See Legislative Compromise On SUI's Allotment Requests

DES MOINES (AP)—Appropriation subcommittees of the house and senate have proposed to compromise the deadlock over allotments for state board of education institutions by recommending $16,973,183 a year for the next biennium.

This is $400,000 a year higher than the level subcommittees previously had been discussing. Their action requires the approval of the full appropriation committees before a budget bill can be presented to the legislature.

The legislature has adjourned over the weekend and submission of a budget is expected to await formal action Monday.

Disagreement
The subcommittees have been in disagreement as to how much to recommend for the University of Iowa. The university has been the principal stumbling block since board of education members and university officials claimed they needed more money than present operating limits provide.

The subcommittee plan which must clear through full committee action and then be subject to floor amendments calls for this division:

University of Iowa: $8,246,756 annually, as compared with its request for $12,762,909 and Governor William S. Beardsley's recommendation of $6,880,300. This budget would include the university and all of its hospital and related activities.

Iowa State college, $5,250,000, compared with askings of $8,070,000 and the Governor's recommendation of $3,990,000.

State Teachers college at Cedar Falls, $2,234,427 as compared with askings of $2,903,427 and the Governor's recommendation of $1,311,700.

Auditor's Check
Earlier yesterday it was revealed that auditors sent to the University of Iowa by Gov. William S. Beardsley in connection with the legislative dispute over the university's new budget have reported that the institution will have a free balance of $1,912,910 in its accounts at the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1949.

This was disclosed by the auditor at a news conference today. The auditor said that the university had a free balance of $1,878,560 on June 30, 1947.

The auditor's report shows that although the university experienced an increase in its expenditures of $856,459 during the year 1948-49, its free balance over the two-year period was increased by $36,451.

This would indicate that with the current amount available for operating costs the university, while it has sustained an increase in expenditures, also has been able to maintain its operations and show an increase in its balance," the governor said.

Burma War Flares Again

RANGOON, BURMA (AP)—Burma's civil war flared up with new fury last night on the approaches to Rangoon after Karen rebels in Insein failed to surrender as scheduled.

For nine hours after the surrender deadline Burmese commanders waited in vain for some word from the Karens. Then government planes and artillery opened up again against the insurgents' lines in Insein, 10 miles north of Rangoon. The fighting ended a three-day cease-fire there.

While the government's attention was directed on Insein, a combined force of Karens and Communists seized Twante, a canal town 15 miles southwest of Rangoon. A Burmese communique announced the loss of Twante.

The bulletin said government forces scored a victory 70 miles northwest of Rangoon. In that sector Burmese units and members of the White band of the People's Volunteer organization (PVO), fighting in this case on the side of the government, gained control of Henzada. The town is an important rice center on the Irrawaddy river.

Hawaiian Volcano Erupts Following 3-Month Rest
HONOLULU (AP)—Mauna Loa began erupting again yesterday, almost three months to the day after the ancient volcano blew its top in its most spectacular display of pyrotechnics in three decades.

A fiery display of lava flows and lava bomb explosions were reported breaking out in the huge crater on the island of Hawaii.

Coast Guard Finds Missing Boat Safe After Mass Search

MIAMI, FLA. (AP)—A coast guard amphibian plane reported yesterday the missing schooner Keewatin, object of a mass search by air and sea, was anchored off Spanish cays in the Bahamas islands and was in "no distress."

The amphibian, one of 29 planes assigned to the search, passed over the Keewatin and the yacht Lazy Jack which also had been missing and was with the Keewatin when the latter sailed out of Nassau, Bahamas, April 1.

Assumed Safe
The coast guard assumed the four persons aboard the Keewatin, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parrot and their two sons of Manchester, Mass., were in no distress. The plane circled low over the schooner and dropped a message block, which was picked up, asking those aboard to signal if they needed aid. No signals were hoisted, and those aboard waved to the pilot.

A report from a merchant ship that it had sighted a "derelict" schooner off Charleston, S.C., Thursday had led friends of the Parrots to fear they had been swept overboard in rough weather, leaving their two boys locked in a cabin below decks.

Explains "Derelict"
But the skipper of the schooner, "Windfall" said his was the "derelict" seen by a tanker three days ago. He told the coast guard at Norfolk, Va., his boat looked like a "derelict" because all its crew were seasick below decks.

Two-Day Rebellion Ends in Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY (AP)—A two-day "subversive movement" in northern Guatemala near the Mexican border has been crushed completely, the government announced yesterday.

Malacatan and El Carmen, two small towns in San Marcos department, were retaken by government troops after a brief occupation by the rebels who fled without attempting to fight.

There was no actual contact between the troops and the rebels, the announcement said.

Gustavo Adolfo Traganay, self-styled "supreme commander of the anti-Communist army," had occupied Malacatan for a short while and appointed Gumersindo Garcia as local commander. Garcia and other "civilian authorities" were arrested when government forces entered the town.

Conservatives Cut Laborite's Majority

LONDON (AP)—The Conservative party wiped out yesterday the 56-seat Laborite majority in the London county council, second most important governing body in Britain.

Final returns from the county election Thursday gave the conservatives and Laborites 64 seats apiece and one seat to a Liberal, Sir Percy Harris. The Communists lost their representation.

The old council, elected in 1946, had 90 Laborites, 30 Conservatives, two Liberals and two Communists.

Li Offers Life for China Peace
NANKING, CHINA (AP)—Acting President Li Tsung-jen, in a dramatic move to save the crumbling peace negotiations, offered his life to Communist Leader Mao Tze-tung yesterday as atonement for past government mistakes.

Li quoted an ancient Chinese proverb that he was willing to be "boiled in oil or dismembered" if that would end the 22-year-old civil war that has prostrated China and threatens to sweep across the Yangtze river to the Southern provinces.

Li's desperate move came as the Communists reportedly brought up artillery to shell Nanking from across the Yangtze and

U.S., Britain, France to Abolish Military Rule in West Germany

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France ended their long wrangle over Germany yesterday with a historic decision to abolish military rule of the western zones and retain only limited controls over the proposed new German federal republic.

Military governors will be replaced by civilian high commissioners, though the occupation armies will remain for an indefinite period.

The agreement concluded a momentous week in the history of the cold war and ended the last great split among the western powers on a major international police question.

Tactical Move
It set a goal for Germany's full fledged return to the family of nations. As a tactical move in the struggle with Russia, this appeared likely to count as a major achievement toward persuading the German people that their best chances for the future lie with the western nations rather than with the Soviet bloc.

Secretary of State Acheson expressed belief that the German agreement and other recent events had provided grounds for increased hope of an eventual settlement with Russia.

He explained his belief this way: There had been a vacuum of weakness in western Europe, but now the vacuum was being filled with strength by reason of European recovery and the development of the north Atlantic defense treaty.

