UNIVERSITY GRASS CUTTERS RAISED HAVOC Wednesday with student gardens bordering the Iowa river near Hawkeye village. Robert Stienstra, A3, is looking over what is left of cucumbers that were ready to be picked when the grass cutters, under orders from SUI Campus Foreman J. F. Crumley, destroyed vegetables being grown by at least four Hawkeye village families. The gardens were planted outside of the married student housing area and the student gardeners had neither received nor been denied permission to raise vegetables there. Evan Hultman, LI, one of the students whose garden was destroyed "without warning" said that vegetables planted in the river bank strip last year were not molested.

Communist Spies Enter U.S. As Diplomats, Officials Testify

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. intelligence and state department officials disclosed yesterday that scores of Communist and high party officials have entered this country on diplomatic visas.

They made the disclosure in response to senatorial questions about a list of 100 persons cleared to work in the United States as representatives of their countries or as employees of the United Nations and other international bodies. The list was described as a "partial" one.

Rear Adm. Roscoe H. Hillenkoetter, director of the central intelligence, told a senate judiciary subcommittee by letter that 29 of the persons listed were "high ranking Communist party officials."

He said 53 others were Communists or engaged in espionage. The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) is studying legislation to keep alien subversives out of the country and speed deportation of those now here.

Before Hillenkoetter's letter was read, John E. Peuriofy, deputy undersecretary of state, testified that high state department officials had overruled the visa section "approximately 10 times" to admit alleged subversives for diplomatic reasons.

But in none of these cases, he said, did the visa section believe that "the security of the nation was jeopardized."

Hillenkoetter, whose agency is responsible only for U.S. intelligence work abroad, said 32 of the 100 on McCarran's list "allegedly or reportedly" used to work in their countries' intelligence agencies.

Another 21 have "reportedly or allegedly been engaged in active Communist organizational work of an underground or subversive nature outside their homelands."

Truman to Speak At Shrine Meeting

CHICAGO (AP)—President Truman comes to Chicago Tuesday for two speeches at the Shrine's national convention.

Mr. Truman is a member of Ararat temple of the Shrine at Kansas City, but his appearance at the convention will be as President of the United States. It will be the first time in Shrine history that a chief executive has attended a convention in that capacity.

Shortly before the President's Soldier field appearance, Harold Lloyd, old-time movie comedian, will be installed as new imperial potentate.

For the first time in history, the secret ritual of the order will be performed for the public.

GOP Members Hit Justices' Testimony On Hiss' Character

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two GOP legislators charged Saturday that Supreme Court Justices Stanley F. Reed and Felix Frankfurter "shocked the nation" when they appeared as character witnesses at the Alger Hiss perjury trial.

The two Republicans—Reps. Kenneth B. Keating (NY) and Harold H. Velde (Ill.)—said the two justices caused the supreme court "extreme embarrassment." They said repetition of such conduct could lead to a "paralysis" of the judicial system.

Keating, a member of the house judiciary committee, announced he will introduce the bill tomorrow to prohibit supreme court justices from offering character testimony at any trial.

"They should not, of course, be barred from giving evidence as to acts in any controversy of which they may have knowledge," Keating explained.

Both Reed and Frankfurter testified to the "good character" of Hiss during his recent perjury trial in New York. The trial ended in a jury deadlock and will be retried later.

Velde, a member of the house un-American activities committee, also assured reporters that he intends to "follow through" on his demand for a congressional investigation of Federal Judge Samuel F. Kaufman. He accuses Kaufman, who presided at the Hiss trial, of favoring the defense.

Calls Red Ink Plan 'Terrible Blunder'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican leader in the senate, said last night that President Truman made "a terrible blunder" in advocating red ink spending by the government.

He contended the president is "confused, bewildered and perplexed."

Like Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), who spoke Friday against Mr. Truman's program, Wherry said the President has set in motion forces that lead toward "a totalitarian state."

In a radio address, Wherry added that jobs, plants, farms and savings "are in jeopardy because the President has thrown away all pretense of being for sound government financial policies and freedom of enterprise."

Contending Mr. Truman is "six months behind the times," Wherry added:

"The President is confused, bewildered and perplexed and caught in a mass of contradictions. In another effort to alibi for his own failures, he blames tax relief voted by the Republican congress for the treasury deficit of the last fiscal year."

