CHARGE EX-HAWK SPIED FOR UCLA

Hawks Open '49 Grid Season Against UCLA This Afternoon

By ALAN MOYER
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Representatives from two of the power conferences of the nation will clash in the Iowa stadium this afternoon when Dr. Eddie Anderson's Hawkeyes meet UCLA, fresh from a decisive victory over Oregon State, in the kickoff game of the 1949 football season for Iowa.

A crowd of 40,000 — one that would break the old opening day mark of 31,050— is expected to be on hand at 1:30 to watch the Pacific Coast Bruins try for their third win in as many starts against the Hawks, who will be out to maintain the mastery Big Ten teams have shown in Rose Bowl competion.

WINSLOW

In starting its 61st season of football Iowa will be facing the toughest opening game opponent in its history and for the first t me in many a year will be listed a three to seven point underdog by the majority of experts. In the two previous games with UCLA, both played in Los Angeles, the Bruins triumphed, 27-3 in 1938 and 22-7 in 1947. This will be a west coast teams first visit to the Iowa stadium.

In all opening-day contests Iowa has won 49 times, lost 10 and fought to one tie. Last year the Hawks squeezed past Marquette, 14-12 and in '47 they slaughtered North Dakota State, 59-0, before a crowd of 31,050.

A victory today would serve as a tremendous impetus to the winning team to go on to a successful season. Iowa's starting eleven will in all likelihood be a veteran squad, but after three weeks of practice it has become apparent that the new men — the untested sophomores — hold the key to a winning or losing season for the Hawkeyes.

The Bruins are operating under a new coach, Red Sanders, and have changed from the T-formation to a single wing plan of attack. His starting team has had plenty of experience, with seven seniors, three juniors and one sophomore in the opening lineup. If last week's 35-13 win over Oregon State is any indication, the west coast boys have been fast in changing from the T-formation to the time-proven single wing.

Sanders, whose Vanderbilt teams defeated Big Ten teams on all three occasions they met, has a double-barreled running attack in Ernie Johnson, 168-pound left halfback and Howard Hansen, a 177-pound halfback who averaged 12.6 yards per try against Oregon State. Johnson, the razzle-dazzle

Top GOPs to Watch Game

Guy Gabrielson and Harrison Spangler, top national Republican party figures, will be President Virgil Hancher's guests at the Iowa-UCLA football game here this afternoon.

Gabrielson, recently elected Republican national chairman, and Spangler, Republican national committee member, are both graduates of SUI. Mrs. Gabrielson will also attend the game.

The two party leaders have just completed party farm policy talks in Sioux City.

Statesmen, Scientists Aroused By Russ Atomic Blast Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—An anxious clamor for international control of the vast destructive force of the atom arose last night after President Truman indicated the Russians have broken the American A-bomb monopoly.

President Truman, senators, scientists and many others joined in calling for agreement between Russia and non-Communist nations to clamp down effective curbs. So far all attempts at agreement have failed.

Mr. Truman's historic announcement earlier in the day said:

"We have evidence that within recent weeks an atomic explosion has occurred in the U.S.S.R."

"Ever since atomic energy was first released by man, the eventual development of this new force by other nations was to be expected," the President said. "This probability has always been taken into account by us."

The statement was released after the chief executive had called his cabinet into an hour-long secret session.

In London, the British government quickly followed up the President's announcement with an almost identical statement. The British likewise urged the need for international control of the A-bomb.

Mr. Truman's disclosure, though long anticipated, hit with a terrific impact in world capitals. Major international repercussions, with possibly a sharp change in the atmosphere of the east-west "cold war," were seen as inevitable.

On capitol hill, Senator Brien McMahon (D-Conn), chairman of the senate-house atomic energy committee, and several other members of congress suggested anew that the vital hour has arrived for President Truman to meet with Premier Stalin.

While state department officials said they do not believe the danger of war is either increased or decreased, some congress members said the threat to peace was magnified.

Officially, there was no hint as to how the United States and Britain obtained their "evidence" of the atomic explosion in Russia.

Scientific experts said it was probably picked up by radiation-detection instruments, or possibly by earthquake recording devices.

Another possibility was that American or British spies in Russia gathered the evidence and smuggled it out from behind the Soviet iron curtain.

Still again, it was suggested that high-flying planes with delicate detecting apparatus might have picked up tell-tale radiations from the explosion.

Experts in Washington yesterday said American scientists have been ready with delicate instruments for months to record an atomic explosion anywhere in the world.

Hickenlooper to Hold Up Mismanagement Charges

SIOUX CITY (AP) — Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper (R - Iowa), hottest GOP critic of atomic management, indicated last night that he will not revive "incredible mismanagement" charges at once.

He said President Truman's announcement yesterday that Russia had produced an atomic explosion means that Russia has an atomic bomb. He pointed to his earlier charges that 4,000 people had gained a look at restricted data without prior FBI clearance.

"It is known that there have been leaks of atomic information," he added. Hickenlooper is a member of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy.

Senators Discuss Russ A-Bomb Report

THREE MEMBERS OF JOINT SENATE-HOUSE COMMITTEE on atomic energy examine a newspaper headline about President Truman's disclosure yesterday that Russia apparently has the atomic bomb. The members, all senators, are (left to right) William Knowland (R-Calif), Brien McMahon (D-Conn), chairman, and Tom Connally (D-Tex). They had just come from an emergency, closed-door session of the committee.

Jim Lawrence Asserts Calls To Bruins' Coach 'Only Social'

SUI athletic officials said last night that a football letterman had telephoned information regarding the Hawkeye team to the UCLA coach. The former player involved, Jim Lawrence, issued a flat denial.

These officials, who asked not to be named when talking to newsmen, said the former athlete had phoned four or five times to Henry (Red) Sanders, the UCLA mentor. Lawrence admitted talking to Sanders three times, but said the calls were only of a "social nature."

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher, when contacted by newsmen last night, said he would be "personally unsympathetic to any students who did such a thing."

He indicated that if the charges were proved, they could possibly be grounds for dismissal from the university.

In Cedar Rapids, where the Bruins were spending the night prior to this afternoon's game, Sanders, unaware of Lawrence's statement, said that Lawrence had phoned him on three occasions.

Sanders said Lawrence, who played football for Iowa in 1946 and '47, called the first time to say that he had enrolled at Iowa and inquired as to whether a friend of his was playing for UCLA.

On the second call, Sanders said, Lawrence quoted an unknown third party as saying that UCLA "should watch out for an Iowa four-man line on defense." Sanders said he laughed this off and told Lawrence that was "a traveling salesman story."

Sanders said that on the third call Lawrence discussed the possibility of seeing Sanders when the UCLA team came to Iowa for today's game.

Sanders pointed out that football coaches everywhere receive many letters and phone calls from fans offering free advice on how to cope with future opponents.

Lawrence presented much the same version of the calls as Sanders although he didn't mention talking about the "four-man line" until told Sanders had commented about that in Cedar Rapids.

Lawrence said he placed all three of the calls, but that Sanders offered to pay for a nurse to care for his sick child if he would visit him at Cedar Rapids yesterday.

The former Hawkeye said he couldn't accept the offer but that he did plan to visit Sanders yesterday until all this commotion came up.

When asked last night if Iowa had worked on a four-man line on defense, Coach Eddie Anderson of Iowa only laughed.

Lawrence, when told the story released by Iowa officials, said, "I'm the fellow they're talking about."

