Ottumwa Cagers Take State Crown

Poll Shows Senators Favor Pact Ratification by 26-1 Ratio

WASHINGTON (UP)—A poll of available senators last night showed 52 for and two against ratification of the North Atlantic treaty.

This 26-1 ratio is far greater than the two-thirds approval necessary for ratification.

The treaty presumably will be submitted to the senate soon after its signing here April 4. Full debate has been promised and ratification appeared unlikely before late May.

The unofficial and confidential poll showed that 20 Republicans and 32 Democrats expect to vote for the pact. The two "no" votes were registered by Republicans. Several senators of both parties said they are still undecided.

Assurances that the treaty would not undermine congressional authority to declare war apparently has allayed some senatorial misgivings.

Back from Florida, President Heavier, But Feeling 'Fine'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman returned yesterday from his 13-day Florida vacation a little heavier but feeling "fine."

He told reporters at the airport that he would send the North Atlantic security treaty to the senate for ratification "as soon as it is ready."

This was taken to mean the senate would get the pact soon after it is signed here April 4. The President had already approved the text made public Friday as well as the explanation of it by Secretary of State Acheson.

The President will return to his office tomorrow. He has a cabinet meeting set for that day as well as his regular session with Democratic congressional leaders.

The President, as he indicated to newsmen at Key West, has adopted a wait-and-see attitude before marking down as a permanent attitude the rebuff congress has handed him in recent days.

Police Save Sailors From Angry Crowd

CIAUDAS TRUJILLO, DOMINICAN REPUBLIC (AP)—Dominican police rescued three United States navy sailors from an enraged crowd of more than 1,000 persons Friday night after they tried to force their way into a home.

A week ago, infuriated Cubans stoned the United States embassy in Havana and tried to burn the embassy's flag after a group of American sailors profaned the statue of Cuban hero Jose Marti.

A Dominican girl was cut by flying glass seriously enough to require hospital treatment when the sailors, from the U.S. Burdo, a transport, broke down the door of the house where she lives with another girl.

A crowd collected and threatened to punish the sailors on the spot, but police arrived and escorted them back to the ship.

Swallows Return Arrive at Capistrano On Schedule

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, CAL. (AP)—Swallows of mission San Juan Capistrano, with a disdainful flick of the wing to doubting ornithologists, kept their 170th annual rendezvous here on schedule yesterday.

Father Arthur Hutchison said the first arrivals began to appear before dawn, and small groups continued to alight in the aged adobe brick mission throughout the day.

Legends say the first swallows started coming here when Franciscans built the pioneer church in 1779, landing on St. Joseph's day, March 9, and flying south on San Juan's day, Oct. 23.

Five More File for Student Council

The Student Council delegate-at-large race closed yesterday with five more candidates filing for the four council posts in the March 30 all-university campus elections. Eleven candidates had previously filed.

Filing their petitions before the noon deadline yesterday were: Robert F. Tyson, A4, Iowa City; Corey J. Wright, A3, Omaha, Neb.; Karl S. Winborn, C3, Williamsburg; Jim McKenzie, A3, Appleton, Wis., and David McPherrin, A3, Mason City.

Thirteen men are seeking election to the two council delegate-at-large posts representing the men on the campus. Only three women are candidates for the two women's positions.

In his platform Tyson advocates the promotion of a student "nite club" located in the Iowa Union and featuring weekend entertainment for the students.

Extension of women students hours to 11 p.m. on weekdays and 1 a.m. on weekends is emphasized in Winborn's platform. Wright, a physical education major, emphasized in his platform

Oak Ridge Now 'Open City'

OAK RIDGE, TENN. (AP)—A puff of white fire set off by an atomic pile 15 miles away burned a ribbon at the entrance to Oak Ridge yesterday and opened this Atomic City.

Then following this symbolic ceremony the gates, which heretofore have been closed to all except those with passes, were removed at 7:48 a.m. Iowa time.

It took a millioth of a second for the impulse to travel yesterday over a telephone wire from the atomic pile, and then go off with a sound like an air rifle.

A chemically-treated ribbon at the main one of four gates to Oak Ridge was burned by the first atomic-generated electricity ever transmitted by wire. The power came from the atomic center's uranium chain-reacting pile.

Bulldogs Outshoot Forest City Five in Tourney Final, 39-27

By NEAL BLACK (Iowan Sports Editor)

Ottumwa Bulldogs were crowned kings of Iowa high school basketball last night after they beat Forest City, 39-27, in the championship game.

The Bulldogs staged a tremendous fourth quarter spurt to wither a fine Forest City five and continue their record of never losing a state tournament championship game.

Earlier in the evening Moorhead defeated Winfield, 43-35, to capture third place.

It was the overall balance of the Ottumwa crew that proved the difference as the two clubs played even for almost three quarters of the game. With the score 27-21 at the close of third period and the Indians still within range, the Bulldogs, led by Jerry Davis, pulled into a commanding lead and coasted into their fourth state championship.

Ottumwa won the coveted crown back in 1915 before the Iowa High School Athletic association took over the tournaments; then they won it again in 1928, came back in 1942 to capture the title, and last night a hilariously happy bunch of Bulldogs carried another huge trophy to their dressing room.

The Ottumwa coach, Fred Maasdam, with the game on ice and but a minute to go, put in an entire new team of reserves to finish out the game while the Bulldog regulars rejoiced on the bench.

It was a great victory for the Bulldogs, who weren't given a chance to go all the way when the tourney started. But the Bulldogs proved their greatness in beating favored Davenport after winning their first round game against Fort Dodge.

They moved into the finals by beating Moorhead Friday night in the semi-finals.

The two clubs traded baskets through the first period and part of the second until Ottumwa pulled out to a five point lead midway in the second period.

The Indians, with Rocky Rye and Herb Thompson leading the way, narrowed the gap to one point late in the period, but it was 23-20 when the intermission gun sounded.

Only five points were scored in the third period as both teams played cautious, deliberate ball and the Bulldogs had a six point lead at the three-quarter mark.

Ottumwa played ball control in the last quarter while extending the margin to 13 points with less than a minute left.

Forest City's Herb Thompson got 12 points last night to establish a new individual scoring record for tournament games. He finished with a total of 69 points to crack the record 62-points set by Al Budolfson of Rolfe in 1938.

Thompson and Rye were the only scoring punch Forest City had last night as they sank all the field goals the Indians got. Rye finished with 11 points.

Sam Long, Bill Hammersley, and the two Ottumwa centers, Lawrence Nelson and Virgil Hudson, did a great job of rebounding in holding Thompson down. They gathered in almost all of the rebounds off the Forest City board and that meant a great deal in the Bulldog victory.

Davis led the Bulldog scoring with 15 points, Nelson got 9, Joe Ferguson tallied seven and Hammersley got six.

It was a team victory for the Bulldogs, who lived up to their name in dogging the Indians all the way, keeping them off balance and giving them few good close-in shots.

Rye opened the scoring after 30 seconds had elapsed in the game with one of his push shots from the side of the court. A Forest City free throw and Hammersley's lay-up made it 3-2 before Rye hit his second push shot.

Ferguson sank a set shot and Thompson made a rebound good. Then Rye drove in and sank another to make it three baskets in.

Not Much, But It's Still A Lot

WASHINGTON (AP)—A lot that isn't a whole lot was turned up yesterday by the District of Columbia assessor in compiling a new real estate directory.

It's one-half inch wide and 194.3 feet deep, in the capital's northwest residential section. Assessor E.A. Dent said its owner is listed as the Miami County National bank of Paola, Fla.

East Germany Nears Separate Nation Rank

BERLIN (AP)—Eastern Germany neared the status of a separate nation in the Soviet orbit yesterday.

The Communist-led people's council approved unanimously a constitution for the 20-million Germans in the Soviet zone and in the Soviet sector of Berlin who are cut off from their western brothers by the iron curtain.

The constitution still must go through the formality of approval by the 2,000-man people's congress, which ratifies decrees of the council. The date for the congress meeting was not fixed.