Boy Goes Berserk After Quarrel

AFTER HOLDING 12 POLICEMEN at bay for a half an hour in Columbus, Ohio, yesterday, 15-year-old Clyde Houston (on ground) was subdued by his father. ## Speaker Denounces FBI at Conference On 'Bill of Rights'

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal bureau of investigation was denounced yesterday at a "bill of rights" conference whose sponsors have been a target of President Truman.

One of the speakers was City Councilman Benjamin J. Davis Jr., a defendant in the trial of 11 Communist party leaders. He was heavily applauded.

Conference sponsors include Henry A. Wallace, Progressive party presidential nominee last year, and Paul Robeson, the singer. Mr. Truman, at his news conference Thursday, referred to the group as "that gang."

O. John Rogge, former assistant attorney general, declared the FBI is invading the rights of citizens, although he praised it as the "best investigative organization in the world."

"But the FBI should not be permitted in a field where it has no business, in the thinking and associations of Americans," Rogge said.

If a person has an enemy in government service, Rogge said he can write an anonymous card to the FBI accusing the federal worker of reading a book by Theodore Dreiser, or attending a theater which shows Russian films or welcoming a negro to his home by the front door.

"He (the government employee) will be brought up on a hearing before a loyalty board," Rogge said. "Even if he does not lose his job, it will always be on his record that his loyalty was investigated."

Czech Communists Ask Fight To Crush Catholic Hierarchy

PRAGUE (AP)—The Communist party called yesterday for a no-quarter fight to crush the Czechoslovak hierarchy of "our greatest enemy—the church."

A party manifesto which reached western hands declared victory was necessary to complete communism of the nation, especially the collectivization of farms against peasant resistance.

"We want to give good Catholics the opportunity finally to get rid of elements which are damaging us," the manifesto said. "It is not a question of liquidating churches entirely, but of liquidating the church order."

The manifesto said there would be no compromise in the fight against the church. It laid down these directives:

1. Sever all ties between the Czech Catholic hierarchy and the Vatican.
2. Build a wall between Czech bishops and archbishops and the people.
3. Turn the people against the Most Rev. Archbishop Josef Beran, the nation's primate (who is under police guard in his palace).

"As long as they (Catholics) are not completely divided, we will not be able to liquidate the church question," the statement said. "The bishops fear the government, but they are more afraid of Vatican authorities."

Key Democrats in both the senate and house said privately that Aiken is right, although some of them still are pressing for an experimental test on a few foods.

Brannan started congressional experts on farm legislation with his proposal. He wants to let consumer prices of meats, eggs, milk and other major foods and farm products decline when supplies are large. Farmers would get "production payments" or "treasury subsidies if the lower prices failed to provide them a 'fair income.'"

Within the past two weeks, there had been talk of an Aiken-Brannan compromise which would give the agriculture secretary a "trial run" of his plan on one or more crops, while permitting the delayed-action Aiken law to take effect as scheduled next year. The Aiken law provides for a flexible rather than a rigid system of price supports.

However, since that time two big farm organizations, the American Farm Bureau federation and the National Grange, have come out for the Aiken law with certain modifications. Talk of a compromise has been quietly dropped. There are signs that an attempt may be made to modify the Aiken law in such a way as to absolutely outlaw any trial of the Brannan subsidy plan.

Mrs. Dorothy Ashby Pownall 1602 N. Dubuque street, has won the George Waldo Grinstead award for poetry, the Iowa Poetry association announced yesterday.

Her poem, "Northwoods Blackout" appeared first in the 1949 edition of "Lyrical Iowa," a collection of poems by Iowans. Publication of the annual anthology was announced yesterday by the association.

Mrs. Pownall's husband, Fred M. Pownall, is publisher of The Daily Iowan.

Suspends Two Army Generals

Senate Investigators Claim Officers Used Rank for Business Dealings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army yesterday suspended its quartermaster general and the chief of the chemical corps because of evidence turned up by a senate committee investigating alleged influence in army contract awards.

Relieved of duty were Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman, 57, who enlisted as a private 42 years ago and rose to head the army's quartermaster section, and Maj. Gen. Alden Harry Waitt, 56, who has served most of his 28 years as a chemical warfare specialist.

Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray, who announced the suspensions, said in a statement that a senate investigating committee "has evidence which indicates that Gen. Waitt improperly furnished personnel data to an individual not in the military service and who was not entitled to receive such data; and that Gen. Feldman furnished to a contractor's representative information under circumstances which appear irregular."

Gray said that he was "not attempting to draw conclusions on the basis of an incomplete investigation" but that he had ordered the officers' release pending the outcome of a complete inquiry by the inspector general of the army.

The secretary added that "each officer would be given ample opportunity for a full hearing."

The suspension order first was disclosed by Chairman Clyde R. Hoey (D-NC) of the senate expenditures subcommittee which set out to find out about persons "who hold themselves out as peddlers of influence" in obtaining government contracts, with particular attention to large commission fees.

The senate probe was touched off by a story last month in the New York Herald Tribune about a contract that James V. Hunt, a former officer in the quartermaster corps, had with Paul Grindle, a Framingham, Mass., furniture manufacturer.

Both Feldman and Waitt were listed by Grindle as among those Hunt had mentioned as contacts in the army. Both officers denied "influence" figured in the award of contracts.

Both the senate committee and the national military establishment have been pressing investigations into so-called "five percent" deals, a fee often charged by Washington contact men.

Charge Legislator Took Union Funds

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Charges that Rep. Leonard Irving (D-Mo) and two other men had diverted labor union funds to their own use were contained yesterday in a petition for an accounting.

Irving, elected last November in President Truman's home district, is president and business agent of local 264, AFL, hod carriers, building and common laborers' union.

Named with him in the petition filed by 85 members of the union, were Roy E. Livingston, treasurer and financial secretary, and Alvin Butcher, corresponding and recording secretary.

The petition, filed in circuit court, alleged that the defendants and other members of the executive board conspired "to divert funds of the local union to their own use and the use of the defendants severally, and to various purposes not authorized by the local union or its members."

In Washington the congressman issued a general denial of the allegations.

Pleads Not Guilty To Murder Count

MARSHALLTOWN (AP)—Alvin J. Brown, 20, Tulsa, Okla., yesterday pleaded innocent to a murder charge developing from an Iowa roadside slaying.

The youth was accused of shooting to death William J. Muldoon, 33, Mason City, last June 6 when he rode as a hitchhiker in the victim's car.

Authorities said that Brown admitted shooting Muldoon as the two scuffled over a pistol.

Auto Workers Alerted For Ford Plant Strike

MILWAUKEE (AP)—CIO united auto workers delegates from Ford plants were told to get ready for a strike yesterday.

Gene Prato of Detroit local 600 pointed out that Ford locals have already approved a strike and that the present company-union agreement can be cancelled within five days' notice.

Check of GOP Atlantic Treaty Vote Indicates Twelve May Support Taft

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly a dozen senate Republicans seemed likely yesterday to go along with Sen. Robert Taft (R-Ohio) in voting against the north Atlantic pact next Thursday.

Informal checks indicated that more than two-thirds of the party's 43 senate members will support the treaty. They will be casting their lots with Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich) in a foreign policy split between the two GOP leaders.

Chairman Tom Connally (D-Tex) of the foreign relations committee told a reporter: he doesn't think there will be more than 15 plain why he went against the judgment of a majority of his senate GOP colleagues.

And if advance forecasts are right, while Taft is attacking the treaty and its international implications, most of the other Republican senators running for reelection at the same time will be defending the pact.

Of 12 Republicans up in next year's elections, only two others—Sen. Forrest Donnell of Missouri and Sen. Milton Young of North Dakota—have said they will vote against the treaty.

This Week's Music

By DONALD KEY

A first performance of the "Concert Overture, Cyrano de Bergerac" by Philip Bezanson, an SUI theory instructor, will open Wednesday evening's SUI orchestra concert at 8 p.m. in the Iowa Union.

Bezanson, who is working on a Ph.D. degree in musical composition, said this overture was composed almost exactly a year ago as a composition project.

It is a short work in sonata form—a typical orchestral overture. The title "Cyrano de Bergerac" was chosen after the number was finished. Bezanson said he had the "Cyrano" type of play in mind while working on the overture, but the number was not on any specific theme.

Musically it is "boisterous and jolly with overtones of tragedy—music that is easy to listen to," Bezanson said. "Actually, the less said about the music, the better. I'd rather have an unprejudiced reaction."