Asked by newsmen whether Russia could join in the German settlement, he said he saw no reason why not, if Russia desired to.

Hardens Split
Actually, however, it seemed to many experts that the immediate effect is to harden the split between the eastern and western sections of Germany, whatever the long-range effects may be.

It was British Foreign Minister

Bevin, holding a hasty news conference at the state department, who declared that the agreement marked the end of a "most momentous week." The week opened Monday when the United States, Britain and France joined with nine smaller nations to sign the north Atlantic defense treaty.

Moreover, there was another major event yesterday — the first disclosure of arrangements between the United States and western European governments for the proposed military assistance program which President Truman intends to present to congress soon.

Eight of the European signers of the Atlantic treaty formally notified the state department that they would need American arms to strengthen their forces and American dollars to help step up their own military production.

Russia Vetoes Korea's UN Bid
LAKE SUCCESS (UP)—Russia cast her 30th veto in the United Nations yesterday, blocking Korea's bid for membership. Jacob A. Malik, permanent Soviet Delegate, solemnly held up his hand at the end of a 2-3/4-hour discussion before the UN security council and thus barred approval of the Application of the American-backed government of southern Korea.

The vote was 9 to 2. The Ukraine's Vassily Tarassenko joined Malik in voting against Korea's admission.

Earlier, the steering committee of the general assembly moved Israel one step closer to becoming the UN's 59th member by sending its application direct to the assembly floor, by-passing mandatory consideration in committee consideration first.

It was the 31st veto cast in security council proceedings. The only one not cast by Russia was cast by France on Aug. 25, 1947, on a Russian proposal for a security council cease-fire commission in Indonesia.

It was the first veto cast since last Dec. 15 when Malik blocked responsibility and punishment for historical mistakes likely to affect the peace negotiations, such as the war criminal issue.

Mao's eight terms, which in themselves amounted to demand for unconditional surrender, asked punishment of Kuomintang "war criminals" including retired Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and Li Tsung-jen.

It was understood last night the Communists had expressed willingness to make some concessions in their surrender terms in view of Li's appeal, but still insisted on a final government reply by April 12.

Senate Passes Foreign Aid Bill

Witness Says MIT Teacher A Communist

NEW YORK (AP)—A "voluntary worker" for the FBI in the Communist party yesterday named a Massachusetts Institute of Technology professor as a discussion leader in a party professional group.

However, the professor, Dr. J. Struik, declared at Cambridge, "I am not a Communist" but a "Marxist in the broadest sense."

The witness, Herbert A. Philbrick, 33-year-old advertising man, said Struik attended meetings of the professional group in the Boston area and summed up its studies of Lenin's "state and revolution."

He was testifying at the federal court conspiracy trial of 11 leaders of the American Communist party.

Taught Overthrow
Philbrick said the professional group was taught it was essential to overturn the U.S. government by force and set up a dictatorship of the workers. Struik asserted he had never advocated overthrow of the government.

The advertising man, who lives at Melrose, Mass., also told the jury about clandestine contacts with government agents to tip them off to party moves and the web of precautions spun to hide his role from party officials and members.

Expenses Paid
He said the FBI paid all his expenses, including his party dues and rental charges on a dictating machine used for his reports. But he asserted he received no pay and did his undercover job voluntarily.

The MIT professor, a mathematician, said Philbrick, "put words in my mouth I never said" and asserted "never at any time nor in any form have I ever advocated the overthrow of the government."

Tot Burned Critically
When Clothing Ignites
CENTERTVILLE, IOWA (AP)—Pearlie King, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville King, south of Centerville, was burned critically yesterday.

Mrs. King said she heard the child, who was in the yard, screaming. Most of his clothing had been burned off when she reached him, she said. The mother said she had no idea how his clothes had become ignited.

The Prof Forgot

CINCINNATI (AP)—A University of Cincinnati faculty member has joined the ranks of the legendary absent minded professors — because of two articles of clothing.

The professor — whose name was withheld — attended a university student sale of lost and found articles. He hung his coat and hat on a rack among the "for sale" items. A UC employee happened along and liked the coat and hat, handed a student a dollar and walked off with the clothing.

The mistake was corrected later. The professor got back his coat and hat and the employee his dollar.

Female Impersonator Arrested in England Says He's Deserter

BURTONWOOD, ENGLAND (AP)—A female impersonator who performed a fire eating act in English music halls and was described as a "red hot mama," confessed yesterday he was a deserter from the U.S. army.

The fire eater was reportedly turned in to Newcastle police by one of his many English girl friends whom he jilted.

Officials were checking with deservent's files in Washington on whether "Miss Donna Delbert" actually was Pfc. Delbert E. Hill of Philadelphia. He gave his age as 36.

The airforce provost marshal's office in Wiesbaden, Germany, said it had a Pfc. Delbert E. Hill listed as absent without leave from a British airbase since Nov. 19, 1945. The serial number was listed as 33108888 — same as the one given by "Miss" Delbert.

If the man's identity is proved he will face a court martial within a month, either here or in the United States.

He was said to have told army authorities following his arrest Thursday that he deserted his airforce ground job in the summer of 1945 for fear of being transferred to the Pacific theatre.

Military police at the Burtonwood airbase removed his female padding, along with a woman's blouse, slacks, nylons and women's sandals.

An army barber took a look at his shoulder-length dark curly hair and gave him a G.I. haircut. MP's were not able, however, to alter his plucked eyebrows and dainty varnished nails.

Truman's Bill Escapes Cuts In 70-7 Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new $5,580,000,000 program to spur European recovery over the next 15 months was approved by the senate yesterday.

The vote was 70 to 7. In an eleventh-hour burst of speed, the senate wound up 13 days of debate to clear the measure without a single major change from the legislation requested by President Truman.

The bill now goes to the house, where a similar measure has already been approved by the house foreign affairs committee. Later, the actual money to tide the 16 Marshall plan nations over until June 30, 1950, will have to be considered by the appropriations committee and voted by both chambers.

"Authorization"
The measure the senate passed yesterday is an "authorization" bill, setting a limit on the fund, but not actually appropriating the money.

House administration leaders immediately called the house into an unusual Saturday session at noon today to speed that chamber's action on the authorization.

The administration's overwhelming victory in the final vote for passage in the senate surpassed even the most optimistic forecasts of Democratic leaders.

Only one Democrat, Senator Ellender (La.), voted against it. Six Republicans also voted "no." They were senators Butler (Neb.), Capehart (Ind.), Jenner (Ind.), Kern (Mo.), Langer (ND) and Wherry (Neb.).

No Major Changes
Administration forces successfully beat off every attempt to make a major change in the bill, starting with thumping defeats of Republican-led efforts to slash as much as $2.5-billion off the measure. As passed, not a cent was whittled off the amount asked by President Truman.

