Berlin Delegates Stalemated; Strike End May Ease Scene

BERLIN (UP)—A four-power committee of experts failed yesterday to agree on plans for lifting the new Soviet blockade of Berlin. They sent separate reports to the big four foreign ministers conference in Paris.

The delegates hoped, however, that the situation would ease today when western Berlin's railway workers are expected to vote to call off their strike as demanded at the Paris conference.

Just over 25 percent of the workers must vote to return to work and end the strike. The foreign ministers in Paris had instructed American, British, French and Russian experts in Berlin to agree by midnight last night. The experts got nowhere in a six-hour talk yesterday and abruptly ended their meeting in the British military government headquarters. The Russians, the first to leave, were smiling as they emerged.

Yesterday's meeting appeared to be a repetition of the two earlier meetings when western delegates said they were discussing the same old problem in the same old way, unable to overcome Soviet insistence on retaining complete control over transport between Berlin and western Germany.

The fact that the four power experts ended their meeting before nightfall indicated they were not even close to an agreement. They had met three times in 48 hours, but at mid-afternoon they still were talking about rail transportation and had not even reached the problem of road and water transportation.

Coplon Trial May Hear Dr. Condon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Judith Coplon's attorney said last night he had subpoenaed Dr. E.U. Condon and his wife to testify at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the former government girl's espionage trial.

Mrs. Condon, whose husband heads the National Bureau of Standards, was mentioned in secret FBI documents introduced at the trial, along with Actors Fredric March, Edward G. Robinson and a number of other prominent persons.

The government will oppose Defense Attorney Archibald Palmer's efforts to put them on the witness stand on grounds that their testimony would have no bearing on the charges against Miss Coplon.

The government concluded yesterday its testimony against Miss Coplon who is accused of stealing FBI secrets for transmission to Moscow through Valentin A. Gubitchev, suspended Russian employe of the United Nations.

DM Transit Strikers Vote Return to Work

DES MOINES (AP)—The Des Moines bus and street car strike was "interrupted" yesterday and union attorney Max Putnam said the drivers and motormen would return to work at once.

Putnam said "The strike is not over," and that the return to work was voted by union members "to attempt other means of getting their ends."

SUI Medical School Enlargement Costs Set at $1.5-Million

DES MOINES (AP)—Figures compiled by the University of Iowa show it would cost about $1.5-million to provide extra facilities necessary to bring enrollment in the medical school up to 120 students annually.

The figures were presented yesterday to the legislative interim committee which had called for detailed estimates. The 1949 legislature had suggested that means be found to increase the number of medical students so as to provide more doctors for Iowa communities. Present facilities at the university provide for about 90 students a year.

The estimates given to the interim committee were for capital improvements and equipment. They did not include additions to the teaching staff which would require further annual expense.

The cost of personnel to teach the additional students would be about $230,000 a year, the figures showed.

Appearing before the committee were Dean M.H. Soley of the medical school; Carlyle Jacobsen, executive dean of health sciences and services; Dr. Gerhard Hartman, superintendent of University hospitals; Fred Ambrose, superintendent of grounds, and four members of the state board of education.

The university officials also presented a compilation of capital improvement funds which had been voted for the institution by the last three legislatures.

Questions Confusing To Mrs. Chambers

NEW YORK (AP)—A rapid-fire cross examination so confused Mrs. Whittaker Chambers yesterday that she became uncertain when and where she last saw Alger Hiss.

Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman called a five minute halt at one point in the Hiss perjury trial to give her a chance to "think it over."

Last week, Mrs. Chambers testified she entertained Hiss and his wife at a wedding anniversary in December, 1937, and that she was a guest at the Hiss home for a New Year's eve party Dec. 31, 1937.

The dates are vital because Hiss told a grand jury that he did not see Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937.

The grand jury accused him of perjury and added a second count to the indictment when Hiss said he never gave Chambers state department secrets.

McMahon, Oppenheimer Discuss AEC Findings

ATOMIC SCIENTIST J. ROBERT OPPENHEIMER and Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn.) (left) talk over findings of the joint congressional committee which is investigating management of the atomic energy commission. McMahon is chairman of the committee before which Oppenheimer appeared yesterday as a witness.

A-Bomb Scientists Testify AEC Security Measures Well Kept

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, who helped develop the A-bomb, testified yesterday that the atomic energy commission has "sweated blood" to safeguard the nation's atomic secrets.

"And it has come up with about as good an answer as is obtainable," the scientist told a senate-house investigating committee.

Joining in the defense of AEC Chairman David E. Lillenthal, the AEC's nine-man scientific advisory committee praised Lillenthal's regime as having produced "a sound and forward-looking program."

The senate-house group is conducting hearings on charges by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) that Lillenthal is responsible for "incredible mismanagement" of the atomic program.

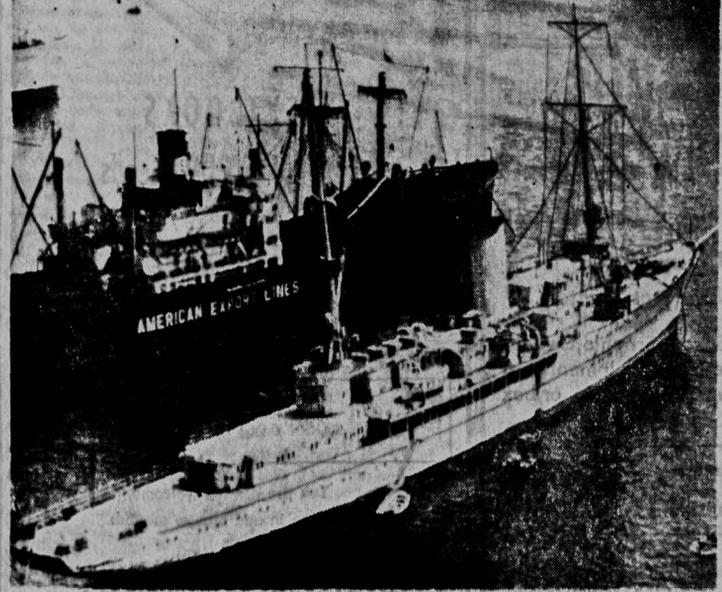

Late yesterday, after a two-hour session behind closed doors, the joint committee voted to let Hickenlooper present his charge at an open session Wednesday that "mismanagement" is involved in the highly secret atomic plant at Hanford, Wash.

The committee also approved Hickenlooper's request that atomic pictures appearing in Fortune magazine last January and in the AEC's 5th annual report be submitted to Secretary of Defense Johnson "for comment on any breach of security."

The pictures came under congressional criticism on the senate floor by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.), who said they would be of great value to an enemy in determining details of atomic installations. AEC officials have contended that most of the pictures had already been published before they appeared in Fortune or in the report.

Speaking on the risk of shipping atom-bombarded isotopes abroad, he said even if the isotopes fell into Russian hands, "I know of no way" in which the Soviets could use them to make weapons.

Hitler's Yacht Due to Arrive in U.S. Tomorrow

(AP Wirephoto)

THE GRILLE, Hitler's yacht, is due to arrive in New York City tomorrow where it will be exhibited to the public. The luxurious vessel was built at an estimated cost of $4-million as a "gift" to Hitler from the German people. Now owned by George Arida, British textile executive, the 3,873-ton yacht is making her first trans-Atlantic crossing.

Lewis Opens Talks With Captive Mines

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—With the entire coal industry shut down by his order, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, opened bargaining with U.S. Steel yesterday for a contract covering captive soft coal miners.

In the second phase of his negotiations with the industry, Lewis met with executives of the H. C. Frick Coke company, a subsidiary of U.S. Steel which operates its captive mines.

They conferred for a total of three hours and then adjourned for 10 days — until June 23 when they will meet again at a place to be announced.

PREDICTS PRICE RISE
CHICAGO (AP)—A spokesman for a wholesale grocer association said yesterday canned fruit and vegetable prices will rise in the late summer and fall.

Council Gets 575 Meters

Iowa City aldermen late last night passed a resolution to accept a lease from a parking meter corporation to furnish 575 meters with option to buy after a trial period.

Purpose of the resolution was to provide more parking space for customers of Iowa City stores and for university students. Another purpose was to raise funds for additional off-street parking lots.

A motion by Alderman Wilber J. Teeters to table the resolution was voted down.

According to the resolution, three-hour meters would be located on Washington street from Capitol to Madison streets and from Linn to Gilbert streets, and Iowa avenue from Linn to Gilbert streets. Jefferson street from Capitol to Clinton streets and the south side of Jefferson street from Clinton to Gilbert streets. Clinton street from Jefferson street to Iowa avenue, and Du- buque from Jefferson street to Iowa avenue.

Two-hour meters would be placed on Capitol street from Burlington to Washington streets, Iowa avenue from Clinton to Linn streets, and Linn streets from College to Washington streets and from the police department alley to Iowa avenue.

Dubuque street from Court to Burlington streets; College street from Clinton to Capitol streets; Clinton street, west side from Court to Burlington streets and north half of the east side of Clinton streets to Burlington street.

In other action earlier in the evening, councilmen tabled a proposed ordinance to regulate traffic speed in the Woodlawn subdivision in the east part of Iowa City.

