Publishers, Printers Agree To End Chicago Paper Strike

CHICAGO (UP) — Publishers and AFL printers last night announced they have reached an agreement to end a strike of nearly two years duration against five Chicago daily newspapers. The announcement was made by John J. Pilch, president of local 16 of the International Typographical union, and John J. O'Keefe, secretary of the Chicago Newspaper Association.

McAuliffe Named To Head Army's Chemical Warfare

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. Anthony Clement McAuliffe, the hero of Bastogne who replied "Nuts" to a German demand for surrender of his hard-pressed troops in 1944, yesterday was picked to be chief of the army's chemical corps.

McAuliffe, fondly known to his GI's as "Old Crock," was singled out for the post by President Truman. His nomination was sent to the senate.

If the senate approves, the World War II hero will succeed Maj. Alden H. Waitt about Oct. 1.

Waitt was suspended from the post last July when his name cropped up in the senate's investigation of "five percenters."

McAuliffe's name had not figured extensively in speculation as a successor to Waitt.

McAuliffe now is commander of the 24th infantry division stationed in Japan. A native of Washington, D.C., he has been a soldier since he entered the U.S. military academy during the first World War.

McAULIFFE

They said that the executive committee of the ITU had approved a contract to end one of the longest strikes in the country's history.

The agreement will be submitted to a vote of union membership Sunday.

The union's scale committee has approved of the contract proposal, they said. If the contract is approved, the printers will go back to work Monday.

"These provisions have been submitted to the executive council of the International Typographical Union and have been approved. The agreement together with the wage scale increase of $10 per week offered by the publishers will be submitted to a vote of the union membership in the near future."

The strike started against six newspapers Nov. 24, 1947. It involved the Chicago Tribune, the Herald-American, the Chicago Daily News, the Chicago Times, the Journal of Commerce and the Chicago Sun. Since then, the Sun and Times have merged.

The walkout of 1,500 printers from the newspapers' composing rooms was precipitated by the international fight against the Taft-Hartley law. The union demanded its traditional rights over employment and the publishers maintained these rights were outlawed by the labor act.

Council Votes to Buy North Dodge Court Property as Street

Iowa City councilmen this week voted to pay $1,000 to the trustees of the St. Joseph's Cemetery association for a triangular-shaped piece of property used in opening North Dodge court as a street.

The matter had been pending since before the city election last spring when there was some mention that the street had been opened and graveled for the special benefit of W. H. Bartley, city attorney.

The crossing of the cemetery property was referred to an appraisal board which set the $1,000 value on the land.

Bartley pointed out that $650 of the amount was due the city as paving and sewer assessments against the property leaving only $350 that the city would pay the trustees.

Alderman Wilber Teeters questioned the matter as the vote progressed. Bartley explained that the street was an old road and that its opening was of no special benefit to him.

The new street, Bartley said, does not lead to his house. He pointed out that he and two other property owners in the area had dedicated land to the city for the street.

Oil the Shooting Irons! Squirrel Season's Here

CLEANING THEIR SHOTGUNS as they prepare for the opening of the squirrel and rabbit hunting season today, are SUI students Paul S. Nicholson, A4 and his brother Jim, both of Des Moines. The boys completed their preparations early last night in order to get a pre-dawn start on their "squirrel" shooting.

IC Guardsmen Give Blood to Hospital

Thirty-two Iowa City medical national guardsmen offered their assistance in setting up the new blood bank at Mercy hospital this week.

The men were registered and blood-typed, and those who prove to be eligible will be placed on the hospital's permanent list of blood donors.

These men will give blood to the bank periodically free of charge. The amount given will be recorded as a credit to the local national guard unit and may be drawn upon by any medical guardsman needing it when he is a patient at the hospital.

The guard unit is the first local organization to set up such a program in cooperation with the hospital, Dr. Helen Deaton, medical director of the new Mercy hospital blood bank, said.

DEWEY ORDERS PROBE

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey yesterday ordered the Westchester county district attorney to conduct a special grand jury investigation into mob violence that followed Paul Robeson's concert near Peekskill, N.Y., Sept. 4.

Lewis Poses Strike Threat

BLUEFIELD, W. VA. (UP) — John L. Lewis posed a new strike threat today as United Mine Workers' representatives resumed negotiations here with the Southern Coal Producer's association.

Lewis, angry because some coal companies have failed to keep up their payments to the UMW's welfare and retirement fund, told the Cleveland Trust company to force a coal company it represents to pay up.

Lewis' telegram to I. F. Freiberg, chairman of Cleveland Trust, said that unless the Island Creek and Pond Creek coal companies paid up, it "may precipitate a social convulsion in the mining areas of this country."

Some observers immediately interpreted the statement as a strike threat.

However, industry spokesmen here said that it was possible that Lewis' attempt to get Island Creek coal company to pay its back royalties eased the threat of an immediate strike.

At Cleveland, I. F. Freiberg, chairman of the Cleveland Trust said that Lewis was "wrong" in his inference that the bank controlled the Island Creek and Pond Creek coal companies. He said he did not yet know what answer would be made to the united mine workers' chief.