"Anderson came here out to my home this afternoon and dragged me over to the fieldhouse. There, Carideo (Backfield Coach Frank Carideo), Brechler (Athletic Director Paul Brechler), Anderson and some others pounced on me, and quizzed me.

"I laughed in their face and told them it was the silliest thing I had ever heard.

"The whole thing was a dirty trick. Anderson came out to my home and dragged me over there without letting me put a coat on, and wouldn't drive me back when they were through quizzing me."

In releasing the story to newsmen the SUI officials identified him only as a present student, a two-year letterman in football who had attended several of the team's practice sessions this fall and a known leader in a movement several years ago to force the resignation of Anderson. They also stated that the alleged informer was for a short time at Vanderbilt university (Nashville, Tenn.) where Sanders coached before going to UCLA this year.

Hawkeye officials said that the informer "didn't tell much, just who the fast backs were and went over the personnel of the squad."

In commenting about his role as a "known leader" in the 1947 movement to oust Anderson, Lawrence admitted tearing up a letter which a team member had circulated among teammates, asking that the board in control of athletics refuse to accept a resignation tendered by Anderson two days previously.

The letter was circulated at a dinner for the team sponsored by the Iowa City Quarterback club. It was on the Monday afternoon following Iowa's 13-7 upset victory over Minnesota in the Hawkeyes' 1947 finale. Anderson had told President Virgil M. Hancher on the eve of that game he wished to resign.

"I tore the letter up because it would have been silly to give a letter to the board with only six or seven names on it. And three of the four players who had signed it told me they only did so because they were afraid they would lose their $40 - a - month board jobs with the athletic department.

"The fellow who started the letter was Bob Smith, and he later apologized to me for doing so."

Lawrence was not out for football the following spring.

He had played center for Iowa in both 1946 and '47. Before that he played for the Iowa Pre-Flight school.

Lawrence said Howard Hanson, UCLA halfback, was the friend he talked about with Sanders. He said that rumors he had given information about Iowa to Hanson were "silly." Lawrence and Hanson played together on a service team at Corpus Christi, Tex.

President Hancher said last night:

"A problem of this nature has never before been presented to me, so I would be reluctant to comment. However, if good evidence were shown, it would certainly indicate a breach of canons . . .

"While there are no rules specifically covering such a case I would be personally unsympathetic to any students who did such a thing.

"The matter would be referred to the committee on discipline and I would not know what its verdict might be . . .

"Such an act would indicate a certain deficiency of character and I feel that we would not be justified in awarding a degree to such a student.

"Moral turpitude or intent could hardly be condoned."

Athletic Director Paul Brechler, in a statement late last night, said:

"The whole affair is most regrettable. We have a policy and a strong conviction that any accused individual should have a fair hearing and trial.

"Our athletic department was not involved and was ignorant of the whole affair until today."

GOP Senator Blasts Brannan Plan

SIOUX CITY (AP) — Sen. Kenneth Wherry (R-Neb) last night declared the Brannan Plan, "impractical, unenforceable, an economic monstrosity."

Speaking of the secretary of agriculture's farm program in an address before the Republican party's national farm conference here, he asserted:

"Under it, surpluses will pile up mountain high, or production payments must be made in unbearable and intolerable amounts. Either will break down the entire farm economy. It will bury the whole farm support program and destroy the very help it has brought to the farmers and to all our people."

The Republican floor leader declared it was "a plan to Sovietize the farmers."

Wherry attacked the government's "incorrectly aimed" reciprocal trade agreements, saying they would result in increased imports of farm products which would depress domestic prices. He termed devaluation of currency by Great Britain and other countries as a "double-edged sword."

"It will result in a flash flood of imports and raise still higher the walls against our exports to those very same countries," the Nebraskan said. "This will back up our commodities and bring more unemployment."

The senator said the answer to any problem of surpluses is "combination of many actions, all geared to production for use."

He included among these the diversion of agricultural products to various industrial uses, government stockpiling of foods, feeds and natural fibres for national security and expansion of exports "under a two - priced system, through which countries short of dollars may buy from our surpluses."

Laborites to Seek Vote of Confidence

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Clement Attlee's Labor government decided yesterday to challenge the Conservative party on its opposition to devaluation and ask for a vote of confidence next week in parliament.

The Labor party has a large majority in the house of commons, but if it is defeated the government will have to resign and new elections be held.

The government's leader in parliament, Herbert Morrison, told a political rally at Finley he is confident the government will emerge victorious from the devaluation debate.

The government will submit a motion in the debate asking for approval of its devaluation policy —tantamount to a motion for a vote of confidence. The debate is expected to last three days.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps, Attlee, President of the Board of Trade Harold Wilson and Minister of Health Aneurin Bevan will defend the government. Winston Churchill, Anthony Eden, Oliver Stanley and Oliver Lyttelton will speak for the Conservatives.

Russian Asks Peace Pact by Big Powers In UN Policy Speech

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky called for a peace pact among the Big Five powers yesterday.

In an unusually mild speech notable for what he did not say, Vishinsky ignored President Truman's announcement in Washington that the United States has evidence of an atomic explosion in Russia.

Vishinsky's major policy speech for Russia in the United Nations assembly also made no mention of Secretary of State Dean Acheson's comment that Mr. Truman's disclosure would bring no change in American policy.

The Russian omitted all reference to the Tito-Stalin feud and he refused to be drawn into a quarrel with the Nationalist Chinese government, which Thursday accused Moscow of directing and aiding Chinese Communists.

Vishinsky made the familiar blasts at the western powers, especially the United States and Britain, but he ended on a high note of peace proposing that the general assembly:

1. Condemn preparations for a new war he said were being made in the United States and Britain.

2. Condemn further delays in adoption by the UN or treaties for the "unconditional prohibition" of atomic weapons and for international control of atomic energy.

3. Call on all nations to settle their disputes peacefully and for the United States, Britain, China, France and the Soviet Union to conclude among themselves a pact for the strengthening of peace.

SUI Student Killed In Highway Crash

George Constantine, 21-year-old SUI student from Fort Dodge, was killed last night in a collision involving his car, a tractor and a transport truck six miles east of Fort Dodge on highway 20, according to The Associated Press.

Kenneth Cook, 28, Chicago Heights, Ill., driver of the truck, was hospitalized with a fractured skull and internal injuries. The hospital described his condition as critical.

Constantine was driving home from Iowa City where he had enrolled at SUI. He previously had two years college work at Northwestern university. Constantine was a former all-state football player at Fort Dodge high school.

His mother, a brother and two sisters survive.

Iowa City Man Injured By Car at Intersection

Clarence Mahanna, 70, of 131 S. Capitol street, was struck by a car about 7 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of College and Capitol streets, police said.

He was taken immediately to University hospitals, where officials termed his condition as fair. The extent of his injuries had not yet been determined.

Police said the driver of the car that struck Mahanna was E.M. Wenman, Coralville.

41-Year-Old Mother Confesses Planting Bomb Aboard Plane

QUEBEC CITY, QUE. (AP)—A 41-year-old mother confessed yesterday that she arranged to put a home-made bomb aboard an airliner which exploded in flight killing 23 persons.

Police soon afterwards arrested her alleged lover whom they suspect of "masterminding" the explosion to kill his wife who was a passenger.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police Inspector Rene Belec said Mrs. Marie Petri had signed a confession admitting she had a parcel containing the bomb placed aboard the plane which exploded and smashed into a mountainside near here Sept. 9 killing all aboard including three New York industrialists.

