Blackwell Blows Lead in Tenth

BROOKLYN (AP) — Marv Rackley singled to open the last half of the 10th inning and scored on a double by Billy Cox to give Brooklyn a 6-5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds last night.

The victory coupled with Philadelphia's 1-0 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals increased the Dodgers' first place lead to a game and a half.

Ewell Blackwell blew a two-run lead in the ninth inning as a relief pitcher, then lost in the tenth.

Blackwell came in because Howie Fox, who was hit by a pitched ball to start Cincinnati's three-run eighth inning rally against Jack Banta, seemed shaken. Ewell had a 5-3 lead.

He held the Dodgers scoreless in the eighth, but they pushed over the tying run in the ninth.

In the tenth, Rackley got a fluke single with one away and Cox doubled to the wall in left center. Rackley just beat the relay to the plate for the winning run.

Red Sox Tame Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — The Boston Red Sox, propelled by Al Zarilla's home run with Bobby Doerr aboard in the eighth, turned back the Detroit Tigers, 5-2, last night in the opener of a three-game series.

GOPHERS ON ALL-STARS

CHICAGO (AP) — Two Minnesota linemen — Leverage Gagne and Warren Beson — and a Gopher halfback, Ev Faunce, were named yesterday to the college all-star football team which will meet the Philadelphia Eagles in Soldier field here Aug. 12.

Cubs' Leonard Tips Braves, 3-2

BOSTON (AP) — Dutch Leonard, the Chicago Cubs' hard luck right hander, turned in a four hitter against the Boston Braves to gain his third victory of the season last night by a 3-2 margin.

Leonard has been charged with 11 defeats, mostly because of his teammates' feeble hitting.

Leonard insured his own triumph by singling in Frankie Gustine with the winning run in the eighth. His hit was the 10th and last one made against Vernon Bickford.

The Cubs registered their initial tally in the first inning on singles by Frank Baumholtz and Andy Pafko, plus Hank Sauer's fly to left. Sauer's two bagger and Hank Edwards' single accounted for their second run in the fourth.

PARKER, GONZALES WIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Defending champion Richard (Pancho) Gonzales and Frankie Parker, seeded Nos. 1 and 2 respectively, yesterday advanced to the semi-finals of the National Clay Courts tennis tourney.

Oh, Those Third Round Eliminations!

Dean Out of Iowa Amateur Golf Tourney

FORT DODGE (AP) — In a record-breaking 24-hole match Fred Gordon of Belmont nipped Jack Koch, Waterloo, 1 up yesterday and stepped into the semi-finals of the Iowa Amateur golf tourney.

It was believed to be the longest match in the history of Iowa amateur play. Gordon, the 1947 state champion, will meet Don Webb of Spirit Lake in the semi-final round this morning.

Sonny Dean, Iowa City golfer who got safely past the second round, lost in third round play to Koch yesterday morning.

Webb trimmed Francis Dickenson, the 51-year-old Des Moines contractor, 2 and 1 in his quarter-final match yesterday afternoon.

The other half of the semi-finals will pit Milo McWilliams of Cherokee, 3-up conqueror of Bernie Steiger of Cedar Rapids, against Jack Webb, also of Spirit Lake, a brother of Don Jack Webb eliminated youthful Jack Stewart, Fairfield, 6 and 4.

Gordon and Koch both fired even par 72 golf on the first 18 holes, and remained even on the first three extra holes with par 4. Both got par 5 on the fourth extra, and both had one-over-par fours on the short No. 5 hole—the 23rd in their match.

Both had good drives on the 24th hole, but Koch's second shot went out of bounds to the left of the fairway. That cost him a penalty shot that eventually gave Gordon the match.

Gordon's third shot went on the green. Koch got on the green with his next stroke, but his first putt just missed the cup. Gordon's first putt missed, but his next one connected for a par 5 on the hole.

Jack Webb shot steady golf as young Stewart's game wobbled a bit, and Webb went 3 up on the first nine. Webb then won the 13th and 14th holes to end the match.

Yankees Blank Brownies, 5-0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Allie Reynolds struck out ten batters and yielded only three hits in pitching the league-leading New York Yankees to a 5-0 shutout over the St. Louis Browns last night for his tenth victory.

Left fielder Gene Woodling sparked the Yankee offensive with a triple, double and single in four trips. He drove in two runs as did Joe DiMaggio, who had a double in three trips.

The shutout was the tenth victory for the Yanks in their last 13 games.

Giants Beat Pirates On Mize's 14th HR

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Mize slammed his 14th home run of the season with one on in the first inning last night to lead the New York Giants to a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Johnny Hopp blasted a three-run homer off Larry Jansen in the third to account for all of Pittsburgh's runs. The blow was Hopp's first of the season and the 20th yielded by Jansen.