The council's ratification of the constitution, which would set up a rival to the western German federation being formulated at Bonn for the United States, British and French occupation zones, came 24 hours after announcement of the terms of the North Atlantic treaty.

The western powers prepared to make the west mark the only legal currency in blockaded western Berlin.

Authoritative sources said the new move in the currency war will be announced today. Berliners went on a buying spree to get rid of their Soviet-backed east marks, which have been circulating legally in west as well as east Berlin.

Before rushing through the east German constitution, the people's council appealed Thursday to western German leaders to meet them next month in "an all German unity conference." The appeal got a cold reception.

The Communist constitution says private property is guaranteed — but adds that property of "war mongers" can be expropriated without compensation.

It says free speech is guaranteed — except for war propaganda "and similar matters."

'Cool Off' Provision Seen for Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top administration Democrat predicted yesterday that the house will add to the administration's labor bill a provision to "cool off" national emergency strikes with court injunctions.

The prediction was made by house Democratic Whip J. Percy Priest of Tennessee. Priest has responsibility of keeping tabs for the administration on the sentiment of his colleagues.

Priest said sentiment for an emergency strike section has become "very strong" since John L. Lewis declared a two-week mine "holiday" last Monday. Lewis pulled his United Mine workers out of the pits in protest against the nomination of James Boyd as director of the U.S. bureau of mines.

CAREFUL AIM wasn't enough last night as Forest City fell to Ottumwa, 39-27 in the championship game of the Iowa high school basketball tournament. Drawing a bead on the basket is Forest City's Herb Thompson. The man with the startled expression is Virgil Hudson (34), Ottumwa, and the other Ottumwan is Sam Long (22).

'Boys Learned to Relax,' Says Bulldog Coach

Champs Celebrate in Locker Room; Ottumwa Fans Go Wild

By ALAN MOYER

The team that Friday night said "we'll win it now" went out and did it last night, crowning a great week of basketball for Ottumwa's Bulldogs. A week ago they were given little chance, but today they're champions of Iowa.

"I sweated a little, but they went out and got it," said Coach Fred Maasdam, after being swarmed with congratulators.

But first he presented his players with gold medals and the team accepted the huge gold trophy, symbolic of winning the most important high school game of the year.

"We seemed to develop something out there in the tournament game," Coach Maasdam said later. "We had one poor game, but the boys learned to relax. I told them that tonight and was sure they'd be all right."

Coaches of all four teams sang the praises of their teams. Ival Outhouse told his Moorhead players, winners of the consolation game, that "no one could ask for more than you've given me all season."

"We've had a swell season, we've had a lot of fun, and we went out there and won 32 out of 33 games, that's good enough for anybody."

But the big victory of the evening belonged to Ottumwa, and the joy shown by the Bulldog fans ranged from shrieks of joy to tears of sheer happiness. For minutes after the final gun Mary Maasdam, high school aged daughter of the Ottumwa coach, had tears streaming down her face, so happy she couldn't believe what had happened.

Flashbulbs flashed here and there while the four teams received their awards and it was half an hour before the tired Ottumwa players felt the warmth of a shower.

As group pictures were being snapped in the dressing room, Jerry Davis, standout forward of the Bulldogs, suddenly remembered that to the winners belong the basketball.

"Where the ball?" he snapped, "it's ours." But in no time Teammate Joe Ferguson assured Davis that the ball was already safely tucked away and ready for the trip to Ottumwa.

Forest City's dressing room wasn't the noisy place that Ottumwa's was, but the Indians weren't disheartened. To finish second out of the better than 900 teams that started the long grind three weeks ago is a feat in itself.

"I can see why they (Ottumwa) beat Davenport," Coach Del Mully told friends. "They were just too good for us, we tried everything and they still kept out front."

By that time Sammy Long, the dribbling star on the winning Bulldogs, was going from one Forest City player to another, congratulating them on the fine game they played.

Earlier, after Moorhead had won third place, a happy and yet at the same time disappointed Winfield coach congratulated Moorhead's coach and each of the players.

"You had a good team out there," Winfield's Orrie Tew told Ival Outhouse. "Injuries hurt us, but I wouldn't say we'd of won even if they'd all been in good shape."

R.R. "Red" Watson, chairman of the Board of Control, provided the laugh of the evening when he was presenting team medals. Will Coach Ival Outhouse and his "Moorhouse" team please come forward, he said.

At first the laughter was slow in starting, but within a few seconds the fieldhouse rocked. And everyone was glad he didn't have to give out the trophies, especially to Moorhead!

The better than 15,000 that jammed the fieldhouse for the finals was by far the largest crowd of the week. Another thousand thronged the outside but were unable to buy tickets.

For the first time in the tournament the big crowd began a concerted chant for a team. Chanting "Let's go Forest City" the crowd cheered the Indians on in unison for several minutes of the fourth quarter, following the tradition of trying to root home the underdog.

Governor Bardsley saw both games, and during a halftime radio interview told what a basketball fan he has always been. He said his official duties keep him from following the game during the season, but that his 14-year-old son keeps him up on what he misses.

The Governor said he didn't have a favorite, but was enjoying the game and the great show of sportsmanship by players and fans alike.

Both starting fives in the championship game were requested to stand facing east for 30 seconds while pictures were taken.

Forest City was still very much in the game at halftime. "We're a second half ball club," they shouted as they left the dressing room.

Jerry Davis of Ottumwa commented to his teammates with simple sincerity before the Bulldogs returned to the floor. "We got a win," he pleaded. By the outstanding game he played he must have meant what he said.

A big pep rally is scheduled for Central park in Ottumwa this afternoon, greeting the new champs back to home grounds.

Lyle Quinn, secretary of the Iowa High School Athletic association, was smiling as he congratulated the winners. "It was a nice tournament," he said, "It went just right and the best team won."

Moorhead Wins Third Place

Moorhead's Vikings launched a successful second half rally last night to sweep back from a fifteen point half-time deficit and post a 43-35 triumph over the Winfield Wolves in the consolation round game.

This victory marked Moorhead's 32nd win in 33 outings this season and gave them third place in the 1949 state tourney.

Both clubs, plainly showing the effects of an exhausting and gruelling tournament schedule, offered a listless brand of ball in the first half, and the tempo of play accelerated just slightly in the last two quarters.

Moorhead shot its way into a 11-8 first quarter margin, but Winfield, whipped by Forest City in the semi-final round Friday, raced back to assume a 21-18 half-time lead.

Russ Lawrenson, big Moorhead pivot man, provided the spark that ignited the dormant Viking attack in the third quarter. Moorhead held a 27-25 edge at the end of the quarter.

The winners, who compiled a 33-26 command midway in the final period, almost saw their lead evaporate in the heat of Winfield's comeback, but Moorhead staved off the Wolves' bid for victory to post their 43-35 win.

Winfield was deprived of the full services of Big Ron Kester who suffered an ankle injury in Friday night's game. The six foot four and a half inch center was obviously hampered by the injury and tallied but four markers in approximately two quarters of play.

Both Moorhead and Winfield failed to display either the crisp passing or accurate shooting which characterized their play in the first three rounds of the tournament. The Vikings hit a shot percentage of .266 while Winfield hit the hoop with but a .234 shooting mark.

The tally was knotted 5-5 midway in the first period, but Moorhead forged into a 11-8 margin at the end of the first quarter.

Clayton Rabedeaux, Winfield

guard, pushed in a bucket with six minutes and 30 seconds remaining in the second stanza to deadlock the score 12-12. A rejuvenated Winfield crew jumped into a 22-20 lead at half-time.

Russ Lawrenson spearheaded a third quarter Moorhead drive that gave the Vikings a narrow 27-25 third quarter lead.

