U.S., British Sources Reject Russ Protest of Atlantic Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—American and British spokesmen coldly rejected yesterday Russia's charge that the Atlantic treaty is aggressive. They hailed it instead as a bulwark of peace.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said of the pact: "In its wise use it can be the greatest contributing factor to world peace ever known."

The U.S. state department declared it is strictly a defensive agreement and if the men in the Kremlin want to avoid trouble with the projected alliance all they need do is refrain from attacking any of the member nations.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the senate foreign relations committee took that stand, too. "If Russia does not meditate armed attacks, the treaty can not harm her," he said.

The state department's reaction to the protest which the Soviet union delivered late Thursday was made known through a spokesman who declined use of his name. He made clear that the department considers the Soviet protest as being largely a propaganda move against the treaty.

Bevin, here to join in signing the 12-nation 20-year alliance Monday, discussed the protest note indirectly in a speech at the National Press club.

"It is a fundamental principle of this pact," he said, "that we will never indulge in aggression. . . . But to the would be aggressor we say: think twice, think thrice."

Bevin made two other points about the pact:

1. He declared "the settlement of future peace, permanent peace, has to be determined in this next year."

2. He said the treaty will create "a common pool" of manpower, military assistance and economic aid and the question for each country is what it can put into the pool.

Miss Coplon's Trial Delayed Two Weeks

NEW YORK (AP)—The espionage trial of Valentin A. Gubitchev, suspended Soviet employe of the United Nations, and Judith Coplon, justice department employe, was delayed two weeks yesterday.

Federal Judge Simon Rifkind ordered the trial put off despite the Russian's claim: "I am ready."

The delay was asked by Archibald Palmer, attorney for the 27-year old Barnard college graduate, who wants Miss Coplon tried first under another indictment in Washington, D.C. Trial is set for April 25 in the capital case.

The judge said that if on April 14 it looked as though the proceedings "are not going forward expeditiously," this defendant (Gubitchev) has the right to trial or to be at large. The Russian is now held in $100,000 bail.

Female Equal Rights Predicted by Gillette

WASHINGTON (AP)—Early adoption of a constitutional amendment guaranteeing women equal rights with men was predicted last night by Senator Gillette (D-Iowa).

He said that action is "essential" and long overdue. The amendment has been reintroduced periodically in congress since 1923.

Gillette, one of the sponsors of the amendment in the senate, was the principal speaker at a women's rally held in the capitol in front of a statue of three pioneers in the woman movement—Lucretia Mott, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony. The senator said the United States "lags behind all other American countries" in granting women equal rights.

Herbert Burgman Pleads Not Guilty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Herbert John Burgman, former employe in the U.S. embassy in Berlin, pleaded innocent yesterday to charges that he betrayed this country by broadcasting Nazi propaganda during the war.

His trial was set for May 9.

Burgman, 52, was a clerk and statistician in the embassy for 20 years. The indictment against him alleges that at the outbreak of World War II he refused to come back to the United States with other diplomatic personnel. Instead, it says, he obtained employment with the German radio.

Committee Proposal Allows Direction of Reorganization Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill giving President Truman broad powers to revamp the government, but also making it easier for congress to nullify his reorganization plans, was approved yesterday by a senate committee.

If either branch of congress approved a reorganization proposal it would be dead, under the measure approved by the senate executive expenditures committee.

The group re-wrote a bill passed by the house which would require dissent by both houses in order to kill any presidential proposal for streamlining the executive department.

At the same time it knocked out a house provision that any reorganization plan for the military establishment and six other agencies be submitted to congress separately. Friends of these divisions had unsuccessfully tried in the house to have them exempted from any presidential change.

Mr. Truman had asked reorganization powers. His request was supported by former President Herbert Hoover whose 12-member bipartisan commission on reorganization submitted yesterday its 18th and last report in a series of studies for congress to consider. Later it may take a summary.

The Hoover group tackled the touchy issue of public power in its new report and splintered into disagreement without a formal recommendation.

State to Investigate 2 Chicago Schools

CHICAGO (AP)—The investigation into alleged subversive activities at the University of Chicago and Roosevelt college will be conducted in public hearings at Springfield, it was disclosed yesterday.

The hearings, which will be held in the senate chamber, were announced by Sen. Paul Broyles, chairman of the sedition activities investigating committee, after a subcommittee meeting here. Broyles said the hearings, which are expected to last two or three days, will begin April 11 if the senate calendar permits.

Mrs. Lemme Receives 'Best Citizen' Award

Mrs. Allyn Lemme, 603 South Capitol street, last night received the annual Iowa City "Best Citizen" award presented by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

A resident of Iowa City for 19 years, Mrs. Lemme was selected to receive the award for her many activities and interests in this community.

The award was presented to her at the annual Alpha Phi Omega dinner-dance by last-year's recipient, Mrs. Hugh Carson, 1027 Third avenue.

Mrs. Lemme, secretary of the Girl Scout council, has been active in that organization for the past five years. She is local program chairman of the League of Women Voters and first vice-president of the Parent Teachers association council. She has also taken part in the local Red Cross and Community Chest drives.

Mrs. Lemme had no idea before yesterday that she was to receive the award. "You don't think about being rewarded for the things you do," she said.

