Nation Urged To Share Its Armed Might

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's military leaders urged the nation yesterday to share its armed might and forces with western Europe and thus help forestall a war which Secretary of the Army Royall said might last 20 years — "perhaps more."

While declaring that war is not imminent nor unavoidable, top officials of the army, navy and air force laid heavy stress on the need for unified preparation now as they joined in the nationwide observance of Army day.

Yesterday's celebration of Army day apparently was the last one the nation will observe. Defense Secretary Louis Johnson last night struck a new blow for unification of the armed services by abolishing the traditional army, navy, marine and air force days.

Single Day

Instead of observing separate holidays which tend to stimulate rivalry, he decreed, all of the services henceforth will do their parading and speechmaking together on a single "Armed Forces day."

His announcement was issued at the close of Army day, only a few hours after President Truman and Johnson reviewed yesterday's Army day parade, an hour-long march down Constitution avenue.

Joining the marching army troops were marine, navy and air force units in what observers said was a symbolic farewell to the separate observances of special days for the three armed services.

The date for the "unified" armed forces has not yet been selected, Johnson said.

President Approval

President Truman personally approved the move, he said, and legislation will soon be submitted to congress to establish the new holiday.

Although yesterday was set aside for special tribute to the men of the army, speakers put greater emphasis on present and future needs for team strategy and operations — both here and abroad.

Secretary Royall said in Chicago that the Atlantic pact nations are counting on American arms for their own troops — and also counting on the support of an American army overseas.

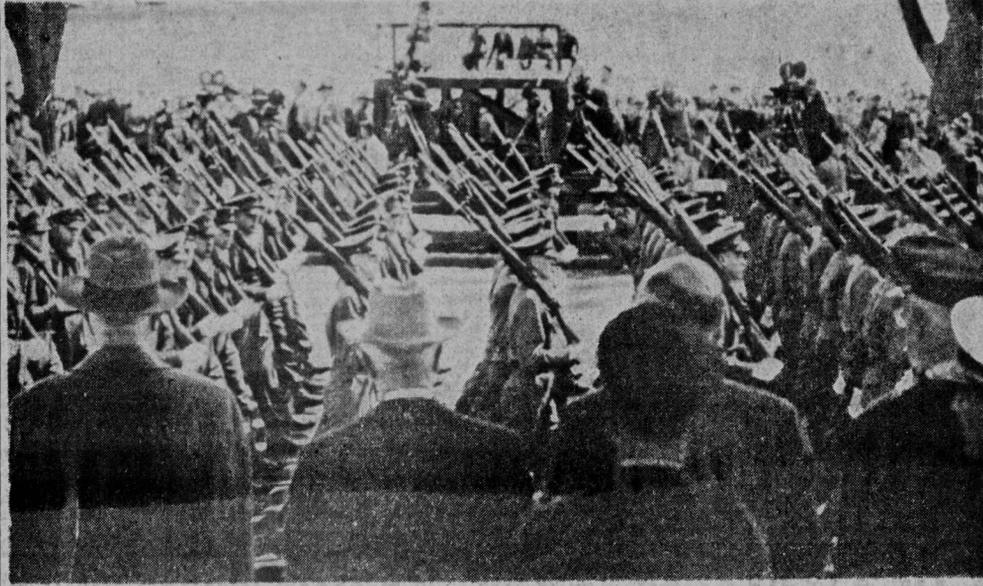

"If in the first stage of any future war," he said, "we should lose all foothold on the Eurasian continent and in north Africa, then a victory — if achieved at all — would require 10 or 20 years of war — or perhaps more."

European Forces

Former Undersecretary of War William H. Draper also called for retention of American forces in Europe, as long as the cold war lasts.

In Germany, U.S. Commander Gen. Lucius Clay told an assembly of American troops:

"You are the symbol of our country's still-firm will to fight for the rights of free men. We have joined the Atlantic community and pledged ourselves to secure peace and prevent aggression by force if necessary."

President Reviews Last Army Day Parade

CELEBRATING THE LAST "ARMY" DAY, President Truman (second from left) reviews an hour-long army parade on Constitution avenue in Washington. From now on there will be no separate day of celebration for each branch of the service. Defense Secretary Louis Johnson last night decreed that all the services would henceforth celebrate on a single "Armed Forces Day."

$75,000 Damage Suit Of Local Boy Goes To Davenport Jury

DAVENPORT (AP) — The $75,000 damage suit against the Iowa-Illinois gas & electric co. in connection with injuries suffered by a 13-year-old boy in Iowa City last night without reaching a verdict.

Earlier, counsel for the boy, Robert Young of Iowa City, called the last of the witnesses for the plaintiff.

Young was injured when he came in contact with a 2,300 volt wire while climbing down the Benton street bridge in Iowa City. He subsequently lost his right arm below the elbow.

Robert and three eye witnesses took the witness stand Tuesday to tell the story of the accident. Dr. Bernard A. Donnelly of the University of Iowa hospital testified yesterday morning as to the extent of the boy's injuries.

Trenton Firemen Told 'Quit Burning Up Road'

YARDVILLE, N.J. (AP) — Even the motorists who had a good answer to the question "Where's the fire?" will start getting traffic tickets in this Trenton suburb.

Police Chief Robert Waterson yesterday warned volunteer firemen to stop exceeding the speed limit when they answer alarms. Firemen en route to a firehouse are subject to state motor vehicle laws, he said.

CLOCKS BARKING DOG

BARNET, ENGLAND (AP) — Mrs. Julian Hewett was fined $8 yesterday on her neighbor's complaint that her dog was a nuisance. The neighbor testified he clocked the dog at 65 barks a minute.

Quarrels Flare in UN On Mindszenty Trial

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — East-west clashes began in the United Nations yesterday over the Communist prosecutions of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary and 15 Protestant churchmen in Bulgaria.

The United States led off by proposing that the UN study the cases in the light of peace treaty guarantees and UN pronouncements on civil and religious rights.

The Soviet bloc came back with the contention that these cases were internal matters and no business of the UN. Its Polish spokesman pointed out that neither Bulgaria nor Hungary belongs to the UN and neither has responsibilities toward the world organization.

The argument flared as expected in the 14-nation steering committee of the general assembly. An atmosphere of amiability between east and west was short-lived.

The committee recessed until today without reaching a decision on how the cases will be presented for full-dress debate in the 58-nation political committee and the assembly itself.

Western delegations were confident they would get a full airing at this session which would result in denunciations of Bulgaria and Hungary. Russia has yet to speak in the steering committee.

Warren R. Austin, chief U.S. delegate, proposed that the assembly decide whether the prosecution of Cardinal Mindszenty by the Communist government in Budapest had violated the Hungarian peace treaty. The American delegate also appealed for an assembly discussion of the trial of the Bulgarian Protestants.

Austin's proposal brought a quick reply from Julius Katz-Suchy of Poland, one of the Soviet bloc's most persistent orators. He challenged the assembly's right to deal with either issue.

Charge of Murder Filed Against Miller

DES MOINES (AP) — A murder charge was filed yesterday against Frank Miller in connection with the shotgun death early Monday of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Miller.

The charge was filed by Deputy Sheriff Wilbur Hildreth, after consultation with Sheriff Howard Reppert, County Attorney Ed S. Thayer, and Deputy Coroner Jack Lilly. Miller was held without bond in Polk county jail.

Earlier yesterday, Miller in company of Sheriff Reppert and Deputy Sheriff Robert Barton, attended funeral services for his parents at Hubbard.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Miller were found dead in the basement of their home Monday by Frank Miller, who notified the sheriff's office. The empty shotgun which caused the deaths lay on the floor and two discharged shells were nearby.

Chinese Communists Demand Surrender

NANKING (AP) — The Chinese Communists yesterday handed the government an ultimatum to surrender its army by April 12. Acting President Li Tsung-jen reportedly refused.

