Fear Pound's Cut to Bring Election Call

LONDON (AP)—The full jolt of currency devaluation by Britain and 19 other countries hit the world's markets yesterday.

It went down to the roots of Britain's Labor party, threatened by open revolt among workers angry at the thought of inflationary prices and the hold-the-line wage policy.

It seemed about to bowl Italy, western Germany and Belgium into the monetary bargain basement.

Mark-down prices already had been tagged on the money of Britain, Greece, France, Canada, Sweden, The Netherlands, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Ireland, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Ceylon, India, Burma, Malaya, Egypt and Israel.

On Britain's home front the Labor government girded for what may be the fight of its life. It was expected to call parliament back into session Tuesday in response to a demand by Winston Churchill for a debate on the situation under which the value of the pound was cut from $4.03 to $2.80.

To support its stand, the government was expected to put out to Labor members a so-called three-line whip. This, in effect, is an order to Labor members to attend and support the government or face party disciplinary action.

Such orders would indicate a fear Churchill may demand a vote of censure. Government defeat on a motion of censure by tradition calls for a new general election.

A division in labor's ranks was indicated last night when the general council of the trades union congress met for 3 hours and 45 minutes without agreeing on a policy toward devaluation of the pound.

The council represents 8,600,000 union workers, backbone of the labor party.

A council statement said only that the council is certain the government made a "careful assessment of all the factors involved."

While a frenzy seized traders in London's stock exchange and on South Africa's gold trading floor and uncertainty reigned in American commodity markets these developments marked the devaluation scene.

Greece devalued the drachma to 15,000 to the dollar and 42,000 to the pound. The old value was 10,000 to the dollar, 32,000 to the pound.

The Netherlands' announced her guilder will be 30 percent cheaper in dollars. This is a reduction of just over 30 percent, and about equal to Britain's. The new guilder is worth 26.32 cents as against the old value of 37.69 cents. Indonesian currency took the same dip.

The undersecretary of the Italian treasury indicated the lire will be devalued, but the government hopes it will not be more than 12 percent.

"Important news" was forecast from a Belgian cabinet meeting last night.

Dr. Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of the new West German republic, said the west mark, now pegged at 30 cents, will have to be devalued.

Pakistan's cabinet met for four hours, but was unable to come to a decision about devaluation. Pakistan banks remained closed.

Hong Kong, Britain's crown colony, devalued its dollar by marking it down proportionately to the level of the British pound.

Over 200 Church Figures Arrested In Czech Purges

PRAGUE (AP)—Church sources reported last night more than 200 Roman Catholic priests and nuns have been arrested in an intensified drive to force the church to bow to Czechoslovak government controls.

At the same time the Czechoslovak Communist party, the power behind the government, announced a purge of its membership which will reduce the cardholders to those who can pass certain ideological tests.

The party ordered all the nation's Communists, totaling about 2,300,000 to attend special study courses in Marx-Leninism and Stalinism to be held at least twice monthly from Nov. 1 until next June. Only those who qualify will remain party members. It will be the party's second purge in a year.

The church informants said a stepped up "wave of arrests" was started in all parts of the country after the government failed to woo priests away from the church by promises to give them higher salaries and other material benefits.

Pick Jury for Trial Involving 1914 Killing

WASHINGTON, IOWA — A jury of five men and seven women was picked yesterday to hear murder charges against a onetime mental patient accused of a 1914 killing.

Oscar Fetters, 62, who was released from Anamosa reformatory last May after remaining in the ward for the insane 35 years, was charged with the fatal shooting of Hugh Douglas Sr., of Washington County Atty. Paul Shearer, 30, delivered an opening statement on a case older than himself. He said that Douglas was shot twice in the chest.

In his opening remarks, Defense Atty. Richard Stewart said that evidence would include family history, medical data, and an interpretation of the facts.

Western German Govt. Takes Office

BONN, GERMANY — Western Germany's first official government since the regime of Adolf Hitler was sworn in yesterday and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer pledged it to fight incessantly for the return of eastern German territories ceded to Poland.

Adenauer, in an 85-minute inaugural speech after he and his 13 cabinet ministers took the oath of office, made a lengthy criticism of Soviet Russia, particularly for its manner of handling German war prisoners.

Senate Adds Aid-to-Education, Health Bills to Fall Calendar

WASHINGTON (UP)—The senate yesterday added two more of President Truman's "fair deal" measures to its program for this year as house members wound up their month-long fall vacation.

At the same time, Senate Democratic leaders drafted a "speed up" schedule which offered a prospect that the long-delayed adjournment may come late in October.

The additions to the senate schedule would, if passed, improve the record of achievement on the program Mr. Truman laid out for congress last January.

Despite setbacks and outright defeat of his calls for a tax increase and repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law, the President and his legislative leaders have insisted a large part of his program will be approved before the session ends.

Senate Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas, Illinois, said the new additions to the senate schedule

Gets 30 Days in Jail For Flicking Cigaret In Wife's Right Eye

DES MOINES (AP)—A Des Moines husband was sentenced yesterday to 30 days in jail after his wife testified that he flicked a lighted cigaret into her right eye.

He is Gerald Edwards, 23. Municipal Judge Harry B. Grund pronounced the sentence and then paroled Edwards to his wife, Betty, so he could provide for her and their child.

Mrs. Edwards told the court that her husband flicked the cigaret into her eye when he became angry because she left a friend's home where they were visiting Monday night to go home to care for their child.

Edwards told the court it was an accident that the cigaret struck his wife's eye. Mrs. Edwards told the judge that a doctor said the burns on her eye apparently were not serious.

Boy, 3, Burns to Death As Rescue Efforts Fail

MILWAUKEE — A three-year-old boy trapped in the basement of his home burned to death yesterday while his mother and a neighbor tried desperately to save him.

He was Thomas Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carol Beck, West Allis.

The boy was alone in the basement when the fire started. His mother was hanging clothes in the backyard.

It was believed that the child tipped over some gasoline, which was ignited by the pilot light on the water heater.

James P. Martin, Iowa's Last GAR Veteran, Dies at 101

SUTHERLAND — Iowa's last surviving Civil war veteran fell out of ranks yesterday.

James P. Martin, 101, who was standing guard outside the Ford theater in Washington the night Abraham Lincoln was assassinated, died in bed at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Elsie Hill.

He had been critically ill for several months and sank into a coma Monday night after not taking any food since Sunday.

He was commander of the Iowa GAR department and the state's only living Union army veteran since the death last year of Ebenezer McMurray, 103, Iowa City. He would have been 102 Nov. 10.

Martin's death followed by less than 24 hours that of another Civil war veteran, Charles L. Chappel, 102, at Long Beach, Calif. Chappel was an unsuccessful candidate for national commander at the recent final GAR encampment at Indianapolis. Martin was too ill to make the trip.

Martin's family came to this country from Scotland when he was five years old and settled in Wisconsin. He was inducted Sept. 22, 1864, and served with Company H, first Wisconsin heavy artillery.

Nathan Robbins teeters on edge of roof at his home in Brooklyn, threatening to jump if police approach his perch 70 feet off the ground. Robbins, 27-year-old veteran and a father of four, remained on roof as police spread nets. He finally left roof yesterday and walked down a stairway. At left, he is shown in custody of a policeman before being taken to a hospital for observation. Police said he told them he decided to jump from roof because of illness of his six-year-old daughter, Kathleen.

Steel Girds For Strike, Deadline Draws Near

Where There's a Will...

PARIS, TENN. (AP) — C. J. Clark, 75, was a proud papa yesterday.

But the feeling wasn't a new one. The offspring was, by his own count, the 25th.

"And I expect to have a lot more," he beamed. The latest child, eight-pound, nine-ounce Kenneth Gordon Clark, was born to his 29-year-old wife, Estelle, Monday.

"They're doing fine, thank you," he told friends. Clark said he's been married "about six times," the first time at 19. His first child, he added, is now 53.

