Would Accept A Berlin Plan With No 'Ifs'

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The western powers virtually accepted yesterday Russia's public proposal to lift the blockade of Berlin in exchange for a four power conference on Germany. But it was made plain that the offer is accepted only if no secret strings are attached.

In Berlin . . .

BERLIN (AP)—The American-licensed German news agency, Dena, last night quoted German sources close to the Soviet military administration in Berlin as saying the Russians had received orders from Moscow to make immediate preparations for lifting the blockade. The Soviet-controlled German news agency, ADN, and the Communist-directed Berlin radio said they had no knowledge of any such order. The British post at Helmstedt — border point where the rail blockade would be lifted — knew nothing of any technical preparations on the Soviet side of the border.

A state department statement declared that if Moscow's policy actually stands as it was reported in a dispatch by the Tass (Russian) news agency early yesterday "the way appears clear for a lifting of the blockade and a meeting of the council of foreign ministers."

At the same time, however, it was learned that the Russians have been told that the United States, Britain and France do not intend to delay their plans for unifying western Germany and creating a German government, probably by July 15.

Since some top officials believe that the real Soviet purpose may be to upset these plans, it is still doubtful whether a real and final agreement on the Berlin blockade will be reached.

In Berlin, wariness about the Soviet offer was expressed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, and Ambassador Robert D. Murphy, head of the German-Austrian division in the state department.

Murphy said the Russian move seemed an effort to swing German opinion away from the proposed German republic. Clay said that even if the Russian blockade is lifted "it will have no effect whatever on the west German government."

Report Replies
The 1,000-word state department report on the situation was issued here as a direct result of the Tass report. The Tass article said in substance that if a date can be agreed on by Russia and the west for a meeting of the big four council of foreign ministers then "reciprocal restrictions on communications and trade could be lifted" before the meeting.

Police Hold Pastor After Wife's Slaying

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A clergyman was ordered held yesterday as a material witness in the pistol-slaying of his 25-year-old wife, whose body was found in the Genesee river.

The Rev. George Hetenyi, 40, who has served as a supply pastor in western New York Episcopal churches, identified the body of the brown-haired woman as that of his wife. But he declared at a court hearing that he "didn't kill" her.

At the couple's home in Amherst, near Buffalo, police said they had discovered a bullet hole and stains that might be blood in the family car.

Justice Daniel J. O'Mara of the state supreme court set bail for Hetenyi at $50,000.

Government Buying 620 Acres of Land For Coralville Dam

Six hundred twenty acres of land for the Coralville dam site are now being purchased by the Rock Island district army engineers, Col. R.L. Dean, district engineer, said yesterday.

The bulk of the land for the 30,000-acre flood control reservoir behind the dam on the Iowa river, four miles north of Iowa City, will be acquired from July 1, 1950, to June 30, 1952.

The government is buying the 620 acres for the dam site and access roads now so that it can begin actual construction by July.

Dean recently announced May 2 as the tentative date for advertising for bids on the first phase of construction at the dam site. If satisfactory proposals are received and approved, actual digging could begin by July 4, he said.

According to the present construction schedule, the entire Coralville reservoir will be completed by July 1, 1953. Progress will depend on sufficient funds being appropriated by congress at the proper times.

The government is negotiating with six Johnson county landowners for acquisition of seven pieces of land for the dam site and access roads.

Outright purchases are being negotiated with Charles Grolmus, 266.3 acres; C.J. Lunn, 71.7 acres; George A. Greazel, 118.6 acres; Harry Aicher, 78.2 acres, and Robert Greazel, 83.2 acres. Roadway easements are being obtained from C.M. Carson, 24 acres, and Robert Greazel, 1.2 acres.

Hits at Secretary of Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Sullivan resigned yesterday as secretary of the navy, firing a roaring broadside at Secretary of Defense Johnson for halting construction of the navy's super-carrier, the USS United States.

The New Hampshire Irishman said he was deeply disturbed because Johnson acted "so drastically and arbitrarily" without consultation with the navy.

And he said he is convinced the move means "a renewed effort to abolish the marine corps and to transfer all naval and marine aviation elsewhere."

Dismisses Attack
Johnson dismissed Sullivan's attack with a terse statement from his office:

"I regret very much that my old friend and colleague, John L. Sullivan, has joined the aircraft carrier issue on personal grounds, and I believe that he, too, will soon regret his action of today."

Sullivan's resignation, widely expected since Johnson lowered the boom on the big flat-top Saturday, came in an exchange of letters with President Truman. Both of their communications were couched in the polite patter of protocol.

But Sullivan cut loose his pent-up wrath in his letter to the new secretary of defense. The letter, released by Sullivan's own office shortly after Mr. Truman accepted his resignation being bluntly:

Blunt Note

"On Saturday, April 23, without discussion with the chief of naval operations, without consultation with the secretary of the navy, you directed the discontinuance of the construction of the USS United States, the construction of which had twice been approved by the President. . . ."

After recounting details of the legislative authority for the 65,000-ton, $189-million craft, Sullivan noted that the final decision was announced by Johnson while he (Sullivan) was in Corpus Christi, Tex.

boys took the pistol from the home of Phillips' foster parents. They were brought by bus to the White school, from where they usually transfer to the Maple Grove school in another bus. Both schools are in the same new unit district.

The boys cut the telephone wires leading into the school. They approached Mrs. Donahoe in the school yard and demanded her purse. They followed her into the building, where young Titus struck her on the head with the pistol and grabbed the purse as she fell. She got up and followed them outdoors. As she attempted to retrieve her purse, the Titus boy shot her.

Mrs. Donahoe crawled to the school house and fainted. John Ozier, plowing in a nearby field, heard cries of the pupils.

Mad at Spanking, Schoolboy Shoots His Teacher's Wife

ARTHUR, ILL. (AP)—A 16-year-old boy, spanked for passing notes, yesterday shot and seriously wounded a country school teacher.

Mrs. Nina Donahoe, 57, teacher at the White school west of here, was shot in the groin by a .38 calibre automatic pistol bullet. She is suffering from shock and loss of blood.

Sheriff Glen W. Braden said Mrs. Donahoe was shot in "revenge" by one of two boys who were spanked by her husband Monday. The husband, George W. Donahoe, is teacher at the nearby Maple Grove school. He punished the two boys after he caught them passing notes.

The boys are Lloyd Titus, 16, and Glen Phillips, 11. They were captured under a bridge more than a mile from the scene. They surrendered after a deputy fired one shot. No charge was filed immediately.

Braden said both boys and another witness made statements that Titus fired the shot. The sheriff said the statements gave the following account:

The two boys were punished Monday at the Maple Grove school, about two miles from the White school. After the spanking, the two boys cried to Donahoe, "we'll get even with you."

Yesterday morning, the two boys took the pistol from the home of Phillips' foster parents. They were brought by bus to the White school, from where they usually transfer to the Maple Grove school in another bus. Both schools are in the same new unit district.