Henry Thompson scored two of the Giant runs, one on his opening round triple and Whitey Lockman's single. The other tally proved to be the winning marker in the third when he walked, advanced on a single and an out and scored on Mize's fly.

Chisox Trim Senators As Pierce Wins, 6-2

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox scored four runs on one hit in the third inning and went on to trim Washington, 6-2, before 8,004 persons here last night as Billy Pierce scored his second straight victory and fourth of the season.

Same Mele batted in both Senator runs.

Sid Hudson, who ended up suffering his eighth loss, was the victim of the White Sox fat third. He surrendered three walks before Eddie Robinson contributed an error. George Metkovich followed with a bases full single.

Lemon's 3-Hitter Downs A's

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bob Lemon hurled his 10th victory of the season for the Indians last night, defeating the Philadelphia Athletics and Alex Kellner, 7-1.

Rookie Shortstop Ray Boone hit his third homer for two Tribe runs in the second inning, and Cleveland's centerfielder, Larry Doby, swatted his 14th in the fifth.

The luckless A's, dropping their sixth straight, could hit safely off Lemon only three times, and two of those hits were in the fifth inning.

In that frame, Mike Guerra singled to left, took second when Kellner walked and scored on a scratch single by Eddie Joost off Lou Boudreau's glove. That was the Athletics' only run.

This was Cleveland's ninth victory in 10 games.

Home Run by Ennis Gives Phils 1-0 Win Over Lanier, Cards

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Del Ennis' home run in the last half of the ninth inning broke up a pitching duel between Kenny Heintzelman and Max Lanier and gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 1-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals last night.

Ennis' homer, his 13th of the season, came with one out in the ninth and gave Heintzelman his seventh successive pitching victory and his 11th of the season against three setbacks.

The defeat was Lanier's first decision either way since he was reinstated by Commissioner A.M. (Happy) Chandler.

There was little to choose between the two southpaws. Heintzelman gave up eight hits, three to Stan Musial and walked one. Lanier yielded only five hits and also passed one.

In High School Baseball — Iowa City Gets District Meet

Iowa City has been selected as one of the four sites for the district baseball playoffs in the summer high school championship, now in the second round of play.

City high's Little Hawks, victor in the sectional tourney held here when they eliminated Wilson of Cedar Rapids, last year's state titlist, are paired with St. Ambrose of Davenport, scheduled for Monday at 8 p.m.

Other district tournament sites announced by the Iowa High School Athletic association yesterday include Spencer, Nora Springs and Glidden.

First of district play to get underway on the City high diamond will be tonight at 8, when New Sharon and Fort Madison tangle.

Monday night when the Little Hawks swing into action the winner of tonight's Roosevelt-Franklin game in Cedar Rapids will meet the winner of the New Sharon-Fort Madison game.

City high has met their first opponent—St. Ambrose — four times this season, winning three and losing one.

Latest figures on the Hawks' winners of 19 of 23 games this year, show the two top pitchers, Dick Doran and Whitey Diehl, with 20 wins and two losses.

Doran, 12 and 1, has hurled 10 innings, given up 34 hits and struck out 180 enemy batters. He has given up five earned runs, for an earned run average of 0.36 per nine inning game.

Diehl has won eight and lost one, hurled 69 1-3 innings, given up hits and whiffed 105. He has eight earned runs scored on him.

The Hawks have a team offensive average of .919.

Children Learn by Spending

The quickest way to teach a child how to handle money is to give him enough money for his simplest needs and then let him spend it the way he wants.

That's the opinion of the U.S. Children's Bureau in their recent booklet, "Your Child From Six to Twelve."

The booklet suggests that children be given early lessons in how to save, how to budget and how to participate in family conferences on money.

But in every case it urges that lessons be geared to the child, his age and his individual development.

"Learning to save and to budget," the booklet says, "is an important part of money experience, but saving for things that are far in the future has no meaning to young children."

Their goals must be close, where they can reach them soon. To save for three weeks to buy a present for mother seems just as tremendous an undertaking to a six-year-old as saving in high school for college expenses seems to an adolescent.

"Too much emphasis can be placed upon money, of course. Children can become too concerned with whether or not they are getting their share if there is too much talk about dividing the family income evenly."

"The more matter-of-fact the attitude of the parents, the less likely a child is to center his attention on himself," the booklet says.

Another point stressed in the booklet is the advantage of giving a child money on a regular basis rather than giving it to him in hit-or-miss handouts.

Beginning with the very small amounts a six-year-old needs, an allowance can be increased with the child's developing ability to make independent decisions, the booklet says.

Radio Personalities To Perform Here

Richard Maxwell, chairman of the national radio committee of the veteran's hospital programs, and Ivy and Al Walsh, concert and radio artists, will appear in Iowa City at the First Congregational church July 24 at 8:30 p.m., the Rev. John G. Craig reported.

