Compromise Filibuster 'Gag' Pushed Through by Coalition

WASHINGTON (AP)—A coalition rolled over Truman Democrats last night to write into the senate's rules a compromise anti-filibuster provision.

The vote was 63 to 23. Southern Democrats combined with a majority of the Republicans and some western Democrats to force adoption of the compromise peace formula that ended a great filibuster.

How Iowans Voted

Iowa's two senators were divided in their votes last night on the compromise filibuster 'gag.' Senator Hickenlooper voted for the measure and Senator Gillette against.

Under the compromise 64 of the 96 senators can limit debate on anything except a future change in the rules, which would be subject to no gag.

It was bitterly opposed by civil rights advocates. Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, called the action a 'surrender to Dixie lawmakers and said civil rights legislation hasn't a "Chinaman's chance" under the new rule.

But Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, contended the compromise would pave the way for enactment of anti-lynching, anti-poll tax and other bills, since under its terms members can halt debate on motions to take up bills and on other parliamentary moves.

Thirty-four Republicans joined with 29 Democrats to vote the rule into effect. Eight Republicans joined with 15 Democrats in opposing it.

The Truman camp wanted a rule change providing that a simple two-thirds majority of those voting could curb any debate, but Southern filibusters 15 days against this.

The first major amendment to be defeated last night was offered by Senator Baldwin (R-Conn) and Saltonstall (R-Mass). They proposed that two-thirds of those voting be empowered to gag debate at all times, except on rules changes. In the latter case it would require 64 of the 96.

The vote against this amendment was 57 to 29.

Next, the senate battled down, 69 to 17, a proposal of Senator Myers (D-Pa), assistant majority floor leader. It would have provided for debate to be cut off by a vote of a "constitutional" majority — 49 of the 96 senators.

Clearing the way for the climactic vote, the senate then rejected 80 to 7, an amendment by Senator Morse (R-Ore) to provide for debate limitation by a simple majority of those voting.

The senate adjourned at 10:19 p.m. (Iowa time) until noon today.

'Hillercopter' Stops Briefly in Iowa City

A "Hillercopter" helicopter stopped in Iowa City yesterday. Airport Manager R.W. "Bud" Cochrane said it was probably the first helicopter that ever landed here.

The "Hillercopter" is a helicopter made by a 24-year-old inventor named Hiller. Cochrane said he remembered reading about the inventor in a magazine article because Hiller had tagged the craft with his own name in the trademark.

Piloted by Chief Test Pilot Peterson of Hiller's organization, the plane was headed for delivery to a buyer in Chicago, Cochrane said. The craft had flown from Palo Alto, Calif., stopping every 100 miles for gas.

Arriving at the Iowa City airport about 2:45 p.m., the helicopter was on its way shortly after 3 o'clock, he said.

TIGHTEN EXPORT CONTROLS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Sawyer disclosed last night the United States is tightening its export controls to prevent any re-shipment of war potential goods to Russia from western European buyers.

Agents in Mexico Disclose Recovery Of Stolen Uranium

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Mexican secret police disclosed yesterday the recovery of a small cylinder of Uranium which they said must have been stolen from a U.S. atomic laboratory.

But the police said the full story was a secret of the United States government.

The police said the cylinder was found on a Mexican last November. Another Mexican with him was listed as having died from "uranium rays."

Police quoted Manuel Sandoval Vallarta, head of Mexico's atomic committee, as saying the cylinder contained pure uranium 235 — the material used to make the atom bomb — and was obtainable only in the United States. Sandoval Vallarta, a former member of the UN atomic energy commission, is now in the United States.

If Sandoval Vallarta's description is correct and the theft of pure uranium 235 confirmed, it would seem to be evidence of a serious atomic leak, an expert said. The pure uranium 235 is not permitted to get into any hands except American bomb makers and a very few men who study atomic power.

In Washington the atomic energy commission said "no source material" essential to the production of atomic energy substances has been reported missing by any of its installations or contractors.

The FBI has looked into reports that 220 grams of uranium turned up in Mexico City, and its preliminary findings are not alarming, Sen. Brien McMahon, (D-Conn) chairman of the Atomic Energy committee, said last night.

Senate Committee Clears Rent Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A flexible rent control extension bill was cleared for senate action yesterday as the banking committee voted to continue the curbs 12 to 15 months and to raise some ceilings.

The measure also would give each state the choice of:

- 1. Scrapping federal controls whenever its legislature so decided.
2. Or taking over administration of the controls within its borders whenever the governor certified to Washington that the state has an adequate rent law on its books.

For Delegate-at-Large —

Two More File for Council

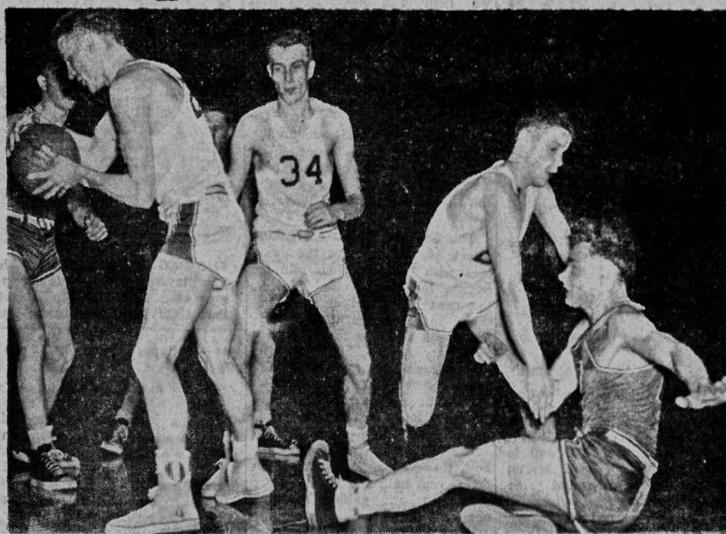

Two more students have entered the Student Council delegate-at-large race in the March 30 all-university campus elections bringing the total contestants to five. Deadline for filing petitions is set for tomorrow noon.

Filing yesterday were Richard A. Dice, C3, Marion, and Gaige R. Walters, C3, Harlan. Dice's petition contained over 1,000 student signatures.

A required orientation meeting of all candidates in the delegate-at-large, Student Board of Publication and Union Board contests has been called by the Student Council election committee for 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Dice has worked for The Daily Iowan advertising department, the 1948 Hawkeye and the WSUI news bureau and is currently a member of the Student Board of Publications. He is co-chairman of the Student Council orientation committee and has served on the council's National Students association committee.

Dice is also a member of the Collegiate Chamber of Commerce

Ottumwa's Bulldogs 'Set Down' Davenport

LOOKS CONFUSIN' BUT the guy with the ball, Bill Hammersly of Ottumwa, has the situation well in hand. The scene is in the first quarter of the Davenport-Ottumwa game last night which Ottumwa won in a real thriller, 41-37. No. 34 is Virgil Hudson of the Bulldogs with teammate Joe Ferguson getting ready for a dive. On the floor, and looking frustrated about it all, is Davenport's Bill Stenger.

U.S. to Aid Atlantic Treaty with Arms Shipment Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department said yesterday the United States plans to back up the north Atlantic security pact by helping western European members equip their present armed forces. But it emphasized the arms shipment program will take second place to economic aid.

The official statement said this country will "try" to ship European pact members enough arms between next July 1 and June 30, 1950, to completely outfit the ground, sea and air forces already in existence. Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson will explain the treaty terms to the public in a 30-minute nationwide broadcast at 9:30 p.m. (Iowa time) today over the Mutual, Columbia and American radio networks.