Pair End 6-Week, 1,008-Hour Flight

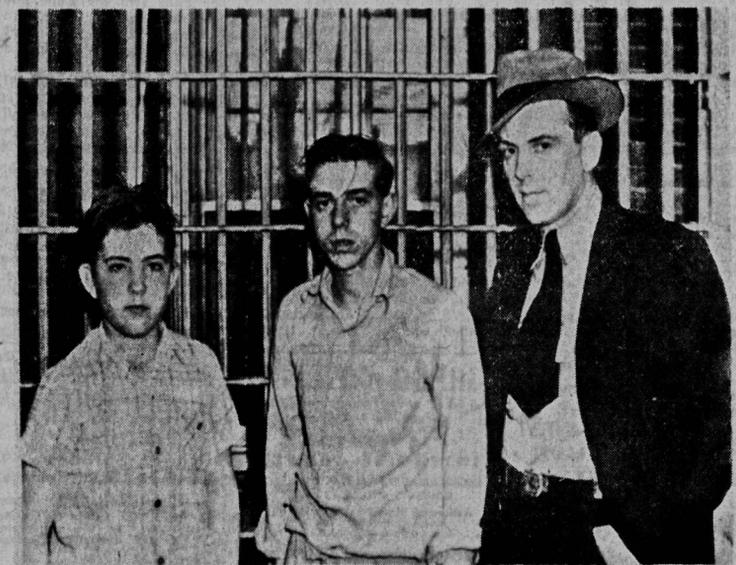

FULLERTON, CALIF. (AP)—Six weeks of droning monotonously through the skies ended yesterday for Bill Barris and Dick Riedel. They boosted the world's endurance flight record to 1,008 hours, landing at 3:45:50 a.m. (Iowa time) to the cheers of their townspeople.

Tired, but smiling and fresh-shaven, the two Fullerton airport employes were able to walk away from their little Aerona monoplane. "The Sunkist Lady," without help.

"We're pooped, but we'll be all right in a short time," said 36-year-old, graying Barris. "The worst thing was the monotony of the engine. It just about drove us crazy. We'd never try it again. This is our last try."

His blond partner, Riedel, 34, was first out of the plane. He quickly embraced his wife, June, and two children, Dickie, 10, in a wheelchair with arthritis, and Barbara, four. Barris' wife, Betty, and their two children, Patty, two, and Steven, one, were right there, too.

Mad at Teacher, They Shot His Wife

ARRESTED AFTER SHOOTING and serious injury of a country school teacher yesterday near Arthur, Ill., were Glen Phillips, 11, and Lloyd Titus, 16, shown here with Moultrie County Sheriff Glen Braden. The shooting occurred after Titus was spanked by the injured teacher's husband, George W. Donahoe, the boys' teacher. Mrs. Donahoe, 57, was shot in the groin.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The American Bison may be almost extinct but he's still tough.

A squad of veterinarians of the Mexico-U.S. Joint commission was out at the zoo yesterday vaccinating animals against the foot-and-mouth disease.

The llamas, deer and wild pigs submitted. Not so the lone bison in the zoo. The veterinarians put three lassos on him. He raced around the pen, dragging eight men on the ends of the ropes. Finally he turned around and charged.

The veterinarians retreated. They'll try again after a chute is built to hold the bison.

It Was All for Sam

He Didn't Know the Job Was Any Different — Until Everything Began to Happen

CHICAGO (AP)—You should have seen the look of glory on Sam Canzona's face last night.

Sam is just an ordinary little guy. He makes his living with a hand organ and a monkey.

His shoulders are stooped with the weight of the instrument. He speaks little English, but his lifting music talks for him.

Last night Sam took what he thought was just another playing job at Riccardo's sidewalk restaurant.

didn't mind. They were busy hunting too.

Clink of Coins

He put on an extra sweater and a well-worn corduroy jacket against the cold. He moved from table to table, grinding out his tunes. And as the coins clinked into his battered old felt hat, his grin widened.

It was to grow wider yet. Sam didn't know he was the star of the show.

The little organ grinder's past began unfolding. Ushering up "the parade of memories was Ralph Edwards, whose "This is Your Life" program over NBC was starring the amazed Sam Canzona.

Friends Appear

First came Sam's brother Joseph. Then his son Tony appeared. Sam's wife arrived to give him a big hug. Then there was Theresa Scalzo, who has been selling him cigars for 20 years; Pasquale Capra, his card-playing crony; Mike Santillo, who sponsored Sam when he became an American citizen.

Sam's eyes grew big when they saw his 74-year-old sister, Mary Velotto, brought in from Los Angeles.

Then Sam was asked: "Do you have any relatives left in Italy?" His wife's sister, he answered, whom he hadn't seen for 30 years.

Sister from Italy

A taxi drew up and out stepped a little grey-haired lady.

She was Carina Santillo from Saint Polo, Italy, flown in for the occasion.

Sam stared, Sam's wife stared. Then his son Tony nudged them. They couldn't believe it. Then Mrs. Canzona threw a look at the heavens and the kissing started.

It was interrupted only when the principals had to hunt for handkerchiefs. The audience

Governor Grants Hearing To Condemned Prisoner

DES MOINES (AP)—Gov. William S. Beardsley said yesterday he has granted a hearing in behalf of a condemned prisoner at Fort Madison penitentiary.

The governor said he will meet Attorney B.M. Burrows, Council Bluffs, today to discuss the case of Corliss R. Brumlett, 50, who was scheduled to hang last Feb. 18.

Troops Lose Soochow to Communists

SHANGHAI (WEDNESDAY) (AP)—Chinese Nationalist troops today abandoned Soochow, vital transportation center 50 miles west of Shanghai and eastern anchor of a line thrown up to guard this vast oriental metropolis against onrushing Communist armies.

The evacuation of Soochow was announced by Shanghai garrison headquarters. The Chinese government yesterday rushed 30,000 troops there to reinforce two divisions which had remained in Soochow to face the fast-rolling Communist armies.

Driving On

The Nationalist soldiers pulled out at 10 a.m. (8 p.m. Iowa time Tuesday), the garrison reported. A spokesman refused to comment further regarding the situation at Soochow but it was presumed that the Communist offensive, which appeared to have been checked, was now driving onward.

Telephone and communications were cut this morning with Soochow, which reported late yesterday that the hard-pressed Nationalist soldiers were holding up the Communists in "brisk fighting" west and south of that city.

Anchored Line

Soochow reportedly was the eastern anchor of the main line of resistance which the Nationalists were said to be preparing west of Shanghai against Communist troops which swarmed across the Yangtze and occupied Nanking Sunday. The line was to be set up from Soochow 125 miles westward to Wuhu.

The Communist radio last night claimed that Communist spearhead had punched through to the Nanking-Hangchow highway between the villages of Chintan and Ihsing, about 65 miles southeast of Nanking and just north of the Soochow-Wuhu defense line.

A second main Nationalist line, stretching south from the Yangtze river, reportedly had been established to bar the Communist advance toward the port of Hangchow, vital "back door" to Shanghai.

Protection Promised For Britons in China

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee promised parliamentary critics yesterday Britain will "take every possible step" to protect British subjects caught in China's civil war.

The shelling of four British warships on the Yangtze river by Communist artillerymen last week set off a parliamentary debate. Conservative Leader Winston Churchill and many other legislators attacked the labor government.

Churchill told the house of commons the Yangtze incident was an atrocious outrage. He said the government had thrown the whole burden of responsibility on British naval commanders in China and should have aircraft carriers there for "effective power of retaliation."

Iowa Lawmakers Complete Session

DES MOINES (AP)—The 1949 Iowa legislature adjourned finally at 5:03 p.m. yesterday, 107 days after it convened.

Officially, however, the sine die adjournment will be recorded as of 4 p.m. last Wednesday. That was the time and date agreed upon by the senate and house for final adjournment. Everything done after that time and day was recorded as having been done by then.

Practically, the lawmakers completed their work last Friday. The time since then has been required for making official copies of the more than 50 bills enacted last Friday.

Hawks Defeat LaPlant

Take Easy 9-3 Victory

By BUCK TURNBULL
Iowa's baseball team had little trouble in defeating the LaPlant Choate semi-pro nine of Cedar Rapids yesterday afternoon, 9-3, in a practice game on the local diamond.

The Hawkeyes collected 15 hits, including long triples by John Dinzole, George Hand and Jack Dittmer, and scored at least one run in every inning but the fifth and seventh.