UN Assembly Elects Romulo As President

NEW YORK (AP)—Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, anti-Communist campaigner from the Philippines, was elected president of the fourth United Nations assembly yesterday with 53 votes. Only the five nations of the Soviet bloc voted against him. Romulo's first act was an appeal to the delegates to make this the "peace assembly."

Yugoslavia apparently voted against the Soviet bloc for the first time in the secret ballot for president, but declined to admit it publicly.

Five votes—presumably those of the Soviet bloc—were cast for Vladimir Clementis, Czechoslovak foreign minister, for president. In previous assemblies the Russian group always has polled at least six votes.

Romulo's election to succeed Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian foreign minister, has been a foregone conclusion for weeks but the 48-year-old ex-newspaperman refused to "count his chickens until they were hatched." Congratulated before the meeting, he held up a warning finger and said "Not yet."

In his 2 1/2-minute speech to the assembly, Romulo called on the delegates—including the foreign ministers of the United States, Russia, Britain, France and more than a dozen other countries—to move boldly forward in the spirit of international cooperation called for by the Mexican resolution approved unanimously last year in Paris.

This resolution pledged the great powers to the peaceful settlement of their disputes. But after a short session of harmony at Paris the old quarrels between east and west went on.

Romulo immediately convened the 59-nation committees of the assembly to elect their chairmen.

Lester B. (Mike) Pearson, Canadian minister, was elected chairman of the political committee, the most important of the group. Pearson was given 49 votes to five for Adolph Hofmeister, Czechoslovak ambassador to Paris. Hofmeister was nominated by Poland and the five votes showed again the Yugoslavs were not agreeing in the election with the Soviet bloc.

Hernan Santa Cruz, veteran Chilean delegate and specialist in economic affairs, was chosen chairman of the economic committee.

tee, which will deal with proposals centering on President Truman's point-four plan for aid to underdeveloped countries.

Carlos Eduardo Stolk of Venezuela was elected chairman of the social committee without opposition. To the surprise of many, the Soviet bloc seconded his nomination and put up no candidate.

The trusteeship committee elected Hermod Lannung of Denmark as its chairman.

The delegates will get down to business today. Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson expects to speak around noon today—early in the general declarations of national policy.

Indict 6 Young Men On Charges Rising Out of Robeson Riot

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—Six young men, including the son of a police chief, were indicted yesterday on charges growing out of the disorder following Negro singer Paul Robeson's Sept. 4 concert near Peekskill.

Joseph Lillis Jr., 25, son of Peekskill's police chief, was indicted on a charge of malicious mischief. He is accused of throwing a rock through a window of a car driving away from the concert.

The Westchester county grand jury also indicted William Williams, 20; Vincent Dougherty, 19; David Miller, 19, and Samuel Bircrd, 19, on a charge of felonious malicious mischief. The youngsters, all from rural areas near Peekskill, were alleged to have overturned an empty car near the concert scene.

Televise 2 Operations At Kansas Hospital

KANSAS CITY, KAN. — The University of Kansas medical school televised two operations yesterday, pioneering the use of video as a regular surgical teaching method.

Two skilled surgeons, clad in green gowns, and green scrub caps and surrounded by similarly dressed assistants, worked skillfully and swiftly beneath a television camera which transmitted every move from surgery to a jamful auditorium floor; below in the University of Kansas hospital.

It was apparent as each surgeon worked the video offers finally a solution to one of the most difficult problems in training students: How to get more than a handful of them next to the master surgeon so they can see his technique.

The woman patient, who underwent a gall bladder operation, was delighted with her star role.

Linda Christian Has Miscarriage

PARIS — Film Star Tyrone Power announced last night that his wife, Linda Christian, had suffered a miscarriage.

The announcement was made through the Twentieth Century Fox office here. A spokesman said that Mrs. Powers was recuperating in Paris after leaving the American hospital here Monday.

The Powers, who were married in a lavish ceremony in Rome early this year, arrived in Paris last week from southern France.

Ford Agrees On Pension For Workers

(From the Wire Services) WASHINGTON — The steel industry began digging in last night for a nationwide strike as no progress was reported in government efforts to stave off a walkout of 500,000 workers at midnight Saturday.

Bethlehem Steel company started closing down some of its mammoth furnaces in Buffalo, N.Y., and all other producers are expected to slow operations gradually to prevent damage to equipment which might be caused by a sudden shutdown.

The CIO steelworkers union meanwhile gave a virtual strike order in serving formal notice on the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation to have its Pittsburgh plant "inactive and non-productive" by 12:01 Sunday. That is the expiration date of the 11-day truce extension granted at President Truman's request.

The "no progress" report came from Cyrus S. Ching, chief of the mediation and conciliation service, who has been meeting the past two days with union and industry representatives in an effort to resolve the dispute over pension plans.

Ching said both sides had agreed to meet again today. He told reporters CIO President Philip Murray had postponed a scheduled meeting of the union's policy committee in Pittsburgh today.

In accepting President Truman's request for an 11-day postponement of the strike deadline the union agreed to forego the wage increase and accept the welfare fund plan recommended by the presidential fact-finding board. The owners, however, have stuck to their contention the union members should help pay for the pension-insurance program.

In Detroit, the Ford Motor company stepped to the forefront of the labor-management stage yesterday by indicating it will follow the President's steel fact-finding board recommendation on pensions.

Any settlement reached between Ford and the UAW might set a pattern for all heavy industry.

There was no immediate comment from the UAW, which handed Ford the equivalent of a 10-day strike notice Monday.

In Washington, representatives of the union railroad, Pittsburgh, and the brotherhood of railroad trainmen yesterday reached "tentative understandings" on chief issues in their dispute.

And at Bluefield, W. Va. southern coal producers and united mine workers met yesterday without John L. Lewis. There was little hope they could reach an agreement ending the crippling nationwide coal strike.

Industry sources believed Lewis' failure to attend the Bluefield talks was a tipoff he would rather do business with the northern and western operators.

Meanwhile, the box score showed at least 610,000 American workers idled by strikes and layoffs yesterday, and the number would swell to 1,610,000 if the CIO steelworkers walk out Saturday.

The breakdown on those now idle: coal miners on strike, 480,000; railroad workers idled by coal strike, 28,000; others on strike or idle, 102,000.

A brighter note was struck at Cleveland where the 500,000-member united electrical workers union yesterday voted to comply with provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor law at its 14th annual convention.

The third largest union in the CIO had opposed the law for more than two years but decided to avail itself of protection from the act so it can "unite itself from disruption from within and place itself in the best possible position of defense against attacks from without."

And while the labor-management pot gurgled, the two-day old coal strike yesterday ate into the nation's fuel stockpiles at a better than a million-ton-a-day rate as idleness spread and the White House withheld any immediate intervention.

MOTHER GETS POLIO, TOO. CLINTONVILLE, WIS. — Mrs. Gilbert Reepke, the mother of a polio victim, was stricken by the disease herself yesterday. Her four-year-old daughter was hospitalized with polio recently.

In Union There Is Strength

By and large, labor's actions in the past month begin to look as though organized labor is beating down the door that houses its own death warrant.

Things have come to the point where even President Truman, who could hardly be called a foe of labor, has slammed the door in labor's face. The next step, if he withdraws his opposition to the Taft-Hartley law, would be pulling in the welcome mat from the doorway.

The chief executive has already turned out the light in the window when he let it be known he will not invoke the national emergency section of the Taft-Hartley law. Under this provision, the President could delay the coal strike for 80 days. Thus it would seem Mr. Truman is willing to let the powerful UMW have just the remaining piece of rope it needs to hang itself.

And let's not forget the UMW's actions have a profound bearing on vital industries nationwide. The railroads have already announced beginning today they will be laying off nearly 27,000 men, who can't work for the railroads unless there's coal to fire the engines.

Steel is also in for trouble. Union President Phillip Murray passed along an ultimatum to big steel that his 1-million steelworkers will head out Saturday unless the companies agree to the provisions of the presidential fact-finding board.

