Body of Drowning Victim, 17, Recovered from Iowa River

The body of Harold D. Overman, 17, missing from his brother's home at 123 1/2 S. Clinton street for two weeks, was recovered from the Iowa river near the west end of the Burlington street bridge yesterday.

Police and firemen recovered the body with the aid of grappling hooks after Bill Butler, SUI laboratory technician, reported he saw what looked like a person's head in the river above the dam at 12:42 p.m.

Jessup Asks Detail On Berlin Blockade Plans from Russians

NEW YORK (AP) — Ambassador Philip C. Jessup asked the Russians yesterday to tell the western powers exactly what their terms are for lifting the Berlin blockade.

The Russians then started work on their answer. When it will come is anybody's guess.

That sums up the formal and informal reports on a 92-minute meeting yesterday between Jessup and two Soviet deputy foreign ministers, Andrei A. Gromyko and Jacob A. Malik.

Talk in Secret
The conversations were held under unusual secrecy on the second floor of the ornately furnished Russian delegation offices on upper Park avenue.

At the end of the talk, which extended through lunch time, Jessup left a written communication with Gromyko and Malik. Informants said the communication was intended to draw from the Soviet government its precise views on what can be done about the blockade and to put the whole talks on a formal basis.

Jessup Silent
Jessup had nothing to say when he left the meeting.

Diplomatic sources described the Jessup message variously during the day as a note, a communication, and a written memorandum.

An American delegation spokesman explained that it was not a "note" in the usual diplomatic sense. He said usually at this stage in negotiations the ambassador reads a prepared statement and then leaves a copy on the table when he departs.

A few minutes after Jessup departed, Gromyko left for a United Nations committee meeting at Lake Success.

Malik stayed inside the Russian building where he lives.

Butler said he was watching fishermen from the bridge during his lunch hour when he saw the head breaking the surface of the water near the intake of the Hydraulics laboratory.

Identified
A letter found in one of the victim's pockets was illegible but Coroner George D. Callahan discovered a marking in the trousers which led to the identification by Mrs. Lyle Overman, sister-in-law of the victim. The body had been in the water several days.

Mrs. Overman said Harold came to live with them three weeks ago after being released from the state hospital at Clarinda. He stayed with them a week, she stated, but packed his clothes and announced he wanted to leave.

Disappeared
The couple persuaded Harold to stay, Mrs. Overman said, but he disappeared two weeks ago yesterday.

Overman had served for a time in the army of occupation in Japan but was discharged when authorities discovered he was too young for service.

The coroner said no inquest will be held. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Goat Ruled Ineligible But Has Prom Date

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP) — Nan Epso, a goat nominated for junior prom queen by Indiana university's "independent independents," was nosed out in yesterday's balloting. But she'll go to the prom anyway.

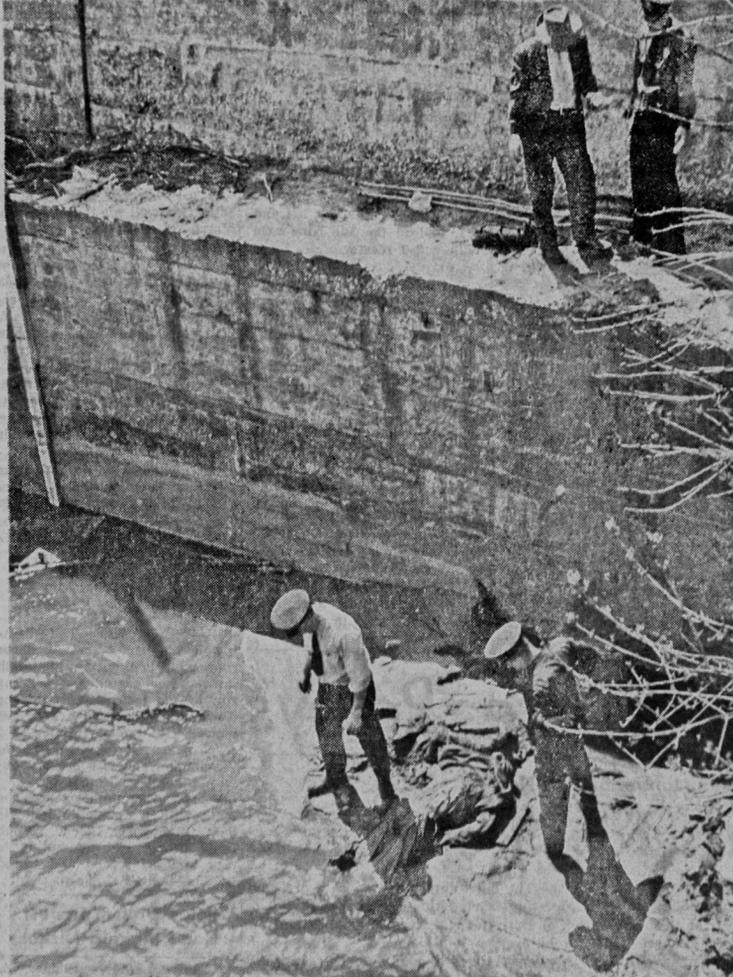

The prom committee had ruled Nan ineligible for queen, but her supporters put on an extensive campaign for write-in votes. Nan was at the polls all day, her hooves painted bright red and her coat trimmed brushed. The final count gave her 213 votes for a good third.

Bernard Leiter, Miami, Fla., Nan's campaign manager, said the goat will go to the prom, "and she'll have an escort and wear an orchid — if she doesn't eat it before she gets there."

Mary Kratz, Gary, Ind., of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, won the election over Dolores "Dee" Allen of Indianapolis and Nan. The prom committee did not reveal their total votes.

SETS MOTHER'S DAY
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman yesterday proclaimed Sunday, May 8, as "Mother's day."

By coincidence, the date is his own birthday.

Ten Years in Sealed Room, Wants It Back

NEW YORK (AP) — The world Paul Makushak shunned for ten years closed in on him yesterday. He didn't like it. While psychiatrists sought to plumb his mind, Makushak, 33, a onetime college student, pleaded to go back to the dark, filthy cubicle in the wall of a Brooklyn tenement house where he says he lived since 1939.

Police broke through the wall Tuesday night and fell back before the fetid air of the cubicle and the strange sight confronting them. Out crawled a massive man wrapped in filthy rags. A great fringe of curling dark beard almost covered his face. Full-pupiled dark eyes blinked at unaccustomed light. He was stooped and barely able to stand after the ten years in his three-by-five-foot cave. He had not bathed in ten years. His cubbyhole contained no sanitary facilities. Virtually all his time there he spent lying on a filthy pallet.

