President Orders 7 Reforms; Calls for 10th Cabinet Officer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman yesterday got the power to reorganize the government and immediately ordered seven far-reaching reforms. They become effective in 60 days unless congress votes him down.

The Truman changes call for a tenth cabinet officer—the secretary of welfare. He sent the plans to congress upon signing the long-dispute reorganization bill.

First reaction in congress was largely favorable. Members indicated the proposals would get friendly consideration. Truman retained a bipartisan flavor in the vast undertaking by noting that they follow closely the Hoover recommendations.

The commission on government reorganization headed by former President Hoover recently recommended to congress a vast program of consolidations and other reforms aimed at efficiency and cost cutting. Truman indicated he would have more plans later.

The plans take effect unless either house of congress, within 60 days, vetoes them by a majority of the full membership—49 votes in the senate or 218 in the house. They will be considered separately.

However, if congress adjourns before that time, the plans would take effect automatically. Although leaders indicated congress would still be in session then, a move was under discussion to cut the time limit by congressional action.

Briefly, the presidential changes would:

(A) turn the federal security agency into a cabinet rank department of welfare (it handles health, education and social security matters); (B) shift the public roads administration from the federal works agency to the commerce department; (C) put the bureau of employment security (jobless pay and job placement) in the labor department; (D) reorganize the postoffice department; (E) enlarge the scope of the President's executive office; (F) streamline the civil service commission; and (G) give the chairman of the maritime commission more authority.

Robert Noble Jury Selected for Trial

SOUTH BEND, IND (AP)—Selection of a jury was completed yesterday to try a State University of Iowa alumnus official on a reckless homicide charge.

Attorneys took all day in the sweltering courtroom before agreement was reached on all jurors. Then the trial of Robert D. Noble, 30-year-old assistant secretary of the SUI alumni association, was recessed until 10 a.m. today.

Noble is on trial in the death of Marie Des Pres, 18, of Grand Rapids, Mich., a former student of St. Mary's college. He will face trial later on another charge accusing him of the death of Joseph A. Haller Jr., 20, a former Notre Dame student from Los Angeles.

The two students were killed and two others were injured when Noble's car struck them on U.S. highway 81 after the Iowa-Notre Dame football game in 1947. The accident occurred on a section of the highway between the Notre Dame and St. Mary's campuses.

Noble was not seriously hurt in the accident but two passengers in his car have filed suits here against him. The actions are for a total of $33,000 for alleged "permanent" injuries.

Lewis' Miners End Week-Long Walkout

PITTSBURGH (AP)—John L. Lewis' 450,000 miners ended their week-long "stabilization" walkout yesterday and returned to the pits for five days to bolster their pocketbooks against the threat of a general walkout next month.

Lewis will meet for critical talks with three groups of operators this week as his miners pile up a week's wage in addition to the $100 vacation pay they draw Friday. They quit work Saturday for their annual two-weeks holiday.

AMERICANS DRINK LESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans reduced their expenditures on whiskey, beer and wine in 1948 for the first time in a decade, the commerce department reported yesterday.

New Secretary of the Army Sworn In

Vets to Get $2,800-Million Cash from Service Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cash refunds totalling $2,800-million will begin about next January to some 16-million World War II veterans who took out GI life insurance policies, it was announced yesterday.

Government officials predicted the money will serve as a healthy "shot in the arm" for business in 1950.

These officials noted that the $2-billion payoff on terminal leave bonds in 1947 provided a sizeable stimulus as reflected on sales charts. Most veterans promptly cashed their bonds.

Under the new payments, announced by Veterans Administration Carl R. Gray Jr., each serviceman or his heirs would receive an average of about $175, Gray said, however, the calculations on the vast operation have not been completed.

The VA chief indicated the checks will start going out "sometime in January, 1950", but on Capitol Hill, Rep. Keating (R-NY) demanded congress set Oct. 15 as the deadline.

Described as a "dividend," the money to be repaid is from two sources:

1. An $8-billion surplus which developed from the fact that GI insurance premiums were based by law upon a standard mortality (death - rate) table which turned out to be higher than needed.

2. Earnings from the surplus. In general, the administration said every veteran who took out National Service insurance and kept it in force at least three months will be eligible — provided the policies were not issued after Jan. 1, 1948.

Gray said in cases where policy-holders have died, the heirs or beneficiaries will get the refund. The policies do not have to be in force now to make the holder eligible for a rebate.

Others Swelter . . .

CHICAGO (AP)—Hot weather settled down on the midwest a day in advance of summer, while in the east forecasters offered no relief yesterday from the worst June drought in 41 years.

Summer begins officially this afternoon, but temperatures in the midwest rose into the 90's as hot weather ushered it in a day early.

Meanwhile, drought-stricken New York and New England prayed for rain, but none was forecast. The scorching drought has inflicted an estimated $50-million in crop damage, and is held responsible for 39 deaths.

By contrast, residents of the Shenandoah and Potomac valleys in Virginia and West Virginia were cheered by cloudless skies and hoped for no more rain. Floods there have made hundreds homeless. At least 13 persons were dead and 11 to 20 were reported missing.

Across the nation, the weather generally was hot and humid except in the Pacific northwest and the northern Rockies.

Seized Raid Items Ordered Retained

Police Judge Emil G. Trott yesterday afternoon ordered property seized in a raid on the Cou Falls Ranch supper club June 4 held for district court action.

Ruling on disposal of the items was postponed from the Friday afternoon police court session. Two agents of the state bureau of criminal investigation testified at the Friday session.

Yesterday's decision came after no one appeared to contest forfeiture of the property. Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy is ordered to hold the goods in his custody until receipt of a district court order.

Items confiscated in the raid included over 100 bottles of liquor, eight slot machines, a telegraphic quotation ticker, punch boards and racing bet slips.

Building Cost Criticisms May Stall Atomic Bomb Setup, Lillenthal Fears

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's vital A-bomb program may be slowed down by too much criticism of high atomic building costs, Chairman David E. Lillenthal of the atomic energy commission said yesterday.

He voiced the fear at a hearing of the joint senate-house atomic committee.

Big 4 Reach Decision On Austrian Freedom

Just Another Casper Milquetoast

CANTON, OHIO (AP)—Which is better; jail or trouble with the little woman?

Zane Rey Kennedy, 24, of Alliance, Ohio, chose jail yesterday in common pleas court. He had pleaded guilty to driving a car without the owner's consent and was up on probation hearing.

He told the court he had been having a "little trouble" with his wife and would prefer jail to probation.

Judge Paul G. Weber obliged. The sentence: one to 20 years in Ohio reformatory.

Pope Excommunicates Czechoslovakian Foes

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic church struck back at its enemies in Czechoslovakia yesterday and excommunicated all Catholics who join the Communist-sponsored Catholic action, rival to the church's lay organization of the same name.

It was a blow in support of the 60-year-old archbishop of Prague, Josef Beran, whose sermon was broken up at St. Vitus cathedral Sunday by hecklers.

Even as the church acted with one of the most powerful weapons at its disposal, Czech police tightened their guard over the palace of the archbishop. He has declared a fight to the end against efforts to make the church a Communist puppet.