Tucker to Concede To Court Charges

CHICAGO (AP)—Preston Tucker Sr., president of an automobile firm organized to produce a rearing engine automobile, will surrender on an indictment charging mail fraud and conspiracy Wednesday his lawyer said yesterday.

Tucker, who was indicted with seven associates last week, had been scheduled to surrender yesterday to post bond. But Frank McAdams, Tucker's attorney, said he would ask that Tucker's appearance be delayed for two days.

The indictment was returned by a federal grand jury last week after a lengthy investigation of the Tucker firm's $25-million collapse and its failure to get into production.

Big 4 Talks May Bring Berlin Truce

He's the Only Man in His 'Class'

WATERVILLE, ME. (AP)—The man who, by his own admission, flunked geometry nine straight terms in high school—Al Capp—was called to the hallowed halls of Colby college here to receive an honorary Master of Arts degree yesterday.

In presenting the honor to the creator of the "Li'l Abner" comic strip, Dr. Julius S. Bixler, president of Colby, said: "He has been likened to Dickens, Swift, Voltaire and Hogarth. Actually, he is sui generis (in a class by himself). He can be compared to only one person—Al Capp."

See Continued Split Germany

PARIS (AP)—A partial settlement to bring a truce to east-west strife in Berlin appeared last night to be growing out of secret big four talks.

The west also bid for a settlement on an Austrian treaty in a drive to end the deadlocked council of foreign minister sessions with at least some success.

Sources previously proved reliable said that big four were making progress toward an accord on the Berlin matter, and that Russia was backing down completely from her position on Austria. American sources were less optimistic on Austria, however.

These sources said it was hoped to end the Paris meetings by Friday, and there was talk of another meeting in New York in September.

The western powers were reported awaiting a reply from the Kremlin on their proposals on Berlin and Austria.

It would be a "live and let live" agreement which would not touch the main points of disagreement. There still would be a divided Germany, Berlin would still have two administrations, two kinds of money and two of nearly everything else.

But the arrangement would allow the two political camps to do business with each other, and it might allow a lessening of tension.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin was said to have made the first move in a two-hour meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky Saturday. He asked Vishinsky to present his minimum demands.

It was reported Vishinsky said Russia wanted increased trade for her zone with west Germany and a single east-mark currency for all Berlin.

Bevin was quoted as saying Russia's wishes on trade could be arranged in return for Soviet guarantees in writing of free access to Berlin from the western zones.

Multi-Billion Slash In Spending Asked
WASHINGTON (AP)—Nineteen senators, representing both parties joined yesterday in sponsoring a resolution directing President Truman to cut federal spending by $2-billion to $4-billion.

The reductions would be made in funds provided for the next fiscal year which starts July 1. To become effective the resolution would have to win the approval of both houses of congress and the President himself.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the expenditures committee, introduced the resolution after it was backed by a vote of 8 to 2 in the committee. He invited all other senators to join him as sponsors and 18 quickly added their names.

Demos Push Farm Program for 1950

DES MOINES (AP)—A conference of Democratic leaders from 16 midwestern states voted unanimously yesterday to endorse the Truman Administration's new farm program and to seek election of a congress in 1950 committed to its passage.

This action came after Truman leaders suggested that the present congress continue existing wartime farm programs pending a voter test on the administration's farm proposal.

"We accept the challenge of the Republican leadership," said a resolution, "to make the farm programs offered by the two parties a major issue of the election campaign of 1950 in the midwest."

The conference resolution — like Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, a major speaker at the sessions — condemned the so-called Aiken long-range farm program of the Republican 80th congress as inadequate protection to rural prosperity.

Vice President Barkley, addressing a meeting crowd estimated by leaders at 2,500, pleaded for unity of labor and agriculture on economic problems affecting both.

"He who seeks to array farmers and workers against one another is not a friend of either," Barkley said.

Outlining a history of farm aid legislation passed by Democratic administrations, the Vice President said farmers could count only upon his party for programs aimed at maintaining farm stability.

The conference — made up of party officials from the broad midwestern corn-livestock-wheat belt — prepared to throw its support behind the Brannan plan and to make it an issue in the coming elections.

The Brannan plan is designed to support farm income at a "prosperity" level, but at the same time to provide consumers with lower prices for perishable foods — especially meats, dairy and poultry products — when there are surpluses. It would use government payments to assure desired farm cash returns.

Stock Market Drop Lowest Since 1945

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market plunged to a 4 1-2-year low yesterday.

Resistance to one of the worst declines of the year was tissue-paper thin.

The market value of all stocks listed on the exchange was chopped down more than $1-billion.

Individual stocks lost fractions to more than 2 points — one as much as 7 1-2 — and many sold at their post-war lows.

Not since January, 1945, has the general level of stock prices descended so low.

Ike Opposes Truman's Federal School Aid Bill
WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower yesterday came out against President Truman's aid-to-education bill. He said the greatest threat to the nation's freedom comes from those urging more powers for the federal government.

In a letter to Rep. Ralph W. Gwinn (R-NY) the Columbia university president said he was not against federal aid to poorer states, but would "flatly oppose" any bill applying to all the states.

BEBUILDING AND CONFUSION were less evident than formerly yesterday as students began registering at the Fieldhouse for the "sizzling hot" summer session of 1949. Students with last names beginning with A through H registered yesterday starting at 1 p.m. The remainder of the students will complete registration today.

Bruner Signs With White Sox

Iowa Hurler Inks 2-Year Pact; Will Play With Waterloo Club

Jack Bruner, Iowa's fireball pitcher and holder of the all time Big Ten strike out record, signed a bonus contract with the Chicago White Sox yesterday at his home in Waterloo.

The amount of the bonus was not disclosed although it is understood one team had offered him $30,000.

The 24-year-old lefthander signed a two-year pact with the Sox for a salary calling for $12,500. He will report to the Waterloo White Hawks on Friday, the day they return from a road trip.

The White Hawks are a member of the Three-I league, class B loop in the Chicago White Sox farm system.

As a bonus player Bruner must be brought up to the parent club next spring or be subject to the baseball draft. Under draft regulations he could be purchased by the major league club with first call for the wavier price — $10,000.

Bruner hurled the Hawkeys to a first place tie for Big Ten honors this past season, winning five and losing one in conference games. It was Iowa's first ball crown since sharing the title with Michigan in 1942.

His 66 strikeouts eclipsed the conference record of 62 set by Marvin Rotblatt of Illinois. His one league loss was a heart-breaking 13-inning game against Northwestern, 10-8, on seven unearned runs.

During the season several major league scouts attended Iowa games and long before the season ended it was apparent Bruner would put his name to a major league contract.

He was signed by White Sox Scout Fred Shaffer, but the business end of the deal was made by Bruner's father, John R. Bruner.

During the season Bruner hurled 71 2-3 innings, gave up 19 runs, 37 hits and 35 bases on balls. Counting non-conference games he struck out 79 batters and had a win and loss record of six and two.

Ezzard Cancels Drill Because of Slight Cut

MOMENCE, ILL. (AP) — Ezzard Charles has cancelled his scheduled boxing drill today because of a slight cut under his right eye.

"It's only a scratch," Manager Jake Mintz said yesterday. "But it could be worse, and we are not going to take chances."

Charles got the cut when he bumped heads with one of his sparring mates. Trainer Jimmy Brown said Charles would resume drills Thursday and box daily through Monday on the last leg of his conditioning schedule for the NBA heavyweight title bout with Jersey Joe Walcott June 22 in Comiskey park.

Baseball Immortals Honored

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, praised sports as a road away from war to peace yesterday in accepting five bronze plaques of baseball heroes for the national baseball hall of fame.

Honored in sun-drenched, informal ceremonies on a flag-draped wooden stand in front of the ivy-covered Hall of Fame were Mordcaev (Three Finger) Peter Brown, Charles A. (Kid) Nichols, Herbert J. Pennock, Charles I. Gehring, and Harold J. (Pie) Traynor. The plaques in the hall now number 58.

Brown and Pennock are dead. Gehring could not be present. Only the 79-year-old Nichols, and the 49-year-old Traynor were on hand.

The "unveiling" of the plaques consisted of placing each on a big cube surmounted by a baseball, and turning it so that the shirt-sleeved crowd of 1,000 standing on the old street could see it. Rickey extolled each star in turn. "Three Finger" Brown was praised for his record as a National and Federal league pitcher in winning 239 games and losing 130 back at the turn of the century.

Gehring, Detroit second baseman from 1924-1942, was termed by Rickey "a man of mechanical precision, obscure (so far as) showmanship was concerned, but a very great player."

Herb Pennock, the great American league pitcher who died last year, was called "a lovely character, modesty itself, and great."

Traynor, the Pittsburgh Pirate immortal, was called a "mechanically perfect third baseman, a man of intellectual worth on the field of play."

Kid Nichols, said Rickey,

Senators Beat Bucs In Annual Exhibition At Cooperstown, 8-7

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — The Washington Senators defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-7, yesterday in a casual exhibition of the national sport on the hallowed baseball field where it was born 110 years ago.