That was the Paul Makushak whom his tailor father, Peter, had not seen since he went on an errand for him ten years ago. His mother, who fed him and tended to his needs, guarded the secret of his existence until she was forced to go to a hospital Tuesday.

Not A Crime
District Attorney Miles F. McDonald said yesterday there was no evidence of any crime since Makushak entered his living tomb voluntarily. He added that Makushak told him:

"If I'm released I want to go back to the room."
Meanwhile, U.S. Attorney Frank J. Parker and the FBI sought to learn if Makushak had gone in hiding to avoid the draft. If he had been there since 1939, as his father believed, he could not have crawled away to avoid the draft which was not enacted then.

Had Radio
On the other hand, his cubicle contained an old radio. But Makushak claimed he knew nothing about the war. He said he didn't care how the world was running. He spent his time sleeping and practicing short hand.

The mind behind the impassive, bespectacled eyes did not seem totally irrational to police. Makushak answered most questions calmly.

Sewer Caves in, Workmen Escape

CHICAGO (AP) — Fifteen workmen escaped with their lives yesterday when an air leak caused a cave-in in a big storm sewer being constructed 40 feet underground.

Seven workmen were treated for minor leg injuries while the others were unhurt. Officials said the cave-in might have been serious if the men had not been changing shifts at the time.

Chiang In Plea From Shanghai

Administration Wants Calder For Army Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration wants to make Utility Executive Curtis E. Calder secretary of the army, but he said yesterday he has not committed himself to accept the appointment.

The word of his selection was flat, definite, authoritative.

Secretary of Defense Louis A. Johnson, a strong backer of Calder for the job, conferred at the White House with President Truman about noon.

Reporters there were informed without reservation that Calder was "in"; that he would take over the secretaryship in 60 days.

Denial
Hours later, Calder, who is Chairman of Electric Bond & Share Co., telephoned The Associated Press in New York. He said:

"I have not accepted the secretaryship of the army today or accepted it for 60 days from now."

He had no further comment, except to say that his first knowledge of the report was when he read it in the newspapers.

It was widely known that Johnson has been backing Calder for the post. Further, Mr. Truman has shown an inclination to let the new defense secretary choose the key men on the whole defense team.

Johnson Silent
Johnson had no immediate comment on Calder's statement.

The army secretaryship became officially vacant yesterday when Kenneth C. Royall stepped out to become a member of a New York law firm.

Johnson declined to say whether he discussed the vacancy when he called on Mr. Truman yesterday.

White House reporters were told that Gordon Gray, now assistant secretary of the army, would be promoted to undersecretary and would act as head of the department until the vacancy was filled.

India Keeps Place In Commonwealth

LONDON (THURSDAY) (AP) — India will stay in the British Commonwealth of nations, a communication announced today.

The rich, sprawling dominion, soon to become a republic, has accepted the British crown as "the symbol of the free association" of the independent commonwealth members and, as such, the head of the commonwealth.

The agreement was reached during a week of talks here among commonwealth leaders.

Attending were the prime ministers of the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, Ceylon, Pakistan, South Africa and India, and the external affairs minister of Canada.

Sought for Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson brought basic east-west differences into sharp focus yesterday, saying that even if the western powers reach an agreement with Russia on Berlin there still will be need for the north Atlantic defense pact.

The 20-year security treaty deals with a "much larger problem," Acheson said as he urged speedy senate approval of the pact as a way "to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war."

Prevent War
The secretary of state told the senate foreign relations committee the "only attractive" way to deal with war is to "prevent the war from happening."

To that end Acheson asked the lawmakers to endorse this country's role in the alliance and to provide a $1.45-billion arms program to make the treaty "more effective" against any threat of aggression.

Acheson's comments on the current efforts to arrive at a peaceful settlement of the Berlin dispute came at the end of his day-long testimony before the senate group.

Asks Judgment
Senator Lodge (R-Mass) raised this point, asking whether the treaty "would still be necessary" in the event the blockade deadlock were broken. To this Acheson replied:

"Yes, in my judgment it will be necessary."

Acheson spoke out sharply against what he said is the "tendency" of some people in this country to feel that the United States should "go down or up" depending upon the amount of heat Russia stirs up in the cold war.

Urges Battle On 'Tyranny' Of Communism

SHANGHAI (THURSDAY) (AP) — The Communists drove within 38 miles of Shanghai today and Americans stepped up their evacuation from this greatest of Asian cities.

SHANGHAI (AP) — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek arrived in this Communist-menaced city yesterday and urged all Chinese to fight "Communist tyranny."

His dramatic appeal came as two Communist columns moved toward Shanghai and another lanced deeper to the south to cut off the last rail lifeline to the rest of China.

It was a perilous time for Chiang, branded by the Communists as No. 1 "war criminal," to come to Shanghai from his southern retreat at Chikow. The retired president said he spoke only as a citizen.

Shanghai Menaced
The Shanghai garrison command said Nationalist troops had taken up new positions six miles east of Soochow and that fighting was continuing. Thus the Communists might be only 44 miles west of Shanghai.

A third Communist column was slashing southward from Soochow for the rail junction city of Kashing. Kashing controls the railway from Shanghai to the escape port of Hangchow. This is the only rail line from Shanghai still in Nationalist hands.

Putung Safe
An early report that Communist guerrillas had taken Putung across the Whangpoo river from Shanghai's business heart was in error. Communist guerrillas were operating in the area but they had not taken over.

Chiang's unexpected arrival in Shanghai (he previously was reported headed for the southeast coast port of Amoy) was reported by the Chinese and foreign press. There was no fanfare.

Charges Enslavement
Chiang charged that the Communists sought to "enslave the Chinese people to the cause of international communism by attempting to make all China a military base and a source of manpower for the benefit of a Communist plan for world domination."

He said the Communists by crossing the Yangtze made the same political and military blunders which defeated Japan in China.

He predicted the Communist thrust into south China "will bring the Reds face to face with a tangling mass of military, political and economic problems which eventually will result in their downfall."

"I am certain," he said, "that so long as we carry on the struggle the Communists can neither enslave nor destroy our country. Within three years final victory will be ours."

Tells of CIO T-H Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Werdel (R-Calif) told the house yesterday he had been informed of a committee of CIO members was calling congressmen outside and telling them to vote for repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law — or else.

The Californian said he had not been approached himself, but he told his colleagues:

"As a member of the house, this disturbs me."

Werdel's statement came shortly after Rep. Klein (D-NY) drew startled looks from the lawmakers with a proposal that American labor stage a one-day nationwide work stoppage as a "demonstration of solidarity" against the Taft-Hartley act.

Republicans roundly denounced Klein for advancing the idea.

