Farm Subsidy Plan Modified To Save Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's farm bill, embodying a trial run for the Brannan farm subsidy plan, was modified by its sponsors last night in an effort to head off a threat of defeat at the hands of an opposing Democratic-Republican coalition.

Chairman Harold Cooley (D-NC) of the house agriculture committee announced the administration-sponsored bill would be revised to restrict the Brannan plan trial run to two years, with a definite restriction of the experiment to potatoes, eggs and shorn wool.

"I think the administration bill will win through bi-partisan support," he later told reporters. The house begins the crucial farm debate today.

The administration forces gave ground, by restricting the crops on which the Brannan plan can be tried. As now drawn, the measure lets Secretary of Agriculture Brannan select three perishable foods or two perishables and wool, on which to try out his subsidy plan.

The new restriction agreed upon by the administration forces definitely would eliminate hogs as a crop on which the secretary could make a trial run.

The Brannan plan calls for letting the price of perishable foods drop to their natural level, instead of shoving them up with government purchases and loans. To keep farm income up to a predetermined level, the government then would pay subsidies to farmers.

Critics have protested that if the plan were tried out on pork, consumers would eat more of it because of the lower price and that this would lead to a collapse of prices for beef.

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan yesterday asked house monopoly investigators to check up on the "middle-men" who stand between the farmer and the consumer.

Testing before a house judiciary subcommittee which is inquiring into restrictive trade practices, he said that a small number of large firms dominate the food processing industry.

He pointed out that retail food prices have not dropped nearly as far or as fast as the prices which farmers receive for their produce, and suggested one reason is the still-high profit margins being taken by middlemen.

Food Profit Check Asked by Brannan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican party yesterday picked Sept. 23-24 at Sioux City, Iowa, for a farm conference aimed at winning back the rural votes it lost in the 1948 presidential election.

The meeting is one of a series of regional huddles on party policy and strategy planned by Republican national leaders to lay the groundwork for the 1950 congressional campaign.

The Sioux City session will be the GOP answer to a big rally the Democratic party staged at Des Moines recently to whop up support for Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan's new farm plan.

Committee Approves Military Pay Boost Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $300-million pay raise bill for the uniformed services was approved, 9 to 1, yesterday by the senate armed services committee.

The group made some changes affecting higher officers in the bill as passed by the house.

Lowest ranking enlisted men receive pay boosts of three percent. From there the increases would range upward to 40 percent for brigadier generals, with higher generals receiving a somewhat smaller increase. When the legislation was introduced it was

Steel Fact-Finding Board Meets at White House

MEMBERS OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S fact-finding board in the steel labor dispute met in Washington yesterday for a 45-minute organization get-together at the White House. The board set July 28 for the start of public hearings on a fourth round wage increase in the

U.S. Officials Split On Giving A-Bomb Secrets to England

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials were reported sharply split yesterday on the question of giving atomic bomb secrets to the British.

A British foreign office acknowledgment that it is in touch with U.S. officials "over general atomic subjects" lent added weight to reports that a preliminary decision on the issue may be forthcoming soon.

However, the final decision rests with congress. There is general agreement here that the atomic energy law prevents giving atomic bomb information to the British or anyone else without the consent of congress.

The law also says that "there shall be no exchange of information with other nations with respect to the use of atomic energy for industrial purposes" until congress declares by joint resolution that effective international safeguards have been set up against the use of atomic energy "for destructive purposes."

The question of imparting bomb know-how to the British was reported discussed at the Blair House conference of government leaders with President Truman last Thursday night.

Members of congress who are close to the situation say there is no doubt that the British want access to developments from which they were cut off when the end of hostilities brought a halt to wartime atomic cooperation.

President to Open Shrine Convention

CHICAGO (AP) — Stately Michigan boulevard was a shambles yesterday as thousands of festal Shriner took over the city for their diamond jubilee, and greatest convention.

The 75th session opens officially today with a typical Shrine parade and the formal address of President Truman in Soldier's field.

The President, a member of Kansas City's Ararat temple, will speak for 20 minutes before an estimated 100,000 persons, who also will be privileged for the first time to see the secret ritual opening the Shrine session.

Mr. Truman will also speak informally at an evening dinner.

Fact-Finding Board Sets Date For CIO-Steel Wage Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman's fact-finding board yesterday set July 28 for the start of public hearings on the question of a fourth round of post-war wage increases in the steel industry.

The hearings will be held in New York. Chairman Carroll Daugherty told newsmen after a 45-minute organization meeting at the White House that he expects cooperation from both sides in the dispute over wages, pensions and insurance.

He said he is not anticipating any controversy of kind. Daugherty, professor of business economics at Northwestern university, also predicted that the three-man board will be ready to make its recommendations well within the 45-day period specified by Mr. Truman.

The board was appointed by Mr. Truman in a successful eleventh-hour move last week to avert a threatened strike in the steel industry.

At Mr. Truman's personal request, CIO President Philip Murray postponed the walkout until Sept. 14, unless the controversy is settled by that date.

Meanwhile, steel was reported flowing from the nation's furnaces at a virtually undiminished rate.

Chairman Daugherty told reporters at the White House that the fact-finding board will meet in New York July 28 — two days before the formal hearings begin — to arrange for "procedural matters" with union and industry officials.

He said the decision to delay the opening of hearings until 10 days hence will give both sides ample time to prepare their evidence for the board's consideration.

In addition to Daugherty, the board is composed of Attorney David L. Cole of Paterson, N.J., and Samuel I. Rosenman of New York, former special counsel to President Truman.

Troops Attack Palace After Guatemala Killing

GUATEMALA, GUATEMALA (AP) — Tanks and armored cars attacked the national palace yesterday after the assassination of Col. Francisco Javier Arana, 37, chief of Guatemala's armed forces.

A government bulletin warned citizens to stay off the streets, as fighting broke out at the palace and in other parts of the city.

The situation was confused, however, and there was no official account of the circumstances which caused the fighting.

is virtually the same as the one approved by the house. The senate committee gave the generals a pay increase over the house bill — but cut back the special flight pay of general and flag officers from $210 a month to $150.

Generals, lieutenant general and major generals would receive an increase of $192 a month in their present base pay and brigadier generals would be upped $219.50 a month.

explained that officers, unlike enlisted men, have not had a general raise for years.

