President Stands by Demand For $4-Billion More in Taxes

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman repeated yesterday that the government needs an additional $4-billion in new general taxes this year.

He said prior congressional consideration of social security legislation does not affect the need for new taxes.

At his weekly news conference, he said:

1. Said Sen. William Langer, (R-N.D.) was not telling the truth when he said the President had dropped all pretense of having a bipartisan foreign policy.

2. Described as a proper decision the action of a loyalty board in restoring William Remington to his job in the commerce department.

3. Supported this country's position on the north Atlantic pact as expressed Wednesday by Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson. Acheson said this government was not backing down on commitments envisaged in the pact.

4. Defended his military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, for receiving a decoration from the Argentine government. He explained that federal law forbade Vaughan to accept the medal as an individual, so the medal is now in the possession of the state department.

5. Said, when asked if he is concerned about recent price dips, that he thinks the present situation is nothing to be alarmed about. He said it is leveling off which everybody has been wanting. He said the current price situation does not, in his opinion, modify the need for consumer credit controls nor affect his requested anti-inflation program.

6. Said the future status of Gen. Walter B. Smith, U.S. ambassador to Russia, is up to the general himself. Smith, under treatment at Walter Reed army hospital here, has expressed a desire to retire.

Mr. Truman sharply challenged any suggestion that tax legislation is being abandoned because the house ways and means committee has given social security legislation priority.

Mr. Truman opened his news conference by saying he wanted to clear up one thing — the question of procedure in the ways and means committee.

In the wake of what he called a lot of speculation, he pointed out that the committee is proceeding just as he requested — considering social security legislation ahead of taxes.

Legislative Approval Of Requests Asked

DES MOINES (AP) The Iowa Engineering society yesterday submitted to state officials a recommendation that the amount of the requests of the state board of education for salaries, support and maintenance and plant improvements be approved by the state legislature.

The recommendation was made in a resolution adopted at the society's annual meeting here.

The resolution said in part that "certain suggestions for appropriations for the state institutions under the state board of education do not appear to be adequate and if followed will not permit suitable operations even at present levels."

The schools under the direction of the board are the State University at Iowa City, Iowa State college at Ames and Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls.

Registration Deadline For Primary Today

Today is the deadline for voters to register for the Feb. 28 primary election, City Clerk George J. Dohrer said yesterday.

Registration has been pretty light this year, Dohrer said, and he doesn't expect much of a last minute rush today.

It is important to register before the primary election, he said, because the voting lists are only open for a total of one week after the primary election before the general election.

Voting lists must be closed 10 days before an election. The independent school district election is March 14, so lists will only be open for three days after the primary election before they are closed for the school election, Dohrer said.

Then the lists will be opened for four days before they are closed for the general election March 8, Dohrer said.

House Votes to Give Broad Control over Exports to President

WASHINGTON — Disregarding scattered Republican shouts of "regimentation" and "socialism," the house voted yesterday to give President Truman broad control over exports until June 30, 1951.

The vote on final passage was 259 to 102. Just before that roll call the administration had beaten back, 222 to 139, a motion to send the measure back to committee and substitute a one year extension of the present limited law.

The house passed a bill extending, with changes, the export control authority first given the President in July, 1940. The bill goes back to the senate, which had passed a similar measure differing in details.

The present export control authority expires at the end of this month.

As passed by the house, the bill gives Mr. Truman broad control over exports until June 30, 1951 — a 28-month extension.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) protested that the President was asking "new and unusual" authority, and asked: "Is this a lust for power?"

Rep. Patman (D-Tex) stood up for the measure, noting that it provides for consultation with industry before controls are imposed.

In effect, the house bill would allow the President to prohibit or curtail exports of any articles, materials or supplies in order to safeguard the domestic economy and help carry out this country's international responsibilities.

It provides, however, that exports of agricultural commodities, including fats and oils, shall not be controlled in times when the secretary of agriculture says there is a surplus.

Philadelphia Cabs Resume Operations

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Striking taxicab drivers went back to work last night after a three-day walk-out, the first break in Philadelphia's week-old transportation tieup.

But the strike of 11,000 CIO subway, trolley and bus workers went on in the face of a demand by Mayor Bernard Samuel for quick settlement of a 14-cent hourly wage difference.

President Charles Pirolli of the AFL union representing 3,500 Yellow Cab Co. drivers told the taximen at a mass meeting they must get their cabs operating before the company will resume negotiation on wages.

Wallgren Defends His Qualifications . . .

MON C. WALLGREN former senator and former governor of Washington, defends his qualifications to be chairman of the national resources security board before the senate armed services committee. He answered charges by Sen. Harry P. Cain (R-Wash.) that he was not qualified.

Slush and a Speeding Car Produce Splash

SINK OR SWIM could well have been the cry of these two Currier girls as they scurried across one of Iowa City's slush-covered streets yesterday within target range of patter from a passing car. Like hundreds of other local pedestrians, Ruth Roland, A3, Tipton, and Shirley Cagley, A4, Mason City, might put some hip boots to good use as protection from river-like streets and splashing cars.

Catholic Purge in Hungary Continues, U.S. Minister Says

PARIS (AP) — Selden Chapin, recalled United States minister to Budapest, said last night the arrest of Roman Catholics is continuing in Communist-dominated Hungary.

He termed the trial and conviction of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty "a travesty of justice" and added: "It is impossible to explain the transformation of that lion who was chief of the Hungarian Catholic church."

Chapin, who is en route to Washington, flew here from Budapest via Vienna.

During the stopover in Vienna Chapin said the Hungarian Government has been placed "on the psychological defensive." He described statements by President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson as having a "profound effect" in Hungary.

Mr. Truman and Acheson, along with a number of other leaders of the western world, have denounced the trial and conviction of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty.

Hungarian authorities demanded Chapin's ouster as an aftermath of the case.

Hoover Group Asks Changes In Post Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Hoover commission recommended yesterday that the post office department be completely divorced from politics and put on a strict business basis.

In the fourth of a series of reports on its studies on reorganization of the government, the commission told congress:

1. The postmaster general should be barred from heading national political committees, as has occurred several times in the past.

2. He should be given an experienced director of posts to serve as operating head of the department, while the postmaster general determines policies.

3. The postal service should be decentralized into 15 regions, with regional directors and district superintendents.

4. Confirmation of postmasters by the senate should be abolished, with those officials selected from career men on a merit basis. (only yesterday, President Truman sent up 700 postmaster nominations for the senate's consideration.)

5. The administrative structure of the department should be simplified to give it more flexibility.

6. The postmaster general should be allowed to set the rates for registered mail, insured mail, C. O. D.'s, money orders, postal cards and special delivery, to make each of those services self-supporting. Congress should continue to establish the rates on first, second, third and fourth class matter.

7. Payments to common carriers for transporting mail should not be used to hide a subsidy for aviation.

The commission said that recurring annual post office operating deficits have been caused for the most part by circumstances beyond the control of the department and can be remedied only by strong and courageous action.

Russians Renew Austrian Demands

LONDON (AP) — Russia renewed its demands today for $150-million in U. S. dollars from Austria as compensation for former German assets.

Soviet Representative George Zarubin rejected an American suggestion that part of any such payment be made in goods.

Behind the scenes negotiations at the meeting of deputies of the big four foreign ministers meanwhile disclosed that Yugoslavia was ready to ease its territorial and reparations claims on Austria.

McGrath Nominated To Education Position

Earl James McGrath, former SUI dean of the liberal arts college, was nominated yesterday by President Truman to succeed John W. Studebaker as U.S. commissioner of education.

McGrath was dean of the college of liberal arts at SUI from 1945 to 1948. He left here last fall to become professor of education at the University of Chicago.

