Odom Goes Route On $75 Gas Cost

TETERBORO, N.J. (AP)—Lanky Bill Odom broke the world's non-stop distance record for light planes yesterday by stretching $75 worth of gasoline from Honolulu to Teterboro—a distance of 5,000 miles.

"It was easy," the clean shaven, immaculately dressed Odom said. He made the remark as he stepped from his single-engined plane for the first time after leaving Hickam field, Oahu, T. H., 36 hours before.

The 29-year-old former World War II ferry pilot glided his tiny plane onto a runway at Teterboro airport at 11:06 a. m. (Iowa time.)

A minute earlier he had soared past the control tower to record the official end of the flight.

Odom, who came into prominence two years ago on his first world-girdling flight with Chicago Pen Manufacturer Milton Reynolds, said he was interested in a new global flight — this time touching at both the north and south poles.

The career pilot said he was worried only twice during his grueling solo flight from Honolulu. Once was when he found ice forming on his wings over the Rocky mountains. The second time was when his engine suddenly went dead over Chicago.

The Chicago incident, he said, was the result of an exhausted gas tank. He said he was talking into his microphone at the time and didn't notice that one tank had run dry.

He said he switched tanks quickly but not until the red and silver plane had dropped into a cloud bank. "I had a helluva time finding an opening again," he said.

The tall, balding airman had no automatic pilot in the plane. He said he needed none. He was able to eat, shave and change his shirt merely by letting go of the controls and depending on the plane's own stabilization.

Two Johnson county families were evacuated from their picnic point cabins, two miles south of Iowa City, late yesterday afternoon by county officers, after waters from the swollen Iowa river threatened to flood their homes.

Mrs. Elmer Ferrel and her three children, Michael, 2; Twila, 3, and a six-month-old baby, were the first persons to be removed by boat about 4 p. m. yesterday.

Thirty minutes later Mrs. E.C. Chase and her three children, Bobby, 6; Judy, 9, and Johnny, 3, were rescued from their water isolated cabin.

Another picnic point resident, Charles Johnson, 73, refused evacuation. He preferred to remain behind, believing he was in no danger from the slowly rising water.

The two families had been marooned in their cabins, since early yesterday afternoon. Rising water, flooding the road and the fields around the cabins, threatened to reach their cabins and to encircle Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy and Deputy Don L. Wilson to evacuate them.

A boat, borrowed from the Iowa City Water company by the two officers, was used to rescue the marooned families. Elmer Ferrel helped the officers row and push the boat through the hip-deep water.

However, precipitation will not be heavy enough to materially affect the flood conditions of this area, weather bureau officials said last night. Only .27 of an inch of rain had fallen by 6:30 p. m. last night.

TOPEKA (UP)—A governor who does not drink yesterday signed a liquor control act turning the long-time prohibition stronghold of Kansas into the 46th wet state.

Gov. Frank Carlson said the measure signaled "the start of a new era in Kansas" as he used a special pen for the occasion, with press cameras clicking their recordings of the scene.

Publication of the law in the official state paper at 11:15 this morning (Iowa time) will complete the process ending Kansas' role as the great mid-America Sahara.

However, the state has been wet officially since midnight last night. Atty. Gen. Harold Fatzer said the law is effective throughout the day of its publication.

A legitimate flow of whiskey will begin immediately. A Kansas may possess, transport and consume liquor without further waiting.

Kansas has had constitutional prohibition against the manufacture and sale of liquor for 69 years. For 32 years of that period, the "bone dry" law banned possession of it. Kansas, under that severe statute, was the world's largest area where even the holding of so little as a thimbleful of whiskey was a violation of the law.

Yet Kansas drank. The bootlegger furnished the liquor and official state sources estimated $80-million a year was spent for the illicit intoxicants.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house public lands committee yesterday overwhelmingly approved bills to make Hawaii and Alaska the nation's 49th and 50th states.

Only one vote was recorded against each of the twin measures to add two stars to the United States flag.

Crowd Welcomes Odom After Record Flight

BIG BILL ODOM (circled) and a policeman stand on the wing of Odom's single-engined plane after the flier completed a record breaking 5,000 mile non-stop flight from Honolulu to Teterboro, N. J., in 36 hours. This crowd, estimated at 1,000, was on hand to greet Odom when he landed yesterday at 11:04 p. m.

Evacuate Two Families Rising River Isolates Cabins

water to make the evacuations. John Agnew, 715 Iowa avenue, a picnic point property owner, drove the evacuees into Iowa City to stay with friends and relatives until the water subsided from their own homes.

The Iowa river was rising again yesterday. After reaching a high of 12.5 feet at midnight Monday the high water receded to 11.5 feet at 5:40 yesterday morning. At that point the water level began to rise again, officials of the Iowa institute of hydraulic research said yesterday.

Rising steadily all day, the water had reached a level of 12.22 feet at 5:30 last night. This is only slightly below the official flood stage of 12.3 feet.

Water flowing over the banks of the river north of town late yesterday had covered highway 218 with from 10 to 12 inches of water for a distance of about fifty feet, highway commission employees reported last night.

South of Iowa City much of the low-lying farm land along the river was under water. Adding to the general unpleasantness, snow was falling in some parts of northern Iowa and possible rain or snow is forecast for this vicinity today and tomorrow.

However, precipitation will not be heavy enough to materially affect the flood conditions of this area, weather bureau officials said last night. Only .27 of an inch of rain had fallen by 6:30 p. m. last night.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas accused senate Republicans last night of helping southern Democratic senators in their fight to block adoption of a new anti-filibuster rule.

He made the charge after the senate had been in session for more than nine hours, with nearly all the time consumed by speeches by Republican Sens. Arthur V. Watkins, Utah, and Harry P. Cain, Wash.

Lucas said those two Republicans had taken up nine hours talking about "extraneous, irrelevant" subjects not before the senate.

Watkins talked on the Atlantic pact and Cain on the nomination of Mon C. Wallgren to head the national security resources board.

Accusing them of "joining" the southerners in a filibuster, Lucas said the day's record "is a concrete example of how interested the leadership of the Republican party is in civil rights."

The anti-filibuster rule is regarded by the administration as vital to clear the way for senate action on President Truman's civil rights bills, which always have been killed by filibuster.

Even as administration leaders ordered the senate into the fight session, one of them conceded that the anti-filibuster fight may have to be shelved to save rent controls, due to expire March 31.

"Rent control can't die," Democratic Whip Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania told a reporter. "If the filibuster continues and we can't break it, we may have to set it aside."

Southern Democrats are staging a talkathon against a joint administration-GOP proposal to tighten up the senate's rules to bar just such a talk-fest.

They got an assist yesterday and last night from Sen. Harry P. Cain (R-Wash) who launched what he said would be a 16-hour tirade against President Truman's appointment of Mon C. Wallgren to be chairman of the national security resources board. He talked till 8 p. m. (Iowa time).

Barber Trimmed for Close Shave

CHICAGO (AP)—Barber Russel Korum, 42, was found guilty of disorderly conduct yesterday for hacking too much hair off a woman's head.

Mrs. Mary Mackal, 21, charged that Korum cut off so much hair she lost her job as a waitress.

"She asked for a short hair cut and got one," Korum defended.

Young GOP Executive Board Answers Democrats' Challenge

SUI's Young Republican executive board late last night decided not to join the Young Democrats on campus in lobbying for the Sloane-O'Malley FEPC bill now in the state legislature.

The board last night endorsed any program which will insure fair employment treatment for all citizens but declined to join with the Young Democrats, YRL Chairman Jim P. Goodwin said.

"We feel that the Sloane-O'Malley bill is not a practicable solution to employment because it is impossible to enforce any legislation which involves the large problem of prejudice," Goodwin said.

"We further feel that the Young Democrats of SUI have entered into this non-partisan program for purposes of political publicity and therefore we decline at this time to join them in lobbying for this bill," he added.

Earlier yesterday SUI Young Republicans were charged with "stalling" because of their failure to reply to an invitation from the Young Democrats to join them in lobbying for the Sloane-O'Malley FEPC bill now in the state legislature.

The Young Demos president, Hank Allan, said that "the Young Republicans' failure to respond to our invitation to join us in this fight against discrimination is an outright contradiction of their boasts that the YRL is progressive and liberal."

"As always," Allan continued, "when action is needed the Young Republicans are as scarce as a five-cent cigar."

The Young Democrats will hold an executive meeting tomorrow night. Allan invited all parties interested in FEPC for Iowa to attend. He especially urged those with evidence of discriminatory hiring practices in Iowa to file the information with them at this meeting.

During the week officers of the American Veterans committee and the League of Women Voters will be approached by the Young Demos on the possibility of their groups sending lobbying delegations for FEPC to Des Moines.

Demo Blasts Cain, Watkins

More Jurors Called For Communist Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—Sixty of the 80 members of the first jury panel called in the trial of 11 U.S. Communist leaders had been excused as court adjourned yesterday.

Federal Judge Harold R. Medina brought in a second group of 90 persons as it became obvious the first panel might not supply the needed jurors.

All of those excused pleaded that service in a lengthy trial would cause extreme hardship in their business or personal life.

One talesman, Joseph Young, an insurance man, gave the "time element" as his first reason for wanting to be excused but added: "My second reason is my absolute contempt of the individuals here charged."

He was waved from the jury box and reprimanded by the judge who told the other panel members: "It is not proper for jurors to make such statements, which I consider outbursts. It is not fair to the defendants and it is not fair to the government."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army said yesterday that all families of U.S. servicemen have been removed from areas threatened by Communist invader in China.

