Jury Rules Youth Killed By Doctor's Auto 'Unavoidably'

A three-man coroner's jury ruled yesterday afternoon that 5-year-old George Lumsden "lost his life in an unavoidable accident when he was struck by a car driven by Dr. D.F. Fitzpatrick," 903 E. College street.

Fitzpatrick testified his car did not strike the youth, but two police officers later testified that the front bumper brace on Fitzpatrick's car was "cleaned" of mud and that the bumper and the front license plate were slightly bent.

George, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lumsden, 108 S. Linn street, was struck by the car on South Linn street between Washington and College streets about 7:30 Monday night.

He died a few minutes later while enroute to Mercy hospital in an ambulance.

At a coroner's inquest at McGovern's funeral home yesterday 13 witnesses were called to the stand by County Attorney Jack C. White and Coroner George D. Callahan in an attempt to determine circumstances of the boy's death.

Photographs taken at the post mortem which was performed by Dr. E.J. Boyd of the SUI medical laboratories were introduced as evidence at the inquest, and police officers testified that certain marks on the boy's forehead, as evidenced in the pictures, resembled tire marks.

A police officer was later shown photographs of the tires on Fitzpatrick's car and he testified the tread marks resembled markings left on the youth's forehead by the car that struck him.

Jurors Robert H. Lorenz, Clyde U. Shellady and M. Vanderwick deliberated only a few minutes before bringing in the verdict.

After the accident Monday night, Fitzpatrick told investigating officers he was driving north on Linn street about 30 feet behind an Iowa City bus. He said he suddenly heard from behind him a thud and a "kind-of-scream."

He said then, and later at the inquest, that as soon as he heard the scream he slammed on the brakes and jumped out of the car. He said another auto sped by just as got out of his car.

Fitzpatrick admitted being among the first persons to reach the youth's side as he lay in the street, but repeatedly denied his car had struck the youth.

Anderson to Offer Farm Support Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clinton Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture, guardedly discussed yesterday a compromise farm price support program he said he would offer today. All he would say about it was that it entails a flexible support program under which the level of government loans and purchases could be lowered to counteract excessive production.

Anderson let out word of his proposed compromise after his successor, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, reportedly had stiffened all proposals for compromises in his own subsidy payment plan. Brannan attended a long session of the senate agriculture committee, held behind closed doors.

U.S., British Slate Third Atom Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Brien McMahon (D-Conn.) yesterday announced that a third high policy conference on sharing atomic secrets with Great Britain and Canada will be held in the capitol today (12:30 p.m. Iowa time).

The chairman of the joint senate-house atomic committee said in a brief statement that the group will meet with Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Johnson "to continue its consideration of foreign relations in the field of atomic energy."

Congress to Get Secret Russ Military Data

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secret intelligence reports on the might of Russia's war machine will be laid before congress in an administration bid to halt rising opposition to the arms-for-Europe program, it was revealed yesterday.

State department spokesman Michael J. McDermott confirmed that figures on Soviet military preparations will be unveiled to back up President Truman's request for $1,450,000,000 in arms for western European members of the Atlantic pact and other anti-Communist nations.

Four SUI Chinese Students Reject U.S. Aid; Dislike Pledges

Four SUI Chinese students have refused the financial aid of the American government because they prefer to continue their research work here rather than go back to China, Foreign Students Advisor Richard Sweitzer said yesterday.

They are David Hoh, E4, Canton; Pin-nam Lin, G, Canton; Kiao-hung Lu, G, Kiangsu, and Wang-mo Wong, Hong Kong.

Had the students decided to accept the grants which include transportation to China and expenses for the summer session, they would have been required to sign a pledge to return to China to serve their country when their education is finished, Sweitzer said.

He said the students have decided to do research work here and would return to China at a later period. Sweitzer said two of them have received research assistantships from SUI.

Any foreign student may apply for extension of his visa if he wishes to stay here longer, Sweitzer said.

Hoh is working for bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering; Lin, his Ph.D. in hydraulics; Lu, M.S. in zoology and Wong, M.S. in chemical engineering in August, Sweitzer said.

Sweitzer said 50 out of 66 Chinese students applied for the $500,000 emergency financial grant made available for Chinese technical students in America by the state department in cooperation with the Economic Cooperation Administration.

Awards for Chinese technical students expecting to graduate next February will be announced by the state department at the end of August, Sweitzer said.

Board of Education Sets $19,350 Budget

Johnson county's board of education unanimously adopted the 1950 budget figure of $19,350 set for rural county schools at a board meeting held last night.

Board members attending the meeting at 8 p.m. in the office of County Superintendent of Schools F.J. Snider were:

Joseph Paulus, route 6, Iowa City; George W. Drahos, Solon; Eugene Colony, North Liberty; Jasper Bowersox, route 2, Cedar Rapids and Ray Smalley, route 3, Iowa City.

Snider said he expected 92 one-room rural schools in Johnson county will open their doors to elementary grade pupils between Aug. 29 and Sept. 5, when an estimated 1,826 pupils will commence school. He said it was the largest estimated enrollment in the last 12 years.

Eighteen rural school teachers are still needed to teach Johnson county schools, Snider said.

Part of Western Staff To Leave Berlin Area

BERLIN (AP)—American and British military governments announced last night that many of their top officials would be shifted from Berlin to western Germany.

Both powers, in separate announcements, emphasized the switch did not mean withdrawal from Berlin.

Chairman Tom Connally (D-Tex.), of the senate foreign relations committee served notice meanwhile that the program, which Mr. Truman outlined in a message to congress Monday, is "wide open" to revision in the senate.

He made the statement after announcing that he will join Democratic Sen. Elbert Thomas, Utah; Claud Pepper, Florida; and Theodore Francis Green, Rhode Island, in sponsoring a bill to

UNDISMAYED BY HIP-DEEP water, Hazel Sanders of Pleasanton, Tex., waded out into the backyard of her home Monday to hang out the wash. Coal Miners Refuse To End Short Week

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. VA. (AP)—The United Mine Workers yesterday refused to discuss an operators demand for an end of the three-day work week ordered by John L. Lewis in soft coal mines east of the Mississippi river.

Balked in their efforts to negotiate an end to the abbreviated work week, the operators reportedly were considering a plan to close down their mines in an effort to bring the issue to a head. Such action might precipitate a full-scale mine shutdown.

Lewis ordered the three-day work week when his old contract expired June 30. It was aimed at keeping the producers from building up their above-ground coal stocks which might weaken the union's bargaining position.

Yesterday's meeting was the first since the short work week went into effect and operator sources said they spent the two-and-a-half-hour session vainly demanding that union members resume digging coal on a full-time basis.

Statesman Defends Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK (AP)—Elder statesman Bernard M. Baruch yesterday defended Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in her controversy with Francis Cardinal Spellman over allotment of tax funds to aid Catholic schools.

