Strike Threatens to Paralyze Ford's Vast Industrial Empire

DETROIT (UP)—More than 62,000 CIO united auto workers struck two key plants of the Ford motor company yesterday over an alleged "speedup," threatening shutdown within three weeks of Ford's industrial empire in 34 cities.

A complete shutdown would idle 147,200 maintenance, office and production workers, including the strikers, and cut off deliveries to Ford, Mercury and Lincoln dealers. If prolonged, it would affect 3,500 major suppliers of parts and equipment for Ford company plants. The strike hit the River Rouge and Lincoln-Mercury assembly and manufacturing plants a few minutes before 11 a.m. (Iowa time) when workers abandoned their tools, streamed out of the gates, and set up picket lines.

Ford called on the mayor of Dearborn, Mich., to open lines through the pickets so anyone wishing to leave or enter the Rouge plant could do so. The UAW permitted only maintenance and custodial personnel through the gates.

If local police are unable "to cope with the situation," the company asked Mayor Orville Hubbard to call "promptly" for state and county help. A copy of the request was sent to Gov. G. McHenry Williams.

The strikers include more than 59,000 workers from the River Rouge plant, which sprawls over 1,076 acres along the Detroit river and is one of the world's largest industrial installations. About 3,200 left their jobs at the Lincoln-Mercury plant.

The walkout will cost the strikers an estimated $841,444 daily in wages.

In a formal statement, the company said that the strike occurred despite every effort of the management to prevent it.

"This strike is the result of arbitrary action by the union and the company and all employees are the victims," the statement said.

The strike call and exodus from the plants was orderly. One striker, Earl Ellis, 52, collapsed and died of a heart attack as he rode with fellow strikers out of the River Rouge plant.

As a result of the strike, Ford dealers throughout the nation faced a threat of empty showrooms. A Ford spokesman said dealers had an average of two and one-half cars on hand. There is no factory backlog.

Bonus Applications Reach 40,000 Mark

DES MOINES (P)—Applications for World War II veterans bonuses reached a three-day total of about 40,000 yesterday as forms poured into headquarters at an increased rate.

A total of 16,000 applications reached the state bonus board by mail yesterday, officials said. Approximately 14,000 arrived Wednesday. The total Tuesday was about 10,000.

Applications were processed as soon as they arrived, but payments will be upheld until the Iowa supreme court rules on a friendly suit testing the legality of financing arrangements.

Jury of 3 Women, 9 Men Is Selected For Rutledge Trial

CEDAR RAPIDS (P)—Nine men and three women were chosen yesterday to decide the guilt or innocence of Dr. Robert C. Rutledge Jr., in the "love triangle" death of his pretty wife's bachelor admirer.

The jurors, one of whom said in court that he opposes the death penalty, will take up a Spartan existence when court reconvenes Monday.

For at least the next three weeks they must live in two long-unused courthouse dormitories which have neither bathtubs nor showers.

The jury was completed yesterday afternoon following a day highlighted by a jury candidate's critical reference to Mrs. Sydney Rutledge, 23-year-old wife of the defendant.

The state contends the 27-year-old St. Louis physician fatally stabbed Byron C. Hattman, 29, in a hotel room fight here last Dec. 14 after an argument about Hattman's attentions to Mrs. Rutledge.

The talisman, stricken for cause after she expressed disapproval of Mrs. Rutledge, was Mrs. Esther M. Gosnell, a Cedar Rapids housewife. The situation caused Mrs. Rutledge to blush and whisper to her husband.

The 12 jurors chosen were admonished by Judge J.E. Heiser to isolate themselves from the case until Monday when opening statements will begin.

He warned them not to read about the case in newspapers or magazines. He told them they must not listen to any radio newscasts nor have any photographs made of themselves "by anyone."

The three women jurors are middle-aged. Two are housewives and one is a saleswoman. Three of the nine men are retired farmers. Ages of the nine men range from 25 to 70 and average 52 1-2.

The judge told the jurors that if anyone attempted to approach them or communicate with them about the trial they should tell him of it at once. He specified that beginning Monday they would spend their nights in the fourth floor courthouse dormitories which last were used 13 years ago.

The dormitories have white iron hospital type beds and straight-back chairs as furnishings. The women's quarters, 30 by 20 feet, has cross ventilation.

Pickets Stop Car in Detroit Auto Strike

PICKETS HALT A CAR at the strikebound Ford plant in Detroit when the driver attempted to drive through a gate at the company's Rouge plant. More than 60,000 UAW-CIO auto workers are on strike. A picket motions the driver to turn down the road.

Canoeing Keeps Coeds Cool

TWO COEDS AND A CANOE were part of the scenery along the banks of the Iowa river yesterday. Cam Smith, A4, St. Louis, Mo., and Pat Van Liew, C4, Des Moines, donned their sunning clothes and took to the river for escape from Iowa City's 92 degrees top temperature.

For Once — Driver Beats Meter

SIoux CITY (P)—Here's why August Machura didn't have to pay an overtime parking fine yesterday. He parked at a curb where there was no parking meter. But when he came back he found a new meter and a summons on his windshield.

"The car got there before the meter," Municipal Judge Berry Sisk ruled. "Case dismissed."

SUI Drops Proposal Raising Faculty Rent

The proposal to raise faculty members' rents in barracks apartments has been dropped, President Virgil M. Hancher announced yesterday.

Hancher explained that his proposal of March 21 was dropped after it became apparent it would not achieve its desired effect.

Designed to raise rents of barracks apartments assigned on staff priority, the proposal was intended to encourage faculty members in the temporary housing areas to find permanent housing in the town area.

This move was intended to provide at least temporary housing for new SUI faculty members until they too, could find permanent housing.

"It is clear from the discussions we have had since the proposed rent increase was announced, that any reasonable rest increase will not obtain the desired turnover. Hence, if the increase won't make more housing available for new faculty members, it will not be achieving its purpose and will be dropped," Hancher explained.

WARSAW, POLAND (P)—The Polish government is launching a broad educational program to eliminate illiteracy. Parliament approved a new law making schooling compulsory for all illiterates and semi-illiterates between the ages of 14 and 50.

Temperature Hits 92 Degrees

For the third day in a row weatherman to end Iowa City's showers were predicted by the record breaking heat wave.

The temperature boiled up to 92 degrees yesterday afternoon for the highest mark ever recorded here for May 5. Previous high mark was 87 degrees in 1934.

Yesterday's record breaking temperature was recorded between 2 and 3 p.m. at the CAA weather station. Low for the day was 63 degrees, recorded at 4:30 a.m.

At 8 o'clock last night the temperature was 77 degrees.

Aid To Education Bill Passes Senate

Wallace Charges Catholic Hierarchy Seek Soviet War

WASHINGTON (P)—Henry A. Wallace yesterday accused some of the Catholic hierarchy of seeking war with Soviet Russia.

He made the allegation while testifying before the senate foreign relations committee against the north Atlantic security pact which he described as a $30-billion "sword" of aggression hanging over Russia.

