Request Trial for Brannan Program

WASHINGTON (UP)—A house agriculture subcommittee last night unhooked a bill which would give the administration a limited "trial run" of its new farm program and generally raise farm price supports.

Rep. Stephen Pace (D-Ga.), chairman of the group, said he hopes to get formal approval for the measure Wednesday and a quick okay by the full committee the following day.

The bill would:

1. Redefine "parity" for the first time since early new deal days and allow it to rise above the present levels of 90 percent of parity on most crops. It includes in full a new definition urged by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan.

2. Allow a "trial run" of the Brannan plan on three commodities chosen by the secretary. Brannan has indicated these will be potatoes, wool and hogs. The plan is aimed at keeping farm income high while letting certain retail food prices fall.

3. Repeal the Republican Hope-Aiken law now scheduled to go into effect next Jan. 1. This law would allow a sliding scale of price supports ranging as low as 60 percent of parity.

4. Add more crops to the six "basic" commodities — cotton, corn, wheat, rice, tobacco and peanuts — which may be supported at 100 percent of the new parity formula. Added would be hogs, milk, butterfat and shorn wool.

The bill would be effective next Jan. 1. Brannan earlier urged a senate committee to grant him authority to use his plan now on hogs to steady an unexpected fall in prices.

Under the Brannan plan, the government would pay farmers the difference between what they get on open market and the pegged price. Housewives thus would get the advantage of lower retail prices.

Trott Defers Ruling On Ranch Evidence

A ruling on the disposal of items seized in a raid by state agents on the Cou Fells Ranch super club June 4 was reserved by Police Judge Emil G. Trott until 5 p.m. Monday.

The club owner did not appear in court to show cause why the liquor and gambling devices seized in the raid should not be condemned.

Two agents of the state bureau of criminal investigation were the only witnesses who testified.

After their testimony, County Attorney Jack C. White asked that the evidence be preserved for a district court hearing rather than being disposed of by county authorities.

Judge Trott then said he would reserve a ruling on the county attorney's request until 5 p.m. Monday.

Items confiscated in the raid included over 100 bottles of liquor, eight slot machines, a telegraphic quotation ticker, punch boards and racing bet slips.

The equipment seized was turned over to County Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy for custody.

Berlin Deadlock Doomed Paris Meeting: Report

PARIS (AP)—Russian refusal to guarantee the western allies free access to Berlin has stalemated the big four foreign ministers conference, it was made known last night.

Unless Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky changes his mind by Sunday, as the result of instructions from Moscow, the conference will adjourn Monday with prospect of renewed bitter east-west disputes in the German capital.

RAINLESS DAYS OVER CHICAGO — Twenty-two rainless days were ended in parts of the parched east yesterday, but New England timber areas were reported still in danger from the prolonged dry spell.

T-H Objectors Attack Plant Seizure Scheme

WASHINGTON (AP)—A handful of senators backing the administration's original Taft-Hartley repealer yesterday attacked both injunctions and plant seizure as a "sledgehammer" approach to national emergency strikes.

The tone of their objections made clear that a compromise plan for handling such disputes, advanced in the hope of winning over doubtful senators, may face hard going when a show-down vote on the issue is reached sometime next week.

Senate administration leaders conceded privately that the com-

Ruth Ann Ross, 9, Wins First Prize In Bicycle Parade

Ruth Ann Ross, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ross, was the first prize winner yesterday in Iowa City's first annual bicycle parade.

Ruth Ann's prize was a table model radio.

Second prize went to Dick Rummel, 125 N. Gilbert street, who received a baseball glove. Bill Bywater, route 1, Iowa City, took the third prize, a bicycle speedometer.

Parade Chairman J.W. Helscher termed the parade a "definite success."

"We had very good response and the decorations were far above average," he said.

Helscher mentioned he had managed such enterprises before in other communities but never had had so many entries nor so many good ones.

A total of eighteen prizes were awarded. The competition was close enough that five persons tied for fourth place, 10 for fifth place.

Plans already have been made among the three sponsors of the parade to stage the event next year for safety interest, Helscher reported.

"It's a safety campaign to interest the children in bicycle safety and is to be held as soon as school is out," he said.

The sponsors of the parade were Iowa City's junior chamber of commerce, recreation center and the Montgomery Ward store.

Says Beran Files Pillaged by Police

PRAGUE (AP)—Czechoslovak police are ransacking church files in the palace of Catholic Archbishop Josef Beran and are listening in to all telephone calls, an important source inside the palace said last night.

Archbishop Beran is in the palace, the informant said, and his movements have not been restricted.

Church sources said the archbishop probably would keep an engagement to speak tonight at the Strahov monastery here.

The palace informant said that telephone calls were being screened. He said that the archbishop was in good health. Presumably, if he keeps his engagement at the monastery today, it will be sufficient denial of reports that he is under house arrest.

A government source, however, denied the reports of the archbishop's detention as "nonsense."

Truman Discusses Streamlining Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—High administration officials said yesterday the defense establishment, maritime commission and civil service commission will be affected in the first of six or seven government reorganization plans to be submitted to congress by President Truman.

This was made known as the President embarked on the yacht Williamsburg for a weekend cruise in nearby waters.

He took with him several officials with whom he is expected to discuss reorganization plans during the cruise.

Iowa Students Eligible For Unemployment Pay

DES MOINES (AP)—Carl B. Stigler, a member of the state employment security commission, said yesterday that Iowa students who can't find summer jobs are eligible for unemployment compensation.

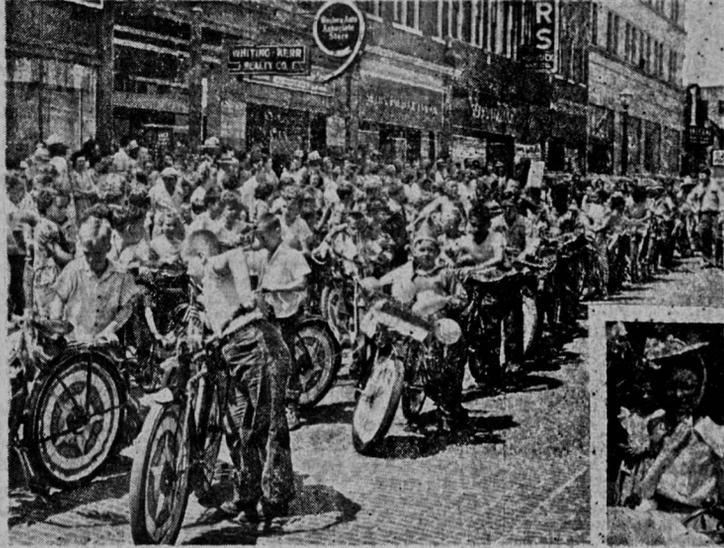

Students can draw benefits if they earned at least $100 during last summer and meet other requirements.

U.S. Warships to Visit Scandinavia

LONDON (AP)—The U.S. navy announced yesterday it will send three of the newest American warships on visits next month to Norway and Denmark.