An additional thrill of being the "Best Citizen" was the orchid she received from the Girl Scout council just before attending the banquet with her husband.

In addition to her civic activities, Mrs. Lemme keeps occupied as a housewife and mother of two boys, Paul, 14, and Larry, 17. She also plays "mother" to several SUI students who room in her home. She not only keeps a watchful eye on them

Hart Sworn In As District Attorney

NEW DISTRICT ATTORNEY for the southern Iowa district, William R. Hart, Iowa City attorney, is shown taking the oath of office yesterday from Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey (right). The new district attorney has been prominent in Iowa City and state Democratic organizations and is at present a member of the Democratic state central committee. Hart was appointed by President Truman early last month after being recommended by Sen. Guy Gillette and State Democratic Chairman Jake Moore. He succeeds Maurice F. Donegan of Davenport who has served as district attorney since 1940.

Oleo Repeal to Senate

Invasion of Wasps Radio Gives Beesness To April Fools

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP)—A radio broadcast intended as an April Fools day joke said yesterday that a swarm of wasps, a mile deep and flying at 150 feet was heading toward the city.

Frightened residents sealed their homes, smeared jam and honey outside their windows and jammed the police station switchboard with calls or further instructions.

Several hours passed before it gradually dawned on the public that it was the victim of a hoax.

The government said it would take disciplinary action against the announcer who gave the alarm over a government-owned commercial station.

Gargantua Fefed On 21st Birthday

House Votes 287 to 89

WASHINGTON (AP)—Butter lost a major round in a spirited battle with a competing spread yesterday as the house voted 287 to 89 to repeal the 83-year old federal taxes on oleomargarine.

The house rejected all efforts to outlaw interstate shipment of oleomargarine, but the tax-repealing measure stipulates that yellow oleomargarine sold in public eating places must be triangular in shape and identified as oleomargarine.

Voting occurred after the house had heard complaints that the dairy industry is being destroyed, and demands, from the oleomargarine backers, that housewives should be free to buy any wholesome food they choose.

The house action sent the measure to the senate, which hasn't acted on the question this year. The house approved an oleomargarine tax repealer last year, 260 to 106, but it died in the senate. The Democratic platform calls for the tax repeal and the administration is supporting it.

The house-approved measure, sponsored by Rep. Poage (D-Tex.), would not disturb the laws of 18 states that now prohibit the sale of yellow oleomargarine.

The National Association of Margarine Manufacturers said these states do not permit the sale of yellow oleomargarine: California, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Federal taxes that would be repealed, if the senate approved the measure, are: Yellow oleomargarine at retail—10 cents a pound; uncolored oleomargarine at retail—1-4 cent a pound; manufacturers of oleomargarine, $600 a year; wholesalers in yellow oleomargarine, $480; wholesalers of white oleomargarine only, $200; retailers of yellow oleomargarine, $48 a year; retailers of white oleomargarine only, $6 a year.

Voting for the bill were 201 Democrats, 85 Republicans and one American-Laborite. Against it were 67 Republicans and 22 Democrats.

It was a bitter defeat for the members from dairy districts. They claimed 24 oleomargarine manufacturers sought to "steal" the butter market by imitating its shape and color.

Senate Defeats Foreign Aid Cut

He Got Off on the Wrong Foot

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Seventy-year-old John McClain knew he had arthritis.

But when he stepped out of the house to walk to the corner grocery yesterday, his feet hurt as never before.

He hobbled to a telephone and told Charity hospital something pretty bad was wrong and he needed a doctor. Minutes later, an ambulance screeched to a stop. Out stepped Intern Jack T. Jackson.

The intern made the quickest diagnosis of his career. The patient had his shoes on the wrong foot.

Anti-Drunk Drug Discovered

Antabus Produces 'Premature Hangover' Which Shows 'Promise' in Curing Alcoholism

CHICAGO (UP)—An anti-drunk drug that shows "promise" in curing alcoholism was reported yesterday by the American Medical association.

The drug acts by producing a "premature hangover" so intense that the patient doesn't want to have anything more to do with alcohol.

The effects of the drug, antabus, were discovered recently in Denmark and reported in the current AMA journal by two Copenhagen doctors, Erik Jacobsen and O. Martensen-Larsen.

The doctors said that 52 of 99 alcoholics treated with antabus and psychotherapy were "socially recovered" after six months of observation. Nineteen others showed great improvement.

Social recovery was defined by the doctors as the ability of the ex-alcoholic to perform his work normally and live in harmony with his family.

They emphasized that the use of psychotherapy in conjunction with the drug was essential for permanent results.

Antabus was described as a white or slightly yellow powder which is insoluble in water. Even when a patient has taken the drug 12 hours earlier, drinking alcohol on top of it produces flushing of the face, nausea, and sometimes dizziness and vomiting.

"The discomfort is so intense that it prevents an overwhelming majority of patients from further attempts to take alcohol as long as they are influenced by the drug," it was said.

After a bout with antabus and alcohol, most patients feel exhausted and sleepy. After a few hours' sleep, they are completely recovered from the effects.