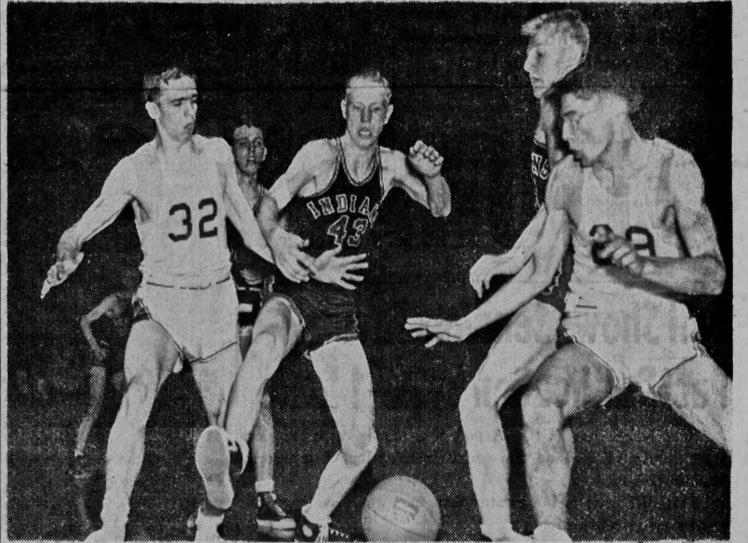

The surging Wolves shortened the gap to 33-31 with five minutes left in the contest, but the Moorhead Vikings fought back to assure themselves of the verdict and third place in the tournament.

three attempts and give the Indians a 9-4 lead.

Then the Bulldogs went to work and baskets by Davis, Nelson and Hammersley and a free throw by Long pushed Ottumwa into a 11-9 lead at the quarter. Forest City was never ahead after that.

Davis hit for five baskets in the second period as Rye got two and Thompson added one for the Indians. Free throws by Nelson and Ferguson for the Indians and Anderson, Charlie Langerud, Thompson, and Rye made the score 23-20, Ottumwa, at the half.

Then came the disastrous third period that spelled defeat for Forest City. The Indians went until less than a minute was left in the period before they got a point, that one on a free throw by Thompson. Ferguson and Hammersley scored from the field to boost the Bulldog lead to 27-21 at the end of the quarter.

Thompson narrowed the gap to four points 40 seconds after the final period began but the Bulldogs began to hit again and it was all over for the Indians.

San Francisco Captures NIT On 48-47 Victory Over Loyola

NEW YORK (AP)—The University of San Francisco won the National Invitation basketball tournament last night in the final 58 seconds with a 48-47 decision over Loyola of Chicago.

A free throw by Ross Guidice gave the Dons the victory. Loyola, which had never led, knotted the count with less than a minute to play. Ralph Klaerich west coast club stalled for time. He raced in, sank his basket, and the score was tied at 47-47.

Then, seconds later, Ed Earle fouled Guidice. The short, dark haired guard who had played only as a reserve in the tournament, took aim calmly and sank the point.

In the hectic stalling that followed, Loyola fouled three more times. Each time San Francisco refused the shots and took the ball out of bounds instead. The stall was successful and the game ended with Rene Herrerias, the smallest player on the court, holding the ball in his own territory.

A sensational first half scoring burst by Don Lofgran gave San Francisco a comfortable lead most of the way. Lofgran poured in 17 points in the first half. He couldn't buy a basket in the second half, getting only a single field goal and a foul shot for a total of 20 points.

Immediately after the game, Lofgran was selected as the most valuable player in the tournament.

The game was advertised as a personal scoring duel between Lofgran and six-foot-six Jack Kerris of Loyola. Lofgran had all the better of it. Despite his second

Bittners' Rally Ends Oilers' 6-Year Reign Of AAU by 55 to 51

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The Oakland Bittners last night shattered the Phillips Oilers' six-year reign as National AAU basketball champions. The Californians won 55-51.

It was a smashing finale to the week-long tournament. The second-seeded Bittners overtook the favored Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., in the second half to win the title.

The victory was sweet revenge for the Bittners. They were defeated in the AAU final two years ago by Phillips and in the semifinals last year.

It was the Oilers' first loss in their last 32 AAU tournament games.

The post shooting of 6-10 center George Kok last night gave the Peoria Caterpillars a 53-44 victory over the Seattle Alpines and third place in the tournament.

Kok made the difference in the game preceding the finals match between the defending champions Phillips Oilers and the Oakland Bittners. He scored 17 points.

Mt. Vernon Cagers Capture Illinois Title

CHAMPAIGN (AP)—Mt. Vernon won its first state basketball title in 29 years last night, defeating Hillsboro, 45 to 39.

For three quarters it was the kind of neck-and-neck tussle that the spectators wanted to see for the state championship game in George Huff gym.

Five Hawkeye Thinclads Place In State AAU Track Meet

DES MOINES—Five SUI students gained places in the state AAU track meet held in the Drake fieldhouse in Des Moines yesterday afternoon. Four of the Hawk contestants are freshmen and entered the meet as unattached from Iowa City.

Varsity Shot-Putter Bobby Nelson hurled the weight 43-feet 7-inches to give him second place in the event.

Jack Davis, former City high runner, placed in two events: He crossed the finish line third in the two-mile run and fifth in the mile.

In the 50-yard low hurdles, Dean Deuel captured the third spot while Jim Hayek's 21-foot one-half-inch effort in the broad jump gave him fifth position.

Nine of the 10 Hawks who entered the meet qualified for the finals. The tenth entrant, Jerry Shiffman, failed to qualify.

In the 30-yard high hurdles, Hawkeyes DuWayne Dietz and Jim Trissel were leading the pack over the first hurdle. Then the trouble started. Dietz hit the first obstacle and spilled to the ground, knocking him out of the event.

Trissel's downfall came later. His inability to clear the hurdles cleanly caused him to lose considerable time and he too ran out of the places.

Iowa City high school's entrant in the junior division of the meet placed second in the mile relay.

Iowa State Teachers college scored 23 points to oust Drake's defending champions in the senior division, as last year's kings could garner only 21 markers.

East high school (Des Moines) successfully retained the junior crown they won last year, outscoring their cross-town rivals, North high, 23 1/2-18 1/2 as two records were eclipsed.

Jim Robertson of Ames heaved the shot 50-feet 2 1/2-inches to top his record-setting effort of 48-feet 10 7/8-inches set in last year's meet.

Davenport's John Wardel erased the 5-foot 10-inch high jump mark set by Richard Long of East (Des Moines) in 1946. Wardel cleared the bar at 6-feet 1 3/8-inches for the new record.

Iowa's Boston Finishes Third in 50-Yard Dash

Marcellus Boston, Iowa's sensational freshman sprinter, placed third in the 50-yard dash at the 13th Annual Chicago relays yesterday afternoon. He entered the meet as unattached from Iowa City because of the Big Nine rule barring freshmen from competition.

The event was won by a former Illinois dash ace Bill Mathis with National AAU Champ Billy Dwyer of Rhode Island in the runner-up spot.

Iowa's baton team did not place in the matched university relay event.

Rabedeaux, Hammersley At Guards

The Daily Iowan's all-tournament team chosen from players competing in the state tournament here in Iowa City this week takes all five of its first-team members from the semi-finalists. It is a club that would average 57 points a game on the basis of individual averages in the first three games in the tournament.

Ottumwa's finalists placed two men on the Iowan's all-tourney club as did their opponents in the final game. The other first team member comes from a strong Winfield club.

At the forwards are Ottumwa's Jerry Davis and Forest City's Rocky Rye. Herb Thompson of Forest City is at center and the guards are Bill Rabedeaux of Ottumwa and Pub Rabedeaux of Winfield.

In the two forwards we find one driving, fast rebounder, in Davis who is an all around good ball handler and floor man. His running mate, Rye, with his shooting eye and deadly push side from the side, drives opponents crazy by standing outside, shooting over the defense and hitting a remarkable percentage.

Thompson Top Center
Thompson, at center, is one of the best all-around centers to come out of an Iowa high school in many years. He does everything well. Under the boards, he can get farther off the floor than many centers much taller. He's a deadly shot on a pivot or rebound and is a fine ball handler.

