Beardsley to Speak At Dam Ceremony

Gov. William S. Beardsley will be one of the three main speakers at tomorrow's public dedication ceremony of the Coralville flood control project four miles north of Iowa City.

The program, to be held at 2 p.m. atop the east bluff of the dam-site, will be opened by Roland M. Smith, president of the Iowa City chamber of commerce.

Other main speakers will be Rep. Thomas E. Martin, Iowa City, and Col. Clark Kittrell, division army engineer of the upper valley division, St. Louis, Mo.

E.R. Hicklin, Wapello attorney, former chairman of the Iowa flood control association, is chairman of the dedication committee.

Persons attending the ceremony should drive on North Dodge street to the intersection of Summit and Dodge streets with the Prairie du Chien road, then drive north on the Prairie du Chien road exactly four miles.

Iowa City Boy Scouts will direct traffic to the site and supervise parking of cars there.

Cleaning and grubbing work on the first phase of the dam began July 11, after E.M. Duesenberg Inc., Clear Lake, was awarded the contract. The first phase is expected to be completed about January, 1950.

The entire $15-million project is scheduled for completion by late 1953 or early 1954, according to Col. R.L. Dean, engineer of the Rock Island district.

The dam, which will be from 100 to 110 feet high, will hold back a permanent storage pool of 1,700 acres, Dean said. The entire Coralville reservoir, however, will extend as far as the Amanas, he said.

Lt. Col. H.K. Howell, resident engineer for the dam, said one of the toughest engineering problems of the entire project is the pumping operation in the soggy area where a deep "cut off" trench for the dam is being dug.

Vandenberg Urges President to Seek Weapon Reductions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich.), "respectfully" urged President Truman last night to begin a new effort to reach an agreement with Russia to reduce arms and strengthen the United Nations.

Vandenberg envisaged an arms reduction program under "dependable" guarantees and a curb on the UN veto power.

At the same time, the senate Republican foreign policy leader said that Mr. Truman's arms-for-Europe program, to be submitted to congress tomorrow should be confined to a "relatively short interim" period.

He said any long-term military aid plan under the Atlantic pact should not be submitted to congress until next year, and should await development of a self-help defense program under the treaty.

Vandenberg's statement, made in an interview, came as a surprise on the eve of a presidential message to urge early action on a $1,450,000,000 initial arms aid program.

It was made only 48 hours after the senate gave overwhelming approval to the north Atlantic defense pact. The approval was accompanied by indications of serious trouble ahead for the pact's implementation through arms shipments.

Says Dollar Value Climbs Two Cents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The labor department said yesterday that falling prices have increased the purchasing power of the dollar almost two cents since last September.

The department's computation was made on the basis of the consumer price index made public last Friday. It showed that the dollar in terms of 1939 prices bought 59 cents worth of goods and services in June, 1949.

Last September, at the peak of the rise in living costs, the dollar bought 57.3 cents worth of goods and services in terms of 1939 prices.

A Spectator Attracts the Spectators

A THREE-YEAR-OLD colleen from Dublin, Ireland, Michele Clynch, is so engrossed in the sentry at the gates of London's Buckingham palace and the guests arriving for Thursday's royal garden party that she is unaware she's the center of attraction for other spectators and photographers covering the event.

Hunt Diary Names Congressmen, Hoey Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hoey (D-NC) said yesterday a secret diary in the "five percenter" inquiry mentions some congress members, but "doesn't necessarily indicate they are connected with any improper transactions."

At the same time, a senate official who has studied the voluminous notebook said it "absolutely contains nothing that incriminates anyone."

The diary, now in the hands of the senate investigations subcommittee, was kept by James

V. Hunt, a former army officer and war assets administration employee. A Massachusetts manufacturer has asserted he paid Hunt for help in seeking a government contract.

The manufacturer, Paul Grindley, said in a copyrighted story in the New York Herald Tribune that Hunt claimed friendship with government officials, and that he worked for a fee. Hunt has denied any attempt to sell influence.

The term "five percenter" refers to Washington agents who hire out to help get government contracts, usually for five percent of the gross proceeds. The practice is not illegal.

Two army major generals already have been suspended as a result of the subcommittee's preliminary investigations. They are Herman Feldman, the quartermaster general, and Alden H. Waitt, chief of the chemical corps.

Winnie Hits 'Bunglers'

WOLVERHAMPTON, ENGLAND (UP) — Conservative party leader Winston Churchill warned yesterday that the Labor government threatens Britain and many other nations with "chaos and communism."

In a speech keynoting the 1950 election campaign, Churchill described the present government as a group of well-meaning bunglers and charged that there was "no real difference" between the basic policies of the Labor part and Communist doctrines.

"Both are fatal to liberty as we have known it," the war-time prime minister said.

He charged that continuation of the Socialist experiment in Britain would tip the balance the wrong way in the world conflict between "western liberal ... democracy and the forces of aggressive, semi-Asiatic totalitarianism."

"If we sink through socialism into economic decline and collapse, not only will our sufferings be intense but we shall carry many other nations with us into chaos and communism," Churchill declared.

The conservative leader spoke a few hours after the publication of a platform blueprint opened the party's drive for victory in the general election expected late this year or early in 1950.

June Rains Help Boost Russia's 1949 Harvest

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Russia's 1949 harvest prospects are good, the central statistical administration reported yesterday. June rains benefitted a vastly increased acreage of grain and other crops.

The statistical agency also announced industrial production was running at 101 percent of targets boosted since the first of the year, but indicated shortages of certain agricultural, electrical and other machinery.