The heavy cruiser Columbus and the destroyers S.B. Roberts and O'Hare — all built since the last war — will show the American flag at Oslo July 16-21 and at Copenhagen July 22-27.

The announcement came shortly after the big U.S. battleship Missouri arrived with an escort of nine destroyers and minelayers at the British royal navy base in Portsmouth for an 8-day visit.

Youngsters Strut Their Stuff in Bicycle Parade

SOME OF IOWA CITY'S BICYCLE PARADERS patiently (or impatiently?) wait to have their bikes judged in the first annual bicycle parade here. First prize was won by Ruth Ann Ross (inset), 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ross, 1803 C street. Judges were Mayor Preston Koser, Wayne Putnam Jr., president of the Iowa City Junior chamber of commerce, and J. Edgar Frame, director of the local recreation center.

Prosecution Ends Case In Hiss Perjury Trial

Hiss to Take Stand To Relate His Story

NEW YORK (AP)—The government rested its case against Alger Hiss yesterday after 14 days of testimony. Soon afterwards defense motions to dismiss the perjury charges were turned down.

The defense in behalf of the handsome, 44-year-old former state department official will begin Monday.

Lloyd Paul Stryker, top defense counsel, confirmed Hiss would take the stand to tell his own story but said this probably would be later next week.

Hiss is accused of lying twice in telling a grand jury he had never given government secrets to Whittaker Chambers, former Communist courier, and that he hadn't seen Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937.

The government presented only one witness, Benjamin H. Firsheim, a stenographer, related only to one point in Chambers' cross-examination.

Firsheim, as an official reporter, took part of the testimony which Chambers gave before the house un-American activities committee in Washington, Aug. 25, 1948.

Stryker used this testimony in his searing cross-examination of Chambers. The record of the committee hearing quoted the former Communist as saying Hiss lived on "Dent place" in Washington.

Chambers denied he had snapped the statement and made it at the defense counsel. "I don't care what the record says. The record says that, but I did not say that."

Firsheim backed up the prosecution witness on this point. He explained there had been a question in his mind as to what Chambers did say and that he wrote "Dent" in place of "Balt," which was written in his notes, only after conferring with a member of the committee staff.

Steel Bosses Plan Opposition to CIO

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Top negotiators of the nation's vital steel and coal industries yesterday planned the strategy they will use to resist the economic demands of two giant unions with a combined membership of more than 1,500,000 members.

U.S. Steel corporation executives huddled after negotiations with CIO President Philip Murray's million-member United Steelworkers union bogged down in only two meetings. The steelworkers want a fourth — round wage increase, 150-dollars-a-month pensions, and a long list of social insurance benefits.

ARKANSAS CITY, KAN. (AP)—Mrs. Joe Camero telephoned for a taxi. When she heard a voice on the other end of the line, she merely gave her address and hung up.

Two fire trucks raced more than two miles to her home. She had been connected with the fire department by mistake.

Oak Ridge Gas Line Hit by Hickenlooper

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Hickenlooper (R-IOWA) yesterday attacked the building of a $10-million gas pipeline to the great Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic plant as "needless and wasteful."

But Sumner Pike, a member of the atomic energy commission, staunchly defended the project as a money-saver which he said would cut government atomic fuel bills by $1,250,000 a year.

Hickenlooper rekindled the pipeline controversy in pressing his charges before a senate-house committee that the nation's atomic program has suffered "incredible mismanagement" under AEC Chairman David E. Lilienthal.

Pike said that despite the committee's disapproval, the AEC is going ahead with plans to use natural gas piped from Texas gulf fields instead of coal because the commission believes it is a sound proposition.

Hickenlooper complained that even the committee's unanimous opinion against the project had "no influence whatsoever" on the AEC, which he said went right ahead after the congressional "watchdog" committee announced its disapproval.

The possibility was raised of strikes by gas workers which might jeopardize the flow of gas to the Oak Ridge plant.

The AEC official said that under a contract with the private builder of the gas line, the East Tennessee Natural Gas company, the commission will pay 20 to 22 cents per thousand cubic feet for about 60-million cubic feet delivered daily to the Oak Ridge plant.

Yesterday's testimony skirted the question of who will pay for the 117-mile spur pipeline to Oak Ridge — the AEC or the private builder.

Civil War '4-F' Dies at 103

FORT MADISON (AP)—A man who failed to meet physical requirements for service in the Civil war died yesterday at the age of 103.

Augustus Marcellus Staub, Wever, fractured his hip last Wednesday when he fell at his home. Until then, he was in fair health. Born June 16, 1845 at Long Creek, Staub attempted to enlist for duty in the Civil war, but he was rejected because of what doctors then termed "buck knee."

Economists Forecast 5-Million Unemployed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government economists believe that unemployment may go on climbing—perhaps to a point near 5-million before recovery factors check the rise.

Stabilizing influences will come into play later this year or possibly 1950, responsible but unquotable officials predicted yesterday.

Meanwhile an Associated Press survey covering 38 states showed that five have put depression-style relief laws back on the books. Seven cities or more have restored "work relief."

But both federal and state officials said, in general, that no crisis is indicated. Most said they feel sure the relief load can be shouldered without serious distress.

Despite the unseasonal rise in unemployment in May, census figures show that the jobless make up only 5.3 percent of the labor force.

Moreover, total employment in May rose more than two and one-half times as much as joblessness. It reached 58,694,000 — higher than May a year ago.

Employment rose in the construction, transportation and some other non-factory industries, but not enough to offset the eighth successive monthly decline in manufacturing.

One top economist said the feeling among his colleagues is "widespread" that unemployment is not going to stop at its present level of 3,289,000 or even at 4-million.

The resistance to deflation will come somewhere on the way to 5-million idle, some believe.

Five states in recent months, including Iowa, have taken steps to help their counties handle the case load — either as a "preparedness" measure or to cope with emergencies already at hand.

Oskaloosa Tree Feud Enters State High Court

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa supreme court decided yesterday to give a complete hearing to the argument over whether shade trees at Oskaloosa should be removed for a street widening job.

The high court denied a motion by the state highway commission to dismiss an appeal by complaining property owners.

Farmer Seals Oil Well To Prevent Crop Ruin

CARACAS, VENEZUELA (AP)—The newspaper El Nacional reported yesterday that a west Venezuelan farmer sealed off an oil well discovered on his land because he feared that oil field developers would ruin his crops.

The newspaper reported in a dispatch from Maracaibo that oil was found on a farm in the La Goajira area, on the Colombian border not far from the rich Maracaibo oil fields.

Tells District Court About 'Odd Request' By William E. Foley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fighting for her freedom, Judith Coplon swore yesterday that her superior insisted that she jot down extracts from a "decoy" memorandum planted by the FBI.

Th notes were found in her purse when she was arrested later the same day — last March 4 — with a Russian man in New York.

She is on trial in federal district court on a charge of stealing government secrets with intent to aid a foreign nation — Russia.

Before Judge Albert L. Reeves recessed the trial until Monday morning, the tiny, dark-haired defendant, who was an analyst in the justice department at the time of her arrest, related the "odd request" she said she received from her boss, William E. Foley.