Supt. Henri Charland of the provincial police said J.A. Guay, a traveling jewelry salesman and Mrs. Petri's alleged lover, had been seized as a material witness after Mrs. Petri said she did not know what was in the lethal package but had taken it to the Quebec airport at Guay's request.

Police said Guay would be charged formally today after the provincial attorney-general's office receives a full report on the investigation. Guay's 29-year-old wife, Simard, was one of the victim's of the plane crash—the third worst in Canadian history. Her life had been insured for $10,000 shortly before the crash.

Charland said Guay was arrested in a private suburban home after leaving his own home at 7:00 p.m. Relatives said Guay did not leave the house hurriedly and appeared perfectly calm and normal Charland would not comment further.

Gifts of $24,406.13 Accepted for SUI

Gifts and grants totaling $24,406.13 have been accepted for SUI by the finance committee of the state board of education, President Virgil Hancher announced yesterday.

The largest gift, $9,646.13 in equipment for the electrical engineering department, was from the General Electric corporation.

Gifts for continued research in bacteriology included $2,410 from the army epidemiological board, $3,700 from the national institute of health of the federal security agency and $1,500 from Hoffman-LaRoche, Inc.

Other grants included three fellowships totaling $4,500 fo graduate work in pharmacy from the American Foundation for Pharmaceutical Education and $1,750 from the Pottawatamie County Society for Crippled Children to support a fellowship in speech pathology.

Steel Talks Revived; Coal Miners Still Out

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Negotiations were revived in an effort to wipe out the threat of the thrice-postponed steel strike, but 115,000 Ford workers were told to go ahead with plans for a walkout.

There were indications, meanwhile, that the six-day strike of 480,000 coal miners might be a long way from settlement.

For the first time since July 6, representatives of the steel industry and the CIO united steelworkers talked across the bargaining table. No decisions were announced. More meetings are scheduled for Monday.

The principals are working to reach some agreement before the new steel strike truce expires Oct. 1.

The chief stumbling block is whether the companies should pay the entire cost of a 10 cents hourly package for welfare and insurance or whether the workers should share part of the expense. A steel fact-finding board recommended that the companies finance the plan. The industry wants the workers to pay part of it.

The CIO united auto workers Ford negotiating committee in Detroit said in a confidential memorandum to union leaders that published reports that Ford is near agreement are "completely erroneous and have no foundation in fact." The union was advised to proceed with plans to strike at 12:01 a.m. Thursday, but added that the strike deadline might be put off to a later date.

The strike of 480,000 coal miners went through its sixth day with no sign that any peace plan is in the offing. John L. Lewis said Thursday that his miners would remain on a "no day work week" until they get a new contract. Contract talks have been recessed until Sept. 29 and some mine owners say they will not agree to any wage boosts.

A Calmed Fear —

President Truman's announcement that Russia has an atom bomb sent waves of fear throughout the world yesterday, but was greeted by outward calm from most U.S. officials.

Men who probably guessed that the U.S. monopoly on the world's most destructive weapon would break sooner or later, seemed to adopt the attitude that the break came sooner rather than later.

Mr. Truman's simple statement reflected the calm that masked U.S. officialdom.

There must be justification for the manner in which the dramatic announcement was received. Perhaps it will be a long time before Russia will be able to produce the bombs in war-waging quantity.

At least high policy makers in this country expressed the view that Russia's possession of an atomic bomb does not bring World War III any closer.

They point out that the United States has a four-year headstart in bomb production. It would seem that Russia would be reluctant to start a scrap in which retaliation could be so swift.

The days of lightning warfare are more than an unpleasant thought. They could become a reality with amazing ease.

What the announcement could mean is a mad race for armaments between the world's two greatest powers. It could be the starting point of a wild dash that leads only to war.

But not war as it has been known in the past. Rather, it would mean war of a type that is difficult to imagine.

Now in this crisis, the calmness displayed by the President and other high government officials, should be adopted by the rank-and-file. Now, more than at any time since the end of World War II, is calm leadership needed.

Russia has long objected to the Baruch plan of atomic control. Russia has advocated a plan calling for the outlawing of the bomb and destruction of all existing stock piles.

If Russia were sincere in its request to rule out the bomb — in the light of yesterday's announcement — then the world would do well to consider the Soviet plan.

However, if war were to become inevitable between the USSR and the U.S., there is little likelihood that an anti-bomb law would be kept.

In any event, the course of world history entered a new era with Russia's procurement of the most ruthless weapon the world has yet known.

A Robbed Effect —

The State University of Iowa's football team will open the toughest football schedule in its history this afternoon when it meets UCLA

SUI will be playing some of the strongest teams in the nation on the next nine successive Saturdays.

The curtain-raiser on the season marks the first time that west coast football team has ever appeared in Iowa City.

Team morale is reported to be at a healthy peak. Yet despite this picture of typically collegiate activity, the student body is showing an amazing lack of interest.

It seems strange that an attractive football schedule, coupled with a team many observers feel has great potentialities, should be met with such lethargy from the students.

A traditional kickoff for any sports event is a pep rally. Coaches, players and administration officials traditionally gather to with the team well in an event that should be one of the university's best-attended.

But what happened last night? Persons or organizations who would ordinarily be expected to stage a pep rally on the eve of a season's opener, only shrugged their shoulders and questioned, "Pep rally? It's news to me."

There will be at least 3,000 students who will be witnessing their first game this afternoon as members of the SUI student body. To them belongs an explanation.

They must wonder — and rightly so — what kind of student body have we here, that doesn't even support its own football team.

The dramatic effect of a pep rally has been robbed from the new and returning students.

But next week the new students will have become accustomed to the idea of a lethargic student body. They might even try to pass themselves off as veterans of the campus, by shrugging their shoulders and questioning, "Pep rally? It's news to me."

Interpreting the News —

Soviet A-Bomb Does Not Increase War Prospects

By J. M. ROBERTS JR
((AP) Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Russian possession of the atom bomb does not necessarily increase the prospect of a third world war.

What it will mean is, of course, the big question in the chancelleries of the world today, as in the mind of every human who has heard of Hiroshima.

For those who had placed their dependence on the belief that the American monopoly of the bomb had been the greatest deterrent of war between east and west, the President's announcement came as a shocking threat of new world war.

This was probably the first reaction of most observers. But it was followed quickly by estimates in many quarters that it really meant no great change in international relationships. For one thing, allied policy already was based on the knowledge that Russian production of the bomb was inevitable.

At the state department there was even some feeling that Russia, once she could negotiate from a base of more nearly equal power, might shed some of the fear complex which is believed to have been an important motivating factor in her postwar attitude. Some speculated that she might join the rest of the world in a really serious effort to establish atomic and other arms controls.

This sounds like a reasonable reaction. But it, like the war talk, doesn't quite fit the Russian pattern either.

There is a fundamental Russian attitude toward all international cooperation, affecting many things besides atomic controls.

Russia, by inherited tendency and strongly-held political theory, is suspicious of foreigners and opposed to everything which would seem to subject the smallest of her affairs to the slightest outside influence. Moscow extends national sovereignty to a point far beyond its meaning to western minds.

For her to submit to foreign inspection of her atomic projects, much less to their control by any international body, would involve not only a reversal of policy, but also in what might be termed a racial characteristic.

If, then, the diplomatic relation remains unchanged, what of the military?

Will Russia use the atomic bomb as a new weapon of fear in an effort to extend the Communist sway over more countries?