Officials announced meanwhile that four more countries have been formally invited to join the alliance. The diplomatic circles predicted all will accept. The prospective members are Iceland, Denmark, Portugal and Italy. Those already pledged to join the U.S. in signing the treaty here the first week in April are Britain, Canada, France, Norway, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

One Man to Issue All Public Military News

WASHINGTON (AP)—The military department yesterday ordered one-man control clamped on its flow of public information.

Then it hustled this news charges that the world—and potential enemies—have been told too much about our vital defense secrets.

The order merges the public information sections of the army, navy and airforce under a single office for the national military establishment. Its chief will be William Frye, former Associated Press war correspondent.

The three services now issue their news separately. The reorganization, effective March 31, actually has been in preparation since last December. But it was learned that the announcement Wednesday that the house armed services committee was opening an investigation figured in the decision to issue the new central control order at once.

Defense Secretary Forrestal took a copy into a closed session of the committee. This session was called to inquire into the sources of published stories and pictures dealing with airforce strategic plans and the atomic energy program.

Present at the meeting, when Forrestal handed the house members the order, were the secretaries of the army, navy and airforce.

The inquiry sprang up on the heels of a complaint in the house that information had been "bandied about in the press" about secret talks before the chief of staff, purported vital targets in Russia, and contents of secret military maps. House members also were concerned over the atomic energy commission's annual report charging its installations about the country. Congressmen, while observing this information had been published before, criticized this collection in "one handy book" which any foreign government could obtain.

No Headquarters Planned for GOP

The GOP will have no city headquarters during the campaign for the city general election March 28, City GOP Chairman William L. Meardon said yesterday. The Democrats earlier established headquarters in the Iowa State Bank and Trust building.

In explaining why he thought a headquarters is unnecessary, Meardon said, "The candidates are available at any time to any person wanting to talk to them." Meardon added that they were not trying to cloak the candidates under the party name but wanted the election regarded as a civic matter. The candidates are proud of being Republicans, he said, but they want the voters to feel that they are the voters candidates and not just a party's candidates.

Bulldogs to Meet Moorhead; Forest City, Winfield to Clash

BY NEAL BLACK (Iowan Sports Editor)

Davenport was knocked out of a chance for its seventh state title last night for the second year in a row by a bunch of Bulldogs. Ottumwa's Bulldogs did it last night in the quarter-final round, 41-37. Manning's Bulldogs did it last year, 43-36, in the final game to win the crown.

An Ottumwa team that fell behind 7-0 in the opening minutes, rallied to go ahead at the quarter, play even with the Blue Devils in the second period, fall behind in the third and then stage an unstoppable surge late in the third period to win on a stall in the final minutes.

Dennis Plans Own Defense for Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—The top-ranking defendant in the conspiracy trial of 11 U.S. Communist leaders was given permission to conduct his own defense yesterday as the way was cleared to begin the actual trial Monday.

Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist party, was authorized by Judge Harold R. Medina to act as his own attorney.

Medina, however, warned Dennis "you are taking a chance here" and said "you are not competent to understand certain legal matters."

Four women were chosen as alternate jurors to serve with the trial jury of seven women and five men whose selection was completed Wednesday.

The Communists are charged with conspiring to advocate forcible overthrow of the U.S. government.

The opposing attorneys and Federal Judge Harold R. Medina agreed the only matter to be placed before the court today would be a defense motion to delay the trial because of the "state of mind" of the community. The defense attorneys claim this would make a fair trial impossible now.

Willys Announces Price Reductions

TOLEDO, O. (AP)—Willys-Overland motors yesterday became the second automotive manufacturer to cut prices in the last two months.

The company announced price reductions ranging from $25 to $270 on its complete line of jeeps, passenger cars and two and four-wheel drive trucks.

General Motors Corp. last month announced price cuts of from $10 to $40 on all GM passenger automobiles and Chevrolet trucks.

An Ottumwa team that could come from behind and stay cool when the pressure was on beat a highly rated Davenport club, 41-37.

Stalling out the last two and one-half minutes with slim three-point lead, the Bulldogs who couldn't get a point until the Blue Devils had seven after the game's opening whistle, administered their own style of "Moonstroke" to the Davenport club.

Ottumwa took a two point lead just before the third period ended and they weren't headed from then on. It was Sam Long who led the Ottumwa stall with some brilliant dribbling in the final minutes.

The Bulldogs led at the half, 26-23. When Coach Paul Moon's Imps came on with the tremendous third quarter spurt they always have, the Bulldogs fell behind. With two and one-half minutes left in the period the Blue Devils led, 33-26.

Two field goals by Jerry Davis and one each by Bill Hammersly and Joe Ferguson put the Bulldogs back in the lead, 34-33, at the three-quarter mark. Lawrence Nelson hit from close in and Ferguson dribbled the length of the floor to bucket a lay-up to make it 38-33 with 5:40 left in the game.

Bill Stenger hit a free throw for Davenport's first marker since the Imps led seven minutes and 20 seconds earlier. The Bulldogs started stalling with four minutes to go. Lindsey's free throw and push shot made it 39-37 with 2:45 remaining.

Long sank a free throw. The Bulldogs took the ball after an Imp foul and kept possession for a minute and three seconds. The Blue Devils got the ball but lost it when Ed Lindsay fouled out with a little over a minute left. Davenport fouled four times in the next 35 seconds but Ottumwa calmly took the ball out of bounds. Long took over, dribbled in masterful style and it was all over for Davenport.

Bob LeBuhn had two free throws with 12 seconds left. He missed the first and they took the second out of bounds. Davenport lost the ball, Ottumwa took over and had the ball at the gun. A free throw by Ferguson (See TOURNEY, Page 2)

Two Injured When Bus, Car Sideswipe

Two persons were injured at 10:45 last night when their car and a school bus carrying the Green high school basketball squad sideswiped on highway 218, about 6 miles north of Iowa City.

Bud Walters, Green basketball coach, said none of the bus passengers were injured, but the driver of the car, Lyle Zahradnek route 4, Iowa City, and a passenger in the car were taken to Mercy hospital in the bus to treatment. At midnight their conditions had not been determined.

The team was returning to Green from the basketball tournament when the accident occurred, Coach Walters said.

'No Alibis -- We Lost to a Good Team' -- Moon

Bulldogs Revolt When Told They Weren't Given a Chance

By ALAN MOYER

"We lost to a good team tonight fellas," said Coach Paul Moon when he walked into a bunch of gloomy Blue Devils in the Davenport dressing room. "We don't have to feel good about it, but we're not going to show it. We've sent a lot of good teams to the showers ourselves."

For several minutes after their victory over Davenport, the Ottumwa players went wild, hugging Coach Fred Maasdam and generally staging the biggest victory rumpus of the tournament.

"I've had some close ones," Maasdam said, "but I don't want another one like that!"

"When Hammersly went out on fouls, I thought we were sunk, but the freeze worked nicely to pull us through."

"I told the boys before the game that from all I'd heard, Ottumwa just didn't have a chance, so maybe they'd just better not go upstairs. Maybe we just better watch Davenport play the game," he told the players. And at that the Bulldogs revolted.

"They haven't got so much in some departments," he went on, "but they've got enough fight to make up for anything else they lack."

After the startling upset in the evening opener the second game was an anti-climax.

But until the final seconds it looked like McGregor might come from behind. "I don't have any hair to lose," Moorhead Coach Ival Outhouse said later, "but if I did, it'd all be gone now."

"Our fast break wasn't working right tonight," he related, "but we'll give Ottumwa all we've got tomorrow."

"And those free throws," he told the boys as they dressed, "are going to have to go in. We made just six of 18 tonight." He was assured they would by a smiling bunch of ballplayers.