Admission will be free to the general public, Rev. Craig said. The troupe is a non-profit organization which provides entertainment for veterans hospitals and gives bedside radios to the patients. The program is carried on in behalf of American Protestant churches, Rev. Craig said.

Maxwell first achieved fame on NBC as "John" of the Seth Parker program, Rev. Craig said. He has appeared in more than 10,000 broadcasts over the Columbia Broadcasting system, Rev. Craig said. The Walshes will sing to accordion accompaniment.

SUI Quonsets Get Bottled Gas Stoves

Final installation of bottled gas cooking stoves in 50 SUI married student quonset apartments was completed this week, J. Robert Cotter, manager of SUI married student housing, said yesterday.

The new four-burner apartment size stoves replaced three-burner kerosene stoves. Installation of the new stoves began last month.

Every SUI married student apartment now has bottled gas stoves, Cotter said. Trailers, however, have either pressure-gasoline or kerosene stoves. Students living in trailers may use bottled gas units but at their own expense, Cotter added.

SOCIAL HOUR
An "iced-tea time" for Congregational students will be held at the Congregational church from 4 to 5 p.m. today, Grace Hadley, director of the student activities, said yesterday.

Couple to Wed at Sorority House

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD W. MALICK, Glendale, Mo., announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Betty Jane, to Loy M. (Bud) Borton, Des Moines. Miss Malick graduated from SUI in June and is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, social sorority. Mr. Borton is also an SUI graduate and is affiliated with Phi Gamma Delta, social fraternity. The wedding will take place July 24 at 4 p.m. in the Kappa Alpha Theta house, 823 E. Burlington.

Vet Insurance Dividend Forms Ready Soon

Application forms for payment of a special national service life insurance dividend will be available at the local Red Cross office soon, according to Mrs. Lorna L. Mathes, executive secretary.

The veterans administration in Washington announced that it expects to have the forms ready for distribution in August or soon thereafter.

Postoffices, veterans administration offices and veterans service organizations also will supply the forms.

The dividend will include policies issued on or before Jan. 1, 1948, which have been kept in force for three months or more.

Fix Riverdale Sidewalks

Wooden sidewalks at Riverdale villages, SUI married student housing area, are being repaired by university workmen.

Wooden walks at Hawkeye village will be repaired as soon as work is completed on the Riverdale walks, J. Robert Cotter, manager of SUI married student housing, said yesterday.

Market Basket Index—

Five-Week Price Drop Ends

The Daily Iowan market basket index remained steady this week for the first time since May 13, ending a five-week food price drop.

Only three items out of 24 changed price, but the index still totaled $16.12.

This week also marked the first time in two months that meat prices remained steady from one week to the next. Sliced peaches went up 2 cents and eggs and Ivory flakes each dropped 1 cent in price, according to index figures.

Butchers here indicated that the stability of this week's meat prices might mean another climb in pork and beef prices. Hog prices, in particular, have gone up in mid-west markets as much as 50 to 75 cents this week, indicating that retail pork prices also may climb.

Looping the Clayton Loophole —

The conflicts and apparent inconsistencies in the antitrust laws are being pointed up by a congressional study of antitrust laws now underway in the house judiciary committee.

Business, the courts and congress are all wrapped up in knots trying to get a clear interpretation of antitrust legislation.

One of the major purposes of the house investigation is to close a loophole in the Clayton act, which has left an opening for mergers which violate the intent of the law.

The antitrust measure, passed in 1914 to complement and clarify the Sherman act of 1890, was intended to give the government power to check the growth of monopolies at their outset.

To that end the law prohibited any corporation from buying stock of another corporation where competition would be lessened or tended toward monopoly. But the bill failed to stop corporations from buying up the assets — as opposed to stocks — of competing corporations.

For the most part, small business has been losing ground to monopoly. President Truman has said that "if our free enterprise is to be strong and healthy we must reinvigorate the forces of competition. We must assure small business the freedom and opportunity to grow and prosper."

"To this purpose we should strengthen our antitrust laws by closing those loopholes that permit monopolistic mergers and consolidation."

Echoing Mr. Truman's sentiments, Attorney General Tom Clark appeared before the judiciary committee Tuesday. He said, "The fundamental issue is whether the economy of this country is to remain free and competitive, or whether it is to be subjected to private regimentation through monopoly control."

Loud howls of complaint have been heard from big businessmen who have been hit by the drive to break monopolies.

Ten days ago the department of justice brought suit to sever alleged links between three industrial giants — du Pont, General Motors and the United States Rubber company.

Du Pont President Crawford H. Greenewald claims that the government's move to force sale of stock "is largely punitive and confiscatory."