Chairman Millard Tydings (D-Md) of the senate committee said Sunday he doubts if senators will wish to pass it unless savings are made elsewhere in the military costs to offset it. He referred to the unification bill which will be dropped out in conference between the two houses.

Committee members said the total involved in the senate bill

British Dominions To Slice Spending

LONDON (AP) — Commonwealth financial leaders answered Britain's appeal for help yesterday by agreeing to slice about 25 percent from their billion dollar annual spending in the western hemisphere.

The emergency action was taken to halt the drastic drain on sterling area gold and dollar reserves. It means the commonwealth nations, including Britain, this year will spend about $650-million less in the United States and other dollar countries than they did in 1948.

The finance ministers of seven British dominions and Southern Rhodesia, a self-governing colony, said they would recommend to their governments "action comparable in its results to that already decided upon by the United Kingdom."

Burn Negro Houses; Guard Patrols Area

GROVELAND, FLA. (AP) — Mob violence broke out in this central Florida farm section last night as fire was set to a group of Negro houses two miles west of here.

National guardsmen were called out again to patrol the community after three Negroes admitted rapping a 17-year-old white woman.

Omission of Spain from Pact Called Mistake

WASHINGTON (AP) — A complaint that the framers of the north Atlantic security pact made a mistake by omitting Franco Spain was made in the senate yesterday by Sen. Harry Cain (R-Wash).

Cain stressed what he termed Spain's strategic position in event of a conflict with communism. He also said the door should be held open for Sweden, Greece and Turkey to join the alliance.

The senate is near the end of its long debate on the pact. It is due to vote at 3 p.m. (Iowa time) Thursday, with the backers of the treaty confident that the necessary two-thirds will be mustered and that the treaty will be ratified without reservation.

Cain, a World War II paratrooper, said he intends to vote for the treaty, but he criticized several phases of it.

GOP Chairman Quits To Save Party Unity

Step 1 — First Stop the Bleeding

AUSTIN, MINN. (AP) — Well-meaning companions put a tourniquet around Thomas Downey's neck after he received a head cut in a fall from a truck Sunday.

A woman passerby persuaded them to loosen it. Downey, 25, was revived when an ambulance arrived. He was released from the hospital yesterday.

Truman Raises Defense Powers by New Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman yesterday issued an order welding the armed forces into closer unity by strengthening the powers of the secretary of defense.

The decree becomes effective in 60 days unless the senate or house should disapprove it in the meantime. Mr. Truman acted under powers given him by the recent reorganization act.

He said under the reorganization law, he couldn't effect budgetary reforms by executive order. But he said his order does the following things:

1. The national military establishments become the department of defense.

2. The defense secretary will have "authority, direction and control over the department."

3. The army, navy and air force continue as executive departments under their respective secretaries.

4. "The plan does not change, or authorize the secretary of defense to change, the statutory assignment of combatant functions, roles and missions" to the three services.

5. It removes "the oppressive restrictions and limitations imposed on the secretary of defense" by the present law. It makes him the sole representative of the department on the national security council.

6. The three subordinate secretaries are taken off the national security council, and they lose their right to go over the defense secretary's head to deal directly with the president and budget director.

7. Provision is made for a deputy secretary of defense, in place of undersecretary; three assistant secretaries of defense, a chairman of a new personnel policy board set up under the plan, and a chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Taking note of criticism, Mr. Truman denied it would make a dictator out of Secretary of Defense Johnson.

Calls Meeting Of Committee, Promises Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Hugh Scott Jr. (R-Pa) announced last night he is resigning as Republican National chairman in the interests of a unified GOP capable of wresting control of congress from the Democrats in 1950.

Scott, who has been under fire from hostile factions in the party since the stunning Democratic upset victory in last November's presidential election, said he had called a meeting of the national committee in Washington Aug. 4 to accept his resignation.

He said any new chairman selected by the committee "will have my full and unreserved support." Scott was elected to a four-year term after Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York was nominated as the Republican standard bearer in last year's presidential race.

With Scott out of the picture, speculation immediately centered on his probable successor. One possibility is John A. Danaher, former U.S. senator now practicing law in Hartford, Conn., and Washington. He is rated among the ablest Republicans.

Danaher has the backing of Sen. Robert Taft (R-Ohio) and would be agreeable to the Dewey faction in the party. Another argument likely to be offered in his favor is that he has not sought and probably does not want the job.

Sen. Owen Brewster (R-Me), who was counted among Scott's critics, said a successor should be chosen with an eye on the congressional elections in 1950, and to the various GOP 1952 presidential possibilities.

Brewster said he favored a successor who could devote his full time to the job. He said Scott was entitled to a "great deal of gratitude" for his conduct of party affairs "during the very difficult period since election day."

Another senate source said he believed Scott's successor would be a mid-westerner because many party officials now are drawn from eastern states. Former Rep. J. Edgar Cheneveth of Colorado, and A.T. (Bert) Howard of Nebraska, were mentioned as possibilities.

Scott's announcement, which was contained in a simple one-page press release distributed by Republican headquarters, apparently indicated that opposing factions within the GOP had been able to decide on a harmony candidate to succeed him.

Scott told a National Press club luncheon last week that he would not step down until such a successor had been found.

Group to Mediate In Hawaiian Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the federal mediation service arranged tentatively last night to meet on Friday with the parties to the Hawaiian waterfront strike in an effort to settle the dispute by negotiations.

In accordance with a resolution adopted earlier by the senate labor committee, mediation service officials met with Harry Bridges, chief of the striking CIO longshoremen's union, and James P. Blaisdell, representing seven Hawaiian stevedoring companies, to work out mediation procedures.

Rutledge's Retrial Hearing Date Set

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — A hearing on a defense motion for a new trial for Dr. Robert Rutledge, 28, St. Louis, was set yesterday for July 27 by District Judge J.E. Heslerman.

The physician was convicted in May on second-degree murder charges after a month-long trial. A jury found him guilty of the hotel room stabbing of Byron Hattman, 29, the alleged seducer of Rutledge's wife.

The defense has requested a new trial because of prejudice on the part of one of the jurors and improper procedure in a demonstration of how the crime was committed. Prosecution attorneys, who are preparing to oppose the motion, presented the re-entertainment of the crime in their final plea to the jury.