Official Chinese quarters said the Communists threatened to drive across the Yangtze into south China by the deadline. The Communist radio kept up a propaganda drumfire, calling for immediate government surrender.

Semi-official sources said Li still is trying desperately to strike a better bargain with the Communists. He was keeping the diplomatic corps in Nanking informed of the grave turn of events.

New British Budget, Calling for Boosts, Met with Groans

LONDON (AP) — Sir Stafford Cripps laid another heavy budget before Britain's sorely taxed citizens yesterday.

A disappointed left-wing laborite compared the chancellor of the exchequer's financial proposals to the "guns before butter" slogan of Nazi Hermann Goerr.

"Five years after the war we have the chancellor talking about guns before cheese," said Laborite Emrys Hughes.

The reaction of Londoners questioned at random was an indignant "ouch." But veteran reporters said it was a "brave" budget speech politically.

Little Relief

Cripps offered only tiny pittance of tax relief. Mainly the concessions were a penny (1 2-3 cents) off a pint of beer and doubling the allowances that industry can take for wear and tear on plants and machinery.

He raised the prices of four basic foods so the government can trim its huge subsidies for food production. The foods are meat, cheese, butter and margarine—all rationed.

Not a tittle came off income taxes. The basic rate is 45 percent. Purchase taxes, ranging from 33 1-3 to 100 percent on almost all items except food and cheap clothing, went untouched. Not a penny came off the cigarette tax which makes a pack cost 70 cents.

Defense Stays Up

Cripps told the house of commons there could be no decrease in defense expenditures "for some years, unless there is a complete change in the international situation."

"Indeed, we may have to face some increase as a result of our cooperation in making the defenses of western Europe more effective and efficient," he said.

Defense expenditures were budgeted at 760-million pounds, almost a 10 percent increase. The pound is equivalent to $4.03. Armed manpower will be smaller, but increased spending will go into new equipment, especially fighter planes.

Bomb Not Needed Now: Mr. Truman

Senate Foils ERP Changes But Stalls Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate administration leaders won all tests yesterday in their fight against major changes in the $5,580,000,000 bill for European recovery, but failed to get a final vote on the bill.

Sharply rebuked for keeping the senate in session late at night, Majority Leader Lucas (D-Ill.) recessed the chamber at 6:08 p.m.

But once again, he called the senators back at 11 a.m. today — an hour early — to resume the debate which has been dragging on for 11 days. Nearly 20 amendments still await action.

In seven hours yesterday, the senate rejected a Republican move to toss the whole question of how many billions in American aid should be spent in fiscal 1950 into the hands of the senate appropriations committee.

The bill they have been debating since March 23 merely puts a ceiling on the money to be appropriated later.

The lawmakers adopted an administration-approved amendment by Senator Brewster (R-Maine) to deny American aid to any nation singled out for punishment by the United Nations for violation of the UN charter. This was aimed at the Netherlands, arising from the failure of the Dutch, so far, to obey a United Nations request for settlement of the Dutch-Indonesian strife in the East Indies.

Students Halt Move To Bar Communists

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A student political party at the University of Minnesota yesterday defeated a move approved by its executive committee to bar Communists as members.

In a meeting called to consider the question, members of the all-campus party forced the Communist ban to be dropped. They also defeated a second motion to deny membership to students "whose national loyalty is challenged."

The action prompted several officers of the group, including President Herbert B. Putnam of St. Paul, to resign, along with a sizeable group of rank-and-file members.

Improved Parking Proposed in Iowa

DES MOINES (AP) — A measure designed to provide more off-street parking facilities for cities and towns was one of eight passed by the house of representatives yesterday afternoon.

The measure was sent to the senate for concurrence in a minor amendment by a vote of 88 to 2. Three major amendments were defeated.

The bill would require cities and towns with parking meters to use 75 percent of the revenue for paying for meters and providing for off-street parking facilities.

Suffering Cat!

KANKAKEE, ILL. (AP) — How many man-hours is a yellow cat worth in Kankakee?

Six, three garage mechanics reported yesterday.

It took them two hours work each to rescue an eight-month-old kitten owned by Harm Neeland, Kankakee farmer, from its perch in an opening behind the motor of his 1940 automobile.

Neeland missed the cat three days ago. Finally he heard it wailing in the motor. Mechanics took away pieces of the car until they liberated the cat.

Chief Thinks Pact Signing A Safeguard

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman expressed belief last night it will never be necessary to drop another atom bomb. But he said he would not hesitate to use the bomb again if necessary for the welfare of the democracies.

The President said he believed the signing of the Atlantic defense pact had placed the United States in a position "where we will never have to make that decision again."

"I hope and pray that that will never be necessary." He spoke off the cuff at a buffet dinner attended by more than 100 freshman senators and congressmen.

Recalls 1945

The President told of making the decision to drop atomic bombs on Japanese cities in 1945 "on the basis of the welfare of not only this country but of our enemy country."

"Now I believe that we are in a position where we will never have to make that decision again, but if it has to be made for the welfare of the United States, and the democracies of the world are at stake, I wouldn't hesitate to make it again."

He said the United States' only objective "is peace and the welfare of every nation and every race in the world."

World Situation

Although the Chief Executive was invited to the buffet dinner at the Carlton hotel as part of Democratic party strategy toward greater unanimity on the domestic front, his own off-the-cuff talk laid heavy emphasis on the world situation.

He reminded the new-coming Democratic congressmen that the United States has offered to give up the atomic bomb, "the greatest weapon in history," if effective controls for atomic energy for the benefit of mankind can be agreed upon.

No "Surrender"

He said no republic, monarchy or totalitarian country would have "offered surrender" of such a weapon.

He said that it was a terrible decision he had to make in July, 1945, when he ordered the dropping of the bomb on Japanese cities, but that he did so because the welfare not only of American fighters, but that of the world was at stake.

He expressed belief the decision saved the lives of 200,000 young Americans and from 300,000 to 400,000 of the enemy.

Dead, Missing Toll Rises to 74 in Fire At Illinois Hospital

EFFINGHAM, ILL. (AP) — The toll of dead and missing in Tuesday's holocaust at St. Anthony's hospital rose to at least 74 yesterday with 69 known dead.

The Catholic chancery office, which governs the hospital, reported that 62 of 69 bodies recovered from the blackened ruins of the hospital have been identified. Bodies of seven others remained unclaimed and five others listed as missing are believed buried in the wreckage.

Burial Begins

This grief-stricken city, meanwhile, began burying the dead. Tiny white coffins bearing the charred remains of some of the 13 babies who perished in the fire were the first.

Priests and nuns worked yesterday near rescue crews bringing more bodies out of the blackened ruins. The nuns cleaned the slight-damaged operating room and said it will be available for use today. The nuns will care for the sick and injured in private homes.

Cause Obscure

Fire inspectors poked through the debris in search of the cause of the fire, but deputy state fire marshals said it still is obscure.

Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson and the state's public health director, Dr. Roland Cross, came by airplane to consult with civic leaders on how to set up temporary hospital facilities and build a new institution.

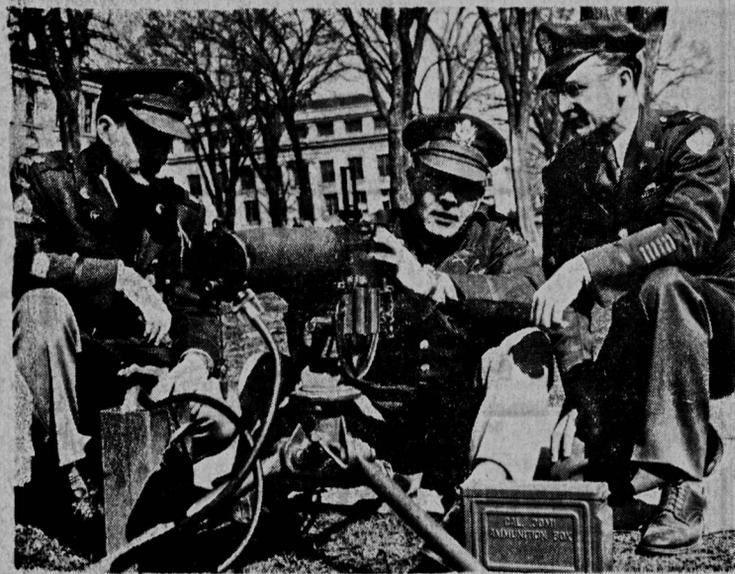

The governor expressed "heartfelt sympathy" and praised "the valor and heroism shown in this ghastly disaster."

