Taft-Hartley Foes End Fight, Senate Nears Labor Bill Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foes of the Taft-Hartley act surrendered yesterday in their fight to get rid of that labor law this year.

The senate debate appeared to be rushing to a conclusion with the entire program of Sen. Robert Taft (R-Ohio) generally expected to prevail. The senate unanimously agreed to vote on the program today.

Labor leaders made it clear that they prefer to keep the Taft-Hartley act unchanged, and use it as a campaign issue in 1950, rather than accept the Taft program for "improving" the law.

Sen. Scott Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, predicted a presidential veto if the Taft bill should pass the senate and house.

It was generally conceded that the bill may never reach the White House. The house has been in a stalemate on labor legislation and any senate bill may be pigeonholed by the house labor committee.

AFL President William Green asked the senate to defeat the Truman administration's amended labor bill. He declared that by writing 60-day emergency injunctions into it Tuesday, the senate had made the measure "absolutely unacceptable" to labor.

In a subsequent statement, Green said that "labor will never swallow the injunction." But he also declared "this is not the end of labor's fight to repeal the Taft-Hartley act," and that labor sights are trained on the 1950 elections.

CIO President Philip Murray issued a similar statement, making clear that organized labor has given up hope of knocking injunctions out of the labor law this session, but is determined to concentrate on the election of a friendlier congress next year.

Noble Wins Acquittal; Jury's Deliberations Take Ten Minutes

SOUTH BEND, IND. (AP)—A jury of three women and nine men deliberated only ten minutes yesterday afternoon before acquitting Robert D. Noble, 30, Iowa City, of reckless homicide.

Noble is assistant secretary of the SUI alumni association.

The charge was made against him in the death of Marie Despres, 18-year-old St. Mary's college student who was killed by Noble's car while crossing a highway near the Notre Dame football game in 1947.

Noble also is under indictment on the same charge in the death of Joseph A. Haller, 20, of Los Angeles, a Notre Dame student.

Miss Despres and Haller were members of a group run down by Noble's car. Two other students were injured and two sisters from Michawaka, Ind., Ann and Mary Lentine, riding in Noble's car, also were injured as it hit a utility pole after striking the students. The sisters have filed civil suits against Noble asking a total of $33,000 damages.

At the trial, which started June 20, state witnesses testified Noble was driving at high speed and on the left side of the road.

Noble himself denied he was driving fast or on the wrong side of the highway. He testified going "probably about 45" miles an hour.

Woman Commits Suicide At North Liberty Farm

The body of Mrs. Lewis R. Turecek, farm wife, was found at her farm home two miles north of West Liberty at 6 p.m. yesterday by members of her family. She had committed suicide at about 3:30 or 4 p.m., according to County Coroner George Callahan. The method of suicide was not disclosed.

The body was brought to Oathout's funeral home last night.

Nationalist Bombers Raid Shanghai, Hit Crowded Tenements

SHANGHAI (AP)—Chinese Nationalist heavy bombers made their first raid on Shanghai yesterday. First reports were that two Chinese were killed and possibly 100 others injured in the populous northern district.

At least two four-engine Liberators flew in low and leisurely. They ignored machinegun fire from the ground and dropped sticks of bombs in the crowded Chapei district of tenements and factories.

They seemed to be aiming at the railroad yards around Shanghai's north station in Chapei. If so, their aim was poor. The bombs fell to the northeast into the tenement district.

(These raids, previously made by fighter planes, are to enforce the Nationalist order closing Shanghai and other Communist ports. The United States yesterday advised the Chinese government it would not recognize the order. The British are expected to take a similar stand.)

Authorities roped off the area and would allow none to enter. Police and soldiers dug victims out of wrecked buildings and houses. Hospitals reported they knew of two dead and many were seriously injured.

Rejects Blockade . . .

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States bluntly rejected yesterday an attempt by the Chinese government to block trade between Communist China and the western world.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson told a news conference he understood the British were taking a more extreme position than this country. This appeared to be borne out by London diplomatic sources, who said they believed a British note, to be delivered today, may include a warning that Britain is prepared to use force, if necessary, to protect her merchant shipping in Chinese coastal waters.

The two western powers consulted on the order of the Nationalist government closing 1,500 miles of Chinese coastline last Sunday.

FBI Reports Oust 37 AEC Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman David E. Lilienthal of the atomic energy commission disclosed yesterday that 37 atomic workers have been fired as a result of "derogatory" information turned up by FBI investigators.

Two others hired for short-term jobs were released under the same circumstances, he said.

However, Lilienthal added in a letter to the senate-house atomic "watchdog" committee:

"Of these 39 cases, none involved espionage or suspicion of espionage."

The letter said only one case involved "reasonably well - confirmed evidence of membership in or association with the Communist party."

Lilienthal wrote Chairman Brien McMahon (D-Conn) that the 39 fired or released workers were among 4,095 who had been granted "emergency" clearance for work on secret data in connection with the atomic program without a full-scale FBI probe.

El Passengers View Fire in Street

NINE PERSONS WERE INJURED when an auto and a street car collided in front of the Red Cross headquarters, 521 S. Wabash avenue, Chicago, Tuesday night. Passengers riding on the Congress street El above the fire got an eyeful as they watched firemen battle a blaze which started when the auto's gasoline tank exploded after the crash.

Coplon Jury Undecided

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Judith Coplon jury failed to reach a verdict last night after deliberating for nearly 11 hours and was locked up in a hotel until 8 a.m. (Iowa time) today when it will again try to decide whether the former government girl is guilty of espionage.

The eight men and four women jurors quit for the night shortly after they had received further instructions from Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves on the question of "intent" involved in the two-count indictment charging Miss Coplon with stealing secret FBI documents for transmission to the Soviet Union.

Reeves told the jurors that "intent" usually is judged by the actions and the speech of an individual.

The government charges that she filched the documents for the purpose of handing them over to Valentin A. Gubitchev, her self-proclaimed Russian boy friend.

Several excerpts or "data slips" based on secret reports in the FBI files were found in her purse when she was arrested with Gubitchev in New York March 4.

One count accuses her of stealing the documents with the intention of injuring the United States and aiding a foreign power. The other merely accuses her of stealing the government papers.

Before the jury came in Defense Attorney Archibald Palmer once again moved unsuccessfully for a mistrial. Throughout Reeves' instructions the turbulent lawyer shouted objections.

Miss Coplon sat quietly during the proceedings. While the jury was deliberating, she walked about the courtroom and adjacent corridors carrying a mystery story, "Pearls Before Swine," in her hand.

Five Testify Against Hawkeye Lumber At NLRB Hearing

Representatives of the national labor relations board finished a two-day hearing at the Johnson county courthouse yesterday on charges of unfair labor practices brought by a Cedar Rapids union against the Hawkeye Lumber company, Iowa City.

Harry Wilford, union representative, said the charges involved the alleged lay-off of Charles Smith, a former lumber company employee who is now an Iowa City alderman.

Smith and four other former employees of the lumber company were called as witnesses to support charges of discriminatory labor practices brought against the company by local 238 of the AFofL's chauffeurs' and teamsters' union, Cedar Rapids.