Czech churchmen in Prague said the government had launched a wave of arrests against priests and prominent laymen in Moravia. They reported without confirmation that Archbishop Josef Matocha of Olomouc in Moravia was one of those placed under police surveillance.

Rumors that Archbishop Beran himself had been placed under formal arrest lacked confirmation because persons outside his palace were unable to make contact with him.

At the same time the Communist-led government of Poland tightened controls on Catholics of that country by seizing the large Franciscan printing presses near Warsaw.

By the excommunication, which denies Catholics the right to the sacraments and the society of other Catholics, the church backed up Archbishop Beran's threat of the severest automatic punishment in the power of the church.

Committeemen Ask Text Probe Cease

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican members of the house un-American activities committee yesterday formally disavowed any part in the committee's proposed textbook investigation.

In a signed statement, they requested the committee to "drop all proceedings in this matter forthwith."

They suggested, too, that if congress wants to investigate textbooks "the correct procedure would be to establish a commission of educators to make the investigation."

Winds, Rain Lash State; Sac City Airport Struck

DES MOINES (AP)—Wind and rain storms skipped across Iowa last night following the hottest day of the year in the state. Sioux City's 96 was the state high.

A freak wind storm hit the Sac City airport doing an estimated $20,000 damage to airplanes and buildings.

Estimates Released On Campus Housing

An estimated 99 women and 156 men are living in the four sorority and 10 fraternity houses open for the summer session, Helen Reich, assistant director of the office of student affairs, said yesterday.

About 200 women are housed in Currier hall, and approximately 705 men are living at the Quadrangle, South Quadrangle and Hillcrest.

Figures on the number of married students living in the various university housing areas have not yet been compiled, according to housing officials.

The four sorority houses open are Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, Gamma Phi Beta and Kappa Alpha Theta.

Fraternity houses open for the summer include Alpha Chi Sigma, Alpha Kappa Kappa, Alpha Tau Omega, Delta Sigma Delta, Phi Chi, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Theta Xi.

Condemned Trailers Not Health Hazard, State Official Says

Trailers in southwest Iowa City are not creating a public health hazard, A. L. Bennett, public health engineer for the seventh district of the state health department, reported.

Bennett, at the request of city officials, on June 1 inspected the trailer camps operated by Mrs. Walter Martin and Homer H. Jacobs near South Riverside drive and West Benton street.

"The general sanitary condition appeared satisfactory," Bennett said of the trailer camps in a report returned to the city last week.

Areas surrounding the trailers were also kept in a "neat and orderly manner," Bennett said.

Use of trailers for family dwellings violates state housing laws for cities over 15,000 population. P. J. Houser, director of the division of public health engineering, said in a letter returned with Bennett's report.

Houser recommended enforcement of laws conforming with state laws since the occupancy of substandard housing over a long period of time is likely to reflect on the general health of the community.

Bennett cited violations of adequate floor space, required ceiling heights, bathroom windows, proper plumbing fixtures and proper sewage connection.

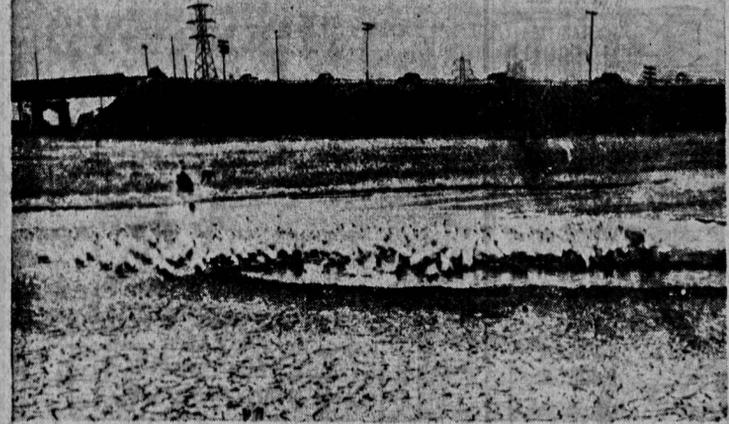

At the time of his inspection Bennett was accompanied by Dr. D. F. Fitzpatrick, city health officer, Health Inspector Charles J. Schindler and Plumbing Inspector E. W. Hostetler.

Where, Oh Where Did All That Water Go?

THESE DUCKS DON'T HAVE MUCH TO QUACK ABOUT. Western New York's worst draught in years succeeded in evaporating these ducks out of most of their pond yesterday. Only a small puddle remains in the sun-baked and cracked pond bed. This is one of the few cases when a lack of water, not a surplus of it, caused a housing shortage.

Cards Soar to Within Half Game of Top

Staley Baffles New York, 7-2

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The high-flying St. Louis Cardinals soared to within a half-game of the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers last night as they scored an easy 7-2 victory over a patched-up New York Giant outfit.

Gerry Staley scattered seven hits to post his second victory in two starts against the New Yorkers.

The Cards jumped on Southpaw Montie Kennedy for four runs in the third inning and the outcome was never in doubt. Doubles by Red Schoendienst and Nippy Jones and a triple by Enos Slaughter were the big blows in that onslaught. Kirks Higbe relieved Kennedy and got the side out.

Higbe went out for a pinch hitter in the seventh and the Redbirds' final two markers were made off Rookie Sam Webb. One resulted from a two-base wild throw by Sid Gordon.

The New Heavyweight Champ — But Which One?

THE SERIOUS AND THE JOVIAL were represented in the expressions on the faces of the heavyweight title contenders, Ezzard Charles (left) and Jersey Joe Walcott yesterday. The pair will meet in Comiskey park in Chicago tomorrow night for the NBA version of the heavyweight championship. After workouts at their respective training camps yesterday Charles, of Cincinnati, looked very serious, while Walcott, of Camden, N.J., grinned broadly.

Charles-Walcott Bout for Title A Story of Youth, Experience

CHICAGO (AP)—The age old story of youth vs. experience sums up tomorrow night's Comiskey park scrap between Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati and Jersey Joe Walcott of Camden, N.J. for the NBA version of the world heavyweight championship.

Can 27-year-old Charles, giving away some 15 pounds, catch the wily will-o'-the-wisp who made Joe Louis miss for 25 rounds.

After a year's layoff, will the legs of 35-year-old Jersey Joe be able to stand another long pursuit race?

Can 27-year-old Charles, giving away some 15 pounds, catch the wily will-o'-the-wisp who made Joe Louis miss for 25 rounds.

After a year's layoff, will the legs of 35-year-old Jersey Joe be able to stand another long pursuit race?

Will Walcott maneuver Charles into openings for the sneak rights that floored Louis three times?

If he is dropped early, will youth help Charles get off the floor to win in the late rounds?

These are just a few of the questions puzzling the oddsmakers who made Charles an early 7 to 5 favorite. There are indications it might come down to 6 to 5 (pick 'em) by ring time.

During Walcott's long training grind that ended Sunday, there was no indication that he suffered from the year "vacation."

Charles, who finished boxing yesterday, professes to be unworried about the extra poundage.