McGregor Mentor Bill Luther, who led the defeat in stride. "It was nice to bring the boys down and we just lost to a better club tonight."

"They out-rebounded us and had our boys tired out near the end, but I still thought we might catch them."

"Morehead has a good team, I sort of think they'll take Ottumwa tomorrow."

As he joined a group of his players he said he thought his team had burned themselves out scoring 41 points in the first half of the Diagonal game.

"I knew we had to do something," big Ron Kester of Winfield said after he and his mates had come from behind to nip Waverly.

"But we got the old spark and caught 'em," the big center said as he tripped off to the shower. Clayton Rabedeaux, the cool and collected Winfield guard, sang the praises of Kester's play. "You rebounded more today than you ever have, and 14 points in the last half, nice goin'."

Coach Orrie Rew was beaming with happiness when he came into the dressing room. "I didn't think they were going to pull out of it, but they sure did. And how about that kid Patterson, why he was my third guard on the second team early this year. Now he's doing a fine job on the starting five."

"Now all we have to do is play as well tomorrow," he said.

Waverly Coach Chuck Uknes said he knew a nine-point lead was nothing to sit back and relax over. "We've blown leads like that all season," he related. "The kids get a nice lead, then relax, forget their defense and just sort of let down."

"I am not even sure of winning with a 15-point lead and a minute to play, still we're just a fair bunch of ballplayers and I figure we did pretty well to get as far as we did."

For the second year running Ankeny met defeat for the first time of the season on the field-house floor. Last year the Hawk-eyes brought 27 game winning streak, this year 29 straight triumphs.

The players cheered each other with a "we'll be back next year."

"The third time's a charm," chipped in Joe Fontana, father of players Ray and Ron. "They couldn't find a basket big enough in the first quarter."

"The fellows did a good job anyway," Bert Evans, the Hawk-eye coach said. "If it hadn't been for that hot first quarter we'd have been in there all the way, instead of fighting all the time just trying to cut that big lead."

Del Mully gave all the credit for beating Ankeny to his Forest City players. "It sounds crazy but now I hate to see a team pile up such a lead and be so hot on shots in the first quarter. From then on they were bound to cool off on the shooting. I just don't like to see them burn themselves out right off the bat. I like to see even scoring right through the game."

"We got the game won in the first quarter and then they let down. That can be bad, and they (Ankeny) almost caught us, too."

Commenting on the first game, Mully said, "I'm sure glad Waverly is out, they were smooth out there. Still, this Winfield club gets the points and that's what counts."

Between 200 and 250 high school players and coaches are expected to hear talks by Pops Harrison and Football Coach Eddie Anderson today.

The pair will speak at a testimonial luncheon sponsored by the Iowa City chamber of commerce, beginning at noon in the Jefferson hotel.

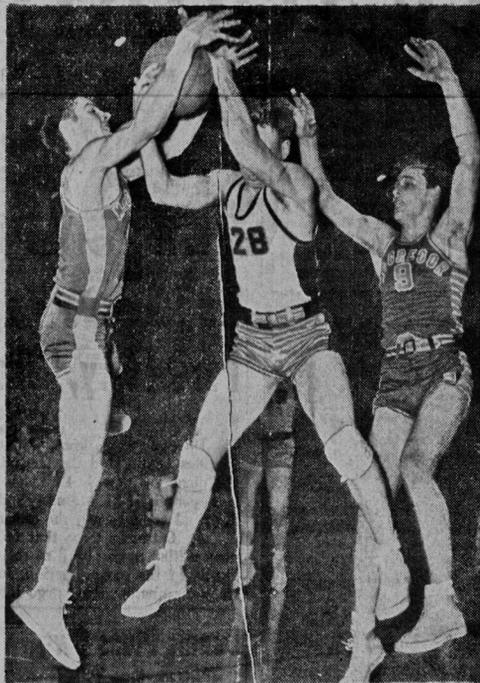

Roland Smith, chamber of commerce president, will act as master of ceremonies and SUI Athletic Director Paul Brechler will introduce the two coaches.

Ray Fontana, who scored 18 points in a losing Ankeny cause was sure he and his mates were going to pull the game out of the fire. "But when Johnston fouled out it finished us off. We were coming too, it was 40-36 when he went out."

Coach Ollie Rew of Winfield didn't need a green tie to bring his boys luck. Although green was a common color around the fieldhouse he wore a bright red cravat.

St. Pat's Day brought the Irish out of the bands yesterday. It seemed like every other tune came from old Ireland.

In bringing his McGregor team to the state tournament, Coach Bill Luther probably became the first coach in a long time to have two state tournament teams in one year. He brought the McGregor girls to the Des Moines finals two weeks ago.

Ottumwa Does Masterful Job Against Davenport

We can truthfully say that if we had attempted to predict the outcome of yesterday's quarter-final tournament games we would have had exactly four losers.

So instead of having a semi-final field of Waverly, Ankeny, Davenport and McGregor, we now have the reverse in Winfield, Forest City, Ottumwa and Moorhead. How crazy can basketball get?

Of course the big upset of the day was Ottumwa's thrilling triumph over Davenport. That game was a repetition of Davenport's 43-39 victory over Iowa City in the sub-state. Ottumwa simply had too much scrap for the Blue Devils.

The Bulldogs did a masterful job against Davenport. They cracked the zone defense by smooth ball handling and hitting short push shots. And the highlight of the entire tournament came when Ottumwa stalled out the final four minutes, beginning with a 39-34 lead and eventually winning, 41-37.

Of the crowd of more than 13,000 witnessing last night's session, probably 12,000 were rooting for Ottumwa and 1,000 for Davenport. With the Blue Devils out of the running it is now anybody's tournament.

The tournament fans have really jumped on little Winfield's bandwagon. Just as in the days of Melrose, Diagonal and Danbury basket machines, the non-partisan members of the high school crowd like to root for the little fellow.

You can't blame them. Everyone cheers for the underdog in almost any sport unless he's associated with the favorite. "Win with Winfield" was the crowd sentiment last night as the tourney followers awaited tonight's semi-final action.

As for the Winfield players themselves, it would be an understatement to say they were happy. They were accorded little chance of bumping class A Waverly out of the running. Yet the Wolves came from a nine-point deficit in the third quarter to oust the Go-Hawks, 50-45.

Big Ron Kester, Winfield's 6-4 1/2 center and the tallest player to make the finals, sauntered into the locker room after the game tired but extremely over-joyed.

"I can't believe it," Kester chuckled. "I'm so darn tickled. Gee, I never even dreamed this."

Asked if Waverly was the best team he has played against, Kester answered, "So far, yes. They had a swell team."

But Kester was looking ahead as he beamed over to Winfield's chief play-maker, Clayton Rabedeaux, and said, "Just two more to go."

As for the Go-Hawks, Waverly Coach Chuck Uknes put it in true St. Patrick's Day spirit as he said, "I guess we just didn't have enough Irishmen on our team."

Davis with 14 points and Ferguson with 13 led the Ottumwa scoring. Hammersly got 9 points and played a terrific game under the backboards for the Bulldogs. Lindsay was high for the Imps with 13 markers while the vaunted Blue Devil center, Bob LeBuhn was held to a single field goal and a free throw.

Winfield 50, Waverly 45

Led by Ron Kester's outstanding second half performance, Winfield's Wolves rallied to wipe out a nine-point deficit midway in the third quarter and defeat Waverly, 50-45.

The Go-Hawks' fast-breaking attack seemed to have the game iced with less than four minutes left in the third period. But in the next eight and a half minutes Winfield turned a 25-34 deficit into a 46-41 lead.

Kester scored 14 points in the second half and made his presence felt under the boards. When he fouled out with two minutes to go in the game, the score stood at 46-41, Winfield.

