Truman Asks Steel to Settle With Board Outside T-H Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman last night made an urgent appeal to three large steel companies to avoid a steel strike by accepting his plan for a fact-finding board outside the Taft-Hartley act.

After a day of scrambling developments in Pittsburgh and Washington, the threat of a steel shutdown at midnight Friday over wages, pensions, and group insurance still hung precariously over the nation.

Mr. Truman and Philip Murray, president of the CIO united steelworkers, were both putting pressure on U.S. Steel, Republic, and Bethlehem, trying to win their agreement to appear before a non-Taft-Hartley board which the White House is appointing.

In Pittsburgh, the union accepted the president's proposal for a 60-day postponement of the strike — but Murray announced the truce would apply only to those firms which agree to appear before the board. He said that today he will order a strike against firms which don't.

In Washington, Mr. Truman sent telegrams to the three companies.

He said: "Surely you are not afraid to have your side of this dispute examined in the public interest."

Replying to the companies' argument that he ought to use the national emergency provision of the Taft-Hartley act, he said the situation does not constitute enough immediate peril to the "national health or safety" to warrant such action until after a "prolonged interruption" has occurred.

The president emphasized the companies are not being asked to bind themselves to accept these recommendations.

Thus, along with other government officials, he saw the present situation as being one of disunity among major steel companies. Two of the highest-placed officials in the government told reporters privately it was clear the steel producers were not united in their position.

Reuther Men Win UAW Board Posts

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Complete control of the CIO united auto workers was won yesterday by red-haired Walter P. Reuther whose men swept into every one of the million-member union's regional directorships.

The triumphs assured Reuther, himself re-elected to a third term by a smashing majority, of absolute power on the 23-man executive board. In addition to the 19 regional directors, the board includes Reuther and the other three top international officers.

Only three new directors were named. Sixteen members of the old board, which Reuther dominated, were re-elected.

The newcomers are Harvey Kitzman, Racine, Wis., in the newly created region 10; Ray Ross, Springfield, Ohio, succeeding Paul Milley in region 2-A, and Pat O'Malley, Cleveland, who replaces Richard Reisinger in region 2.

Demos Join Foes Of New Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's hopes for a "trial run" of crop subsidies for farmers were chilled yesterday when several influential Democratic house members joined Republicans in demanding a year's extension of the present farm price support system.

Rep. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), Rep. Edward Cox (D-Ga.) and Chairman Adolph Sabath (D-Ill.) of the rules committee were among the Democrats who assailed the administration's plan.

Acheson Defends $1.45-Billion Program For Arming Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Acheson defended the proposed $1.45-billion armaments program yesterday as the absolute minimum needed to strengthen western European defenses against possible Communist aggression.

He said also that he believes the administration can convince congress that the whole amount should be approved.

Acheson made the statements at a news conference in response to an assertion by Sen. John Foster Dulles (R-NY) that the arms program is excessive.

Yettors Suit Ruling Only on Temporary Receivership: Judge

District court hearing of a suit to block off the sale of Yetter's store to Younker Brothers Inc., Des Moines, yesterday was adjourned until 9 a.m. today by Judge James P. Gaffney.

Arguments heard yesterday concerned the legal right of the plaintiffs, Frederick May and Frederick May and company, Inc., of New York, to do business in Iowa. The suit was filed July 1.

Judge Gaffney stated yesterday morning that at present he would rule only on a request that a temporary receivership be set up for the Iowa City corporation.

The matter of whether or not the store could be sold over the objections of May would not be considered at this time, he added.

Gaffney then recessed court for one-half hour and advised the parties concerned to try to resolve their differences if possible without court litigation.

After the recess produced no results, A.B. Howland, Des Moines, counsel for Younker Brothers, Inc., introduced the motion questioning the legal right of May to participate in Yetter's business.

Robert Yetter, secretary-treasurer of Yetter's, and Frederick May, Brooklyn, N.Y., testified at the morning session. The hearing was continued at 2 p.m. with further testimony by Yetter.

Ingalls Swisher, partner in the law firm of Swisher and Swisher; Chris Yetter, president of Yetter's, and Stephen and Dorothy Swisher of Des Moines also testified yesterday afternoon.

Swisher disclosed during cross-examination by Frank Messer, counsel for the plaintiffs, that he was acting as Yetter's broker in the proposed sale of the store to Younker Brothers, Inc. and that he was to receive a $15,000 brokerage fee from Yetter's if the sale was successfully concluded.

Prior to the court's adjournment yesterday afternoon, Gaffney said he doubted if the court would have a ruling ready today on the issue of legality, but he instructed attorneys for both sides to be prepared to go ahead with the matter of appointing a temporary receivership for Yetter's.

Says 'Rose' Faced Army Conscription

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Iva Toguri D'Aquino might have been conscripted into the army to do propaganda work for Radio Tokyo if she had refused to do it as a civilian, a former Japanese army officer acknowledged at the "Tokyo Rose" treason trial yesterday.

This was one of the chief admissions defense counsel gained from Lt. Col. Shigetugu Tsunishi on his third day of grueling cross-examination.

Tsunishi headed the section which handled prisoner of war propaganda broadcasts during the war.

He remained steadfast in his denials that any brutalities or violence were used to get war prisoners to work on Radio Tokyo.

NROTC Middies Test Swimming 'Pool'

THE USS CATAMOUNT, a landing ship dock, was converted into a swimming pool yesterday. Some of the 1,000 naval reserve training corps midshipmen from 31 colleges throughout the country being trained in amphibious warfare techniques in Chesapeake Bay took advantage of the conversion and found the unique swimming hole much to their liking.

Militant Communists Denied Church Sacrament, Comfort

Rent Options Called Illegal

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal Judge Elwyn R. Shaw held yesterday the local option section of the federal rent control law is unconstitutional, but deferred until later an opinion on whether the entire act is invalid.

Court officials said Shaw's opinion was not a formal ruling, and the issue ultimately would have to be carried to higher courts. Nevertheless, it was believed a precedent in the new federal act.

The local option section permits states to pass their own rent laws as substitutes for the federal measure, including provisions for decontrol.

The opinion was issued in a case involving the Shoreline Co-operative Apartments, Inc., which sought to evict 18 tenants who refused to buy their apartments under the cooperative plan.

The evictions were blocked by a section of the rent law which provides that at least 65 percent of the tenants must subscribe to the cooperative plan before such evictions are legal.