She testified that he handed her a paper on the morning of March 4 with the comment that it was "hot and interesting." The memorandum, she said, stated that two high officials of Amtorg, the Russian trading agency, had become FBI informants.

Miss Coplon said Foley told her he wanted her to make notes from the paper, looking toward possible prosecution of Amtorg for failure to register as a foreign agent. She said that Foley called particular attention to the name of Isidore G. Needleman, general counsel for Amtorg, and told her to make a note of that.

Even though she told Foley she planned to go to New York that evening, he told her to go ahead and make the notes, she recounted. She said he came back later and asked whether she had made the notes. Then, she said, he told her he would like for her to work on the matter over the weekend, taking the notes with her to New York.

Government witnesses testified earlier in the trial that the "decoy" memorandum concerning Amtorg was made up with the intention of catching Miss Coplon's eye, after it was learned she was keeping company with a Russian, Valentine A. Gubitchev, a United Nations employee.

Piling up her defense point by point, Miss Coplon told the court that a memo she wrote about a "top secret FBI report" was intended only for use in a funny book she was writing on the Washington political scene.

Local Delivery on Parking Meters Cut; To Install Only 280

Iowa City will purchase only 280 new parking meters instead of the 575 proposed by a city council resolution.

Hugh Kron, Burlington, distributor of the Miller parking meters, and Mayor Preston Koser late yesterday afternoon reached an agreement on which streets Kron's company will install the additional meters.

According to the city's contract with the company, the new parking meters must be delivered within 20 days, Kron said yesterday.

The streets which will have metered parking include: College street, Capitol to Clinton streets, 18 two-hour meters; Washington street, Linn to Gilbert streets, 48 three-hour meters; Iowa Avenue, Clinton to Dubuque streets, 45 two-hour meters, and Dubuque to Linn streets, 47 three-hour meters.

Capitol street, College to Washington streets, 41 two-hour meters; Clinton street, Iowa Avenue to Jefferson street, 47 three-hour meters; Linn street, College to Washington streets, 33 two-hour meters.

The revised plan for meter installation eliminates metered parking on Jefferson street; Iowa Avenue, Linn to Gilbert streets, and Washington street, Madison to Capitol streets.

Capitol street, Burlington to College streets; Clinton street, Court to Burlington streets; Dubuque street, Court to Washington streets and Iowa Avenue to Jefferson street; Linn street, Burlington to College streets and Washington street to Iowa Avenue.

Tribe Homers Clip Yanks, 10-4

Sixth Straight For Cleveland

NEW YORK (AP) — The rising Cleveland Indians snowed under the league-leading New York Yankees, 10-4, yesterday, blasting out four homers to stretch their winning streak to six games.

Ken Keltner drove home four runs on a pair of homers and Winning Pitcher Bob Lemon and Outfielder Lary Doby socked two other four-baggers to account for half of Cleveland's eight hits.

Lefty Ed Lopat was the victim of the Indians' homer barrage. Lemon ran trouble in the last of the seventh and was yanked in favor of Al Benton. Lemon walked the first two batters and Dick Kryhoski followed with a run-scoring double. Benton retired the next three hitters with only one run scoring.

Benton got into a jam himself in the eighth but Mickey Vernon pulled him out. Benton walked lead off batter Bobby Brown. Maps was safe on an error by Joe Gordon. Vernon then turned Gerry Coleman's liner into an unassisted double play.

Charley Keller, batting for Relief Pitcher Clarence Marshall, scratched a hit, his first of the season but Benton nailed Phil Rizzuto on a ground out to end the threat.

An X-Ray for the Ex-Champ

UNDERGOING A SHOULDER X-RAY is Marcel Cerdan, dethroned Thursday night as middleweight boxing champion by Jake LaMotta. He was placed under the X-ray apparatus at St. Clare hospital in New York yesterday by Pete Letterese, a technician. Cerdan arrived from Detroit, where the fight was held, by plane for treatment of his left shoulder which he said he injured in the first round of his first title defense since he won the title from Tony Zale last year.

Waitkus Undergoes Operation

CHICAGO (AP) — Eddie Waitkus, Philadelphia Phillies star first baseman, yesterday underwent a minor operation to draw blood from a lung pierced when he was shot by a bobby-sox fan.

The 28-year-old athlete remained in an operating room at the Illinois Masonic hospital about 30 minutes while surgeons worked with a suction needle. Later the hospital said he was "breathing easier" and showing "marked improvement."

Doctors explained that the bullet, fired by Ruth Ann Steinhaugen, 19-year-old typhoid who idolized Waitkus from afar, had lacerated the right lung and caused internal bleeding.

Whether Waitkus will be able to play ball again this season was uncertain. Dr. L.L. Braun, team physician for the Chicago Cubs, said he was "quite certain" he will be back playing baseball eventually.

The hero-worshipping bobby soxer who summoned the ballplayer to her hotel room and shot him with a .22 caliber rifle, is in jail unable to post $25,000 cash bail. A mental examination has been ordered for the girl who is charged with assault with intent to murder Waitkus.

Bucs Start Early, Down Giants, 6-4

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates belted Clint Hartung from the box in a four-run first inning last night, then went on to defeat the New York Giants, 6-4, before a crowd of 32,615. Big Ernie Bonham went the route for the Bucs, getting credit for his second win against as many defeats.

New York came back with two runs in the second and one in the fourth but the Bucs scored again in the fifth and seventh. Bonham was effective in the clutches, giving up only seven hits. One was Sid Gordon's 11th homer of the year in the eighth.

Only $5,000 Richer, Jake Says, 'I'll Be A Fighting Champ'

DETROIT (AP) — Jake LaMotta, his left hand puffed and his right eye lightly patched, promised yesterday to be a fighting middleweight champion.

"I really worked for this one," said 26-year-old Jake who chased the 160 - pound title for years. "now I got what I wanted."

The granite-jawed thumper from New York's Bronx realized his ambition of a lifetime Thursday night at Briggs stadium when he stopped an injured Marcel Cerdan of Casablanca in the 10th round.

LaMotta was fighting for "practically nothing." His 15 percent of the gate receipts came to about $49,171.50. All of that sum, with the exception of about $5,000 for traveling expenses, was held in a trust for LaMotta's family.

Cerdan flew to New York yesterday for an X-ray of his shoulder. He is supposed to return to France soon and was due to make a movie in Italy.

His 40 percent share here was $51,124. In addition, he will pick up about $25,000 that has been held in escrow since he beat Tony Zale for the title in Jersey City last September.

Nick Londe, local promoter for the I.B.C., estimated the margin of profit at "about $2,500." The gross gate paid by 22,183 persons was $159,762.

What's next? "That's up to the promoters," LaMotta said. "My contract calls for me to fight Cerdan again in September. I don't know where. If he can't make it because of that bum shoulder, then he has until January under the contract. We get 30-30 on an even percentage in the second fight."