The Progressive party leader and former vice president said there are "elements in the Catholic church" which are engaging in a "bitter" anti-Russian campaign. The Vatican itself, he added, has "very great interests in eastern Europe."

Wallace began his remarks by saying he has "no feeling of intolerance" against Catholics. But he said that when the church "gets in politics, then it has to meet the battle at the political level." This, he said, is occurring now "to an extended degree."

He agreed with a statement he attributed to the late Rabbi Stephen S. Wise. He said the Jewish leader once said "there are elements of the Catholic church who want war."

Wallace described the north Atlantic pact as the capstone of an American foreign policy that has "no end but war" and said that it may turn Russia into a "wild and desperate cornered beast."

He asked the senate to lay the treaty aside pending the newly-scheduled Big Four meeting on Germany.

Boy Gets Life Term For Killing Mother

ROCKWELL CITY (P)—Dale Junior Post, 17, yesterday was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ft. Madison state penitentiary after he pleaded guilty to the shotgun slaying of his mother.

The youth showed no emotion as Judge F. H. Cooney, Carroll, pronounced sentence.

"You are guilty of one of the most serious types of crimes anyone can be guilty of," the judge said before sentencing, and added: "You are fortunate this is not a jury trial."

Judge Cooney said he felt certain a jury would have recommended a death sentence.

The body of Mrs. Post was found in the kitchen of their Farnhamville home April 19. The youth told authorities she shot his mother when she refused to give him car keys to visit his girl friend.

Young Republicans Elect John Elliott

John Elliott was elected chairman of SUI's Young Republican league succeeding James P. Goodwin at an election held in Schaeffer hall last night.

John Laughlin was elected vice-chairman; Dick Crandall, secretary, and George Williams, treasurer.

The four elected officers of the YRL will hold office until May, 1950.

When the election results were announced, Elliott assumed the duties of chairman and appointed Bob Tyson executive secretary completing the YRL executive board which is composed of the four elected officers and the executive secretary.

State's High Court Hears Case About Land Used by SUI

DES MOINES (P)—The Iowa supreme court heard arguments yesterday in a case involving an area in Iowa City which was laid out as a park in 1893 but has been used by the University of Iowa since 1891.

Mrs. Celia Carson of Iowa City sued the state in behalf of the citizens of Iowa City seeking return of the property to the city for park purposes. She claimed that the property was intended as a park in the original plat of the city and that the transfer to the state was illegal.

The property concerned in the case is the block bounded by Iowa avenue on the south, Dubuque street on the west and Jefferson street on the north. It lies west of East hall and is the site of the planned university communications building.

Judge James P. Gaffney heard the case in the Johnson county district court in the spring of 1948. He found for the state after several days testimony and legal arguments and over a month of deliberation on the evidence.

The state based its case on two points. First, that the transfer was legal and second, that the length of time between the transfer and the present litigation had legalized the action through the principle of estoppel.

Mrs. Carson appealed the decision to the supreme court.

Act Provides Federal Help

WASHINGTON (P)—The senate last night passed a bill authorizing federal grants of $300-million a year to help the state pay teachers salaries and other school operating expenses. It goes to the house.

The vote on passage was 58 to 15.

Passage came after the senate slapped down a series of major amendments. Two of them brought in the question of church and state relations dealing with schools.

One of the last amendments rejected was one by Senator Donnell (R-Mo.) to limit the bill's

How Iowans Voted

WASHINGTON (P)—Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) last night voted with the majority when the senate passed and sent to the house the $300-million federal aid to education bill. Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) did not vote but was announced in favor of the bill.

funds to public schools. It was snowed under 71 to 3, with Donnell Cain (R-Wash) and McClellan (D-Ark) voting for it. The bill lets the states decide who gets the money.

Earlier, senators rejected by voice vote an amendment of Senator McMahon (D-Conn.). It provided that any of the federal funds used by a state for school bus service must be available to all children, whether they attended parochial or public schools. The bill leaves this question for the states to decide.

The declared purpose of the bill is to aid in financing a minimum education program in elementary and secondary schools, and to reduce inequalities of education opportunities. Allotments to states would be $5 to $29 a pupil figured on a formula taking into account the annual income payments in each state. The poorer states would get a larger share.

The senate acted at a night session after five days of debate. The measure was introduced by a bi-partisan group of 15 senators and strongly urged by President Truman.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) was a leader in the fight for the bill. Pointing up the split in senate Republican ranks over social welfare legislation such as the education measure, Senator Wherry (Neb.), the GOP leader, bitterly denounced the bill as a "socialistic" program.

"Federal aid to education in the years to come means federal control," Wherry shouted.

Fire Destroys Pennsylvania High School

NO SCHOOL TODAY for the students of the Pottstown, Pa., senior high school. An $80,000 fire wrecked the school yesterday. All classes for the 800 pupils were suspended indefinitely. Fire Chief Richard E. Lindauer said the fire apparently started in the school's heating plant. Three firemen were hurt before the blaze was brought under control.

Feller Stops Red Sox, 7-3

Big 2nd Inning Wins for Bob

CLEVELAND (AP)—With Bob Feller going all the way for his first win of the season, the Cleveland Indians' sluggers crushed the Boston Red Sox, 7-3 yesterday.

The Tribe did the trick with a big inning, the second. The six runs on six hits in that stanza included Ken Keltner's three-run homer, which was followed on the next pitch by the first major league homer ever hit by Orestes Minoso, the young Cuban speedster who made his first major league start only Wednesday.

Minoso is getting a trial in the doubtful right field spot. Manager Lou Boudreau's double with the bases loaded drove in the last two runs in that inning.

Feller grew a little wild in the fourth inning, and it cost him a run. With two out, Billy Goodman singled and then the Cleveland fireballer walked Sam Mele, Matt Batts and Pinch Hitter Lou Stringer, forcing Goodman.

Joe Gordon hit his fifth homer of the season in the fifth inning to end the Cleveland scoring.

Then Boston started slugging four-base hits. Ted Williams drove out his fifth of the season in the eighth inning, followed in the same inning by Bobby Doerr's first homer of the year.

Doerr's homer was the first of the season in the fifth inning to end the Cleveland scoring.

The Skooter Scores for the Yanks

A FIRST INNING RUN scored by Phil Rizuto, New York outfielder, sent the Yanks on the way to a 7-5 victory over the White Sox in Chicago yesterday. The Skooter slid under Catcher Joe Tipton (15) of the Sox, to score on Tommy Henrich's hit. Umpire Bill Grieve signals Rizuto safe. Henrich later blasted his fourth home run of the year as the Yanks scored four times in the fourth inning.

Yankees Clip White Sox, 7-5

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox removed their portable outfield fence yesterday but the move didn't help as the Pale Hose their third straight loss.

Only one homer was struck. Tommy Henrich blasted his fourth of the season into the upper deck in right to launch a four run fourth inning rally that gave the Yanks the game.

The Yanks ripped little Billy Pierce for two runs in the first on a walk, two singles and a flyout. After Henrich homered in the fourth, Billy Johnson and Johnny Lindell doubled and Jack Phillips singled to rout Pierce in favor of Max Surkont. Phillips later scored on a double by winning pitcher Alie Reynolds.