So the problem remains unsolved — for the present at least. Whatever choice is made, some competition will be weakened and other competition will be strengthened.

Home Rule: A Legal Frankenstein —

A federal judge in Chicago threw a monkey wrench into the legal machinery of rent control the other day. In a ruling which will not stick until several appeals are made on it, he said "the local option provisions (of the rent law) are unconstitutional and void."

The home rule or local option feature of the rent control extension bill was a congressional device for passing the buck. Republicans sponsored it as a subtle way of killing rent controls; many Democrats backed it as a means of avoiding a political hot potato.

The home rule clause said that rent controls would be extended but local towns and counties had the option of ending controls.

The Chicago judge based his ruling upon the argument that congress illegally delegated its power to the states by enacting the home rule feature.

This ruling is bound to cause many legal headaches. One rent control official has already groaned that the ruling would create "national disaster."

In Iowa, the ruling is piled atop a heap of legal speculation and doubt. Lone Tree voted to remove rent controls and appealed its decision to Gov. William Beardley. It is thought — no one quite knows — that Beardley has veto power over local action.

Atty. Gen. Robert Larson thinks — no one quite knows — that Beardley can sanction the lifting of controls without a specific act of the state legislature.

Apparently Lone Tree, and now Council Bluffs and perhaps Iowa City in a little while will all be able to end rent control. But with a federal ruling that the home rule clause is unconstitutional — no one quite knows.

One thing is certain. A simple tool of political expediency has been transformed into a legal Frankenstein.

The business slump may go so far by the time the rent control tangle is straightened out that landlords will have to cut rents instead of hiking them. It's a bizarre possibility; but at least it's not unconstitutional.

Time to Change —

Iowa City's downtown lighting system is about 21 years old. That's pretty good service for a lighting system where they laid the cable in the ground with nothing to protect the wiring from the weather.

Original cost of the lights was only slightly more than $12,000. Twenty years of service from a $12,000 investment in perishable materials is good business from Iowa City's standpoint.

It's much better than you can get from an automobile. You pay somewhere in the neighborhood of $2,000 for the car, drive it around the block and it's second hand already. Keep it a year and you lose around one-quarter of your investment.

Somewhat, the comparison seems pretty pertinent. You would hardly take an old automobile, one which has already given you 15 years service, and put a new motor in it. That is, you wouldn't unless you were just a youngster with enough money to swing an overhaul and not enough money or credit to finance a new one.

And it seems rather fruitless to spend between $12,000 and $14,000 to repair our old lighting system when the original one only cost $12,000. That seems even worse than spending $250 to repair a 1936 model car which cost about $600 or $700.

The youngster who's just getting started in the world might pour that much into an old model. But he wouldn't have the standing to buy a new car.

Iowa City is no youngster. It has credit as evidenced by the fact it has bonded itself before to finance community projects. It would seem logical to assume the same thing can be done again.

Advocating change for change's sake alone is not practical. Maybe Alderman Teeters is right when he says mercury-vapor lights would cancel out the effect of neon-lighted advertising signs.

Maybe if Iowa City put the question to a vote, it would find the citizens don't even like mercury-vapor lights. But there's nothing wrong with wanting to modernize Iowa City with new incandescent lights.

The old lights have paid for themselves long ago. They're not even attractive looking. If the city is modern enough to use parking meters and traffic signals, surely it wouldn't be going too far to think about modernizing its lighting system in the downtown business district, the showplace of the town when strangers arrive.

Rail Bonds Demand High for Tenth Day

NEW YORK (AP) — Railroad bonds stretched their winning streak through 10 straight sessions yesterday.

Moderate demand boosted prices throughout the rail list, despite a spell of profit-taking around mid-day that put some issues temporarily on the losing side.

The Associated Press average of 20 rail obligations gained 2 of a point at 89.2, highest the index has been since June 10.

Utility, industrial and foreign dollar bonds held steady throughout the day and closed unchanged on average.

Volume reached $3,135,000 in par value figure. It was a considerable mark-down from Wednesday's $3,970,000.

Britain: Empire Breaking Up

INTERPRETING THE NEWS BY J.M. ROBERTS JR., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Prime Minister Attlee, linking Britain's dollar crisis to the whole problem of world stability and peace, also seeks a foundation for long term salvation.

Lying behind his words is a situation which involves a great deal more than any postwar crisis.

Britain is not in trouble merely because of wartime drains, because of the liquidation of her overseas investments, or of the cold war. The cold war itself is merely a manifestation, caused by Russia's attempt to make capital of a revolutionary situation in the world.

More and more it seems evident Britain is in for a tremendous and unhappy readjustment. Something about her economic position is basically wrong.

