Legislators Study Expansion Of Medical School Capacity

Members of the state legislative interim committee yesterday conferred with SUI officials on plans for the expansion of the capacity of the college of medicine to accommodate 120 entering students each year, President Virgil M. Hancher said.

"The committee," Hancher said, "made a thorough exploration of all phases of the problem and the costs that must be incurred, and indicated their willingness to help find the solution of medical training problems and doctor supply."

"It was evident from the conferences that the committee desires the medical problems be solved without diminishing the quality of the other university programs," he declared.

The proposed expansion of the college was ordered by the legislature in an amendment to the bill for capital improvements for institutions under the state board of education.

The committee yesterday investigated the problem of financing the expansion and inquired into the need for additional personnel equipment, and laboratory space to accommodate larger classes.

Hancher said he was particularly pleased with the understanding attitude with which the committee approached the problems of expansion faced by the college of medicine.

"One thing the people of Iowa must realize is that this expansion will cost a sizeable sum of money," committee Chairman J.C. Colburn, said following the conference session.

"Equally important," he said, "they must realize that when we embark on this expansion program the people of Iowa will also have to be prepared and willing to continue to support the expanded program in the future."

Included on the interim committee visiting SUI yesterday were Senator J.C. Colburn, chairman; Rep. Harry E. Weichman, vice-chairman; Rep. E.E. Poston, secretary; Sen. J. Kendall Lyles; Sen. Alden L. Doud; Sen. Leroy S. Mercer; Sen. A.E. Augustine; Rep. Clifford M. Strawman, and Rep. Theodore S. Kiemesrud.

Rep. W.J. Johannes was not present at yesterday's conference.

Notification of the distribution of handbills is required by city ordinance.

Top Military Honors Won by Company 'M'

Company "M" was awarded first place in ROTC competition by airforce and army inspecting officers at yesterday's military review.

The review, held on the grounds west of the SUI fieldhouse, began at 11:15 a.m. and climaxed a two-day inspection made by the military officers.

A streamer bearing the inscription "Honor Company" was presented to the company which also won the right to wear the four-ragere military decoration during the coming school year.

Cadet captain of the winning company is Charles K. Valentine, Park Rapids, Minn. The company's platoon leaders are Howard W. Riley, Iowa City; Horace L. Sturtz, Boone, and John F. Strain, Muscatine.

Company "K" finished second and Company "A" third in the drill competition held earlier in the morning. Cadet captains of these two groups are Paul E. Long, Keokuk, and Wallace C. Engel, Bennett.

Only a few spectators watched the review.

Col. W.W. Jenna, SUI military department head, presented a streamer to the regiment which denoted the superior rating it won last year. The SUI unit was one of the seven that received this highest of ratings from inspecting officers.

The cadets were reviewed by Col. Louie P. Turner, and Maj. Peter A. Deisch, representing the airforce; Col. Joseph P. Shumate, Maj. Patrick J. Handley and Capt. Raymond R. Schafer, representing the army; Allie Lou Phelps, honorary cadet colonel, and Jeanne Ann McDonald, honorary cadet lieutenant-colonel.

SUI's Scottish Highlanders supplied music for the review.

Holland Tunnel Riddled by Fire

DEBRIS LITTERED THE HOLLAND TUNNEL yesterday following an explosion of drums of chemicals on a truck. The blast was set off when the truck (center) caught fire near the New Jersey end of the tube. Flames spread to other trucks and the underwater highway was filled with carbon fumes. Fire men wearing gas masks brought the fire under control.

Two Delta Tau Delta fraternity trophies were waiting to be claimed at the police station yesterday afternoon, police said.

Patrolmen found 11 trophies belonging to five fraternities on the doorstep of the Delta Delta Delta sorority house at 6 a.m. Police said no clues had been uncovered as to who the "rowdies" were that collected the trophies and "presented" them to the sorority.

The collection of fraternity trophies included one each from Phi Delta Theta, Beta Theta Pi, and Sigma Phi Epsilon; two from Delta Tau Delta, and six from Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The presentation seems to illustrate the power of suggestion brought by the Wednesday night incident, police said, when four SUI students carried a statue of "Hermes," the messenger of the gods, from Old North hall to the lawn of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Dog, Imprisoned in Culvert, Released By Local Firemen

Two Iowa City firemen traded hoses and ladders for a spade about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They had to dig out a dog stuck in the culvert on the corner of Fourth avenue and G street.

The dog belonging to O.P. Fowler, 1017 Fifth avenue seemed none the worse for his experience in the narrow opening of the culvert, firemen said.

Earlier yesterday at 10:55 a.m., firemen were called to put out a fire in the catch basin at the corner of Grand avenue and South Grand avenue in front of the SUI fieldhouse.

Gas escaping from a broken gas main about a block east of the catch basin had flowed up the sewer line and collected in the catch basin where it caught fire. No cause for the fire was given by firemen.

City gas company officials posted a man at the drain opening to prevent any further fires. Gas company workmen were looking for the leak at the time of the fire, Fireman William Vobrith said.

Chinese Repulse Drive Within 8 Miles Of Shanghai

SHANGHAI (SATURDAY) (AP) — Spearheads of two Communist divisions smashed to within eight miles of Shanghai's north gates early yesterday before they were repulsed, a garrison communique reported today.

The government claimed an attack by an estimated 6,000 advance Communist troops was stopped with the Communists suffering 3,000 casualties, including 1,000 killed.

At the same time, Canton dispatches reported the fall of Hankow, central China's major industrial city and key to a Communist invasion of south China.

The Communist radio, heard in Hong Kong, said Communist forces were invading south China from the coast.

Garrison headquarters admitted in an official communique today that Communist troops, supported by at least 20 field pieces, began an assault north of Shanghai at 1 a.m. Friday that drove into Lion forest in the Yang-chang area four miles west of Wosung and eight miles north of Shanghai.

City gas company officials posted a man at the drain opening to prevent any further fires. Gas company workmen were looking for the leak at the time of the fire, Fireman William Vobrith said.