Mike Jacobs Retires from Fight Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Mike Jacobs, the man who parlayed shrewdness, promotional savvy and a one-time Alabama cotton picker named Joe Louis into the world's greatest fight empire, retired from boxing yesterday.

But in the wake of his once powerful 20th century sporting club, which controlled most of the world's boxing activities since 1937, a new, and probably bigger dynasty was being formed, with Louis one of the key figures.

Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden, announced that on June 1, the Garden was taking over all of 20th century's promotional duties and that the Garden would combine with the newly-organized International Boxing club of Chicago to stage bouts the country over.

The shrewd Jacobs catapulted onto the boxing pedestal in 1937 when he secured the exclusive services of Louis, then a 22-year-old knockout artist fresh out of Detroit's golden glove ranks.

By skillful maneuvering, he got Heavyweight Champion Jimmy Braddock to lay his title on the line against the Brown Bomber in Chicago, instead of New York where Braddock was scheduled to meet Max Schmeling, under Garden sponsorship.

Browns' Zarilla to Red Sox for Spence

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Browns announced yesterday they have traded Outfielder Al Zarilla to the Boston Red Sox for Outfielder Stan Spence "and a cash consideration."

The 29-year-old Zarilla was the leading Browns hitter last year with an average of .329, and was fourth in that department in the American league. Spence, 34, batted .235 for Boston last year.

Bill DeWitt, president of the Browns, said the deal was "an effort to give the Browns some additional power."

"We are sacrificing a few years in age but we are hopeful that the extra power that Spence will give us will enable the Browns to win more games," DeWitt said.

The amount of cash involved in the deal was not disclosed.

Cards Beat Phillies On Northey's Homer

PHILADELPHIA—Ron Northey's ninth-inning homer gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-2 victory over Philadelphia yesterday and ended the Phillies' five-game winning streak.

George Munger pitched all the way for St. Louis, giving up eight hits and single runs in the second and fifth innings.

Hank Borowy started for the Phils and also went the distance, giving up 10 hits. He kept the Cards at bay until Northey's game winning circuit clout.

Giants Top Pirates On 300th Big League Home Run by Mize

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Mize couldn't have picked a better spot to hit his 300th major league home run. It came in the bottom half of the 10th inning yesterday to give the New York Giants a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh pirates.

The blow was made off Murry Dickson, who set a major league record last year by giving up 39 home runs. It marked the second defeat for Dickson in this three-game series, all of which were won by the Giants.

Hank Behrman, who pitched the last two innings after replacing starter Sheldon Jones in the ninth, was the winner.

Clyde McCullough, hit on the right arm by Jones, was rushed to a hospital where x-rays showed no fracture but a severe bruise which is expected to sideline him for 10 days. His loss leaves the Pirates with Eddie Fitzgerald as the only available catcher.

Nats Top Browns On Big 8th Frame

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Red Embree cracked as did also the Browns' defense in the eighth inning last night and the Washington Senators pushed across three runs to hand the last-place Browns their sixth straight defeat, 5-3. Clyde Vollmer slammed his fifth homer with a man on and singled across another run for the Nats.

Chisox Tear Down 'Home Run Fence', Yanks Don't Like It

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox tore down their "home run fence" yesterday, right from under the bats of the peeved New York Yankees.

Shortly after dawn, Sox General-Manager Frank Lane had the homer barrier up-rooted. It had produced 11 artificial circuit clouds in five Comiskey park games, but seven were by enemy batters.

The 5-foot fence cut 20 feet off the entire field.

Declared Lane: "We put up the wire fence to provide the fans with more excitement and thrills in our games. With the wind blowing out, the games proved too exciting for the weak heart of the Sox' biggest fan — me!"

"Therefore, later in the season when the wind — and my heart — return to normalcy, the fence may be re-erected."

However, Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees took a less humorous viewpoint as his first-place club opened a 3-game series here.

"It seems to me this fence, building and tearing-down business needs some sort of control," declared Stengel, whose Yanks slammed 11 bona fide homers in winning 12 of their first 15 games.

"The Sox should have left the fence up at least until the full circuit had played here. This park-fixing should be placed on the waiver rule. Once up, an artificial barrier should be required to stay put for a certain length of time."

Hawklets Enter 17 Trackmen in Meet

Iowa City high school will enter a 17-man team in the state high school class A district track and field meet at Marion tonight.

The possibility of Keith Hemingway and Stan James being sidelined because of illness will greatly hinder the Hawklets' chances of coping the team title.

Coach Howard Moffitt's trackmen hope to gain qualifying berths for the state championships in the football throw, discus, 880-yard relay and possibly the mile and mile-medley relays.

The state class A championship meet will be held at Ames, May 21.

Jack Bruner to Hurl Opening Game of Indiana Series Today

Iowa's baseball team went through a brisk one-hour workout yesterday morning before leaving to keep a date with Indiana's Hoosiers at Bloomington today and tomorrow morning.

Coach Otto Vogel sent his charges through an intensive batting and fielding drill in preparation for their battle to improve their present 2-2 conference record. The Hawks are tied for fourth place while Indiana's 3-1 record has earned them a second place tie.

Both Illinois and Purdue sported perfect conference records before suffering their first losses at the hands of the Hawks.

Southpaw Jack Bruner has been named as the starting pitcher in the series' opener this afternoon. Tomorrow's contest, a morning affair, may see Dick Hoeksema in a starting role. He has been slowed down by an injury to his side but may now be ready to go the route.

Iowa has been hitting the ball well and figures for the 14 games played so far show the Hawks batting at an .278 clip as compared with a .203 mark for their opponents. This robust swatting has been offset by unsteady pitching.

Four of the six games that the Hawks have had been lost in the ninth inning, three of them by one run.

With Hoeksema's injury keeping him from effective hurling and Wes Demro not pitching as well as expected, the staff has not shown much improvement over last year's squad.

Bruner has assumed his old role as bellweather of the mound staff, but he was lost to the team during some of the early games.

Jack Dittmer has been Iowa's top hitter and fielder, batting .350 and fielding .982 at second base. Murl Moran has played capably both in left field and at first base. His hitting has been timely.

The following players left for Bloomington yesterday and will return to Iowa City Sunday: Catchers Ed Browne and John Dinzole; Catcher-Outfielder John Tedore; Pitchers Demro, Bruner, Hoeksema, Larry Germuska, Jack Miller, Dick Orth, Bruce Marsh and Glenn Drahn; Infielders Dave Dickson, Arnold Espe, Keith Kaffer, "Pinky" Primrose, George Schamberger, Jack Dittmer and Bob Smith, and Outfielders Dale Erickson, John Sullivan, Murl Moran and George Hand.

NEW YORK (AP)—Charlie Gehring, one of the great second basemen of alltime, gained baseball immortality yesterday when he was voted into the Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers' association of America.

Gehring, who spent 18 active seasons with the Detroit Tigers and closed out his career by coaching the Bengals for one year, received 159 of 187 votes to become the 56th baseball man to gain a niche in the shrine at Cooperstown, N.Y.