"The Cardinal is one of the finest characters I know and one of the most religious men," he said. "Mrs. Roosevelt is certainly free from any intolerance—race, color or creed. I hope it will be properly cleared up."

Compromise May Fail on School Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democratic leaders said yesterday they are about ready to give up their attempt to obtain a compromise on federal aid-to-education legislation at this session of congress.

One administration spokesman was so discouraged that he said the $35-million school health bill also may be allowed to die.

TARANCON, SPAIN (AP)—Twenty-five men, women and children were killed early yesterday in an explosion at an army ammunition dump here. More than 50 others were seriously injured.

Stassen Hits Truman For Power Demands

SOUTH ST. PAUL (AP)—Harold E. Stassen yesterday broke his recent political silence to charge that President Truman has demanded "too much personal power."

The unsuccessful 1948 candidate for the Republican presidential nomination told newsmen that the President's "poweritis" tendencies are an "affliction which makes it very difficult for the Republican party to cooperate effectively on a bi-partisan foreign policy."

Civil Rights Anti-Poll Tax Bill Clears House by 273-116 Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—After an angry debate, the house passed an anti-poll tax bill yesterday, 273 to 116.

It would outlaw the poll tax as a requirement for voting in primaries and elections in which federal office-holders are chosen.

The measure, the first item of President Truman's civil rights program to be acted on at this session of congress, now goes to the senate. Opponents are confident it will be pigeonholed or filibustered to death if any move is made to take it up there.

Four times previously the house passed similar bills, only to see them die in the senate.

Southerners fought the bill bitterly in the house, saying such measures encourage the rise of the Ku Klux Klan. Northerners replied that the poll tax disfranchises large masses of people and enables "narrow, bigoted" men to control some southern states. Opponents argued in vain that if the poll tax is to be outlawed it should be done by constitutional amendment. They failed, 266 to 123, to send the bill back to committee so a constitutional amendment could be submitted for it.

Virginia, Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi, Alabama, South Carolina and Tennessee could continue to levy poll taxes as they do now. But under the bill's provisions, they could not make the tax payment a condition of voting for president, vice president or members of congress.

Six of Iowa's eight Republican congressmen yesterday voted with the majority as the house passed the anti-poll tax bill. Ben Jensen was the only one listed as voting against the measure. Thomas Martin was not listed as voting.

Giving their approval were Paul Cunningham, James Dooliver, H.R. Gross, Charles Hoeven, Karl LeCompte and Henry Taile.

Police yesterday said they would not give parking tickets to drivers parking in the new metered areas until the amendments had been published.

City Clerk George J. Dohrer said he had sent the two amendments to one of the local papers, but didn't expect publication before tomorrow.

To help drivers distinguish between two- and three-hour meters, meter poles have been painted green for two-hour parking and yellow for three-hour.

About an hour's work remains on installation of the new meters. Installation Engineer Harold Hawley of the Duncan Meter corporation said.

Except for Capitol street from College to Washington streets, new meters are ready for operation. Capitol street meter installation was delayed because three-hour instead of two-hour meters were shipped. Parking there was set up for a two-hour time limit.

Officials said they didn't know how much additional revenue the 280 new meters would give the city. According to the budget estimate for next year, receipts for the parking meter fund were set at $60,000, an increase of $10,000 over the present budget.

Mrs. Edith Frederickson, who handles parking meter receipts, said the city receives about $900 to $1,000 weekly from the present meters.

New 'Ma' Misses Her M.A. Exam

Mrs. Douglas R. Talcott was scheduled to take an oral M.A. test in sociology yesterday but she had a baby instead.

Upon hearing of the birth of Mrs. Talcott's eight pound, five and one-half ounce daughter, the sociology department postponed Mama's finals "until a more appropriate time."

The father, a graduate student working on a Ph.D. degree in psychology did not have any tests scheduled for this week.

Russia Demands Tito Release 31 Prisoners

LONDON (UP)—Russia last night formally accused Yugoslavia of imprisoning, flogging and torturing 31 Soviet citizens living in Yugoslavia and demanded their immediate release from prison, Moscow radio announced.

The announcement said the note was delivered to Belgrade Monday. It was the second Soviet note within a week, marking the sternest Soviet diplomatic offensive against Yugoslavia since Marshall Tito's break with the Communist information bureau (Cominform) more than a year ago.

The note said that the arrested persons were denied hearings and that generally no reasons were given for the arrests.

"This proves that the real reason for the repressive measures to which the Yugoslav authorities are subjecting Soviet citizens is not that they committed any crime but merely that Yugoslav authorities regard them as supporting friendly relations between the peoples of Yugoslavia and those of the Soviet union," the note said.

It listed 31 persons who allegedly underwent a "completely intolerable" prison regime and torture. It said the prisoners were subjected to gross arbitrary acts, flogging, all kinds of insults and were doomed to starvation and illness.

The note said the health and lives of the prisoners were endangered and "the position of the imprisoned Soviet citizens was deteriorating more and more each day."

Arnold denounced Union 'Monopolies'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thurman Arnold, former "New Deal" trust-buster, yesterday urged congress to bring labor unions under the federal anti-trust laws.

"It is a very dangerous thing," he said, "to permit unions to monopolize the labor supply without any curbs whatsoever."

Arnold testified as a witness before the senate banking committee, which is investigating the coal industry and the tactics of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers union.

HEAVY RAIN AT MALLARD

MALLARD, IOWA (AP)—Rain-fall in the Mallard area yesterday totaled 6 1/2 inches. The area was badly in need of moisture.

Rutledge Re-Trial Opposed by State

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—The prosecution filed an answer yesterday opposing a defense motion for a new trial for Dr. Robert C. Rutledge Jr., and included an affidavit by a juror who denied ever saying "the ----- should hang."

District Judge J. E. Heiserman set Aug. 1 for hearing on the motion, postponing it from today at the request of defense attorneys.

The state's 51-page answer to the new trial motion included affidavits from all 12 jurors who found Rutledge guilty of second degree murder May 28 after a month-long trial that won national attention. The 28-year-old St. Louis baby specialist was accused of stabbing Byron Hattman, 29, St. Louis, to death in a Cedar Rapids hotel room last December to avenge his wife's alleged seduction.

Under Iowa law covering second degree murder, Rutledge faces a minimum sentence of 10 years imprisonment and a maximum of life if he fails in his efforts to get another trial.

Pact Ratification Delayed By French Free-for-All

PARIS (AP)—A free-for-all among punching, shouting deputies broke out on the floor of the national assembly yesterday, temporarily halting debate on ratification of the north Atlantic pact.

It was expected the pact would be ratified by an overwhelming majority, with only the Communists in opposition, late last night or early today.

DETROIT (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy left no will and only a small amount of personal property, his brother, Detroit Recorder's Judge George Murphy, said yesterday.