At the same time Lewis sent the telegram, UMW negotiators headed by International Secretary-Treasurer John Owen met with Joseph E. Moody, president of the southern coal producers here.

Lewis wrote to James D. Francis, president of Island Creek and Pond Creek, Tuesday and asked him to pay up the contributions to the welfare fund. Francis rejected the Lewis request Tuesday night and said his companies were not in default as there has been no contract between the companies and the union since June 30.

Dignitaries Pay Last Tribute to Rutledge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Funeral services for Supreme Court Justice Wiley Blount Rutledge were held yesterday at All Souls' Unitarian church, where he had worshipped for several years.

Rutledge was dean of the SUI college of law from 1935 to 1939. The rites were conducted by the Pastor, the Rev. A. Powell Davies, who paid tribute to Rutledge as a teacher, a judge and a man.

Attending the services were Mrs. Annabel Rutledge, his widow; two daughters, Jean and Mary Lou; and son, Neal.

Chief Justice Fred Vinson was present and also represented President Truman, who was unable to attend.

Rutledge died last Saturday night at York, Me., where he was vacationing.

Minton Rumored To Fill Vacancy

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Circuit Court Judge Sherman Minton, an all-out new dealer during the Roosevelt era, was being widely mentioned here yesterday as President Truman's possible choice to succeed Wiley B. Rutledge on the supreme court.

Rutledge was a member of the court's "liberal" wing. Some persons highly placed in the capital said that Minton may have the "inside track" on the vacancy.

U.S. Steel Turns Down Board's Peace Formula

But, Man! What a Target!

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Police yesterday arrested two marksmen and charged them with making a rear-guard BB gun assault on slacks-clad women on Hollywood boulevard.

Theodore Gustavson, 19, and Robert T. Ross, 20, had almost emptied famed Hollywood boulevard of its fair femininity, police said. "We only took pot shots at girls wearing slacks," they told police. "We got a big kick when we made them jump."

GOP Wins Pennsylvania Congressional Election

JOHNSTOWN, PA. (AP) — Republicans yesterday won back the 26th Pennsylvania district congressional seat they lost in the 1948 democratic sweep — and GOP leaders crowed about a "stinging rebuke" to President Truman's domestic policies.

John P. Saylor, 41-year-old former navy lieutenant who supplied the flag raised by Marines at Iwo Jima, coasted to victory at a special election.

He defeated gold star mother, Mrs. Robert L. Coffey Sr., who sought the congressional post made vacant by the death of her son, Rep. Robert L. Coffey Jr., in a navy jet plane crash.

Saylor said even he is surprised by the size of his majority. Returns from 317 of 325 precincts in the three-county district gave Saylor 57,037; Coffey 48,168.

The special election held in conjunction with the state party primaries was the first grass roots test for the Truman administration since last November.

Republican leaders hailed Saylor's triumph and indicated they think they have found a major issue for their 1950 efforts to regain control of congress.

That issue is what the Republicans term "statism" and which they variously define to imply Democrats are trying to substitute a paternalistic government for individual initiative.

National Republican Chairman Guy George Gabrielson declared in a statement: "The election of the Republican candidate ... constitutes a stinging rebuke to the Truman administration effort to lead this nation down the road to statism."

Democrats too had regarded the special western Pennsylvania election as a test of Mr. Truman's policies but they generally discounted the long range effect of the outcome.

Set Community Chest Goal at $26,045.74

Atty. Emil G. Trott announced yesterday that Iowa City's Community Chest drive will be held October 1-15 with a goal of $26,045.74. Trott is chairman of the organization's board of directors.

Graham E. Marshall, manager of SUI's fraternity business service, was named general campaign chairman Monday when the board met to draw up plans for the drive.

Say Compliance Would Cause Rise in Prices

PITTSBURGH (AP) — United States Steel corporation yesterday bluntly refused to accept the presidential fact finding board's steel peace formula without bargaining.

CIO steelworker President Philip Murray forced the issue, developing anew the threat of a nationwide steel strike at the expiration of the presidential truce Sept. 25.

Murray told U.S. Steel President Benjamin F. Fairless to state plainly whether the nation's No. 1 steel producer would accept the board's recommendations.

Murray didn't like Fairless' initial answer that they resume bargaining without committing big steel on the board findings.

Fairless quickly fired back that the steelworker chief can't dictate U.S. Steel's acceptance as a condition to bargaining but he's willing to renew conferences.

And Fairless made it plain for the first time just how big steel feels about the fact finders' report. Big steel doesn't like it.

President Truman's board recommended a 10-cent hourly package for the steelworkers' million members to cover company-financed insurance and pensions but not wages. Financing the program is the thorn in the side of big steel.

In spite of the fact that the cost of producing steel will be increased by any new contributory program of social insurance, United States Steel is willing to pay up to four cents an hour, the amount suggested by the presidential steel board, as its proper share of the cost of a proper program for social insurance on a contributory basis.

That would be the equivalent of adding $3 to the cost of each ton of steel produced in the country last year . . .

New German Chancellor Tiffs with President

BONN, GERMANY (AP) — Konrad Adenauer, 73-year-old Christian Democratic party leader, yesterday was nominated Germany's first chancellor since Adolf Hitler and immediately ran into disagreement with President Theodor Heuss over naming a cabinet.

