Senate Okays Revamp Measure Goes To Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate yesterday passed a bill giving President Truman broad powers to reorganize the government's sprawling network of agencies — subject to the veto of congress.

Both Mr. Truman and former President Herbert Hoover have termed the legislation one of the most important measures before the 81st congress.

As head of the Hoover commission on reorganization of the executive branch of government, Mr. Hoover testified that if all the commission's recommendations are followed, American taxpayers should benefit by a $3-billion saving in government economies.

The house has already passed a somewhat similar measure. Conflicting points in the two bills will now go to a senate-house conference to work out a compromise.

A major point of difference between the senate and house bills — and one almost certain to provoke controversy — lies in the fact that the house voted specifically to exempt several agencies from reorganization. The senate voted a so-called "clean bill" with no agencies exempted.

The final version must then be passed by both chambers before it goes to the White House for Mr. Truman's signature.

Aside from the veto provision and several other restrictions, both senate and house bills would give Mr. Truman practically a free hand in overhauling the complex federal structure.

The Hoover commission issued a series of reports basting inefficiency, duplication and waste in the government and calling for a drastic housecleaning.

Three Boys Admit May 8 Break-In at Student Co-Op Store

Three boys between the ages of 13 and 15 admitted to Iowa City police yesterday that they broke into the student cooperative store May 8 and stole 37 candy bars and 18 packs of chewing gum.

Police said one of the boys used a hunting knife to pry putty from a pane in a southwest window of the store and opened the window from the inside after removing the glass.

Detective Ollie White said the boys were identified from a description given by a person who saw the three lads near the store on the Sunday afternoon when the robbery took place.

The boys said they had gone fishing that day and took shelter at the store during a rain. They started for home once but returned after one boy discovered he had forgotten his glasses, police said.

It was then that the store was broken into, according to Officer White, and the boys divided the candy and gum between them.

When the break-in was first reported, police said, a trustee of the store estimated that $30 worth of merchandise had been taken but no money.

Officer White said no action has been taken yet to turn the boys over to juvenile authorities.

Veterans' Advance Enrollment to Start

Advance enrollment for SUI veterans planning to attend the 1949 summer session will start tomorrow at SUI's veterans service office, 110 Iowa avenue, and run through May 28, Director William Coder said yesterday.

Coder stressed that the advance enrollment is for veterans subsistence and does not take the place of the regular SUI registration on June 14 and 15.

If SUI veterans attending the summer session do not go through the regular registration besides advance enrolling for subsistence, their subsistence will be immediately cancelled, Coder said.

By advance enrollment veterans should get their subsistence checks on July 1, Coder added.

FIVE DIE IN CRASH
ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) — Five fliers were known dead last night in the crash of a C-47 aircraft plane nine miles east of here. One flier parachuted safely before the craft crashed and burned.

Eager Frog Plops to Victory

ANGELS CAMP, CALIF. (AP) — A home-grown swamp frog, apparently eager to return to the waters of Angels creek, is the champion of the 1949 revival of the Calaveras county frog jumping derby.

"One-fifteen," the entry of a group of Angels camp school boys, plopped 13 feet, 6 inches from his starting point in three leaps to win the derby inspired by Mark Twain's immortal yarn.

"Lazarus," the frog found by Dr. D.L. Albazo of Angels camp entombed in a Yosemite park ice glacier, failed to qualify for the derby finals after being thawed out for a fresh start in life.

Supreme Court Splits In Free Speech Case

WASHINGTON (UP) — The supreme court split bitterly yesterday on a five-to-four decision which upheld freedom of speech even though it causes public anger and unrest.

The exchange, one of the bitterest in years, underscored the deep-rooted cleavage that has split the bench since the late President Roosevelt's historic move to reorganize the court.

The decision was in the case of Arthur Terminiello of Birmingham, Ala., self-styled "Father Coughlin of the south." He was convicted of disorderly conduct and fined $100 three years ago for an "inflammatory" speech at a Chicago meeting sponsored by the Christian Veterans of America. The decision set aside the conviction.

Chicago authorities reported that the scene at the auditorium where the affair took place was explosive. A noisy picket line of more than 1,000 taunted those who entered the building. Brickbats and stink bombs were thrown and police lines were rushed. They said Terminiello used "fighting words" which tended to incite the audience to violence against the crowd outside.

The 5 to 4 majority opinion was written by Justice William O. Douglas, a member of the liberal bloc. The principal dissent was written by Justice Robert H. Jackson who has protested before that the Douglas bloc decides cases on ideological grounds rather than legal principles.

The majority held that under the constitutional guarantee of free speech no person can be convicted because his remarks "stirred people to anger, invited public dispute, or brought about a condition of unrest."

Douglas said the majority decision was based on the ancient doctrine that there shall be freedom of speech unless there is a clear and present danger to the public interest.

Jackson said in a dissent that the ruling stretched the free speech constitutional guarantee so far there is danger of turning the bill of rights into a "suicide pact."

The supreme court also agreed yesterday to decide whether the federal government owns the oil-rich tidelands off the coasts of Texas and Louisiana.

Over the bitter protests of the two states, the tribunal said it would listen to the justice department's federal ownership claims. Texas and Louisiana were given until Sept. 1 to reply. The states' claim sovereign rights to lands off their coasts and have leased oil and mineral rights to private concerns.

Car Falls in Hole As Paving Collapses At End of Bridge

A pavement cave-in at the west end of the Iowa avenue bridge about 11 a.m. yesterday imprisoned for a half hour a car driven by John Porter, C3, Oskaloosa, but no apparent damage resulted, Porter reported.

"I was just driving along when suddenly the front end of the car went down in the hole which wasn't there a minute before," Porter related.

Three-and-one-half truck loads of dirt were needed to fill the hole where the curb and brick paving fell away, Street Commissioner Willard Irvin said.

He described the hole as being about 3 1/2 feet deep and 10 feet long by 4 feet wide.

Porter said he couldn't drive the car out of the hole and had to call a wrecker to get the auto out.

Irvin said the cause of the cave-in was probably due to faulty brick paving, weakened by trucks hauling dirt from the new library site.

Eisler Makes Court Appearances

GERHART EISLER is shown entering court at Southampton, England, yesterday for the first of two court appearances. Magistrate at Southampton, where he was taken from Polish liner Batory on which he fled the U.S., ordered him taken to Bow street court in London for hearing on his political refugee claim to asylum. At Bow street hearing, Eisler was ordered back to jail for at least eight days to await hearing on whether he will be extradited to the U.S.

Court Refuses Bail to Bond-Jumping Eisler

LONDON (AP) — A British court refused bail yesterday for bond-jumping Gerhart Eisler and sent the bespectacled Communist back to jail. He will spend at least eight days in a cell awaiting a hearing on whether he will be returned to the United States as a fugitive.

Weatherman Sees More Rain Today

Would-be sunbathers and ball players won't be especially cheerful about the weatherman's predictions for today, but farmers in the vicinity will probably view the forecast with a smile.

The weatherman says that it will rain today and Wednesday and possibly through Thursday. Along with thunderstorms he says that the weather will continue warm and humid.

Yesterday rains started falling at 6:48 a.m. and spilled out nearly half an inch of precipitation during the day. The official measurement was .48 of an inch by 8 p.m.

Paving Collapses on Bridge

FAULTY PAVING and heavy trucks pounding over it resulted in this 3 1/2 feet deep, 10 feet long by 4 feet wide hole at the west end of the Iowa avenue bridge about 11 a.m. yesterday. The paving collapsed when John Porter, C3, Oskaloosa, drove his car over it. Street Commissioner Willard Irvin reported three-and-one-half truck loads of dirt were needed to fill the hole.

UN Votes To Keep Its Ban On Spain

Mrs. Rutledge Tells Relations With Hattman

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — Mrs. Sydney Rutledge, her eyes red from weeping, told the jury late yesterday she was seduced by the man her husband is accused of killing.

The wife of Dr. Robert C. Rutledge Jr., told how she became acquainted with Byron C. Hattman here last Dec. 14.

She said she went on two sailing parties with him where they drank beer and wore their bathing suits.

Her husband, a 28-year-old St. Louis children's specialist, is accused of fatally stabbing Hattman here last Dec. 14.

She said she went on two sailing parties with him where they drank beer and wore their bathing suits.

On the night of July 30, she testified, after the second sailing party she became "dizzy and nauseated" after drinking "three or four bottles of beer and four 'bourbons'" which she said Hattman later admitted ordering as "double drinks" without her knowledge.

She said he took her home and went into the small Rutledge apartment with her.

"After you got inside, what did Mr. Hattman do to you?" Defense Attorney R.S. Milner asked.

Mrs. Rutledge started breathing heavily and her reply came with difficulty. Finally she said, "he forced me back into the bedroom."

After Mrs. Rutledge told the jury Hattman then seduced her against her will, the defense asked whether the young engineer continued to pursue her.

She said he rebuffed her request that he leave her alone, called her "old-fashioned" and suggested another date.

She said Hattman tried to pick her up and frequently called her. Later, she continued, her husband heard that Hattman "had been bragging he had been out with me."

She then told her husband the whole story, she said, and they sat up all night discussing their problem.

"The next day Bob called Hattman at the Emerson plant and told him . . . he wanted him to quit bothering me," she said.

Mrs. Rutledge testified that Hattman continued to telephone the Rutledge apartment at all hours and that she heard her husband discussing money payments of $1,000 and $2,000 with Hattman.