Defeats Proviso To Cut ECA's Appropriations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic senate leaders agreed yesterday to slash $419,820,000 off the funds asked by President Truman for the Marshall plan's second year.

They fought other changes which they claimed would "cripple" the European Recovery program, however, and won 41 to 37 in their first senate test on this issue.

Iowa's senators split on an amendment defeated by the senate which would have cut $74-million out of European recovery spending in the final quarter of the fiscal year ending July 1.

Guy Gillette, a Democrat, voted for the amendment. Bourke Hickeloooper, Republican, voted against it. It was defeated 41-37.

The vote came on a proposal of the senate appropriations committee to cut $74-million off the pending appropriation for the Economic Cooperation Administration, in addition to the general 10 percent slash to which the Democratic leaders agreed.

Paul Hoffman, the ECA administrator, had allocated the $74-million during the final quarter of the year which ended July 1.

Sen. Kenneth McKellar (D-Tenn.), chairman of the appropriations committee, told the senate Hoffman had no legal right to allocate this amount. He said congress was not morally obligated to vote the sum just because Hoffman had made his plans. McKellar also predicted that, if the fund were granted, it would set a precedent which would "return to plague the senate" in later years.

But Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican supporter of the bi-partisan foreign policy, came to the ECA's defense. He said Hoffman had had every reason to think the $74-million would be available because the appropriations committee had not challenged the item in the appropriation passed by the house.

Vandenberg said the appropriations committee had cut out the sum without any hearings on the question and without giving Hoffman a chance to testify about it.

He urged the senate not to "reach back into the past quarter of the last year" to reduce European recovery funds. He said Hoffman had not actually spent the money but that he had planned in advance on getting that sum, with every reason to believe he would get it.

Announces Checks Not Sent in Order

DES MOINES (AP)—Bonus checks to Iowa veterans of World War II are not being mailed out in the exact order in which they were given claim numbers.

Ed Kallemyn, executive secretary of the state's bonus board, said yesterday that claim numbers are sent out in the approximate order that applications are received, but that some applications are held up because of irregularities.

Applications received are dated and kept with other applications received on the same day. Then when the board gets around to processing applications, the ones first received are the first to be processed.

Board Rejects 512 Vets Bonus Claims

DES MOINES (AP)—State Auditor Chet Akers, chairman of the Iowa Veterans Bonus board, said yesterday that 512 bonus claims from World War II veterans have been disallowed.

Veterans whose applications were disqualified had not served during the period for which bonuses are paid or had not been in military service for at least 120 days, Akers said.

The board, Akers said, has also reviewed 100 cases of "doubtful residency." Additional information from veterans whose residency is questioned will be obtained before ruling on their claims, he added.

Schmitz Humbles Brooklyn, 6-0

Loss to Cubs Fourth Straight

CHICAGO (AP)—Johnny Schmitz, who specializes in beating Brooklyn, did it again yesterday with a seven-hit, 6-0, victory for the last-place Chicago Cubs. It was the Dodgers' fourth straight loss, a new season high.

Three first-inning runs off Joe Hatten were more than enough for Schmitz who has pitched each of Chicago's three wins in 13 meetings with Brooklyn.

Coming on the heels of the disastrous St. Louis series, the loss was a severe blow to the Dodgers' pennant hopes at the start of their third western trip.

Singles by Frank Gustine, Frank Baumholtz and Andy Pafko, a fly ball and Roy Smalley's double rocked Hatten in the first. He was knocked out in the third when, with two out, Pafko doubled and Smalley tripled.

Jack Banta and Carl Erskine finished up with Erskine yielding the final two runs in the eighth after two were out. Smalley's third hit, a single, Reich's single and Mickey Owen's double did the damage.

A weekday crowd of 32,872 saw the game.

Bucs' 4 Hits Trip Giants, 4-1

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Four was a lucky number for the revitalized Pittsburgh Pirates last night. They used just four hits to defeat the New York Giants 4-1 and win their fourth straight victory.

Pirate Dino Restelli hit his ninth homer of the year with one aboard in the fourth. Ernie Bonham won his sixth game against two losses. Andy Hansen, who gave way to Kirby Higbe in the fifth, was the loser.

Johnny Hopp had two hits for the fast-moving Bucs, driving in a run with one of his safeties. Bobby Thomson rapped his 17th home run of the season in the fourth inning for the Giants' only run.

Most of the other favorites also survived as the original entry list of 52 was reduced to 16.

Cards Up Lead, Rip Phils, 9-5

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Cardinals' bats were hot last night as St. Louis drove to a game and a half lead in the National league race with a 9-5 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Harry Brecheen wasn't the pitching ace of old, but with the hard hitting of Stan Musial, Red Schoendienst, Enos Slaughter and Glenn Nelson behind him he didn't have to worry.

Musial and Slaughter each hit two doubles. Nelson and Schoendienst hit one apiece.

Altogether Slaughter and Musial had three hits out of four trips to the plate while Schoendienst went one better with four out of five. Nelson also hit safely three out of four official trips.

The Cardinal victory coupled with the Chicago Cubs' 6-0 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers gave the Redbirds their game and a half lead—a working margin—as the two rivals approached a crucial series here next weekend.

Peterson, in winning his second game since being given a starting berth, walked Eddie Stanky and Elbie Fletcher as the first two men to face him and that led to the first Boston run and Stanky scoring on two fly balls to the outfield.

A's Down Browns in 10th, 5-4

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sam Chapman's single with two out in the tenth inning scored Eddie Joost from second with the run that gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 5-4 decision over the St. Louis Browns last night.

Joost started off the game with his 21st home run of the season and before the A's were retired in the first they had collected two more runs.

But they had to come from behind to tie the score in the ninth as rookie Southpaw Alex Kellner went the route for his 14th pitching decision and his fifth of the year over the Browns.

Joe Ostrowski was in trouble all the way as he gave up 13 hits with Ferris Fain getting four to pace the A's attack. He held the Mackmen at bay, however, after the first until the ninth when Mike Guerra singled Chapman home with the tying run. He was relieved by Bill Kennedy in the tenth after issuing his fifth pass.

The Browns collected their first run in the second on hits by Roy Sievers, Whitey Platt and Paul Lehner. They picked up three more in the sixth on Bob Dillingier's triple, singles by Eddie Pelligrini, Gerry Priddy, Sherman Lollar, and Dick Kokos and two errors.

Wally Moses, veteran Philadelphia outfielder, singled in the fifth for the 2,000th hit of his major league career. Only Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox and Dixie Walker of Pittsburgh have done as well among the active players.

Attention... Gas Heat Users!

JUST recently you received a letter from this company pertaining to the new Budget Plan of payment which is now available to customers whose homes are heated with gas.

The plan provides a simple, convenient means of spreading evenly over a ten month period the charges incurred for gas and electric service during the entire heating season — instead of having a substantial portion of these charges concentrated during December, January and February.