Senate Committee Approves North Atlantic Defense Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negotiations for the North Atlantic defense pact entered the closing stages yesterday as the senate foreign relations committee informally approved the proposed treaty's provisions.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) said that "as far as we are concerned all the work has been done." He told reporters the participating nations will sign the agreement in about two weeks after which it will be submitted to the senate for ratification.

Connally said the full text of the compact will be made public "in advance of its signing so there will be ample opportunity for public discussion." Once the final draft is publicized, he said, "the results will answer the complaints made against the treaty here in the United States."

On this score Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) also gave assurances that "fears which have been expressed about its prospective form will be dissipated by publication of the text."

Some fears had been expressed in the senate that the treaty might short circuit congress' power to declare war by committing the nation in advance to go to war against an aggressor. The prime purpose of the treaty is to bulwark the west against Communist expansion.

Connally and Vandenberg spoke out after the committee had devoted almost three hours to a detailed discussion of the pact's phraseology with Secretary of State Acheson.

Hank Allan, said that "the Young Republicans' failure to respond to our invitation to join us in this fight against discrimination is an outright contradiction of their boasts that the YRL is progressive and liberal."

Flood Threat Fading Except in Nebraska

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

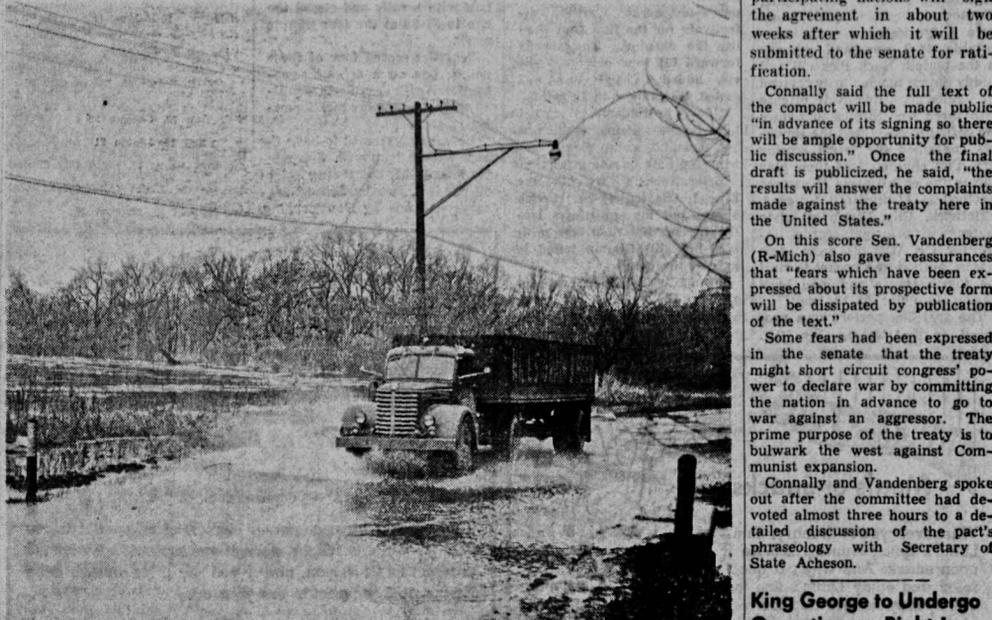

Floods, an annual spring menace, were serious yesterday in parts of Nebraska but elsewhere the threat was fading.

Crippling floods over the week end still kept scores of persons from reaching their homes in the Missouri Valley, Iowa area. Utilities services were cut off, and drinking water rationed. One thousand persons have been evacuated.

Some 75,000 acres in Iowa lowlands were covered by water from ice-jammed tributaries of the Missouri. Two deaths have resulted from the early floods.

CRUISING THROUGH THE CORNFIELD instead of down the river, was the way the Elmer Ferrel family escaped from their water-isolated picnic point cabin late yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Elmer Ferrel (right) steps gingerly from the rescue boat, while her husband (left) and an unidentified rescuer hold her three children. The rescue operation was directed by Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy and Deputy Don L. Wilson.

TRAFFIC CONTINUED AS USUAL yesterday afternoon as the Iowa river submerged a section of highway 218 north of Iowa City for the second time in two days. The water overflowed the highway about two blocks north of the city park bridge and was eight to 10 inches deep for a distance of about 50 feet, highway commission officials reported. Adding its bit to the swollen rivers was .27 inches of rain which fell here yesterday afternoon.

Little Hawks, Davenport Advance To Final Round

Meet Tomorrow in Fieldhouse; Wayland Tops Wellman, 49-41

The top game of sub-state tournament play became a reality last night as City high of Iowa City and Davenport gained easy victories over their first round opponents and advanced to that all-important final round game tomorrow night.

In the other sub-state game in the fieldhouse last night, Wayland beat Wellman, 49-41, to move into the class B final Friday night.

The Blue Devils and the Little Hawks will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow to determine who will advance to the state tourney next week in the fieldhouse.

The battle between the two southeastern Iowa powerhouses will be rated almost an even contest with the Hawks possibly given a slight edge on the basis of their two two-point victories over Davenport in regular season play.

In gaining the finals Davenport knocked off Clinton, 47-31, last night, and in the next game the Little Hawks slaughtered Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids, 70-19.

Three games are booked for the fieldhouse tonight. Winfield will face Lowden in a first round class B tilt at 7 p.m. Montezuma and Mt. Pleasant will meet starting at 8:15 in a class A game and West Liberty will play Marion at 9:30 in the last class A first-round game.

The final Class A and B games will be played Friday night.

team was transmitted to the Iowa City substitutes who played the larger portion of the last quarter. Gene Oatthout bucketed a field goal after four minutes had elapsed in the final stanza and this gave the victors a 61-19 lead. Hedrick, the sole starter remaining in the Hawklet lineup at this stage of the contest, hit a basket, followed by Keith Hemingway's free throw, successive buckets by John Hays and a fielder by Oatthout for the Little Hawk's 54 point margin of victory 70-19.

Pickerill and West paced Roosevelt's impotent attack with five markers apiece, while Shain and Bill Fenton furthered the City high victory with 11 and 12 counts respectively.

Iowa City 70, Roosevelt 19

Iowa City's mighty Little Hawks, sparked by the play of Big Gene Hedrick who tallied 24 markers, displayed an awesome brand of cage potency and wizardry last night as they rode roughshod over a hapless Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids quiet 70-19.

The storming Hawks were magnificent in victory last night and were a vastly improved ball club over the aggregation that barely shaded Franklin of Cedar Rapids in the district finals last week.

The issue was never in doubt in the Roosevelt game after the Little Hawks raced to a commanding 20-2 first quarter advantage.

The staunch Iowa City defense granted Roosevelt just a single bucket in the entire first half, and the losers tallied but five fielders in the ball game.

Whitey Diehl, whose effective rebounding and floor play was an integral cog in City High's offensive machine, initiated the Iowa City attack with a tip in the opening seconds of the fray.

Don West, Roosevelt guard, hit a charity toss to reduce the Iowa City margin to 2-1. The surging Hawklets pushed to a 16-1 margin late in the initial period before Ronnie Hartman, Roosevelt forward, hit from the free throw line.

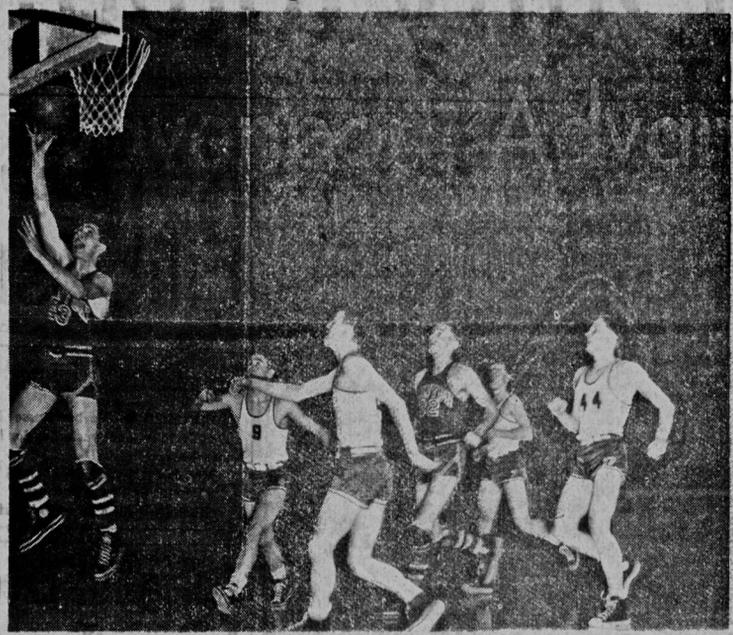

Bill Diehl and Rox Shain collaborated on fielders and the Little Hawks held a decisive 20-2 first quarter margin.

With five minutes remaining in the second period, Bill Fenton notched a bucket to give Iowa City a 31-2 lead. Wally Storm scored a free throw and Bob Kacena and West traded charity tosses before West poked in Roosevelt's first and lone basket of the first half with one minute remaining in the second period. City High led at the half, 35-6.

Bill Fenton, Rox Shain, and Diehl all contributed to the Hawklet scoring pace in the opening minutes of the third quarter and Iowa City posted a very comfortable 44-6 command midway in the period. Buck Pickerill and Buddy Saylor momentarily revived the faltering Roosevelt offense with three free throws to reduce the deficit to 46-11, but the Hawklets continued the torrid scoring pace that characterized their play during the entire game to assume a robust 51-13 third quarter edge.