Wilford said the Iowa City firm was charged with unfair labor practices as far back as Sept. 14, 1948, when Smith and the four others were allegedly laid off for joining the union.

The lumber company claimed the five men were discharged because of a seasonal business slump.

Judge Charles L. Ferguson, NLRB examiner from Washington, D.C., said results of the hearing will not be announced until testimony has been examined at the Washington offices.

Unity Bill Bad, Says Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover warned congress yesterday that the senate-approved armed forces unification bill would be "dangerous to the country." He hinted it might lead to a military dictatorship.

(While endorsing the general objectives of the measure, he vigorously opposed a provision to create a chairman for the joint chiefs of staff. He said the chairman would have such rank and power that he could "override responsible civil officials.")

Hoover testified before the house armed services committee which is considering the bill to tighten unification and give new powers to the secretary of defense. The bill developed largely from a recommendation by Hoover's commission on reorganization of the executive branch.

Hoover made clear that he considers the idea of an independent chairman for the joint chiefs a sound suggestion. But such an officer, he said, should be only a presiding official who would report to the defense secretary without authority or power to make decisions.

Under the senate bill, the chairman would serve as principal military adviser to the President and the defense secretary.

Hoover, Vinson Chat Before Session

HERBERT HOOVER (right) stopped to talk with Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) yesterday before the former president told the house armed services committee it would be "dangerous to the country" to create a chairman for the joint chiefs of staff of the armed services as proposed by the Truman administration. Vinson is chairman of the house group.

Police Respect Age, Skip Tickets

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police might have thrown the whole book of traffic citations at Richard Bates.

They had him cold for: 1.—Backing an auto into a busy intersection, 2.—Hitting a policeman with his fender, 3.—Crashing into a taxi and pushing it into another car, 4.—Violating pedestrian right-of-way, 5.—Going through a stop sign backwards.

But Traffic Patrolman Edward Martinson, the one who was hit, kept his citation book in his pocket.

Richard Bates is six years old. He started the car when his mother, Mrs. Patricia Bates, left him alone in it while she shopped. Bates became San Francisco's youngest traffic violator.

Says Communist Police Coerce Papal Diplomat

PRAGUE (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Communist police used force in trying to question a Vatican diplomat, a source close to Vatican spokesman said yesterday.

The informant said secret police forcibly entered the car of the Rev. Gennaro Verolino, counselor and charge d'affaires in the papal nunciature here, and made him drive to police headquarters at Kosice, Slovakia, Tuesday night.

An informed Vatican source in Rome said the Vatican expects its diplomatic links with Prague to be severed soon by the Czech government.

The hand-writing on the wall, it was said, was the recent Communist charge that Msgr. Verolino is the "mind behind the anti-state activities of the church."

Vatican sources believe the rupture might be brought about by "immobilizing and gagging" Msgr. Verolino the way Catholic bishops were silenced by forbidding their movement and interfering with church functions.

The church source said a formal protest has been made to the Czech foreign ministry against "this violation of the rights of a diplomat."

The new development highlighted another day in the spreading church-state strife. It also was disclosed that Communist authorities have begun censoring sermons of Catholic bishops and imposing a gag on any who try to criticize the government.

'Lothario' to Write Books for Women

CHICAGO (AP)—Sigmund Engel, lucre-loving Lothario who has wooed millions from the ladies, says he's going to tell women how to keep their money from the clutches of confidence men.

Engel, in jail on a charge of bilking Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, a Chicago widow, of $8,700, said yesterday he is going to tell all in some books he plans to write.

There'll be a volume on "how to recognize confidence men," he said.

'Stop-Gap' Measure Passes House Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house last night passed and sent to the senate a "stop-gap" resolution giving government agencies enough funds to operate after the fiscal year ends at midnight today.

With six regular money bills still to reach the White House, the house voted to let the agencies continue present spending rates through July 31. All appropriation bills presumably will be passed by then.

The chamber also approved a compromise version of the treasury-postoffice department appropriation. The senate may act on both the permanent and "stop-gap" bill today.

The house action on money bills came as Sen. Harry Byrd (D-Va.) warned tax revenues have dropped alarmingly. He predicted the government will be $1.5-billion in the red by the close of the fiscal year.

Lewis Plans UMW Strike Strategies

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP)—John L. Lewis held a two-hour strike strategy meeting with district officials of the United Mine Workers yesterday.

Lewis held fruitless bargaining sessions throughout the day with representatives of northern and western bituminous mines and officials of the U.S. Steel corporation, owner of many so-called captive pits.

He agreed to meet with them today in an effort to write a wage agreement before the present contract expires at midnight tonight, but neither side held out hope the deadlock would be broken.

Despite the stalemate, George H. Love, president of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company and chief operator spokesman, doubted Lewis would call the miners out when their annual 10-day vacation ends July 5.

Transport Tie-up To Get Conciliator

DES MOINES (AP)—Gov. William S. Beardsley said yesterday he will name a conciliator today to handle negotiations between streetcar workers and the Des Moines Railway company.

Company officials and division 441, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach employees of America (AFL) accepted a last-minute proposal Tuesday to work with a conciliator.

Beardsley's suggestion that he appoint a conciliator forestalled a strike only a few hours before streetcar and curbline workers were to come to a standstill, leaving 60,000 riders without transportation facilities.

Impedes Nationalization Of British Iron, Steel

LONDON (AP)—The house of lords threw a monkey wrench last night into the Socialist government's efforts to nationalize the iron and steel industry before next year's general election.

The rebellious peers voted to keep the industry in the hands of private enterprise, at least until after the election.

Eight Iowans Vote Against Truman's Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house last night passed a trimmed-down version of President Truman's multi-billion dollar housing bill after once removing, then restoring, the key section on public housing.

The final vote by the tense, nerve-worn representatives was 228 to 185. A mighty shout went up from the Democratic side as the vote was announced.

Supporting the bill on final passage were 193 Democrats, 34 Republicans and one American Labor party member. Opposing were 131 Republicans and 54 Democrats.

All eight of Iowa's representatives voted against the housing bill.

The senate passed the bill on April 21 by a 57 to 13 vote. Final outcome of the bill will be decided in a conference committee where slight differences will be ironed out.

For a couple hours it appeared Mr. Truman might be denied this first major victory for his domestic program that he calls the fair deal.

Shortly after their temporary defeat, the administration forces regained control, and swiftly defeated amendments.

One of these would have cut out the farm housing section of the bill. This lost 162 to 146.

Before the temporary victory of the opponents of public housing, the house by a voice vote had slashed the number of public dwellings from the 1.05-million Mr. Truman asked to $100,000, and the yearly rental subsidy for tenants, from a top of $400-million to $308-million.

That made the house bill conform with the trimming the senate gave the measure before that body passed it.

Administration men predicted the measure—complete with public housing, slum clearance and farm housing aids—will be sent to the White House by the weekend.

Major divisions of the housing bill passed today include:

1. A five year slum clearance program, with one-third of the cost to be met by the federal government and the balance by local communities.