Warns of Senate Fight Against Atom Sharing

Rub-a-Dub-Dub, One in a Tub

CARLSTADT, N.J. (AP) — A 61-year-old former speedboat builder chugs happily along the Hackensack river these hot days — in a bathtub.

Emil Meyer, its owner, driver and designer, said the tub is one which Sears, Roebuck and Co. gave away 50 years ago to anyone who sold $10 worth of the firm's soap.

The galvanized tin bathtub is mounted on two boards supported by two balsam pontoons. It is powered by a 2½ horsepower outboard motor. The board supporting the outboard supplants the usual faucets.

The "Special" goes no faster than a rowed boat. The pontoons keep the tub steady and steerable. The navigator-bather must sort of squat in the tub or else use a slanting board as a seat.

Senate Told Communists Terrorize UN Employees

WASHINGTON (AP) — A mystery witness has told congress that the United Nations secretariat under Trygve Lie is terrorized by Communist agents who force employees to become their tools.

A senate judiciary subcommittee yesterday made public the testimony of "witness No. 8," not otherwise identified. His story was given behind closed doors, in broken English.

The committee gave no indication as to the identity of the witness, but his testimony indicated that he had, at least in the past, worked for the UN.

The witness proposed that the senators seek ouster of Lie, Norwegian-born secretary-general of UN, and urge appointment of a "capable" successor.

At Lake Success, N.Y., Acting Secretary General Byron Price described the witness' testimony as "fantastically untrue."

"This is the nuttiest story I have heard yet," Price said in an official statement issued at UN headquarters. He added:

"I am in a position to know that the charges relating to the administrative policies of Secretary-General Trygve Lie and personnel policies of the United Nations are fantastically untrue."

In Norway, where Lie now is vacationing, he said through his personal representative, Clyde Nichols, that he did not want to make any comment on the witness' testimony.

SETS PENSION COST

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U. S. Steel corporation could replace its present "shadow" pensions with payments of $150 a month at a cost of little more than six cents per man hour, the CIO union steelworkers asserted yesterday.

Residents to Spray Property in City's Anti-Fly Campaign

Iowa City residents and businessmen will be asked to spray their property in a city-wide campaign to rid the community of disease-spreading flies.

The campaign was launched yesterday at a public meeting organized by Russell Mann, senior chamber of commerce representative, and Charles Schindler, city health inspector.

Mann said the spraying will be concentrated into a 24-hour period next week if possible, with the objective of killing all flies in Iowa City and destroying their breeding places.

A committee will seek to find the most effective spray which can be used and will notify the public of its choice as soon as possible, Mann said.

Schindler said that the DDT compound being used in the new city spraying machine has not been satisfactorily effective this year.

"The flies seem immune to the DDT even though we are using a six percent solution," he said. The anti-fly move is aimed at preventing the spread of disease in the city, Mann explained.

Senator George Urges Repeal of Excise Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — All-out repeal of wartime excise taxes at this session of congress was urged yesterday by Sen. Walter George (D-Ga.). He said it would stimulate business and employment.

George, ranking senate tax expert as chairman of its finance committee, told reporters that the special wartime taxes could be wiped out at once if President Truman and congress cooperate.

Knowland Says Truman Course Skirts AEC Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Knowland (R-Calif.) threatened yesterday to carry to the senate floor a fight to tie President Truman's hands against giving atomic bomb information to Great Britain or any other foreign nation.

Knowland, a member of the senate-house atomic committee, said in a statement it is his "firm belief" that under the 1946 atomic energy act "the executive branch of this government and the atomic energy commission have no legal or moral right to disclose information regarding our atomic weapons to any other nation without the approval of the congress of the United States."

The California senator thus brought into the open the issue members of congress said was raised at a hush-hush Blair house conference of 16 top government officials with President Truman recently.

The question of whether the President, by his own action alone, could give Great Britain the final know-how on the making of atomic weapons was said to have caused explosive argument at the conference.

There were indications that while Knowland spoke only for himself, he had the sympathy, if not open backing of most of the Republican members of the senate-house committee as well as some of the Democrats of that group.

Apprised of Knowland's statement, Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich.) declined comment. There were signs, however, that he shares Knowland's view that the atomic act bars any exchange of information until an international agreement has been made for atomic control.

China Protests U.S. Paper on Relations

WASHINGTON (AP) — China has formally protested the U.S. government's intention to publish its "white paper" on Chinese-American relations at this time on grounds that it might give "moral support" to the Communists, it was learned yesterday.

Ambassador Wellington Koo, acting on instructions from Canton, has asked the state department to "reconsider" its decision to release the controversial document at a period when the Chinese Nationalists "are fighting a life and death struggle against all-out communism," Chinese informants said.

The state department originally intended to publish the "white paper" on July 26. Officials said yesterday, however, that its release has been delayed about a week because of "printing difficulties."

Dying '52-20' Paid $3.6-Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "52-20" program dies tomorrow night but thousands of veterans may be eligible for its benefits for years to come.

The program since its beginning in September, 1944, has funneled $3.6-billion into the pockets of some 8,770,000 World war II veterans during their periods of unemployment.

By contrast, state unemployment agencies, functioning for 13 years for the benefit of the whole public, have paid out $6-billion.

The 52-20 benefits paid through May were (1) $3,051,958,059 in unemployment allowances which allow a maximum of $20 a week up to a total of 52 weeks, and (2) $570,882,765 in self-employment allowances. The latter include $100 a month for not more than ten and two-fifths months for unemployed agricultural workers and others working for themselves who earn less than $100 a month.