Hedrick, City High's all state center and principal scoring figure for Gil Wilson's crew this season, pushed in a basket to start the fourth stanza and give Iowa City a 40 point 53-13 lead.

FIRST BASKET FOR THE RIVER KINGS is scored by Clinton's center, Don Ramig, in last night's sub-state action at the fieldhouse. Damig's goal was the only one scored by Clinton in the first period as Davenport's Blue Devils walked away with the game, 47-31. Davenport players looking on are Bob Erickson (9) and Bob LeBuhn (44). Clinton player is Forward Ed Fergesen (32).

Clinton's scoring was divided among Bob Christiansen, Jack Carstensen and Ramig, all finishing with seven tallies.

Wayland 49, Wellman 41

Don Schwartzendruber's passing show and game-leading 17 points could not erase a first quarter 18-4 Wellman deficit, as the Wayland Bombers took an easy 49-41 decision at the fieldhouse last night.

The Bombers' pressing man-to-man defense had the Wildcats harried during the entire first period. Wellman did not score its first field goal until six minutes and 30 seconds had elapsed, when Schwartzendruber dropped in the first of his seven baskets with a running one-hander. By then Wayland had 14 points.

With Forward Dan Leichty pushing three one-handers through the hoop in the first quarter, and Guard Ledru Kauffman scoring on two jump shots, Wayland solved the Wildcats' zone defense rather handily.

The second quarter saw Wellman come out of its doldrums as Schwartzendruber scored eight points and set up most of the others with deft passes.

With less than three minutes remaining in the half, Don Schettler counted with a running one-hander to make the score 25-18. That was as close as the Wildcats came in the half, which ended 30-20.

Wellman started the second half with a rally and closed the gap to 34-28 at the four minute mark.

Schettler scored four of those points, one on a driving one-hander. Again the Bombers pulled away, making the three-quarter score 38-29.

The winners seemed to have the game wrapped up with five minutes left, 46-33, but three straight one-handers, two by Schwartzendruber and one by Don Topping, closed the gap. The automatic time-out with three minutes to go stopped the Wildcats' drive, and Wayland put the game safely into the books, 49-41.

Wellman player looking on is Don Topping, (5).

Kauffman played an outstanding floor game for the winners and paced Wayland's scoring with 12 points. Don Leichty was next with 10 points.

'We'll Be Tougher,' Warns Southworth

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—"We're the champions. We have definite designs on first place again. The other clubs will have to best us. We're not ready to step aside for anybody."

So said Billy Southworth, manager of the defending champion Boston Braves as he discussed the 1949 National league picture.

"We'll be tougher to beat this year," Billy said, "because we have a better ball club that we had a year ago. Winning the pennant hasn't lulled the boys into complacency. On the contrary, they are more determined than ever. They are eager to prove that it wasn't all luck last year."

Southworth based his optimism on the following: "Shortstop Alvin Dark will open the season as a proven big leaguer whereas last spring he was an untried rookie; the acquisition of Pete Reiser, the return of Jimmy Russell, the development of Vernon Bickford into a fine starting pitcher, and the wealth of manpower insuring a fine bench of reserves, all tend to make us stronger."

Southworth expressed the opinion that the race would be one of the tightest in years "because the clubs have levelled off." "There isn't a real weak club in the league," he said.

Luncheon to Honor Tournament Cagers

The annual testimonial luncheon for the state basketball tournament players and their coaches will be held March 18 at the Hotel Jefferson.

Sponsored by the Iowa City chamber of commerce, the luncheon will be attended by about 250 persons, Secretary Robert Gage said yesterday.

The chamber's state tournament committee, headed by Edwin Shain, met yesterday afternoon to make final plans for the tourney. The chamber will again sponsor the press and radio lounge at the fieldhouse during the tourney, next Monday through March 19.

There is still an expected housing shortage for tourney visitors, Gage reported. He urged anyone in or near Iowa City who will have rooming facilities available at tournament time to contact the chamber of commerce office.

Former Cards File $2,500,000 Damage Suit Against Baseball

NEW YORK (AP)—Max Lanier and Fred Martin, who once pitched for the St. Louis Cardinals, sued organized baseball for damages totaling $2,500,000 yesterday in an effort to break the five-year suspensions imposed on them for jumping to the Mexican league.

They also obtained a federal court order directing organized baseball to show cause on March 15 why it should not be temporarily restrained from barring them and from demanding that players sign contracts containing "either a reserve or a termination clause."

The reserve clause — often called the backbone of professional baseball — was attacked as a violation of the anti-trust laws in the suits filed in federal court here by John L. Flynn, New York attorney.

Named as defendants were A.B. (Happy) Chandler, baseball commissioner; Ford C. Frick, president of the National league; William Harridge, president of the American league; George M. Trautman, president of the national association of minor leagues, and all 16 major league clubs.

Both Chandler and Frick refused to comment. They were in Tampa, Fla., attending a banquet for officials of teams training in Florida.

Seeking triple damages under the Sherman and Clayton antitrust laws, Lanier sought $1,500,000 and Martin an even $1-million.

Flynn had announced that several other players who were suspended in 1946 for transferring to Mexico would join in the suit.

At least two of them—Mickey Owen, former Brooklyn Dodger catcher, and Myron Hayworth, erstwhile St. Louis Browns catcher—have publicly announced their disapproval of any such suits against baseball.

Flynn approached half a dozen others. But when he went to court yesterday he represented only the two former St. Louis Cardinal pitchers.

Owen has been attempting to enlist support for his theory that Chandler might lift the suspensions if officials of organized baseball were not faced with court action.

No Reinstatement
 Lanier made a sworn statement yesterday, however, that Chandler informed him on Feb. 26 that there were no "present plans for my reinstatement in professional baseball."

Flynn said other players would join in the suits later, but lack of time to draw the necessary papers made it impossible for them to institute court action yesterday with Lanier and Martin.

The suit is similar to one brought last year by Danny Gardella, former New York Giants outfielder who was banned for jumping to the Mexican league.

Gardella's case once was dismissed by a district court but the decision was reversed recently by the court of appeals which ruled that the trial could be held.

'Jumping on Gravy Train,' Says Danny

MT. VERNON, N.Y. (AP)—Danny Gardella, the man who started all the shooting over baseball's reserve clause, leveled a blistering broadside at Max Lanier and Fred Martin last night, charging them with "jumping on the gravy train."

The former New York Giant outfielder, whose $300,000 damage suit soon will come up for trial, said, "I feel that their (Lanier and Martin's) grounds for suing are far from sufficiently justified.

"There are a number of reasons I'm against them.

"First of all, Martin and Lanier and the majority of the other players are contract jumpers. I never was one.

"Secondly, they all received $5,000 bonuses from the Mexican League which I did not receive.

"Thirdly, circumstances forced me to jump. No one was forcing them."

"As regards the justice of Lanier and Martin's suit," he added, "baseball is more on the moral side. I am firmly convinced of that."

Gardella emphasized that his case was separate and distinct from Lanier and Martin's.

Eagan Says No to Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Louis' New York debut as a promoter sold out a midtown restaurant yesterday but the retired heavyweight champion was forced to admit defeat in his first venture here in the promotional field.

Louis said Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York State Athletic commission, had rejected his request to have the proposed Ezzard Charles - "Jersey" Joe Walcott match sanctioned here as the world's championship title bout.

The Brown Bomber told a large gathering of newspapermen, photographers, and radio people, of his meeting with Eagan yesterday morning.

Louis said Eagan was "friendly and offered to help me in any way. The commissioner told me that he could not sanction any one fight as for the world's championship," Louis said.

Abe Greebe, commissioner of the National Boxing association, already has given Louis' recently formed International Boxing club, permission to name the Charles-Walcott winner the "world's champion."

Louis said he would like to have the blessing of both organizations and didn't relish the idea of dual champions. He said he considered both fight bodies as equally important.

Out of the hullablow emerged these principal points:
 1. Since Eagan won't sanction the Charles-Walcott "title" fight here, it will be held outside this state, probably in Chicago.
 2. Louis said he definitely would not fight again. And if he should change his mind — this in answer to a question — he would not consider himself champion but a challenger.

3. Louis has no other fighters signed up outside of Charles and Walcott.

This last point stirred most of the controversy since the 20th Century Sporting club also claims it has Charles signed to a contract.

Tuna, Salmon Get Lenten Dress

Macaroni, Spaghetti Featured in Recipes

By JEAN MCFADDEN
Cooking on meatless days during Lent is no problem to Mrs. Don McComas, 117 E. Davenport street. She finds such days a good opportunity to prepare some of her favorite recipes.

Two such dishes which Mrs. McComas often uses as meat substitutes on Wednesdays and Fridays during Lent are salmon spaghetti loaf and noodle tuna fish loaf.

Mrs. McComas, publicity chairman of the Iowa City unit of Catholic Daughters of America, got the recipes from her mother. Since then they have become special dishes for Mr. McComas as well.

Salmon and Spaghetti Loaf
1 package of spaghetti or macaroni

1 large can of red salmon
3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
flour to thicken
1-2 cups milk

Cook spaghetti as usual and drain. Mince white sauce with butter, flour and milk, salt and liquid from salmon. Mince salmon fine. Place layers of spaghetti, salmon and white sauce in baking dish and bake for 12 minutes at 450 degrees Fahrenheit. Grate cheese over the top and serve.

