in Tokyo reports as having said on his recent visit to Japan that U.S. troops would quit Japan in a war with Russia.

"On the contrary," Royall said today, "I stated that we did not plan to change our forces in Japan and that we were prepared to meet all comers."

Assistant Secretary of Labor John W. Gibson, newly returned from a visit to the far east, told newsmen that Gen. Douglas MacArthur is not "unduly concerned" about communism as a threat to American occupation of Japan.

Paul G. Hoffman, economic cooperation administrator, told the senate foreign relations committee that the army would like to start a "little ECA" for Japanese recovery.

Two SUI Students Win Fiction Prizes

Two SUI writing students have had stories purchased by "Tomorrow" magazine, Prof. Paul Engle of the English department said yesterday.

Calvin B. Kentfield, who was graduated in the February class, won second prize of $250 in the magazine's contest for college undergraduate writers. His story, "The Round Giant," was written for classwork in the writers' workshop instructed by Paul Griffith.

Ralph Salisbury, A3, Hawkeye village, had his story, which was entered in the contest, purchased for $150. The story, "A Pair of Boots," was written for the fiction writing class taught by Robie MacAuley.

Both stories will be published in future issues of "Tomorrow," Engle said.

Coburn Delivers Talks On Emotional Problems

Dr. Frank E. Coburn, assistant professor of psychiatry, delivered a talk on the "Emotional Problems of Teen Ageds" at West Liberty high school Wednesday night.

Tuesday evening he spoke before 250 members of the Cedar Rapids Planned Parenthood committee on "Emotional Problems in Marriage."

Feb. 7 he gave a talk before the Iowa City Parent Teachers association on "Normal Sexual Drive."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AN OLD southern colonel told his physician, "Doctor, we bein' ol' friends and soldiers together, I don't intend to insult you, suh, by offering you cash fo' your services. I intend, however, to leave you a handsome legacy in mah will."

The doctor reflected momentarily and said, "That is mighty kind of you, suh, and I deeply appreciate yo' delicate sentiments. Meanwhile, would yo' jus' let me have that prescription again fo' a moment? There is a slight alteration I want to make in it."

A senior in the Pulitzer School of Journalism observed, "Even barbers make more money than authors today. I don't know whether to take a job in Greco's barber shop when I graduate, or write novels." Dean Ackerman suggested, "Toss a coin, my boy. Heads or tails!"

Engineers to Choose Popular Scholar for Award by Fraternity

Candidates for the Theta Tau achievement award this year will be nominated through petitions signed by at least 10 engineering students, the Theta Tau award committee chairman said recently.

The candidates last year were chosen by members of the engineering fraternity. Committee Chairman Harold J. Grunsky, E4, said the winner will be chosen on the basis of popularity, scholastic grades and extracurricular achievements. The engineering students will judge the popularity of the candidates and the faculty will judge the extracurricular achievements.

The winner will be announced March 17 at the engineer's smoker during Mecca week.

Grunsky said Theta Tau will choose the winner from the reports of students and faculty and from scholastic grades. The winner will receive a key and his name will be engraved on the Theta Tau plaque in the engineering building. Candidates need not be members of Theta Tau.

Nominating petitions are to be submitted to Miss Englert in the engineering library. Mark F. Meier, E4, won the award last year.

PRESIDENTIAL CONFERENCE WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman will hold his weekly news conference at 3 p.m. (Iowa time) today.

Ice Causes Three Accidents

Traffic accidents continued to occur on Iowa City's icy streets yesterday despite thawing temperatures, police reported.

Four persons escaped injury when the car in which they were riding slid off highway 218 and overturned near Taft speedway yesterday at 9 a.m., the driver reported.

George J. Johnson, Wyndmere, N.D., merchant, said he was driving south on 218 when the rear end of his car skidded on the ice, struck the shoulder and turned over on its top.

He estimated $250 damage to his car.

A cab-truck accident at the intersection of highway 6 and Court street occurred at 10:30 a.m. yesterday, drivers reported.

Robert E. Johnson was driving a cab south and Howard Shaver was driving a Denver truck north on highway 6 when the vehicles collided, the accident report stated.

No damage estimates were given.

Another accident took place on highway 218 near the Iowa City airport at 2 p.m. yesterday, local police said.

The two cars and beverage truck involved were driven by Mrs. Alma Zeman of route 4, Iowa City, Robert A. Stokely, A3, Iowa City, and Ernest T. Hepker, Cedar Rapids truck driver.

Engineers Present Award to Student

The annual Eta Kappa Nu outstanding sophomore award yesterday was awarded to Gerald Luecke, E3, EKN President Earl W. Carson said yesterday.

The award, an electrical engineer's handbook, was presented at a joint meeting of SUI student chapters of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the Institute of Radio Engineers, Carson said.

Choice of the winner was based entirely on sophomore scholastic record. Eta Kappa Nu is the electrical engineering honorary fraternity.

Local Postoffice To Close Feb. 22

The Iowa City postoffice will be closed Tuesday, Washington's birthday, J.P. Soucek, assistant postmaster, said yesterday.

Mail collection, special deliveries and mail dispatching will be carried on as usual, Soucek said.

Other offices to be closed for Washington's birthday are the office of internal revenue, the AAA office and affiliated offices, the soil conservation office and affiliated offices. These offices are all in the post office building.

Two Get Divorces In District Court

Robert Dale Hogan, Iowa City, was granted a divorce by default yesterday in Johnson county district court from Patsy Ruth Hogan.

He charged cruel and inhuman treatment in his original petition. In another equity action yesterday, Violet Diltz, route 5, Iowa City, was granted a divorce from Everett Diltz.

She was awarded custody of six minor children and $65 monthly support money. She was also awarded household furniture, personal belongings and real estate.

Guetzko Named 'Outstanding' Civil Engineer

The Iowa section, American Society of Civil Engineers, Tuesday named Gene E. Guetzko, E4, Riverside, Iowa, the outstanding senior civil engineering student of the year.

Guetzko was awarded one year's free membership in the ASCE. The Iowa section will pay his dues to the national headquarters. The award was presented during a meeting of the organization in Des Moines.

A committee of the Iowa section chooses the winner with the aid of recommendations from the faculty of the college of engineering.