Ford also faces a walkout. This could bring on more management-labor skirmishes that could cripple a floundering economy. The rash of walkouts underscores the tremendous strength that unions have amassed during the past three decades. The UMW is staging its 21st threatened walkout since World War I. There's a good possibility that this might mark one of its last.

Cool Winds from Russia

Yugoslavia provided the fireworks yesterday in the opening session of the UN general assembly when that country failed to support the Russian candidate for president.

The action appeared to indicate that the Belgrade government, steeped in a row with Russia, intends to follow the independent course in its relations with the Soviet.

Eastern European countries formed a bloc against Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines. Romulo won by a 53-5 margin.

This latest indication of Yugoslavia's independence has caused mixed reaction in the western camps. Some westerners are all for welcoming Tito's government into their midst without question.

Other westerners would like to keep Yugoslavia at the end of a ten-foot pole. They feel that Yugoslavia wouldn't fit into the intimate family circle of Britain, France, United States, et. al.

Still others would like to encourage Yugoslavia in its attempt to flex its muscle at the Russian bear. But they are reluctant to go overboard in their encouragement. Their enthusiasm should not reach the stage of giving away munitions, steel mills and other war articles because, they reason, those war articles might be turned on us at some future time.

But whatever the temper of the western world, Yugoslavia seems intent to show its complete independence from Russia.

The western world can applaud the cool winds that blow between Yugoslavia and Russia. That coolness was manifest even before the session got underway yesterday.

The diplomats gathered in the delegates' lounge to exchange greetings and indulge in a little last-minute lobbying. Russia's Andrei Vishinsky gathered the four other members of the Soviet bloc on a divan at one end to go over the Soviet slate of officers.

Symbolic of current Yugoslav-Soviet relations, the Tito-men sat down in front of the Russian bloc just behind representatives from Britain and the United States.

Fall Hazards

(Reprinted from the St. Louis Star-Times)

Comes now early autumn, and two seasonal problems are posed again to the members of the male sex.

First, the mornings are too cold to go without a coat, the evenings are too hot to wear a coat. Gradually all the coats accumulate at the office.

Second, women have broken out their umbrellas again after the long late-summer drought. By an unfortunate coincidence, the ends of the ribs of an umbrella being carried by a woman of average height are exactly even with the eyes of a man of average height.

Babes in Toyland

Interpreting the News —

Britain's Pound Devaluation Cut Deeper than Expected

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Twenty four hours after Britain's long-anticipated devaluation of the pound there were some outstanding factors which remained to be assessed.

Many effects of the action had been discounted for months as it became increasingly apparent that it was inevitable. More exports to the United States, higher prices in Britain, devaluation by many connected countries — all these things were expected and the only uncertainty about them is a matter of degree.

But the cut was far deeper than had been generally expected. An average of the forecasts would have produced a pound rate at between $3 and $3.20, and the latter was the most widely talked figure. At $2.80 the pound was cut to the free market price.

The question immediately arises whether Britain, forced to take her pride under her arm and to undergo important risks to her own standard of living, may have acted deliberately to force all other currencies down and so to cushion the effect on prices of the things she must import.

Sir Stafford Cripps says the deep slash was decided upon to make sure that there would be no thought of further devaluation, and with the idea that the pound could be raised if circumstances permitted.

But an immediate effect has been to disturb the currencies of some countries which have been highly stable — especially Switzerland, Belgium and Sweden — and to make further cuts likely in France and Italy, which already had devalued and were in pretty good financial shape.

It was enough to raise the question of whether the dollar might eventually be affected, as it was 18 months after Britain went off the gold standard in 1931. Already many world prices are being reset to reduce the actual increase in dollar purchasing power which the British action seemed to have created.

Another factor in the British attitude which needs amplification before it can be fully evaluated was Sir Stafford's statement that "we realize conditions have changed in the matter of capital investment, and that we must study the problems of incentive and suitable environment to capital investment."

Observers immediately jumped on this as a hint that the Socialist government might be softening its attitude toward private industry.

This might involve conditions under which American capital would be invited into the colonies, as envisioned by the financial and foreign ministers during last week's conferences in Washington.

One of the first questions raised in the minds of observers was whether it might presage some changes in the Labor party's program for nationalization of British industry — even whether the program for steel nationalization might be shelved or delayed.

Business people both in Britain and America have made many disparaging comparisons between the accomplishments of the private steel industry, which is setting new production records, and the troubles of the nationalized coal industry.

Not only Britain's economic relations with the rest of the world, but the entire course of her own political history, is involved in the outcome of these matters.

As Great Sports Go

Finds Book-Buying Great Sport

— Where Old Friends Meet

By GIL PEARLMAN

Buying new textbooks is always great sport, as great sports go. However it's a prejudiced sport. As far as the billfold is concerned it's a losing game from the start. If it isn't money out of the pocket, you don't have a request left when the day is through.

I've often wondered why textbooks are so expensive. You wouldn't think they were so valuable when you go to sell them, would you? Last year I paid six bucks for a complete collection of Shakespeare. The traveling "book buyer," Jesse James in an automobile, offered me thirty-five cents this year. Then I had to throw in three of my favorite big-little books.

And it's almost impossible to get more money out of them by selling them to other students. In case you haven't noticed, books for any given course are changed year by year. Remarkable how many titles can be given to the same thing.

For instance, in '47 it was "Plato's Dialogues," in '48 it was "Where's Plato?" in '48 it was a musical version of the text.

But textbooks are a must, so they say. Actually, I've known people who have got along without them. Nevertheless, I guess complaining is of little use. It's not buying the book that's so difficult anyway. It's trying to find the one you need.

finding "Ma Perkin's Special Recipes." You'd think they would all carry that one. Am I the only one on campus majoring in home economics?

Of course, if you don't find the book you want you can always make out a special order, at better bookstores everywhere. If you're a freshman, order your post-graduate books now!

If you're a post-graduate, cancel your order for your freshman books. Unless you just want to see what they look like.

A bookstore, however, is second only to a homecoming dance when it comes to meeting old friends. It seems that everyone you push aside to get to the front of the counter turns out to be a last year acquaintance. Then you push all the harder. Occasionally using the elbow.

No sooner do you lay out your last ten for "The Case of the Caged Canary," (Literature 3:11), when your friend gallantly tells you he had that book at home and if he had only known you needed it, you could have had it. The green bills sprout wings and fly past the eyes in your flushed face.

pective instructors as a written excuse for not reading the first four assignments.

You will find that most of the clerks are very congenial and only too willing to help you. That is, if you get a chance to talk to them before closing time.

One fellow I knew spent so much time waiting for service he quit college and opened a bookstore of his own. Doing quite well. He's president of his hometown chamber of commerce and hires only college graduates as clerks.

Yesterday I was very fortunate in acquiring a very friendly clerk.

"May I help you, please?" came a pleasant voice from behind the counter.

"Why, yes, I would like . . ."

"That's not in stock!"

"Well, how about . . ."

"Yesir, $5.65 please."

"But, I . . ."

"There's no need for thanks $5.65 please."

"Pardon me . . ."

"Look do you want the book or not? $5.65."

"You didn't say please that time."

"My friend, there are only three copies left."

"I'll take it."

Like many other wandering souls, I still don't know what I bought. It's in French. But after all, there were only three copies left. Must be good.

Colleges Find Money Scheme

By THE CENTRAL PRESS

DETROIT, MICH. — Five private colleges in Michigan have merged forces to seek financial assistance from industry. Their aim is to raise money — free of strings if possible — to meet rising costs of operations. They are united under the name of the Michigan Colleges Foundation, Inc. The door is open to other colleges not receiving tax support.

The charter members are: Adrian college, Alma college, Emmanuel Missionary college at Berrien Springs, Hillsdale college and Hope college at Holland. It is by coincidence that all are church related, representing respectively Methodist, Presbyterian, Seventh-day Adventist, Baptist and Reformed Churches in America (Dutch).