Mrs. McComas often uses variations of this recipe, sometimes substituting potato chips for grated cheese.

Noodle Tuna Fish Loaf
2 cups noodles measured before cooking
1 can tuna fish
2 hard-boiled eggs
1 pimento
small can of mushrooms cut in pieces.

Make a thin white sauce. Add all ingredients. Mix together and bake in a buttered baking dish with buttered crumbs on top. Baking time is 45 minutes to one hour in a moderate oven, 350 degrees Fahrenheit.

Both mushrooms and pimento are optional, says Mrs. McComas. As a variation she sometimes uses mushroom soup in place of the plain mushrooms.

Ten New Members Initiated by PIKA's

Ten members were initiated into Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity Sunday.

They are James Taylor, A3, Davenport; Jerry Shipton, A3, Davenport; Lloyd Harold, A1, Glenwood; W. H. Swab, A3, Centerville; Kenneth Mullenix, A2, Fairfield; William Tygret, A3, Fairfield; M. V. The chairman announced committee chairmen for the dance are Harvey Coontz, John Hohmann, Charles Harrington, Norwood Louis, Karl Wheat, Carroll Johnson, William Grossman, Patricia Devilbiss, Robert W. Johnson, Allerga Gardner, John Shepherd, Robert Gregg and Laurence Feagin.

Pfc. Donald Parrott Furloughs in Japan

Pfc. Donald J. Parrott, 20, 1029 N. Dodge street, began a 15-day furlough in Yutanaka, Honshu, Japan, last Saturday. Eighth army headquarters in Kyoto, Japan, announced recently.

Parrott is now serving with the 5th special service company in Kyoto, Japan. He entered the army in October, 1947 and has been in Japan since December, 1947, his mother said.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. C.F. Parrott.

A MEATLESS DISH WITH PLENTY OF FLAVOR is the salmon spaghetti loaf made by Mrs. Don McComas, 117 E. Davenport street. For this Wednesday in Lent, Mrs. McComas is using macaroni in the place of spaghetti called for in the recipe. The white sauce now being prepared will add flavor and richness to the loaf.

Seminars Plus Jobs Offered to Collegians

Student seminars plus jobs to cover expenses are being offered by the National Intercollegiate Christian council in Washington, D. C., and New York City. Mrs. Bonnie Wilson, YWCA executive secretary, said yesterday that girls who are interested may contact her at the YWCA office in the Iowa Union.

Ninety students from all over the United States will be chosen, upon application, to attend the Washington Student Citizenship seminar. Tentative dates have been set for June 23 to Aug. 31.

The purpose of the seminar is "to understand the process of federal government, to see the responsibilities of individual citizens in a democracy, and to prepare for effective Christian citizenship," the national council announced.

During their first week in Washington, students will spend full time attending Congressional hearings, observing the senate, house of representatives and the supreme court in session and meeting with informed people in the national capital.

Students will hold full-time jobs in government agencies or in the

Candidates Invited To Meet League

Candidates for the school board have been invited to attend a general meeting and luncheon of the League of Women Voters next Monday, election day.

The candidates will be guests of honor and will be introduced to the league membership as were city primary candidates recently.

Prof. Addison Hickman of the SUI college of commerce will speak on "Fiscal Policies That Make for a Stable Domestic Economy."

League officials have asked that members come prepared to hand in suggestions for the league's local program for the next fiscal year.

Lecturer to Speak Of Trip in Canada To SUI Geologists

Dr. Horace G. Richards, specialist in geology and biology, will speak in the geology lecture room Friday at 4:30 and 8 p.m. on two little known areas of the world he has visited and studied.

Richards will illustrate his talks, sponsored by the geology department and graduate college, with slides.

In his 4:30 lecture on "The Mackenzie Delta" Richards will describe his recent expedition to arctic Canada, giving its geologic history and telling of the problems of the Eskimos and Indians of that area.

His 8 o'clock speech, "The Colorado Delta," will include information on the delta and mouth of the Colorado river.

Richards is associate curator of geology and paleontology at the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia. He received his B.A., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Pennsylvania.

opportunities to understand the social, economic, political and religious forces in New York City.

Students their will work 30 hours a week in a social agency and will meet two afternoons a week for field trips and forums.

Additional information about expenses, exact dates and applications may be obtained from Mrs. Wilson, YWCA.

Mortar Board Head Discloses Chairmen Of Annual Luncheon

Committee chairmen for Saturday's 14th annual Mortar Board Smarty Party luncheon were announced yesterday by Mortar Board President Jeanne McDonald, A4, Lima, Ohio.

Chairmen of the program and table decorations committees are Jackie Fitch, C4, Clinton, and Jan Lauderdale, A4, Toledo, respectively. Carolyn Ladd, A4, Iowa City, is chairman of the skill committee, Valerie Dierks, A4, Iowa City, is in charge of tickets and publicity chairman is Lucile Dean, A4, Valparaiso, Ind.

The Smarty Party luncheon originated on the SUI campus in 1936 when a buffet dinner was served to 275 "intellectual" guests by the local Mortar Board chapter. The party, given in recognition of girls with "B" averages or better, consisted of a short program satirizing grinds, apple polishers, and midnight oilers. Since then Mortar Board chapters all over the country have made it an annual custom to recognize the "smarties" on their campuses with luncheons or teas. This year's party, "The Smarty Derby," will feature a horse race satirizing the various types of students on campus. Each year skits have been presented ranging from "Dummy Day at the Institute of Dummyology" to "Kelly's Kranium Clinic."

Duke Ellington To Play For Pan-Hellenic Dance

Duke Ellington's band will play for the Pan-Hellenic council's spring formal, Pat Fox, chairman of the dance committee, said yesterday. The dance will be held from 9 p.m. to midnight Saturday in the main lounge of the Iowa Union.

The Junior Pan-hellenic council will serve as dance committee.

President and Mrs. Virgil M. Haneher, Dean and Mrs. Dewey B. Stuit, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Goetsch and fraternity and sorority housemothers have been invited to attend.

Teachers Ask For Minimum 180-Day Year

Iowa City's younger generation may have an extended school year in 1949-50 if a recommendation by the Teachers club is approved by the school board.

The board yesterday noon heard a proposal by the club to extend the school term from nine to about nine and one-half months.

A minimum of 180 class days would be set under the new plan, an increase over the 174 days of school scheduled this year (1948-49) and the 176 school days in 1947-48.

William H. Bartley, board member, said the extended term and a $150 permanent basic salary increase for each teacher would be necessary because of the added days.

He told the board the 180-day minimum would entitle the independent school district to a maximum amount of state aid, although the help from the state would be a small part of the added cost.

Most other school systems the size of Iowa City's have the longer school year, Bartley added.

Charles S. Gallier, secretary of the school board, said yesterday the proposed extension of the school year would be considered by the new board. Three vacancies will be filled in the March 14 election and new members will attend their first meeting March 21, he said.

Bartley stated at the board meeting yesterday that either he or the Teachers club will propose the elimination of salary differences which give men more pay than women for comparable teaching positions.

Martin, Anderson Elected Sigma Nu Fraternity Officers

Robert Martin, A3, Des Moines, was elected commander of Sigma Nu, social fraternity, Monday night. He succeeds Gerald Jewett, C4, Des Moines, at the annual election of the fraternity's officers.

Chosen as the lieutenant commander was the retiring social chairman, Robert Anderson, A3, Spencer.

Other officers elected were Joe Stern, A2, Shenandoah, treasurer; Crain Charlton, C3, Des Moines, recorder; Kenton Klein, A1, Des Moines, chaplain; Robert L. Paul, E4, Atlantic, house manager.

John Hewitt, A3, Little Rock, Ark., athletic manager; Glen Stover, A2, Hampton, scholarship chairman; Jack Simpson, C4, Shenandoah, and Robert Coors, A2, Cedar Rapids, pledge trainers.

Charles Kelly, A2, Iowa City, marshal; Harold Stevens, A2, Des Moines, sentinel; Frederick Darling, A1, Cedar Rapids, coach; Bob Laible, C3, Irvington, N.J., assistant treasurer; Bob Coffman, A3, Des Moines, alumni contact chairman and James Stephens, A3, Kansas City, Mo., reporter.

Quad to Send Scott To Minnesota Meet

The Quadrangle council will send William P. Scott, C3, Sterling, Ill., to the spring inter-dormitory council conference at the University of Minnesota, Social Chairman James J. Barrett said yesterday.

Scott will represent the 1,000 residents of the Quadrangle at the meeting of dormitory representatives from all Big Nine universities, Barrett said. The conference has been tentatively set for April 30 and May 1.

The council is attempting to obtain Woody Herman for the tri-dorm dance April 8 sponsored jointly by the Quadrangle, South Quadrangle and Hillcrest, he said.

Expert Declares — U.S. Women Too Skinny

By CLAIRE COX
NEW YORK (AP) — American women are getting so skinny that there's hardly a dangerous curve left in the U.S.A., two students of womanly wiles declared recently.

The fad for dieting has reduced sex appeal appallingly, the experts lamented, and heaven knows that no fellow with an urge for romance likes to cuddle up with a cute little bag of bones.

Al Moore, who paints lusty pictures of busty gals for magazines, and Manufacturer Harold Kurzman, whose girdles and brassieres give every little curve a meaning all its own, said the girls will have only their calorie content to blame if they are left waiting before they ever get to the altar.