It is conceivable, but hardly seems likely under present circumstances. When the western allies were both weak and disorganized, the presence or propinquity of the Communist army was used for this purpose in eastern Europe.

That army is still the overwhelming force in Europe. But since the allies have organized to back the policy of Russian containment, there have been no more coups. What might have been an attempt in Finland, through the recent Communist strikes, was not supported by the same Russian pressure and military display which accompanied the one in Czechoslovakia.

The bomb affects Russia's weight in degree, but not necessarily in its uses.

The fact is that competent observers are generally agreed that Russia does not want war. Allied rearmament is designed to make her keep on not wanting it, and as insurance against misjudgment of her motives.

Russian publications suggest strongly that she is still depending on the theory that the capitalist world will commit suicide through its own competitive nature. There is no reason to feel that recent developments in world economic affairs have lessened this dependence, or given the Kremlin the idea that time is working against it.

Russia can be brutally realistic, as demonstrated by her agreement to let Hitler overrun Czechoslovakia and the 1939 treaty which signalled the start of World War II. But her economic theories and political beliefs play a very important role in her actions until a crisis arises in which she obviously must act.

Her next time of vital crisis in world affairs is more likely to come if Communists in other countries believe economic chaos has given them an opportunity to take over, rather than when Russia has an atomic bomb stockpile.

Congress Thinks War Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of congress said yesterday that Russia's atomic explosion confronts the nation with vital decisions, and makes it imperative to seek new ways to prevent an atomic war.

Democrats and Republicans alike urged the people to avoid panic or hysteria, and there were strong pleas for prompt new efforts to set up some form of international atomic control.

Senate Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas of Illinois said American diplomats "stand ready to try again to find a feasible and acceptable plan for control of this tremendous source of power."

Most of the lawmakers agreed with the view of high diplomatic authorities that the news does not mean a war with Russia is any closer.

The United States "still has a four-year lead in the progressive utilization of atomic energy," Lucas said. "Our scientists and technologists will enable us to maintain our lead."

Chairman Brien McMahon, (D-Conn) got the news from Mr. Truman Thursday and relayed the information yesterday to the joint congressional atomic energy committee at a secret meeting behind locked doors and drawn shades.

He said the group "deliberated the implications, military and political, that this event means to us." A weekend conference will determine whether any new atomic legislation is needed, he said.

The United States, he sad, "faces the most crucial dilemma of its history"—a dilemma caused by the fact that Russia has chosen to develop its own atom weapons rather than submit to international control and inspection.

He renewed his suggestion for a meeting between Mr. Truman and Soviet Premier Josef Stalin.

Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt), urged the United States to declare that it will not use the atom bomb unless it is first used against this country. He said it should then seek an agreement with Russia that neither nation would use the bomb unless attacked.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, (R-Mass), said recent conferences with military leaders have convinced him that the people can have "complete confidence" in their defense setup.

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin, of Massachusetts, called the news a "scare" story and said it meant that "some new administration request is going to be sent to the hill."

News No Surprise, Atom Pioneer Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Leslie R. Groves, one of the builders of the first atomic bomb, said yesterday that the United States has been preparing for some time for news that Russia has found out how to make atoms explode.

Groves, retired army lieutenant general and head of wartime atomic project, said:

"I thought about the announcement for a minute when I heard about it. Then I forgot about it. I'm not going to lose any sleep over it."

Groves, who now is working with the atomic enery commission, said that the question now is how good an atomic explosion can Russia make, not does she have the bomb?

"Anyone with any intelligence knew they would develop on atomic bomb," he said.

He drew a comparison of two men in a 100 yard dash, and whether the one 90 yards behind the other could catch up.

"The question is not have they built one? but how good is that one, What is their attitude, can they catch up with us?" Groves said.

"Certainly the United States is in the lead. I don't see how they can fail to be in the lead.",

Mixed Reaction Greets Bomb News

President Truman's electrifying announcement of Russian possession of the atom bomb set off various reactions on the SUI campus yesterday.

Prof. Hew Roberts of the college of adult education said:

"If it is true that Russia has achieved an atomic explosion, the world situation is certainly no worse. It may well be better. On the principle that the best cure for playing with fire is to burn one's fingers, Russia will now know at first hand the full power of the weapons that will be turned against her if she is foolish enough to initiate their use. Therefore she may be more rather than less cooperative.

"On the other hand, western European unity and the solidarity of the democracies even at the expense of some national sovereignty, now becomes a necessity, not just an ideal. If there are any isolationists left in any of the English-speaking countries, they would do well to remember that isolationism may in future be as detrimental to their nation's security as is fellow-traveling.

"Meanwhile it is absurd and dangerous to say that war is any nearer or the problems of peace any more difficult just because what we knew must eventually happen has happened somewhat earlier than anticipated."

Prof. George Glockler, head of the chemistry department, said:

"I think someday Russia will get the atomic bomb. There is no question in my mind that they have scientifically trained people, that is physicists, chemists and engineers, who ultimately will be able to construct a bomb.

"The fundamental scientific knowledge has been known for nearly a decade, and the Russians can interpret that information as well as we can. It is my opinion that their industrial know-how is not on our level, but after all eight years have elapsed since we started and we gave them priceless information when we dropped the bombs on Hiroshima.

"We showed them that is was possible to make the bomb and in that way gave them confidence that they could do it. We started from scratch and took a terrific chance which they will not have to take since we have shown the possibility that the bomb can be made.

Prof. Louis A. Turner, head of the physics department, said:

"It was expected that sooner or later the Russians would develop an atomic bomb. They have done it somehwat sooner than our experts apparently thought possible, and that however is one that has been anticipated for a long time."

Truman's Message Stirs Military Men, Scientists, Politicians

(By UNITED PRESS)

President Truman's announcement that an atomic explosion had occurred in Russia flashed around the world in minutes.

The disclosure that two nations, antagonistic ones, now had atomic weapons brought the greatest flood of speculation, some fearful and some calmly realistic, since Mr. Truman said, the bomb had dropped on Hiroshima.

That world-wide reaction embraced the fields of science, politics, military preparations, security and the word of the man on the street.

It added up to this:

Science—the men who made the atom bomb said, "We told you so." Intensive Russian work on nuclear fission could have been expected to produce a bomb although it was not expected this soon. The general feeling, however, was that Russia may have one or two hand-made bombs, the United States is now producing them on an assembly-line basis.

Military — A U.S. airforce spokesman in London said it was "quite probable" that all American B-29 bombers will be replaced in the near future by B-50's which are capable of carrying atomic bombs. Sen. John J. Sparkman said in Washington that an "armament race was inevitable."

Russia — No word from Moscow Even oratorically-inclined Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky ignored the President's disclosure when he made a major speech at the United Nations. He called for immediate outlawing of the A-bomb in anyone's hands. He said Russia did not contemplate attacking any nation and called for a new peace pact among the big five powers.

United Nations — Secretary of possession of an atomic weapon State Dean Acheson said Russian would cause no change in American foreign policy.

Washington — High government officials urged calm consideration of this change of affairs. In the U.S. senate, Vermont's Republican Ralph Flanders introduced a resolution that the United States should make a "unilatreal declaration" that it would not use the atomic bomb unless it were used against us.

Detection — Reliable sources in Paris said the United States furnished instruments in Europe which recorded the explosion. They measured jars of the earth's surface and also tested radioactivity in the air over eastern Europe.