The colleges got many of their ideas from Henry Ford II, who wrote in a Yale alumni publication that the private college should flourish as an educational balance wheel to the state-sponsored university.

The sponsors believe that Ford's ideas will be echoed by other industrialists who may loosen the corporation purse strings to bring financial succor to private institutions.

The foundation's president is Dr. Dale D. Welch of Alma college. Other officers are Dr. Samuel J. Harrison of Adrian and Harvey L. Turner of Hillsdale.

To spearhead the drive, the foundation has named Dr. Bruce Raymond, former business manager of Hope college, as executive secretary. He will maintain offices in Detroit and will spend much of his time in the field contacting Michigan industrialists.

The chief argument for support will be that state and city institutions are subject to whims of politicians and that private institutions should offer less fertile ground for red-tainted instruction.

The foundation will not seek funds primarily for endowments — the colleges need cash for operating expenses. If funds are to be earmarked for any particular members of the foundation, that college will get those funds.

However, all unencumbered gifts will be divided equally among the five colleges. If other colleges come into the fold, they will receive equal shares, regardless of enrollment.

Instead of asking corporations or other foundations for large single grants of money, the colleges will ask for more modest sums on an annual basis, extending over five, 10 or 20 years.

The foundation trustees also hope that by making one appeal in the name of all, the colleges will fare better than if each college made a separate appeal.

Sponsors say that before the war, the smaller colleges operated reasonably efficiently through endowments and tuition charges. Since the war all church related colleges felt obligated to expand to take care of GI's and took into their student bodies many who would not normally be expected to attend.

All doubled or tripled their student populations, above pre-war levels. They met mounting costs of operating by increasing tuition and the only direct government aid was in the nature of housing, which further complicated the dollar famine.

Now that the crest of the GI student wave is ebbing, there is a falling away of students, but the foundation has its eye on the statistical predictions that this is only a lull and that by 1960 the colleges will again be flooded with students. Small colleges fear they cannot further raise tuition fees, because they would be pricing themselves out of the market and many prospective students would attend state institutions.

The foundation points out that one way or another industry is going to have to pay for larger student enrollments. If the students attend state institutions the cost to Michigan taxpayers will be $600 each. Corporations are taxpayers. If a considerable number of students can be kept in small colleges, the burden on taxpayers will be less because the small colleges claim their money goes further.

And although colleges in the foundation are reluctant to admit it, sponsoring church bodies aren't too openhanded. One college in the group has an annual budget of $750,000 and receives less than $40,000 from its governing church. Trustees admit that should industry start kicking in with substantial sums of money, there might be pressure built up on curricula. The colleges are sold on the idea of liberal arts education. They will give ground only when there is no other way to tap the industrial treasures. Some industrialists have frankly admitted they are interested only if the colleges can provide possible future employable material. The foundation believes this can be adjusted when the time comes.

Western Women Might Envy Hindu Saree

By ANN RUSSELL

Western women might well envy a Hindu woman's saree for its slenderizing, graceful folds, according to Louise Miller.

Miss Miller, who is visiting Mrs. M. H. Taylor, 1190 E. Court street, has been a missionary for the English Lutheran church in India for many years.

Hindu women share their western sisters' flair for colors, Miss Miller explained. The saree, containing seven yards of material, is merely draped around the waist and over one shoulder. Even the poorest laboring woman who wears a tattered saree is an expert at pleating and draping her garment into a graceful, queenly attire, she said.

A former teacher in southern India, Miss Miller has a vast knowledge of Hindu customs in arranging and performing a marriage ceremony. Often when one of her students was to be betrothed, she was consulted by the elders of the bridegroom concerning the girl.

"The young people have no social relationships and sometimes do not even meet before they are married," she explained. The arrangements are made by the elders of the two families, even among Christians, with a few exceptions. After inquiring about the position of the girl's family, the elder: call and discuss the terms of the dowry given by the bride's family and jewelry (gold) which are given by the bridegroom's family. For instance, if the girl is dark complexioned the dowry will undoubtedly be higher.

"If the terms are satisfactory, a formal betrothal ceremony is held shortly before the wedding. Although the bridegroom usually doesn't attend, he sends the bride's 'trousseau' with his intermediaries, along with jewel, fruits and beetle-nut, an item relished as much as American chewing gum," Miss Miller continued.

Divorce is allowed to women on worthy grounds, and the law entitles Hindu women to inheritances.

Among the articles of clothing Miss Miller brought with her from India is a pajama outfit customarily worn by women in northern India. This consists of a wide pair of slacks which are drawn up with a tie, an undershirt and a voile jacket with lace sleeves.

Since she sailed to India in 1913 on the Lusitania, Miss Miller has traveled the globe five times. She is leaving tomorrow for a convention in Grand Rapids, Mich., after which she plans to retire in California.

King George Dances, Climbs Hills to Hunt

LONDON (AP)—Informed palace sources said yesterday that King George has recovered "remarkably" from his recent illness, eliminating any necessity for him to delegate more strenuous official duties either to the queen or Princess Elizabeth.

They said the 53-year-old sovereign, now vacationing in Scotland, has been fit enough in recent weeks to dance eightsome reels and climb hills in pursuit of grouse.

Court doctors were said to be highly pleased at the effects of the recent operation to improve the flow of blood in the king's right leg.

Invalid Goes 2,450 Miles In Wheelchair

NEW YORK (AP) — A half-paralyzed New Mexico polio victim, his powerful shoulders swinging rhythmically, rolled into New York yesterday in the wheelchair in which he had pushed himself 2,450 miles in 201 days.

William C. Lebow, 43, a Clovis, N.M., hotel clerk, said he "just took off down the highway" from his home March 4 and pushed himself to New York entirely with arm power to prove to other polio victims that "you, too can get around in a wheelchair."

Lebow, stricken with polio at the age of 8 and confined to a wheelchair since, hopes his trip will boost funds for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis' emergency drive for $14,500,000 to combat this year's record polio epidemic.

"I had a wonderful time," Lebow said. "I averaged better than 20 miles a day, going about 3 1-4 miles an hour. One day I made a little more than 31 miles."

Lebow admitted that twice when driving rainstorms caught him in the middle of the highway in his unprotected wheelchair he accepted rides from passing motorists.

"But I went back both times and made up the distance—once it was better than four miles and once 18 blocks. Most of the time when it rained, I just put on my slicker and kept on rolling."

Lebow said the hills gave him a lot of trouble.

"On the way up I just pulled my hat down further and threw my back into it. On the way down, though, that little bugger really began to roll. I had to hang onto the wheels to slow her down."

Lebow's face lighted up when he spoke of the people he'd met across the country.

"Man, that sure is the way to get acquainted with people," he said. "Some motorists used to stop on the road and ask me who I was and when I told 'em they'd give me their telephone number and tell me to be sure and call 'em when I went through their town."

Guard Seeks More Men

A drive to raise Iowa City's National guard strength from 113 men and 17 officers to 177 men and 19 officers has been opened.

This would raise the strength more than 50 percent and local officers announced yesterday they will continue the drive two months if necessary.

Overall strength of the National guard Aug. 1 was 358,000. The guard hopes to raise the total to 400,000.

Both of Iowa City's guard units plan downtown displays to stimulate interest and enlistments between now and Nov. 19.

The reconnaissance unit is commanded by Capt. Harry W. Dick and has a strength of 57 men and three officers. Its goal is 96 men and five officers.

The medical clearing company is commanded by Lt. Col. E.W. Paulus and has 56 men and 14 officers. Its goal is 81 men and 14 officers.

Members of both units have been among the first volunteer blood donors for the new Mercy hospital blood bank.

A week ago, 32 of the medical unit's men volunteered for examination and blood typing. Seventeen members of the reconnaissance unit volunteered Monday and more are expected to volunteer soon.

Pledge Fast Service At New 'Coffee Bar' In Union Cafeteria

Doughnuts with coffee and rapid, between-classes service will be features of the new Iowa Union "coffee bar" to be opened in the Union cafeteria tomorrow, Assistant Director Frank Burge said yesterday.