By accident, or because of the coordination of her people's skill which itself might be termed an accident of her history, Britain pioneered some 200 years ago in what we have come to call the industrial revolution.

By her inventiveness, particularly in the fields of iron and textile manufacture, she became the processor for a very large part of the world's raw materials.

To get these raw materials she developed the world's greatest merchant fleet, evolved a vast colonial system, and protected it with the world's greatest navy.

The merchant fleet became an industry in itself, carrying not only for England but all others. As the middleman between the sources of raw materials and the consumer, Britain likewise became the world's banker. The people of a small island controlled a vast proportion of the world.

The first textile and steel mills built in France and America marked the beginning of a new day — the 12:01 a.m. of a day which has now come to twilight, in which Britain no longer holds the advantages of her head start in industrialization.

For 50 years and longer, with only coal and the skill and experience of her people to depend on, she has been in competition with areas which have far more.

In the last few years, in addition, she has run up against a growing nationalism and a protective economic awakening in what once was her empire.

The producers of raw materials seek the benefits of doing their own processing.

It seems inevitable that this development should increase the cost of raw materials to Britain while at the same time decreasing her possible markets, making her position more and more uneconomic.

For a long time she fought this trend through investment in the new industrial fields abroad, thus obtaining income with which to buy her food.

She had to liquidate these investments to pay for war purchases over and above lend-lease. India, once great source of British wealth, is now a creditor. Once a great market, it is now pushing industrialization.

India is, to Britain, a blazing sign of changing times.

In more than 2,000 years of history, the British have met and adjusted themselves to many changes. There is more than sentiment behind their confidence that there'll always be an England. But efforts to tell what will come out this time are futile.

Britain will hardly be a Cuba, with a one-crop economy — in this case, coal. She cannot support her population as a Switzerland, depending almost solely on products of great precision, although that remains one of her great fortes.

Nor will the mere solution of a dollar crisis, or any one particular crisis, solve the economic fate of Britain.

BASIC TRAYNOR

BY NORM TRAYNOR

The time has come to start thinking about vacations. Vacation. You know that word does something to you. Just saying the word a few times gives you a good feeling.

Much of the enjoyment of a vacation comes from the preparation for it. Even if you never get where you think you are going, if you entire house. Very expensive, you know.

Fine. You decide to leave the refrigerator. At least that's a good start. With a little work you can eliminate a few other things. Just leave room for the fishing pole. Well try anyhow.

Then comes the financial end of the deal. This is always the bad end of any deal. How much can you spend?

That of course depends on whether it would be advisable to come back.

If not, the sky's the limit. Blow the whole check. Make a million, spend a million. After all you can't take it with you, although some people try damn hard.

Ah, the weather. You start worrying about the weather. Will it rain? Will it be cold? This complicates problem number two. Namely, what you will take with you.

Why not change plans and go south. Too far, and too hot. So you forget about the weather and decide to take what comes.

You get it planned and then wait around. You figure some

There may be little differences come up as you plan the trip but you quickly iron those out. For instance, someone in the household may want to go west and you want to go north.

That doesn't stop you for a moment. You just compromise and go west. What does the north have that the west doesn't?

You may think that the north has more but you are mistaken. Of course, dear.

Then comes the problems of what to take with you. This is really no problem at all—in theory, anyway.

You just have to convince yourself that you can't move the

McBride Lands Job in East After Going West

By BILL McBRIDE

GLENDALE, CALIF. After two weeks in California, I have graduated from the tourist classification. I am now a Genuine Native (junior grade).

Nothing particularly noteworthy has happened, unless you consider the 4th of July a phenomenon.

We celebrated Independence day by going on a picnic and gorging ourselves with a fried rabbit which never harmed a soul in his life and who probably thought he would live to see several more Easters until the price of beef took a climb, thereby putting a rapid stop to Mr. Rabbit's frivolities.

This morning I took a Red Car into downtown Los Angeles all by myself. The Red Car is a sort of streamlined street car with a cruising speed which borders on the supersonic.

The contraption is also equipped with an exceptionally fine set of brakes which the motorman utilizes in a manner which makes it dangerous for persons with hernia to ride the vehicle except in cases of emergency.

The trip into L.A. was quite pleasant, and my seat partner was a friendly little old lady with gray hair and dark glasses.

She wore slacks and a green halterneck, and she was going downtown to get her upper plate repaired.

It seems the dentist had made it lopsided, and to prove her point, the poor soul took the denture out of a knitted handkerchief and showed me how it rubbed her gums the wrong way.

When traveling via Red Car you do not arrive in Los Angeles — you arrive under it. Just about the time things start to get interesting the bottom drops out of the scenery and there you are thrashing along in a tunnel.