Art Chrissinger, high scorer for both teams with 21 points, 14 in the second half, took over in the pivot spot and guided his club home safely.

Winfield was able to score only four points in the first quarter on baskets by Chrissinger and Duane Hill. Roland Arns scored four points for Waverly to pace his mates to a 9-4 first quarter margin.

Chrissinger's two driving lay-ups and a free throw paced a Winfield second quarter surge which carried them to a 13-12 lead with five and a half minutes gone. Hill's job off the boards throughout the game, but especially in the second period, was instrumental in getting the Wolves back into the game.

Two push shots by Dick Rowray and baskets by Dale Coonrad and Arns forged Waverly back out in front and pushed them into a 21-17 half-time lead. Coonrad was high scorer for the Go-Hawks with 16 points, followed closely by Rowray's 14.

After Chrissinger's lay-up and free throw had put Winfield close again with 45 seconds gone in the second half, a lay-up by Arns and two drive-in shots by Rowray pulled Waverly ahead, 28-20, with less than two minutes gone.

After Coonrad and Chrissinger traded baskets to put the score up to 34-25 with three minutes and 40 seconds to go in the third period, Winfield started the spurt which carried the Wolves to a 34 all tie at the end of the period. Kester counted five markers in that rally.

The Wolves, led by Kester's shooting and rebounding, kept their rally going into the fourth period. After Kester fouled out they went into a short freeze, but Coonrad's push shot with 25 seconds to go pulled Waverly up, 45-47. With 13 seconds left, Chrissinger drove in for a lay-up. He was fouled and converted, to make the final score 50-45.

Forest City 52, Ankeny 42

Forest City's high flying Indians performed a neat scalping job on Ankeny's previously unbeaten Hawk-eyes yesterday afternoon, toppling the Hawks, 52-42.

The Hawk-eyes could collect but two free throws in the first quarter as Forest City raced to a commanding 17-2 lead at the buzzer. The Hawk-eyes were unable to get a field goal until a minute and 40 seconds had lapsed in the second quarter when John Johnston pushed one in.

During the first eight minutes the Indians hit eight field-

The big gun in the Indian scoring attack was Center Herb Thompson with nine buckets and three free throws. Ray Fontana scored 20 points to lead the losers.

Even though Forest City could not continue the blazing pace set in that first stanza, the Indians were not to be denied the victory as they doggedly fought off Ankeny's last half rally.

The Hawks closed the gap to 40-36 on Ron Fontana's brace of charity tosses with four minutes and 50 seconds remaining in the contest but Johnston's fifth personal gave Herb Johnson a point from the free throw line.

Rye dove into the keyhole for a lay-up 15 seconds later and Dennis Johnson repeated the act to break up the Hawk-eye surge and make the count 45-36.

Ron Fontana's gift shot shortly after the game started gave the Hawk-eyes their only lead. Seconds later Thompson sank a basket and the Indians were in front to stay. Rye contributed five buckets in eight attempts and Thompson counted twice to give Forest City its 17-2 lead at the quarter.

Johnston sank Ankeny's first basket of the contest soon after. Thompson's fielder had upped the count to 19-2. Thompson hit again and the score stood at 21-4 but Ankeny scored eight points before the Indians could hit again.

Neither club could gain an advantage in the third period and the Indians retained their nine-point margin, leading 35-26 at the buzzer.

Ray Fontana, Keith Hildreth and Johnston hit a flurry of baskets early in the final quarter as Ankeny pulled up to a 40-36 count with four minutes and 50 seconds left. Forest City staved off the rush with Johnston's timely points. Ray Fontana scored as the game-ending gun sounded.

Moorhead 38, McGregor 35

Moorhead's methodical Vikings weathered a desperate and almost successful McGregor second half rally last night to capture a 38-35 triumph over the Trojans.

Moorhead, on the strength of the offensive efforts of Terry Anderson, forward, and Marvin Lauritsen, Viking guard, who tallied 13

Loyola, San Francisco in NIT Finals

The winners precision-like attack rolled to a commanding margin in the third period, and at one point, Moorhead sported a 14 point, 33-19 edge.

Roger Ross, aggressive McGregor forward, spearheaded a Trojan surge late in the third quarter and opening minutes of the final period that netted 13 points in five and a half minutes, while their defense restricted the previously smooth functioning Moorhead offensive to a mere five markers.

This concerted comeback reduced the lead of the faltering Moorhead quintet, who lost the services of Lauritsen on five fouls with 15 seconds left in the third stanza, to 37-34, with four minutes 15 seconds remaining in the game.

Tom Nugent, McGregor guard, converted a charity toss with two minutes 45 seconds left to play to slice the margin to 37-35. However, the Vikings clung tenaciously to their lead after Bob Crawford hit a free throw for Moorhead with a minute 30 seconds left.

Alan Butterfield, McGregor scoring ace who established a new state tournament scoring mark for forwards against Diagonal Wednesday night, was limited to seven points in last night's scrap.

McGregor jumped into a short lived 3-0 lead in the first quarter on a basket and free throw by Ross, but Moorhead fought back and posted a 7-6 quarter margin.

The Vikings raced to a 19-14 half-time lead with Weldon leading the way, and held a 33-24 command at the end of the third stanza.

Moorhead staved off a concerted Trojan rally in the last quarter to post the 38-35 triumph.

PRESENT TROPHY

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Iowa State college was presented the Blue Hills American Legion Post's first annual big seven sportsmanship trophy at a dinner here last night.

NEW YORK (AP) — San Francisco sped to a 49 to 39 victory over Bowling Green and Loyola of Chicago rallied for a 55 to 50 conquest of Bradley last night to gain the finals of the National Invitation basketball tournament.

Tomorrow night these two titans of the west clash for the championship at Madison Square Garden.

Loyola was forced to produce a zephyr-like fast break in the second half to come from behind and beat Bradley, while San Francisco took the lead in the second minute of its game and kept it the rest of the way. But those mere facts are deceiving, for the Dons had to work even harder for their victory than the Chicago crew.

A four-point underdog in the betting as the crowd of 18,301 filed into the garden for last night's double header, the green-clad Dons from the west coast gave away three inches of height per man.

But through sheer hustle—a vicious, compelling sort of hustle — Coach Pete Newell's San Franciscans played the towering Bowling Green team off its feet.

The hero of the victory was Don Lofgran. He scored 24 points for high honors, but that's only a tiny portion of the story. This curly-haired blond was ever the ball-wrestling play-maker as well as the crack shot artist.

The Loyola victory came in a battle of strategy. Bradley opened the game with a choking zone defense and held an impressive 31-22 lead at the half. But then Loyola came out with its fast break — and that produced victory.

This fast break ran the Bradley dizzo, and, what was more important, put Loyola in scoring position time after time before the Braves could get that zone defense set up for its efficient stifling of the Loyola backboard game.

The game was close throughout, and the Bradley backers in the mob were still cheering hopefully for victory though behind five points in the last minute of play.

Tournament of Champs Leases Polo Grounds

NEW YORK (AP) — In the three-way battle for boxing supremacy, the Tournament of Champions yesterday dealt a promotional blow to both Mike Jacobs and Joe Louis by leasing the Polo grounds' fight-rights for "at least two years."

Jacobs believed his 20th Century club had the Polo grounds and Yankee stadium tied up until September 30, 1950. Meanwhile Louis' new international boxing club had been negotiating frantically for the Polo grounds.

Penelopes with Different Twists

SUI Girls Weave Cloth, Make Coats

By MAUREEN AUBURN

Women studying textile design in the home economics department are modern Penelopes, with a different twist.

Penelope, the faithful wife of the mythological Greek adventurer Odysseus, passed the 20 years of his absence by weaving with the same thread. Every night she ripped out the cloth so that she could start anew the next day.