A's Tip Browns, 6-5; Pete Suder Injured

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics advanced to within four and one-half games of the American league lead last night by defeating St. Louis, 6-5. The win may prove costly, however, as Veteran Second Baseman Pete Suder was carried off the field with a spike-wound in the ninth inning.

Suder was spiked on the left ankle by Ray Kokos as he took a throw from Third Baseman Hank Majeski as the middle man in a double play on Roy Sievers' grounder. Two stitches were taken in the wound. A club physician said he probably would be out of action a week or ten days.

"After a shaky start, Joe Coleman settled down to go the route for his sixth pitching triumph. He allowed only one hit — a ninth inning single by Sherman Lollar — in the last five frames.

"Sam Chapman's seventh homer of the season off Relief Pitcher Ray Shore with one on in the second inning, accounted for the A's winning margin.

Phils Blank Cards On Roberts' 5-Hitter

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Young Robin Roberts tossed a 5-hit masterpiece at the St. Louis Cardinals last night while the fightin' Phils from Philadelphia cut loose with a long ball barrage to ring up their sixth straight victory, 8-0.

The 22-year-old right hander from Springfield, Ill., showed the high-flying Redbirds the best pitching they have looked at since they started their upward surge three weeks ago. It was his eighth victory against three defeats. Four of his wins have been at the expense of the Cards.

Dick Sisler, filling in first base for the wounded Eddie Waitkus, started the up-and-coming Phils off to victory with a 2-run homer in the first inning. Harry Brecheen then blanked them until the seventh when they chased four runs across and sent the "Cat" to the showers.

A home run by Willie Jones, his sixth, touched off the fireworks and Richie Ashburn and Gran Hamner chipped in with triples, each bringing in a run. Ashburn's hit was one of four for the night. Del Ennis closed the scoring with a two-run double in the ninth off Jim Hearn.

Dodgers Keep League Margin By Beating Cubs in Ninth, 2-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Big Don Newcombe pitched the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers back into winning stride yesterday with a 2-1 victory over Warren Hacker and the Chicago Cubs.

The Dodgers pushed across the winning tally in the ninth inning to protect their slim margin over the St. Louis Cardinals in the National league and hand the undefeated Newcombe his fourth triumph.

Duke Snider started the winning rally with a single and was sacrificed to second by Jackie Robinson. Then Gil Hodges singled through the left side of the infield to score Snider.

Roy Campanella hit his tenth home run of the season for Brooklyn in the third inning. The Cubs tied it up in the sixth. Emil Verban opened with a walk and was sacrificed to second by Hal Jeffcoat. Hank Edwards then got a scratch single near second base when Verban booted his grounder and Verban scored as the ball rolled into center field.

The Dodgers collected eight hits off Hacker, who suffered his first defeat against one victory. Newcombe allowed six hits.

It was the sixth straight loss for the Cubs and the fifth since Frank Frisch became their manager.

New Iowa Golf Champ

NEW JUNIOR GOLF CHAMP of Iowa is Tom Crabbe of Cedar Rapids (above). Crabbe won the title at Waterloo yesterday afternoon by defeating Tom Rowe of Fairfield, 3 and 2. The finals paired two 18-year-old collegians for the crown held last year by Iowa City's Sonny Dean. Crabbe took the lead on the 10th hole and never lost it. He was three over par when the match ended.

United in Double Ring Ceremony

Dr. and Mrs. Jerome B. Hathorn Jr.

Kathleen Nelson Wed To Dr. Hathorn Jr.

In an evening ceremony at the First Methodist church Thursday, Miss Kathleen L. Nelson and Dr. Jerome B. Hathorn Jr. exchanged wedding vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Nelson, Campbell, and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Hathorn Sr., Wichita Falls, Tex.

Dr. L. L. Dunnington officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with tiffany baskets of white gladioli and lilies.

Mrs. Nelson gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of blue tulle with a yoke of white net and a junior train. Her garter veil fell from a small cap. She carried a purple-veined white orchid centered in a sash.

Mrs. Dean Fowler, Sherman, Ia., was her sister's matron of honor. Her gown was of blue tulle with a fitted bodice, all skirt and cape effect. She wore a matching hat and carried a colonial bouquet of white gladioli.

Mrs. Robert Webb, Wichita Falls, Ia., best man and ushers were Dr. John Fatland and Dr. Roy Hines, both of Iowa City.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Iowa Union.

The couple will spend two weeks in Denver and then will return to Louisville, Ky. where Dr. Hathorn will intern beginning July 1. Mrs. Hathorn is a graduate of the State University of Iowa school of nursing and has been employed on the staff of the University hospitals.

Dr. Hathorn attended the University of Texas and received his M.D. degree from SUI June 10.

Dr. Phil Guttorm Toverud, dean of the dental school of Norway, will talk "Public Health Dentistry in Norway," Monday evening.

Dr. Raymond E. Johnson, University of Minnesota school of dentistry, will speak on "Diagnosis and Treatment of Periodontal Diseases."

Dr. Dean Lierle, head of otolaryngology at University hospitals, will speak Monday morning on "Oral Cancer."

Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the SUI school of religion, was recently elected moderator of the Presbyterian synod of Iowa.

Iowa Bar Admits 57 Law Graduates In SUI Ceremony

Forty-eight graduates of the SUI law school and nine graduates from out-of-state schools were sworn in as new attorneys yesterday at the university by District Court Judge Floyd Philbrick of Cedar Rapids.

They were sworn in at the conclusion of four days' written and oral bar examinations given by the state examining board.

Two of the new attorneys are women. Mrs. Serene Heng Green, Milford, and Ruth Hartkopp, Iowa Falls, completed the examinations with the 55 men, nine of whom are from Iowa City.

Graduates from SUI law school were Donald G. Albee, Marshalltown; Robert F. Barclay, Washington; Chester R. Bentz, Chariton; Walter R. Brown, Dubuque; Gerald D. Carpenter, Pella; William J. Douglas, Mason City; John B. Foley, Ft. Dodge, and John F. Gallagher, New York.

Graduates from out-of-state schools were James E. Cross, University of Southern California, Ft. Dodge; Alan J. Kane, Loyola University of Chicago, Dubuque; Harold C. Lounsberry, Harvard, Marshalltown; Charles J. Munson, Northwestern, Montpelier; and D. C. Shull, University of Michigan, Sioux City.

Roy A. Bush, Notre Dame, Davenport; Sydney A. Thomas, University of Michigan, Muscatine; Allan D. Vestal, Yale, Iowa City, and Charles D. Waterman Jr., Harvard, Bettendorf.

Three special lecturers will be Dean R.W. Goddard, Rochester Junior college, Rochester, Minn.; Dean Leland Medsker, Wright Junior college, Chicago; and J.P. Street of the Iowa state department of public instruction.

Weekly picnics, devotions and discussions are planned as the main part of the summer program of the Lutheran Student association in Iowa City.

Every Sunday Lutheran students will hold a picnic supper which will precede devotions and a discussion program.