The victory brought to three the American league wins in the series which began in 1940. The National league has won five.

Dick Weik pitched steady ball for the winners but home runs by Wally Westlake, Dixie Walker and Eddie Bockman accounted for five Pirate scores.

These big smashes, plus another by the Senators' Clyde Vollmer, thrilled the typical small town crowd of 6,500 that invaded the playing field for autographs between innings.

The Senators opened up with a bang, scoring four runs on three hits in the first inning. The Pirates made their bid in the fifth when Bockman's home run put the National leaguers ahead, 6 to 5.

Washington, however, sewed it up in the last of the fifth when, with two out, singles by Gil Chan, Sherry Robertson and Ed Stewart set up three runs.

AT THE HALL OF FAME in Cooperstown, N.Y., are Harold J. (Pie) Traynor (left) and Charles A. (Kid) Nichols (right), where they are immortalized in baseball's famous shrine. Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, greeted them at the ceremony yesterday. Traynor, 49, hit .320 while third baseman for Pittsburgh from 1920 to 1937. Nichols, 79, won 360 games and lost 202 while pitching in the National League.

"was one of the great pitchers of the olden days" to which the Kid replied that "I appreciate what they have done for me."

As part of the ceremonies, the estate of Babe Ruth presented a collection of his silver trophies to the Hall of Fame, and also a glove and shoe he had worn now cast in bronze.

At the conclusion, the first spade was turned starting work on a new addition to the hall, doubling its size.

JACK BRUNER, mainstay of the Iowa pitching staff, yesterday signed a contract with the Chicago White Sox, calling for $12,500 over a two year period. The Waterloo fastballer was signed in his home town and will pitch for the White Sox three-I league farm club in Waterloo. Bruner received a bonus for signing, the exact amount of which wasn't revealed.

Irish Wallop Western Michigan To Win NCAA District 4 Title

SOUTH BEND, IND. (AP) — All of Notre Dame's runs came in bunches of three yesterday as the Irish pounded Western Michigan, 9-1, to win the National Collegiate Athletic Association's district four baseball playoff.

Southpaw Pitcher Jack Campbell scattered six Broncho hits as his Irish teammates found the range for 10 safeties off three Western Michigan hurlers.

Two of the Broncho hits were singles in the first inning that produced the only run for the Mid-American conference champions. The uprising began after Dick Groggel walked with two outs. A single by First Baseman Don Boven advanced him to second and Groggel coasted home behind another single by Ted Plaza.

Notre Dame regained the lead quickly with the aid of wildness by Starting Pitcher Gene Schlukebir and two fielding miscues by the Western Michigan infield.

The Irish grabbed another trio of counters in the second inning on a walk, a double by Lavery, a triple by Tom Martin and a single by Dick Giedlin.

Giedlin, big Irish first baseman, started the last run spurge with a triple in the fifth frame. A walk and another triple by Campbell, his second hit in his own cause, drove in two of the three runs.

The victory gave the Irish the right to play host to Wake Forest, NCAA district three champions, in a best-of-two-of-three regional playoff series starting here Friday.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals announced yesterday that Baseball Commissioner A.B. Chandler will award Outfielder Stan Musial the Kenesaw Mountain Landis plaque here June 26.

Giants Trade Cooper to Cincy

Bosox Swap Harris, Mele for Masterson

NEW YORK (AP) — The Boston Red Sox traded two of their former stars to Washington yesterday for Pitcher Walt Masterson and the New York Giants shipped Walker Cooper, once the National league's top catcher, to the Cincinnati Reds for Receiver Ray Mueller.

Letty Mickey Harris, mainstay on the Red Sox's 1946 pennant winning team and Outfielder Sam Mele, rookie stand-out of 1947, went to the Senators.

No cash changed hands in the Cooper-Mueller trade and a Washington official said no money was involved in the deal with the Red Sox. Reports from Boston, however, indicated that once again Sox Owner Tom Yawkey shelled out plenty of cash to bolster his club.

The Giants appeared ready to unload their other regular catcher, Mickey Livingston, too. Livingston was left behind in New York as the Giants left for Cincinnati. There was a report that he would be traded to Pittsburgh for Catcher Clyde McCullough or might go to the Chicago White Sox.

Livingston said he didn't know why he was left behind

Tunnell Signs Contract; To Be in Top Backfield

NEW YORK (AP) — Emlen Tunnell, former University of Iowa halfback, has signed his 1949 contract with the New York Giants of the National football league, Club President John V. Mara announced yesterday.

Mara said Head Coach Steve Owen planned to use the former Iowa star in the Giants' No. 1 offensive backfield next fall. Tunnell was used principally on defense last season, his first with the Giants.

City Cardinals Drop 4 Tilts

The Iowa City Cardinals, National Fastball league entrants, fell into the western division cellar over the weekend by dropping a pair of games each to Waukegan and Racine.

The pilots from Waukegan spilled the Iowa Citizens Sunday night, 1-0 and 5-3. In the opener Cardinal Pitcher Paul Reberry matched the four hit pitching of Waukegan Hurler Stan Corgan, but his mates failed to score after loading the bases with one out in the sixth inning.

In the second game Waukegan bounced back in the bottom of the first inning to score four times after the Cardinals had grabbed a two-run lead.

Victim of the outburst was Howard Merryman, new Cardinal pitcher from Ft. Dodge.

Saturday night, Racine, unbeaten leaders of the western division, ran its string of victories to eight by dumping the Cardinals, 3-1 and 6-0.

Iowa City scored its lone run of the twin bill in the sixth inning of the opener when Clay Celbert's double and an error produced one tally.

Reberry gave up five hits in the first game while the Cardinals made three. While being blanked in the nightcap the Cards gathered only two safe knocks.

Tribe 3, Dodgers 2

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rookie Roberto Avila scored the winning run in the eighth inning on a double by Ken Keltner as the Cleveland Indians edged the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3-2, in an exhibition game last night.

Both teams were sprinkled with second stringers in the "amateur day" game played for the benefit of Cleveland's amateur baseball.

Williams, Robinson Top All-Star Poll; Kazak Gains Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie Eddie Kazak of the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday grabbed the lead among the National league's third basemen in the nation-wide poll to name the starting lineups for the all-star game at Brooklyn, July 12.

Kazak collected 4,043 votes from the first 14,951 ballots tabulated by the Chicago Tribune, sponsor of the poll. That gave the Cardinal player a 388 vote margin over New York third sacker Sid Gordon.

Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox outfielder, stayed in front as the top vote-getter with 6,817. Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn's second baseman, was next with 6,004 and Pittsburgh Outfielder Ralph Kiner third with 5,273.

The leaders:

Frisch, Grimm Hold Strategy Conference

CHICAGO (AP) — Frankie Frisch held a strategy meeting yesterday aboard the train which whisked him to his home debut as new manager of the Chicago Cubs against the Philadelphia Phillies today.

Frisch, accompanying the Cubs on the long overnight rail ride from Boston, was cloistered in a drawing room much of the way with the man he succeeded as field boss, Charley Grimm, and Richard (Red) Smith, scout and trading ambassador.

One of Frisch's first managerial gestures came after Sunday's double-header in Boston. On the train platform he paused before dejected Johnny Schmitz, who was knocked out of the box four straight times on the Cubs' painful road trip.

Frisch leaned over and gently thumped his fist on Schmitz's chin. "Keep your chin up, Johnny, boy," Frisch said, "you do the pitching. Let me do the worrying."

Masterson is all square at 3-3.

The departure of Cooper from the Polo Grounds has long been expected. Big Coop has been reported to be in Manager Leo Durocher's dog house for quite some time.

Only his past record as one of the best slugging catchers in the game has kept the 34-year-old vet in a Giant uniform this long.

Cooper's slowness of foot and his apparent lack of hustle, plus his weak .211 hitting mark were prime factors in the Giants' decision to send him away.

Mueller, 37, started his career in 1932 and played in the majors with the Boston Braves and Pittsburgh before Cincinnati purchased him from the Cardinals Sacramento farm club of the Pacific Coast league after the 1942 season. He broke into the majors with Boston in 1935.

Last 18 'Rough' On Vines

Tennis Champ Turned Golfer, Ellsworth Vines Places 14th in National Open Golf Meet

MEDINAH COUNTRY CLUB — Ellsworth Vines, the former tennis champ who turned golfer, failed badly on the last 18 holes of the 72-hole U.S. Open tournament here at Medinah country club Saturday afternoon. Vines registered from Iowa City.

Vines used 78 swings on that final 18 to tie with Harry Todd, Johnny Bulla and Lloyd Mangrum at 294. Starting the final play with 216, five strokes behind the man who won the championship, Carry Middlecoff, Vines found smooth sailing until the seventh hole.

His drive was out of bounds but his second off the tee was in good shape. Vines plunked the next shot in the sand trap and his recovery shot was about two feet from the pin. But the putt wouldn't go down and his score for the hole was six.

Vines' putting was off most of the afternoon. He said he had had at least half a dozen putts within five feet and couldn't drop one, that is, until the 13th hole.

It was on the 13th that Vines showed his best form. The hole is 445-yards and a straight drive that travels too far lands in the woods. A short drive wastes a stroke and a hook either way will land in the trees.