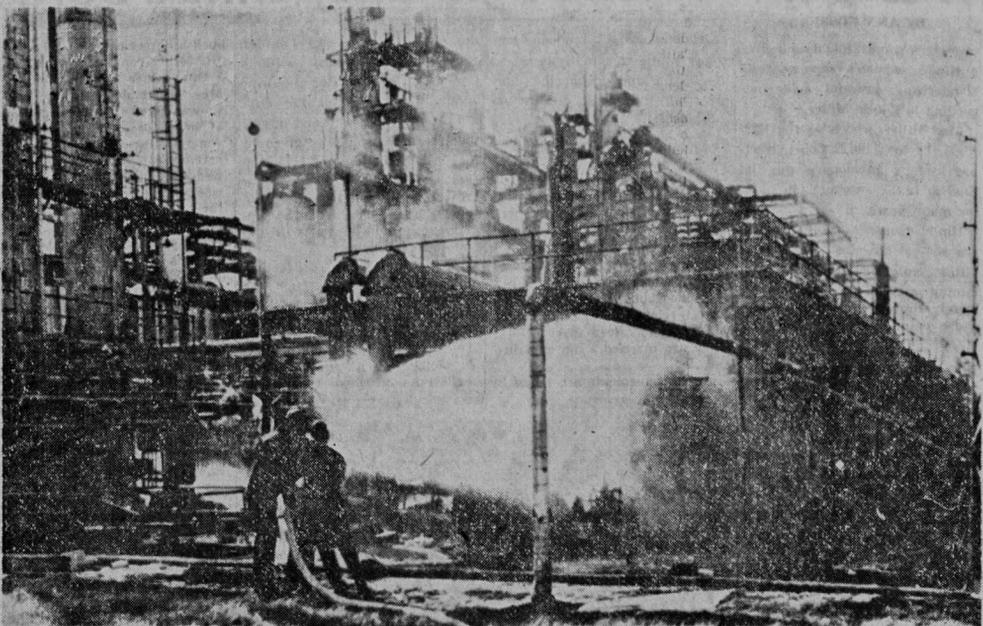

The "coffee bar" is being added, because of the increased demand for service from the Union's soda bar, he explained. The new bar will be open from 8:15 to 10:30 a.m. every week day.

Recorded music over the Union's loudspeaker system will be a daily feature, and Burge plans to sell coffee and doughnuts for 10 cents. Quick service will be emphasized.

Either the outside or inside entrance to the bar will be used. "Geographically the union is becoming more and more the center of traffic on the campus," Burge reported.

Classes will be held in Madison court barracks this semester, which will make the union a natural gathering place, he added. The barracks were formerly used to house women students.

More Than 10-Million Vets File for Insurance Dividends

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 10,000,000 World War II veterans have applied for the special life insurance dividend to be paid next year, the Veterans administration said yesterday.

The applications, available at all post offices and veterans' centers, still are coming in at the rate of about 200,000 a day, the agency said.

Large numbers are being mailed in without signatures, it said. The agency added that indications are that about 10 percent of the applications are improperly filled out. Many of these can be corrected by checking with the files, however.

About 16,000,000 veterans will share in the $2,800,000,000 payment which is scheduled to start in January.

For policy holders who were age 40 or less at the time of issuance, the dividend is 55 cents for each $1,000 of insurance, for each month the policy was in force before its 1948 anniversary date. The rate is lower for older policy holders, ranging downward to a minimum of 20 cents a month per $1,000 for veterans 55 and over when the policy was issued.

Scouters of Johnson, Iowa and Washington counties will meet with scout executives from the regional executive committee to discuss, in nine different meetings during the day, the problems of scouting on pack, troop, explorer post, district and council levels.

Atty. D.C. Nolan, past president and national council representative from the Iowa river valley council, will be host to the visitors at a breakfast in Hotel Jefferson the morning of the roundtable.

Registration for the meetings will be held in the lower hallway of Macbride auditorium at 10:30 a.m. A luncheon in the Iowa Union also is planned.

R.L. Ballantyne, manager of the student affairs office, is in charge of the attendance committee. Serving on that committee are three Iowa Citizens: Harry B. Dunlap Jr., E.R. Williams, and Ray Culp.

Other include Merlin Hull, Victor; Howard Cheyney, Millersburg; Edward Von Hoene, Williamsburg; Harold Swift, Marengo; Carl Moershel, Homestead; Tom Polk and William Grossheim, Washington; Dr. R.J. Miller, Wellman; E.J. Hesselshwerdt, Kalona, and Burl Vandecar, North Liberty.

Chadek Files Low Bid For 3 Road Projects

Carl Chadek, Iowa City, has been reported the low bidder on three road surfacing projects in Johnson county.

The bids were received Sept. 13 by the Iowa Highway commission at Ames.

Chadek's bids on the three projects were $22,727.34, $2,480.31 and $21,120.30.

F.A. Moser submitted the low bid of $1,471.10 for one culvert project in the county.

Judge Tells New Grand Jury To Investigate Intemperance

District Court Judge James P. Gaffney Monday told the new grand jury to see to it all prohibitive laws are rigorously investigated and enforced in Johnson county.

Gaffney told the seven man jury to take all the time it needs and to "do a good job."

"The majority of the people want law enforcement," the judge instructed. In line with previous instructions he has given grand juries, Gaffney told the jurors to investigate violations of all criminal statutes.

He stressed reporting fines, fees and forfeitures assessed and collected by public officials and reported to the county board of supervisors. He also suggested investigation of suppression of intemperance.

"Intemperance is doing untold harm in Iowa today," he explained. He said evidence of this is seen in the juvenile, divorce and criminal courts.

The seven men selected for the grand jury are: Omar Yoder, Sharon township, foreman; Frank Condon, West Lucas township; Stephen Fiala, Big Grove township; Clarence Kouba, Scott township; J. E. Grace, Clear Creek township; Victor A. Shima, Newport township;

THERE'S REAL WARMTH AND AFFECTION in the handclasp and smiles exchanged between Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo (left) of the Philippines and Warren R. Austin, chief U.S. delegate, as they meet at Flushing Meadows before opening session of United Nations general assembly. Romulo was elected president of the assembly and immediately appealed to the delegates to make this assembly "the peace assembly." (Story on Page 1.)

In Movie 'The Bandit' — Anna Magnani Pleasing

— Though She Appears Only Briefly

By VINCE BRANN
Anna Magnani is a familiar name to anyone who remembers — and who can forget? — her performance in "Open City." Her appearance in Alberto Lattuada's film, "The Bandit," which opens today at the Capitol theater, will probably please her many admirers, although this can hardly be called a sequel to Rossellini's great war film.

The curious feature about "The Bandit" is that it is not Miss Magnani's show. Though she gets top billing, her work is more in the nature of a supporting role than a lead. The story itself centers around Ernesto, played by Amadeo Nazzari, a new actor to this reviewer.

When Ernesto and his friend, Carlo, return from a German prison camp after the war's end, they find their home town of Turin badly wrecked by enemy bombs. Ernesto learns of his mother's death, and soon after discovers his sister in a local brothel.

In despair he turns to a life of crime, meeting great success with a band of local thieves. Miss Magnani, as the reigning queen of the group, turns in a tense, steel-like performance, but her total time on the screen is surprisingly brief. She has a masculine quality which seems especially well-suited to this type of role. At once warm and brittle, she acts with impressive ease and style.

Ernesto rapidly rises to the top of the underworld's ladder, playing a postwar Robin Hood and repeatedly endangering his colleagues in his efforts to rob the rich and help the poor. His resemblance to Errol Flynn hearkens back to an early Hollywood version of "Robin Hood," but the similarity is remote at best.