New York Tunnel Explosion Results In Fire, Injuries

NEW YORK—Explosions and fire from a heavily-loaded chemical truck ripped through the Holland tunnel yesterday, mangling a line of trucks and filling the tunnel with poisonous gas. Sixty trucks and passenger cars crashed, telescope fashion, and caught fire. Their drivers and passengers scrambled, choking and panicky, out of the busy New York-Jersey City tunnel on foot.

Communications lines — telephone, telegraph, television and radio arteries which go through the tunnel—were broken. The American Telephone and Telegraph company called it the worst telephone service failure in the history of our country.

Doctors and firemen entered the swirling clouds of smoke and poison fumes. Although wearing gas masks, many were overcome after a quarter-hour in the tunnel. Water from firemen's equipment caused ankle-deep puddles to form throughout the tunnel.

At least 30 firemen and 14 other persons suffered injuries. Included was Edmond Tyndal, 36, driver of the truck which set off the chain of events.

Four hours after it began, the fire was put out and the Westbound lane was restored to operation. However, authorities said the tunnel in which the explosion occurred could not be put back into operation until sometime today.

Navy Secretary

FRANCIS MATTHEWS

Matthews Nominated For Navy Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Francis Patrick Matthews, Nebraska lawyer and businessman, is President Truman's choice to succeed John L. Sullivan as secretary of the navy.

The nomination of the prominent 62-year-old Roman Catholic layman went to the senate yesterday. It came as military and congressional circles still buzzed with Sullivan's wrathful resignation.

The date of Sullivan's retirement has been left to him. He let fire two weeks ago over the treatment of the navy department under the new secretary of defense, Louis Johnson. Writing Johnson, he contended navy plans were restricted without consulting navy officials, as he denounced Johnson's cancellation of a huge aircraft carrier, apple of the navy's eye.

At Omaha, Matthews told reporters that he recognized unification of the armed forces as the big problem. He believes, he said, that navy prestige need not be impaired in the process. He promised to maintain naval traditions.

On cross-examination, Defense Attorney R.S. Milner gained from the doctor a statement that under some circumstances a shorter instrument might possibly have caused the wound.

Dr. Weland said the death was caused by internal bleeding due to a penetrating wound of the heart and liver. He added the wound was about six inches deep, three-eighths of an inch wide and seven-eighths of an inch long. He also said the abdominal cavity contained about a quart and a half of blood.

The doctor said he also found several head wounds, including one near the top of the head which he said had been made by a "blunt, flat object." He testified that the death wound had been caused by a narrow, sharp instrument, probably at least five inches long.

On cross-examination, Defense Attorney R.S. Milner gained from the doctor a statement that under some circumstances a shorter instrument might possibly have caused the wound.

Prof. Swanson Named To Minnesota U. Post

Prof. Charles E. Swanson, 37, assistant to the publisher of The Daily Iowan and an assistant professor in the SUI school of journalism, has been appointed associate professor of journalism at the University of Minnesota.

The announcement was made yesterday by the board of regents of the University of Minnesota. Ralph J. Casey, director of the journalism school, said Swanson will teach journalism courses and conduct research activities at the school.

Swanson, who will leave SUI at the end of the current semester, will begin his duties at Minnesota on July 1.

After serving for 10 years as a reporter and copy desk editor on California papers, Swanson received his masters degree in 1946 and doctorate of philosophy in 1948 from the State University of Iowa.

He is the author of "The Mid-city Daily: An Analysis of Factors in Consensus About a Single Newspaper in a Midwestern City"—a 20-month study of a midwestern newspaper which was his doctor's thesis.

He has also written articles for the Journalism Quarterly, Editor and Publisher and other publications.

While at SUI, he was chairman of the Iowa Press institute for daily newspaper executives and was head of graduate studies and research in mass communications and leadership.

A native Californian, Swanson received his bachelor of arts degree in history and political science at San Diego State college, where he was also an instructor

Iowa Scores In 10th To Whip Wisconsin, 3-2

Bruner Limits Wisconsin to 5 Hits in Racking Up 4th Victory

By NEAL BLACK
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Keith Kafer blasted a three and two pitch over the right fielder's head in the tenth inning yesterday to drive Pinky Primrose across the plate with the winning run and give the Hawkeyes a 3-2 victory over Wisconsin.

Southpaw Jack Bruner ran his string of Big Nine victories to four in as many starts as he held the Badgers to five hits. Bruner struck out ten Badgers and walked only three as he waded out of trouble in all but two innings.

Thornton Kipper went the route for the Badgers and with the aid of some sparkling infield play behind him held the Hawkeyes to eight hits.

The Hawkeyes tied the game with a run in the last of the eighth on a pair of singles and an error.

After one was out in the tenth, Sheldon Fink and Sam Schuppe singled for the Badgers. Bruner struck out Kipper to ease the tension and then Pinky Primrose threw in time to get Charley Lowe at first in a close play to hip the threat.

Primrose Paces Hitters
Primrose led off the Iowa tenth with a single, his third of the day in four trips to the plate. He moved to second on Muriand Moran's sacrifice. A single by Bruner and a walk to John Sullivan loaded the sacks with one out.

Then Kafer stepped up. The three-two pitch was in there and Kafer blasted it into right field. The right fielder was playing in for a play at the plate and it went over his head and probably would have gone for an inside the park homer but the game ended when Primrose crossed the plate with the winning run.

Yesterday's win makes the Iowa Big Nine record four wins and three losses while Wisconsin's stands at two wins and five losses. The second game of the series will be played today on the Iowa diamond.

Iowa Coach Otto Vogel will probably nominate Hooks Hoeksema or possibly Wes Demro to start on the mound for the Hawkeyes. He will probably oppose the Badger ace, Floyd Leve, as Wisconsin tries for a split in the series.

Hawks Score First
The Hawkeyes jumped into a one run lead in the second when Dale Erickson singled after two were out. Erickson moved to second when the Badger catcher declined to play on him and scored on a single by Primrose.

Bruner pitched steady ball and held the Badgers scoreless until the fourth. The Iowa ace retired the side in order the first three innings, using a total of only 16 pitches in the first two.

Gene Evans singled to start things for the Badgers in the fourth. A wild pitch put him on second and then Ray Lenahan drew a walk. Bob Shea's single to center scored Evans and Lenahan scored when Iowa catcher Ed Browne erred on Dale Erickson's perfect peg to the plate from the outfield.