However, economy-minded senators have made it clear they will seek new cuts when the actual money bill comes up.

Driving at the fastest clip they have set since the debate opened March 23, the lawmakers cleared away 10 amendments in five hours to reach the final vote. They had been warned by administration lieutenants that the senate would be kept in session all night until the vote was taken.

Taxi Driver Strike Ends in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A week-old strike of taxi drivers was called off yesterday.

When the official end of the strike was announced, police estimated 90 percent of the city's 11,000-odd cabs already were back on the streets. The number had increased daily.

Walter Brock, union regional director who ordered the walkout ended, said the strike to seek union recognition had proved that the drivers "have a union."

"The operators in due time will be forced to recognize the organization," he said.

Grand Jury Indicts Richard H. Crowe

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard H. Crowe, civic leader who admitted taking $884,660 from the vault of the bank where he was a trusted employe, was indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on four counts which could put him in prison for 45 years.

The indictment charged Crowe, with violating three federal laws, including the national bank robbery act, which applies to common bank robbers.

Crowe will be arraigned in federal court next Monday. It was expected a trail date would be set then.

Locomotive Rams Freight: One Man Killed

ONE MAN DIED yesterday when this diesel locomotive (right) rammed into the rear of a freight train on the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad near Chicago. The impact reduced the freight caboose to splinters (center), killing Conductor Henry Carlson. A freight car behind the caboose was pushed high in the air. The freight was stopped at a signal when the accident occurred.

Geigel, Manuel Macias Gain in NCAA Meet

Perrin Loses In Last Seconds

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
CEDAR RAPIDS—SUI grapplers Bob Geigel and Manuel Macias last night qualified for the semifinal round in the National AAU tournament here. Seven other Hawkeyes fell by the way-side in the matches, which attracted 224 official and several late entries.

Semifinals will be held this afternoon with championships being decided tonight.

Iowa State Teachers college, Cornell college and Navy jumped to an early team leadership. Hawkeye Coach Mike Howard said, "It looks like ISTC or Cornell, with Navy close behind."

Varsity Heavyweight Geigel defeated John Gibson of Navy, 3-1. Geigel scored at the start and never was in trouble.

Macias, 121-pounder, defeated Charles Menzian of Champaign, 3-1, and William Dolan of Newton, N.J., 2-1 to qualify. Macias, a freshman from Davenport, officially was listed as unattached, a classification including freshmen and transfer students.

Browns Edge Cubs

DALLAS, (AP)—The St. Louis Browns capitalized on five errors yesterday to push across two unearned runs and defeat the Chicago Cubs, 4 to 2. The contest closed the spring series between the two clubs with the Cubs holding a 7-4 margin.

Dick Starr, ex-Yankee right hander, scattered six hits and Dutch Leonard gave up 10 as both went the route.

The Browns mixed three singles with an error by Roy Smalley for three runs in the eighth. They added another in the ninth when Gerry Priddy singled and Phil Cavaretta fumbled Jack Graham's grounder.

Tigers Triumph, 10-0

MEMPHIS, (AP)—Hal Newhouser pitched a four-hit shutout and Dick Wakefield blasted a home run yesterday as the Detroit Tigers walloped the Memphis Chickies of the Southern Association 10 to 0 in an exhibition baseball game.

ATLANTA (AP)—Now, a lady first baseman, on an otherwise all-male baseball team —

The first basewoman is Mrs. Vester Wisham, wife of a farmer living near Rochelle, Ga. She plays first for the Rochelle team league.

She played for six years on a woman's professional team in the Chicago area, before moving to Georgia. Mrs. Wisham bats and throws left-handed. And she wears the regulation uniform.

Benda beat Cloyce Smith of Cedar Falls, 1-0, and then was thrown by 45-year-old Douglas Lee of Central YMCA, Baltimore, in 7:39. Lee has played in 9 of the 13 AAU meets he's entered.

Varsity Heavyweight Junebug Perrin lost a 2-1 decision to Verne Gagne of Minnesota, who won in the last 10 seconds. Perrin suffered a cut eyelid and a skinned face.

Rus Sharp, 145-pound varsity grappler, was pinned in 5:40 by Keith Young, NCAA champion from ISTC.

In the afternoon unattached 128-pound Ken Carmen beat Kent Townley of Ames, 4-2. But he later lost to Russ Bush of ISTC, 6-1.

Cornell Man Wins

Phillip Dugan of Devenport high school clinched unattached Frank Klinzman, 121-pounder, 3-1.

SUI's Charles Mulstock, 175 pounder, lost to Al Partin of Cornell college, 1-0.

COLUMBIA, S.C., (AP)—Silent Johnny Sain went the full distance for the second time as the Boston Braves walloped the Columbia Reds of the Sally league, 11-4, yesterday.

Bucks' Official Says Hirose's Eligibility Never Questioned

COLUMBUS, (AP)—Dr. Wendel Postle, head of the eligibility committee at Ohio State University, said yesterday there was "no question" of the eligibility of Halo Hirose, Ohio State swimmer, for Big Nine conference competition.

"This is his fourth year, and under the freshman rule, his eligibility never has been questioned," Postle said.

Postle explained that Hirose was ruled out of the N.C.A.A. swimming meet at Chapel Hill, N.C., because he had participated in two national meets in Hawaii, but never for the University of Hawaii, where he had enrolled as a freshman.

"We don't think there will be any trouble," said Postle.

Other University sources said that the swimmer's eligibility never had been questioned in the Big Nine. They said no investigation had been made of the case.

The Smalley Stretch

BUCKING FOR REGULAR, Roy Smalley, Chicago Cub shortstop, shows his fine fielding from during a workout at Dallas, Smalley went up to the Cubs last year from Des Moines. He batted a meek .216 while riding the bench most of the season. But during spring training he's pounded out 10 home runs and he's expected to be a regular this year.

Mangrum, Keiser Tie In Masters

AUGUSTA, GA. (AP)—Herman Keiser, who putted his way into the 1946 Masters golf title, hit another hot putting streak yesterday and went into a tie with Lloyd Mangrum for the lead in the 1949 Masters tourney.

At the halfway mark of the 72-hole tourney over a course that is notable for its fast greens, Keiser and Mangrum each had totals of 143, one stroke under par.

Keiser needed only 27 putts on the 18 greens as he shot a second-round of 68, four par and the lowest so far in the tournament. He opened with a 75 Thursday. Mangrum, the first-day leader at 69, knocked in a 40-foot downhill putt on the home green yesterday for a 74 and a half share of the lead.

One stroke behind them came Johnny Palmer, the husky Badin, N.C., golfer who looks more like a football halfback. He had 73-71-144. Despite three putting lapses on the back nine today.