Other compositions by Bezanson include a symphony, a string quartet, an octet for winds, a violin sonata and other works for chamber groups. At present, he is working on a new symphony.

Bezanson expressed his appreciation for having his composition played not only in concert but also on a national broadcast.

The overture is on the program for the NBC broadcast July 30.

Beethoven's "Symphony No. 3 (Eroica)" will be performed on the last half of Wednesday's concert.

The writing of this work was prompted by Beethoven's sympathy for the nations struggling for freedom during his time, especially France where the liberation movement was then being led by Napoleon Bonaparte.

Some critics and musical historians say the work was based on and inspired by Napoleon's life. To prove the statement they recall the remark made by Beethoven when asked to write music for Napoleon's funeral.

Speaking of the second movement of his "Eroica Symphony," he said, "It has already been written."

Regardless of the associations that may be inferred, the work does carry the basic feeling of "hero" including his triumph, trials, and death.

The moods are not in chronological order. Spiritual triumph is dominant throughout the last movement. The scherzo is joyful and almost robust music, in dramatic contrast to the second which is a slow solemn funeral march.

Two other numbers, "A Somerset Rhapsody" by Gustav Holst, and "Symphonic Sketch, Jubilee" by George W. Chadwick, are also on Wednesday's program.

Gustav Holst's suite, "The Planets," was played by the SUI orchestra last summer and was especially well-liked by the Iowa City audience.

Chadwick was an American composer of the early 1900's. His works for the most part are melodic and consonant. Novel rhythmic cal patterns and full-bodied fortissimos makes his music especially enjoyable for American audiences.

Rehearsals for the Honegger symphonic poem, "King David," are now in progress. This work will be fully performed on Aug. 3 at 8 p.m. in the Iowa Union, and the last half of the work will be presented on the NBC broadcast July 30.

Soloists in the oratorio will be Thomas Muir, SUI assistant professor of voice, tenor; Faye Von Draska, SUI voice instructor, contralto, and Edith Leococq, G. Pella, soprano. Narrator will be Richard R. Lutton, G. Evanston, Ill.

Miss Von Draska said the "King David" is the "greatest musical drama performed by the SUI chorus and orchestra since Verdi's 'Requiem' was presented in the summer of 1946.

"The work is comparable to an opera and is woven together so that the music is fulfillment of what the narrator says. There are no big areas—soloists are servants of the music."

Muir said the tenor solos consist of three short psalms, and "like most of the vocal writing in the work, serve to add a great deal of color to the music."

The work is modern, but not dissonant to the point of being painful to the ears, Muir said.

Last Week's Laughs

NEW YORK — American husbands admitted sheepishly the little woman often puts them on K.P.

An American Magazine poll of 2,350 assorted husbands showed that 84.8 percent do the dishes with some degree of regularity; 53 percent sometimes get their own breakfast, 16.5 percent always do and 38.7 percent know how to whip up a meal.

SAN JUAN, P.R. — On Dec. 27, 1917, a letter from Harry F. Flachs, Southern Railway employee, was posted in Chattanooga, Tenn. It finally reached here last week.

San Juan's city government office announced the letter was addressed to Miss Beatrice Collette, care of the Ana Pavlowa municipal theater. The letter, forwarded from Los Angeles on June 17, 1949, arrived in the regular daily delivery.

This is the story of two people. The story of two fat people. They weren't young people anymore, but neither were they old. They were just two fat people, about middle age.

They crossed Clinton street and they were holding hands. Every now and then they would look at each other and smile. They were happy about something, but it was hard to say just what it was.

Maybe it wasn't important. But they were happy, and that was important.

They stopped in front of a restaurant and looked at the menu displayed in the window. Then they went in, and I followed them. I followed them for no particular reason. I was hungry.

They sat down and I could hear much of their conversation. Then I knew why they were happy. They were celebrating a wedding anniversary. They talked like newlyweds and they still held hands.

The waitress came to take their order and the man ordered a complete dinner. The woman asked for a salad and a glass of iced tea.

The man objected to her choice and tried to induce her to eat dinner. But she persisted and told that, because of the occasion, she was going to try to lose weight.

The man looked puzzled and asked her why. He seemed quite upset—and it was apparent the subject had never been discussed by them before. She told him that no one likes a fat woman and so she was going to lose weight for him.