The bill authorizes $1-billion in loans and $500-million in grants to states and local public bodies for this program. Slum clearance provisions of the senate passed will are the same.

2. Federal contribution: up to $308-million a year for 40 years to enable construction, through local housing authorities, of 810,000 publicly-owned dwelling units in six years.

Mr. Truman asked for 1,050,000 units in seven years, with annual federal rent subsidies at $400-million. But the senate and house both decided to cut the President's program. This section of the senate and house bills now have the same figures.

3. A three-part $262.5-million farm housing program. The first part calls for 33-year loans at not more than four percent interest. The loans would be available to owners of self-sustaining farms who were otherwise unable to finance adequate housing.

Russ Stall Opening Of Berlin's Elevated

BERLIN (AP)—The Soviet-controlled railway management yesterday delayed indefinitely resumption of traffic over Berlin's elevated railway system, disrupted for more than a month by a strike of west Berlin railroad workers.

The strikers returned to their jobs Tuesday, and test runs over the elevated system were made yesterday. The railway management issued a statement late yesterday saying traffic would be resumed today. Then the statement was retracted.

A new statement was issued saying more test runs would be made today but that traffic could not be resumed because of great damage done to the system during the five-week walkout of 15,000 workers.

Finally, however, the Soviet-controlled railroad management promised western officials they would get the elevated system running Friday.

Bendix Aviation Workers Vote to End Strike

SOUTH BEND, IND. (AP)—Employees of the Bendix Aviation corporation plant ended their 10-week-old strike late yesterday by a vote of more than 25 to 1.

James McEwan, chairman of the bargaining committee of local 9, United Automobile Workers (CIO), said the vote in a secret ballot on a formal resolution to end the strike was 2,831 to 110.

The secret ballot came after union members had accepted the bargaining committee's recommendation that the strike be ended.

Before they voted they were told by their president, Stanley Ladd, that an agreement reached at Washington Tuesday by union and company officials was "fair and workable." Terms of the agreement were presented to the meeting.

The Washington conference had been arranged by Secretary of Air Symington. The secretary entered the dispute because Bendix manufactures vital parts for plane engines, besides auto parts.

Company officials said some departments of the plant could resume operation immediately. They said the aviation equipment department could not reopen before Friday, however.

The strike involved about 6,100 production workers.

The agreement deals with the three points at issue which led to the strike on April 20.

One was the discharge of 47 workers in the brake shoe department for an alleged slowdown. The others were production procedures and a union demand for withdrawal of a damage suit filed by the company.

DiMaggio's 2 Homers Top Bosox, 9-7

Hits 3rd Homer In Two Games

BOSTON (AP)—Jolting Joe DiMaggio pounded out two home runs yesterday to spark the New York Yankees to a thrilling 9-7 triumph over the Boston Red Sox before 29,563 fans.

DiMaggio, who played his first game of the season Tuesday night and led the Yanks to a 5-4 triumph over Boston with a two-run homer, hit for the circuit with two on in the fifth and with the bases empty in the eighth.

His eighth inning blast, off Lefty Earl Johnson, turned out to be the winning blow. The Yanks added another run in the ninth when Phil Rizzuto beat out a bunt with the bases loaded.

The Red Sox at one time led 7-1. Lefty Joe Page, who saved Tuesday night's game, pitched the final three innings and allowed only one hit to gain credit for his sixth victory. He has lost three.

Schroeder Rallies, Wins Wimbledon Semi-Final

WIMBLEDON, ENG. (AP)—Tennis star Ted Schroeder of LaCrescenta, Calif., uncorked another of his whirlwind rallies yesterday and carried America's hopes into the finals of the Wimbledon tennis championship by downing Eric Sturgess of South Africa, 3-6, 7-5, 5-7, 6-1, 6-2.

The 27-year-old U.S. Davis cup star will square away in the center court title match tomorrow against chunky Jaroslav Drobny of Czechoslovakia, whom he beat in straight sets in one previous match.

Garver Sets Down Chisox, 1-0

CHICAGO (AP)—The St. Louis Browns used a 1-0 victory here yesterday to sweep a two-game series from the Chicago White Sox. Dick Kokos' eighth inning single decided a pitchers' battle between Ned Garver and Billy Pierce.

One of Pierce's four bases on balls set up the only run of the game. Johnny Sullivan, who scored the winning run in St. Louis' 7-6 victory Tuesday night, walked to open the eighth.

Gerry Priddy sacrificed, and Kokos singled Sullivan to seal Pierce's sixth setback in pitching the route for the first time this season.

The White Sox, held to five hits by Grover, didn't get a runner past second base in falling to within five and a half games in the last place Browns.

Detroit-Indians Split, Newhouser Winner

CLEVELAND (AP)—Hal Newhouser limited the Cleveland Indians to six hits last night as Detroit's Tigers won a 4-0 victory in the first game of a twilight-night doubleheader.

It was Newhouser's 10th victory against six defeats. The Tigers pounded four Cleveland hurlers for 12 blows. Gene Bearden was the losing pitcher.

In the second game the Indians rallied in the ninth inning and scored six runs to defeat the Tigers, 8-7.

Scheib Hurls A's Past Senators, 7-4

WASHINGTON (AP)—Carl Scheib snapped a personal 6-game losing streak and posted his third victory of the season last night as the Philadelphia Athletics defeated Washington, 7-4.

Scheib was hammered for 11 hits, including a home run and triple by Eddie Stewart, but was lifted to triumph by the A's 4-run seventh inning outburst after the Senators had tied the score at 3-3.

Philadelphia accumulated eight hits off five Washington pitchers, with Ferris Fain and Mike Guerra collecting two hits each.

Doran Hurls 3rd No-Hitter, 6-0

Dick Doran pitched his third no-hitter of the season and his ninth straight victory while teammate Whitey Diehl pitched a five-hit shutout as City high beat Burlington in a doubleheader here last night, 6-0 and 1-0.

In the first game, Doran struck out eleven and walked two. Only one Burlington runner got as far as second base.

Doran was given a good lead by his mates in the second inning when they scored three runs on two hits and one error. The Little Hawks garnered five hits and played errorless ball.

Whitey Diehl struck out twelve in the nightcap and walked two. He got into trouble only once, in the seventh inning, when Burlington got runners on second and third with one out.

The Little Hawks scored their lone run in the first inning when Jerry White singled, Jim Cilek sacrificed, Jerry Anderson walked and Rox Shain reached first on a Burlington error.

The Hawkslets collected only two hits but Burlington committed three errors. Gene Hettrick will play his last game for the Hawkslets when they play Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids tonight at Cedar Rapids.

Kiner's Grand-Slam Homer Beats Reds For Lombardi, 7-3

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Ralph Kiner batted the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 7-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds yesterday. He drove in five runs with a double and a grand slam homer. It was his 19th home run of the season.

Kiner's blasting made it easy for little Vic Lombardi to twirl his second victory.

The tiny lefty gave up only nine hits, one a homer by Virgil Stallcup.

Pirate Manager Billy Meyer was chased off the bench by Umpire George Barr in the eighth after he strongly protested a play at first.