Taft Proposal Loses, 54-23

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate beat down last night a proposal by Senators Taft (R-Ohio) and Russell (D-Ga.) to slash 10 percent off the new $5,580-million fund for the next 15 months of the European recovery program.

The vote was 54 to 23.

The better than two-to-one defeat of the Taft-Russell amendment came as a surprise, even to the Democratic leadership.

It generally had been conceded the vote would be close. But 19 Republicans joined 35 Democrats to give the administration the important victory. Only Thursday President Truman asked that the full amount be authorized without a cut.

The vote, regarded as the major test of efforts to whittle foreign aid spending, seemingly cleared the way for senate approval of the full amount requested by President Truman's administration for western Europe.

However, many amendments still were pending. If all were formally offered, they could delay a final vote on the bill, perhaps for days.

The vote on the Taft amendment came after the senate had rejected, 68 to 14, a proposal by Senator Wherry (R-Nebr.) to cut the fund 15 percent.

Shortly before the senate voted, Majority Leader Lucas (Ill.) blasted the amendment as "spinning pennies on the question of peace."

He said "Communism" has been stopped dead in its tracks in Europe as a result of the Marshall plan.

The greatest opponents of the plan, he told the senate, are in the Kremlin and Russian politburo.

'Little Taft-Hartley Act' Filed By Iowa State Representative

DES MOINES (AP)—A lengthy amendment proposing creation of a "little Taft-Hartley Act" for Iowa was filed with the house of representatives yesterday afternoon. Rep. Kingsley Clarke (R-Adel) is the sponsor.

The proposal is designed as a substitute for a highly-controversial labor measure on which the house abruptly deferred action yesterday afternoon until Monday.

The Clarke amendment would retain the state's present ban on closed shops. It would permit union shops, now also banned. Clarke said the proposal also would "protect the rights of individuals."

Other provisions of the amendment, most of which are parts of the federal act which is now under proposed revision in congress, are:

1. To require that a non-union laborer who obtains a job where the union shop is in effect shall become a member of the union in 30 days.
2. To require labor unions to file complete financial statements for each calendar, beginning with 1950.
3. To prohibit labor unions making political campaign contributions.
4. To require labor unions to conduct elections of officers at least once each year.
5. To require that the state labor commissioner supervise such an election if 20 percent of the members of the union involved petition for such supervision.
6. To prohibit unfair labor practices by either employer or union.
7. To prohibit discrimination by employer or union because of race, creed, color or national origin.

Carter Wins First AAU Crown Over Defending Champ Verdeur

Iowa Finishes Fifth in Relay

DAYTONA BEACH, FLA. (AP)—Two rising young swimmers battled their way to their first national championships yesterday in the AAU indoor meet.

Keith Carter of Purdue university and Bob Gibe of the Detroit Athletic club defeated the Olympic and defending champions.

After three years of challenging Joe Verdeur in breast stroke events, the 24-year-old Carter took his second victory in a week from the Philadelphia boy.

The University of Iowa's 400-yard free style relay team finished fifth in the third event of the day.

Carter beat Verdeur at 220 yards with the time of 2 minutes 30.7 seconds — two-tenths of a second off the record. Last week Carter won the national collegiate at 200 yards.

Gibe put on a terrific kick in the last 20 yards to win the 220-yard free style in 2 minutes, 10.8 seconds. Bill Huesner of Northwestern university was second, also beating the defender, Hawaiian Bill Smith of Ohio State. The three were less than a second apart at the finish.

The New Haven, Conn., swim club successfully defended its 400-yard free style relay title in the third event. New Haven's "A" team — with Paul Girdes, Bill Farnsworth, Ray Reid and Dick Baribault swimming — went the distance in 3 minutes 28.6 seconds.

New Haven and Ohio State are waging a two-day race for team honors in the meet.

Cardinals Fall 5-3, Can't Stop Torgeson

BRADENTON, FLA. (AP) — Left handed Glenn Elliott became the second Boston Braves hurler to go the distance yesterday when he turned back the St. Louis Cardinals by a 5-3 count in the last home game of the Grapefruit league season here.

Elliott kept 10 Cardinal hits well scattered and issued only two bases on balls while striking out three.

Earl Torgeson's big bat boomed for the second successive day as he collected four hits in five trips, one of them a homer, and drove two Boston runs over the plate.

HAWKS OUTDOORS AGAIN

Iowa's track team returned to outdoor workouts yesterday after two days of indoor practice. The Hawk thinclads were forced to practice in the fieldhouse because of inclement weather.

Veteran Iowa Pitchers Get Set for Season Opener

DISPLAYING THE FORM that they hope will carry the Hawks through a winning season are (left to right) Wes Demro, Al Dimarco and Dick Hoeksema. All three are experienced pitchers from last year's squad, though DiMarco played a lot in the outfield during 1948. Aerial Al hopes to continue his gridiron pitching on the diamond this year, and with equal success.

Blue Hawk Thinclads Capture Second Straight League Crown

University high school of Iowa City successfully defended its Eastern Iowa-Hawkeye conference indoor track and field championship in the fieldhouse last night. Carl Harshbarger led the Blue Hawks with 12 2-3 points.

Runner-up Mt. Vernon counted 23 5-6 points while West Liberty's 18 5-6 markers gave them third place. Winfield placed fourth with 15 5-6 points, while Wilton Junction failed to score.