The Hawks went out in order in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh but Primrose led off with a single in the eighth and took second when the infielder bobbled the ball.

Moran's single drove in Primrose with the tying run but the Iowa first baseman was out when he was hit by a batted ball hit by Bruner. Sullivan forced Bruner at second and Kafer forced Sullivan to end the rally.

Walk in 10th

Iowa could do no better than draw a walk in the ninth after the Badgers had gone out in order to send the game into extra innings.

The Wisconsin infield was almost impregnable as Shortstop Lowe and Third Sacker Fink came up with near impossible stop time after time then whistled throws across the diamond to catch Iowa hitters.

When Primrose Scored, Everybody Went 'Home'

CROSSING THE PLATE with the run that gave Iowa a 10 inning, 3-2 victory over Wisconsin yesterday afternoon is Pinky Primrose, who tallied the winning counter from third base on Keith Kafer's line single into right field. This triumph marked Lefty Jack Bruner's fourth consecutive mound triumph in the Big Nine this season, and gave the Hawkeyes a 4-3 season's mark in conference competition. Shown in the picture in addition to Primrose are Umpire Booker Graham and Badger backstop Sam Schuppe.

Bob Elliott's Base Hit in 10th Lets Braves Defeat Brooklyn

BOSTON (AP)—With the bases filled and one out, Bob Elliott lashed a single into centerfield to drive in the run with which the Boston Braves subdued the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-5, last night before a 32,157 crowd. The Braves out hit the Dodgers by an 18-7 margin and missed several scoring chances.

Minnesota Collects 15 Hits in 8-5, Triumph

EVANSTON, ILL. (AP)—Harry Elliott topped a 13-hit Minnesota attack with three singles and a homer to lead the Gophers over Northwestern, 8-5, in a Big Nine baseball game yesterday.

The Gophers, collecting their fourth conference win in six starts to remain a pennant contender, bunched three hits in the fourth inning for three blows and added three more off four blows in the fifth.

Another right hand smash to the jaw pitched Foster to the canvas for an eight-count. No sooner had he regained his footing than the enraged Fusari landed another Friday the 13th right hand bomb on the unlucky "golden boy." He sank down on both knees for eight.

Iowa's track team will engage in its only conference dual meet of the outdoor season this afternoon when the Hawks tangle with powerful Minnesota, at Minneapolis.

Wellman's Sports Star Visits LSU Campus

DON SWARTZENDRUBER, Wellman high school's basketball, football and track standout has left by plane for an all-expense trip to Louisiana State university.

The much-sought-after athlete was to arrive in Baton Rouge yesterday to spend the weekend there. Wellman school authorities said the LSU coach had visited Swartzendruber in Wellman recently and had contacted him several times.

"They wanted him to come down and go fishing," Wellman Coach R.J. McPherson said.

Illinois Drops Indiana With a, 8-5, Loop Win

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP)—Illinois dumped Indiana out of second place in the Western Conference baseball race by winning a ragged 8-5 victory yesterday.

Horace Tangman gave up six hits as he notched his third victory without a loss in the conference. Six Indiana errors helped the Illini.

Second Baseman Herb Plews of Illinois hit a home run with a man on base in the third inning to put the visitors in front at 3-2, and they stayed on top the rest of the way.

Wolves Stage Rally to Bounce Ohio State, 8-6

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Michigan scored four runs in an eight-inning uprising here yesterday to down Ohio State 8-6 in a Big Nine baseball game.

The Wolverines were outthit 14-9, but bunched six hits in the seventh and eighth innings for six of their eight runs.

Fusari Gains TKO Over Vince Foster

NEW YORK (AP)—Charlie Fusari, blond Irvington, N.J. whirlwind exploded the Vince Foster boom last night when he stopped the Omaha, Neb. youngster in 2:26 of the first round at Madison Square Garden after knocking him down three times. Foster weighed 147 1/2, Fusari 147 1/2.

The rangy New Jersey welter floored Foster with a right hand to the jaw midway in the opening round to startle a near capacity crowd. Foster, wobbly and dazed, got up at two.

Another right hand smash to the jaw pitched Foster to the canvas for an eight-count. No sooner had he regained his footing than the enraged Fusari landed another Friday the 13th right hand bomb on the unlucky "golden boy." He sank down on both knees for eight.

Ponder, Cabot Meet Today in $75,000 Preakness Stakes

BALTIMORE (AP)—Ten horses, including the No. 1 and 2 finishers in the Derby — Ponder and Cabot — are scheduled to have it out today in the $75,000-added Preakness stakes at Old Pimlico.

The surprisingly large field lined up just as expected with the exception of one "sleeper" which hadn't even been figured to start.

The new-comer is Taran, second horse to enter the entry box. He is owned by Sylvester Labrot, Jr., of New Orleans, whose Bovard wound up third to Citation in the 1948 Preakness.

Others, whose owners must plank down $1,000 to see their colors at the post at 3:15 p.m. (central standard time), are Clifford Moores' Old Rockport, Crispin Oglebay's Noble Impulse, Mrs. E. H. Ellison's Sun Bahram, Isidor Beiber's Palestinian, Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Model Cadet, King Ranch's Curandero, and Christiana stable's Parliament.

All will carry 126 pounds. It is likely that only nine will face the starter, however, depending on track conditions at race time. Trainer J.P. (Doc) Jones said Noble Impulse would go only with a fast track, and Henry Clark stated flatly that Parliament would not run unless the track is "off."

With the track fast, and the weatherman promising no rain at least until sometime after the race, most everyone still stuck to the speed horse Cabot as the probable favorite.

The "experts" were quoting Cabot at 2 to 1, with Ponder at 3 to 1.

Giants Capture 9-1 Verdict Over Phils

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants celebrated Manager Leo Durocher's new contract last night by pulverizing the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-1. Bobby Thomson was the chief merry maker with two triples and a three-run homer while Johnny Mize also contributed a homer.

The Giants unleashed a savage fourteen-hit attack while Larry Jansen limited the Phils to five hits. Thomson drove in three runs with his fifth home run and a pair of lusty triples.