"I fought big fellows before," he said. "Joe Baksi weighed around 210 1-2 and Joe Haynes 214 and I knocked out both of them."

The consensus is that it will be a long fight, possibly the 15-round route. If it does go 15, it may be a dreary spectacle — like a 0-0 hockey game. If a knockout comes, it isn't likely until the late rounds.

Williams Takes Wide Lead in All-Star Poll

CHICAGO (AP)—Boston Red Sox outfielder Ted Williams took a wide lead yesterday as highest individual vote-getter in the all-star baseball poll.

The latest count gave Williams 202,464 votes, 19,056 more than the Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson, runner-up in the individual tally.

Lou Boudreau, manager-shortstop of the world champion Cleveland Indians and most valuable player in the American league last year, was trailing in his division. Boudreau was third with 119,404 votes to 162,773 for Eddie Joost of Philadelphia and 154,196 for Vern Stephens of Boston.

Charlie Mason Quits Cardinal Fastball Team

Charlie Mason, second baseman of the Iowa City Cardinals, quit the team Saturday night after the first game of doubleheader against Aurora here.

Mason, who graduated from SUU recently, is a former Iowa basketball star.

Flagpole Sitter Gay, Renews Vow to Stay

CLEVELAND (AP) — Speaking through a freshly grown beard, flagpole sitter Charley Lupica expressed satisfaction yesterday over the Indians' recent winning streak — even though his Indians lost last night.

Lupica has been aloft 40 feet on his east side Cleveland perch 21 days now. He vowed anew he would stay there until the Tribe reaches first place in the American league.

A's Beat Indians, 4-1 On Fowler's 4-Hitter

PHILADELPHIA—Right handed Dick Fowler recorded his fifth straight pitching victory with a four-hit job last night as the Cleveland Indians, 4-1, to increase their third place edge over the world champions to two games.

Fowler, a burly pitcher whose arm aches whether he pitches or not, now has a mark of just three runs yielded in 35 innings. He missed a shutout only because he gave up three walks in the first inning and Hank Majeski erred on a ground ball to permit an unearned tally.

Elmer Valo hit a 400-foot inside-the-park homer and Fowler got two singles to spark the 10-hit Philadelphia offense.

Rhawn's Base Hit Wins for Sox, 5-4

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chicago's White Sox snapped their 5-game losing streak last night, edging Washington, 5-4, behind the 7-hit pitching of Bob Kuzava.

Shortstop Luke Appling of Chicago was thumbed from the game for the third time in his lengthy career when he protested a called third strike by Umpire Bill Summers in the seventh inning.

Bobby Rhawn, picked up last week from the Giants for the $10,000 waiver price, hit a two-run single to provide the winning margin for Kuzava.

A Face Full of Dirt — And Still He Missed

DIVING AND MISSING Boston Braves' Thirdbaseman Bob Elliott (right) sliding home was Chicago Cubs' Catcher Al Walker. This bit of action occurred in the sixth inning of yesterday's game between the Cubs and the Braves. The Braves won in the ninth, 3-2. The play above came on Al Dark's fly to left field. Elliott scored after the catch. The umpire was Scotty Robb.

Bo Sox' Streak Hits Season's High of 5 As Tigers Fall, 6-1

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox won their fifth consecutive game last night — a new high for the season — by whipping the second place Detroit Tigers, 6-1, before 33,710 fans.

The victory was credited to Walt Masterson, who was forced to leave the game after pitching six and two-thirds innings because of a sore elbow.

Masterson pitched his first victory for the Red Sox since being picked up from Washington and it was a vital 6-1 decision over the second place Tigers at Boston, but he had to leave the game with a sore arm in the seventh.

Vern Stephens hit a two run single and Bobby Doerr got a two-run double to lead the Boston offense.

Expect Pacific Coast To Cop Track Meet

BERKELEY, CALIF. (AP) — Big 10 track and field dominance over the Pacific Coast conference may end abruptly today.

One of the greatest collections of Big 10 and PCC trackmen will meet in a twilight gathering at Edwards stadium. There will be 35 competitors from each conference.

The midwesterners — who have won the last three meets — in 1942, 1947 and 1948 — do not appear to have the overall strength to win again.

They have some first place winners, but the Pacific coast team looks to have the depth.

Mel Patton of U.S.C., who looks to be a sure winner in the 100-yard dash, may not run the 220 because of a slight leg injury, suffered last week. Patton holds the world 100-yard dash record of 9.03 and has done the 220 in 20.2.

The Big 10 will be represented by:

Mal Whitfield of Ohio State, Olympic 800 meters champion, who should be a double winner in the 440 and 880.

Don Gehrman of Wisconsin, the best miler in the country.

James Urquhart, also of Wisconsin, who is capable of a 9:20 two mile.

The Big 10 looks to be stronger in the 440, 880, mile, two miles, discus and high jump. The coast conference appears to have the edge in the sprints, shot put, pole vault and broad jump.

Phils Paste Bucs Behind Meyer, 7-1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Russ Meyer scattered seven hits last night as he pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a 7-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates' lone run came as Ralph Kiner smashed his 15th homer in the sixth. A crowd of 30,066 saw the game.

The win moved the high flying Phils to within 2 1/2 games of the leading Brooklyn Dodgers in the skin-tight National league race.

The Phils made 15 hits with every starter getting at least one, including Meyer who drove in two runs with a pair of singles. Willie Jones got a homer.

NEW YORK (AP)—Lanky First Sacker Jack Phillips belted his first home run of the season with two on in the sixth inning last night to spark the league-leading New York Yankees to a 4-1 triumph over the last place St. Louis Browns.

Fred Sanford, purchased from the Browns for $100,000, went the distance and limited his former mates to seven hits.

The Yankees moved four full games in front in the American league race. Sanford won his second victory in a row and his third of the season.

The Iowa City Recreation committee will sponsor tennis instruction for all boys and girls beginning today, the lessons, which will continue through June and July, will be given by Don Klutz, SUU tennis coach and assistants.

The lessons will be given at the Iowa City high courts each Tuesday from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon and at the fieldhouse asphalt courts each Thursday at the same hours.

There will be a registration fee of $1.00, good for the entire series of lectures. The players must furnish their own equipment and the fee may be paid at the courts at the first lesson.

Disappointed at Showing Tunnell Leaves Rockets

Emlen Tunnell, former Iowa halfback who joined the Cedar Rapids Rockets of the Central association last week, left the club Sunday.

Tunnell was said to have been disappointed over his showing with the club and as he would have to leave to join the New York Giants professional football team in August had decided to quit the Rockets. He played in five games, batting .278 and committing one error.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Emmert

Marilyn Marner Weds Richard Emmert Here

Marriage rites were performed Sunday for Miss Marilyn Marner and Richard E. Emmert in the First Methodist church by Dr. L. L. Dunnington.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Marner, R.R. 1 and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Emmert, 724 E. Burlington street.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of white satin with a junior train and leg-o-mutton sleeves. The neckline was a yoke of white net above a bertha of ruffled satin. Her lace-edged fingertip veil fell from a coronet of crystal beads. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Carolyn Marner was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a pink waffle pique gown with a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her headress was a halo hat of white net and flowers and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Dorothy Ann Lorigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lorigan, 619 Iowa avenue, was a flower girl, wearing a pastel blue floor length dress of waffle pique and a white net headress. She carried a basket of yellow and white daisies.

