Leftist Factions Face May Day Competition

Communists and left-wing labor groups all over the world will hold traditional May day celebrations today, but they face considerable competition from anti-Communist groups.

In the United States, demonstrations were staged yesterday in some cities while others will have them today. "Loyalty day" parades far outnumber left-wing celebrations in this country.

Bonus Rule Benefits Vets with 'Sea Pay' Time, Some Widows

DES MOINES (AP) — Widows of World War II veterans who remarried after Nov. 2, 1948, will be eligible for an Iowa bonus, the attorney general's office ruled yesterday.

Officials said that such widows were entitled to checks because Nov. 2 was the date of the general election at which the bonus was approved. The bonus became effective on that date, they said.

Widows of veterans killed in action are entitled to $500.

The bonus board announced that members of the navy, marine corps and coast guard will receive foreign service credit for all service time for which they received "sea pay."

Officials reiterated a previous announcement that veterans who served as enlisted personnel will get credit for "terminal leave time."

Help for IC Vets...

Iowa City veterans will receive aid in filling out their state bonus applications from three of Iowa City's veterans organizations.

The American Legion will offer this service indefinitely to members and non-members at its clubroom, 204 S. Gilbert Street, beginning Thursday.

The clubroom will be open from 7-9:30 p.m. except Sundays. Typists and a notary public will fill out applications at no charge. Vice-commander Clair Hamilton said.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Leroy Weeks post, 208 1/2 E. College street, will be open from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. every day to aid members and non-members with the bonus forms.

Wilson asked that veterans seeking the service bring their discharge papers or certified copies of them.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, post 2581, 22 1/2 E. College street will aid its members in filling out bonus applications.

Application forms and aid in filling them out will be available to AmVets club members at the clubroom, 112 S. Capitol street, from 1 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. all week.

There will be no charge and a notary public will be available Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Parkin said.

Tobin Parades

New York loyalty parades, led by Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin, Francis Cardinal Spellman and James A. Farley stepped down gilded Fifth avenue on the stretch adjacent to Central park.

On the west side of Manhattan, left-wing groups marched down Eighth avenue in a "May day" parade, one of whose themes was a demand for "a peace pact with the Soviet Union instead of the Atlantic war alliance."

The loyalty demonstrations were originated in New York by the Veterans of Foreign Wars in 1946 to counter the left-wing parades.

The loyalty groups also held parades in Brooklyn and Philadelphia yesterday.

Barkley to Speak

Vice-president Alben Barkley will speak today at a Polo grounds rally in New York sponsored by the Roman Catholic archdiocese to pray for peace and protest injustices of "God hating Communists."

Also on today's program is a New Orleans anti-Communist rally at which Catholics will pray for conversion of Russia and suppression of atheism throughout the world, and for preservation of the U.S. from Communist influence.

Loyalty celebrations are planned for today in New Jersey and Los Angeles, Calif.

In Detroit, Henry A. Wallace is to speak at an afternoon Progressive party meeting. Detroit Catholics will hold a special service to pray for Russia and her people under Communist domination.

Parade in Moscow

In Russia, Moscow's Red square will be the scene of the traditional parade and display of military power followed by a mass meeting with speeches.

Gen. Charles De Gaulle has called for a rally of his followers in Paris to counter the demonstration by the Communists.

There will be no parading in London because of a ban on political processions following anti-fascist riots. But Communists will meet in Trafalgar square and the Labor party will have rallies throughout England.

Communists plan to march through the British and French sectors of Berlin and stage a big demonstration in the Soviet zone. They have been barred from parading in the U.S. zone.

Expel 3, Suspend 2 at Coe

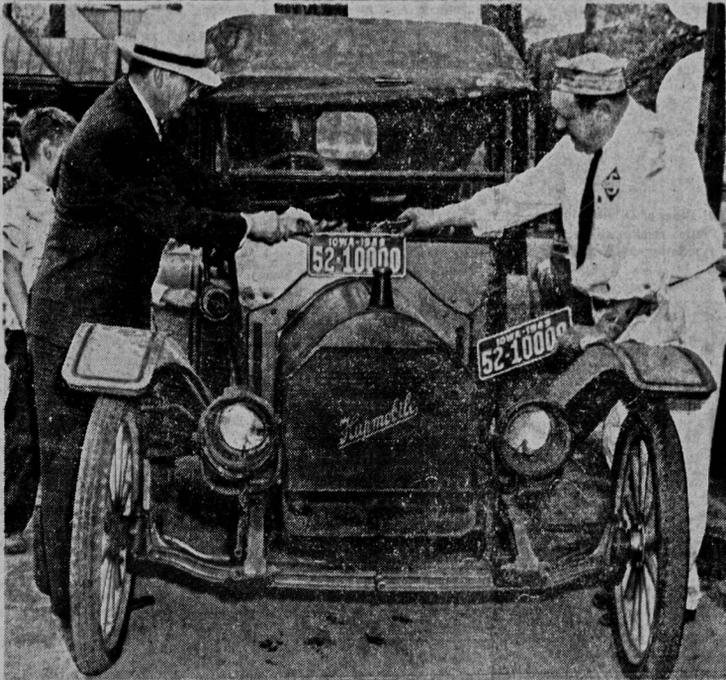

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—Three students have been expelled and two suspended from Coe college as a result of disciplinary action taken by college authorities in the last two weeks.

One man was expelled and one suspended yesterday. They were members of a party of five men who waterworks authorities said walked into the waterworks building early this morning, tore a clock off the wall and took a gas mask.

Pres. Byron S. Hollinshead said the other disciplinary action resulted from a drinking party and general disturbance in the men's dormitory during Easter vacation.

He said the three men attempted to smoke another student out of his room by building a fire of paper and blowing smoke under his door.

He said the two men expelled at that time had been in trouble before. They will, however, be permitted to take their final exams after commencement in June and transfer to another college. Their companion will return to classes Monday.

Great Big Number for a Little Old Car

AN OLD CAR GOT THE NEW LOOK yesterday at the Johnson county courthouse when County Treasurer Lunir Jansa (left) helped owner Clarence W. Amelon bolt a 1949 license plate on Amelon's 1919 Hummobile. Jansa has owned the car since 1937. He has rebuilt the motor, making many of the parts himself. The car, 52-10000, was number 10,000 sold in Johnson county this year—a record number over previous years.

Tornados Rip Oklahoma

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornados writhed through Oklahoma yesterday, killing a child and injuring more than 50 persons.

At least six separate areas were hit, with Meeker, 30 miles east of Oklahoma City, reporting one dead and two hurt.

At the University of Oklahoma's north campus 42 persons were injured.

Girl Dead Dead at Meeker was Anita True, seven-year old daughter of Mrs. Jess True of Tulsa. The pair and Mrs. True's sister, Katherine Amis, were driving from Tulsa to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Amis, one-half mile west of Meeker.

The tornado struck their car on the highway and carried it nearly half a mile. Mrs. True and Miss Amis are in a Shawnee hospital with serious injuries. The car was demolished.

Earl Nosalek, veterans training instructor at Meeker schools, said Crescent school three miles east of Meeker was blown down by the tornado. Other houses and barns in the vicinity were destroyed. An oil well derrick just south of Meeker owned by Floyd Melburn was blown down.