The difference at SUI is that the students finish weaving their cloth and then make it into coats and suits. Nine women are making clothing from material they wove in class.

According to Prof. Lulu Smith, the students study textile design to learn the techniques of designing and weaving. They do plain weaving, laid-in weaving and flat tapestry.

The department has 10 looms—five small, table model looms for making place mats and other small pieces of cloth and five floor model looms which are about five feet high and made of wood. After designing the weave, the students set up and operate the looms by hand.

Kathy Rathe, A4, Waverly, set up her loom in 25 hours using brown, red, tan, grey and yellow threads. This means attaching each thread separately. She wove 4 1/2 yards of brown tweed in another 25 hours. Kathy brought her wool from Wales which she visited while abroad last summer.

Jeanne Jiricek, A4, Cedar Rapids, spent 19 hours setting up the loom to make her royal blue and grey tweed cloth. She wove nine yards in 49 hours. Now she is making the soft, heavy cloth into a sport coat with full back and sleeves. Jeanne said the most difficult part of the job was cutting the cloth after having put so much energy and time into weaving it.

Varsity Band to Give Concert Wednesday

The SUI varsity band will present a concert in the north rehearsal hall, music studio building, at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Prof. C.B. Righter said yesterday.

Righter, director of SUI bands, said the 70-member band will play a concert of nine selections under the direction of Arnold L. Oehlsen, associate director of bands.

The principal works to be presented are "Second Suite in F Major," by Holst and the "Finale" from "Symphony No. 1" by Saint-Saens.

Oehlsen has been with the SUI band department since 1940 as associate director. Previously he spent several years at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., as assistant director of bands and was also director of bands at Wittenburg college in Springfield, Ohio. Oehlsen directed the varsity band which played at all the SUI home basketball games.

The SUI concert band is in the midst of preparations for the forthcoming concert tour during which it will present concerts in towns throughout Iowa. Righter added.

Tickets for the varsity concert will be available at the band office in East hall. They are free of charge, Righter said, and the general public is invited.

12,000 Dependent Children — Advises Needy Program Aid

Iowa must take care of 12,000 dependent children in the state, Wendell Gibson said at the last Information First lecture of the 1948-49 series yesterday afternoon.

The best way to do this is through the aid to dependent children program, Gibson told about 150 persons in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

The chairman of the Iowa Committee on child welfare legislation, said the aid to dependent children program was not designed to help children alone but was a "family program."

Under this program the child can remain at home instead of being put in some institution if the father is dead, missing or hurt so he can't work and support his family, Gibson explained.

The federal government, the state and the county all help pay for this program, he said.

The federal government makes the largest contribution and the remainder is split between the state and county governments, Gibson explained.

He explained that the dependent children in Iowa have come from the war, increased marriages and divorces, and the general instability of the times.

Gibson said $2.7-million has been spent on aid to dependent children during the past two years and this year the legislature's appropriations committee has approved $1,573,000 for this program. He emphasized that this figure is still too low.

Engineer's Smoker Is Hilarious Affair

Hilarity rocked the Iowa Union last night as SUI's engineers celebrated St. Patrick's day with their annual Mecca smoker.

Highlights of the party were election of the Mecca queen and her four attendants, judging the quantity and quality of the beards, presentation of the Theta Tau achievement award and the opening address of welcome by Dean Dawson of the college of engineering.

Prizes were awarded to the engineer with the heaviest beard, with the most unique beard, with the most distinctive beard and with the best intentions but the least results. Council Regulates Campaign Tactics In Campus Election

Regulations for campaigning in Currier by candidates in the March 30 all-campus elections were announced yesterday by D.J. Myers, Currier council president.

Candidates are restricted to one 12 by 15 inch poster on each of two special bulletin boards. These posters are to be left at the desk in the south lobby and will be posted by a council representative.

No other posters will be allowed in the dormitory, its annexes or their grounds. Defacing property with gummed paper or paint is prohibited.

Candidates wishing to speak in Currier should call Elaine Sherman to arrange for a time and place to speak, Miss Myers said.

These regulations were set up to prevent all-campus candidates from interfering with candidates campaigning in the March 28 Currier election.

Student Funds For Campaign Limited to $25

Students running for Board of Publications positions in the all-university election March 30 were limited to a campaign expenditure of $25 each yesterday by action of the Board of Publications.

At their afternoon meeting the board also approved raising the page rates and single copy sale price on the 1950 Hawkeye. Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, head of the SUI school of journalism and chairman of the board, said.

The $25 campaign limit complies with that previously set by the Student Council for students entering the delegate-at-large race, Moeller said. It will affect nine students who have filed for three board positions.

The single copy price of the 1950 Hawkeye was raised from the present cost of $4 to $5, Moeller said. Seniors, as usual, will receive their copies free.

Page rates for the 1950 Hawkeye were hiked to $40, double the present rate of $20, Moeller said. With the exception of honoraries, all organizations will pay the $40 per page rate which is cost price, he said.

The Hawkeye price increases were passed by the board largely on the basis of a survey of 38 universities conducted a year ago, Moeller said. The survey showed that the average page rate in the school annuals of these 38 universities was $43. The average sales price per annual was $5.37, he said.

Thomas Williams 'Never Bankrupt'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thomas C. Williams, 69-year-old Buffalo, N.Y., man who committed suicide outside the United States senate chamber six days ago, never went bankrupt.

An Associated Press story incorrectly reported that Williams went bankrupt after he was employed at Myerstown, Pa., last August.

It was reported yesterday that Williams at one time worked for a firm which went bankrupt, but that he himself never was in bankruptcy.

Edwin Noll, a Myerstown banking official, was incorrectly quoted in the story as saying that Williams was in bankruptcy.

Prof. Swanson to Talk At Mason Club Dinner

Third Ward Alderman — City Council Candidate

(This is the third in a series of stories on the Republican and Democratic candidates for city offices in the March 28 city general election. There is no Republican seeking the third ward aldermanic position.)

Charles T. Smith, 906 E. Daventport street, is seeking his third term this year as alderman from the third ward on the Democratic ticket with no Republican opposition.

He has lived in Iowa City 41 of his 42 years and has been a resident of the third ward for 19 years. He is employed at the Sorenson's Feed company in Iowa City.

Prominent in Community Dads work, Smith was an organizer and charter member of that group and is now its president. He is also a member of the Knights of Columbus, Moose, and Eagle lodges.

Advocating a program of street repairs, Smith says "resurfacing of city streets should take place wherever possible. Not just repair of asphalt streets, but replacement with brick. This I believe can be done without any assessments on adjoining property."

Smith said he also approved an extension of playground facilities in portions of the town inadequately equipped.

"I think a fine playground can be built where the old football field north of the Longfellow school now is," says Smith, "and I'm in favor of working with the school board to build a new park there."

Hand of the Law Caught in Absconding Act

THERE'S MANY A SLIP 'TWIXT THE CUP AND THE LIP, and here is proof positive. An anonymous law student's hand was caught in the act of removing the engineer's trophy cup from Bremer's window late yesterday afternoon. In place of the cup which is (or was) to be presented to the Mecca queen tonight, the law student left three copies of the Iowa Law Review and a small sign (propped against the lower left corner of the standing magazine) saying "To be presented 'Mecca Queen' by engineering faculty."

Laws Steal Queen's Award

Engineers Now Missing Mecca Gold Cup, Kidnaping Took Great Strategy

Three copies of the Iowa Law Review equal one gold cup award for the Mecca queen who is to be chosen tonight at the annual engineer's Mecca ball.