A total of 140 votes was necessary for election under the rules requiring 75 per cent of the total ballot. Only writers with 10 or more years of experience were eligible to vote.

Gehring, the sixth second baseman in the Hall of Fame, is the 21st player elected in the writer's poll. The other members were elected by committees in charge of honoring old time players and diamond figures.

Mel Ott, all-time National league home run king, who spent 22 years with the New York Giants as player and manager, was second in the poll with 128 votes, 12 short of election. He failed to get recognition from 47 writers.

Those receiving the most votes were:

- Charlie Gehring 159
- Mel Ott 128
- Jimmy Fox 89
- Dizzy Dean 81
- Al Simmons 76
- Paul Waner 63
- Harry Heilmann 52
- Bill Terry 48
- Hank Greenberg 44
- Bill Dickey 39
- Rabbit Maranville 39

Gehring, a stylist both at bat and in the field, ended his playing days at the close of the 1941 season with a lifetime batting average of .321. That also was his average in three world series.

He was chosen on six All-Star teams and holds the batting record for All-Star games with a mark of .500.

Suggestions Given for Mother's Day Gifts

Have you purchased a gift for your first lady? Mother's day is only two more shopping days away. Although every day is rightfully her day, most offspring like to remember their mothers especially on the second Sunday in May.

Iowa City merchants haven't forgotten the custom and they are featuring a great variety of gifts to please every mother. The thoughtful buyer will want to get his mother something for her personal enjoyment. New luggage, a jewelry case, cosmetic kit or a good camera will be appreciated by the Mother who intends to travel this summer.

The lady who enjoys working in flower gardens will be pleased with new roses or shrubs. It's a bit too early to plant potted blooming plants, florists say, because the frost season isn't over, but dormant rose plants and other nursery stock may be safely planted.

Cut flowers and corsages are an appropriate and don't forget flowers are one gift which can be telegraphed to a distant mother.

Red and white roses are in greatest demand as Mother's day gifts, florists say, and Talisman roses are popular too. Orchids of lavender, white and yellow are also in stock in local florist shops.

Department stores have a beautiful supply of personal gifts that are both practical and lovely. Such gifts as lacy slippers and lingerie, new light shades, spraying hosiery, frilly summer blouses, suits and dresses are perennial favorites.

A personal touch is added by initialed monograms on the lingerie.

Jewelry, always a popular gift among women, gets a big vote among collegiate shoppers, say clerks. Why not get mother costume jewelry that will "just match" one of her spring blouses or dresses?

Jewelry, pen and pencil sets, compact, cigarette cases and lighters can be engraved with a name or initials for added personalization.

Other gifts with a "sure to please" guarantee are the luxurious sets of cosmetics in a wide variety of brands.

A gift which she may enjoy for many months to come is a subscription to a favorite magazine, enrollment in a book club or perhaps a copy of one of the newest books.

Not to be found on the best sellers list, but perhaps more appropriate for your mother are the books of poetry found in local stores. There are selections by Robert Frost, Carl Sandburg, Sara Teasdale, Alfred Noyes and many others.

Teeters Says Street Lighting To Be Given More Discussion

Downtown street lighting in Iowa City will probably get more discussion this summer, Alderman Wilber J. Teeters, chairman of the city council street lighting committee, said yesterday.

He will call a committee meeting on the problem soon, he said. Other committee members are Alderman Wayne Putnam and Charles Smith.

Something must be done about the winked-out whiteway, Teeters said. A Daily Iowan survey of May 2 showed 34 lights blacked out of a possible 71 in the business district. Teeters said his own inspection this week resulted in substantially the same figures.

Teeters announced he had talked with Secretary Robert Gage of the Iowa City chamber of commerce. Gage repeated the chamber's stand that all the taxpayers should pay for lights — not just the property owners on the property involved, Teeters said.

All citizens benefit by the whiteway, so all should help finance the project, he declared.

Teeters said the chamber also agrees Iowa Citizens should be given an opportunity to vote on the question.

Repair of the old system with conduit wiring suitable for use in new type lights, is the way out of Iowa City's street light problem, Teeters said.

May Frivol to Be Distributed Today

All copies of the May issue of Frivol magazine will be distributed today, Business Manager Herb Holland said yesterday.

The cover of the May Frivol was designed by Terry Williams, A2, Des Moines.

All entries to the Chesterfield contest must be mailed to Box 552, Iowa City, Holland said. Entries brought to the Frivol office will not be honored.

Winners of the contest will be chosen from those correct entries with the earliest postmarks, he said.

New Tanks Added to National Guard Unit

LATEST ADDITIONS TO THE IOWA CITY national guard unit's motorized equipment are two M-24 light tanks, like the one pictured above. M/Sgt. Noel Knotts, climbing out of the lower hatch of the tank, will be one of two men to give instructions on driving the armored vehicles over the local unit's obstacle course, located on a 120-acre plot of ground south of the armory at 925 S. Dubuque street. Lt. Robert McIntyre will also instruct Iowa City guardsmen in the art of driving the tanks which came from the national guard unit at Oskaloosa. Sgt. Charles Jennings, right, was one of the men who drove the two tanks to Iowa City from Oskaloosa Wednesday night.

Students to Attend Nashville Meeting

Ten SUI Methodist students will leave by car this morning for Nashville, Tenn., to attend the three-day National Wesley Players Drama conference.

Accompanying the group, who are all members of the SUI Wesley Players, will be Rev. Robert R. Sanks, Methodist student director.

Students going include President Henry Jaekel, A2, Hamburg; Rod Gist, A3, Rutland, S.D.; Ken Carman, A1, Cresco; Cliff Mitchell, A1, Ottumwa; Barney Thomas, A1, Iowa City; Dick Madison, A1, Sioux Falls, S.D.; Dick White, A3, Burlington; Tom Olson, A1, Red Oak; Jolee Fritz, A1, Allentown, Pa. and Joan Buckwaller, A3, Humboldt.

The meeting, the first national one, is in celebration of the group's 25th anniversary.

Police Court Suspends Conduct, Driving Counts

A disorderly conduct charge against Don Linnell, 917 Maiden lane, was dismissed in police court yesterday and a $12.50 fine against Elizabeth W. Brown for failing to heed a stop sign was suspended, police said.

Thirty-three persons paid fines totaling $42 for parking meter violations Wednesday, police said.

WSUI to Hold Open House

Special programs and exhibits will greet visitors to the WSUI-KSUI Open House celebration honoring WSUI's 30th anniversary Friday and Saturday, according to Richard Setterberg, assistant program director.

Guest hours during the open house will be 1:30 to 8:30 p.m. Friday and 9:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday.

Larry Barrett and his orchestra will present a 50-minute show featuring his "new sound in music" at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. At 3:30 Bill Wolf, sports director, will conduct a half-hour "Mother's Day Sports Quiz" between four SUI coeds and their mothers.

Visitors to the stations will have the opportunity to tape-record their voices and to hear themselves as others hear them, Setterberg said. At the demonstration of FM radio, they will hear the static-free, high fidelity of FM broadcasting.