The defense claims it will show that it was to "pay Hattman off and get him out of their lives" that Dr. Rutledge went to Cedar Rapids to confer with Hattman. At that meeting, the defense contends, Hattman drew a knife and Rutledge seized it as they fought the duel which ended in Hattman's death.

The state claims Rutledge deliberately killed Hattman from motives of "jealousy, extortion and robbery."

Mrs. Rutledge, the second defense witness, earlier had described the friendship which grew between Hattman and herself after she went to work for the firm where he was an instrument designer.

"Our acquaintanceship began by saying 'hello,'" she said in explaining that Hattman's desk was near hers at the Emerson Electric Manufacturing Co.

Curiosity Again Is Too Much for Cat

BOULDER CITY, NEV. (AP) — Found: one ring-tailed cat, deceased.

Thereby, reclamation bureau officials said yesterday, hangs the tale of what happened Sunday to the world's largest power plant, on the Colorado river at the base of Hoover dam.

The cat, proving again that old adage, curiosity, etc., climbed atop a transformer bank and short-circuited 16,500 volts.

It will take a week to repair the damage, officials said.

U.S. Decision Seen Today in Ford Case

DETROIT (AP) — The Federal government will decide today whether it will enter the Ford strike dispute immediately.

Another session between representatives of the CIO Union Auto workers and Ford Motor Co. broke up late Monday with no reports of progress.

Immediately afterwards, Federal Mediator Arthur C. Viat scheduled separate talks with both parties before today's negotiations. He said he would hear both sides of the dispute.

He promised to announce his decision then.

Cyrus S. Ching, federal mediation director, has given Viat full freedom of action. Viat is Detroit region director for the U. S. Mediation Service.

The union, which invited mediation, appeared ready to insist that the government enter talks immediately. Ford, however, was cool toward the idea.

Third Polio Patient Listed at Hospitals

The third polio patient this year was admitted to the "active" ward yesterday at University hospital, officials reported.

Darlene Langreck, 12-year-old West Union resident, was confined to the "active" ward yesterday. Her condition was described as "fair" by hospital authorities. She was admitted to the hospital Thursday.

The last polio patient confined to the "active" ward was 8-year-old Sharon Birdwell, Tama, who was admitted April 12.

Solon Plane Crash Injures 2

Two Franklin, Ind., men were injured, one seriously, in a light plane crash yesterday at 12:30 p.m. southeast of Solon on the John Eckrich farm.

Morris Prosser, 38, a contractor and passenger in the four passenger plane, was taken to Mercy hospital where examinations revealed a broken left leg and lacerations of the face and nose. His condition last night was termed "very satisfactory" by hospital officials.

Jack Mullendore, 28, commercial pilot and farmer, escaped serious injury with a small cut on his forehead.

The accident occurred, Mullendore said, when the plane ran out of gas and he attempted to make a forced landing in a haystack. The plane missed the hay-

Latin Proposal Loses, 26-15

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Nations assembly last night stuck to its three year ban on Franco Spain. But it also beat down a Slav bloc campaign to slap economic restrictions on the Madrid government.

In a flurry of roll calls, the assembly:

1. Voted 26 to 15, with 16 abstentions and two absences, on a Latin American resolution which would have permitted UN members to send ambassadors and ministers back to Madrid. This proposal failed to pass because it did not get the needed two-thirds majority.

2. Voted down a 13 - paragraph resolution by Poland which would have kept UN members from sending arms to Spain and would put strong restrictions — called sanctions — trade with Madrid. The six Slav countries picked up some support on various paragraphs but never approached even a majority vote. The final vote on the whole resolution was six in favor, 40 opposed and seven abstentions.

The United States and Britain abstained on the Latin American proposal but voted against the Polish plan.

The assembly action meant the UN stands by two resolutions approved in its 1946 sessions in London and New York.

One resolution bars France from membership in the UN and any of its specialized agencies. The other resolution asked all UN members to recall from Madrid their ambassadors and ministers, leaving only lesser officials in charge.

Brazil was reported to have held a campaign in this assembly to take the wraps off Generalissimo Franco. But the Latin American bloc split on the issue and the Brazilians never were able to pick up enough support.

After voting on the Latin American resolution, the assembly then began rejecting, paragraph by paragraph, a Polish proposal calling for economic sanctions against Franco.

Veterans May Use New Wheel Chair

Mrs. Fred Gartzke, 1812 Morningdrive, is looking for veterans who are looking for a wheel chair.

Mrs. Gartzke is chairman of the American Legion hospital committee and has a new wheel chair which may be used by any veteran who needs one for a short time.

The wheel chair was given into Mrs. Gartzke's keeping on May 4 at the first district convention in Fort Madison. Since the American Legion auxiliary already has a wheel chair for use over long periods, the wheel chair Mrs. Gartzke received is to be used by veterans who need one for only four or five days, Mrs. Gartzke reports.

Veterans who need a wheel chair for only a short time, should call her to make arrangements, Mrs. Gartzke said.

Senators Nip Bosox, 3-2

Protested Play Ends Game

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Senators climbed into a fourth place tie in the American league yesterday by beating the Boston Red Sox, 3-2, in a mixed-up, dramatic finish that left the crowd of 5,719 wondering which team had won.

With the Red Sox trailing by one run in the ninth, Tom O'Brien beat out a bunt with one out. After Billy Hitchcock flied out, Birdie Tebbetts singled O'Brien to second and Lou Stringer came in to run for Tebbetts.

Sam Mele batted for pitcher Jack Kramer and slashed a single to right. Just before O'Brien crossed the plate with what would have been the tying run, Stringer overran second and was cut down on Buddy Lewis' throw to Sam Dente.

Umpire Joe Paparella ruled O'Brien was still five feet from the plate when Stringer was tagged out. The decision brought a howl of protest from the Red Sox who were trotting out to the field for the last half of the ninth.

In moving into a tie with the Athletics for fourth place, the Senators nicked Kramer for nine hits with Dente, a Red Sox castoff, singling home the winning run in the sixth. Mickey Haefner went all the way to hang up his third victory, giving up eight hits.

Haefner was in charge until the last two innings when Boston got five of its eight hits. The Red Sox scored a run in the first when Dom DiMaggio beat out a bunt, went all the way to third on Johnny Pesky's sacrifice and scored when Eddie Robinson threw wild to third base. Washington came back to tie it up in its half on successive singles by Sherry Robertson, Clyde Vollmer and Eddie Robinson. A walk to Gil Coan, Lewis' single sending the runner to third and Vollmer's long fly made it 2-1 for Washington in the third.

In the sixth, successive singles by Robinson, Ed Yost and Dente made it 3-1. Then in the eighth Dom DiMaggio doubled and Ted Williams singled him home. That made it 3-2 and brought the exciting climax.

It was the only game scheduled in the major leagues yesterday as the National league clubs traveled west and American league teams came east.

Boston	ABR H	Washington	ABR H
DiMaggio	4 2	Coan	1 1
Pesky	3 0	Lewis	1 1
Williams	3 2	Robinson	1 1

No Tilt, Musial and Slaughter Try Bat Practice for Slumps

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan Musial, batting champion of the major leagues last year, spent more than an hour at batting practice yesterday afternoon, confident that he will soon pull out of his batting slump.

Joining him in the voluntary practice session on an off-day was Enos Slaughter. Together they form the old St. Louis Cardinal one-two punch, which this season hasn't carried much of a wallop.

As the Cardinals returned yesterday from their road trip, Musial stepped off the train with a batting average of .238. That's exactly .155 below his average after the same number of games last year.

"I've been off in my timing," said Musial, whose $50,000 contract is said to make him the highest paid player in the National league.

"I've been hitting ahead of a lot of pitches and behind a lot of others. I've been swinging at a lot of bad balls and passing up some good ones." One reason for this, Musial said, is that he has been trying too hard, as players often do when they're in a slump.

But the slender outfielder said he feels fine and expressed belief that nothing is wrong that some practice won't correct.

In reply to a question, he said he planned no change in his batting stance or position. He reminded a newsman that his unusual crouch deep in the batter's box has produced fine results for a long time.

Slaughter also expressed belief he will get going soon. He pointed out that he started slowly last year and finished the season with an average of .321 for one of his best years.

WHILE TWO SENATORS look for the ball, Dom DiMaggio of the Red Sox is safe at third. Umpire Bill McKinley gets ready to call DiMaggio (7) safe in the first inning of the Washington-Boston game yesterday. Cather Al Evans and Third Baseman Eddie Joose (right) are still looking for the ball. DiMaggio went from first to third on a bunt by Johnny Pesky and then scored on a wild throw by Washington First Sacker Eddie Robinson. Washington won 3-2.

Kell Tops AL Hitters

CHICAGO (AP)—George Kell, Detroit's polished third baseman, zoomed 34 percentage points last week to grab the American league batting leadership with a .385 mark.

In second place, six points behind Kell, were Chicago's husky rookie, Gus Zernial, and last week's pace-setter, Cleveland's Dale Mitchell, each with .379.

Other leaders through Sunday's games were Dom DiMaggio, Boston .369; Sam Chapman, Philadelphia, .358; Roy Sievers, St. Louis, .356; Cass Michaels, Chicago, and Dick Kryhoski, New York, .344 each; Gordon Goldsberry, Chicago, .327; and Bob Dillinger, St. Louis, .318.

Detroit's fast-starting rookie, Johnny Groth, plummeted 59 points last week from third place to an 11th spot .312.

