Eleanor Called 'Anti-Catholic' In Church School Aid Stand

NEW YORK (UP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman accused Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt yesterday of anti-Catholicism "unworthy of an American mother" in her opposition to giving federal educational funds to parochial schools.

In a sharp personal letter, the high-ranking church prelate, archbishop of the New York diocese, charged that the widow of the late president repeatedly had pleaded causes that were anti-Catholic and that her newspaper columns had "spun and spread their web of prejudice."

At Hyde Park, Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary said the letter had been received but that there was no comment. She said Mrs. Roosevelt probably would reply personally to Cardinal Spellman and did not believe the reply would be made public.

Cardinal Spellman centered his bitter attack on Mrs. Roosevelt's syndicated "My Day" column of June 23 in which she stated she did not want to see "public education connected with religious control of the schools, which are paid for by taxpayers' money."

The cardinal said those words were written out of "misinformation, ignorance or prejudice, not from knowledge and understanding."

Mrs. Roosevelt had written in connection with the Barden bill, now before congress. Legislative action on it is not expected before July 29.

House Democrats Seek Compromise

WASHINGTON (P)—House Democratic leaders are trying to work out a compromise that will permit action this session on the $3-million Barden aid-to-education bill, it was disclosed yesterday.

The measure, already passed by the senate, is dammed up behind a bitter religious dispute in the house in which Catholic congressmen are charging the house version is anti-Catholic because it prevents use of funds for parochial and other private schools.

Senate Bloc Seeks Cut in Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (P)—The senate yesterday opened debate on the $5,573,724,000 foreign spending bill and promptly headed into a sharp battle over economy bloc efforts to trim the total.

The bill provides funds for the second year of the Marshall European Recovery program, aid to Greece and Turkey, and occupation costs in Germany, Austria and Japan.

London Dockers to Return to Work Monday

LONDON (P)—London dockers yesterday called off a wildcat strike that paralyzed the port for 25 days and forced the government to place the teeming waterfront under virtual martial law. They voted to go back to work Monday.

The vote came a few hours after the labor government — which blamed Communist agitation for the tieup — seized two American union leaders and ordered them deported.

Home Secretary Chuter Ede said the Americans, Louis Goldblatt and John Maletta, had

"Communist affiliations" and had come to London in connection with the strike.

Goldblatt, whose home is in San Francisco, is secretary-treasurer of the CIO International Longshoremen and Warehousemen headed by Harry Bridges.

Maletta was described by American union officials as a dispatcher for a Seattle local of the ILWU.

A third union leader, a Dutchman whom Ede named only as Blankenzee, was also

Committee Votes to Continue Vets '52-20' Law for 1 Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate labor committee moved Friday to keep the "52-20" jobless veterans law on the books.

With the law expiring Monday, the committee unanimously approved a year's extension urged by President Truman, but modified some of the existing rights.

Under the law, on which the government has spent $3,620,000,000 since September, 1944, veterans out of work receive federal pay up to $20 a week for 52 weeks. About 600,000 veterans are now drawing the benefits.

A similar extension bill has been held up in the house veterans committee. Chairman John Rankin (D-Miss) says it's going to stay there. He calls the benefits "sit down money and rocking chair money."

Since the extension bill would have to be passed by both senate and house and signed by President Truman before becoming effective there is no chance of preventing the law from expiring, at least temporarily, beginning Monday.

Backers of the legislation are hoping against hope that congress will pass the extension bill before it adjourns, and thus re- vive the law. But they are not too hopeful, in view of Rankin's stand.

The senate committee met a presidential request with an amendment requiring veterans to file claims under state employment laws first. Mr. Truman had said the benefits should not be available to those eligible to compensation under state laws, except where necessary to bring state payments up to the federal level, or where state benefits are used up.

Dignitaries Attend Funeral of Frank Murphy

JUSTICES AND CONGRESSMEN gathered at Our Lady of Lake Huron church, Harbor Beach, Mich., yesterday to pay final respects to Justice Frank Murphy of the supreme court who died Tuesday. Pallbearers carrying the casket passed through ranks formed by the officials. Directly behind the casket are Mrs. Margaret Tehan and George Murphy, sister and brother of the late supreme court justice.

Says 'Rose' Stirred Soldiers' Memories

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—The government introduced evidence yesterday that Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino sought to stir the memories of American troops by playing Jerome Kern ballads and mentioning "G-strings" on her Tokyo Rose broadcasts during the Pacific war.

Special Justice Department Prosecutor Tom DeWolfe called to the stand Dale Kramer, New York, former army sergeant and Yank magazine correspondent during the war, who handed over a script of the Tokyo Rose program he said Mrs. D'Aquino gave him during an interview in September, 1945.

The 15,000 strikers decided at a mass meeting to go back to work.

Former Communist Organizer Testifies On Infiltration Plot

WASHINGTON (P)—House investigators yesterday published testimony purporting to show that Soviet agents and American Communists launched a campaign 20 years ago to infiltrate the state department and the armed forces.

The account was given to the house committee on un-American activities at a secret hearing May 6 by Paul Crouch, Miami newspaper employe and an admitted former Communist party organizer.