They agreed that there wouldn't be any need for saloons or Sunday baseball if a fellow had something to stay home for besides a display of calisthenics, mud packs and canned carrot juice.

"It never occurs to a woman to ask a man what sort of woman men like," Moore said. "Instead, they ask their girl friends, and no girl would tell even her best friend how to bag a mink coat. So, they tell each other to get thin, when all the time we like 'em chubby."

"You know what I sometimes think? Well, I think that maybe women really care more about what other women think about their appearance than about the men who have to look at them."

Kurzman, president of the Corset and Brassiere Association of America, nodded solemnly. He just can't understand why women spend dollars and hours putting paint on their faces and taking pounds off their hips, when everyone knows that no really discerning man ever notices a girl from the neck up, if the rest of her landscape is interesting.

"The average woman doesn't have much of a face anyway," he said, "but there isn't much else to look at these days."

Moore added that he thought the nation's beauty parlors and physical culture salons ought to be taken over by men so they can whip the girls back into shape again.

Red Cross Drive Hits $2,170 Mark

A ninth day total of $2,170 has been netted by the 1949 Johnson county Red Cross fund drive, General Chairman Dorr H. Hudson said yesterday.

The drive, with a goal of $14,555, opened Feb. 28 and is scheduled to close Saturday.

A very small percentage of the money collected by Red Cross solicitors has been turned in, Hudson added.

Contributions may be taken or mailed to Red Cross headquarters, 15 1-2 S. Dubuque street, the chairman said.

Those who mail their contributions will receive a Red Cross sticker and receipt just like contributors approached by solicitors, Hudson added.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF
LOUIS SOBOL is authority for the story that Beatrice Lillie toyed with the notion of vacationing in Bermuda after one of her plays ended its run. She contacted the owner of an estate there and asked for particulars by mail.

The owner answered, "My place is on a small island, so you will need my boatman to ferry you to Hamilton and back. The estate rents for $25,000, but with the boatman's services included, the price will be $30,000."

Miss Lillie cabled, "Kindly rush photograph of boatman."

A writer who lives above radio star Morey Amsterdam's apartment called up late one night to register a complaint. "You people are making such a racket," he said, "I can't even hear myself typewrite."

"That's easy to remedy," answered Amsterdam cheerfully, "Type-write louder."

Rent Director Says Increase Decisions May Be Appealed

If a landlord doesn't like the decision on his petition for a rent increase he can appeal the decision to the local rent advisory board.

And from there, if he isn't satisfied, he may appeal all the way up to the office of the national housing expediter, Area Rent Director T.J. Wilkinson said yesterday.

"When a landlord doesn't care to have his individual petition for a rent increase reviewed by the local rent advisory board, if it has been turned down by the rent office, he may appeal to the regional office of the office of housing expediter, Chicago.

"And, if he is not satisfied with that decision, he may appeal the matter to the national office," Wilkinson explained.

Any rent increase approved by local advisory boards, but refused by the housing office, is automatically referred to the special court of appeals, Wilkinson said. This provides a further opportunity for review of rent increase decisions, he said.

Pa 'Checks Up' On His Daughter

An SUI coed's unpaid cafe tickets amounting to less than 80 cents were paid by a $2 check from her father, Perry Potriades of Reich's cafe said yesterday.

According to a letter from the girl's father, she left the cafe without paying. He wrote that his daughter was "never brought up to do this sort of thing" and said her girl friends encouraged her to do it. He found the unpaid tickets in her school books when she was home.

Potriades said this has happened before, but not for about a year.

County Corn Loans Total 75 for Month

The Johnson county corn loan administration certified 75 and disbursed 74 of the 96 corn loans applied for during February.

The Johnson county office paid $160,614.77 for 115,564 bushels of corn sealed in cribs under government agreements, Ray E. Smalley, chairman of the Johnson county agricultural association, said yesterday.

Two of the February loans were paid at the rate of $1.38 a bushel for 919 bushels of corn. The rest of the loans were paid at the rate of $1.39 (support price) per bushel, Smalley said.

Naval Reservists To Show 2 Films

Two war films will be shown at the regular meeting of the Naval Electronic Warfare facility, U. S. naval reserve, tonight at 8 p.m. in room 301, engineering building.

"Target for Tonight," an hour long British documentary film showing a bombing mission over Germany, will be the first film shown to the naval personnel.

The second film, "The Fleet That Came to Stay," shows Kamikaze suicide planes attacking ships at Okinawa.

Roberts to Discuss World Unity

Hew Roberts, associate professor in the college of education, will speak at the Information First lecture at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Roberts said yesterday his topic will be, "A Choice: United or Divided Nations."
The only way to stop the spread of communism "is by opposing it with greater force even at the risk of war," Roberts said in discussing his talk.

The ideal way to do this, he said, would be through the United Nations, but at present the UN couldn't handle it because it doesn't have an effective police force.

"Our problem is to find effective power and still preserve the UN," Roberts said.

Roberts was born and reared in Australia. He was educated at Scotch college and the University of Perth in Western Australia, and at Oxford, England.

After he was graduated from Oxford, Roberts traveled throughout Europe visiting Russia, Italy and Germany. In 1935 he was briefly under "protective arrest" in a Nazi concentration camp.

Roberts first visited the United States in 1937. He returned to Perth in 1938 to take up the position of director of adult education.

He served in the RAP for a short time after the outbreak of the war. In 1940 he returned to Iowa City and gave nearly 700 addresses on educational topics and international affairs throughout the state.

In 1942 Roberts became head of the Educational section of British Information services in New York. He entered the U.S. army in 1943 and served in the central Pacific. He was later transferred to the Australian army's directorate of Research.

Roberts recently returned to Iowa from Australia to resume his work teaching comparative education and adult education.

Magazine Winners May Claim Prizes

Winners of the Chesterfield contest in the March issue of Frivol magazine may now pick up their prizes at The Daily Iowan business office, Business Manager Herb Holland said yesterday.

Answers for the Chesterfield contest in the April issue must be mailed to the magazine, Holland said. The first ten persons with correct answers and the earliest answers will be chosen as winners.

Entries for the Frivol magazine contests for cartoons, stories, articles and pictures may be brought to the Frivol office in East hall at any time, Holland said.

First prize in the monthly Frivol contest is five dollars, second, three dollars, and third, two dollars.

Medical School Uses $35,000 For Radiation, Cancer Study

Expansion of the SUI college of medicine facilities in its fight against cancer are already underway with the $35,000 grant recently awarded by the Iowa division of the American Cancer society.

Already started is the development of a $6,000 tissue culture laboratory in the department of obstetrics and gynecology under the direction of Dr. E. D. Plass. Construction of additional animal cages in air-conditioned rooms is in progress, according to Dr. E. D. Warner, head of the department of pathology. Seven thousand dollars was granted for the construction of the cages and the feeding and care of the animals to be used in cancer studies.

Largest allocation of the $35,000 grant was $19,200 to the department of radiation under the direction of Dr. Tidus Evans. Over $14,000 of this is being used in continuing the partitioning of rooms in the expansion of the radiation laboratories. The radiation department, vital in treatment and research in cancer, was granted $35,000 last year by the Iowa division of the ACS.

The remaining $5,000 will be used by the radiation department for new equipment, including a special Geiger counter, to provide working facilities for a bio-chemist to be appointed in that department.

Research under Dr. W.O. Nelson, professor of anatomy, has started. Dr. Nelson is injecting estrin — female sex hormones — into mice and rats already afflicted with benign tumors to determine whether they develop a cancerous condition.

Dr. Nelson has been working on various phases of cancer for the last ten years.

The departments of pathology and surgery were granted $1,000 each for supplementing their collection of colored lantern slides, used in teaching in cancer.

The colored photographic slides are preferred over preserved specimens in most instances because they show natural color and are much smaller and more convenient to handle.

The Iowa division of the ACS has also given $600 to the SUI college of medicine for support of its education program in providing lectures on cancer as part of this year's lecture series.

VETS' PLAY SCHOOL
In yesterday's Daily Iowan it was incorrectly reported that the tuition rates for the Veteran's play school were assessed by the week. Tuition rates are by the month.

Firms to Interview Degree Candidates For Chemistry Jobs

SUI chemistry and engineering students will be interviewed today and tomorrow for employment after graduation by representatives of two commercial firms and the Oak Ridge National laboratory.

Prof. George Glockler, head of the chemistry department, said representatives from Eli Lilly and Co. will spend today and tomorrow at SUI interviewing job applicants.

Today they will talk with candidates for degrees in chemistry, bacteriology and pharmacy. Tomorrow they will interview industrial and chemical engineering seniors.

About nine SUI graduate students majoring in physical chemistry will be interviewed by D. C. Bardwell and John A. Swarthout from the Oak Ridge National laboratory today. They will talk with students who are candidates for Ph.D. degrees next June.

Doctors Harold Sorosis and O.E. Kurt from the Ethyl corporation in Detroit will interview candidates for Ph.D. degrees in organic and physical chemistry today.

Two Illegal Entries Reported to Police

Two reports of breaking and entering were filed yesterday, police said.

A prowler gained entrance Monday night to the Lampert Yards office, 307 E. Court street, by breaking a glass pane in the door, police reported.

Company officials said nothing was stolen and the door was left partly open by the burglar.

Mrs. Harry Lawer, 613 N. Van Buren street, told police a burglar entered her house between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. Monday. She said the thief took a small amount of change and a package.

Lampe to Participate In Religion Discussion

Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the SUI school of religion, will be guest participant today at Temple Judah, Cedar Rapids, in a discussion of "Is Religion a Vital Force in Modern Living?"