By the time the Red Car arrives at the end of the tunnel, everyone is on his feet, pushing everyone else, and the conductor hides behind his money box and books of transfers while shouting, "Lasagelstasthandust push!"

It was in this melee that my perfectly good 25 cent shoe shine was spoiled, and the 65-year-old glamour girl warned me about crossing the tracks.

It seems the tracks in this tunnel are wired for all sorts of electricity, and if you step in just the right spot you get yourself a free transfer to Forest Lawn cemetery.

While we were on the track subject, the little old lady was reminded of her first husband (now deceased) who used to work for a railroad.

I learned that he used to carry his lunch to work with him, and when noon came he would sit on a railroad track to eat it, and that's how he got piles.

I don't know if that is what brought about his early death or not, but you can bet your bottom it didn't help matters any. Goodness, it's getting so a body doesn't know where it's safe to sit these days.

Once out of the subway, I lost track of my seat partner and before you could say fantod I was whisked out into the streets with the mob and promptly lost my bearings.

For three and one-half hours I looked for the office building where a possible employer was lurking. But it was to no avail, and at the end of that time I found myself in front of the subway station again, so I went in and got on the Red Car.

I know when I'm kicked. The employment situation out here is a strange one. Jobs are not particularly hard to find, but the trick is to find one which pays off in cash, not pop bottle caps.

Many of the persons I have talked to hold two or three jobs at the same time. This sort of arrangement holds little appeal for me, since it means burning the candle at all ends and, in the middle, and I don't have that much wick to spare.

Oh yes... forgot to mention, I have a job. It just shows what you can do if you get out and look around. I traveled west to find a job, and I got one — Petersburg, Virginia.

When I try to explain how this event came about it gets a little confusing, so you'll just have to take my word for it.

Tomorrow Jeanne, and I start the trip eastward, and we'll be coming through Iowa City, so someone will take charge and arrange to have Bill Adamson and his Scottish Highlanders meet me at the outskirts of town... nothing extravagant, you know.

New China Policy To Emerge Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two important developments in United States relations with China were forecast yesterday by state department officials. Together they indicate the early emergence of a new China policy.

Michael J. McDermott, state department press officer, said a "white paper" on American-Chinese relations — due to include the long secret Wedemeyer report — is expected to be published within two weeks.

Following release of the white paper, McDermott said, information may be forthcoming on "what we are going to do in the future regarding the Chinese situation."

From other informants it was learned in this connection that the Truman administration, through the national security council, which includes both State Secretary Acheson and Defense Secretary Johnson, has been working intensively on plans for dealing with the spread of communism in China and the threat of communism in the far east generally.

VA Head, Congressmen to Visit Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray Jr. and the South Dakota senators and house members top a delegation from Washington which will attend dedication ceremonies for the new Royal C. Johnson veterans hospital in Sioux Falls, S.D., July 24.

Gray will be the principal speaker at the dedication and Sen. Chan Gurney (R-SD) will unveil a bronze bust plaque honoring Johnson, who represented South Dakota in congress for years.

Sen. Karl Mundt and Reps. Francis Case and Harold Love, all South Dakota Republicans, plan to return to the state for the ceremony.

In addition to Gray, the veterans' administration will be represented by A.W. Wofford, director of information, and Frank Kelsey, assistant administrator for finance.

Carl Walker, formerly of Pierre former president of the South Dakota state society here and a county secretary to Johnson, also will attend, along with Lt. Col. H.R. Kenaston, of Bonesteel, now state society president.

Mrs. Royall C. Johnson and her two sons, Lt. Comdr. Harlan Thode Johnson and Everett R. Johnson also will attend. Mrs. Johnson has her home here. Harlan is with the navy department here and plan to return to Philadelphia

Complete Stop Now Required On All Highway Approaches

An amended Iowa traffic law passed by the last general assembly now requires that vehicles come to a complete stop before entering or crossing a public highway from a private road or drive, the state safety department said yesterday.

The law applies to every farm lane and private drive opening on a public road and requires a driver entering the highway to remain stopped long enough to yield the right of way to any approaching vehicle. It applies to all vehicles, either motor powered, or motor or horse drawn.

State Patrolman V. F. Johnson, Johnson county highway officer, said the amendment clears up a vague point of highway law and will aid in reducing traffic accidents.

Johnson said, "Care must especially be exercised during July and August as traffic and accidents are highest then."

It is now against the law to drive on the highways any combination of coupled vehicles which exceeds 45 feet in length from front to rear. All drivers are required to reduce speed "to a reasonable and proper rate" when approaching a fusee, flare, reflector or any warning device displayed on the highway.

Police Arrest Man Wanted for Theft

Virgil Cecil, Moline, Ill., wanted by East Moline police for larceny of a motor vehicle, was arrested yesterday on highway 6 leading out of Iowa City, State Patrolman V.F. Johnson said.