Robinson Steals Home in Sixth

BROOKLYN (AP)—Jackie Robinson stole home for the third time this season, and knocked in another run with a triple to lead the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 3-0 triumph over the Chicago Cubs last night.

Lefty Joe Hatten hurled the shutout, allowing his "cousins" only five hits. The victory increased the Dodgers' first place lead over the St. Louis Cardinals to two and a half games.

In the sixth Robinson opened with a walk, stole second and went to third on Mickey Owen's poor throw. Then, with one away, Jackie stole home for the third time in four attempts this year. Hatten's victory was his eighth of the year. He allowed five hits, all singles, and walked two.

White Sox' Tallies In 10th Inning Beat Yanks, Win Series

CHICAGO (AP)—George Metkovich's tenth inning single scored Fred Hancock and Bud Souchock with the tying and winning runs as the Chicago White Sox defeated the New York Yankees, 6-5, before 32,968 persons here last night. The Yankee loss, coupled with Cleveland's 1-0 victory over Boston, cut the New Yorkers' league lead to four and a half games.

The extra inning victory spurt marked the second time Chicago came from behind to wipe out Yankee leads. Joe DiMaggio tripled home Hank Bauer, who walked, for a 3-2 lead in the eighth.

Chicago matched this in the ninth, Dave Philley connecting to score Luke Appling after Charles Kress had been cut down at the plate on Cass Michaels' bunt.

DiMaggio used his third straight hit, a single, to score Jerry Coleman with the first of two Yankee runs in the tenth. Then Phil Rizzuto who also cashed three hits, scored on Gene Woodling's force play roller.

In the White Sox half of the tenth Don Wheeler opened with a single off Joe Page, who replaced Starter Clarence Marshall in the sixth. After Bobby Rhawn flied, Hancock batting for Max Surknot, the winning pitcher, tripled to score Wheeler.

Tommy Byrne replaced Page and walked Souchock and Charles Kress to load the bases. After Appling flied without producing a score, Metkovich delivered his game-winning blow.

The victory gave the White Sox a 2-1 series edge, their third straight by such a margin.

Jackie Goes to Washington

(AP Wirephoto) JACKIE ROBINSON testifies to the house un-American activities committee. The Brooklyn Dodgers' second baseman told the committee yesterday that if Singer Paul Robeson "wants to sound silly" in public, that's his business. Robinson said Negro Americans would fight for this country "against Russia or any other enemy."

Robinson Tells Congressmen Robeson 'Silly'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jackie Robinson, Negro baseball star, told congress yesterday that no American would throw away his investment in this country because of Negro Singer Paul Robeson's "siren song sung in bass."

The Brooklyn Dodgers' hard-hitting, base-stealing second baseman said the Communists, in attempts to recruit Negroes, used another "siren" method which, for the most part has been unsuccessful.

They used to send out young ladies," he said. "We had enough intelligence to realize what it was all about."

The first Negro to break into organized baseball, Robinson was the final witness at house un-American activities committee hearings on the loyalty of American negroes whom Robeson had said would never fight for the United States in a war with Russia.

As for Robeson's statement to the Communist-sponsored "peace rally" in Paris that no American Negro would fight against Russia in case of war, the broad-shouldered Dodger star said:

"He has right to his personal views, and if he wants to sound silly when he expressed them in public, that's his business and not mine."

He cautioned the committee not to confuse activities of Communists with the life of Negroes or other minority groups and to believe that somehow they are connected.

He said he debated a long time before testifying because it is unpleasant to be in "the middle of a public argument that has nothing to do with the standing of the Dodgers in the pennant race—or even the pay raise I am going to ask Mr. Rickey for next year."

Robinson said he could not qualify as an "expert" on anything but baseball.

A's Pound Detroit In 10-Innings, 13-8; 2 Homers by Groth

DETROIT (AP)—Rookie outfielder Johnny Groth of the Detroit Tigers found his way back to the home run trail yesterday as he walloped a pair of four-baggers while the Bengals were dropping a 13-8 decision to the Philadelphia Athletics in 10 innings.

Groth's return to the slugger form he showed in the early days of the American league campaign provided some solace for the Tigers who were outright 19 to 11 by the A's.

The Athletics had to win the hard way. They saw the 8-1 lead they held in the sixth inning vanish as the Tigers struck back to tie the game in the last of the seventh.

The Mack team broke loose with five runs and seven hits in the top of the 10th as they teed off on the offerings of Stubby Overmire and Dizzy Trout, the last of the six Tiger pitchers to see action.

Alex Kellner, the A's young left-hander, started for the A's but was unable to hold the lead over the Tigers, the only American league club he has not beaten this year.

Scheib replaced Kellner in the seventh.

The A's 19 hits included three homers. Eddie Joost got his 19th, Sam Chapman No. 15 and Majestic No. 9.

Snead Wins Top Place In Dapper Dan Tourney

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Sammy Snead pumped his pars and birdies out of Alcoma's soggy fairways as methodically as the oil well that stands behind the 18th green to win the $2,600 top money in the Dapper Dan open golf tournament yesterday.

Under pressure all the way as a result of Lloyd Mangrum's final round of 67, Snead came through with the score he needed, a one-under-par 71, to win by one stroke.

Blackwell, Erauff Hold Braves To Three Hits, Triumph, 6-1

BOSTON (AP)—Lanky Ewell Blackwell and Eddie Erauff limited the Boston Braves to three hits, including Tommy Holmes' fourth homer of the season, yesterday to give the Cincinnati Reds a 6-1 decision that evened their 1949 competition at seven games all.

Long before that, however, the string beanish right hander appeared bothered by the 92 degrees temperature and the unbearably high humidity.

After Al Dark followed Holmes with a single, Blackwell, complaining of a stomach ailment, was relieved by Erauff, who drew credit for the win.

The Reds clinched their second triumph in the three game series by blasting Vernon Bickford for five runs in the third inning on a quintet of singles plus Virg Stallcup's double.

Glenn Elliott then relieved Bickford, who was striving for his 12th win, and Red Barrett took over the Boston mound in the sixth.

Boxer Vince Foster Killed In Minnesota Highway Crash

PIPESTONE, MINN. (UP)—A highway crash yesterday snuffed out the life of Vince Foster, 22 year-old Omaha welterweight who went far along the road to fistic greatness before he fell a victim of his own unpredictable temperament.