Houses Destroyed In the Shawnee City lake area 11 miles southwest of Shawnee, four houses were destroyed. Mrs. Una Fain, 55, and her daughter, Hettie, 11, were in a critical condition after their house was wrecked. Her husband escaped. Shawnee is east central Oklahoma 40 miles southeast of Oklahoma City.

Another tornado hit near Garden City, Kan., but no one was injured.

The first twister struck the north campus of the University of Oklahoma at Norman, in central Oklahoma. The north base is an airport used by national guard armen and naval reserves. Norman is 20 miles south of Oklahoma City.

City hospital reported it was treating 25 and the university infirmary said it was handling 17 cases. Extent of injuries was not known.

The black funnel missed the control tower but swooped down to shatter the pre-fabricated operations building, wrecked a gas truck and collapsed the roof of the main hangar. Several planes in the hangar were demolished.

In southwestern Oklahoma, near Lawton, another tornado struck across highway seven. The state highway patrol reported several farm houses were demolished but persons in the vicinity had enough warning to take refuge in storm cellars. Lawton is 85 miles southwest of Oklahoma City.

Two large semi-trailer trucks on the highway were smashed as if they were toys. The drivers of the trucks escaped injury.

The tornadoic storm was reported moving in a crescent path to the northeast toward Marlow, Okla.

A one-room frame school house was smashed but pupils were gone.

The patrol threw up road blocks in the vicinity and searched farms for possible injured and dead.

Chickasha in southwest Oklahoma was asked to send ambulances to Agawam, which is about 15 miles south. No details were available.

In Kansas, Garden City reported a tornado eight miles north of that city. No damage was reported. A hail storm with stones as big as baseballs, accompanied the storm.

Hangchow Still Holding Out; Communists Approach Kashing

SHANGHAI (SUNDAY) (AP)—Shanghai's peril mounted today, but indications that it was cut off by rail from the rest of China proved erroneous.

Railway officials announced trains still were running from Shanghai to the supporting city of Hangchow, 121 miles southwest.

They said night trains had been halted, however, and that this led to reports last night no trains were running past Kashing, 62 miles southwest of Shanghai.

At the same time, the telecommunications administration announced that telephone service had ceased to Kunshan, about 35 miles west of Shanghai.

Communist troops last were reported moving east slowly on this westward approach to Shanghai.

Land Lines Threatened The report that the railway to Hangchow still was open in no way diminished the threat to Shanghai's land lines to the south.

Communist troops early yesterday afternoon had been officially reported by the Shanghai garrison to be 17 miles northwest of Kashing and 23 miles north of the important port of Hangchow, which is 121 miles by rail southwest of Shanghai.

Although thus threatened, this greatest of Asiatic cities paid almost no attention to the war.

Instead, it was preoccupied with a dangerous month-end financial crisis. The Nationalist "gold" yuan had become so nearly worthless that there were not enough bank notes to pay salaries. If this situation becomes worse, Shanghai may see food riots and looting.

The Communist radio in Peiping said the Communist army "after crossing the Shanghai-Nanking railway is sweeping down south at the rate of over 40 miles per day." This appeared to be a considerable exaggeration in view of the slow movement of the past several days.

Shanghai are ready and able to fight an entirely independent war without leaning on two rail lines for supplies.

The reserved, quiet-spoken soldier added that "we intend to keep open the port and the military airfields."

Asked how and when he expected the enemy attack to develop, Chen replied: "It will probably start with skirmishes with 'earth Communists,' as we call the small resident bands (of guerrillas) which are not part of the Communist army."

"Then I expect heavy artillery bombardment of Shanghai, followed by an effort at invasion by infantry. I do not expect effective aerial bombardment by the enemy," he added.

"As to timing, I expect that skirmishes will begin shortly along the rail lines, but I doubt that the enemy will be able to make any decisive advance for several days, perhaps as long as two weeks."

Chen said he expected the Communists to be armed with an assortment of Japanese weapons and American 105-millimeter (4.1 inch) field guns, captured from the Nationalists.

Expects Early Blockade End

Evatt Sees Settlement as Aid to Peace

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, president of the United Nations general assembly, said last night that there was "every reason to anticipate the ending of the long protracted and most dangerous Berlin dispute and the early lifting of the blockade."

He issued a formal statement while well informed diplomatic sources were predicting a four-power meeting early next week to set dates for the lifting of the blockade and a meeting of the foreign ministers council.

"Reason to Rejoice" After stating his "every reason to anticipate" view, Evatt's statement continued:

"The United Nations will have every reason to rejoice when the settlement is completed, first because the organization is dedicated to the purposes of international peace and international justice, and second because, acting through its general assembly, its security council and its secretary-general, it has consistently and vigorously promoted every practical measure aimed at the earliest completion of the peace settlements."

Won't End Dispute "A Berlin settlement will by no means cover the whole area of great power dispute; but it will certainly clear the ground for a fresh approach to just and stable peace settlements in relation not only to Germany but to the equally important—and too often forgotten—far east: not only by the great powers themselves, but, in accordance with the Mexican resolution at the Paris general assembly, by those middle and smaller powers who contributed unstintingly to the overthrow of the aggressors of 1939-1945."

Silence on Talks American and Russian officials maintained a "security blackout" on the latest talk on Berlin between U.S. Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup and Jacob A. Malik, Russia's permanent representative to the United Nations.

But it was learned reliably that the Kremlin had suggested tentative dates both for ending the blockade and for convening the foreign ministers of Britain, France, Russia and the United States at Paris.

Although western sources felt the talks were approaching a favorable climax, no concrete developments were expected before Tuesday at the earliest.

Des Moines Votes City Manager Plan DES MOINES (AP)—Des Moines citizens approved adoption of a city manager plan of government in a special election yesterday, although the vote was close.

With all 67 of the city's precincts reporting, the vote was 20,685 for the plan and 19,876 against it.

The vote surpassed that in the regular city election in 1948, when the official number of ballots cast was 37,274.

Disc Jockey Gets Fragrant Friend

DES MOINES (AP)—Band Leader Spike Jones, scheduled to appear here next week, sent a telegram the other day to Gene Emerald, disc jockey on radio station KRRT here.

"Appreciate if you can take care of a friend for couple days," was the sense of the message. Emerald readily agreed and the friend arrived yesterday. It was a trained skunk named Elvira.

Emerald startled onlookers when he strolled around the streets with Elvira on a leash.

Berlin Trains Ready, Await Russ Go Signal

BERLIN (AP)—Plans were complete to the last detail in Western Germany last night for resumption of traffic to Berlin—just in case of a May Day announcement from Moscow on the blockade.

A Hamburg dispatch said west German railways were ready to start 30 freight trains a day to Berlin. Officials said they could get 20 trainloads of coal to the city within 24 hours after being given the green light.

Heightening a feeling of optimism, the Russians in this divided city granted three British demands with such cordiality that it represented almost a complete change of attitude.

British officials announced that an officer and three enlisted men arrested by the Russians April 22 while on patrol near the Soviet border at Klein-Zacher, had been returned last night. The Russians accepted the British demand for their release.

They promised not to interfere again with canal traffic in Britain's sector. They also returned, with an apology, three British military policemen seized Friday during a raid on a British-occupied farm.

So far the Russian press has kept strict silence concerning the meetings in New York.

Airforce to Dissolve Command in Pacific WASHINGTON (AP)—In a new withdrawal of U.S. armed forces from the Pacific, the airforce yesterday ordered its Pacific air command dissolved on June 1.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, airforce chief of staff, said the Pacific air command's units, personnel, and facilities will be turned over to the military air transport service.