In the specialized department, Boston's Ted Williams continued to lead in runs batted in with 27 and another Red Sox slugger, Vern Stephens headed homer production with eight.

Eddie Joost, Philadelphia, had the most runs, 30, while Kell's 42 hits led that department. Zernial slammed four more two-baggers for a top bag of 12, and Mitchell maintained the three-bagger lead with five.

In the base stealing department, Dillinger led with four.

Chicago's Bill Wight headed the league hurlers with a 4-win, none-lost record. Lefty Hal Newhouse was tops in strikeouts with 36.

WOOD TO ORIOLES

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Browns announced yesterday that outfielder Ken Wood will be sent to the Baltimore team of the International league with a 24 hour recall option.

Hawkeye Wrestlers Receive 'I' Award

Eight Iowa wrestlers have been awarded major "I" letters, while four won minor letters and 19 received freshman numerals for their work during the 1949 season.

Director Paul Brechler announced the awards, given later than usual this year due to the fact that the season did not end until after the other winter sports squads had completed their schedules.

Award winners were: Major "I"—Robert Geigel, Algona; Vern McCoy, Waterloo; Delbert Perrin, Cherokee; William Quinlan, Clinton; Joe Scarpello, Omaha, Neb.; Edward Steinhoff, Ft. Dodge; George Tesla, Waterloo; Russell Sharp, Waterloo.

Minor "I"—Kenneth Keith, Iowa City; Robert Lage, Long Grove; Delmar Langphier, Resnor; Ralph Thomas, Council Bluffs.

Bruner Retains Lead As Big Nine's Top Hurler with 4 Wins

Picking up his fourth straight conference triumph without a defeat against Wisconsin last Friday, Jack Bruner retained his position as top hurler in the Big Nine.

Bruner pitched a 10-inning five-hitter to beat the Badgers 3-2, striking out 10 and walking only three. He came back the next day to hurl 2-3 innings in relief and save W Demro's first conference win. It was the first Iowa Big Nine victory this year not won by Bruner.

The left-handed senior from Waterloo is slated to open the Hawks' vital series against Minnesota at Minneapolis next Friday in the first night game in Iowa history.

Bruner will carry a record of 39 2-3 innings of conference hurling into the Gopher series. He has given up 19 hits and six runs, three of them unearned, while striking out 39 batters and walking 21.

Bruner's showing against the Badgers was more proof that the Hawks can't seem to win a conference game without him.

He had Wisconsin baffled in Saturday's relief job until the ninth inning when two long hits scored a run off him. It was then that Pinky Primrose's great catch and resulting double-play throw saved the day.

Primrose established himself as the Hawkeyes' leading hitter with a .383 average for all games. He got four hits in six official trips to the plate against Wisconsin.

Team hitting has been timely and heavy. Jack Dittmer, despite going 0 for 7 against Wisconsin, is slugging away at .324 and leads the team with 16 runs batted in. Catcher Ed Browne is hitting .296.

Browne got a key single with the bases loaded in Saturday's struggle. Murl Moran and George Hand have both been hitting the ball well, each getting triples to deep left center Saturday.

The Hawks are now tied for second place in the Big Nine. They might well be leading the pack, had Coach Otto Vogel been blessed with a pitcher who could follow Bruner's Friday victories with Saturday triumphs.

IMPS TAKE GOLF MEET

Paul Wolfe toured Finkbine field with a three over par 73 Saturday to lead his Davenport mates to victory in the high school district golf tournament. The Imp quartet needed but 304 strokes, 17 less than runners-up Franklin of Cedar Rapids.

Schoendienst Leads National

NEW YORK (AP)—Red Schoendienst, back in the St. Louis Cardinal lineup after a siege of injuries, leads the National league hitters today with a .384 average.

Figures, including Sunday's games, show Schoendienst leading Willard Marshall of the New York Giants by two points. Marshall's .382 gives him a wide edge over third-place Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh at .358.

Whitey Lockman of New York, .354, and Al Dark of Boston, .349 round out the first five. Eddie Kazak of St. Louis, last week's leader at .389 dropped off 61 points to .338 and sixth place.

Sid Gordon of the Giants leads the home run hitters with seven, followed by teammate Johnny Mize and Kiner, each with six. Mize, Del Ennis of the Phillies, Roy Campanella of Brooklyn and Kiner are tied for the runs batted in lead with 20.

Marshall, Gordon and Dark are tied for most runs, 24; Lockman has most hits, 40, Puddin' Head Jones of the Phils most doubles, 10, and Roy Smalley of Chicago leads with four triples. Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn tops the base stealers with five.

Ralph Branca of Brooklyn, hit hard in his last outing, is the top pitcher with a perfect 5-0 record. Branca also has an edge on Boston's Warren Spahn in strikeouts 35-27.

To Determine Joe's Future Tomorrow

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe DiMaggio is scheduled to undergo another X-ray examination of his ailing heel tomorrow and the result probably will determine the outfielder's immediate baseball future, General Manager George Weiss of the New York Yankees said yesterday.

"We are waiting until the last possible moment before making a move in his case," the Yankee executive added.

The Yankees must cut their squad from 29 to 25 by Thursday to meet the player limit. The examination probably will determine whether DiMaggio will be put on the voluntary retired list for 60 days or kept on the active roster.

DiMaggio was troubled with a bone growth in his heel in spring training after a winter operation and hasn't been in uniform since the campaign started.

Rain Shortens Hawk Track Preparations

Yesterday's steady drizzle forced Iowa's track team to shorten its practice in preparation for the Big Nine outdoor track and field championships at Northwestern May 20 and 21.

Several Hawks reported for practice but workouts were limited to a few wind sprints and jogging.

Latest statistics show that Hawk Half-Miler Keith Brown has the fastest time on the outdoor cinders. Brown's top ranking performance is the 1:56.8 clocking in the triangular meet here May 7.

Track and field monthly lists Jack Davis and Bill Snook as two of the freshmen and junior college standouts of the nation. Snook's 9:59 time for the two-mile run is the country's best while Davis' 1:59.3 for the half-mile ranks high.

Allie Clark Leads Indians to 4-3 Win In Exhibition Game

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Outfielder Allie Clark drove in all of Cleveland's runs last night as the world champions edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 in an exhibition game witnessed by 33,038 fans.

The Cleveland outfielder belted a two-run triple in the second, came through with a fifth-inning homer with none aboard and then batted the winning run home with a single in the seventh.

Pittsburgh got only five hits off two Indian hurlers while Cleveland was collecting nine hits off three Buc flingers. Mike Garcia, who came into the game with the bases loaded, the score tied 3-3 and two out in the sixth, was credited with the win. Frank Pappish started for the Indians.

Kirby Higbe started for the Bucs but Ernie Bonham, who pitched the seventh and eighth innings, was charged with the defeat. He gave up three hits in the seventh, one of them Clark's game-winning single.

Spartans Stop Late Rally To Beat Wisconsin, 6-5

MADISON (AP)—Michigan State staved off an eighth inning rally by Wisconsin here last night and squeezed out a 6-5 baseball victory.

The Badgers pushed across three runs in the eighth inning but Wally Beggs relieved starter Lou Bloch and snuffed out the rally by striking out two Wisconsin men.

Left fielder George Rutenbar hit a home run for the Spartans. The two teams meet here again this afternoon.

Prep Attracts Scouts

VERMONTVILLE, MICH. (AP)—When right hander Ken Beardslee struck out 26 batters in a high school baseball game here last week it didn't even cause a ripple in this tiny village.

For during the past three years, the 564 residents of the central Michigan farming community have seen Beardslee average more than 18 strikeouts a game for the Vermontville high school team.

He has lost only one game while winning 17. That loss came last week against the neighboring community of Sunfield. Then the husky 18-year-old struck out 20 men and gave up only five hits while losing 2-1. To make it complete he hit a double and triple, the only two hits his team made. Still he lost.

Scouts from 11 major league clubs have made the pilgrimage here this season to look over the farm boy prospect. It's almost certain there will be a scramble for the six-foot, one-inch pitcher when he gets his high school diploma May 26.

Major league rules prohibit any of the teams dealing with Beardslee until he finishes high school. But the line already is forming to the right.

As far as Beardslee's coach, Bob Gelina, and his fellow townsmen are concerned, they've got a second Bobby Feller on their hands.

"Ken has everything," Gelina says. "He's big, he has a good curve, a fast ball and a change of pace, and I don't see how he can miss going places."

Beardslee, a 170-pound redhead, says he'll play professional ball "if I can get the right kind of an offer."

Coach Gelina will take him to Detroit May 27 for a two-day workout with the Tigers. The Yankees, the coach added, have also expressed a desire to have Ken work out in New York after his graduation.

There's talk, too, that Hank Greenberg, still a name to reckon with in these parts, is planning on attending Ken's graduation exercises in hopes of getting his signature on a contract.

But young Ken and his father, Roy, a former semi-pro player, have indicated they want to look over all the offers before making a decision.

Like the 563 other residents of Vermontville, the elder Beardslee is convinced Ken is the best looking pitching prospect uncovered in Michigan in quite some time. The whole town figures it will be only a season or two before he'll be a major leaguer.

Veck's 'Best in Baseball' Staff Has Troubles—

NEW YORK (AP)—What happened to Cleveland's five-year pitching plan?

The "best in baseball" staff that Owner Bill Veck rounded up for a five-year run atop the American league is having its troubles.