Although the local option section actually had nothing to do with the case, attorneys for the cooperative challenged its validity in a bid to have the entire law declared void.

West Virginia Swept By Flood, One Dead

SUTTON, W.VA. (AP) — Four rivers in central West Virginia, swollen by torrential rains, overflowed their banks yesterday, forcing scores of families to flee and disrupting communications.

Authorities reported that the flash flood took the life of 13-year-old Coriba Morris, of Erbacon, W.Va.

Negro, Rabbi Tell Congress Groups Loyal to America

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Negro investigator and a Jewish rabbi assured congress yesterday their people have a deep loyalty to their country but that Communists are trying relentlessly to destroy it.

Alvin Stokes, investigator for the house un-American activities committee, testified that the Communist party has a "camouflaged program for setting up a Soviet republic in the so-called black belt of the south."

Rabbi Benjamin Schultz of New York said there is "a deliberate Communist conspiracy to inflame racial and religious minorities here against the United States." One instance of this, he said, is singer Paul Robeson's "attempted provocation of American Negroes against their country and in favor of Russia."

Rep. Francis Walter (D-Pa.), a member, told a reporter he will insist that the un-American activities committee subpoena Robeson to explain some of his statements.

Charge Treason . . .

PRAGUE (AP) — Reliable sources said last night the Czechoslovak Communist party had distributed a circular disclosing plans to charge some members of the Roman Catholic hierarchy with treason.

Penalties were also threatened against many priests who have read pastoral letters of Archbishop Josef Beran in defiance of the Communist government.

Commons Backs Royal Move to Smash Strike

LONDON (AP) — The house of commons voted its approval last night of a royal proclamation declaring a state of emergency to smash a London strike which Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee said was "gravely endangering the economy of this country."

By 412 votes to four, the house approved continuation of the emergency degree, originally effective only for seven days, for another 30 days. By 434 to four, it approved a second motion thanking King George for issuing the decree.

President Lashes Foes Of Expanding Economy

That's One Way to Get Service

GARDEN CITY, KAN. (AP) — John Luther Fry drove his car to the garage to get his brakes fixed. He turned into the motor company driveway and found he had no brakes at all. The vehicle hit a door post and broke a six by thirteen feet plate glass window in the showroom.

The garage promised to have the brakes repaired yesterday.

Probe Indicates Fighting Not Cause of Air Crash

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was not a fight between passengers but the pilot's low flying that killed 35 and injured 14 in the fiery crash Tuesday of a nonscheduled airliner, preliminary investigation indicated yesterday.

Surviving Stewardess Charlotte Grenader, 23, told officers that the fight was only a one-punch affair and she named Frank Conway, Albany, N.Y., one of the 35 dead, as the man who threw the punch. What started the fight has not been determined.

The incident occurred about an hour before the crash, and there was no trouble after the pilot, Capt. Roy G. White, came back and talked to Conway, Miss Grenader told District Attorney Arthur Waite of Ventura county.

White then returned to the controls, radioing the Burbank air traffic tower to have police meet the plane when it landed. But the airliner crashed within 25 minutes at about the 1,800-foot level in rugged Santa Susana mountains.

The plane was on course for landing at Burbank, said Peyton, heading the field investigation, "but I don't want to say why until we complete our investigation and hold a formal hearing."

Russ Waging 'Fear Campaign' to Snatch Power, McCoy Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States charged yesterday Russia is waging a campaign of "fear, social unrest, confusion and disorder" against the Japanese government in the hope of seizing political power in Japan.

The accusation was made by Gen. Frank R. McCoy, before the 11-nation far eastern commission, of which he is the U.S. member and chairman. It was in reply to a statement two weeks ago by Russian Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin who protested American handling of the labor situation in Japan.

After McCoy finished reading his 7,000-word statement yesterday, Panyushkin rose to repeat his charges.

In addition, he claimed Gen. Douglas MacArthur had encouraged the Japanese government to imprison "tens and hundreds of Japanese workers, leader of trade unions and progressively-minded people."

In Tokyo, Gen. MacArthur's labor director said yesterday "Nothing could be further from the truth" than Panyushkin's statement that new Japanese labor laws constituted a "police state."

Search Continues For Crash Victims

BOMBAY, INDIA (AP) — Hundreds of police continued to search the jungle on Ghatkopar hill yesterday for the last of the bodies of the 45 victims of the Dutch airliner crash in which 13 American correspondents and a public relations representative were killed.

Ten more bodies were recovered yesterday, bringing the total to 43. The plane, a Constellation, crashed in a monsoon rain storm Tuesday while seeking to land 15 miles north of Bombay, at Santa Cruz airfield.

U.S. Ambassador Loy Henderson, accompanied by the naval attaché and four American newspapermen, arrived by plane from New Delhi. He visited the hospital morgue where the bodies had been placed.

Hint Miners Violate Anti-Trust Statutes

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of President Truman's economic advisers hinted yesterday a house committee investigating monopolistic practices would do well to look into such developments as John L. Lewis' order for a three-day work week in the coal mines.

John D. Clark, a member of the President's council of economic advisers, said if coal mine operators got together and decided on a three-day mining week they would violate the anti-trust laws. But because unions are exempt from those laws, he said, Lewis and his united mine workers were able to put such a week into effect.

Testifying before a house judiciary subcommittee, Clark said failure to check the growth of monopoly poses the alternative of direct government control over big business.

New York's Mayor Will Run Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor William O'Dwyer announced yesterday he will run for a second term after all. For two months he has been saying he wouldn't.

The announcement, which was no surprise after several days of unprecedented backing and filling in one of New York's worst political tangles, came less than 24 hours after O'Dwyer had conferred with President Truman in Washington.

Neither the President nor the mayor commented on that meeting but a White House aide said it had to do with "the general political situation in New York."

Former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, who has been asked by the Democratic party leadership to make the race for the U.S. senate, has been reported willing to run if O'Dwyer heads the ticket in the city. The mayor himself strongly backs Lehman for the senate post.

Defends Deficit Finance Period As Wise Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman lashed out at economy advocates last night, linking them with "selfish interests" who he said will drive the country "into a ditch," if they get their way.

But he said even though many people "would like to have a depression for political reasons," the nation is not now in a depression nor does it face the prospect of one if the "selfish interests" are thwarted.

"The tools are at hand for continued economic expansion," Mr. Truman added. "All we need is the courage to use them."