Ex-Iowa Tennis Star Enters Valley Meet

A former SUI tennis star, Dick Hainline, has entered the Missouri Valley tennis tournament, scheduled here July 18-24, Clark Millikan, Missouri Valley committee member in charge of the tourney announced yesterday.

Hainline, from Rock Island, won the Missouri Valley title in 1941 and '46 and the National Public Park crown in 1946. He has won the state title seven times and championships in Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri.

Also entered in the meet is Mrs. Joanne Dunn Gibson of Des Moines, formerly of national tennis rank and one of the country's top players while in high school.

The tourney is being sponsored by SUI and the Iowa City Tennis club.

Williams Leads Poll

Giants Clip Braves, Bickford, for 9-3 Win

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants, aided by some sloppy Boston fielding, thumped Vern Bickford, ace righthander, and the Braves, 9-3, yesterday.

Bickford, gunning for his tenth victory, was knocked from the box in the third inning when the Giants scored six runs on five hits and three errors.

Whitey Lockman paced the Giants' 11-hit attack with a triple, two doubles and a single.

Holidays Call for Caution In or On Water

Vacationists Should Watch Safety Rules

By JEAN MEGGERS

Iowa Citizens will celebrate the Fourth of July in various ways this week-end.

A good guess is that many will choose water activities to keep cool. Those who don't wish to add to an increased holiday mortality rate should brush up on water safety rules.

The following are a few pointers that might be noted.

When to bathe is one of the first things the holiday swimmer should consider. He should always wait at least an hour after eating before entering the water.

A swimmer should not stay in too long or take the risk of becoming chilled and exhausted.

Evening dips are safe, but they should never be taken alone.

Where to bathe is the next important factor. A supervised pool or beach is the best place to go when it is available. When swimming in unorganized places the bather should choose a spot with a good bottom and shallow area.

Good swimmers as well as novices should obey the rules of the beach or pool where they are swimming.

The eager swimmer is often tempted to dive immediately into the water. This is dangerous, especially on a hot day. The shock of the cold water is a drain on energy and can cause the swimmer to become exhausted. In some instances it may cause a heart attack.

If the bather does get into trouble he should keep a cool head. Panic doesn't help the situation and the frantic motions of the frightened swimmer absorbs much needed energy.

Celebrators should be careful on as well as in the water. A very popular, but also dangerous craft, is the canoe.

The first thing to know is how to enter the canoe. The canoe must be kept steady. Then step into the bottom directly over the keel.

The stern paddler is the first one in, and he should steady the boat while the other passengers enter. Leaving a small craft just reverses this process.

Small craft users should be careful not to stand up or rock the boat and they should not carry too heavy a load.

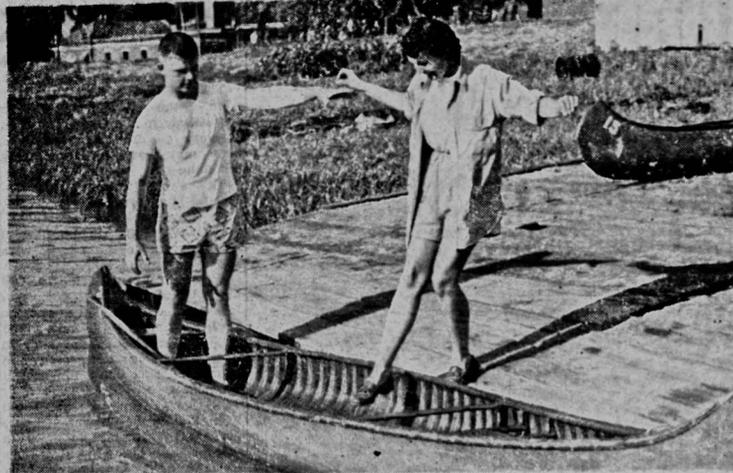

If the boat does tip over the passengers should hang onto their boat till help comes. Swimming to shore should only be attempted as a last resort.

Open House Scheduled For Methodist Students

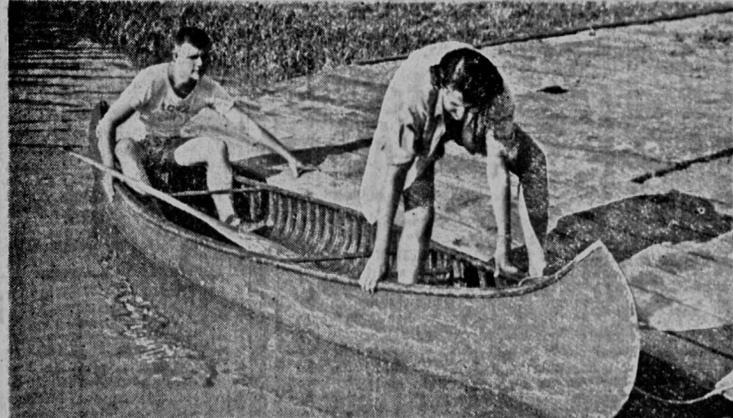

Methodist students will hold open house at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Wesley Foundation house, 120 N. Dubuque.

Open house committee members are Mary Lou Keener and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller.

All graduate and undergraduate Methodist students enrolled for the SUI summer session are welcome, the Rev. R.R. Sanks said.

THE DON'TS OF ENTERING A CANOE from a dock are demonstrated by Shirley Alvarado, A4, Wilmington, Del., and Bill Tygret, A4, Fairchild. Shirley steps into the unsteady craft with no support except for Bill, who stands dangerously in the stern of the canoe.

HERE'S THE RIGHT WAY—Bill, already seated in the stern, steadies the canoe while Shirley steps into the bottom directly over the keel and steadies herself with a hand on either gunwale before sitting down in the bow.

Linguist Positions Open In New York

Positions are open in New York state for qualified American citizens with an expert command of Balkan and Asiatic languages, Helen M. Barnes, director of the business and industrial placement office, said yesterday.

The New York department of state said a knowledge of any one of the following languages is necessary: Serbo-Croatian, Czech, Romanian, Bulgarian, Korean, Arabic, Turkish, Iranian and Hebrew (Palestinian only).

Among the positions open are editor in chief of a language desk, foreign language script writer, translator, producer of news and dramatic radio shows, bilingual typist, bilingual clerk-stenographer, a language head and a survey head and assistant in radio and audience surveys.

Application blanks and bulletins describing these positions are available at the placement office, room 111, University hall.

'Western Review' Publisher to Move Magazine to SUI

The "Western Review," a critical and literary magazine will be published for the first time at SUI in September under the editorship of Ray B. West Jr.

West, a newly appointed associate professor in the SUI English department, formerly edited the "Western Review" at the University of Kansas. The magazine has been published there for the past three years. For 10 years prior he edited the same magazine under the title, "Rocky Mountain Review," at Salt Lake City, Utah.

Administrative Dean Allin W. Dakin said West's appointment becomes effective in September. West also will teach a new course in theory and form of modern fiction.

"Western Review," which has been largely a critical magazine, will be enlarged at SUI to include more poetry and short stories, West said. He also said about five graduate students in creative writing will be selected to serve on the staff of the magazine.