Location—Reports that Russia has its "Oak Ridge" behind the Ural mountains in Siberia have been widespread. Berlin reports the Communist army captured at least 200 nuclear scientists. Uranium deposits in eastern Germany close to the Czech border reportedly employ thousands of laborers.

Time—Persistent unofficial reports place time of explosion around last July 10.

Man-on-the-street—"So what?" The general feeling was, "What can we do about it?"

Eisenhower Sees No Revolution in Thinking

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, wartime supreme commander of the western allies, said the announcement of a Soviet atom explosion was only confirmation of "scientific predictions."

"I see no reason why a development that was anticipated years ago should cause any revolutionary change in our thinking or in our actions," said Eisenhower, now president of Columbia university.

Looks Forward to American Rugby

NEARLY 1700 MILES from her Canadian home, Ethel Marguerite King of Calgary, Alberta, brings out her books to begin a year at SUI. After her trip to Iowa, Ethel has enrolled for graduate work in elementary education. She shows her loyalty to her alma mater, the University of Alberta, by the pennant on her Eastlawn dormitory room wall.

Canadian Student Runs Into Money Difficulties

By BEVERLY LINDSAY

Collecting enough money for tuition, books and housing is a familiar problem to many SUI students. But if every dollar they or their father had saved was worth only 90 cents at school they might have even more troubles.

That's the situation a Canadian student enrolling at SUI for the first time is experiencing, because the Canadian dollar has a 90 cent value in American money.

But that's not the end of the red tape encountered in coming to college in the United States, according to Canadian Student Ethel Marguerite King. She is beginning her graduate work at SUI this semester in elementary education.

Ethel arrived in the United States for the first time a week ago, after a trip of approximately 1700 miles from her home in Calgary, Alberta.

A Canadian student must apply to the government for permission to take dollars out of the country, Ethel explained. The student can't ask for too much money or the government will refuse the application entirely.

But the red tape of her journey is over now, and Ethel is settled in a double room in Eastlawn dormitory.

"I have found the people so genial and sociable and I'm very pleased with the courses I have," she said.

Registration was "very confusing you know," Ethel said, adding that her advisors were "extremely helpful."

The Canadian student received her "B.Ed" (bachelor of education) degree at the University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, in May 1949.

Her decision to enroll here came after a dean at the University of Alberta recommended SUI for her graduate work.

Ethel is looking forward to her first American football game today.

"I've heard so much about American college rugby," she said, explaining that "rugby" is the Canadian term for a sport similar to American football.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ADDRESSING a group of prominent Jewish business men in the course of his recent visit to the U.S., Winston Churchill brought down the house by recalling, "I advocated a free Jewish state in Palestine in years when that was a very unpopular notion in certain government circles. Be assured, gentlemen, that I shall never desert you in your hour of glory."

Mr. Churchill said that the Israeli embassy in London was mortified to discover that all the other embassies made a point of offering a cup of tea in the afternoon to the bobbies assigned to posts in front of their buildings. The Israeli staff hastened to make amends to their bobby, explaining, "Forgive us if we don't know all the fine points as yet. We haven't had an embassy for two thousand years!"

Yankees Split To Keep Two-Game Lead

Beat Nats, 7-1, After Losing 1st

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lowly Washington Senators awakened long enough yesterday to upset the New York Yankees, 9-8, in the first game of a doubleheader before resuming their siesta in the nightcap to lose, 7-1.

Although the split enabled the front-running Yanks to maintain their two-game American league edge over the Boston Red Sox, the opening defeat was costly.

The Red Sox now are only two games out in the all important lost column. The Sox, who entertain the Yanks in the opener of a two-game series today, were idle.

The Yanks lost the first game in the tenth inning when Tommy Henrich and George Stirnweiss allowed Pitcher Sid Hudson's fly to drop between them with two out and the bases loaded.

Lefty Joe Page was the victim of Henrich and Stirnweiss' Alfonse-Gaston act.

It was quite a pitcher's battle between the Yanks' Vic Raschi and Ralph Buxton and Washington's Rae Scarborough until the seventh inning. Raschi was hurt in the fourth and Buxton worked the fifth and sixth.

Hugh Casey took over in the seventh and the Senators promptly teed off against old Hughie and Duane Pillette for five runs to break a 1-1 tie and stake 12-game winner Scarborough to a 6-1 lead.

But the Yanks chopped up Scarborough and Joe Haynes for seven runs in the eighth.

Page retired the Senators in order in the ninth but after striking out Clyde Vollmer, first up in the tenth, he walked Robinson. Sam Dente followed with a single to center and when Cliff Mapes fumbled the ball, Robinson reached third.

Al Evans was intentionally passed to get at Hudson. With two strikes on him, Hudson sent a soft fly to the right side. Stirnweiss and Henrich went after the ball, which dropped between them for a single and the ball game.

The Yanks clinched the nightcap in the first inning when they scored twice on three Washington errors. The Yanks pecked away at Mickey Harris and Lloyd Hittle, piling up 11 hits, four of them by Billy Johnson.

Fred Sanford went all the way and allowed only four hits.

Chisox Stop Browns Behind Gumpert, 4-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Randy Gumpert pitched a four-hitter for his 13th victory as the Chicago White Sox defeated the St. Louis Browns 4-1, before a ladies' night turnout of 3,497 last night.

Catcher Eddie Malone paced the Chicagoans' 12-hit assault with four safeties — a triple, double and two singles.

Gumpert missed a shutout when Les Moss opened the St. Louis third with his 10th home run. Thereafter the Chicago veteran allowed only three scattered singles.

Chicago moved in front with two runs in the home half of the same round. Philley's safe bunt, his steal of second and Moss' throwing error were blended with Cass Michaels' single for Chicago's third run in the fifth.

Nobody to Tackle the Soup

SAN JOSE, CALIF. (AP) — The football tribute dinner at the Elks club would have been a success had the gridiron guests showed up.

The Elks — 100 of 'em — were about to tackle the soup when someone inquired where were the San Jose State and University of Santa Clara players who were to be fed and feted.

Nobody had remembered to invite the players.

J. Verne Rafael, Elks secretary, explained: "The committee in charge failed to function."

Young Spoils Bolanos' Comeback Attempt

NEW YORK (AP) — Terry Young, a wild-hooking lightweight of the Rocky Graziano school, spoiled Enrique Bolanos' comeback attempt last night by winning a unanimous 10-round decision over the lightweight contender from Los Angeles before 10,000 at Madison Square Garden.

Bolanos, making his first ring appearance since he was knocked out by Champion Ike Williams at Los Angeles in July, suffered a badly gashed right brow in the fourth round and was bleeding profusely from his nose during most of the bout.

Young, a 3-1 underdog, amazed the fans by landing his wild hooks to the head in nearly every session. However, his victory was unpopular with the fans.

WEST BRANCH — A last half rally by University high after West Branch had piled up a two touchdown margin in the first quarter fell short, 13-12, here last night. The extra-point try that would have tied the game in the last few seconds failed.

The Blue Hawks three times drove inside the home eleven's 10-yard line during the first half but couldn't score.

Early in the third quarter the visitors finally began to show some life. Tackle Frank Baker grabbed a blocked kick on the West Branch eight and ran the remaining distance for the first touchdown.

Then, with a minute left, the Blue Hawks recovered a fumble on the West Branch 27. Bob Ewalt scored on an end run from there on the first play. However, Carter Morgan's crucial drop kick extra-point try missed.