Wall of Hospital Torn Down

WHILE VOLUNTEER WORKERS search other sections of the burned ruins of St. Anthony's hospital in Effingham, Ill., wrecking crews pull down a section of a wall (top, center) as a safety measure. Authorities last night estimated that 74 persons had died in the fire which swept through the building Tuesday morning.

$1,100,000 Hope Diamond Mailed for $159.87 —

Jewel of Death Gets New Owner

NEW YORK (AP) — A mailman stepped from a heavily guarded armored truck yesterday with a small, paper-wrapped package. Passing through lines of policemen he handed it to Manhattan Jeweler Harry Winston.

Winston opened the package and took out a rare jewel collection valued at more than $1-million. Thus began a new chapter in the long, tragic story of the Hope diamond.

The diamond was part of the collection Winston purchased from the estate of the late Evalyn Walsh McLean, prominent Washington society leader.

Scoffing at the Hope diamond's legend of tragedy, Winston said:

"It's childish to suppose that diamonds themselves exert any influence for good or evil. It's not the diamonds themselves that cause misfortune, but the people who handle them."

It cost $159.87 to send the collection by mail from Washington to New York at an insured value of $1,100,000. The Hope diamond and its counterpart, the Star of the East, a part of the collection, are insured by Lloyd's for $1,800,000.

The Hope diamond — 44 1-2 carats, of rare, deep sapphire blue and flawless purity — is an oval gem one and one-eighth inches long by seven-eighths of an inch wide. It was smuggled out of India in 1642 by a French adventurer who was later torn to pieces by wild dogs. Numerous French historical figures associated with the gem had tragic ends.

Lord Francis Pelham Clinton Hope, who obtained it by inheritance, went bankrupt and died penniless. May Yohe, American actress who wore it as Lord Hope's wife, was divorced by her husband and died in Boston as a $16.50-a-week WPA worker.

Mrs. McLean, who bought it in 1922, lost her husband, a son and a daughter before her death last year.

Hawks Nip Bradley, 5-4, On Smith's Score in 9th

Demro Winner In Relief Role

By NEAL BLACK
(Daily Iowan Sports Editor)

Hawkeye Bob Smith crossed the plate with a tie-breaking run in the last of the ninth to give the Iowa baseball team a 5-4 victory over Bradley in the season's home opener yesterday.

Smith scored while the Braves were completing a double play after the Bradley boys had tied the game with two runs in the top of the ninth inning.

Wes Demro relieved Dick Hoeksema in the ninth for the Hawks and was credited with the win. Glenn Drahn started for Iowa and was relieved by Hoeksema in the third inning. Don Shelton started for the Braves. He was pulled for a pinch hitter in the ninth. Don Alford hurled the ninth and was the losing pitcher.

Jack Dittmer led the Hawkeye hitting attack with two hits in two official trips to the plate. He got a triple and a single. He walked in his other two appearances. Murland Moran hit two singles in four trips and was the only other Hawkeye to garner more than one safe blow.

With the score tied at 4 all Tedore walked to lead off the ninth for the Hawks. Successive bunts by Smith and Keith Kafer filled the bases when the pitcher threw high to third in an attempt to get Tedore on Kafer's bunt. Browne hit into a double play that went from the pitcher to the catcher and then to first.

But that's when the Brave defense slipped up. The first baseman forgot about Smith who had set sail from second. The throw was too late and Smith came in standing up with the winning tally.

Iowa Scores First

Iowa jumped into the lead in the first inning on two hits after the Braves had gone out in order. The lead off man, John Tedore, singled, and Smith was safe on an error. Dittmer's triple over the right fielder's head drove in two runs.

Bradley got single runs in the third and sixth innings to tie it up. In the third Guy Ricci led off with a single. Shelton was safe on an error and Jack Wilson loaded the bases on a bunt and a fielder's choice. Drahn walked in a run and Hoeksema replaced him on the mound.

A force play at the plate and Espe's catch of a line drive and unassisted double play ended the inning.

The Bradley run in the sixth came on a double and a single. In the home half of the seventh Tedore and Smith got on base on two errors at third. Dittmer crossed them up with a bunt that the Braves couldn't play on, and the bases were loaded. Kafer came in to run for Dittmer who turned his ankle on the play.

Two in Seventh
Browne forced Tedore at the plate but Dale Erickson's single through the box drove in two runs to make the score 4-2. Moran singled but Erickson was out at the plate on a fine throw from center field to end the rally.

Bill Manker came in to pinch hit for the pitcher and singled to open the ninth for the Braves.

After one was out Jim Robertson singled to drive in a run. Adolph Friedrich followed with a single and Demro came on to relieve Hoeksema on the mound for the Hawks.

Bill Tuttle, the first man to face Demro flied to Smith at short for the second out, but Jim Melchiorre got to Demro for a single to drive in a run, tie up the game and set it up for the decisive home half of the ninth.

An estimated 2,500 turned out for the opener in what was the best weather to grace an Iowa opener in many a year.

Scarpello Out Of AAU Meet

Joe Scarpello, Iowa's 175-pound Olympic wrestler and three-time Big Nine champion, will not compete in the national AAU meet in Cedar Rapids, scheduled to begin tomorrow morning.

Scarpello injured his ankle during a practice session last week, hence will miss a chance at the AAU title after finishing second in the NCAA meet held recently at Fort Collins, Colo.

Three varsity Hawkeye wrestlers will enter under the Iowa colors, with six other freshmen or transfer students entering unattached.

Coach Mike Howard will have Heavyweights Bob Geigel, "Junebug" Perrin and 145-pound Russ Tharp from his regular squad. Geigel placed third in the Big Nine championships this year.

Unattached grapplers are Manuel Macias, 121; Bob Newell, 121; Miles Benda, 165; Charles Mulstock, 175; Ken Carman, 128; and Frank Klinzman, 121-pound class.

The AAU meet is expected to draw more than 200 of the top wrestlers in the nation, with at least five of Oklahoma A & M's NCAA champs entered.

Semi-finals start Saturday afternoon, and the finals of the nine-weight-class meet take place Saturday evening.

The entire two-day meet will take place in the Coe fieldhouse. Gov. William Beardley has been invited to present the championship medals Saturday evening. The governor is an honorary director of the AAU meet.

Warm Weather Plus a Hawkeye Victory Spark Baseball Opener

PLAY BALL! That was the cry about 3:30 yesterday afternoon when Iowa and Bradley clashed on the Hawkeye diamond. Clear skies and a warm sun, along with an Iowa victory, helped an estimated 2,500 fans welcome in the '49 season. This picture was taken in the Bradley half of the fifth inning, with the score 2-1 in favor of Iowa. That's Hooks Hoeksema on the mound, pitching to Bradley's Dolph Friedrich, who lofted a fly ball to right field to end the inning. Iowa lost its two-run lead in the ninth inning but scooted one around in the last of the ninth to win, 5-4.

Cub Homers Rock Browns

DALLAS, TEXAS (AP) — The Chicago Cubs cut loose with a seven-run barrage off Pitcher Cliff Fanning in the seventh inning yesterday to give them a 8-5 victory over the St. Louis Browns. The bombardment included home runs by Catcher Bob Scheffing and Shortstop Roy Smalley. It was Smalley's tenth homer of the spring season. He drove his ninth over the left field fence in the fifth to give the Cubs a 1-0 margin.