By means of this optional plan you are permitted to pay each month, August through May, one-tenth of the estimated charges for gas and electric service used during the entire heating season — with any necessary adjustment to be made in June.

Because the first budget payment must be made with the August bill, it is essential that the necessary arrangements be made without delay.

For complete information without obligation call us.

Time Limit Annoys Prexy Ford Frick

NEW YORK (AP)—The next time two National league clubs set a time limit on a ball game to catch a train, they'd better tell President Ford Frick in advance.

Frick was "annoyed" about Monday's Brooklyn-St. Louis tie that was called at the end of nine innings and two hours before train time. The clubs neglected to inform Frick about the 2:00 p.m. (Iowa time) deadline.

"I am writing letters to both clubs," Frick said yesterday, "telling them to notify me when they plan any time limit games."

"There are no league rules to govern such a situation except that the game must be started three and a half hours before the train leaves. They did that all right."

Play School 'Co-op' For Vets' Children Boasts Sand, Toys

By PAT LEWIS
Thanks to parent cooperation, about 50 veterans' children in Iowa City have a play school furnished with all kinds of toys.

The veterans' play school, now located in a cottage behind the University hospitals, was started in January, 1947. During the first months of operation the school was located in the city hall and Iowa City churches.

A council of parents, the governing body, meets once a month. After each council meeting, a memo is sent to all the parents, Mrs. Douglas Eastwood, chairman of the council, said.

The money for the equipment, which includes boxes for the children to climb into, tool chests, tables, chairs, drawing boards, dolls and beds, came from donations from various groups, from work volunteered by the parents and from the small tuition charged.

Mrs. Margaret McCarthy, head teacher, said that the mothers of the children who attend take turns helping supervise the activities.

The children are divided into two groups, she said. The 2 to 3 1-2 year-old group attends school during the summer on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings.

The 3 1-2 to 5-year-old group goes on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. During the fall and winter session, the younger children go to school in the mornings and the older group goes in the afternoons.

A tentative daily schedule is followed, which includes time for play, rest and refreshments, Mrs. McCarthy said. A nurse is on duty one-half hour every morning and afternoon to examine the children, she said.

A large fenced-in play yard is on one side of the cottage, and the children make their own slides out of boxes and boards and play in the sand pile on nice days, she said.

Housing Office Seeks Quarters for Students

The SUI off-campus housing bureau asks that all Iowa Citizens who have apartments and rooms available for rent list them at the bureau by calling ext. 2191, before Aug. 15.

Richard E. Sweitzer, off-campus housing manager, said that over 1,100 rooms and apartments were located for students last year.

'Classes' Are Held Outdoors These Days

SCHOOL ISN'T SO BAD when it's a play school in a sand pile, the youngsters at the veterans' play school have discovered. Here some of the children are building roads and towns of sand, under the supervision of Mrs. Margaret McCarthy, head teacher at the school.

Manuscript of Novel Given SUI Libraries

SUI libraries have received the manuscript of the novel, "City Limit," written by Hollis Summers, a former SUI student, Associate Library Director Grace Wormer said yesterday.

Summers, who received his M.A. degree from Breadloaf college in Vermont, completed the novel as a thesis requirement while working for his Ph.D. in creative writing here last year.

Hollis said the novel, which was published by Houghton Mifflin company, Boston, "concerns itself with the nature of being human."

Former SUI Instructor Visits Here This Week

Menzer to Discuss Radio, TV on Panel

Prof. Carl H. Menzer, director of radio station WSUI, will discuss the progress made in educational radio and television Monday at a meeting of the Midwest Audio-Visual forum in the Sherman hotel in Chicago.

Menzer will be a member of a four-man panel which will discuss "Progress in Audio-Visual Education."

Other members of the panel will be Vernon Nickels, state superintendent of schools in Illinois; George Mills, audio-visual consultant for the Kalamazoo public schools and Searly Reed of the U.S. office of education, Washington, D.C.

Floyd Brooker of the U.S. office of education will be chairman of the meeting.

Mercy Hospital to Hold Open House on Sunday

Mercy hospital will hold an open house Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m., Sister Mary Rita, superintendent of the hospital, said yesterday.

Guides will conduct tours through the new hospital addition which was dedicated Monday morning with a solemn high mass in the hospital chapel and was blessed by the Most Rev. Ralph L. Hayes, bishop of the Davenport diocese.

Shorthand Receives Cleaning, Author Says

Like barnacles on a boat, abbreviations burdened the old Gregg shorthand system, Louis A. Leslie, co-author of the first major revision of the Gregg system, said in an interview yesterday.

"We've given the system a good cleaning," he said. "Those barnacles had gradually been growing since the system was originated 60 years ago. The revision was published last April."

Leslie and Co-author Charles Zoubek are describing the new system in American colleges and universities this summer. Leslie was featured speaker here Monday at a "revision" conference for business teachers at SUI and from the surrounding area. More than 100 persons attended, he said.

Leslie said the revised system eliminates abbreviations and introduces longer, original symbols which are easier to learn and remember.

"There has been no change in the alphabet," he said. "That's the key to the Gregg system."

He said that by the short "revision" conferences, he and Zoubek could teach business teachers as much in one day about the new system as the teachers could learn from a month's study.

Prof. William Masson of the SUI college of commerce said the revised system emphasizes the functional method of teaching shorthand — where the student doesn't write until after the 20th lesson.

Otherwise a student starts writing shorthand from the beginning, he said.

Porter, Ross Attend Government Meeting

Prof. Kirk Porter and Prof. Russell Ross, both of the SUI political science department, attended a regional meeting of the conference of state governments Monday at Davenport.

The conference of state governments is composed of representatives from each of the 48 states and is designed to deal with problems of state governments, Porter explained.

Porter said that the conference is "a great clearing house for state governments."

A chief interest of Iowa's delegates — five state senators and five state representatives — was in "state administrative reorganization," Porter said. A nine-man Iowa commission is studying reorganization of the Iowa administrative branch, Porter added.

Forum to Discuss U.S. Nationalization

The SUI speech department's fifth weekly roundtable discussion will be broadcast on WSUI's Forensic Forum hour at 7 p.m. today, Prof. A.C. Baird of the speech department said yesterday.

Four college debate coaches will discuss "Shall the Basic Industries in the U.S. Be Nationalized?"

They are Father Francis Marlin, director of forensics at St. Ambrose college, Davenport; Mildred Ann Ditty, director of women's debate at the University of Pittsburgh; Carl Dallinger, dean of the college of liberal arts and director of forensics at the University of Dubuque, and Kim Giffin, director of forensics at the University of Kansas.

C. David Cornell, G. Iowa City, will lead the discussion.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED
Marriage licenses were issued yesterday in the Johnson county clerk's office to Charles S. Landau Jr., Buffalo, N.Y., and Phyllis M. Miller, Iowa City, and to Gard E. Johnson, Cedar Rapids, and Thelma F. Corrick, Marion.