Others participating will be President Byron Hollingshead of Coe college, Rabbi Schallman of Temple Judah, and Frank Nye, associate editor of the Cedar Rapids Gazette.

Russia Returns U.S. Lend-Lease Cruiser

THE CRUISER MILWAUKEE COMES HOME after spending five years in the Russian navy. The lend-lease ship, renamed Murmansk by the Soviets, was riding at anchor yesterday five miles north of Lewes, Del., with an estimated 800-man Russian crew aboard. The warship is the first of 586 American vessels to be returned by the Soviets. The Russian navy ensign flag flies at the stern while alongside is a Coast Guard picket boat.

Plan Atomic Test On British Cruiser

LONDON (AP) — The admiralty disclosed yesterday plans to bombard a Royal cruiser with atomic rays to test the British navy's atom bomb defenses.

The tests are planned this summer in the English channel.

Navy scientists on pontoon rafts will shoot gamma rays at the cruiser Arethusa to see what is needed to defend a warship in an atomic bomb attack.

Visitor To Review Polish Mathematics

Dr. Casimir Kuratowski, president of the Polish Mathematical society, will give a graduate lecture at 4:30 p.m. today in room 301, physics building.

Prof. E.W. Chittenden of the mathematics department said yesterday Kuratowski will review mathematics in Poland since 1915.

Kuratowski, a professor of mathematics at the University of Warsaw, is now at the institute for advanced study at Princeton, N.J. He is a leading mathematician and has written many mathematical monographs and a standard treatise on topology, Chittenden said.

NATIONAL "COLLEGIATE WORLD PREMIERE"

UNIVERSITY OF IOWA has been chosen by 20th Century Fox, film producers, as one of the top 25 colleges and universities in their search for a "Freshman Co-Ed Beauty Queen." The Daily Iowan in co-operation with 20th Century Fox has succeeded in this search. UNIVERSITY OF IOWA "Freshman Co-Ed Beauty Queen" contestant for the National "Miss All-America College Freshman" will be announced for the first time from the Englert Theatre stage, Thursday evening, March 10, at 7:30 P.M.

Former Iowa Citian, Daniel Sedive Dies, Funeral Tomorrow

Daniel Sedive, 80, former Johnson county resident, died yesterday at Mercy hospital in Cedar Rapids after a lingering illness.

Funeral services for Mr. Sedive will be at 9 a.m. tomorrow at St. Wenceslaus church in Iowa City. The rosary will be recited at 8:30 p.m. to day in the Hohenschuh mortuary.

The body will remain at the funeral home until time of the services. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Sedive was born in Johnson county and lived in the Iowa City area most of his life. He worked as a farmer and as a brickmason.

Three years ago he moved to the home of his son, Arthur Sedive, 559 Tenth street S.W., Cedar Rapids.

His survivors include two sons, Arthur and Clarence Sedive, both of Cedar Rapids; a step-daughter, Elsie Sedive, Chicago; one stepson, Ray Sedive, Cedar Rapids; a brother, John Sedive, Iowa City, and five granddaughters.

His wife preceded him in death in 1946.

Rev. Carrol to Talk At Special Services

The Rev. Martin Carrol, S.J., New York, who is taking graduate work at SUI, will be speaker next Sunday for Day of Recollection services of the Catholic Daughters of America.

Father Carrol will speak at 7:30 a.m. mass at St. Patrick's church — and during the afternoon, Publicity Chairman Mrs. Don McComas said yesterday.

A breakfast following the 7:30 mass and a luncheon will be served in the basement of St. Patrick's school, Mrs. McComas said.

In charge of the day's activities is Mrs. W.P. Eckrich, grand regent of the Catholic daughters. Others serving on committees are Mrs. Fred Cannon, Mrs. P.J. Donnelly and Mrs. Gus Pusateri.

IN ONE OF those oddity cartoon panels the other day I read this statement: "Whales can be heard 'spouting' for two miles in the antarctic."

Because of the very nature of the cartoon panel this statement was made in the way pointing out what is supposed to be a remarkable fact.

To give the fellow who has the panel syndicated the benefit of any doubt, let us assume it is a remarkable fact.

NOW THAT you know whales can be heard spouting for two miles in the antarctic what are you going to do about it? If whale meat could be found on restaurant menus it might help fill an embarrassing mealtime silence.

Simply remarking over a hamburger that spouting whales are audible for two miles, however, doesn't strike me as being altogether beneficial to harmonious relationships with fellow diners.

HOW ABOUT trying it on a stranger sometime as a conversation starter? The next time you take a bus trip and find yourself seated next to a young lady (this is true only if you are a man) try out your newly-found remarkable fact.

Say to this young lady in a matter-of-factly, deeply resonant voice, "Whales in the antarctic can be heard 'spouting' for two miles."

To you she may reply, "How remarkable! You must be terribly smart to know all about such a little studied subject."

On the other hand, she may say nothing at all but instead remain silent and think to herself, "Why doesn't this fat head get lost... probably a masher... he has beady eyes... whales spouting indeed... Ha!" At the next stop she will ask the old man across the aisle if he wouldn't like to trade seats, and then you'll have to listen to an eye-witness account of the sinking of the Maine.

WHEN THERE are so many other remarkable facts to recite it seems trivial to bring up this whale business. I know of a place in Phoenix, Arizona, where you can buy all the mummified two-headed babies you want at $20 apiece. This includes toes and fingernails on the deluxe model.

At this same shop you can buy the standard combination of a male and a female shrunken head for $16. These heads are guaranteed to fool even medical doctors at a distance, and a free lecture accompanies each set.

That beats that whale spouting line 'til who laid the chunk.

IF THE whale story is correct, I'll wager it plays hob with real estate south of the Straits of Magellan. Imagine those noisy whales spouting around all night. Think what a ruckus a whale hiccup would make. Now I'll never move down there.

South Orkney resident probably couldn't put up with SUI fraternity serenades in the spring and all either.

We live out in the sorority district, and at 2 o'clock on a spring morning I'd pit a serenading fraternity against a spouting whale and lay odds that the whale would live up and go home with a sore throat before the Greek boys got round to singing their sweetheart song.

OF COURSE, all this is pure conjecture, since only the spouting whale I have ever seen was over 50 miles away with the wind my back.

Also some of the fellows who took the same trip with me were copying their spare time on the ether deck with domino-like bees. Part of the game was to out key words such as "shoot, or faded" and "hello little Joe and Kokomo."

Who could hear a whale spout in those carryings-on?

Local Spot Check Shows

Businessmen Optimistic -- But Cautious

Although there are signs of a slight national business setback, Iowa City merchants feel that the green "go" light is still on as far as local business prospects are concerned. On a survey of Iowa City retail businessmen last week, reports varied from signs of a "little" drop in business to expectations of a "substantial increase" over last year's sales. Generally, the businessmen are optimistic but cautious. All of them assured the reporter that "there is nothing to be alarmed about" in the business outlook. Here are reports from six local merchants—two chain department stores, a jewelry store, a camera shop, a sporting goods store and a men's clothing establishment. THE MANAGER of one of the department stores reported: "We find customers becoming a little more cautious now—but not too much so. 'Right now, they are waiting, expecting a drop in prices," he said, "but business is still good. 'Most stores will do well to hold their own with last year's business, though," he cautioned, "and I'm reluctant to make any guess on how most of them will make out." He advised against considering January and February as a basis for business trends. "Judgment in business is sometimes warped by seasonal changes," he declared. Considering January and February of 1948 with those two months of 1949, his store this year is "playing nip and tuck" with last year's sales. THE OTHER department store also complained of the "slow" months of January and February. The manager said the company is "watching the inventories carefully." Asked what the company's "watching" the inventories meant, the manager replied, "They're not letting things get out of control like they did prior to the depression. 'This is partly because of a feeling of recession and partly to keep better control of its merchandise. 'They don't want to be bogged down by a lot of surplus supplies. 'All the merchants would know if business was sliding backwards," he said. "The news spreads quickly."

The store manager summed up his store's policy by saying, "We're optimistic about the future, but we're not being too careless with it."

A JEWELRY store owner said he "doesn't gamble" with business expectations. "But we buy what we need," he quickly added. "The worst thing a businessman can do is to allow his stock to fall down. If we keep our stock up and work hard, we'll do okay."

The jeweler had heard from salesmen "who were passing through" that business was bad "back east."

The Iowa City merchant, however, was planning to add to his business. Last year, he reported, the jewelry business fell off about 15 to 20 percent. Nineteen forty nine's sales, so far, are "about the same," he said.

PHOTO EQUIPMENT is still in heavy demand, and the business outlook is good, a camera shop owner reported. It's funny how business is, he grinned. "There seemed to be signs of a business drop toward the end of last year, but the year ended up as 'tops."

"Just like the day after Christmas, for example. That is supposed to be the punkiest day of all for business. And what happened in 1948? You guessed it—the best day of the year!"

A MEN'S CLOTHING store reported a "substantial increase" over last year's January sales figure. The manager explained the increase by pointing out that his store has more merchandise to sell this year than last. "But we're still catching up from shortages from the war year," he said. "For example, you just can't walk into a store and carry a top grade worsted suit home with you. You'll have to wait for it." Clearance sales, too, have helped to move merchandise, he said. "I understand clothing sales are down about 10 percent in some cities, but I can't see any chance of them going down here—for a while, anyway. In fact," he declared, "prices are tightening again on some goods. 'And the western freeze will probably send prices on woollens up, too."