A part Potawatomi Indian who later took to Bible-reading for solace, Foster died several hours after the car he was driving smashed into the rear of a trailer truck at an intersection near here.

A companion with him, Ruth Newcome of Helena, Mont., also was killed and three other passengers were injured, two seriously.

A free-swinging, two-fisted batter, Foster also was known as a "wild" kid who got into minor scrapes with the law. His promising ring career suffered a serious setback last February when a Kansas City girl accused him of rape.

The boxing public had hailed him as a postwar "golden boy" when he invaded New York after a string of successes in the mid-west and knocked out Veteran Tony Pellone in the 7th round at Madison Square Garden Jan. 14.

But in May Charlie Fusari knocked him out and Foster faded from the limelight. He blamed emotional upset over the rape case for the loss to

Hawklets Rally, Win in 9th, 9-8

City high advanced to the finals of the summer baseball district tournament here last night, eking out an overtime 9-8 win over St. Ambrose of Davenport, in nine innings.

Keith Mulford's double in the last inning drove in Rox Shain, who got on base on an error, with the winning run.

Shain provided a "Frank Merriwell" finish in the last of the seventh. He slammed a home run over the center fielder's head with two men on base to tie the score at eight-all and send the contest into extra innings. Shain's homer followed hits by Jim Cilek and Jerry Anderson.

Dick Doran started on the mound for the Hawklets but gave way to Whitey Diehl in the fourth after Don James of St. Ambrose walloped a homer with two on to give them an 8-4 lead.

Diehl finished the game, allowing no hits. He struck out seven. Doran struck out 10 batters in the 3 1/3 innings he worked.

Favorites Stay in Valley Meet

The 42nd annual Missouri Valley tennis tournament got underway here yesterday, with most of the seeded players not scheduled or drawing byes.

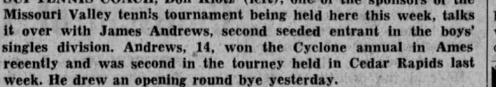

Matches were scheduled to start in the morning; however, rain held up any action until mid-afternoon, when matches on the clay courts north of the fieldhouse and on the courts adjoining the library annex were played.

Total entries for the week-long tourney reached 125, with the largest single division being the men's singles, with 52 competitors. Other divisions were junior, 44; girls', 28; boys', 29 and women's, 33. Some players are entered in more than one division.

Competition yesterday was in the boys' singles, girls' singles and junior men's singles. The men's singles will begin tomorrow, with Dr. Dick Hainline, Davenport dentist, winner of the Iowa Open in Cedar Rapids last week, scheduled to meet his first opponent. He is seeded No. 1 in the meet here.

Jamie Andrews, Iowa City's 14-year-old tennis star, winner of three tourney trophies so far this season, drew a first-round bye, while his brother, Arthur, defeated Larry Day of Kansas City in a boys' singles match.

Jamie is seeded No. 2 in the boys' division. Earlier this year he won the Cyclone Annual in Ames recently and was second in the tourney held in Cedar Rapids last week. He drew an opening round bye yesterday.

SUI Couples United In Saturday Nuptials

The marriage of Miss Phyllis Lockridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lockridge of North English, and Donald Beezley took place Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in St. Paul's Lutheran chapel.

Mrs. Beezley is a graduate of the SUI school of nursing and has been serving on the staff of University hospitals. Mr. Beezley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Paul Beezley of Council Bluffs, is a junior in the college of pharmacy at the university.

The Rev. J.F. Choitz officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with candelabra and sprays of yellow and white gladioli.

Mr. Lockridge gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a street length dress of white and yellow frosted organza styled with a rolled collar, fitted bodice and full skirt. Her hat was of white straw trimmed with marquisette and she wore white eyelet gloves. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid.

Mrs. L.A. Miller III, Iowa City, was matron of honor wearing a white faille dress with blue trim. She wore a white faille sailor-style hat and a corsage of yellow carnations.

John Beezley, Omaha, Neb., was his brother's best man and ushers were Richard Moats, Council Bluffs and Donald Souhloff, Iowa City.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church parlors. The couple will live at 918 Iowa avenue after July 25.

Amish, Pierce . . .

Miss Doris Mae Amish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean J. Amish, 33 Highland drive, and Alvin F. Pierce were married Saturday at 2 p.m. in St. Wenceslaus church.

The bride, an employee of the office of audio-visual aids at SUI, is a graduate of St. Mary's high school and attended the university. Mr. Pierce, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pierce, Los Angeles, Calif., is a junior in the university's college of liberal arts.

The Rev. E. W. Neuzil officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white organza, styled with a high neckline, fitted bodice and full skirt. Lace insertions trimmed the short puffed sleeves and skirt. Her full length veil was held in place by a tiara of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses and white gladioli.

Miss Josephine Rocca, 718 N. Gilbert street, was maid of honor. She wore a powder blue organza dress fashioned after the bride's. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

Best man was Howard Wombacher, 825 E. Davenport street, and ushers were Urban Wombacher of the same address and Ralph Wombacher, 1131 E. Davenport street.

A reception was held for the couple at the home of the bride's parents. The couple will live at 423 S. Madison street.

30 Johnson County Residents to Steam Up the Mississippi

About 200 persons from Iowa, including 30 Johnson county residents, will make a steamboat trip on the Mississippi river July 30 and 31, William J. Petersen, superintendent of the State Historical society, said yesterday.

Two steamboats, the Rob Roy III commanded by O.D. Collis and the Alma commanded by Dwight Seaman, will leave Clinton at 7:30 a.m., go upstream to Bellevue and return at 6 p.m. each day.

The historical society, sponsor of the event, received replies to invitations for the steamboat excursion from residents over 40 Iowa counties, Petersen said.

The society ceased accepting Iowa City applications at 3 p.m. yesterday and placed a midnight deadline on those from other parts of the state.

"The interesting fact about the returns was the widespread reaction from all parts of the state," Petersen said.

Five persons from Chicago, two from St. Louis and one from central South Dakota also have signed up for the trip, Petersen said.

Prominent Iowans who applied for the excursion include Earl Hall, Mason City Globe-Gazette; John Von Lackum, Waterloo Courier; Gene Poston, Corydon, democratic floor leader in the Iowa house of representatives during the past session, and former congressman Fred C. Gilchrist, Laurens.