The suggestion also met a cool reception at CIO headquarters here.

"We are not in favor of political strikes," a CIO spokesman commented. He told reporters that the union's various contracts around the country would not permit such a walkout.

Sales Tax Bill Vetoed In Nebraska Legislature

LINCOLN, NEB. (AP) — Nebraska's unicameral legislature yesterday killed a bill which would have set up a two percent sales tax in the state. The vote was 30 to 12.

Nebraska has neither a sales tax nor a state income tax.

Leave Deadline

Saturday is the last day for veterans attending SUI under the G.I. bill to cancel their 15 day leave, William Coder, director of SUI's veteran service office, said yesterday.

The 15 days leave is an automatic adding of time each academic year to the veterans enrollment period. Coder said, and will be charged against his total entitlement period.

Latvian Refugee, 9, Moves into Anderson Home, Gets Cowboy Hat, Awaits Adoption

"School was ja, good!" a nine-year-old Latvian refugee boy, who arrived in Iowa City Tuesday to be placed for permanent adoption, said after visiting at University elementary schools yesterday afternoon.

The boy, Vilis Strautmanis, was brought to Iowa with five other Latvian orphans, by the Lutheran Welfare society.

Vilis arrived in Des Moines Monday after a plane trip from Europe and is living with Mr. and Mrs. Lester Anderson, 728 Bowery street, who are temporary foster parents for the boy until permanent adoption is arranged.

Vilis was brought to Iowa City Tuesday night by Mrs. Jeanne Kloster Fitzgerald, director of the southeast branch of the Lutheran Welfare society of Iowa.

The blond boy speaks Latvian, some German and a little English—goodbye, hat, thank you, and refers to the Andersons as Margaret and Les.

Full Card For Big Nine This Weekend

Iowa 2nd in League Batting, 5th in Fielding; Dittmer High

Iowa's baseball team, after its first two Big Nine games against defending co-champion Illinois last weekend, now stands second in team batting and fifth in team fielding, according to conference statistics released yesterday.

With undefeated Purdue atop the league scramble with two straight wins and Illinois seconds with a 4-1 record, the Hawkeys are currently tied for third place with three other teams all with one win and one loss, Indiana, Ohio State and Wisconsin.

Pitcher Dick Hoeksema of Iowa has the distinction of being the conference's leading batter at this early date by virtue of his four singles in as many trips to the plate in the Hawk-Illini slugging duel last Saturday.

Hoeksema's 1,000 average is matched by infielder Bob Smith. Smith went to the plate once against Illinois and rapped out a single.

Of the players who have been to the plate nine or more times, the leaders are: Second Baseman Gene Evans, of Wisconsin, .500; Second Baseman Jack Dittmer of Iowa, .444; First Baseman Russ Steger of Illinois, .400; Outfielder Fred Ballantine of Illinois, .333; Third Baseman Ted Kobrin of Michigan, .333; and Third Baseman Ted Wessen of Minnesota, .333.

Dittmer and John Neal of Illinois lead in run-batted-in with five apiece. Neal accounted for four of his with a grand-slam homer against Iowa Saturday.

The conference's big hitters of a year ago have failed to make impressive starts this season. Illinois' Herb Plews, second baseman, won the 1948 batting crown with a .404 average, but in his first six 1949 games (counting a tie with Minnesota; he has only seven hits in 26 times at bat for a .269 mark.

Ohio State's Ray Gebhardt, who led the Big Nine in runs, total bases and tied in most hits and home runs a year ago, has only two singles in his first two games for a .286 average.

Wisconsin leads the conference in team batting with a .306 percentage for two games. Iowa with 19 hits, 18 of which came in the second Illinois' game, in 68 times at bat is second with a .279 percentage.

Illinois, .249; Indiana, .222, and Michigan, .200, follow in that order.

Top fielding teams are Ohio State, .987; Michigan, .980; Wisconsin, .973; Purdue, .952, and Iowa, .951. The Hawkeys have made one double play, 23 assists, 54 putouts and four errors in the two conference games.

Pitcher Horace Tangman of Illinois, who failed to get by the second inning here against the Hawkeys Saturday, leads the loop's hurlers with a 2-0 record. Iowa's Jack Bruner is one of eight pitchers with one win and no defeats.

Only other Iowan with a win-loss record is Wes Demro, who was charged with the 13-12 Iowa defeat by Illinois.

The Big Nine goes into its first full schedule of spring conference games tomorrow and Saturday, and from the weekend's two-game series should emerge the teams most likely to battle it out for the 1949 championship.

Iowa has an important two games with undefeated league

Home Plate Traffic Jam

DOM DIMAGGIO of the Red Sox is tagged out by Athletics' Catcher Joe Astroth in what appears to be a traffic jam at home plate at Boston yesterday. Dom tried to make it home in fourth inning after being trapped off third. Umpire Art Passarella, bumped on play, starts to fall in background. Ted Williams (9) and A's Pitcher Carl Scheib look on.

Hawks Go to Purdue Today

Approximately 22 Iowa baseball players will leave with Coach Otto Vogel at 2 p.m. today for their vital weekend series with Purdue at Lafayette tomorrow and Saturday.

The Boiler-makers have not been beaten in both league and non-league play this spring, whipping defending co-champion Michigan April 16, 5-1 and 2-1, to lead the Big Nine race with a 2-0 record.

Lefties Jack Bruner and Dick Hoeksema are the likely Hawkeye pitching choices, with Wes Demro, Glenn Drahn and Dick Orth ready for relief duty.

Purdue will probably counter with Melvin Henson, who held Michigan to five hits, and Bob Hartman, who beat the Wolverines on seven hits. Purdue collected only nine hits in the Michigan series and now has a team batting average of .158 in conference games.

The two-game series at Lafayette will be one of the sports features for alumni returning for class reunions. Friday's game is set for 4 p.m. and Saturday's for 10:30 a.m.

Last year Purdue won both games played here in Iowa City, 9-3 and 7-3.

Bob Rossie Wins Welterweight Title

DES MOINES—Bob Rossie Jr., SUT's student from Iowa City, won the state welterweight boxing championship here last night by defeating Jackie Parks, 153, of Des Moines in six rounds.

Bobbie Carew of Des Moines knocked out Kid Montgomery of Council Bluffs to take over the Iowa lightweight crown which was vacated by the death of Billy Cornwell on the west coast March 30.

The kayo came in 1:13 of the second round. Both Carew and Montgomery weighed 128 pounds.

Cornwell died after he was knocked out in a San Jose, Calif., bout March 30. The boxing show last night was staged as a benefit for his family.

Ezzard Charles, who will fight Jersey Joe Walcott for the national heavyweight title in June, met Hubert Hood of Chicago in a four-round exhibition.