The airforce's last remaining combat outfit in the central Pacific, the 81st fighter group, is being transferred from Wheeler air base, Oahu, Hawaii, to Selfridge air base, Mount Clemens, Mich. This group next fall will be equipped with the air force's newest and fastest fighter, the F-86 "Sabre."

Nationalist General: 'Shanghai Stalingrad of China War'

By FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW SHANGHAI (AP)—Lt. Gen. Chen Ta-ching, commander of the Shanghai-Woosung Garrison, declared yesterday that his troops are digging in for a last-ditch battle which will make Shanghai "the Stalingrad of the entire (Chinese) war."

Chen, interviewed in his sand-bagged headquarters, said his forces are prepared to stand off a siege, and added "we know that we can hold off the Communists for a considerable time."

The 43-year-old garrison chief, who looks like an oriental model, estimated that Shanghai would soon undergo a heavy artillery bombardment, but predicted that he would be able to defend the port and the main military airfields.

"We have now" completed months of construction work on the Shanghai defense perimeter," Chen said. "We are receiving reinforcements in large numbers. The entire army knows that the battle will be a decisive turning point—that the fate of all China is in the balance."

"The entire Nationalist army knows that the battle for Shanghai is the Stalingrad of the entire war," the general added.

(The determined Russian defense of the Volga river port of Stalingrad during World War II resulted in the capture of a huge German force and the eventual expulsion of the Nazis from Russian soil.)

Chen declined comment on the strength of the Shanghai garrison, but a professional foreign military observer estimated the defenders at 500,000—far outnumbering the Communist forces in the area said to number five armies of 10,000 men each.

Foreign intelligence sources said that the main Communist reserves are not yet in motion toward this great Chinese port.

Chen, who chain-smoked British cigarettes while he talked, vowed that his forces would "defend Shanghai to the death."

"You will hear increasing rumors of enemy action along the two principal railroad lines entering the city—from Hangchow to the southwest and from Nanking to the west," the general added. "Some of these reports will not be pleasant."

"I therefore want to make it entirely clear that the troops in

Shanghai are ready and able to fight an entirely independent war without leaning on two rail lines for supplies.

The reserved, quiet-spoken soldier added that "we intend to keep open the port and the military airfields."

Asked how and when he expected the enemy attack to develop, Chen replied: "It will probably start with skirmishes with 'earth Communists,' as we call the small resident bands (of guerrillas) which are not part of the Communist army."

"Then I expect heavy artillery bombardment of Shanghai, followed by an effort at invasion by infantry. I do not expect effective aerial bombardment by the enemy," he added.

Midwest Dominates Second Day of Drake Relays

Single Meet Record Falls

DES MOINES — The midwest turned loose its best track and field performers yesterday and made a carnival of central states power out of the 40th annual Drake relays.

The relays are a midwestern tradition and the boys from Michigan State, Big Nine and Big Seven schools would hardly let anyone else into the act, even though stars from California and the southwest managed to push their way on stage from time to time.

A Missouri hurdler, Dick Ault, set the only new meet record in final sessions of the two-day meet, and seven first places in the 13 university-class events went to midwesterners. Only in the javelin throw did the midwest finish out of the first five.

Oklahoma A and M struck a blow for the southwest, however, by turning in a double victory, a feat matched by Michigan State yesterday and Wisconsin Friday. The Aggies won the 440-yard and half-mile relays while Michigan State captured the four-mile and 480-yard high hurdles shuttle relay events.

Spartans Fail to set Mark

The 14,000 fans were slightly disappointed when Michigan State failed by 16 seconds to set a new American record in the four-mile relay. The Spartans' time was 17:32.3, three seconds over the Drake record.

Illinois dominated the field events, taking one undisputed first place and tying for two others.

Paul Bienz, sturdy Tulane sprinter, and Paige Christiansen, lean Michigan State hurdler, won two of the blue ribbon open events of the relays, both with driving finishes.

Bienz took the 100 yard dash in :09.8 from Jerome Biffle of Denver, and Christiansen won the 120 yard high hurdles in :14.6 from his teammate, Horace Smith.

Badgers Withdraw

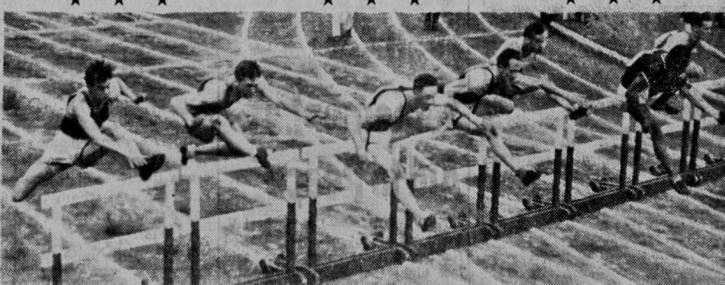

A lot of glamour was taken out of the windup of the two day meet when Wisconsin withdrew from the two and four mile relay races preventing Don Gehrmann from trying for a third anchor victory.

This slender, indomitable distance ace brought Wisconsin home in front in the sprint and distance medley relays Friday with brilliant finishing spurts. No one has ever anchored three victorious teams here. Coach Guy Sundt of Wisconsin decided his men had too much work Friday.

Except for a fitful breeze, weather conditions were perfect, but the expected large scale attack on Drake records did not come off.

GOING OVER the first hurdle in the 120-yard high hurdles in the Drake Relays are (left to right) Jack Greenwood, Kansas U.; Fred Brass, Minn.; William Fleming, Notre Dame, who finished third; Paige Christiansen, Michigan State, who won the event in :14.6; John Rowland, SMU; Horace Smith, Michigan State, who finished second, and August Erfurth, Rice.

One of the big upsets of the meet occurred in the two mile relay. Kansas, with Pat Bowers running a stout anchor leg, won by 15 yards over the Oklahoma Aggies in 7:45.8 with California third and Nebraska fourth.

Compton college, winner Friday of the college half mile relay, came up yesterday with victory in the sprint medley relay in 3:28.6 and the major honors in its division.

Norm Wasser of Illinois improved his 1948 performance by one length of an inch to take the shot put with 52 feet 9 7/8 inches, retaining his title. The high jump resulted in a tie at 6 feet 6 5/8 inches between Illinois' Olympian, Dike Eddleman, and R.J. Lennertson, of Washington university.

Breeze Slows Sprinters

The breeze, chiefly blowing down the track against the sprinters and hurdlers, made for slow times. But regardless of this Bienz looked good. By the half way mark in the 100 yard dash he was in front, and he stayed there all the way despite Biffle's strong finish.

The university open high hurdle race lay between Christiansen and Smith.

How They Finished

120-yard high hurdles — 1. Paige Christiansen, Michigan State; 2. Horace Smith, Michigan State; 3. William Fleming, Notre Dame; 4. August Erfurth, Rice; 5. John Rowland, Southern Methodist, Time :14.6.

Purdue Tops Hawkeyes, 6-3

(Special to The Daily Iowan)

LAFAYETTE — Purdue university tallied three times in the eighth inning to beat the Iowa baseball team, 6-3, and even the two game series at a game apiece here yesterday morning.

The loss dropped the Hawkeyes into a tie for fourth place in the Big Nine with a 2-2 record in conference competition. Purdue has a 3-1 record and is tied with Indiana for second place.