This, then, is Italy's invasion of a sanctum that was once private Hollywood property — the gangster melodrama. But it is also considerably more, heightened as it is by the presence of Miss Magnani and a supporting cast of extremely convincing thugs. It has, too, the added depth of the postwar Italian background, the realistic ruins of city buildings, the squalor and immorality of a ravaged metropolis.

The contrast with the elegance and comfort in which the criminals live is pointed up all too clearly and although this is not strictly speaking a war film, it is nevertheless not a happy, peacetime escapade. Italy is still recovering. While we are left, at the end of "The Bandit," with the personal tragedy of Ernesto, we are also left with a personal triumph. His life concludes with an act, not of crime, but of kindness and affection. It is significant, too, that the final scene takes us out of ruined Turin and into the unscarred surrounding mountains.

3 New Polio Cases Admitted to Hospital

The number of active polio cases under treatment at University hospitals yesterday remained at 24, with three admittances to the polio ward and three transfers to the inactive list.

Jack Shepherd, 22, Ft. Madison, and Arthur Moe, 20, Decatur, were admitted in fair condition. Charles Madison, 32, Cedar Rapids, was admitted in serious condition.

Transferred to the inactive list were La Verne Lee, 9, Clear Lake; Kathleen Lundee, 7, Clinton; and Ruth Lingle, 13, Clinton.

3 Ohioans Injured In Collision Here

Three Ohio residents were reported in satisfactory condition at University hospitals after a car-truck collision on Highway 6 near the veterans hospital site at 7:15 a.m. yesterday.

Drivers of the vehicles were Eugene C. Way, Kalona, and J. Owen Morrison, Chatham, N.J.

Morrison, in a report to police, said he shifted his attention from the highway to the University hospitals tower and construction activity at the veterans hospital site for a moment and looked up to late to avoid colliding with a parked truck which had stopped to let off a passenger.

Injured were F.L. Morrison, 72, Painesville, Ohio; Mrs. F.L. Morrison, 70, and Mrs. H.L. Burton, 38, Bristolville, Ohio.

Damage was estimated at $300 to the car and $200 to the truck.

Tailfeathers to Begin Interviews of Candidates

Membership interviews for Tailfeathers, SUI pep club, will begin Monday at the Iowa Union, President E.K. Jones announced yesterday.

Application forms can be picked up at the Tailfeathers' desk in the lobby of the union beginning today noon. The forms must be turned in by 6 p.m. Friday, Jones said.

Tailfeathers is an organization formed to stimulate and promote school spirit and sportsmanship at SUI. Its aim is to be of service to SUI and to further SUI's name in the athletics field, Jones said.

Any student is eligible to apply for membership by filling an application, he added.

Plans for the year will include halftime entertainment at football games sponsoring pep rallies, selling Homecoming badges, student trips to games away from home and assisting in choosing cheerleaders.

Tailfeathers attend athletic activities in a body and form the nucleus for student cheering.

The club makes a yearly sportsmanship award to the student who has done the most to further athletics and sportsmanship at SUI. Last year's award went to Wally Ris, Olympic swimming champion.

Ris was chosen by the student body in an all-campus election.

Tailfeathers first meeting this year will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Iowa Union, conference room 1.

"THE BANDIT" is realistic and exciting... it demonstrates what the Italians can do with a gangster film and what they do turns out to be a lot better than our typical indigenous product... Amadeo Nazzari is properly dashing and Anna Magnani as a sultry lady with whom he gets involved is as usual wonderful.
— JOHN McCARTEN, The New Yorker

"Anna Magnani is toughly glamorous... Amadeo Nazzari returning to find his sister a prostitute is dynamic... Carla Del Poggio plays the prostitute sister with great feeling and a wide range of expression."
— HOWARD BARNES, Herald-Tribune

"Flashes of startling realism reflecting the post-war scene and typical continental candor... Amadeo Nazzari, who looks surprisingly like Errol Flynn, plays 'The Bandit' with a hardboiled resemblance that of his Hollywood counterpart."
— BOSLEY CROWTHER, N. Y. Times

"The Bandit" is human, sexy and hard-boiled. She gives her role enough force to keep a volcano active... The picture's strength lies in unflinching realism of place, person and performance. 'The Bandit' has in Alberto Lattuada a director in possession of the style of the recent great Italian pictures."
— ARCHER WINSTEN, N. Y. Post

"The Bandit" is akin to 'Paisan' and 'Open City'. It can also claim a spectacularly flashy portrait of a tramp by Anna Magnani. Magnani is tough, unsmiling, sensual and alluring. When she is strutting her sexuality, there is no doubt about it: she sizzles."

No Change As Brooklyn, Cardinals Win

Musial Injured As Phillies Fall

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The pennant-hungry St. Louis Cardinals won an important game from the Philadelphia Phillies 7-5 yesterday, but it may prove to be a costly one in their stretch battle with the tenacious Brooklyn Dodgers.

Stan Musial, the most important member of their cast, hammered a single and triple for the Card cause, but in running out his three-base hit in the fifth inning, the mighty mauler pulled a muscle in his left leg, and was forced to leave the game.

A club spokesman announced the injury was not serious, and "Musial is expected to play against the Dodgers today." However, the club's trainer immediately went to work and applied a cold compress on the injured leg. Stan was limping noticeably in the clubhouse and almost certainly will not be in A-1 shape for the highly important three-game series with the Dodgers that opens today with a day-night doubleheader.

The triumph enabled the Cards to maintain their first place advantage of a game and a half over the Brooks, who blanked the Cubs in Chicago, 5-0. St. Louis, ahead by two games in the "lost" column, has 10 games left to play against Brooklyn's nine.

The game itself was a loosely played affair, five errors being committed. The Cards made three to hand the Phils three unearned runs. But they rapped 14 hits off three Philly flingers to enable Fred Martin to register his sixth triumph of the season without a setback.

Martin was clipped for nine hits and three runs before he was replaced by Gerry Staley in the sixth.

Ken Heintzelman, first of three Philadelphia pitchers, accepted the brunt of the Cardinals' attack. The veteran southpaw was socked for 10 hits and six runs, including a two-run homer by Del Rice, before he gave way to Curt Simmons in the fifth.

Manager Eddie Dyer of the Cards announced that he intended to pitch lefthanders Max Lanier (4-3) and Harry Brecheen (13-9) against the Dodgers today. Burt Shotton, the Dodger skipper, was expected to counter with Don Newcombe (15-8) and Preacher Roe (15-8).

Basketball Drills Open For Hawkeyes Oct. 3rd

Coach Pops Harrison announced that Iowa basketball practice will commence Oct. 3.

The entire varsity squad will report at that time except for several players on the football squad, Harrison said.

Workouts will be held several times weekly until muscles loosen up enough to permit daily practice.

A schedule of 22 games will begin here December 1, when the Hawks meet Colorado college.

OWEN'S LAST PLAY before being thrown out of this Chicago-Brooklyn game was to try and make the putout when the Dodgers' Jackie Robinson stole home. Mickey made a dive for the tag but missed the Dodger flyer. Outfielder Marv Rackley (35) steps aside to make room for the play. Umpire Art Gore signaled Robinson safe. Owen didn't think so, proceeded to tell Mr. Gore about it and in no time at all was tossed out of the contest. The Dodgers blanked the Cubs once again, this time, 5-0.

Talent Hunt to Start As Vogel Calls for Fall Baseball Drills

With six months remaining before the opening of the 1950 baseball schedule, Coach Otto Vogel has called for opening fall practice Monday.

After equipment is issued Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the squad will begin outdoor drills as long as good weather continues to exist.

Coach Vogel hopes to uncover some sophomore talent that he can fit into holes left by graduation from the 1949 team, which shared the Big Ten championship.

It is expected that about 13 major letter winners will be available next spring, but the squad will be missing such familiar names as Pitchers Jack Bruner and Wes Demro, Outfielder John Tedore, and Third Baseman Keith Kafer.

Bruner was signed by the Chicago White Sox following the close of the Iowa schedule. He had set a new Big 10 record by striking out 66 batters, replacing the mark of 62 set by Marv Rottblat of Illinois a season earlier.