He would replace Studebaker who resigned last summer because of differences of opinion on the federal security agency over administrative policies.

During the last war McGrath was a naval lieutenant commander in charge of the educational services section, bureau of naval personnel.

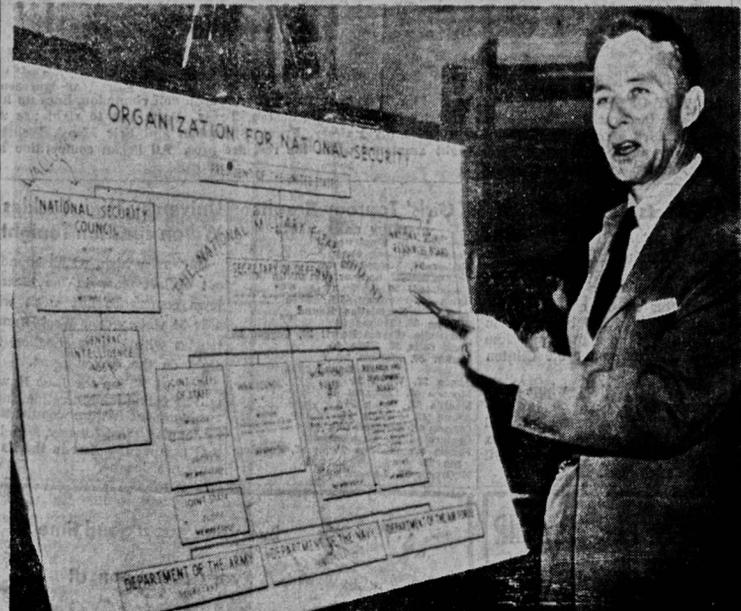

A resident of Buffalo, N. Y., he attended the University of Buffalo and the University of Chicago. Coe College, Cedar Rapids, conferred the degree of doctor of humane letters on him in 1946.

McGrath was a member of a mission to Germany in 1946 to survey the school system in the American occupied zone.

. . . After Senator Cain Attacks Them

SENATOR CAIN did the attacking yesterday before the senate armed services committee. He stands beside the chart he used to help present arguments against his fellow Washingtonian, Mon. C. Wallgren. Cain insisted Wallgren is conspicuously lacking in the talents needed for the high level post. Wallgren branded Cain's opposition as "political."

U.S. and Britain Renew Demand: Trieste to Italy

Russian Move to Keep Adriatic Port Under UN Authority Rejected

LAKE SUCCESS (UP)—The United States and Britain yesterday renewed their demand for the return of the Adriatic hotspot of Trieste to Italy, and America's Warren Austin charged that to make it a free port as prescribed by the Italian peace treaty would invite "indirect aggression"—presumably from Yugoslavia.

Election Date Set, New Rules Adopted By Student Council

The Student Council election committee last night set the spring election date tentatively as March 30 and adopted several new regulations concerning candidates and campaigns.

Requirements for candidacy as a delegate-at-large as set by the committee will include:

1. One hundred signatures on the candidate's petition. Previously the requirement had been 25.

2. A new regulation requiring the candidate to be able to serve the full term of office.

3. A grade point average of 2.0 or above.

The new petition requirement was adopted as a means of stimulating a wider interest in the particular candidate presenting the petition. The second requirement necessarily limits the election to students below the senior level but the committee agreed it was necessary to avoid a candidate's being graduated during his term of office.

New regulations adopted concerning campaign methods included prohibiting the use of paint on sidewalks and buildings. The ruling was instigated by university officials objecting to the use of painted signs during last year's elections.

The committee also raised the maximum individual campaign expenditure total from $15 to $25. The $25 limit includes both personal and contributed funds used by the candidate.

Voting instructions to be either printed on the ballots or posted near the booths were approved. The instructions are intended to facilitate voting on what will necessarily be a large ballot.

A recommendation to print at least two different ballots was adopted to further simplify the voting. One proposed ballot would contain the candidates which all students could vote for. The other ballots would contain special slates such as Town Men candidates which would require qualification for voting.

They rejected a sudden move by Russia in the United Nations security council to name a UN governor and keep Trieste under the authority of the UN.

Russia started the council meeting with a surprise announcement that she was willing to accept one of Britain's nominees for the governorship of Trieste, a strategic port coveted by both Italy and Yugoslavia and taken from Italy to make a free port under the peace treaty which went into effect in September 1947.

Soviet delegate Jacob Malik put a formal resolution before the council demanding a vote on Col. Herman Flueckiger of Switzerland former Swiss minister to Moscow, originally was proposed for the post by Britain 18 months ago.

China's T. T. Tsiang, president of the council, adjourned the session without a vote and without setting a date for its next meeting. Malik's resolution was expected to be voted down when the council reconvenes. A British spokesman told reporters that Russia's offer of the governorship "comes two years too late."

The move made by Malik seemed designed to embarrass the western powers, Malik, in an attack on Anglo-American policy in Italy blamed Britain and the United States for having blocked for more than two years the appointment of a governor for Trieste.

Trieste currently is divided into two zones. Under the treaty, three zones were created. One went to Yugoslavia where Marshal Josip Broz Tito quickly stationed his forces. The others went to Britain and the United States which combined their zones into one.

Golden Rule

Dohrer Is Convinced It's a Good Idea

An Iowa City official is convinced the Golden Rule is a good idea.

George J. Dohrer, city clerk and auditor, found 15 cents yesterday while he was trying to save the city six cents and help a harassed bus driver.

Dohrer was coming to work in the morning and wanted to get off at the Linn street and Iowa avenue intersection to mail a letter before he opened the city hall.

No one else wanted to get off at that corner so Dohrer didn't ring the stop buzzer. He said he thought the bus driver was having a hard enough time keeping the bus from sliding on the icy pavement.

When he got off at the next stop, he found a nickel on the sidewalk.

Coming back from his lunch, Dohrer had two checks to deliver. He thought he'd save Iowa City six cents by delivering them in person.

It cost him a couple of blocks walk, but on the way back he picked up a dime in the middle of the street.

Clay Calls Blockade Of Berlin a Failure

BERLIN (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in Germany, made it plain yesterday that the Soviet blockade of Berlin is a failure.

"It has become crystal clear," Clay said in an interview, "that blockades and starvation threats do not form a successful tool for political coercion."

"There is no question whatsoever now of our ability to sustain Berlin by aid indefinitely until we have accomplished our objectives."

The Russians now are building permanent road blocks of iron, steel and stone across several of the Berlin streets which link the Soviet sector with the western sectors.

Swimmers Test Badgers

Iowa's swimming team takes on Wisconsin in the Iowa pool tonight in the first of two conference tests before the Big Nine meet two weeks away.

The Hawkeyes will be comparing tonight's times and times made in the Minnesota meet at Minneapolis Saturday with the rest of the conference.

Dope on tonight's meet label pool records as in for another beating.

"They're all raring to go," Hawk Coach Dave Armbruster said yesterday, obviously very much pleased with the spirit of the team.

Of particular interest are the times of Duane Draves, Dick Maine and Bud Griesbach who comprise Iowa's strongest single department, the backstroke.

After beating Ohio's Bob de Groot badly at Columbus, the Iowa trio seem a good bet to dominate the event when the conference race comes up at Purdue.

For Bowen Stassforth there is a good possibility of finishing up at the top in the conference. Stassforth, a sophomore, gave Big Nine Champ Keith Carter a close race here last week, and Carter has already licked conference runner-up Bobby Solh of Michigan by a wide margin.

Time is growing short for Wally Ris to break the tantalizing 100-yard record. If the Olympian goes through with his plans to abandon swimming after this spring, he will have only tonight, next Saturday at Minnesota, the Big Nine races following, a Michigan dual here and the intercollegiate and national amateur meets in March to get his record.