Her brother, Thomas John Lorigan, was ring bearer. He wore a white and navy suit.

A reception was held in the Iowa Union after the ceremony. The bride is a graduate of Iowa City High school and is employed as secretary in the history department of SUI. The bridegroom also graduated from Iowa City High school and is a junior in chemical engineering at SUI.

Following a wedding trip to Chicago, the couple will live at 724 E. Burlington street, Iowa City.

Marie Smith Elected 'Secretaries' President

Miss Marie Smith, 335 S. Dubuque street, was recently elected president of the Robert Lucas chapter of National Secretaries' association. Other officers are Miss Claire Putz, vice-president; Miss Marie Behrens, corresponding secretary; Miss Alice Spinden, recording secretary, and Mrs. Hazel Sawdey, treasurer.

The new officers will be installed at a dinner meeting Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. W. L. Morgan, 1221 Kirkwood avenue.

State Child Meeting To Start Tomorrow

Visiting professors will give four of the five speeches scheduled for the two-day Iowa conference on child development conference on child development and parent education beginning at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow in Old Capitol.

Thomas W. Richards professor of psychology at Northwestern university, and specialist in infant behavior, will speak on "Discipline in the Home" during the first session.

Prof. Vincent Nowlis, SUI social development child welfare research station, will discuss "Parental Aims and Practices" at the afternoon session beginning at 2 p.m.

Prof. Dale B. Harris, University of Minnesota institute of child welfare, will speak on "Juvenile Delinquency" during the evening session beginning at 8 p.m.

"Character and Adolescence" will be discussed by Robert J. Havighurst, professor of education and secretary of the committee on human development, university of Chicago at Thursday's morning session beginning 9:45 a.m.

Dr. Katherine Bain, director of the division of research in child development, Washington, D.C., will speak on "National Policies relating to Children" at the Thursday afternoon session.

Conferences will participate in panel discussions during both afternoon sessions.

The 22nd Iowa conference is sponsored jointly by the Iowa child welfare research station and the extension division.

Junior Colleges Not Adequate, Says Hill

Junior colleges are helping the nation move toward an unhealthy educational situation, John H. Hill, dean of Ellsworth junior college, Iowa Falls, said here yesterday at the two-day conference on junior colleges.

Junior colleges should educate students as community needs dictate. Many of the students do not continue in senior college and need vocational training instead of preparatory courses for higher learning, Hill said.

Prof. E. T. Peterson, dean of the college of education at SUI, said junior colleges should shift from their present role and should follow the pattern of education in England.

Peterson, who spent last summer in England working with UNESCO, said meeting the needs of youth is emphasized more in the war-torn countries.

The conference, which opened the junior college workshop, ends today. The workshop will continue through July 1. Thirty educators are enrolled in the workshop.

Final Rites Today For Mrs. Lechy

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Lechy will be held at 9 o'clock this morning in St. Wenceslaus church with burial at St. Joseph's cemetery.

Mrs. Lechy, 81, 420 E. Fairchild street, died at her home Saturday afternoon following a heart attack.

Mrs. Lechy was born in France on May 17, 1869, and came to this country when a child. Her husband, Joseph J. Lechy, preceded her in death in 1944.

Surviving are five children, Larry J. Lechy, Margaret Lechy and Mrs. K. A. McMasters, all of Iowa City, Mrs. J. Ray Saylor, Peoria, Ill. and Mrs. Betty Blue, San Antonio, Tex. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Albert Vogt, Perry, and Mrs. Eugene Peck, California.

The Hohenschuh mortuary is in charge of services.

GIRL BORN TO CARSONS

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Carson, 1131 Prairie du Chien road, are the parents of a girl born Saturday at Mercy hospital.

Fraternity Rushing To Begin Sept. 11

Announcement of the fraternity rushing program for this fall was made yesterday by Graham Marshall, adviser to fraternity men, in the office of student affairs.

Registration for rush week will begin Sept. 10, at 8 a.m., and the actual rushing period will begin at 5 p.m., Sept. 11.

Rushes are to register at the "hotel dormitory" at 8 a.m., Sept. 10, where they are to stay during the rushing period. The "hotel-dormitory" will consist of temporary rooms for the men to be arranged for by the university.

Marshall stated that until rush week is over, room contracts with SUI should not be made by anyone interested in rushing.

Anyone interested in the rushing program should call or write the Interfraternity council, room 107, University hall. Application forms for the "hotel-dormitory" housing will be sent upon request.

Local Red Cross To Elect Officers

Election of new officers and members to serve on the Johnson county Red Cross board will be held at the Red Cross headquarters next Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m., Executive Secretary Mrs. Lorna L. Mathes said yesterday.

The board members will be elected for terms of one, two and three years.

The public may attend the election, Mrs. Mathes said.

In Siam It's 'The Dance of Sita'

A SIAMESE DANCE CALLED "THE DANCE OF SITA" will be included on the first program of the SUI summer lecture series at 8 p.m. Friday in Macbride auditorium. La Meri (above), folk and national dancing artist, will present a lecture demonstration of ethnological dances of foreign and American groups. She specializes in dances designed to teach audiences the customs and manners of other people of the world.

California Writer To Speak Today

Prof. Mark Schorer, University of California, novelist, short story writer and critic, will lecture on "Style in the Novel" at 4 p.m. today in the Senate chamber of Old Capitol.

The public is invited to the lecture, which is sponsored by the SUI English department.

Schorer has published stories in many magazines and in the annual anthologies of the best short stories, has written novels and has been a featured book reviewer for the New York Times.

Artist to Perform — Asiatic, Spanish Dances

—Friday at Macbride

National dancing star La Meri will perform a sequence of foreign and American dances in Macbride auditorium, Friday at 8 p.m.

La Meri also will explain her dance interpretations. The program will open the SUI summer session lecture series. Admission will be free.

Her repertoire includes dances of northern and southern India, Japan, Java, Burma, Siam, Arabia, Spain and South America.

La Meri was the first occidental to be acclaimed by the natives of the Orient as a true exponent of their traditional dances.

Born in Louisville, Ky., of Scotch, French, Welsh and Spanish ancestry, La Meri is not from a family of professional artists.

She became interested in dancing after watching Mexican dancers. She studied in India, Spain and South America.

On her first trip to New York she took the name of Meri Hughes to escape the embarrassment of her own masculine name. It was then shortened to Meri Hughes. In Mexico City, the Spanish tongue found "Hughes" difficult to pronounce and created the name "La Meri."

Books written by La Meri are "Principles of Dance Art," "Spanish Dancing," "The Dance as an Art Form" and "Gesture Language of the Hindu Dance."

SUI Republicans To Address Rally

Two members of the SUI Young Republican league will address an open meeting of Iowa Republican party workers in Des Moines Monday.

Robert Tyson, treasurer of the SUI Young Republican league, will speak on the subject, "Selling a Campaign."