Hooks Hoeksema started and went seven innings for the Hawkeyes. The Bolleymakers scored three runs off Hoeksema in the sixth and seventh to take a 3-2 lead but the Hawkeyes got a run in the eighth to tie the game. Then Coach Otto Vogel sent Wes Demro to the mound to start the eighth for the Hawkeyes.

Demro gave up three runs in the eighth on a single, two walks, another single and an infield out and the loss was chalked up to him.

Bob Hartman started for Purdue. He was pulled for a pinch hitter after the winning runs had scored in the eighth and received credit for the win. Melvin Henson hurled the last inning for the Bolleymakers.

All of the Hawkeyes' eight hits — three of which were triples — were garnered by three men yesterday. Keith Kafer and Murland Moran each got a triple and two singles and Dale Erickson hit a triple and a single.

The game was played yesterday morning starting at 10:30 because of afternoon alumni week-camp.

All of the Hawkeye runs came by way of triples. In the second Erickson tripled and scored on Pinky Primrose's fly to right. In the fifth, Moran tripled and scored after the catch of John Sullivan's fly to deep center.

Relays Queen Spends 'Happiest Day of Life'

DES MOINES—A 20-year-old Texas beauty from Southern Methodist university spent the "happiest day of her life" here yesterday as the 40th annual Drake relays came to a close after a two-day stand of colorful splendor, blaring bands, warm weather, multi-colored track uniforms and a host of new Drake records.

As for the pretty Texan, Queen Mary Campbell, she looked on in amazement. It was the second straight year that a girl from SMU has been crowned "Drake Relays Queen."

Last year Norma Peterson, girl friend and now practically engaged to Southern Methodist's all-American football player, Doak Walker, held the honor. But Miss Peterson and Miss Campbell differ in one respect.

"I don't have any particular boy friend," said Miss Campbell coyly. "I'm still playing the field."

The five-foot, five-inch blond junior at SMU accepted her crown simply and finished by saying, "May the Drake relays grow bigger and better every year."

It was her first trip to the state of Iowa and she was really making a time of it. She made no bones about the enjoyment of being entertained with royalty.

While the weekend was made to order for the Texas queen, there were a few other Texans here who felt this weekend was the kiss of death. They were the relay runners from Texas A&M who came here to defend their mile relay crown of last year.

The A&M crew was favored to keep the title. That was its main reason for the trip here. But A&M's first runner in Friday's preliminaries got tangled in a middle half way through his first lap, dropped the baton and by the time he stopped to pick it up, the Texas team lost all chances of qualifying for today's finals and rightfully defending its title.

They were the last ones to leave the field Friday night. We have never seen a sicker, more dejected bunch.

There was a pole-vaulting brother act in this year's relays. Clair Jennett was entered from SUI and his brother, Russ, vaulted for Iowa State. Another brother, Jack, is also a pole-vaulter at Sac City high school.

The intense rivalry between the Drake and Penn relays, always run on the same weekend, was brought out in the middle of this afternoon's events when the public announcer said:

"Very few relays are ever run on time. Drake relays are an exception in this regard, as in all regards."

At the time of that announcement the relays here were being run right on schedule.

Drake prides itself in the fact that comparative times over a period of years gives it a wide edge over the Penn relays. The overall figures prior to this year were Drake 219, Penn 183 and 21 ties. In 1946 Drake led, 8-7; in 1947, 13-4; and in 1948, 11-7. These are only figuring events common to both meets.

Giant Fan: I Did It, Not Durocher

Signs Affidavit To Aid Leo

NEW YORK (AP)—A giant fan said yesterday that it was he and not Leo Durocher who "accidentally kicked and tripped over" Fred Boysen at the Polo grounds Thursday afternoon.

George Cronk, 33-year-old railroad fireman, said he had submitted a signed affidavit of the incident to the New York Giants. Earlier yesterday the Giants said they had received 100 statements supporting Durocher from persons at the game.

Boysen, a Brooklyn fan, said Durocher punched and kicked him after striking him from behind on the playing field after the game.

Durocher denied it. He was suspended from baseball Friday by Commissioner A. B. Chandler pending an investigation.

Cronk said the following was the substance of his statement to the Giants:

"I watched the game from behind the Dodgers' dugout. Durocher was in front, coaching at third base. After the game I went out on the field, following Durocher, the other players and the fans toward the exit.

"Lunged for Leo"
"Just after I passed second base, Boysen made a lunge toward Durocher. He apparently must have touched Lippy, because I saw the manager swing his left elbow around and touch the man. But Lippy didn't look back. Boysen lost his balance and fell.

"I was so close behind him, I couldn't help myself. I tripped over him. I suppose I kicked him in the leg or some other place in so doing and then stepped over him.

"I apologized. I said 'sorry' and then walked out of the park. I didn't give the thing a second thought. At no time did Durocher see Boysen and at no

Durocher was suspended indefinitely Friday by Commissioner A. B. Disputed Cardinal Home Run in Ninth Defeats Cubs, 4-3

CHICAGO (AP)—A disputed inside the park home run by Glenn Nelson salvaged a 4 to 3 victory for the St. Louis Cardinals over the Chicago Cubs yesterday before 30,775 fans.

Cubs centerfielder Andy Patko claimed to have caught Nelson's blow but it was ruled no-catch by Umpire Al Barlick.

With the Cardinals trailing 3-1, Enos Slaughter doubled in the ninth and scored on Eddie Kazak's single with two out. Chuck Diering ran for Kazak. Nelson then lined the ball to left center and Patko made a somersault dive and came up with the ball.

Barlick did not make any decision until Patko started running toward the infield with the ball.

Patko, unwilling to believe the no-catch ruling, did not throw the ball until Nelson was crossing the plate with the winning run.

Bob Rush went the route for his second loss while Ted Wilks, third Cardinal hurler, won his second relief win. Cloyd Boyer, rookie starter, was routed in the first inning.

Henrich Clout In 9th Beats Red Sox, 4-3

NEW YORK (AP)—For the third time in two weeks, Outfielder Tommy Henrich came up with one of his patented pokes yesterday—a game-winning home run—that enabled the New York Yankees to surge from behind and beat the belligerent Boston Red Sox, 4 to 3.

HENRICH

Henrich's homer yesterday, his third of the campaign, came in the ninth inning with rookie Gene Woodling on base. The Yankee outfielder first broke up a game with a homer on April 19 when he belted one into the stands in the ninth inning against Sid Hudson of Washington.

Henrich's second homer a day later against the Senators' Paul Calvert also proved to be the winning run and yesterday the Red Sox had the game all but wrapped up before he blasted one of Tex Hughson's curve balls into the right field seats. The Yankees took a 2-0 lead in the fifth off starter Joe Dobson but Boston tied the game in the seventh on three bases on balls and Dom DiMaggio's single.

The Red Sox went ahead with a run in the eighth at the expense of southpaw Joe Page, who relieved lefty Tommy Byrne. Frank Shea, who pitched the ninth, received credit for the victory—thanks exclusively to Henrich.

SAIN TOPS GIANTS

BOSTON (AP)—Righthander Johnny Sain came up with his best performance of the season yesterday as he pitched the Boston Braves to a four-hit 4-0 triumph over the New York Giants. Sain, who won 24 games last year, had no trouble in hanging up his first victory of the season.