The guards, Hammersley and Rabedeaux, are both good ball-handlers and fine defensive men. Although neither shoot a great deal they are good shots.

Hammersley's forte is work under the backboards, while Rabedeaux is probably the best feeder and floor man in the tournament.

The first team averages just a little under six feet with Rabedeaux the shortest at five-nine and Thompson the tallest at six-two. The other three are all even six-footers.

Second Team
The second team has Alan Butterfield of McGregor, and Bill Stenger of Davenport at the forwards; Ron Kester of Winfield at center; and Art Chrissinger and Marv Lauritsen of Moorhead at the guard spots.

This five would also average 57 points per game.

Butterfield is the McGregor flash who scored 24 points against Diagonal in the first round and got seven the next night against Moorhead. Stenger is a fine floor man and a good shot. He got 18 points in the two games Davenport played in the tourney.

Kester, the biggest cager in the tourney at 6-4 1/2 is a wicked rebounder and a good shot. He got 45 points in Winfield's first three games.

Chrissinger is a driving forward who was put at guard because he couldn't be left off one of the first two teams. He scored 39 points in Winfield's first three games. Lauritsen is a play-maker and a great defensive guard.

Tough To Leave Off
The player who was the hardest to leave off the first two teams was Ottumwa's Sam Long. Although he doesn't score, Long is one of the best dribblers and ball-handlers in the tournament. He and Dick Riecks, the Danbury dribbler of a few years back, would make a beautiful stalling combination at the guards.

The honorable mention selections are Forwards, Red Hill, Winfield; Johnny Thurber, Montezuma; Joe Ferguson, Ottumwa, and Ed Lindsey, Davenport; Centers, Ray Fontana, Ankeny, and Russ Lawrenson, Moorhead; Guards, Long, Ottumwa; Ken Buckles, Davenport; Dick Rowray, Waverly; Carl Van Cleave, Montezuma, John Johnston, Ankeny.

Looks to Marriage, Teaching Profession

By DON KELLY

Applause is probably old stuff for President Harry Truman, but hand clapping from the chief executive may be something else indeed.

The time President Truman applauded Morgan (Jerry) Jones, G., is a high spot in Jones' life—a life that has had its share of low spot, too. Back in May, 1946, two Missourians, Mr. Truman and Jones, were participants in a commencement at William Jewell college, Liberty, Mo. The President received an honorary LL.D. and Jones received his A.B.

As each candidate for a degree received his sheepskin, the audience applauded.

"They tell me Mr. Truman applauded only for me," Jones said recently.

Jones only knows what happened at the commencement from what people have told him because he is blind.

At present, Jerry is working toward a Ph.D. at SUI, but he expects to quit school in June because of heavy expenses.

He estimates it will cost him between $250-$300 during this semester for "readers" who help him with class assignments.

Despite his handicap which has plunged him into a world of misty shadows since he was 13 years old, Jerry has a bright outlook on life. One look at the picture in his room at the Gables, 21 N. Dubuque would convince anyone of that.

Jerry's going to be married June 15 to beautiful Emily Mae Munn of Pottlatch, Idaho. He met her while he was working for his M.A. in English at the State College of Washington, Pullman, Wash.

Emily is "sweeter than she could possibly look," said Jerry. One look at her picture makes one realize Jerry is a very fortunate person.

Jerry and his wife-to-be correspond by writing in braille.

"I taught her to write in braille," Jerry said, adding that sometimes he gets more than his money's worth out of stationery by writing in long-hand and then in braille over his penmanship.

He accomplishes long-hand writing by folding a piece of paper into eight equal parts. He then guides his pen with his left hand which "feels" where the creases in the paper are.

While in class, Jerry takes notes in braille with the aid of what he calls a "pocket slate" which consists of two hinged metallic plates. The top plate has four rows of 28 openings (cells) in each row.

Each cell opening in the top plate fits over six indentations in the solid bottom plate.

He inserts a heavy piece of paper between the plates and uses a stylus to make indentations in the paper. While using the pocket slate, Jerry writes from right to left.

When he takes the paper from the slate, he turns it over so he can feel the braille characters formed.

He does not use a cane or "leading-eye" dog to help him get about. That has caused some unkind comments from people in large cities.

"I guess some of the people in Kansas City are mad at me because I don't use a cane. I brushed into a few people and they didn't realize I was blind judging from some of their comments," Jones said.

He philosophically tells of the accident which took his sight.

"I was playing at my uncle's place and I noticed a bright shiny object in his toolshed. I didn't know what it was. I started to grind it on the grindstone, then the explosion occurred. It happened to be a dynamite cap.

A TYPEWRITER WHICH FORMS BRAILLE letters and words is one of the aids used by Morgan (Jerry) Jones, G. Jerry, blind since the age of 13, is working toward a Ph. D. in English at SUI, but expects to quit in June because of heavy expenses incurred by employing "readers" who help him with class assignments. He will marry Emily Mae Munn, whose picture is near typewriter, in June.

"It's funny how those things are attractive to kids."

Five months after the accident, a doctor performed an operation which restored his sight to normal with the aid of strong glasses.

"Five more months passed and then one day I woke up and I was blind again," Jerry reminisced.

He said complications plus a detached retina reduced his vision to a point where he can distinguish only between night and day.

Jerry, 26, still visits a Kansas City doctor once a year.

"There's some hope my sight will be restored someday, but I'm not banking on it. The doctor says he can't do anything until nature does something first."

After he became blind, Jerry taught himself braille and how to typewrite. He was graduated with honors from the Missouri School of the Blind in St. Louis and from William Jewell college.

He received a five-year high school teachers' certificate from Central Missouri State college, Warrensburg, Mo., in the summer of 1946. He was granted an M.A. in English at the State College of Washington in May of last year.

As for the future, Jerry would like to enter the teaching profession at the college level.

Los Angeles SUI Club To Hear Hoagy, Wilson

Hoagy Carmichael and Meredith Wilson will appear on the program at the annual meeting of the SUI club of Los Angeles at Long Beach Friday night.

Principal speaker will be L. Dale Coffman, 1928 graduate of the SUI school of law and first dean of the new UCLA law school. Wilson, although not an Iowa graduate, is from Mason City.

Nebraska Art Exhibit Displays SUI Works

Works by four SUI art professors are now on display in the University of Nebraska's 59th annual exhibition of contemporary art.

The paintings, "Still Life," by Prof. Stuart Edie and "Dark Sky, Dark Water," by Prof. James Lechay, are in the show running through April 3.

A color print, "My Boy," in intaglio, by Prof. Mauricio Lasansky and a piece of sculpture, "Mask," by Prof. Humbert Albrizio, also are exhibited. Albrizio's work was carved from rosewood.

Intaglio used by Lasansky is an independent art form. It is a process of cutting below the surface of the plate or metal with tools or acid. This method makes the print come out above the paper after printing.

The exhibition is sponsored by the Nebraska Art association of Lincoln, Nebraska.

Loyalty Affidavits Signed by Guard

Affidavits denying membership in any subversive organizations have been signed by members of the 34th reconnaissance company, Iowa City national guard unit, Sgt. Ed Windrem said yesterday.

Windrem, administrative assistant of the 34th, said the company had complied with a circular issued by the guard's Washington, D.C., bureau.

The circular, distributed to all state units of the national guard, required all guardsmen to sign the affidavits on subversive activities.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AT THE Gridiron club dinner in Washington, Pollster Gallup learned the real reason for Iowa's flip-flop to the Democratic banner in 1948. "President Truman spoke up and down the state," explained the Gridiron club pundit. "The citizens of Iowa-way flocked to hear him. And, brother, that is one state where they recognize and appreciate good corn when they hear it."

In Springfield, O., the wife of an executive of the Crowell-Collier plant gave birth to her fourth child. The other three kids—all girls—were delirious when they heard that at last the stork had brought them a baby brother. "We want to see him, Daddy," they implored. The father explained that Mommy had him in the hospital, and that they would have to wait a few days. Four-year-old Lucy was disgusted. "A fine brother," she mumbled. "One day old, and they had to take him to the hospital already!"