On the first play of the game from scrimmage, West Branch's Dick Taylor passed to Tom Hoffman for the initial six points. The play covered 73 yards.

Toward the end of the same quarter, Taylor scored on a 10-yard end run climaxing a 70 yard drive. Kevin Cahill booted the important extra point.

The new $4,000 West Branch athletic field was dedicated in pre-game ceremonies.

Hawklets Shackle Wilson of CR, 12-0

A line plunge late in the first period and a pass from Ken Hay to Bill Fenton on the second play of the final quarter netted City high two touchdowns and a 12-0 victory over Wilson of Cedar Rapids here last night.

The win put the Little Hawks on top of the Mississippi Valley conference with two victories and no defeats.

Wilson never threatened the City high goal and had the Hawklets deep in their territory only once. That was early in the second period when Duane Davis was tackled on his own three - yard line attempting to return a Wilson punt.

Mickey Moore paved the way to the first Hawklet touchdown after faking a kick and running to the Wilson 25-yard line. A couple of plays later, Wilson received a 15 - yard unnecessary roughness penalty setting the ball on the 3-yard marker.

Davis plunged for a yard before Moore went the remaining distance for the touchdown.

The second scoring march covered 40 yards.

Quarterback Ken Hay ran to the 27-yard line covering 13 yards on a bootleg play late in the third period. Then he flipped a pass to Bill Fenton on the 16.

CITY HIGH'S DAVE HOMEWOOD is under the pile-up on this play (Believe it or not). This bit of action took place at City high field last night as the Hawklets downed Wilson, 12-0. No. 43 is Tackle Jim Forwald, son of Assistant Coach Chick Forwald. Lying on the turf watching the play is Bill Fenton (No. 41) who caught Bill Hay's pass later in the game for the second Hawklet touchdown. Don Peters (No. 21) is the other Iowa City end.

Davis then skirted left end for 12 yards two plays later as the quarter ended with the ball 8-yards from pay dirt.

Bob Kacena made it to the 5, and Hay hit Fenton again on a jump pass to score.

Jim Cozad Added To Coaching Staff

Jim Cozad, a lineman on four Hawkeye football teams, is the third man added to the Iowa coaching staff this month. He will assist in the coaching of the freshman gridders.

Cozad won letters in 1946, 1947 and 1948 and played on the wartime team of 1943. He was an all-state football player at West Waterloo in 1942.

He will begin work with Freshman Coach Leonard Raffensperger and Assistants Maury Kent, John Tedore and Waddy Davis Monday.

type of halfback, has piled up an average of 4.8 yards per try in three seasons for UCLA.

Iowa, performing for the eighth season under Anderson, has several of last year's backfield men returning but The Arm is gone, creating a problem that has racked the coaches from the first day of practice. The Arm, of course, is Al DiMarco, the little quarterback who directed the T-formation and smashed most previous Iowa passing records.

Glenn Drahn, outstanding as a defensive quarterback and punter last year, has taken over the offensive duties and will attempt to take up the slack left by the departed DiMarco. Right behind him is Fred Ruck, who has shown plenty of ability, but who, as a sophomore, is woefully short on experience.

The halfbacks will be veterans Don Fryauf and Mearl Naber, while Bill Greene, 170-pounds but with tremendous drive, will open at fullback.

The front line will average 195 pounds, compared to the Uclans' 201, and will be headed by Game Captain Don Winslow, 220-pound senior from Iowa City at left tackle. A junior listed as a probable starter is right tackle Harold Bradley. He'll be playing next to stubby 200-pound Earl Banks, three letter winner and all conference guard in 1946.

If Iowa receives the kickoff the ends will be manned by Jack Dittmer and Bob McKenzie, both outstanding as pass grabbers. Defensively the top flanker jobs will probably be handled by Bob Hoff, who also does the kicking off, and Ralph Woodard. Dick Laster, a fourth year man, will start at center. Bob Lage, at left guard completes the forward wall.

The earlier starting time, 1:30 instead of the 2 p.m. of former years, has been installed in cooperation with the highway commission, to allow traffic to be on the road before dark, thus helping as much as possible to avoid accidents.

Des Moines Ties Playoff Series, Rips Pueblo, 10-5

DES MOINES (AP) — The Des Moines Bruins, led by Paul Schramka's four hits, one a three-run home, defeated Pueblo 10-5, in the Western league final playoffs here last night.

The Des Moines victory forced the best-of-seven series into the seventh game. The teams now are tied with three wins each. Pueblo tied the score at 3-3 in the sixth, aided by Vic Marasco's two-run double. The Bruins came back with four in their half with four runs, the big blows being doubles by Ken Guettler and Leon Brinkopf.

Tigers Defeat Tribe After Pennant Rites

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Detroit Tigers watched the world champion Indians bury their pennant last night in a mock funeral, then whipped Cleveland, 5 to 0.

Virgil Trucks hurled his 19th victory and increased Detroit's third place lead over the Indians to 2½ games.

Top-hatted Tribe President Bill Veeck drove a horse-drawn hearse around the field in an odd pregame funeral for his team's 1948 pennant, with all the Indians trailing along as mourners.

They even buried the pennant in a pine coffin in a grave behind the centerfield fence and topped the site with a cardboard tombstone.

But when the serious business of fighting it out for third place started, the Tigers took over the show. Trucks fanned 10 mourning Indians and allowed only five hits.

Early Wynn losing his fourth straight, let Detroit score once in the third and twice in the seventh. Sam Zoldak pitched the remaining innings and was tagged for two suns in the ninth.

Wolves, Notre Dame Lead Football Clubs As Campaign Opens

NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan and Notre Dame, the two mighty mid-west teams which have dominated the national college football picture for two years running, will trot out their '49 models before an admiring populace today.

The Michigan Wolverines, who wound up No. 1 in the nation on last year's Associated Press poll, play host to Michigan State at Ann Arbor, while the Irish, rated No. 2 in the balloting, engage a brave Indiana team at South Bend.

The North Carolina Tar Heels and their great Charlie Justice, last year's No. 3 combination, are expected to have a fairly rugged afternoon against North Carolina State. California, which drew the No. 4 spot when the experts had finished balloting last fall, faces no trouble from St. Mary's at Berkeley.

The Tulane Green Wave, which dropped only one game last year and is being touted as the powerhouse of the south, as well as a serious contender for national honors, meets Alabana's Crimson Tide at Tuscalcosa in the day's top attraction below the Mason-Dixon line.

In the far west the fans are anticipating a colorful struggle between Navy and Southern California at Los Angeles. Harvard, making only its second trip to the coast in 76 years, might give highly - regarded Stanford a surprise at Palo Alto.

At Dallas, Doak Walker and his Southern Methodist playmates take on Wake Forest, while a strong Rice eleven plays Clemson at Houston and Baylor meets South Carolina at Waco. The Texas Longhorns are at Philadelphia for a tilt with Temple.

Army, again shaping up as one of the east's mightiest outfits, will polish up its two platoons against little Davidson at West Point.

Johnny Bright Leads Drake Over Emporia

DES MOINES (AP) — With Back Johnny Bright figuring in four of six touchdowns, Drake won a 42-0 grid victory over Kansas State Teachers of Emporia last night.

Bright, Negro sophomore, ran to three touchdowns and passed to Tom Bienemann for a fourth. Dick Steer made good on all six place kicks for the winners.