Crown Freshman Wrestling Champs

Champions were crowned yesterday in the annual freshman wrestling tournament in the fieldhouse.

The results:

- 121 — Manuel Macias defeated Jack Hannum, 4-0.
- 128 — Dominic Aversa defeated Richard Salome, 3-0.
- 136 — Ken Carman defeated Edward Metz, 6-1.
- 145 — Richard Cornick was unopposed.
- 155 — Jim Eichelberg defeated "Clip" Klecka, 6-2.
- 165 — Johnny Wroblewski threw Dell Toedt in 3:18.
- 175 — William Coreoran defeated Dean Lansing, 6-4.
- Heavyweight — Charles Muhlstock defeated Robert Alkin, 5-2.

Local High School Musicians Win 32 State Contest 'First's'

Iowa City high school students won 32 first ratings, 20 seconds and one third in the Iowa state music contest which ended here last night.

Fifty-three entries from City high school were in the instrumental and vocal events. Schools from southeast Iowa entered more than 2,700 young musicians from 133 high schools in the three days of competition.

Band, orchestra and instrumental contests were held at City high school, while vocal events were at Junior high school.

The red and white City high school bus made trips every half hour between the two schools. Principal Ralph M. Austermler commented yesterday, "It certainly made things easier for all these young people."

Both City high and the Junior high schools set up refreshment stands for contestants and guests.

First ratings were won by City high students Robert Gower, cornet - trumpet; Henry Boldt, French horn; Donald Briceland and Charles Kiesler, b-flat clarinet; Annette Traschel, flute, and Joan Smith, piano.

James Clute, tenor saxophone; Pat Kelly, treble voice-medium; Merry Ellen Beatty, baritone saxophone; Leora Lehman, bassoon, Luann Stevens, treble voice-low; and Dick Vanden Berg, snare drum. All were solo events.

City high won first in these group events: orchestra, concert band, woodwind trio, quartet and quintet; brass quartet and sextet; string quartet, quintet and sextet; b-flat clarinet quartet; chamber woodwinds, boys' glee club, mixed chorus, and trumpet quartet.

Second ratings were won by Donald Benda, trombone; Charles Walker, French horn; Jane Woodburn and Nancy Spencer, violin; Patty Barnes, flute; Jim Barnes and Bill Davis, tenors; Dick Buxton, baritone; Ann Murray, treble voice - medium; and Dennis Brown, tuba.

Seconds were won by six group entries from City high school: brass quintet, saxophone quartet, chamber brass, flute quartet, trumpet trio, and trombone quartet. Girls' sextet received a third rating in vocal competition.

THIS WEEK'S music

By DONALD KEY

National music week begins today. In many cities and communities throughout the country, programs and festivals featuring American music are being held in observance of the occasion.

This will be the 26th annual event of its kind which always begins the first Sunday in May. More than 2,500 towns have celebrated the occasion in the past with the specific aim of stimulating greater year-round interest and participation in music.

For Iowa City music lovers, the closest festival will take place in Mt. Vernon. A schedule of concerts to be held at Cornell college is as follows:

Thursday, 8:15 p.m. — Recital by Isaac Stern, violinist.

Friday, 8:15 p.m. — Recital by Mack Harrell, baritone.

Saturday, 2:15 p.m. — Joint concert, Chicago Symphony orchestra and Cornell Oratorio Society

Saturday, 8:15 p.m. — Concert by Chicago Symphony orchestra, Tauno Hannikainen conducting. Tickets for these performances can be obtained by writing to the Financial office, Cornell college, Mt. Vernon, Iowa.

John Simms, piano instructor in the SUI music department, will be presented in a recital Wednesday at 8 p.m. in North music hall.

His program will include the "Twelve Etudes, Opus 10" by Frederic Chopin and two numbers from Johann S. Bach's "The Well Tempered Clavichord." They are

"Prelude and Fugue in C Major," and "Prelude and Fugue in C Minor."

One other number is listed by the young pianist for the Wednesday night program. It is the "Eroica Variations" by Ludwig von Beethoven.

The New York Philharmonic orchestra will conclude its 1948-49 season with today's concert. Bruno Walter will conduct the organization in the Beethoven "Symphony No. 6" and the Dvorak "Symphony No. 4". The program

Sing Finals Date Set

Finals of the 13th annual University Sing will be held Sunday, May 8, at 7 p.m. on the banks of the Iowa river in front of the art building, if weather permits.

Joan Fraser, A3, Tipton, is chairman for the event. The University Sing was organized in 1936 and has been held annually since that time with the exception of 1942 when it was canceled because of the war. No men's choruses participated in the 1944 Sing for the same reason.

The Quadrangle chorus has won the men's division of the Sing from 1946 through 1948. Having won three consecutive years, they are allowed to keep the cup. A new cup will be presented to the winning men's chorus this year.

Kappa Kappa Gamma and Phi Beta Phi tied for first place honors in the women's division last year. Finalists in the women's division this year are Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Westlawn. Men's finalists are Hillcrest, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Considerable chit-chat has been written about symbolism in literature. Frankly, I would have gone through life thinking symbolism had something to do with a German band if few of the crumbs of education hadn't fallen on my vest.

You can't read a book and get much out of it if you aren't aware of symbolism. For example: the words "cherry blossom" may appear in a novel. Are you going to root the real significance out of those words, or are you content to leave them alone?

BECAUSE writers theoretically have a tendency to write one thing and mean another, it is a good idea to be up with your symbol background. This is especially true if you have or intend to have children. There is nothing quite so tricky as symbolism in children's literature.

Remember the rhyme, "Hi diddle diddle, the cat and the fiddle. Utter rubbish. I can prove the writer of that piece was an alcoholic and a victim of dementia praecox to boot.

TAKE THE first line. Diddle means to potter, and Hi Potter Potter wouldn't stand up under close scrutiny at all. Even by stretching your imagination, Hi Potter Potter or Hi Diddle Potter is out of the question.

The use of one Diddle shows defective judgement (a dementia praecox symptom), but throwing two consecutive Diddles in the first line... well!

"THE CAT and the Fiddle." This line sounds ridiculous, but it is really quite a clue to the writer's mind. There is more here than meets the eye, to be trite.

Why should anyone in his right mind want to give a cat a fiddle. I have never seen a cat who could play a violin, and I doubt if there is one.

Unless my source of information is wrong, fiddle strings are made from cat (excuse the expression) gut. Since the cat in this rhyme probably knew nothing about fiddle playing, it is my decision that the writer only wanted to see the cat suffer at the sight of his brother's bowels stretched over the instrument.

A pretty morbid fellow, I'd say.

"THE COW Jumped Over the Moon." If that isn't the writing of a man in his cups, Bacchus was a DAR charter member with dues paid in full.

Considering how far it is to the moon, this fellow must have had a taste in his mouth the next morning which led him to think he had been out with a fertilizer salesman the night before, and they ate all the samples.

I have a friend who claims he can jump higher than his knees from a dead stand-still, but he is not a cow, and even in his best moments I doubt if he'd try for the moon or even a local street lamp.

"THE LITTLE DOG laughed to See Such Sport." This indicates a definite retarded perception.

He doesn't know (or refuses to acknowledge) that dogs and cows don't get along well together. If a cow did manage to leap over some heavenly body, a dog would not think it funny enough to laugh at.