Adenauer's nomination was made by Heuss himself in a letter to Erich Koehler, president of the Bundestag or lower house. That chamber will convene today to decide on whether to approve the choice.

The disagreement flared only a few hours after Heuss revealed his nomination. Heuss, according to informed quarters, told German associates that he intended to exercise all power granted him under the new constitution.

But Adenauer's party headquarters almost openly rejected Heuss' claim to the power to nominate cabinet ministers.

The most disputed cabinet post was that of finance minister. Both Adenauer's Christian Democrats and Heuss' free Democrats want it.

The Free Democrats raised new objections to several Christian Democrats whom Adenauer wants to appoint, and his temper seemed to be fraying under the strain. He even refused to discuss the cabinet situation with members of his own party.

Approval of Adenauer by the Bundestag was assumed to be assured. He has lined up a coalition of right-wing parties, including his Christian Democrats, the Free Democrats and the German party, which assures him of a majority of the 402-member chamber.

Rocky Graziano TKO's Fusari In 10th

Smashing Win NY 'Comeback'

By JACK CUDDY
NEW YORK (AP) — Former middleweight champion, Rocky Graziano, smashed his way back into the "big time" last night by scoring a technical knockout over Welterweight Charlie Fusari at 2:04 of the 10th round before 30,000 in the Polo Grounds.

Graziano, making his first appearance in a New York ring in three years, surprised everyone by remaining on his feet for the whole bruising battle, and by out-boxing his lighter and faster opponent before finally battering him into helplessness.

Referee Ruby Goldstein stopped the bout in the 10th when slender, blond Fusari of Irvington, N.J., was being battered on the ropes, after he had been floored for a count of nine by a terrific straight right to the chin.

Graziano, who hadn't had an important fight since June 10, 1948, appeared before the fans last night as a "new" Rocky who was willing to try to out-box his opponent while waiting for the knockout opening.

That opening finally came in the last round of his scheduled 10-round, and he staggered the slender blond Jersey "milkman" with a smashing left hook to the chin. He followed with a looping right that drove 24-year-old Fusari into the ropes. Then another looping right to the jaw dropped Charlie to one knee. He took the count of nine.

When he rose, the broad-shouldered, shaggy-haired Graziano swarmed after him, swinging his fists like a berserk blacksmith until Charlie was leaning helplessly against the ropes in a neutral corner.

It was then that Goldstein intervened to save Fusari from possible injury.

It was the first time in Fusari's career of 67 professional fights that he had failed to last the distance. And in the dressing room he asked, "What did he stop it for? I knew what I was doing. I thought I was ahead."

However, few observers agreed with Charlie, who had been belted to the verge of groggy-land.

The progress of the fight was a surprise, not only to the boxers, but also to the experts and fans. Practically no one had expected it to last more than five rounds. But at the end of the fifth heat, the United Press score sheet had the bout all-even, with each having won two and fought on even terms in one.

Cubs Outlast Braves To Score 8-7 Win

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs outlasted the Boston Braves, 8-7, today before 2,672 paid — smallest Wrigley field crowd of the season. It closed the season series between the two clubs with the Braves holding a 12-10 margin.

The Cubs routed Johnny Sain with a seventh-inning three-run rally that proved decisive. Roy Smalley doubled and scored on singles by Hank Sauer and Andy Pafko. An infield out advanced Sauer and Pafko and both counted on Mickey Owen's single to left.

Johnny Schmitz, who started for the Cubs, also was lifted after seven innings. However, the Cub lefty got credit for the victory through hitless pitching by Bob Rush in the final two rounds.

It was the 11th victory for Schmitz as against nine losses and the 15th defeat for Sain compared to only 10 wins.

Bosox Win, 1-0, on Ted's HR

BOSTON (AP) — The astonishing Ellis Kinder, aided by Ted Williams' 38th home run of the season, joined the exclusive ranks of 20-game winners yesterday as he pitched Boston's pennant hopeful Red Sox to a 1-0 victory over Detroit's fighting Tigers.

Some fancy fielding, as well as Williams' sixth-inning blast into the screen in left center, aided the 35-year-old Kinder to record his 10th successive decision.

In spite of winning the Sox dropped back to three games behind the front-running New York Yankees who twice defeated the St. Louis Browns.

It was Kinder's 18th start without a loss as he started two games for which he neither was credited nor charged, and one of his five losses was in relief.

Only one Tiger batter traveled beyond first base, Vic Wertz who opened the seventh with a long double to right center.

He was sacrificed to third by Hoot Evers but Kinder made both Aaron Robinson and Johnny Lipp ground out to end the inning.

The Sox whipped off four timely double plays; behind him and both Dom DiMaggio and Al Zarilla made great catches in the final innings to protect the victory.

Cardinals Top NY Giants, 9-3

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals battled the rain and the New York Giants last night and came up with a 9-3 victory for the 10,712 cold, damp fans.

The victory kept the Redbirds a game and a half ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rain delayed the contest a total of one hour and 45 minutes, and even then much of the playing was completed with rain falling.