Other winners on the card were Adelphus Edwards of Des Moines and Ralph Thornton of Keokuk.

Nats Break Losing Streak, Nip Yanks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Senators rallied for three runs with two out in the ninth inning, then scored the winning run in the tenth to defeat the New York Yankees, 4-3, here last night. The victory snapped a seven-game losing streak for Washington and also broke a 20-inning scoreless stretch.

Forrest Thompson opened the tenth with a double to left. He took third when Catcher Ralph Houk threw wild attempting to pick him off second and scored on Sam Dente's single to right.

Some Days You Just Can't Make a Nickel

SEATTLE (AP)—Pitcher Al Getchell struck out six men in one inning, 21 in nine innings, gave up only one hit and lost the game, 9 to 8.

Yes, six in one inning! Three times catchers dropped the third strike in the fourth stanza.

Giants Belt Bums, 11-8, To Reain League Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Rookie outfielder Pete Milne's pinch-hit home run with the bases loaded in the seventh inning gave the New York Giants an 11-8 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday and moved them back into the league lead.

Milne's blow, off relief pitcher Ezra (Pat) McGlothlin, was a line drive that eluded centerfielder Duke Snider and rolled past him to the centerfield wall. The Giants were behind 8-7 at the time and two were out.

Newhouse Loses, 4-3

DETROIT (AP)—Righthander Karl Drews, aided by some healthy slugging by Bob Dillinger and Paul Lehner, put the St. Louis Browns back on the victory road yesterday as he beat the Detroit Tigers and Hal Newhouse, 4 to 3 in 12 innings.

Iowa Enters 10 in Drake Relays

Thinclads Pin Hopes On Two-Mile Relay

Coach Francis Cretzmeyer has nominated 10 men to represent Iowa in the Drake relays in Des Moines this weekend. The Hawk cindermen will compete in three relays and four individual events. The Hawks will pin their hopes mainly on the two-mile quartet composed of Ray McCreary, Bill Remmes, Jack Copeland and Keith Brown.

Brown anchored the victorious mile medley team at Illinois last Saturday. He ran the 880-leg in slightly over 1:59.

In practice this week he has run faster than the time at Champaign and Coach Cretzmeyer thinks he can cut his time down even further.

Copeland traveled the 880 yards in 1:59 plus in Wednesday's time trials, while McCreary and Remmes were timed at about 2:01.

The Hawks will have two relay teams entered on Friday afternoon's card. Tom Sangster will join McCreary, Brown and Copeland to make up the distance medley team.

Sangster will open with a 440-dash, followed by McCreary running the 880, Brown in the three-quarters and Copeland will anchor with a mile run.

The mile relay will be composed of Elliott McDonald, Remmes, John Merkel or Brown and Sangster. They will run in the preliminaries Friday.

Individual contestants will be Dick Erdenberger, high jump; Dick Tupper, two-mile run; Clair Jennett, pole-vault; and Jim Michel, discus.

In last night's practice, Michel

Guzowski Denies Prep Coaching Job Report

Contrary to a newspaper report yesterday afternoon, Tony Guzowski, Iowa football and basketball star, said he had not accepted any football coaching job as yet. It was reported yesterday that the Iron River, Mich., senior had been named football coach and assistant basketball coach at Algona, Iowa, high school. Guzowski said he is working on several coaching possibilities but will not know for several days just where he will go. One of the possibilities, he said, is at a high school in Illinois.

Sain, Jansen Biggest Flops — It's Tough on Hurlers

NEW YORK (AP)—The big league pitching aces are having a deuce of a time getting started this season. With the exception of Detroit's Hal Newhouse and the New York Yankees' Vic Raschi, every one of them has received rough treatment. And even Newhouse is falling in line. He lost a 4-3 12-inning decision to the St. Louis Browns yesterday.

Boudreau Bruised as Indians Romp, 11-3

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians went on a batting spree yesterday, pounding five Chicago White Sox pitchers for 13 hits, including two home runs, a triple and a pair of doubles for an 11 to 3 romp. The game was marred by an injury to Tribe Manager Lou Boudreau. A ball pitched by Orval Grove in the seventh inning struck Boudreau on the left elbow and eventually forced his retirement. The Cleveland pilot remained in the game long enough to advance from first to third on a double by Joe Gordon, then retired in favor of Rookie Ike Boone.

An x-ray showed Boudreau's injury was only a bruise, and he told the club he would be ready to play in the next game, Friday at Detroit.

Vandy Wild; Cubs Breeze Over Reds

CHICAGO (AP)—Cincinnati's Johnny Vander Meer developed a spell of wildness that turned into a six-run rally for the Chicago Cubs in the fourth inning yesterday. The Cubs breezed home from there for an 8-3 victory before a ladies' day turnout of 23,223.

Bob Scheffing, Emil Verban and "Peanuts" Lowrey each drove in a pair of tallies in the uprising that "Bud" Lively had difficulty subduing. Verban topped the Cubs' 12 hit attack with a double and two singles to drive in four runs and score another himself. Dutch Leonard was raked for all the Cincinnati runs and seven hits in four innings. Emil Kuhn succeeded him and twirled runless ball the rest of the way for his second relief victory of the season.

O'Neal's Novel Wins $5,000

Charles E. O'Neal, 45, former SUI football player and now a Hollywood writer and theatrical producer, yesterday won third prize of $5,000 from The Christophers for a novel, "Three Wishes of Jamie McRuin."

The Christophers, a non-profit movement founded in 1945 by the Rev. James Keller, a Maryknoll missionary, are endeavoring to bring back Christian principles in public life.

Father Keller, director of the movement, instituted the book awards in the belief that "a normal decent tone could be restored to literature in America."

First prize, $15,000, was awarded to George Howe, Washington, D.C. architect, for a war-time novel, "Call It Treason." Mrs. Richard L. Nowison, Chicago housewife, won second prize of $10,000 for her novel, "The Martels."

O'Neal, known as "Blackie" while at SUI, played halfback for the Hawkeye varsity and won a minor "T" in 1925 and major "Ts" in 1926 and 1927.

After leaving the university, he worked in New York for a time, then as a sailor for a few months. He lived in Paris for a while doing some writing.

He returned to California, where he became a theatrical producer. He did some short story writing which led him to Hollywood and the writing of motion pictures.

As a theatrical producer, he launched Laird Cregar toward stardom in 1940 in the west coast production of the play "Oscar Wilde." He also produced Robinson Jeffers' "Tower Beyond Tragedy," starring Judith Anderson.

O'Neal is married and has two sons. He said he plans to write his next book in Ireland.