Explorer to Present Natural Color Travelog

Alfred M. Bailey, noted explorer and SUI graduate, will present his natural color film travelog, "Cajun Country, Land of Evangeline," in Macbride auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

A native of Iowa City, Bailey is director of the Colorado museum of natural history at present. He received his bachelor's degree from SUI in 1916.

He has held museum positions in Chicago and Louisiana, taking part in expeditions to Abyssinia, the Arctic and Hawaii.

Admittance to the movie will be by membership card or tickets available at the door.

"Boulder Bounce," the mountaineers annual banquet, will be held Wednesday night at 6:30 in the River room of the Iowa Union.

Awards will be presented to members for outstanding active service and climbing ability. Cole Fisher, master of ceremonies, will crown the King of the Tall Tales, and Mickey Thomas will present a skit.

Million-Dollar Library — Modern Design to be Featured

SUI's new million-dollar library will feature modern design within its walls.

Temperature and humidity control, independent of outside conditions, and walls that can be shifted or altered overnight will be two outstanding features of the building, SUI Architect George L. Horner said yesterday.

The library will have a modular type of architecture which is a unique design prominently known as the "Iowa plan," Horner added. (Modules are small, rectangular-shaped rooms of unit size comparable to cells in a honeycomb.)

Despite temperature and moisture content fluctuations in the air outside, Horner said there would be no fluctuations inside and constant conditions would prevail.

The adaptability of modular design, Horner said, is derived from the fact that walls of individual rooms may be moved freely to offer variations on the spacing pattern. In this way the interior can be changed without costly remodeling.

The new building, first unit of SUI's library building program, will front for 293 feet and will be built across from the present Reserve library on the Washington and Madison street corner.

SUI has never had a central library. As of June 30, 1948, the university had in its libraries 694,532 books valued at $1,563,519, Elwin T. Jolliffe, business office controller, reported. One of the present buildings used as a library since 1928 is not fireproof.

Council May Discuss Drop In Gas Rates

An ordinance to lower gas rates for Iowa City consumers will probably get its second reading when the city council meets tomorrow night at 7:30 in the council chambers.

Proposed lowering of consumer gas rates was made to the council by Robert Lind of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company in a letter early this month. Lind said a rate decrease was possible since the current heat output of the thermal unit used by the company was less than formerly.

Since such a rate drop would call for repealing part of the present ordinance, City Attorney William H. Bartley was ordered to prepare the proposal in ordinance form for the March 14 council meeting.

Other business for tomorrow night's meeting includes adoption of the new budget and consideration of accepting a bid on termite extermination at the Community building.

Alderman-at-Large Clark F. Mighell, chairman of the finance committee, said yesterday the budget for the year beginning April 1, 1949, has been readied at committee meetings and should be adopted at the council meeting tomorrow night.

The new budget includes possible 10 percent wage hikes for city employees, Mighell added.

One of the bids submitted to the council for termite extermination at Iowa City's Community building may be accepted tomorrow night.

Fourth ward Alderman Max Hawkins said informally at the March 14 council meeting that he thought the council would accept the bid of the Modern Pest Control company, Cedar Rapids, to rid the Community building of termites. Hawkins is chairman of the public grounds and buildings committee.

Traffic Mishap Here Damages Two Cars

A traffic accident on Clinton street near Iowa avenue occurred Friday noon, according to police reports.

Nevin D. Woodward, C4, Whittemore, and Melvin Gatens, 414 S. Lucas street, were drivers of the two cars involved.

Woodward estimated $25 damage to his car and $40 damage to the car Gatens was driving.

Presbyterian Students To Present Service

Six SUI Presbyterian students will present a worship service tonight at the Muscatine Presbyterian church, Mrs. Brainerd N. Covert, Presbyterian student director, said yesterday.

Students participating will be Marilyn Harris, A4, Muscatine; Ralph Jackson, E3, Missouri Valley; Lombard Sayre, A2, Iowa City; Lloyd Messerli, A4, Manchester; Dorothy Krebill, A2, Donnellson, and Henrietta Dykstra, A4, Alton.

First Ward Aldermen — City Council Candidates

(This is the fifth in a series of stories on the Republican and Democratic candidates for city offices in the March 28 city general election.)

Democratic

After serving two terms as alderman from the first ward, James M. Callahan is asking voters in his ward to return him to office for the third time on the Democratic ticket.

The 46-year-old candidate who has lived nearly all of his life in the first ward he seeks to represent, has worked at the University hospitals for the past 17 years and is now head painter there.

Callahan says he stands for complete resurfacing of Iowa City's black top streets ruined during the winter by freezing.

"Repairs are not good enough," Callahan said yesterday, "and will in the long run prove expensive and unsatisfactory."

He says that if he is re-elected he plans to work on traffic regulations in school areas for the protection of children crossing streets.

Callahan says he is pledged to "the continuation of our program of progress in Iowa City as represented by the present administration."

The Democratic candidate is a member of the Moose lodge and the Knights of Columbus.

Royalty Reigns Despite Queen's Kidnap

Mecca Cup Stolen — Or Was It?

When SUI's law students stole the engineer's Mecca queen trophy cup from Bremer's window Thursday afternoon, did they get the real trophy cup?

J.M. Russ, professor of engineering drawing, said yesterday he bought the cup, that it had never been in Bremer's window and that it was under lock and key until the Friday night Mecca ball, when it was presented to Mecca Queen Joan Boreman, A2, Des Moines. Members of the engineering college faculty sponsored the trophy cup.

The engineers who placed the cup in Bremer's window said they had put a fake trophy cup in the window. They said it was made of cheap metal with wooden handles and a wooden base and had been put there just to see what would happen.

One of the law students who helped remove the "trophy cup" from the window said it was the same one they presented Miss Boreman. The cup given her by the law students is gold with a bakelite base and metal handles.

The inscription on the cup presented by the law students reads "1949 Mecca Queen Presented by Iowa Law Students." The inscription on the cup presented to Miss Boreman at the Mecca ball reads "Mecca Queen 1949 Joan Boreman."

About 400 engineering students and their dates danced to the music of Chuck Foster and saw the presentation of the queen and her four attendants at the Mecca ball, Friday night. The trophy cup was presented to the queen after she and her attendants received gifts from the engineers.

Red Cross Fund Drive Makes Slight Advance

A small gain brought the 1949 Johnson county Red Cross fund drive to $11,873.24 yesterday, General Chairman Dorr H. Hudson said.

The drive, with a goal of $14,550, opened Feb. 28 and will close March 31.

City Council Candidates

(This is the fifth in a series of stories on the Republican and Democratic candidates for city offices in the March 28 city general election.)

Republican

Jasper A.W. Davis Jr., the Republican candidate for first ward alderman, said yesterday that if city government is going to spend money, it should "spend it wisely."

The 27-year-old candidate promised to see this done in Iowa City if he is elected.

Davis came to Iowa City in 1946 and has received both a masters degree and a bachelors degree in civil engineering in SUI's college of engineering.

He is now working as a builder here. At present he is building a modern, California style house in University Heights.

The tall, dark-haired Republican spent four years in the army as a first lieutenant in the corps of engineers. He served in both the European and Pacific theaters of war.

Davis spent his early years in West Virginia and North Carolina and attended the University of West Virginia for three years before going in the army in 1942.

"This is Davis' first venture into civic affairs. 'I feel we need a more representative type of government at all levels, not necessarily politicians,' he said.

Committee to Meet For FEPC Action

An inter-organizational committee, formed to take immediate action on the Iowa Fair Employment Practices Commission bill, will meet with campus organization representatives at 7:30 Tuesday evening.

The meeting will be held in the YMCA rooms of the Iowa Union, Chairman William Davis said yesterday.

Davis said the purpose of the meeting is to formulate a positive program to push the FEPC bill now in the labor committee of the Iowa legislature.