Sophomore Glenn Drahn started on the mound for Iowa, keeping the LaPlant crew baffled for five innings with only one hit. He was relieved by Larry Gernuska to start the sixth inning, Gernuska allowing four hits and three runs during his four inning stint.

Victory to Drahn
The victory went to Drahn, his first of the 1949 season against no defeats.
Dittmer and Right Fielder John Sullivan each rapped out three hits in four trips to the plate to lead the 15-hit assault against three LaPlant Choate pitchers.

The Hawks wasted no time in pouncing on LaPlant's starting hurler, Orv Heallness.
Sullivan opened the last half of the first inning with a single to center field. He then stole second and advanced to third on Keith Kafer's infield out. Dittmer drilled a 3-2 pitch through the hole between first and second, scoring Sullivan.

Lone Hit
In the top of the second, Second Baseman Bob Havlik gathered the lone hit off Drahn, a line double to the left field corner. Hand's throw-in from left field skipped past Shortstop Pinky Primrose, and Havlik attempted to take third. He was caught at the hot corner, however, on a nice play by Dittmer, who had backed up Primrose's miscue and pegged across the diamond to Kafer.

Singles by Dale Erickson, Primrose and Drahn produced one Iowa tally in the last of the second.
A walk to Dittmer, a single by Hand and Primrose's double down the left field line gave Iowa two more runs and a 4-0 lead in the last of the third.

Three in Fourth
Three more runs crossed the plate for Iowa in the fourth on four hits.

Drahn opened the inning with a walk. He went to third on Sullivan's single to center. After Sullivan stole second, Kafer brought both runners home with a single through the slot between first and second.

Kafer went to third on Dittmer's single. Dittmer then took second, but was not credited with a stolen base since LaPlant made no attempt to stop him.
With Kafer on third and Dittmer on second, the Hawks pulled a successful double steal. Kafer scoring from third and Dittmer going to third. Seconds later Dittmer tried to steal home but was nabbed at the plate.
Wayne Bruce relieved Heallness at this stage for LaPlant and retired the side without further difficulty.

Big Blows
The big blows of the ball game were yet to come, however. In the last of the sixth Dinzole, who had taken over the catching duties for John Tedore, belted a long three-bagger to deep center after two were out.

Rossie to Fight in Benefit Show

Bob Rossie, local middleweight boxer, will attempt to regain his state crown from Champion Jackie Parks at Des Moines tonight.
The Iowa City pugilist will battle Parks in the ring benefit show for the family of Billy Cornwell, popular 25-year-old Des Moines lightweight.
Cornwell died after he was knocked out in a fight last March 30 at San Jose, Calif.
The feature event of the evening will be a four-round bout between Heavyweight Contender Ezzard Charles and Hubert Wood of Chicago.

Rookie's Homer Gives Yankees 5-4 Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—Gerry Coleman, rookie infielder, climaxed a brilliant day at the plate yesterday by homering in the eighth with a mate on base to give the New York Yankees a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

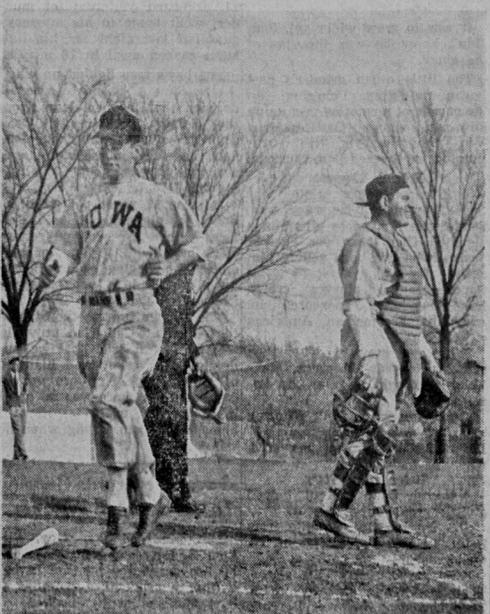

Coleman previously had whacked out three singles. The recruit also starred in the field handling seven chances flawlessly including a fine catch of Ferris Fain's short fly that ended the game with two on.

Phil Marchildon started for the A's but after tossing two balls to the lead-off man Coleman in the first inning, retired, complaining of a hitch in his arm. Lefty Alex Kellner took over.
The Yanks rocked Kellner for three runs in the second. Yogi Berra homered to start the rally. Philadelphia nicked Byrne for two runs in the fourth with the aid of three walks and the A's squared matters in the fifth.
Ferris Fain singled home Kellner in the seventh to give the A's a short-lived 4-3 advantage. Following Fain's blow Joe Page relieved Byrne.

Bobby Brown batted for Page to start the eighth and bounced a single off third baseman Hank Majeski's glove. Coleman followed with his seat-smasher into the right field stands.

Graham will not compete in the exhibition due to an ailing back. The match is to prepare the Hawk linksmen for the Big Nine opener against Minnesota at Minneapolis May 2.

The First of Nine Runs

CROSSING THE PLATE in the first inning of yesterday's game for the Hawk's first run is Right Fielder John Sullivan. Sullivan opened the inning with a single, stole second and came home shortly afterwards on Jack Dittmer's single to right field. The man with the sowl is LaPlant-Choate's catcher, Jim Baldrige. Partially hidden behind Sullivan is Plate Umpire Graham. The Hawks won the game, 9-3.

triple, this one also to deep center. Dinzole walked home but Hand was caught trying to stretch his hit into a home run, ending the inning.

Errors by Arnold Espe and Primrose, a single by Heallness and a double to left by Shortstop Charles Elias scored the first two LaPlant Choate runs in the top of the eighth frame.

Iowa came back to take a 9-2 lead in the last of eighth on a walk to Kafer and a gigantic belt by Dittmer to right field, good for three bases.

LaPlant scored the final run of the game in the top of the ninth on First Baseman Babe Cypra's double and Bruce Thenhaus' single.

Boudreau, Lemon Give Cleveland 1-0 Win over Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau hit his first homer of the season and Bob Lemon hurled his first shutout of the year yesterday as the Cleveland Indians defeated the St. Louis Browns 1 to 0.

Boudreau's 385-foot clout over the left field fence in the fourth inning was one of the four hits allowed by Red Embree, the former Tribe hurler. All the other Cleveland hits died in double plays. The Browns had four of the six double killings of the contest.

Lemon scattered five hits and struck out five in winning his second victory of the year, both over the Browns. In making it a shutout he got an early start on duplicating his feat of leading both leagues in that department last year, when 10 of his 20 wins blanked the opposition.

Homer by Ennis Tips Giants, 12-11

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Del Ennis slammed a home run with one on in the 11th inning yesterday to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 12-11 triumph over the New York Giants in a battle that saw the Phils come from behind five times before gaining the nod.

The Phils sent the game into overtime with a two run rally in the ninth with Ennis driving home the tying marker with a long fly.

The Giants had piled up a 5-1 lead going into the sixth inning when Eddie Miller homered off Starter Larry Jansen with the bases loaded and it was nip and tuck the rest of the way.

Bums Drop Braves, 5-2 Dodgers Pull A Triple Play

DODGERS PULL A TRIPLE PLAY
BROOKLYN (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers pulled the first triple play of the major league season and fielded flawlessly behind Preacher Roe yesterday to whip the Boston Braves, 5-2. Boston's one error—a dropped fly by Clint Conalser—cost the Braves two runs.

Gene Hermanski, one-time Dodger regular, celebrated his return to the lineup by starting the three-put out in the third inning and by clouting a homer in the first.

The score was tied at 1-1—Alvin Dark having homered for Boston in the first—when Hermanski, in at left field in place of light-hitting Cal Abrams, pulled off one out of the hole in the third.