Climbing Cincinnati Reds Club Chicago Cubs With 7-0 Win

CINCINNATI, (AP)—Cincinnati's rising Reds clubbed four Chicago pitchers for 13 hits last night as they trounced the Cubs, 7-0, and moved into third place in the National league. Bud Lively paced 10 hits for his third victory in four outings.

Lively's teammates kept him out of trouble, reeling off four double plays for the night.

A crowd of 24,532 saw the Reds jump on Starter Walter Dubiel for three runs in the opening round. Grady Hatton homered on the first pitch of the game and, after Red Stallcup had doubled and Dubiel walked two, Jimmy Bloodworth lined a two-run single to center.

Bob Chipman took over the Chicago pitching in the second and held the Reds scoreless until the fourth when two singles, a force out and a ground out produced another Cincinnati tally.

The Reds, all of whom hit safely, pushed over their fifth run in the sixth and rounded out the scoring with two markers in the seventh.

All will carry 126 pounds. It is likely that only nine will face the starter, however, depending on track conditions at race time. Trainer J.P. (Doc) Jones said Noble Impulse would go only with a fast track, and Henry Clark stated flatly that Parliament would not run unless the track is "off."

Cotton Is Synonymous with Comfort In the Coed's Summer Wardrobe

King Cotton no longer needs to take a back throne now that the new summer fashions are out. For the coed, cotton has become synonymous with comfort and smart appearance. Crisp or soft, of a bright color or pastel tint, cottons have become an important part of every summer wardrobe.

Modeling warm weather ensembles to accent National Cotton week, which ends today, are Sally Sayers, Marengo, and Allie Lou Phelps, Fargo, N.D. Sally, a freshman in the college of liberal arts, plans to major in speech. Allie Lou, who will graduate this year from the school of nursing, was chosen honorary cadet colonel at the Military ball this year.

The fashions modeled were furnished by Dunns, Inc., women's apparel shop.

AN ARISTOCRAT IN COTTON IS SALLY SAYERS. Pausing between dances beside an old fashioned iron gate, she proves how cool and charming cotton can look. Sally's formal is of yellow dotted Swiss tied at the waist with a green ribbon belt. The tiny corsage is also green. The pale yellow dress with its fluffy white dots contrasts nicely with Sally's fine tan.

ALLIE LOU STRIKES A SOPHISTICATED NOTE in this dramatic two-piece cotton pique evening gown. Her dark skirt will swirl gracefully to the trickiest beat of the music for it has full folds at the belt making for a flared hemline. The narrow silver belt encircling Allie's waist matches the silver rick-rack trimming the high-necked blouse.

THE ALTITUDE'S LOW BUT ADMIRATION'S HIGH when Sally and Allie Lou wear sun-back dresses. Sally, left, wears a white and green. Her bolero jacket fastens with a row of gold and white buttons. Allie Lou's Brown and white cord dress features a fitted bodice and flaring skirt. Rows of rick-rack criss-cross the jacket that she carries.

"A QUEEN IN CALICO" IS ALLIE LOU when she dons this gay summertime costume. Small gold figures on a black background form the pattern of the quaint calico skirt. Narrow gold rick-rack trims each tier. The wide skirt band, pointed in front and back, gives a high-waisted effect. To entice a tan, Allie Lou wears her white, eyelet-trimmed peasant blouse off the shoulder.

Employment Opportunities —

Engineers Find Jobs Scarce

By TOM BUCK
June engineering graduates are doing a little more scratching around for jobs, according to both the engineering placement bureau and the graduates themselves.

Although the employment picture can't be termed "black," it is generally conceded that engineers won't be quite as popular with employers as they were a year ago.

In February, Prof. Ralph M. Barnes, director of the engineering placement bureau and personnel, said all graduates were placed. And "from experience," he expects all the June graduates to be placed, too.

However, instead of "about a dozen" employers waiting to gobble up SUI's bridge-builders, automobile designers, etc., Barnes says he merely expects all 200 of the graduates to be hired.

"After all, one man needs only one job," he said.

In other words, the hiring lines have reversed their positions from the behind-the-desk spot of the employers to in front of the desks. The demands for men from the various engineering departments—mechanical, electrical, chemical and civil are "about the same," Barnes declared.

Salaries, too, will be "about the same," as they were for the June graduates a year ago, he guessed— "Maybe a little higher."

There is a "steady stream of company representatives" arriving at SUI to interview June graduates, he said.

Not all of the engineering graduates are interested in jobs now, however, he said. Some are taking graduate courses and some are planning to take vacations over the summer.

Year Book Helps
An important factor in SUI's engineering placement picture, he said, is the senior engineering yearbook, which lists pictures and detailed information on the senior engineering class.

"It calls our school to the employer's attention," Barnes declared.

But things are tightening up—the employment crest seems to have been reached.

Here's a typical graduate's-eye view of the placement situation. Frank J. Gulshen, E4, Kewanee, Ill., a mechanical engineer, who is "still lookin'" for a job, says employers are "a little choosier" in the engineering field.

"Employers are keeping their cards close to their chests," Gulshen said.

There are "a few guys" in my department, he said, who have jobs lined up, "but not many."

About the company interviewers at SUI—"They are taking a few men but are going all over the country to get the very best." With letters of application, Gulshen says it's the same thing—"They're interested, but right now... sorry."

"There seems to be something in the air," Gulshen said. "Last year, the companies gobbled up everybody who came out of school."

20 Letters
Gulshen, who is interested in a job in aviation, has written approximately 20 letters to possible employers.

If the requests for employment don't bring results, Gulshen expects to start looking for a job after graduation.

Small firms, he figures, are his best bet for finding employment.

An electrical engineer with a job prospect is Joseph A. O'Brien, E3, Mineral Point, Wis. Like many of his classmates, he has written letters to prospective employers. He has also been interviewed five times by company representatives.

Of 22 letters which he has written, he has received 13 answers, "most favorable"—but "no soap" on the jobs.

He "knocked off school a day last week" and took a trip to Kansas City for an interview with RCA, and is waiting for a letter "letting me know how things came out."

O'Brien expects "a job of some sort" with the RCA company. Now, he believes, "it's a matter of naming the starting day and wages."