At his last appearance at the Iowa pool, Ris came within two-tenths of a second of his best lifetime performance for the 100.

Don Johnson, leading sprinter for the Badgers, can give Iowans "Rusty" Garst and Bob Korte a close chase in the 50. The Hawks have been beaten out for first and second positions both by Purdue and Ohio State so far.

The short free-style distances are potentially good points for Iowa's column when the conference meet comes up if Garst and Korte can shave those precious fractions in the next weeks.

The still improved Iowa distance men will see a real battle against the Badgers. Wisconsin Soph Rudy Matzke has already beaten Ohio's Hawaiian, Bunny Nakama, at the 440, and Jerry Smith and Jim Davies placed second and third against the powerful Buckeye 220 men.

Herman Lehman is capable of better times than Matzke posted in beating Ohio, and Paul Hutinger is ready to battle Smith and Davies at the 220.

Button Cops Skating Title

PARIS (AP) — Nineteen-year-old Richard Button of Englewood, N. J., reaffirmed his men's figure skating supremacy yesterday by winning his second straight world championship.

The young Olympic gold medalist, unbeaten in two years on the ice, gave a spectacular performance of skating grace and skill in the free style events to gain the crown without serious opposition.

Ede Kraly of Hungary finished second and Edi Rada of Austria, the European champion, third in the final standings.

The United States made a good all-round showing in addition to Button's victory. James Grogan of Oakland, was fourth, Hayes Allen Jenkins of Akron, and Austin Holt of Berkeley, finished sixth and seventh, respectively.

Button's dazzling show drew a tremendous ovation from the throng of 10,000 who crowded around the rink for the men's finals.

"I've never seen anything like it and no one else has either," commented one of the judges afterwards.

Five judges gave him almost perfect marks for both the content of his program and its execution. One judge gave him a "perfect" marking for execution, a rarity in figure skating.

Button went through his repertoire of runs, mid-air twirls, high splits and prodigious leaps without a bobble.

Carideo Uses Starting Blocks for Gridders —

Some of Iowa's eager freshman footballers have already begun spring workouts in the fieldhouse. The coaches are just as eager as the yearlings and are working with them daily.

Backfield Coach Frank Carideo's chief worry now is to develop some quarterbacks capable of running the Hawkeye T-formation. He thinks he has the necessary material and is now trying to find out how well some of his fresh boys can pass.

Since Quarterback Al DiMarco has now completed his eligibility there isn't an experienced offensive signal-caller available. Sophomore Glenn Drahn is next in line, but he won't be with the gridgers this spring. A shortstop, Drahn is now working with Otto Vogel's baseball team.

Carideo is trying out a new technique with his halfbacks and fullbacks. In order to relieve the natural desire of a back to take one step backwards before heading for an open hole in the line, Carideo is using starting blocks similar to those which have been developed for track men.

"We're just experimenting," Carideo said yesterday, "but I think it should help the boys a lot. Besides halting the tendency of stepping back, it will bring out the necessity of starting on the balls of your feet. A split second start in the 'T' usually means whether you get through the quick-opening hole in the line or not."

"It's only good for preliminary training," he said. "Now we'll wait and see how it aids them when we take the blocks away."

The Hawkeye varsity will turn out for spring drills as soon as the frosh crop gets ready to be thrown in with the veterans.

Spring work for the Hawkeyes is going to be very important. They're going to tackle one of the toughest schedules in the country next fall. Iowa is the only team in the Big Nine to meet two Pacific Coast conference elevens in 1949.

The Hawks open with UCLA here Sept. 24, go away to Purdue and then come home for four in a row against Illinois, Indiana, Northwestern and Oregon. Then they take to the road to conclude the season at Minnesota, Wisconsin and Notre Dame. There isn't a half-way decent breather in the bunch.

Former Iowa basketball star Jack Spencer, back in school to finish his education, tells us that the Cedar Rapids Raiders offered $5,000 to the Tri-Cities Blackhawks for the services of last year's Hawkeye all-American, Murray Wier. It was the most any team put up to get Wier away from the Blackhawks, but still no dice.

Tomorrow night's Michigan-Minnesota game at Ann Arbor is now one of the key contests of the Big Nine title chase. Although the Wolverines haven't been figured too prominently, they do have an outside chance of tying Illinois.

Michigan, a three-point favorite, and Minnesota have both lost twice. Should the Wolves win and keep a clean slate, the title-match could be the Illinois-Michigan game at Ann Arbor, March 7. That "keep a clean slate" phrase isn't probable, though, since Michigan still has to play red-hot Ohio State at Columbus.

Crown Five Intramural Cage Teams

Five intramural basketball teams were crowned league champs and advanced to the all-university finals to be held next week by winning their contests last night.

In the social fraternity light weight division, Sigma Alpha Epsilon downed Sigma Chi, 20 - 17. Allan Schmal scored six points to lead SAE while Lloyd Berg was high for Sigma Chi with nine markers.

Upper C swamped Upper A in the Quad heavyweight league. The winners were paced by Lloyd Killman with 15 points and John Schock with 12.

In the married students league, Central Finkbine defeated Riverdale, 27-19, with Clayton Henry hitting eight points for Finkbine.

Lower D won the Quad lightweight championship by topping Upper C, 17-12. Clarence Miller was high scorer for the victors with eight points.

Delta Upsilon nosed out Phi Delta Theta for the social fraternity heavyweight crown. Behind 15-10 with three minutes left, the DUs staged a comeback to shade the Phi Deltas, 17-16. Dick Wagner scored six markers for DU and Dick Rasmussen was the loser's stand-out.

The results of Wednesday night's contests:

South Quad II beat South Quad I, 27-19, in the South Quad-Law Commons-Gables heavyweight division.

Hillcrest C trounced Hillcrest D, 51-28, to win the Hillcrest heavyweight championship.

Totten beat Loyola, 20-10 and Black defeated Spencer, 24-14, in the Town lightweight games. In the Town heavyweight contests, Spencer edged Dean, 19-17 and Loyola downed Black, 26-11.

The Nu Sigma Nu quintet outscored Phi Alpha Delta, 21-16, in a professional fraternity league game.

Turnesa's 66 Paces Houston Open Meet

HOUSTON (AP) — Par was broken 36 times yesterday as Jim Turnesa, Briar Cliff, N.Y., led 141 golfers in a mass attack on Pine Forest Country club in the first round of the $10,000 Houston open.

Turnesa shaved six strokes off the new 6,510-yard course's par 72 to edge George Schoux, San Francisco, and John Palmer, Bardin, N.C., by one shot for the first day's leadership.

Thirty-three other players finished below par and 13 others had par 72s.

Turnesa, who set an all-time tournament scoring record last year when he finished third in the National Open, turned in seven one-under par holes for a 33-36. He was in trouble only on the thirteenth green when he missed a putt to take a four, one over regulation.

Birdies were easy picking yesterday but two-under-par holes were rare. Glen Teal, Jacksonville, Fla., turned the eagle trick, however, on the 185-yard eleventh with a hole-in-one. He finished with a 74.

Writer Salirizes 'Rasslers' Gorgeous George, With Curls, Perfume and All, Declared Headline of 'Burping' Contest

NEW YORK (AP) — It's just our luck. We're going to have to miss the press reception for Gorgeous George Saturday afternoon.

We aren't sure just yet how we will miss it, but we think it can be arranged with a little concentration on the problem.

Gorgeous George, as his palpitating public probably knows, will headline a burping, or wrestling, exhibition at Madison Square Garden on Washington's birthday. It has been suggested that the garden is not big enough for such an event, and that a larger area should be provided, such as the middle of the Sahara desert, but we wouldn't know about that.