Johnny Sain, who went down to his second straight defeat, started the frame with a single and was sent to second by Eddie Stanky's one-bagger. Alvin Dark then fled to short left. Hermanski came in fast and made a shoestring catch. The leftfielder's throw to Jackie Robinson caught Sain and the relay to Gil Hodges was in plenty of time to nail Stanky at first.

Roe had easy sailing after that, blanking the league champions until the ninth when Earl Torgeson hit another homer.

Groth's Bat Helps As Tigers Cop Two
CHICAGO (AP)—Johnny Groth, 22-year old Detroit rookie outfield sensation swung an accurate bat at the start and finish as the Detroit Tigers toppled the Chicago White Sox 6-2 and then 7-5 in 10 innings in a doubleheader before 13,799 persons here yesterday.

In his first turn at bat Groth singled, driving in two Tiger runs. In the first extra round of the second game, Groth's liner hit first base and bounced away for a two-run double that clinched the Tiger triumph after the White Sox rallied for a 5-5 tie in the home ninth.

In between his first and last batting appearances Groth was retired seven straight times. But he's the main reason why the Tigers used the twin triumph to soar into second place.

Tony Zale Announces Retirement

CHICAGO (AP)—Tony Zale, Gary's slugging middleweight whose ring career had as many stops and starts as a main street trolley, officially called a halt to his boxing life yesterday, less than two months before he was scheduled to try to regain the 160-pound world crown for the second time.

Speaking haltingly, and coached through the pauses by his manager, Sam Pian, Zale in an obviously prepared speech, said he was through.

"After a lot of deliberation and argument within myself, and with my managers too, I have decided to call it quits as far as boxing is concerned, and retire," he said. "It is not an easy thing to do, but I guess that's all."

Then Pian, broke in. He has sought since last September, when Zale lost the middleweight championship to Marcel Cerdan, to talk his protegee into retirement.

"Three things entered into this," he said. "It was his pride, his determination to regain the championship, and third, money. But he overlooked two things, and we made him see it, his health and his family."

Yesterday's retirement came after repeated statements from the former titleholder that he would fight Cerdan in the Polo Grounds June 21. It left the promoters, New York's Tournament of Champions, free to find any opponent they wish for Cerdan in a title match.

Zale, who will be 36 next month, began professional boxing in 1934. But 18 months later he retired, disillusioned and disgusted with his progress. He worked on "all the hot jobs" in the Gary steel mills for two years before he came back to the ring under Pian and Trainer Art Winch.

Under their direction he moved up rapidly, winning the NBA middleweight championship from Al Hostak in 1940. In 1941 he took the New York crown from George Abrams.

A year later he entered the navy and remained in service for 42 months.

After his discharge in October, 1945, boxing experts speculated that he would be unable to defend his title. But he did, defeating Rocky Graziano. Later he lost and then won back the championship from the same scrapper, only to lose it to Cerdan.

Zale's future was assured. His ring earnings have satisfactorily established his family in Gary.

(The Chalk Circle)

The above translation was made and drawn for The Daily Iowan by Bill Cheng, an SUI graduate student from Shanghai. Cheng says the characters are not a literal translation of the English title, but are more of an expression of the theme of the play, which would be used in China.

Cheng yesterday offered his compliments on the production, saying that it was "very authentic, both the sets and the properties. Each individual actor did very well."

The pictures here are mostly from behind the scenes. The play is running at the University theater through this Saturday night.

THE SHOW CAN'T GO ON if the stomach doesn't. Short of time between last Saturday's two performances, Ronald McNamer pushed a sandwich past his makeup and false beard. McNamer plays a wine seller and innkeeper. He doesn't look too happy here but it's hard to tell if it's the makeup or just the food.

ONE MAN WHO put in lots of hard work on the play is Bill Molyneux, G. Chicago. Molyneux designed the sets and, with Ethelyn Pauley, A1, Sioux City, sketched the costumes for the production. Here Molyneux, who plays a property man, chats before curtain time with Margaret Ann Crain, child actress who plays Shu-lang.

HEADED FOR A DOWNFALL is the court clerk Ch'ao, shown here being played by Hal Tulchin, A3, Iowa City. Before the play is over Ch'ao is sentenced to be cut up into 24 pieces. Tulchin and Richard Shull, A3, Iowa City, alternate in playing the role.

CURTAIN TIME APPROACHING and the nightly scene in the men's dressing room is something like this. Plenty of paint is applied. The results generally are astonishing. The unpainted player with the smile and outstretched arm is John Bezek.

AH, MY LITTLE lotus blossom . . . rehearsing a scene without grease paint are Sylvia Lerner, A4, El Paso, Tex. (Mrs. Ma) and Harold Tulchin, A3, Iowa City (Ch'ao).

Former Student Helps Senator

'Bills' of Congress Make Day's Work

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
 WASHINGTON — A former State University of Iowa student, Mrs. Mary Blakeney, is responsible for about 700 "bills" every day.

She isn't a spendthrift or a wealthy woman, either. She's a secretary for Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa.

She attended SU from June of 1943 until August, 1944. Mrs. Blakeney, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Baldrige of Washington, Iowa, lived in Currier hall and was a member of the Scottish Highlanders until an appendectomy forced her to leave the organization.

The 700 most important pieces of legislation before the congress, affecting everything from agricultural programs to canneries in Alaska, are carefully checked daily by Mrs. Blakeney.

This work occupies most of her day, but in her "spare time" she does research and files office correspondence.

So far in this session of congress more than 5,600 bills have been introduced in the senate and the house of representatives. Because keeping tabs on that many bills would require the services of a large staff for that work alone, Mrs. Blakeney follows the progress of the most important bills before congress for Senator Hickenlooper.

Most of the other bills are not of sufficient importance to merit this close scrutiny. These bills deal with legislative procedure, title revisions and minor points in existing laws and are subject to less frequent checks on their progress.

Mrs. Blakeney's work is especially complicated because not only are many pieces of legislation introduced, but the bills are frequently changed radically from the form in which they were introduced. The committees to which the bills are referred and the debates on the floor may result in many amendments being added to the original legislation. And many of the bills may never be reported out from the committee, dying for that particular session of congress at least.

By reading the Congressional Record each day Mrs. Blakeney watches the bill from its introduction, notes the committee to which it is sent, reads the committee report when the legislation is placed before the congress for consideration and notices the progress of the bill when it is sent to the other house.

This close check on legislation is especially necessary for Senator Hickenlooper, a member of four very active committees of the legislature.

"Mrs. Blakeney certainly saves me a great deal of time by her accurate accounting of the many pieces of legislation in which I am particularly interested," the senator pointed out.

She came to work for Senator Hickenlooper in January of 1947 after graduating from Stanford University in June of 1946 with a degree in social science.

In the nation's capital she met N.E. Blakeney and they were married in Washington, Iowa, Aug. 16, 1948. A former resident of Buffalo, N.Y., Blakeney is employed by an export-import firm in Washington, D.C.

Pat Morrison Files Suit in District Court

Pat Morrison, West Liberty, yesterday filed suit for divorce in district court here from Melvin Morrison.

She charged cruel and inhuman treatment and asked to be awarded an absolute divorce, attorney fees and costs.

Ries, Dutcher and Osmundson are attorneys for the plaintiff.

KEEPING TRACK OF ABOUT 700 important bills now before congress for Iowa's Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper takes up most of Mrs. Mary Blakeney's day. She is a former SU student. Mrs. Blakeney is shown above conferring with the Republican senator. Every change in a bill's trip through congress is noted by Mrs. Blakeney for the senator's reference.