Although "Western Review" will be published at SUI, it is not a student publication, West said.

SUI Artists' Works Exhibited in Denver

The works of four SUI art students and five art instructors are now being exhibited in the 58th Annual Art exhibition in the Denver Art museum, Denver, Col.

The exhibit began Sunday and will continue through Aug. 30, Prof. Raoul Delmare, SUI art department, said yesterday.

Otto G. Ocvirk, G, Detroit, won an honorable mention award for his print, "Crucifixion." The other students are Frank A. Wachowiak, G, Winona, Minn.; John Paul Jones, A4, Des Moines, and Lindsey Decker, G, Iowa City.

Included among the 177 works accepted from 1,390 entries are pieces by Prof. Stuart Edie, Prof. Mauricio Lasansky, Prof. Humbert Albrizio and Instructors Harold Letterman and Lee Chesney.

An SUI alumna, Lizette Eisenbach, won a purchase award for her watercolor, "Manifestations of My Childhood."

The exhibition includes oil paintings, watercolors, prints, drawings, sculptures and ceramics by artists from 25 states.

Informal Dance Set For July in Union

An all-university informal dance, the "Friendly Frolic" will be held in the Iowa Union lounge July 15 from 9 to 12 p.m., Prof. Earl E. Harper, Union director, said yesterday.

The all-university party committee is sponsoring the dance. Tickets will be available for students, faculty and staff members at 8 a.m. Monday, July 11, at the Union desk. Price per couple will be $1.50 including tax, Harper said.

Bill Meardon's 12-piece orchestra will provide music. The soda fountain, sunporch and roof garden will be open.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

In Fred Russell's sparkling new Funny Things About Sports he tells of a day Connie Mack yanked Pitcher George Earnshaw from the mound because Lou Gehrig had lofted two of his offerings over the right field fence. "This fellow I've put in now knows how to pitch to Gehrig," Mack told the disgruntled Earnshaw. "Watch him."

When Gehrig came up for his next lick, he teed off on the new pitcher's first delivery and sent it over the center field wall on a dead line. As Gehrig jogged around the bases, Earnshaw whispered to Mack, "I see what you mean. Make him change direction, eh?"

Nelson Doubleday always maintained that guests at a literary cocktail party never listened to what anybody else was saying. To prove his point he shook hands with Elizabeth Janeway at a gathering in her house and said, "I'm sorry I'm late, but it took me longer to strangle my aunt than I expected." "Yes, indeed," beamed Miss Janeway. "I'm so happy you have come."

Foreign Scholarships Available to Students

Ninety opportunities for graduate study, advanced research or teaching in The Netherlands and Norway are open to Americans, Foreign Students Adviser Richard Sweitzer said yesterday. The state department recently announced the positions.

Scholarships for 50 graduate students will cover round-trip travel, maintenance, tuition and necessary books and equipment, round-trip travel, a supplemental Grants to 40 visiting professors and research scholars include living allowance and an allowance for purchase of necessary books and equipment, he said.

The awards will be payable in Netherlands and Norwegian currency and are offered under the Fulbright act which authorizes the state department to use foreign currencies acquired through the sale of surplus property abroad for programs of educational exchange with other nations.

Of the total of 90 positions, 50 are offered to graduate students, 25 for study in each country; 12 and 20 to visiting professors or research scholars in The Netherlands and Norwegian universities, respectively. Eight grants are offered to visiting teachers in primary and secondary schools in The Netherlands.

Candidates for all grants will be selected on the basis of merit by the board of foreign scholarships in the state department. Veterans will be given preference providing their other qualifications are approximately equal to those of other candi-

Women's Fraternity To Hold Convention

Carol Thurnau, A4, Elgin, Ill., will represent the SUI chapter of Alpha Xi Delta at the social fraternity's national convention tomorrow through July 5. The convention will be held at the French Lick Springs hotel in French Lick, Ind.

Mrs. Morgan Padelford, national president of Pro-American, an educational organization for women interested in preserving the American constitutional form of government, will be a guest speaker.

Miss Juanita M. Luck, special consultant from the United States Children's bureau, will report on Alpha Xi Delta's current national philanthropy.

The fraternity is participating in the bureau's project of national research, the findings of which will be reported at the 1950 White House conference on children.

Journalism Couple To Travel Europe

Two SUI students, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jackson of Clinton, plan to leave from New York by plane Sunday on a journalism seminar tour through Europe.

Jackson, who is a senior in journalism, and his wife, a graduate student, plan to return early in September.

The trip is sponsored by the American Council for Education in Journalism, Dean Kenneth Olson of the Medill school of journalism at Northwestern will be in charge.

Students from various universities and colleges are making the trip. They will tour England, France, Switzerland, Germany, Denmark and Sweden and attend lectures in leading cities of these countries.

editorials Sen. Wagner: The Man & His Era —

Aging, ill Sen. Robert F. Wagner (D-NY) has retired, leaving behind a distinguished career and an impending political campaign in New York this fall.

Wagner was born in Germany in 1877, and his parents brought him to New York at the age of eight. His compassion for the underdog — which marked his entire public career — was learned on New York streets.

In 1905 he was sent to the New York state assembly where his first campaign was for a five-cent fare from sweetening temptations to the breeze-cooled beaches of Coney Island.

Wagner was first elected to his senate seat in 1927 and has been returned three times. His fourth term, now abandoned, will expire Dec. 31, 1950.

Long ill, he has not served in the senate since May of 1947. But his name still appears as co-sponsor of many prominent pieces of social legislation. Among them are the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill and the Wager-Murray-Dingell health insurance plan.

His retirement Wednesday came on the same day the senate knocked down an attempt to restore his principal legislative monument — the Wagner labor law — close to the form he gave it 14 years ago.

The Wagner act, which codified labor provisions of earlier deal legislation, has been called labor's Magna Carta. It provided for collective bargaining elections supervised by a national labor relations board and gave organized labor other protective rights.

By beating a July 8 retirement deadline, Wagner set the scene for a lively special election campaign next November. Had Wagner retired after July 8, New York's Gov. Thomas Dewey could have appointed a Republican successor to serve until December, 1950.

Now, however, Dewey can appoint a temporary successor only until a special election is held this coming November. Then Republicans and Democrats must cross swords to elect Wagner's successor.

Looking over the field of potential candidates: Dewey might retire as governor and run.

Former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman might run as a Democrat. Robert F. Wagner Jr. might become the Democratic candidate to succeed his father.

Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. — fresh from a special election triumph — might resign as U.S. representative and run on the Democratic ticket to fill Wagner's post.

As much as any other man's, Senator Wagner's career stands as a monument to a political era. November's election to pick his successor may well stand as a monument to the rejuvenation or repudiation of that era.

Housecleaning Begins at Home —

Nebraska's Republican governor, Val Peterson, authored an article in the forthcoming issue of American magazine in which he urged the Republican "Old Guard" to clean house, rid the party of "me too" endorsement of opposition party ideas and start on a grass roots diet for the kickoff in the 1952 presidential campaign.

