3 Hungarians Get Death Sentences

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY (AP) — Ex-Foreign Minister Laszlo Rajk and two former Communist party officials were sentenced yesterday to death on the gallows for a purported plot to overthrow Hungary's Communist government.

They themselves had testified they worked with Americans and Yugoslavs to toss Hungary under the influence of Yugoslav Premier Marshal Tito.

Two other men were sentenced to life imprisonment and one to nine years in this second big Hungarian treason trial of 1949. Appeals were entered for all, although Rajk protested that "I consider the verdict justified."

(Hungary considers any prisoner brought into court is guilty until proven innocent, the reverse of western procedure. Statements made by prisoners during police interrogation are entered as gilded evidence.)

The case attracted the most international attention to Hungary since the treason trial of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty last February. The Roman Catholic Primate is now serving a life term.

The sentences, delivered by presiding judge Peter Janko before a hushed and crowded courtroom: Death — for Rajk, a poker-faced man of 40 who headed Hungary's police as Interior Minister before his shift to the Foreign Ministry; Dr. Tibor Szoenyi, 46, former member of Parliament who directed the Hungarian Communist Party's cadre system supervising rank and file members; and Andras Szalai, 32, deputy to Szoenyi.

Life — for Lazar Brankov, 37-year-old Yugoslav who was counselor in the Yugoslav legation in Budapest; and Pal Justus, 44, former member of Parliament and Vice-President of the Hungarian radio.

Nine years — for Milan Ognjevich, a Hungarian subject of Serbian origin accused of being a Yugoslav spy.

Tito Claims Russia, Hungary Organizing Plot to End His Rule

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA (AP) — Marshal Tito last night handed the Hungarian ambassador a note accusing Hungary and the Soviet Union of organizing a "base plot" to overthrow Tito's government.

The note, which Tito gave personally to the Hungarian ambassador, said Hungary and Soviet Russia wanted to replace the present Yugoslav government with another "servile satellite."

The note charged that Hungarian aircraft had violated Yugoslav territory. It was the first time the Yugoslavs have made such charges against a Cominform country on the north although similar charges have been leveled at Albania.

The charge indicated that other major provocations by Cominform countries may have taken place without being reported by the Yugoslavs.

Observers in Belgrade considered it significant that Yugoslav anti-aircraft searchlight batteries went into action for the first time Friday night, practicing tracing a plane for more than an hour over Belgrade.

8 Injured in 3-Car Collision Near Amara

MARENGO (AP) — Eight persons were injured Saturday in a collision involving three cars a quarter mile west of South Amara on Highway 6. Most of the injuries were cuts and bruises and none was believed serious.

The injured were Eugene Garretson, 16; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gary and W. H. Gary, Jr., 16, all of Toledo, Iowa; Mrs. Don Laster and Mrs. E. R. Rushing, both of Des Moines; Donald E. Morrison and A. W. Anderson, both of Fort Dodge.

V A Permits Transfers Until Nov. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Veterans administration set a new deadline — Nov. 1 — for the enrollment of veterans who seek to reenter training or to change courses under the GI bill.

Originally, VA had set an effective date of Sept. 12 for enforcement of regulations under a new law which prohibits veterans from using the GI bill for recreational or avocational courses. The law also prohibits them from taking courses in institutions which have been in existence less than a year.

Carl R. Gray Jr., veterans administrator, explained that he ordered the extension to prevent possible hardships to veterans who had not had time to complete plans for entering schools before the original deadline.

After Nov. 1, a new type certificate of eligibility will be required. It will show the course and school the veteran intends to enter. VA said this will enable a quick screening of applications to make sure the training sought is permitted under the new law.

Grant Myers Trial by Jury

Donald Myers, 906 E. College street, accused of reckless driving, has been granted his request for a trial by jury, Justice of the Peace C. J. Hutchinson said yesterday.

Myers, an SUI electronics technician, who instigated two raids on Shannon's and the Lighthouse Inn Aug. 12, has been accused of reckless driving by Ivan Schmidt, a part owner of one of the North Liberty night clubs.

Myers said he would plead innocent to the driving charge. He claimed three cars chased his car back to Iowa City Tuesday night after he and companions visited some North Liberty taverns.

He also reported several attempts were made to damage his car during the wild chase.

The jury will be made up of six persons but no date has been set for the trial, Hutchinson said.

Farmers Against Direct Aid: Mundt

SIOUX CITY (AP) — Sen. Karl Mundt (R - SD) said yesterday that farmers who gave their ideas for a vote-getting GOP farm program appear to oppose direct government subsidies.

Mundt said that the testimony at a two-day meeting here indicates that farmers want a "minimum of government controls and a maximum of farmer direction in any permanent farm legislation."

The conference, which wound up last night, was heralded by Republican leaders as the start of a winning 1950 congressional campaign in the farm belt.