Among displays at the stations, will be a demonstration of the differences between recorded and transcribed music and an exhibit of newspapers, clothing and small household articles used in foreign lands donated by members of the International club at SUI.

Also on display will be a demonstration showing how sound effects are produced and a collection of microphones used in past years, which will be contrasted with microphones now in use at the station.

On conducted tours of the station, members of the staff will show the visitors the teletype machines, the music room with its approximately 40,000 selections on file, the FM transmitter and the other equipment necessary to a radio station.

WSUI is believed to be the first voice-broadcasting station west of the Mississippi river operating on a regular schedule, according to Carl Menzer, director of the station since 1921. Known as 8YA when it began operations in 1919, the call letters were changed to WHAA in 1922 and to WSUI in 1925.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

SOMEBODY at the Harvard University Press who evidently didn't have anything else to do, has come up with a question from an article about radio in a 1922 issue of Printers Ink which bears repeating here. "It is estimated," said the visionary who wrote the piece, "that more than half a million radio receiving sets have been sold during the past six months."

"Handled with tact and discretion, radio advertising may some day become effective and profitable; on the other hand, it may easily be handled in such a way as not only to defeat its own purpose, but also react unfavorably upon advertising in general. Any attempt to make the radio an advertising medium, in would, we think, prove positively offensive to great numbers of people."

While I was listening to a radio commercial for a well-known brand of cigarettes this evening, I wondered if the man who wrote the above piece is still alive, and thought how nice it would be to go up and shake his hand.

Heat Cuts Meat Sales

Market Basket Rises Slightly

Only two food items showed any change this week as The Daily Iowan market basket figure rose to $16.10 from last week's mark of $16.06.

Bacon and butter were the only deviants from last week's figures. A pound of bacon cost a nickel more and a pound of butter cost a penny less than they did a week ago.

"Lousy" was the adjective most often used by local merchants in describing grocery business yesterday, especially in the meat departments. The heat and the static price condition were the two factors blamed most for the lack of flourishing trade.

"Our meat sales always decline considerably when hot weather arrives," one local retailer said. Sales of steaks and chops are hurt the most, he said, "but this is partially compensated by increased sales in cold cuts."

The market basket index, begun in September, 1947, is an attempt to ascertain the amount a student family of three spends for basic food items in one week. It is computed on the selling price of 24 food items in seven downtown Iowa City grocery stores.

Dunnington to Visit Missions in TVA Area

Dr. L. L. Dunnington, pastor of the Iowa City Methodist church, is one of 22 Methodist ministers chosen to visit Methodist mission stations and churches in the Tennessee Valley authority area.

Dr. Dunnington will leave Sunday evening and will return May 17, he said yesterday.

Isaac Walton League Objectives Described In Talk at Fish-Fry

The Isaac Walton League is "something more than just a fishing club," Robert Beatty, national conservation director of the league, told about 250 members of the local chapter Wednesday night.

He spoke at the annual fish-fry of the local group held in the Moose Lodge rooms. The fish-fry is held each year as a fund raising measure for local conservation work, Arlo Woolery, president of the local chapter, said.

As chief speaker at the fish-fry, Beatty outlined the objectives of the league.

Briefly these objectives are: (1) pollution control of fishing waters; (2) preservation of the wilderness; (3) education of children in conservation methods; (4) watershed management and intelligent control of dam installation of fishing streams and (5) sound fish and game laws throughout the country.

"Good fishing and good hunting are by-products of good land and water management," Beatty said.

Faculty Relations Group Announced

The student faculty relations committee was announced yesterday by Louise Bekman, Ottumwa, chairman of the student faculty relations committee.

Members of the committee are Hilda Greenberg, Cedar Rapids; Gloria Green, Washington, D.C.; Mary Robinson, Fairfield, and Frances Valentine, Casey.

The student faculty relations committee of the University Women's association plans open houses each year to promote better student-faculty relations.

Inter-Fraternity Pledge Council Elects Garner

Gordon Garner, A2, Osceola, was elected president of the inter-fraternity pledge council at a meeting Tuesday at the Alpha Tau Omega chapter house.

Other new officers are Bob Price, E1, Cedar Rapids, vice president; Bill Stiles, A1, Ottumwa, secretary; Walt Eckhardt, A1, Davenport, corresponding secretary, and Ray Walther, A1, Des Moines, treasurer.

The ministers, chosen from all over the nation, will also visit the Oak Ridge atomic laboratory while in the south. They are going as guests of the board of foreign missions.

The purpose of the trip is to "acquaint us with what our church is doing in new communities like those of the Tennessee Valley," Dr. Dunnington said yesterday. Methodist church members have contributed much for missions and churches in the area, he added.

Says African Dialects Still Spoken in U.S.

Contrary to the general view that African languages exerted no influence on the speech of the Negro in the United States, there is evidence of African speech in the Gullah dialect in Georgia and South Carolina, Lorenzo Turner said last night.

Speaking to about 50 persons in Old Capitol, the English professor from Roosevelt college said he found between 5,000 to 6,000 words from 29 different dialects still spoken in Georgia. Turner told the graduate school that scholars have attributed certain words and phrases of the Negro to a mispronunciation of the English language. He found, however, that many of these are actually African words.

Comic strip 'ETTA KETT' featuring Etta Kett and a doctor.

Although you may not know it, one of the most dangerous places to spend the summer is in your home. I picked up this little tidbit from a National Safety Council pamphlet, and haven't wanted to go home since.

I suspect that if the facts were to be successfully distributed to the population, none of us would ever set foot in his home (or that of anyone else) again. More persons are killed, for example, by objects falling out of closets each year than die in submarines.

The National Safety Council may not approve of my sentiments in this instance, but I would rather go (if I have to go) in our closet than in the fanciest of submarines. Most submarines I've seen are little more than floating closets anyway.

AMERICANS SET some sort of a record for falling downstairs. This may be the result of our having more stairs to fall down than any other people, but on the other hand, it may be due to nothing but sheer carelessness.

The average person knows nothing about falling downstairs. He approaches the problem completely unaware of the finer points of stair falling. The next time a friend of yours falls downstairs, watch his form. Chances are he couldn't compete with the rank amateur in the European stair falling circles.

ACCORDING to a Swedish expert, our trouble lies in not being able to relax. Once your fall is started, he advises, follow through on it. Don't change your mind at the last moment and decide not to fall after all. If you do, you'll spoil everything.

You can spot an inexperienced stair faller the moment he loses his footing. Note his arms; do they flail about needlessly? Is his foot-work sloppy? Does he complain loudly while in mid-air? He's a novice all right.

The secret to falling downstairs properly is to relax. Just let yourself go, and forget about the whole affair. Personally, I lean toward the fancy type stair falling. Arch your back slightly, and try a half gainer.

No sport is really worth while unless you relax and get a little fun out of it.

ANOTHER WEAK spot in home accidents is the stove-blowing department. Most Americans use far too little gas when blowing up an oven. I suppose this is a throwback to the depression days when frugality was the byword, but prosperity is here now, and let's make the most of it.