Johnson County District Court —

Three Judgment Suits Filed, One Awarded

Three judgment suits were filed in Johnson county district court yesterday and another was awarded by Judge Harold D. Evans.

Alice B. Reynolds, filed a $4,684.19 judgment suit against the Missouri Transit Company, incorporated.

She asked judgment in that amount for personal injuries and for damages to her auto and trailer received in a collision with a bus owned by the defendant. The accident occurred on highway 218 south of Iowa City, Nov. 25, 1948.

She charged the driver of the bus with negligence in driving at excessive speed and in failing to give the proper signal before passing another vehicle on the highway.

Mrs. Reynolds asked $1,184.19 damages to the auto and trailer and for loss of their use during repair, and $3,500 for personal injuries.

Will J. Hayek is attorney for the plaintiff.

A $478.80 judgment suit was filed by Perry L. Bodie against five partners of Bothell Joint Enterprise.

Bodie asked judgment in that amount for damages to his tractor-trailer received when it struck a steer allegedly owned by the defendants on highway 6, eight miles east of Iowa City on Oct. 11, 1948.

Bodie charged the defendants with negligence in allowing the steer to run at large on the highway in front of the farm owned by them.

He asked $128.80 for damages to the truck-trailer and $350 for loss of the use of the vehicle. He asked the case be tried by a jury.

D.C. Nolan is attorney for the plaintiff.

Alda C. Wickham yesterday filed suit for a declaratory judgment against Magdalene and Mary T. Hasley, asking the court to award him possession of the property at 1132 Muscatine avenue now occupied by the defendants.

The plaintiff claimed an eviction notice has been served on the defendants to vacate the premises by May 12 so the property could be sold to another party, but that they have refused to comply with the order.

Wickham asked the court to determine the rights of both parties and order the defendants to vacate the property by May 12, so the terms of sale can be carried out.

Ries, Dutcher and Osmundson are attorneys for the plaintiff. Judge Evans yesterday awarded Ivan H. Cummings, Washington county, a $2,045.25 judgment in his suit against Margaret Krall, executrix of the R.E. Krall estate. Cummings filed suit April 5 to collect on a promissory note held by him against the estate. He asked his lien against the property be established and foreclosed to satisfy the judgment.

Business 'Honeymoon' Over, Conference Speakers Warn

SUI students were painted an encouraging but not enthusiastic picture of future opportunities in business by 14 speakers yesterday at the opening day of the fourth annual Business Careers conference.

Most of the speakers told the students that there were still plenty of opportunities in business but many of them added the warning that the business "honeymoon" was over for a few years at least.

Attendance at the conference sessions was "excellent," Director Guy L. Ames Jr. said. He estimated that an average of 150 persons attended the sessions.

President Virgil M. Hancher addressed the conference speakers and their guest at the opening day noon luncheon in the Iowa Union.

Walter Peterson of Peterson clothing store, Burlington, and Gus Olson of Link-Belt Speeder, Cedar Rapids, opened the conference at 8:30 in the senate and house chambers of Old Capitol.

George Lloyd from Lloyd and Degeus investment bankers, Joliet, Ill., told students that investment banking was a "fascinating business" and that it offered many opportunities. However, they warned students "be sure you can live on a very small income for several years if you plan to go into investment banking."

B.D. Silliman, Cedar Rapids attorney and president of the Iowa Chain Store council, sounded one of the most optimistic notes of the day. He told students, "I have never known the time when there was a greater opportunity in retailing than there is today."

He warned his audience, however, that they mustn't be afraid to "sweep the floors and unpack boxes" for a while if they wanted to get ahead in the retailing business.

Miss Marguerite L. Kuna, personnel manager of Hall Brothers, Kansas City, Mo., addressed women interested in business careers in the YMCA rooms at the Iowa Union last night. The title of her talk was "Through the Looking Glass."

The conference, sponsored by the collegiate chamber of commerce, ends today. Today's schedule is as follows:

8:30 — Personnel Management (union) — Kenneth Everhart, C.O. Business teacher training — Ernest A. Zelliott, Des Moines public schools. Magazine advertising — F.R. Ross, Meredith publishing company.

9:30 — Trade Associations — Neal Hammer, Newton chamber of commerce. Industrial accounting — W. M. Delzell, Cedar Rapids engineering company. Company advertising — Grant Olson, W.A. Sheaffer Pen co.

Men's Co-op Housing Planned

Plans are underway for the formation of an independent men's co-operative room and boarding unit on the SUI campus, Richard S. Hiatt, A4, Modesto, Calif., announced yesterday.

Hiatt, chairman of the co-operative committee, said further plans for the housing unit would be made at a meeting Monday 12:30 p.m. in the YMCA conference room in the Iowa Union.

The proposed co-operative work plan, thereby reducing living quarter expenses for those men living in the co-op, Hiatt said.

Hiatt estimated that cost of living in the unit would be from 10 to 15 percent cheaper than the cost of living in a residence and eating downtown.

The proposed housing unit will be financed by the sale of bonds to persons interested in buying them. These bonds would pay interest of five percent.

Membership in the co-op may be had by purchasing a $10 bond for meals or a $15 bond for living in the co-op. Both bonds may be bought when the co-op has definitely been established as a housing and boarding unit on the campus, Hiatt said.

These bonds may be sold when the person holding them graduates from SUI and will be available to all students regardless of classification.

Membership for eating in the co-op will be open to all persons whether or not they live in the unit.

This unit will be absolutely independent and will have no connection with the YMCA, Hiatt added.

Robust Ending to — Pianist's Style Dramatic

— Excellent Evening —

By DONALD KEY

A spirited and dynamic performance of the Franz Liszt "Concerto No. 2, in A Major" was given last night by John Simms, piano soloist in the SUI orchestra concert.

The young, energetic pianist displayed a dramatic and flourishing style. Cadenzas and scale passages in the high register were played cleanly and expertly, and the total effect was that of a spontaneous presentation.

Simms received a lasting ovation from the audience, and he answered by playing one encore, a capriccio by Johannes Brahms.

To open the program, the orchestra played Cesar Franck's "The Huntsman Accursed." This descriptive work was presented much too dramatically, with the brass and percussion often covering up the rest of the orchestra.

The string playing in the Franck was much more accurate and precise than in former concerts, and the difficult arpeggios in the cello part were exceptionally well done.

"Suite in D Major" by Antonin Dvorak followed, and in this number the orchestra seemed much more at ease. Characteristic slavic moods were produced by a rich and mature string tone, with the dependable woodwind section adding its lyric style.

Probably the most enjoyable music of the evening with the exception of the concerto, was the "Romance" movement of this suite. The tender gypsy-like melody was played with warmth and understanding.