Vines' shot on 13th hole was just right, hooking slightly and cutting under a tree limb on one side of the fairway. The ball couldn't have been placed any better by hand.

His next shot carried to within five feet of the pin. When someone mentioned what a fine shot it was Vines turned and said, "it isn't good until you make it."

Then he calmly stepped up and putted. It went in and he had a birdie three.

The final hole—the 18th—gave him more trouble. His drive was straight down the middle but then came more sand trap trouble. Vines' trap shot went past the pin and nearly rolled off the green.

The first putt was short and when the ball finally dropped he had a 78 total for the 18 holes.

The tall, genial Vines collected $125 for his three days work. His next stop on the tournament trail will probably be Detroit's Motor City Open.

Generally, play over the 7,989-yard, par 71 layout was very good. Carry Middlecoff, the Memphis, Tenn. dentist, operated on the course with fine precision. In taking away the $2,000 first place money he outpointed Samuel Jackson Snead by one stroke.

It was a toss-up whether the largest gallery was following Snead or Middlecoff. Certainly Snead had the most enthusiastic crowd.

Their shouts and applause echoed across the fairways when the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. pro canned a putt. There were also signs of despair when he missed.

Middlecoff's following only looked with wonderment as the

Plans June Wedding

JUNE WEDDING PLANS HAVE BEEN MADE by Miss Ann Elzabeth Phillips and Leo M. Baker, Miss Phillips, a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Phillips of Muscatine, is a senior in the school of nursing at SUI and is a member of Gamma Phi Beta, social sorority. Mr. Baker, son of J. L. Baker of Galesburg, Ill., will enter law school at SUI this fall. The wedding will be June 26 at the First Presbyterian church in Muscatine.

Miss M. F. Cantrell Weds Dr. Campbell In Ceremony Here

In double ring wedding rites performed Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist church the former Miss Mary Frances Cantrell became the bride of Dr. Price Campbell.

The bride, a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C.M. Cantrell of Iowa City, and bridegroom, a son of Dr. and Mrs. Ray E. Campbell, of Louisville, Ky., were honored at a reception Sunday evening at the Cantrell home.

Robert Leslie Cantrell gave his sister in marriage. The bridal gown of white embroidered organza was styled with an off the shoulder neckline. The bridal veil of finger-tip length fell from a crown of seeded pearls. An orchid centered the bridal bouquet of white roses.

Miss Betty Jo Bellingham of Lake Geneva, Wis., who attended as maid of honor, wore a gown of ice blue, identical to the bridal gown. Bridesmaids, Mrs. Corman Drumm of Philadelphia, Penn., and Miss Mary Lathrop of Davenport, wore identical gowns of yellow. The bridal attendants wore halo headdresses of carnations, and they carried colonial bouquets of painted carnations.

Dr. Charles Gilkey of Chicago stood as best man. Ushers were Robert Johnson of Chicago and Louis D. Coady of Louisville, Ky.

Following a honeymoon trip to the west coast the newly-weds will make their home in Houston, Tex., while the bridegroom internates at Herman hospital.

The bride attended McMurray college in Jacksonville, Ill., for two years, and has taken two years of nurses training at Wesley Memorial hospital in Chicago. The bridegroom graduated from Northwestern university yesterday where he received his doctor of medicine degree.

Engagement Announced Here

Miss Mavis Meredith

Miss Edna Karcher, W. D. Swaim Wed

The former Edna Karcher and William Donald Swaim were married Sunday afternoon in double ring wedding rites held at St. Paul's Lutheran chapel.

A reception at the Kappa Alpha Theta house honored the newlyweds.

The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Karcher, of Sioux City, was attended by Miss Marilyn Jean Killinger of Joliet, Ill.

Reginald Alexander of Marshalltown was best man for Mr. Swaim, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald T. Swaim of North Platte, Neb. Ushers were Robert Swaim and William Jackson.

The bride, a former SUI student, is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta, social sorority. Mr. Swaim is a graduate student in chemical engineering at SUI. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta, social fraternity, and Alpha Chi Sigma.

Following a honeymoon trip to Wisconsin Dells, the couple will make their home in Iowa City.

DAUGHTER BORN

Mr. and Mrs. Martin O. Baron, 121 Templin park, are parents of a daughter born Saturday at the University hospital. The baby weighed seven pounds, seven ounces.

Monsignor O'Reilly Leaves for Ireland

Thanks to members of St. Patrick's parish, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Patrick's church, Iowa City, left here yesterday for a two-month vacation in his native Ireland.

Members of his parish presented Monsignor O'Reilly with about $2,000 this spring so that he could return to Ireland and visit his two sisters and brother.

This will be the fourth return visit to Ireland for the 66-year-old Monsignor since coming to this country in 1908.

The Rev. Raymond J. Pacha, assistant pastor, will be in charge of St. Patrick's parish until Monsignor O'Reilly returns, which will probably be in late August.

The Rev. John O. McAuliffe, St. Ambrose college faculty member, who will attend the SUI summer session, will assist Father Pacha.

Sgt. L. E. Northup Now Serving in Kobe, Japan

Sgt. Laurence E. Northup, husband of Mrs. Vera E. Northup, 410 N. Lucas street, is now serving at Kobe base, Kobe, Japan, with the 592nd ordnance service company.

Northup entered the army in Feb., 1941, and went to Japan in May, 1948.

Miss Meredith Sets August Nuptial Date

Professor and Mrs. H. V. Meredith, 1038 Muscatine avenue, Iowa City, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mavis, to Robert L. Stewart, a son of Mr. and Mrs. M.N. Stewart of Kansas City, Mo.

The couple will be wed in double ring rites to be held in late August.

Miss Melanie Snyder will attend as maid of honor, and Miss Jane Hynden of Cedar Rapids will be the bridesmaid.

Both Miss Meredith and Mr. Stewart are graduates of Grace-land junior college, Lamoni, and they will enroll as juniors at SUI this fall.

Merriam Receives Degree at Oregon

Robert W. Merriam, 1225 Muscatine avenue, a graduate of SUI, received a master of science degree in zoology at Oregon State college, Corvallis, June 6.

Merriam is a native of Iowa City. He was graduated from City high school in 1941, and enrolled at SUI in the same year.

After three years in the army, he returned and received his bachelor of science degree here in 1947.

Since then he has been teaching and working toward an advanced degree at Oregon State college. Recently, he received a grant from the cancer foundation of Oregon to do research in zoology, while working toward a Ph.D. degree.

Elks Lodge Plans Flag Day Program

Today's Flag day ceremonies conducted by the Iowa City Elks lodge No. 590 will feature Paul Fulton, past exalted ruler of the Elks lodge of Burlington, as the principal speaker.

The program, open to the public, will be at the Elks home at 2:30 p.m.

Judge James P. Gaffney will give "The History of Our Flag." He will be assisted by Mrs. Clyde Shuman, pianist.

Also on the program will be Boy Scout Troop No. 3 as flag bearers and the Amara Young Men's bureau chorus under the direction of L.E. Clemons will furnish the music.

Announce '49-50 Concert Series Program

The schedule for the 1949-50 University concert course series will include three recitals and a return engagement of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, Prof. C. B. Righter, director of the concert course, said yesterday.

Donald Dickson, baritone singer of radio, opera, and the concert stage, will appear in a recital on Nov. 9 to open the series of concerts.

Tosny Spivakovsky, concert violinist who has been soloist with nearly all the major symphony orchestras, will give a recital on Jan. 11, Righter said.

A second recital in Iowa City by Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson, English duo piano team, will take place on Feb. 15. These artists appeared several years ago on the concert course.

The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, under its new conductor, Antal Dorati, will again present three concerts, one on March 7 and two on March 8. The orchestra has made an annual appearance in Iowa City since 1942, Righter said.

Four SUI Chinese Chemistry Students Vie for Fellowships

Four Chinese graduate students in the SUI bio-chemistry department are eligible for two $2000 fellowships granted by the China International Foundation for the year 1949-50. Foreign Students Advisor Sweitzer said yesterday.

The students are Vera Gien, G., Hongkong, K.S. Lee, G. Shanghai Wang-mo Wong, G., Hongkong, and Shih-chen Wang, G. Shanghai.

According to a recent announcement made by the CIF, the research fellowships are to be granted to two qualified post-graduate Chinese students who are doing research work in American universities.

Names of the fellowships winners will be announced Aug. 15. The aims of the grant are to contribute directly to the improvement of the Chinese people's livelihood through coordinated research projects and to train personnel for practical research work.

The grant to each fellowship student consists of $800 for tuition for two semesters and a stipend for $100 per month for a period of 12 months.

Two subjects have been listed by the CIF for research: (1) the nutrition problem of the Chinese people and (2) the insect-pest extermination problem on Chinese farms.

Applications for the grant may be obtained from the China International foundation in New York.

Ray Smalley, Thomas Hear Charles Brannan

Ray E. Smalley, county AAA chairman, and A. B. Thomas, county agricultural association, attended the Democratic convention in Des Moines yesterday.