If handled properly, one good, rousing stove explosion will give a neighborhood something interesting to talk about for a long time to come.

"Remember when the Bilsons blew up their stove," they'll say to friends years later. "My, that was a dandy one. If you look closely you can still see some of the blue paint from their kitchen walls on our elm tree. It was such a horrid blue. Mrs. Bilson had no sense of color at all."

ALTHOUGH AMERICANS are sloppy about falling downstairs and blowing up gas ovens, one thing we can do well is scald ourselves and each other. The Swedes and the French and the Estonians can take credit for a lot of things, but we certainly have it all over on them when it comes to scalding.

The way in which a scalding is handled can make or break a tea party. Of course, if you really want to make your party live, drop the tea pot on the guest of honor.

I realize this isn't always feasible, but you'll have to admit it is a goal worth trying for. If you can't manage to swing it with the guest of honor, drop it on the guest who seems to be eating the most crumpets. At least they can't say you didn't try.

In Renewed Attack — AMA Lashes Insurance Plan

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Association yesterday bitterly attacked the administration's compulsory health insurance plan as politics in medicine.

The association foresaw a multiplication of advisory councils and policy boards under the plan. It charged that the federal health agency could interfere if any state rejected the proposed medical system.

Through its official AMA Journal, the association voiced as the biggest objection "the well-established fact that the taking over of medicine is the first step toward nationalization of every interest and activity of the nation."

Even the language of the bill introduced in the senate to carry out President Truman's recommendations was found distasteful in the journal editorial.

It accused the authors of the bill of being "propagandists" who practiced "impudent deception."

It challenged the view, which it said the authors put in the bill, that the existing inadequacies in medical practice cannot be remedied under the present system of payment for medical care or under any voluntary insurance system.

"This manipulation of thought and diction is characteristic," the association said, "of the political demagogue and bears no resemblance to anything that is tolerated in the field of medical science."

The association asserted that the proposal for prepaid personal health insurance benefits would be dominated by a national health insurance board of five, who would be advised by a national policy council.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Psychological Deflation...

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

I've been asking retailers how business is — not the big operators, but limiting myself to the kind of proprietor who still stands behind the counter in his own store, even though he may have five or six clerks helping him.

The results are odd and obscure, and I don't say they prove anything, but maybe they lend a little weight to my theory that the inflation is over psychologically without being over actually.

ONE MAN, in household goods, told me, in a kind of puzzled way, that his business was running sixty percent ahead of a year ago. He knew this shouldn't be so, and he took out the books to show me; not in pride, but with the air of a man disclosing a curiosity.

He has a good location, but he hasn't been doing any unusual promotion. "I know that business is bad," he said, "but I only know it from reading about it in the papers. Why does the trend pass me up?"

I ASKED HIM if he was cutting down his orders. "Can't," he said. Then I asked him about his personal spending — whether he still found himself buying luxury goods for his own use as readily as a couple of years ago.

"Oh, no," he said. "How can you, with all this talk of bad business that's going around? Everybody's so cautious, it's got me, and I've put off buying a car."

SO THE INFLATION is over for him, personally, though he is making more money than ever before. As a state of mind it's gone, though the actuality persists.

I feel this is one of the results that have been accomplished by conservative observers who have made such a hullabaloo about the meager three percent decline in the cost of living since last August.

Perhaps they thought they were merely staving off labor demands for wage increases, but they have convinced many people of the reality of a deflation that is still just a little hard to prove by price and volume records.

ANOTHER RETAILER told me, and showed it on his records, that his volume is up twelve percent, compared with last year. "But here's a funny thing," he said, "collections are slow. I don't get it. They come in and buy, as much as ever, or more; they want quality, and they don't worry too much about price. But they hold off on writing those checks. I know they have the money, these are good, solid old accounts, but they've gone slow."

"WHY?" I don't know. Maybe there's something about talk that business is bad that makes people want to hang on to their cash, even after they've bought the goods. Again you get that funny feeling of a mixed-up situation, in which the people are psychologically finished with the inflation, even though they're still, so to speak, living with it.

ONE MAN, in a luxury line told me flatly that business has been down since January 1. This, however, is seasonal in his field. He has just spent a good deal of money improving his house, which is not deflation behavior. His theory, he said, is that he'd rather spend it now and enjoy it than leave it for the government to take in inheritance taxes.