Crouch, who once was court-martialed by the U.S. army, headed the party's "anti-militarist department" in 1926 and was in direct charge of infiltrating Communists into the army and navy. He said the plans were worked out at a Moscow conference which he attended.

The state department end of the campaign, he said, was handled by a "tall Russian who spoke broken English" who was presented to him as "the head of the OGPU (Soviet secret police) in the United States."

"The Russian," he testified, "was interested primarily in the question of any Young Communist league members in the state department or other branches of the government, the possibility of placing members in such jobs, urging that all with any possibility should apply for government jobs."

Confiscated items seized in a raid on a Johnson county tavern owned by Kenneth Smith were ordered forfeited by Police Judge Emil G. Trott yesterday.

The items were seized by state agents July 13 in a raid on the tavern located on highway 22 in Fremont township.

Confiscated items included four slot machines, a carton of slot machine tickets, a punchboard, a jar of gambling tickets and several bottles of liquor.

Judge Trott said, "The defendants appearing not, nor anyone for them, their default is hereby entered, and the property described in the return to the search warrant is hereby forfeited."

Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy was instructed to retain the property until order of the district court.

French Tribunal Gives Abetz 20 Years in Jail

PARIS (P)—A French military tribunal sentenced Otto Abetz yesterday to 20 years imprisonment at hard labor for war crimes committed while he was Hitler's ambassador to occupied Paris.

Abetz was charged with complicity in the killing of Georges Mandel, former French minister of the interior; aiding in sending French Jews "to the east"; aiding in deportation of Frenchmen for forced labor in Germany; pillage of French art treasures and other crimes.

Truman Delays Giving Congress Arms Plan

'Buck'ing Bronco on the Loose

"Buck," a horse, kicked over the traces and the gate of his corral Thursday night and headed for the wide open spaces and maybe wild oats.

His owner, Prof. Thomas Turner of the SUI music department, 1310 Cedar street, reported the loss to police yesterday.

No trace had been found of the golden tan-colored horse last night, but if you hear one singing "Don't Fence Me In," that'll be Buck.

Senate Probers Reveal Diary Names Generals

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate investigators revealed yesterday a diary kept by James V. Hunt, self-styled "management counsellor," named the two army generals suspended in a drive against "five percenters."

They said the diary, now in the hands of the senate investigating committee, mentioned Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt, chief of the chemical corps, and Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman, quartermaster general.

Both men were relieved of duty by Army Secretary Gordon Gray pending completion of the senate inquiry into "five percent" operations and a separate military investigation.

Chairman Clyde R. Hoey (D-NC) refused to say how the committee came by Hunt's diary but hinted broadly the onetime army officer and former war assets official surrendered it voluntarily.

He said the diary mentioned Waitt and Feldman and there were "lots of other names" in it. But he refused to say whether the names included that of Maj. Gen. Harry E. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, who soon may be hailed before the committee to explain his recent statement that there are "at least 300" five percenters operating in Washington.

Says Diary Lists Truman's Attaches

CHICAGO (P)—The Chicago Sun-Times said last night it has learned the James V. Hunt diary contains the names of Maj. Gen. Harry E. Vaughan and Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, White House military attaches.

The newspaper said it received the information from a "middle-westerner who recently looked through" the diary, which is now in the hands of a senate committee investigating "five percenters."

 BIRMINGHAM, ALA. (P)—The state of Alabama planned to indict the Ku Klux Klan as a corporation in connection with widespread floggings and abductions by hooded bands, it was reported yesterday.

Socialist Leader Greeted at Station

LONDON (P)—Russia fired its first big blast at the Vatican decree excommunicating Communists yesterday in the form of a broadcast saying that the propaganda machinery of the Catholic church had been put at the service of American and British reactionaries in the cold war.

Why the broadcast asked, did not the Pope excommunicate "those who publicly call for a new war, for dropping atomic bombs?"

The broadcast was a commentary by Doris Isakov, foreign expert for Pravda, the Moscow Communist paper, and was distributed here by the Soviet monitor.

The broadcast linked the excommunication decree and the Atlantic pact as anti-democratic instruments.

Czech Communists Defy Vatican Edict

PRAGUE (P)—Czechoslovak Communists defying excommunication said last night they will export "progressive Catholicism" to other countries.

Government spokesmen have asserted bluntly that any attempt to execute the Vatican's decree of July 13 excommunicating militant Communists will be prosecuted as treason.

The government-sponsored separatist Catholic Action movement claims it has supplanted the Czech Roman Catholic hierarchy, led by Archbishop Josef Beran, as the spokesmen for the Catholic faithful in the country.

Senate Leaders Seek 'Cool Off' On Pact Fight

(From the Wire Services)

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic leaders yesterday persuaded President Truman to hold up his $1,450,000,000 arms aid program until Monday to give the north Atlantic pact debate at least the weekend to cool off.

Mr. Truman's 3,600-word message, asking quick action on the arms program to put muscle into the newly-ratified Atlantic pact, had been scheduled to go to the house and senate at noon yesterday.

But White House Secretary Charles Ross said it was postponed until Monday at the request of senate leaders.

Senate Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas confirmed that he had suggested it would be "better to get the message next week." He would not elaborate except to say "there's not that much rush about this thing."