Cecil was turned over to Dav- enport authorities for investigation of possible connection with an armed robbery there at 8 a.m. yesterday, Johnson said. According to the patrolman, Cecil was carrying a fake Luger pistol.

The arrest was made within 10 minutes after Cecil's description was received over the police radio, Johnson said.

Raimey Presents His Cards

"WHICH IS THE RIGHT CARD to open this door?" wonders Stanton T. Raimey, A3, Detroit. Holding a few of his collection of over 300 membership cards to organizations all over the country, Raimey—Sammy to his friends—is about to prove his theory that "Cards will open more doors than keys will."

What Makes Sammy Join?

By BOB CHAPMAN

If you ever notice a man with an exceptionally worn-out buttonhole on his lapel, that'll be Sammy.

Sammy, whose full name is Stanton T. Raimey, A3, Detroit, has had trouble with that buttonhole since he was big enough to wear his first suit.

"Sammy is what he calls a 'joiner.' He probably belongs to more clubs, lodges, groups, organizations and associations than anyone else on the SUI campus."

It all started when Sammy's father took him to an American Legion meeting when Sammy was three.

And as soon as he was old enough, Sammy joined the Cub Scouts, his first actual "joining" experience. Since then, he figures that he has joined at least 300 different organizations in all parts of the country.

"I'm sort of a legal 'One-Eye Connelly,'" Sammy said. (Connelly was a world-famous, or infamous, gate-crasher.) "I go to every convention that I can afford, even if I'm not able to stay long or see much." Last year Sammy went to more than 30 conventions, mostly during the summer.

"I'd need a 700-day year if I went to the meetings of the clubs I belong to," Sammy said. "This summer I plan to cut down on the number of conventions I will attend. Going to school at the same time slows me down."

Displaying his billfold, Sammy pulled out a sheaf of cards. "These are membership cards of the clubs I usually frequent," he said. "When I go to a club where they don't know me well enough to let me in on sight, the people think I'm starting a card game in the doorway. When I start going through these cards, it looks just like I'm shuffling a deck."

"I don't have all my pins and buttons here," he said. "It would take too much space to carry them around. I have quite a collection. They range in size from a pinhead size for a secret organization I joined in Detroit to an entire uniform I have to wear when attending the IOOF (Independent Order of the Odd Fellows) meetings in my father's home town here in Iowa."

"If I were to wear all my membership pins and buttons, I'd make General Eisenhower look like a buck private," Sammy said, "so I wear them one at a time. But I change them around so often, I keep wearing out the lapel buttonholes in all my coats."

County Bond Sales Pass Quota Mark

Johnson county boosted its total bond sales in the opportunity loan drive to $819,276 last week as Iowa topped its $50-million quota by almost $800,000.

Johnson county chairmen Ben S. Summerwill and Frank D. Williams, Iowa City, said that the new total gives the county 111.76 percent of its $733,042 quota.

With two weeks' sales still to be reported, total sales for the entire state now stand at $50,783,475, 101.59 percent of the campaign goal, Roger F. Warin, state director of the savings bond division said.

SUI May Get Video Station, If FCC Approves Expansion

Proposals which will affect SUI's request for a permit to construct a television station will be considered at a federal communications commission meeting Aug. 29 in Washington, D.C.

Iowa City is among 38 Iowa cities and towns which may be allocated television broadcast channels through new proposals under consideration by the FCC.

The commission's proposed regulations to add 42 new ultra high frequency television channels to the existing 12 very high channels would permit the expansion.

In February, 1948, SUI applied for permission to construct a television station in Iowa City, Prof. Carl Menzer, director of WSUI, said last night.

Menzer said, "It is quite possible if there are no changes in the current proposal after the hearing in August, channel No. 2, which is in the very high frequency band, will be issued for use in Iowa City."

Since SUI is the only applicant for a television station in Iowa City, Menzer said, it is quite likely that the university will be awarded the television permit.

No station in Iowa is televising at the present time, but station WOC in Davenport is reportedly preparing to begin television operation in the near future, Menzer said.

Iowa State College at Ames received a television construction permit from the FCC before the "television freeze" in 1948, Menzer said.

State Agents Raid Tavern Near IC

A tavern in Fremont township located on highway 22 between Lone Tree and Riverside was raided Wednesday night by state agents, the Iowa state bureau of investigation reported yesterday.

An assortment of gambling devices and liquor was seized at the tavern owned by Kenneth Smith and located a mile east of the Iowa river bridge, Bureau Chief Nebergall said.

According to Nebergall, items confiscated included four slot machines, a carton of slot machine tickets, 15 bottles of liquor, a punchboard and a jar of gambling tickets. The items were turned over to Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy.

No formal charges had been filed yesterday.