Whither Thou Goest, I Will Go —

Recent statements that Britain is close to being able to produce her own atomic bombs should make all of us stop and ponder. Then add acting Prime Minister Howe's assertion Canada now can produce the bomb, and you come up with real cause for pause.

These reports are reminiscent of the words of Raymond Swing in 1946 when he warned the country it was only a matter of time until other nations turned their knowledge of nuclear physics toward manufacture of the atomic bomb.

Swing's warnings against American smugness over possession of the atomic bomb went all but unheeded. We have frittered away four years since the first bomb was dropped in Japan. Now we stand at the crossroads of indecision where one misstep can plunge us into a war — not only us but the nations of the Atlantic pact, too.

And all the while, congress travels down the road of chance with internal differences splitting that body asunder. There is the school which gazes blindly at the abyss on either side of the road of chance and laughs off all suggestions that we share our atomic secrets with nations of the north Atlantic pact.

Then there is another school. This is the one which advocates giving all our secrets to our new-found allies and preparing for total war with the nations behind the Soviet Union's iron curtain.

And the solution poses a pretty problem. Shall we give out all our atomic secrets to Atlantic pact nations and draw a line through Europe where the battle lines of the cold war may be scorched on the map of an approaching hot war?

Or shall we give our atomic secrets to the Atlantic pact nations and add a Pacific pact group to sever more definitely our relations with Russia?

Or shall we eat more humble pie than we have yet tasted and agree to Russia's terms for sharing atomic energy secrets with the whole world through the United Nations?

Consider the road congress is traveling after you've considered the possible solutions above: we're a nation divided against ourselves in a struggle for and against an ideology — socialism of sorts and a planned economy.

On the right side of the road of chance is the ditch of reaction — no security there in an atomic war. At the left is the ditch, almost abyss, of leftist solutions ranging from pure Russian totalitarianism to advancing socialism.

And from election to election, we merely reverse the balance in the tug of war by both sides which seek their own ends. And while we struggle politically for an economic ideal, the nations of the world join as interested — vitally interested — spectators.

There is one ray of hope in the whole confused picture: we have at least made overtures to the UN to show our willingness to share atomic secrets under UN direction. That fact alone may serve to represent our best interests in the tug of war now progressing on a world scale.

That is, it will if our propaganda is better and faster than the propaganda of the east.

So what can we do about our dilemma? Going back to the road of chance metaphor, since the Paris conference it begins to look as though we have reached that plane on a mountain path where the mountain and the abyss have reached a temporary truce.

Where the mountain (on the right) has silently agreed not to push us off any farther to the left.

Where the abyss has silently agreed not to bite any deeper into the road, thus forcing us back into the side of the mountain which might be termed reaction.

The abyss is the east which has for awhile stalled any farther advance into the cold war for reasons no one knows but everyone speculates upon.

The mountain is our own wall against which we have been backed while we fought back against being forced into the abyss.

And since we have reached the point on the road of chance where a truce seems to have been declared between the two forces, let's tread it cautiously until we see where it leads rather than race blithely on seeing only a few yards in advance.

Neckpains and Backaches —

Now that Iowa City seems destined for television there are at least two ailments that will accompany TV's advent.

Television is a "pain in the neck" to some people and an "aching back" to others.

So said Dr. Martin R. Stone, president of the Chicago Chiropractic society Monday. He said that TV fans may be getting "telesquat" and "telecrane," two spinal ailments induced by watching video screens.

The two ailments were discussed by Stone at the 54th annual convention of the National Chiropractic association in Chicago.

Persons who perch themselves on the edge of their spines by sitting in a slumped position are inviting trouble, Stone said.

They are performing the "telesquat," a term chosen by Stone.

They sit on the bottom of their spine and not on their bottom like nature intended. Sitting on the large bone at the base of the spine can cause a low backache and other physical disturbances," he said.

"Telecrane," according to Stone, is caused by sitting in a forward-bent position. This puts a strain on the vertebrae of the neck.

"Telecrane" can cause severe neckache, headache, and increased eye-strain, the chiropractor added.

Stone's formula for good TV-viewing health consists of sitting in an absolute upright position with both feet flat on the floor.

His suggestion for correct posture appears to be sound, but there will have to be some changes made before society can whip this "telesquat-telecrane" problem.

Easy-chairs will have to be removed from living rooms in order to eliminate "telesquat."

And tavern owners will have to lower their video screens to eye-level height or else neck strain will still be frequent among patrons.

Whatever happens, it's going to be quite an adjustment for many local sports fans. Watching a football game in a standing position inside a stuffy living room or an equally stuffy bar won't be half as much fun as sitting in the snow yelling for a touchdown.

Maybe sports enthusiasts will be better off risking pneumonia in a football stadium than risking the twin evils of TV — "telesquat" and "telecrane."

Interpreting the News —

Quakers Urge U. N. Help

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
(AP) Foreign Affairs Analyst

There seems to be little doubt the United States can handle more of its international business through the United Nations, as suggested in the peace report of the American Friends Service committee.

The call for a new American profession of faith in the U.N., both by word and deed, runs all through the committee report.

It wants the U.S. to drop its embargo restricting trade with eastern Europe and correlate the work of ECA with that of the U.N. economic commission for Europe pending the end of the Marshall plan, when the latter agency can take over.

In this series of articles on the Quaker report we have already discussed the difficulty, if not the actual impossibility, of adopting the suggestion that the U.N. agency control the distribution and allocation of Ruhr production.

The report stresses the belief a world of sovereign states cannot hope to attain peace, security or welfare while its members are relying on their own efforts and military power.

It suggests the United States should actively promote, through the U.N., the principle of third party settlement of disputes. (The U.N. machinery for this is not good, since it provides for participation by the disputants armed with the veto, rather than for real neutral arbitration. But it does have the world court to which many more issues could be referred than has been the case so far.)

One suggestion, while somewhat abstract, is interesting. It is that the United States should deliberately seek and bring up issues on which it could, without compromising its principles, agree with Soviet Russia.

The idea seems to be to prove that some agreement can be had, laying the groundwork for others. U.S. authorities, who have given up any hope of an atomic agreement at present, will certainly turn cold shoulders to the committee suggestion that they make a new move toward this end.

(See columns one and two for editorial comment.)

Nor is the committee likely to get far with its endorsement of the idea offered by the Carnegie endowment for international peace, under which the heads of states — Truman, Atee, Stalin, etc. — would personally take over in the security council and general assembly both to break deadlocks and promote U.N. prestige. But the United States already has recognized the value of co-operating with the U.N. in the development of underdeveloped world areas to remove the seeds of unrest which feed communism and lead to war.

It is in this field the U.N. already has done some of its best work, and the administration program calls specifically for an appropriation to encourage it.