The committee is inviting representatives from all SUI political, religious and social organizations to participate.

Iowa City organizations favoring passage of the bill will also be invited to participate.

Famous Billiard Star To Perform in Union

Truck Firm Buys 12 Equipment Units, Heavy Haul Rights

The Eldon Miller, Inc., trucking firm of Iowa City, has purchased the interstate heavy hauling rights and 12 units of equipment from J.D. Armstrong Heavy Hauling, Inc., of Ames, company officials announced yesterday.

Plans to erect a Des Moines terminal as headquarters for the company were also revealed by firm President Miller.

Within a few weeks, Miller announced, headquarters of his heavy hauling operations will be moved from Ames to a new terminal to be erected immediately on Vandalia road in southeast Des Moines.

Besides the new Des Moines terminal, Miller plans to open terminals this year at Cedar Rapids and Peoria, Ill., for his heavy hauling, livestock trucking and other carrier services.

The firm, which in the past has done no heavy hauling, will begin transporting heavy machinery, contractors' equipment and other heavy commodities.

CHICAGO (AP) — International Harvester company yesterday announced price reductions averaging 8.3 percent on its household refrigerators.

Business BRIEFS

Expansion of the service shop and remodeling of the front office room is almost completed at Linder Tire Service, 21 E. College street, Owner Henry Linder said yesterday.

Installation of a complete set of steam-cure vulcanizing molds was one of the principal additions to the shop which is now equipped to repair all sizes of truck, tractor and passenger tires, he said.

Remodeling of the front office room of the store included installation of a new drop ceiling with egg crate center and indirect lighting, new display counters and an intershop communication system. Color scheme is gray and yellow.

The remodeling job will be completed this spring with the installation of a new identification sign and entrance to the service parking lot, Linder said.

Door prizes, refreshments and special buys will feature the formal opening of Slager's Hardware and Implement store, 20 E. College street, Tuesday.

Owner Truman Slager said yesterday door prizes for the opening day will range from an Admiral table model radio to five quarts of motor oil. Slager, a former employe of Sears, Roebuck and Co., began business at the present address in January.

SINCE THIS is the Sabbath, a great portion of this nation has gotten eight hours sleep for the first time since last Sunday morning.

The reason for this indisputable statement is that many persons do one of three things: (a) work for a living (b) go to college (c) are parents of children. It is also possible that any combination of these three account for the lack of eight hours sleep nightly.

At our house (a) and (b) are the factors involved. The absence of (a) and (b) on Sunday is the only salvation of physical and mental well-being.

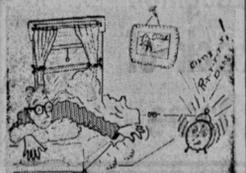

FOR SOME unknown reason we don't go to bed until the last dog is hung. It is always at least 12:30 a.m. before I get around to hanging that dog.

During the past six months I have developed a monster of a habit. I set the alarm clock 15 minutes fast. The theory here is that when the alarm rings in the morning I will remember having set the clock ahead.

By a simple manipulation of the knobs at the back of the time-piece when it rings I adjust the alarm to ring again in fifteen minutes, thus fooling myself into believing I am getting an extra quarter-hour of sleep.

HOWEVER, WHEN the alarm is set the evening before, I fail to take into consideration my stupified condition at 7 a.m. It becomes a major problem to figure which knob to turn, and in which direction to turn it.

Adding to the confusion is the practice of placing the clock in such a position that I have to get out of bed to reach it. My depth perception is always a little off in the morning, so I foolishly try to reach that infernal machine from a prone position.

It isn't falling out of bed in the attempt to reach Clock which upsets me. It's the sudden change from a warm bed to a cold floor that starts the day off in a dud-goon.

STAGGERING TO the bathroom, the first item reached for is the toothpaste. Toothpaste tubes are a sore spot at our house. I can't seem to make Jeanne understand that a toothpaste tube is meant to be squeezed from the bottom.

There is hardly anything more disconcerting at dawn than a mangled tube of toothpaste, looking as though someone had strangled it in a fit of rage.

MY TOOTHBRUSH is probably the sorriest looking batch of bristles ever to be placed into a human mouth. It seems to me that I have owned this same tooth brush since I was 11 years old.

Every morning I think about getting a new one, but it always slips my mind during the day. That tooth brush is beginning to look more and more like a goat's tail with mange.

TAKING INVENTORY of oneself in the morning is a disheartening task. My first impression of my tongue is that someone has slipped a brown shoe horn into my mouth during the night.

I have given up looking at my feet until at least 10:30 a.m. Feet have the frightening habit of becoming all wrinkled and bent out of shape during the hours of Morphous. At any other time during the day my feet and I have nothing but fondness for each other, but we've reached a friendly un-morning business.

NO MATTER how you look at it, getting out of bed before a decent hour (and that could be almost any hour up to and beyond noon) is distasteful, to say the least.

The only plausible answer to this dilemma, as I see it, is to discontinue mornings entirely.

IT HAPPENED LAST WEEK

Cold War

North Atlantic Alliance Has Coming Out Party

The world's newest diplomatic debutante — the North Atlantic security pact — was given a gala coming out party, an affair complete with admiring comments from western diplomats and jealous sneers from behind the iron curtain.

Seven nations of North America and western Europe — the U.S., Canada, Britain, France and the three Benelux nations — are due to sign the pact about April 4. Norway, Denmark, Italy, Portugal and Iceland have been invited to join.

Under the key section of the treaty — article five — all the states would rally instantly to the assistance of an attacked member and aid in meeting the aggression. But each government would decide precisely what kind of aid should be given.

The U.S. senate, having been posted on the pact's development all along, still has a few more things to find out. For instance, the cost of supplying arms abroad. But congressional leaders expect easy ratification.

Earlier in the week, the foreign ministers of Denmark and Iceland were in Washington investigating the new pact.

In Italy, Communist members in the chamber of deputies filibustered for 51 hours in an attempt to keep Italy out of the Atlantic pact. But the chamber voted 342 to 170 to back the De Gasperi government and join the pact. The upper house has to approve first.

In Moscow, new pressure was being applied to Norway in behalf of a Russo-Norwegian "non-aggression pact".

The United Nations, displaying the utility of a voluntary international agency in a power struggle world, reported that its ten-week effort to solve the Berlin crisis had failed completely.

Congress

Filibuster Ends; New 'Gag' Ruling Is Passed

The southern 15-day-old filibuster came to a panting halt and a strong coalition of Republicans and southerners swamped Truman forces in the senate with a 63 to 23 vote to put a compromise filibuster "gag" rule on the books.

Under the compromise 64 of the 96 senators can limit debate on anything except a future change in the rules, which would be subject to no gag. Southerners cannot filibuster to block civil rights legislation if... and it's a gigantic if... the administration can line up virtually every other senator and apply the 64-vote gag.

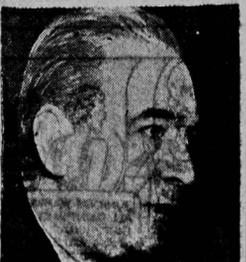

Earlier in the week, President Truman took a one-two punch from congress. Mon C. Wallgren's nomination as chairman of the national securities resources board was tabled by a senate committee. Virginia's Byrd teamed up with the GOP minority to beat Wallgren.

The house passed a 15-month rent control extension bill which gives local and state officials power to end controls even though the federal government opposes such action. The senate banking committee also accepted the "home rule" feature when it sent the bill to the senate floor.

Later in the week, despite these reverses, it began to appear that the creaking Truman legislative program was beginning to budge. Labor bill hearings were going on in the house. The senate armed services committee unanimously approved a bill to set up a vast radar net around North America. Another bill calling for a 3,000-mile-long guided missile test range was delayed pending further investigation. Both bills are house passed.

The senate foreign relations committee unanimously approved a 15-month, $5,430,000,000 extension of ERP. And the senate labor committee unanimously approved bills providing $300-million in federal aid to schools and $35-million for school health services.