Mrs. William Clark, wife of a graduate student at SUI, will discuss the origin of the elephant as the party emblem.

Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper (Ia.) and former congressman Everett Dirksen (Ill.) will speak at a dinner for the delegates at the Hotel Fort Des Moines Monday evening.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A LITERARY agent whose proudest boast is that he knows George Bernard Shaw personally, and who therefore feels called upon to champion Shaw's plays vociferously at all times, has been carrying on a long-time controversy with a cantankerous client who cherishes an equal passion for the works of John Galsworthy.

The agent and his client met last in the Cub Room of the Stork Club, and, although they lost no time in getting down to their favorite subject, the flow of the argument was impeded somewhat by the fact that the client had contracted a violent case of laryngitis and couldn't utter a single word. His comments had to be written down on paper, and since his adversary holds all known records for perpetual long-distance talking, he was at an even greater disadvantage than usual.

The uneven argument reached its climax when the agent maintained stoutly, "Long after John Galsworthy is completely forgotten, the name of Bernard Shaw will burn in letters of flame twenty feet high!" The client clapped a hand to his brow, seized his pad and printed "NO!!!" on it in block letters the full size of the page.

"Okay, okay," soothed the agent, "you don't have to shout at me." Copyright, 1949, by Bennett Cerf. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

Official Arithmetic Equals Hocus-Focus

The state department has come up with a bit of mathematical wizardry that can show that three plus three equals twelve if you count on four fingers.

Willard L. Thorp, assistant secretary of state for economic affairs, recently confounded an Amherst college audience by saying:

"Thus we can say that three plus three are six in a system of numbers based on ten, but if we had only two fingers on each hand and had built up a system of numbers based on four, three plus three would truly be twelve."

After Thorp made the hocus-pocus arithmetical remark, he refused to clear it up. Some hinted darkly that a state department secret might be involved.

However, another economist cast light on the puzzle. Edward Kasner, professor of mathematics at Adrian, declared that the statement was based on an elementary principle well known to mathematicians. It might be misleading only to those not in the know, he added.

A system based on four numbers, or fingers, would have only four digits, Kasner explained. The number sequence, then, would go: one, two, three and zero (or ten), eleven (one plus one), twelve (one plus two) and so on.

Thorp's statement, then, would be solved in the following manner: take three, the third number in line and add three to it by counting along three more fingers. This is twelve.

By the same token, two plus two would equal ten and four plus four would be twenty.

Three plus would not really be twelve — it would be six — but it would be pronounced twelve and everyone would understand it.

Simple, isn't it?

Communist Trial: Another Outrage —

When they were indicted, the 11 top leaders of the U.S. Communist party screamed that they would not be given a fair trial. The nation was whipped up into a froth of hysteria, they claimed.

After several dragged-out months of trial in New York City, things seem just the opposite. It has been a quiet federal judge with the nation behind him who has tried to conduct the trial with the dignity and fairness befitting an American trial by jury.

And it has been the defendants themselves — with their noisy battery of attorneys — who have dragged the trial into a disgusting courtroom brawl.

Yesterday, a fourth defendant joined a trio of his companions in jail. After the sneering remark "I thought we were going to be given a chance to prove our case", Gil Green was remanded for the balance of the trial. Remanding means the defendant loses his freedom on bail during the trial and must spend his time in jail.

Green's comrades did not spring to his defense as they did when Daily Worker Editor John Gates was remanded for refusing to answer a prosecution question. In the Gates incident, two other defendants staged a noisy protest. The three defendants were handcuffed and carted off to jail — it made a good news photo.

The defendants at first threw up a barrage of appeals in behalf of civil rights and the like. But when the FBI produced a string of planted witnesses from within party ranks, the defense knew it had a fight on its hands.

That also might have been the time when the defendants decided their cause was lost. For since then, they have been working busily to become political martyrs.

Already four of them are behind bars. Undoubtedly the other seven will, from time to time, stage outbursts that will send more of their number off to the cells.

There is a suspicion that yesterday's remanding was carefully staged. It was probably decided in advance that no other defendant would spring to Green's defense. The best explanation for such an action is that the defense wants to save its numbers for future demonstrations.

When the trial is finally over, the defendants will have little grounds for protesting they did not get a fair trial — they apparently are planning it that way.

No More Horse and Buggy Economy —

Numerous mutterings around Iowa City hint the citizenry seems to be not too well pleased with the city council's action in purchasing new parking meters for installation in the general business areas.

Here's an answer to those who mutter about how bad the parking situation is already, who say that soon they won't be able to find anyplace to park at all if the whole area is metered.

The facts of the situation are these: before the installation of meters, you couldn't find a parking place to do your shopping or run errands unless you got downtown before 8 a.m. any day except Sunday.

Now the situation is noticeably altered. You may have to hunt around a little, but chances are you can find a place to park within two or three blocks of where you want to go in the business district.

Now let's anticipate a few more objections before they arise. Since, according to Iowa law, you can only use the best part of the revenue from parking meters and parking fines for the purchase of municipal offstreet parking lots within four tenths of a mile from the nearest metered area, the city obviously isn't installing more meters in order to increase the city's coffers and pay policemen's wages.

It seems more logical to assume the purpose is to get money to buy parking lots that will relieve the congested parking conditions on the downtown streets.

Since this comment is for an audience that drives cars, it might be well to point out that if you drive to Cedar Rapids to have an evening's fun or shop, you run into the same problem there.

Matter of fact, you have the same problem on an even larger scale. You probably have to walk farther from the place you park when you're in Cedar Rapids. The same law governs the use of parking meter funds in Cedar Rapids as in Iowa City.

They're trying in Cedar Rapids to find more space for parking just as we are here in Iowa City. They're trying all over Iowa and the nation to find more parking places. Looks like the nation is still geared to a horse and buggy economy which has grown too big for its trousers and is bustin' out all over with autos for people who used to think chicken in the pot on Sunday was a luxury.

Let's have a little patience with the men who are trying to work out a solution to our local parking problem. Venting your anger on an inanimate thing like a parking meter is like trying to strike the wind which blows dirt in your eyes.

Yeah, But the Chapters Are Short

Hangovers, Hearts Soothed by Music, Therapist Declares

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't ask papa for a new mink coat if he comes home from a hard day at the office and whips off a Chopin nocturne on the piano, Ila Bruce Mann advises.

At a time like that he's probably so depressed that he wouldn't even buy a rabbit fur powder puff, she declared.

Better wait instead until the old curmudgeon plays a march or Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," she said. Then you can be sure he's as happy as a lark and willing to talk mink — or maybe even sable or chinchilla.

Mrs. Mann is a musical therapist, one of those persons who soothes the savage breast with music. For the past 18 years, her keyboard efforts have been devoted to boosting the morale of persons with ailments ranging from hangovers to heart disease, and she's found that almost anyone, well or ailing, usually responds — at least subconsciously — to music.

In reference to the June 18 Daily Iowan article about rent controls, I would like to know how the landlords in Iowa City who are keeping at least 50 apartments off the Iowa City market in their fight against rent controls intend to combat the depression which they are helping to create by their action?