The program envisions two areas of development — one in which the U.S. will work directly and one in which it will work through the U.N. Since the President specifically avows that there must be no taint of imperialism in the program, the U.N. field may eventually prove to be the larger, although in ticklish (strategic cases unilateral control will most certainly be retained.

Operations under the Atlantic pact, however, are expected to provide an important test of the nation's future policy toward U.N.

I think there is a conscious tendency in the administration not to let the treaty siphon off interest from the U.N. If the pact is permitted to become the primary instrument of policy, the U.N. would be severely damaged.

And every city and every town has its people. And those people are all individuals and if you look closely you will see it.

Walk through your own city or town and study some of the faces that pass you by and you will see many things.

You will see joy, indifference, love, hate, pity, life, tragedy, and oftentimes death. You will see other people, and you will see yourself.

Yes, you will see yourself reflected back from the face of another. You will see your own happiness and your own tragedy.

See that old man standing there. The skin on his face is brown from the sun and the wind. His eyes are deep blue and the wrinkles begin to crowd them.

Or that woman who approaches middle age and tries to fight it off. Clothes made for a younger person and an apparent artificiality about her face.

You wonder what she fears. What has caused that sad and haunting look to come into her eyes? Has she missed something she knows she can never make up?

People hurrying to jobs. Just plain ordinary people, until you look a little closer. Until you study them, and wonder about them. Until you try to know them.

Then you begin to understand them. You interpret every line in their faces and you begin to see yourself. Because you have shared with them. You have known what they have known.

Everything they do has a meaning. Everything they say starts from some hidden source. Trace it back and you will understand them.

It is interesting to do that. Just to walk around the city and notice the people. You see all sorts and somehow they are all different. There is something individual about each one.

And in another sense there is something the same about each one.

A boy and a girl still in their teens. They walk hand in hand and they look at one another, and smile. There is no world but their own. They are alone.

You look at the future for them because they haven't the time just now. Some things you see, you don't like, and wonder how they will take them. Will they always walk that way?

Will that lad standing on the corner with the baseball glove tucked in his pocket always blush when the school girls stop to talk with him? You know he will not and you wonder where and when the change takes place.

People hurrying to jobs. Just plain ordinary people, until you look a little closer. Until you study them, and wonder about them. Until you try to know them.

Then you begin to understand them. You interpret every line in their faces and you begin to see yourself. Because you have shared with them. You have known what they have known.

World May Get New Calendar, but —

American Approval Needed

WASHINGTON—Dec. 31, 1950, promises to be a notable day, apart from the fact it marks the midturning point of the twentieth century. On this day under the sponsorship of the United Nations, the world is expected to shelve the calendar confusion of the last two thousand years and begin the second half century living under the efficient, streamlined World Calendar.

For centuries scholars, business men and statesmen have urged the adoption of the World Calendar. The suggestion has been discussed and approved at many world conferences. It now looks as if definite action is about to be taken.

Seventeen countries have given formal approval to the World Calendar, the latest being the Republic of Panama. Twenty-four other governments have stated they will adopt and support such a change. These nations include those as far apart in their political views as Argentina, Australia, Japan, China, Turkey, Saudi Arabia and Czechoslovakia.

The one condition these nations have made is that some greater power such as the United States, Great Britain, France or Russia take the initiative. The United States has accepted the invitation. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) has introduced a measure, which has been referred to the committee on foreign relations, which would give United States approval to the World Calendar.

IT IS GENERALLY believed that the enactment of this measure will assure the discussion of the World Calendar being placed on the agenda of the next session of the general assembly of the United Nations. Its adoption is now regarded as assured.

The world's present calendar is virtually the one introduced by Julius Caesar (100-44 B. C.), whose astronomers named the seventh month after this great Roman. The only corrections made in this calendar were those made by the astronomers of Pope Gregory XIII in 1582.

These corrections, however, failed to make the calendar an efficient time measurer or change its shiftiness. The months continued to retain an irregular number of days, with national holidays meandering all over the week. One result was that while one knew the date of his birth, few of us ever knew on what day of the week that event happened to be.

In the proposed World Calendar the four quarters of the year each consist of 13 weeks, or 91 days, and begin on Sunday and end on Saturday. Every month will have 26 weekdays plus Sundays, with every year beginning on Sunday.

HOLIDAYS will be fixed, falling on the same day every year, and for the first time the calendar will have true comparability, not for a year but for centuries. The quarters of the year are equalized and the days of the week and dates always agree.

Under the World Calendar, two dates in the present calendar would be retired and two new dates would replace them. These new days will appear on the calendar as the letter W instead of a number.

The present Dec. 31 would become a new W December, denoting a new day to be known as Worldday, which it is hoped will be celebrated in every country as an international holiday for world wide peace and unity. Always coming between a Saturday and a Sunday it gives the world a three-day weekend holiday.

The extra day in leap year every four years, Feb. 29, would become W June (June 31). This would be known as Leapyear Day. Falling between a Saturday and a Sunday it would supply another three-day weekend holiday. It is hoped that Leapyear Day will be another true world holiday, to be observed as such throughout the world.

Sen. Kefauver's action brings to a dramatic climax a long and intensive movement which has been waged for a perpetual equal-quarter calendar to replace the out-moded Gregorian calendar.

In the field of labor, the new calendar has won approval as a perfect timing-tool whereby wages and expenses can be figured more accurately, since payments will always come at the same intervals, regularly on the same weekdays and month-dates of every year of 52 weeks.

Lindbergh Kidnaping Figure Arrested in 'Numbers' Case

NEW YORK (AP)—Police who smashed a crooked, $50-million-a-year numbers ring yesterday nabbed Irving Bitz, 46, identified as a key figure in the Lindbergh kidnaping case.

Bitz, also identified as a former member of the Lepke murder gang, was seized with five others in a lightning series of arrests that already had netted 11 others allegedly implicated in the three-state swindle syndicate.

Hogan said Bitz was a member of a "legitimate" section in Newark, N.J., was about twice the size of the once notorious Dutch Schultz policy racketeer.

Hogan said the ring's operators cheated their thousands of nickel-to-a-dollar customers by altering Cincinnati, Ohio, clearing house totals on which the daily payoff was partly based. This greatly lessened each "sucker's" one-in-1,000 chance of winning, the district attorney said.

Bitz was identified in yesterday's police lineup as a circus inspector for the New Journal-American and as celebrated Bitz who was "up in the Lindbergh kidnaping." The latter identification was made by Acting Police Sgt. Harry Hanley.

Hogan said Bitz also was a former member of the "Lepke mob." Louis "Lepke" Buchalter, associated with the "Murder, Inc." gang, was electrocuted in 1944.

Arrested with Bitz was Abraham Goldberg, 47, assistant circulation manager of the Journal-American.

Hogan said they and a third man, Anthony Strollo, whom he called "one of the top underworld figures in the east," split $670 a week for making sure the doctored payoff numbers were printed in the Journal-American.