He made plain he felt the tools were provided in the economic kit he handed to congress in a special message on Monday. They provide for expanded social welfare programs, government aid to spur lagging businesses and steps to ease the unemployment program.

In a special "fireside chat" with the American people—via the radio and television—the President last night defended his controversial plan for a temporary period of deficit financing (operating in the red) to stem the recession.

"The $42-billion outlay he has budgeted for the current fiscal year is not a 'waste of money' as he said the cut-federal-spending advocates charge. Rather, he said, it is an 'investment in the future of America' which will pay 'untold dividends in human happiness.'"

"If those expenditures are slashed 'we will decrease employment, cut down investment, weaken our defenses and injure our efforts for peace.'"

Republicans struck back last night at President Truman's charge that "selfish interests" are advocating measures which would land the country in the ditch.

Sen. Kenneth Wherry (R-Neb) said: "The Truman administration is the crowd that is leading us into the ditch. The administration is taking us right down the avenue of deficit spending, and I don't know how we could go into the ditch any faster or deeper."

Sen. Ralph Flanders (R-Vt) said, "The tax reduction was a mistake—one of the very few the 80th congress made. I voted for it, knew I was doing wrong at the time, and have regretted it ever since."

Police Report Glen Graper Still Missing

Glen Graper, 24-year-old Iowa City youth who disappeared from his home Tuesday night, was still missing late last night, police reported.

He reportedly left his home at 624 S. Lucas street about 12:30 a.m. Tuesday to take a walk and didn't return.

His mother, Mrs. Hugo Graper, said he had lately been taking walks before going to bed because he had trouble sleeping, but she did not know of anything that would emotionally upset him.

Graper is described as six feet tall, weighing about 135 pounds, with dark brown hair, blue eyes and a light complexion.

Bridge Use Stalled By Lighting Units

The opening of the Benton street bridge is now awaiting supplies and installation of the lighting system, Mayor Preston Koser said yesterday.

The opening date has been set for some time between July 27 and 29, Koser said. The mayor, Consulting Engineer Ned L. Ashton and a Jensen Construction company official inspected the bridge yesterday.

Traffic will not move across the new span until it is completely finished and accepted by the city, Koser said.

Minor work yet to be completed includes the Bell Telephone company's removal of the present telephone conduit on the old Benton street bridge and installation on the new bridge, Koser said.

Rabbi Denounces Paul Robeson

RABBI BENJAMIN SCHULTZ, of New York City, told the house un-American activities committee yesterday that Paul Robeson's attempted provocation of the American Negroes is a deliberate conspiracy to inflame racial minorities against the United States. Rabbi Schultz is director of the American Jewish league against communism.

Hawklets Rap Wilson, 4-0, For Sectional

Doran's 1-Hitter Erases Champs

Iowa City high won the sectional baseball final here last night, beating Wilson of Cedar Rapids, 4-0. Dick Doran, ace Little Hawk pitcher, hurled a one-hitter at the defending state champions, while Rox Shain slammed a home run for the home club.

The Hawklets broke a jinx Wilson has had on them for the past two years. In 1947 and 1948 the Ramblers beat City high in the sectional tournament and went on to take the state title.

Doran struck out 12 Wilson batters and walked only one. No Wilson runners got past first base and the lone hit came in the last inning with one out.

City high scored its first two runs in the sixth inning. Jerry Anderson got to first base on an error and Shain followed with his booming home run over the right fielder's head.

The Hawklets scored their other two runs in the seventh on a walk, one hit and two Ramblers errors. Jerry White walked and Bill Faimon followed with a single. The right fielder's relay of Faimon's hit got away from the first baseman and the two Little Hawk runners advanced to second and third.

As the catcher picked up the ball, he tried to pick White off at third only to throw the ball into left field, scoring both runs.

City High, by winning last night advanced to the district tournament. It was the Little Hawks' 19th win of the season against three losses.

City high 000 002 2-4 7-1
Wilson 000 000 0-0 1-4

Must Be in Majors, Says Bobo Newsom

CHATTANOOGA, TENN. (AP)—Louis (Bobo) Newsom, baseball's traveling salesman, is getting an itchy foot again.

Bobo, who confounded the Southern association's leading home run hitters in Tuesday night's all-star game, said later "I don't believe I could continue in baseball now unless it's in the major leagues."

Bobo, now with the Chattanooga Lookouts, has been in and out of the majors since 1929. He has pitched for eight major league teams, winning a total of 214 games. His age is listed as 41.

"I wouldn't want to leave the Lookouts now if they were in the first division or in the thick of the fight," says Newsom. "But unless I can get back to the majors now, I don't think I should remain in the minors as a player."

He has a record of 10 victories and seven losses for the seventh-place Lookouts.

Bobo tickled an all-star game audience at Nashville Tuesday night by throwing "blooper" pitches to Carl Sawatski, who leads the association with 29 homers, and Babe Barna, who has 28.

Barna popped to the infield and Sawatski grounded to Bobo on the third consecutive "blooper."

Newsom gave one hit and one walk in pitching the last inning. The all-stars won 18-6.

Injured Boston Shortstop To Rejoin Club Tonight

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Braves last night announced that Shortstop Al Dark, who was hit on the head by a thrown ball last Friday, would rejoin the club for tonight's game here with the Chicago Cubs.

The Braves also announced the transfer of Pitcher Johnny Beazley's option from the St. Petersburg team of the Florida International league to the Nashville club of the Southern association.

Tribe, Now 2nd, Eyes 1st Place Yanks as Home Stand Begins

NEW YORK (AP)—Watch out for Cleveland was the tip passed around press headquarters by the baseball writers covering the all-star game and major league meetings.

The World Champion Indians, making their move from way back like Stymie used to do, have been passing teams for a month. Now they're second, 5 1/2 games back of New York.

Nobody underrates the Yankees, who have been out front since opening day. With Joe DiMaggio playing every day, they definitely are the team to beat. Many think they can be beaten although they have won nine of their last 12 starts.

The Boston Red Sox also draw strong support for their current seven-game win streak after breaking an eight-game losing slump. Joe McCarthy's Sox are still fourth, 8 1-2 games off the pace but now only a game and a half behind the faltering Philadelphia A's, who have dropped their last five.