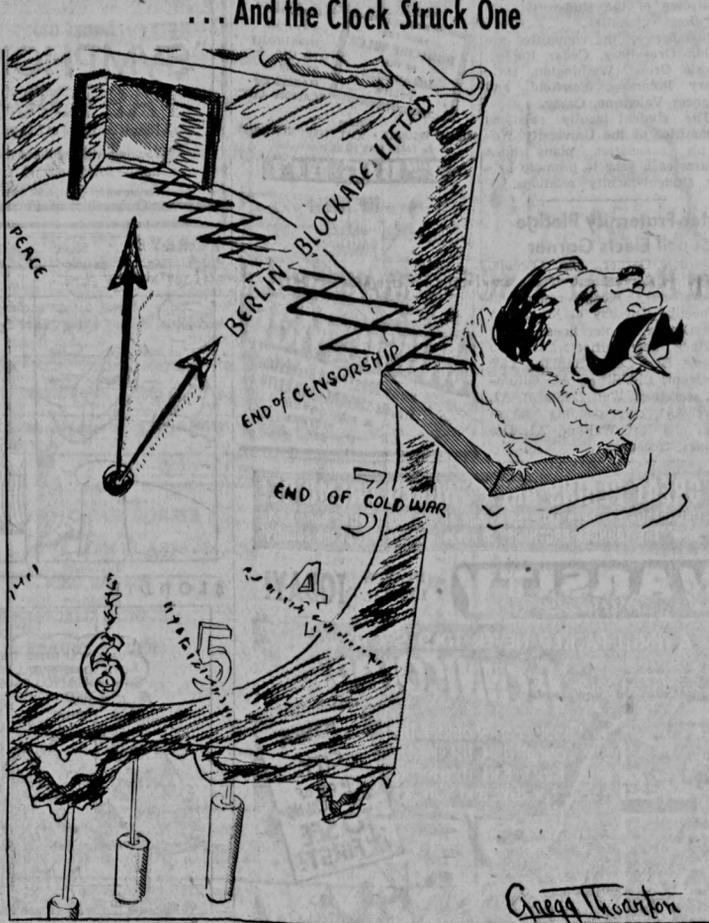

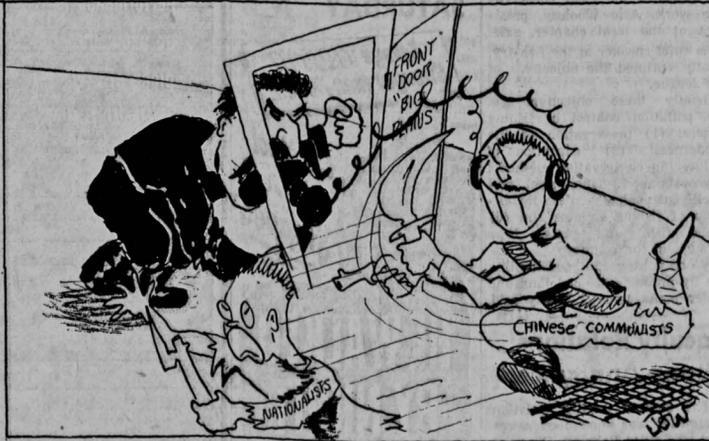

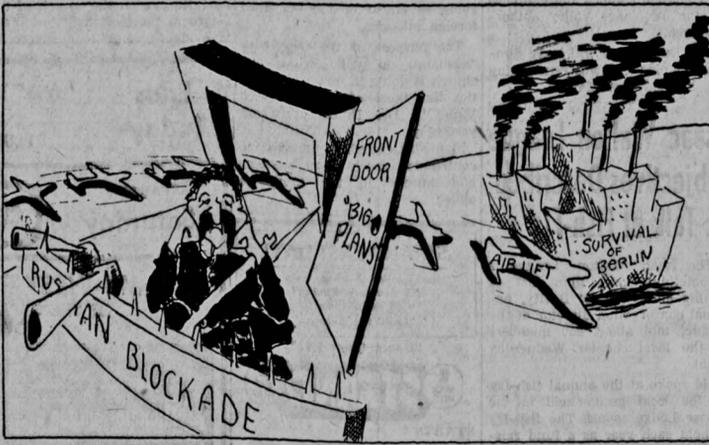

He does feel that there would have been a deflation by now, except for government spending, and that it would be better, on the whole, to let it happen, and get it over with, than to stave it off and have it come later, anyway.

SO THERE you have it. I don't say these few conversations prove anything very weighty. They do suggest that in a period in which the government plans to spend some 22 billions a year because of the foreign situation alone, it may become a little difficult to prove any sort of clear business trend.

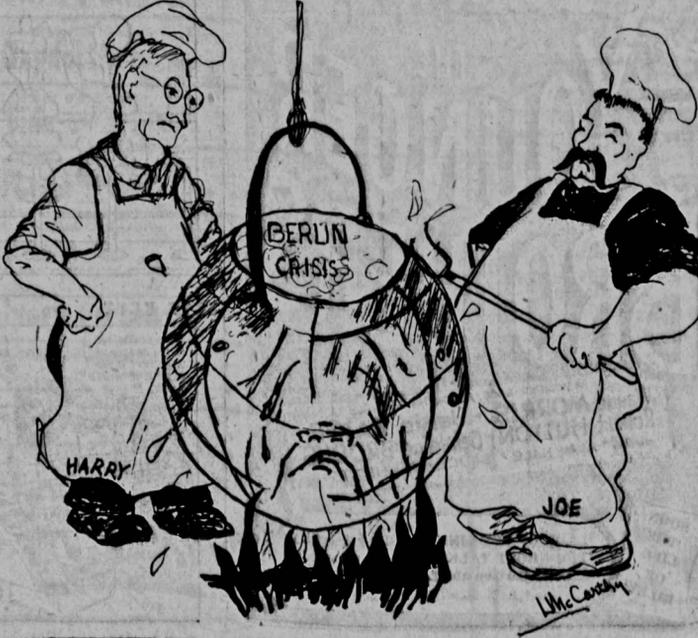

It is an especially poor time in which to tell low income groups, still paying high prices, that their troubles with inflation are over.

TO THE EDITOR:

In your editorial last Tuesday concerning rent control, you make a separation between "rent controls USA and rent controls, Iowa City." This separation is made on the basis of facts of which you are aware as existing in Iowa City, namely "tight housing supply and a swelled demand."

However, there are certain facts which make the rent control situation appear in a somewhat different light. In the first place, Iowa City is not unique in its condition in relation to housing.

According to reports that have been made periodically, dating back before the war period, there was a national housing shortage as far back as ten years ago. To be more accurate, we may recall Pres. Roosevelt's statement which is equally well substantiated statistically, that "one third of the nation is ill-housed. . .". Since the end of the war a pitifully few homes — high priced for the most part — have been constructed.

Secondly, under the rent control bill, of over 300 rent increase applications completed in Iowa City, 85 percent were granted.

Thirdly, it has been estimated by the head of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, that the new law will mean increases averaging 25 percent.

Now it seems quite obvious that both previous and present rent laws have permitted owners considerable increases. In fact, one might ask how many renters have had their salaries raised 25 percent lately?

Well, one might say, "if they have raised rents so much under rent controls, can you imagine what it will be like without controls?" The answer requires no imagining. It has been reliably estimated that during that period of a few months between rent control bills in 1946 the average rent increase was 80 percent. Can Iowa Citizens afford such a condition?

The answer is apparent. But agreement would not seem to be sufficient.

There is no security in the hope that local decontrol will not be attempted by the real estate board. Rather, it lies in urging the city council to pass adequate legislation to become effective should a statewide decontrol law be passed. And the time to inform the city council is now!

They Plant in February

Couple Sows Seeds Early

By JOHN ROBERTSON
Spring planting when the ground is covered with snow and the temperature around zero is nothing new to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dolezal, 912 E. Fairchild street.

They begin their spring planting about Washington's birthday, but they don't sow the seeds — they plant the plants.

Mr. and Mrs. Dolezal transplant thickly packed, sprouted seeds from large flat boxes into smaller flats, such as you see in front of the stores these days.

Every year for the past five years they have been transplanting vegetables — cabbage, tomatoes, parsley, celery, broccoli, egg plant head, and Bohemian lettuce — which produce 288,000 garden plants a year.

All this is done in the Aldous greenhouses where the seeds are planted about Feb. 1 in large flat boxes laid in rows.

When the seeds have sprouted and are ready for transplanting the Dolezals begin working at the greenhouse from 3:30 p.m. until midnight, often handling as many as 5,000 plants a night.

In addition, both work full time for the university — he as custodian of the Law Commons and she on the Currier staff.

The greenhouse work, instead of being monotonous as many people would think, is really relaxing and quiets the nerves, Mrs. Dolezal said.

Dolezal added that when he is working he can see "hundreds and thousands of gardens with flourishing vegetables." His wife laughingly says the vegetables are "already harvested when he looks at them."

There is an art to transplanting, Mrs. Dolezal said. First, sprouts must be taken from the large flats and planted in the smaller ones quickly, so they won't droop and wither.

At the same time you must be careful not to break the roots, she said. Because the sprouts must not be too close together, they are planted in pairs with 12 dozen sprouts to the flat, she added.

They also must be planted at the right depth. Mrs. Dolezal said. "Cabbages have only SPRING PLANTING BEGINS ABOUT FEB. 12 for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dolezal, 912 E. Fairchild street. They are transplanting sprouted vegetables from the thickly packed box in the center to smaller "flats." the roots covered, while tomatoes are put in the soil as deeply as possible."

The Dolezals stressed the importance of the first watering. "The plants must be watered real well so they can take root in the new soil," she said. "Then they perk up and really start to grow."