Mr. Truman will ask for $1,130,000,000 for the armies of free western Europe. Most of the weapons would be drawn from the U.S. reserve stocks. The remaining $320-million would be for other anti-Communist nations such as Greece, Turkey, Iran, the Philippines, Korea and possibly China.

The pacetime lend-lease plan is expected to meet much stiffer opposition than the treaty. But Vice-President Alben Barkley predicted, after a cabinet meeting yesterday morning, that both the house and senate will approve it before adjourning.

Meanwhile in Paris thousands of tough security guards in full battle kit surrounded parliament last night in the belief that angry Communists might storm the building as the national assembly opened debate on ratification of the Atlantic pact.

It was expected that the pact would be ratified late Monday night after a two-day debate, with only the Communists voting against it.

However, the government and the assembly's foreign affairs commission made it perfectly clear that France expects its ratification of the pact to be followed without fail by substantial arms aid which will make that country again a first-rate military power.

In Iceland yesterday President Bjornson formally completed action in joining in the north Atlantic pact. The Althing (parliament) voted March 30 to join and this was approved yesterday by the president.

"To go on with this universal race of arms is to invite destruction," the Socialist leader said.

"Never did any civilization face a greater challenge than ours," he said. "You and I in this business are betting our lives."

Andrews Wins Junior Singles

Iowa City Lad 6-2, 6-3 Victor

Jamie Andrews, 14-year-old Iowa City high school student, yesterday won the Missouri Valley tennis crown in the junior mens division when he defeated John Been, Ogmulgee, Okla. 6-1, 6-2.

Andrews, seeded second in the junior mens, had little trouble disposing of the Oklahoma lad who Thursday upset top-seeded Richard Halpine, Omaha, in one of the few major upsets to date in the week-long tourney.

Been and his running mate in the boys doubles, Don McKee, Oklahoma City, came back in the doubles finals to win the crown, 6-0, 6-4, from Richard Bry and Lee Strasser, St. Louis.

In the final round of the girls singles Natalie Coughan, St. Joseph, did as expected when she handily defeated Pat Norman, Sioux City, 6-4, 6-2. Miss Coughan was seeded No. 1 and had little trouble winning from her initial match to the final yesterday.

All four top-seeded players in the womens singles advanced past the quarterfinal round, although Mrs. Nina Brown Hamilton, St. Louis, had to win two sets after dropping the first to get past Doris Jensen, Des Moines, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Mrs. Nora Prosser, Mission, Kans., whose husband is teamed with Dick Hainline in the mens doubles, lost in quarterfinal play to Doris Poppo, Des Moines, 6-4, 6-4.

Today Miss Poppo and Mrs. Hamilton will meet at 1:30 in the semifinals, while the other semi will pit Mrs. Davidson, Lee's Summit, Mo., against Mrs. Joan Gibson, Des Moines.

It was the same story in the mens singles, where the four top-seeded players advanced to today's semifinals with little difficulty. Hainline, the former SUI tennis star who is now a dentist in Davenport, disposed of Ben Bishop, St. Louis, 6-1, 6-2. He will meet Kirke Mechem Jr., Topeka, Kan., today in a semifinal match. Mechem won from Bob Ziervogel, St. Louis, yesterday, 6-4, 6-2.

Hainline and Prosser breezed to victory in the mens doubles quarterfinal round by defeating the Bill Ziervogel and Don Schussler.

Course Record Broken In Tourney Warm-Up

ROCHESTER, MINN. (AP) — A Minneapolis golfer shattered the course record yesterday in a warm-up round for the Walter Sheldon memorial open starting today.

Harry Cooper, of the University of Minnesota, toured the 18 holes with a 68, a record for the course since it was remodeled and toughened. Previously, however, famous Byron Nelson had hit a 66.

Yesterday's play included rounds matching pros entered in the meet with members of the Rochester golf club.

Yanks Overcome Detroit, 8-2

DETROIT (AP) — Lefthander Tommy Byrne of the New York Yankees tamed the Detroit Tigers for the fourth time this season as he beat them, 8-2, on a five-hitter last night.

The crowd of 51,076 saw Byrne beat the Tigers' ace righthander Virgil Trucks for the third time in their four meetings this season.

The Yankee lefthander survived a very shaky first inning in which he gave the Tigers their two runs on three walks and two hits, one of them Pat Mullin's sixth homer of the season.

Byrne got great support from the Yankees as they banged out a dozen hits and came up with three double plays to make his task easier.

The game was just about settled in the fourth inning when the Yankees, who were leading 3-2, mauling Trucks and sent him to the showers.

Meyer held the Reds in check until the eighth when he weakened and walked Claude Corbitt and Pinch-Hitter Danny Litwhiler. Harry Walker beat out a bunt, loading the bases.

Cards' Munger Tops Dodgers' Protections With Cubs Subdue New York, 6-5

NEW YORK (AP) — Hank Sauer's 19th home run, a towering drive over the left field roof in the eighth inning, helped the Chicago Cubs come from behind and defeat the New York Giants, 6-5, yesterday.

Though he was tagged for eleven hits, Johnny Schmitz was in trouble in only one inning — the third. Two errors by his mates didn't help any.

With runners on first and third and one run already in, Sid Gordon lined a routine single to center. Hal Jeffcoat let the ball elude him, and the three runners scored easily.