The cup which was on display in Bremer's window until late yesterday afternoon disappeared and the copies of the law review were in its place. The sign leaning against the books reads, "To be presented Mecca Queen by Engineering Faculty."

This substitution of law books for the cup is probably retaliation by law students for the greased and took the cup from the window display.

This was all done after careful "reconnaissance to make sure it was possible." He also hinted at engraving the cup with an appropriate sentiment for the queen from the law students.

WHO to Award $50 To Radio Students

Fifty dollars in prizes will be awarded outstanding radio journalism students at SUI by station WHO of Des Moines, News Manager Jack Shelley announced this week.

Shelley said W.W. "Woody" Woods, assistant manager of WHO, decided to award $50 in prizes again this year. The amount was first given last year to outstanding staff members at SUI. Prizes were divided among three members of the WSUI staff last year. Awards were for excellence in radio news writing, radio news reporting and news bureau management.

Prof. Arthur M. Barnes, head of SUI radio journalism sequence, will be judge and decide how the money should be divided.

The awards will be presented to the winners by Shelley at the "Matrix Table" banquet tentatively set for May 18.

Des Moines Firm Files Against Eden

A $74.91 judgment against C.E. Eden, Iowa City, was filed yesterday in Johnson county district court by the G.W. Onthank company of Des Moines.

The Des Moines firm claimed that amount was due them for goods and merchandise sold and delivered to the defendant last July.

The plaintiff asked judgment for $74.91, plus interest at five percent from Feb. 6, 1949. Neiman and Neiman of Des Moines are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Moeller Discusses Press Improvement At Rotary Meeting

Problems facing newspapers, radio, television and the movies were the subject of a talk given at yesterday noon's Rotary club luncheon by Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, SUI school of journalism director.

In a talk entitled "Mass Communications and the Public," Moeller listed seven things these agencies must do to improve their work.

The agencies must set up definite goals to achieve and they should learn ways to give the public the information it should have, he said. The flow of information is threatened by high operating costs.

A professional spirit should be developed in the agencies and the public must learn that freedom of the press concerns them as much as persons in the field, Moeller said.

Ways must be found of measuring the performance of the press and of advising it of its level of performance, he said.

The public can help the press solve its problems by discussing them, encouraging good work in the field and making it fashionable to be well-informed, Moeller added.

Not a Whisky Still Boiling Barrister Vat On Mecca Tour

Leave your jug at home, Pa. One of the main attractions at the chemical engineers' open house is a Lummus bubble cap still, but it doesn't make moonshine.

This year for Mecca week, guided tours are being conducted through SUI's chemical engineering facilities today and tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The tours are being sponsored by the Student Branch of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, which is celebrating its 25th anniversary at SUI.

Guides at both front and side doors of the chemistry building will direct visitors to the chemical engineering department.

There, surrounded by shiny copper stills, rotary driers hissing steam, colored pipes and a large steaming vat used for boiling law students (or so they say), visitors will learn the how's and why's of chemical engineering.

Nursery Eases Nurse Shortage

Leaves Moms Free to Work

By RITA SATTERLEE

Westlawn is increasing the supply of nurses in more ways than one. A nursery located in the basement of the building cares for 10 children of graduate nurses, allowing these mothers to return to their profession.

"Many graduate nurses in and around Iowa City were anxious to help out during the present shortage of nurses, but were unable to do so because of the lack of facilities for the care of their children," Gerhard Hartman, superintendent of University hospitals, said. "The free day nursery for the children of graduate nurses was established in June of 1947 to fill this need."

The kids, ranging in ages from one to five, are left in the nursery every day except Sunday from 1 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday is dad's day to care for the children. All the fathers, except one, are SUI students.

Kept out of Mischief

Keeping the little tykes out of mischief requires the full-time services of two trained persons. Mrs. Frank Henderson, a registered nurse with a bachelor of science degree, said, "Caring for these children is such fun because they are well." Mrs. Henderson formerly worked in General hospital, but since January has been employed in the nursery.

"An old timer at the 'racket' is Jane Siegel, a graduate of Chicago's Augustana hospital for pediatric nurses. The petite blonde has 'grown up' with the nursery, for she has been employed there since its establishment in 1947.

"The children are kept on routine schedules," Mrs. Henderson explained. "Their day is mapped out — time for sleeping, playing and eating."

Nap-time follows their lunch at 11 a.m. The older children sleep in low beds in one room, and the little ones are tucked into cribs in another room. When 2:30 p.m. comes, havoc breaks loose again in the playroom.

Balanced Meals

Drawing crayon pictures which resemble modern art is the favorite pastime of the pre-schoolers. Top-notch drawings are displayed in sign fashion on the walls of the playroom.

Lunches and meals, prepared in the diet kitchen in Childrens hospital, are served to the youngsters during the day. Their diet is supervised by Dr. Kate Daum, director of nutrition at University hospitals, who sees that each one gets the right amount of spinach and the necessary two glasses of milk each day.

The physical well-being of the children is closely watched by members of the pediatric staff in Childrens hospital. Complete entrance physical examinations and periodic check-ups are provided. Physicians' services are available at all times during the nursery's hours.

"No attempt is made to formally educate the children," Mrs. Henderson said, "except to teach them how to give and take. It's really remarkable how quickly they learn to play together."

Application Deadline Extended to April 1

The deadline for the return of the applications for the student faculty relations committee has been extended to April 1, Committee Chairman Georgianna Edwards said yesterday.

The applications should be placed on the University Women's association desk in the office of student affairs.

The chairman and members of this committee, sponsored by the UWA, will be chosen from the applications.

The student faculty relations committee sponsors two open houses a year to promote better student-faculty relations. One open house is held in Old Capitol and the other in the office of student affairs.

Courtroom to Get Fluorescent Lights

Installation of fluorescent lighting fixtures in the courtroom of the Johnson county courthouse will begin Monday, County Supervisor J.E. Pechman said yesterday.

Five fluorescent ceiling lights will be installed in the courtroom to replace the old-fashioned dome lights now used, he said.

Bids for the cleaning and repainting of the interior of the courthouse will be accepted in a few weeks, Pechman said. Cleaning and repainting work will begin after the May term of court if a suitable bid is received, he added.

Trip Booklet Now Available at Union

A comprehensive booklet on summer work, travel and study projects in nearly every country in the world is now available at the YMCA office in the Iowa Union, NSA chairman Valorie Dieks, said yesterday.

The booklet lists almost all the major foreign trips sponsored by American and foreign organizations. Time and expenses depend upon the type of work, travel and study project.

Educational projects approved by the veterans administration for the summer or full year are also listed in the booklet.

SUI Alumnus Heads China Press Service

An SUI alumnus, John W. Henderson, is chief news editor of the United States information service offices in China, the state department announced recently.

"Henderson reports that newscasts are being made daily from Shanghai," state department officials said. The wireless bulletin service from America is translated and rebroadcast regularly.

More than 22,000 monthly newsletters in English and Chinese are also being used to meet this demand, the department reported.

Henderson graduated from SUI school of journalism in 1932. He was a reporter for the Cedar Rapids Gazette for four years before going to the Associated Press Washington bureau.

He was with the Associated Press until 1947, being on military leave the last four years of that time.

Market Basket Index Shows — Food Prices Drop Five Cents

Five more pennies were slated for the piggy banks this week as The Daily Iowan market basket dropped that amount from last week's figure.

It cost $16.13 rather than $16.18 for the student provider for three to buy the 24 basic items listed in the market basket.

First grade bacon was the only significant contributor to the decline. Bacon was selling for an average of 59 cents per pound this week in local downtown grocery stores, a decrease of 6 cents from last week's figure.

White cane sugar was also down, but only a penny.