Iowa Parking Meter Measure Alters Local Budget Picture

A law passed by the Iowa legislature last month regulating the use of parking meter funds has a direct effect on Iowa City.

Seventy-five percent of the revenue from parking meters must be saved for purchase of new off-street parking lots or used in their purchase until the city council determines there is no further need for off-street parking lots.

Twenty-five percent of the parking meter revenue goes for administration such as wages of the policemen who collect the funds and maintain the meters.

City Atty. William H. Bartley said yesterday the law goes into effect July 4 according to the provisions of the Iowa code. But, he said, the law will probably have no effect until April 1, 1950, on the city council's financial arrangements for the funds.

This is because, Bartley explained, the council had already budgeted the year's revenue and approved the budget in April.

When off-street parking lots are sought with parking meter funds, the lots must be within four-tenths of a mile from the nearest meter, Bartley said.

Of the 25 percent used for administration, traffic signals may be purchased, but only for use in metered areas, he pointed out.

This puts a hitch in the traffic control program in Iowa City. The city council has long been aware that traffic signals would be needed in several places after the Benton street bridge opens this summer.

Several aldermen have mentioned the need for traffic signals on Capitol street at the Burlington and West Benton street corners. Most bridge traffic will route itself through Capitol street with the opening of the bridge and the proposed improvement of Capitol street, they agree.

The street, however, is not a metered area. Neither is South Riverside drive where it intersects with West Benton street on the west side of the Iowa river.

Alderman Clark F. Mighell said when the bill was being considered the council would have to get the money from all other funds if they couldn't use the parking meter funds. Mighell is chairman of the finance committee.

The liquor tax is an example of a fund not earmarked for any special purpose. It has fre-

New Pencils Used for Exams

The SUI examination service is trying to solve an old problem with a new pencil.

The loss of special electrographic pencils has been so heavy recently that the examination service is issuing a new pencil designed to cut losses, Director Robert L. Ebel said yesterday.

The new pencil is black and has the examination service's name stamped on it in white. It replaces the old yellow pencils that resembled standard pencils.

Ebel is also trying to cut down by cooperation with the faculty. He said instructions are included with every box of pencils asking instructors to make sure each student turns in a pencil with his examination. Ebel said it is possible to secure 100 percent return. In one case 178 pencils of 180 issued were returned.

The examination service orders 50 gross of pencils every six months. Ebel said the loss of pencils differs with different courses. Some students intentionally walk out with pencils but others "in their daze after the exam pick them up with their own materials and forget to return them."

Educating students and instructors to use the special pencils and machine scored tests at SUI was not much of a problem, Ebel said. Although it is an added bother for instructors to distribute pencils, it is a much faster method of obtaining test results and special tabulations, he said.

Vest Awarded $109 District Court Judgment

Dr. William M. Vest, 221 Summit street, was awarded a $109 judgment in district court here yesterday against Bert Nelson, formerly of Iowa City.

In his original suit, Vest asked judgment in that amount for medical services rendered the defendant and asked writ of attachment be issued against property held by Nelson in this state.

The Home Insulation company, as garnishee of Nelson's commissions as a salesman, was ordered to pay $112.75 to the court to be applied as payment of the plaintiff's judgment.

Edward F. Rate was attorney for the plaintiff. Messer, Hamilton, Cahill and Bartley were attorneys for the defendant.

By DICK SPENCER

TOMORROW they'll be saying it... "Dick Spencer was a guest columnist for Bill McBride!" I could see it coming, and I might as well face it. This kid McBride has reached the spot where he is too good to write his own doggone column, and now he busies himself searching through the peasantry for people who will wrangle with a typewriter for him under his by-line.

IT'S THE old familiar pattern. A young writer starts out and builds up a good column by sweating over the hot typewriter. Pretty soon he's popular. Next thing he's emceeding programs, judging beauty contests, endorsing breakfast food and having his column written for him by GUEST COLUMNISTS. There is always some drab little person who is tickled to death for a chance to bask in reflected glory for a day.

BILL HAS tossed crumbs my way before, and I am not ungrateful. After all, a guy his size can only absorb so much glory... and when he reaches his saturation point I might as well be on hand with my blotter. No sense in letting that glory stuff go to waste. Even before inflation set in someone wrote a book entitled "What Price Glory?" I don't recall the quoted market figure, but I do recall I couldn't afford it then... and I was single! I probably couldn't even rent the stuff now.

BILL LET me creep into the edge of the spotlight with him a couple of times recently. I got to help him judge a beauty contest once (I didn't exactly help judge the affair, but I counted the ballots of the people who voted.) He also let me help him judge an Easter egg contest after two other judges backed out. And now this! A guest columnist on McBride's Haul! Seventy-five typewritten lines to do with as I choose; and a guaranteed readership. Not only that, but in a column I can disregard the barnacle rules of punctuation, spelling and basic grammar. Bill does.

I DECIDED not to deviate too greatly from the general format of this column, so I read back through about a week's worth of old columns (thereby throwing a wrench smack-dab in the works of one of Prof. Swanson's readership surveys... I doubled the Haul's readership for that week.) Sometimes, I discovered, Bill makes up a column from things he "cleans out of his little black notebook." My wife cleaned out my little black notebook the day we were married, and I haven't kept one since.

HE ALSO interviews dogs. He writes whole columns on what dogs have to say to him. To preserve the pattern, I even tried this. I outran something like thirteen dogs and the only intelligible response I received was an offer to shake hands. This came from a shaggy St. Bernard who is a pledge or a mascot or something out at the ATO house. I didn't get any quotable quotes; and, frankly, I think McBride makes up all that tripe about interviewing an Irish setter.

THEN I remembers that a lot of the material he uses is mailed in to him by Agents, so I rifled through his stack of mail in the office of The Daily Iowan. He had four fan letters telling him in lavish phrases what a fine column he turns out. Three of the letters were in Jeanne's handwriting, and the fourth was written with a crayola on a piece of a shirtboard.

WELL, THERE it is. I've done it. I have written a column for McBride's Haul. My next step up on the journalistic ladder towards success is to write ad copy for corn pads and hernia trusses. Oh, one more thing... "Nervous Fancies?" I don't know just what that means, but it shows up in just about all of Bill's columns. Just in case he is getting a commission or a royalty from the Fantod corporation every time this appears in print, I'll add it in this column. He probably needs the money.

Interpreting the News —

Russ Concessions On Germany Seen

By J.M. ROBERTS JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Soviet Russia, her Berlin blockade smashed by the allied airlift and her whole German policy facing defeat, seems to be making a tremendous concession in the cold war.

She is reported to be willing to lift the Berlin blockade if the western allies will lift their own retaliatory blockade and set a date for a foreign ministers conference to discuss the whole German problem.

In their essentials these are the terms to which the allies agreed last summer and which Russia rejected, being unwilling to give up the blockade weapon until the ministers actually met.

Word of the new Russian position was received with some suspicion that it was only a last ditch effort to confuse the western German constitution makers and encourage them to delay final action on setting up an allied-sponsored federal state. Allied authorities were quick to say, however, that, if there were no more strings attached than have appeared so far, the way was clear for ending the blockade and holding the conference.

Statements from every quarter emphasized that whatever happens, the western German government will be pushed through.

There were few who appeared to be under any illusion that the council of foreign ministers, even if they met, would reach any overall settlement of the German problem. Such a meeting would give the Russians a chance to get out of their backfiring blockade policy with some saving of face.

It would give them a chance to make new representations for a voice in control of the Ruhr (even though they can have little hope of allied concessions). A meeting probably would result in settlement of the Berlin currency problem, which is largely a technical matter anyway, more important to the Russians than to the allies whose currency is much sounder. It was never anything except a Russian excuse for the blockade. What they really wanted was to drive the allies out of Berlin.