We assume Gorgeous George's valet will be present at the reception saturating the air with perfume from his pump gun, giving a blow by blow account, you might say. This gent precedes George down the aisle before matches or exhibitions to give the atmosphere the proper scent. Some of the rassling events we have seen should have been followed by such a perfume dispenser.

That the promoters of the coming exhibition are proceeding with tongue in cheek is indicated by their publicity releases, which inform us that the gorgeous one will be met at the airport by dolls with their hair dyed the color of champagne, and that he, herp will have a police escort to his hotel. We should have no trouble getting an escort to run down to the dentist.

We've been watching wrestling quite a bit lately on television because that is all that is on late in the evening, and it provides comedy relief after watching a serious professor.

Prep Swim Teams Vie Here Saturday For State Honors

Eight Iowa high schools will be represented by a total of 92 athletes in the state high school swimming championship meet at the SUI fieldhouse Saturday.

Meet Manager Dave Armbruster, SUI coach, announced 11 a.m. as the starting time for the preliminaries, with six to qualify in each event. The finals will begin at 2 p.m.

Roosevelt of Des Moines, last year's winner at Ames with 51 points, will defend the team title with the largest squad — 21 athletes. The 1948 runner-up, Clinton, has entered 13.

There are two changes from usual procedure in the events that will be contested over the 20-yard width of the pool. A 200-yard race has been substituted for the 220-yard free style. To conform with the national interscholastic rules the 120-yard individual medley swim has been added. It consists of 40 yards back, breast and crawl swimming.

The other participating schools, with the number of contestants, are North Des Moines, 20; Lincoln, Des Moines, 14; Boone, 6; East Des Moines, 7; West Waterloo, 2, and Davenport, 1.

All Ducats Sold Out For State Cage Finals

BOONE (P) — All general admission tickets and reserved seats for the final night of the state championship high school basketball tournament have been sold.

Lyle Quinn, executive secretary of the state association, said no more orders can be accepted except for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and 1,000 general admission tickets for Friday night.

Iowa Quarterly Gets 'New Look'

Name, Cover, Type Changed

An Iowa institution is giving way to progress.

The state historical society's quarterly, "The Iowa Journal of History and Politics," has changed its name, cover style and print for the first time in its 47 years of existence.

The winter issue, now called "The Iowa Journal of History," was mailed to members yesterday. It uses a cover picture for the first time.

The picture is of the first bridge over the Mississippi at Rock Island. Small pictures of Jefferson Davis and Abraham Lincoln are in the upper corners of the main picture.

The new journal's cover has bright colors replacing the drab green of the old style. All four issues each year will have different colors — blue for winter, green for spring, yellow for summer and red for fall.

William J. Petersen, superintendent of the society, said SUI Typographer Carroll Coleman helped in making up the new journal.

One of Coleman's suggestions is the use of 11-point Weiss type replacing the 11-point DeVine formerly used. The new type is used because it is heavier and easier to read, Coleman said.

Another new feature in this issue is a list on the outside back cover of the names of current major state and national officials and men who held similar posts 100 years ago.

Of the 23 current office holders listed, 16 are members of the society.

Lead article for this article is "Jefferson Davis and the Rock Island Bridge" by Dwight L. Agnew, former SUI student.

Davis, as secretary of war, opposed the construction of the bridge in favor of a southern site.

Later, Abraham Lincoln defended it when steamboatmen tried to get it removed as a hindrance to river traffic. Lincoln was then a lawyer for the Rock Island railroad.

Other articles in the journal include "Iowa History and American History" by Petersen, "Locating the State University of Iowa" by Prof. H.V. Thornton of the SUI history department, "Letters of a Forty-ruiner" edited by Miss Mildred Thorne and, "The Army Engineers as Road Builders in Territorial Iowa" by Prof. W.T. Jackson of the University of Chicago history department.

THE "NEW LOOK" FOR AN IOWA QUARTERLY was examined yesterday by (left to right) Carroll Coleman, SUI typographer; Prof. William J. Petersen, superintendent of the State Historical society, and Mildred Thorne, associate editor for the State Historical society. The three SUI staff members were focusing their attention on "The Iowa Journal of History," which, under their direction, has a new name, cover style and print for the first time in its long life. Published by the State Historical society, the new winter issue was mailed yesterday.

BRIDGES 'DOING WELL'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Harry Bridges' office said the CIO longshoreman leader was "doing well" yesterday after a five-hour operation Wednesday for a stomach ailment. A spokesman said "his progress is normal."

February Total for County Welfare Aid More Than $25,000

Johnson county social welfare cases received more than $25,000 in assistance for the month of February, figures released yesterday by the state department of social welfare showed.

Old-age assistance payments to 470 cases out of 522 got the lion's share with $23,462.50. The needy blind received $782.30 and $2,271.20 was paid to dependent children.

Total cost for the state this month is over two and one-half million dollars. Figures show a reduction of over 400 cases from February, 1948, and increased costs of nearly $200,000. Rise in cost over last month is more than $10,000.

Polk county with more than 5,000 cases was by far the biggest recipient with over a quarter of a million dollars in assistance payments.

SUI, ISC Accepted By Chemical Society

The State University of Iowa and Iowa State college at Ames are the only two schools in Iowa whose chemistry departments are accredited by the American Chemical society, according to an article in the Feb. 14 issue of Chemical and Engineering News.

Students are eligible for senior grade membership in the American Chemical society following graduation from an accredited school and two years experience in the field of chemistry, chemistry engineering, or in postgraduate study, the article states.

To be eligible for this membership, students must also be certified by the department chairman as having fulfilled the minimum requirements adopted by the ACS for the professional training of chemists, the article adds.

Woman Granted $80 Temporary Alimony

District Court Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday awarded Bonnie Porter $80 monthly support money for herself and her minor child on her application for temporary alimony.

The defendant, Harold J. Porter, was also ordered to pay her attorney fees.

They're popping up all over

People have been wanting more and more telephone service and we've been working hard to provide it. We've added nearly 9,000,000 new telephones in the past three years. Still more are needed and are on the way.

But that's not all that we've been doing to increase the usefulness and value of the telephone.

Telephone service has been extended to automobiles, trucks, boats, trains and airplanes... real progress has been made in expanding and improving rural telephone facilities... wire and radio relay networks have been developed and enlarged... research has started on new electronic devices which promise to bring even wider horizons of electrical communications within view.

All this means better telephone service for you... more people you can reach easily and quickly... more time in your day... a larger world in your grasp.

Married Yesterday

Mr. and Mrs. Dearl Richardson

Sally Naggs Weds Dearl Richardson In a Local Church

Sally Marie Naggs became the bride of Dearl D. Richardson at 4:30 p.m. yesterday in the First Christian church.

The bride, a student at the State University of Iowa, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Naggs, Keokuk. Mr. Richardson is the son of Mrs. L. C. Richardson, Lubbock, Tex.

The Rev. Leon C. England officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Gloria Olson, N4, Moline, Ill., was the maid of honor. Merle Frey, C4, Monmouth, Ill., served as best man. Ushers were Dick Arnold, A3, Ames, and John Miller, A3, Iowa City.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church parlors. After the reception, the couple left on a short wedding trip.

Mrs. Richardson was graduated from Keokuk high school. She is a student in the school of nursing at the State University of Iowa.

The bridegroom was graduated from Lubbock high school in Lubbock, Tex., and received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, Tex. Mr. Richardson is now director of Disciples' student center at the First Christian church.

When the couple return, they will make their home at 1016 Burlington street.

Arctic Storms No Fun, But — Iowa Sleet Stops Her

By ELAINE LAMPROS

Though she has braved Arctic storms, it took an Iowa winter to put Ann Elizabeth Taylor, New York City, in the hospital. Miss Taylor is in Mercy hospital with a broken leg, suffered when she marriage there, Miss Taylor explained. Attractive Miss Taylor, who was born in Austin, Minn., has been in this area speaking to the women's societies of the Presbyterian church on missionary work their contributions have accomplished.