The Cards had a 4-1 lead when play was halted for an hour and 26 minutes in the last of the fourth. But it wasn't an official game and every effort was made to get play resumed. The other 19 minutes were lost at the start of the affair.

St. Louis picked up three runs in the third frame on two singles, a walk, a long fly, and an error by Kennedy. Stan Musial batted in another tally in the fourth just before the big delay.

After scoring another run in the seventh, Musial tripled in the eighth with the socks loaded to cinch the triumph.

The Giants threatened Harry Brecheen in the seventh, getting men on second and third, but the cat struck out Sal Yvars and got Bill Rigney to line out to end the inning. It was Brecheen's 13th victory of the season.

Practice Drill Light As Hawks Work on Pass, Ground Attack

After two days of scrimmage Iowa went back to running plays and working on the pass attack yesterday afternoon. Most of the workout was spent smoothing out the aerial offense, with Glenn Drahn doing most of the tossing.

At the same time much emphasis was placed on pass defense. Neither seemed to operate with much success. Dr. Eddie Anderson switched backfield combinations often, with the exception of Drahn. Fred Ruck, sophomore quarterback later ran through the same drills, working mostly on passing.

Protecting the passers was the same first line that has been seeing first team duty for several days. The coaches changed the ends, as they were on the pass receiving end, while at the tackle were Don Winslow and Harold Bradley. Earl Banks and Don Lage were the guards and John Townner was at center.

Injuries still hampered Tackles Jim Shoaf and Hubert Johnston and Fullback Bill Reichardt.

In the morning drills yesterday the Hawkeyes worked on points after touchdown. Chuck Denning and End Bob Hoff did the booting. Hoff, who did some extra point kicking last year, had the most success splitting the uprights.

Dr. Eddie Anderson's 200th football game as a coach will be the home opener with UCLA, the 23rd intersectional game for the Hawkeyes.

Shantz Tips Feller As A's Triumph, 2-1

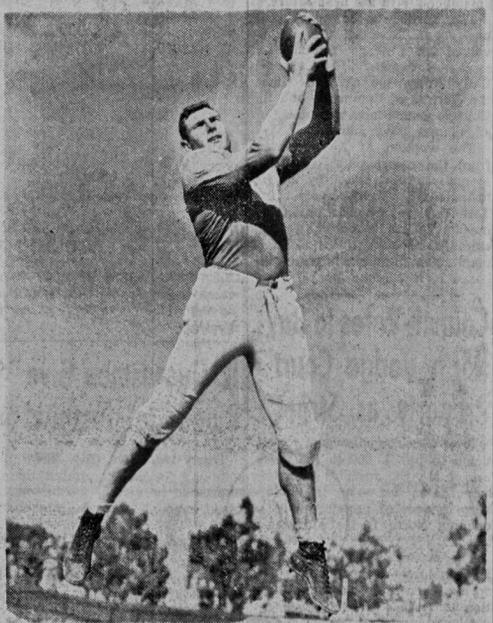

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rookie Southpaw Bobby Shantz outpointed Bob Feller in a pitching duel last night as the Philadelphia Athletics nosed out the Cleveland Indians, 2-1. It marked the first time in Feller's major league career that he failed to win at least one game in a season from the A's. He dropped three decisions to them this year.

Shantz tossed a five-hitter at the world champions with Jim Hegan's eighth homer of the season in the second inning the only damaging blow.

The Athletics scored once in the opening frame when Feller walked Sam Chapman with the bases loaded. The winning marker crossed in the fifth with two out on a walk to Elmer Valo and successive hits by Ferris Fain and Hank Majeski.

A 'Cog' in the Bruin Lineup

UCLA RIGHT END Don Cogswell, although with only 42 minutes of varsity football behind him, is expected to be the top right end on the Bruin team this fall. He's 6-feet, 3-inches tall, 202 pounds and 24 years old. UCLA opens its season against Oregon State Friday night and the 24th will be in Iowa City as the opposition for Iowa's opening game.

For the Pacific Coast conference team the game at Iowa City will be the 29th intersectional contest. The Uclians have won just two games with Big Ten schools while losing seven. Both wins came at the expense of Iowa, in 1938 and '47.

Since Anderson first coached Columbia college (now Loras) in 1922, he has watched his teams win 115 games, lose 73 and tie 11 for a percentage of .605. His Loras team won its first game and his 1948 Hawks the 109th, from Boston university.

Operating under a new coach with a new style of play, the Bruins from the coast will carry the hopes of their conference to atone for past defeats at the hands of Big Ten teams. Since UCLA lost to Illinois in the '47 Rose Bowl the PCC teams have dropped eight of 11 to Western conference schools.

The Bruins will fly to Cedar Rapids, arriving Sept. 23, then will work out that afternoon in the Iowa stadium before going back to headquarters at the Montrose hotel in Cedar Rapids. Iowa has never had much luck against west coast teams and would get a big lift out of a win to open the '49 season. The Hawks lost to Southern California, 18-0, in 1925, 14-0 to Washington university in '37, 27-3 to UCLA in 1938 and 22-7 to the same team in 1947, playing before 90,910 in the Los Angeles Coliseum. It was the largest crowd ever to see Iowa play.