There is the possibility that Governor Peterson wrote the article some weeks before the assembly upset his plans by passing over his veto a bill to decontrol rents in the state of Nebraska.

If Peterson wants the GOP to clean house and end "haste and turmoil" in policy making, he had better start at home.

Governor Val is in the peculiar position of one who flings big boulders when he lives in a fragile glass house. He wants to see his party working together and functioning as a unit in time to win the presidency in 1952.

Unfortunately, the Nebraska governor hadn't even cleaned his own house when he started on national GOP unity. Within the last month, a bill was passed in Nebraska's one-house legislature to end rent controls in the state. Passage was in accordance with the recent federal law. Peterson took about a week to announce he wouldn't sign the bill.

Nebraska legislators rallied themselves after the initial surprise and declared they would muster the support to pass the bill over Peterson's veto. They did find the support and within less than a week, too. Thus Nebraska became the first state to decontrol rents since passage of the federal bill.

This action makes Governor Peterson's message in the American magazine look a little silly.

Another of Peterson's points, however, is well-taken. He suggested the "Old Guard" begin taking in the youngsters in the party rather than segregating them in organizations like the Young Republicans clubs. The suggestion has merit in that the younger party members can learn better if they're in the fight, slugging away verbally on matters like the rent control issue which puts Peterson in an embarrassing situation.

In China: A Sheepish West —

It was just an insignificantly small news item the other day, but it contained a potential wallop:

"The United States and Britain have sent objections to the Chinese Nationalist government over the 'blockade' of Communist-held ports on the east China coast. The two powers warned that closing of the areas to foreign ships might draw retaliatory action if the vessels or personnel aboard were harmed."

The news item was significant because it partly answered a question. Even if Britain and the U.S. refuse to recognize Communist China, there must be some point at which both of them will snap their link with Nationalist China. When?

On the basis of one small news item, a good guess would be right about now.

The two western powers would not worry about a Nationalist blockade unless they intended to slip past that blockade and deal with Communist China. Apparently we have such intentions.

Apparently the west is willing to overlook the shelling of British ships by Communists on the Yangtze. And such incidents as complete suppression of western newspapers and the detention of American envoys by the Communists will have to go by the board.

The pitiful thing is not the fact that we have decided to abandon the Nationalists and to try to deal with a Communist China.

The tragedy lies in the way we are shifting. With a total lack of an over-all, clear-cut policy for China we are groping our way into a relationship with Communist China. The Nationalists aren't informed that as of such and such a date the west refuses to recognize their regime. Instead, all Chinese factions are faced with a big, awkward, sheepish west at its clumsiest best.

I am sure a capacity crowd would attend each of the summer lectures of the university if they were even half as interesting, entertaining, and educational as that of La Meri. I would term her performance magnificent; her exotic dances and interpretations gave many an exciting glimpse into a future of the Orient which they had never known. If I had a voice in the university, I would surely advise that La Meri be made a permanent member of the faculty. Such a move would be greeted with enthusiastic approval by all, I am sure.

Rearmament May Follow Pact

W. J. M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
The grumbling which is going on in congress about the European rearmament program seems to be largely academic, and chances are it will follow the Atlantic pact through the legislative process at this session.

Senator Vandenberg and other sponsors of the pact feel the administration "done 'em wrong" with regard to good legislative procedure, by tying the arms measure so directly to the pact's coalitions.

But actually it was the questions and answers during the senate committee hearings on the pact which made the matter inseparable. The fact that other questions have delayed action on the pact also has served to telescope action on the two issues into the final days.

But Dean Acheson's return from the Paris conference with a picture of dynamic western progress in Europe which must not be slowed down just when the Russians show signs of needing a breathing spell, has had its effect in congress.

Vandenberg, Connally and Lucas all show signs of getting down to business on rearmament after the pact itself has been approved. And members who once intended to seek to write some reservations into the pact may let it ride through without prolonged debate.

Their expressions of doubt stirred up little reaction among constituents and Washington is pretty well convinced now that the public expects the administration plan to go through.

Proponents of the dual program point out that the situation regarding it is much like that of Germany. When the Paris conference convened the western allies were moving rapidly toward consolidation of western Germany, with a central government and a revived industry to take its place in the European recovery campaign.

missionary of the United Lutheran church in India for the past 36 years, believes that "Much has yet to be done in India as only two percent of the Hindus have become Christians. 'For this end we labor and strive because we have our hope set on God.'"

Before launching this laudable program of converting the remaining 98 percent of the Hindus into good Christians, it might be wise to consider whether these new Christians would not join their fellow-believers in other parts of the world in making others of their brethren take 30 mile trips to neighboring towns for a haircut or in fighting bloody battles to prevent them from entering city-owned swimming pools.

Peterson's Problem

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT Too Close To Home

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

The rains may have come by the time this piece appears, but as I write we have had thirty-four days of drought where I live, unbroken except for a couple of inconclusive thunder showers.

First I noticed there was a drought when a yellow spot appeared in the middle of the lawn, which, after a couple of days, turned white. Then, one day, in a bit of woods, I missed a familiar sound, and looked around and found a brook was gone.

AT THE BEGINNING, we tried sporadic watering. We picked out our favorites, say the roses, or the Kentucky Wonder beans, and just let them have a few gallons, lugged by hand, soaking it in, deep around the roots.

But this makes an intolerable situation. You look out on the baking meadow, on which even the weeds are gasping, and you realize that a few selected plants out there are rolling in water.

This outrages deep instincts, especially in a liberal; you begin to find it hard to look at the faces of the plants you have passed over. It's the old drama of the haves and have-nots, but on your own acres it's a little too close for comfort.

ONE MAN I KNOW said simply: "I'm not going to worry about it. If my stuff goes, it goes. I'll give it three more days, and then plow my vegetables under. At least it'll add to the humus in the soil."

BASIC TRAYNOR

BY NORM TRAYNOR

That fellow who sat on the edge of the swimming pool in a large Eastern college and watched someone go down for the third time may have had something when he said:

"It's a pity we hadn't met — I could have saved him."

YOU'VE GOT to be careful about having anything to do with people you don't know.

Was sitting on the steps of Old Capitol yesterday when some fellow walked up to me and he seemed quite happy to have found me. I didn't know him and, in fact, had never even seen him before, so I couldn't understand why he seemed so elated.

He assured me we were old friends and said he was going to prove it. With that, he pulled a pair of sun-glasses out of his pocket and, after looking carefully around, he asked what I thought of them.

I said that they were very fine glasses and that he was lucky to have such fine glasses in this weather. He thanked me for the compliment and agreed they were surely fine glasses.

"And I'm goin' to let you have them — for a small price," he says.

I waved him off and told him that I already had a pair and could see no need for anymore. But this didn't stop him for a moment and he kept right on — telling me how much better it was to have an extra pair in case I broke my others.

THEN HE mentioned the price and it was a very small price.

Polio on the Increase in 38 States; Up 612

NEW YORK (AP) — Polio is on the increase this year over 1948 in at least 38 states, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis reported last night.