Ten pounds of Gold Medal flour climbed from an 89 cents price a week ago to a 95 cents figure this week. This gain in flour had little effect upon the index figure because the average student family of three uses only 3 pounds of flour per week, the survey shows.

The Daily Iowan market basket survey was begun in September, 1947. It attempts to show how much a student family of three spends for 24 basic food items in one week. The index figures are based upon prevailing prices in seven downtown grocery stores.

Food prices have been generally stable this month, with very few items registering any marked changes. The stabilization of local food prices is in line with the national trend.

Most local grocers reported a relatively "slow" week. There was no shortage of people going past their doors, but the percentage that came in to buy groceries was very small, they said.

Irish Shut Bars for St. Patrick

DUBLIN (UP)—All bars were shuttered yesterday in respect for St. Patrick. Unlike their brethren overseas, Irishmen celebrated the day without raising a glass publicly.

Thousands of Dubliners thronged O'Connell street, to watch 3,000 soldiers parade. The crowds were unusually quiet as infantry and motorized units led by three bands pounded past.

After the parade, Premier John A. Costello and President Sean T. O'Kelly led the crowd into Dublin cathedral for mass.

The celebrations became livelier after nightfall. In big cities and small farm towns, Irish folk danced the traditional ceili, a sort of barn dance, to the wall of pipes and fiddles.

Wherever the dances or parties were held, the participants sported the traditional shamrock and wore as much green as their wardrobes would permit.

They all hoped that by next year's celebrations the six counties of northern Ireland would be joined with Eire's 26 counties in a united Irish republic.

Foreign Minister Sean MacBride offered a prayer in Dublin that by then the entire island will be "one united nation."

Cancer Drive Nets Over $3-Million for Research Program

Allocation of 3.2-million collected in 1948 for cancer research has been completed by the American Cancer society, according to word received by R.J. Knoepfner, chairman in Iowa City.

The research program was completed by approving 205 applications for grants-in-aid totaling $1.6-million and by awarding $200,000 for 45 fellowships, Melford R. Runyon, ACS executive vice-president, announced.

The society recently granted the University hospitals $35,000 to continue research in the field of cancer.

Runyon pointed out that the society earmarks for research one-quarter of all the funds received. Since the research program was established in 1945, $9,679,000 has been devoted to research projects in the nation, he stated.

Columbia Geologist To Give Lectures

Marshall Kay, professor of geology at Columbia university, will speak in the geology lecture room at 8 p.m. Monday on "North American Geosynclines and Island Arcs."

The well-known geologist is a son of the late George F. Kay, dean of liberal arts and head of the geology department at SUI for many years.

The speaker received his B.A. and M.A. degrees at SUI in 1924 and 1925 and his Ph.D. degree at Columbia in 1929.

Kay's illustrated lecture will be sponsored by the department of geology.

At 8:30 a.m. Monday he will speak to the class in advanced general geology on "Ordovician Stratigraphy of the Appalachian Region." In order to accommodate other interested persons, the class will meet in room 306, geology building.

Pops Looks Them Over

Hollywood Mystery Solved

Movieland's Top Photographers Belong To Society of Cinematographers

HOLLYWOOD — Movie fans know to the last stitch what Lana Turner wears to bed, but there's one Hollywood mystery that's had them stumped for 30 years. It's those letters, "ASC," that are tacked after a cameraman's name when it flashes on the screen, usually at the top of a movie's credit list.

Every week the studios wearily rake in a hundred or so letters that pop that question and turn them over to the American Society of Cinematographers.

To save you the price of a stamp, the ASC is a sort of Phi Beta Kappa for the guys who photograph movie stars. Every top cameraman belongs to this honorary, the oldest club in the movie business.

Organized in 1919

ASC was organized in 1919 by a bunch of cameramen, including Phil Rosen, now a director; Charles Rosher, who won an Oscar for "The Yearling," Arthur Edison; Victor Milner, and the late Joseph August. They asked studios to put "ASC" after each member's name on credit lists, and they've been hearing from puzzled fans ever since.

Besides answering fan letters, the 175 members get together at their sumptuous clubhouse, the former mansion of Silent Star Conway Tearle, to swap secrets. High-paid actors and directors would curl up before letting loose tricks of their trade, but not cameramen.

"We're not jealous of each other. Why should we be?" said Shruggs Milner, who's peeked at glamour queens like Barbara

Stanwyck through his lens. "A cameraman can't duplicate another's work, anyway, no matter how hard he tries. Photography is a creative work, and bears the stamp of the individual."

President Charles Clarke, for instance, was the first to photograph an entire color movie on one piece of film, like kodachrome, instead of three pieces. He informally lectured members about that. He's up for an Oscar for that film, "The Green Grass of Wyoming."

Invents 'Dancing Dolly'

Franz Planer told his fellow lensmen how he developed a "dancing dolly" so his camera could follow a pair of dancers. And in a forthcoming issue of the group's world-famous magazine, The American Cinematographer, Rosher will explain his camera "tank" for shooting Esther Williams underwater.

Other Hollywoodians stand in awe of the ASC. Former cameramen who are now directors, like George Stevens and Rudolph Mate, drop around to talk shop. Stars like Dick Powell, Ty Power and Linda Darnell figure it's an honor when they're asked to a meeting. Edgar Bergen is an associate member, and Charlie McCarthy often gives lectures complaining about how he's been photographed in the movies.

Some movie fans, after they find out what ASC means, want to join. However, a cameraman may be asked to join only after he's made five acceptable feature movies. Members' salaries range from $450 to $1500 a week. Amateurs good at taking picnic pictures with a brownie need not apply.

Homes for Students At Summer Session Sought by Sweitzer

Richard E. Sweitzer, manager of off-campus housing, yesterday urged faculty and staff members who plan to spend the summer out of town and would be interested in renting their homes and apartments to contact him at the office of student affairs.

Sweitzer said he has received inquiries for housing from faculty members of other colleges and from high school teachers who plan to attend the university's summer session.

Questionnaires have been sent to 725 faculty and staff members to assist in locating persons who would be interested in renting their homes for the summer months. "Thus far only 11 persons have responded," Sweitzer said.

Last summer 27 faculty members listed their homes for rent and 22 of these were rented by the off-campus housing bureau. However, Sweitzer said, the office was unable to find housing for 54 students.

POLES REHABILITATE

WARSAW (AP)—The Polish government claims to have liquidated all but a little more than 1,000,000 acres of fallow land in former eastern German lands. Government officials say that is expected to be put into cultivation this year.

FINED IN POLICE COURT

Gaige R. Walters, A3, Harlan, was fined $22.50 in police court yesterday on a charge of speeding, according to police.

Road to Success — From Fish To Music

LA JOLLA, CALIF. (AP)—When day is done, Sam Hinton turns from fish to folk songs.

At first, music was just a relaxing spare time activity for Hinton. But now it's paying off in cash. He has a radio program, gives concerts and teaches night classes in music.

Hinton, an authority on museums and aquariums at Scripps Institute of Oceanography, recently completed an extensive trip throughout the country, gathering ideas for a new museum-aquarium to be built here soon.

"I guess I'm a fish-fancier first and a singer second," he said.

His scientific path since he graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles was interrupted by at least one stint of music-making. He played in a musical revue in Los Angeles for ten months.

"It just seems to come naturally," the slightly balding scientist said. "I never took a lesson in my life."

He said he first became interested in American folk music while studying zoology at Texas A. & M.

"A roommate loaned me an old guitar and I started strumming on it." By the time Hinton left UCLA he estimates he had a repertoire of more than 400 songs.

It was only recently that his hobby took another bite into his scientific life. He joined the staff of the University of California extension division, teaching a class in folk music each Thursday.