He didn't understand that, and he told her so. He told her it didn't make any difference to him. He told her he had never even thought of her as being fat. He told her that he didn't want her to change.

"I'm fat too," he said. "Then it really doesn't make any difference?" she asked.

He assured her it didn't, and they looked very happy again. She explained it had been bothering her for some time, and she had decided to do something about it on their anniversary.

She had heard people talking, she told him. They had said she was fat and that she didn't even want to do anything about it.

He told her not to listen to what people say.

"I'm happy with you," he said. "and that's what counts, isn't it?"

She smiled and said it was. "If you really mean it," he said.

The door of the restaurant opened and a man came in and walked toward their table.

"Well, if it isn't mister and missus five-by-five," he said. The two people greeled him and asked him to sit down with them.

"We were just going to eat," the woman said. "I'm having my salad now. You can help me select my anniversary dinner."

The man sat down. In a way that's a funny story. In another way, it isn't so funny.

CHORDS AND DISCORDS

BY DRAKE MADRY

Today's popular music fluctuates between two possible extremes: good and bad. The bad end lacks the depth and feeling that so distinguishes the music on the good end.

The bands that consistently play popular tunes with the jazz idiom always in mind include Duke Ellington, Charlie Barnet, Elliott Lawrence, Gene Krupa, and a few others.

The aforementioned quartet keep the jazz beat and swing in their renditions of popular songs. This fact keeps them consistently in the eyes of the man on the street without being tagged as a "mickey mouse" band.

The beat and the swing provide the limits that the sideman and vocalists must have in which to perform best.

If a band does have a thought or an idea to put across, be subtle in the process. Give the listener a little chance to figure things out for himself. Don't slap him right in the face with your musical ideologies.

On the other hand, don't make the mistake that Stan Kenton made: to leave too much up to the listener. By the time Kenton had finished a concert, his customers were in such a state of frustration they didn't know where to turn.

This is the fault of so many present day bop combos. They are all wrapped up in presenting their own feelings and ideas. If the public complains, or wants danceable music, the cry of "square" is heard for miles around.

After all, the idea is to please the patrons, not yourself or your fellow musicians.

Sometimes I wonder —

Iowa Vet Bonus To Buy Homes, Not New Autos

DES MOINES (AP) — The first trickle of an $85-million boost to business in Iowa and some other states has begun flowing. It is in the form of bonuses to Iowa veterans of World War II.

The first checks, about 10,000, were placed in the mails Friday. They averaged a little less than $400. A spokesman for the bonus board said the bulk of the checks would be in veterans' hand by Dec. 1.

A representative of the Des Moines Veterans' Information center said the indications were that a sizable amount would be used as down payments on homes.

The Des Moines office of the Red Cross, which has assisted thousands of veterans with their bonus applications, said quite a few would spend their money for repairs on their homes.

A representative of the office said: "It's the common thought that the veterans will use their bonuses to buy new cars. But from the information we have, they are going in for some worthwhile project, home repair being most common."

A bonus board official said information available there is that the money will go for a large variety of uses. He said:

"We had a letter recently from a veteran now living in Texas. He said he needed his money very badly to pay a doctor bill. He said the doctor was pressing for payment."

"In a post script, the doctor verified that he had been pressing for payment. The statement was even notarized."

Internationals Plan Picnic at Macbride

The International club will hold a picnic at Lake Macbride Saturday afternoon, Asoke K. Gupta, chairman of the cultural committee, said yesterday.

The faculty and students of all nationalities will be welcome, Gupta said. The party will leave the Iowa Union at 3 p.m. and return at 8 p.m. Cost of the picnic will be 75 cents per person.

Reservations should be made at the receptionist's desk at the office of student affairs beginning tomorrow. Car owners are requested to report to the desk the number of extra passengers they can take, Gupta said.

In case of rain the meeting will be held at 3 p.m. at Roger Williams house, 230 N. Clinton street, Gupta said.

Children's Swim Parties Scheduled

Johnson county children will have at least two more free swimming parties at City Park pool.

Roy L. Chopek Post No. 17, American Legion, will sponsor a party from 3 to 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and the Lions club will sponsor the event on July 25, City Recreation Director J. Edgar Frame said yesterday.