Iowa Citizens and SUI students took a back seat as teams and spectators moved into town to stage the 27th annual state prep basketball tournament in the university fieldhouse.

University engineers claimed their share of attention, though, as they staged their annual Mecca week (Mecca standing for mechanical, electrical, chemical, civil and aeronautical engineering.) The engineers' old feud with the law students was revived when the Mecca flag was hoisted on the law building flag pole. The pole was greased to frustrate the barristers who finally managed to burn the flag away.

The law students struck back, first stealing the trophy for the Mecca queen, then kidnapping the queen herself on the eve of the Mecca ball. She was returned in time to reign over the dance. The trophy was returned also, with engraving crediting the cup to the lawyers.

A jury of five men and seven women headed by a Negro housewife, was chosen to try the 11 American Communist leaders on charges of conspiracy to advocate and teach the violent overthrow of the U.S. government. The jury, which includes three Negroes in all, stands as an answer to eight and a half-weeks of charges by the defense that the federal jury system discriminated against Negroes, women and minority groups.

Accuse Student in Dartmouth Dorm Killing

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — A Dartmouth college junior was formally charged with manslaughter last night following the death of another student in a dormitory brawl. Five other students, including three husky football players, were suspended.

A warrant charging first degree manslaughter — punishable by up to 30 years imprisonment — was issued against Thomas A. Dorse, 21, of Fayetteville, N.Y., for the slaying of Raymond J. Cirrotta, 21, of Linden, N.J.

College authorities simultaneously announced the indefinite suspension of star football center George G. Schreck and four others who allegedly were involved in a disturbance Friday night in Cirrotta's room.

Cirrotta, a World War II veteran and Dartmouth junior, died of a cerebral hemorrhage while undergoing an emergency operation early yesterday shortly after his roommate found him groaning in bed.

County Solicitor Robert A. Jones obtained the warrant against Dorse at a two-minute special session of municipal court. He said the youth would be arraigned Monday.

Dorse, who did not appear at the brief court session at which no evidence was given, was freed on $2,000 bail.

The other two football players were William C. Felton, 21, of Tiffin, Ohio, a junior and second-string end; and Robert A. Fox, 18, of Philadelphia, a sophomore reserve guard and youngest man on the 1948 football squad.

Dorse and the three football players were suspended immediately by the college. After the quartet was questioned, two more students were brought to police headquarters and their names subsequently were added to the suspension list. Both juniors, they were Charles T. McCarthy of North Andover, Mass., and Glen B. Peck Jr. of Cambridge, Mass.

The only details of the fatal brawl disclosed were that several students who allegedly had been drinking visited Cirrotta's room in Wheeler hall late Friday night and found him alone.

A quarrel started, a fight ensued and Cirrotta — an average-sized youth — fell to the floor, striking his head.

Pictures Good for Laughs

Student Application Photographs Come in Every Size, Shape and Pose

A routine university request has yielded almost everything but the well known "kitchen sink."

Application blanks filed out by prospective student specifically request them "to enclose a small photograph, not snapshot taken less than six months ago."

However, not many prospective students follow these instructions, said Mrs. William C. Bleeker, secretary in the liberal arts advisory office.

The application pictures which end up in her office for filing, range in size from one inch square to the largest on record — five inches by eight.

Mrs. Bleeker claims one of the funniest pictures she has seen in her two years in the advisory office was one of two fellows on a motorcycle. One of the fellows pictured was circled and an arrow led to a caption reading, "This is me."

Looking through the files she also ran across a picture of a fellow who had cut the upper fourth of his head off the picture so it would be the exact size of the blank provided on the application.

Almost everyone encloses a picture, Mrs. Bleeker said. Some obviously have been taken years ago and are dull and faded. A few, not intended to be permanent, have faded beyond recognition.

Most of the girls submit smiling pictures. Those from men are generally serious, she said. The girls are dressed in everything from sweaters to drapes and bathing suits. The boys' apparel varies from army and navy uniforms to football suits.

Although the pictures are required when applying for membership in the university, no one has ever been kept out on the basis of the picture he submitted, Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger, executive secretary of the liberal arts committee, said.

He said the reason for requesting and keeping the pictures on file is that they serve as a future reference for the faculty. It helps them recall students when they are asked to give recommendations.

However, some of the pictures submitted can serve no other purpose than providing Mrs. Bleeker with a humorous moment during her busy day.

THIS WEEK'S music

By DONALD KEY

A concert by the SUI varsity band, which seems to be a lesser known organization on the campus, will provide a main musical attraction for Iowa City audiences this week.

This band, directed by Arnold L. Oehlson, has several major functions in addition to giving an occasional program of symphonic band music.

It supplies part of the membership for the fall football band, provides music for all home basketball games, serves as a training unit for future members of the concert band, and acts as an educational group for teaching and band directing.

Also, it creates an opportunity for proficient instrumentalists, who have schedule conflicts with the concert band, to continue playing.

During the football season it acts as a concert band and includes women in its personnel. The marching band is composed entirely of men.

Selections on the band's program, scheduled for Wednesday at 8 p.m. in north music hall, include music from the classical to the modern, or from Bach to Morton Gould. A cornet solo played by Robert C. Frazer will be featured in "Love Scene," from "Boris Godounov" by Moussorgsky.

The concert will be broadcast by WSUI.

Three recitals are listed by the music department for this week. Tonight at 7:30 p.m., a joint program will be given by Harriet Pettigrew, piano, and Jo Ann Chipman, soprano.

Another double recital is scheduled for Friday at 7:30 p.m. It will present Lillian Parizek, soprano, and Grant Eastham, tenor. Both recitals will be given in north music hall.

A departmental program is scheduled for Tuesday at 4:10 p.m. in the same hall. Students participating are Betty Rosenbaum, soprano; Robert Gower, piano; Virginia Burt, soprano; Sylvia Lerner and Lois Wait, piano; and Harlan Buss, tenor. Mary Eucry, mezzo soprano, and Betty Jean Pauls, piano.

The New York Philharmonic Orchestra will continue its current series of concerts, featuring the music of Beethoven, this afternoon. Beuno Walter will conduct the orchestra in the "Symphony No. 4 in B flat major," and "Symphony No. 7 in A major." The concert, broadcast over CBS, will begin at 2 p.m.

"Bittersweet," an operetta by Noel Coward, will be presented on the Chicago Theater of the Air program Saturday, 9 p.m., over station WGN.

A performance of Puccini's "La Boheme" will be given by the Metropolitan Opera company in Des Moines on May 11. Theater officials suggest that early reservations be made by those who wish to attend.

Advance tickets may be obtained by writing to the Metropolitan Opera Association Inc., KRNT Radio Theater, Des Moines 14, Iowa.

Small Countries Urge Treaty For Global Defense Line-Up

LONDON (UP)—Small countries are exerting growing pressure for a global line-up of anti-Communist nations, diplomatic experts said tonight.

Many countries excluded by geography from the proposed Atlantic pact want to join the west in some form of binding treaty. Most nations appear to prefer a system of interlocking—and possibly overlapping—regional agreements to a single, global defense alliance.

Regional blocs which have so far been suggested include:

1. A Pacific pact, linking the United States with the island countries and the Asiatic nations now threatened by the Communist sweep across China.

2. A middle eastern pact, headed by Turkey and the Arab countries, which Israel might be asked to join.

3. A northern Mediterranean pact, including Spain, Greece and possibly Turkey, France and Italy might join such a bloc in addition to their Atlantic commitments, but strong anti-Franco sentiment in the two countries makes it unlikely as long as France continues in power.

Small-nation backers of these "neighborhood" alliances argue that the task begun with the Atlantic pact "might as well be completed." Big-power diplomats, however, are taking a "go-slow" stand, at least until the Atlantic pact machinery is fully assembled—and well oiled.

Spokesmen for the large nations point out that practically all of the western world is already linked, directly or indirectly, with the Atlantic bloc.