Tribal pitchers turned in only seven complete games in the world champs' first 20 starts. No team in the league has a worse record.

Of the 13 shutouts in the league, only one has been thrown by an Indian—Bob Lemon against the St. Louis Browns. Now Lemon is side-lined with a torn rib cartilage.

Bobby Feller, the high-salaried ace, failed to last past the second inning in two of his three starts. Steve Gromek, won only the opener in four attempts.

Early Wynn, acquired with

Indian Hurling Loop's Worst

Mickey Vernon from Washington last December, has been flattened twice. With the exception of the ailing Bob Lemon, only Gene Bearden has been effective consistently. Bearden, a 20-game winner as a rookie last season, came up with a pulled leg muscle last time out against Washington but he is due to go against the New York Yankees tonight.

The tribe "clutch" hitters have been matching the pitchers in lack of effectiveness. When they fall they flop completely.

All last season, Cleveland was shut out only seven times. So far in 20 games, the Indians, now in sixth place, have been blanked four times. In fact, they were shut out in four of their last six games.

Sid Hudson of Washington started them down the hill with a four-hitter. The next afternoon little Mickey Haefner held the Indians to one hit—a first inning single by Larry Doby—enroute to a string of goose eggs.

The Tribe rallied to nip the Yanks, 3-2, with the help of a Bob Porterfield wild pitch. They lost to Chicago 11-10 and then were blanked by the White Sox Bill Wight and Al Gettel in Sunday's doubleheader.

Cleveland isn't the only club having pitching difficulty. Al Casey Stengel about the Yankees after Sunday's double loss to the A's.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who used to overpower you with their pitching, have had only five route-going jobs in 22 starts.

Best in the bunch is the record of the surprising New York Giants. In 25 games, Manager Leo Durocher has had to look to the bullpen for help only 10 times. Boston's Braves are next with 14 complete jobs, five of them shut-outs.

Cubs Trade Schenz, Cash for Ramozzotti

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs announced yesterday they have traded infielder Henry Schenz and cash to the Brooklyn Dodgers for infielder Bob Ramozzotti.

The players will shift uniforms when the teams play here today. Schenz played in 96 games for the Cubs last year, hitting .261. He was pushed out of a job late in the season when Chicago obtained Second Baseman Emil Verban from Philadelphia.

Ramozzotti appeared in only four games with the Dodgers in 1948 but pitched in 27 contests with the St. Paul farm team, hitting .286.

Owes It All to Luke

Youngest Member of Chisox 'Father-Son' Combine Says He Owes Hot Streak to Elder Buddy

CHICAGO (AP)—The junior member of the Chicago White Sox figurative "father-and-son" second-base combination is having the hottest batting streak of his seven-season Sox career.

That would be Casimir Eugene Kwietniewski, better known as Cass Michaels, whose .344 is seventh in the American league hit parade and a surprising output.

Michaels says he owes it all to the patriarchal advice and peerless support of Shortstop Luke (Old Folks) Appling, who admits—tongue in cheek—that he is "slightly" over 40.

"We room together on the road," explained Michaels, the 23-year-old second sacker, "and what I don't learn from him on the field, he gives me pointers on in chinning sessions.

"He's taught me all I know about fielding, hitting and major league style generally."

There are a few other factors, though, which might explain Michaels' spritely plate activity. Until this season, when Manager Jack Onslow told him he was strictly a second baseman, Cass took flings at third, short and second.

"You get to worrying about how to play your position when it's changed so often," admitted Michaels, "and it seems to affect your batting."

That might explain why the German-Polish lad from Detroit last season batted .248; had .273 in 1947, his best previous season; .258 in 1946; and .245 in 1945, when he first gained regular status.

Michaels tops the Sox in runs batted-in with 22. But he modestly minimizes this with "following Gordy Goldsberry (.342), Appling (.302), and Gus Zernial (.379) in the lineup, it isn't much of a trick to knock 'em home. They're always on second or third."

Michaels and Appling have as a 17-year-old. After a 1944 season with Little Rock, he returned to stay with the Pale Hose.

Michaels and Appling have been the major contributors to 33 White Sox double plays this season. And watching them in action, it's hard to tell which is the 40-year-old guy.

Like everybody else, Michaels is amazed at Appling's agility. "He looks better now than in '43," chuckled Cass. "Talk about your old man river, Luke doesn't keep rolling along—he bounces. He makes plays in deep short that are unbelievable. I got to keep covering second, because that man keeps pulling 'em out of a hat."

Injury to Williams Postpones Title Bout

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The world championship fight between lightweight title-holder Ike Williams and Enrique Bolanos has been postponed indefinitely because of an injury to Williams' shoulder, Clayton Frye, chief inspector for the state athletic commission, said yesterday.

Frye was present at a medical examination conducted by Dr. Francisco Bravo, who commented: "The shoulder has been causing enough trouble to warrant a lay-off of six weeks to two months." The fight was scheduled for May 26.

He described the ailment as bursitis of the right shoulder joint.

Boilermakers Defeat Iowa Golfers, 21½-5½

LAFAYETTE (AP)—Purdue's golf team made it eight straight in Western conference dual meet competition with a 21 1/2 - 5 1/2 victory over Iowa yesterday.

Purdue swept the doubles and lost only one singles match and tied another, averaging under 74 strokes for the dozen 18 - hole matches. Fred Wampler, Purdue captain and 1948 Western conference champion, was one over par with 72-71-143.

Saturday's Tennis Win First Since Before War

Iowa's tennis comeback, after losing the opening four meets, hit pay dirt Saturday. The Hawkeyes registered their first Big Nine net triumph since 1940 in defeating Indiana, 6-4.

That victory came on the tail of decisions over Chicago, Beloit and Marquette, and cut the string of conference losses at 23 straight. The sport was suspended from 1943 through 1946.

Glasses Help Hawkeye Third Sacker 'Looks' Better

Keith Kafer's eye-opening hit in the tenth inning against Wisconsin last Friday was proof positive that his glasses were doing their job.

Two years ago Keith was hit in the right eye by a baseball. It affected his play last year and caused him to strike out often.

Just before this season opened, Kafer got his new glasses with unbreakable frames. He has been fielding well at third base as a result and has had his eye on the ball at the plate, too.

Although swatting at a .230 clip, Keith has been getting his baseknocks at the right time. His hit with the bases loaded against the Badgers would have gone for at least a triple, had not one run been enough to assure Iowa's 3-2 triumph.

The 27 year old infielder is slated to graduate in June. He will then assume his duties as player-manager of the Audubon semi-pro club, as well as his job in an Audubon bank.

Scholarship Planned For Second German

Plans to bring another German student to the SUI campus were begun last night by the Inter-faith Scholarship fund committee at a dinner meeting in the Methodist church.

The group, composed of married students from seven churches, is now sponsoring Hans Umstaetter, graduate student from Mannheim, Germany, at the university.

Umstaetter, in a speech at the dinner, expressed his appreciation to the students for giving him the opportunity to study at SUI for one year.

After he finishes at SUI, Umstaetter will return to Germany to teach the English language at German universities or high schools for five years.

"I'm going back to Germany with the conviction that I can give my nation moral help," Umstaetter said.

He pledged himself to do his best in rebuilding human love and "in building new ties between your nation and my home country — Germany."

Religion will have to be the foundation in promoting democracy in the world, he said.

The people will all have to be Christians, all human beings, to save the world — not Germans, Russians and Americans, he added.

Umstaetter arrived at SUI in February. Plans which ended in his attending the university were begun a year ago.

About one hundred thirty persons attending last night's dinner meeting. Pledges were taken for contributions to bring the second German student to SUI for a year's study.

Johnson to Speak On 'The Cold War' At AAUW Meeting

Prof. Jack Johnson of the SUI department of political science will speak on "The Cold War" at an A.A.U.W. meeting Saturday.

Members of the American Association of University Women will meet in the University club rooms in the Union at 12:15 p.m. for Prof. Johnson's address, followed by the May general meeting.

Saturday's meeting will be the last meeting of the year. Plans will be made for the organization's biennial convention to be held in Seattle, Wash., in June.

Mrs. Paul Huston, president of the SUI chapter, will participate in one of the convention discussion groups.

Contributions to the delegate's fund may still be given, said Lullia M. Wright, publicity chairman.

Luncheon hostesses are Mrs. John E. Briggs, Jennie Rice, Thea Sando, Mrs. K. A. McCard, Mrs. Glenn Van Horne, Miss Wright, Lucille Dahlgren and Mrs. Otto Bowling.

Press Group Plans More SUI Meetings

The Iowa Press institute for 1949-50 will hold at least three sessions for working newspapermen, instead of the two held this year, under plans announced yesterday by Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the SUI school of journalism.

The two-day sessions at SUI are tentatively planned for state editors, editorial writers, and managing editors.

A conference for newspaper circulation workers will also be scheduled during the coming year, Moeller said.

Seminars for city editors and telegraph editors were held by the institute during the current year.

Eleven Students to Play In Music Recital Today

SUI School of Religion Elects New Trustees at Annual Meet

Five SUI faculty members and an Iowa City pastor were elected to positions on the SUI school of religion board of trustees at the school's 22nd annual meeting yesterday.

Elected to succeed themselves as trustees were the Rev. L. J. Brugman, pastor of St. Thomas More chapel; Prof. Forest C. Ensign of the education department; Dean C. A. Phillips of the college of Commerce and Prof. Walter R. Goetsch, director of the office of student affairs.