After being put in the smaller flats, the sprouts are kept in the transplanting room for 24 hours. After that they are moved from one greenhouse to another, each one cooler than the last. Finally they are moved into a greenhouse that has no heat at all and then the vegetables are ready for gardens, Mrs. Dolezal said.

Taft-Hartley Repeal Possible Without Concessions - Truman

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman indicated yesterday he will bide his time with a balky congress before deciding whether to take the issues to the people.

He told a news conference he still believes a labor relations bill satisfactory to the administration can be worked out without concessions to the opposition. His position favoring Taft-Hartley act repeal has not changed, he added.

And, when asked if he would take his new farm and health insurance programs to the people in a cross-country swing, he replied he had no plans for such a trip.

In a lengthy exchange on labor bill prospects in view of recent house votes, the President reminded the newsmen that his administration will last four years.

To a question whether he would be willing to wait that long for a labor measure, he said he did not know how long he would wait. All he wants, he said, is for the Democrats in congress to carry out the Democratic platform promise for repeal, just as he is trying to carry out his promise to the same end.

He said he regarded the house vote to send the Wood bill back to committee as an administration victory. Why? Because, he said, it gives legislators a chance to start all over again, and now the administration may get a bill it can accept.

The house labor committee headed by Rep. Lesinski (D-Mich) may start work on a new measure early next week.

The Wood bill would have repealed Taft-Hartley in name, but retained most of its main provisions. Republicans and southern Democrats offered it as a substitute for the Lesinski bill, which is in line with administration aims. The President said yesterday the Lesinski bill is a good one, although congress has the right to amend it any way it sees fit.

Without elaborating, the President told another questioner that his warning that Democratic votes on Taft-Hartley repeal and other platform promises would be considered a test of party loyalty is working.

On foreign affairs, the President expressed happiness over the Big Four agreement for lifting the Berlin blockade and holding a foreign ministers' conference on all German problems.

The President announced the resignation of another official in his defense set-up, that of W.

Elected at the district's spring conference in Fort Madison, Summerwill will be sworn into office at the Legion's state convention August 8-10 in Des Moines.

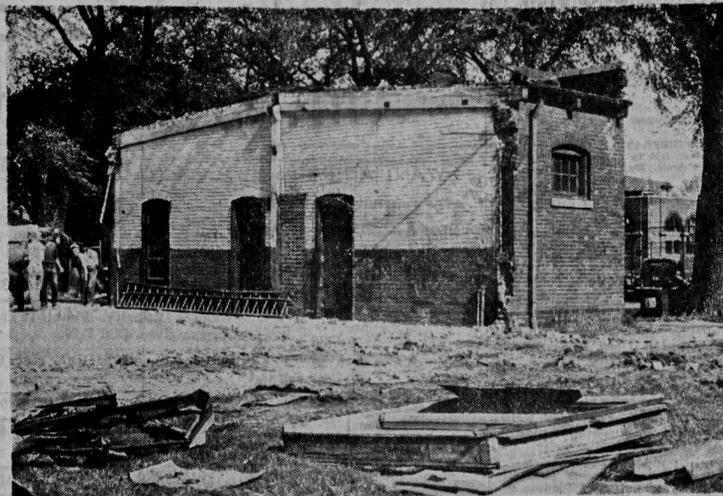

The first district is comprised of 11 southeastern Iowa counties and contains 60 American Legion posts.

Summerwill was district vice-commander last year and before that he was commander of the Iowa City American Legion post.

All That's Left of SUI Physical Plant Shops

Cool Cops

Summer Uniforms Becoming Stylish

Summer uniforms for Iowa City policemen will be in vogue May 15, according to Police Chief E.J. Ruppert.

The regulation summer outfits consist of gray shirts, blue trousers and black shoes, he said. Summer hats and badges are provided by the city, the chief declared, but each member of the force buys his own uniforms.

He said some of the officers are already wearing the summer uniforms these hot days but the middle of May is usually the time for the switchover.

Some cities are very strict about seasonal changes of uniform, Ruppert continued, and their policemen are often subject to unseasonable heat and cold spells.

The uniform itself though, is strictly "regulation" for Iowa City police, he added with a smile, even to the number of buttons on the coat.

Tar Catches Fire, Worker Is Burned

Rudolph Bittner, Iowa City, suffered burns on his face about 8:30 yesterday morning when the tar kettle he was operating back of the Swaner's dairy burst into flame.

Firemen extinguished the fire in the equipment belonging to the Schuppert and Koudelka firm of 215 North Linn street and then took Bittner to a local physician who dressed his burns.

"There was a lot of fire but the equipment wasn't damaged," Assistant Fire Chief Ray Morgan said.

Hancher Names Party For 'Library' Rituals

The official party for the ground-breaking ceremonies Wednesday at the new $1.5-million SUI library site was announced yesterday by President Virgil M. Hancher.

The party will include members of the library planning committee; the campus planning committee; the Association of Senior Class Presidents; the president of the student council; members of the Iowa state board of education; Keffer and Jones, Des Moines architects; Loren Hickerson, secretary of the SUI Alumni association, and Iowa Supreme Court Justice Theodore G. Garfield, Ames, president of the alumni group.

Hancher and E.A. Gilmore, professor of law and former president of SUI, will also be included in the group.

The library and campus planning committees will be represented by Dean E.T. Peterson, college of education; Dean H.H. Davis, graduate college; Dean Carlyle F. Jacobsen, division of health sciences and services; Prof. E.C. Mabie, head of the speech department; Prof. Baldwin Maxwell, chairman of the English department.

Prof. Ralph E. Ellsworth, director of libraries; Prof. A.K. Miller, geology department; Prof. F. G. Higbee, head of engineering drawing; Fred W. Ambrose, university business manager and George L. Horner, university architect.

Senior class presidents to be in the official party are Kenneth Smith, C4, Newton; Richard Kidd, E4, Muscatine; Carroll M. Dolan, M4, Waterloo; John Gustafson, D4, Des Moines; Robert M. Gregg, P4, Iowa City; Frances Hall, G, Jacksonville, Fla.; Max Elder, A4, Mt. Pleasant; Jean Conwell, N4, Wichita, Kan., and Jean Gavronsky, A4, Centerville. President Evan Hultman, A4, Waterloo, will represent the student council.

Gaffney Overrules New Trial Motion For Contested Will

A motion for a new trial in the Ipsen vs. Ruess will contest case filed by the defendants-proponents was denied yesterday in a ruling handed down by District Court Judge James P. Gaffney.

In the original suit filed June 6, 1947, some of the nieces and nephews of the late J.W. Ruess of West Liberty sought to set aside their uncle's will on the grounds that he was mentally incompetent at the time the will was made in 1942.

The case was brought to trial in district court here in October, 1947, and the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs. The state supreme court later reversed that decision, however.

A retrial of the case was begun in district court here in February, 1949, and concluded in March. A Johnson county jury again returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs. The defendants-proponents filed a motion for a new trial on March 12.

In his ruling yesterday, Judge Gaffney declared the only substantial question involved in the original trial was whether the evidence was sufficient to submit to the jury for consideration. In the retrial of the case, he added, there was no substantial change in the evidence to warrant a new trial.