C.B. Kritt, chairman of the recreation and playground commission's committee on the parties, said last Monday's event was cancelled for lack of a sponsoring organization.

The admission-free pool parties were planned so all Johnson county children could swim one afternoon a week, Kritt said.

Recreation Posts Available Overseas

College women trained in group recreation are needed as recreational workers for army service groups in the Pacific, Frances Camp, SUI coordinator of placement, said yesterday.

Positions for assistant service groups directors and recreational director are now open in Japan, Guam, Okinawa and Korea. The government provides transportation, she said.

Library Foundation Nearly Completed

Eight hundred concrete pilings which form the basic foundation of the new SUI library have been completed. Construction Timekeeper B.R. Paulson said Friday. Work on the west basement wall is finished.

Workmen now are capping groups of pilings with concrete, forming piers several feet high. These piers will support girders which will be erected beginning in late September.

Because steel is not readily available work on the library may be slowed between now and September, Paulson said.

Researchers Seek to Better School Aid Program in Iowa

DES MOINES (AP)—A research project now underway is expected to yield some recommendations to the 1951 legislature for changes in the school aid program.

A spokesman for the state department of public instruction indicated that yesterday when he said:

"The program is big enough so that it ought to be right. And we ought to be sure it does what we want it to do."

Miss Jessie M. Parker, department superintendent, in announcing the project this week, said a 17-member committee has started the task.

She said all groups interested in education will be called in later "to help formulate and agree upon a plan which it is hoped can be submitted to the next session of the legislature with the united support of all interested groups."

"Now that the amount of state support has reached $22.5-million (annually) it is time that the existing program be carefully evaluated and a determination made as to whether or not the pattern of state aid is sound," she said.

The department spokesman said the advisability of continuing the present program was questioned during the 1949 legislative session. He cited a bill introduced in the senate but not enacted. It was the so-called "one-package" support plan, designed to replace several separate programs now being carried out.

The sponsors of that bill felt that the aid program was not quite what it should be, and that it was not doing what it should do, the spokesman said.

He added: "The questions run something like this: should aid be given to special groups, should it be in the form of flat grants to all, or should aid go only to those who need it?"

"The research program will attempt to get the answer to these and other questions."

Iowa State Education association leaders held a meeting several weeks ago, and indicated the organization will want some changes in the aid program, primarily more money.

Spokesmen for the association said that the objective of the early 1940's—25 percent state aid to schools—now has been gained.

But they called attention to the fact that more money is needed now than in the early 1940's because of the increased costs of operating schools since then. They also said the average state aid to schools has risen since that time to beyond what Iowa gives.

Civil Service Has Commissary Jobs

Applications for the positions of housing officer and commissary officer with the civil service commission will be accepted until July 25, Lester J. Parizek, local civil service secretary, said yesterday. Salaries for the positions range from $4,103 to $5,232. Positions to be filled are located at Hot Springs, S.D.

No written test is required. Applicants will be rated according to education and experience.

Further information and application blanks may be obtained at the civil service window in the Iowa City postoffice.

Forgery Warrant Sent To Sioux City Police

Iowa City police said yesterday an arrest warrant for Lyle Budd, wanted here on charges of forgery, is being sent to authorities in Sioux City.

Budd was arrested there earlier in the week after a general warrant was made out for him in Iowa City. He is wanted here on grounds of cashing two false checks.

SUI Student Group To Spend 5 Weeks On Tour of Mexico

A group of SUI students under the supervision of Ralph Schlomg, director of the SUI student YMCA, will spend five weeks on a sightseeing and study tour of Mexico.

Leaving Iowa City Aug. 11 will be Elsie Barnes, A4, Cedar Rapids; Laura Richards, Maquoketa; Jack Magarrell, A4, Council Bluffs; Gordon Wahls, A4, St. Olaf; Ralph Borck, A4, Detroit; and Audrey Kirsch, A4, New York City.

Another group from other colleges and universities throughout the United States will leave Iowa City on Aug. 1 under the supervision of the Rev. John Craig, pastor of the First Congregational church and Mrs. Ralph Schlomg. Both groups will meet in Mexico City about Aug. 16 for a two-week tour of cultural, historical and entertainment spots there.

The group will live in private homes while in Mexico City. "By close association with Mexicans, we hope to get to know them," Mrs. Schlomg said.