Rottblat was also signed by the Sox and this year moved up to Memphis of the Southern association. Bruner was assigned to Waterloo of the Three-I league and immediately had as much success setting down professional batters as he did college swing-ers.

Before he dropped a 15-inning playoff game to Davenport recently Bruner had won 14 and lost 4 for the White Hawks, then was called up to the parent White Sox to finish out the season. Since then he pitched once, against the Philadelphia Athletics, when he appeared for one inning and was reached for two hits and one run.

Braves Explode, Top Bucs, 4-2

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Boston Braves exploded for three runs in the top of the ninth last night to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-2.

Little Vic Lombardi had allowed only four hits until the ninth when he was touched for four consecutive singles. Ralph Kiner, Pirate left fielder leading the majors with 50 homers, went hitless.

Lombardi suddenly lost his effectiveness in the ninth. The Braves quickly filled the bases on consecutive singles by Alvie Dark, Bob Elliott and Jim Russell, the latter beating out a bunt. Lombardi went to the showers after Ed Sauer's single had scored two runs. The Braves' third tally came on Pitcher Vern Bickford's single.

Iowan Citian Named As Big 10 Official

F.I. Graham of Iowa City was one of 42 grid officials named yesterday by K.L. (Tug) Wilson, commissioner of the Western conference, to work Big Ten football games this fall.

Graham, a graduate of St. Ambrose college of Davenport, is making his debut in the ranks of Big Ten officials, the announcement revealed.

Herbert F. Steger and Ernie Vick, both graduates of the University of Michigan, and deans of the Western conference officials, were re-appointed for the 18th year, the announcement indicated. Other veteran arbitrators re-named to officials posts included Lyle M. Clarno of Bradley; E.C. Krieger of Ohio university; William A. Blake of Loras; Carlisle O. Dollings of Ohio university; R.W. Finsterwald of Ohio university; Lloyd Larson of Wisconsin; Mike Layden of Notre Dame; Roy Knipschild of Chicago; and Russell H. Rupp of Lebanon Valley.

Attendance Records Forecast for Big 10

CHICAGO (AP)—A new attendance record for Big Ten games this season was forecast yesterday by K.L. Wilson, conference commissioner.

The Western conference had its best season for attendance in 1948 when 2,750,000 persons witnessed the league's 53 games.

Plenty of action awaits this season's customers, Wilson told a meeting of the Chicago chapter of the Football Writers association. He predicted games will feature wide open play, long runs and abundant passing.

Wilson said he based this forecast on what he saw during a tour of Big Ten training camps. He noted that none of the teams was stressing defense and all seemed more offensive-minded this year.

Banta Throttles Cubs on 5 Hits

CHICAGO (AP)—Jack Banta, a lean righthander from Kansas, won the most important game of his brief career yesterday as he pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 5-0 triumph over Johnny Schmitz and the Chicago Cubs.

The victory kept the Dodgers, who invade the lair of the leading St. Louis Cardinals for the opener of a three game series today, only a game and a half back of the Red Birds. The Cards protected their slim lead by defeating the pesky Philadelphia Phillies, 7-5.

Banta's side arm fastball and sinker had the Cubs in complete submission. The lanky youth granted only five hits, fanned five and walked none in besting Schmitz who had scored four of Chicago's five triumphs over the Dodgers this year.

Both Banta and Schmitz were locked in a senseless duel until two were out in the Dodger sixth. Schmitz then lost his stuff and control and the Dodgers poured three runs home to wrap up the decision.

The Dodgers collected two insurance runs in the eighth at the expense of Bob Muncieff on singles by Furillo and Robinson, a ground out and Robinson's steal of home.

Robinson stole home for the fifth time this season as Muncieff was pitching to Marv Rackley.

Browns Maul Nats With 15-Run Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roy Sievers contributed his 15th homer, two doubles and a single last night as the St. Louis Browns mauled Washington, 15-6. Six Washington pitchers yielded 14 bases on balls and 12 hits as Ned Garver posted his 11th victory after replacing Joe Ostrowski in the second inning.

Diz Sutherland, former Washington cab driver, issued six walks and five runs before being belted out in the second inning.

The Senators bounced back with four runs off Ostrowski in the second inning, with Sam Mele belting a 2-run homer, but the Browns continued their assault on five pitchers who followed Sutherland.

Tigers Lose in 8th On Suder's Homer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pete Suder's 11th home run of the year, hit in the eighth inning with two mates on base, gave the Philadelphia Athletics an 8-6 triumph over the Detroit Tigers yesterday.

The blow off Relief Pitcher Freddie Hutchinson wiped out the one-run edge the Tigers had built up against Lou Brissie in the top half of the eighth stanza.

Brissie, who relieved Starter Carl Scheib with none out and the bases loaded in the seventh, received credit for his 16th pitching triumph.

Red Sox Dip Cleveland, 5-2

BOSTON (AP)—Although they failed to gain ground on the pace-setting New York Yankees, who led them by three games, Boston's runnerup Red Sox yesterday eliminated Cleveland from the American league pennant race by downing the Indians, 5-2.

A crowd of 22,179 paid fans watched Mel Parnell, stylish Boston left hander, pitch and help bat himself to his 24th victory.

He thus became the "winningest" Sox southpaw since the pitching days of the late Babe Ruth, who won 23 for the Sox more than 30 years ago.

The Sox were hitless and runless against Bob Lemon, Cleveland's 20-game winner, until the sixth when Parnell led off Boston's turn at bat with a sharp line single to right.

Before the inning ended the Sox had scored all their runs and driven out Lemon, who suffered his 10th loss.

U-High to Invade W. Branch Friday

University high will leave town Friday when it will attempt to get into the win column of the Eastern Iowa Hawkeye conference at West Branch.

West Branch shares the conference lead with Winfield and Mt. Vernon, each with two victories and no defeats.

In its initial start of the season, University high drew a 6-6 tie with Wapello. Meanwhile West Branch has gained wins over Columbus Junction and Wilton Junction.

With Winfield's impressive 26-0 defeat of Columbus Junction last week, it appears the Wolves are the powerhouse of the conference.

Tedore Named Aid For Frosh Football

John Tedore, multiple letter winner in both football and baseball at SUI, has joined the ranks of Iowa coaches in the capacity of part-time assistant to Leonard Raffensperger, freshmen mentor, Paul Brechler announced yesterday.

Tedore, who began his football career under Raffensperger at East high in Waterloo, will assume his new duties Sept. 26 when freshmen grid drills open. He will join Al DiMarco, another football-baseball letter winner, who was named assistant early this month. DiMarco is currently assisting varsity backfield coaches in reading Iowa's forces for the UCLA game Saturday.

Tedore averaged 2.4 yards on 39 carries on last season's Hawkeyes and co-captained last year's diamond team that shared the Western conference title.

News Story 1st Isbell Knew of Being Fired

BALTIMORE (AP)—Cecil Isbell, who was fired Monday as head coach of the Baltimore Colts, said yesterday he knew nothing of his dismissal until he read about it in a Baltimore newspaper.

Isbell said he had been told at a meeting of the team's board of directors that he was still head coach despite the four straight losses which mired the Colts in the All-America football conference cellar.

IOWAN SIGNED

CALMAR (AP)—The Chicago White Sox have signed Kenneth Huinker, 17, left fielder for the Festina baseball team, champion of the Northwest Iowa league.

UCLA Plays Get Going-Over

Signal drills, passing and work against UCLA plays got the emphasis yesterday as Iowa's Hawkeyes began final preparations for the season's football opener here Saturday.

Scout Maury Kent, who watched the Bruins run up a 35-13 triumph over Oregon state Friday night, has schooled the Iowa second-stringers on the UCLA single-wing attack for the past two days.

Glenn Drahn and Fred Ruck, established as the No. 1 and No. 2 quarterbacks, did most of the throwing. Drahn directed his passes mostly to Right End Jack Dittmer and Halfback Don Com-mack.