Former President Herbert Hoover and W.W. Waymack, former member of the atomic energy commission, expressed regret that they couldn't go on the trip, Petersen said.

No Man's Land

The garden-snipping incident in Hawkeye village Wednesday underscores the conflict between moral and legal rights.

The legal question of whether the student-gardeners had any right to plant vegetables along the Iowa river banks has not been decided yet. But even that issue is a cloudy one.

Morally, there's little doubt over which side is in the clear. A group of enterprising students, walking the tight wire of a balanced budget on veterans subsistence, saw an opportunity to help defray living expenses by planting a garden.

No one had granted them specific permission to plant the garden, nor had they been denied permission.

Several months back, then, the gardens were planted. No one said a word about the legality or illegality of using the river banks for gardening.

Then with surprising suddenness, a crew of weed-cutters leveled the gardens with a power mower and sickles.

Extra pains had been taken by the students to set off their garden patches from the weeded areas. There could be no mistaking the gardens for the weeds.

Then, too, there's the question of why the weeds were not cut before the middle of July. The vegetables were given ample time to bloom and produce food — then, just as they were ready to be picked, they were destroyed.

Legally, there's a fine line to be drawn between public domain and university property. To complicate things, the university had assumed the responsibility of caring for the "no man's land."

Whether state land, cared for by state university authorities, should be cleared of gardens belonging to state students at a state-endowed university, in the name of weed-cutting, poses a knotty problem.

The gardeners claimed no squatter's rights in the area. They had not been warned their garden patches were out of bounds. Indeed, they had been encouraged by some gardens that had been allowed last year in the same area.

In previous years, the land has been an eye-sore. The gardens improved the appearance of the area.

There's very little that can be done to bring back the $100 worth of food that was destroyed.

One Hawkeye villager summed it up pretty well, "The food's gone. It's too bad, but no amount of yelling will bring it back. If yelling would help, I'd sure do it, though."

A. F. Whitney: More Than an Obit

Recounting the life of A. F. Whitney, labor leader and political liberal, becomes more than one-man's obituary — it is the history of organized labor in politics for the past half century.

Whitney joined the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen at Eagle Grove, Iowa, in 1896. Working his way up the union hierarchy, he was first elected BRT president in 1928. Typical of so many union presidents capable of building an inter-union political machine, Whitney was able to beat down all opposition and win an unending string of re-elections.

He became the respected and virtually unchallenged head of the powerful railroad brotherhood. This enabled him to enter the national political scene.

It is here that Whitney's career becomes synonymous with the career of organized labor in American politics. Up through the years, Whitney supported Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson, Robert M. La Follette, Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

During President Truman's term, Whitney once stalked defiantly from the White House muttering that the President was a "political accident." When Mr. Truman halted the famous 1946 rail strike, Whitney publicly vowed to spend $7-million to defeat the President.

He belonged to the Progressive Citizens of America, but deserted when the PCA backed Henry Wallace's third party in the 1948 campaign. Later he joined the closer-to-the-center Americans for Democratic Action.

Whitney never spent his $7-million to defeat Mr. Truman. Instead, he lined up behind Mr. Truman in January of last year after a "wonderful interview" with the President in the White House.

Whitney's presidential voting record looks haphazard. He flitted from Republican to Democratic to Independent and back again. He liked to quote the single-tax theories of Henry George and to rant at "Wall Street," claiming bankers had too great a hand in rail management.

But his record is no more spasmodic than labor's record. The closest Whitney, and labor, ever came to a political maxim was the whimsical "reward your friends and punish your enemies" doctrine.

Beyond voting records, Whitney's experiences with politics follows closely the experiences of organized labor as a whole.

In 1946, his BRT joined the Locomotive Engineers in calling a strike for higher wages and changes in working rules. President Truman called Whitney and Grand Chief Engineer Alvanley Johnston to the White House and had them agree to postpone the strike.

While Mr. Truman was addressing congress, recommending that the strikers be drafted, the rail unions settled the dispute for far less than they had asked.

Whitney called the President's action the "double cross." It was then that he vowed to defeat the President. But two years later he was swelled with exuberance over Mr. Truman's victory.

His most recent blast at political figures was a call to "purge" the U.S. senate for its actions on pending labor legislation.

After 76 years, the man who began his career as a 15-year-old candy butcher on the Illinois Central railroad is dead. But he will long be remembered as a leading figure in the area of American society where organized labor, giant corporations and big government constantly meet and grapple.

Princesses Are Human, Too

Times haven't changed much since the days of Edward the Confessor or Henry VIII. British people still talk about their monarchs' scandalous goings-on.

Now the British again are warming to their task, but they have a prettier subject than usual. A news story tells how the British are tearing down the reputation of Princess Margaret for appearing at a fancy-dress ball in the costume of a can-can dancer.

The guests must have liked it because they asked the troupe in which Princess Margaret performed to repeat the dance. The only ones who don't seem to like it are the people who think the young lady is just about the most scandalous ever carrying royal blood in her veins.

Young Princess Margaret is probably just an English girl with a dash of the spice and pepper that makes American girls famous and envied the world over. And it seems rather nice for a change, too. Let's let her live her life as a girl and not as a princess.

Iowa Farmers Investing — Power Machine Buying Rises

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa farmers had the highest number of tractors and harvesting machines in history on their farms last Jan. 1, according to a report by Secretary of Agriculture Harry D. Linn.

Heavy purchases of power machinery last year increased the number of tractors 6 percent, corn pickers 16 percent, combines 19 percent and pickup hay balers 30 percent.

The figures are based on the Jan. 1 farm census inventories of 1948 and 1949.

The tractor figure averaged more than one per farm last Jan. 1. Actually, there were 105 tractors for every 100 farms.

The greatest regional increase was in the south central portion. The gain there was 9 percent. Otherwise, the gain was 5 percent or more. "The rapid increase in tractor numbers on Iowa farms during the last 10 years is contrasted by the disappearance of horses and mules during the same period," Linn said. He added:

"Combined horse and mule numbers were 834,000 head in 1939, and only 298,000 in 1949, a decline of 64 percent."

"During the same period the number of tractors on farms increased from 110,831 in 1939 to 212,790 in 1949, a gain of 92 percent."