Strollo was arrested Monday in Cliffside Park, N.J.

Bitz and Goldberg, both denying guilt, were held in $100,000 bail each on charges of conspiracy and contriving a lottery.

Also arrested yesterday on similar charges were Edward Kane, 44, pool room operator; Emilio Strollo, 61, brother of the confederate of Bitz and Goldberg; Jack Feldman, 48, cigar store proprietor; and Martin Martinson, 36, an employee of Kane's.

Several Jobs Open For SUI Students

Several part-time and temporary jobs for SUI students including secretarial, bartering, sales and cafeteria positions were listed recently at the student employment office, room 111, University hall.

Two of the secretarial jobs are full-time work for women during August. Another secretarial job open for a woman is permanent but part-time, an employment office spokesman said.

A licensed barber's job is open for a male student who may arrange his own working hours. One typist job is available for either a man or a woman who can work four hours a day through August and during the coming school year.

A door-to-door sales job and several cafeteria jobs also are available for work during August.

Tractor Operators Face 'Rough' Tests

How to drive a tractor with a 12-foot implement attached through an 11-foot 4-inch gate is a problem that will face contestants in the forthcoming Johnson county tractor rodeo.

The rodeo, sponsored by the junior farm bureau, will begin at 1 p.m. Aug. 4 at the Lucas show grounds, Ralph Baughman, farm bureau assistant, said yesterday.

Winner of the tractor driving contest will go to a state contest at the sports festival in Ames on Sept. 8, 9, and 10.

Other obstacles in the six-event contest include the backing of a four-wheeled wagon into a shed, wagon hookup to a tractor, belt alignment, operating a crawler-type tractor and driving a tractor through a "serpentine" course.

Entry blanks for the contest, open to anyone in Johnson county, may be obtained from implement dealers or at the farm bureau office in the Iowa City postoffice building.

Man Hurt in Fall From Sand Truck

Art Lewis, construction foreman from Sycamore, Ill., was injured yesterday when he was thrown from a truck while resurfacing the SUI tennis courts south of the fieldhouse.

Nine stitches were taken on his left hand and he received face lacerations, according to J. Robert Cotter, manager of SUI married student housing.

Iowa Polio Cases Increasing; SUI Hospitals Report 4 More

Four more polio patients, two from Dubuque county's "epidemic area," were admitted at University hospitals yesterday, bringing the total number of "active" patients under treatment there to 21.

Admitted yesterday were Robert Schiessel, 7, and James Flury, 5, both of Dubuque; Jean Pope, 7, Victor, and Alphadee Akers, 3, Iowa Falls.

The Flury boy, whose sister was admitted for polio treatment Monday, was reported in "good" condition. The others were in "fair" condition according to hospital officials.

Eugene Zawacki, 28, and David Olds, 4, both of Dubuque, were transferred to the "inactive" lists yesterday and three other patients were discharged.

Discharged were Kosta Bakas, 4, Iowa Falls, admitted July 16; Ronald Ruby, 6, Fort Dodge, admitted July 16, and Beatrice Lukemayres, 30, Tipton, admitted July 15.

Reports from over the state indicate that polio now is on an upswing, and the state health department announced yesterday that for the first time this year the total number of polio cases in the state has surpassed last year's total for the same date.

The department said up to this week 124 cases had been reported while on the same date last year there were 118 cases.

Most of the increase has come during the last week. On July 16, 79 cases had been reported over the state and on July 17, 1949, 95 cases had been reported.

Dr. Ralph Heeren, director of the division of preventable diseases of the state health department, listed six counties as epidemic areas. They are Calhoun, Webster, Hardin, Guthrie, Polk and Dubuque.

Dr. Albert J. Entringer, Dubuque city health director, Monday ordered city playgrounds and recreational facilities closed to children under 14 as a precaution against the spread of the disease. He also advised mothers to keep children under 14 at home and away from such crowded places as movies, skating rinks, sports events and picnics.

Meanwhile, the state health department has recommended the following precautions against polio:

1. Keep hands, face and all eating utensils clean.
2. Avoid over-fatigue and chilling.
3. Keep away from crowds and persons with upper-respiratory diseases.
4. Stay away from surface water that might possibly be polluted.
5. Call your physician early if any unexplained sore throat, stiffness of the neck, intestinal disturbance or fever develops.

Oxford Man Claims $250 in Damage Suit

Thomas Meade Jr., Oxford, filed a $250 damage suit yesterday in Johnson county district court against Paul Hoffman, also of Oxford.

Meade claimed the defendant failed to carry out all of the terms in an oral agreement made with him approximately March 15, 1949, in connection with the sale and transfer of two house trailers.

Gene Krupa 'Pained' When Police Arrest Bandsmen with Dope

DETROIT (AP) — Drummer Gene Krupa conferred briefly with police and federal narcotics agents last night after a third member of his dance band pleaded guilty to a dope charge.

Krupa, himself involved in a similar case six years ago, said three bandsmen were "automatically fired" under a clause in their contracts which forbids "unbecoming conduct and the use of stimulants."

"I've been speaking to the boys about their conduct," he told officers who talked with him about the habits of the three. "This is certainly a painful experience, especially since I've got two strikes on me already."

The latest arrest, third in three days, came early yesterday when narcotics men and city police swept into a hotel room and found Guitar Player Ralph Blaze, 27, with an 18-year-old Detroit girl.

Federal Judge Arthur Lederle accepted a guilty plea to a charge of violating narcotics laws from Blaze, of Weehawken, N.J., and released him on a $1,000 bond.

Blaze was charged with illegal possession of marijuana after an intensive search disclosed two "reefers" in a spectacle case.

"This recent development not only shocks me very much but brings me great disappointment and pain," he said. Bandmen Herbert Randel, 28, Richmond Hill, N.Y., and John P. Bello, 22, Paterson, N.J., pleaded guilty Monday to illegal possession of cocaine.

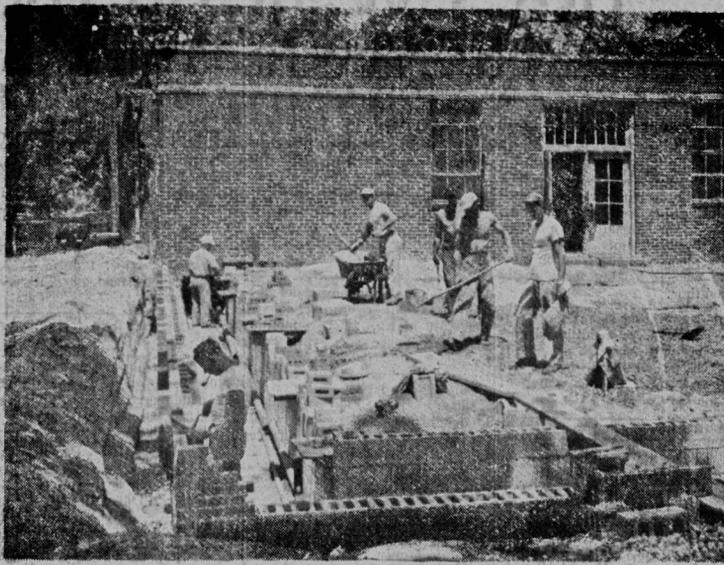

Lederle set Sept. 12 for sentencing of the three.