Dean Bruce E. Mahan, extension division, was elected secretary and Thomas Farrell, instructor in the English department, treasurer of the board for 1949-50.

Other officers are F. C. Waples Cedar Rapids, president; Rabbi Eugene Mannheimer, Des Moines, first vice president; and Bishop E. L. Haines, Episcopal Bishop of Iowa, Des Moines, second vice president.

A total of 1,734 students have enrolled in the school of religion in the past year, Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school, said in his annual report.

There have been 10 undergraduates and 13 graduate students majoring in religion in the last year, he said.

SUI faculty members named to the executive committee of the board of trustees for 1949-50 were Dean Mahan, Father Brugman and Prof. George W. Stewart of the physics department.

Others named to the executive committee were F. C. Waples, Cedar Rapids, and Rabbi Eugene Mannheimer, Des Moines.

Others elected to the board of trustees were Rev. A. L. Drake, pastor of the First Baptist church, Waterloo; Arthur Poe, Cedar Rapids; William F. Riley, Des Moines; Chancellor R. H. Fitzgerald, University of Pittsburg; Dr. L. D. Foster, Washington, D. C.; F. L. Sawyers, Centerville; The Rev. Alfred E. Parsons, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, Columbus, and Philip D. Adler of the Davenport Daily Times.

Women's Speech Group Pledges SUI Students

Six SUI students were pledged into Zeta Phi Eta, women's professional honorary speech society, Sunday night at the YWCA club room in the Iowa Union.

The pledges are Gaylan Collier, G. Fluvanna, Texas; Nan Essex, G. Iowa City; Berrice Fein, G. Chicago, Ill.; G. Darlene Moser, A4 Dallas Center; Ethelyn Pauley, A1, Sioux City, and Jean Throckmorton, A3, Chariton.

Employment Opportunities — Fewer Jobs in Business Field

By TOM BUCK

SUI's June business and industrial graduates are feeling the pinch of a normal number of jobs with more candidates for each job, according to Miss Helen Barnes, director of the business and industrial placement office. And the experiences of job-hunting graduates back her up.

In general, commerce graduates seem to be facing the same competition as graduates in other fields. One exception might be sales work.

Miss Barnes declares her office is "extremely busy" with company representatives interviewing SUI's June graduates but "the companies are more selective this year."

For example, a company that hired more than 200 men last year is looking for only 25 this year. Another company hired over 50 last year but only 10 this year.

In general, there is no expansion, just replacing, Miss Barnes said, which "is a more normal situation."

Although Miss Barnes declared she hasn't had enough experience at the placement office to make comparisons with the employment situation of other years, she believes "things are coming along nicely."

Over 1,000 interviews have been scheduled for the June graduates, she said, but "we're not quite ready to know how well we'll be able to take care of the men yet."

Probably the best field, job-wise, is the sales field, Miss Barnes surmised.

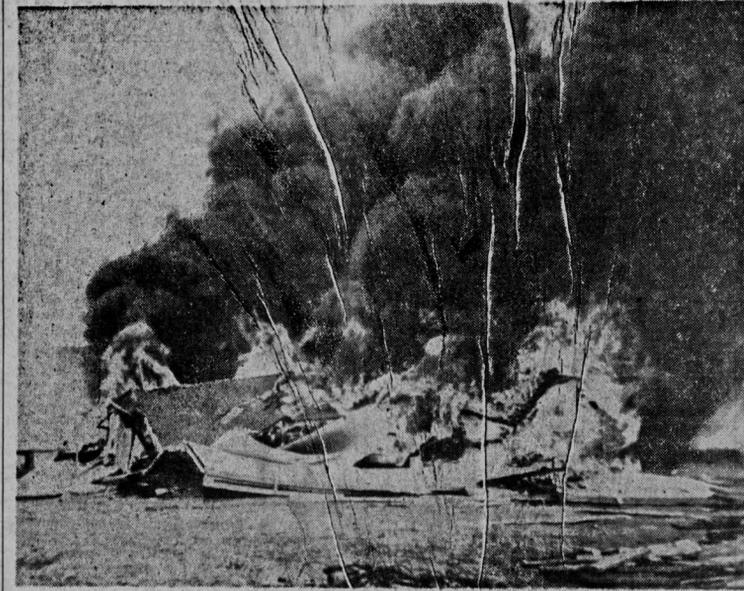

"It is very logical that that is the case," she said. "Not every company needs a chemist or bacteriologist but they all need salesmen."

She listed accounting as a close second.

Wage scales facing the June graduates "compare favorably with the past," the director declared. "I can't see a cut, at least."

A student who agrees with Miss Barnes that "things have tightened up" is J. Stuart Coon, C4, Iowa City. Coon, specializing in industrial management, expected job-getting to be easier than it

Power Firm Suit Begins Here

Trial of the Hinkley vs. Eastern Iowa Light and Power cooperative damage suit began in district court yesterday afternoon after a jury of seven men and five women had been impaneled to hear the case.

In the original suit, Earl Hinkley, Lone Tree, asked a total of $5,500 in double damages for losses received when the power firm allegedly destroyed an eight inch drain tile on his land while building a power sub-station.

Hinkley charged the firm's negligence resulted in the loss of two crops and in extensive repairs to the drain tile and a fence which was partially torn down while the sub-station was being constructed.

In a counter suit, the cooperative claimed it had purchased the land on which the sub-station was built and that it was not responsible for damages to the drain tile as claimed by Hinkley.

D.C. Nolan and William Mearson are attorneys for the plaintiff, Messer.

Petit jurors selected yesterday to hear the case are Cornelia Crow, Earl Bush, Clayton W. Gerard, Ruth L. Bahr, George M. Hunter, Vernan Bittner, Lloyd Rowland, Robert Cook, Helen G. Davis, Elsie G. Koser, George Kondora and Viola Paulson.

'Rifles' Place Third In Regimental Meet; Iowan Wins Honors

SUI's Pershing Rifles placed third in the Third Regimental drill meet, held at the University of Illinois last Friday and Saturday.

Illinois placed first in the meet and Indiana was rated second. Other schools represented were Ohio State, West Virginia, and Western Kentucky State Teachers' College.

Harold L. Lawrence, A2, Clinton, won second place in individual drill.

Attending from SUI were Charles Tholdt, Harvey Jensen, Everett Waller Jr., Jack Burns, Richard Brawner, Robert Stout, Frank Warner, Paul Hanson, Harold Lawrence.

Dean Seashore Awarded Medal by King Gustav

Dean Emeritus Carl E. Seashore of the SUI graduate college has been awarded a medal and citation by King Gustav of Sweden.

The award was made for his share in the centennial celebration of Swedish - American pioneers held in Stockholm last year. The award was recommended by the Swedish consulate in Chicago.

Prominent SUI Grads —

Help Form Education Group

Two prominent SUI graduates are among the group which formed the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools, it was announced yesterday.

They are George Gallup, founder and director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, and Mrs. Bruce Gould, editor of Ladies Home Journal.

Initially financed from the Carnegie corporation and the General Education board, the newly-formed commission is a group of prominent laymen who will work for concerted action by citizens in their local communities to solve the nationwide crisis in the public schools.

Roy E. Larsen, president of Time, Inc., is chairman of the commission. The initial membership, which will eventually total 60, includes 28 people from many sections of the country.

Gallup earned a bachelor's degree from SUI in 1923, a master's in 1925 and in 1928 received a Ph.D. in psychology. He was editor of The Daily Iowa in 1924.

In 1935, he founded the American Institute of Public Opinion to measure the public's attitudes on social, political and economic freedom, which will be held here today.

issues of the day.

He holds honorary degrees from Northwestern university, Drake university, Colgate university, Tufts college and Boston university. He is the author of three books and many articles on public opinion and reader research.

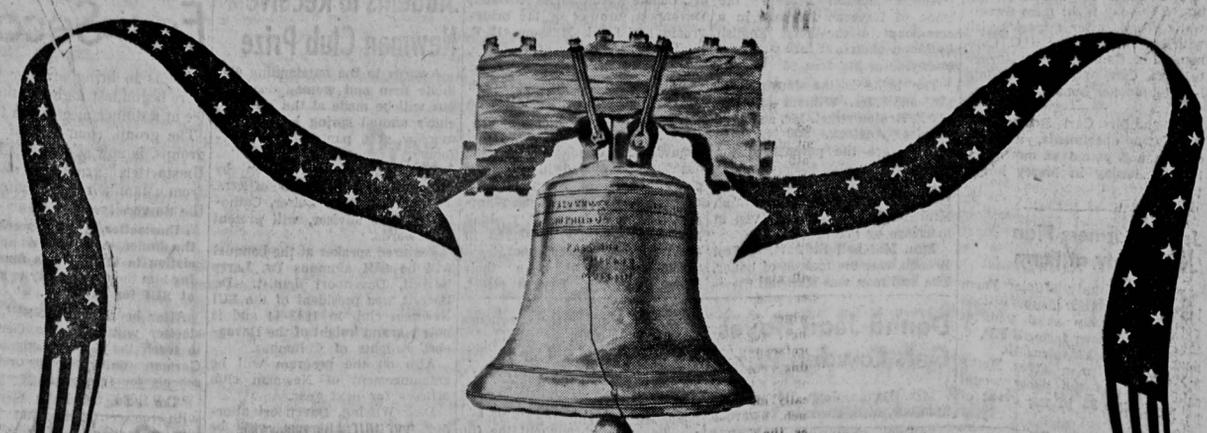

Mrs. Gould, the former Beatrice Blackmar, graduated from SUI and worked as a reporter on several Iowa papers. She was editor of The Daily Iowan in 1919. She received her M. S. degree in journalism in 1923 from the school of journalism at Columbia university on a Lydia Roberts fellowship.