The county officials went especially to hear Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan speak on the new farm programs.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday in the Johnson county clerk's office to Loren C. Staats Jr., and Gwendolyn R. Kirchner, Donald F. White and Eileen P. Clear, Richard K. Vandenberg and Henriette Parrott, all of Iowa City; Robert E. Yoder and Beulah Dickel, both of Kalona; Joseph J. Halseh and Helen S. Flannery, both of Oxford; and to Oscar Glick, Solon, and Maurita Stahle, Iowa City.

Hydraulics Conference Draws 400

About 400 hydraulic engineers attended the opening session of the fourth SUI hydraulics conference yesterday morning at the University theatre.

Engineers from throughout the U.S. and several foreign countries including Israel, France, Italy, England, Chile, China, Philippines and Pakistan will be here through June 15 to discuss chapters for a new engineering book for revision before publication.

Leading engineers in the field of hydraulics wrote the chapters of "Engineering Hydraulics" upon invitation of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research.

Dean F.M. Dawson, of the college of engineering, presided over the morning session. Chapter I, "Fundamental Principles of Flow" by Dr. Hunter Rouse, director of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research, was discussed at this session.

Conference members discussed chapter III, "Flow Measurement" by Prof. J.W. Howe, head of the SUI mechanics and hydraulics department, at the afternoon session.

Prof. A.L. Alin, of the mechanics and hydraulics department, will give the general address at this morning's session. He will speak on "Present-Day Trends in Hydraulic Engineering."

A chapter by Prof. J.S. McNowen, of the SUI hydraulics department, "Surges and Water Hammer," will be discussed at today's session.

"Gradually Varied Channel Flow," a chapter by Prof. C.J. Posey, of the civil engineering department, will be discussed in today's afternoon session.

Kiwanis Club to Hear SUI Library Director

Prof. Ralph E. Ellsworth, director of the SUI libraries, will speak on "Our Social Memory" before the Kiwanis club at the Hotel Jefferson at noon today.

The talk will be concerned with the social function of the library system in relation to higher education, Ellsworth said.

Iowa City Collector Has Ancient Gun Arsenal

INSPECTING AN 1846 SPRINGFIELD HORSE-PISTOL are gun collector Ray Rarey and his dog, Rusty. Rarey has been swapping and saving guns since he was 12, and now has almost 50. Shown on the table are old and new pistols, a powder horn and a shot pouch. Muzzle and breech loading arms in the background are often used by Rarey and Rusty on hunting trips.

Collects 50 Guns in 19 Years —

Buys, Sells, or Swaps Old Guns for Hobby

By KEN CARTER

Got any guns you'd like to buy, sell or swap? If so, Ray Rarey, 616 S. Governor street, is the man to talk to.

Rarey has been collecting and swapping guns of all types since he was 12, and in the 19 years since then has built a collection of almost 50 muzzle and breech loading pistols, rifles and shotguns.

His first piece was a muzzle loading, smooth-bore musket. He was "proud as the dickens" of the item, and has never stopped trading and collecting since. He estimated he has swapped at least 200 guns during his life.

"A gun trader is worse than a horse trader any day," said Rarey. "To get a good gun, a collector will become the worst liar in the world."

A muzzle loader is as effective as a modern weapon if used properly, Rarey said. "It's a matter of trial and error; an error means a scorched cheek plus a sore shoulder," he added.

Ammunition costs for older guns are a fraction of that for breech loaders, he said. In fact, for incidental shooting, he uses a muzzle-loader most of the time. When ammunition was short during the war, the veteran collector hunted with nothing but pre-Civil war shotguns.

"The only drawback occurs on foggy mornings," Rarey said. "The black powder used suspends a screen when fired, and you have to get down and look under it to see if the game was bagged."

Oldest gun in his collection is a Springfield horse-pistol dating from 1846. Used mainly by the military during the time, it is a muzzle loader with a large barrel and fires a single ball.

Rarey rebuilds most of his collectors items, and is now working on an old rifle. Rifles are the most difficult items to obtain, he said.

Along with the older models in his collection, Rarey also has a number of modern weapons. Foreign makes such as his German-made Mauser pistol Rarey obtained during the last war.

Modern weapons are, of course, more efficient in sports, he said. Rarey is also a flyer. He has pursued the hobby for several years, and now holds a private license for single-engine planes.

He is married, has two children, and has owned a dental laboratory in Iowa City since 1943. Guns are his chief hobby, however. He knows and will discuss mechanisms, models and history of weapons at any time. If you are in need of advice, he can probably help you.

Iowa Light, Power Co-op Asks Re-Trial

A motion for a new trial in the Hinkley vs. Eastern Iowa Light and Power cooperative judgment suit was filed yesterday in Johnson county district court by the defendant.

As a result of a jury trial May 19, the cooperative was ordered to pay Earl Hinkley, Lone Tree farmer, $1,250 in damages for two successive crop failures which Hinkley claimed were due to the damaging of a drainage tile by the cooperative during the construction of a sub-station next to his property.

The cooperative claimed in the motion for a new trial that D.C. Nolan and William Meardon, attorneys for the plaintiff, had unduly influenced the jury during their final arguments, and that the verdict given was not fair and impartial.

Attorneys for the cooperative are Messer, Hamilton, Cahill and Bartley.

One Driver Injured In Two-Car Crash

One driver was injured and a second was fined $12.50 as the result of a collision at the intersection of Iowa avenue and Dodge street early yesterday morning, police reported.

Lucille Maske, 1015 Diana street, suffered a hip injury when the car she was driving was involved in an accident with a machine driven by Ludy Bosten, 301 Fairview avenue, Muscatine.

Charged with failure to stop for an arterial stop sign, Bosten was fined $12.50. According to the accident report filed by the injured woman, Bosten was not injured.

Property damage exceeding an estimated $250 resulted from the accident. The front ends of both vehicles were damaged.

Volunteer Airforce Training Program To Begin June 15

Several hundred university and Iowa City airforce reserve officers and airmen will take part in a volunteer training unit program which begins tomorrow night, Maj. Graham E. Marshall, commanding officer of the local air reserve volunteer training unit, said yesterday.

The two-hour training period will be held in room 124, armory, starting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. Other meetings are scheduled for the first and third Wednesdays and the second Tuesday of each month.

Groups of reservists with similar or allied military specialties will be formed for training with supervisory personnel and equipment, Marshall said.

The volunteer training is one part of a five-part training program for reservists to increase the present number of 42,000 receiving training to 150,000.

Other parts of the program are: Mobilization assignment — 48 periods of training each year in "on the job" training and two weeks active duty.

Airforce reserve training center — four combat squadrons, service groups, group and wing headquarters train on equipment of one squadron of the training wing.

Cerollary unit — formed in the vicinity of regular airforce groups, utilizes facilities and equipment and weekend training once a month.

Extension courses — offered to reservists and provides promotion and retirement points.

Two Civil Service Positions Available

Application may now be made for examinations for positions as geophysicists and sanitation inspectors with civil service, Lester J. Parizek, local civil service secretary, said yesterday.

No written test is required. Applicants are rated according to qualifications which include a degree in either geology, mathematics, physics, geophysics, or engineering and four years of practical experience in one of the fields. Age limits are from 18 to 62 years.

Salaries range from $3,727 to $6,235 yearly depending upon grade and position for which application is made, Parizek said.

J. Merrill Fined $300 For Drunken Driving

John W. Merrill, Iowa City, was fined $300 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving yesterday in Johnson county district court after being arraigned on county attorney's information.

Merrill's operators license was ordered suspended for 60 days and his liquor permit was revoked.

William F. Morrison was attorney for the defendant, and County Attorney Jack C. White represented the state.

Koelbel, Simms to Open Summer Music Hours

A sonata recital by Prof. Hans Koelbel, cello, and John Simms, piano, will open the summer session Wednesday evening music hours on June 22, Simms, instructor in the music department, said yesterday.

Wednesday evening music hours are a series of faculty recitals held in Studio E of the radio building and broadcast over WSUI.

A program for the recital will be announced at a later date.

NEW STATE BUILDING DES MOINES (AP) — The state executive council was authorized by the legislative interim committee yesterday to arrange a contract to convert the old International Harvester building into a state office building.

Licenses Required For Lady Anglers

There are only three lakes in Johnson county where female anglers will need licenses to legally catch fish, a conservation commission official said yesterday.

During the last few weeks, the officials said, numerous cards and letters have been received at the commission headquarters in Des Moines asking if women need fishing licenses to fish in Iowa lakes and streams.

All women over 16 are required to own a fishing license to fish in state-owned lakes, the official said. All other waters are free.

There are three state-owned lakes in Johnson county — Mac Bride, Babcock and Swan — the official said. The state owns 103 lakes in the 99 counties, and it is only at these lakes that woman fishermen will need licenses.

Three Professors Elected to Council

SUI professors elected three new members to the graduate council, officials of the SUI graduate college said yesterday.

The new members are Prof. G. W. Martin, botany department; Prof. Gordon Marsh, zoology department, and Prof. William Aydelotte, head of the history department.

The election was conducted by the registrar, with ballots cast by mail by the graduate faculty. The graduate faculty consists of professors, associate professors and assistant professors of the university.