Despite the amounts paid and the number sharing, only 839,737 veterans had exhausted their full benefits. The World War II veteran population at the end of May was 15,163,000, all of whom were entitled to unemployment aid.

At least seven bills were submitted in the 81st congress to extend the expiring program for from one to five years.

No action was taken on them. The nearest approach was an unanimous vote by the senate labor committee Friday to extend unemployment benefits for a year, but to drop the self-employment provisions. Members of the committee said that phase of the program had been abused.

The bill was believed to have little chance of passing the senate. Meanwhile, Rep. John Rankin (D-Miss.), has bottled up a similar measure in the house in his veterans committee.

As the program enters its final hours, some 650,000 veterans are on its rolls.

Vet Insurance Dividend Ready

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some $2.8-billion in special veteran insurance dividends will start pouring through the mails to 16-million ex-servicemen "some time in January," Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray, Jr., said yesterday.

Application cards for the dividends will be made available to the policy holders on Aug. 29, he said, in post offices, VA offices, and veterans' service organization headquarters throughout the nation.

The Aug. 29 date is the earliest on which the government printing office can print and distribute the 70-million forms it is preparing.

All that each veteran policyholder needs to do, Gray said, is to get his application on or after Aug. 29, read the instructions, fill it out, and mail it back to VA's central office in Washington.

Printed on the same type of cardboard used for penny post cards, the application form measures 5 1/2 by 11 inches. It is a three-fold card, the top section of which contains detailed instructions for filling out the application. This is torn off before the veteran doubles the remaining section, affixes a one-cent stamp and mails it.

Klan Leader Free on Bond

(From the Wire Services)

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. — Alabama's top klansman, William Hugh Morris, last night was released from jail on $500 bond.

The heavy-set director of the Federated Ku Klux Klans, Inc., had been in jail for contempt. He was sentenced July 7, when he refused to bring Klan records before a grand jury.

In another development, a grand jury charged a minister with three masked floggings. The minister, the Rev. R.C. Lyons, 47, is the 18th man indicted in the state's campaign against hooded lashers. All are out on bond.

The balding, pudgy Klan leader was jailed two weeks ago because he refused to turn over to a Jefferson county grand jury the membership records of the Alabama Klan. That grand jury, since dismissed, and another that followed it were investigating gang terrorism around Birmingham.

This week Morris' wife reported that their home was ransacked. The only thing missing, she said, was the Klan membership records.

Morris then petitioned King for release from jail on grounds that he couldn't produce records he didn't have.

Two-Auto Collision Injures Two Here

Two persons received minor injuries in a two-car accident on highway 6 outside of Iowa City at 7:45 p.m. yesterday, the highway patrol reported. E. W. Wedekind, route 1, suffered head and arm injuries, and his wife, Darlene, sustained an arm injury. F. M. O'Rear, driver of the second car, was unhurt.

A second accident occurred at 8 p.m. yesterday on Dubuque street near the Jefferson street intersection when three cars collided, police said. Drivers were W. A. Gilpin, 230 S. Lucas street, W. C. Artley, Hampton, and E. E. Goss, route 2, Oxford. No injuries were reported.

FIRE RAGES

CHICAGO (AP) — A four-alarm fire last night destroyed 100 trucks loaded with furniture at the Roberts Cartage company and firemen estimated the loss at $200,000.

TRUMAN RELAXES

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman relaxed aboard the yacht Williamsburg yesterday on a leisurely cruise down the Potomac river into Chesapeake bay.

Klansman Threatens Retaliation

DR. LYCURGUS SPINKS (right) introduces Mrs. William Hugh Morris, whose husband is in jail because he refused to produce Klan records, to an unmasked audience of 600 in suburban Tarrant City, near Birmingham, Ala., Friday night. Spinks said he has been a klansman for 40 years and threatened political retaliation for efforts to link the secret order with recent night rider violence.

The junior men's singles title went to Donald Barnes, Kansas City. The top-seeded player in this division lost a hard fought first set to Ben Bishop, St. Louis, 12-14, but came back strong and won the next three sets easily, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2. Bishop was seeded second.

Another upset was turned in when Martha Goebel and Mary Vassely, St. Louis, breezed past Rosalie Meloney and Natalie Coughlin, St. Louis, in the women's doubles final, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2. Bishop was seeded second.

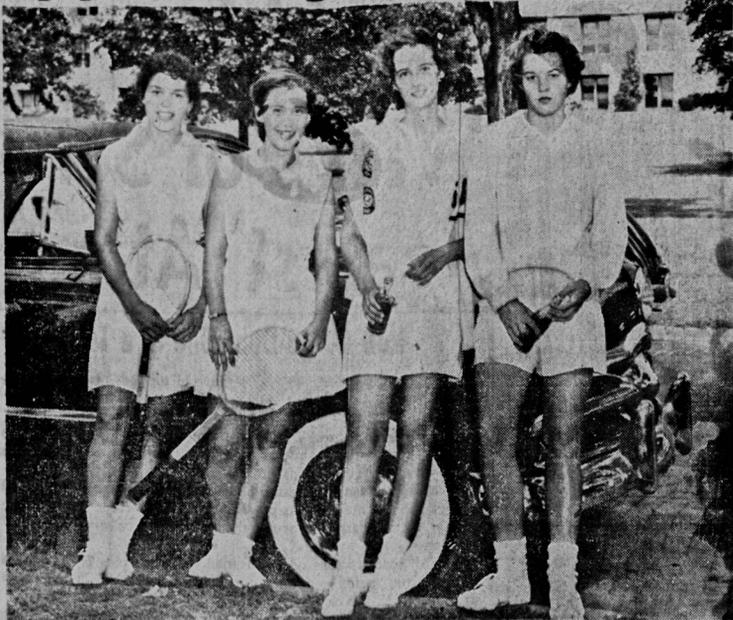

Mrs. Lucille Davidson, Lee's Summit, Mo., defeated Mrs. Joan Dunn Gibson, Des Moines, 7-5, 6-1, in a women's semifinale match. Mrs. Davidson is seeded second. She will meet Miss Poppo in the women's final today at 1 p.m.