At times, the intonation between the winds and the string was imperfect, but the expressive solo work of the flute and oboe subdued any defect.

In the last movement of the suite, the energetic dance motif proved to be pleasant listening. The haunting theme was passed throughout the various instruments and the number ended with a full orchestra finale.

As a closing selection, the orchestra presented the overture, "Benvenuto Cellini," by Hector Berlioz. This, after the concerto, seemed to be an anti-climax, but the orchestra played the number with ear-splitting fortissimos. It was a robust ending to an excellent evening of music.

Plan Fall Organization — Campus UN Voted By Students

At a meeting held yesterday afternoon, SUI students who made the recent YMCA "Know Your Government" tour to Lake Success, and members of the International club voted to set up a United Nations general assembly on campus to duplicate work being done in the world organization.

The 58 member nations in the general assembly will be represented by foreign students who will reflect the point of view of their respective UN delegates.

Tentative plans call for the SUI organization to meet weekly in the senate chamber of Old Capitol when the UN starts its session next fall.

Each student delegate will thoroughly study his country's stand on current questions and present this in open debate at the campus meetings.

Ed Lisle, A2, Clarinda, will edit a public sheet containing information about problems and issues debated by the SUI general assembly.

The meetings will be open to the public.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

HARRY S. DRAGO, the author, was engaged to write a series of Westerns for a cowboy star. The day Drago reported for work, the star embarked on a wild spree and disappeared from sight.

While the studio sleuths were trying vainly to track the star down, Drago did nothing but sit in the sun and draw twelve hundred dollars a week.

After four weeks of this, he sought the producer and protested. "This sort of life is not for me. I'm going back to New York." "Wait," pleaded the producer. "We're closing in on our missing star now. We'll soon have him back. If you must keep busy, I've got a job for you that, as an author searching for human interest stuff, should have appeal. We get women's clubs out here and have to show the members through the studio. It's a must, for these Hokin characters can kill a picture dead if you offend them. Why not take over these tours?"

"Might as well," agreed Drago. He assembled his first group and began pointing out the sights. One dowager pointed to a building he had neglected to mention. "What's that?" she demanded. Drago explained, "That's just a place where we store spoiled film." "Fine thing," snorted the dowager. "The whole country has a building shortage, and you use a fine house like that for the storage of spoiled film."

"You don't know the half of it," agreed Drago. "They are also paying me twelve hundred dollars a week just to point it out to you."

TODAY THE spirit moves me to say a few words about women drivers. This is not exceptional, since all men have a few words to say about women drivers at some time or another.

I don't want anyone to get the idea that I am persecuting women drivers. Some of my best friends are women, and I happen to be married to one, so I hope there is no offense taken when I say that most women drivers would make better chicken sexers.

MY CHIEF objection to women drivers is that they don't know exactly what they are driving. It is the average woman driver's intention to completely ignore everything but the barest essentials of an automobile, and if it doesn't run, the darned old thing is just being spiteful.

Ask your wife or girl friend sometime what she thinks a clutch is for, and see what sort of an answer you get.

TUESDAY evening Jeanne and I were motoring down Washington street when we came upon an automobile stalled in the center of the Dubuque street intersection — one of IC's busiest.

While we waited for the light to change, other motorists passed the stalled vehicle with a discourtesy which left me ashamed of the whole automobile-driving world.

I pulled up beside the stalled car, and there sat a woman about my mother's age, ready to slip into the straits of extreme over-choked frazzled.

SHE WAS trying to lean out both sides of her car at the same time, crying pitifully to stone-hearted fellow human beings for assistance.

When I asked her if she wanted push, tears almost came to her eyes, and I thought to myself that no good would come of this pushing business, but there was no other alternative.

And so our two vehicles went down Dubuque at a leisurely 10 miles per hour, and from the rear could see her cheerful beforeshadowed hat disappear from time to time under the dashboard.

This bobbing motion still remains unexplained.

AFTER WE left the heavy traffic it became apparent that something would have to be done. Her automobile was not showing the slightest tendency to start.

I signalled to her to stop. She did so, climbing out of the seat without fixing the hand brake, and I had to do a sprint act to keep from losing track of the problem car.

Upon getting into her car I learned why it didn't start when she was pushed. I asked what gear she had it in during the bumper-bumper trip, and she replied, Oh, should I have had it in gear?"

JEANNE shoved with our car while I sat in the driver's seat of the stalled vehicle. The lady pressed surprise. "Oh, is your mind still back there... no, it's man... or is it?"

I settled her uneasy mind by forming her that it was my wife who was "back there."

The stubborn engine refused to start and the lady chatted, "New-weds???... seven years; my... Children???... seven years and no children!..."

This might have grown to be a conversation if the engine hadn't started about then.

BEFORE I got away, the lady thanked me four times, accidentally honked her horn and called me "a nice young man."

To assure me that the car wouldn't stall again she said she was going to pull out the throttle and then proceeded to pull the choke halfway to the back seat.

If and when she ever got home, she had an exciting story to tell her husband about the "nice young man" who has been married seven years, but still has no children.

Berlin Situation: Fact, Fancy and Action —

It now turns out that the shadowy rumors about lifting the Berlin blockade have some body after all. But the whole thing is a very strings-attached affair... right down to the U.S. statement that it wanted no strings attached. Once fact is separated from fancy, the situation looks like this: After a week or so of unofficial rumblings from inside Russia, the Soviet news agency Tass carried a near-official proposal. The proposal offered to lift the Berlin blockade on one condition—a big four foreign ministers meeting be held. The U.S. state department optimistically replied, "the way appears clear for the lifting of the blockade and a meeting of the council of foreign ministers." But, it was emphasized that any official Russian proposal must be an exact duplicate of the Tass proposal. In other words, no strings attached other than calling a big four meeting. It was further revealed by the state department that U.S. Ambassador Philip Jessup, UN delegate, and Soviet security council member J. A. Malik have been discussing the matter in the UN lobby at Lake Success ever since last February 15. Beyond this, information ends and speculation begins. First off, why would Russia want to lift the blockade? The airlift is too much of a success in the immediate reply. Allied planes are flying in more daily than was taken into Berlin overland in pre-blockade days. Then, the stock reply continues, the counter blockade has seriously hit Soviet east Germany. Assuming this is correct, why is Russia offering to abandon the blockade—her powerful bargaining weapon—for such a half-way concession as the calling of a big four meeting? The answers to this one are not so spontaneous or so uniform. About the most heard reply is to the effect that Russia is so desperate she is willing to grab at the flimsiest face-saving proposal. Such reasoning seems far-fetched. If anything, Russia is aiming to cancel out bigger allied moves... like the new west German state. Apparently she now believes that this can be done over a big four conference table. To round off speculation, there are some scraps of information indicating that neither east nor west is banking everything on an overall German settlement. Reports from eastern Germany claim Russia has promised eastern Germans a peace treaty and cancellation of all reparations claims if they form a separate government for the Soviet occupation zone. In western Germany, Gen. Lucius Clay stated that the allies intend to see a west German republic established regardless of whether the Russians lift the blockade or not. And Dr. Konrad Adenauer, president of the Bonn meeting which is writing a west German constitution, said that "not a single day" will be wasted in setting up the proposed state. Developments beyond this are up to the men who make the news.