In 1935, she and her husband, Bruce Gould, former business manager of Frivol magazine, became the editors of Ladies' Home Journal.

Other members of the new commission are composed of outstanding persons in business, labor, law and publishing.

James B. Conant, present of Harvard university has hailed the commission as "potentially the most important move for the advancement of public education taken in the last 50 years."

By BENNETT CERF

ONE of my favorite magazine features is a lively weekly page in Tide called, reasonably enough, "Tidings." Recently it described Aviatrix Jacqueline Cochran's cocktail party in honor of her husband, multi-millionaire Floyd Odium.

He was lamentably late for his own party, but finally entered amidst the reverential hush that befits a director of a dozen corporations. "Darling," was his method of making amends to his wife. "Surprise! I bought you a new plane today."

Everybody thought that he was pretty wonderful except one unappreciative drunk whose comment was distinctly heard by the entire assemblage: "Humph! All the flower shops must have been closed!"

Four Faculty Appointments Announced

Four appointments to the SUI chemistry, dentistry and history faculties were announced yesterday by President Virgil M. Hancher.

Receiving the appointments were Dr. Alton K. Fisher, dentistry; Leroy Eyring, chemistry; and Ralph W. Greenlaw and James F. Gilliam, history.

Dr. Fisher comes to SUI from Loyola university, New Orleans, where he has been a faculty member since 1945 and has held a professorship since 1947.

He will head the oral pathology department at SUI beginning August 1. Dr. Fisher received his D.D.S. from Marquette university in 1935 and had four years of private practice and six years service with the navy.

Eyring will receive his Ph.D. from the University of California in September and will begin his duties here as an assistant professor of radiation chemistry the same month.

Greenlaw will come to SUI in September from Princeton university where he is studying for his Ph.D. He graduated from Amherst college in 1938 and has attended the Harvard school of business administration.

He is now a half-time instructor at Princeton where he has studied under both the Boudonot and Proctor fellowships.

Gilliam is now an assistant professor of classical languages at Wells college, Aurora, N.Y., and his appointment to the SUI faculty is effective in September.

He graduated from San Jose State college in 1935, received his M.A. from Stanford in 1936 and his Ph.D. from Yale in 1940. He was a classics instructor at Yale in 1940 and 1941 and from 1945 till 1947. Gilliam was in the army from 1941 till 1945.

'Day of Wrath' Hymn Provides Mood

—'Strange, Provocative'—

By BOB SENNISH

If you're interested in advance notices on the content of the Danish film "Day of Wrath" now running at the Capitol, check your hymnal. You may have to dig out some back issues inasmuch as modern Christianity does not go out of its way to stress its more wrathful aspects.

Such research will also serve as a shock-absorber when you do see the film (which is certainly worth seeing), for the action proper is prefaced by a shrill and frightening rendition of the hymn as sung by a group of children who really mean it. This particular touch, however unusual, establishes the mood about as expertly as possible.

In brief, the film has to do with witchcraft of the 17th century. Historically sound, the action makes a point of how this wide-spread belief affected the populace and, more importantly, how it affected the "witches." The first half of the movie deals almost exclusively with the terrifying adventures of one such woman from the moment of her chase to her execution.

The execution (burning at the stake) is, in the opinion of this reviewer, one of the most vivid and completely nerve-racking episodes ever to have been screened. And because the victim begs her judges for mercy one moment and frantically curses them the next, and because all of this is done to the tune of "Day of Wrath," the intensity reaches a point which the remainder of the film, however hard it tries, simply cannot match.

CHIC YO CARL ANDERSON PAUL ROBINSON

My how time does fly! National Pickle Week (May 20-28) is almost upon us, and I have hardly given the occasion a thought. As a matter of fact, I probably would have forgotten about it completely if Lewis A. Hirsch, National Pickle Week director for the National Pickle Packers association, hadn't sent me one of his releases.

Fellows like Mr. Hirsch are usually quite eager to receive publicity about their Weeks, but you'll notice none of them ever send a pickle along with their blurb.

I'm not proposing bribery, of course, but it does seem that a token pickle would help us get into the spirit of things.

ACCORDING TO Hirsch, pickle packers all over the country will spend a rather jolly week, honoring Amerigo Vespucci for whom this neck of the world was named. This statement disagrees considerably with my grade school history courses. I was taught that Amerigo was a cartographer who capitalized on Christopher's trip by making maps of the New World, peddling them to the citizenry in general.

NOW HIRSCH says Amerigo was a pickle merchant, and the idea just doesn't seem to hold together worth a tinker's dam. It may be that he was both a map maker and pickle salesman, and in that case, I'd say, offhand, that this Vespucci was quite a versatile fellow... had his fingers in several money-making pies and got a whole continent named after himself.

He probably bought up the hook tickets on Isabella's jewels at a high rate of discount just to swing the deal his way.

HIRSCH SAYS picklers believe it is auspicious that America should be named after a pickle peddler, inasmuch as the U.S. is the biggest pickle consuming nation in the world. By George, there's one thing the Russians can't lay claim to!

Pickle consumption in the U.S. is annually more than 80 million gallons. That statement itself is impressive enough, but when you slice 80 million gallons of pickles and garnish hamburgers with them, you can really see the magnitude of the pickle situation as it stands today.

Take a tip from me, and plant a row of cucumbers before it's too late. This thing is going to snowball, and cucumbers will soon be worth their weight in sugar, spice and everything nice.

I'VE SHIED away from the main subject of Hirsch's release, because I don't want the DAR, WCTU, OMVI and Boy Scouts down on me at this stage of the game, but my news sense in this case overcomes my sense of propriety.

It seems the boys in the pickle packing business have gotten completely fed up with the run-of-the-mill bread and butter, sweet, sour and dill pickle market. By way of living up to the situation, they have developed a liquor flavored pickle.

There are Daquiri pickles, cognac pickles, rum pickles, burgundy pickles, scotch pickles, Manhattan pickles, martini pickles and bourbon pickles, to mention a few.

THERE IS a temptation here to toy with a remark about getting pickled on pickles, but I'm fighting it. The innovation in the pickle business does, however, open new avenues for speculation on hangovers.

Some morning you may wake up with a brown muskrat in your mouth and think to yourself, "I shouldn't have had those last two dry martini pickles."

I can see the bars now. "Gimme a straight dill bourbon, Joe, and hold the chaser. Boy, I'm gonna tear this town apart tonight."

Spain or Franco? —

The fact that the United States does not send an ambassador to Spain does not mean that all diplomatic or consular ties are non-existent.

In Los Angeles, Jose Del Arco who fought with the Communists in the Spanish civil war, is on duty as that community's first consul from the Franco government. His job is admittedly to convert Americans to a friendlier feeling toward Spain.

Del Arco justifies Franco as a man of expediency. He says it is wrong to speak of the "Franco government" as synonymous with Spain.

Since Spain was not invited into ERP or the Atlantic pact because of Franco, Del Arco foresees the possibility of the American people accepting Spain as an ally, but not Franco. In that event, legal machinery has been established for a provisional government to succeed the generalissimo, should he resign.

The same analysis appears from some American observers. Spain needs more than $200-million worth of machinery, 300,000 bales of cotton, 30-million tons of wheat and probably an additional $750-million for long range economic programs. U.S. exporters would like to see this credit extended, analysts report, so the sales can be made.

U.S. military authorities consider Spain a valuable base in case of war. Some other observers point out that as a military ally Franco would be very expensive — transport and communications need costly modernizing; the 350,000 man army needs arms and equipment and the 1 1/2-million reserve force would also have to be equipped from abroad.

More than that, Secretary of State Acheson says Franco is a relic of the Hitler-Mussolini era, that this people are deprived of the basic human rights which make the difference between free Europe and the iron curtain countries. In short, the state department considers Franco neither a good moral or financial risk.

However, Acheson indicates that full democracy is not a requirement for American aid to Spain where there never has been a democracy. Establishment of a few individual rights, such as habeas corpus, free elections and religious liberty, would be sufficient.

After some of the associations the United States has welcomed in past years, a demand for full democracy would not be particularly consistent anyway.

The purpose for snubbing Spain would seem to be a design to force Spain to move against the Franco dictatorship. Or to make Franco see that he can do his country more good if he would step aside and take his dictatorship with him.

Deflation: Economy Enemy Number One —

In a few short months, the nation's political drama has changed economic backdrops. Prop men have removed inflation's trappings — credit controls, talk of higher taxes — and have wheeled on stage deflation's scenery — all-around caution, talk of economy and balanced budgets.

President Truman's state-of-the-union request for a $4-billion tax increase became a dead issue a very few weeks after it was born. Tax legislation experts in congress preferred to "wait and see". Still the administration persisted in its demands for inflation controls.

The President himself was one of the last to admit that, perhaps, deflation will be the big economic worry this year. He did so in dramatic fashion; he suggested that congress trim $157.8-million from the proposed $5,430,000,000 installment of the Marshall plan.