On last Jan. 1, there was an average of one tractor for every 104 acres of crop land harvested. The east central region led with one tractor for every 87 acres of crop land harvested.

The southwest and south central portions lagged behind other regions with one tractor for every 115 acres harvested.

The number of corn pickers on farms last Jan. 1 increased in every section of the state from 9 to 33 percent. The greatest percentage or gain was in the south central part, and the least in the north central.

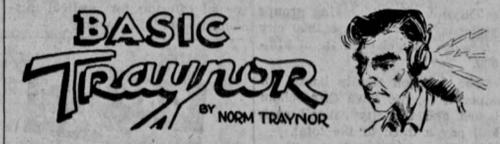

There was one picker for every 147 acres of corn harvested in the state last fall. The east central section led with one picker for every 123 acres. The south central portion was low with one picker for every 193 acres harvested.

The number of grain combines increased throughout the state. The greatest increase — 23 percent — was recorded in the northwest and west central sections. The least increase was 12 percent, in the southeast.

Although showing the smallest increase in numbers during the year, the southwest led in the number of combines per acre of small grains and soybeans harvested in 1948.

There was one combine there for every 145 acres. The northwest section was lowest with one combine for every 269 acres harvested.

The increase in numbers of pickup hay balers varied from 14 percent in the southeast section to 42 percent in the northwest. The north central section led with one baler for every 221 acres of hay harvested last year. The south central was lowest with one baler for every 626 acres harvested.

Undoubtedly this is a slow time of year for everything. But when someone gets a brain storm and sends a crew of men out to cut down a few harmless gardens, I begin to wonder about things.

Really now, didn't they have anything better to do? A big bunch of grown men going down there and hacking away at corn, tomatoes, and cucumbers. What for the same reason. Just for the novelty of it.

As I said, we around here know that but what about people in other parts of the country? If Washington ever gets ahold of the story, they may not understand the circumstances and dispatch an investigator or two in this direction.

If they had to play trail blazer, why didn't they pick another spot for their game? There are some places around here that, for fear of coming out with jungle rot, I wouldn't walk through.

You've got to give them credit for one thing, though. They really did an efficient job. The place looks like a 20th Century version of the "scorched earth policy." It's so level you could shoot a fairly decent game of pool on it.

Some people are taking measures to protect their gardens. They seem to think that camouflage is the answer. One person has used it quite effectively.

He told me that, for the past few days, someone has been following him around trying to find the location of his garden.

He's never seen the person who follows him but every time he leaves his house he sees the top of a head around the corner or a pair of eyes peering over the refuse can.

So you owners of gardens, be mighty careful. If you see any suspicious looking eyes staring at you from behind trees, don't lead them to your gardens. There is no telling where they will strike next.

Most of them live in trailers, not in an attempt to cut down on living expenses, but because they like the novelty of it. Anyone can live in an apartment. No doubt they planted the gardens

TO THE EDITOR:

It is unfortunate the people of the state of Iowa have been incorrectly informed of the facts and circumstances involved in the cutting of gardens along the Iowa river bordering Hawkeye Village.

The publicity this incident received was unjustified. The newspapers stated an area two blocks long and from 30 to 35 feet wide planted in patches of garden were cut. Actually three small patches of garden were cut.

One patch measures approximately 10 by 27 feet, another patch 12 by 30 feet and the remaining patch 18 by 46 feet. This larger patch, which was planted in watermelons, was only about 25 percent damaged.

These three patches were planted in an area less than one block long. They were planted separately with weeds growing in between the gardens. There was one small patch near the south end of the area which was not significant enough to be measured.

I believe this presents a much different picture from that previously given by the local newspapers. A newspaper photographer at the scene failed to take pictures because, he said, the patches would have blended with the surrounding weeds and would not have been distinguishable as gardens.

The foreman in charge of the group cutting the weeds did not say, "Cut the gardens down."

He did say the weeds would have to be cut and if it was necessary to cut down the garden patches in order to cut the weeds, it would have to be done.

The weeds were cut by horse-drawn mower and since the patches were so small, it was necessary for the horses and mower to proceed through the patches in order to cut down the surrounding weeds.

If the gardens had been properly organized in one area, and properly tended, it probably would not have been necessary to cut them while cutting the weeds along the river.

It would also have been better had these people who planted these gardens obtained permission from University authorities and received assurance it was all right to plant gardens in this area.

The gardens were not sickled as reported by a woman from Hawkeye Village. The employee to whom she talked was cutting weeds by hand which were close to the fence and could not be cut by the mower.

My concern in writing this is to show the incident was not clarified and was exaggerated in reports given by local newspapers.

It is too bad this situation occurred, but let us hope in the future such plans for gardens, etc., can be worked out with University officials in a satisfactory manner.

SIGN OF THE TIMES

CHICAGO (AP) — A sign was posted recently on a North Side bowling establishment. It reads: "Rita's got her Aly. Come in and get yours."

The United States and her allies seem to be working toward a more realistic policy regarding peace treaties.

There is a possibility that there will be no German treaty, in the usual form. At least it seems a long time off, and so does the Japanese.

The Communist situation in China, with its resultant Russian effort to make a Japanese treaty a four-power affair so she can play around with it as she has the German settlement, has served to cool much of the allied ardor for a far eastern peace conference.

Immediately after the war there was a rush to make peace treaties. Those signed with Germany's former belligerent satellites are not working and have been the subject of numerous allied protests.

The Italian treaty has been vitiated as its regards Trieste. The matter of her former African colonies is still up in the air.

In its limitations on armed forces, the treaty has embarrassed the defense against Communist expansion.

The Austrian treaty is still under negotiation. There are some indications only Austrian insistence has prodded the allies into this one, too, although it also serves to widen the split between the communists and Yugoslavia.

When Russia dropped her support of Yugoslav claims to Austrian Carinthia she burned her bridges with Tito and, going beyond inter-governmental politics, handed the Yugoslav people an unforgettable slap.

If the treaty goes through Austria will give Russia some business concession, pay Russia $150-million over a six-year period and Russia will release some 300 industrial enterprises.

The deal is being made by the allies. Secretary Acheson has said he thought it was going through Austria considers it a good bargain.

(The allies have that in writing, so no future Hitler may rise up and claim the country was railroaded.)