Bradley got single runs in the third and sixth innings to tie it up. In the third Guy Ricci led off with a single. Shelton was safe on an error and Jack Wilson loaded the bases on a bunt and a fielder's choice. Drahn walked in a run and Hoeksema replaced him on the mound.

A force play at the plate and Espe's catch of a line drive and unassisted double play ended the inning.

The Bradley run in the sixth came on a double and a single. In the home half of the seventh Tedore and Smith got on base on two errors at third. Dittmer crossed them up with a bunt that the Braves couldn't play on, and the bases were loaded. Kafer came in to run for Dittmer who turned his ankle on the play.

Browne forced Tedore at the plate but Dale Erickson's single through the box drove in two runs to make the score 4-2. Moran singled but Erickson was out at the plate on a fine throw from center field to end the rally.

Bill Manker came in to pinch hit for the pitcher and singled to open the ninth for the Braves.

After one was out Jim Robertson singled to drive in a run. Adolph Friedrich followed with a single and Demro came on to relieve Hoeksema on the mound for the Hawks.

Bill Tuttle, the first man to face Demro flied to Smith at short for the second out, but Jim Melchiorre got to Demro for a single to drive in a run, tie up the game and set it up for the decisive home half of the ninth.

An estimated 2,500 turned out for the opener in what was the best weather to grace an Iowa opener in many a year.

Joe Scarpello, Iowa's 175-pound Olympic wrestler and three-time Big Nine champion, will not compete in the national AAU meet in Cedar Rapids, scheduled to begin tomorrow morning.

Scarpello injured his ankle during a practice session last week, hence will miss a chance at the AAU title after finishing second in the NCAA meet held recently at Fort Collins, Colo.

Three varsity Hawkeye wrestlers will enter under the Iowa colors, with six other freshmen or transfer students entering unattached.

Coach Mike Howard will have Heavyweights Bob Geigel, "Junebug" Perrin and 145-pound Russ Tharp from his regular squad. Geigel placed third in the Big Nine championships this year.

Unattached grapplers are Manuel Macias, 121; Bob Newell, 121; Miles Benda, 165; Charles Mulstock, 175; Ken Carman, 128; and Frank Klinzman, 121-pound class.

The AAU meet is expected to draw more than 200 of the top wrestlers in the nation, with at least five of Oklahoma A & M's NCAA champs entered.

Semi-finals start Saturday afternoon, and the finals of the nine-weight-class meet take place Saturday evening.

The entire two-day meet will take place in the Coe fieldhouse. Gov. William Beardley has been invited to present the championship medals Saturday evening. The governor is an honorary director of the AAU meet.

DALLAS, TEXAS (AP) — The Chicago Cubs cut loose with a seven-run barrage off Pitcher Cliff Fanning in the seventh inning yesterday to give them a 8-5 victory over the St. Louis Browns. The bombardment included home runs by Catcher Bob Scheffing and Shortstop Roy Smalley. It was Smalley's tenth homer of the spring season. He drove his ninth over the left field fence in the fifth to give the Cubs a 1-0 margin.

Keep Housing Areas Neighborly

Cooperation Helps Make Friendships

By MARY HEALY

It wouldn't be a neighborhood without a cup of sugar or a couple of eggs passing from one hand to another over the back fence.

Married veterans and their families have turned SUI housing areas into real neighborhoods, complete with informal clubs.

A new family is welcomed into the area and introduced to the people that will be their neighbors.

Mrs. James Franey, 161 Hawkeye village, said that sharing laundry rooms and water supplies in the veterans area helps to make "a good neighborhood."

The usual amount of borrowing is done, she said. A cup of sugar, a fresh egg or a little shortening goes back and forth from one trailer to the next.

"We have no baby-sitting trouble," Mrs. Robert L. Barr, 157 Hawkeye village, explained. "We always take care of each other's children."

The Barrs have two children, Robert Jr., age five months, and Laura Marlene, almost two years old. Mr. and Mrs. Franey have a five month old daughter, Wendy.

The two couples have been close friends since moving to Hawkeye village.

"We go out together and play cards in either of our homes," Mrs. Barr said.

In any neighborhood, there are many things that can be done to make newcomers feel at home and there are as many things the newcomers can do to make themselves well-liked.

Newcomers should widen their circle of friends and return favors quickly. Continual borrowing damages prestige and wrecks otherwise smooth relationships.

The proud mother should let the neighbors find out for themselves that Junior is a genius—they may resent being reminded daily of the fact.

It doesn't help any to run to Junior's rescue every time he's getting the worst of an argument. Every child is wrong at some time or another, so let the children decide for themselves.

THE FOUNDATION OF A NEIGHBORHOOD—a back fence and a cup of sugar exchanging hands. These two residents of Hawkeye village, Mrs. Robert Barr, left, and Mrs. James Franey became neighbors and friends when they moved into the veteran's area. They take care of each other's children, play cards together and go out together, cementing neighborhood relations.

International Conference - Biochemists to Present Papers

The research of three SUI biochemists will be presented at an international conference on vitamin E in New York City April 15 and 16.

During the past two years Charlotte E. Roderuck, Daniel H. Basinski and Mary Alice Barber conducted this research under the direction of Prof. Henry A. Mattill, head of the SUI biochemistry department.

Mattill will be chairman of the session dealing with the enzyme and tissue functions of vitamin E at which Miss Roderuck will present the paper on "Some Chemical and Enzymic Alterations in Muscles in Experimental Dystrophy."

Miss Roderuck received her Ph.D. in biochemistry here last February and is now in the nutrition department at Iowa State college in Ames.

Miss Barber received her M.S. in biochemistry here last fall. Basinski received his Ph.D. in biochemistry at the University of Rochester and came to SUI following several years nutrition work in the army.

This will be the second international conference on vitamin E, Mattill said. The first conference was held in London 10 years ago. Mattill said that when vitamin E was first discovered it was known as the fertility vitamin because it was necessary for reproduction in the laboratory rat. "Vitamin E has been found to be even more important as related to the function of a great many tissues, including muscles," he added.

Research at SUI which is being reported showed that when laboratory animals' diet lacks vitamin E the animals eventually become paralyzed.

Senior Law Argument Today; Dismiss Law School Classes

Today is Supreme Court day—at the SUI law school. All law classes will be dismissed for the traditional annual celebration. Highlighting the day's activities will be the senior law argument before eight justices of the Iowa Supreme Court in Macbride auditorium at 2:30 p.m.

Four senior law student—William Cimprich, Charles Kintzinger, Robert Reimer and Dean Wallace—will argue the "party line telephone case" before the court. The case, a mythical one, concerns a woman's refusal to give up the party line so that her neighbor could call the fire department to her burning home. The supreme court argument is open to the public.

At 11 a.m., 17 students and recent graduates will be initiated into the Order of the Coif, legal scholastic honorary society. A banquet for the court, law students, faculty and guests in the main lounge of the Iowa Union at 6:30 p.m. will climax the day's activities.

The court decision in the senior argument will be announced at that time and awards will be presented to the participants.

A discussion on world federal government by Don Lay and Richard Peterson, former SUI debaters, will feature the banquet. The discussion will be broadcast over WSUI at 8 p.m.

McClung Discloses Direct Commission Program Stoppage

The army plan for direct commissions has been suspended indefinitely, Sgt. O.A. McClung said yesterday. The direct commission program was open to all qualified veterans who had two years college.

McClung, army and airforce recruiter, said that those men who have already applied for a commission under the army plan will be offered reserve commissions in the infantry, armored cavalry, field artillery, coastal artillery or the engineer corps.

Appointments for these commissions will be made on an inactive status pending issuance of active duty dates from these schools. Meanwhile no more applications will be accepted for the program.