Like the other businessmen who were interviewed, he assured, "But there is nothing to worry about."

He backed up his belief by saying, "Sixty percent of the economists and business forecasters say it will be a good year."

"I'm not going to stick my neck out and say business will be better this year," he said, "but all signs point to a good year."

One of the "good signs" is that employment is expected to pick up in the spring. MANY IOWA CITY merchants agree that there will be no "bolton dropping" this year. Yet they don't seem to be gambling with the future by over-stocking. They are optimistically going about their business, realizing that the "business honeymoon" is over—and making the best of an expected normal year.

American Jury System Followed by Japanese

TOKYO (AP) — Japan is starting something similar to the American grand jury system. So called prosecution investigating committees are to be chosen by lot among registered voters to review prosecutors' decisions whether to prosecute or dismiss cases and to advise on improving conduct of the prosecutors' offices. Committee members will serve six months, being paid only for their travel, food and lodging expenses. Proceedings will be secret.

Rep. Sol Bloom: A Tribute —

In losing Sol Bloom, the U.S. house of representatives has lost a grand personality, a Democratic party wheelhorse and an internationally-known statesman. Bloom was 78 when he died suddenly Monday evening in a naval hospital outside Washington, D.C. He had already sent invitations to practically everyone at the Capitol to attend his 79th birthday celebration scheduled for today — March 9. Born in Pekin, Ill., the son of immigrant parents, he moved a few years later to San Francisco. During a fast-changing career he was a song-and-dance man, newspaper hawker, brush factory worker and also won some fame as a writer. As an old-time showman, he made his money back during the gay nineties. He composed the song used by "Little Egypt" at the first Chicago world's fair. Deeply religious, Bloom considered his book "One with God Is a Majority" a high point in his career. He moved to New York in 1903 and became a successful operator in real estate. A regular in the Tammany hall Democratic organization, he was first elected to congress in 1923. Returning for a second term, he won a seat on the foreign relations committee and made international affairs his prime legislative specialty from then on. In the pre-World War II days when the country was engaged in bitter debate over our role in troubled world affairs, Bloom was chairman of the house foreign affairs committee. As committee chairman he became a key congressional spokesman for President Roosevelt's neutrality and lend-lease legislation. In the heated-house debates on prewar neutrality, Bloom helped steer through the lend-lease act and the repeal of the arms embargo. After the war, he became a kingpin in shaping the bi-partisan foreign policy. He was present at the birth of the United Nations as an American representative to the San Francisco conference. His signature is on the original UN charter. During the 80th congress when he yielded the chairmanship to Republican Charles Eaton, Bloom and Eaton continued to work harmoniously, insuring the continuation of the post-war foreign policy. Up to the day he entered the naval hospital, Bloom was busily at work on today's big foreign policy issues — the second year extension of the Marshall plan and proposed military lend-lease for western Europe. Unlike the deep split over foreign policy Bloom contended with in prewar days, American foreign policy was remarkably unified when Sol Bloom departed from Capitol Hill. His contribution will be long remembered.

Oil For Some Rusty Machinery

In the middle 30's when Mexico chased out foreign investors in Mexican oil, there were loud cries. There were vows from the oil concerns that "never again" would American oil have anything to do with Mexican oil. American companies for a while worked an undercover economic boycott on the Mexican oil industry — shorting them on heavy equipment and practically blacklisting personnel who worked with Petroleos Mexicanos. This together with graft and inefficiency has literally put Mexican oil on the rocks. But the Mexican constitutional provision that anyone doing business in Mexico must abide by Mexican rules and regulations has discouraged some investment and aid to Pemex. If a company does business in oil south of the border, that company must relinquish its right to appeal to the American government if something goes wrong. Last week American oilmen signed to prospect for oil for the Mexican government. The fact that American oil is going back into Mexico, openly and with the U.S. government's blessings, is significant. Probably more significant is the list of provisions in the prospecting agreement. The Americans are moving in on Mexico's terms. The Americans are not getting a chance to exploit the oil fields for export. They signed to drill for a period of twelve years. They will be paid expenses for productive wells and the "proceeds of the sale" of 15 percent of the gross production of any wells they bring in over a period of 25 years. There is an old suspicion, fostered by years of exploitation, that the Yanquis are greedy imperialists — that suspicion has finally lifted itself out of a prejudice state and been put to work by the Mexicans. They seem to have found a way to use the U.S. technology without having to put up with so many U.S. citizens.

Is It An Eclipse -- Or What?

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT A Word On Slavery Inc.

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

We have just extended another Marshall Plan credit of $49,500,000 to the Netherlands. This brings to $129,500,000 the credits we've turned over to the Netherlands so far under the Plan. This money is supposed to safeguard the freedom of the Netherlands against communism. "Funds," cries Holland, "funds, in the name of freedom!"

BUT HOLLAND has invaded the Indonesian Republic, and arrested its leaders, and in so doing has defied the orders of the Security Council. Therefore Representative Javits, of New York, has introduced an amendment to the next Marshall Plan appropriation bill, which would have the effect of banning additional credits to Holland until she decides to show respect for the UN.

FREEDOM for Holland requires Marshall plan funds. Freedom for Indonesia requires that Holland shall receive no more Marshall plan funds. The hand holding the check pauses. What's the endorsement on the back of it going to be, freedom or slavery? How can one know one's payee, in this confusing world?

ALL OF our modern problems, in this age of the Wars of freedom, in which it is sometimes so hard to tell who is fighting for what, and on what side, are wrapped up in this Netherlands situation. But it seems to me there is a way to tell whether the money we mail out, in pursuit of the freedom business, is going to Freedom & Co., or to Slavery, Inc. And that way is to set up the rule that we are going to allow nobody to put himself in charge of somebody else's freedom.

THE POSITION of the Dutch is that if we give them enough money to safeguard their freedom, they will ultimately safeguard the freedom of the Indonesians, in their own time, in their own way. In other words, they want to be wholesalers in the freedom business, jobbers of independence, with exclusive territory. Our answer must be that we refuse to deal with wholesalers of freedom, that ours is a retail business, direct with the ultimate consumer, and that the Indonesians are our customers, just as well as the Dutch.

FREEDOM FOR Indonesia must be established right along with freedom for Holland, if we are going to keep our production figures for freedom up where they belong. Javits is right. The Dutch can nullify his amendment at any time simply by setting Indonesia free, i.e., by producing more freedom, and since the freedom business is the business we say we're in, the Javits amendment is the course to follow. AND NOW, to change the subject completely (but without changing it at all) I would like to take up for a minute a domestic situation. Walter Lippmann has just written an earnest column, solemnly warning against summarily overriding the South on the civil liberties issue, on the ground that liberty is endangered when a majority coerces, rather than persuades "an important minority". And here we have the same problem as in the Netherlands situation, but in another form. Freedom for the Negro, freedom to vote, freedom not to be lynched, requires that the southern filibuster be stopped promptly, and that the civil liberties program be passed. But freedom for the south, as for other minorities, says Lippmann, and maintenance of the doctrine of limitations on majority "tyranny", require that we wait and try patiently, over the years, to persuade the South to make the rights of Negroes secure.

BUT LIPPMAN has not stressed adequately the fact that the Negroes are an "important minority", too. Is it wrong for a majority to coerce a minority, but right for a minority to coerce another minority, however temporarily? Mr. Lippmann would, apparently, protect the filibuster, in order to protect the minority rights of the south. But southern Negroes don't have the vote, and don't even have the right of filibuster. Who protects them?

HERE AGAIN we have a case of one group, the white south, seeking to be a wholesaler of freedom, distributing it in its own time, in its own way, to the Negroes. Here again the answer must be that freedom is a retail business, and that we must give it to the Negro while we save it for the south. There is no other key to our troubles, no other signpost that can keep us straight, in the tangle through which we are trying to feel our way.

Ministers Convicted, 4 Get Life

SOPIA (AP) — A Bulgarian court convicted 15 Protestant ministers yesterday on charges ranging from treason to rumor-mongering and sentenced four of them to life imprisonment.

Prison terms of from one to 15 years were assigned to the others. Fines were levied against all 15 and several defendants were sentenced to loss of their political and civil rights.

None appealed, so the sentences took effect immediately. The Moscow-trained prosecutor, Dimitar Georgiev, also declared himself satisfied. He had demanded hanging for the four leaders of the group, members of the supreme council of the United Evangelical churches of Bulgaria, but the court did not agree. All escaped the death penalty.

One of the four, the Rev. Vasil Ziapkov, 48, drew four individual prison sentences, including two for life. However, these and other multiple sentences in the case are to be served concurrently and the average Bulgarian lifer, with time off for good behavior, is freed after 15 years.

As a motion picture crew filmed the scene, Ziapkov burst into tears and declared: "I am content. I promise to work with all my strength to build the new man in myself and to help in the construction of our socialist republic."

The others made similar declarations. One, the Rev. Ladin Popov, thanked the court heartily "for the mercy you showed me."

The presiding judge, 38-year-old Constantine Undjeiv, read the sentences in a 55-minute session. A huge plaster bust of Communist Premier Georgi Dimitrov was the dominating figure in the small courtroom.

The sentences were declared "a travesty on justice" by Bishop Paul Garber of the Geneva area if the Methodist church, who has previously denied Bulgarian government charges that foreign church contacts were used for espionage purposes. Bishop Garber said "the Christian church will live on long after communism has passed into the discard."