All Local Fryers Got Their Flyers

A search of Iowa City hatcheries yesterday revealed that anyone who wants to serve a wingless chicken dinner next Sunday will have to get the bird somewhere else.

None of the local hatcheries has the newly-developed birds on hand and none of them expect to handle them in the future.

"It's a fowl trick," said Dan Roth, owner of the Dan Roth hatchery, "There are a great many other things in the art of chicken breeding that need more work. Besides, if the wingless birds weren't carefully culled, a flock would soon revert to the normal winged state."

The expense of inbreeding and caring for the "grounded" chickens would make them too expensive, according to Roth.

And at Priebes and Sons, Inc., an employe said, "Some folks say they're juicier without wings and some folks say there's more white meat, but I don't suppose I'll ever know."

"All I know is that we don't have any, and I don't think we're going to get any."

Six-Year Old Dies Of Polio; Hospitals Admit 2, Release 2

Iowa City's first polio patient of the year was released and another polio patient died yesterday at university hospitals, according to hospital officials.

Sandra Kane, 6-year-old daughter of Roger Kane, Iowa Falls, died at 4 a.m. yesterday. She was admitted Tuesday.

William Speck, 8, son of Carl Speck, G. 1115 Finkbine Park, was released from the hospitals. He was admitted June 30.

Two other polio patients were admitted to the "active" ward at the hospitals yesterday, bringing the total number of polio patients at the hospitals listed as "active" to nine.

Admitted yesterday were Ralph Schoulte, 10, son of Oliver Schoulte, McGregor, and Thomas Bussan, 4-year-old son of Jerome Bussan, Dubuque.

The condition of Schoulte was listed as "poor" yesterday by hospital officials and Bussan's condition was reported as "serious." Both were admitted to the hospitals Tuesday for diagnosis.

Also released yesterday was Louise Stufflebeam, 15, Ottumwa, admitted as a polio patient July 4.

Fraternity System Explained by Mail

Over 1,000 letters and pamphlets explaining the fraternity system have been sent to prospective students, according to Graham Marshall, fraternity business service manager and advisor to fraternity men.

"As many or maybe even more men than last year will go through formal rushing this fall, from all indications," Marshall said. "About 350 men went through formal rushing last fall."

Fraternity rushing chairmen are given the names of those receiving literature, so they may write to the men, he said.

River Wall Rebuilt; Union Walk Restored

Work on the river wall behind the Iowa Union has been completed, Frederick Moore, assistant superintendent of the physical plant, said yesterday.

The wall has been raised 12 to 16 inches between the foot bridge and a location 250 feet south of the bridge.

The river overflowed the old wall during the spring flood of 1947.

A concrete walk has been laid between the rear of the Union and the raised wall. Work has begun on the replacement of the walk that once ran from the east approach of the foot bridge to the northwest corner of Madison and Market street intersection.

This walk, which also connected Madison court with the foot bridge, was removed two years ago to make way for the installation of a heating tunnel.

32 Groups to Participate in Film Chautauqua

Thirty-two Iowa educational, patriotic, civic and business organizations have agreed to participate in the first Iowa Film Chautauqua to be held at Lake Okoboji July 25 through 29.

The program is an experiment in adult education to determine whether the old Chautauqua techniques can be combined with present-day teaching methods using films.

SUI and the state conservation commission are jointly sponsoring the project through the university extension division and Lakeside laboratory, Okoboji.

Prof. J.H. Bodine, head of the SUI zoology department and five visiting lecturers will address the five-day conference. Films and music will be used in the evening programs.

Bodine and Bruce F. Stiles, director of the Iowa state conservation commission, will discuss conservation and science at the opening program July 25.

Roger Albright, director of educational services for the Motion Picture Association of America, will speak on "Public Partners in American Business" the evening of July 26.

Mrs. John E. Hayes, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, will speak on "A Pledge for Tomorrow," July 27. "Our American Heritage" will be discussed July 28 by Mrs. R.I.C. Prout, member of the executive committee of the General Federation of Women's clubs. Standing Today — World Peace Tomorrow" on the July 29 program.

A&P

Customer's Corner

How do you like the fresh fruits and vegetable department in your A&P store? Are the vegetables fresh and crisp — as they should be? Are the fruits firm and ripe — as they should be? Are the displays neat and orderly — as they should be? Are the clerks helpful and courteous — as they should be? We maintain buying offices wherever and whenever fresh fruits and vegetables of top quality are available. We rush this produce in refrigerated trains and trucks to our warehouses and stores. We price it to sell quickly and we inspect it constantly all along the line for any sign of deterioration. In other words, all our efforts are aimed at offering you only the finest and freshest fruits and vegetables. If we ever fail to do this, we will consider it a favor if you will tell us about it.