But hardly anyone thinks that peace treaty will end the differences between the allies and Austria on one side and Russia on the other.

With regard to Germany, things are just expected to rock along. The new government in the western ones will cooperate with western Europe, take a formal position within the Marshall plan circle, but is hardly likely to be asked to sign a formal "separate peace."

The division of Germany between east and west seems likely to go on for years. Ultimately, it probably will be the Germans themselves who overcome the split.

There will be a government in eastern Germany too. Behind the backs of the Russians it will, in all likelihood, start playing ball with the western Germans.

Gradually, with neither Russia nor the west willing to go to war over specific minor steps, a new Germany will emerge. That's the bet of some of the most competent observers.

But peace treaties, which somehow seem to fail when brought up against the developing facts of life, are not likely to play much part as world settlement develops. In the big case, between east and west, there hasn't even been a war or a break in diplomatic relations to sign a treaty over.

Communists Troubled by Floods, Drouth

SHANGHAI (AP) — This year of the Chinese Communists' greatest success is also becoming a year of great trouble.

The Communists have had to take over operation of a vast, war-devastated and impoverished land. This was a task the Nationalists were unable to perform even with foreign help.

A severe spring drought in Communist north China has sharply reduced crop yields. Details have not filtered through the news blackout in the north, but the Communists have slashed farm taxes, indicating the drought was damaging.

After the Communist's massive crossing of the Yangtze river, with capture of Nanking, Shanghai, Hankow and Hangchow, the drive south has been bogged by the worst floods in two decades.

All the way from Shanghai province in the north to Kwangtung province in the south, rivers are out of their banks. Thousands of acres of rice and other food crops are beyond salvage.

Nationalist "closure" of Communist-hid ports, although not recognized by the big powers, has blocked maritime commerce. Shipping companies simply refuse to accept the risks, whatever the niceties of the legal view may be.

Finally, Shanghai, with nearly 6-million people, is one of the world's most difficult cities to manage. It is proving just as cantankerous for the Communists as for the Nationalists. Prices are skyrocketing while the Communist grimly try to hold the line against inflation — just as the Nationalists vainly did time after time. Labor unrest is growing.

German Radiomen Express Surprise Over WSUI Set-up

Four German broadcasters, on tour of the United States, yesterday expressed surprise at the completeness of radio station WSUI. "It is one of the very finest stations we have seen," one of them remarked.

Dr. Gabriele Strecker, Heinrich Wiedemann, Ruth Leibenhagen and Elsa Schiller are on a 60-day tour of the United States under the auspices of the American military government and Columbia university, New York City.

Purpose of the trip is to acquaint the radio executives with radio technique in this country and also to let them observe how Americans live under the democratic form of government.

German radio, according to Dr. Strecker, is sponsoring a vast education program to teach the people democracy.

"The German radio is a stronghold of anti-Nazism," she said. Dr. Strecker quit practicing medicine to take part in this program.

The number of radio stations in the United States impressed all four of the broadcasters. "It is unusual to see so many stations in small cities," Dr. Strecker remarked. "In Germany there aren't many stations."

All the radio executives began broadcasting in 1945. They explained that before that time they could not broadcast since they were not Nazis.

The group left for Denver last night where they will spend some time before returning to the east coast.

49'ers Book Club Begins Summer 'Gold Rush'

"CALIFORNIA OR BUST," is the motto of the young contestants in the "49'ers" club at the Iowa City public library. The "49'ers," a summer reading group, meet each Thursday to answer questions on their reading. A correct answer earns a point for one of the 10 teams and moves its covered wagon a short space on the map toward the goal, Sutter's Mill, Calif.

California or Bust — Young 49'ers Retrace Gold Rush in Contest

BY DICK DONAHUE

About 20 young Iowa City "49'ers" between the ages of 9 and 12 dig for knowledge instead of gold at the public library every Thursday afternoon.

They belong to a literary club and call themselves the "49'ers," referring to the gold rush to California a century ago.

A large map of western United States with the northern, Santa Fe and California trails marked on it shows the roads the young "49'ers" travel. They are making their imaginary trip from Independence, Mo., to Sutter's Mill, Calif., in 10 miniature covered wagons.

They begin at Independence because that was the outfitting and caravan-forming point for the westward-bound gold seekers back in 1849. Sutter's Mill is their terminal point since gold was first discovered there in 1849.

Although 70 boys and girls belong to the "49'ers," only an average of 20 can tear themselves away from outdoor summer entertainment to attend the weekly session. Library Director Joyce Nienssted said.

Teams of seven children each, with rotating captains, have been formed to represent each wagon. Each time a member of a team successfully answers a literary question, his team's wagon moves a short distance toward Sutter's Mill.

Those "49'ers" who have reached Sutter's Mill by July 28, the last day the group will meet this summer, will win a "Paydirt Pete" prize.

At the close of last Thursday's meeting, wagon 8 was in the lead, being on the border between New Mexico and Arizona.

Members of wagons 3 and 7 have been having trouble answering their questions, and are still on the outskirts of Independence.

Miss Nienssted said she prefers team rather than individual competition because it gives the little "book worms" a chance to boost the other members of their teams.

Thursday, the "49'ers" were quizzed on their knowledge of book titles. Dick Fowler, 11, 1611 E. Court street, was given the direction, "part of a hand and a word," as a clue to a title. He came up with the correct answer, "Knuckles Down."

Improvements Cost Gas Firm $40,000

The Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company is spending at least $40,000 this year to improve pressure and extend mains for new connections in Iowa City, District Manager R.H. Lund said yesterday.

Lund said the work was necessary because of the increasing drain on Iowa City's gas distribution system.

According to Lund the improvements will not materially increase the total amount of natural gas available to the city. This will not be accomplished until a third interstate pipeline is completed, possibly in 1951, he said.

Rail Companies Ask Transfer of $40,000 Suit

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad company and the Pullman company, defendants in a $40,000 damage suit brought by R.J. Baschnagel of Iowa City, yesterday filed a petition to have the case removed to U.S. district court in Davenport.

The petition asked that further action in Johnson county district court be stayed.

The petitioners claimed the controversy in the civil action is wholly between citizens of different states, and that the original suit filed by Baschnagel fails to show of alleged any controversy between citizens of Iowa.