McClung added that the Iowa City recruiting office quota for enlistments has been raised to five for army enlistment.

The all-expenses-paid trip is sponsored by the Advertising Club of St. Louis, Mo. Representing SUI are Frederick Stines Jr., C4, Newton (second from left), and Marjorie J. Schmidt, G. Muscatine (fifth from left). Other schools represented are St. Louis university, Washington university, and the Universities of Illinois, Kansas and Missouri.

Air ROTC Offers New Course

A new course in Aircraft Maintenance engineering will be added to the air ROTC curriculum at SUI for the school year 1949-50. Col. W.W. Jenna, head of the SUI military department, said the course will be offered to provide officer specialists for U.S. airforce operations. It will be one of several technical courses offered to air ROTC students here at the university.

The course will be open to students of the college of engineering, to physics majors and to other students selected by professors of military science and tactics because of specialized background and training.

It will provide 170 hours of specialized instruction in aircraft maintenance engineering and six weeks of practical work at a regular airforce station during summer camp. It will also provide certain general military subjects, Jenna said.

Jenna said it is expected a specially qualified instructor will be assigned the university unit to instruct the new course along with General Administration and Air Comptrollership which are now being offered by the department.

Interested students are asked to contact the military department for further information and for application blanks for the course. Applications should be filed with the department by April 25, Jenna said.

Bernard Redlinger Takes Police Oath For Local Force

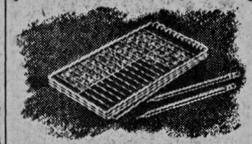

Bernard N. Redlinger, 25, was sworn into the Iowa City police department yesterday at 2:45 p.m. by Mayor Preston Koser.

Redlinger made application to the police force a year ago and was notified of his acceptance March 1.

Appointments to the department are reviewed by the city council after applicants successfully pass the civil service examination, according to police.

Officer Redlinger came to Iowa City two years ago from Wellman where he received experience as a deputy policeman. He served as a gunner's mate in the Navy for over three years.

Before his appointment, Redlinger worked as a caterpillar operator for a local contractor.

Ella Porter's Book Added to Collection

The manuscript of a book written by Mrs. Ella Williams Porter, Williamsburg, has been added to the SUI library collection of original manuscripts by Iowa authors, Assistant Library Director Grace Wormer said yesterday.

The book, "Sandra Kendall of the 4-H," was published in 1942 and was included on high school reading lists in several states. It is a career story for high school girls, describing the experiences of an Iowa home demonstration agent who supervises women's projects and 4-H activities for girls.

Mrs. Porter attended Coe college and taught public school in Cedar Rapids. Her latest book is "Footprints in the Sand."

Military Department Plans Open House

An open house will be held by the SUI military department at the armory Saturday morning from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

Officials of the department said weapons and military equipment will be on display for the public.

Included among the exhibits will be a communications network, walkie-talkie, several model bridges constructed by ROTC engineers, and a demonstration of a cut-away model airplane engine.

Pershing Rifles, honorary military fraternity, will give several demonstrations in team drilling.

Officials said the display is open to everyone. It is being put on, they said, to give the public a better knowledge of the work being performed by students in SUI's military department.

Truman Farm Program Set For Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Truman farm program, expected to set a goal of more meat and dairy products at lower prices, will be presented to congress today.

It will be outlined by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan at a joint meeting of the house and senate agriculture committees.

The secretary is expected to suggest that a way around troublesome crop surpluses can be found by diverting millions of surplus acres from cotton, wheat, peanuts and other cash crops to grass, pastures and hay.

This switch, in turn, would enable farmers to produce more meat animals and dairy cows, and thus provide a larger supply of meat and milk.

Carrying the plan further, the government would not support prices of livestock, poultry and dairy products. It would allow them to drop to low levels. The result would enable consumers to buy more of those products.

The program is expected to lay less emphasis on price supports and propose more varied economic devices to make the plan work. These devices would include: price supports for some farm products, incentive payments for others, consumer subsidy programs, and government production controls for such crops as tobacco, wheat, rice and peanuts.

The aims of such a program would be:

1. Adjustment of crop production from abnormally high war and postwar levels to peacetime demands;
2. Placing of greater emphasis on soil conservation; and
3. Improvement of the national diet.

Termites in for a Tough Time

A FULL SCALE OFFENSIVE against termites was begun at the community building yesterday. Tony Yunkus, left, drilled holes in the building and Louis Brandt followed his work by treating the structure with extermination fluid. Both workers are from Omaha, Neb. The process insulates against termite infestation from the ground up. Work is expected to be completed in three weeks. The public library is also being treated.

Horoscope Pays Iowa Citizen $300

An Iowa City man who was named first prize winner of $300 in yesterday's Chicago Tribune's horoscope contest, did not know about it until he was shown a copy of the paper.

"I am more surprised than anybody," said H. Lee Bailey, 312 S. Governor street, as he looked at his name in the winners' section. Bailey operates a local insurance agency.

"Mrs. Bailey sent it in," he said. "I have to call her and let her know." But there was no answer. "Must be in the yard," he said.

"I don't plan anything," he replied, when asked what he plans to do with the money. "That's her money."

Students to Attend Engineering Meet

About 25 civil engineering students from SUI are expected to attend the fifth annual midwestern conference of the student chapters of the American Society of Civil Engineering. The meeting will be held April 22 and 23 at the Technological institute in Evanston, Ill.

Among those attending will be Maurice E. Nelson, E3, Proctor, VI, second vice-president of the conference, and Robert L. Coats, E4, Victor, president of the SUI chapter of ASCE. Coats will participate in a discussion of "The Development of the Water Supply Facilities for Chicago and Suburban Areas."

Nelson was elected second vice-president of this year's conference during the fourth annual meeting in Minneapolis last year.

Eviction of Couple Ordered by Judge

District Court Judge Harold D. Evans yesterday ordered the eviction of Ben Abbott and Shirley Abbott from property owned by Marion Ward on Linda road, one mile north of Iowa City.

In a suit filed March 30, Ward asked the eviction of the defendants for non-payment of rent, under terms of a written lease dated Nov. 12, 1948.

At a 10 a.m. hearing yesterday, Judge Evans found for the plaintiff and ordered a writ of ouster issued against the Abbots. Costs of the action were taxed to them. William F. Morrison was attorney for the plaintiff.

Plans for Lost and Found Office Completed

Plans for a student lost and found office have been completed but office space will probably not be available until next fall. Project Chairman Jerry Febowitz, A2, Council Bluffs, said yesterday.

Present plans call for all items found on campus to be kept in a central office with records as to where they were found, he said. Owners could claim the items by identifying and signing for them, he explained.

The office would attempt to locate students whose property carried identification, he said.

Febowitz said the office would be run by volunteer help. Items remaining a set length of time would be auctioned off to support the project, he pointed out.

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, is working on the project. Committee members are Febowitz, Dean Crawford, A4, Iowa City, and Howard Moldenhauer, A2, Charles City.

World Government on the Menu —

Evidence of a bestirring toward enlightened progress can crop up where you least expect it. The layman's attitude toward world federal government — at least among the Atlantic pact nations — is probably best summed up by a recent article in Harper's magazine: World Government, Yes BUT.

The Yes PERIOD attitude is little expected among the legal profession which notoriously is composed of oh! so, conservative men at least a decade behind in social thinking and in a legislature largely dominated by conservative rural interests.

That's why we're surprised and pleased to know that world government will be a topic for a first-rate discussion at the banquet highlighting Supreme Court day here today.

The discussion will be broadcast over WSUI beginning at eight p.m.

Of course, a world legal system has long been a favorite of a few legalists, but perhaps this is a good sign that the interest is filtering down to the most local level. Getting presentation of this subject down from the realm of theory only and discussing it in front of prospective community leaders is a good thing in itself.