For the country as a whole, there have been 2,309 cases of polio reported so far this year. At the same time in 1948, the number was 1,697—and 1948, with a total of 27,656 cases, was the second worst polio year in United States history.

The foundation also disclosed last night it was granting an additional $2-million in funds to step up research and professional education in the field of infantile paralysis. The grants, announced by Basil O'Connor, president of the foundation, bring the total of sums allotted for research and educational projects this year up to $25-million since 1938.

Included in the 1949 grants are $921,968 for new projects in research on the virus that causes polio; $953,317 for professional training and education; and $96,566 for studies of after care of the disease.

Meanwhile, serious outbreaks of the disease already have been reported in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Mississippi. Polio, however, usually is not a killing disease. It cripples a great number of patients, but most persons stricken with the disease have complete recovery if diagnosed early and treated promptly, the foundation reported.

The 1949 polio pattern is "running true to form" with the first epidemics being reported in the southern states. The disease usually moves northward as the hot summer months arrive — but scientists have not yet been able to determine what is the relationship between hot, dry weather and polio.

Russ Expect War in 1951

Claim U.S. Seeks Immediate Excuse

NEW YORK (AP) — Russia is preparing for war with the west by 1951, a former Hungarian finance minister warned this week. Nicholas Hyardi, writing in the July 2 issue of the Saturday Evening Post, said Deputy Soviet Minister V.G. Dekanozov made the disclosure last July during a conversation aboard a Danube river steamer.

"Another war?" Dekanozov was quoted as saying. "No, not for the moment; not for another three years, anyhow. But by then it will be inevitable — inevitable... the westerners will start it because of their fear of Soviet power... the United States is preparing them for a 'preventive' war and for our part, we've got to be ready by 1951 to prevent their 'prevention.'"

He charged Russia is arming all her satellites in violation of the various peace treaties. Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary, he said, are receiving heavy and medium tanks as well as heavy motorized artillery.

Nyaradi said one of Dekanozov's aides stated: "That's why we've got to be careful in Berlin. The Americans may trick us into shooting down some of their airplanes. Then they'd have an excuse for declaring war on the Soviet Union right away."

New Car, New Race —

Soap Box Engineer

By HUGH BALE

Tom Brown, 15, 630 E. Church street, hopes "to do a lot better" in Iowa City's Soap Box derby July 10 than he did in the 1947 race.

Tom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Brown, already has put in over three months' work on his car. He'll have it ready for inspection about July 8.

He lost in the first heat of the race two years ago, but he said that car, his first, wasn't "very solidly built." The car he is working on now is sturdier and made of pine wood, he added.

Tom's sponsor, the Hawkeye Lumber company, paid for most of the material for the car. He designed and built it himself.

Official derby rules place a $6 limit on expenses for material for the car body. A new rule this year, Tom said, was that power tools couldn't be used to cut any material.

A person can make his car more streamlined and save time with power tools but the new ruling is fairer to all the boys, Tom said.

Another rule is that boys can't spray paint their cars but must use a brush. Tom plans to paint his car a royal blue.

Before the cars can enter the race, they are inspected by a local mechanic. Then they are hauled by truck to the hill on Riverside drive between Grove and River streets and lined up in running order for the race.

The winner of the Iowa City derby will go to the national race at Akron, Ohio, Aug. 14.

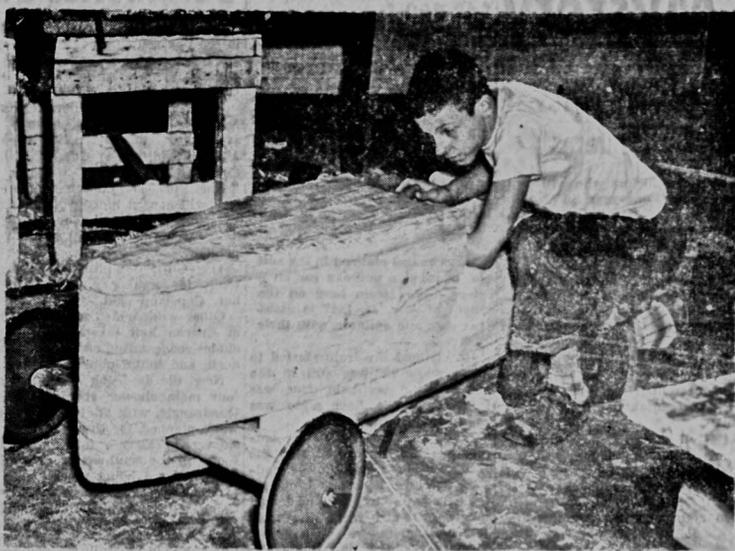

From 30 to 35 Johnson county boys are building cars for the derby this year, Tom said. The number is smaller than last year, partly because of the new ruling on use of power tools.

Driver and car together can't weigh over 250 pounds. Tom weighs 115 pounds and his car will be about 135 pounds, he said.

BOONE RESIDENT DIES

Robert Main, 93, died 6:10 p.m. Tuesday at University hospitals, officials there said yesterday. Main was admitted to the hospitals Sunday.

Aaron Disappearance Still a Mystery

Amnesia Possible, Local Police Say

The disappearance of Lamar Aaron, 23-year-old SUI student and Iowa City resident, remains a mystery, his family and local police said last night.

Aaron disappeared from his home at 122 Evans street last Thursday afternoon. Local police said they believed the youth might be an amnesia victim.

George Parks, 1125 E. Davenport street, claimed to have seen a man that looked like Aaron about 10:30 p.m. Saturday near the site of the new SUI library on Madison street.

Parks said he was quite positive the man was Aaron.

Three Mercy hospital nurses said they saw the youth about 4 p.m. the day of his disappearance. Doris Jones, Dorothy Baird and Virginia Eden talked with him briefly at that time on south Clinton street.

Miss Jones said they asked Aaron why he wasn't working at the Princess cafe as usual and he replied that "it would be taken care of."

She reported he was carrying a bundle which appeared to contain clothing. After the brief conversation, Aaron continued south on Clinton street, Miss Jones said.

The young man's mother, Mrs. Martin Aaron, said she could not understand the reason for her son's disappearance. She reported he was perfectly normal and had never done anything like that before.

Aaron's employers at the Princess cafe said the youth had always been friendly and dependable, and police said he had no police record.

Aaron was to be married to Miss Bea Falkvich of Rock Island, Ill. later in the summer. His mother said she had recently given a shower for the couple.

Mrs. Aaron thought her son might have gone to Camp Minnigous, Wis., where he worked one summer and where one of his friends now lives. But a check with Wisconsin authorities revealed that Aaron had not arrived there.

When last seen, Aaron was wearing a white shirt, khaki trousers and sun glasses. He is about 6 feet, 2 inches tall, weighs about 210 pounds and has brown wavy hair and blue eyes.

Sweetheart Killed, Forced to Swallow Caustic, Man Says

CHICAGO — A wild-eyed man who told police that two men seared his throat with a caustic and killed his 17-year-old sweetheart will be given a lie detector test, authorities said last night.