MacArthur Says He Will Slay in Japan

TOKYO (U)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur served notice yesterday he will strongly resist any attempt to turn the occupation of Japan over to civilian authority. He said he intends to stay in Japan "until a peace treaty is signed."

The statement was interpreted here as an attempt by MacArthur to call for a showdown on recent Washington reports that the general intends to retire next fall and the state department would take over control of Japan.

Sources close to MacArthur believe the reports may be "trial balloons" floated by the general's critics in Washington who would like to see him out of Japan.

"As far as I am personally concerned, I have no intention of seeking relief from my heavy responsibilities here," the supreme commander said.

MacArthur said rumors have reached Tokyo suggesting a possibility of a change in the regime of Japanese occupation control and hinting at his retirement. He said the sources of these published rumors have consistently been "cloaked in anonymity."

"As has been repeatedly stated both here and in authoritative quarters in Washington," MacArthur explained, "there is no known factual basis for them."

Oxford University Professor to Make Final Hillel Speech

Prof. Cecil Roth of Oxford university, England, will speak on "The Making of the Modern Jew," tonight at 7:30 at Hillel house.

Roth's speech will be the last in Hillel foundation's series of four lectures on "The Intellectual Pilgrimage of Judaism," which began last fall.

Roth is making a lecture tour of American universities, Prof. Judah Goldin of the SUI school of religion said.

One of the great Jewish historians of the world, Roth attended Oxford university and has been teaching there since 1939. He has written many books, including "The Last Florentine Republic," and "A History of the Jews in England."

While in Iowa City he will be the guest of Prof. Goldin.

Forms Procurable For Weather Duty

Application forms for the meteorological examination for positions in Iowa and other states in the fifth region of the U.S. weather bureau are available at the Iowa City postoffice, Lester J. Parizek said yesterday.

Entrance salaries for this position range from $2,498 to $2,974 a year, Parizek, local civil service secretary, said. The duties consist of observing and reporting weather elements and computing and plotting meteorological data.

New Plymouth Features Detachable Fenders

PLYMOUTH'S NEW special deluxe club coupe is pictured above. The car is lower and narrower but the seats are wider and the headroom is greater, company officials said. The wheelbase has been lengthened to 118 inches and the glass area increased. The horsepower has been raised to 97. The fenders are detachable for ease in repair work.

Johnson Says Sales Decline May Be Normal

Recent declines in retail sales are probably an indication of a return towards normal conditions rather than an indication of a real slump, Robert H. Johnson, SUI economist said.

Writing in the March issue of the Iowa Business Digest, monthly publication of the SUI bureau of business research, Johnson attempted to analyze the various factors which affect retail sales.

Major factor affecting sales in normal times is the amount of disposable income in the hands of consumers.

During the war and post war years this all important factor has been modified to a great extent, Johnson said.

During the war there was a huge disposable income but due to the shortage of goods, sales were below normal.

In 1947 and 1948 sales were generally above normal. This deviation may be explained by several factors, Johnson cited five of them in his article including:

1. A large backlog demand for durable goods accumulated during the war.
 2. Consumers' expenditures for rent, domestic servants, utilities, interest and foreign travel have taken a smaller portion of disposable income than in pre-war years.
 3. The existence of relatively large holdings of liquid savings has encouraged many persons to spend larger-than-normal percentages of current income.
 4. The rapid rate of growth in population may account for the above normal sales in certain types of non-durable goods stores.
 5. Changes in the price structure have undoubtedly modified the pattern of retail sales.
- With the same level of disposable income, a return to the pre-war pattern of retail buying would probably bring a modest decline in sales of nondurable goods and some durable items, Johnson predicted.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The Wall Street Journal, gently ribbing local columnists who triumphantly credit themselves with "exclusives" on inconsequential drivel, recalled the Southwestern editor who would kill front-page stories of world-wide importance in order to scoop other papers in the region on local or sectional items.

One day he accomplished the minor triumph of being the first and only editor to report a disaster in a nearby town. The following week he scored another beat with this announcement: "We were the first to announce the news of the destruction by fire of Jenkins' paint store last week. We are now the first to announce that the report is absolutely without foundation."

An over-publicized author submitted to a mass interview recently. When it was over, one critic said, "He isn't quite as conceited as I'd been led to expect." "Ah, yes," added another, "but he has so much to be modest about."

Lady Mayor Wouldn't Be First For Iowa City

Having a woman run for mayor is nothing new in the history of Iowa City.

Mrs. Howard Bevc, Republican candidate for mayor in this year's general election opposing incumbent Mayor Preston Koser, will be the second — not first — woman to become Iowa City's mayor if she is elected.

As recently as the 1920's a woman ran for mayor and was elected after she had filled out an unexpired term.

Miss Emma Harvat, 332 Davenport street, was a Republican alderman-at-large in the 1921 city council. The council appointed her to fill the unexpired term of Democratic Mayor Ingalls Swisher who had resigned.

Friends today explain the council's action in appointing a Republican to the position — for which Iowa City voters had chosen a Democrat—like this:

"She was an able woman, regardless of party affiliation."

"The whole council, both Democrats and Republicans, was sure she would be a good mayor."

In 1923, Miss Harvat ran and was elected to a mayoral term in her own right.

Women to Choose Outstanding Seniors

All junior women have been invited to help select new members for Mortar Board, national honorary for senior women, President Jeanne McDonald, A4, Lima, Ohio, said yesterday.

A vote will take place March 24 at 4:30 p.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. At that time junior women will be asked to check 20 names of junior women outstanding in scholarship, activities and service to the university.

A list will be posted on the bulletin board outside the office of student affairs today listing girls who are eligible for membership in the organization, Miss McDonald said.

The scholarship requirement is three-tenths of a point higher than the average for junior women last year. This sets it at 2.688.

Any corrections or additions to the list must be made in the office of student affairs by Tuesday, Miss McDonald said.

Bird Dog Owners Told of Iowa Rule

Training bird dogs on wild game is unlawful in Iowa after March 15, state conservation officials warned yesterday.

Dogs running wild will frighten nesting birds and curtail game bird egg production, officials said. Dog owners are asked to leash or pen their dogs during the bird nesting period until July 15.

How Modern can Jazz get?

Listen to Skitch Henderson's latest waxing of "CRAZY RHYTHM" — a Capital Recording ... and you'll know the answer!

One of the hottest of the oldies, "Crazy Rhythm", comes back with a sock, the way Skitch and his band revive it! Skitch Henderson is great at putting a smooth-modern touch on an old favorite. And when it comes to cigarettes, Skitch has another long-time favorite — Camels! Here's how Skitch plays it: "Camels are mild and full flavored. I've smoked Camels for years."

How Mild can a cigarette be?

SMOKE CAMELS FOR 30 DAYS — and you'll know!

In a recent coast-to-coast test of hundreds of men and women who smoked only Camels for 30 days — an average of one to two packs a day — noted throat specialists, after making weekly examinations, reported

NOT ONE SINGLE CASE OF THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking

HOW MILD CAN A CIGARETTE BE? WELL, SKITCH, THE CAMEL 30-DAY TEST CONVINCED ME THAT CAMELS ARE THE MILDEST CIGARETTE I'VE EVER SMOKED!

I'VE KNOWN THAT FOR YEARS, NANCY! AND I GO FOR CAMEL'S FULL, RICH FLAVOR, TOO!

It's real harmony when Skitch Henderson and lovely Nancy Reed, his featured vocalist, get together and sing the praises of Camel mildness.

Money-Back Guarantee!

Try Camels and test them as you smoke them. If, at any time, you are not convinced that Camels are the mildest cigarette you've ever smoked, return the package with the unused Camels and we will refund its full purchase price, plus postage.