Dodgers Whip Reds, Reese, Snider Star

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sparked by their captain and short-stop, Pee-wee Reese, the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday whipped the Cincinnati Reds, 4-2, to climb within one game of the league leading St. Louis Cardinals.

Reese, returning to the lineup after missing a game due to a bruised elbow, collected a double and single, started two scoring sprees and crossed the plate twice. That proved to be the difference.

Reese shared batting laurels with Outfielder Duke Snider, who drove him home both times with a single and double. The clubbing of the pair helped Preacher Roe notch his 13th pitching triumph.

Roe allowed only seven hits, walked two and struck out six.

Howie Fox, starting for the Reds, gave up all the Dodger runs to be charged with his 16th defeat. He has won only five.

81st Congress in Review —

(Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind), serving his first term in the United States senate, recently made a partisan speech in the senate, summing up of the work of the 81st congress. Excerpts are printed below.)

We have now been in session nearly eight months. The President of the United States in Philadelphia last June called the congress back in special session and made the statement that the congress could pass in 15 days the following pieces of legislation:

- A price control bill
- A housing bill
- A minimum wage bill
- A federal aid to education bill
- A social security extension bill
- A national health program
- Civil rights legislation — anti-lynching, FEPC
- A public power projects bill
- A displaced persons bill.

The president of the United States said congress could do all those things in 15 days. The present congress, the 81st congress, has passed only one of the pieces of legislation which the President said a special session could pass in 15 days, namely, the housing bill.

There is no question in my mind—and I shall speak as an individual senator now; other senators may have their own ideas—that the 81st congress has passed only a very small amount of legislation. If my memory serves me correctly, outside the appropriation bills, and most of them are in conference, congress has passed only three major pieces of legislation, the housing bill, rent control and crop storage plus raising the salary of the President of the United States.

We have passed a few small bills, but I am speaking about major legislation. We have passed only three pieces of major legislation.

If we have not been able to do more than that in eight months, are we going to be able to pass the remaining legislation in the next four months or in the next eight months?

In my opinion, what is wrong with the senate is that it has no leadership. The Democratic leadership of the senate and the leadership by the President of the congress is absolutely void, in my opinion.

There is no leadership. We have a Coxe's army here. No one is leading that army. No one is making any effort to set down a program. We have no plan. We have no policy.

The 81st congress is going down in history as the worst congress. The 80th congress, in comparison with the record of the 81st congress, has a perfect record.

The 80th congress had passed its program and had recessed by June 20, 1948, though it had an 11-day session from July 27 to August 7. The 81st congress has not even got started.

The able majority leader (Sen. Scott W. Lucas D-Ill) has a list of bills which must yet be passed. Yet we have been here eight months. The test of leadership is getting the job done. The test of leadership is leading. I say to the senate that the majority leader of the United States senate has, in my opinion, failed 100 percent.

In fact, he practically threw up both hands and he said, "Let nature take its course, I made an effort," he said, "to run things a few months ago, and I discovered I could not, so from now on I am going to let nature take its course."

He practically said he did not care when congress gets away from here.

Well, I do not care either. I am willing to vote tomorrow on every so-called major piece of legislation on the President's program.

In fact, I am delighted and anxious to vote against the great majority of it. Nothing would please me any better than to be able to vote on the President's program. I am ready to vote on it. I speak very little on the floor of the senate, but I am ready to vote.

I want to give members of the senate the scorecard on the Democratic platform pledges and Mr. Truman's campaign promises.

- 1-Reciprocal trade agreements. What happened to that legislation? It is still pending.
- 2-Displaced persons legislation. What has happened to that? It is still in the committee.
- 3-Higher pay for officials. What has happened to that? Nothing.
- 4-Statehood for Hawaii and Alaska. What has happened? Nothing.
- 5-The long-range agricultural plan. The president talked much about that, but really said little, and most of what he said was not according to the facts. Where is it? Neither house has passed it.
- 6-Farm credit extension. Where is it? Nothing has happened to it.
- 7-Where is the oleo tax-repeal bill? Nothing has happened to it.
- 8-Income tax revision. What has happened? Nothing.
- 9-Price controls. Senators remember those.
- 10-Repeal of the Taft-Hartley law. What has happened? Nothing.

The president went up and down the land and said he was going to repeal the Taft-Hartley law. He said, "Give me a Democratic congress and I will repeal the Taft-Hartley law." Well, if I read the record correctly, he was given a Democratic congress.

There are at least 25 other planks in the platform that have not been enacted.