Whether there will be a meeting seems to depend on whether the Russians will go ahead on the outlined basis or whether they will start injecting other factors into the arrangements, as they have done so often when some agreement appeared near.

Whatever develops, if the whole thing is to be kept in perspective it must be remembered that even such an important thing as the lifting of the Berlin blockade would not necessarily mean a definite step toward peace.

Tactical zigzags in Russian policy never mean that communism is losing sight of its goal of world conquest. For this, Russia would have to give strong evidence of abiding by the formula laid down by Senator Vandenberg Monday night.

For peace, said the senator, there is needed "an announcement — backed by deeds to give it some semblance of reality — that Moscow seeks to heal the east-west breach in world relations; that communism is ready to drop its plans for external conquest and subversion; that the politburo is truly ready for mutual, good-faith efforts to create a liveable world in which free self-determination shall decide any nation's accepted ideology..."

Government Staffs Swell

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—Federal, state and local governments have one employe for every six and a half families in the United States, the Northwestern National Life Insurance company said last night.

On a pro rata basis, each family pays $33 a month, or $400 a year, toward the salaries of government workers.

The insurance company said that civilian employes on government payrolls now total more than 6.1-million or about equal to the number of paid workers of all kinds in Massachusetts, Indiana and Texas combined.

In 1929, government employes totaled only 3-1-million with total salaries of about $5-billion. Salaries in 1948 topped $15-billion and may reach 16-billion this year, the company said.

It said that since 1929 the U.S. population has increased 21 percent. At the same time state and local government employes have increased 60 percent, and federal civilian employes 250 percent.

Dr. Wise & Hutchins...

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

I attended the funeral of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise the other day—or tried to, rather, because the area around Carnegie hall was so packed I couldn't even get close. "That was one man in a million," said my cab driver, an Italian. "He was for all of us."

In an age in which we puzzle desperately over the question: What moves the minds of the people? a part of the answer, I think, was to have been found in the neighborhood of 57th street and Seventh avenue, in New York, on Friday afternoon.

THEY WERE THERE, staring up silently at the building in which the services were being held, because they loved him, and they loved him because he had been a great liberal.

He had been unafraid, he had never tried to win favor, and, as a result, you couldn't get through the street. He had taken up all the supposedly unpopular issues—he had been against racial discrimination, he had been for progressive labor laws, starting half a century ago, he had been for Zionism in the earliest days, he had been for so many of the things that to the respectables seem sure roads to disfavor, and here on the streets was the answer.

HERE WAS the reality. A billion words of cant shriveled in the light of that afternoon, and you knew again that the American mind does not reserve its warmest places for the timid, but for the bold, not for the self-enamored, but for the self-enfranchised.

You knew, as I say, that here was the reality, and that the rest was talk; and you knew that whatever opponents it has to face, the liberal spirit in America will in the end win, because reality must win over that which is not real.

AND ON THE WAY back to the office, I read the statement which Chancellor Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago had made to the subversive activities commission of the Illinois legislature. The commission had been inquiring into "subversive activity" on the campus of the university. Such inquiries as these have become a standard feature of American life lately, as the great wave of political heresy-hunting has crept over us.

BUT THIS HEARING was different. For Dr. Hutchins, while declaring that he and the university were against communism, absolutely refused to let himself or his institution be swept up in the wave. Calmly, he told the commission that the University of Chicago is a distinguished one precisely because it guarantees complete academic freedom.

He was not afraid of thought and discussion, he said; he would not countenance repression; he was for patience and tolerance, even in the face of provocation; he would not exclude Communist students ("If we did how would they ever learn better?"); he believed that those who had a real opportunity to study all forms of government would prefer democracy; he felt that existing laws could control subversive acts, if any should ever occur, but he knew of no subversive acts, and he was opposed to any attempt at control of thought.

HE SAID: "The danger to our institutions is not from the tiny minority who do not believe in them. It is from those who would mistakenly repress the free spirit upon which those institutions are built. The miasma of thought-control that is now spreading over the country is the greatest menace to the United States since Hitler."

AND FOR THE second time that day I had a renewed feeling of the reality of the liberal spirit, and of how it will rise to the challenge, in this, our free country, time after time, no matter how massive the attack on it, or how reckless.

Twice in one day, and it became a day to remember. This is what is real; this is us; and these realities, even though spoken in a single voice, take on a strength beyond the power of the massed choruses of fear and dismay to answer.

The West in China: Caught in Bed —

Nanking's Communist conquerors marched into the American embassy and caught U.S. Ambassador Stuart in bed. The action was rather symbolic.

The state department will protest the "violation" of the American embassy in the same way the British are protesting the attack on British warships on the Yangtze. The Communists, you see, are not playing cricket.

They haven't played cricket before, either. For instance, they made western correspondents stop filing dispatches from the Communist capital city, Peiping. The western press is hopefully staying on in Nanking; there is no telling how long they will be allowed to report developments.

Just as our official diplomatic policy toward China is stalled, our commercial outlook is also floundering. One U.S. trans-Pacific airline bravely announced its flights to Nanking will continue as scheduled—for the time being.

Before long, both our diplomatic and commercial policies may have to adjust to a completely Communist China. On the diplomatic front there is still spasmodic talk about rushing economic and military aid to Nationalist China. On the commercial front there is still a wait-and-see attitude.

If the incidents with the newsmen in Peiping and the U.S. ambassador in Nanking do not prove a point in themselves, they hint that the Communists have no intention of doing business with the west.

Further hint of this was broadcast over the Chinese Communist radio Monday. The Communists demanded that "the British government pay compensation and apologize" to the Communists for last week's Yangtze battle between Communist shore batteries and British warships.

In that encounter a British sloop carrying supplies for the British embassy in Nanking was fired upon. Three other British ships were driven off by the Communist shore guns before the vessels could rescue the stricken sloop.

The Communists did not play cricket according to the international rules of war. But they want the British to pay compensation and to apologize for the incident. They want the British to apologize for getting 43 British sailors killed.

Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault — who still thinks Chiang Kai-Shek can be helped — sounded a chilling warning in a speech the other night. Events in the far east "are driving us into World War III far more surely and swiftly than events in Europe," he said.

That statement strikes at the heart of our far east frustration. We haven't considered events in China as if they were a crisis. We still intend to fly in airplanes on schedule, to wait and see—to protest because Communist troops caught our ambassadors in bed. We even intend to aid in any way possible the Nationalist government, a government which, for all intents and purposes, no longer exists.

Only when we consider a Communist China in the Moscow camp and ourselves on the outside—in danger of losing more of Asia—will we be able to come up with the right answer.

Health Plan Fight: We'd Gain Any Way —

Much-needed health legislation will undoubtedly be a reality before too many months have passed. What that legislation will consist of, we can't determine. We can expect, however, that the interest in the program, both pro and con, will result in better health for the entire nation.

President Truman's proposed federal health plan has now been presented to congress. His desire to redistribute hospital and medical facilities has stirred other interests to action. Organizations close to the core of the problem are actively participating, many offering their own solutions to the problem.

The President's plan would be a compulsory one, operating from a payroll levy to pay all hospital, doctor and dental costs. The American Medical Association has labelled this plan "socialized medicine."

Sen. Robert A. Taft is sponsor of a substitute "voluntary" bill. His plan would call for government spending of $1,250,000,000 over the next five years in the form of assistance to state and local governments. This money would be used to build hospitals and provide proper medical care. The plan would stress voluntary prepayment for medical costs.

Other groups have offered possible plans for bettering health. The AMA and hospital groups have proposed prepayment plans. Labor groups are sponsoring a separate plan closely resembling Senator Taft's.