Bridge Club or Luncheon — Cold Cuts for Hot Days

Cold cuts are quick change artists when it comes to summer menus. Cut in strips, they're a perfect addition to a tossed salad for a cool lunch or a supper main dish.

Arranged on a platter, assorted cold cuts are also a help-yourself feast which would do any hostess proud. In addition, diced cuts added to casserole dishes give menus variety.

If there's a bridge club or luncheon coming up on your menu calendar, try a salad with meat cuts added. In a large salad bowl which has been lightly rubbed with garlic, place crisp lettuce or a mixture of greens. On one side

HOT WEATHER MENUS welcome the delicious variety that cold cuts can give them. You can add diced cold cuts to hot casserole dishes and strips of cold cuts to tossed salads. Also arrange slices of these tempting meats on a platter for sandwich making.

Trailer, Parking Ordinances Scheduled for Council Action

Iowa City's new trailer ordinance may be given its first reading at the city council meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the city hall council chamber.

City Attorney William H. Bartley said yesterday he hoped to have the ordinance ready for the aldermen's consideration.

The chamber of commerce board of directors, the city council and Mayor Preston Koser studied the first draft of the proposed ordinance at an informal meeting last week, Bartley said. The new law would amend the present zoning ordinance to provide a "trailer park district," Bartley explained. It also would include health, sanitation and safety standards for trailers and trailer camps.

Two ordinances amending the present parking ordinances will be given their third readings tomorrow night, City Clerk George J. Dohrer said.

One of the proposals would amend the general parking ordinance to permit two and three-hour parking, Bartley explained. The present law provides a one-hour parking limit on streets where there are no meters.

The other ordinance would amend the parking meter law and list additional streets and zones where metered parking is being set up.

If the ordinances are approved by the council after the third reading, they are officially published and become part of the city code.

Alderman Wilber J. Teeters yesterday said he would ask the council to set a date for a public hearing on street lighting improvements.

Purpose of the hearing will be to determine whether downtown property owners want to repair or replace the present dimmed out "whiteway."

At their last meeting aldermen decided business property owners would pay for any street lighting improvements.

Aldermen also will consider the new city budget, Clark F.L. Mighell, chairman of the council's finance committee, said he would introduce the budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1950, and ending March 31, 1951.

Goal Near After Two Decades Work

TWENTY-ONE YEARS OF GOING TO COLLEGE is the record of Ralph Porter, G. Laurens. The 48-year-old graduate student works as night librarian for the school of journalism. Next month Porter hopes to take his master's degree home to his wife and three children.

An Endurance Record? — SUI Student Goes to College for 21 Years

There's nothing particularly unusual these days about a man with a wife and three kids attending college, but when the man is 48 and has been going to college classes off and on for 21 years — that's unusual.

The man is Ralph Porter of Laurens, an SUI graduate student who works as night librarian for the school of journalism.

It all started back in 1917. Porter had to quit high school to help run the farm when his brothers joined the navy in World War I.

Porter immediately enrolled at Morningside college. Money was scarce in those days and he worked his way through school as a college janitor and doing odd jobs around town.

He made the four-year par for that course and in 1932 received his B.A. degree at the age of 31. After graduation he worked in Sioux City as a clerk, laborer and restaurant operator. In 1942 he began teaching.

The education bug soon bit him again, however, and in the summer of 1945 Porter began working on his master's degree at SUI.

Not a 'Disgrace' Now — Divorce Hits China

— On Bigger Scale —
By BILL CHENG

The Chinese still denounce divorce but it is becoming more common, according to Jason Li, G. Canton, China.

Dissolution of marital knots is no novelty in China, but social stigma acts as a brake on it, he said.

Although given the right of divorce, Chinese women in the old days considered separation from their husbands the greatest possible disgrace. No matter how justifiable, divorce implied the woman was "guilty." Women considered themselves social outcasts and some became nuns, Li said.

Today, disagreeing Chinese couples often resort to divorce but that is due to western influence, he explained. Years ago couples were married mostly through go-betweens, while young Chinese are now free to choose their own mates.

Li said divorce began in China as early as the first century, and to illustrate he cited the divorce of the Chinese Saint Mencius.

It was easier to obtain a divorce in ancient China than it is today in Reno's famous divorce mill, Li said.

No legal proceedings were necessary. All the husband had to do was write a divorce certificate with one or more "justifiable" reasons for the action and send his wife away.

Even if there had been a law to protect women, they would not have used it because a "decent" woman in the old days wouldn't go to court, either as a plaintiff or defendant, Li pointed out.

Li related that the most notorious of divorce cases initiated by wives was the one concerning Chi Mai-chen, a poor scholar of ancient times.

The story goes that Chu studied hard at night and picked and sold firewood to support his family. His wife's complaints about poverty increased until finally she demanded a divorce.

Chu confidently told her that when he was 80 years old, he would become a high official by taking an imperial examination.