Another good thing will be the presence of Iowa Supreme Court. They'll probably never have to decide the issue themselves but it is highly conceivable that cases in connection with this possibility might arise if a world government is ever formed.

The Iowa house of representatives recently passed a resolution calling on the United States government to convene a world assembly for the purpose of forming a world federal government. Very significant, we'd say, in view of the general tendency for rural-dominated legislatures to lag behind in movements for international cooperation.

As a matter of fact, passage of this resolution may be just another indication that the assumption of rural isolationism hardly squares with the facts.

At any rate, we're glad to see the topic debated and discussed wherever and whenever those who would have to make world government work can be confronted with the problem.

Another One for the 'Myth' File —

Republican candidates rolled up thumping victories in Michigan's spring elections the other day. With majorities as high as 90,000, they captured the state highway commissioner, state superintendent of public instruction, state board of education, University of Michigan board of regents and state board of agriculture posts.

The election has received nationwide attention. Observers are offering all kinds of explanations. For instance, GOP National Chairman Hugh Scott sees the results as showing "the people now realize they bought a gold brick last November." The voters, Scott continues, have expressed "their disgust with the Truman administration's incompetence which is paraded before the world every day on Capitol Hill."

Other Republican circles have been crowing "repudiation of Democrat - labor - socialism," "repudiation of Truman" and so forth. From the other side of the fence, Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams — who won an upset victory last November — conceded "surprise and disappointment" at this week's election outcome.

Williams' statement makes the whole affair look like an upset, as many are claiming. But Michigan is normally Republican — with the Democrats holding only Detroit. Even when the state turned out Republican Kim Sigler and made Williams governor last November, it elected a GOP legislature, re-elected Republican Senator Ferguson and gave its electoral votes to Dewey.

The November outcome was hardly a mandate for President Truman and the Democrats. In turn, this week's results could not conceivably be a repudiation of such a mandate. True, Gov. Williams won with strong Detroit labor backing and after his election labor went out to topple the traditional GOP regime in the state posts at stake in this week's elections.

If the governor is "surprised and disappointed," it can be only because the Democratic labor forces overestimated their ability to swing the entire state.

But the claim that a GOP victory in Michigan is a solid repudiation of President Truman can be filed with other political myths, like, "As Maine goes, so goes the nation."

Local Responsibility Has Its Chance —

The new plan for local option on rent controls has been heralded by President Truman as a blow to the real estate bloc.

The real estate bloc seems to be rolling with the punch and winding up for a blow of its own. Because whatever induced the congress to get out from under rent control, the fact remains that many local real estate groups are comparatively more powerful than their national lobbying counterpart.

There should be a plea made to the people to understand the new local option plan — that it does not mean congress has given rent controls the heave-ho. This new plan does not mean that local groups are bound to drop rent controls. Quite to the contrary, the local rent groups are bound by this new plan to hold controls when necessary.

While there has been no concerted effort revealed here to drop rent controls, such a move may well come. This city has a large number of married students searching for housing each semester — has a large printing industry moving in — will have nearby construction projects increasing the demand for housing.

Home building and rental unit building has not expanded in any proportion to the housing demand. There is little to indicate that building will be increased if rent controls are removed.

So the people of Iowa City can only ask their rent control officials to assume the responsibility which was too much for congress to take on itself.

'Praiseworthy Endeavor' — Critic Lauds Work In Olivier's Hamlet

Jean Simmons, Olivier in 'Hamlet' 'The Play's the Thing'

By BOB SENNISH
Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet" is a praiseworthy endeavor. Olivier has brought to modern audiences in a popular art form a play which is forever being raved about but which seldom gets produced. The challenges which inhere in production technique, casting, interpretation, and commercial value are, in themselves, sufficiently overwhelming to make mismanagement of any would-be producer's intentions.

Such has not exactly been the case with the plucky Sir Laurence. If anything, he has made mince-meat of "Hamlet." He has been what purists may term both disrespectful and willy-nilly in his inclination to add this, omit that, put second things first, and generally streamline the play in the interests of modern design. He has, in short, given and taken away.

For this and other varieties of mischief — making purists will doubtless throw the book at Olivier. But for those of us who are not so pure, the movie remains one of the grandest dramatic experiences ever to have reached the screen. Furthermore, keeping in mind the everyday varieties of cinematic garbage, it becomes an unconscionable violence to debunk Olivier's endeavor to bring Shakespeare to "the people."

The use of deep-focus photography sets up and sustains the mood of the play. The castle at Elsinore becomes at once a place of inexact geography, accessible to the imagination alone. The camera beam moves restlessly from one chamber to another, down damp corridors and up mist-shrouded stairs, along dripping wet battlements and to the sea-beaten rocks below. It hovers uncertainly over groups of people in conversation and seems to move like an uncertain character itself within the drafty-stone-cold labyrinth of Elsinore.

In the same way and along the same corridors moves the undecided Dane. Because of copious slashing, Olivier's Hamlet does not have quite as much to decide upon as Shakespeare's. And because Olivier has written down the implications of Hamlet's conflict for popular consumption, his Hamlet is beset by considerably fewer slings and arrows than Shakespeare's.

In keeping with these modifications, Olivier has not exploited and developed the role of Hamlet to its fullest. His Hamlet is great as far as he goes — which isn't going the limit. I feel that Olivier has been over-cautious in his desire to give the public no more than it can take. By playing down his role he shears from his man much of that sullied flesh which underlies the rapport between actor and audience — however unaware of the implications the audience may be.

But Olivier is excellent within his own limits. He understands the lines he speaks and steers intelligently clear of idle declamation. In developing Hamlet as a lorn and solitary figure, he speaks his lines sometimes in a monotone of indifference which approaches bitterness but which clinches the basic hopelessness.

He plays fast and loose with the liberties of the screen. Many of the soliloquys are delivered in a stream-of-consciousness motif. The words come over the sound — track as Olivier thinks them — without moving his lips. But he frequently interrupts this method with an exclamatory line such as "perchance to dream: ay, there's the rub." Technically this is fine, but I found myself missing the speeches for trying to dope out which phrases would be spok-

SUI Doctors Edit 'Journal'

Seven SUI doctors edited and wrote the scientific portion of the April edition of the Journal of the Iowa State Medical Society, which annually invites the college of medicine to supply the issue's material.

The theme for the scientific section was on heart disease, with articles written by Dr. L. E. January, Dr. W. B. Bean and Dr. J. L. Ehrenhalt.

Dr. M.H. Soley, dean of the college of medicine, wrote the introductory message to the journal, citing "this spirit of cooperation between all elements of medical practice" which can supply "the optimum amount and quality of medical service to our common objective, the individual patient."

The magazine, in an editorial, complemented the editors of the issue. Dr. L. E. January, chairman, Doctors J. S. Gottlieb, E. W. Scheldrup and C. H. Millikan were to be "congratulated for maintaining the high standards that one of these special issues exemplifies," the editorial said.

Two SUI doctors were honored in the state medical magazine. The issue was dedicated to Dr. C.E. Van Epps and Dr. Arthur Stendler. The article termed Dr. Stendler "as one of the most respected and admired men of our time."
Of Dr. Epps the dedicatory message said, "his philosophy of kindness, and pleasure in honest effort has been passed on to hundreds of men and women who have studied with him through the years."

ANCE in telephone, cut to my... bulging and... carried... caught... is the... it has... There must be something illegal about that. They should have consulted me first.

THE BUSINESS started back 1929 when the sovereign state of Iowa learned that it did not own even one elephant. You can imagine the consternation felt by responsible persons when that fact got mouthed around.

"What! Iowa has no elephant?" they cried. "This state is getting so far behind times, I'm all for moving out."

There was no room in the budget that year for an elephant appropriation. Officials tried to laugh it off but the people wouldn't forget the idea. They had to have an elephant... so they called upon the children.

That is how I became partner-owner in the first elephant this state ever owned.