Clarence J. Dempsky, E4, Manitowoc, Wis., a civil engineer, has concluded that "there isn't too much choice in private industry" for jobs. However, he figures all SUI's civil engineer graduates will have offers of "some kind."

Government jobs constitute a large percentage of the offers, he said. He has received several offers so far, but hasn't decided which to accept.

Private Industry Higher
He estimates that government jobs average about $250 as starting pay, and private industry wages a little higher, between $250 and $300. But the catch is, he says, that private industry isn't giving out so many of those jobs. Alva A. Evans, E4, Long Beach, Calif., a chemical engineer with-then on a job as yet to go with his B.S. degree, says there are plenty of jobs—it's just a matter of finding them.

Instead of "interviewing employers" for jobs and picking their best offer, most SUI engineers will probably have to be satisfied with being interviewed and accepting "a job."

Lilienthal Praises Iowa Press, Radio

The chairman of the United States atomic energy commission, David E. Lilienthal, has praised the work of Iowa newspapers and radio stations in carrying the story of the "Marengo Experiment" in atomic energy education.

In a letter to the SUI Information service, Lilienthal said he found "most heartening" the willingness of the newspapers and radio stations in Iowa to bring to Iowa citizens the opportunity for atomic energy education.

The Daily Iowan carried a series of stories on the "Marengo Experiment" during the first semester.

Iowa City Woman, SUI Student Injured In Minor Accidents

Two women were injured in separate accidents during the noon hour yesterday, according to police.

Mrs. Don Kern, 735 Rundell street, cut an artery in her right wrist at 12:20 p.m. yesterday, police said, when she slipped while opening a window and thrust her hand through the pane.

A graduate student in the English department, identified by an ambulance attendant as Helene S. Dorman, Chicago, was taken to University hospitals for examination after she fainted near the Whetstone Drug store about 12:35 p.m., police reported.

The ambulance driver said he understood she was waiting for a bus to University hospitals after falling on a stairway in Schaeffer hall.

Navy Club to Display Jap Suicide Submarine

A Japanese "water-dragon" will be on display May 22 and 23 in Iowa City at the corner of Washington and Clinton streets. "Water-dragon" is the translation of "Koryu," the Japanese name for the one-man suicide submarine used during the war.

The exhibit is sponsored by the Navy club of U.S.A. and will include various other trophies of the war. The sub will be open for inspection from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. There will be no charge for admission.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF
IN The Lowells and Their Seven Worlds, Ferris Greenslet recounts dozens of delectable stories about the inimitable Lowell clan. One day, Amy Lowell's venerable roundabout broke down, and a village mechanic demanded that she identify herself before he undertook repairs.

"I'm a sister of the president of Harvard," she assured him. "Call him up and he'll tell you I'm good for the bill." The garage man called the president, who inquired, "What's she doing now?"

"Sitting on a wall," was the answer, "smoking a big cigar."

"That's my sister, all right," said President Lowell.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., conducts his affairs in a very comfortable but modest office. A visitor, disappointed, asked, "How can you hope to impress anybody in an office like this?" Mr. Rockefeller answered, "Whom do I have to impress?"

Valedictorians

City High Has Four Top Students

There's no shortage of valedictorians at City high school. In fact, the senior class of 1949 has four valedictorians — and they're all boys who have received "E's" — equivalent to "A's" — in their high school years.

Principal Ralph A. Austermler announced yesterday that Wayne Higley, John Fenton, Henry Rate and Jim Bradbury have been given the top scholastic honor in their class.

The surplus of valedictorians made selection of a salutatorian — runner-up in high grades — particularly difficult, Austermler explained, so none was chosen.

Thirteen other City high school seniors have been named on the scholastic honor roll which places them and the four valedictorians in the upper ten percent of the 169 students now eligible for graduation.

Hirohito, MacArthur Face the Interviewer — In Japan: Emperor, Military Ruler Compared

(Frank H. Bartholomew, United Press vice president for the Pacific area, talked Wednesday in Tokyo with Emperor Hirohito and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the men who in their separate ways rule Japan and are reconstructing the war ravaged country.)

By FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW
TOKYO (AP) — I talked with the two men who rule 80-million Japanese — Hirohito the emperor, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the military ruler.

Although I was pledged directly to quote neither, I can say that the emperor paid the highest and apparently unreserved tribute to the conquering general as a man possessed of the quality of grandeur, a great administrator and a true friend of the Japanese people in peacetime.

Peace in Japan Hinges on a Solution in Europe

IT'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Spain Doesn't Balance...

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

The argument that we ought to resume having an ambassador in Spain rests on a plausible but faulty equation. We send ambassadors to Moscow, it is said, and we don't like communism; why shouldn't we send an ambassador to Spain, even if we don't like fascism?

It is a neat approach, you could tie it up with a silken bow, but if you look it over carefully you will see it is about as sound as a $3 bill.

THE ANSWER is that nobody in the world thinks we really like Communist Russia, but plenty of people have lots of doubts as to how we really feel toward Fascist Spain.

We can send an ambassador to Russia with no risk of having that action misinterpreted because we have an Atlantic pact against Russia, and a Marshall plan against Russia, and a Greek-Turkish program against Russia and a major speech a day against Russia.

Nobody would think we were really becoming fond of Russia even if we were to instruct our ambassador to kiss Stalin on both cheeks at ten o'clock every morning.

THE SITUATION with regard to Spain is quite different, and the equation is no equation. We have no anti-Francoist program, on the military and propagandist and economic levels, in any way comparable with our anti-Communist program.

To put it bluntly, there is an open question in regard to our attitude toward Spain, which does not exist in the case of our attitude toward Russia.

EUROPEAN LABOR, which, generally, fears and hates Franco, and which, presumably, we are trying to win over to our side, will not at all accept the equation that for us to send an ambassador to Spain has no more meaning than for us to send an ambassador to Moscow.

We have made our position toward Russian communism clear. We have not made our position toward Spanish fascism nearly as clear.

FOR, IN actual fact, most perspectives of resumed ambassadorial relations with Madrid do include, even if only in a nebulous way, the idea of working with Spain.