The program topics include: June 19, "Reason for living: Faith" by the Rev. Ralph Krueger; June 26, "What Makes Marriage Christian" by Pat Hackett; July 10, "Does the Preacher Make the Church?" by July 17, "Is a Farmer Answering a Call to od's Service?" by July 24, "Can Politics be Christian?" by July 31, "Our Neighbor and Our Christian Responsibility," and August 7, "Find Your Answer in Prayer" by the Rev. A.C. Proehl.

The student house will be open all summer, association officials said.

Earle Behrend, deputy regional Boy Scout executive of Kansas City, yesterday assisted Martin L. Hunter in checking his responsibilities as scout executive here.

Hunter arrived in Iowa City this week to begin his job with the Iowa River Valley Boy Scout council. He will supervise scout activities in Iowa, Johnson and Washington counties.

If Healthy, Vitamins Waste Money, Bean Tells Medical Meet

Obesity - fatness to you - is the major form of malnutrition in this section of the country, according to Dr. William B. Bean, head of the department of internal medicine in the SUI college of medicine.

He said this was generally true in an agricultural area where food is relatively abundant.

Speaking to physicians attending the internal medicine conference at the college of medicine Thursday Doctor Bean said that although in certain stages of malnutrition vitamins are vital and life-saving, "many vitamins are bought over the counter when there is actually no need."

"If people are healthy and have a good diet added vitamins are a waste of money," he added.

Doctor Bean said the chemical structure of many vitamins is now known and it is possible to manufacture them. "Their use in the treatment of disease has been possible only during the modern period of their isolation and discovery," he said.

He said, however, that the general use of vitamin pills for any and all conditions for which a patient complains "is not justified on the basis of observations in the clinic and in the laboratory."

Doctor Bean told the group that in general vitamin pills are labeled correctly but "many have only trifling quantities of vitamins."

He also noted a "wide spread" in prices among various vitamin products with "no substantial difference in content."

The five-day conference ended yesterday.

Soil conservation week, June 19-26 as proclaimed by Gov. William S. Beardsley, will be observed by a tour of conservation planned farms, William Davis, local soil conservationist, said yesterday.

The tour is being sponsored by district conservation commissioners. It will take place Monday at 1:30 p.m. and will assemble along highway 1 just west of the Eldon Miller Trucking company building.

Emmett C. Gardner, county extension director, and Charles Balloun of the soil conservation office will conduct the tour which will last approximately two hours. Townspeople as well as farmers are invited to attend, Davis said.

Ojemann Announces New SUI Workshop

A human relations and mental health workshop, the first of its kind in the country, will be held at SUI Monday through July 1, Prof. R.H. Ojemann of the educational psychology department said yesterday.

Ojemann, director of the workshop, stated that it is designed to work out plans for starting a program of education in human relations. Administrators, teachers, and research workers will attend the workshop and work on individual projects and the planning of programs for schools, community and research groups.

Assistants on preventive psychiatry projects at SUI and representatives of the University Laboratory school will discuss human relations and mental health. Advance figures show that 20 persons have registered.

Dunnington to Attend Methodist Conference
Dr. L.L. Dunnington and the Rev. Robert Crocker will attend the annual Methodist conference at St. Paul Methodist church in Cedar Rapids starting Tuesday and continuing through June 26.

The conference unites the northwest and upper Iowa conferences and comprises about 350 churches, Dr. Dunnington said.

Edgar Bergen's New -

Dewey-Eyed Dummy

- Ready for TV

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD — Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd will have to sharpen their gags when they hit television next fall. They have a new sexy gal friend who's liable to steal the show with her plunging neckline.

Edgar Bergen, the ventriloquist papa of them all says he figures it's about time the boys got some competition in the form of a dewey-eyed dummy.

"Besides," he grins, "I wanted to give the act some sex appeal."

Bergen hasn't named his blessed event yet. But he says, Charlie's competition has blond curls, big blue eyes and plenty of wooden curves. The latter will be draped in a wardrobe of plunging necklines that TV won't let the human sirens get away with.

"I think she's a little southern," he says. "She's all-girl in full bloom. In the act her uncle figures with my fingers."

promises to give her $5,000 if she finishes college without getting married. She gets a little anxious."

Another chip off the Bergen block who once decorated his radio show, Effie Clinker, the man-hunting old maid, will be on the TV show, too.

"So many ventriloquists are in the business now that I thought I'd better branch out to more characters," Bergen explains. "The television show will have costumes and sets and little skits to give it a new feeling."

"It'll have more pantomime and less talk. I'll do cartooning and shadowgraphs - making shadow figures with my fingers."

"The new dummy will be more visual, too. She'll look life-like and have more gadgets to make her move."

As compensation, pink-cheeked Charlie gets a brand-new wardrobe for his debut on the living-room screens. His suits, costing $100 each, are just like Bergen's.

Bergen up and quit radio last December with a vow he'd never go back. He will, though, next October along with his once-a-month CBS television show.

"I never really belonged on radio but it's too late now," he says. "My act is visual. But less than two percent of my radio listeners have TV sets. I'll have to stay on radio for a while."

"Next year perhaps my TV show will be weekly. In two years maybe I can drop radio and stick to television and vaudeville if it's back to stay."

Bergen's four irrepressible hunks of wood will act on TV only two at a time, but even that will keep him a busy guy. He'll have to memorize all five parts, too.

"I'll also have to go back to not moving my lips," he adds. "I let that slide on radio."

Prof. Dale B. Harris of the University of Minnesota will speak during the Wednesday evening session of the SUI conference on child development and parent education to be held Wednesday and Thursday.

Harris will discuss "Juvenile Delinquency in the senate chamber of Old Capitol at 8:00 p.m. Harris is a staff member of child welfare and was an instructor in the army specialized training program on personal psychology before serving in the U.S. Marine corps, 1944-46.

He is a member of the American Psychological association, the Society for Research in Child Development and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Simms, Koebel Present Wednesday Night Recital
The program for the first Wednesday evening music hour of the SUI summer session next week will present Prof. Hans Koebel, cello, and John Simms, piano.

"Sonata in F" by Pizzetti and "Sonata III, Opus 69" by Beethoven will be played by the two soloists.

Stations WSUI and KSUI will broadcast the 8 p.m. recital from Studio E in the engineering building.

Exhibit to Present Old Master Copies

Color reproductions of historic old master paintings will be exhibited in the SUI art building's halls beginning Monday.

The exhibit will last throughout the summer but the reproductions will be changed several times, Prof. R. Delmar of the art department said yesterday.

The old master reproductions were made in France, Germany (before the war), Italy, England and the United States, and are part of the university's permanent art gallery.

Works of the old masters include reproductions of paintings by Rembrandt, Flemish painter; Michelangelo, Giotto and Botticelli; Italian; Cezanne and Degas, French; and El Greco and Goya, Spanish.

How Film Depicting SUI of the Future

A glimpse of how SUI may look in the future was given the Iowa City Masonic service club yesterday in the film, "Know Your University."

SUI's future plans shown included a communications building to face Dubuque street between Iowa avenue and Jefferson street, a girl's dormitory and an apartment building for married students both to be on the fine arts campus, and a pharmacy-dentistry building near the medical laboratories.