Britain's commitments to its commonwealth partners spreads the principle of mutual defense to Africa and the Pacific. The Anglo-Trans-Jordan alliance indirectly gives the Atlantic powers an interest in the middle east.

An attack on the United States would call for immediate consultations and possible action by the members of the Rio defense pact, embracing all of the western hemisphere except Canada and small European colonies in Central and South America.

Experts to Conduct Conservation Panel

A general conservation forum, sponsored by the Johnson county chapter of the Issac Walton league, will be held in the Iowa City high school auditorium Tuesday at 7:45 p.m.

A panel of experts will be present to conduct discussions and answer questions on soil, water and forest conservation. Panel members are William Davis of the soil conservation service; Harry Wagoner, farm forester with the soil conservation service, and M. C. Boyer of the SUI hydraulics staff.

Four full color movies from the "Vital Earth" series will be shown.

"It behooves anyone interested in the welfare of this country to attend this forum, not just those land owners who are directly affected," Wagoner said.

Hynek Files Suit Against Dvorsky

Victor O. Hynek, Solon, filed suit Friday in Johnson county district court against Matt Dvorsky, Mrs. Matt Dvorsky and George P. Dvorsky, 730 S. Summit street, for payment on a judgment against Matt Dvorsky rendered in favor of the plaintiff in November 1948.

Hynek claimed the court had rendered a judgment in his favor last November in the amount of $260.78, plus interest at five percent. He claimed the judgment had never been executed and he had not received payment from the defendant, Matt Dvorsky.

Council Committee Plans New Student Aid Groups

The Student Council orientation committee has formed three sub-committees to handle entertainment, advising and information programs for new students, Chairman James Packer said yesterday.

Councilman Robert Meyer, Hillcrest representative, will be in charge of the entertainment for new freshmen and transfer students. Councilman Keith McNurlen, dentistry representative, will head the informational programs on core courses and faculty advising. An information booklet entitled "Man About Campus" will be issued for future programs by a committee headed by Packer.

Warden, Sociologist To Speak at Social Welfare Conference

Two of the top men in correctional work will participate at the Institute on Crime Delinquency and Community Welfare at SUI, May 12 and 13, Professors Robert Caldwell, sociology department, and Wayne Vasey, director of the SUI school of social work, announced.

They are Warden John C. Burke of the Wisconsin state prison, Waupun, Wis., and Professor Emeritus John L. Gillin of the University of Wisconsin sociology department.

Burke, who is president of the American Prison association, will speak on "Classification and Individualized Treatment in Modern Prisons."

Gillin will discuss "The Social Function of Welfare Workers in the Treatment of Delinquents."

The professional aspects of social welfare and administration, correctional administration, parole and probation will be considered in the two-day conference, Caldwell said.

All-Iowa Collegiate Meeting Plans Set

A tentative schedule of activities during the May 13-14 all-Iowa collegiate conference had been mailed to 52 Iowa universities, colleges and junior colleges.

Larry Pike, committee member, said the two-day conference will bring together student representatives from schools throughout Iowa.

Plans have been made to conduct a series of workshop and conference periods allowing delegates to exchange ideas on campus activities and student government.

A welcoming address will be made by President Virgil M. Hancher May 13 in the morning followed by discussion periods during the afternoon. A banquet and social activities are planned for the evening.

Fraternity to Send Books to Germany

About 300 scientific texts and journals have been collected at SUI by the Iridium chapter of Iota Sigma Pi and will be sent to European universities whose libraries were destroyed during the war.

Patricia Griswold, president of the honorary fraternity for women in chemistry, said instructors in some German schools have to write entire texts on the blackboard because of the book shortage.

The chemist-wife of a military man in the American zone of Germany sent the appeal for scientific books to Iota Sigma Pi chapters throughout the country.

Prof. Jacob Cornog of the chemistry department gave about 150 copies of his laboratory manual, "The Iowa System of Semi-micro Analysis." Other books were given by faculty members and students in different departments, Miss Griswold said.

Young Refugee Becomes Citizen of U.S.

IT WAS A BIG MOMENT FOR A LITTLE AMERICAN Friday when three-and-a-half-year old Betsy Ann Schmidt became a citizen in the U.S. district court in Pittsburgh. The refugee daughter by adoption of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schmidt, Betsy Ann is shown above resting on a stack of law books after the ordeal. She is the youngest immigrant ever to be naturalized in the Pittsburgh court.

Schools of Nursing in Survey

The schools of nursing at SUI and Mercy hospital will take part in a nationwide survey of nursing schools now being conducted by six national nursing organizations to evaluate educational facilities in these schools.

The survey is designed to supplement the report made last year by Dr. Ester Lucille Brown in her book, "Nursing for the Future."

In the book, Dr. Brown stated that of the 1,215 schools in existence, many are "socially undesirable." Between 300 to 400 properly equipped schools could provide an adequate supply of nurses, according to Dr. Brown.

The survey is the first national inventory of nursing educational facilities to cover all the state-accredited schools.

"From the material gathered, the schools will be accredited," Sister M. Brigid, director of the school of nursing at Mercy hospital, said.

"The schools which refuse this information or who fail to meet set standards will be termed non-accredited. Girls entering nurses training will be advised to enter only accredited schools."

A joint committee of representatives from the American Association of Industrial Nurses, the American Nurses association, the Association of Collegiate Schools of Nursing, the National Association of Nursing, the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses, the National League of Nursing Education and the National Organization for Public Health Nursing is conducting the survey.

County Ups Fund For Benefit Drive

The "Pennies for Benny" drive sponsored by Jack Benny over CBS for the benefit of the March of Dimes netted Johnson county $392.18, Mrs. J.K. Schaaf, local chairman, announced yesterday.

The donation represents the amount collected in Johnson county by WMT, Cedar Rapids, which took part in the national contest. One-half of the amount will be used in Johnson county and the remainder will be sent to national headquarters in New York City, Mrs. Schaaf said.

During the contest WMT collected over $12,500 to tie for first place with WASA of Atlanta, Ga.

The latest March of Dimes total for Johnson county now stands at $4,966.25, Mrs. Schaaf said.

Military Company Plans to Celebrate Second Anniversary

The 34th reconnaissance company of the Iowa City national guard will celebrate its second anniversary tomorrow.

Despite its youth, the unit has participated in two bits of action which drew nation-wide attention.

In the spring of 1947 the guard offered relief to homeless Iowa Citizens forced to evacuate their residences in Cherry lane when flood waters of the Iowa river threatened and, in some cases, engulfed their buildings.

For six weeks evacuees were permitted to remain in the armory until flood waters receded.

The 34th also took part in suppressing the Rath packing-house riots in Waterloo last spring. The unit arrived in Waterloo, May 20, and remained there for two weeks. During that time they served as a motorized patrol to disperse large crowds ostensibly gathered to disturb the peace, a member of the patrol said.

Although it is not yet at full strength, the 34th consists of 63 enlisted men and four officers, Sgt. Ed Windrem, assistant administrative officer, said recently.

Capt. Harry S. Dick is the present commander of the company. He succeeded Capt. Frank L. Tallman Jr. who was transferred to headquarters special troops staff, Feb. 1, 1948.

Freshmen Law Cases —

Argument Winners Announced

Sixteen freshmen law students became eligible to participate in the junior law arguments by winning first or second place in the freshmen arguments last week, Dean Mason Ladd said yesterday.

Two freshmen arguments are presented each night Monday through Thursday, Ladd said. One argument is presented in the courtroom of the law building, the other in room 106.

The 16 freshmen winners each week are then eligible to participate in the junior arguments, Ladd said. Junior argument winners become eligible to argue a case on Supreme Court day, during their senior year.

Last week's freshmen law argument winners are:

Baby-Race Registration For Carnival Extended

The deadline for registering babies for the baby race at the All-Campus carnival has been extended through Wednesday, Chairman Lucie Dean said yesterday.

Parents should call Miss Dean at 9641 to enter their child in the contest which will take place April 9 at 8:00 p.m. in the field house, she said.