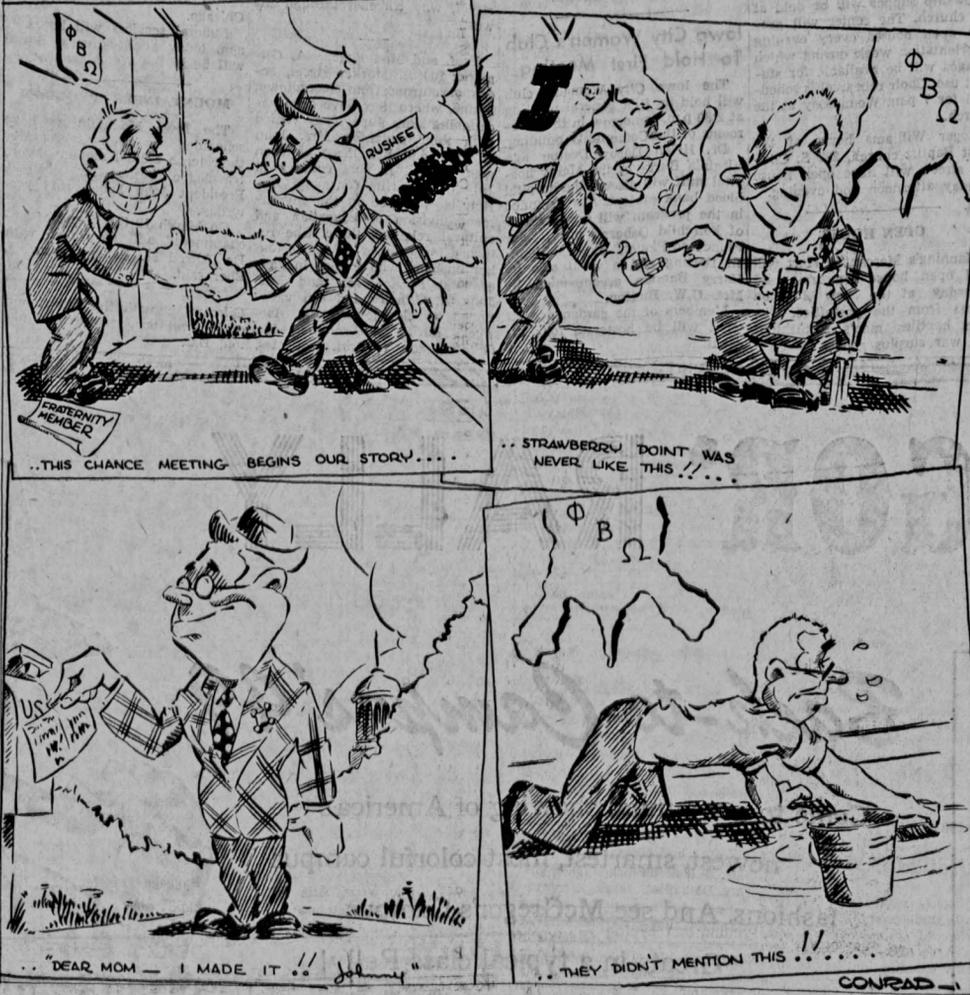

If I were responsible for such a record as the 81st congress has up to this time, and if I were the majority leader and had such a poor record up to this time, I would be the first to recommend that congress adjourn and get away from here.

If he does not make a better record in the next four months than he has made in the first eight months, there is no question that the 81st congress will be considered to be the world's worst congress. It certainly holds the record up to this time.

Now the President has had a Democratic congress for eight months. There are 54 Democrats against 42 Republicans in the senate.

What has happened? As I said before, the majority leader says that he can not get anything accomplished, even though his party controls the senate. Senators on his side of the aisle have 54 votes.

Hollywood to Make Movie with 'Flying Saucer' in Top Role

HOLLYWOOD — Having taken care of rocket ships, atomic bombs and superman, Hollywood now is starring a flying saucer in a movie.

The army's last decision was there isn't any such thing, but this has not dampened the spirit of Actor Mikel Conrad. He is acting in, producing, directing and writing "The Secret of the Flying Saucers."

The star, he insists, is a whirling disc, or reasonable facsimile thereof. The movie is a spy mystery which also features a blonde heroine, a handsome hero and Russians as the villains.

The actor got this colossal idea, he says, while on location in Alaska last winter for a Universal-International movie, "Arctic Manhunt."

"I heard about flying saucers there so I went back last summer with a camera crew from Whitehorse and two players, Pat Garrison and Hans Von Teuffen," he says.

"I found a saucer, I'm not telling how," a claim not believed—even by one of his press agents.

"I have scenes of the saucer landing, taking off, flying and doing tricks. The saucer is not created in miniature or by trick photography. It is a mechanical, man-made object."

Whether it is a dishpan sailing across the camera or some garage-made contraption, he won't say. His press agents have seen part of the film. They report it has some nice avalanches. They did not see any flying saucers.

The plot concerns a playboy, Michael Trent (Conrad), who steals his weak chin and goes saucer-hunting in Alaska for the government. To throw Russian spies off the track, he cleverly disguises himself as a drunkard seeking the cure. Trent is accompanied by an FBI agent, who turns out to be a beautiful blonde (Miss Garrison), cleverly disguised as his nurse.

"We get snowbound in a remote cabin and romance finds a way," says Conrad.

Will Michael and Violet get out of the cabin before they're trapped by snow? Or the Russians? Or the censors? Will they capture the saucer? Will they drop dead before the end of the movie? Will you?

World Bank President Says Days of U.S. Tariffs Over

By J. M. ROBERTS JR. (AP) Foreign Affairs Analyst

While the international financial conferees in Washington have been working around the fringes of the tariff issue, Eugene Black, president of the World bank, has brought it boldly into the open.

The tri-power communique on results of the "dollar crisis" discussions restates as American policy the intention to revise tariffs to meet developing needs.