It may be only a potential and limited partnership that is thus projected, perhaps one confined only to the military sphere, to the protection of the continent against Russia, but none the less the idea of working with Spain goes with the idea of sending an ambassador to Madrid, in a way in which the idea of working with Russia is not involved in the sending of an ambassador to Moscow.

MACARTHUR regards Hirohito as essentially a patriot, a man devoted selflessly to the betterment of his people.

Physically there would hardly be a greater contrast than between these two rulers, who lead their respective lives in buildings separated only by a lake and a park.

Hirohito is a small, well-built man with a slight forward stoop, sitting rigidly in a chair with the burdens and troubles of empire plainly showing in occasional small, nervous mannerisms.

He would remind you of an expert surgeon or lawyer who is too tired but with the full knowledge of so many hopes dependent upon him he cannot rest.

I SAW HIROHITO in the morning and MacArthur as he neared the end of his regular 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. workday.

There was another contrast with MacArthur himself not so many years ago in Brisbane, Australia, with the black fury of frustration in his eyes and voice as he paced the floor like a caged tiger, waiting for the long overdue airplanes with which to launch the campaign in New Guinea on the long road back — a campaign which was to become military textbook material.

The war is over and done now, but he still cannot go home, although he says he yearns as much as any GI for the United States he has not seen in a dozen years.

THE GENERAL intends to stay and work with and through Hirohito until Japan has a peace treaty. MacArthur feels that the Japanese people generally have done their part well and have been ready for a peace treaty for some time past.

However, they now are a pawn of global forces, and the treaty when it comes will in effect be dictated by the basic peace in Europe upon which it is dependent.

Although the most heavily populated areas in the world are Asian, the treaties which control the lives of these people will, in the general's opinion, be made possible only after a solution of the complex European problems upon which the world's statesmen now are concentrating their attentions.

MEANTIME, well beyond the normal retirement age, the smooth faced, vigorous, dramatic commander works his 14 hours seven days a week, taking pride, he says, in the fact that the nation is looking to him and to its emperor, industriously rebuilding itself, an oasis in a sea of civil wars and Communistic chaos on nearby Asian mainlands, and (I will break the rule not to quote MacArthur directly) "on our side."

I asked MacArthur how he squared his man-killing work schedule and cheerful outlook. He said he found great contentment with his family, his wife and son, and that every morning before taking up the day's task he read a few favorite lines. He read them to me:

"I DO THE VERY best thing I know how — the very best I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything; if the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference."

I have not hesitated to quote Japan's military ruler here, because he was quoting Abraham Lincoln.

Earlier, the emperor expressed admiration for the humanitarian aspects of Christianity, and said he hoped his son, Crown Prince Akihito, would be able to complete his education in America and Europe.

In the course of a 40-minute interview at the royal palace the emperor showed extreme interest in the westernization of Japan, the China war and the welfare of his own people.

I CAME AWAY with the feeling that these things are related in the emperor's mind.

Obviously interested in America and the American attitude, he expressed pleasure at word brought by friends returning from the United States that the American attitude toward Japan is becoming less unfriendly.

He said he felt the American occupation is sympathetic and intelligently administered but the task is a great one.

He gave me a direct quotation for American — born citizens of Japanese ancestry in the United States, telling them to work faithfully and loyally for the future

HIROHITO
Standards to Emulate

MACARTHUR
Lines to Inspire

prosperity and greatness of their adopted country.

BEFORE the audience, however, and at its conclusion, I was requested by palace officials to refrain from direct quotations.

The emperor's 15-year-old son, Crown Prince Akihito, now is being tutored in English liberal subjects. While no fixed plans have or can be made for the future, it is his father's hope that he can finish his schooling under western influence.

Discussing the westernization of Japan, he thinks many of the best traditions and aspects of Japanese culture should be preserved but there are many valuable developments and facets of western standards which should be emulated.

SWITCHING from this subject to current global affairs, the emperor showed a lively and acute interest in the China war and its ultimate effect on his own people.

He feels that the living standard of Japan is now far below the prewar level and that he must dedicate his every energy to its improvement.

Interpreting the News — Ruhr Control a Big Four Issue

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

A diplomatic report in London that France has proposed to give Russia voice in control of the Ruhr has been received in the United States with skepticism.

All sorts of possibilities are being mulled over in connection with the forthcoming negotiations looking toward a four-power settlement of the German problem. But none of the western allies would be expected to make such a proposal pending receipt of Russia's demands.

Although there are political gains to be sought by Russia in a communized Germany, Moscow's real objective has always been the Ruhr. It is one of the world's five great industrial bases which are capable of supplying the sinews for wars of any size. The others are Russia herself, Japan, the United States and Britain. India may soon be another.

Possession of the Ruhr emboldened Germany to defy the world twice. By adding it to her own resources through a Communist-controlled Germany, Russia would be in a position in western Europe similar to the one given her by her army in eastern Europe after the war.

The allies have no slightest intention of seeing her do it.

If there were to be any four-power settlement, which seems very doubtful, Russia would have to have some sort of voice, of course. But not, as in the four-power council which fell apart two years ago, a voice capable of derailing the allied program for western Germany.

Whether she would accept membership in the Ruhr control without the veto on which she always insists, knowing that she would be in a 6 to 1 minority, is highly problematical.

But that's as good an offer as she is likely to get. Western diplomats have learned much in Russia's own hard school of intransigence and will be very wary about possible loopholes for unilateral interpretations of any agreements from now on.

There is room for allied counter-attacks in this Ruhr question, too. Russia has frozen out British and American participation in the enforcement of the peace treaties with Hitler's former satellites in eastern Europe.

Whereas Russia has no investment in the Ruhr, Anglo-American interests had vast prewar investments in the oil and other industries of southeastern Europe. The west might at least get some ponies in return for any horse it trades to Russia.

The report of French thinking about the Ruhr probably is in the same category as a lot of speculation about possible ways of meeting Russian proposals at the Paris conference.

An expected demand for an end to the military occupation of Germany is a prime problem. Many think its political effect in Germany will be too great to permit a mere refusal. Collection of the scattered troops into small military enclaves in each zone is being considered as a possibility.