Byron of Roanoke, Texas, two times winner of the Masters; Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans; Joe Kirkwood, Jr., of Hollywood; Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N.Y., and Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N.C., made up the 145 Bracket.

Hawk 9 Faces Bradley Today To Open Eight-Day Road Trip

Twenty-two Hawkeye baseball players will leave this morning on the first leg of their annual spring baseball trip. Bradley will be the first opponent on the eight-game schedule which takes the squad into three states.

The Hawks will be in Peoria for the second game this week with Bradley. Wednesday they topped the Peoria club here 5-4 on a ninth-inning run. Wes Demro, who hurled only one inning, got credit for the victory.

The midwestern trip replaces the southern trip which could not but he probably would go along with one of the sophomores.

After Bradley, the Hawks will play Notre Dame Monday and Tuesday. Then they move to Kalamazoo for games Wednesday and Thursday with Western Michigan. East Lansing is the next stop with Michigan State on the schedule for Friday and Saturday.

After a single game with Monmouth on the following Monday the Hawks will return to Iowa City. Plans are in the making for a game at home before the conference opener with Illinois, April 22, but the game has not been definitely scheduled.

Vogel named eight pitchers, two catchers, seven infielders and five outfielders to make the trip. John Tedore, listed as an outfielder can also double as a catcher if necessary. He played right field and led off the batting order in the opener Wednesday.

be made this year because of schedule difficulties. Other opponents on the trip will be Notre Dame, Western Michigan, Michigan State and Monmouth.

Coach Otto Vogel yesterday said he would probably start either Jack Miller or Dick Orth against Bradley today. Vogel said his choice would probably depend a lot on the weather.

Braves' Brass Denies Seven Ex-Big Leaguers Tutor Manager-Player Feud

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Braves top front-office officials, with the exception of absent Lou Perini, club president, last night joined forces in denying that their players were feuding with Manager Billy Southworth.

Perini was said to be in Columbus, Ohio, on a business trip. "Reports of dissension are a complete surprise to me," said General Manager John Quinn. "I spent most of the training season with the club at Bradenton, Fla., and am in a position to know just what happened there. The confidence of the front office in Southworth is 100 percent. His relations with the players has been one of the secrets of his managerial success."

"I can't understand such a story being printed," said Vice-President Guido Rugo. "To me, he is the top man in his profession."

"I saw no evidence of any friction and I was in Bradenton for three weeks," added Treasurer Joe Maney.

Boston Record Columnist Dave Egan, who started the rumormongering at Savannah before the game and I'll say for the record right now that no manager and his players ever had a better and more sincere meeting."

Baseball writers with the club quoted the players named by Egan as follows:

Jim Russell: "This story is all news to me. I did come in late one night and Billy caught me. He gave me kind of a bawling out but he did not fine me."

Johnny Sain: "It is true that I don't have much to say to the boss (Southworth) because I do not mingle with my superiors. If I have anything to discuss with Billy I go to him. If he wants to talk to me, he comes to me. I'm a ballplayer and he's my manager. I'd be the same with any other manager."

Warren Spahn: "I never have entertained a thought about being traded."

Seven Ex-Big Leaguers Tutor Baseball Teams in Big Nine

CHICAGO, It's getting so you can't tell the Big Nine baseball coaches without a scorecard—a slightly age-stained scorecard, that is.

No fewer than seven former major-league players now are "professors" of the national pastime in the conference. One of the most illustrious, Freddy Lindstrom, made his head coaching debut yesterday.

Lindstrom, a 10-season star third sacker for the New York Giants, sent his Northwestern nine against Illinois, coached by another National leaguer, Wally Roettger. Illinois won, 2-1.

In fact, Outfielder Roettger and Lindstrom were Giant teammates in 1930, the year that Freddy hit .381, second highest mark for a right-handed batter in the league's history. Roettger also was a St. Louis Cardinal.

Besides Lindstrom, the Big Nine has another former professional third baseman making a head coaching start this season. He is Indiana's Ernie Andres, who started the 1948 season as the Boston Red Sox' regular hot-corner guard.

At Purdue, Ray Schalk of ironman catching fame with the Chicago White Sox again is the highly respected assistant of Head Coach Mel Taube. It is with no little pride that Schalk each spring abandons his big Chicago bowling plant to spruce up the Boiler-makers. Ray still holds the major-league record of eight seasons as best fielding catcher.

Michigan's Ray Fisher, the dean of Big Nine coaches with his 29th season coming up, harks back to the New York Highlanders, the predecessors of the Yankees. In his second start for the Highlanders, fresh out of Middlebury college, Pitcher Fisher was sent by George Stallings against Big Ed Walsh of the White Sox. Later, Ray hurled against Christy Mathewson of the Giants.

Up Minnesota way, Dick Siebert, former Philadelphia Athletics first sacker, begins his second term at the Gopher helm. Siebert, with plenty of playing ability apparently still left, surprised the baseball world several years ago by refusing to report to the St. Louis Browns after a deal by the A's.

Still a seventh conference coach with big-league background is Iowa's Otto Vogel, beginning his 22 Hawkeye season. Vogel played 71 games for the Chicago Cubs in 1924.

Michigan and Illinois are defending conference co-champions. The two-game set between Northwestern and Illinois yesterday and today at Champaign opens the championship season which does not hit full stride until the week-end of April 22-23.

Indians Blank Giants
SHREVEPORT (AP)—The Cleveland Indians shut out the New York Giants, 2-0 yesterday in an exhibition game highlighted by a home run by Allie Clark.
For five innings Bob Lemon and Mote Kennedy engaged in a scoreless pitching duel. Lemon yielded three safe blows and the Giants hurled only two.
In the sixth inning Thurman Tucker's double, an infield out and an outfield fly sent a Cleveland run across the plate. Clark's solo home run for the Indians came in the seventh.

Cards Coast, 6-2
NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals found the New Orleans Pelicans rather soft opposition yesterday and coasted to a 6 to 2 decision.

DIVING FOR FIRST BASE, Ferris Fain, Philadelphia Athletic outfielder races the throw from a New York Yankee pitcher. Fain had attempted to steal during an exhibition game at St. Petersburg. Dick Kryhoski, rookie Yankee first sacker, is taking the throw.

Cedar Chests 'Tough' on Moths

Fumes Keep Clothes Safe

BY JEAN McFADDEN

Don't run a summer resort for moths!

Every year during spring vacation many coeds pack away their winter woollens. They fold up heavier sweaters, woolen scarfs, mittens, dresses and other clothes for the season, thinking they have adopted sufficient precautions against the famished moth. The next fall they discover that they've been operating Moth Manor—at a tremendous loss.

There are many ways to store valuable clothing, but Jeanne Agnew, A4, Iowa City, finds that one of the best methods is to place them in cedar chests. She uses a family cedar chest to store her best winter clothing every spring.