If the Indians are going to close the gap, their big chance comes in the 13-game home stand starting today when the majors go back to work with an all-night, intersectional program after a three-day vacation. Three games each with Philadelphia, Boston and New York, the other first division clubs, and four with the groping Washington Senators will be played at the huge stadium on the lake front. Cleveland has won eight of its last nine.

With Bobby Feller winning five in a row, Bob Lemon pitching steady ball and Frank Pappish coming through with a neat job against Detroit, the Tribe's pitching is in good shape. Only Gene Bearden, hero of the '48 playoff and world series, still is missing fire.

Brooklyn has its chance to lengthen its National league lead which now measures only a half game on St. Louis. The Dodgers dig in at Ebbets field for 13 games winding up with a big four-game set with the Cardinals. Those four games and three more the next week in St. Louis loom as the most important dates on the schedule so far this summer.

Cincinnati leads the western delegates into Ebbets field where the Reds haven't won a game this year in six starts. After that it's Chicago, Pittsburgh and St. Louis in order.

The Cards open against the Phillies who hold a 7-5 edge over them for the season. After Philadelphia, St. Louis hits New York and Boston, each for three games, before the big four in Brooklyn. St. Louis has won 35 of its last 50 games but before the Cards started that spurt May 22 they were a sorry seventh, five games under .500 at 12-17.

Billy Southworth's defending Champion Boston Braves have been struggling along, playing .500 ball since June 1 but they're only 4 1-2 behind Brooklyn in third place.

Sonny Dean Meet Finalist In Iowa Golf

FORT DODGE (AP)—A wave of surprises struck the Iowa amateur golf tournament yesterday as the championship field was trimmed to 16 contenders.

Sonny Dean of Iowa City provided one of the upsets when the 1948 Iowa junior king knocked out Wilbur Hird, the Fort Dodge city champion, 2 and 1.

Others to go down were Rodney Bliss of Des Moines, the 1948 Nebraska champion; Jack Donohue of Sioux City, the interstate tournament winner and Hal Chase of Des Moines, a former state titleholder.

Jack Webb, the 25-year-old Iowa State collegian whose home is Spirit Lake topped Bliss 2 and 1 by shooing even par golf for the 17 holes.

Webb ended the match with a 7-foot putt for a par 4 on 17, after he had topped his drive and was short with his second. Bliss fired his second to the left of the green and missed a 12-foot putt that would have meant a halve.

Milo McWilliams, the Cherokee veteran, ruined Donohue's hopes 1 up on the 19th hole. Jack had squared the match on 18 by sticking his second shot within two feet of the cup and getting a birdie 3. He messed up the extra hole with an out of bounds shot on his third stroke. He finished with a 6 to McWilliams' 4, gained on a 30 foot putt.

Harold Manning of Carroll, making his first appearance in an Iowa amateur, stunned Chase 5 and 4. Manning, who moved to Carroll from Indiana eight years ago, was one over par.

Meanwhile, Jack Smith of Des Moines, tournament medalist, had his worries. He escaped with a 1 up victory over Clayton Pittman of Algona in 19 holes. Big Jack won the extra hole after Pittman slapped his drive out of bounds.

Bernie Steiger of Cedar Rapids, rapidly gaining favor, advanced into the third round with a 6 and 5 win over Ed Lauterbach of Coon Rapids.

Two more rounds will be played today to determine the four semifinalists.

Parker Still Leading Clay Courts Tennis

CHICAGO (AP)—Veteran Frank Parker, gunning for his sixth title, advanced to the quarter-final round of the National Clay Courts tennis championship tourney yesterday and Pancho Gonzales, a fellow Californian, moved ahead with him.

Parker, the steady man of 20-years of tournament tennis, blasted Clarke Taylor, Chapel Hill, N.C., 6-1, 6-3, 6-1, in a third round match at River Forest tennis club. The Los Angeles ace, who won the Spring Lake, N.J., invitational singles title on Monday for the 10th time, played under wraps yesterday and let Taylor make the errors.

Gonzales, the defending champion, also from Los Angeles, eliminated Keston Deimling Jr., of the host club, 6-1, 6-0, 6-2. Gonzales, seeded No. 1, had too much speed for his less experienced foe and forced him into many errors. Parker is seeded No. 2. He was absent a year ago when Gonzales won the title.

Ris in 14 Hawkeye Swim Marks Since Sport Began in 1917

Wally Ris has given SU's major swimming records the biggest boost since the sport began here in 1917.

Current compilation of important marks for Hawkeye individual and relay teams stands at fourteen and Ris has figured in every one.

The Olympic champion is the holder of nine individual marks, all made since 1947.

They range from the Olympic mark of 57.3 for the 100-meter free style to the Big Ten short and long course records for the 100-yard event.

Other marks made by Ris are the amateur long course time for 100 meters, national intercollegiate 100 and 220-yard marks for the long course and the National AAU 100-yard short course mark of :05.4, his best time.

Ris was also a member of SU's 1948 400-yard relay team which owns the American amateur standard for the long course, as well as the conference mark of 3:33.4. Other members of the team were Duane Draves, Kenny Marsh and Ervin Straub. In 1949 he teamed with Bob Busch, Straub and Ed Garst to make 3:29.2 for the Big Ten short course record.

Ris also was lead-off man on the U. S. team which made the world and Olympic record of 8:46 for the 800-meter relay in the long course.

Iowa State Fair Planning 100-Mile Stock Car Race

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa State fair plans a 100-mile "stock" passenger car race — longest in fair history — on the afternoon of Sept. 1 at this year's exposition. Fair Secretary L.B. Cunningham said the race would be for 200 laps around the fair's half-mile dirt track.

He said it would be one of the longest dirt track races in the nation this year.

The stock car races will be open to all standard U.S. passenger cars from 1939 through 1949, he said, provided experienced drivers are at the wheel.

Two Intersectional Tilts in '49

No coast team has ever appeared in the Iowa stadium before, but in 1949 SUI will play host to two. The Hawkeyes will open Sept. 24 against U.C.L.A. and the last of the five home games will be Oct. 29 with Oregon, co-champion of the Pacific coast conference.

Iowa has played 22 intersectional games since 1922, and the 1949 schedule has the best pair of the series.

Among previous rivals have been Boston university, Yale, Temple, and Colgate of the east. Centenary of the south, Texas A. & M. and Bergstrom A.A.F. of the southwest, Southern California, U.C.L.A., and Washington of the Pacific coast.