Many divisions of SUI such as health and sciences, child welfare and extension service were cited in the film. The group learned how, through these services and departments, SUI plays a part in the community, state and nation.

Elect Prof. Lampe Synod Moderator

Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the SUI school of religion, was recently elected moderator of the Presbyterian synod of Iowa.

The yearly election took place at the synod meetings last week at Iowa state college, Ames. Lampe presided at the meetings. The synod is made up of an equal number of Presbyterian ministers and laymen from all parts of Iowa.

Dentistry Meeting To Hear Toverud

Alumni of the SUI college of dentistry will hold their 33d meeting here Monday through Wednesday. Lectures and demonstrations of various dental procedures will be given during the three-day meeting.

Dr. Phil Guttorm Toverud, dean of the dental school of Norway, will talk "Public Health Dentistry in Norway," Monday evening.

Dr. Raymond E. Johnson, University of Minnesota school of dentistry, will speak on "Diagnosis and Treatment of Periodontal Diseases."

Dr. Dean Lierle, head of otolaryngology at University hospitals, will speak Monday morning on "Oral Cancer."

Education College To Hold Workshop

A workshop for junior college administrators and teachers will be held in the curriculum laboratory of East hall Monday through July 1, Prof. L.A. Van Dyck of the SUI college of education said yesterday.

He expects around 30 persons from Iowa and Minnesota to attend. The administrators and teachers will work on curriculum problems, student advisement and the revision of their course materials for next year.

The directors of the workshop will be A.J. Cloud, president of City college, San Francisco, and Dean L.D. Luckman, also of City college.

Three special lecturers will be Dean R.W. Goddard, Rochester Junior college, Rochester, Minn.; Dean Leland Medsker, Wright Junior college, Chicago; and J.P. Street of the Iowa state department of public instruction.

Jazz Termed a Child of Many Parents

By DRAKE MABRY

Nick Lorooca is just one of the many musicians who claim to be the progenitor of jazz.

In a story that appeared in these columns yesterday, the former New Orleans cornetist now turned carpenter said, "In 1908 I gave the two-beat to four other young fellows, and what happened they call jazz."

In other words, Lorooca claims that jazz happened — just like that. He discounts any basis or background for jazz.

There are other claimants to the title, "Father of Jazz."

Jelly Roll Morton is one of them. Said he, "I created jazz in 1902; jazz or stomps added a new word to the dictionary, and they gave it the wrong definition." In 1938 Jelly Roll said that he laid the foundation of jazz and was still the "flowing fountain."

W. C. Handy, the self-admitted father of the blues, says, "I arranged and played unusual and unpublished music in Chicago in 1896, and from this music the blues were created."

Another musician who claims the parenthood of jazz is Stale Bread, who reportedly played the first jazz in New Orleans with his Spasm Band around 1902.

Lorooca's assertion that jazz happened is certainly valid. Jelly Roll helped with the foundation work, though, and Handy did play the most unusual music of his day.

But these musicians separately

Celebration Planned At Truman, Minnesota

TRUMAN, MINN. (AP) — This southern Minnesota dairying and farming center has shed its work-day clothes and habits for a three day celebration.

The occasion is the 50th anniversary of the founding of the village and the 100th anniversary of the establishment of the Minnesota territory.

The community was founded when the Omaha railroad arrived and was named for the son of an Omaha railroad official. And despite the fact it is in normally Republican territory, citizens are wearing jubilee buttons bearing the picture of President Truman.

Interpreting the News —

New Buyers Must Be Found

By SIGRID ARNE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Perhaps on your financial pages you saw the flustered exclamations when British exports dropped off in April.

The drop was only temporary. In May exports went up again and the British sold 22-million pounds worth of goods more than they sold in May last year.

But any drop in the foreign sales of Britain or the other European countries we're helping through the Marshall plan is a night-mare that haunts economists of all the western world.

They fear the middle of the 1930's, when the western world had plenty of factories and skilled workers, yet couldn't find buyers for all they turned out. Factories closed, and men went without paychecks.

Now government experts have two new worries that didn't exist in the 30's:

1. Communism is far stronger than it was then. The Communists are ready and eager, if there is severe unemployment, to convince workers that communism could give them the regular job they can't be sure about under democracy and capitalism.

2. The western world turns out so much more now than it did in the 30's, that it needs even more buyers. The war gave us new skills, new factories and new methods.

This May, Britain turned out 50 percent more goods in volume than it ever did in its history. The volume of United States production is 90 percent greater than it was in 1936-38.

For Britain the problem of finding and keeping a large market is even more serious than it is for the U.S.

Britain owes a huge debt to other nations; partly it's a war debt, partly a reconstruction debt. So it must now sell enough to do two jobs: (1) feed both its people and its factories on a day-to-day basis; (2) continue to pay off its debt.

To some extent this is true of all the industrial nations: Belgium, Canada, France, Sweden, Germany, Japan.

American government economists hope that the big increase in buying will come along the old lines: among the industrial nations, first. Before World War II they were all one another's best customers. Britain was our best buyer. Now it's Canada, a newcomer to the industrial ranks.

But, to absorb the tremendous increase in production, new buyers will have to be found in the non-industrial areas of the world, like Africa and Latin America.

Right now the Anglo-Canadian-American trade experts to which this reporter talked think the most certain answers lie in improved business methods. They think business will have to find ways to cut costs, cut prices. Then they will attract a whole new set of buyers who can't, or won't, buy at today's prices.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Needed: A Sense of 'Now'

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

Mr. Truman delivered what was technically a very good speech at Little Rock. It had main headings, subdivisions, anything a body could want.

It neatly divided the world problem into three parts — we need, said the President, a strong and prosperous America, a strong and prosperous community of free nations, and an international organization which can stop aggression.

THE PRESIDENT then went on, without any hesitation, to show how we could get every one of these things: Pass his reform program, he said, and we'll have a strong and prosperous America.

Continue the Marshall plan and start up the scheme for developing backward areas, and we'll have a strong community of free nations. Ratify and implement the north Atlantic treaty, and there will be international stability.

Three problems, three solutions, and there you are — it's a lot for one speech.

BUT THE THING that bothered me about the speech was that it all sounded so millennial. There was no recognition in it of the very real difficulties we are beginning to find ourselves in these days with more than 3,000,000 unemployed.

There was no mention of unemployment, except in an indirect way, in the form of a warning that it would be bad for the world if our "purchasing power" were "badly impaired"—but that is not the same as recognizing that our purchasing power is being impaired right now, with more than 3,000,000 would-be workers sitting at home, watching their purchasing powers shrivel.

THERE WAS NO sense of "Now!" in the speech. The President's boast that we "know more today" than we used to about keeping our economy strong, must have seemed strange to many of the unemployed.

In fact the whole address, with its neat, easy formulations, must have seemed strange to many a small businessman, to a salesman scratching for orders, or to a worker on part-time. There was no sense in the speech of what actually goes on today in those sweating circles in which men try to gain their livings.