Actual withdrawal is out of the question. Russia would retire only a few miles and her military pressure would be only slightly reduced.

The French report is the first and not very credible sign of any allied over-eagerness for agreement. To halt any tendency in that direction it should be necessary merely to remember what happened after Potsdam and Yalta.

Life's No More Fun, Blast It

PALISADES PARK, N.J. (AP) — Those high fallutin dressmakers in Gay Paree have made life pretty drab for Roscoe Schwarz.

Time was when Schwarz, 65, would gobble his breakfast and hurry off to work with the springy step of a schoolboy on his first date. Now he dawdles over his grits and coffee and wishes he could stay home forever.

Schwarz is the chief operator of the funhouse at Palisades Park, N.J. For 23 years now, he's been waging a push button war against modesty by pressing the levers which release the blasts of air that billow women's skirts above their knees, while the women squeal with public anger and secretly smile with delight.

"It was such a pretty sight to see all them legs," he lamented. "I'm a grandfather, but I admire a shapely leg as much as the next fellow. I was becoming a kind of connoisseur until those gol darned fashion people made dresses so they wouldn't rise an inch, even with a lickety-split gale a-blowin'."

Now Schwarz sits solemnly in his control booth, listens to the baseball games, and routinely pushes the buttons so he can indulge in the uninteresting sport of blowing hats off men's bald heads.

"It's a pity," he said. "I keep thinkin' of 1929 when skirts were real short and flarey and the men wore straw hats. They used to sail through the air so purty like. The girls used to blame their fellers for the blasting, but actually they really liked to be the center of attention."

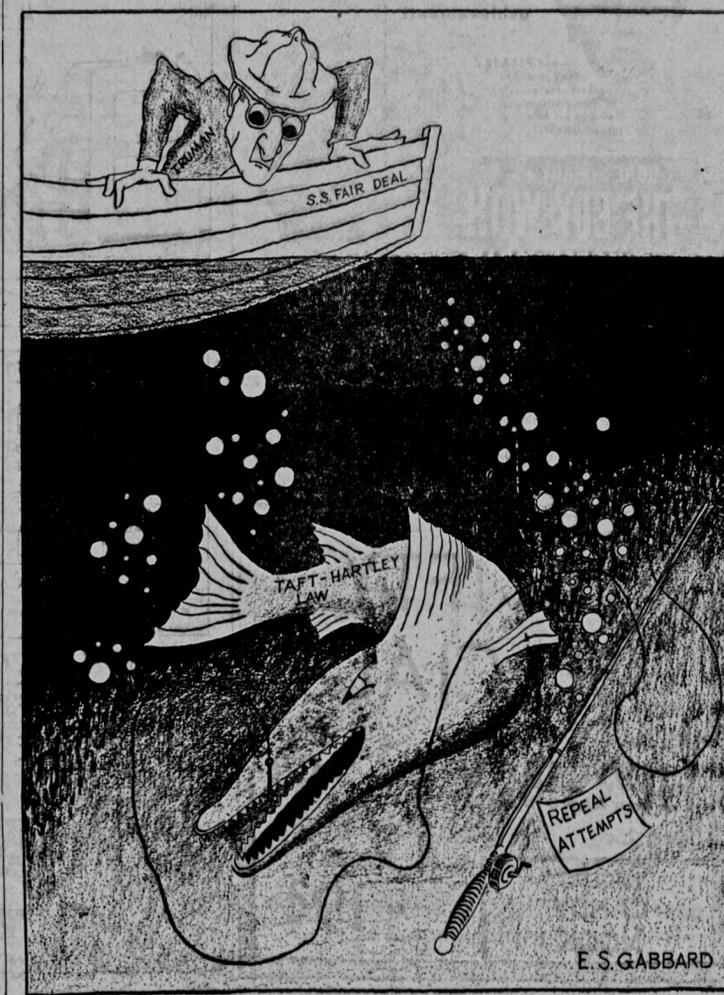

Schwarz took a big bite out of a plug of tobacco and chewed disconsolately. Two girls paid their dimes and started through the funhouse. He pushed the buttons, but there was none of that old Schwarz sparkle when he did it, and the helmets just rustled in the sudden breeze.

"Ankles not bad anyway," he said. "You know, the prettiest thing about a girl is her legs. It's like lookin' at a painting or something. I've noticed that most of 'em have purty good lookin' legs, too. Once in a while a girl with piano legs comes along, but I'm always nice to them."

In the years since Schwarz graduated from spinning the ferris wheel, which is where he got his start when he was 20, he has classified women's legs according to size and shape.

Cain Accuses Charlie Chaplin Of Communistic 'Connections'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Cain (R-WASH) yesterday accused Screen Actor Charlie Chaplin of creating an incident which he said "skirts perilously close to treason."

Cain renewed his demand that the British-born comedian be deported from the United States.

The "incident," as related by Cain:

In 1948, Chaplin allegedly sent a message to Pablo Picasso, noted French artist, asking him to protest American deportation proceedings against Hanns Eisler, Vienna-born former Hollywood composer and acknowledged former Communist.

Although a resident of the United States for many years, Chaplin has never become a citizen.

The Washington senator submitted a statement to a senate judiciary subcommittee listing nine specific instances of Chaplin's alleged "connections" with Communist fronts and Communist-dominated organizations.

He said the record shows that "Charles Chaplin does not believe in our system of government."

The senator continued: "Chaplin's only recorded contribution to the war effort was a eulogy to the Soviet Union which ended with these words: 'Russia, the future is yours.'"

He quoted Chaplin as saying in 1942: "People say, what if Communism spreads out all over the world. My answer to that is, so what?"

Hanns Eisler is a brother of Gerhart Eisler, alleged former No. 1 Communist agent in the United States, who fled as a stowaway aboard the Polish liner Gatory from New York last week. Gerhart Eisler faces two prison sentences in this country.

Antone Files Judgment Suit Against C. Dunkel

Mr. and Mrs. C.F. Dunkel, Dunkel hotel, were named defendants in a $264.66 judgment suit filed yesterday in district court by Albert Antone, route 2.

Antone claimed that amount was still owing him on a promissory note signed by the defendants. He asked judgment with seven percent interest plus costs and attorneys' fees.