Plan Benefit Fight for Boxing Victim

SAN JOSE, CALIF. (AP) — A benefit fight program for the widow and children of ring victim Billy Cornwell was being planned yesterday.

Cornwell, 25, lightweight champion of Iowa, was fatally injured in his fight here last Tuesday night with Tote Martinez of Stockton. He never regained consciousness after his head crashed to the canvas when Martinez delivered a right to the chin.

Larry Sunseri, boxing promoter, said the plans for the benefit program for Mrs. Cornwell and her two children are in the tentative stage.

First, there'll be a state athletic commission hearing on Cornwell's death and perhaps a police investigation. Police Chief Ray Blackmore said the padding on the ring where Cornwell fell was only an inch thick. State athletic commission regulations require two inches.

Theta Xi Bowlers Win

Theta Xi won the All-University bowling title for the second straight year Thursday by downing South Quad II, 742-746, 800-710, 931-817.

David Wehrenberg of the Theta Xi quintet bowled a 212 for a single game high. Other good scores were turned in by Richard Bossart of Theta Xi and Gregory Fosselman of South Quad II. They bowled games of 210 and 209, respectively.

McCracken Tells of Basketball's Troubles

Branch McCracken, husky, gray-haired basketball coach at Indiana university, passed out some good advice along with excellent anecdotes to high school basketball teams of this area at the Elks' banquet Thursday night.

Thirteen prep cage teams were the honored guests. It was not the message McCracken chose to convey that impressed us, but rather the manner in which it was presented. It simply was not a mimeographed speech, such as you hear over and over again at those sort of gatherings.

The kids appreciated it. He didn't ramble on with a bunch of stock jokes. He didn't tell the high school boys to stay in their home state. After going to banquet after banquet, those are things you expect to hear.

At the end of his talk he told the boys to plan a studied field if they were going on to college, then go back with that as the objective.

However, the meat of his speech was the pertinent troubles of college basketball today. And there are plenty.

McCracken had just recently been to the basketball coaches' convention in Seattle, Wash. By coincidence that took place at the same time of basketball's game of the year, Kentucky against Oklahoma A&M.

The most important rule change made by the coaches concerns the personal foul rule late in a basketball game. During the final two minutes of a game if a personal is committed (the defensive team being behind invariably fouls intentionally to try and get possession of the ball) it will be treated as a technical — a free throw plus detaining the ball.

"I think it will tend to speed up the game," McCracken said. "There will be less fouling towards the end of a game. It won't stop fouling, but it will help."

McCracken touched on another of basketball's problems, booing by the crowd. "It's not that fans are getting worse, he said, but that crowds are getting larger with the growing interest in the sport."

"An Indiana paper had an editorial against booing last season," McCracken related. "What happened? The darn students started hissing."

He gave an example of what a hiss sounds like, then said, "I'd rather be booed than hissed at."

Admitting that second-guessers make basketball what it is, the Hoosier coach gave an example of what a coach has to take.

"We played Notre Dame at Indianapolis last season. The game was close and we took the ball out of bounds four times late in the game. We won. The fans said I was smart. I was great. Then we played Illinois," he continued. "We took the ball out of bounds three times late in the game and lost in a double overtime. I was dumb. I was stupid. Anybody'd know better'n that."

As for subsidization, proselyting or paying athletes to go to college, McCracken declared, "That's the one thing that may get us in Dutch."

He told of a hot Indiana high school player. He is 6-4 and an excellent shot. At the coaches meeting McCracken was asked by coaches as far away as California and Texas about him.

"The kid had sent mimeographed letters to at least six coaches, along with pictures and clippings, wanting to know what they could do for him. He was just misguided," McCracken said.

"I don't think I want him," he said hesitantly. "Of course, if he showed up down there (Bloomington) I think I'd take him," he laughed.

McCracken is also well aware of the southern movement in basketball. Indiana, probably more than any other state, has been hit heavily by southern colleges offering fancy price tags for top high school cagers. The rise of North Carolina State and Tulane is an example of this, boasting teams almost entirely made up of Hoosiers.

"They say that the center of basketball is moving south," McCracken chuckled. "All I've got to say is they're moving a hell of a lot of boys along with them."

Freeman's Free Toss Wins for Iowa City

A free throw by Bob Freeman with a scant five seconds remaining gave the Iowa City Atlas Prager basketball team a 50-49 triumph over Danveport Central Thursday night.

The upset victory advanced the Iowa Citians into the semi-finals of the six-day American Legion cage tourney being held in Muscatine.

Monday night the Pragers will meet Levin's of Macomb, Ill., winners of the McKay Plumbers of Rock Island, 65-55.

Davenport surged to a 49-43 lead with one minute and 34 seconds remaining, but three

Judge Stops Lanier, Martin, from Joining Organized Baseball

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal Judge Edward A. Conger yesterday denied a motion by Fred Martin and Max Lanier, former St. Louis Cardinals pitchers who jumped to the Mexican league in 1946, for a preliminary order which would have enabled them to play in organized baseball immediately.