Guard Units Equip For Convoy Trip

Iowa City's two national guard units are equipping themselves with extra military vehicles for a convoy trip to a summer encampment at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., Aug. 7.

Sgt. Noel Knotts, company administrative assistant, said that last week the 34th reconnaissance company received two jeeps, a 1-2 ton personnel carrier and a half-ton cargo trailer.

The equipment, obtained from the U.S. property and disbursing officer at Camp Dodge, is a federal grant to the Iowa national guard with state maintenance required.

Members of the medical clearing company, the other local unit, will go to Camp Dodge this week for the extra equipment they need.

BASIC TRAYNOR

This is an interesting time of year. There is something about late July and early August that is different from any other time of the year.

You just have to walk around to realize this. People somehow don't seem the same. Maybe it's the strange clothes they wear.

You can see about every type of garb that has ever created by man, and some that couldn't have been created by man. It seems that everyone is trying to get as much off as he can and still have something on.

Some don't seem to be particularly concerned with the latter part of the proposition and concentrate on the former. Often times these individuals are quite successful, but in other cases the success is not quite so apparent.

Of course, it all depends on what they have to work with. This holds true for both males and females. The clay must be good to begin with.

If a man has a pair of legs that resemble a couple of pipe cleaners, it is needless to say that a pair of stomach creeping shorts will not show them at their best. The man has a problem there.

When considering the opposite sex, the whole thing has many more implications. Because, naturally, you have more to work with. Or rather, they have more to work with. They must use much discretion because they can easily throw society into complete chaos.

But it really is amazing what some of them can do with a couple of strips of cloth. They certainly get complete use out of it. I often wonder how they get that stuff twisted around the way they do.

It is interesting to think of where all this stripping business is going to lead. The road has been in one direction and apparently it is going to keep going in that direction. It is a fine direction, but where will it end?

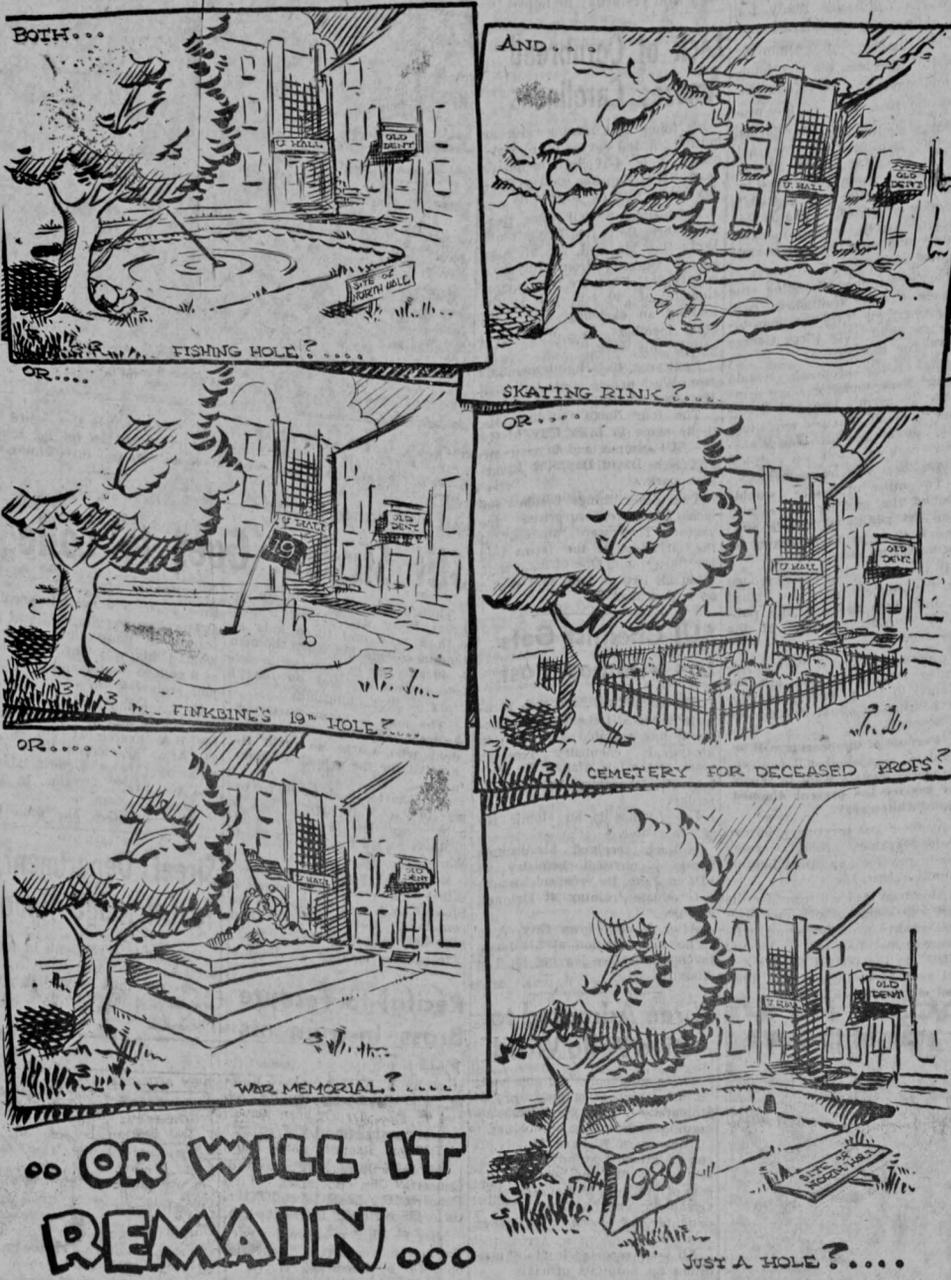

Will it be carried out to its logical conclusion? I don't need to say what that conclusion is, because it is becoming quite obvious. In fact, many things are becoming quite obvious.