Chicago sliced the margin to one run in the fifth. Roy Smalley opened with a triple to left and scored on Al Walker's double. After Schmitz fanned, Jeffcoat uncorked another triple to left scoring Walker. Jeffcoat, in turn, came home on an out-field fly.

When Frank Gustine blasted another double, Giant starting pitcher Montia Kennedy was derided in favor of Red Webb.

Webb served up Sauer's 15th home run as a Cub and was charged with the loss.

The Cubs picked up another run in the eighth and Bill Rigney hit a homer in the bottom half of the inning for the Giants.

Braves Dip Bucs; Bickford Injured

BOSTON (AP) — Del Crandall's two on triple in the fifth inning last night clinched a 5-3 win for the Boston Braves over the Pittsburgh Pirates that may be an extremely costly one.

In the seventh, Vernon Bickford, the Tribesmen's most effective righthander, was carried off the field with a possible left instep fracture after being struck by Clyde McCullough's screaming liner.

At the time Bickford had a 4-3 lead and the Braves added another tally for reliever Bob Hogue in the seventh. By drawing credit for the win, Bickford became the National League champions' first 12 game winner.

After being felled by McCullough's terrific grass-cutter, Bickford was removed on a stretcher.

The clubhouse examination disclosed much discoloration. The pitcher, however, was able to depart on crutches for St. Elizabeth's hospital for X-rays, the first of which were negative.

Cleveland Bumps Nats in 10th, 2-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Centerfielder Thurman Tucker's single in the 10th inning scored Pitcher Mike Garcia from second base last night to give the Cleveland Indians a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

Subbing for ailing Larry Doby, Tucker punched in Cleveland's other run, too, with a single that sent home Dale Mitcnell from second in the third inning.

Dangers of Sun-Dried Hair With Cream Treatment

By B. J. MILLER

FOR BLONDES ONLY:

Summertime means frequent hair washings and undoubtedly you have found that drying time is cut considerably when sitting in the sun.

But Old Sol has a burning effect on hair as well as that which demands special attention if you want a smooth coiffure.

effect on hair as well as that which demands special attention if you want a smooth coiffure. Mrs. Clara Harrison, local beautician, gives a word to the wise summer hair-care that enables to stay in the sun.

Blondes are usually in favor of the summer hair bleach from sun's rays whose "drying" effect can be disastrous.

Mrs. Harrison suggests that apply a liquid hair cream to your hair after shampooing. This more readily absorbed by the hair than is brilliantine, although the substance can also be used to allay the burning effects of sun upon the hair.

These creams can also be applied during the week to keep the hair from drying out as result of wind, sun or chlorine content in swimming water.

If these words of warning come too late, Mrs. Harrison advises scalp or oil treatments to rest "shine" to your tresses. Creams, shampoos, with oil or lanolin bases, are also good summertime remedies for dry hair.

For the brunettes who have read this far, a head covering is your safest bet for avoiding the unflattering streaks which can be caused by the sun.

Permanent waves also take a beating from the sun. For these, Mrs. Harrison advocates a protective covering if you spend long hours at the beach or in your own backyard in quest of a tan.

Students Bound for Texas

Five members of the SUI chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary journalism fraternity, left for Dallas, Tex., yesterday morning to attend the organization's national convention.

The women making the trip are Mary Qualley, Des Moines; Beverly Lindsay, Bonaparte; Jean Strong, Marion; Joan Thein, Oelwein, and Mig Righter, Iowa City.

They rented a 1949 Pontiac sedan in Cedar Rapids. Driving will be done by Miss Righter and Miss Strong.

All expenses for the trip, except registration fees, will be paid by the local chapter. The convention opens tomorrow and will last through Wednesday.

The women expected to reach Camden-ton, Mo., the first night. They plan to reach Little Rock, Ark., tonight and Dallas tomorrow.

Included in the convention's program will be forums by Texas' best-known authors and newspapermen, a serenade by Mexican troubadours, a style show presented by Neiman-Marcus department store, a starlight opera and a tour of the Dallas Morning News plant.

Speakers for the convention will include Louis Bromfield, well-known author; Bess Furman, Capitol correspondent for the New York Times; Barry Bishop, head of the Mexico City bureau of the Dallas News, and Marjorie Binford Woods, Chicago, of Modern Bride magazine.

Housing Areas Get More Clotheslines

Clothesline space in SUI cottage apartment areas will be increased in replacing worn out clothesline posts.

Work began yesterday at Fink-bank park, J. Robert Cotter, manager of SUI married student housing, said.

The new posts, which are replacing posts in poor condition, are to be farther apart than the old ones and will also have six or eight lines rather than the former four lines, Cotter said.

Preparation of stoves for winter use also is underway in the married student housing areas. SUI workmen are cleaning all oil burning stoves and stove pipes by using a large vacuum cleaner which cleans a housing unit stove in 15 minutes.

Cotter said the stove cleaning operation was started last summer by the university and proved very effective in cutting down heating problems in winter months.

Vets Can Get Policy Numbers for Dividends

Any veteran who wishes to obtain the policy number of his national service life insurance can get the information from the local Red Cross office, according to Mrs. Loran L. Mathes, executive secretary.