Suggs Shoots 75, Paces Women's Open

LANDOVER, MD. (AP) — Louise Suggs maintained her six-stroke lead yesterday in the women's national Open golf championship.

The former Carrollton, Ga., lass turned in a second round par-75 for a 36-hole count of 144 over the Prince Georges c.c. course.

Defending Open Titlist Babe Didrikson Zaharias, Grossinger, N.Y., pulled into second place with 74-76—150 over the soggy layout which was drenched in the morning by heavy rains.

Trailing one stroke behind the Babe in the third place with 151 was Carol Diringer, Toledo, Ohio, who shot a 76.

Poker-faced Marlene Bauer, the 15-year-old Los Angeles swinger, and Beverly Hanson, Riverside, Calif., were tied for fourth with 153. Miss Hanson fired a second round 81 against 72 Thursday, while petite Marlene added 78 to Thursday's 75.

Helen Sigel, Philadelphia, matched Miss Suggs' score of 75 in the second round but trailed in fifth place with 154 after an opening 79.

Purdue-Wildcat Clash Opens Big Ten Grid Season Today

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1949 football campaign opens today for the Big Ten with an important conference clash between Purdue and Rose Bowl champion Northwestern at Evanston, and seven non-loop contests.

Defending conference champion Michigan is host to Michigan State which holds a league membership, but won't be written on to the conference grid schedule until 1953. A capacity 97,000 will jam the enlarged Wolverine stadium for this opener.

Indiana has the toughest conference team assignment of the day, sending a lightly-reckoned club against Notre Dame before a 56,000 sell-out at South Bend, Ind.

The other curtain-raisers are Iowa State at Illinois, UCLA at Iowa, Washington at Minnesota, Missouri at Ohio State and Marquette at Wisconsin. None of the games can be considered a one-sided warmup, especially since Iowa State, UCLA and Marquette all jumped the gun on their conference foes with impressive wins a week ago.

The Rose Bowl Champion Wildcats will be favored over the invading Boilermakers, but a Purque triumph would not be a resounding upset. Stu Holcomb's Lafayette crew has speed, seasoning and savvy.

However, if reports are true that Harry Szulborski, the league's 1948 top ground-gainer, will miss most of the game because of an injury, considerable zing will be missing from Purdue's attack.

Bob Voigts' Wildcats have a veteran crew, ranked in the league's "Big Four" title contention with Michigan, Ohio State and Minnesota. However, the psychological aspects of the game favor Purdue.

The Boilermakers still taste bitter ashes of a 1948 flop season in which a 28-27 opening defeat by Notre Dame apparently knocked them out for the entire fall. They bear no "super team" label this season, but carry the guns for a good showing.

Voigts also is confronted with the problem of pacing his Don Burson-Johnny Miller-Ed Tunnicliff-Art Murakowski attack with an eye on the Wildcat tangles with Minnesota Oct. 8 and Michigan Oct. 15.

In the 54-year-old Purdue-Northwestern series, each team has won 14 games and one tie was played.

The Michigan-Michigan State battle renews a bitter neighborhood feud that is short on Spartan accomplishments, but long on fan interest. Michigan State hasn't won since a 19-14 triumph in 1937, but last year's 13-7 Michigan decision virtually was a moral victory for the Spartans.

Marquette's visit to Wisconsin marks another neighborhood rivalry, as does the Indiana-Notre Dame meeting which appears a bouncy spring-board for another Irish bid for national supremacy.

Hart to Interview 2 Sports Writers

Hal Hart, A3, will interview two prominent sports writers on the Columbia Broadcasting System's coast-to-coast football roundup this afternoon.

Bert McGrane of the Des Moines Register & Tribune sports staff and Paul Zimmerman, sports editor of the Los Angeles Times, will be interviewed by Hart during the Iowa-UCLA football game.

The broadcast is one of six which CBS, with Red Barber as master of ceremonies, has arranged for on-the-spot interviews representing prominent football games across the nation today. Time of the football roundup is 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.

John Jacobs Loses To Stranahan, 1-Up In Western Amateur

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Frank Stranahan, 1946 champion, was forced to the limit in beating John Jacobs, III, Cedar Rapids, 1-up, while two other favorites fell in quarterfinals of the Western Amateur golf tournament yesterday.

Dick Chapman, Greenwich, Conn., a former National Amateur titlist, lost to former Illinois state champion James Frisina, Taylorville, Ill., 2 and 1.

Hord Hardin, of St. Louis, tournament chairman for the host Bellerive Country club, upset big Jim McHale, Philadelphia, a finalist last year, 2 and 1.

In the other quarterfinal, veteran Walter Cisco, Louisville, Ky., defeated Harold Paddock Jr., former Ohio State champion of Aurora, Ohio, 3 and 1.

Today's 36-hole semi - finals match Stranahan and Frisina and Cisco and Hardin. The championship will be decided at 36-holes over the 6,505-yard par 71 Bellerive course tomorrow.

Stranahan won the first two holes, but that was the biggest advantage he held over Jacobs, five-time Iowa amateur champion.

Jacobs, battling gamely all the way, won the 6th with a par 3 and evened the match with a par 4 on the 11th. Stranahan was one stroke over on each.

Jacobs missed a 2-foot putt on the 16th to go one down and Stranahan wouldn't let him up again, although the heavyweight Iowan was still in the match until his tee shot on the 18th landed in a sand trap.

Harriers Promising, Cretzmeyer Declares

SUI's varsity cross-country runners are beginning to shape into a team that could rank well in the Western conference this year, according to Coach Francis Cretzmeyer.

Several of the Hawk harriers have turned in good times over the two-mile course during the first week of practice. The first dual meet is Oct. 8 when the Hawks meet Illinois here.

Outstanding candidates for this year's team are Keith Brown, a major letter winner from Cedar Rapids, Jack Copeland, major "I" man from Des Moines, Bill Bye, minor letterman from Odebolt, Jack Davis, freshman numeral winner from Iowa City, and Bill Snook, freshman numeral winner from Freeport, Ill.

All varsity track and cross-country men and any interested freshmen are asked to report to Cretzmeyer by Monday, Sept. 26. There will be an all-university fall championship track and field meet in the near future, Cretzmeyer said.

Badger Basketball Practice to Start

MADISON, WIS — Eight seniors and 11 juniors, including eight major letter-winners, have received invitations from Coach Harold E. (Bud) Foster to report for opening varsity basketball drills Monday.

The 19 players were members of either the varsity or junior varsity squad last year.

Returning major lettermen are Don Rehfeldt, Fritz Schneider, Bob Mader, James Moore, Don Page, Bob Wothman, Jack Wise and Dan Markham.

Six Regular Spartans Back for Cross-Country

EAST LANSING, MICH — Six of the seven regulars from the 1948 Michigan State national championship cross-country team are returning for 1949 competition. Last year's team won the IC4A title, the NCAA crown and NAAU honors.

The Spartans will have four weeks to prepare for the season's opener against Purdue at Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 15. Penn State will come to East Lansing Oct. 29 for a dual test before the national championship meets begin.

OOSTERBAAN ILL

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (AP) — Michigan Football Coach Bennie Oosterbaan yesterday was reported ill at his home with a light case of lung congestion. He was expected to be with his team for the season opener here against Michigan State college.

Jury Activities End After 5-Day Session

The Johnson county grand jury, in session since last Monday, recessed yesterday after their afternoon's work was completed.

Indication that the group's findings probably would not be reported until Oct. 3 was given when County Attorney Jack C. White yesterday said some members of the jury would probably not be here next week.