If it is carried to its logical conclusion, there is going to have to be a good deal of adjustment. Mankind will have to be equal to the occasion. Many people think that there will be little trouble. They claim that man will be more than equal to the occasion.

That is probably a valid observation. All through history we read that man has always adjusted to most changing situations. There is no reason to suppose that he won't take this change in stride. He will probably take it in many strides.

Of course you could carry the thing out to its illogical conclusion. But that would only complicate the issue. Anyway, some people will argue that the illogical conclusion is the logical one, and "vice" versa.

WHAT'LL THEY DO WITH THE HOLE?

OR WILL IT REMAIN...

While still in grammar school, Elliot Lawrence was "mad about music." At the Cedar Rapids Danceland ballroom last Tuesday night, the smiling maestro told me he used to save his pennies all week, and stand in line all day to hear Benny Goodman or Tommy Dorsey at the local theater.

Lawrence started his first dance band while a high school student in Philadelphia. That band continued on through college, retaining most of its original personnel.

"Many of my present group has been with me from the beginning, and that includes my two vocalists, Jack Hunter and Rosalind Patton," he said.

But the past is not important to Elliot Lawrence. The future is his prime concern. Not his future, but the days ahead for music, the "new listen" as he so aptly put it.

"We attempt to modify the present pop trend somewhat, modify in the sense of advancement, that is. We are striving for new sounds continually. Take the present idea we have, the deep base undertone that is continually swinging. It's not unlike the old Count Basie band, only different, is if you know what I mean."

I asked him about the "theramin" that he uses on his newest Columbia release, "Gigolette."

"That is another of our new sounds. It works on the electronic principle and consists of two poles. When the hands are waved in front of these poles in various ways, the weirdest sounds are produced. It's quite different."

Asked the usual question about bop, he replied, "Sure, I like bop. I like everything. In its pure form, I don't think bop will last, but it will leave a definite influence in popular music."

"Satisfied? Yes, I'm satisfied. I've got a great crew, and the boys believe in the stuff they're playing."

"And as long as men like Gene Krupa, Charlie Barnett, Woody Herman and others keep refusing to play the bad music and keep the good stuff alive, there is no need for worry."

"If the time ever comes when this doesn't hold true and we are forced to play poor and meaningless tunes, then I will quit. I won't play that stuff."

This statement describes exactly the spirit of Lawrence and his band. If progress is ever halted by the result of the people's actions making it a commercial failure, I believe he will quit, but good.

Student Forum

QUESTION: Do you think Communists should be allowed to teach in our colleges and universities?

Bob Heskett, A2, Des Moines: "No, but it's up to the individual. Most persons in the university are interested in philosophy. Students would like to hear some of the ideas, then decide for themselves whether communism makes sense."

HESKETT

Patricit Servis, A3, St. Paul: "If you mean by Communist, someone from Russia to teach doctrines, no; but if you refer to an American who shares Communist views, yes. If students can't think for themselves, they're open to danger anyhow."

Ken Van Roekel, A3, Sioux Center: "It's a free country and everyone has a right to his own political opinion. I don't see why they should be limited to certain teaching fields."

VAN ROEKEL

Ruth Hudtloff, A2, Kanran: "I've always felt a declared Communist shouldn't teach, but at the college level if our Americanism isn't strong enough to hold, then we had better do something about our whole system."

Don Wolff, L4, Chicago: "I haven't formed an opinion, but it seems to me they would be all right as science teachers. I would be against them teaching political science where their ideas would influence student thinking."

WOLFF

Evelyn Dohrer, N4, Iowa City: "It's a democratic country, let's keep it that way. The Communist teacher might try to close the minds of free thinking students."

Junior's Ambition — Be a Ham Like Daddy

HOLLYWOOD (P) — School is out in Hollywood and all the movie stars' sprigs are getting summer jobs. As movie stars, of course.

Gloria Swanson's daughter is talking about a screen test; Charlie Chaplin's son is starring in a play; John Barrymore's boy is sweating over his movie debut, and even Judy Garland's baby is a movie veteran.

Joan Bennett's daughter is testing for one of the biggest parts in her mother's new picture, produced by her stepfather. Harold Lloyd says Harold Jr. will be in his next comedy.

"His sisters think he's very funny," Lloyd said. "They never laugh at me. Oh, the trials of being a father."

John Barrymore Jr., a 17-year-old copy of the great profile, is earning $150 a week for the first acting he's ever done.

"The ham came out in me when I was 15," young Barrymore says. "I took a walk and locked at the stars a long time. All of a sudden I knew I had to be an actor."

He's trying to see all his famous father's pictures now, he added. He'd previously seen only "The Invisible Woman."

Sydney Chaplin, Charlie's 22-year-old son, is a big hit in the Circle players' "Anna Lucasta." He's been acting with them a couple of years and says he'll do his first movie when they make one.

"My dad's very proud of me," he allowed. "He never misses a show."

Fifteen-year-old Melinda Markay has talked her stepfather, Walter Wagner, into testing her for the part of Rebecca in "The Ballad and the Scourge," which will star her mother, Joan Bennett.

"I've always wanted to be an actress like my mother," she said. She was hoping to debut on the stage this summer, she added, until the family decided to take her to Italy where the picture will be made.