To Mrs. House who said that "I just don't like rent controls. They aren't fair to the tenants," I would like to say that I don't like depression. Depressions are "unfair" to tenants as well as landlords. Supply and demand will take care of what situation, Mrs. House?

It was unregulated supply and demand factors that was one of the causes of the last depression. The June 17 Daily Iowan carried an article about more rooms available than students. It would be disastrous indeed for the landlords if the word students was changed to Iowa City citizens. This change could easily occur. Maybe it isn't such a bad idea after all to keep a check on supply and demand.

It was the real market that created the black market during the war. Take off rent controls to keep undesirable tenants out. These "undesirables," those with children, household pets or are the wrong color or religion, will be restricted regardless of rent controls. If the end of rent controls does make it easy to keep undesirables out, as one landlord suggests, we will move a step closer toward fascism. It seems

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Detective Yarn Palling

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

I am glad President Truman feels the wave of hysteria which is now sweeping the country over the questions of disloyalty, subversion, etc., is going to pass away. I don't know whether this wave of fear is going to end quite as automatically and obligingly as the President seems to think.

BUT, AS I SAY, I'm glad he thinks so; if a chief executive can set styles, as sometimes happens, in hats or neckties, then perhaps he can set a style in calmness, too.

The plain truth is that we have been living, politically, in a melodrama for the last year or two, and the President has perhaps dealt a hard blow by indicating that he is bored with it. A melodrama can stand anything but that.

If it can't keep the customers on the edges of their seats, it is a dying show, the President's yarn may turn out to have been a first-rate political contribution.

THE THEME of the melodramas in which we have been living is that the great questions of human man destiny can be decided, in our age, by a sinister figure creeping down a back alley at night. The idea is that the fruits of one hundred and seventy-five years of our history can be blown up, if we are not careful, by one person's dirty work, by our failure to shut a window somewhere, or to notice a clue.

UNDER THIS conception, everything that Washington labored for, and Jefferson too, everything that Lincoln struggled to achieve, and that we, all of us, have built with our hands, can be set at naught by any nondescript rascal with a mind to do us dirt.

It was for this, then, that mankind struggled up out of the original muck, and went through an agony of thousands of years — to build a structure that can be knocked down by any casual individual outfitted with a secret number and an expense account.

IT IS A pretty spectacular piece of plotting, and I can see that it has its fascinations. After all, what is the function of melodrama? The function of melodrama is to make us forget the real drama of life.

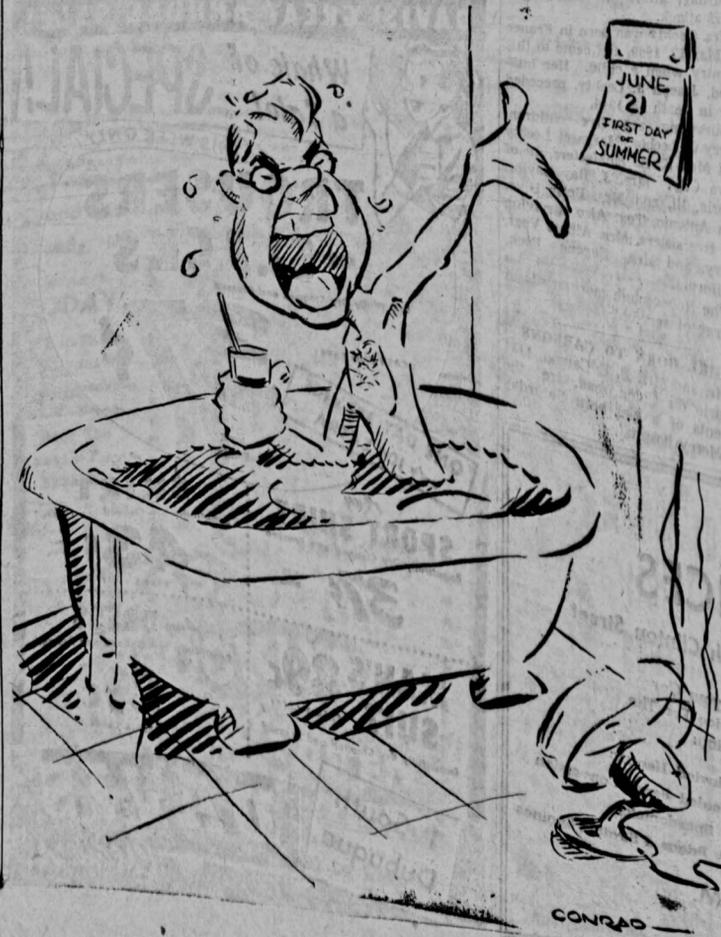

The mind that is tired of the realities of the struggle to win success in life finds refreshment in a tale of a criminal who can ooze through locked doors, and of a detective who can catch him by sniffing the wind. Politically, a good many of us have spent the last year or two curled up in a hammock with a detective story.

FOR SUCH as these, the human drama has ceased to be a story in which nations win success by standing up manfully against their problems, against homelessness and depression.

Life has become something like a rattling good yarn, instead, a much more garish, more superficially exciting tale, in which the great questions of our destiny are decided, not in the innermost places of our hearts, but in the hall bedrooms of plotters and spies.

Give us, we say to the invisible librarians of our spirit, none of your dreary stories about the long, hard struggle of mankind to solve its age-old problems; let us have, instead, a corking good tale of cops and robbers.

Basic Traynor

By NORM TRAYNOR
You know it's a funny thing the way you can take something for granted and then all of a sudden it will pop up and throw you for a loss. It happened to me the other day and I'm still shaking my head.

I was walking up that shaded walk that leads to the Quadrangle thinking how pretty the day is and how pretty the walk is and how pretty soon I'd better get to where I'm going. I start to speed up when I see a guy I know.

"How's it goin'?" I say, and keep walking.

Couldn't have taken more than four or five steps when the guy yells to me. "Hey you!" he says.

Now I don't particularly want to stop and talk but after all I know the guy and can't commit a social affront. So I walk back a few steps. "You really want to know how it's goin'?" he asks.

It's a pretty hot day and the guy has a funny look in his eye so I begin to feel a little uneasy. "No — guess I really don't now that you ask me that way," I say, and try to give him a big smile but he still looks at me a little funny and my heart isn't in it.

"Well I'm goin' tell you anyway," he says, and starts backing me into the wall.

This I don't like at all but I figure it's best to humor him and besides I don't like the way my nose is hitting the top of his chest. "Okay," I say, "tell me how it's goin'."

"It's goin' lousy," he says. "Everything is going lousy."

"That's too bad," I say. Now I know that's a stupid thing to say but under the conditions I can't think of anything else. "I'm broke," he says. "I need money."

I ask him to let me get my hand in my pocket and maybe I can help him out with a dollar or so. I really can't afford it but I figure it would be worth a dollar to get rid of him.

"I need big money," he says. "You haven't got big money."

I agree with him on that point and he tells me there are plenty of other things wrong too. I listen patiently and try to act interested while he tells me about everything else that's goin' wrong. He goes down the list and then he stops.