Martin and Lanier, who were suspended after they played Mexican ball, had filed suits under the anti-trust act for $2.5 million in damages as well as permanent order restraining organized baseball from continuing them on the ineligible list.

The motion decided by Judge Conger yesterday was made for a preliminary injunction restraining baseball from keeping them on the suspended list pending the trial of their case.

Judge Conger in denying the motion made clear that his decision has no bearing on the merits of the pending case brought by the two pitchers.

WELLSBURG DEFEATED, 39-35

DES MOINES (AP)—Seagoville, Texas, defeated Wellsburg, Ia., 39-35, last night in a post-season girls basketball clash between two state champions.

Intra-Squad Game Ends in Tie

With Jack Miller leading the way with seven strikeouts, two squads of Iowa's baseball team played each other to a 1-1 eight-inning tie on the main diamond yesterday afternoon.

Dick Hoeksema started against Dick Orth in a three-inning duel and got the better of the bargain as Orth was bumped for one run in the first inning. Each gave two hits during his stint on the mound.

Wes Demro took over for Hoeksema in the fourth and pitched five innings of two-hit ball. He gave up the other run of the game but would have been unscathed upon except for a pitch that got through Catcher Ed Browne, allowing a runner to score from third base. Demro showed more speed than at any time this spring.

Miller opposed Demro and also pitched five innings. He gave up two hits and three walks and showed an assortment of curves.

The hitters were generally late in meeting the ball. The fact that there had been no outdoor batting practice since Tuesday had much to do with it. Only two balls were pulled solidly.

Jack Carpenter sent a line drive down the left field line for a long single and Dave Dickson's long liner was caught by Johnny Sullivan in deep right field.

Browne threw out the first two base runners who tried to steal second base. Leftfielder Jerry Faske pulled the best play of the game when he trapped Sullivan's sinking drive near the left field line and threw him out as he tried to stretch his hit into a double.

Reds End 3 Game Losing Streak, 3-2

TAMPA, FLA. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds ended a three-game spring training losing streak yesterday with a 10-inning, 3-2 verdict over the Detroit Tigers.

Hero of the game was Grady Hatton. His eighth hit in the last three games was a sizzling single through George Kell that scored Bobby Adams with the winning run in the last of the 10th.

The Tigers outlived the Reds, 12-6, but two of the Redleg blows were successive home runs by Danny Litwiler and Hank Sauer pitching of Hal Newhouser.

YANKS EDGE RED SOX

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. (AP)—The New York Yankees recorded their fourth overtime victory of the season yesterday by edging the Boston Red Sox in ten innings, 4-3.

Fighters Strike Friendly Pose Before Clash

Williams Upset by Kid Gavilan

NEW YORK (AP)—Kid Gavilan, a 146-pound bundle of fighting fury, wore down Lightweight Champion Ike Williams in the last two rounds last night to win a unanimous upset 10-round, non-title victory in Madison Square Garden. Williams weighed 136 1/2.

The two judges, Frank Forbes and Arthur Susskind, each scored it 8-3-1. Referee Frank Fullam gave it to the Cuban, 7-3. The Associated Press score card had Gavilan in front, 6-4.

A blistering surge in the last two rounds carried the flashy Gavilan, a 5 to 9 underdog, to victory in this rubber bout between the top challengers for Ray Robinson's welterweight crown.

It was the third battle between two crack fighters and a capacity crowd of 18,201, which paid $95,865, cheered it all the way.

It was Gavilan through the early stages of the fight, deadpanned Ike through the middle,

Schedule Chinese Comedy

University Theater to Present 'Chalk Circle'

The University theatre production of an old Chinese comedy entitled "The Chalk Circle" will open on April 22 at 8 p.m. and play through April 30 excepting Sundays. A matinee will be played on April 23 and 30. "The Chalk Circle," written in the 13th century, represents the popular plays of the traditional Chinese theatre. The name of the author of this play has been lost.

Also there is extensive use of symbolism.

The story of "The Chalk Circle" tells about the domestic problems of a woman who marries a man already having a wife. The first wife plots to get rid of her husband and his second wife so that she can get his fortune.

There is an intriguing scene in which "The Chalk Circle" reveals its fascinating symbolism.

Third Annual Panacea Show Opens

HALF AN HOUR BEFORE CURTAIN TIME found the backstage dressing rooms in confusion, but the Panacea cast was ready in costumes and greasepaint by curtain time. Millie Rubinson deftly applied makeup on Jordan Jacks, while Dick Turchin, background, rehearsed his cues.

'Olympic '49' Funny, Lengthy; Commended for Ambitiousness

By BRUCE WEISER

The third annual Panacea musical, "Olympic '49," opened last night in Macbride auditorium with a combined cast list and orchestra of nearly one hundred. It commands respect for ambition in the face of extreme difficulties, if for no other reason.

The authors, Vincent Brann and Wilfred Kracht, have material for two good shows in their book—a musical comedy and a vaudeville revue. It is the loosely-stapled story of Cliola, daughter of the Muse of History, who drops in on the campus of Godolphin college for kicks. Godolphin is in the throes of an expansion program—requiring funds—and Cliola, in the historical know, gives four selected students a hand in fund-raising with some of the rich alumni.