On their return the SUI group will make a several hundred mile tour between Mexico City and the Texas border.

The group from the other colleges will make the trip to and from Mexico in Schlomg's pullman-style truck. The SUI group will probably travel in a school bus, Mrs. Schlomg said.

The cost of the trip, including transportation, lodging, board, entertainment and guides is $210 per person. Mrs. Schlomg said vacancies still exist in the SUI tour group.

Local Tax Groups To Meet Monday

Iowa City's three taxing groups will meet at 5 p. m. tomorrow in the city hall council chamber to review a new budget for the city assessor's office, Mayor Preston Koser said yesterday.

Included in the budget will be salaries of the city assessor and his deputies, members of the board of review and office personnel, costs of appeals, court costs and office supplies.

According to law the budget must be made by July 13, of each year by the city assessor and must be reviewed by the taxing bodies by July 21, Koser said. When the budget is determined, each tax group pays one-third of the annual costs.

The three taxing groups are the city council, Johnson county board of supervisors and the Iowa City school board.

Sharman an International Threat?

SHARMAN IS STAYING HOME MORE NOW THAT HER FATHER, U.S. Ambassador to Britain Lewis W. Douglas, is afraid that love might become involved with politics and break-up American-British friendship. The London Daily Mirror said yesterday that Douglas fears that Britain's Princess Margaret and Sharman might fall for the same man—a situation they describe as "awkward." Both girls have been traveling in the same London set.

Catholic Sisters Enjoy 'Fraternity Life' at SUI

A fraternity sun porch is now a chapel.

That's one of the temporary changes at the Sigma Chi house where 20 Catholic nuns are living this summer.

Sister Mary Assumpta of the Cedar Rapids of Mercy order said every nun's home has a chapel. Thus davenport and settees were moved out—with the "Joe College" atmosphere at Sigma Chi—and an altar and chairs moved in.

But the house still has a remnant of fraternity life—a house-mother. She is Sister Mary Bernard, Cedar Rapids, who does the buying and general managing of the house. A cook is hired, however.

As in a fraternity, the sisters help with menial tasks—like cleaning the lounge and dusting the floors.

The 20 sisters are from Concordia, Kan., Cedar Rapids, Dubuque and Clinton. All except three are working for master's degrees in eight different fields, including commerce, biology, English, music, chemistry, history, physics, and education.

Two attended the Latin workshop here which closed July 11. More than 200 Catholic nuns have lived in fraternity or sorority houses here during the last 10 summers, Sister Assumpta said.

"We lived at the Sigma Chi house about four years ago, then lived at other houses until this summer," she said.

Some of the sisters are beginning work for M.A. degrees while others will be graduated in August of this year or next. Sister Marie Antoinette, Ph.D., is dean of Mary Mount college, Salina, Kan.

All the others teach in high schools or grade schools, Sister Assumpta said.

She said nuns attend several schools throughout the nation, but usually only during the summer when working for advanced degrees. Most of them from this area get their B.A. at Loras college here.

Some schools which sisters attend besides SUI are Marquette St. Louis university, Catholic university, Washington, D.C., St. Mary's at Notre Dame, St. Catherine's, St. Paul, and Loras college, Dubuque.

A sister's day here starts early. They get up at 5:20 a.m., then have prayers until breakfast at seven. They have mass every day, also, Sister Assumpta said.

After breakfast they attend classes or study until lunchtime. Then more classes and study fill the hours until supper which is followed by more prayers, she said.

After evening prayer a sister's time is her own until lights out at 10, unless she is working on a paper, thesis or some such project. Sister Assumpta explained.

"We like college life," she concluded. "We find the faculty here very kindly."

Iowa Judges Say Juveniles Present Greatest Difficulty

Many Iowa judges believe that juvenile cases are their most difficult responsibility, according to the results of a survey reported in the current issue of the Iowa Law Review, published by the SUI college of law.

The survey, made by F. James Davis, formerly of the SUI department of sociology, was made of 73 Iowa judges having juvenile jurisdiction. Of the 73, 60 answered the survey questionnaire or were interviewed.

One judge stated "I worry more about one juvenile case than several dozen regular law suits, because the latter concern only dollars and cents, but in juvenile court we are dealing with our children."

Nearly two-thirds of the judges interviewed or surveyed believe that a youngster who is in trouble should not be sent to a correctional institution except as a last resort.