Ideal Organization — Pipe Dream Materializes

"Smoke, smoke that cigarette," has been changed to "stoke, stoke that pipe," by Thurston P. (Bud) Farmer, A4, Tulsa, Okla., who was recently elected a permanent president of a highly unusual organization.

A fancy scrolled certificate "upon which your friends and posterity may gaze in wonder and admiration" came through the mail the other day to proclaim Farmer a president of the Pipe Smokers Club of America, unlimited.

Though notification of his presidency came as quite a shock, Farmer thinks the PSC has a set of rules other organizations might do well to copy.

Every member of the PSC is a permanent president. They have no regular meeting dates, no dues, no solicitations of funds, no long speeches, no committee appointments, and no dull sessions.

A quorum is present and a convention is held when any two members get together. The scroll, signed by Permanent Secretary H. Everett Pope of Tulsa, Okla., reads, "He agrees to smoke his pipe, at any time, at any place (not prohibited by law) and promises to remain calm and collected when so engaged."

Farmer, who lives at cottage 40, Quadangle, was inspired by the club's slogan, "Anybody can smoke a cigarette but it takes a man to smoke a pipe," and immediately sent in the names of three other SUI pipe smokers as candidates for this high office.

Owen Nickels Wins Award for Essay

Owen J. Nickels, A1, Elgin, is this year's winner of the annual William Jennings Bryan award for essays on government. Prof. Kirk Porter, head of the SUI political science department, announced yesterday.

Nickels won the $10 cash award with an essay entitled "Change the Electoral College."

The William Jennings Bryan award was established in 1902 when the famed "cross of gold" orator refused a $250 speaking fee after a speech at SUI, directing that the income from the fee be given to the writer of the best essay on government each year.

Institute on Crime —

Stress Need to Educate Public

The annual Crime, Delinquency and Community Welfare institute ended here yesterday with more than 200 persons hearing eight speeches at Old Capitol.

The need for educating the public in its responsibilities to ex-prisoners was stressed by Warden Foss Davis of the Iowa men's reformatory in Anamosa and Warden Percy A. Lainsos of the Iowa State penitentiary in Fort Madison.

The biggest unanswered question, Lainsos maintained, "is how to enlighten society as to its tasks in rehabilitation of the offender."

Lainsos and Davis both emphasized the great need for job-training for prisoners. Lainsos pointed out that 90 percent of Iowa prisoners have never had a steady job.

Teaching the inmates respect for law and order as well as how to make an honest living after their release are the chief aims of the institution, Davis said.

Russell W. Ballard, director of the Hull House, Chicago, said there is a definite need for social work in "The Institutional Care and Treatment of the Ju-

Baby Feed

Bottles to be Warmed At New Theater

Bottle babies, the infant variety, can have their milk warm as they gurgle at the "stars under the stars" at the new Iowa City Drive-In theater which opens tomorrow night.

The management will provide bottle warmers for those of the very young set whose feeding time comes in the midst of the movie, according to Leonard Caplan, president of the Highway Theater corporation which owns the new open-air theater.

The theater, located just west of Coralville on highway 6, opens tomorrow night at 7:30 with "Suddenly Its Spring," co-starring Fred MacMurray and Paulette Goddard.

One of the many features of the new theater, according to Caplan, are the individual speakers, which enable each theater-goer to tune the performance in at a volume to suit his individual desire. The speakers can be detached from the speaker posts and placed on the car doors, he said.

Present capacity of the theater is 400 cars but the management said it has provided for expansion up to 750 cars should the need for such an increased capacity arise.

Hermes Handlers, Four Others Given Police Court Fines

Four SUI students, arrested while carrying the head of a Greek statue of Hermes from old North hall at 3 a.m. Thursday, were fined $12.50 each in police court yesterday on charges of loitering.

Tom Collins, A2, Rock Island, Ill., Charles F. Ruff, G, Iowa City, James P. Rock, A4, and Melvin L. Foster, A2, both of Davenport, were originally charged with petty larceny, police said.

The charge was later changed to "loitering," after university officials declined to press charges, according to police.

They said those fined were also responsible for carrying a statue from old North hall to the lawn of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority sometime Wednesday night.

Lyle Budd, 717 Kimball road, pleaded guilty to a bad check charge. Police Judge Emil G. Trott suspended all but $15 of a $55 fine on condition that he make good checks to the amounts of $15 and $10.

Donald Minert, Davenport, and Robert B. Becker were fined $12.50 each for failure to heed red stop signals.

Jack E. Ashworth, A1, Keokuk, paid $12.50 for driving without an operator's license and Judge Trott set the date of trial as Wednesday for a reckless driving charge against Ashworth.

Judge Trott found Ronald Christensen, West Branch, not guilty on a charge of reckless driving. Joseph P. Zetts, G, Campbell, O., filed the charge against Christensen in May following an accident involving cars driven by the plaintiff and defendant on the night of February 12.

Spring Clothing Modeled at 4-H Style Show

Spring styles in suits, dresses, sportswear and formals were shown in a 4-H girls' style show Thursday night and last night. Both of the style reviews were sponsored by the Johnson County 4-H girls clubs and the Iowa City Chamber of commerce.

The ensembles were modeled by 4-H members and representatives of local retail stores.

Suits of silk, shantung, rayon and gabardine were shown in pastel summer shades. Most suits were semi-faillored with round collars and straight skirts.

Summer dresses shown were of cotton, linen and silk prints. Typical of the warm weather frocks was a midriff dress with a full skirt. Cotton dresses in soft plaids and calico prints featured eyelet trim, boleros and plunging necklines. Lumina, a washable cotton fabric with aluminum stripes, was one of the new fabrics shown.

Shorts, playsuits and pedal pushers were shown in plain and candy-striped denims. Gabardine slack suits and sun dresses of wrinkle-resistant material were modeled.

Marquise, lace, net and tafeta were the favored fabrics for summer formals. Formals were made with plunging and square necklines or were strapless.

During the intermissions Hick Hawks, folk dance club of the SUI Women's Recreation association, presented two square dances. A skit, "The Old Family Album," was presented by the Junior Farm Bureau of Johnson county.