The following episodes give the authors a chance to take a dig at just about everything within the continental limits of the United States and Mount Olympus. Happily, they are funny digs.

The chief criticism of the writing is probably that Brann and Kracht have so much fun with students, administration, the Student Union, Boston, women's clubs, etc., that they forget how time flies.

The show runs tonight and next weekend; it is to be hoped they cut some of their material.

The authors did manage to provide a framework of dialogue for some definite characterizations. They have a facility with words and an eye for the humor in human types.

Ray Hill, directing the show, took on a terrific job merely in obtaining a flow of scenes. There are 11 in the first act, seven in the second. Hill made good use of the alternate-scenes-in-front-of-the-curtains device to speed things up, but scene-shifting in Macbride is necessarily a squeak-and-squeeze project. The sets have to be stored in a narrow corridor running behind the semi-circular stage.

Hill was also plagued by cast troubles—conflicts of schedule and the pure difficulty of maneuvering such a large group of people. The performers were drawn from radio, speech and music particularly and the university at large.

In a cooperative project such as this show, the director must be both diplomat and artist. In addition, he filled a last minute emergency by taking a part himself. The cast was generally good and, though some of the principals were inexperienced, they got the idea and worked hard.

Cliola herself (Torchie Castle) is a statuesque red-head who gave a comfortable impression that she felt she had a right to be on stage (as she did) but felt ill at ease standing still. (It may have been the costume.) If she comes back for further stage work, she should do good things.

The Muse of History (Barbara Lee) gave a nice characterization in a rather inconsequential part.

Loretta (Colleen Newell) played a nice, feather-headed ingenue and short, impertinent Shirley Lou Krause appears in several bits which are priceless. Miss Krause is a second-year Panacean.

Several singing voices deserve mention. Roscoe (Jim Doyle) is that tenor with "floating power" well-remembered from the recent Kampus Kapers. He has a terrific voice, and his height looks well on stage.

Harry (Dick Williams) has the volume which is to be appreciated in Macbride and a good stage presence.

Most of the women's voices are weak for the auditorium but the men's choruses came through with clarity, vigor and excellent balance. Notice the first act number, "Women Now."

The music, by Gerald Daniel, was better in orchestration than in melody. Composers who can set pre-written lyrics with character and distinction, however, are too good to stay long with college musicals.

Daniel shows sparkle in some of his musical effects and it was a pleasure to hear a healthy string section and some of the non-dance band instruments. Daniel conducted the student orchestra as well as writing the music.

Jack Moore did the choreography and danced with his partner of "Beggar on Horseback," Judy Olenick. They are good to watch—vital in action and thoughtful in creation.

Settings were designed by Bill Molyneux who is becoming important in that work for the University theater. They were well done for the Macbride stage which works better for public speaking than dramatics. Molyneux does unusual things in disguising a desk for use in a sequence of scenes. George Dembo is his technical director, ordinarily a thankless job.

Although not properly part of the show, Richard Haddy, accompanist and pianist, is fun to watch. He has so much fun with the music himself.

RAISING HIS BATON for the overture last night was Gerald Daniel. He composed, orchestrated and directed the music for the 1949 Panacea production. Opening night audience heard a variety of original songs, including "Rosie Taking a Nap Under a Leaky Faucet (Plastered)" which is a takeoff on the famous painting, "Rosalie."

Daily Iowan Photos by Herb Nipson, Bill Rodgers

RUNNING THROUGH A LAST MINUTE REHEARSAL before the curtain went up were Stan Tripp, Ray Hill and Marilyn Gates. In this scene from "Olympic '49," Tripp attempted to show Hill the sights of New York, but Hill was easily diverted by Miss Gates.

SPURNING THE LOVE OF HIS SWEETHEART, Jack Moore (center) turns away from Judy Olenick (right—"the Alpha Kappa Couple") and puts the gleam on Ruthanne Castle ("Cliola") in Panacea's "Times Square, New York" scene. The two damsels at the left watching Moore's intoxicated approach are Esther Baumer ("Joan") and "Cliola." Reading a newspaper in the fantasy subway is De Reef Green ("a gentleman in a quandary").

AT THE LIGHTING PANEL CONTROLS in the balcony of Macbride auditorium last night were Tom McBride and George Dembo. Dembo supervised construction of scenery and lighting for the musical production.

PUTTING A CLOUD IN PLACE and adjusting props for the prologue in last night's Panacea show were the stage crew: Bob Lithacum, head of the properties committee; George Dembo, technical director; Lou Buffington, stage manager; Ray Hiatt and Leon Hillman.

CLIO AND CLIOLA discussed Zeus and Apollo during a scene atop Mount Olympus in the prologue of "Olympic '49." Barbara Lee and Ruthanne ("Torchie") Castle portrayed the Muse of History and her daughter. That's the cloud that was put in place in picture on left.

Children 'Flock' to Dental Clinic

Tooth Filling 'Fun' For Four-Year-Old

By CHARLES WALLING
 Four-year-old Nancy Peterson from Lone Tree was getting a tooth filled at the children's clinic in the dental building, and she seemed to be having fun.

"He's filling the bumpy one," she said as she pointed to a double tooth. Nancy was pretty small for the chair, but sat up there bright-eyed and smiling as if she was talking to Santa Claus.