As a member of the Presbyterian Board of National Missions and as the national secretary for women's work, she has traveled throughout the United States, Alaska and the West Indies.

The soft-spoken Miss Taylor recently spent four-and-one-half months in Alaska, where she visited Presbyterian-supported missions, schools, and hospitals established for the native populations. Since her return, she has made reports to the women's societies that support these schools.

The gentle, gray-haired woman said she was impressed by the interest in fishing in Alaska, but distressed at the complete lack of vocational education offered the Indians and Eskimos. Domestic service is about the only vocational opportunity for girls, she said.

Indians in Alaska do not look like American Indians, Miss Taylor remarked. Racial characteristics are apparent when an Indian is seen beside a person of the white race, however. This is because of the many cases of intermarriage there, Miss Taylor explained.

Alaskans seem to realize that few people come to Alaska to settle permanently. They always ask when you came and when you will be leaving, she laughed. "When you are in Alaska, the natives always remind you that you came from down below."

Poverty is especially apparent in Puerto Rico, Miss Taylor stated. The native income is quite limited and living costs are very high since most food is imported. Although the houses are small cabins with no windows, they all have electric lights.

The Puerto Rican children are quite intelligent, she asserted. She explained that their power of concentration is much better developed than that of American children because they have few outside interests.

The Presbyterian church has developed a native ministry in Puerto Rico, Miss Taylor said. Every church there has a native minister.

In Cuba all teachers must be native born. The teachers in the Presbyterian-supported schools come to the United States for education or attend Presbyterian training schools for teachers.

Miss Taylor also visits Presbyterian-established schools for the different races in the U.S.

Personal Notes

Monty Brown, Des Moines, will visit John Hastings, M2, at the Nu Sigma Nu chapter house this weekend.

Among the out-of-town guests at the marriage of Sally Naggs to Dearl Richardson yesterday at 4:30 p.m. in the First Christian church, were Mrs. Sally Naggs, Keokuk; Edith Naggs, Keokuk; Mr. and Mrs. James Naggs, Lancaster, and Mrs. Herbert Prince, Keokuk.

Sharon Anderson, Rock Island, Ill., former SUI student, will be a guest at the Chi Omega sorority house this weekend.

A clothing shower for the Brecht triplets, children of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Brecht, was given last night in the dining rooms of the Steak shop in Coralville. Mrs. Kenneth Moore and Mrs. Leo O'Meara were hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Benninghoff, route 4, are the parents of a 7-pound, 4-ounce baby boy born Wednesday in Mercy hospital.

Prof. Scott to Visit Denmark

Prof. Gladys M. Scott of the women's physical education department will leave for Europe in June to attend the International Congress in Physical Education for women and girls, she said yesterday. The congress will be held in Copenhagen, Denmark, from July 18 to 23.

At the congress Prof. Scott will present a paper on "Recent Development in Research in Physical Education for Girls and Women in the United States."

Other papers will be presented on research in England and Sweden.

While in Europe Prof. Scott plans to visit Mary Ella Criz, American exchange teacher from the SUI physical education department, now teaching in England.

Following the congress in Copenhagen, Prof. Scott will travel to Stockholm, Sweden, where she will attend the Lingiad, a world gymnastic festival to be held July 24 to 29.

The Lingiad, first organized in 1939, is held every 10 years to celebrate the 100 years' jubilee of Per Henrik Ling, originator of Swedish gymnastics. The purpose of the Lingiad is to present a picture of the scope and development of gymnastics by ample representation from different countries.

GLADYS M. SCOTT

After attending the Lingiad, Prof. Scott plans to continue her travels in Europe. She will return to America around the first of September.

Gov. Beardsley Asked To SUI Military Ball

Invitations to this evening's Military ball have been sent to Gov. and Mrs. William S. Beardsley, and Pres. and Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher, Frank Dippo, a member of the committee announced yesterday.

Army and airforce officers and their wives invited to the dance include Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Paul L. Williams, Lt. Gen. and Mrs. Stephen J. Chamberlin, Lt. Col. and Mrs. David Wagstaff Jr., Lt. Col. and Mrs. Clifton Pyle, and Col. and Mrs. William W. Jenna.

Gay Colors, Styles In Women's Attire To Reign at Dance

The annual formal Military ball to be held tonight in the Iowa Union will be attended by men in military uniforms or formal evening dress. The women will wear formal gowns in a variety of gay colors and styles.

Mrs. William W. Jenna will wear a black crepe evening gown to the dance. Her dress is of classic style, trimmed with black sequins.

Margaret V. Patty, A3, will attend the dance with Frank Eicher. Her dress of light ecru faille is fashioned with a long torso and circular skirt. Small shoulder straps are of ecru satin.

A turquoise dress will be worn by Mrs. Mason Ladd. The crepe evening gown is trimmed with clusters of rhinestones.

Janice M. Killinger, A1, will attend the ball in a Southern-belle type formal of watermelon-red marquisette. The dress is fashioned with two large ruffles at the bottom of the full skirt and has a cape effect. Her escort will be Jack Miller.

Mrs. Carlyle F. Jacobsen will wear a green crepe dress with a square neckline and straight skirt.

Russell Cole's date, Nadene Nieman, will wear an aqua strapless formal. The bodice is of chantilly lace and lace is applied on the skirt.

A blue satin formal will be worn by Jacqueline Engelbert, A3. The bodice of the dress is plain with a cape effect and the skirt is slightly gathered around the waist. Her escort will be Bob Burdo.

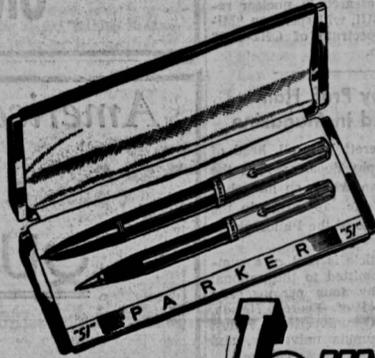

Sandro Glass, A2, will attend the dance with Jack Tiller. Her dress is aqua net over taffeta with a stole. She will wear matching net gloves with the strapless gown.

Red Horse Recruits Members

Sixteen persons have applied for membership in the Iowa City Red Horse club and recruiting will continue until Monday.

Edward Windrem, in charge of forming the local unit, said the two-day extension of the original deadline is to permit more veterans and members of the 113th reconnaissance squadron to join the club.

The club, he added, is being formed for the mutual benefit of its members.

A shoulder patch on the 113th's uniform is responsible for the name of the Red Horse club. The patch has a red horse embossed on a yellow background.

Prior to World War II, the 113th reconnaissance was known as the 113th cavalry squadron. Veterans of the latter unit are also eligible to join, Windrem said.

The names of applicants will be sent to Red Horse headquarters in Des Moines on Monday. The club will await further developments which will probably include a date for the election of officers for the local club, he added.

Among the Iowa Citizens who have taken a membership are Edmund F. Brooks, 430 Ronald street; Earl E. Williams, 615 1-2 S. Gilbert street; Albert E. Bogs, 200 First street; Quentin R. Ellis, 415 Bowers street; Sylvester J. Seydel, 631 S. Capitol street; Elmer M. Hay, 812 S. Dodge street; George A. Reeve, 629 Fourth avenue; Charles F. Fulton, 504 E. Burlington street; Edward Windrem, 919 S. Van Buren; Arthur V. Baldwin, 1808 F. street; Harry W. Dick, 806 Seventh avenue; and William E. Fischer, rural route 4.