PUBLICITY campaigns began to roll, and before you could say sabu, my dime was on its way to the state capitol. I was a wild-cat investor in those days.

My partners in this venture were 30,000 other youngsters with hot dimes in their pockets. Oh, for those carefree days once more.

I can't recall ever having seen an elephant before the venture started. It just seemed like a good, sound business operation... bought into the deal sight-unseen.

WHEN ALL the investors had sent in their money, a $3,000 elephant called Baby Mine was purchased and placed on exhibition at the state fair.

Baby Mine was a little girl elephant, but I never would have known the difference if a kind old lady hadn't told me. For many years she was placed on exhibit for us investors during state fair week.

She was a friendly elephant, and scarcely ever trampled anyone. On Children's day at the fair, thousands of small fry would line to pet Baby Mine, feed her peanuts and have their pictures taken beside the animal.

THE IMAGE of Baby Mine as she looked the first time I saw her is still fixed in my mind. Having never seen an elephant before, there were two things which impressed me most.

My first thought concerned the size of her feet. Even an adolescent elephant shouldn't have feet that large.

The second impression followed the first quite closely. I learned that Baby Mine was not exactly a lady, and I thought at the time that for $3,000 we could have at least gotten an elephant which was house broken.

MONDAY'S dispatch carried the word that Baby Mine was sold in 1942 to a circus for $750. If it had been a trade-in on a new elephant, I could see taking this loss, but the way it stands I'd say that the state fair board should have waited for the market to take an upward trend.

And so, the elephant which was once the toast of Children's day started on the downhill trail of a has-been. No more photographs... no more peanuts... just hard, degrading manual labor.

THE MOST distasteful blow is yet to fall. It was announced recently that Baby Mine is now listed as one of several prizes on a radio give-away show.

This is, without a doubt, the most shameful end an elephant ever came to, and I want my dime back.

FBI Contact In Communist Party Testifies

NEW YORK (AP)—A young man who joined the Communist party five years ago with the FBI's blessing was a surprise witness yesterday in the conspiracy trial of 11 top Communists.

Herbert A. Philbrick, Melrose, Mass., said he joined the Communist party in March, 1944 and had belonged to the Young Communist league for two years before that.

He said he had been "in continuous touch with the FBI" for the last nine years.

Defense Objections
The defense counsel, apparently amazed at the calling of a witness who holds a current membership card in the Communist party, bombarded the court with objections to almost every question asked the witness.

Philbrick, an assistant advertising director of a chain of motion picture houses, testified calmly that he is a member of the professional group, district No. 1, of the Communist party in Massachusetts. He said the group totalled some 70 persons.

Split for Security
Under questioning Philbrick said the group split up "for security purposes" into units of five persons each "at the time the Mundt-Nixon (Communist control) bill was before Congress," sometime prior to Jan. 1, 1948.

Later that year, he said, the group discussed "mobilizations" at a meeting led by a girl known only as "Martha" and a man named "Pete," both from the state Communist office.

"Mobilizations"
"Martha stated that the purpose of the mobilizations was to enable us to get together quickly in case of an emergency," Philbrick testified.

In the summer of 1940, Philbrick said, he was chairman of the Cambridge, Mass., youth council and discussed that group with the FBI. In March, 1942, he joined the Young Communist league, after talking it over first with FBI agents.

WSUI Schedules Barrett Orchestra

A new program featuring the music of the Larry Barrett orchestra will be broadcast by radio station WSUI, each Saturday afternoon from 2:30 to 3:00, beginning April 9. Richard Setberger, WSUI assistant program director, said the public is invited to come to the studio and watch the show.

The orchestra is Barrett's new organization with Grant Eastman as vocalist and with a rhythm section composed of a piano, guitar, bass, saxophone, three trombones and Barrett's trumpet.

Dave Stashower, A2, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, will produce and direct the show.

Demonstrates Housewife's Latest Aid

PRESSURE-PROPELLED WHIPPED CREAM was demonstrated yesterday by Mrs. Grace Peters to customers in a local delicatessen. Betty Malick, A4, home economics student, munched a sample of the new product and heard about the latest addition to the housewife's list of handy helpers.

Whipped Cream Jet-Propelled

New Canned Product Features Plastic Valve That Operates by Gas Pressure
Iowa City housewives can add jet-propelled whipped cream to the list of modern mechanized products in their kitchens.

"Redi-Wip," a canned unit of fresh whipped cream, entered the market here yesterday. The new product features a plastic valve for dispensing by gas pressure, mounds of the dessert-lovers' delight. And it's as easy as discharging a water pistol.

The science of the new whipped cream product is simple. Cans are filled with fresh cream and a mixture of carbon dioxide and nitrous gas. A specially designed gasket with the plastic spout releases whipped cream after the can is shaken and inverted.

The Iowa City dairyman said the carbon dioxide gas prevents bacteria from forming in the cream since the oxygen is smothered.

The idea for jet-propelled whipped cream was originated by a clothing salesman in Florida three years ago, according to Swaner. A group of businessmen experimented with a seltzer bottle and someone said, "Too bad you can't get whipped cream with the same use of carbon dioxide."

The new product will be demonstrated at all food stores in Iowa City, Swaner said. Yesterday customers at the Food Shop delicatessen tasted samples of the new whipped cream product and watched Mrs. Grace Peters demonstrate its use.

"All you do is shake the container, turn it upside down, and press sideways on the plastic spout," she pointed out, "and you get whatever amount of whipped cream you want."

The new product will be demonstrated at all food stores in Iowa City, Swaner said. Yesterday customers at the Food Shop delicatessen tasted samples of the new whipped cream product and watched Mrs. Grace Peters demonstrate its use.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ABE BURROWS, the creator of that fabulous character, "Two-Headed Gruskin, has added another incident to the saga. "Old Two-Head was dining at Chasen's" Burrows, "craming beefsteak into one mouth, and turkey into the other, when beautiful Virginia Mayo sa-shayed by. "Hi, Virginia," cried Two-Head, but she looked right through him, and cut him dead. "Dawgons," muttered Two-Head to his friend, "I bet she didn't recognize me."

Charlie MacArthur tells of the ham actor who was jailed on a counterfeiting charge, and complained to the warden, "My personality is being crushed here. You have taken away my illustrious name and given me a mere number." The warden, who was in a good humor, said, "If it will make you happier, we'll give you a new number." The ham actor, mollified, conceded, "I guess the old one will do—but could you possibly put it in italics?"

Rent Office to Have Control In Evictions, Director Says

The rent control office is back in the eviction business under the provisions of the new rent law, Area Rent Director T.J. Wilkinson said yesterday. Any tenant who is being required to leave his rental premises should get in touch with the rent office, he said.

Under the new law, certificates must be issued by the rent office to validate any eviction action, Wilkinson said.

Under the 1948 law, courts had exclusive jurisdiction over evictions. Any eviction action taken before April 1 does not come under the provisions of the certificate system, Wilkinson explained.

Eviction action begun after April 1 will require a certificate from the rent office, Wilkinson said. "The rent office will issue certificates in proper cases and then the court may proceed legally to grant eviction judgments," he said.

Eviction grounds under the new federal law for which rent office certificates of eviction are required are occupancy by the owner, occupancy by a contract-purchaser, alterations or remodeling, if the landlord is a tax-exempt organization or withdrawal from the rental market.

A 90-day notice to vacate is required normally. But in cases of certain violations, neither eviction certificate nor the full notice period is required.

The violations and notice periods are (1) non-payment of rent—three days; (2) violating substantial obligation of tenancy—10 days; (3) nuisance or illegal or immoral use of the property—10 days; (4) tenants' refusal of access to the landlord—one month; (5) accommodations entirely sublet—two months, and (6) if the landlord is a state or political subdivision—two months.

Eviction actions in which no certificates are needed require notice of eviction between landlord and tenant, duplicate copies of which must be filed in the rent office within 24 hours, Wilkinson said.