Instead, he would probably accuse the cow of being a show-off, and then there'd be a brawl, and the party would break up with everyone going home in a fitful state of mind.

"AND THE DISH Ran Away With the Spoon." On top of everything else, the writer has a desire to philander with his best friend's wife.

He imagines himself to be a spoon and pictures the married woman as a dish. He would like to cart her off to a secluded china closet if he could be certain the soup ladle wouldn't blabber the whole thing to the dish's husband.

Don't bring any of those nursery rhymes to our library. We have some sense of decency.

County Bond Sales Set All Time High

Johnson county March sales of U.S. savings bonds amounted to $509,000, according to Ben S. Summerwill and Frank D. Williams, county savings bond chairman.

Sales in January set an all time high for Iowa with a total of $38,820,930. This year's March E bond sales showed an increase of $654,548 over last year.

State Director Roger F. Warin reported a total sales of series E, F and G bonds for March, 1949, of $26,058,386.

"From figures shown here, it is evident that Iowans are still investing regularly in savings bonds," Warin said.

He added that county committees can plan on strong continuing interest in the purchase of savings bonds.

ANALYSIS OF THE WORLD'S NEWS AS — IT HAPPENED LAST WEEK

China War

Nanking Falls, Shanghai In Path of Communists

Advancing Chinese Communist armies swept through deserted Nanking last Sunday and spent the rest of the week chasing the phantom Nationalist army.

Rather than run into the same brawling the British encountered, the U.S. fleet steamed from Shanghai in quest of safer waters. American nationals also were warned to quit Shanghai, one of the Orient's greatest cities.

There were, after all, indications that the Communists would not be too chummy with westerners. In Nanking, they entered the U.S. embassy, caught the American ambassador in bed and left with the remark that his clothes would "soon belong to the people."

As the week rolled on, exciting-sounding names crept into the headlines. Soochow, Putung, Nansiang — all these were Nationalist strong points which crumbled.

By the weekend, only Shanghai stood alone in the Yangtze basin — Shanghai and Chiang Kai-Shek who hurried to the city to urge his forces to fight to the end of "Communist tyranny." They would have their chance, but not immediately. Communist armies were ignoring Shanghai momentarily and were moving southeast of Nanking where Nationalist army hunting was better.

Cold War

Big Four May Call Meet To Settle Germany Issue

After more than three years of ramming into a Soviet stone wall, the western world found last week's news about Berlin hard to believe. The Russians wanted to lift the blockade. Their official news agency Tass said so. The stated price: calling a big four foreign ministers meeting to discuss the overall problem of Germany.

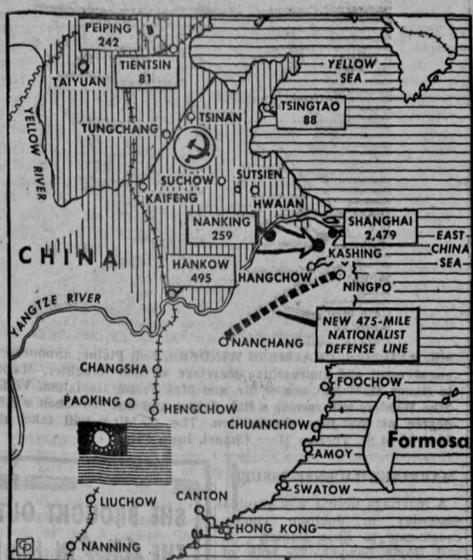

The reports weren't just wishful thinking or dreams coming true in a make-believe world. Russia's UN representative Jacob A. Malik and America's Philip C. Jessup were talking business in the UN lounge at Lake Success. Neither man is noted for dreaming. By the weekend, Malik was armed with specific Kremlin orders. It became a possibility that the big four would be conferring shortly.

This news was greeted with varied reactions. General Clay and west German politicians were going right ahead with plans for a new German federation. Henry Wallace — making a peace tour of the country — thought the Soviet moves were just the thing to kill the Atlantic pact. And the U.S. congress — ever concerned with costs — observed that the allied airlift had cost $149,664,200 to date and that it would be a nice thing if it were over with.

Disarmament in the UN has been stalled for more than three years. In one week in the U.S., one man achieved more disarmament within the U.S. military setup than the whole world has been able to do since 1945.

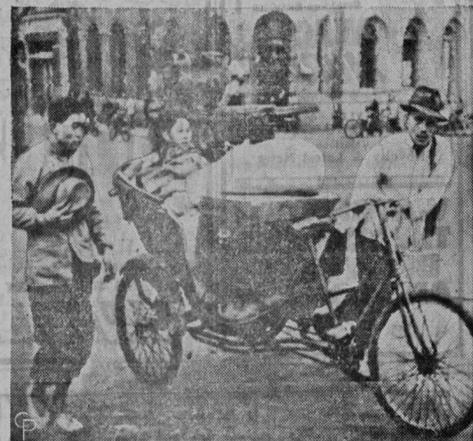

He was Louis Johnson, new defense secretary who is sworn to knock service heads together. Last week, two of his secretaries — Sullivan of the navy and Royall of the army — rubbed their bumps and called it quits. Johnson wouldn't let the navy have its new A-bomb-carrying carrier; Royall quit on general principles.

What was worse, the administration couldn't find any thick-headed candidates around who want to spar with Johnson. Until

Congress

Administration Labor Bill Slowed Down in House

Labor — The house began its stormy debate over the administration's restore-the-Wagner-act labor bill. GOP strategists thought the Truman forces were picking up strength. But on two test votes, the Democrats got stung — the house refused to limit debate on the bill or to kill the Wood alternate labor bill.

Atlantic pact — Secretary of State Acheson, Defense Secretary Johnson and UN Delegate Austin paraded past the senate foreign relations committee with kind words for the Atlantic pact. Only one thing worried the senators. They thought the witnesses were tying arms lend-lease too closely with the pact. For instance, Johnson said unless we supply arms to back up the pact, we will have to pay an "inordinate price" if war comes.

Oil — The senate finance committee okayed a house-passed bill which would end federal taxing of oil, require restaurants to post notices when they serve oil and make restaurants serve the spread in triangular pats.

World trade — President Truman called on congress to approve U.S. membership in the U.S.-inspired international trade organization. The ITO is pledged to lower tariff barriers, develop backward economic areas and to encourage loans for industrialization.

Dr. E.U. Condon — The director of the national bureau of standards warned his fellow scientists that they, too, may soon be subjected to an "ordeals by smear". Condon was accused — later cleared — of slipping confidential data to the Soviets. He feared that new espionage laws would lasso many other scientists.

India Will Remain in British Commonwealth

In London, India and Britain lifted the face of the British Commonwealth of Nations. Now India can become an independent nation and still use the symbol of the British crown for sentimental reasons. The settlement ended western-world worry that India would be cast astray in a power-hungry world, much as strife-torn Burma was.

In Calcutta, the urgency of India remaining intimate with the British Commonwealth was demonstrated when police and grenade-throwing Communist students clashed. The riots — which killed at least seven — were inspired by an eight-day hunger strike of 326 political prisoners in west Bengal.

On the Syrian - Trans-Jordan border, opposing Arab troops stared at each other through gun sights. The military-led Syrian government was quarreling with neighboring Moslem kings over events in Israel and the area's delicate power balance.