ON FRIDAY LAST, the day before the President spoke, Mr. Leon Keyserling, vice chairman of the President's council of economic advisers, warned that "the present mild recession" would pyramid if not checked, and that our economy might lose $800-billion in the next decade if we followed a hands-off policy.

On Monday Mr. Walter Lippmann warned us that "the recession has not been checked, but is developing". There was nothing in the President's rather comfortable oration to indicate that concern of this kind is in order.

WE ARE in difficulties right now, and unless these are checked, they may well get worse. If that happens, the President will not get a full continuation of the Marshall plan, no matter how ardently he asks for it, now will he get a development scheme for backward areas.

He had an opportunity at Little Rock to add a sense of urgency to our thinking, but urgency got lost somewhere among the three main heads and the subdivisions.

You couldn't object to anything actually included in the speech, about the need for social improvement, more purchasing power, etc. — except that you felt that the world was left out, the world of reality, the world of "Now!"

HE LEFT OUT, also any recognition that there is a determined conservatism entrenched in congress which does not intend to let us plan our way out of this or any recession, and against which opinion must be mobilized. He made it seem too much like a parade.

More than once in the past the President has taken the course of making wholly unexceptionable presentations, but in so general a way that no action is called for the 'next' morning, no rally in point is set up, no decision made urgent and imminent. He did it again at Little Rock.

The sequel to the Mindszenty case is being duplicated in Communist-held Czechoslovakia. It is beginning to erupt into blazing headlines at any minute.

For months now, Catholic Archbishop Josef Beran has defied the Communist regime. For months also, the Czech government has been tightening its squeeze on the church with the eventual goal of silencing its opposition.

The reason this case parallels the Mindszenty case so closely is that one man stands as the symbol of the church.

The Czechoslovakian drama first made the headlines last March when Cardinal Beran refused to agree to the nationalization of all Catholic church schools. The veteran of Dachau concentration camp also refused to recognize the state's right to veto clerical appointments.

Since then, the Communist regime has proceeded to liquidate Beran in exactly the same manner as Mindszenty was toppled in Hungary. First came months of vicious propaganda attacks against Beran and the church. This in turn stiffened Beran's resistance; he has

Rent Control Lift: Results Vary Over Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the two months since it became law, "home rule" rent controls has brought results ranging from minor increases in some places to a few rent boosts of up to 100 percent.

Under the bill passed March 29, communities could be decontrolled by their local governing bodies — with the state governor's okay — and whole states could be decontrolled by their legislatures.

An Associated Press survey early in June showed 16 cities and towns, including Knoxville, Tenn., Amarillo, Tex., and McAlester, Okla., have lifted their own rent controls, with the approval of state governors. Only Nebraska has thus far voted statewide decontrol.

The bill also gave the federal government power to re-impose controls where it had lifted them — power which prompted Housing Expediter Tighe Woods to decontrol more than 100 areas.

Landlord reaction to community, state and federal decontrol has varied greatly. Some areas reported practically no boosts. But in Americus, Ga., decontrolled from Washington, rents rose so sharply that the town has been recontrolled.

In Nebraska, with statewide decontrol, the leading real estate figure has announced 10 percent increases and has asked his fellow landlords to show similar "restraint" — lest they hurt the cause of decontrol.

In Amarillo, which decontrolled itself, the Globe-News says rent boosts generally have been "a conservative 20 to 25 percent" but adds that some rents were doubled.

In McAlester these among other early increases were noted: a house went from $35 to $50 a month; an apartment house went up $5 on each apartment.

In most of the areas decontrolled from Washington in early April, rent rises have been moderate. Generally, decontrol is sticking.

But the rent advisory board at Americus reported boosts ranging up to 100 percent in the two control-free months. The local citizens' board was unanimous in asking the return of ceilings. The real estate man on the board made the motion.

Several state legislatures have taken up decontrol bills. Such a bill passed in Florida, but the governor hasn't signed yet. Texas legislators are battling on the issue. Four states have turned down decontrol bills — Iowa, Tennessee, North Carolina and Oklahoma.

Few figures are available on "home rule" decontrol, but these nationwide tendencies were noted: Decontrol movements tend to center in the south and southwest. They occur most frequently in smaller communities. Industrial New England and the fast-growing Pacific northwest show little inclination to drop ceilings.

And most governors are taking their time about approving local decontrol requests. Eleven cities and towns have voted for raising controls but are awaiting action by the governor. One town, Ocean View, Va., ran into a governor's veto.

In Washington it was learned that six brand new, approved decontrol requests are being checked for legality by Expediter Woods. If the cities are the largest in their rent areas, Woods must decontrol the whole area.

These communities are Ascariat and Electra, Tex.; Camden, Ark.; Artesia, N.M.; Chanute, Kans.; and Chickasha, Okla.

A score or more cities, including Akron, Salt Lake City and others of some size, have set hearings to find out whether their citizens want to be control-free. A number of such hearings already have resulted in turndowns by the city councils.

Josef Beran: Czech Mindszenty-

The sequel to the Mindszenty case is being duplicated in Communist-held Czechoslovakia. It is beginning to erupt into blazing headlines at any minute.

For months now, Catholic Archbishop Josef Beran has defied the Communist regime. For months also, the Czech government has been tightening its squeeze on the church with the eventual goal of silencing its opposition.

The reason this case parallels the Mindszenty case so closely is that one man stands as the symbol of the church.

The Czechoslovakian drama first made the headlines last March when Cardinal Beran refused to agree to the nationalization of all Catholic church schools. The veteran of Dachau concentration camp also refused to recognize the state's right to veto clerical appointments.

Since then, the Communist regime has proceeded to liquidate Beran in exactly the same manner as Mindszenty was toppled in Hungary. First came months of vicious propaganda attacks against Beran and the church. This in turn stiffened Beran's resistance; he has lashed out at the state for silencing the church press, interfering with church collections and disrupting church schools.

There were indications from Prague this week that the drama was reaching a climax. Czech police entered Beran's palace arresting his chancellor and a priest, seizing documents and stationing guards throughout the building. Beran was ordered to remain in the palace; some reports said he made an effort to flee.

Shortly before Mindszenty's arrest, Hungarian police seized members of his palace. Their "confessions" were used as the excuse for arresting and trying Mindszenty himself. This seems to be the next step in Czechoslovakia.

Josef Beran, like Josef Mindszenty, knows what he is up against. He's determined to face a show-down.

The Communists of Czechoslovakia are waiting to strike the major blow and arrest Beran. The collapse of the Paris big four meeting may be their go-ahead signal. Very shortly, the western world will be treated to a new spectacle of Communist treachery.

Cold War: After Paris, Status Quo-

The Paris meeting of the big four foreign ministers is a failure. As it grinds wearily through the formalities of disbanding, the conference is open to final observations.

It was preceded by the lifting of the Berlin blockade and a wave of optimism that, at last, Russia was ready to be reasonable. The conference itself, however, has given no indication of Russian willingness to concede or barter a thing.

Before the meeting, many Americans were disturbed by the cold war. Sure, it's all right to block Russia with any and all means, was the usual line, but let's not slam the door on face-to-face negotiations.