"It tickles when he drills," she said. There was no crying or anxious gripping of the chair as her tooth was being filled.

After the filling was in she had a free ride up and down in the chair. Then she proudly took her charts up to the reception desk and made an appointment to come back in about a week.

"If all patients were like Nancy, there wouldn't be anything to it," remarked Richard T. Oliver, junior dentistry student who had just finished the filling.

The children's dental clinic is open six days a week, and handles about 30 patients each afternoon. There are over 100 children now waiting to receive treatment at the clinic.

Six dentistry students work in each "shift" under the supervision of instructors. The students handle only child patients for a two-week period during both their junior and senior years.

Dr. Kenneth E. Wessels said the children have learned to accept trips to the dentist as a regular part of their life.

"Some of these children have been coming here since they were two-and-a-half," he said. Dr. Wessels has been associated with the children's dentistry department since his graduation from the SUI school of dentistry in 1946. He had been director of the children's dental clinic since last fall.

Children who start visiting the dentist while they are very young "get acquainted with the dentist in a pleasant way," he said.

Often no work has to be done, but the children build up a habit of visiting the dentist regularly, he added.

Dr. Wessels favors amusements to keep children occupied when they go to the dentist, but he said "if a child is going to be afraid, amusements won't do much good."

Witschi to Attend Swiss Conference

Prof. Emil Witschi of the department of zoology will represent SUI at the University conference to be held in Switzerland April 19-23, President Virgil M. Hancher announced yesterday.

The meeting is under the auspices of the International association of university professors and lecturers and is being held at the University of Basel.

Witschi, on a one-year leave of absence from SUI, is engaged in research at Teubingen university in Germany.

Students Leave for Social Action Day

Thirty-seven students left Iowa City at 5:30 this morning in a bus bound for Des Moines and a YMCA social action day conference.

Students from all sections of Iowa will participate in this third annual project which includes attending a CIO union meeting and touring the state house, the municipal building, a dairy co-op and a roadside settlement house.

"IT TICKLES WHEN HE DRILLS," said four-year-old Nancy Peterson after getting her tooth filled at the SUI children's dental clinic. Over 100 children are waiting to receive treatment at the clinic which handles patients from the Iowa City area six days a week. Dental Student Richard T. Oliver (above) will work in the children's clinic for two weeks during both his junior and senior years.

Results to Be Announced Prep Forensics Close Today

Final results of the Iowa high school forensic state final will be announced at the forensic luncheon in the Iowa Union at 12:15 p.m. today.

Participants in the final contest of the original oratory division spoke yesterday morning and final competition in the extemporaneous speaking section took place last night.

The third and final day of the 49th annual high school event will get underway at 8 o'clock this morning with the radio speaking contest in studios A and E of the engineering building.

This afternoon at 2:30 WSUI will broadcast a debate between the two high school teams with the best records in wins and losses. Regular debate activities will be concluded at 8:20 this morning with one round each of class A and B debates in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

Other activities this morning include interpretative reading at 8 o'clock and extemporaneous reading at 10 o'clock, both in room 224, University high school.

Physical Plant Site To Be Cleared for Proposed Library

SUI's physical plant shops will be moved to clear the site for construction of the university's new million-dollar library, R.J. Phillips, grounds and buildings head, said yesterday.

The shops are now located on the west corner opposite the intersection of Washington and Madison streets. They will be moved to two new sites in an operation expected to consume most of April, Phillips said.

The carpenter and machine shops will be moved to a temporary building located south of the intersection of College and Madison streets.

Refrigeration, electric and auto repair shops will be moved to the university's ambulance garage located near the university's general stores on Front street south of Burlington.

Phillips pointed out that the services of the department will be limited during the time the moving operation takes place.

He added the department would do emergency work only.

SUI Lobbyists Postpone Des Moines Trip

Bill Davis, acting chairman of the Iowa Committee for FEPC, announced yesterday that the lobbying group from SUI for the Sloane-O'Malley bill has been advised not to go to Des Moines this weekend.

The advice came from Ken Everhart, the committee's advisor in Des Moines who told Davis that members of the sifting committee had not yet been named by the speaker of the house.

About 20 SUI lobbyists were scheduled to leave yesterday for the state legislature to present documented papers on racial employment discrimination in Iowa to members of the sifting committee. The papers are to encourage action on the Sloane-O'Malley FEPC bill this session.

Coalition Kills Amending Ban On Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican-southern Democratic coalition in the house rules committee yesterday forced withdrawal of a plan to send the administration's new labor bill to the floor with a ban on amendments.

Chairman John Lesinski (D-Mich) of the house labor committee, had asked the committee for the ban so house members would have no chance to change the administration measure which would repeal the Taft-Hartley act and revive the old Wagner act.

Lesinski announced at the end of a turbulent session of the rules group that he had withdrawn his request because the committee "is not disposed to grant" it.

Unless Chairman Adolph Sabath (D-Ill.) of the rules committee can get the committee members to change their minds, the bill will be sent to the floor open to amendments. Sabath will announce the decision Monday.

The Republicans and southern Democrats have been fighting the Lesinski maneuver since the rules committee opened hearings Monday.