His reasoning was simple enough price drops in the U.S. meant Europeans could buy all the goods they wanted and needed with less money. Nearly everyone in congress has concurred with Mr. Truman's view — some to the extent of wanting to strip $2-billion from the ERP appropriation.

The 1946 loan to Britain stands as a shining example behind the politicians' economy reasoning. The U.S. loan sent $3,750,000,000 to Britain to be used over a period of several years. But inflation had different ideas. Sky-high U.S. prices absorbed the British loan back in a year and a half. In terms of the 1946 dollar, the British were receiving 71 cents worth of goods in mid-1947, or $2,776,000,000 in goods for their $3,750,000.

Since the same process is working today — in reverse — ERP members can get along with less money. Especially if the downturn in U.S. prices is just beginning.

Domestically, the economy sentiment doesn't split down party lines. Such freshman "fair deal" senators as Humphrey of Minnesota and Douglas of Illinois are urging economies. They claim congress can afford to leave untouched the six cents of the budget dollar earmarked for social welfare, health and security measures if it would start paring the 34 cents of the budget dollar checked off for defense spending.

The Hoover commission reports are also in the economy picture. For instance, the commission figures that a streamlined defense department could save the nation $1.5-billion a year.

Senate debate on government reorganization begins this week. The urge to economize may go a long way toward drowning out the "hands off" cries of political vested interests.

Whatever happens from here on in, one thing is definitely settled in political circles — deflation is economic enemy number one.

Letters to the Editor

(Readers are invited to express opinion in Letters to the Editor. All letters must include hand written signature and address — type-written signature not acceptable. Letters become the property of The Daily Iowan; we reserve the right to edit or withhold letters. We suggest letters be limited to 300 words or less. Opinions expressed do not necessarily represent those of The Daily Iowan.)

TO THE EDITOR: Of all the trips I ever read in my life, the article "Spain Doesn't Balance" in Saturday's Iowan certainly takes the prize.

So Communist Russia is our enemy? So we show it by being real chummy and sending over an ambassador to chew the fat with them and get us in deeper all the time? So Spain is a friend we are too cowardly to acknowledge? So Spain fought and ousted the Communists alone (no thanks to us) at terrific sacrifice, therefore she is undemocratic? So Spain should relax all her restrictions and let the Communists take over again as they have done in Hungary, Poland, Romania and wherever they could inch a foothold?

So we should let the Communists have Gibraltar, the spot they have been avidly trying to get these many years? So we condemn Franco because he resisted Hitler's demands for that strategic rock and made VE Day possible for us?

When presumably intelligent and educated people, such as I take the editor of The Daily Iowan to be, fall for such idiotic and illogical arguments as are contained in Grafton's article, I really don't know just what can be expected of the rest of the world. The Communists will probably take us over in the not too far future. It would be simply our just deserts.

An article like Samuel Grafton's could be inspired by nothing except a secret sympathy for communism and a hidden hostility to the religious forces that are opposing it.

Years with conviction, Mary Edna Mahan

Columnist Grafton's thesis can be taken from his statement: "... nobody in the world thinks we really like Communist Russia, but plenty of people have lots of doubts as to how we really feel toward Fascist Spain."

Instead of giving his own solution to the problem, Grafton kicks around a few philosophical arguments to counter the stand that we ought to send Madrid an ambassador because we sent Moscow one.

The big issue is one of fighting totalitarianism — be it communism or fascism — and if that means talking with Stalin and ignoring Franco then the end makes the means consistent.

— The Editor

which he recommends. I have found all season that is the more sensible course. Having seen the Patriots the other night, I would like to take issue with Mr. Sennish on his major points of criticism.

I believe, too often, Mr. Sennish comes to the theatre ill-equipped to prepare an adequate and just criticism and from that "point of departure" becomes carried away by his attempts at clever denunciation.

Speaking of the play as a piece of writing Mr. Sennish says: "It over-herozes its heroes until great men become paste-board figures." If Mr. Sennish will take the trouble to read the play I think that he will find it a "good reading" play and that the opposite is true of the historical figures — they cease to be mere legendary names with Sidney Kingsley's handling of them as farmers, men of ordinary humors and gentlemen of varied interests.

In reference to the dialogue, Mr. Sennish makes the observation that "the lines read like official proclamations" and, "Mr. Kingsley is at greater ease along the East River than the Potomac."

Reading into the papers of Hamilton and Jefferson, Mr. Sennish will find that an amazing amount of the dialogue is a direct lift from the actual conversation of the men with a judicious selection on the part of playwright Kingsley. Jefferson took great pains to set down in writing many of the incidents of the time for his own record.

The language of the day was heavily flavored with eloquent decoration, therefore when a dramatic account of the period is done in a florid style it is an attempt to capture the mood of that period. To denigrate the language to the style Mr. Sennish apparently wishes for would be to take away the realism of a period drama.

I thought particularly ironic, was a more mature critic's comment on the play (Life, March 8, 1943). "The Patriots lifts the characters of Washington, Jefferson and Hamilton from dusty schoolbooks and makes them exciting personalities."

This, in contrast to Mr. Sennish who felt that it "poses the period in question about as colorfully and dramatically as our high school history notes and about as accurately."

Orazio Fumagalli, G.

Critic Sennish bases his arguments for historical inaccuracies on Claude Bowers' "Hamilton and Jefferson." He also points out that the play ran for less than 5 months on Broadway.

TO THE EDITOR:

This past theater season, I have made it a habit to read Mr. Sennish's reviews and take action in the opposite direction from that

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT No American Has a Pimple

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

I am not very good at writing commercials, even free ones, but I urge you by all means to see "Home of the Brave".

This film will not solve the Negro problem, and it doesn't pretend to, but that is no criticism, since playwrights' answers are not usually decisive, anyway. What's important is that it sets the movies to talking about the position of the Negro in our life. Any film that does that has got to be important, and it is doubly important in 1949, because it indicates that perhaps we are not going downhill into reaction as completely as we thought, and that maybe our health is better than we knew.

I ADMIT it gives you a funny feeling to see a movie suddenly go to work on the question of Negro sufferings at the hands of white prejudice. It is like seeing a golden-haired child look up from her dolls and make an acute observation about the dollar shortage in international exchange.

THE THING is that the question of race relations is the key to how we stand with ourselves and with our consciences in this postwar period. If race relations deteriorate, or even stand still, and if the subject finds little mention in key mediums, that will demonstrate beyond question that we have sunk into a kind of numb rightist orthodoxy.

If, in the movies of the middle of this century, no American has a race problem (just as, in the movies, no American ever has a pimple) that will be a sign that, in addition to whatever else we may be fleeing from, we are fleeing from ourselves. If, however, these subjects come to the forefront of our attention, and stay there, that will be a sign that we are trying to find the right way to live, instead of merely trying to live — and the latter occupation is much inferior to the former.

I KNOW that other movies on the Negro problem are being projected, and that there have been fine films on anti-semitism, and what it all adds up to is that the movies are finding out that fleeing from ourselves is, on the whole, not very entertaining.

All our good novelists, from F. Scott Fitzgerald on, have been giving testimony that the periods in which we have most devotedly tried to feel from ourselves, such as the twenties, are precisely the periods in which we have succeeded only in boring ourselves silly.

There is a fallacy embedded in the entertainment business, and it runs to the effect that the only way you can stir up the people's interest is to present them with material that is in no way important to them. The makers of "Home of the Brave" have discovered that, in terms of creating fascinated attention, an important theme is at least as good as two additional scrip writers and the loan of a star.

SO, I SAY, go see "Home of the Brave." It is not the decisive picture on the subject, but it does not exactly say e-a-t spells cat, either.

The answer it finds for the hero's problem, which is a social problem, are too individual, leaving larger aspects untouched. But, in its grim way setting it does throw light, thrillingly and dramatically, on the way the emotionally unkept in a dominant race can strive for psychological compensations by expressing disdainful racial attitudes.

It brings nearer that happy day when the makers of our entertainment are going to learn to keep our interest by presenting us with material which is of interest to us.

Trout Fisherman Hooks Owl, Throws It Back

SYDNEY (AP) — Australian trout fisherman Rupert Hodge made an unusual catch at Woori Yallock, Victoria, recently. He made a cast with a dry fly late in the evening and a big brown owl swooped down and took the fly in mid-air. The bird was brought down heavily in the stream and tangled Hodge's line badly. He got it to the bank after a struggle and released it from the hook.

Rocket-Jet Plane Makes Flight

EL SEGUNDO, CAL. (AP) — The needle-nosed Douglas D-558-2 Skyrocket successfully zoomed aloft for its maiden trial under simultaneous rocket and jet power, the navy department's bureau of aeronautics revealed yesterday. The transonic, sleek plane, nicknamed "The Flying Swordfish," made what is believed to be one of the first flights ever attempted under dual rocket and jet power at the Muroc, Cal., airforce test center.

the advanced sequel to the navy's D-558 Skystreak, straight-winged red jet which within five days in August, 1947 shattered the world speed record twice.

Veteran test pilot Gene May said the skystreak is refined to the nth degree, extremely stable, "yet as sensitive and light as an arrow. I thought the skystreak was a dream plane, but the 'rocket's flying qualities are without parallel." It is one of the first sonic research planes of its type capable of taking off, flying and landing under its own power.

Young FDR Favored in NY Congress Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Once-powerful Tammany hall and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who is bucking it, ended a bitter, no-holds-barred political campaign last night to decide Manhattan's 20th district congressman.