Mrs. Mathes said yesterday the Red Cross office is able to obtain the policy numbers at any time, even before the dividend applications are available.

The national service life insurance policy number must be included on applications for dividends.

Wheat Farmers Get Aid

An allotment of about 550 acres of price-supported wheat has been given to Johnson county wheat farmers this year, County AAA Chairman Ray Smalley said yesterday.

Only this amount of acreage will be eligible for price support and will be divided among farms according to the amount of wheat grown on the farms in 1941.

If Congress Wants the Facts —

A senate rules subcommittee checking up on congressional investigating techniques heard a puzzling statement the other day from a former top investigator.

Under consideration is a resolution by Democratic leader Scott Lucas to reform probing methods. The Lucas proposal is designed to protect individuals from unfair treatment in senate investigations.

Its guarantees sound like a parody on the bill of rights. It would guarantee those accused of wrongdoing the right to reply, to cross-examine their accusers and to be represented by counsel. No public charge could be made unless approved by a majority of the investigating committee.

Testifying against the proposal was George Meader, chief counsel for the now-dead senate war investigating committee once headed by President Truman. Said Meader:

"Now more than ever congress needs access to all the material facts and the opinions and analyses of the best minds of the country if it is to solve successfully the difficult and critical problems facing the nation today.

"It would not be in the public interest to restrict and limit the methods whereby congress can obtain those facts and opinions." Meader successfully outlined the philosophy of congressional investigations. But his fears that the Lucas resolution would endanger this philosophy are foolish.

In order to formulate wise legislation in a dozen or so complex fields, congress devised the committee system. The committees soon decided they needed extensive hunts for facts before they could draft legislation. Meader is absolutely correct in stating the committees and subcommittees need "all the material, facts and the opinions and analyses of the best minds of the country."

That, however, does not give congress the right to waive traditional guarantees of justice, like the right to cross-examine or to be represented by a counsel.

Our courts cannot make decisions after hearing one side of a question. Rather, they listen to both sides present their cases, cross-questioning and pleas. Then and only then do the courts judge the defendant guilty or innocent.

Why suppose then that congress is getting "all the material facts" by listening to an accuser and muzzling the accused? If anything, allowing both sides to present their cases is the only possible way to divorce fact from fancy.

In this sense, the Lucas resolution would not limit or restrict congress in its search for the facts in a given situation. Instead, the proposal would remove foolish, if not illegal, blinders and would keep innocent citizens from being trampled.

Democrats' Paper Majority—

The whipping that President Truman has been taking from the Republican-southern Democrat coalition in congress is a phenomenon that could happen only in the United States.

The GOP-Dixie bloc during the Truman and Roosevelt administrations have been largely conservative, checking liberal new deal and fair deal legislation.

Just the opposite held true during the conservative Coolidge and Hoover regimes. Administration opposition was aimed against a progressive Republican-liberal Democrat coalition.

In 1927, Coolidge's party had a clear majority of 38 in the house, but Republicans outnumbered Democrats by only one in the senate. The coalition, filled with southerners, frequently used its power to thwart Coolidge.

At least three times, Coolidge took major beatings from the 70th congress.

1 — Coolidge opposed a bill to give government control of the Muscle Shoals. The measure was passed by the senate, 43-34. Even in the Republican-dominated house, the bill was passed only to meet Coolidge's pocket veto.

2 — The senate voted for downward revision of the tariff rates, 53-34, over Coolidge's objection. The house took no action.

3 — When Coolidge vetoed the McNary - Haugen farm aid bill, 20 Republicans voted to override the veto, which was substantiated by a narrow margin of four votes.

Hoover faced a similar problem. There were 56 Republicans in the senate. However, 14 senators were "progressive" who formed a coalition that effectively blocked many of Hoover's proposals.

The 14 Republican "rebels" joined with 28 Democrats to add a crippling amendment to the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill.

Roosevelt suffered a slap as far back as 1935 when the senate voted to approve an amendment to the work relief appropriations act. The amendment was later dropped — but served as a temporary setback for Roosevelt.

In the 1946 fight on renewing price controls, Truman singled out the Taft amendment for denunciation, but 16 Democrats joined with 28 Republicans in the senate to add it to the first renewal bill.

A similar coalition was in the saddle in the house on price control. In 1947-48 the coalition operated to enact Taft-Hartley and tax reduction over vetoes, and the situation seems to have changed little after the Democrats obtained a paper majority in congress this year.

Trip to the Moon —

The distance between the earth and the moon will be bridged — in another ten years.

According to a recent United Press story, a rocket trip to the moon is being planned by the Canadian Rocket society. Side trips to other celestial bodies were also mentioned.

The trip is supposed to be made in a moonship, the shape of a bullet, 200 feet long and 50 feet in diameter, weighing over 1,000 tons when loaded with passengers, fuel and provisions.

There are a few drawbacks, however. Passengers will have to take their own air with them because the moon has no atmosphere. If passengers want to fish, they would have to take their own fish also.

The moon will probably never rival Yellowstone park as a vacation haven.

Now Let's Not Be Coy —

Much criticism has been levelled at newspapers and radio for the play given the current secret gatherings at Blair house. Top officials of the government concerned with atomic energy emerge with a terse: "No comment."