All clothes to be stored should be brushed thoroughly, including lining and folds, said Jeanne. If possible, they should be allowed to hang in the sun and air for at least one day.

Dry cleaning is a wise precaution, whether the clothes are woolen, linen, rayon, cotton, or silk.

Woolen sweaters and blankets should be hung in the air and sun after cleaning.

If wrapping is necessary, use loose, plain paper, because wrappings tend to shut out the moth-killing effects of the cedar aroma. Dainty things may be wrapped in a clean, light paper—newspapers should never be used.

Jeanne has discovered that clothes put in a cedar chest in an orderly fashion take only about half as much room as the clothes "dumped" in.

Once the chest is filled, it should be kept closed as long as possible. A good chest is metal stripped and air tight to keep the moth killing fumes within. Unnecessary opening of the chest allows these fumes to escape.

Jewelry and other metal objects should never be stored in cedar chests because gold and silver will tarnish in cedar. Rubber hot water bottles and bathing caps will have a shorter life expectancy too, if stored in a cedar chest.

If cedar oil should accumulate in your chest, it can be wiped away with a cloth dampened in alcohol. Treat the outside of the chest as you would any other valuable piece of furniture in the house—keep it free from dust, dirt and grime.

The idea of storing valuable clothing in cedar chests can hardly be classified as a modern brainstorm. The cedar chest as we know it today is an outgrowth of crude hollowing of logs for storage by primitive man.

The first ones were probably made by Egyptians who were carvers of cedar wood.

AN IRON CURTAIN FOR MOTHS are the walls of this cedar chest. Jeanne Agnew, A4, 38 Highland drive, has discovered that the cedar chest in the attic of the Agnew home provides very good protection for her winter clothes against moths. It may be a bit early in the season, but Jeanne is already storing some of her heavier sweaters.

Zionists to Present Yiddish Film Here

A Yiddish language film, "Dybbuk," with English subtitles will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the chemistry auditorium by the Intercollegiate Zionist Federation of America.

An adaptation of the play by S. Ansky, "Dybbuk" was produced in Poland in 1936 by the Jewish Art Theatre in Warsaw.

An operatic version was produced by the Metropolitan opera in 1936, according to Arnold Fox, instructor in the SUI English department.

"Dybbuk" is one of the finest Yiddish plays ever written," Fox said.

The public is invited to attend the film showing, IZFA President Shirley Elman said yesterday.

Admission is 50 cents. Tickets are on sale at Hillel house, 122 E. Market street, Miss Elman explained.

Personal Notes

Dale Hartzell, A2, Odebolt, left yesterday for California for two weeks, where he will visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Maske, 823 Third avenue, are the parents of an 8 pound, 4 ounce girl born in Mercy hospital Wednesday.

A 7 pound, 8 ounce boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Walton, 103 E. Jefferson street, yesterday in Mercy hospital.

Changes Create Problem

Nearly 8,000 Flock to Registrar's Office to Make Registration Changes During Semester

Nearly 8,000 students have made changes in their registration already this semester, Registrar Ted H. McCarrel reported yesterday. "The problem of registration changes is becoming quite acute," he said.

Also aware of the problem is Mary K. Condon, registration supervisor, who said students feel abused when they have to obtain signatures of their instructors in order to drop a course.

When a student files a registration change form, six copies of it are made. These copies are sent to the student's advisor, the instructor of the dropped course, the instructor of the new course, the head of the department or dean of the college and if the student is a freshman or sophomore to the liberal arts advisory office.

The registrar's office then goes through the files crossing off the original courses and adding the new ones. They also keep an accurate record of all courses being dropped and added so they can notify the statistical service.

Mrs. Condon said the work keeps one girl busy all day just taking care of normal registration changes. However, at the beginning of the semester three girls were employed full time and during one "particularly bad time" 10 typists were drafted from the office to work on registration changes.

Mrs. Condon is convinced some students "just register for anything at the field house to get out of the mob and then come to the registrar's office and change their schedule."

Students whose registration cards show no changes are in the minority, she said. Some drop everything they had originally registered for and pick up a whole new schedule of courses.

According to present regulations, students can drop courses anytime during the semester. During the first six weeks they can do so without the signature of their instructor but after that time they must get his signature and a record of whether they are passing or failing the course.

Application Deadlines Set

Scholarship Blanks To Be Ready Monday

Application blanks for next year's general university scholarships will be available in the office of student affairs Monday, Walter R. Goetsch, chairman of the university committee on student aid, said yesterday.

Applications for the Merit scholarship must be in the office of student affairs by May 14.

The deadline for renewing the Carr, Noyes, Student Aid and "I" club scholarships is June 15. New applications must be submitted by Sept. 1.

To be eligible for the Carr, Student Aid and Merit scholarships, students must be registered in the colleges of liberal arts, engineering, commerce or pharmacy.

Students applying for the Merit scholarship must be Iowa residents, who have attended SUI for one year and have earned a three point grade average or better. They must show participation in campus activities or part time employment. This scholarship pays $50 a semester.

The Carr scholarship of $30 is given to students who earned a 2.5 grade average the previous semester and who can prove need of financial assistance.

The Student Aid award is intended for Iowa resident students who are entirely self-supporting.

The award covers basic fee payments. Freshmen who apply must have been in the upper third of their high school class with a minimum 2.5 grade average. Other applying students are required to have a 2.5 average for the preceding two semesters.

Students who are direct blood descendants of World War I veterans are eligible to apply for the Noyes award. Applicants should have a 2.25 average for the two preceding semesters or a two point for one semester if they are freshmen.

The "I" club scholarship is awarded to undergraduate students who have been outstanding participants in some phase of extra-curricular activity. Only freshmen who graduated in the upper half of their high school class are eligible. Other students must have received a 2.0 average for two preceding semesters.

Spring Styles

Easter shopping is fun this year. The new spring fashions have a style to fit every fancy. The 1949 Easter parade promises to include the greatest variety of colorful hats, dresses and suits of any year since the war.

Margaret Felter and Mrs. Pat Anderson discovered many of the new styles on display recently in Iowa City. Margaret, a freshman from Van Meter, recently reigned as "Queen of the Premiere" at the first showing of the film, "Mother Was a Freshman." She was selected in a freshman beauty contest conducted by The Daily Iowan.

Mrs. Pat Anderson, from Quincy, Ill., lives at 721 Finkbine park. Her husband, John, is a senior, majoring in dramatic arts.

All clothing and accessories are presented through the courtesy of Towners.

GAY SCARLET PIPING TRIMS this ensemble worn by Margaret Felter. Her off-the-face hat and over-the-shoulder handbag are the same black and white shepherd's check worsted as the suit. The lines of the straight skirt and smoothly fitted jacket are designed to give a pencil-slim silhouette. Detail on the pockets, collar and cuffs of the suit harmonizes with that on the purse and hat. Perched at the back of the hat is a red bow with streams. Gloves held by Margaret are of matching red.