The three newly elected members fill the expired terms of Professors Gerald Eise, Ernest Horn and Walter Loehwing.

Prof. A.K. Miller, geology department, was elected to fill the unexpired term of Prof. Ralph M. Barnes, who has resigned.

The continuing members of the council are Professors Louis Turner, George Glockler, J.R. Porter, C.A. Hickman and H.M. Hines.

Mulford Defendant In Judgment Suit

Newton R. Mulford, owner of the Mulford Electric service, was named the defendant Friday in a $203 judgment suit filed in Johnson county district court by Ferris and Kerner, Inc.

The plaintiffs, charged that Mulford has failed to pay them for a billboard they erected at Kelley field advertising the electrical service. They also stated that they have not been paid for printing magazine programs which Mulford had distributed at Kelley field during athletic events.

The corporation asks $175 for the erection of the billboard and $28 for printing the programs.

Attorney for the plaintiff is Emil G. Trott.

FIREMEN CALLED

Firemen were called to the south basement storeroom of the Moose lodge at 114 1/2 S. Clinton street at about 1:15 p.m. yesterday to extinguish a fire in the motor of a deep freeze unit. Fire Chief J. J. Clark said. Damage was confined to the motor of the unit.

Displays Important In Retail Hardware, Thompson Reports

The typical hardware customer is "gadget" minded, according to C. Woody Thompson, director of SUI's bureau of business and economic research.

In a report on the 12 district meetings of the Iowa Retail Hardware association during April and May, Thompson said in the June "Iowa Business Digest" that the customer "must be led to one well-arranged display after another as he walks through the store."

"Too many hardware dealers make it difficult for customers to find what they want," Thompson said.

"With goods packed away in drawers behind formidable counters or poorly displayed in dusty cases . . . it is a wonder that such establishments haven't suffered more," he added.

Thompson said the question of installment or budget selling and how to handle it was also considered at the meetings. Most of the dealers agreed that self-financing was an unwise way to tie up working capital, with the sentiment running in favor of turning installment accounts over to financing companies, he said.

He added that the meetings ended on an optimistic note. The dealers reported their 1949 sales equal to or ahead of 1948 and he said he thought most of the dealers would make a reality of the associations' slogan "Keep on Selling in 1949."

Barnes to Attend Two Conferences

Prof. R.M. Barnes, director of placement bureau and personnel and professor of industrial engineering, will speak at the conference of the Society for the Advancement of Management in Detroit June 15-17.

Barnes will talk on "Present-day Management Problems." After the conference in Detroit he will attend the annual meeting of the American Society for Engineering Education at Rensselaer Polytechnic institute, Troy, N.Y., from June 20 to 24.

Arts Festival Opens Tomorrow

Art, drama and music will be presented for students, faculty and campus visitors at SUI's 11th annual Fine Arts festival starting tomorrow and continuing through August 10, Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the SUI school of fine arts, said yesterday.

One of the features of the festival will be the junior music unit which will give rehearsal opportunities to high school students, primarily those in the Iowa City area.

A special faculty has been engaged, along with the regular university music staff, to work with the music unit.

During the six week period, a choral and orchestral concert will be presented by the high school students.

At least one radio broadcast from the Fine Arts festival will be aired by the National Broadcasting company. A symphony will be broadcast sometime late in July.

A choral concert with symphony accompaniment will be presented Aug. 3, featuring Arthur Honegger's oratorio "King David." Another symphony orchestra concert has been scheduled for July 20.

The summer lecture series will include Norman Thomas, Socialist party leader, who will appear July 22.

Others in the series include N. Shuster, president of Hunter college, New York City, July 15; an interpretative demonstration of the dances of many countries presented June 23 by La Meri and a lecture on "Christianity's Challenge to Communism" by Dr. Tibor Eckhardt, former member of the Hungarian government, July 8. The final lecture, "I Come For to Sing," will be an educational and artistic program of American folk songs presented by four ballad artists, July 29.

Seven plays have been selected for presentation during the festival. "There's Always Juliet" by John Van Druten will begin June 30 and continue through 25.

Other plays to be presented through the summer are "The Merry Wives of Windsor" by William Shakespeare; "Jeb" by Robert Ardrey; "The Fatal Weakness" by George Kelly; "Berkley Square" by John Balderston; "Command Decision" by William W. Aines, and "The Young and Fair" by Richard Nash.

Festival activities will also include the fifth annual exhibition of contemporary art, which this year will be an all-sculpture show.

A display of 36 paintings from SUI's permanent gallery and the works of the students in the department will be shown.

An additional exhibition will feature prints from the university's gallery of reproductions. Festival visitors will also be invited to visit designated summer school classes in the school of fine arts, Harper said.

The meeting, an annual event, will feature a demonstration on pasture improvement, Gardner added.

World Wheat Pact Ratified by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate yesterday ratified the new international wheat agreement aimed at stabilizing world markets and prices in the face of Republican warnings that it should not be regarded as a precedent.

The action was one of the rare victories so far this session for President Truman. He campaigned last November on a promise to seek early approval of the agreement after the Republican-steered 80th congress failed to act on a similar treaty.

It guarantees five of the world's seven big wheat exporting nations a market for 500-million bushels of grain a year. The U.S. quota would be 168-million bushels. Of the large exporting nations, only Russia and Argentina did not sign the pact.

Report Cominform Plotting to Punish Tito for 'Straying'

WARSAW (AP)—The cominform was reliably reported last night to be plotting an "economic strangulation" of Yugoslavia to punish Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia for straying from what Moscow says is the true Communist line.

New propaganda campaigns are also being sharpened against the West and the Marshall plan, it was said.

An authoritative source said high Communist chiefs of Soviet Russia and the eastern satellites at a secret meeting in Lower Silesia had mapped an all out economic war against Tito's regime.

This informant said the eastern nations, who like Russia had already radically slashed exports to Yugoslavia, were now likely to cut off all shipments in the near future. Hungary was said to have already set July 1 as the date for complete stoppage.

A Polish government official who could not be quoted by name said Hilary Minc, top economic coordinator in the government, had been called from his vacation in Crimea to direct the tightening of the economic noose on Yugoslavia.

Minc will advise the cominform on strategy, the official said. Minc is one of the signers of the declaration that set up the cominform — the Communist international information bureau. The

Bad Check Case Continued by Judge Troff

Police Judge Emil G. Troff ordered the case against Robert H. Jess continued until a later date after a hearing in police court yesterday afternoon.

Jess is accused of false making and uttering of a bank check. He allegedly committed the offense about March 25, writing the check on a Rock Rapids bank, and making it payable to Gilbert Haman, Iowa City tavern operator.

Another bad check charge against Jess involving a $15 check made payable to Yetter's department store was continued for sentence.

Charged with intoxication, James E. Kerr, Downing, was fined $7.50 in police court yesterday, and William J. Bulow, 14 N. Johnson street, paid a $12.50 fine for failing to stop for a red light. Johnnie A. Smith, route 1, Oxford, was fined $12.50 for operating a motor vehicle without a valid operator's license.

A charge of operating a motor vehicle without displaying proper license plates was dismissed by Judge Troff when William C. Rowe, Cole Brothers' circus, produced a receipt for a duplicate license application.

Saturday's police docket listed 31 persons who paid $36 for parking violations. One case was dismissed.

UN Told British Intend Sending Arms to Arabs

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—Israel complained to the United Nations security council yesterday against reported British intentions to resume arms shipments to Arab countries in the Middle East.

Aubrey S. Eban, permanent Israel representative to the UN, transmitted the complaint in a letter to Arne Sunde of Norway, president of the security council for June, declaring that such arms shipments constitute a blow to the peace talks between Israel and Arab states now in progress at Lausanne, Switzerland.

Interpreting the News —

Peace Movement Brings Hope

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
I went to Caux, Switzerland, last year to see what a committee of congressmen saw recently at the world assembly of the moral rearmament movement.

I heard criticism of Dr. Frank Buchman and his movement from the time he first came to the United States nearly 30 years ago. Selfish promotion, opposition to established churches, and fascism were some of the charges.

But the movement was emerging as a concentrated effort to establish better understanding between people and peoples in the cause of peace and I wanted to see what it was all about.

I have at my desk a large file tabbed "moral warfare." It covers the activities of many sectarian and non-sectarian groups throughout the world which believe that ultimately peace must depend upon morals, rather than merely upon economic, political and geographical bases.

At Caux I found people from all over the world — generals, admirals, highly placed politicians and diplomats, millionaires, big oil operators, coal miners and just plain people — dedicated to this idea.

They were promoting the idea among selected groups of visitors, such as the congressional committee, that man must change; that the end of individual selfishness and other causes of individual conflict will bring an end to the evils of nationalism and the cause of international conflict.

I was served at dinner by a beautiful former professional actress who now devotes her life to the two plays, expertly staged, upon which moral rearmament depends heavily for spreading its idea among the general public.

There's a lot of the Golden Rule in these principles, expressed in the formula for both individual and international affairs. "Not who is right, but what is right."