(The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad company is incorporated in Delaware and the Pullman company in Illinois, the petition claimed.)

R.J. Baschnagel, 1005 Muscatine avenue, filed the $40,000 damage suit June 29, 1949, as the result of an accident Aug. 18, 1947, in which he allegedly fell from a moving train in Iowa City.

The plaintiff charged he was thrown to the ground and received severe and permanent injuries as a result of an employee's careless and negligent actions.

Baschnagel asked $40,000 judgment for medical expenses, pain and agony and his inability to perform his usual business duties due to his injuries.

Solicitors Ordered To Leave Iowa City

Police Judge Emil G. Trott yesterday suspended fines against four members of a magazine-selling crew on condition they pay court costs of $1.25 each and the entire crew leave town.

The four were charged with soliciting without a permit. Court costs were paid in the name of L. E. Witcher, manager of the group.

In other police court action, Clyde Albrecht, 319 Iowa avenue, was found not guilty of exploding fire crackers in the Strand Confectionery, 131 S. Dubuque street.

Orland Chapman, Columbus Junction, was fined $7.50 for intoxication, and Charles Michel, 1103 E. College street, was fined $12.50, also for intoxication.

Major Boyles Appointed Army Judge in Germany

Major Francis R. Boyles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. X. Boyles, 229 Melrose court, has been appointed staff judge advocate of the Heidelberg, Germany, military post. Boyles is a graduate of the officer training school, the air force intelligence school, the staff intelligence school and the command and general staff college.

'Bloomer Girl' Song Act Loused Up by June Bug

DALLAS (UP)—Eleven hours sleep and two meals yesterday restored Broadway singing star Nanette Fabray to normal after a bout with bugs which broke up a performance here on her show, "Bloomer Girl."

Halfway through the closing performance Sunday of a week's Dallas engagement, Miss Fabray, who suffers from a childhood phobia about insects, was attacked by a June bug which dropped into her costume, causing an hysterical outburst which forced cancellation of the remainder of the show.

It was the 28-year-old star's first appearance in an outdoor theater during her professional career.

"I've always steered clear of places like Dallas' State Fair Casino for that very reason," she said yesterday. "I have a deathly fear of bugs."

Asked whether she planned any future work in open air theaters, she laughed, "If they can invent one without a bug, I'll be there."

She fought insects, attracted by spotlights, all last week, and said that if the June bug hadn't invaded her clothes Sunday night, she would have been all right.

"But when I felt it next to my skin, I couldn't keep from screaming, which I understand I did with quite a bang."

The scream brought the stage manager from the wings to assist her off stage. A doctor gave her a sedative immediately for hysteria. She returned to her hotel and slept "like a top," she said.

Her phobia was caused by a swarm of grasshoppers which crawled over her as she was riding in an open touring car at the age of five, she reported.

"Everyone, I guess, suffers from some little fear or other," she said. "That just happens to be mine."

Entertainers along the Main Stem recalled incidents when everything from snakes and white mice to sharks and hooded gangsters had "gotten into the act."

Lipchitz, Kreis Sculptures Bought for SUI Fine Arts Collection

PURCHASED FOR SUI'S FINE ARTS COLLECTION are these two sculptures by well-known artists. "Sacrifice" by Jacques Lipchitz (left) and "Girl Withdrawn" by Henry Kreis were chosen by Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of SUI's school of fine arts, from 12 sculptures recommended for purchase from the 58 pieces on exhibition in the art building. "Sacrifice," in bronze, was purchased for $1,200 and "Girl Withdrawn," a study in Georgia Pink marble, for $1,000, Harper said. Purchases were made from non-tax funds allotted to the university. "I am personally very happy to have these two works come into possession of the university," Harper said. "I have every reason to believe that the faculty and the art department are happy in the choice I have made." According to Prof. Humbert Albrizio, SUI sculpting instructor, Jacques Lipchitz is one of the foremost contemporary sculptors of international fame. "Kreis is one of the younger prominent sculptors in America and is widely known for his architectural sculpture and his creative work," he said.

Prof. A.S. Gillette, SUI dramatic arts department, designed the setting and the costumes were designed by Prof. Bernice Prisk of the dramatic arts department. Gregory Foley, summer session guest director, will direct the play. He graduated from SUI in 1923 and is engaged in theater work in Highland Hills, N.Y. The final play of the summer session, "Berkeley Square," a comedy by John Balderston, will run August 2 through 6.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

OVER in England, two cockneys were riding up to London on the morning train when they spied a dignified old party on the bench opposite immersed in his morning Times. "Bli' me," said one in awe, "it's the Archbishop of York."

"Ye're cuckoo," scoffed the other. After heated discussion, they bet a quid on it. "Only one way to find out," said the first. "I'll ask 'im!"

He poked the old party vigorously in the back and said, "Beg pardon, mate, but to settle a bet, are you the Archbishop of York?" The old man put down his paper angrily and said very distinctly, "What the blank blank do you mean by bothering me this way? Buzz off, you blank blank blank, before I pull the bell cord."

The cockney resumed his seat with a puzzled air and admitted, "I still dunno whether it's the archbishop or not. 'E wouldn't tell me!"

Church Invites DP's to City

A European family of four displaced persons will be invited to the Iowa City Presbyterian community in three months, the Rev. P. Hewison Pollock, pastor of the Presbyterian church, said yesterday.

Assurances of a job, housing, and transportation have been sent to a family through the Presbyterian board of foreign missions and the church world service. When all formalities are completed, the International Relief organization will bring the displaced family to this country, Rev. Pollock said.

One of the Presbyterian families in the city has promised to contribute more money in case of deficiency in contributions from the church members. Another farm family has assured them a job on the farm. Still another family has promised a trailer if there should be any housing difficulty, Rev. Pollock said.

They are assured of 1. Transportation from an American port. The International Relief organization brings displaced persons to America. 2. A job which will not displace an American worker. 3. Housing which will not displace an American family. 4. A reasonable assurance that the family will not become a public charge.

Under the displaced persons law, and in terms of an agreement of which they are informed before coming, money spent on this family will be repaid out of their earnings when they are here and earning, Rev. Pollock said.

The committee for displaced persons is Elder H.M. Heaton, Deacon Elmer Sievers and Trustee E.L. Titus, Rev. Pollock said.