No printed forms are available on which tenants can report circumstances concerning their evictions, the rent director said, but "for the present we ask that eviction matters be brought to our attention by letter, with a statement of all the facts," he added.

Six SUI Students To Give Speeches In Contest Finals

Six SUI students will speak in the finals of the Hancher Oratorical contest tonight at 8:15 in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

Finalists in the contest, and the speeches they will present, are Reid Digges, A3, Iowa City, "Doctor America"; Georgianna Edwards, A4, Richmond, Ind., "With- in You and Me."

Robert Jeffrey, A3, Iowa City, "The Quick and the Dead"; Sherwin Markman, A4, Des Moines, "A Working Solution"; George McBurney, A3, Council Bluffs, "The Road Back"; and Gilbert Pearlman, A2, Des Moines, "Shadow of a Doubt."

Judges for the final contest will be Prof. A. Craig Baird, Prof. Orville Hitchcock and Prof. H.C. Harshbarger, all of the SUI speech department, and Prof. Hugh Kelso of the political science department.

Sponsored by SUI President Virgil M. Hancher, the contest consists of speeches of 1,200 to 1,500 words on any significant subject. President Hancher will preside at the finals tonight.

Miss Reich to Address Conference at Chicago

Helen Reich, assistant director of student affairs at SUI, will discuss scholarship activities at the annual meeting of the National Association of Deans of Women in Chicago April 18-21.

Miss Reich's paper will be based on the replies of 121 deans and advisers on campuses where there are college Panhellenic chapters.

Chorus and Orchestra —

Easter Concert 'Inspiring'

— Present 'Requiem'

By DONALD KEY

The great "Requiem" by Johannes Brahms, and "Benedicite" by R. Vaughn Williams as performed by the combined SUI chorus and orchestra, provided music for the Easter holidays that was both reverent and inspiring.

A near capacity audience gathered last night at the Iowa union to enjoy the most outstanding concert of the year by these groups.

Rich choral tone, and a subdued but balanced orchestral accompaniment brought out the full excellence of the music throughout the program. And, adding to the listeners' delight were two outstanding solo voices, that of Penny Dykstra and Harry Morrison.

In the "Requiem," the chorus found a complete range of dynamics, from piano to double forte, the latter being sung with full roundness of tone.

"How Lovely is Thy Dwelling Place," the most famous chorus of the work, was performed in complete sympathy with the lyric and singing style of Brahms.

If any fault could be found with the rendition of this composition, it would be in the fugue "Worthy Art Thou" which comes late in the sixth number. The parts, in chorus and orchestra, were not at all times clear, and one had the impression this section was being performed too loudly.

However, this minor, for the work in general, was done with understanding and perfection.

The performance of the "Benedicite" by Ralph Vaughn Williams took up the last half of the concert. It seems to me that this work was not done quite as well as the Brahms, yet, it was performed well.

The difficult rhytmical passages were presented accurately, and the total effect of the number was jubilant and spirited.

SUI Student Lobby For FEPC Action To Leave for DM

A lobbying delegation will leave the SUI campus this morning for Des Moines to ask members of the house sifting committee to calendar the Sloane-O'Malley FEPC bill for this session of the legislature.

The original lobbying trip, scheduled for last Friday, was postponed when Ken Everhart, contact man in Des Moines for the Iowa Committee for FEPC, told the local group that the sifting committee had not been appointed by the house speaker.

Everhart called Bill Davis, acting chairman of the Iowa Committee for FEPC, yesterday telling him that the group should make initial contacts with members of the sifting committee today.

The Sloane-O'Malley bill, recently reported out of the labor committee, is now waiting the decision of the sifting committee to calendar the bill for this session.

After today's trip, a follow-up delegation is tentatively scheduled to leave early next week, Davis said.

Students leaving for Des Moines include: John Sherer, A1, Hampton; George Gaekle, A3, Des Moines; Ernie Miller, E2, Chariton; Pat Lounsbury, A3, Des Moines; and Bill Davis, A3, Burlington.

Two Deaths Reported By Hospital Officials

Two deaths were reported by University hospital officials yesterday.

Edith Wright, Charles City, and Charles Pitney, Farmington, both died Wednesday at 8:30 a.m. Miss Wright, 78, was admitted March 18 and Pitney was admitted March 14.

Prof. Roberts to Speak —

Club to Hold State Day at SUI

Prof. Hew Roberts of the education department will speak at the luncheon highlighting the home economics clubs' State day here Saturday, Janice Payne, SUI home economics club publicity chairman announced yesterday. Roberts' topic will be "Thoughts in a Comfortable Room."

Representatives from 11 Iowa colleges will attend the annual convention designed to stimulate interest in home economics organizations and to encourage exchange of ideas among the clubs, Miss Payne said.

The colleges to be represented include Briar Cliff, Central, Cornell, Iowa State Teachers, Iowa State, Iowa Wesleyan, Morning-side, Simpson, University of Dubuque, Upper Iowa university and SUI.

The State day activities will open with registration, followed by a business meeting at 9:30 a.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. The meeting will be conducted by Helen Danner, Iowa City, state president of the home economics clubs.

Other state officers attending the meetings are Yvonne Wander, Fayette, vice president; Nancy Johnson, Ames, secretary, and Phyllis Bennett, SUI home economics instructor and advisor for

Fellowship Names Bell as President

Ruel Bell, A2, Nichols, was elected president of the Congregational church United Student fellowship for a one year term beginning next fall.

Other new officers announced by Student Director Grace Hadley were Elizabeth McQuade, A2, Iowa Falls, vice president and membership chairman; Sally Shaffer, A1, Iowa City, secretary, and Roger Grove, A3, Maquoketa, treasurer.

Dates by Want Ads —

Advertising Didn't Pay

Three Hillcresters who tried to get dates to the Tri-dorm dance by advertising are willing to admit that while advertising may pay, it isn't too much help in getting dates.

This is the ad that the date-hungry Hillcrest males ran in Monday's Daily Iowan classified section:

"Girls, attention. Exceptional opportunity! Three Hillcrest men desire female companions for the Tri-dorm dance. Phone qualifications. Ext. 3519 after 10 a.m. Tuesday."

Did anyone call? The Hillcresters say they were swamped — over 20 phone interviews in all.

One of the three Hillcrest men was somewhat skeptical though. He said, "I'm afraid some of the girls that called us were frauds."

The boys did make a date over the phone to meet four coeds in front of Old Capitol last night to arrange details of their dance date. The fellows showed up, but the four coeds didn't.

But now the happy ending to the story. All three of the Hillcresters are going to the dance and all will be escorting dates.

How did they get the dates? "In the legitimate way," one of the advertisers admitted, adding, "I guess asking them is the best way after all."

Here's why we say—

"Permalube is 10 ways better"

—the all-round long-lasting motor oil"

TO BE CLASSIFIED as premium, a motor oil must have certain proved qualities designated by the American Petroleum Institute. In simple terms, a premium motor oil must be fortified against harmful changes during use—changes which cause varnish, sludge, and bearing corrosion.

When you buy Permalube, you get a motor oil that fully meets these requirements—and then goes out and beats them 10 ways! It's the all-round, long-lasting, premium-plus motor oil.

In the engine of your car, Permalube never quits. It's long on mileage and short on acid-forming tendency. It actually keeps your engine clean. It fights heat, it wards off wear and greatly lengthens engine life. It cuts oil consumption to the bone!

When you buy premium-price oil, why not get premium-plus quality?

PERMALUBE has these "premium-plus" qualities: 1. low oil consumption; 2. superior break-in ability; 3. maximum engine cleanliness; 4. minimum ring sticking; 5. increased effective filter life; 6. minimum combustion-chamber carbon; 7. protection against engine wear; 8. exceptional cold-engine performance; 9. good control of water sludge; 10. protection against foaming.