White before the jury session opened had indicated they might investigate charges of illegal gambling and liquor possession in the county.

Stressing the load on the grand jury, White said, "There is still plenty of work to be done."

Some of the witnesses who appeared before the grand jury were Donald Myers, Iowa City; Police Judge Emil G. Trott, and Frank Grolmus, a former grand jury member from Cedar Rapids.

U. Hospitals Report Four Polio Cases

University hospitals officials reported one polio death and four new cases on the active list yesterday, raising the total number of polio patients to 28.

Arthur Moe, 20, Decorah, died at 3:18 a.m. yesterday.

Those admitted to active ward were Eldon Hansen, 4, reported in "serious" condition; Maurie Nordsman, 32, Cedar Falls, "fair" condition; Raymond Harms, 23, Waverly, "fair" condition, and Michael Perry, 3, Eddyville, "fair" condition.

Adelaide Barer Files Suit for Rent Charges

A suit seeking judgment for $322.77 against Edith Allen was filed in Johnson county district court by Adelaide Barer.

In a two count petition, the plaintiff states that the defendant has failed to pay part of her recent rentals and now owes $135.

In the second count, the plaintiff claims the defendant agreed to keep the premises in repair, but had allowed them to be damaged and fall into disrepair with repair charges totalling $187.77.

Seven Hawks of '99 To Hold Celebration At SUI Homecoming

A golden anniversary celebration of the 1899 SUI football team will be a feature of the SUI homecoming ceremonies Oct. 15.

At least seven of the surviving members have indicated they will attend. They are Charles Briggs, Red Oak; Moray L. Eby, Cedar Rapids; Willis C. Edson, and Dr. V.E. Herbert, Storm Lake; Dr. Ray Morton, Sioux City; Dr. F.L. Siberts, Hampton and Fred A. Williams of Salem, Ore.

The 1899 team was the conference champion and scored 257 points to their opponents' 5.

Included in the homecoming activities is a homecoming parade, first in the university's history, which will be held Friday afternoon, Oct. 14. Floats will be entered by university housing units Iowa City business houses and surrounding communities.

Special meetings of the weekend include a luncheon Saturday noon for former and present members of the "I" club and a homecoming breakfast Saturday for Omicron Delta Kappa members. Omicron Delta Kappa replaces the former All For Iowa club.

The annual water show will be presented again this year by the Dolphins, men's swimming club, as part of the homecoming festivities. Four performances will be offered, one each Thursday and Friday nights, and two Saturday night.

The University hospitals tower will be featured on the Homecoming badges this year.

Defense Rests Case For Oscar Fetters

WASHINGTON, IOWA (AP) — The defense rested yesterday in the 35 - year - old murder case against Oscar Fetters, 63. The state began rebuttal testimony just before a recess was taken until Monday morning.

Three more doctors, final witnesses for the defense, each testified after being given a review of the case that in his opinion Fetters was insane at the time of the slaying Sept. 9, 1914, of Hugh Dougall Sr.

Fetters was charged with murder in 1914, but was committed to the insane ward of the Anamosa reformatory before he could be tried. He was released from the institution this year as "mentally restored."

Their testimony agreed with that given yesterday morning by Dr. P.E. Huston, a member of the SUI medical college faculty. As was the case with Dr. Huston, County Attorney Paul V. Shearer failed to get the three other physicians to change their testimony.

Mrs. Sarah Dougall Sailor, 59, of Canada, daughter of Hugh Dougall and acquaintance of Fetters, started the rebuttal testimony for the state.

Med Students Asked To Get Applications For Admission Soon

All students wishing to enter medical school in the fall of 1950 should get applications for the admission tests immediately, Dr. Robert Ebel, director of the SUI examination service, announced yesterday.

The applications and a booklet explaining the tests are available at the exam service office in room 114 University hall.

These applications must be filled out and mailed by Oct. 10. The applications must include the examination fee of $10.

The examinations will be given in the geology building lecture room Saturday, Oct. 22. A second exam will be given Monday, Jan. 16, but it is advised that students take the earlier exam.

Ebel emphasized this by saying that the medical colleges begin the selection of students for the succeeding year late in the fall.

The exams will be given in two sessions, 8:45 a.m. until 12:15 p.m. and 1:45 p.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Included in the tests are questions designed to measure the future medics in the areas of general scholastic ability, understanding modern society and pre-medical science.

The tests are entirely objective in nature and are scored by IBM machines.

Mormons Appoint Branch President

E. LeRoi Jones has been appointed president of the Iowa City branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, it was announced yesterday by Harvey Turley, president of the east Iowa district of the church.

Jones succeeds Vaughn Hansen who was president of the local group for the past two years. Hansen has moved to Logan, Utah. He served as president of the branch in 1946-47.

L. Stephens Richards Jr., and Robert Woolf were appointed counselors in the branch presidency. The new officers will begin their duties Sunday at the Latter-day Saints chapel, 918 E. Fairchild, conducting Sunday school at 10 a.m. and services at 7 p.m.

Off-Campus Housing Shortage Hits SUI

Demand for off-campus housing this semester is far in excess of the available facilities, Richard E. Sweitzer, manager of off-campus housing said yesterday.

While all students looking for off-campus housing facilities are having difficulty, married students and single men students are having the most trouble finding quarters.

"Housing opportunities for married students within Iowa City are almost nil; however some housing is still available for married students in West Branch and other nearby towns," Sweitzer said.

Sweitzer added that more single men might be living outside university housing units this year, but until statistics could be secured from the registrar's office, he could not say what was the cause of the acute shortage in off-campus housing.

Most single women who want to live off-campus have been able to find housing, he said.

Mr. Hegg, head of the Hegg Commission company, died early yesterday morning in Mercy hospital after a long illness. He had lived in Iowa City for the past 19 years.

Survivors are his widow, Mrs. Blanche Hegg; a daughter, Mrs. Darrell Schumacher; two brothers, Will Hegg, Tacoma and Roy Hegg, Randall, Minn.; three sisters, Mrs. Ray Prego and Mrs. Frank Little, both of Tacoma; and Mrs. Stella Carter, Duluth, and two grandsons, Gary and Douglas Schumacher, Cedar Rapids.

The committee in charge is the Wesley annex board consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Webster and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hanson.

The Rev. Robert Crocker is the student director of Wesley house.

Football, Music Highlight Carnival of Bands

Music, football, dancing and popcorn will highlight the Carnival of Bands sponsored by the Union Board next Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Iowa Union.

This is the carnival's third successive year, Earl E. Harper, Iowa Union director said.

"Music is furnished without charge by the local branch of the American Federation of Musicians," Harper said. Ten bands —about 85 musicians — will furnish music for dancing and listening.

Bands will be in the River room for short shifts, and in the main lounge for longer sessions. There will be listening music in the south lounge.

Hawkeye fans can attend the carnival without missing the game. A dozen radios will be available, tuned in to the Iowa-Purdue game a little before game time.

Union facilities will be open to carnival-goers. This includes the snack bar, fountain, game room, library, music room, south lounge, and if all goes well, the new popcorn machine in the fountain.

"Each year the Union Board has handled this great event superbly," Harper said.

"Each year the Musicians union has provided a dozen or more bands for the occasion. And each year more students have had more fun than anybody who has not been present can imagine.

"I hope thousands of students will join in the merry-making of the carnival this year. It is fun to watch and listen even if you don't dance."