One of moral rearmament's great practical efforts has been for better labor-management relations in Britain. I had heard so much of their work among the coal miners in preventing strikes that, frankly, I was curious if not suspicious as to whether this might be a form of religious pressure like that which Marx charged was the opiate of the people.

The stress seemed heavily on the side of quieting labor. But British coal miners themselves told me that the movement had had an important effect on management, and that things were a lot better since moral rearmament invaded the fields.

German political, industrial and labor leaders testified to the same thing.

There are prayer and testimonial sessions at Caux which carry some overtones of an old-fashioned revival meeting. But there is very practical work going forward, too.

The active workers are frank to say that the time for peace is short, and that they are working at top levels where initiative begins, rather than attempting a mass movement at this time.

The immediate practical effect was demonstrated by three formerly bitter enemies talking about what they could do for long-range relations between their nations.

One was a former British member of Moscow's comintern. One the finance minister of a German state in the western zone. The third was a French woman socialist leader whose two children had been killed by the Germans.

It is impossible to tell how far the eddies caused by such contacts may go. Congressional junkets have long attracted suspicion. This controversial trip could turn out to be no more than that.

Republican house leader Joe Martin asks, "If you can get a little better understanding among the people of the world and do a little toward bringing them closer together, for only $5,000, what's wrong with that?"

Most Outspoken Statement Yet Made — Educators Would Bar Communists Teaching

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty top-flight educators — including General Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harvard President James B. Conant — said recently Communists should be barred from the teaching profession.

They agreed too, that principles of communism should be taught — but not advocated — in American schools.

Their charge that Communist membership "renders an individual unfit to discharge the duties of a teacher in this country" was described by a National Education Association official as the most outspoken statement on that subject ever made by an education group of nationwide standing.

Eisenhower, now president of Columbia university, Conant and 18 fellow members of an educational policies commission made their observations in a 54-page report on "American Education and International Tensions."

The commission was appointed by the National Education Association and the American Association of School Administrators.

Its purpose was to study the teaching changes that might be advisable in view of political tensions that may "keep the world in a state of cold war for years to come."

The commission listed these "main lines of strategy" for American education:

1. "Young citizens should have an opportunity to learn about the principles and practices of totalitarianism, including those represented by the Soviet Union and by the Communist party in the United States. The study should be accurate and objective, and should make use of basic official documents."

2. "Teaching about communism or any other form of dictatorship does not mean advocacy of these doctrines. Such advocacy should not be permitted in American schools. While we expose and combat subversive activities in this country and abroad . . . we must at the same time curb reactionary forces which would use anti-Communist sentiment as a club to threaten every effort to improve society through education."

3. "The schools should continue with vigor their programs for giving young citizens a clear understanding of the principles of the American way of life and a desire to make these principles prevail."

4. "Members of the Communist party of the United States should not be employed as teachers."

"Communist membership involves adherence to doctrines and discipline completely inconsistent with the principles of freedom on which American education depends."

"It is because members of the Communist party are required to surrender the right to think for themselves, as a consequence of becoming part of a movement characterized by conspiracy and calculated deceit, that they should be excluded from employment as teachers."

"Textbooks and teaching aids containing such material run the risk of being banned from the classroom and the school library."

"Yet, if the schools fail to provide such instruction, the education of American youth will be incomplete to the point of national danger."

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Age of Deadlock Hits World

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

Someday, when the history of this period gets to be written, the book might well be called "The Story of the Great Deadlock." Deadlock it is, at home and abroad. Ours is the Age of Deadlock; just as previous ages have been marked by the themes of hope, or exploration, or invention, or whatever, so deadlock is the characteristic expression of our own time.

You can find big examples of little, as you please. I consider it not at all surprising, for instance, that the housing bill, after having been passed by better than four-to-one in the senate, should now languish in the house rules committee. Naturally.

For this is the period in our political history in which every action is opposed by an equal and opposite reaction, and the bogdown of this impressive reform in the rules committee is as characteristic of our day as Columbus's westward trip was of his.

It all goes with the way in which, during what certainly appeared to be a swing to the right, we surprisingly elected a liberal President and what we thought was a liberal congress — only to find the two at such complete odds that they seem almost to be operating in different countries. Deadlock, of course.

And the symbol of our day (if someone were to try to do a piece of ornamental sculpture commemorating same) would have to depict tense creatures, doggedly shouldering each other, in fixed posture, while moons rose and fell, and the years turned.

WE, THE CITIZENS of the Age of Deadlock, live in a state of delicate equilibrium; the balance seems almost too perfect as we regard ourselves, caught and held between conflicting forces.

Even our economy seems to be deadlocked; prices are as high as if this were a period of the most abounding prosperity, but unemployment is increasing.

There is enough government spending, or hope of such, on arms, aid to Europe, etc., to keep prices up, but not quite enough work to keep everybody busy.

There is no clear indication of what direction we are going to take, but then, clear indication of direction is a little too much to expect in the Age of Deadlock.

Characteristically, the President is still thinking in terms of fighting inflation, while some of his advisers are beginning to think in terms of fighting deflation; of such neat oppositions is the Age of Deadlock made, its complex postures, its intricate balance.

IT WILL BE said that in certain fields we have shown ability to act, and have not been deadlocked, as, for example, in giving aid to Europe, and in arranging for the Atlantic treaty.

But, on examination, it will be seen that these actions are only part of the business of completing a greater deadlock, a planetary deadlock. Deadlock remains the theme, though the forces and the circumstances vary.

IT WILL BE an interesting book, when it finally comes to be written, the one about the Age of Deadlock — about a time in the world's history when men lived by the solution of no solutions, and when there was manifested the most perfect balance between contrary forces, on every level, at home and also abroad.

How still everything is — nothing seems to move. The pushing figures crouch, sometimes they shift their feet for better purchase on the ground, and in the presence of these enormous strains and counter-strains, within the sound of the heaving and grunting, we must try to live as if these deadlocks were stability, as if this blocked motionlessness were the same as peace and rest.

Press Ruling: Two Gags for One —

In these days when the hallowed abstraction "free speech" is meeting numerous real and academic challenges, it is refreshing to see an attempt to resolve one of them.

The Maryland court of appeals attempted to resolve such an issue last week. The attempt was refreshing; the court's ruling was disappointing. The main issue was sidestepped.

Approximately a year ago an 11-year-old child was found murdered on a lonely, suburban Baltimore road. A neighborhood handyman was arrested and charged with the murder.

Baltimore's press went after the story. They knew that rule 904 of the city's supreme court bench prohibited publication or broadcast of criminal background of an accused person or any matter bearing on the issues to be tried, including statements or confessions by the accused.

One radio station plunged ahead on the story, thinking incorrectly that the crime took place outside city limits. While the newspapers did what they were supposed to under the "gag" rule — namely suppress the news in the name of justice — two other radio stations joined in and reported the story.

Before they knew it, three stations and one radio commentator were charged and convicted on charges of contempt. They reported the fact that the accused person had made a confession.

At it again —

The proposed investigation of university and college textbooks by the house un-American committee smacks suspiciously of a snowball movement that could threaten the scholastic freedom of our nation.

Once a government agency starts digging around in the area of reference textbooks — under the guise of weeding out books with a Communistic tinge — there's no telling where it might stop.

Under Hitler's regime in fascist Germany, the Nazis started out by looking over lists of textbooks used in German universities. They wound up by burning any books that contained views counter to the Nazi cause.

The Sons of the Revolution, who submitted a petition to Rep. Wood (D-Ga.) asking for the investigation, are not new in the business of witch-hunting.

In the 1850's the Sons organized to put down Irish resistance in Boston. Ultimately, the resistance to the Boston Irish failed, but the setback did not deter the Sons.

The alleged murderer has since been convicted and sentenced to hang. The "gag" rule conviction was appealed. And last week the state's highest court reversed the conviction in a five-to-one decision.

But the court did not rule on the constitutionality of the "gag" rule. It did not decide whether or not it was illegal to suppress the news in the name of a free trial.

Instead, the court ruled that the evidence was not strong enough in the case to warrant convictions.

The court chose to overlook the fact that Baltimoreans a year ago had to buy Washington newspapers to read about a crime in their own city. If that sounds silly, just bear in mind that Wisconsin citizens must buy out-of-state newspapers to learn all the facts in any Wisconsin rape case.

The battle of the "gag" rule will go on. Baltimore newspapers and radio stations still do not feel free to report crime news. The situation, if anything, is worse off since the court's decision. For these papers and stations not only have to battle a local law but also an indifferent state court.

If the right of a free press does slash with the right of a free trial, it is up to the courts to resolve the clash. In this respect, the effort of the Maryland court was refreshing, but disappointing, too.

Periodically, through this nation's history during the last century, the Sons have come out of hiding to quell movements that they deem "dangerous."

This last move of the Sons carries the most alarming consequences of any of their crusades.

Obviously, the investigation, if conducted, will show that there are many Communist books in university libraries. Copies of the Communist manifesto and Karl Marx's Das Kapital are standard equipment in almost every library.

The important thing is not the presence of the books in libraries, but the manner in which the books are used.

We are inclined to agree with a spokesman for the American Council on Education, an agency for watching federal legislation and executive actions, who said:

"This is the most serious invasion of academic freedom in the history of the United States."