Berlin Proposals Suggest — Soviets May Face Crushing Defeat

(Wes Gallagher, chief of The Associated Press bureaus in Germany since the war, presents here his analysis of the meaning of the newest Soviet moves in the cold war. Gallagher is now on a flying trip to the United States — he left Berlin last Friday and will return there this weekend.)

By WES GALLAGHER
NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet overtures to lift the Berlin blockade represent a diplomatic defeat for the Kremlin — perhaps the most crushing it has suffered since the end of World War II. The effects on Europe may be tremendous. The action confirms what observers in Europe have known for months — that the Soviet bid to control all of Europe has failed. Communism and the Soviet Union are on the defensive in Europe.

To some western leaders, the Soviet postwar drive to sweep over Europe — by coercion and threat of force — has been revealed as a giant bluff. The turning point came with the installation of the American-created and British-supported

J. M. Roberts —
Russ Offer Taken Cooly
By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

While the United States seeks to pin down Russia's reported willingness to end the Berlin blockade, observers are studying the effect of the offer in two important quarters — the U.S. congress and the German parliamentary council at Bonn.

There were signs in Washington that some members of congress, already worried by the cost of rearming western Europe, were being influenced by the prospect that some of the tension might be taken out of the cold war.

The western Germans, warned that there was little or no prospect for a unified Germany in any event, appeared to be going ahead with plans on a federal government. They were being watched closely, however, for any sign of stalling in the hope of some development at a big four conference. Even temporary acceptance of the fact of Germany's division is a bitter dose, and carries a political onus which no German likes to bear.

The allies, however, are determined to push the new government through. Then they will have an accomplished fact that the Russians can haggle over as it might apply to the resumption of four-power control of all Germany.

If the foreign ministers should meet before the government is established, any changes they agreed upon could be made. If, as seems much more likely, an agreement proves impossible, allied plans would not be disrupted. For once, due to the backing of the Russian blockade, the allies have the initiative.

the Soviets had said they would not only drive the west out, but wreak vengeance on the Germans who sided with the west. Every manner of threat and boast was hurled and advertised throughout Europe.

This tide of vituperation has gone on for months. To abandon their demands in the present fashion without gaining any of their boasted ends is

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT Why Help Franco?

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

Let's not turn the current session of the general assembly into a world conference to forgive Franco. That will be the effect if the general assembly passes a Brazilian motion to rescind the UN's 1946 recommendation for the withdrawal of ambassadors from Madrid. It will mean that, in this critical year, the delegates to the UN will have traveled from the ends of the earth to pin a rose on Franco. As they used to say in wartime: Is it worth the trip? Looking ahead, three or four years ago, I never foresaw this as one of the activities of the UN. Pardon me for pointing, but the UN was born out of a war against fascism.

OUR OWN government is, of course, well aware of the embarrassments involved in supporting any such motion. It has therefore, announced it will abstain on the motion to send ambassadors to Spain again. That sounds as if the administration were taking a neutral position, which would be bad enough. But abstention is not quite so gently neutral and moodily withdrawn a stand as it seems to be. It requires a two-thirds majority of those voting to rescind any part of the famous 1946 resolution which recommended the withdrawal of ambassadors from Madrid. Abstaining is considered non-voting. Thus every abstention reduces the total vote, and, correspondingly, reduces the number of votes needed to assemble a two-thirds majority. And so by abstaining we help Franco, while looking as if we're merely waiting for a streetcar. It is my understanding that a vote or two may make all the difference, a fact which leads every abstention with significance.

ON ANOTHER resolution, which would admit Spain to the "subsidiary agencies" of the United Nations, we have actually announced that we are going to vote affirmatively. This would open the back door of the UN to Franco — less than thirty months after the general assembly declared itself, in a formal resolution, to be "convinced that the Franco fascist government of Spain, which was imposed by force upon the Spanish people with the aid of the Axis powers and which gave material assistance to the Axis powers in the war, does not represent the Spanish people..."
THERE ARE many pressing problems before the world at the moment, but Franco's diplomatic and UN relations would seem to me to come about ninety-fourth on that list, in order of urgency. Why help Franco at all? Why not merely continue the status quo?

Latvian Orphan Waits for Adoption

FROM A EUROPEAN REFUGEE CAMP to an Iowa City sandpile is quite a jump for a nine-year old boy. But Vilis Strautmanis, Latvian orphan who arrived in Iowa City Tuesday to be placed for permanent adoption, has made that jump. Blond Vilis knows very little English but enjoys playing with Ann Arneson, 3, anyway. Ann lives in the same house, 728 Bowery street, where Vilis is staying until his permanent adoption is arranged by the Lutheran Welfare society.

escape the Russian attack. The ship finally arrived at Kiel where the surviving orphans were taken to an UNRRA camp in Schleswig - Holstein, near Denmark.

Last night, after visiting school in the afternoon for the first time, Vilis played in the backyard at the Andersons, with the neighborhood group of children. He swung, rode a tricycle and chewed gum, offering "ja" as an answer to questions he couldn't understand.

Mrs. Fitzgerald has found Vilis cheerful and polite, and Mrs. Anderson has found that Vilis likes most foods, especially milk.

Gets New Clothes Yesterday morning they took the boy shopping, buying him shoes, blue jeans and other essentials. They also got him a cowboy hat. "We just couldn't resist buying him the hat, because he liked it so much," Mrs. Fitzgerald laughed.

The Lutheran society has very little information about Vilis' parents or early childhood. Vilis is four feet, 5 1-2 inches tall and weighs about 60 pounds.

The records say he was born June 8, 1939, in Riga, Latvia. In 1945 Vilis and other children were at an orphan home in Riga. The next year he and other orphans were on a Latvian ship trying to

How to protect your child against Cancer - America's most dreaded disease

Today, Cancer strikes in one of every two American families... here's how you can give your child a better chance to live

TODAY'S children are marked as tomorrow's victims, unless we speed our attack on mankind's most dreaded killer. For every month saved in the eventual discovery of the cause and cure of Cancer will in turn save thousands of lives—among them, very possibly, someone near and dear to you.