Others are Donald W. G. Hedges, Rock Island, Ill.; John A. Pickering, Fort Belvoir, Va.; Warren E. Clark, Junction City, Kan., and Orval Walker, Battle Creek, Mich.

Mountaineers Hold Opening Red Cross First Aid Meeting

Prevention as well as treatment and care in accident cases was stressed at the first meeting of the Red Cross first aid course last night.

Clifford Judges, instructor of the course sponsored by the Iowa Mountaineers, presented a general introduction to first aid and showed a movie, "Miracle of Paradise Valley," which indoctrinated the class to first aid problems.

The class will meet every Thursday night in studio D, engineering building, from 7:15 until 10:15 p.m.

The course is open to the general public and upon completion will result in a first aid certificate.

Juedes, an assistant track coach at SU, taught first aid to ski patrols and rescue squads during the war and later taught civic groups, police and fire departments.

SUI Staff Member Elected Board Head

An SUI staff member was elected director on the executive board of the Iowa Engineering society at its 60th annual meeting Tuesday and Wednesday in Des Moines.

L. C. Crawford was elected to succeed H. G. Hershey, state geologist, Iowa geological survey. Crawford is associate director of the institute of hydraulic research in Iowa City and district engineer, U.S. geological survey.

Hershey was presiding chairman at a general session of the convention Wednesday morning.

J. W. Howe, research engineer of the Iowa institute of hydraulics, served as chairman of the meeting on flood control and soil conservation Tuesday night.

Rockefeller Doctor To Lecture Here

Dr. Reichard E. Shope of the Rockefeller Institute for medical research will lecture Monday at 4 p.m. in the medical amphitheater at University hospitals, the college of medicine announced.

Dr. Shope's lecture, "The Problem of the Disappearing Virus," is the sixth in the annual series sponsored by the Joseph Graham Mayo endowment.

The $5,000 lecture endowment was given to the SUI medical college in 1939 by Mrs. Edith Graham Mayo, Rochester, Minn., in memory of her son, Joseph G. Mayo, a graduate from SUI's medical college in 1927, was killed in an auto accident in 1936.

Local Food Prices Dip Lower

Market Basket Continues Trend

The Daily Iowan market basket index dipped below $16 for the first time this week as it continued its downward trend.

This week's market basket figure is $15.97, while the previous low was set last week at $16.06.

Round steak, Ivory flakes, lard and peas were down this week, but first grade bacon, potatoes and oranges rose to offset these losses somewhat.

Round steak was the biggest loser for the second straight week coupled with a seven-cent loss last week made this item appreciable lower than it was a fortnight ago.

The drop in Ivory flakes affected the pocketbooks of the average student buyer more than the beef drop, according to the original market basket survey which the index is based upon. The survey shows that a student family of three uses three boxes of this item a week, hence a three cent drop means a nine cent decrease in the week's grocery bill.

This week's strengthening in the midwest hog markets was reflected locally in the pork prices to an extent, as shown by a four-cent rise in bacon. Similar changes in other pork prices is expected, local butchers said yesterday.

Most grocery and meat dealers reported business to be a little less than lukewarm this week. They were hopefully eyeing the thawing ice and snow which was making travel more easy on downtown streets and sidewalks.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

When Lauritz Melchior first secured a leave of absence from the Metropolitan to sing in a film, he rendered a few numbers at a party hosted by Norma Shearer. An agent drew him aside later and said, "Say, feller you got a fine pair of pipes. Sign with me and I'll guarantee you a future in the flickers."

Melchior eyed him coldly and said, "My name happens to be Lauritz Melchior." "So what?" answered the agent unabashed. "We can change that easily enough."

An English wit (maybe it was Joe Miller) once declared that he could make a spontaneous pun about any subject the company present could offer. "All right," spoke up one gentleman. "Let us have a pun about the king." Without hesitation, the wit pointed out, "The king is not a subject."

ADDED 'COUNTY FAIR' Special BITS! COLORTOON - Late News

By BILL McBRIDE

THE SCOTCH TEND to let themselves get all excited about things that really don't matter much. They're mad at deers, now, and it seems to me they could find someone other than those animals to pick on.

Most deers I've had much contact with go pretty much about their business and try to make things as pleasant as possible for everyone concerned.

Of course there are a few deers that are stinkers, but then there's one of those in every crowd.

THE RECENT ARGUMENT between the Scots and the deers crops out of alleged damage done to telephone poles in the highlands by stags.

Suppose that stags are using telephone poles for backscratches (they'll have to prove it to me). I'd like to ask the Scotchmen just where they got those poles in the first place . . . they cut down trees, didn't they?

Before the trees were cut down stags used them for scratching purposes. When the frugal Scotsman decided it would be worth a nickel to call his lady friend, trees were felled, and there went the poor deer's itching post.

THE SECOND POINT I would like to take up with the Scots is this business of blaming stags for wearing out telephone poles. It seems to me that it is just as likely that a doe might scratch herself on telephone poles.

We men get blamed for everything, and it's high time some one did something about it. We might as well start with the stag issue.

THE FOUR-LEGGED stag has always kept his nose pretty clean (as much cannot be said for the two-legged variety) and it seems a shame to smear his good name over unfounded rumors about worn out telephone poles . . . pick on those raucous woodpeckers for a change.

THE REPORT ABOUT the situation came officially from the British postoffice. How did the British postoffice get its nose into this?

If anyone has to complain I should think the British postoffice would be the last to do it. If the people can't use telephones, they have to write letters, and I understand the British postoffice is practically bankrupt and could use some business.

IF THEY ARE really in earnest about this, the least they could do is to put up some sort of long-wearing deer back-scratcher. Perhaps steel posts or granite pillars would do.

A sign on each post stating, "For Deer Only," or if they are dead set on blaming male deer, "For Stag Only," would turn the trick. Of course, some arrangements would have to be made so dogs and other animal life wouldn't take advantage of the situation.

There are more than five million persons in Scotland. If each of them were chipped in a tuppence there would be enough to erect scratchers for generations of deers to come.

THIS MAY ALL just be a plot to create suspicion of deers as a whole. You may not know it, but there are lots of persons who don't like deers. The first thing you know they'll be saying this is all a part of a dastardly stag party line.

OF COURSE WE have some troubles in similar matters here in the United States. Little boys with air guns frequently shoot insulators off telephone poles, and beavers get over ambitious at times, leaving birch trees to gnaw at AT&T's lumber.

The most recent trouble here that I can think of originated not so much from itch, but from big-time curiosity. In that case it was not deers who did the damage.

The American people, I believe put quite a few polls out of kilter in November.

Welcome Rumblings from Florida —

While congress is toying with anti-illibuster rules and civil rights proposals, more and more liberal rumblings are coming out of the south. Too often when southerners say "leave us alone to solve our own problems," it is only an empty promise.

Last November, Florida elected a young governor named Fuller Warren. A recent incident proved him to be a man of more than empty promises.

A motorcade of hooded Ku Klux Klansmen in 43 cars bearing Florida, Georgia and Alabama license plates rode through Tallahassee to celebrate the founding of a new Florida Klavern. It was escorted through the city by capital police.

When Gov. Warren heard of the parade, he was furious. Calling the Klansmen "hooded jerks" and "covered cowards," he prepared to ask the Florida legislature to "outlaw the Klan and other such terrorist organizations" since the state now has no law "preventing such a mob of potential murderers from parading in Florida."

With an accusing eye toward Georgia, Warren charged: "Obviously the Klan has set out to terrorize minority groups in Florida as they have in a nearby state." Warren then asked one of his honorary lieutenant colonels to resign because he was a Klan leader.

The Florida legislature hasn't caught the spirit of wrath against the Klan's "covered cowards" as yet — it may never. But signs have come out of Florida this week to indicate that others have.