Formosa Plans Orient's ERP

TAIPEH, FORMOSA (AP) — K.C. Wu, former mayor of Shanghai, has a long-range plan to develop Formosa with American funds and turn the island into a model democracy to combat Chinese communism.

"The program," Wu said recently, "calls for Formosa to be set up as an example of how the Kuomintang can have good government if given a chance, in order to have a side-by-side comparison between what we can offer and what communism is like."

Gen. Chen Cheng, new governor of Formosa, said Wu's plan had been approved on a high level and would serve as the basis for one of Nationalist China's greatest experiments — to make this a laboratory where democracy works.

Keystone of the Nationalist plan for Formosa is Wu's plan to build up the island's tea-rice-campor economy.

He proposes the transfer of $54-million in American ECA funds from Kwantung on the mainland to this island 125 miles off China's south coast.

Wu said the transfer would not require congressional action but could be done by agreement with the U.S. state department.

"Part of the over-all program to continue the fight against communism calls for the establishment of as many resistance bases as possible," Wu said.

"This more or less would be left to circumstances in the future. But right now is the time to begin the Formosa program."

As outlined by Wu and others, this is the program: The Nationalists plan to streamline their administration, overhauling the personnel, taxation and military control systems. They hope to provide freedom with efficiency and thereby show up the Communists on the mainland.

They say that having been at war with the Communists for two decades, they never have had a chance to show how well they can govern.

They believe Formosa will be a safe laboratory, that the Communists can't or won't attack the island, the final titles to which must await the signing of the Japanese peace treaty.

Says Klan Directed By 'Office Dwellers' BIRMINGHAM, ALA. (AP)—The attorney general of Alabama charged yesterday that "push-office dwellers in skyscrapers" direct Ku Klux Klan raids to keep race hatred "alive, red-hot and vicious." The hooded men who reportedly mauled a white woman and threatened a cafe operator in this area last Friday were "poor, duped, misguided ham actors," Attorney General Albert Carmichael said at Montgomery. Although the victims in this case were white persons accused by the mob of improper behavior, the raids are part of the pattern of "prejudice and division," he said. "... These manipulators and push-carpet office dwellers... are interested in keeping the race issue red hot... to maintain an economic barrier between white and black workers." Meanwhile, Gov. James E. Folsom called upon all citizens of the state to notify highway patrolmen or sheriff's officers immediately if they see hooded mobs on the prowl. Public Safety Director Bankhead Bates said, "we will push this investigation until we find out who is guilty." Public Hearing Tonight On Lincoln School Plans Plans for repairing and equipping Lincoln elementary school and for building and equipping its addition will be presented for public hearing tonight at the school board meeting at 7:30. Charles S. Galhier, secretary of the Iowa City school board, said he has received the plans and specifications which were drawn up by Iowa City Architect Henry Flisk.	GOOD CLEANING PAYS OFF! Aldermen Postpone Street Improvement

Action on Capitol street improvements was postponed to the June 27 council meeting by city aldermen last night after protests by property owners who would pay part of the cost of improvements.

Two protesting petitions listed objections such as excessive costs, hardships on owners and paving of the street in 1928. Capitol street residents also gave personal testimony at the meeting to substantiate the petitions.

Also brought up was the part of the costs the city could finance legally. City Attorney William Bartley pointed out that a change in plans to permit improving the street only by removing center islands would require another hearing.

Bartley reminded councilmen of the trouble the city had when they decided to narrow Court street paving after notices had been sent to property owners on plans and estimates.

Report Nationalists Patrolling Yangtze

By THE UNITED PRESS
 Chinese Nationalist naval vessels are patrolling the mouth of the Yangtze river in an effort to blockade the Communist-occupied port of Shanghai, reports from Shanghai said yesterday.

Four shipwrecked Japanese arriving in Hong Kong reported that a Chinese gunboat shelled and sank their 75-ton fishing smack June 10, resulting in the death of six crew members, two of whom were killed by sharks.

The Shanghai reports said the blockading naval units probably were based in the Chushan islands, 65 miles south of the channel entrance.

Nebraska Gas Fire Destroys Equipment Of 3 Oil Companies

NEWMAN GROVE, NEB. (AP)—A spectacular fire in this northeast Nebraska town yesterday destroyed nine large gasoline tanks, three storage warehouses and other equipment owned by three oil companies.

The overall loss suffered by the three companies was not immediately known. However, two of the firms, the Red Star Oil company and the Farmers' Oil company, said their loss would be $20,000 to $25,000 each. Standard Oil company made no immediate estimate of its loss.

Farmers lost 20,000 gallons of gasoline when six of its tanks were destroyed. Three Red Star tanks, containing 18,000 gallons of gasoline, exploded. Both concerns also lost their warehouses and other equipment. Standard's loss was confined to a new warehouse and damage to two tanks.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined. George Griel, about 35, an employe of Red Star, suffered burns on his face and hands. He was the only person injured in the blaze which was fought by firemen from four nearby towns.

Observers said the smoke was so dense that for sometime the fate of Standard's equipment was not known. Flame and smoke from the blaze could be seen 15 miles away. Traffic on roads into Newman Grove was halted by the dense smoke.

Says Klan Directed By 'Office Dwellers'

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. (AP)—The attorney general of Alabama charged yesterday that "push-office dwellers in skyscrapers" direct Ku Klux Klan raids to keep race hatred "alive, red-hot and vicious."

The hooded men who reportedly mauled a white woman and threatened a cafe operator in this area last Friday were "poor, duped, misguided ham actors," Attorney General Albert Carmichael said at Montgomery.

Although the victims in this case were white persons accused by the mob of improper behavior, the raids are part of the pattern of "prejudice and division," he said.

"... These manipulators and push-carpet office dwellers... are interested in keeping the race issue red hot... to maintain an economic barrier between white and black workers."

Meanwhile, Gov. James E. Folsom called upon all citizens of the state to notify highway patrolmen or sheriff's officers immediately if they see hooded mobs on the prowl.

Public Safety Director Bankhead Bates said, "we will push this investigation until we find out who is guilty."

'Calling Dr. Kildare' — Husband Acts as Midwife

Let the doctor decide!
 But Bob Stienstra, A4, 1 Hawkeye village, didn't have any time for the doctor to decide early Sunday morning. Five minutes before a physician arrived Mrs. Stienstra gave birth to a six-pound, seven-ounce baby girl, in the trailer — with the able help of her husband. It was about 4:30 a.m.

Stienstra now has advice for prospective mothers — and fathers when the time for baby's arrival seems to be close.

"At the first moment, take off for the hospital and don't stand around and argue whether she has to leave — let the doctor decide," he said.

The Stienstras weren't the only excited people in Hawkeye village Sunday morning. Mrs. Howard Weger, 3 Hawkeye village, a neighbor of the Stienstras, who had felt the stork knocking at the door before her neighbor did, went to the hospital very soon after Mrs. Stienstra was taken, and gave birth to a five-pound, six-ounce son about 8:40 a.m.

Today the fathers are passing out cigars labeled "its a boy" or "its a girl" and both mothers and babies are doing fine. Stienstra and Weger reported.

"We both got what we wanted — a girl, we a boy," Weger said. "Everything is swell."

Children to Receive Swimming Physicals

Physical examinations for some 500 children registered for swimming instruction will be given by Mercy hospital staff doctors at the Community building tomorrow starting at 1 p.m., City Recreation Director J. Edgar Frame said yesterday.

Registrants will not be permitted to take swimming lessons until they have had the examination, Frame said. Persons who fail to get examined tomorrow will have to go to their family physicians.

Physicals tomorrow are free of charge and are being sponsored by the Red Cross.

Tomorrow is also the deadline for registering for swimming instruction, Frame said. Classes will begin Monday in the City park swimming pool.

TRIESTE ELECTION

TRIESTE, FREE TERRITORY (TUESDAY) (AP) — Parties favoring the return of Trieste to Italy swept the free city's first municipal election Sunday. Official returns early today gave the pro-Italian candidates 40 of the 60 city council seats.

PICKETS DUMP COAL

CLARKSBURG, W. VA. (AP) — A roving band of some 300 pickets invaded a northern West Virginia strip-mining field yesterday, dumped at least seven truck loads of coal and forced the closing of two non-union workings.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE CHICAGO LOOP parking ban led to a famous practical joke whose aftermath was by far the funniest part of the story. A veteran bookman was tendered a dinner to celebrate his twenty-fifth anniversary with one firm.

At the climax of the evening, he was presented with a special pass, signed by Chicago's mayor, giving him the unique privilege of parking his car as long as he liked anywhere in the loop.

Tears of gratitude came into the bookman's eyes. He had no idea that the pass was a complete fake. His "pals" sat back to await the hullabaloo when he tried to use it for the first time.

Then came the payoff. The Chicago police, it developed, were just as convinced by the pass as the man who flashed it! He used it blissfully for at least three solid years, and, for all I know, it is still seeing service. Not one copper ever questioned its validity. The bookman took special pleasure in demonstrating its magic powers whenever one of his would-be tormentors was riding with him in the car.