The Hawks have a record of 12 wins and 11 defeats in intersectional games. Iowa's first intersectional game was in 1893 against a group of stars collected by the Denver athletic club. The Hawks were defeated 58-0. That occurred only four years after football started at Iowa.

Apparently the memory was unpleasant that Iowa officials do not hook another intersectional game until 1922, when Yale was beaten at New Haven.

Personal Notes

Miss LaVonne Mersch, former SUI student, has returned to her home in Masonville after visiting three days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ford, 615 Templin road.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yetter, 1612 E. Court street, are the parents of a son, eight pounds, 11 ounces, born Tuesday at Mercy hospital.

A daughter was born to the Earl Wildmans, 714 S. Dubuque street, Tuesday at Mercy hospital.

A six pound, one ounce girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cole, 605 E. Bloomington street, Tuesday at Mercy hospital.

Attorney and Mrs. Jack White, 1827 E. Court street, are the parents of a daughter, six pounds, three ounces, born Tuesday at Mercy hospital.

Parents of a baby girl are Mr. and Mrs. William Love, 922 E. College street. She was born yesterday at Mercy hospital.

A seven pound, three ounce daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Leslie, 153 Stadium, yesterday at Mercy hospital.

Anna Britta Stenstrom, Stockholm, Sweden, and Mrs. Audrey Brundate, Gowrie, Iowa, are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Anderson, 803 E. Burlington street. Miss Stenstrom is an exchange nurse working at Rochester, Minnesota.

ADMITTED TO POLIO WARD

Ronald Tjabring, 6-year-old son of H. Tjabring, Geneva, was admitted to the "active" polio ward at University hospitals yesterday, hospital officials said. His condition was listed as "fair."

Gingham Does Double Duty

52 Prints by Lasansky, Students Exhibited Here

Fifty-two intaglio prints by SUI artists are now on exhibition in the art building. Prof. Mauricio Lasansky, head of the graphic arts department, said yesterday. They will be displayed through Aug. 7.

The exhibit, "A New Direction in Intaglio," consists of the work of Lasansky and 28 of his students, known professionally as the Iowa Print group.

There are 84 items including 19 original copper plates and 13 explanatory masonite panels by Lasansky. The copper plates from which the prints were made were included to show that the plates are themselves art works and to show the Iowa Print group method, Lasansky said.

The exhibit's title comes from the intaglio printing technique of the 15th and 16th century Italian masters, he said. Their technique is closely related to that of Lasansky and his students.

Duplicate exhibits were assembled and designed for circulation by the Walker art center of Minneapolis and the Colorado Springs fine arts center.

The duplicate exhibits are being shown at 29 universities and museums throughout the country.

Tea to Honor New Nursing Instructors

A tea honoring Myrtle E. Kitchell, new director of the SUI school of nursing, and two new staff members will be given tomorrow afternoon by the Westlawn nurses.

Marjorie Pirie, assistant instructor of surgical nursing, and Carol Madsen, assistant instructor of nursing arts, are the new members. They will join the staff tomorrow.

Gertrude King, N1, Griswold, and Dorothy Harding, N1, Lake City, will pour. Arrangements were directed by Mrs. Virginia McNabb, Westlawn counselor.

Faculty Member's Music to Be Played In Summer Concert

The program for the first SUI summer session symphony orchestra concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Iowa Union will include "Concert Overture, Cyrano de Bergerac" by Philip Bezonson, a member of the SUI music faculty.

Prof. Philip G. Clapp, orchestra conductor and music department director, announced the program yesterday.

Bezonson, an instructor of music theory, came to SUI in 1946. He was graduated from Yale university in 1940 and received his M.A. degree here in 1948. At present, he is working on a Ph.D. degree in music.

Three other numbers, "Symphony No. 3, in E flat" (Eroica) by Ludwig van Beethoven, "A Somerset Rhapsody" by Gustav Holst, and "Symphonic Sketch, Jubilee" by George W. Chadwick, are also included on Wednesday's program.

Free tickets for the concert may be obtained at the desk in the lobby of the Iowa Union starting Monday.

Communist Teachers: A Dilemma —

By lining up on opposite sides, the National Education association and the American Association of University Professors have pointed up the quandary over Communist teachers.

In a recent policy statement, NEA said all members of the party should be barred from teaching. This, the organization made clear, was not necessarily an encroachment upon academic freedom. The NEA reaffirmed its belief in an objective study of communism—but it didn't think Communist party members were the ones to do the objective teaching.

AN AAUP committee, reviewing the dismissal of a college professor on political grounds, took the opposite viewpoint. The Communist party is still legal, it said, therefore it is not a crime for a teacher to be a Communist.

One possible way of analyzing the virtually insoluble dilemma is to examine a key element in both arguments, namely, the legality of the U.S. Communist party.

At present, the party is legal. The federal trial in New York City in which 11 top Communist leaders are accused of plotting the violent overthrow of the government may decide differently. But until it reaches its verdict, the party is legal.

Congress has conducted a score of probes into Communist and alleged Communist fronts. But until it passes legislation specifically outlawing the party, the U.S. Communist party is legal.

Several states have taken matters into their own hands. Georgia, for example, now requires all public employees to swear that they are not members of the party and have no sympathy for communism.

A new and controversial Maryland law describes the Communist movement as a clear and present danger and makes all public employees swear in writing that they are not identified with the party.

Although the party is legal as far as the federal government is concerned, there is being declared subversive or illegal in several states.

In other words, there is no clear-cut nationwide pattern for judging the party, there is also no single formula for judging Communist teachers. According to the AAUP's statement, it would not defend Communist teachers in Maryland or Georgia since the party is legally subversive in those states.

And the NEA's blanket ban on Communist teachers, legitimate in Maryland or Georgia, is persecuting members of a legal political party in the other states.

Just this one tiny facet of the problem demonstrates all that it ever will demonstrate—as long as American attitudes toward the Communist party are fluid, a blanket solution is impossible.

Both the NEA and the AAUP have stated their cases on the basis of reason, not emotion. This, at least, is good. The only thing non-academic Americans can conclude is that someone somewhere is working on an answer.

Until the supreme court rules on a specific case—like the New York Communist trial—the debate will grind on. And the boundary line between academic freedom and educational suicide will still run across a hypothetical never-never land.

Academic Freedom: A Dilemma —

Academic freedom is a term that has been hogging a lot of headlines lately. Yet there is considerable question about what academic freedom is.