Sees Radioactivity Used in Medicine

Peacetime applications of radioactive materials in such fields as medicine and agriculture may well overshadow any wartime use in the next two decades, Prof. Joseph I. Routh of the SUI biochemistry department said last night.

Routh spoke to an audience of about 150 persons in the chemistry building auditorium in the sixth lecture of the series to explain atomic energy and its uses to the layman. In discussing medical research, Routh explained how it was possible to inject radioactive iodine into the body of a rabbit and have it destroy thyroid tissue to correct hyperthyroidism without ill effects on the animal. "It is possible that some day a farmer can incorporate some radioactive material along with fertilizer and increase the rate of growth in plants," Routh said. The next lecture will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday night in the chemistry building auditorium.

A Will Finds a Way —

Beached Whiskey Bottle May Net Millions

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 55-year-old maitre d'hotel who stubbed his toe last March on an old whiskey bottle washed up on a San Francisco beach is now waiting word from London that may bring him a slice of a $12-million estate left by the late heir to the Singer sewing machine fortune.

The bottle that Jack J. Wurm, Palo Alto, stumbled over contained a scrap of rough brown wrapping paper on which was written:

"Share and share alike with my attorney, Barry Cohen, and the finder of this bottle." It was signed "Daisy Alexander."

For years the Sunday supplements of London have been having fun on dull Sundays searching for Daisy's last will. The only will found to date was 40 years old, according to letters from Cohen to Wurm since the bottle was found.

The daughter of Sewing Machine Magnate Isaac Singer, the eccentric Daisy died in 1910 of bomb shock at the age of 80. Wurm said he had never heard of the name until he came upon the tightly-corked bottle while kicking around in the sand last March on Ocean beach opposite "Playland."

He tried unsuccessfully to pry the cork out with his fingers and then with a broken clam shell. Finally he smashed the bottle on a rock.

He said the document was written in pencil on ordinary brown paper. He refused to disclose whether it was printed or written in longhand or to describe the contents or paper any closer.

Wurm quoted the exact words above but said that wasn't the full text of the message. "I'm not letting anyone see the original paper," he said cautiously.

The paper was dated June 20, 1937. He found the bottle March 16, 1949, nearly 12 years later and some 12,000 miles from London. He said at first he thought it was "a prank of some college kid." He kept the paper only to show his wife, Agnes. It was some months before he learned that there actually was a person named Daisy Alexander.

Wurm sings in a San Francisco barbershop quartet and one night the conversation turned to "strange experiences." When Wurm disclosed his finding, a former GI who had been stationed in London when Daisy hit the headlines remembered reading about it.

Wurm immediately took interest and wrote the London postmaster asking him to locate Cohen. Shortly after Cohen cabled Wurm asking for more details. An exchange of correspondence followed but Wurm said he still knows very little about the background of the case.

KIEL, GERMANY (AP) — When a store here advertised silk stockings on a live model in the window, an all-male crowd blocked the street. Police finally stopped the show and moved the crowd along, including eager viewers clinging to lamp posts.

Clinic to Explain Child's Problem to Parents

Parents of 55 children enrolled in the SUI summer speech clinic session will attend the introductory meeting of the summer clinic parents' conference in E104, East hall at 1 p.m. today, Prof. Spencer F. Brown of the speech department, said yesterday.

The two-day conference consists of lectures, movies and conferences to help the parents understand their children's problems and to give them an opportunity to learn what the speech clinic has done about the problems this summer.

The children are from various Iowa communities and will finish their six-week session Friday. Thirty-three of them have been living at the speech clinic dormitories at 8 and 12 E. Bloomington street. Several stay at local foster homes and others commute from Cedar Rapids or live in Iowa City.

Most of the children are stuttering, voice and articulation cases. Others have organic disorders, hearing and reading defects.

At 2 p.m. today, the parents will visit the stuttering class of Prof. Wendell A. Johnson, speech clinic director, in E105, East hall. The first part of a movie, "Mental Mechanisms," will be shown at 3 p.m. in C1, East hall. Parents will see the second part at 7 p.m.

Parents will meet with the speech clinic division instructors tomorrow at 9 a.m. Divisions include stuttering, voice and articulation, organic disorders, hearing and reading.

Parents also will talk with the clinicians who worked individually with their children during the summer session.

Greyhound Strikers Reject Company Bid

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Employees of the Northland Greyhound Bus company yesterday rejected a company offer for settlement of the 91-day-old bus line strike.

The vote was 1,041 for rejection to 204 for acceptance. Eleven votes of the 1,256 cast were void. The strike began April 27, idling more than 450 buses on the 10,000-mile system in eight midwestern states and in the province of Manitoba, Canada.

The strike was called after the union refused an earlier company offer of a 10-cent an hour wage boost for all employees on an hourly basis and for a 35 of a cent per mile increase for drivers.

Under the contract which expired Dec. 31, 1948, drivers got six cents a mile with a $180 monthly guarantee. Mechanics got $1.52 an hour.

Northland Greyhound serves Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois, Wisconsin, Montana and the province of Manitoba.

Oil Station Attendant Identifies 3 Robbers

Bert Balsinger, local service station attendant, yesterday identified the three men who robbed him of $85 July 7 as a trio arrested recently in Chicago, police said.

Identification was made by means of a photo forwarded by Chicago authorities, police said. The men were listed as Chas. Wolber, Danny Kelly and Robert Laird, wanted in Illinois for robberies, police reported. No addresses were given.

According to Balsinger, he was robbed at about 1 a.m. when three bandits entered the Dean Jones Texaco station, 32 W. Burlington street, ordered cigarettes, and then robbed him. He said the men did not take any money from the cash register or safe, but took only what he was carrying.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IT'S ABOUT time for a few more shaggy dog stories and a good one to start with is that of the visiting nurse who asked the young mother, "Why do you put your baby in such a high crib?"

"We're usually in another room," explained the mother, "and we want to be able to hear him when he falls out."

"Possibly she is the same character who rushed off to Madison Square Garden because her uncle was riding in a six-day bike race. 'Ridiculous,' said her companion. 'That race has been over for two months.' I know," was the answer. "That's what I've got to tell my uncle."

Then there's the lady in Barker, Me., who called up a relative in Miami to report a whopping blizzard in progress. "I'll mail you some snow in a letter," she proposed. "It will be gone long before it gets to Florida," the relative pointed out. "Don't be silly," said the lady. "Who'd be mean enough to steal a little snow out of an envelope?"