Labor

Strike Trouble Hits Bendix, Packard, Ford

Detroit had a rash of labor trouble last week. A week-old Bendix Aviation corporation strike spread to the Packard Motor company. Packard laid off 8,000 workers, making 34,500 idle in the dispute. A strike of 6,000 workers at Ford's Lincoln-Mercury plant was given official union sanction. It will begin late this week.

The supreme court held that employers covered by federal labor laws must bargain about pensions plans with unions if the unions request it. And now that inflation arguments are losing their steam, unions will place new emphasis on pension plans and other security provisions.

John L. Lewis and his 200-man policy committee optimistically threw together their contract talk demands. Briefly, they aim for more pay, shorter hours, equalized employment and greater safety in the pits.

Iowa Legislature Ends; Tax Rate Bill Signed

The Iowa legislature — which succeeded in passing no clock-stopping legislation — ended its stopped-clock session this week, a full seven days after it is officially listed as having ended.

Gov. Beardsley announced that he had signed into law a bill to continue the present 75 percent collection rate on the state income tax for another two years. The rate would have jumped to 100 percent next year if the governor had vetoed the bill.

Six hundred twenty acres of land for the Coralville dam site are now being purchased by army engineers. The land will be part of the 30,000-acre flood control reservoir behind the dam. Construction is expected to begin in July.

Drowning Victim's Body Recovered from River

The body of Harold D. Overman, 17, missing from his brother's home for two weeks, was recovered from the Iowa river near the west end of the Burlington street bridge.

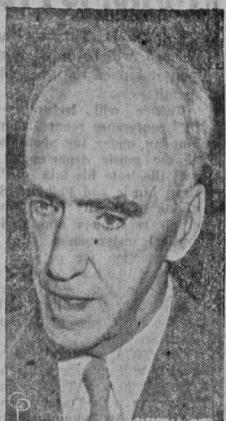

Everybody in Iowa City was talking about the weather — and with reason: the temperature climbed to a season high of 86 one day and came close on others. Governor Beardsley journeyed into town to review SUI's ROTC military cadets on Friday. The event was the annual Governor's day review.

Names in the News

Judith Coplon — The former justice department worker went on trial in a federal court on espionage charges. She was arrested recently while allegedly passing papers to a Russian UN employe.

Sen. Raymond E. Baldwin (R-Conn) — He was nominated by his state's Democrat governor, Chester Bowles, to be a justice of the state supreme court. The appointment, if confirmed by the legislature, removed from politics a man widely mentioned as a political rival for Bowles in the 1950 gubernatorial election.

Dr. E.U. Condon — The director of the national bureau of standards warned his fellow scientists that they, too, may soon be subjected to an "ordeals by smear". Condon was accused — later cleared — of slipping confidential data to the Soviets. He feared that new espionage laws would lasso many other scientists.

Artist's Costume Ball Interprets the Movies

By STANLEY BEITLER
 One of SUI's most dazzling costume shows came off last night at "The Movies" extravaganza sponsored by the Art Guild at the art building main gallery. "The Movies" revealed talent Hollywood would love.

In a rip-roaring night of revelry, 300 SUI students dressed to kill had fun trying to interpret the costume ball's theme of "The Movies." You could tell they were having fun—jiving, uproarious and everybody warmly greeting everybody else.

Frankenstein's monster personified by Byron Burford looked evil and gory with blood streaking down his jaws and a bolt square through his throat. A couple of ghosts floated around him.

Exuding a mellower and lighter tenor were Claude and Sue Marks costumed lavishly as a "period movie sequence" and the girl who went from rags to riches, respectively. With a flourish and a sweeping walk, Claude announced himself as a medley of all periods scroled on a white silk ambassadors ribbon diagonally across his chest.

The gallery walls were fantastically arrayed with extravagant caricatures of movie stars and publicity posters. Colorful lighting streamed around the room and actual movie films played on the walls from three cameras set up and continually reeling in a corner.

Larry Barrett and his orchestra played for the costume ball. The atmosphere yielded every conceivable character and character-

A former SUI student took third place in the $25,000 world-wide furnishing and decorating contest sponsored by the Chicago Tribune, the paper announced yesterday.

Winner of a $300 prize, Robert W. Housman, a native Iowan from Marshalltown, now lives at 2455 Grand avenue, New York City. He was previously on the Better Homes and Gardens and House Beautiful art staffs. He is art editor for Family Circle magazine.

Car-Truck Collision Reported by Police

A traffic accident at the intersection of Iowa avenue and Riverside drive yesterday caused a total of $375 damage to the two cars involved, police said. No injuries were reported.

Police said a car driven by Glenn Hope Jr., A3, Iowa City, and a truck driven by Gordon Greer, Meservey, collided at 8:45 a.m. after one of the drivers failed to yield the right of way.

Hope estimated $300 damage to the left side of his car and $75 damage to the grill of Greer's truck.

Business BRIEFS

Yunker Brothers' long-awaited Iowa City department store is likely to become a reality in 1950.

Plans now call for letting of contracts this fall for the building of a completely new $300,000 store on Washington street on the site of the Yunkers property now occupied by the Three Sisters store and Mannings Mercantile Mart.

The proposed store will have a 42-and-one-half-foot front, three stories and a basement. It will carry a complete line of soft goods, according to J.F. Rosenfield, chairman of the board of Yunkers.

The first pre-assembled house in the R.H. Wildman construction housing project on Fourth street will be started Wednesday, Ralph Wildman said yesterday.

Two more houses will be erected within two days and four more will be built later, making a total of seven.

The Fourth street property, located near the Iowa City high school, was formerly owned by the chamber of commerce, which has long been interested in new housing for Iowa City, Wildman said.

Employees at the First National bank gained one-third more working space last week with the opening of the bank's new 20-by-60 north room.

The room is the latest word in bank work rooms. It has, among other things, two-tone gray walls, new baseboard heating, tile-textured floors, both incandescent and fluorescent lighting, air conditioning, acoustically-treated ceilings and walls, and a strip electrical wiring system.

Announces its spring election of new members on May 16, 1949, and invites all candidates to present activity lists on or before May 10.

Information:

O.D.K.—successor to A.F.I. (All for Iowa)—was established on the Iowa campus in May, 1947. Its purpose is the recognition of upperclass men who have attained distinction in campus life and service. As an organization it strives to forward the social and educational aims of the State University of Iowa through student-faculty cooperation. Since its inception, O.D.K. has sponsored such campus-wide activities as:

- Parliamentary Law Forums for officers of organizations
- Dad's Day Dance and Awards
- All-Campus Carnival (co-sponsor)
- Panacea (co-sponsor)
- Annual Homecoming Breakfast for O.D.K. and A.F.I. Alumni

Forms for listing activities of candidates are available through your housing unit or may be obtained at the Office of Student Affairs or the Iowa Union desk. Completed forms must be turned into or mailed to: Election Committee, O.D.K., 111 U. Hall, on or before Tuesday, May 10.

This announcement is published by ODK to assure that all eligible men students will have an opportunity to be considered for election.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Eligibility:

Election of candidates is based on character, leadership and service in campus life and scholarship.

A point system is used in determining qualifications, with points assigned in each of five major areas:

- I. Scholarship
- II. Social and Religious Affairs
- III. Athletics
- IV. Publications
- V. Speech, Music, radio and Dramatic Arts

Basic requirements are:

- 1) Junior or senior classification in Colleges of Liberal Arts, Commerce, Engineering or Pharmacy; or junior classification in all other professional colleges; or registry in graduate College.
- 2) Cumulative grade point average of 2.6 or in upper 35% of class.
- 3) At least 30 credit hours completed at S.U.I.