For about a month Russia and the west have been meeting — meeting daily — face to face. It hasn't solved a thing. For a good while to come the maybe-we-can-talk-with-Russia attitude will lie cold and still. The not-so-nice tactics of the cold war will get the go-ahead.

Several weeks ago these columns commented that the Paris meetings would probably draw a diplomatic line of demarcation down the middle of Europe.

On the east would be Russia and her satellite empire; she would not be able to move farther west by any means short of war. On the west would be the western powers; they would continue to hold their sphere with spiritual cooperation, the Marshall plan, and, perhaps, the north Atlantic pact.

Now that the Paris meeting has collapsed, the above analysis continues to hold true. Such a state of affairs in Europe can hardly be called peace.

It will be an uneasy truce with the west on the defensive against any secret advances on the part of Russia. It will in all probability come complete with such cold war thrills as border incidents around Yugoslavia, strikes in France and Italy, behind-the-iron-curtain purges and daring western proposals for further cooperation.

It will be, in short, a continuation of the status quo. Neither better nor worse — just the status quo.

President Lashes Lobby

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman yesterday uncoiled a blistering new attack on the real estate lobby, accusing it of waging a "deliberate campaign of distortion and misrepresentation" against the administration's public housing bill.

He said that house members, who take up the bill Tuesday, should be "aware of the false and misleading nature of this propaganda" when they vote.

And he expressed the view that house consideration at last "means we are close to success in the five-year struggle to enact housing legislation that will strike at the core of the nation's critical housing problem."

The bill, which has passed the senate in slightly modified form, also provides for slum clearance and improvements in farm housing. It was a major plank in President's election campaign.

Mr. Truman said he had been "shocked" at the "extraordinary propaganda campaign" unleashed against this bill by the real estate lobby, and added he does not recall "ever having witnessed a more deliberate campaign of misrepresentation and distortion against legislation of such crucial importance to the nation."

"The propaganda of the real estate lobby consistently states the explicit provisions of the bill, consistently misrepresents what will be the actual effect if the bill, and consistently distorts the facts of the housing situation in the country," he asserted.

Dates Set for Swim Classes

Assignments to swimming classes at the municipal pool were announced yesterday by the Johnson County chapter of the American Red Cross.

Approximately 1,000 children have been registered.

The Red Cross office asked that the children attend the classes to which they have been assigned. Children are to be at the pool 15 minutes before class time. They are to supply their suits and towels. The girls are to bring bathing caps, too.

The required medical examination must be completed before the children can attend a class. This form is supplied by the Red Cross office.

The assignments are as follows:

Beginning classes:
 9 a.m., Wednesday and Saturday, grades 2-5.
 9 a.m., Tuesday and Friday, grades 4-7.
 9 a.m., Monday and Thursday, grades 10-12.

Intermediate classes:
 9:45 a.m., Wednesday and Saturday, grades 7-9.
 9:45 a.m., Monday and Thursday, grades 7-9.
 10:30 a.m., Tuesday and Friday, grades 9-12, girls.
 10:30 a.m., Wednesday and Saturday, grades 7-12, boys.
 11:15 a.m., Tuesday and Friday, grades 4-6, girls.
 11:15 a.m., Wednesday and Saturday, grades 4-6, boys.

Advanced classes:
 9:45 a.m., Tuesday and Friday, boys.
 10:30 a.m., Tuesday and Friday, girls.

Lifesaving, junior and senior:
 11:45 a.m., Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

To Attend Convention

W.J. Jackson, president of the Iowa City Kiwanis club, left last night for the 34th annual convention of the Kiwanis International at Atlantic City, N.J. He will be the only local delegate attending the meeting which begins tomorrow and lasts until Thursday.

Johnson County Got $26,300 This Month For Social Welfare

Johnson county received $26,309.80 of the more than $2.5-million used in Iowa during the month of June for old age assistance, aid to the needy blind and aid to dependent children, officials of the department of social welfare said yesterday.

There were 519 cases in the three categories in Johnson county registered June 1, when assistance is paid. There were 54,317 cases throughout the state.

Forty cases involved 100 needy children received $2,880.30 in Johnson county, and 13 cases of needy blind persons received $739.40.

The largest sum went to old age assistance, where $23,190.10 was divided among 468 cases. The average for those receiving old age assistance was $49.76, aid to the needy blind, $56.88, and the average per case for dependent children, $59.51, and per child, $23.80.

Monthly assistance is paid on the first of the month. Old age assistance medical care is provided on a re-payment basis and is included as a part of the regular monthly grants.

Court Grants Divorce, $290 Alimony and Fees

Annette Zykofsky, 214 1-2 S. Clinton street, was granted a divorce in Johnson county district court yesterday from Herman J. Zykofsky.

She was awarded $290 alimony and $150 in court costs and attorneys fees. She was also granted the right to resume her former name of Annette Davis.

Swisher and Swisher were attorneys for the plaintiff.

Classics Workshop To Hear Lecturers

The Iowa Latin workshop, directed by Prof. Gerald F. Else of the department of classics at SU, will begin Monday and continue through July 12.

The purpose of the workshop is to give Latin teachers a survey of new and important developments in their field. New ideas and problems will be discussed.

Five visiting instructors will lecture at the workshop. They are Lenore H. Geweke and Harold B. Dunkel, both of the University of Chicago; William M. Seaman, Michigan State college; Walter R. Agard, University of Wisconsin; and Saul S. Weinberg, University of Missouri.

$1,071-Suit Brought Against Petenakis

Myron P. Petenakis, owner of the Iowa City Transfer and Storage company, 810 S. Capitol street, was named defendant in a $1,071.77 judgment suit filed yesterday in district court by L. Ginsberg and Sons, Des Moines furniture firm.

Petenakis, who lives in Mason City, is charged with failing to pay the Des Moines firm for furniture he allegedly bought Sept. 7, 1948. The firm charged that Petenakis bought $1,673.91 worth of furniture, later returning $875.48 worth without paying for the remainder.

The firm asked for the return of the remaining goods which it claims Petenakis has in his possession at 927 E. College street, or payment of $871.77, their present value.

The firm also asked for $200 for the alleged detention of the property by the defendant.

Sawyer and Leener, Des Moines attorneys, represent the furniture firm.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

BILL HALL, ambassador-at-large to the American book trade, says he learned the importance of detail on his first trip to China. A Peking book dealer treated him to a sumptuous dinner of over a dozen courses. Hall was worried at the amount of food that was carried uneaten from the table.

"It will not be wasted," he was assured. "It goes to a restaurant down the street not so high-grade as this."

Hall asked, "What happens to their leftovers?" The answer was, "It keeps traveling until it's all gone."

Hall had a sudden disquieting thought. "How do I know," he asked, "that what we are having doesn't come from an even better place up the street?"

"No," said the Chinese merchant, "everything starts here."

During an unseasonable cold spell in Natchez, Miss., an old Negro, inadequately clothed, stood shivering in front of the Eola Hotel, his collar turned up. "Oh wind," he muttered, "where was you last August?"