But Black, as I read his statement at the opening of the bank and monetary fund meeting, says the days of American tariffs are over. American policy, he says, is "basically inconsistent with its position as the great creditor nation of the world." He suggests a halt to the policy of encouraging the production of goods for the home market which could be more economically imported.

It's an idea which has been nibbling away at the minds of students of economics for years. The United States has gradually been doing something about it through the reciprocal trade treaties, and has been very insistent that Europeans do something about it to make the Marshall plan fully effective.

There has always been an argument as to whether protection of an industry because it is located in the United States and employs Americans is truly economical, as compared with letting people buy cheaper from abroad where that is possible, thus sending dollars to create markets for other products in which America excels.

In the early postwar years there was a developing school of thought that the ultimate solution would lie in free competition, with each area or national unit producing what it produces best with less emphasis on self-sufficiency.

Against this is always to be balanced, of course, the fact that war has not been abolished, and that a nation must keep its mind on its supplies of vital materials. That is why the United States has insisted on keeping its synthetic rubber plants going in peacetime, to the impoverishment of east Asian gum producers.

Americans pay far more than would be the case without tariffs for sugar, matches and the whole list of protected goods. But where would they be in the case of war and ship shortages? Industries allowed to die for the sake of lower world trade would have to be re-established under trying emergency conditions.

And this is over and above the immediate problem of unemployment and financial disruption involved in the death or serious curtailment of an industry.

This question is going to be a serious one in the effort to implement the American idea of aiding undeveloped areas. Somebody will have to buy this new production.

There are a 101 pros and cons. It used to be a prime partisan political question, and promises to be again.

Even a sweeping policy change could only be implemented by very gradual stages. Regardless of conflicts with true economics, protection of a nation's production of vital materials, at least will be essential until there is a sure-fire arrangement against war.

Professor Advances Polio Immunity Theory

BERKELEY, CALIF. (AP) — A University of California professor yesterday advanced a new concept on the process of immunity to polio.

Dr. W. Hammon, professor of epidemiology, said the concept is the result of studies made with March of Dimes funds and is detailed in full in the September issue of bacteriological reviews.

Polio, Hammon pointed out, generally is considered to be one of those diseases in which permanent immunity is acquired following infection but accumulating evidence is supporting the idea that the immunity is transitory.

Hammon placed polio in the same class as diphtheria and scarlet fever. "In the case of these two diseases, it is recognized that persons who have been infected can become reinfected and can be the source of infection for others even though they previously have shown some immune response in standard tests."

"The reinfected person may not become ill, but he does become a healthy carrier," he said.

If further evidence bears out the new theory, there will be important public health implications, the professor added. Persons who show, by tests, that they have had polio, even though not of the crippling variety, may face quarantine if they have contact with an active case.

In advancing the new concept, Hammon cited several studies, including recent work he did on the island of Guam.

"After the war there were outbreaks of measles and mumps. Less than a year ago an outbreak of polio occurred. . . . polio acted like the streptococcal infections, not like those in which permanent immunity is acquired," he said.

Hammon also reported preliminary results of an attempt to determine at what age polio is contracted in various parts of the world. The scientist said that early results indicate the disease is acquired earlier in the tropical Pacific island of Guam than in the northern United States.

He said on Guam polio antibodies showed up in 50 percent of the children at one year of age while in San Francisco, 50 percent did not show previous infection until 10 to 11 years of age.

Wac Plane Crash Survivor Marries

ANNAPOLIS, MD. (AP) — Margaret Hastings, the Shangri-La Wac who wanted to "find a good man and get married," now says she did—three months ago.

In 1945, while a corporal in the women's army corps, she and two army men were the only survivors of a plane crash in New Guinea. They were rescued after spending 47 days in a hidden valley later tagged "Shangri-La."

CURRIER MEETING
The Currier hall big-little sister program will hold a mass meeting for new students in the dining room at 10:30 p.m., Hilda Greenberg, chairman of the program, said yesterday.

Farmer Fights Giant Turtle

CHURUBUSCO, IND. (AP) — Farmer Gale Harris, wearing after months to catch a monster turtle with home-made devices, turned yesterday to the only sure-fire way to do it.

He began draining Fulks lake, the home of the giant reptile.

Harris said he had permission from the Indiana conservation department to drain the seven-acre lake, where he confidently believes there is a turtle weighing 500 pounds; and at least 500 years old.

"The water in the lake was being pumped through a ditch to White lake, five miles away. Once the lake is drained, Harris said it will be a simple matter to put a cage over the beast and haul him away. "This ought to do it," Harris said grimly.

He has made something of a crusade out of capturing the monster ever since publicity about it attracted throngs of curious people to the lake on his farm last spring.

There were many who scoffed that there was no such thing as a giant snapper in Fulks lake, but Harris doggedly went on trying to capture it.

He spent so many hours peering through a homemade spyglass into the murky waters of the lake, trying to catch sight of the beast, that he strained his eyes. His farm work has suffered.

Harris and helping neighbors came closest to snaring the turtle when they rigged up two electrodes on the lake surface and sent a 2,500-volt current between them.