Broadly stated, it is supposed to assure a teacher liberty to pursue his tasks without fear or favor, free of non-academic interference or restraints.

This principle is tempered by the additional obligation that teachers hold special positions in their respective communities. Therefore, it is necessary for them to remember that the public may judge the teaching profession or a particular institution by the utterances of a single teacher.

The 1940 statement of principles drawn up by the AAUP suggest that teachers "should make every effort to indicate that they are not institutional spokesmen." But that is a difficult thing to do.

For a working definition of academic freedom, the public has been taught to preclude anything that smacks of communism. That definition is probably not entirely consistent with the stated definition but that's what has been the greatest infringement of academic freedom to date.

Despite Chairman John Wood's (D-Ga) assurance that his committee did not desire to "interfere in any way with academic freedom... or censor textbooks," the proposal set up a howl of protest from the educational world.

The case of the University of Washington teachers shows another facet of the academic freedom tug-of-war. It involved the issue of membership in the Communist party as grounds for the dismissal of three professors.

The issue was not clear-cut in the Washington case. A matter of personal incompetence was also listed as grounds for dismissal. The three teachers who had admitted past membership in the Communist party were placed on probation for two years.

Another case, at Oregon state university, was projected against a Communist background a month after the Washington incident.

An associate chemistry professor had supported the party-line contentions of the Russian, Lyenko, in behalf of the theory of environment as opposed to the generally accepted Mendelian theory of heredity in determination of individual differences.

Oregon state's president clouded the issue by saying that "any scientist who has such poor power of discrimination as to choose to support Lyenko's genetics against all the weight of evidence against it, is not much of a scientist."

It would seem likely that the shadow of communism prompted the decision to dismiss the Oregon chemist.

The whole structure of the school system might very well be impaired if investigations, book-bannings and efforts at intimidation continue along the present path.

Squeezing Grapes —

Yugoslavians are so mad at Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky they could just squeeze a grape.

The whole ruckus started when Russia failed to support Yugoslav territorial claims against Austria in the last four-nation meeting in Paris.

Yugoslavia's press no longer refers to Vishinsky as Comrade. Now, it's a chilly Gospodin, which means Mister or Sir.

Poor Vishinsky hasn't answered this cruel slap on the wrist, but it's a lead pipe cinch he would prefer the musical Tovarich to the stiff, formal Gospodin.

Apples and Raspberries for the Teacher

Wingless Chickens Harm White Meat

LINCOLN, NEB. (AP) — University of Nebraska poultry experts doubt the economic value of the wingless chicken.

Commenting yesterday on reports of the development of such a chicken in Iowa, one agricultural college research worker declared:

"It's interesting, but not everything that's interesting has economic significance."

White meat is what everyone wants in a chicken. And the white meat comes from the breast muscles which are developed by a reasonable amount of wing activity. Eventually these muscles would shrink from disuse, and the value of the market chicken would be impaired, he explained.

In Omaha Dr. R.T. Renwald, a veterinarian, said he had developed a variety of wingless chicken some 15 years ago.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Breaking a Chain Letter

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

It seems very strange to be writing a farewell column. I have been doing this man and boy, for ten years—ten years to the day, really... and what the rhythm of the days is going to be like without it, I have no idea.

But somewhere a bell has rung for me and announced I must get on to other work. I am not retiring, in any sense. I shall work as hard as I have ever worked, though in other forms. I hope that someday soon you will hear from me again, in those other forms.

I'LL MISS IT, all of it, the reading and the traveling, the morning doubt, the afternoon necessity for getting it done, the final period and the daily reprieve when it is reached. But mostly I'll miss the feeling of writing something for somebody out there to read tomorrow. I don't know who that somebody is. I t could be the man who once sent me some four-leaf clovers, just because he wanted me to have them, or the great lady of 82 who used to jack me up with her sharp comments, or the next passenger on the subway bench reading my pieces.

To him — no, let me put it another way — to you, whoever and wherever you are, my many thanks, my very best wishes. I shall be working somewhere, as you. In stopping the column I feel as if I were breaking a chain letter.

AS TO WHY I am going on to other work, I can only say that I have a clear feeling that I must, and I am a respecter of clear feelings. I have tried to use these internal imperatives as a guide in writing my column, and I must use them as a guide to action, too.

I shall be working with deadlines months instead of minutes away, but I shall be working on very much the same ideas and materials I have worked on here. I shall work, too, I hope, with a sense of that other deadline, the planetary deadline, which tells me that we had better be quick in solving some of our problems.

I HAVE BEEN cleaning out my desk, and I don't like that very much. There are newspaper clippings from 1944, and a slide rule I once bought. I never got very many answers from it. The answers that amounted to

Interpreting the News —

Dulles to Aid Bipartisan Policy

By J. M. ROBERTS JR., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The appointment of John Foster Dulles to the senate, and the statement of Governor Dewey in announcing it, represent a contribution to maintenance of the bipartisan foreign policy.

Not that one vote, or even the prestige which Dulles carries into congress, is so vital. The state department's various programs have received generally strong support ever since the war.

Even the revolutionary Atlantic pact seems to be going through with only a few expressions of doubt and no very determined opposition.

But there has been grumbling in Republican circles that bipartisan foreign policy has deteriorated to the point where it consists mainly of approval of administration policy worked out in negotiations with foreign countries.

Even Dulles and Vandenberg, although frequently consulted on policy making, have been considered by some other Republicans to have been, in many cases, merely accomplices after the fact.

There has been no revolt. But many Republicans, since they feel compelled to support administration proposals lest its hand abroad be weakened, think they are entitled to more prior consultation.

In this they are not alone. Many top Democrats feel the same way. It is the natural result of a situation in which the U.S. must deal with foreign authorities on many complex problems which cannot always be discussed in public.

Under such conditions, bipartisan policy is always subject to strain, and especially in the months before a congressional campaign.

In this circumstance, the appointment of Dulles, one of the chief Republican adherents of bipartisan policy, made by the last Republican candidate for president, takes on the appearance of a direct endorsement. Dewey seems to have had this directly in mind.

"The great importance of the foreign affairs issues before the senate at this time made his appointment the greatest contribution I could make," he said.

Dulles and Vandenberg seem to see almost eye to eye. They both are strong for the Atlantic pact and the European recovery program. Both are wary about proposed European rearmament.