To those who criticize, it might be well to point out newsmen were taken partly in on the secret weapon which turned out to be the atomic bomb. And they never peeped until the government gave its permission. Maybe the current gatherings are important enough to warrant no publicity. But the wrong approach is being taken to assure silence from the press media.

You Bet!

Interpreting the News —

Neutral Buffer: a Problem

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
(AP) Foreign Affairs Analyst

The American Friends Service committee report on possible roads to peace with Russia suggests inclusion of Germany in a "neutral belt of nations" between the two power blocs.

It makes no suggestion of what other nations might be utilized to complete this belt. Nor is it specific about how a neutralized Germany is to be achieved in the face of recent unification failures.

Or in the light of Russia's obvious determination to hold on to the eastern zone even if that means recognition of her failure to infiltrate the west.

This is not to criticize the report. It is frankly an exploratory effort by a working committee with refinements and amplification still possible as reaction is received.

The first 16 pages of the report constitute a vivid and balanced statement of why public discussion should not be devoted more to ways of winning the report than to ways of winning peace.

The report has not shied away from these possible peace ideas because they involve tremendous difficulties. But the idea of a neutralized Germany presents tremendous difficulties indeed.

First among them is the very conception of trying to make 80-million people, with the national traditions of Germany behind them, internationally sterile.

To be neutralized, Germany would have to be decontrolled. Because, for international control such as was tried after the war to work, it would first be necessary

U.S.-Mexican Joint Credit Plan Helps Border Businesses

SAN DIEGO — Trade between United States and Mexican business firms was expected to be stepped up considerably with the announcement yesterday that a new system of credit buying in Lower California has been inaugurated.

While retailers in Lower California find it necessary to purchase a large percentage of their goods from southern California companies, the North American organizations have found it difficult, if not impossible, to check Mexican credits, bank accounts and references.

The San Diego Wholesale Credit Men's association, working in close conjunction with the Tijuana, Mexico, and San Diego chambers of commerce, has opened a branch in Tijuana that has been approved under Mexican law.

This new agency, known as the Credit Association of Baja, California, has been given authority to check bank statements, as well as credit references of businesses operating in Tijuana, Mexicali, Tecate and Ensenada.

to have the peace between east and west. The means would have become the end — a chicken-and-egg proposition.

Decontrol, as the report points out, would mean an end of military occupation. This would revive the wildest French (and other allied) fears of Germany. As a force rather than a theory, a neutralized Germany would become the cockpit for all the old as well as new conflicts of Europe.

A "neutral belt" would mean withdrawal of the allies from contact with Russia's satellites in eastern Europe. What would comprise the "neutral belt?"

Sweden is there, but neutral more in word than in fact. Austria? Switzerland? Yugoslavia, perhaps, but hardly able to exist without economic support from one side or the other. Italy and Greece? Perhaps.

An area incapable of standing firmly on its own, and therefore not truly subject to neutralization. And what of the Russian satellites in such a picture?

Is their absorption by Russia to be accepted as an accomplished fact?

These countries represent a problem in east-west relations which has not yet been faced up to by western diplomats. No policy for their liberation has been pronounced. But just as definitely they have not been abandoned.

The Quakers also urge the inclusion of Germany in an arms, or disarmament, agreement. The answer to that was given only Monday in the United Nations.

A French plan for an arms census, as preliminary to an arms limitation movement, received committee approval, 8-3. Then the dispatch said: "Soviet refusal to submit figures apparently deems the plan before it gets full U.N. approval, however."

husband of Helen, gets called "Senator." There is talk of Congressmen Douglas running for the senate and that will make for fun if there's not only a Mrs. Douglas in the senate. Then there is the sad case of Cases. Liberal Republican Congressman Clifford Case of Jersey once got blamed for introducing a certain anti-labor proposal made by a native of South Dakota, a variety whose own labor bill of the Taft-Hartley variety, the senate has now a Jones, the house has three, all from North Carolina, Missouri, and Alabama. There's Democratic Miller (California) two Republican Millers (Braska and Maryland.)

Port Thomas of Utah is the hope of labor in the senate. A recent UP dispatch said man in the senate directing policy was Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma.

Two men named Thomas in house do not have as tough a time since J. Parnell Thomas of Illinois has such a distinctive, publicized first name and his forthcoming trial and fireworks blazed over vivisection. It seemed to them every dog lover in Washington phoned and started spouting about the "bill to cut up my pet poodle" — before discovering the Maine senator, not the New Jersey senator, was chairman of the sub-committee which is concerned with vivisection legislation.

MR. SMITH'S WIFE is a good friend of the senator from Maine, which helps when social invitations are misaddressed and hostesses grow furious.

On the house side, Smith-trouble is doubled. There are only two "Smiths" in the senate — there are four in the house!

The best known, with the most seniority, is Howard Smith of Virginia. A cautious man personally and politically, he recommends to his Smith colleagues that "every letter be looked at twice before opening." The other Smiths, all Republicans, come from Ohio, Wisconsin, and Kansas.

All the Johnsons are Democrats — but not the same kind. Ed Johnson of Colorado and Lyndon Johnson of Texas vote "northern" and Johnston votes "southern."