Gloria Swanson's daughter, Michele Bridget Farmer, 17, has been talking with producers about screen tests ever since her mother introduced her around. She hasn't anything definite yet.

Herbert Marshall's daughter, Sarah, has a summer job acting in her first play.

Little Liza Minnelli, Judy Garland's baby and sometimes dance partner, is temporarily unemployed. She lost her job when mother lost hers.

Wallace Berry's daughter, Carol Ann, is signed up at a New York drama school. She plans to learn how before trying more acting.

William Powell Jr., never bothered with acting but went to work in a studio as a statistician.

"A son who has a father who's a drunkard," Powell Sr. explains, "is less apt to become one himself."

One poor little rich boy who couldn't get in movies has gone into business for himself. He set up a lemonade stand outside his Beverly Hills mansion. The family butler stands by and serves.

No! No, Bubbles! — Chewing Green Grass

"Green as grass" may become a less derogatory term if a new dentifrice recently announced turns out as well as its discoverers expect.

Called chloronium tooth paste, the new preparation has chlorophyll as one of its ingredients. Chlorophyll is the substance in all green plants which give them their color.

Local dentists and faculty members of the SUI college of dentistry said that while they were aware of the new tooth paste they had not had an opportunity to test it as yet. They said they thought it would be some time before a completely accurate assessment of the preparation's value could be made.

According to Gustav W. Rapp, research biochemist of Loyola University's Chicago college of dental surgery, and his assistant, B.F. Gurney, the new tooth paste acts to do away with the conditions generally thought by dental authorities to be causes of dental decay.

The two research workers presented a report of their work at a recent meeting of the International Association for Dental Research at the Drake hotel in Chicago.

The new paste incorporates the water soluble derivatives of chlorophyll and has a natural green color. It is this use of chlorophyll which is supposed to give the preparation its unusual power.

In addition to chloronium tooth paste's remarkable action in eliminating conditions conducive to tooth decay, it is also valuable in accelerating healing of such gum conditions as Vincent's disease (trench mouth) and non-specific gingivitis, according to its discoverers.

Rapp claims tests indicate that chloronium tooth paste is able to reduce objectional mouth odors to a minimum.

Chlorophyll has long been known to be essential to all living beings. Its part in the life process has to do with its action in the absorption of light and use of this energy to carry out photosynthesis.

Photosynthesis is the process in which the energy of the sun is converted by green plants into stored food energy. All living things depend upon this process — directly or indirectly.

This valuable quality was what first induced the two biochemists to experiment with chlorophyll in toothpaste, Rapp explained.

This Week's Music

By Donald Key

The NBC broadcast of the SUI fine arts festival on Saturday at 2 p.m. will include a half hour of orchestral music and the last half of Arthur Honegger's symphonic psalm, "King David," for orchestra and chorus.

Arthur Honegger was a German composer who was greatly influenced by French musicians and teachers.

He was born at Havre in 1892 of German parentage and his musical training began in that city while Honegger was very young.

Later he studied musical composition at the Paris Conservatory of Music where he worked under the famous French composer, Vincent d'Indy.

A first performance of his work came in 1917 in Paris when some of his piano pieces and songs were played at a semi-private recital.

The composition that made his name generally known in Europe was his incidental music to "Dit des du Monde," a poem by the Belgian poet Merval. This music was first performed in Paris in 1921.

Honegger's symphonic psalm, "King David," based on a drama by Rene Morax, was written for the Jorat Art theater in Paris and was presented publicly in 1921.

Other famous numbers among his works are the "Song of Joy" and "Pastorale d'ete," both for orchestra, and an oratorio "Legende de Sainte-Almeene."

A most outstanding element in Honegger's compositions is his use of polytonal harmonies — harmonies using more than one key, for instance B major and F minor, at the same time.

Prof. Herald Stark, SUI choral director who will conduct the performance of "King David," said that this polytonal technique is not constant throughout the composition.

"The work is modern but it is comprehensible on a first hearing. It's a striking number," Stark said. "Most of the music is great, but there are a few sections that are just music."

"Harmonically, the vocal solo are more interesting than the choral numbers," the conductor said. "One chorus is accompanied by harp and celesta alone."

"Harp parts are prominent throughout the work," Stark said. "It seems to me," he continued, "that the music is more like that of Edward Elgar than of any of the French composers."

On the orchestral half of Saturday's broadcast, the concert overture "Cyrano de Bergerac" by Philip Bezanon, SUI music theory instructor, will be repeated.

Another number "Tragic Overture" by Johannes Brahms will also be played by the orchestra.

Scores Killed in Quake Near Turkish Port City

ISTANBUL (AP) — Scores of persons were reported killed yesterday in a violent earthquake in the vicinity of Izmir, Turkey, second largest port on the Aegean sea.

The quake started at 9:08 a.m. (Iowa time) and lasted five seconds. Karaburun, at the entrance of an estuary leading to Izmir, was reported to have been the worst stricken community in the area. Telephone lines and other communications between Izmir and Karaburun were disrupted, preventing an accurate check on casualties.

More than 100 houses were reported razed at Karaburun, which has a population of 7,000.

In Izmir the shock cracked the walls of buildings, and hundreds of residents fled their homes in panic.

Panama Schools Rougher?

SUI Student Says They Have More Courses; Girls There Date Only One at Time

By ROBERT HENNESSY

Panamanian schools are more systematic and offer a more complete curriculum than U.S. schools, according to Luis Carlos Filios-Diaz, G. Panama City, Panama.