"Now you know how things are goin'," he says, and starts to back away.

I tell him that I never knew things were so bad and thank him for telling me and start to sneak away. He doesn't say anything else but just walks away muttering to himself.

I lose no time in putting plenty of distance between us and decide that I'll be careful how I greet people in the future. That can be dangerous business.

U.S. Ship, with Animal Cargo, Caught in Storm

HONG KONG (AP) — Port authorities reported yesterday that the American ship Lightning, carrying a load of wild animals to the United States, is adrift off Okinawa in a typhoon.

The marine office reported picking up an SOS from the 8,500-ton freighter, which had sought refuge in Buckner's Bay, Okinawa, from the fierce tropical storm.

Random House Buys Novels Authored by Two SUI Men

Two novels, one by an SUI writing instructor and the other by a graduate student, have been accepted for publication by Random House, New York, Paul Engle, professor of English, said yesterday.

The two SUI novelists are Verlin Cassill and Oakley Hall. Engle also said that a $250 first prize was won recently by Robie Macaulay for the best short story in a contest sponsored by "Furioso" magazine. Macaulay is an SUI instructor in creative writing and the European novel.

Tree Gets In Way Of Driverless Car

For the second time in five weeks, a runaway car dashed wildly down a hill on N. Johnson street Saturday evening, police said yesterday.

Saturday's driverless car belonged to Bertram and Helen Cohen, 834 N. Johnson street. It rolled two blocks downhill and struck a tree in front of the Vitus Halsch residence, 616 N. Johnson street. No injuries were reported and no damage estimate was given, police said.

On May 13 a car owned by C. E. Tanberg, 825 N. Johnson street, damaged two parked cars, smashed two tricycles and jumped a hedge before coming to a stop after coasting down the same hill.

Headstones Furnish Art Inspiration

LOOKOUT, GHOSTS, HERE COMES THAT MAN WITH A CHISEL. Carl Roseberg, G. Batavia isn't at all worried about goblins as he gives this old grave marker a lifelong face. Wearing a welder's mask to protect his face from flying chips, Roseberg hammers away despite sizzling temperatures. SUI art students obtain old discarded markers and turn them into new sculptural forms.

Headstones into Art

Sombre markers of the departed become living forms in the hands of SUI art students. Old marble tombstones today are being replaced by more permanent granite. Most of this marble cannot be used for construction purposes but is ideal for carving. Markers from throughout the country are acquired by the Iowa Memorial company, West Liberty. Sculpture students purchase them from the company. "It is very fortunate that students can use these old stones," said Prof. Humbert Albrizio, who teaches SUI sculpturing classes. Local limestone isn't too good for carving and usable marble would have to come from Vermont, Georgia or Tennessee quarries, he said.

Speech Conference To View Problems In Speech Therapy

Three guest speakers have been scheduled for conferences during the summer speech clinic which opened here Monday. Mrs. Bernice R. Rutherford, director of the St. Paul, Minn., speech and hearing rehabilitation center, will open the conference with a lecture Friday. A round-table discussion will follow Saturday morning. Mrs. Rutherford will discuss the special problems that arise in rehabilitating speech and hearing defectives and will suggest some of the latest technical methods by which they are handled. The two other scheduled for conferences are Dr. Kenneth Scott Wood, director of the speech and hearing clinic at the University of Oregon, July 8-9, and Dr. Georg V. Bekey from the psycho-acoustic laboratory, Harvard university, July 22-23. The clinic, which will continue through July 29, aids speech and hearing defectives. It also provides professional training leading to the bachelor of arts, master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees.

Boy, 8, Flies Here To Visit Relatives

Flying alone from Seattle, Wash., eight-year-old John Chittenden, grandson of Prof. and Mrs. E. W. Chittenden, 1101 Kirkwood avenue, will arrive today at the Iowa City airport at 2:15 p.m. John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Chittenden of Seattle. He plans to spend the summer here and will visit the Chittendens and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Blunk of Ottumwa. Professor Chittenden teaches in the mathematics department at SUI.

Postal Clerks Attend Cedar Rapids Meeting

Two delegates from the Iowa state postoffice are attending the state convention of the Iowa State Federation of Postal Clerks in Cedar Rapids, Assistant Postmaster J. P. Soucek said yesterday. The delegates are George Mayey, president of the local federation, and Melvin Wescott, secretary of the Iowa City local. Soucek said that the meeting will continue through Wednesday.

Riverside Driver Fined $27.50 In Police Court

James C. Lynch, 27, route 2, Riverside, was fined $27.50 at police court yesterday morning for failure to have his vehicle under control, according to police docket. Lynch's car went over the curb on the curve at 614 Riverside drive Friday, police said. Damages were estimated at $10 on the rim of the car's right front wheel.

Mexican Abduction Claimed by Woman

McALLEN, TEX. (AP) — The middle-aged wife of a retired U.S. army colonel yesterday told a strange story of being kidnaped and held hostage for three months in Mexico.

The U.S. embassy in Mexico City said there was nothing in its files to indicate that Mrs. Cynthia Kernan was even missing and that it had no report of a kidnaping or of a suspected kidnaping.

Mrs. Kernan's husband, Col. Harold Kernan, U.S.A. retired, arrived here last night from his home at Durango, Mexico. He hurried to his wife's side after giving newsmen a polite, but firm, brushoff.

"We want no publicity," he said, "and I'll answer no questions."

Mrs. Kernan said, however, in a hotel room interview that she was seized near her Durango home the night of March 17 and was held, in two different adobe houses in the interior of Mexico, until last Wednesday when she stole a jeep and fled her guards.

Sioux City Scene Of Eagle Meeting

Larry Lechty, 1132 Franklin, past state president of the Eagles, Harold Franklin, 328 S. Dubuque street, area secretary, and Walter Hess, 819 Iowa avenue, will leave this week as official Iowa City delegates to the Eagles state convention in Sioux City Friday through Sunday.

Lechty, who is going as a state representative in addition to being a local delegate, will leave here tomorrow. He is also a member of the Eagles' state judiciary committee.

Hess and Frankin probably will leave Thursday, Lechty said.

Alabama 'Night Riders' Add Mother, 35, to Roll of Victims

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. (UP)—Hooded, night-raiding terrorists added a 35-year-old mother to their growing list of victims yesterday in the South's worst outbreak of masked violence since the Ku Klux Klan rampage of the early '20's.

The roll of beaten or intimidated persons rose to 11 as the night riders claimed a new role as self-appointed "protectors of the home." Investigators said the "hooded ones" now enforce their code with the threat of the noose as well as with the lash.

A mother revealed that she was beaten while her two daughters were forced to watch with ropes about their necks. The reason the night riders gave was that they didn't like the "company" one of the daughters was keeping.

The daughter's alleged suitor and two other men, one a cripple, were abducted the same night in the Sumiton community in adjoining Walker county about 30 miles northwest of Birmingham, the mother said. Two of the men were cruelly beaten on their buttocks, she said, and all six victims were threatened with hanging.

"They drove us to a lonely spot up a dirt road," said Mrs. Irene Burton, 38. "They made me bend over with my head between Bill Lowery's (one of the men victims) knees while they beat me."