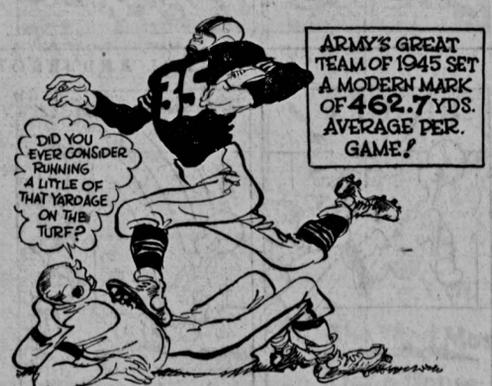

Drahn's backfield mates were Mike Riley, fullback and Jerry Faske and Commack at the halves. The line that may open against UCLA and the one that came in for the most work yesterday had Bob McKenzie and Jack Dittmer at the ends, with Bob Hoff, Dave DeProspero, Arnold Caplan right behind; Don Winslow, selected to captain the Hawks Saturday, and Hubert Johnston at the tackles; Earl Banks and Don Lage at guards and Dick Laster, center.

Johnston, a sophomore from Wheeling, W. Vir., has moved up into Harold Bradley's tackle spot at least temporarily and Laster, veteran of three other Hawkeye grid teams, has moved to the No. 1 center spot over John Towner, a big sophomore from Des Moines.

A UCLA THREAT bent on the defeat of the Iowa Hawkeyes Saturday is Howard Hansen, UCLA right half back, who sparked the Bruins to their 35-13 conquest of Oregon State last week. Hansen, a 6 foot, 177 pounder from Los Angeles, spearheaded the UCLA attack with a 12.5 yard average in 10 carries.

Reynolds, Page Down Chisox For Yanks; Indians Eliminated

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees gleaned only three hits off lefty Bob Kuzava yesterday but that was all the hustling American leaguer leaders required to beat the Chicago White Sox, 3-1.

The victory safeguarded the Yanks' healthy three-game lead over the second place Boston Red Sox. The Red Sox eliminated the defending world champion Cleveland Indians from contention with a 5-2 triumph.

PAGE REYNOLDS

Allie Reynolds and his shadow, Joe Page, turned back the Pale Hose on seven safeties with Reynolds gaining credit for his 17th victory compared to five defeats.

Kuzava's wildness proved his downfall. Kuzava passed 10 and two of the free tickets resulted in runs.

Reynolds left for a pinch-hitter in the seventh and Page, making his 55th appearance, stopped the Sox on one hit over the final two rounds.

The White Sox nicked Reynolds for their lone run in the second on Floyd Baker's single, sacrifice and Luke Appling's single to right.

Fight Manager Admits Gambling on Own Boxer

CHICAGO (AP) — A prize fighter's manager admitted to the Illinois state athletic commission yesterday that he had bet money on a fight in violation of commission rules.

After hearing testimony of Howard Frazier, the manager, that he had bet $1,500 on his Negro welterweight, Johnny Bratton, in a fight against Gene Burton last year, the commission set a hearing Oct. 3 on revocation of the manager's license.

Gonzales Turns To Pro Tennis

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard (Pancho) Gonzales turned professional yesterday, giving up the amateur tennis championship of the United States for a career that will net him at least $60,000 the first year.

The 21-year-old Mexican-American star flew in from Los Angeles and signed a one-year contract to meet Jack Kramer in a series of 90 to 100 matches covering all of the country's major cities.

The contract was signed with Bobby Riggs, also a two-time amateur champ who has been a pro for several years. Riggs is promoting the new venture, obviously figuring it will be more profitable than trying to beat Kramer in another professional tour himself.

The pact calls for Gonzales to receive a guarantee of $60,000 within the next year, or an option of 30 percent of the gate.

Gal Golfers Gather For National Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The greatest field of golfing gals ever assembled is slated to compete when play opens tomorrow for the fourth annual women's national open crown at Prince Georges country club.

Every major United States and British pro and amateur women's champion is scheduled to shoot for the nation's top female crown.

Although only 55 women are expected to tee off over the 6892-yard, par-75 Landover, Md., course, every entrant in the $7,500, 72-hole medal play affair is a definite title threat.

Leading the list from the pro ranks are three former open titleholders — defending Champ Babe Didrickson Zaharias of Grossing-er, N.Y., 1947 winner Betty Jameson of Chicago, and 1946 queen Patty Berg who also now hails from the Windy City.

National Amateur Champion Dorothy Germain Porter of Philadelphia and the three other semi-finalists in the recent Quaker City meet — Dot Kirtley of Long Beach, Calif., Dot Kirby of Atlanta and 15-year-old Marlene Bauer from Los Angeles — top the amateur entry.

The course is in perfect condition, a fact that was attested by Beverly Hanson, the Fargo, N.D., swinger, last week when she fired a par-busting 73 from the men's back tees. The meet ends Sunday.

Lower Gas Tanks in Hole Near Site of Old North Hall

SUI WORKMEN yesterday began lowering huge gas storage tanks into the hole where Old North hall — campus landmark — stood a few months ago. Four tanks, 25 feet long and six feet in diameter, will eventually fill the hole. The tanks will be used to store nitrogen gas for use in SUI physics department's atom smasher. The gas is used in a steel tank that encases the center electrode of the atom smasher. Previously the gas was drained off and thrown away every time the physicists had to open the tank to work on the machine. Now the gas will be drained into the storage tanks through underground pipes and saved for reuse.

Hitch-Hiking Youth Declared Guilty Of First Degree Murder

MARSHALLTOWN — A district court yesterday ruled that Alvin J. Brown, 20, Tulsa, Okla., was guilty of first degree murder in the hitch-hike slaying of an Iowa motorist.

District Judge E.O. Tankersley said he would sentence the youth today for the June 6 killing of William J. Muldoon, 35, Mason City.

Iowa law specifies that first degree murder carries a penalty of death or life imprisonment. Defense attorneys had argued that Brown should be convicted of manslaughter, a lesser crime.

Although Brown had pleaded guilty to a county attorney's information charging "murder", he was brought to trial to determine the specific degree of the charge.

The youth, an itinerant railroad worker testified that Muldoon was shot fatally as the two struggled over a pistol while driving along a highway near here. Police said he admitted robbing Muldoon.

Tankersley, in explaining his ruling, said Brown was in control of the car "at all times" after pulling a revolver on Muldoon, with whom he had caught a ride.

Request Names of Students Eligible for Union Committees

Letters to 53 organizations on the SUI campus this week were circulated requesting names of persons the organizations feel qualified to serve on Union board subcommittees.

The Union board will then select 48 persons from the names submitted. The selectees will serve this year on subcommittees, a constitutional requirement to run for positions in the all-campus elections in the spring.

Each organization has been asked to submit two names, either of sophomores or juniors. Dormitories may submit two names from each section.

From the persons selected by the Union board, 16 members of the 1950-51 Union board will be chosen in the spring elections.

Any student registered at SUI is eligible for subcommittee membership. Applications may be made at the main desk of the Union by Friday evening, Sept. 30.

Representation to each college and school on the campus will be given by the selections.

This is the amount each college and school will receive: Nine men and nine women from the college of liberal arts and three men and three women from the college of commerce.

No distinction between men and women will be made in the other 10 colleges and schools represented. The colleges and schools are the colleges of pharmacy, medicine, law, dentistry, engineering and the graduate college and the schools of nursing and education.

Campus Leaders Speak to Frosh

Eight representatives from as many campus organizations explained the extra-curricular activities fields at a freshman orientation meeting last night at Macbride auditorium. About 300 freshmen and transfer students attended.

Ed Diekmann represented forensics; Walt McMahon, YMCA; Dick Die, student council; Bill Tandy, union board; E.K. Jones, Tailfeathers; Bob Shaeffer, WSUI; Bud Hockenberger, honor societies; and Charles Carroll, publications.