In Tallahassee, a county judge fined two of six Klansmen charged with driving improperly licensed cars in the recent motorcade. The six men were arrested after the parade on charges of covering their auto tags or having expired 1948 plates. The case is believed to be the first of its kind.

And in Miami, the city commission approved an ordinance prohibiting the burning of crosses and the "wearing of a mask or any device whereby any portion of the face is hidden or covered so as to conceal the identity of the wearer." The ordinance, which exempted "traditional holiday masks" was clearly an anti-Klan move.

These are encouraging signs that more and more southerners are resolved to "solve our problems by ourselves."

The Senator Stands Corrected —

The sidelights to the history-making sessions of congress provide a comic relief that playwrights might well recognize. Just before launching into discussions on inflation Senator Tobey of New Hampshire asked for recognition — the dialogue follows:

TOBEY: Mr. President, would it be in order to make a correction of the Record at this time?

THE VICE PRESIDENT: It may be done by unanimous consent.

TOBEY: Yesterday in speaking on the floor of the Senate I attributed a quotation which I used, "Linked sweetness long drawn out," to the immortal Bard of Avon. Mr. James W. Murphy, the Official Reporter of Debates, has called my attention to the fact that credit should have been given to John Milton.

Therefore, with apologies to William Shakespeare, I ask that the correction be made.

William Shakespeare and the U.S. senate accepted Senator Tobey's apology and the correction was made.

'Bold New Program' Will Stress Agriculture

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the beginning, much of President Truman's "bold new program" of teaching underdeveloped nations American skills will be centered on agriculture.

That's because any improvement in living levels must be built on well-fed peoples. Surveys show that two thirds of the world's population is undernourished.

In carrying out a program for improving farming skills abroad, Mr. Truman has two major agencies at his disposal. One is the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) of the United Nations. The other is the U.S. department of agriculture.

This choice in the field of agriculture — between an international agency and one of the United States government — points up a situation that Mr. Truman will have to face in working out his entire program.

The idea of a broad program for helping less fortunate areas first was attacked on a wide scale by a food conference at Hot Springs, Va., in 1943.

Called by the late President Franklin Roosevelt, this conference was hailed as the beginning of a new era of international cooperation to raise world living and social levels. Representatives of 44 nations attended. Included were some of the best known authorities on agriculture, food and nutrition.

Out of this grew FAO, charged with eliminating hunger and improving the economic lot of the world's farmers. FAO was to send technical experts into underdeveloped areas to teach them how their agricultural could be improved and how food producers could be assured of fair returns. FAO already has made a start on its work.

President Truman's program may change all this. There are indications that the United States may not channel its activities through FAO, but undertake them on its own. Certainly the possibilities have FAO officials and supporters worried.

In outlining his program in his inaugural address, Mr. Truman did mention United Nations organizations such as the FAO. He did indicate that there would be cooperation with them.

Nevertheless, initial steps in his program indicate the United States will do much of the work on its own.

The agriculture department has disclosed that it plans to broaden its present programs of providing technical aid to other countries. The department's program started back in 1939 as part of the "good neighbor" policy toward Central and South America. It now covers 15 western hemisphere countries.

By next year the department plans to extend it to such eastern hemisphere countries as Afghanistan, Iran, the Philippines, Siam

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT Impaled on The Hook

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

We are making ourselves safe against Russia, but at the cost of distorting our lives. I think of that radar shield the armed forces say we now need. The electronic rays will fringe our national borders, powered by leaping water and burning coal, pumping out endlessly into space, bouncing back ceaselessly upon the un-sleeping screen, to note the arrival of any flying ship or missile.

This is what we shall need to be safe. Gradually, perhaps we may be used to living in a world furnished in this manner, and we shall try to find corners, in it for our books and spare shirts — but without conviction, for it will be a life like that in the world of an abstract painting, in which the familiar is irrelevant.

AND THIS, I think, is the hook Russia has us on. Our defense program of itself may do more, in a distorting way, to us than ever she could. The more we hold her off, in this way, the more we shall change; the safer we make ourselves, at this cost and expense, the more helpless we shall be to order our own economic destinies. This is the hook that can reach through radar.

SURELY WE are entitled to think about our chances of getting ourselves off the hook, now, before we are too completely impaled; surely the greatest of national debates is called for, to consider whether there is not safer road to safety — perhaps by using these same resources to build so compelling a prosperity in our country and in our part of the world as to defeat communist penetration, to defeat it chemically, in mind after mind.

Are we mounting a defense, or are we only, at unthinkable cost, mounting one of those paradoxes which have in the past more than once rebounded to Russian advantage?

Coal Gas Experiment to Start in Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. (UP) — A second attempt to take the dirty drudgery out of coal mixing and to convert an enormous tonnage of unmineable coal into economical power will be made next week at Gorgas, Ala., near here. The U.S. bureau of mines and the Alabama Power company will ignite an incendiary bomb deep underground, setting fire to a vein of coal.

The resulting gases will be trapped and tested for their potential source of fuel for power, either as a gas or as a raw material for synthetic liquid fuels.

The U.S. bureau of mines called the first test two years ago successful "without consideration of commercial cost factors."

The bureau has appropriated $411,000 to continue the tests at Gorgas in cooperation with the Alabama Power company. The power company is furnishing 300 acres containing an estimated 500,000 tons of coal. Some 50 tons of coal will be consumed daily in the experiment.

Keokuk Pastor to Talk Here

A principal speaker during SUI Religion in Life week activities will be the Rev. Gerald Graham, rector of St. John's Episcopal church Keokuk.

The Rev. Mr. Graham is being brought to the campus by the Canterbury club of the Trinity Episcopal church. During Religion in Life week he will participate in seminars and informal discussion groups.

Ten speakers are being sponsored for the religious week activities, Feb. 27 to Mar. 3, by nine student church groups, the YMCA and the school of religion.

For three years the Rev. Graham was chaplain of the juvenile court in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada. He also was rector of St. Matthew's church there.

During the war the minister served with the Canadian navy and when discharged was chaplain in charge of the Pacific coast area.

Before coming to Keokuk in 1945, the Rev. Mr. Graham was rector of St. Stephen's church, Baker, Ore. He is a member of the board of examining chaplains of the Diocese of Iowa and of the Diocesan council.

Traffic Deaths Top Last Year's Record For Similar Period

Forty-three persons died as a result of 6,337 Iowa traffic accidents in the first month and a half of 1948, the department of public safety reported. It listed 1,304 injuries from those accidents in its report.

Thirty-one traffic fatalities from 6,198 accidents in the same period of 1947 show a comparative increase of 12 deaths and 1,039 accidents this year, the report said.

Sixteen Iowans died in the first two weeks of February, 1948, 14 of them during the second week of snow and sleet, the safety department said.

In the first two weeks of February, 1948, seven fatalities were recorded by safety department. The first month and a half of 1947 recorded the highest death toll of this period for the last three years, the report said. Fifty-four persons lost their lives then, 43 of them in January of that year.

Prof. R. Ebel to Speak At Masonic Club Today

Speaker this noon at the weekly meeting of the Masonic service club will be Prof. Robert Ebel, director of the SUI examination service.

Ebel will discuss "Fitting a Defeated Nation for Permanent Peace." He was one of the American educators who studied school problems in Germany last year.

This is the third speech in a series given by the Masons on problems confronting the United Nations.

University Graduate

Now With Mitropoulos

Had Scholarship Here

A former SUI student returned to the scene of his early studies when Dimitri Mitropoulos brought his Minneapolis Symphony orchestra to Iowa City.

Paul Brissy, a violinist with the orchestra, in 1939 attended the school of music here.