"It was rough," Lowery added. "When I got home, the blood was still running down by legs."

Mrs. Burton broke a 17-day silence to report the Walker county beatings as victims grew bolder amid the increasing clamor for arrest and punishment of the marauders.

The raiders' threat—"If you tell the police about this we'll come get you again and hang you"—was losing its terror.

A "forces of decency" movement also sprang up and civic indignation was swelling into an uproar. Most of it was buzzing around the head of Jefferson County Sheriff Holt McDowell.

McDowell's office can't be held accountable for the Walker county outrages but his investigation of five mob raids in Jefferson has yet to produce an arrest.

The Birmingham Young Men's Business club attacked McDowell and other enforcement agencies for their "miserable failure" in trying to curb the outbreaks.

Iowa City Jaycees Plan for July 4th

Plans for the Jaycee July 4 celebration here, a report of the recent national jaycee convention, and a discussion of "Temptation Jones," an advertising promotion project for merchants, will be discussed tonight by the Iowa City junior chamber of commerce.

The jaycees will meet at the Hotel Jefferson at 7 p.m. for a dinner to be followed by the meeting at 8. It will be the last indoor meeting of the season, Wayne Putnam Jr., president said.

13th Polio Patient Enters Hospitals 'Active' Ward

Rose Schultz, 37, Mason City, yesterday became the 13th polio patient of the year to be admitted to the "active" ward at University hospitals, according to hospital officials.

She was admitted to the hospitals Sunday for diagnosis. Authorities described her condition as "serious" yesterday.

Robert Bantz, 11, Wellsburg, another polio patient at the hospitals, was released Sunday. He was admitted to the hospitals on June 6.

Newsman Slugged While Investigating Hooded Terrorists

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. (UP)—A newspaper reporter was beaten yesterday when he tried to investigate new reports of violence committed by hooded terrorists posing as protectors of the public's morals.

Clarke Stallworth, 23-year-old reporter for the Birmingham Post, told law enforcement officials he was slugged while in the back room of a country store checking a tip about a renewed outbreak of violence.

While a "forces of decency" movement was springing to protest "failure or refusal" of police to arrest the mobsters, Stallworth said he set out on his own to investigate the bloody beating of a mother in nearby Walker county.

Stallworth said he went to a country store in Sumiton, Ala., 28 miles from here, to meet a certain man who was to give him information, and was lured into the back of the store and attacked by two men.

The reporter said the man who "invited" him to the rear started swinging at once and that a second man quickly rushed in brandishing a wrench. Stallworth said he dashed from a rear exit, the wrench arching through the air behind him.

Stallworth said he fled the town by bus and flagged down state highway patrolmen who escorted him back to the store to get his car and to Jasper, Ala., where he swore out warrants.

Roscoe Fowler, a strapping-sized man wearing khaki, was arrested for beating the newsman.

Glenn Godfrey, proprietor of the hardware and accessories store in the heart of Sumiton, said a part of his establishment was virtually "wrecked" by the fight.

James H. King Jr., Baby Crash Victim, Dies at U. Hospitals

James H. King Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon King Sr., route 1, West Liberty, died at University hospitals Sunday, officials there said.

He was admitted Saturday night with his mother, Jane King, 25, and sister Margaret, 2 1-2, after a two-car collision south of West Liberty.

The eight-month-old child had suffered a fractured skull and a brain injury, according to a highway patrol report.

Mrs. King, who suffered a broken left arm besides cuts and bruises, and Margaret, who received head injuries, are still confined to University hospitals. Their condition yesterday was reported "good" by officials there.

James King, 28, the father, was bruised on one arm. Leonard Heuvelman, Nichols, driver of the other car, was hit on the right side of his head, the report said.

The accident occurred about 7 p.m. Saturday at the country road "Y" intersection five and one-half miles south of West Liberty.

Mrs. King was driving a 1946 Plymouth and Heuvelman was driving a 1940 Studebaker sedan. Both cars were almost completely demolished.

ROUGHING IT AT SCOUT CAMP are these boys from troop 3, Iowa City. They wouldn't consider the regular tents and platforms provided but set up their own "pup" tents. The troop, sponsored by the English Lutheran church, cooks two meals a day. They prepared their menus and brought their supply of food for the week.

Boy Scouts at Camp — Learn New Skills, Make Fun of 'Roughing It'

Forty Boy Scouts arrived Sunday at the Rotary Scout Camp west of Coralville for a week of outdoor life, Camp Director Jack McDavid said yesterday.

Although the camp has facilities for 60 boys and reservations were made for the entire camp, about 20 scouts didn't "show up," McDavid said.

The boys are awakened by a bugle at 7:30 a.m. After eating breakfast they clean up the area around their tents and air their bunks.

From 9 a.m. to noon, the troops divide according to special activities. Troop 34, Kalona, is planning to build a rope "monkey bridge" across the creek. Other troops have programs designed to meet the needs of the unit, McDavid said.

The boys have an hour and a half for lunch and free time. Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons they go swimming in City park swimming pool. Tuesday and Thursday afternoons the boys have more special work and instruction in their programs.

Daily inspection is held at 5:30 p.m. The scouts work for good reports because the winning group is made the color guard, McDavid said.

Supper is served at 6 p.m. In the evening the boys return again to their troop units for night nature work such as studying the stars.

Friday night the camp will be open to visitors and the scouts will have a campfire program. Scout Executive Martin L. Hunter said yesterday.

Troops represented at camp this week are No. 3 and No. 10, Iowa City; No. 7, Coralville; No. 29, Marengo; No. 34, Kalona, and No. 36, Wellman.

A second group of boys will arrive at the camp Sunday for their week of outdoor activity, Hunter said.

Police Shelve Old Methods, Says Lecturer

The old command of "All right now, break it up" used by the cop on the beat to scatter a crowd of people was given a complete overhaul yesterday in the river room of the Iowa Union by R. W. (Doc) Nebergall, chief of the Iowa bureau of criminal investigation.

Speaking to the advanced investigation class of the 13th annual peace officers short course, Nebergall pointed out the advantage of modern methods of crime detection and crowd psychology now used at the scene of a crime.

In the three remaining classes, 35 men registered for the basic general police class, 31 for the basic investigation class and 33 for the advanced general police class.

After registration yesterday morning, the short course began with a general lecture on the "Red Hannah" by Prof. Robert Caldwell of the SUI department of sociology. The "Red Hannah" was a whipping post formerly used in Delaware which has become the symbol of capital punishment.

In other classes during the day, John R. Rabe, secretary of the Iowa board of pharmacy examiners, discussed the growing problem of sleeping pills and similar drugs, and C. W. Cornel, assistant state fire marshal, spoke on "Arson."

Allen Vestal, SUI law school, discussed the "Law of Homicide" at the afternoon meeting of the advance investigation class, and Samuel M. Fahr, also of the law school gave a two-hour lecture on "Criminal Law" to the basic general police class.

Prof. R. L. Holcomb, of the university Bureau of Public Affairs and director of the short course, said that attendance at the short course was expected to reach a peak of about 250 by tomorrow.