The "father-son" type of talk with the juvenile delinquent was recommended by 31 judges, while 26 said it is their duty to give the offender an idea of the "might of the law."

The court should lecture the delinquent to impress him with the seriousness of his act, according to 44 of the judges.

The state would save money in maintenance costs of training schools and penal institutions, the judges argued, if more adequate juvenile facilities were established, the state institutions expertly staffed and an intermediate institution created.

The judges suggested that public-spirited organizations spearhead a public education campaign to get voters to demand changes in the juvenile situation.

Funeral Tomorrow For Mrs. Brubaker

Funeral services for Mrs. Jennie J. Brubaker, 69, No. 207 Myrtle avenue, will be at 2 p. m. tomorrow at Beckman's. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Brubaker died Friday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H.W. Strickler after a short illness.

She was born March 30, 1880, in Scott township. She married Ralph Brubaker Dec. 9, 1903. He preceded her in death late in 1939.

Survivors include a half-sister, Mrs. Mary Veblen, Del Mar, Calif., and two step-sisters, Mrs. Florence Brown, Union township, and Mrs. Laura H. Cleaves, Yarmouth, Maine.

151 Game Law Violators Arrested, Fined in June

The Iowa state conservation commission reported recently that 161 arrests for violation of fish and game laws were made last month.

Convictions were secured in 151 cases and penalties included $2,965 in fines.

SUI Artist Creates Fluorescent Art

BY CARL BRANCE An SUI graduate art student has created what he says is probably the only fluorescent painting in the world worthy of being called a work of art.

He is Robert McMahon, of Coralville, whose painting, "Abundance," is painted entirely in fluorescent pigments and is visible in full color under ultra-violet light.

McMahon has been working on the painting as a thesis project for his master of arts degree which he expects to get in August.

McMahon said he wants to establish the esthetic value of the fluorescent paint medium in serious art creation.

"I am sure it is a new medium that will be used in the future," he said. "Other work in it has been done only for novelty value."

The painting is 4 by 8 feet on a rigid panel. It appears mostly white and buff-colored in ordinary light with little suggestion of form or color.

Under ultra-violet radiation it has a general tone of light gold and green with velvety black and rich vivid blues, yellows and greens.

The difference in color of fluorescent paints created a problem in painting. "I had to learn how to paint all over again," McMahon said. "I had to mix colors like mixing theater lights."

When yellow and blue fluorescent paints are mixed the result is white instead of green as in ordinary paint. Blue and green also yield white instead of blue-green.

"I painted it mostly under ordinary illumination, then painted in the finer details with the aid of an ultra-violet activating lamp," he said.

"The paints are only in white, blue, yellow, green, orange and red. I can get a greater color range by glazing (painting one color on top of another). By painting yellow on top of blue-green I get a bright green."

"When the invisible ultra-violet light falls on the fluorescent painting, it is changed into visible light," McMahon said. "The painting does not, therefore, reflect light, but instead produces it."

"I think fluorescent paintings will have a definite place as large-scale murals or wall paintings in buildings where there is low illumination such as in churches and theaters," McMahon said.

He discovered that fluorescent paint has permanent qualities when he found a discarded palette that had been left outside exposed to the weather for a year. "I cleaned it off and it was still fluorescent," he said. "I decided that if it would stand that, it was suitable for fine arts work."

McMahon painted 12 experimental paintings before he began work on "Abundance" at the beginning of the summer session. It will hang on the landing between the second and third floors of the art building.

He received his bachelor of arts degree at SUI in general science

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

STEWART HOLBROOK declares that it was the railroads which established the four "standard" times—Eastern, Central, Mountain and Western—in the United States. The agitation for such a move was started, surprisingly, by the principal of a school for girls.

The railroads put into practice on Oct. 18, 1883, amidst widespread prophecies of confusion and accidents, none of which was borne out. Two adamant hold-outs were a Tennessee preacher named Watson, who pounded his watch into a pulp with a claw hammer in his pulpit, explaining that the four time belts made timepieces worthless, and the Federal government, which officially ignored the system for the next thirty-five years.

I once met a newspaperman who had toured with Alf Landon during the 1936 campaign and still spoke feelingly about it. "If Landon had made just one more speech," he said, "I'm convinced that F.D.R. would have carried Canada."