"Oscar," as the turtle is known, was stunned, along with fish and frogs that floated to the top of the water. His would-be captors put a shark hook through one foot and nearly had the beast on shore when he revived and broke away, taking the hook and line with him.

Harris said that close-up look at the monster proved that he was "big around as a table top." "His head was as big as mine," Harris said.

The farmer has received suggestions on how to capture him from over the world. He tried a variety of nets and cages without success. He tried divers, but the Lake's muck bottom thwarted them.

He even tried a 150-pound female turtle, taken out on the shore as a lure. But Oscar would not be lured.

Harris wanted to catch the turtle ever since he looked up while repairing a barn roof and saw a shimmering across the lake with his head up like a periscope.

But the capture became an obsession when Harris learned there were those who did not have faith in the monster of Fulks lake.

He turned to the drainage project. "I want to show the people who've called me a liar," he said.

Insurance Company Refuses Rent Check

NEW YORK (AP) — A man who let a Negro family live in his apartment in the big Stuyvesant town development had his rent check returned yesterday.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance company, which owns the project and won't rent to Negroes, wrote union organizer Jesse Kessler that the rent could not be accepted because he had violated terms of his lease.

The Negroes, Mr. and Mrs. Hardine Hendrix and their five-year-old son, already had moved to another apartment—still as guests.

Dr. Lee Lorch provided them with the second apartment while he is out of town, after the Kessler family returned from their vacation and needed the apartment again.

Dr. Lorch said he expected to get his rent back, too, but said tenants at Stuyvesant town "will fight Jim Crow no matter what the Metropolitan tries to do."

The company declined to say what it plans to do about the Kessler matter.

Aeronautics Association Calls Special Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics association yesterday called an emergency meeting for Sept. 23 to survey the future of air racing.

The meeting resulted from the deaths of Bill Odom, "round-the-world flier," and two other persons when his plane plunged into a house near the Cleveland airport on Labor Day during the Thompson trophy race.

Rev. Dierks Greets New Foreign Students

First German Student at SUI Since War, Leaves Iowa City

While many students were returning to Iowa City yesterday to get ready for fall semester, one SUI student somewhat sadly took his leave of the city and the campus.

He was Hans Umstaetter of Mannheim-Sandhofen, Germany, the first German student to study at SUI since the war.

Speaking excellent English — which he learned before coming here — Hans expressed regret at not being able to stay in this country longer and learn more about the American people and their way of life.

He was grateful, however, of the chance to study here and learn as much as he could, so he could go back to Germany and teach other students to better understand the western democracies.

After summer school closed, Hans took a trip to the west coast — to see as much of America as he could. Also he attended a Lutheran student "asram" in Michigan late in August. Hans was among the group of students who toured the nation's capital and the United Nations assembly, during Easter vacation.

"I've seen a large part of the United States, but not nearly enough of it," he said regretfully.

Hans said his stay here "increased greatly" his understanding of economic and political conditions in America, and that this understanding would help him a great deal in his chosen profession, teaching.

The young German came to SUI last January, under the sponsorship of the Interfaith Scholarship committee. He studied under an international scholarship arranged by the American military government in Germany.

Admit Brother, Sister To Polio Ward Here

A young Waverly brother and sister were admitted to the polio ward at University hospitals yesterday and one patient was discharged, bringing the number of active polio cases under treatment at the hospitals up to 30.

Admitted in "fair condition" yesterday were Larry Ormstron, 2, and his sister, Kay, 1.

Harold Nielsen, 40, of Garwin, was discharged.

Others Arrive ...

Two Japanese students — the first to arrive in this country since the war — arrived in Iowa City Tuesday to enroll at SUI.

Application Forms Available for Tests Of Graduate Students

If the necessary number of graduate students apply, the Graduate Record Examinations will be given at SUI on Oct. 28 and 29, SUI's examination service office announced yesterday.

Application forms will be available at the examination service office for those interested. A Bulletin of Information which provides details of registration and administration, as well as sample questions, will also be available.

The completed application is due at the Educational Testing service, Box 592, Princeton, N.J., or Box 2416, Terminal Annex, Los Angeles 54, Cal., at least two weeks before the date of the administration for which the candidate is applying.

In 1950 the GRE will be offered Feb. 3 and 4, May 5 and 6, and August 4 and 5. The GRE is not required at all graduate schools, but will be given at SUI if there are enough applicants interested in taking the examination.

The GRE tests offered in a nationwide program include a test of general scholastic ability, test of general achievement in six broad fields of undergraduate study, and advanced level tests of achievement in various subject matter fields. Candidates are permitted several options among these tests, according to the Educational Testing service.

Fire Chief Retires On 43 Year Record

James J. Clark, Iowa City's first paid fire chief, will retire Oct. 1. Now 70 years old, chief Clark has served the city for 43 years of his life. He handed his resignation to the city council this week.

Chief Clark said yesterday that he will have some regrets leaving the department, "but I am also happy, because it will benefit both me and the city."

"I hope the men of the department will give as good cooperation to the new chief as they have to me," he said, "and in the future if I can help in any way, I will be happy to do so."

The chief's resignation has not been acted upon by the city council, but has been referred to the pension board. The new chief, presumably a senior member of the fire department, has not yet been named.