Sabath accused the Republicans and southern Democrats of banding together against Taft-Hartley repeal. He made the charge after Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio) observed that most of the witnesses had favored repeal.

Sabath replied that Brown and Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va) had been asking most of the questions.

When Brown objected to Sabath coupling Smith with Republican members, Sabath snapped, "he shouldn't be there but it seemed to me that you are working together."

Sabath said the committee would meet Monday to decide whether the bill can be amended.

Rep. Jay J. Madden (D-Ind), a strong supporter of the administration bill, accused the Republicans and southern Democrats of filibustering.

April Fool Vandals Wreck 10 Meters

An April fool with a vandalous sense of humor ruined 10 parking meters east of Schaeffer hall on South Clinton street, police said yesterday.

They reported that the culprit used a heavy tool to break the meter handles used to start the timing mechanism. No attempt was made to rob the parking machines, Police Chief E.J. Ruppert declared.

He warned that the penalty for malicious destruction of municipal property carries a maximum $100 fine or 30 days in jail or both.

Report Bulgarian Communist Party Divided

LONDON (AP) — The Bulgarian Communist party has been ripped by a fight for power among its highest leaders, advisers to western diplomatic quarters said last night.

Spokesmen in Sofia denied the report completely. But information which western diplomatic quarters have received is definite and detailed.

It is reported that the big break is between Premier Georgi Dimitrov, Moscow-trained and one of the most important Communists in the world, and Vice-Premier Traicho Kostov, a home-grown Communist.

Kostov, according to reports here, may be balking at taking all his orders from Moscow. Bulgarians in exile here say Kostov has not gone as far left as Dimitrov on domestic problems.

A split such as that reported in Bulgaria would be a major blow against Russia especially after the rift between Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia and the Russian-bloc countries of the Communist Bureau of Information.

Relations Bitter

Relations between Yugoslavia and Bulgaria have become exceedingly bitter. Thursday night the official Yugoslav news agency, Tanjug, reported that about a 100 important Bulgarians had been arrested as spies for "imperialist countries" as the result of the reported Communist party fight.

Tanjug reported that Vice Premier Kostov had been put under house arrest, dismissed from his post and expelled from the Communist party. Another arrested, according to Tanjug, was Nikola Nachev, an economic assistant to Kostov.

The Tanjug report was suspected because of the embittered relations between Yugoslavia and Bulgaria.

But western diplomatic quarters here said they had received reports to the same effect about a split in Bulgarian leadership. They reported that Kostov either had been put under house arrest or sent on a vacation from which he would not return.

'Nationalist Opposition'

It was noted here that Bulgarian Interior Minister Anton Yugov said in a speech Monday that a "nationalist" opposition had arisen within the Bulgarian Communist party.

In Prague, a Bulgarian foreign office spokesman denied the report that Bulgaria's government had arrested the officials.

"It is a cock and bull invention," the spokesman said over the telephone from Sofia to the United Press in Prague.

The official said the report was "all bunk".

Fevered Minds

"It's the fevered minds in Belgrade," he said. "There have been no arrests."

Asked about the reported house arrest of Kostov, the spokesman said:

"Mr. Kostov is right around the corner. I saw him yesterday."

Gaffney Dismisses 77 Old Civil Cases

District court Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday dismissed 77 old civil cases on which no attention had been given.

In his dismissal order, Judge Gaffney said he had mailed a notice on March 4 to the attorney for the plaintiff in each case to show cause why the case should not be dismissed.

Since no action had been taken on any of the cases, he ordered the dismissals yesterday at the plaintiffs' costs.

Stassen Asks Aid for Asia

BOSTON (AP) — Harold E. Stassen last night called for a "MacArthur plan in Asia" patterned after the Marshall plan in Europe.

The war-veteran president of the University of Pennsylvania told a distinguished group of scientists and educators here:

"We should move, and move promptly, to bolster the southern half of China."

Winston Churchill sat on the platform as Stassen made this call in a speech prepared for the mid-century convocation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Stassen, the second political speaker in a great symposium on human and scientific progress, took the program place of President Truman, who could not attend.

"Clearly the Marshall plan in Europe has been the most significant single right thing we have done since the end of the war," Stassen said.

"Supported in a major way, it should be long-term in its vision, continuous in its execution, carrying the same flexibility of detailed application, and the same concept of objectives and requirements of self-help as the Marshall plan."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

JACK DEMPSEY, the Manassa Mauler, was reminiscing about his early days in the boxing game. "In one of my first professional fights," he recalled, "I was up against a tough old bird who knew all the tricks. I finally kayoed him in the eighth round, but until I fathomed his style, the going was pretty rugged.

"In the first round, fists seemed to be hitting me from all directions. I must have looked a bit discouraged when the bell sounded, because I can remember my manager whispering urgently in my ear, 'There's absolutely nothing to worry about, Jack. All this bird has got is a good left and right!'"

A distinguished bishop visited the home of the Bob Considines recently and inquired politely of the eight-year-old heir to the Considine millions, "Son, I trust that you say your prayers every night."

"I don't have to," Considine, Jr. assured him. "My mother says them for me." "Indeed," said the bishop. "And just what does she say?" "Thank God you're in bed," was the answer.