The winner, to be chosen in today's special election, will succeed to the house seat made vacant by the death of veteran Democratic Congressman Sol Bloom.

Four candidates waged a spirited campaign in the hectic race. But young Roosevelt and Tammany's candidate—Municipal Court Justice Benjamin Shalleck—are favored in most quarters as the top-heavy contenders.

The two other candidates are William H. McIntyre, Republican and Dr. Annett T. Rubenstein, American Labor party. Both waged little more than token campaigns and neither is given much chance. Miss Rubenstein is supported by the Communist party and Henry Wallace's Progressive party.

The 35-year-old Roosevelt is the first of the sons of the late president to seek public office. Lanky, affable and handsome, his campaign has drawn large crowds in the district on Manhattan's teeming west side.

Venerable Tammany hall and its leaders, who denied Roosevelt the Democratic nomination in the race, have been his major targets. The Tammany tiger, in turn, has roared back that Roosevelt is an "interloper" in the district and a "playboy" using the "glorious name" of his father to further his own political ambitions.

Denied the Democratic nomination, Roosevelt is running on the Liberal party and Four Freedoms tickets.

SUI Buys Property From Dey Family

SUI has purchased the property and old homestead of the Peter A. Dey family here, President Virgil M. Hancher said yesterday.

The property, which is situated north of Currier hall on the Iowa river, has long been the home of the pioneer Dey family. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dey and Mrs. Curtis Dey will retain a life estate in the property and will continue to occupy the home and property, Hancher said.

Hancher did not say how SUI would use the property when full title is obtained.

The purchase was approved by the Iowa state executive council, Hancher said.

Holloway to Head Sociology Council

Officers for the academic year 1949 to 1950 were named by the SUI graduate sociology majors at their last meeting of the current year Sunday night.

Ralph S. Holloway, G. Iowa City, was named president and George R. Ragland Jr., G. Oklahoma City, Okla., secretary-treasurer.

In other actions the group named the club the Graduate Council of Sociological research and reformulated the policies to guide future activities and programs of the council.

1949 DeSoto Convertible is Long, Low-Slung

LONG, LOW-LINES feature the 1949 De Soto Custom convertibles now on display. Latest of the De Soto models, the convertible follows the general change in design of the De Soto, Chrysler, Plymouth and Dodge automobiles in 1949. The car's exterior and interior have been designed to harmonize throughout. There is a large full-vision rear window in the electrically-operated top.

Weber, Fitzpatrick, Former Residents, Die of Heart Attacks

Word has been received here of the deaths of two former Iowa City residents, the brother and son of Mrs. Mary Bothell, 214 1-2 S. Dubuque street.

They were Edward Weber, Mrs. Bothell's brother, who died in Omaha, Neb., and her son, Bert Fitzpatrick, of Denver, Colo.

Mr. Weber died of a heart attack shortly after his release from an Omaha hospital where he had been recuperating from a broken hip suffered in automobile accident last December.

Mr. Fitzpatrick died of a heart attack on a train near Yuma, Colo., Sunday afternoon. He was en route from Denver to Omaha to take charge of funeral arrangements for his uncle.

Mr. Fitzpatrick left Iowa City about 25 years ago. He was employed in Denver as a bank examiner.

Another sister, Mrs. A.B. Frisbie, 9 E. Burlington street, also survives Mr. Weber.

Geologist Hits Idea Of Ice Cap Wealth

PALO ALTO, CALIF. (AP)—Dr. Arthur D. Howard, a geologist of the navy's 1946-47 Antarctic expedition, yesterday ridiculed the belief that the frozen continent offers untold resources to the world.

He told a group of Stanford university alumni that:

1—The ice cap covering valuable ore and mineral deposits will take tens of thousands of years to melt.

2—When it does melt its water will be returned to the seas and so raise the sea level that not only vast coastal areas of the Antarctic but such cities as San Francisco, New York and Shanghai will be inundated.

Dr. Howard said "of course, we won't have to worry about this, it's too far in the future."

Graduating Medical Students To Intern All Over Country

Fifty-seven seniors in the SUI college of medicine have accepted internships commencing July 1, 1949.

The students will receive their doctor of medicine degrees at the SUI commencement exercises to be held June 10, 1949.

Seven of the seniors will take up internships in Iowa hospitals. Fifty have accepted internships in hospitals of 18 other states and the District of Columbia.

Phillips Says His Dismissal Attacks Rights

Former Professor H.J. Phillips declared last night that his dismissal from the University of Washington faculty because of Communist activities was "an attack on the freedom of speech" in America.

Speaking in the chemistry auditorium before about 150 students, Phillips repeatedly stated he does not believe in the violent overthrow of our existing form of government. But we recognize that socialism is spreading over the world, he stated.

Phillips was dismissed last winter from the University of Washington because of his membership in the Communist party. He is currently touring the country seeking support of his convictions and trying to raise funds to carry his case into the courts.

Phillips was introduced by Prof. Bernard Baum of the English department who stated Phillips' case was a sign of the "progressive decay of freedom" in America.

The graying philosopher said his dismissal was arrived at by the University of Washington's president who said Communist membership made him "incompetent." Incompetence is one of the basic reasons under which faculty members at the university can be dismissed, he said. It is this charge he wishes to refute and gain reinstatement on the faculty.

Phillips stated "we Communists are jubilant" about the successful policies of Russia in achieving the spread of socialism in eastern Europe.

He stressed that the transition to socialism in the United States must be a peaceful expression of "the will of the people." He said the American Communist party is not affiliated with any other Communist party and does not advocate any "coup d'etat" form of violence.

In an interview before the speech, Phillips said the reason he is a Communist is because he believes in the party's political philosophy. Concerning the current trial of Communist leaders in New York, he said the trial is an "infringement on the rights" of these people.

Defends His Position as Communist

Panhandle Tornado Kills Four, Causes $3-Million Damage

AMARILLO, TEX. (AP) — Damage estimates edged past $3-million yesterday in the wake of a tornado which whiplashed the panhandle city, killing four, and then skipped 80 miles north to flatten some of Texas' richest wheatland.

Eighty-three persons were injured and 350 homes demolished or destroyed by the skipping howling twister which mangled 35 blocks in the southern section Sunday night.

The four dead were Mrs. Lois Martin, 30; George A. McPherson, 67, and his 56-year-old wife, and Mrs. Charles Mesarang, 30.

Damage to homes alone was estimated by Mickey Maguire, president of the Texas Panhandle Home Builders association, at more than $2,500,000.

Wind-driven rain and bruising hailstones as big as a man's fist accompanied the tornado.

"The storm hit those who could afford it least," said Maguire. About 90 of the homes destroyed belonged to war veterans. Few had insurance on their personal possessions and furniture. Much of it was smashed to rubbish.

The tornado — first destructive twister in the city's 62-year-old history — struck about 8:25 p.m. (CST). A rumbling like a dozen freight cars preceded it.

The I.J. Parks family took a flying trip — in their own house. Parks, his wife and three children crawled under a bed.

"Then we heard a roar and then I felt the house being lifted up. We were twirling through the air. I figured we were all dead ducks."

"I don't remember the landing, because it knocked me and my wife out," he said.

Parks regained consciousness to find his house had been blown half a block. The entire family was hospitalized but all escaped critical injury.

J.W. Persefield told of trying to flag down a car which he saw go up and down a street near which his family was huddled. He quit trying — when he saw that the car was being blown, and carried no driver.

Kiwanis to Award Local Scholarship

Car Damages Total $433 —

Traffic Accidents Injure Two

Two persons were injured in traffic accidents reported yesterday, according to police, and estimated damage to four of the seven cars involved totaled $433.

Sandra Sue Shaffer, 10, 828 E. Church street, suffered abrasions on the elbow and ankle when she was struck by a car driven by Emerson Wirtz, A2, Boone, near the intersection of College and Linn streets yesterday at 4:55 p.m., police said.

Mrs. Elise E. Barker, passenger in a car driven by F.M. Barker, 727 E. Washington, received a sprained neck and back, police reported, when the car in which she was riding was involved in an accident on the Burlington street bridge Sunday at 11 a.m.

Barker estimated $50 damage to his car and told police the other car involved, driven by Robert Kennedy, 616 Rundell street, had "extensive damage to the front."

Another traffic accident reported yesterday took place at the intersection of Iowa avenue and

Gilbert street Saturday at 3 p.m., according to police, causing $325 damage to the two cars involved.

Philip H. Ford, G, Sioux City, and Dick W. Kuehl, Davenport, were drivers involved. Ford estimated $250 damage to the left-front of Kuehl's car and $75 damage to the right-front end of his own station wagon.

An accident early yesterday morning caused $58 damage to one of the cars, police said.

Cars driven by Howard Krattel, 1104 E. Burlington street, and Olin W. Wellhouse, 228 S. Summit street, collided as the Krattel machine backed from an alley garage in the 110 block on Burlington street yesterday at 7:50 a.m.

Wellhouse's car received about $38 damage to the right-rear end. No damage to the Krattel car was reported, police said.

College of Dentistry To Sponsor Clinic

The first clinic to be held since the war by the SUI college of dentistry is scheduled for June 20, 21, and 22, Dean A.W. Bryan of the college of dentistry said yesterday. The meeting of the Alumni association will also be held then, he said.

The three-day conference is open to alumni and other practitioners in Iowa and will feature lectures and clinics. "Persons planning to attend the meetings will be able to make reservations for dormitory rooms," Bryan said.