Angeline Lecometros Final Rites Monday

Final rites for Mrs. Angeline Lecometros, 72, an Iowa City resident for 10 years, will be held Monday at 2:30 p.m. at the Oaklawn funeral chapel. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Lecometros, who lived at 321 S. Johnson street, died Wednesday at Mercy hospital after being in ill health several years. She suffered a stroke several days ago.

Born in Argos, Greece, in 1876, she was the daughter of Nicholas and Sophia Georges. She married Thomas Lecometros in Greece in 1894. The couple came to America in 1916 and established a home in Rock Island, Ill. In 1939 they moved to Iowa City, remaining here since.

Her survivors are her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Andrew Karas, Iowa City; a son, George Lecometros, Philadelphia, Pa.; a sister in Greece, four grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Wants Ad will furnish your spare room — and furnish a roomer, too.

He felt that the scholarship added momentum to his career. And in 1943, Mitropoulos took him under his wing after Brissy had played a private recital for him.

Mitropoulos responded enthusiastically to Brissy's musical deftness by sponsoring his study for two years at the University of Minnesota in preparation for a place with the orchestra. In 1945, Brissy played his first concert with Mitropoulos conducting.

Especially happy last night was his mother, Mrs. L. Brissy who came from Burlington to hear her son narrate a special composition which Mitropoulos played as his farewell piece at SUI.

The composition was Benjamin Britten's "Young Persons Guide to the Orchestra." Britten is the composer of a recent opera "Peter Grimes" which has stirred music critics into controversy over its quality.

"Young Persons Guide to the Orchestra" consists of theme and variation demonstrating a section of the orchestra. As the music is played, there is a running commentary.

Brissy was asked by Mitropoulos to do the narration. As one of the musicians said jokingly just before the concert, Brissy "was the prima donna" last night.

Iowa City police said they received reports of two traffic accidents yesterday.

Roy N. Barron, A3, Chicago, and James W. Smith, route 7, Iowa City, were driving cars involved in an accident at 9:30 a.m. yesterday, Barron reported.

The accident occurred on Duquesne street near Washington street. Barron estimated damage to his car at $50. No report of damage to Smith's car was given.

A second accident occurred at 1 p.m. yesterday 12 miles north of here on highway 218, according to police reports.

Drivers were Mrs. Joanne Shepard, of Washington, Iowa, and Richard M. Pate of route 4, Iowa City, the report said.

No damage estimate was given, but Mrs. Shepard reported damage to the right rear fender and right door of the car she was driving. She said both fenders on the right side of Pate's car and one of his tires were damaged.

Marine Isn't Type 'To Drop a Line'

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Marine Cpl. Ernest Leder, a clerk typist, has written what is believed to be one of the longest letters ever set down by a Marine. It contained 64 pages of 8 by 13 1/2 inch paper, written in long hand, and took the inspired young leatherneck a total of 16 hours to write.

This was not the first longish letter Cpl. Leder has written. A few weeks ago he sat down and in about ten hours wrote 40 pages. The epistles, as you might imagine, are written to the corporal's girl friend, of Machias, New York.

Red Cross Sets $14,550 Goal; Names Hudson to Head Drive

The 1949 Johnson county Red Cross fund drive with a goal of $14,550 will be headed by Dorr H. Hudson, 1035 E. College street, Mrs. Lorna L. Mathes, executive secretary, said yesterday.

The drive will begin Feb. 28 and will close March 12. Hudson was selected as general chairman by the board of directors of the local chapter.

The county goal is $9,220 less than last year's goal of $23,750. Mrs. Mathes said, because the number of cases the chapter handles each year has leveled off to a peacetime level.

During peak years the chapter handled as many as 400 cases a month. Mrs. Mathes explained, but during the last six months, cases totaled 1,064.

If the county goal is reached, $10,000 will remain in Johnson county and $4,550 will be the chapter's share of national and international Red Cross needs, Mrs. Mathes said.

The sub chairmen chosen by Hudson are Larry Butler, Iowa City business section, $3,500 quota; Mrs. B.V. Crawford, Iowa City residential section, $2,700 quota; Graham Marshall, university, $2,000 quota; Robert Riggs, hospitals, $650 quota.

Harold W. Vestermark, mens organizations, $400 quota; Mrs. Lathrop Smith, womens organizations, $200 quota; Mrs. Velma Harlow, fraternities and sororities, $250 quota, and I.F. Duddelson, rural and small towns, $4,850 quota.

The drive will include all of Johnson county except Lone Tree, Fremont, Lincoln, and Pleasant Valley townships, which will be served by the Lone Tree chapter of the Red Cross.

Occupational Therapists To Hear Prof. Johnson

Prof. Wendell Johnson, director of the SUI speech clinic, will speak tonight to members of the Iowa Occupational Therapists association on "What Handicaps the Handicapped."

Johnson's speech will be given at an association dinner meeting at Hotel Jefferson at 6 p.m.

'Political Machines' In Our Courthouse

Anybody want to buy a voting machine? Johnson county has five of them.

The whole business dates back to when Iowa City divided its five wards into precincts. City Clerk George J. Dohrer thinks it was in 1936 or 1937.

Iowa City had been using voting machines and owned five of them. Then when they divided wards into precincts there weren't enough voting machines to go around.

So paper ballots were used and the voting machines stored. Dohrer says four of the machines are in Johnson county courthouse.

The other one is in the city council chambers on the second floor of the city hall.

Education Is Factor Of Cultural Change, Moehlman Declares

The increasing significance of education was named an important factor of cultural change by Prof. A. H. Moehlman at a Future Teachers of America meeting last night.

Moehlman traced the development of knowledge up to the modern era and emphasized "personalism and the use of the scientific method" as marks of American education.

"Humanization of knowledge" is the primary interest of teachers today, he asserted. Individualized education in a democratic America is "our greatest contribution to world culture," the SUI educator said.

Moehlman cited "a new need for understanding between the various cultures of the world." He pointed to World War II as an example of Americans finding themselves in foreign countries with philosophies and cultures unlike their own.

Walter Hill, A4, president of the Future Teachers of America at SUI, announced a panel discussion for the March 2 meeting. Problems in practice teaching will be discussed.

Mitropoulos Dynamic —

Symphony Triumphs

— In Appearance Here

By DONALD KEY

Once again the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, under the dynamic leadership of Dimitri Mitropoulos, has scored a brilliant triumph in Iowa City.

All three concerts were played to a capacity audience, and the audience went away with a feeling of gratitude toward the orchestra and its conductor for a program of inspirational music.

To say that any one concert was better than the others would, in my opinion, be a mis-statement. They were all excellently performed. Due to my partiality for Brahms, I enjoyed the first program more than the others. Yet, the Beethoven "Third Symphony," as played yesterday afternoon, would receive an ovation from any music lover.

Also the dramatic portrayal of "Francesca da Rimini" by Tschalkowsky should not be over-looked.

Last night's program opened with Overture to a Comedy" by Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the SUI music department. This work, lighter, and perhaps more modern than some of Clapp's music was played with perfection in all sections of the orchestra.

It seemed to me that the most outstanding number on the closing concert was the Borodin "Symphony No. 2, in B minor." The solid brass and string sections carried this lesser work to new heights. It might have been a little too sweet at times, but the expert performance among the soloist of the orchestra made up for any defect.

Of special interest was the encore which followed last night's concert. It was Benjamin Britten's masterpiece entitled "Instruments of the Orchestra," in which all of the various instruments of the orchestra are demonstrated. The work is accompanied by a scenario telling the characteristics of each instrument as it appears. It was intended as a young person's guide to orchestra, but it was so masterfully written that it has become an orchestral number.

It is with deep regret that Iowa City concert goes say farewell to Dimitri Mitropoulos. A few of the audience rose to their feet and applauded him after last night's encore. The orchestra, however, will probably return next year, and I'm sure they will again bring with them a multitude of enjoyable music.