Bulgarian Churchmen Receive Life Sentences

SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT, these Bulgarian churchmen listen to testimony during their Communist-directed trial in Sofia. Fifteen men were convicted yesterday on charges ranging from rumor-mongering to treason. Four received life terms and others were sentenced to from one to 15 years. The defendants identified in the picture are Nikola Ivanov, 49, Baptist, (in left foreground) and Yanko Ivanov, 48-year-old Methodist, (right), wearing glasses.

Professors Discuss T-H Law

Some labor leaders say that if labor is required to sign non-Communist pledges under the Taft-Hartley law, employers should have to sign non-Fascist pacts, Prof. W. L. Daykin of the SUI commerce department said yesterday.

Professors Daykin and Kirk H. Porter, head of the political science department, discussed informally the Taft-Hartley law and other labor legislation at yesterday noon's Kiwanis club luncheon. Moderator was Prof. Orville Hitchcock of the speech department.

Phillip Murray, president of the CIO, objects to the non-Communist pledge, Daykin said, because it may leave the door open for government control of more phases of union operation.

Another union complaint is that non-constructive techniques "have been offered to settle strikes," Daykin said.

As a labor dispute mediator, Daykin said he found that unions resent the rule that requires a majority of eligible voters to win a union shop election under the Taft-Hartley act. A non-voter's vote against the union shop, he said.

"If we can't solve our labor problems around a table, we may need some form of compulsion," Daykin said. When strikes hurt the nation, the affected business becomes a type of public utility and strong action may be needed, he added.

Two Minor Blazes Call Out Firemen

A burning electric motor and a fire in an old car body were the causes of two alarms received by the Iowa City fire department Monday afternoon and early yesterday morning.

Firemen answered a 4:30 a.m. call to the North Side Grocery yesterday and extinguished a fire in an electric motor in the basement. Only slight damage was caused, Fire Chief J. J. Clark said.

The fire in the old car body was at the home of Ray Mace, 308 Lafayette street. The alarm was received at 5:55 p.m. Monday. No damage was reported, Clark said yesterday.

Major in Marriage Series Starts Today

The first lecture in the Major in Marriage weekly series on marriage hygiene will be presented today at 4:30 p.m. in the chemistry building auditorium. The subject will be "anatomy."

Dr. E.D. Plass, head of obstetrics and gynecology at University hospitals, will conduct the series which will end April 6 with a film on venereal disease.

Truman Asks School Aid

(AP Wirephoto)

PRESIDENT TRUMAN PULLS THE STRING which drops a commemorative stone into place in the Rollins college Walk of Fame. The site of the college, Grandview, Mo., was the president's boyhood home. Dr. Hamilton Holt, Rollins president, who conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities on Mr. Truman, stands at right.

Wants Money To Avert War

WINTER PARK, FLA. (AP)— President Truman called yesterday for federal aid to education at home and continued democratic resistance in Europe to stem the tide of Communism and save the world from war.

Speaking from the pulpit of Rollins college, the President prodded congress to act on legislation authorizing federal grants to states for education.

"If our country is to retain its freedom in a world of conflicting political philosophies, we must take steps to assure that every American youth shall receive the highest level of training by which he can profit," Mr. Truman asserted.

In another blunt attack on Communistic influences in Europe, the President declared:

"Through education alone can we combat the tenets of Communism. The unfettered soul of free men offers a spiritual defense unconquered and unconquerable."

The President flew here from his vacation retreat at Key West to receive a degree of doctor of humanities from Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins college.

He made no reference to his civil rights program which has stirred southern resentment and led to a filibuster in the senate. But Gov. Fuller Warren, who spoke preceding the President, called him "a liberal."

The President, Warren said, "has already played the role of a leader on the race issue, the economic issue and the peace issue," all "fundamental issues of justice."

Mr. Truman called Warren's speech "a masterpiece" as he climbed into the pulpit for his brief talk, adding, "it covers the situation with which we are faced."

Professors to Talk At Zionist Meeting

Prof. C.A. Hickman and Paul R. Olson of the SUI commerce department will discuss "The Impact of an Industrialized Israel on the World Markets," tomorrow night at the Intercollegiate Zionist Federation of America meeting.

The meeting will be at Hillel house at 7:30, President Shirley Elman, A3, Davenport, said yesterday.

Members of the federation are urged to bring prospective new members to the meeting as a part of the membership campaign, she said.

'In a Persian Garden' Heads Faculty Recital

The sixth in the faculty recital series will feature "In a Persian Garden" by Liza Lehmann tonight in studio E, radio building at 8 p.m.

The song cycle of quartet and solos will be performed by Penny Dykstra, A4, Alton, soprano; Dorothy Krebill, A2, Donnellson; Ralph Kent, graduate assistant in music, and Offie Leeper, A3, Leon, bass. John Simms, piano instructor at SUI, will accompany the vocalists.

WSUI and KSUI will broadcast the program.

Man Regains Sight, Gets First Look at Son

(AP Wirephoto)

ONCE BLIND, HE CAN NOW SEE HIS SON. Joe Rodriguez (left) of Colorado Springs was blinded in a mining accident last October. New York specialists restored his sight, and yesterday on his way home he saw son Joey, born Feb. 14, for the first time on the "Welcome Travelers" show. His wife, Lucy, (right) and the baby were in Chicago by arrangement of Tommy Bartlett (center), master-of-ceremonies of the radio program.

C of C Asks Congress to Enlarge T-H Law

WASHINGTON (AP)— The U.S. Chamber of Commerce asked congress yesterday not only to preserve the Taft-Hartley act but to enlarge it.

A Democrat congressman promptly sailed into the business-men's organization as a bunch of "rugged individualists" who want unions regulated, but not business.

The second day of house hearings on the Truman administration's bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley law sounded like a replay of the senate labor committee's hearings on the same subject.

One fact stood out in yesterday's testimony before a house labor sub-committee: business groups are sticking to their aggressive policy on the labor law.

In contrast with Republican leaders like Senator Taft (Ohio) who favor removing some Taft-Hartley provisions, the Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Motor Bus Operators came in and asked for extension of the present law in several ways.

The spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce was Hoyt P. Steele, a member of the chamber's labor relations committee, also vice-president of the Benjamin Electric Manufacturing company, Des Plaines, Ill.

SUI Gets New Type Catalogue

Better readability is the keynote of the new 1949 university catalogue.

Realizing the need for a newer style course catalogue which would be of greater service to students, faculty and prospective students, Registrar Ted H. McCarrel, Miss Myrtle Keeley, assistant university examiner, and University Typographer Carroll Coleman worked together in planning and organizing such a book.

The contents and format of the catalogue have undergone complete revision, Miss Keeley said. Much of the text has been revised, eliminated, and new material added.

Many of the departments in the college of liberal arts now specify the major requirements for graduation which should be a great help to advisors and students, she said.

Faculty listing has also undergone changes. Instead of separate lists for the three divisions of professional rank they are all placed in one alphabetical listing.

This year, for the first time, departments were encouraged to list the vocational possibilities of their departments.

Courses offered in the summer session or by correspondence are not included in this catalogue since separate bulletins are issued covering these courses, Miss Keeley said.

The physical appearance of the catalogue has also been changed. In place of the thick unwieldy catalogue has appeared a larger, flatter book. The catalogue is now eight and a half inches by eleven inches as compared to the old size of six by nine.

The large page size made it possible for two column pages, Miss Keeley said. This utilizes a larger area of the paper than in the old catalogue and still preserves generous margins.

In order to make the catalogue still more readable the design and selection of type faces and sizes were changed under the direction of Coleman. Garamond type was chosen because it is legible and easy to read, Coleman said. The use of bold face was dropped entirely, he added.

Another innovation of the catalogue is the eight page picture section. This includes eight full page pictures of the campus.

Copies will be sent to university staff officers and will be available to as many students and prospective students as is permitted by a limited supply, Fred M. Pownall, director of publications, said.

Cows Fool Storm, Play 'Turkey in the Straw'

CODY, NEB. (AP)— Two Hereford heifers caught in the Jan. 2 blizzard were alive and in reasonably good condition yesterday after being entombed 63 days in a straw stack.

John Yancy, who found the two-year-old heifers in the straw stack late Friday, said they had kept themselves alive by licking the snow and eating straw.

Lions Club to Hear Talk by Moehlman

Prof. Arthur H. Moehlman, SUI college of education, will speak on "Wilderness Hiking" at this noon's Lions club luncheon.

An army colonel in World War II, Moehlman, has traveled in the Americas, Europe and Asia. Among his hobbies are mountain climbing, hunting and wilderness hiking.

Lawmaker Wants Slot Machine Divorces

CARSON CITY, NEV. (AP)— Divorce by slot machine? Assemblyman C. C. Boak, Nye county Republican, didn't crack a smile when he introduced his bill. He said it would not only boost the Nevada divorce business — which isn't bad — but would increase the slot machine take and boom the silver industry.

Divorce seekers reaching Nevada would register for a $5 fee. This fee would buy each a special key to a combination juke box, time clock and slot machine. They would be required to use their keys on the machines for 42 consecutive days. This would automatically record the fact they had spent the statutory six weeks in the state, necessary for divorce. On the 42nd day the divorce seeker would insert in his machine 200 specially coined dollars minted of Nevada silver. Lights would flash. Wheel would spin. The juke box section would give forth the first two lines of "America." As the music died away, a pretty divorce decree would pop out of a slot. It would be complete with multi-colored ribbons, the imprint of the great seal of Nevada, and the signature of the district judge.