The latest substitute came from three large Roman Catholic groups, representing welfare organizations, charitable societies and hospitals. This plan would call for government assistance to existing medical and hospital agencies, including prepayment plans for hospital and medical care. These groups point out that the result of federal health would be an "inevitable monopoly."

Probably none of these proposals, if taken separately, could solve all existing problems. On the other hand, there is undoubtedly something worthwhile in all of them.

We need a workable plan that will make health facilities available to everyone on an equal basis. In a combination of all these plans, a wise-thinking congress can push through a bill that will operate efficiently without alienating all existing medical and hospital groups.

Why Not Return the Colonel's Favor? —

As a return favor, wouldn't it be nice if Eva would run a full page picture of the Chicago Colonel on the front page of Democracy, her Buenos Aires newspaper? We suggest the Time cover of several months back which shows the Colonel capped by a folded Tribune, Napoleon style.

Special Train to Try Synthetic Liquid Fuel

CHICAGO (AP)—Synthetic liquid fuel, produced from coal, will be used for the first time in American railroad history on Sunday, May 8.

On that date, a special Burlington route train will run from St. Louis to Louisiana, Mo., for the dedication of the U.S. bureau of mines' two new coal-to-oil demonstration plants. The train will carry government officials, industrial executives and invited guests.

The Louisiana plants, according to Secretary of the Interior J.A. Krug, are the first of their kind in this country and will employ different processes to convert coal and lignite into high-quality synthetic liquid fuels. The plants are being erected at a cost of $15-million and will serve as a proving ground for American coal, equipment, and processing methods.

Dr. R. W. Soucek Heads New Dental Clinic for Children

Dr. Richard W. Soucek, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Soucek, 412 Ronald street, was recently named head of the Dr. Soucek Pre-school dental clinic in Los Angeles, Calif. The clinic is the first of its kind in the United States.

Soucek received his bachelor of arts degree from SUI in 1939 with a major in music. He taught music for one year in Morenci, Ariz. later enlisting in the army dental corps in which he served a year-and-a-half. In 1946 he received a degree in dental surgery from the University of Southern California.

The clinic is sponsored by the California Babies and Children's Hospital of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles County Dental society.

It will provide dental care for children up to six years of age whose parents cannot afford private dental care. A small fee based solely on ability to pay will be charged for treatment, hospital officials said.

Emphasis will be placed on early detection and prevention of dental ill. An extensive education program for parents of the patients is also planned, according to Dr. Soucek.

LUCAS GETS CHECKUP
WASHINGTON (U) — Senate Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas, Ill., has gone to a hospital for a physical checkup, but is expected to return to his senate post in two or three days, his office announced yesterday.

State Department Fund — U.S. Grant to Aid SUI Chinese

Most of the 65 Chinese students at SUI will share in the $500,000 grant by the U.S. government to needy Chinese students working in scientific and technical fields at American universities.

The aid program was announced recently by the state department's division of exchange of persons.

"Only those whose major course of study is in one of a number of technical fields are eligible for the grant," the department stressed. Students majoring in fine arts, languages, religion, American law or journalism are not eligible for the aid, the department said.

The majority of Chinese students here are working on hydraulics, chemistry and electrical engineering while a few major in music, literature and journalism.

"The program of granting emergency financial assistance to Chinese students came as a result of the cooperation of the state department with the economic cooperation administration," the department said.

The department explained that the recent political and economic development in China justifies the inauguration of the program which was requested by the Chinese government.

"Grants to Chinese students may cover tuition, maintenance and travel," the state department revealed.

The amount will be sufficient to enable each needy technical student to achieve an immediate and approved educational objective and to return to China and serve his country.

Each applicant for the grant will be required to sign a pledge to return to China where he can apply his skills when his education is finished, the department said.

Another qualification is that the applicant must have been engaged in a course of study in an accredited university or college as of the fall semester, 1948.

Qualified students at SUI in need of financial assistance should contact the office of student affairs at once as applications must be received by the state department by Sunday.

Van der Zee Says 12-Nation 'Little UN' May Lead to Peace

Prof. Jacob Van der Zee of the SUI political science department said yesterday that the attempt to form a 12-nation "little UN" by Atlantic pact members, could well be the first step towards the achievement of permanent world peace.

Commenting on Iowa's United Nations week now being observed through proclamation of Governor Beardsley, Van der Zee said that the "little UN" group does not violate the UN charter.

"In fact," the political scientist said, "article 51 was included in the charter to take care of just such a situation. Only when every member of the UN feels safe from aggression," Van der Zee said, "will we have lasting peace."

The UN has done much good despite its drawbacks in the security field, the SUI professor asserted.

"Some people," he added, "expected magic results, but they've come to learn that magic must give way to plenty of hard work if peace is to be built and maintained."

Van der Zee said he was convinced that the north Atlantic defense union members are purely on the defensive and will go out of existence as soon as the UN lives up to their expectations.

Short Story Contest Deadline Date Set

Deadline for the annual Octave Thanet short story contest conducted by the English department is Sunday, Prof. Paul Griffith warned yesterday.

A prize of $50 will be awarded the undergraduate student submitting the best short story. The contest is sponsored by the Iowa chapter of Colonial Dames of America.

All SUI undergraduates are eligible to enter, Griffith said. Manuscripts must be submitted to the English department.

Each story must be in an envelope, with a pseudonym on the outside of the envelope and the author's correct name on the inside.

Truck-Car Wreck Causes No Injuries

A semi-truck and Mercury coupe collided yesterday at 12:58 p.m. on Burlington street near Gilmore drive, police said, causing $115 damage to the car. No personal injuries were reported.

George W. Knox, driver of the Des Moines Transportation truck, declared both vehicles were going west on Burlington street when the brakes of the big transport failed to hold as it approached the intersection.

Knox said the impact caved in the trunk of the car driven by Richard D. Folsom, D3, Iowa City, and dented a door and right front fender. He reported no damage to the truck.

Miss Kuna, personnel manager of Hall Brothers, Kansas City, Mo., will be feted by Phi Gamma Nu, women's commerce sorority, at a dinner in Iowa Union. Miss Kuna will give a talk at 7:00 o'clock in the YMCA rooms entitled "Through the Looking Glass."

Both speakers appear on the program of the Business Careers conference which begins today.

Coalition Starts Fight to Repeal T-H Labor Act

WASHINGTON (AP)—The battle to repeal the Taft-Hartley law, which may be the hottest congressional fight of the year, started on the house floor yesterday under the watchful eye of labor leaders.

As debate got underway, AFL and CIO officials rapidly filled the galleries. Many of them said they plan to sit straight through to see how the legislators vote on "restrictive" amendments.

President Truman, in his successful election bid last fall, made the GOP-sponsored labor-management act a chief target for attack and pledged his administration to throw it out at the first opportunity.

The battle was joined officially in mid-afternoon when the house voted formally, 396 to 6, to take up an administration bill which would repeal the law and replace it with an "improved" version of the New Deal's Wagner act.

Truman's supporters were arrayed against a tight coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats. Both sides promised a "fight to the finish" and both claimed eventual victory.

At least four days of bitter debate lie ahead before the house comes to the biggest hurdle—a substitute proposed by the GOP-Dixie bloc that would repeal Taft-Hartley in name but re-enact most of its provisions.

Known as the "Wood bill," the substitute bears the name of Rep. John S. Woods, a Georgia Democrat, but actually was drafted by Republicans.

Complaints of a bicycle theft and a motorist leaving the scene of an accident were received yesterday, Iowa City police reported.

C.J. Coffee, 311 S. Madison street, said an unidentified vehicle smashed the front fender of his car sometime Monday night while it was parked in front of his home.