Probably the most amusing honors are won in the 81st congress by the Douglas tribe. To begin with, there's the flamboyant, lively former actress, Helen Gahagan Douglas of California to whom things would always happen even if she did not have the same name as the new senator from Illinois, Paul Douglas.

He, in turn, is always proudly referring to his wife, who used to be a congresswoman, too!

In the meantime, out in Hollywood, Melvyn Douglas, the movie hospital troubles keep him from the house and Albert Thomas of Texas.

The most difficult to unscramble are the Scotts — not only the same state, but the same name. Philadelphia.

Big GOP wheel Hugh D. Scott Jr., who is, in addition to being a member of the house, the chairman of the National Republican committee, has a Republican league named Hardie Scott.

The only way they can attempt to keep their constituencies straight is to be guided by street-addresses of the Pennsylvania folks who write the letters. Since GOP Chairman Scott gets a lot of national mail he is a No. 1 headache for the Capitol Hill postmaster.

The two Boggs boys — one from Louisiana and one from Delaware — complain they are more than the usual amount of trouble because their first names sound alike. As a matter of fact they even look alike!

No man can be absolutely certain that the day might not come when he too would get involved in name confusion.

Probably the congressman from Illinois, Martin Gorski, felt "bad" — and then one day, a Gorski from New York was elected — no relation either!

SUI Artists Win Top Honors In Minnesota Painting Contest

SUI artists won eight out of 19 prizes for their paintings at the Minnesota Centennial contest held in Minneapolis from June 20, Prof. Raoul Delmare of the SUI department said yesterday. Four graduate art students and four art department faculty members won a total of $2,700 of $10,000 awarded by the Dayton Company, Minneapolis, which sponsored the contest.

Raymond Parker, Iowa City, won first prize of $750 for his gouache painting, "Harbor Dredge." Prof. James Lechay won third prize of $350 for his gouache painting, "Boats, Dark Sky."

Two of the five $300 awards went to Otto Ockirk, Detroit, and Frank Wachowiak, Winona, Minn., for their oil paintings, "Sanctum" and "Industrial Patterns."

Winning four out of 11 prizes of $250 were Dean Warnholtz, Sioux City, for his gouache painting, "Recreational Synopsis"; Hal Lotterman, instructor, for his oil and lacquer painting, "Hard Rocks, Soft Sky"; Byron Burford, instructor, for his oil and lacquer painting, "Boats, Lake Superior," and Prof. Stuart Edie, for his oil painting, "The Hunters."

Included in the 97 oil and watercolor paintings selected for exhibition out of 800 submitted paintings were "Boats at Rest," by James Lechay, and "Solitude in Minnesota," by Merle Walker, G. Kirksville, Mo. SUI artists competed with artists from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Michigan.

An exhibition of the prize-winning paintings will tour Minnesota communities, Delmare said.

A letter from the Dayton company to Prof. Lester D. Longman, head of the art department, praised the SUI artists. "No other community was so well represented," as Iowa City, the letter said.

According to the letter, the collection of prize-winning paintings represents "the very best art the northwest has to offer."

Likes U.S. Best —
Flees from Communists Twice in 31 Years

By KEN ROSSMAN
Tears came to the eyes of a White Russian woman yesterday as she spoke of the terroristic methods used by the Communist party in Russia in suppressing religion.

Mrs. Olga Butler, wife of a Tokyo dentist originally from Rolfe, Iowa, is visiting her son, Alexander I. Popov, who is working for his doctor's degree in chemistry at SUI.

Twice in her life Mrs. Butler has had to flee the onrush of communism. The first time was in 1918 when she left Leninograd with her parents. The last time was in March, 1949, when she and her husband left Shanghai before the Communist armies marched in.

Speaking of her early days in Russia, Mrs. Butler said, "My family were all monarchists and anti-Communists."

In 1918 Mrs. Butler went to Vladivostok in Siberia. She contradicted the common impression that Siberia is a cold desolate place. "The northern part is like Canada," she said. "For the last 25 years Mrs. Butler lived in Shanghai, a city she described as "very cosmopolitan."

Shanghai during the Japanese occupation was not a pleasant place to live. "We foreigners and many Chinese were half starving for lack of money," Mrs. Butler said. "People could buy anything they wanted on the black market if they had enough money. The rich people never suffered for lack of anything."

During the war her husband, Dr. Leigh E. Butler, was in a Japanese concentration camp at Shanghai. He served as the camp dentist during his internment. The fact she was not a United States citizen saved Mrs. Butler from imprisonment.

Will Not Run Again: Thomas

By DONALD KEY

Socialist Leader Norman Thomas will not run for president again, he said in an interview yesterday. "Even Sarah Bernhardt made a farewell tour and I've made mine," he said.

Thomas, a five-time socialist candidate for president, lectured at SUI last night. (See Story, Page 1.)

Referring to present legislative matters during the interview, Thomas gave his endorsement to health, farm and education subsidy plans now before congress.

There is no longer a question as to whether these plans should be passed; the only question is how to administer them, he said.

The Brannan farm subsidy plan is much better than the straight parity plan now in effect, the tall Thomas stated.

Our present farm support system results in too much waste and keeps prices abnormally high, he said. He illustrated this by recalling the hundreds of millions of dollars which he said was spent by the federal government last year in supporting the price of potatoes.