Arthur Marino, 27, an upholstery salesman, burst into the police station in the quiet suburb of Riverdale early yesterday and motioned the desk sergeant to his car parked outside. In the back seat police found the brutally beaten body of pretty Joan Coward, a high school senior.

Sgt. Walter Rusin, an investigator for the state's attorney, said Marino's story was "incoherent and incomplete." He said Marino was "reluctant to agree to a lie detector test."

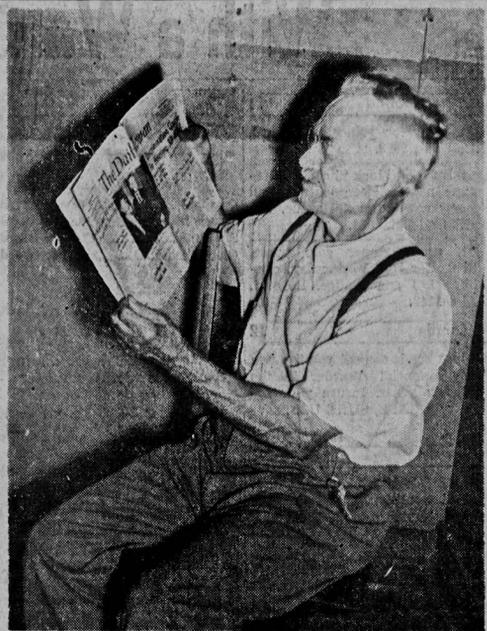

Deputy Coroner Albert H. Baugh said an autopsy showed that the girl's skull had been crushed into her brain and that she had been strangled. Her only garment was a thin summer dress which had been disarranged, but Baugh said there was no evidence she had been raped.

Marino's throat was burned so badly he could not talk, but in scribbled notes he said that he and the girl were attacked by two men in a lover's lane.

He said the men forced him to "drink something that burned."

In a hollow tree 200 feet from the spot where Marino said the attack occurred police found a bottle of ammonia only a third full. The autopsy on the girl, however, showed that she had swallowed none of the solution.

He said that he and the girl went to the movies Tuesday night, then to a tavern for dancing. He said they were parked when the two men, whom he could not identify, attacked them.

RELAXING FOR A FEW MINUTES during his last day as a janitor in the East hall, William Schukar, 75, is looking forward to retirement after working 22 years for SUI. Schukar is going to do a little fishing, and maybe a little work around home.

Janitor Retires —

He Sweeps No More

By WENDELL WOODARD

When William F. Schukar puts his broom away today, it will be for the last time. The 75-year-old East hall janitor retires today after 22 years as an SUI employee.

"Maybe I'll get a fishing license and go fishing," Schukar said.

The soft-spoken, gray-haired janitor has been working half-time for the past three years although he could have retired several years ago on a pension.

Schukar first went to work for SUI in the carpenter shop in 1927 where he was employed for three years. He chuckled to himself when he remembered the time he helped put 3,000 screens on the windows of the hospital.

He has worked in East hall as a janitor from 1930 until today. In all that time he has missed only about four weeks of work, "usually due to a cold," he said.

This afternoon, Schukar will make the last round of sweeping the education library on the second floor of East hall and the steps to the first floor.

He said he did not have any plans for the days ahead, but "just for awhile I won't do anything except work around home."

He and his wife live at 2003 E. Court street. They have seven children, 11 grandchildren and one great-grandson.

HOW'S THAT AGAIN?

W.F. Edgell, associate professor of chemistry, returned yesterday from Purdue University where he lectured Monday on "The Spectroscopy of Vinylidene Fluoride and the Nature of Fluorocarbons."

Award Certificates To 18 SUI Interns

Eighteen doctors who will complete their one-year internships at University hospitals tomorrow were presented certificates of service at a dinner in their honor Tuesday evening.

The farewell dinner in the doctor's dining room at the hospitals was given by the University hospitals with 17 of the interns and their ladies attending.

Dr. William B. Bean, head of the department of internal medicine, presented the certificates as the representative of the clinical chiefs.

Carlyle Jacobsen, executive dean of health sciences and services at SUI, representing President Hancher, and Gerhard Hartman, hospitals superintendent, also addressed the group.

Hilltop Laboratories Inc. Files $138 Judgment Suit

The Hilltop Laboratories, Inc., Iowa City, filed a $138.37 judgment suit in district court yesterday against the Tall Corn Hatcheries, Inc., McGregor.

The Iowa City firm charged that the defendant had failed to pay for goods and merchandise delivered to them. It asked for $138.37 plus interest and costs.

Emil G. Trott is attorney for the plaintiff.

Radio Stolen from Car

A car radio belonging to Dr. D.J. Judiesch, 702 E. Washington street, was reported stolen from his car sometime between 10 p.m. Tuesday and 6:30 a.m. yesterday, police said.

The radio was a white plastic push-button type. A window of the car had been forced open, police said.

Baschnagel Asks $40,000 Damages In Railroad Suit

R.J. Baschnagel, 1005 Muscatine avenue, filed a $40,000 damage suit yesterday in Johnson county district court against the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad and the Pullman company.

He asked the judgment for injuries received when he allegedly fell from a moving train Aug. 18, 1947.

Baschnagel claimed in the suit he boarded a pullman car on a Rock Island train here on the night of Aug. 18, 1947 to assist his wife and children with their baggage.

He claimed the train started to move while he was still in the car and the vestibule door was locked and the floor plate was fastened in place.

Baschnagel said he told an employe of the railroad to stop the train and let him off. The railroad employe, he charged, opened the door and floor plate and forced him to get off while the train was still moving.

As a result of the employe's careless and negligent actions, Baschnagel charged, he was thrown to the ground and received severe and permanent injuries.

He claimed that his right leg was broken and that he suffered

Dormitories Get Summer Build-Up, Paint-Up

SUI dormitories are being put in top physical shape this summer for full occupation next fall, V.S. Copland, manager of dormitory operations, said yesterday.

Work on university dormitories ranges from "spot touch-up work" at Hillcrest to construction of a 150-bed addition to Currier hall, Copland said.

The $400,000 addition to Currier will consist mostly of double rooms, and will include a new dining room which will seat 225 persons.

The Currier addition will be ready for occupancy by September, Copland said.

Other work which will be done at Currier hall this summer includes redecorating of lounges and north and south lobbies.

New tile is being put in the four main shower rooms at the Quadrangle, with additional tiling work planned for the four tower showers. Thirty-four student rooms in the southwest section of the Quad are being repainted.

Every student room in the Law Commons is being redecorated this summer. Corridors, stairways numerous other injuries requiring medical care and hospitalization.

He asked for the $40,000 judgment for medical expenses, pain and agony and his inability to perform his usual business duties due to his injuries.

and exterior woodwork at the Commons also is being reconditioned. New floor work and tiling in some showers are being done.

Asphalt tile floors will be laid in student rooms and corridors at South Quad, Copland said. At Hillcrest, "touch-up work" and other reconditioning will be done to keep the building in first class condition.

Eastlawn's bathrooms, kitchenettes and stairway walls are being painted, while the six Currier annexes are being repapered and some rooms painted.