Lewis to Bargain with Coal Producers for New Contract

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
John L. Lewis agreed yesterday to bargain for a new work contract for his United Mine workers separately with the Southern Coal Producers' association.

In a letter accepting notice of Joseph E. Moody, the southern operators' president, that the present contract will expire June 30, Lewis suggested that negotiations begin June 6 at Bluefield, W. Va.

Lewis also agreed to let the press and public in. In the past, reporters have attended the opening sessions of coal negotiations but weren't admitted to the real bargaining.

No action has been taken with regard to the UMW's contracts with northern and western producers which also expire June 30.

At South Bend, Ind., striking Bendix Aviation Corp. workers stood aside to let trucks of the Hudson Motor Car Co. enter the plant and remove Hudson's 15 brake dies.

The removal took place before the Bendix United Auto Worker's local had been served with a temporary federal court restraining order.

Late in the day, on the union's invitation, four Kaiser - Frazer trucks entered the plant and removed that firm's brake dies.

The Bendix strike kept 7,500 workers idle at that plant and 35,000 others jobs at Nash, Kaiser - Frazer and Packard. The auto makers have been cut off from essential supplies manufactured by Bendix.

Meanwhile, at Detroit, high councils of the UAW-CIO held in abeyance sanction of a strike voted by 60,000 workers at the huge River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Co.

The UAW international has announced it will sanction a strike at River Rouge only after a first-hand check of employes' speedup charges and after all peaceful means of settlement have been exhausted. Ford management has denied the speedup charges.

The union's international off-cers have approved a strike of 5,000 Lincoln-Mercury plant workers as a result of similar charges.

In Washington, with the house taking a week-end recess from its furious labor bill debate, a new three-step compromise for handling national emergency strikes was suggested by Rep. Jacobs (D-Ind.).

Newcomers to Hold May Tea Tomorrow

"Something We Do Just for the Fun of it" is the title of a program to be given at the University Newcomers May tea. The tea will be given at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Spence, 708 McLean street.

Mrs. Arthur Wimer will be chairman, assisted by Mrs. James Morrison, Mrs. Charles Birk, Mrs. Robert Sutherland and Mrs. Robert Van Horne. Mrs. Earl Harper and Mrs. George Glockler will pour.

Members are to bring samples of their hobbies, such as knitting, sewing, quilting, gardening, or collections. Members may still make reservations by contacting Mrs. Wimer.

Junior Nursing Class Names New President

Kathleen Proudfoot, Runnells, Friday was elected president of the junior class at SU's school of nursing for the year 1949-50. Ramona Harris, this year's president, announced yesterday.

Other class officers elected were Virginia Martin, Osgood, vice-president; Iris Rath, Grafton, Neb., secretary; Audria McClatchey, Mapleton, treasurer, and Joy Lawrence, Cherokee, activities chairman.

Marietta Lehman Dies After Illness Of Several Months

Mrs. Marietta Lehman, 68, wife of William F. Lehman died yesterday. She succumbed after an illness of several months. She had lived on a farm at the southeast edge of Iowa City.

The Oathout funeral home is in charge of arrangements for funeral services and burial.

Mrs. Lehman is survived by Mrs. Elsie Brack and Mrs. Marietta Beuter, both of Iowa City; four sons, Lloyd, George L., and Carl, all of Iowa City, and Mrs. Ernest Jacobs, a brother, Bert E. Oathout, all of Iowa City, and nine grandchildren also are surviving.

Mrs. Lehman was a member of both the Methodist church and the Iowa City Rebekah lodge.

Applications Open For Transit Posts

Applications are now being accepted for positions on Transit, monthly magazine published by SUI engineering students, for the 1949-50 school year, according to Editor Gordon G. Peterman.

Application blanks for editor, general manager, business manager and other staff positions may be picked up in the Transit office, 101 engineering building or in Dean Dawson's office, 102 engineering building.

First Year Graduates Eligible for $25 Award

First year graduate students in various fields of chemistry are eligible to compete for the Alpha Chi Sigma scholarship award, Pres. Ralph Child said yesterday. The award of $25 and a certificate will be given to the male graduate student having the highest scholastic standing at the end of one year of graduate study.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE dubious but widely quoted pronouncement of Rudyard Kipling that a woman is only a woman is proof in itself that Mr. Kipling never had the opportunity or desire to study any of the great actresses of the world at close range. Only women? These ladies are sirens, enchantresses, financiers and when other great actresses are within earshot, vitriolic wits.

Legendary are the exploits and bon mots of Mrs. Patrick Campbell, who created the role of "The Second Mrs. Tanager." In the course of a violent argument with that noted vegetarian, George Bernard Shaw, Mrs. Campbell rasped, "Some day, Shaw, you will eat a pork-chop, and then God help woman-kind!"

After a very dull weekend, she took pen in hand and wrote in the hostess' elaborate guest book, "Quoth the raven." To the producer husband of a famous motion-picture star, Mrs. Campbell cooed, "What an attractive wife you have! She has such tiny little eyes!"

Publish Rules, Regulations for LA Students

The first complete published code of rules and regulations governing students in the college of liberal arts was adopted Wednesday by faculty members, Dewey B. Stuit, acting dean of the college of liberal arts, said yesterday.

The code will go into immediate effect and although no new rules have been added there have been several important changes.

The code was drawn up by the executive committee, the committee on curricula and instruction, and the adjustment committee.

Copies of the code will be made available to faculty members and housing units. Students desiring copies will be able to obtain them in the near future, Stuit said.

An important change affecting students immediately is that courses dropped during the final four weeks of a semester or the final two weeks of a summer session will be assigned an "F" grade (provided the student does not cancel his registration from the university).

This regulation may be waived only by the dean of the college upon the recommendation of the student health service or the student counselling office.

Previously students could drop courses up to the day of the final examination and receive a grade of "W" signifying withdrawal if they were doing passing work.

Students may not add a course to their schedule after the second week of class work in a regular semester or the first week of class work in the summer session except with the consent of the instructor and adviser and the approval of the adjustment committee.

The maximum load of hours students can carry per semester has been changed from 18 to 19 semester hours including all work offered for credit. Exceptional students may petition the adjustment committee to take additional hours.

Graduation honors have been changed from a percentage to a grade point basis. Stuit said this will not affect the number of students eligible for graduation honors but will make it easier for the registrar's office to list these students.

The grade point averages for honors are "with highest distinction," 3.8 or above; "with high distinction," 3.5 to 3.79 and "with distinction," 3.3 to 3.49.

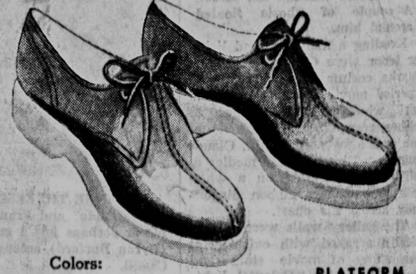

Although the class attendance policy has always been in effect, Stuit said he did not think many students were aware of it. It designates that each instructor or course chairman determines the policy regarding class attendance in his own class.

It is important that students follow the final examination schedule as set up by the examination service, Stuit said. In order to take tests at a different time students must get approval from the college of liberal arts.