Thomas said the government bought potatoes from farmers at $3 a bushel and sold them to alcohol manufacturers for about 20 cents a bushel.

"The United States cannot provide food for the world on such a market economy," the elderly politician said.

President Truman's health bill, which would provide health insurance for the population, has very little chance of being passed this year, he said.

"It's getting too late," Thomas said, and he added, "Considering all the jawing that was done about the 80th congress, the 81st hasn't done so well either."

Professor Shows Grand daughter How It's Done

"CRUISING DOWN THE RIVER" are Prof. Jacob Cornog and his granddaughter, Elizabeth. Although only 5 years old, Elizabeth is already an expert with the paddle, according to her grandfather. After 25 years experience canoeing on the Iowa river, Cornog, a chemistry professor, is well qualified to teach amateurs how it is done.

Professor Advises — Canoeing Most Relaxing

By KEN ROSSMAN

"Paddle your own canoe" is more than an old adage to Prof. Jacob Cornog of the chemistry department. He considers a canoe trip the best method of relaxing.

For about 25 years he has been canoeing on the Iowa river and he thinks it is one of the few ways in which you can see some of the state in its natural condition. No one can cultivate the river banks, he said.

Cornog has three trips that he especially recommends to canoeing enthusiasts.

One trip is from the Curtis bridge, about halfway up the river toward Cedar Rapids, down to Iowa City. "It's about 14 miles by road," Cornog said, "and twice that far back by river."

The trip takes about eight hours under normal conditions. If the river is high the water may be fast enough to bring a canoe down in six hours.

The second trip starts at Mahaffey's bridge, about three miles east of North Liberty on the road to Lake Macbride. It is a 14-mile trip and takes about four hours. Cornog said that good camping sites are plentiful along the banks.

The third trip, the deluxe one, starts at Marengo and comes down to Iowa City. Cornog figured that this trip is about 128 miles long and takes about four or five days on the average. It requires some camping over night on the river banks.

"In the '20s it used to be a point of pride to be the first one down the river in the spring of the year," he said. "Students usually started at the Curtis bridge and came downstream to Iowa City."

Since Cornog's son and daughter are both grown and have gone from home now, he has been training his five-year-old granddaughter to be a canoe paddler. He said she is fast becoming an expert and he looks forward to many canoe trips with her.

One Patient Enters Active Polio Ward

Marilyn Harris, 3, daughter of Zene Harris, Panora, was admitted to the "active" polio ward at University hospitals yesterday, according to hospital officials.

Her condition was described as "fair."

Victor Jass, 16, Iowa Falls, was admitted July 10, was discharged yesterday according to officials.

Cynthia Leshar, 2, also of Iowa Falls, was transferred to "inactive" list in "fair" condition.

The number of "active" patients now at the hospital is 13 yesterday.

Grand Larceny Case To Be Heard Today

A preliminary hearing will be held in police court at 8 a. m. today for Richard Smith, 20, 1117 Burlington street, and Dale Eugene Hull, 17, 729 Page street, police said.

The two youths are charged with grand larceny of a revolving gun. The gun was allegedly taken from a car the night of July 7.

'Liliom Superb Job'

— A Play to See

By VINCE BRANN

The University theater's production of Ferenc Molnar's "Liliom" which opened last night is easily the finest dramatic presentation so far this summer. Not only is this a play with a good deal of substance, but a skillful cast has realized the challenge involved and has come up with a superb job.

"Liliom," in a prologue and seven scenes, unfolds the tale of a ne'er-do-well barker for a Budapest carousel who is never able to settle down to a single way of life and finally takes his own life as his "way out."

But the play carries Liliom on beyond his own death to answer for his bad behavior on earth. Molnar's magnificent weaving of the story and the solution—if you wish to call it that—of Liliom's problem makes for a thoroughly absorbing evening in the theater.

The play, then, is a challenge to any group of actors. Several of the leading roles are difficult ones that take a good deal of understanding and thought on the part of anyone who wishes to play them.

It is in this respect that the local production takes its place among the very best of the recent efforts at the theater.

Ted Paul, in the role of Liliom, faces a tremendous job. Liliom is a highly complex person—temperamental, irritable, at times even violent, yet sensitive and tender at the same time. He will not be coerced by anything or anyone in the world.

Paul apparently has been able to meet all the demands of the leading role. His performance has depth and intelligence.

Equally difficult is the part of Julie, Liliom's wife, and Jackie Brookes' work is certainly on a par with that of Paul's. Julie stands by Liliom throughout the entire play, facing all the criticism he faces. Miss Brookes portrays this person as a very real and meaningful human being.

Two other people in the cast are outstanding. They are Sylvia Girsh as Julie's friend, Marie, and Richard Shull as Liliom's partner in crime, Fiesur. Miss Girsh has some of the best moments of humor in the play and handles them admirably without carrying the humor to extremes. She is a most competent actress in every sense of the word.

Shull's role is partly humorous, partly serious. In the fourth scene, near a railroad embankment, Liliom and Fiesur present us with one of the most perfectly conceived and executed episodes of the evening.

The rest of the cast, far too numerous to mention, all have the grasp of the importance of "Liliom." It is, indeed, a play to see and think about.