To back up his statement Filios-Diaz said he got 16 hours of college credit for his secondary school work when he started at SUI in 1946. The Panamanian secondary school is equivalent to the American junior high and senior high combined.

"The Panamanian student takes eight or nine courses a year, while the American high school student takes four or five," he said, "and there are no electives in our schools."

Among other courses, he took seven years of English; three years of French; one year of Latin, logic, psychology, typing, shorthand, and six years of mathematics, physics, history and government.

Son of a Panama City lawyer, Filios-Diaz received a B.S. degree in general science from SUI in June. He plans to enter the college of dentistry this fall.

He chose SUI for his education partly because his brother went here and partly because he had heard of its reputation in Panama. "One thing I like about going to school here is that it's easy to get a job while you are going to college," he said. He has had a board job at Currier hall ever since he came to SUI.

The first thing that impressed me in this country was seeing one girl going with five or six different fellows," he said. "In Panama a girl dates only one boy at any one time."

Filios-Diaz thinks Latin-American music has a great deal more variety than American music, with Mexican movies the tops in musicals.

For good drama and acting he likes Argentine pictures, but the U.S. ranks high in his estimation for its lavish productions like "Gone With the Wind."

Politics and government are similar in the U.S. and Panama, he said, but the canal zone and Panama proper are quite separate from one another and are almost like two different nations.

Missouri Trucker Fined $25, Costs

Justice J. M. Kadlec yesterday fined Robert Pumpfrey, Liberty, Mo., $25 and costs on a charge of reckless driving.

Pumpfrey, a driver for the Southwest Freight lines, was charged with forcing a car driven by Chris Rayner, 607 S. Johnson street, into the ditch by passing too close.

State Patrolman J. L. Smith said the Rayner car snapped a telephone pole after swerving off the road.

Seven witnesses appeared for the state at Pumpfrey's hearing. Kadlec said the defendant gave notice that an appeal will be filed in district court.

G-Stringer Lauds Uses of Fur

HOLLYWOOD — Al Teitelbaum, who whips up white-fox bathroom accessories for movie burlesque queens, said yesterday there won't be many bachelors running loose once old maids discover the potency of fancy fur against female flesh.

"I'll sweep you closer to the altar, he maintains, than the triple-threat campaign of plunging neckline, French perfume, and southern drawl.

"Furs and sex have been mixed up in the mysterious male subconscious since cave-man days," he claims. "Something deep and hidden within a man rises irresistibly when a woman drapes her bare shoulders with a couple of mink skins."

How you swing the price of mink on a spinster's income is something Teitelbaum doesn't worry about. He says mink's best — but you can fling the same effect with rabbit if you're desperate enough.

"A woman swathed in furs brings out the primitive in a man," Teitelbaum declares. "And husband-hungry girls who're afraid men will think they're too expensive can stop worrying right now."

"The plain biological truth is: Men don't think at all when a woman in fur slinks by. They become all instinct."

But it has to be the right kind of fur, girls. Mink, sable, and stone marten top the list as matrimonial bait. But if you can't afford to play that rough you can make do with long-haired fox, Chinese kidskin, broadtail, or rabbit.

Steer clear of chinchilla, though. It's the most expensive fur there is, but all you'll get to warm you up on chilly evenings is a coat.

"No sex in it," Teitelbaum says. "Leaves men cold."

Leopard-skin's unreliable, too.

(AP Wirephoto) FOLLOWING THE FUR-AND-FLESH idea of a Hollywood designer, this fur brassiere was recently unveiled at a Ft. Worth, Texas, style show. This little item by Texas designer Robert Koslow sells for $1,000 in the blue platinum mink model and for $1,500 in natural mink.

even though Theda Bara had strong men trembling when she draped her curves in the stuff.

"It's strictly for sportswear nowadays," Teitelbaum will have you know. "The most a love-hungry gal would get out of leopard is an invitation for a few rounds of tennis."

Strip-teasers wouldn't think of peeling without a come-hither fur

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A YOUNG writer with a considerable reputation on Broadway was given a contract by a powerful motion picture studio. When he turned in his first scenario the head of the studio called for an aspirin and the writer's agent.

"Get rid of this fellow quick," he belloved. "He's such a high-brow I bet he writes failures on purpose!"

The malapropisms of Hollywood big-shots are becoming a pretty threadbare subject particularly since the public became aware that most of them originate in the minds of columnists and press agents. Here are a couple, however, which I believe to be authentic.

When The Best Years of Our Lives was previewed, the producer assured an interviewer, "I don't care if this picture doesn't make a nickel, just so long as the whole United States sees it."

One producer borrowed a troupe of Indians from another, but when they reported for work he didn't think they looked fierce enough. He called his friend to protest. "I don't know what you are talking about," proclaimed the latter. "Those Indians come straight from the reservoir."

Detectives examine shotguns found in street near shooting.

Wife, friends at hospital

THE PACIFIC'S new national memorial cemetery was dedicated in Honolulu this week. The punch-bowl crater in which the cemetery is situated was known to ancient Hawaiians as the Hill of Sacrifice. The body of Ernie Pyle, newspaper columnist of World War II, is buried here.

MICKEY COHEN, colorful Los Angeles gambling boss, recovering from a shoulder wound suffered when he and three companions were shot as they stepped from a swank Hollywood night spot, scoffs at reports that shooting was the work of an eastern mob. However, new death threats hang over him. An anonymous telephone call to the hospital warned: "We're going to get Mickey tonight." Three companions, including a special agent assigned by California Atty. Gen. Fred Hower to protect him, remain in critical condition. The attorney general has launched an investigation of the shooting.