Below
PRETTY ENOUGH FOR ANY EASTER PARADE is Margaret Felter when she dons this Easter bonnet of imported black straw. The hat, trimmed with large pink roses and tiny blue blossoms, is reminiscent of the highly styled bonnets worn before the turn of the century. The heavy mesh veiling which matches the lace weave of the hat, may also be looped beneath the chin.

Right
A MESS JACKET OF WHITE LINEN with narrow brown stripes contrasts in texture with the soft crepe of this two piece spring ensemble modeled by Pat Anderson. Chartreuse is the color of the short-sleeved blouse; the skirt is brown. A tapered V-shaped belt gives a high waisted effect to the skirt. Pat's hat is a rough straw sailor with a dacia veil and band.

standing lace collar and lace insets on the peplum are unique features of the two-piece Easter dress modeled by Margaret Felter, right. The bouffant skirt is black taffeta. Margaret's hat of black milan straw is trimmed with a pink dotted veil.

OLD-FASHIONED COACHMEN'S ATTIRE INSPIRED designers this spring coat modeled by Margaret Felter. Lipstick red is the color of the gabardine. The double-breasted coat is form fitting, flaring gently below the waist. Lines of the pockets and wide collar repeat those of the Buster Brown collar. Margaret's hat is a white straw cloche. Lime green velvet ribbon and white flowers provide the trimming. The gloves she carries are hand-sewn white cotton.

War Bride's Job Becomes Hobby

Mrs. Sievers Does Photo 'Retouching'

By MIG RIGHTER

Retouching of photographic negatives was the vocation and is now the avocation of Mrs. Iris Sievers, 124 Quonset park, who has lived in the United States for just three years.

Mrs. Sievers, an English war bride came to America to marry Ray Sievers, a sophomore in dentistry whom she met in a photography darkroom in London during World War II.

Her husband was a photographer with the U.S. Army Signal Corps and Mrs. Sievers was one of the retouchers working for the American army.

Attends Classes

The care of her two children, Jimmy who will be two in June and old keeps Mrs. Sievers busy, but she still finds time to retouch negatives and even attends classes in craft work sponsored by the university.

"Most people don't understand what retouching is," Mrs. Sievers said. "They think tinting or coloring photographs and retouching negatives are the same thing, but they are entirely different."

"Retouching a negative means making the negative darker by taking a lead pencil and covering up the light spots or making a negative lighter by etching part of it down with a sharp knife," Mrs. Sievers explained.

To learn retouching in England a person serves a two year apprenticeship. "I finished my course in six months," Mrs. Sievers said. "You either have the art or you don't have it, because the process is rather delicate and demands skill."

Used in Portraits

Freckles can be eliminated, an open mouth closed, eyes opened and other drastic changes can be made on negatives by skillful retouchers, she said. "You'd be surprised how the general public demands a good deal of retouching especially in portrait work," she added.

The negative is placed on a box-like structure which has a glass top. A strong light shines up through the glass so that every minute detail of the negative may be seen by the retoucher. The most essential tools for the retouching work are a well sharpened lead pencil, a knife or safety razor blade.

Besides being skillful in retouching, Mrs. Sievers is also an artist and has done many water color paintings.

Recently Mrs. Sievers joined a university craft group which meets once a week. Within two weeks, having had no previous instruction, she has become somewhat of a sculptor.

She has sculptured two heads of women, one for each week she has attended the class.

Mrs. Sievers was born in London but lived in Essex and Scotland, too. She went to a school comparable to an American high school in Essex. Her husband was one of the men who photographed the Nuremberg trials held in Germany after the war.

Building Own Home

Other types of talents are not lacking in the Sievers family for husband and wife are building their own home in east Iowa City—without any outside help.

Cadets Hear Army Day Talks

Cadets of SUI's ROTC regiment observed Army Day here by hearing short speeches by two members of the university faculty. Dean Mason Ladd of the College of Law, advised cadets of the third battalion yesterday afternoon to "be ready because if another war should come it will require quickness of action."

Dean Ladd emphasized the importance of unity—not only for the armed forces but for all Americans as well. He added that the U.S. army today is giving security to America and to the world. He also praised the part the ROTC played in World War II.

Prof. Walter F. Loehwing, head of the botany department, spoke to the first battalion on Thursday afternoon and to the second battalion yesterday, stressing the U.S. army's contribution to modern everyday living. He used his discoveries in the field of biology as an example.

Loehwing also asked that we not forget the importance to the U.S. of the "unarmed members of America's winning team."

He stressed that the ROTC should teach men to become good followers as well as good leaders. "We can't be leaders all the time," he said.

Lone Tree Woman Stops Suit, Masek Drops Counterclaim

Mrs. Mary Petru, Lone Tree, yesterday dismissed her $1,396 judgment suit in Johnson county district court against James Masek, Lone Tree, a former roomer at her house.

Masek's $906.03 counterclaim against his former landlady was also dismissed yesterday. Both suits were dismissed with prejudice.

In her original suit against Masek filed Sept. 15, 1948, Mrs. Petru claimed Masek had not paid his monthly room rent of $25 from December 1946 to August 1947 and had not paid her for his three meals a day. She asked judgment against him for $200.

Mrs. Petru also claimed she had washed Masek's clothes for him once a week from August 1924 to August 1947 without payment. She asked judgment against him for $1,106 on that count.

Masek filed a counter-claim to the suit on Sept. 27, 1948, in which he denied Mrs. Petru's charges and claimed he loaned her money on several occasions without being repaid. He asked judgment against her for a total of $906.03.

Edward L. O'Connor was attorney for the plaintiff. Will J. Hayek represented the defendant.

Prof. Tester Elected Rotary Club President

SUI Geology Professor A.C. Tester has been named Iowa City Rotary Club president by the club's newly elected board of directors, retiring President Marc Stewart said yesterday.

New X-Ray and Turbine — Engineers Add New Equipment

New pieces of equipment, including an X-ray machine and a pair of steam turbines were added recently to the SUI college of engineering laboratories.

The steam turbine set includes two 220 kilowatt turbines, a 50 horsepower synchronous motor and a combination generator and control panel. The equipment will be used to acquaint engineering students with the central station performance of turbine generators, Prof. Andrew P. Boehmer of the department of mechanical engineering said.

The two turbines will provide power to operate the generator which will provide electric power for the motor. The control panel, known as a "switchgear" makes it possible for the students to regulate the generator and to measure the power.

The equipment is a General Electric set especially designed for educational use. The turbines will use high pressure steam from the university steam power plant.