Dulles says he will support the latter only in limited form. What the limits are he has not said. He has said:

"I think the Soviet objective still remain the same, but what we have done may have led them to delay their time schedule a bit in Europe. I think the Russians don't want to have a war — at least not now."

"That doesn't mean that they will constantly recede — they think we are forcing it on them — but in my opinion Soviet policy prefers not to rely upon war as a means of achieving its ends."

With regard to arms, that seems to indicate Dulles believes in adequate preparations for the off chance, but also in care not to overdo, either to the point of frightening Russia or injuring the western economic position.

Auto Business Feels Pinch

Industry Begins Training Dealer Salesforce; New Men Lured by Guaranteed Wages

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry, now turning out more cars than it has in 20 years, is feeling a pinch for salesmen.

Pre-war car peddlers, who left the trade when there was nothing to sell, have taken other jobs and aren't anxious to get back in the business of eights and super sixes.

The day of selling cars from the front office is going fast. It won't be long before mere mention of changing cars will line up a string of persistent salesmen at the doorbell.

Although retail dealers are slow coming around, auto manufacturers aren't figuring on being caught off base in the big selling game ahead.

All major producers have intensive training programs going on, not only for salesmen but for dealers too. And directives have gone out to double 1948 sales staffs.

However, manufacturers are urging quality rather than quantity in salesmen. Ford, for example, now has 10,000 salesmen and hopes to build this number to 20,000.

But doubling the present sales force still would leave Ford with 10,000 less salesmen than were plugging V-8's before the war. A good salesman can outsell two mediocre ones, sales experts feel.

Karl M. Greiner, Packard vice president, said Packard's dealers would use 3,000 more salesmen. "A young man entering the sales field now can make $4,000 the first year and $10,000 or more the second," he said.

General Motors, Nash, Kaiser-Frazer, Chrysler and other auto builders also are hard at work training and increasing sales staffs. Nash, for example, is building its 1948 force of 1,200 to more than 5,500 by 1950.

Somewhat ahead of its rivals, Hudson in May instituted one of the most far reaching sales programs in the history of the industry.

Conducted by six teams of veteran sales training experts, "The Hudson plan" has been shown to more than 8,000 salesmen in the last two months. Hudson spent $200,000 getting it in shape.

A.E. Barit, Hudson president, explained, "The salesman is the man of the hour."

And because he is the man of the hour, manufacturers agree he must have an attractive lot.

They are urging dealers to offer new salesmen more security in the way of guaranteed wages rather than reliance on commissions alone.

Dealer training also is more necessary than before the war. Many new dealers came into the business during the postwar "easy selling" days.

Some fear has been expressed whether they will be able to stand the gaff of pre-war competition. As manufacturers know, retail production doesn't mean a thing unless there is someone to sell the product.

Murray-Go-Round Trouble

BASIC TRAYNOR BY NORM TRAYNOR

I see where someone has come up with a wingless chicken. This can have far reaching effects on the chicken business and on mankind in general. Just think of it, a chicken without wings.

Why, our whole concept of the fowl must undergo a change. You lovers of the wing, prepare your laments, and know that no longer will you be able to sink your teeth in your favorite part of the chicken.

For lo, it has no wing. No, not even a little stub for you to chew their forks will prod in vain. They will dig and seek, but they will not find. Out of the egg it came, but where it went no one seems to know, or care.

And so they just sit there — and look. They look at the wing, and then they look at each other. They fear to eat because it may be the last time. They want to impress the picture firmly in their minds, so in later days, while munching on a leg, they can say: "I remember the days when chickens had wings."

And what of the chicken? How will the poor wingless bird take the change? I am afraid it will make for a pretty frustrated bunch of fowls.

They will spend their time pacing around and worrying. Worrying about what they will lose next. Will it be their heads? In the final analysis, the head is not much good. Maybe it's possible to raise a chicken without a head.

They know what a fiend man is and they wonder if he is thinking that thought. And can you on. The wing is a thing of the past and has passed over into the field of the obsolete. Ah, the pity of it all.

"Where has it gone?" you ask. Who can say? Who of us can answer the riddles of science? What was once a perfectly good wing has now disappeared and, ch, the cries that can be heard and the laments that are uttered. "Give me back the wing," they say. "I cannot eat the leg."

But you must eat the leg. You must learn to like it. Because the wing has gone, never to return. It has had its day and now must retire — while science marches on.

Yes, a sadness hangs over many a home today. The steaming plate arrives and is set in the middle of the table. Prodding forks uncover the wing and knowing looks are exchanged.

Those lovers of the wing know that in the near future blame them? It is not illogical to suppose this movement will carry on until the chicken is reduced to a chest on legs.

I tell you, it bears watching. The thing could spread. Why confine it to just chickens? What if someone should get a bright idea and start tampering with... no, I dare not say it.

New SUI School of Nursing Directress Assumes Duties

Myrtle E. Kitchell, new directress of the SUI school of nursing, began her duties yesterday.

Miss Kitchell is also dean-elect of the proposed new college of nursing to be organized as part of SUI's division of health sciences and services.

The appointment was announced by President Virgil M. Hancher March 10. At that time she was a nursing instructor at the University of Minnesota.

Plans for the new college of nursing were revealed by President Hancher at the time Miss Kitchell's appointment was announced.

Hancher said transition to college status would be made when faculty and curriculum organization are completed during the 1949-1950 school year. As dean-elect, Miss Kitchell will direct the work.

The division of health sciences and services also includes the colleges of medicine, dentistry and pharmacy, University hospitals, psychopathic hospital, school for severely handicapped children and the state bacteriological laboratory.

A native of Van Meter, Miss Kitchell received her B.S. in nursing education at the University of Minnesota in 1939. She received her M.A. in education there in 1947. She was head nurse at the Charles T. Miller hospital in St. Paul from 1939-1941.

In 1942 she joined the army nurse corps and served in hospitals in England, Africa, and Italy until October, 1945.

Mapes, Davis Spanish Work Book Accepted

A new Spanish work book has just been published and will be used at SUI this fall, Prof. E.K. Mapes of the romance language department announced yesterday.

The book was written by Mapes and Prof. Ruth Davis, also of the romance languages department. It will be used along with the standard grammar book.

He Doesn't Use It for an Ambulance, Though

IOWA CITY'S FIRST "1929 RUTMASTER" is a 1929 Chevrolet. Mrs. Stuart C. Cullen, 630 W. Park road, wife of the owner, paused for a Daily Iowan cameraman, then climbed into the car, backed out of the parking space and roared west on Washington street. Dr. Cullen said the car is becoming a legend in University hospitals' anesthesia division.