Dan Dutcher, 620 S. Summit street, reported the theft of a blue and white bicycle yesterday, police said.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad B. Livingston, 210 Stadium park, are the parents of a 5 pound, 13 ounce boy born Thursday at University hospitals. The baby was named Stephen Lewis.

Sullivan Quits Navy Secretary Post

JOHN L. SULLIVAN stands at his desk shortly after resigning as secretary of the navy. Sullivan quit yesterday with a blast at Defense Secretary Louis Johnson. In a letter to Johnson, Sullivan called the defense secretary's order to halt work on a super aircraft carrier "arbitrary" and said it was made without even consulting the navy. (Story, Page 1)

Says Summer Jobs Scarce

Students interested in off-campus summer employment should check with R. L. Ballantyne, manager of the placement bureau, in the office of student affairs.

Ballantyne said many employers have written that summer jobs will be scarce and preference will be given to experienced persons.

Because of the scarcity, Ballantyne suggested that students make up their minds in which part of the country they desire work and then come to his office to determine the best possible way to obtain a position in that area.

He said that he has made arrangements with some employers and employment agencies to provide them with students for summer jobs.

Ballantyne urged students to keep in close contact with his office even after school is out because many places have indicated they are not hiring students until after June.

One thing that has tied up summer job placement, Ballantyne said, was that many students have written places without making definite commitments—thus employers have large waiting lists and no actual help hired.

Summer job information has been placed on a table in the office of student affairs.

Iowa River Carries Tons of Soil Away Daily, Boyer Says

The Iowa river carries an average of 5,000 tons of sediment downstream each day, Prof. M.C. Boyer of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research told soil conservation workers during a tour of the hydraulics laboratory Monday afternoon.

America is losing about seven inches of its topsoil every thousand years because while eight inches are eroded away, only one inch is regained, according to soil conservationists, Boyer said.

He told the visitors, here for the quarterly meeting of the Johnson, Keokuk, Iowa and Washington counties district, that a problem still unsolved is finding a way to measure the increase in sedimentation since the white man came to America.

The conservationists inspected the equipment used in the laboratory in the study of fluids and visited the laboratory annex where a water tunnel is under construction.

William G. Davis, district soil conservation commissioner, said Boyer's figures on sedimentation show a need for flood control and that a method for keeping rainfall on the hillsides is as necessary as the building of dams.

Prof. H.W. Saunders, chairman of the sociology department, told the group that there are three main ways to feed the world's growing population.

He said we can bring more land into cultivation, utilize agricultural land efficiently and employ diets that emphasize luxury items less and cereals more.

Local AMVETS to Nominate Officers

Iowa City AMVETS, post 32, will hold an "important" meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the post's clubrooms, 112 S. Capitol, Commander Richard Knudson said yesterday.

Nomination of post officers for the coming year and a financial report of the post and club funds will take place at the meeting. State Commander Woodrow Stingley will be present to help conduct the meeting, Knudson said.

SUI Band to Play At ROTC Review

The SUI varsity band will play the marching music for the ROTC governor's day review. Friday morning on the women's athletic field south of the Iowa Union.

A 45-member band, especially chosen from the men of the regular varsity band will present a program of five marches for the review of the SUI regiment. The band will be directed by Arnold Oehlisen, associate director of university bands.

The regiment will be reviewed by Gov. William S. Beardsley about 10:30 a.m.

Mercy Hospital to Get Ambulance Entrance

AN AMBULANCE ENTRANCE will replace the old porch which will be replaced by a canopy. Sig Logan, supervisor of the Tunnelliff Construction company, said yesterday. In addition, a concrete driveway will be laid. The old entrance was "unsafe" because of "rotten" concrete in the porch, Logan pointed out.

Begins at Michigan School

New Plan Developed at SUI Teaches 'Why'

A teaching plan developed at SUI that would have students study "why" Jack destroyed his brother's stamp collection instead of just observing that he did will be begun Friday at Highland Park, Mich., schools.

The plan was set up by Prof. Ralph H. Ojemann and his associates in the educational psychology department.

Wilbur Engelland, SUI graduate assistant in social studies, will go to Highland Park Friday to assist the school in getting the plan started, Ojemann said yesterday.

The plan—called the Iowa plan for education in human relations and mental health—has been used in the university experimental schools and is being adopted at Cedar Rapids and Tipton, Ojemann said yesterday.

The system has been worked out entirely at SUI, Ojemann said.

plan on children will also be made at Highland Park schools, Ojemann said.

An example of the human behavior study plan is its application to the ninth and tenth grades in the study of history. Besides learning the major historical events, the student is given help in finding reasons "why" people behaved as they did, Ojemann explained.

Ojemann said he will be unable to assist in setting up the plan at Highland Park since he will be in Chicago to confer on the plan's effect in the educational programs of the state training schools. He will confer with officials of the division of youth and community of the Illinois department of public welfare.

On Sunday Ojemann will participate in a broadcast, "Can We Achieve A Mental Health in a Push-button World," on the Northwestern university reviewing stand. The program will be broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting system at 9:30 a.m.

Other participants will be Dr. William C. Menninger, president of the American Psychiatric association, and Prof. William Hunt of the Northwestern university psychology department.

Tuesday and Wednesday of next week Ojemann will be in Philadelphia on invitation of the school system to discuss plans for another center to study the effect of the plan for education in human relations and mental health.

TRAIN KILLS FARMER

MEMPHIS, MO. (AP)—Don Husted, 55, farmer of Arbelo, Mo., was killed yesterday in an auto-train crossing accident near here. The car was carried 200 feet after the collision with a west-bound Burlington train.

Craft Guild Plans Exhibit of Articles

Iowa City's Craft guild will hold its annual display of articles in the University clubrooms of Iowa Union from noon to 5 p.m. May 7 and 8.

The Craft guild, which has 100 active members, is divided into nine groups.

Handcraft done by group members includes weaving, textile painting, block printing and design, ceramics, candle-making, leather work, and work with sterling silver and other metals. Toys, Christmas decorations, Swedish embroidery and glass etching are made by the hobby group.

Eight Sign Up for YMCA Conference

Eight SUI students interested in YMCA secretaryships have signed up to attend a career conference at the Cedar Rapids YMCA Saturday. Executive Secretary Ralph Schlomg said yesterday.

He said the conference is open to all students thinking about making "Y" work their career. They may still sign up at the Y rooms in the Union, Schlomg added.

Those registered for the conference so far are Merle Frey, CA Monmouth, Ill.; Ruel Bell, AL Nichols; Ray Davenport, A3, Grinnell; Norman Jackson, A1, Ames; Bob Jahns, A4, Burlington, Wis.; Gene Krause, A4, Spencer; Bill Sharp, A2, Marshalltown, and John Sherer, A1, Hampton.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

SYLVESTER WATKINS, in "The Pleasures of Smoking," recalls the declaration of Mark Twain: "Giving up smoking is the easiest thing in the world. I've done it a hundred times." And when Clergyman Charles Spurgeon was asked how a man of the cloth could justify his habit of smoking cigars and a pipe, he replied calmly, "I cultivate my flowers and burn my weeds."

Charlie Gabel, editor of the Michigan State Spartan, assures me that the following three jokes head the campus wit-parade this semester:

1. Wife to husband: "You swore terribly at me in your sleep last night!"
Husband: "Who was asleep?"
2. Papa Robin: "How did that speckled egg get in our nest?" Mama Robin: "Just a lark."
3. During a grouse hunt, two sportmen were shooting at a clump of trees near a stone wall. Suddenly a red face popped up over the top of the wall.
"Hey, you almost hit my wife!"
"Did I?" cried the man aghast. "I'm very sorry. Have a shot at mine over there."