Cancer is an ever-present threat to your family—more so than many people realize. Cancer still strikes in one out of every two families, still kills one American out of every eight.

Progress is being made Today, thanks to scientific research, a diagnosis of Cancer is no longer a death warrant. Certain Cancer cases are now being cured. This year one quarter of all Cancer patients will be saved by surgery, X-ray or radium. But these encouraging facts do not mean our fight against Cancer is over. It has really only begun. How soon we find the cause and cure of Cancer depends on how soon and how much help comes not from one friend but from thousands.

Cancer can strike anyone, but you can strike back

Professor Announces Change In Nurses' Convocations Date

Fifty-two senior nurses at SUI will march in the August 10 convocations instead of the June 10 exercises as previously planned, Miss Amy Francis Brown, assistant professor of internal medicine at SUI, announced yesterday.

All the seniors, even though they have not completed the 36 month nursing program due to absences for illness or other reasons, will take part in the August convocations, Miss Brown added.

Some senior nurses, planning to take part in the June exercises, had ordered announcements, Campus Stores, who handled the orders, will sell as many of the extra announcements as possible and the remainder will be paid for to the satisfaction of the students, Miss Brown said.

Orders for the caps and gowns have been canceled, she said. In addition, the school of nursing is making special arrangements so that students may carry out any personal plans, such as weddings, which were previously made, Miss Brown said.

Dr. Mayo Soley, dean of the medical college, said yesterday the situation was due to a "misunderstanding."

He pointed out that a recent University ruling prohibits students from taking part in graduation exercises before completing the major portion of their academic work.

"The present senior class was admitted to the school of nursing in September, 1946, and therefore, will not have their required time in until September, 1949," Miss Brown explained.

For the last several years, Miss Brown pointed out, wartime classes have been admitted in June and were prepared to graduate in June.

SUI's school of nursing has raised its standards this year by requiring an accumulative 2.0 grade average, Miss Brown said. Formerly a 1.5 grade average was required by the school.

Senior nurses who fail to meet the new standards will be required to take the National League of Nursing Education achievement exams in the areas where they are delinquent, Miss Brown explained. The examinations will be complete before August 10.

"If the student fails to pass these exams, she must show proficiency in some other manner," Miss Brown added.

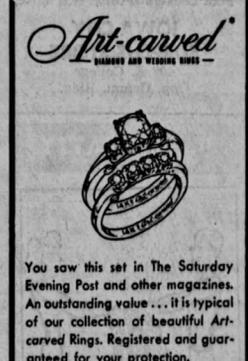

When a student successfully completes the nursing program, she is qualified to take the state board examination to become a registered nurse, Miss Brown said. "If the exams are not held for some months following her graduation," she said, "a student can receive employment as a graduate nurse."

Blame Flying 'Arsonist' In $2,500 Cottage Blaze

LYNN, MASS. (AP) — A bird was blamed yesterday for "striking" a match that caused a $2,500 cottage fire.

Deputy Fire Chief James O'Neill said the bird evidently carried the match to its nest in the coping of the roof — and pecked on it until it burst into flame.

Amvet Election Set For May 4 Meeting, Nominate Candidates

At a meeting supervised by State Commander Woodrow Stingley, Iowa City Amvets Post No. 32 last night began nomination of officers to be elected at their next meeting May 4.

Nominated for post commander were Glenn Whittle and Jim Lawrence; for first vice-commander, Donald L. Sulhoff, Lawrence Surger and George Marks, and for second vice-commander, Bob Teeters. Lloyd Milligan was nominated for third vice-commander.

The yearly collection of dues raised 820 percent following the association's reorganization two years ago, Hickerson said. Its membership is now 1,700 out of an eligible 40,000 alumni. Dues for a new member are now $2 for the first five years and $4 a year thereafter, he added. Part of the alumni service's function is to keep a list of addresses of former graduates for use of new alumni in getting acquainted when they leave SUI, Hickerson said. The service has correct address of 94 percent of the school's 40,000 alumni.

A new alumni project is the listing of graduates by states, dividing them into groups from metropolitan areas within the state, and then mailing these lists to SUI alumni clubs in the areas.

The scholarships would come from membership dues. The association will be operated independently of university funds.

Nominations will be kept open until the election of officers at the next meeting according to regulations of the Amvets organization.

Alumni Association to Offer Scholarships

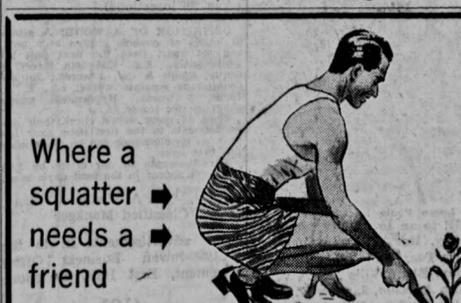

A number of competitive scholarships to SUI for Iowa high school graduates are being planned by the SUI alumni association.

Loren L. Hickerson, director of the alumni service and executive secretary of the association, spoke on the functions of the two organizations last night at Hillcrest.

The scholarships would come from membership dues. The association will be operated independently of university funds.

The yearly collection of dues raised 820 percent following the association's reorganization two years ago, Hickerson said. Its membership is now 1,700 out of an eligible 40,000 alumni. Dues for a new member are now $2 for the first five years and $4 a

Judith Coplon's Seized Papers Reveal Plot, FBI Agent Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—An FBI agent swore yesterday that papers seized in the pocketbook of 27-year-old Judith Coplon, on trial for espionage, told of her alleged efforts to snare a "top secret FBI report" summarizing Soviet spy activities.

Robert R. Granville, supervisory FBI agent in New York, said in a statement filed by the prosecution that more than 30 "data slips" were found in the handbag when Miss Coplon and a Russian engineer attached to UN were arrested last March 4.

Granville said the slips contained extracts from FBI reports on the operations of suspected espionage agents in the United States.

He said other memoranda found in the purse included a brief statement of Miss Coplon's post-graduate educational background. She is a cum laude graduate of Barnard college.

Furthermore, he said, it contained background information "concerning three potential recruits for espionage service."

Granville said the exact language of Miss Coplon's alleged account of her attempt to bag a prize FBI secret was as follows:

"I have not been able (and don't think I will) to get the top secret FBI report which I described to Michael on Soviet & Communist intelligence activities in the US. "When the moment was favorable, I asked Foley where the report was (he previously had remarked that he'd seen such a report). He said that some department official had it and he didn't expect to get it back.

"Foley remarked there was no thing 'new' in it. When I saw the report, for a minute, I breezed through it rapidly. Remember very little . . ."