The new Westinghouse X-ray machine, operating at a peak output of 150,000 volts, will be used for testing metal specimens for flaws. The X-rays from the machine pass through the metal specimen and register on a sheet of film on the other side. Prof. Edward M. Mielnik of the department of mechanical engineering said.

The new machine will adequately test a piece of aluminum four inches thick or a piece of steel one inch thick.

TO THE EDITOR:
I am writing this letter with a rather questionable attitude. However, it seems that some type of criticism should be in order. I have been on the campus for the past two semesters, and have yet to figure out the local taxicab fare system. There are not only variable prices between companies, but probably a greater variety in any one company.

Last Saturday night, for instance, eight of us rode in one cab to the Melody Mill, price:

eighty-five cents. Coming home, the same eight people in a cab from the same company were charged two dollars.

Since this past incident, we have been debating on what kind of a ratio and proportion this fare is based, if based. Does the cab driver's hourly wage go up as the evening progresses, or is the fare based on the student's ability to think times 3.2?

Our seven roommates were pooled, and it was found that a ride from Hillcrest to town has cost five men in each case the following prices: twenty-five cents; thirty-five cents; forty-five cents; and in one instance, twenty-five cents apiece.

It seems that SUI students are victims of similar practices that occur in large cities, when a hill-billy arrives in New York and is taken from Forty-second Street to Forty-third Street by way of the Bronx. If anybody can explain to us why these malpractices are so continuously performed, or can provide us with a chart of rate variations, will they kindly do so?

TO THE EDITOR:
It's easy for a student in a great and large university to forget, while he is plagued with requirements from registrars, dormitory assigners and other services, that the university is essentially a community of students and teachers — and that it is a community. When a student like, let us say, George Gallup, goes off to become a great man in his field, he makes the community from which he came a bigger place, and students and teachers come into such an inheritance.

When the teachers show themselves as leaders in the academic world, the credit is not entirely theirs, but belongs to the group. How true this may be was borne in upon me in attending the recent meeting of the National Council of Teachers of English at Chicago. Not so much by the fact that John Gerber was in charge of the meeting, and handled it in masterly fashion, which made one feel proud to belong to the same corps, but most of all by the performance of Miss Carrie Stanley.

Few teachers on the campus better represent the real idea of a university than she. Devoted for years to her students, responsible for the salvation of many that were drifting, she spoke on the problems of helping those in the lower academic ranks — the apparently defeated, the resentful, the frightened.

She made the audience see that the stone the builders rejected could become the head cornerstone. But that was not all. By the charm of her delivery, by her gentle wit, by the grace of her style and the solid substance of what she had to say, she brought the assembled group almost to their feet in an ovation that stopped the meeting for many minutes.

I was very proud to be a member of the same division, and I thought the many students who have known Miss Stanley, those still here and those now scattered over the state, would like to share in the warm glow she has cast over the community of which we are all part.

same paper's asking the editor of the Minneapolis Tribune to describe and report on the city's FEPC ordinance, to Chuck Donnelly's article on FEPC which recently came out in The Daily Iowan, to the Sioane-O'Malley bill recently reported out of the labor committee in the Iowa legislature adapted after the successful Minneapolis ordinance.

To the formation of a multi-organizational committee in Iowa City to work for passage of the Sioane-O'Malley bill, to the staging of an FEPC rally March 31 in the community building, to the debate and speaking carried on in speech classes at the university, and to the group of lobbyists which left Thursday morning and joined with a Des Moines party in visiting the legislature in the interest of an FEPC for Iowa, which we still believe to be progressive.

In addition reference is made nationally to the ten states now benefiting from fair employment legislation. Namely, Kansas, Wisconsin, Indiana, Oregon, Washington, New Mexico, Connecticut, New York, Massachusetts, and New Jersey. Eight other states, including Iowa, are currently considering similar legislation.

The Iowa Committee for FEPC and other interested groups throughout the state are working with respect to persuading the house sifting committee to allow the FEPC bill to be debated and voted upon in the house.

If we fail to get such legislation this session, we will intensify and continue our program of educating the people of Iowa as to the actual character and content of FEPC legislation, which found expression in New York with Gov. Dewey's endorsement.

Indeed, it is all a matter of education. We educate the public as to the merits of such legislation. They educate their representatives in the legislature, who in turn educate one another.

Eventually, the bill becomes law. Educatively, the law provides for a commission with the necessary machinery to educate employers and other responsible person as to the impracticality of discrimination in hiring.

35 Children May Be a Record; Any Contestors?

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — State health officials said yesterday that Mrs. Ruben Lopez, 45, has had 35 children and believed it might be a world record.

"It's official," a spokesman for the state health department said.

Department records showed that Mrs. Lopez, wife of a laborer, gave birth to her 35th child in 1947, he said. There were no multiple births, according to a doctor who attended the 35th birth.

Mrs. Lopez' record was disclosed during preparation of an annual report on births being prepared by the health department.

Dr. James R. Scott, state health director, said the record was easily the most outstanding for New Mexico and might be the highest anywhere.

The Great IC Taxicab Mystery —

Ever hear of a law requiring horses to wear tail lights? Or an ordinance forbidding dogs to bark after dark?

Such laws exist. These are part of the large number of unenforced statutes in municipal code books and state law volumes.

There are often reasons for not enforcing laws, but probably the biggest reason is that no one knows that some such laws exist.

When we received the letter printed elsewhere on this page we looked into the matter of laws nobody seems to know about. A "taxi ordinance" dated April 28, 1947 in the Iowa City code states in part that the taxi should "post a schedule of rates in the driver's compartment so it can be seen from the back seat."

As far as we have determined the local taxi companies do not at present comply with this ordinance. It would be to their advantage as well as to the advantage of the customer to have this rule enforced.

An air of mystery surrounds the charges for a taxi ride. This need not be construed as deliberate on the part of the company, but un-metered taxi rides leave the company open to suspicion from any rider who might feel he has been overcharged.

Simply by posting a notice in the cab, the company is on record and the customer is told what he'll have to pay.

In order to protect itself from criticism the company should post its schedule in its cabs.

We can offer two alternatives to this system. We shouldn't because the law says schedules should be posted.

But for one thing the cabs could install meters—not entirely satisfactory for a city the size of Iowa City. Another method could be adopted from the Mexicans who stand and dicker with the taxi driver—arranging for the cost of the trip before the customer gets in the cab.

Since neither of these methods would appear to be too good for the local situation let's just enforce the local ordinance.

An Essay: On Headless Roosters

Tell us, you advocates of civil rights, landlords' rights, labor rights and human rights; does a headless rooster have the right to live?

The Los Angeles humane department says no. A lady who bought a rooster minus the head—at a poultry store says yes. It seems that the headless rooster, instead of being dead like any respectable headless rooster should be, was very much alive when the woman arrived home.