1929 'Rutmaster' —

This Buggy Is No 'Drug' on the Market

By HUGH BALE

When you see a car with 1949 engine hood rings and the word "rutmaster" boldly lettered on the side, don't think some teen-ager is trying to dress up his vehicle to look like a 1949 Buick.

The first "rutmaster" in Iowa City, a 1929 Chevrolet in disguise, is the property of Dr. Stuart C. Cullen, chairman of the University hospitals' division of anesthesia.

That a doctor owns the car is indicated in at least three ways: a large red cross on a white background painted on the roof, a laryngoscope radiator ornament (laryngoscopes are used by doctors to examine your windpipe), and a red-lettered sign hanging in the rear window which warns: "Caution, explosive agent in use" (referring to types of gas used by anesthetists preparing patients for operations).

About three years ago Dr. Harvey B. Eastburn, then an anesthetist at the hospitals, purchased the 1929 vehicle. When he left the Iowa City last year to enter private practice in Burlington, he sold the car to Dr. Edwin Rushia.

Dr. Rushia in turn sold the "rutmaster" to Dr. Cullen shortly before he left here July 1 to head the department of anesthesia at the University of Arkansas.

ROTC Quota Hiked To 250 Next Year

The quota for advanced students in ROTC at SUI has been increased for the coming academic year, according to Col. William W. Jenna, professor of military science and tactics.

The ROTC ground unit, which includes infantry, engineering, dental and medical students, has been increased from 160 to 250 for the coming year. The air unit has been enlarged from 97 to 170.

Another change will be the beginning of specialization at the beginning of sophomore year instead of the junior year, for ROTC students in the engineering, air and infantry units, Jenna said.

Iowa City May Get More Natural Gas

Iowa Citizens who have backed orders for natural gas heating connections may be supplied by late fall of 1951 if plans for a new Texas to Illinois gas line materialize, Robert H. Lind, district manager of the gas company here, said yesterday.

The proposed $100-million line, would provide a third line between Chicago and Texas (supply fields, and would add to the natural gas supplied the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company. The pipe line will be built if the federal power commission authorizes it and if enough gas is available.

Lions to Sponsor Swim for Children

The Iowa City Lions club will sponsor a free swimming day for all children at the local pool July 25. They approved the plan at yesterday's meeting, then set the date after conferring with J. Edgar Frame, city playgrounds and recreation director.

Several other Iowa City organizations have sponsored free swims. The American Legion is sponsoring one for children Monday.

The Lions also began plans yesterday for a club softball squad. Robert Lund, who suggested the idea, said members could play softball among themselves at first, then enter competition later with other local groups.

POOL MANAGER SPEAKS

William Boswell, manager of the Iowa City swimming pool, will speak on "Problems and Points of Interest in Swimming Pool Management" before the local Rotary club at the Hotel Jefferson this noon.

Dr. Toverud, Pediatrician, Dies Here

Funeral services for Dr. Kirsten Utheim Toverud, 59, visiting research professor of pediatrics in the SUI college of medicine, will be at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the First English Lutheran church.

She died at 9:40 Tuesday at University hospitals. She was admitted July 2.

Director of the Municipal Health center of Oslo, Norway, she was internationally known in the field of pediatrics. Dr. Toverud came to SUI Feb. 1 this year and was writing a critical review of maternal health and nutrition in development of the infant.

Dr. Toverud received her M.S. degree from the University of Oslo in 1916 and was instructor of pediatrics at Washington university in St. Louis from 1921-23. She became director of the health center at Oslo in 1939 and taught physiology in the Dental School of Norway.

Her husband, Dr. Gutorm Toverud, dean of the dental school of Norway, is now at SUI as a visiting professor in the college of dentistry.

Their daughter, Siri, and son, Svein, are pre-medical students at SUI. The Toveruds live at 229 Grand avenue.

The encampment which began June 13, will end Aug. 1.

ROTC Students Head Into Final Camp Weeks

One hundred and fifty SUI advanced ROTC students have completed over half of their six-week training period at summer camps throughout the United States, Major E. O. Culver, of the SUI military department, said yesterday.

The camps opened June 13 and will close Aug. 1. Twenty-five advanced students are training at Tinker airforce base, Oklahoma City.

Culver said the camp is a laboratory for training airforce administrative officers. Students have a chance to do practical work in the finance, adjutant's

Movies Mock Love, Michaelson Declares

The fundamental principle of Christian love faces increased difficulty because of Hollywood's portrayal of romantic and erotic love, Prof. Robert S. Michaelson of the SUI school of religion said Monday night.

He spoke on "The Christian Family in a Secular Community" at a school of social mission of the United Lutheran church of America in Fremont, Neb.

Michaelson said the sort of love which today is being upheld as essential for marriage is just adolescent emotionalism. "It is the Don Juan idea of love, which is not love at all but just passion whose chief aim is satisfaction of physical desires," Michaelson said.

Duty, responsibility, justice, love and understanding should have their place in the Christian marriage. Christian marriage is incomplete unless it buds into a family, he said.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

GENE FOWLER'S classic account of the execution of Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray (reprinted in Ward Greene's newly published Star Reporters) appeared originally not only in the New York American, but in hundreds of other newspapers throughout the country, including a small daily in a town in west Texas which we shall call Dummell. The managing editor of this paper spread it on the front page. His staff consisted of one cub who was so impressed by the story that he cut it out and put it in his serapbook.

At this point, asterisks denote the passage of several years. A murder is committed near Dummell. The guilty man is caught and the cub is assigned to the execution which takes place at a town we shall call Buntsville. That night the execution story by the cub begins coming over the wire from Buntsville and it is a honey. The managing editor, reading the first 200 words, says to himself, "This sounds familiar. Where have I read this stuff before?" By the time he finishes the yarn he realizes that the cub has lifted outright Fowler's story of the execution of Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray, and merely substituted the name of the Texas murderer.

Here's where we fool you. The managing editor did not kill the yarn. He decided that nobody would remember Fowler's story, and he spread it all over the paper. He was right. Nobody did remember Fowler's story, least of all the owner of the paper, who arrived at the office the next day, gave the cub a bonus, fired the managing editor and made the cub managing editor in his place!