She immediately nicknamed the animal Butch and began feeding it milk and mush with an eye-dropper. To make things seem more logical, a veterinarian examined Butch and announced that the axe that lopped off his head left intact the part of the brain controlling respiration and circulation. In other words, Butch was happy, eating three squares daily and generally minding his headless business.

All was happiness. But dark clouds drifted over the scene of domestic bliss. The villain, the humane department, arrived. "Kill the animal or face prosecution," the officials said.

The housewife protested. The veterinarian—who swears that Butch is not suffering, is very lively and is doing quite well without his head—protested. In fact, he has engaged a lawyer to protect Butch's headless life.

Now some dignified judge in a dignified Los Angeles court must decide Butch's fate. One thing is sure, they can't hang him.

We think Butch should be left alone. After all, he's a symbol. Look what he would do to all the pessimists who screw up their faces and declare that the human race nowadays is just a chicken running around without a head. With Butch around, we could banish that figure of speech forever.

Iron Curtain: U. S. Frontier

BY J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

During all the discussion preliminary to the signing of the Atlantic alliance one fact was obvious. Pact or no pact, as long as American soldiers occupy Germany a Russian attack on western Europe would be an attack on the United States and involve her in immediate war.

During all the talk about reversing the right of congress to declare war, observers were well aware of the actualities of such a situation, recalling that America went to war on the Sunday of Pearl Harbor through a presiden-in reserve too far behind the line of possible action.

This does not necessarily mean that the American army, ten times as strong as before World War I but still not adequate for a major campaign, will be moved to France or Germany. To do so would vastly complicate Marshall plan efforts to place western Europe on its economic feet, an effort which still takes precedence over military preparations because war is a remote possibility and recovery an immediate need.

An army, at any rate, is only one constituent of military might. As under the recovery program, the prime effort will be to help America's allies help themselves.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

The UN Was Speaking

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt's opening speech, as president of the general assembly, hit and sustained a remarkable emotional note. It was one of complete identification of himself with the United Nations. It was not a speech from outside the United Nations, about the United Nations; it was a speech from inside the United Nations, about the world.

Dr. Evatt did not comment sourly, as so many are doing these days, that the United Nations had failed to solve the problems of the great powers. His comment was quite different —

THIS WAS, in effect, the United Nations speaking. And such a speech is not at all the same as a speech which merely praises the United Nations, or asserts loyalty to the United Nations, or puts the United Nations on the head, or expresses the hope, in fatherly style, that the United Nations will grow up and be a credit to us all.

There was a kind of ultimate commitment in Dr. Evatt's address, of an impressive sort, well worth noting. When he said, talking about the problems which plague the world: "These difficulties have not been caused by the United Nations" you had something very different from the usual insipid declarations of approval for the UN. You had pride and you had a voice — not merely a pro-UN voice, but a UN voice, which is another thing altogether.

IT WAS A NEW voice in this, our world. When Dr. Evatt objectively discussed the great powers, it was as if the UN had suddenly proved that it was alive, perhaps even growing, in one of the best ways which any organization can use to prove it is alive—by showing it has learned to speak. The effect is startling, as an unexpected voice in a room usually is.

Henrietta Getchell Wins Divorce Suit in Court

Arthur O. Leff was attorney for the plaintiff.

And the United Nations, in its new voice, through Dr. Evatt, said several important things. It changed the order of duty, transforming the question of how the UN can save the great powers into the question of how the great powers can save the UN.

AND, IN AN obvious reference to the North Atlantic treaty, Dr. Evatt proclaimed the supremacy of the UN over all other international arrangements, saying boldly that the UN "alone can give a common impetus and purpose" to the world's peace efforts.

There is a very different emphasis here from that contained in the statements of some supporters of the North Atlantic treaty, who, while declaring that the treaty conforms to the UN, very clearly place leadership in making the peace somewhere alongside and outside the UN. Nor is there comfort here for the Russians, who while opposing the North Atlantic treaty, very clearly show that they do not give the United Nations first place in settling the affairs of the postwar world. The importance of Dr. Evatt's speech lay in the fact that it took none of these special positions, that it spoke for the UN, from within the UN.

THERE IS HERE the opportunity for a synthesis and a program. One way, perhaps, would be to develop the new North Atlantic alliance into an instrument for group negotiation as well as merely an instrument for group defiance.

There may be other ways. But no one, I think, can feel that there is really ultimate promise in any way unless it includes in some manner the kind of loyalty to the UN which Dr. Evatt has displayed — not loyalty to an abstract idea, but something more in the nature of that deep and vibrant loyalty one feels toward the institutions and environment in which and by which one lives and grows and hopes to live and grow further.

Business Lag Causes Cuts In Production

NEW YORK (AP) — A flurry of cut backs in production developed yesterday, reflecting buyer resistance and lack of orders.

One large producer has postponed a $10-million expansion program because of high labor costs.

It wasn't wholly a story of closings and curtailed production, however. There were a few bits of good news — a shift being recalled or sales which slumped last summer and fall picking up a little.

General Electric said sales of curtail production of its conventional type washing machine by approximately 50 percent beginning Monday.

Dealers report sales of cameras and photographic equipment to amateurs are running 35 to 40 percent below a year ago in big eastern markets.

Willis Overland Motors went on a four-day work week, declaring it was in line with recent price reductions and "provides a maximum efficiency at lowest cost based on present volume."

Symington-Gould corporation, a leading producer of railroad castings, said its backlog of orders is at the lowest level in 10 years.

There was a little good news for business too, however.

General Electric said it will vacuum cleaners and coffee-makers, which slumped badly last summer and fall, are picking up again.

Iowa City Member Explains Functions Of Landlord Group

The newly-formed Iowa property owners organization is a co-operative group intended to help tenants as well as property owners, F.C. Duncan, 125 Golfview avenue, said yesterday.

Duncan made this statement after returning from a statewide property owners meeting in Des Moines Thursday night. Three representatives of 12 Iowa cities helped form a state organization. Duncan was elected as Iowa City member of the groups state board of directors.

Duncan reported that the majority of those attending the meeting agreed that controls must be repealed if normal housing conditions are to return.

The newly-formed organization will try to equalize rents throughout the state, he added.

Even tenants will be aided by the group, he said. Recommendations of "good" tenants will be made by the proposed property-owners' state or local offices to help tenants find housing. Duncan explained that a "good" tenant was one who is not destructive to property and does not bother his neighbors.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE social set in Toledo, relates Cleveland Armory, decided to stage a charity horse show. The knowing horsewoman in charge of the proceedings, however, took sick on the eve of the affair, and another girl, who knew nothing about horses, volunteered to hold down the post. Her first phone call came from a man who had several horses entered.

"This is most embarrassing," he apologized, "but I'm afraid I'll have to ask you to scratch one of my horses for me." "I'll be glad to," said the girl pleasantly. "Where?"