Mundt said that the majority opinion at the meeting supports the farm parity price principle and appears to reject the Branran plan of the Democratic party.

May Attempt Rescue Of Thomas by Plane

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. airforce said yesterday it might try to fly injured Lowell Thomas out of a remote Himalayan village — but word from the commentator's son indicated planes were forbidden there.

The son, in a message received yesterday at Thomas' office here, said he hoped to start moving his a 16-day trek out of the far eastern mountain wilderness.

The 59-year-old radio commentator was reported injured when thrown from a horse while in a mountain pass on his way back from Tibet to India.

The airforce in Washington said it told its air rescue center at Dharam, Saudi Arabia, to stand by.

HOWARD HANSEN, UCLA right halfback, takes to the air to avoid a downed teammate. The Iowa player closing in on the soaring Hansen is Chuck Denning, defensive quarterback, while an unidentified Hawkeye defender is all but hidden behind Denning. On the ground is the Bruins' Woody Simpson (63).

Fumbles, Leaky Pass Defense Ruin Hawkeyes' Gallant Effort

By ALAN MOYER
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Iowa's Hawkeyes outran, outgained and outfumbled UCLA's Bruins before 43,546 fans in the Iowa stadium yesterday afternoon and lost a wild and woolly football game, 41-25.

It was the first time Iowa had gone down in an opening game since Dr. Eddie Anderson took up the coaching reins here 10 years ago, but even in defeat the Hawks were not pushed over the field.

They outdid the Bruins in almost every department but they couldn't cope with Ernie Johnson's bullseye passing or the slippery fingers that let the pigskin get away at crucial times.

The victory was UCLA's second of the season, and third over Iowa in as many starts. It was the first time a west coast player has visited the Iowa stadium and the Bruins made it a winning occasion for their new coach, Red Sanders, by filling the air with passes when the Iowa line refused to give way to the UCLA running attack.

By winning, Sanders kept his record of never losing to a Big Ten team intact. Three of his Vanderbilt teams triumphed over Western conference foes.

The record crown eclipsed the old opening-day mark of 31,050, set two years ago when Iowa slaughtered North Dakota State, 59-0.

The Hawks were not out of the game until the fading minutes of the last period. A disastrous third period, in which three Iowa fumbles were turned into UCLA touchdowns, cost the ball game.

For the first half it was anybody's game. Iowa scored first, couldn't make an extra point, but still trailed by only two points at intermission, 14-12.

After the third quarter, 15 minutes of football that might cause any club to give up, the Hawks were still not beaten. They drove to touchdowns twice and had it not been for a fumble would have threatened the Bruin lead.

Four of Iowa's six fumbles led to UCLA touchdowns, another was started on an intercepted pass. The other was a long down-field drive.

After a scoreless first period Iowa drove from the home 25-yard stripe to the Uclan 28, where Quarterback Glenn Drahn fired a pass to Right End Jack Dittmer on the two, Dittmer making a beautiful grab near the sidelines.

Mike Riley, 210-pound sophomore, then leaped the center of the line and Iowa had its first tally of the new season and a 6-0 lead.

But Johnson and his mates weren't to be denied. They slashed back midway in the period on a pass by Johnson to Bob Wilkinson, who grabbed the aerial on the one yard line. The Iowa line held for a play, but then Cliff Schroeder climbed the goal line pile-up to score.

Bob Watson kicked the extra point and the Bruins were in front, 7-6.

Minutes later Drahn fired a pass, intended for Ralph Woodward, but Ray Nagle picked the ball out of the air and ran it.

Hansen legged it to the Iowa 33, Nagle tossed a pass to Schroeder on the three and when Bob Longley interfered with the catch the pass was ruled complete, giving UCLA a first down on the Hawkeye three.

A line plunge failed, then Schroeder hurled himself over for UCLA's fifth touchdown. Three minutes remained in the third period. Watson added the extra point and the score was 34-12.

Bill Reichardt, playing his first game before the home town fans, showed everyone that his injured knee has healed by slashing to get his hands on the ball. He followed his blockers and picked his way when he got into the clear, compiling a 9.2 average on 10 tries. It was Reichardt who paced the Hawks to two fourth period scores.

But Old Man Fumble was with all the Hawks and Reichardt lost the ball on the UCLA 47 after a down field drive had gotten started, only to have Bill Greene intercept Nagle's pass almost immediately and fight his way to the enemy 25 before he was cut down.

A holding penalty placed the ball on UCLA's nine, where it had gone to.

Russia Claims She's Possessed Atom Bomb Secret Since 1947

LONDON (SUNDAY) (AP) — Russia said today she has the atom bomb at her disposal, but she neither denied nor confirmed President Truman's statement that an atomic explosion had occurred on Soviet soil.

Tass, official Soviet news agency, in a broadcast dispatch recalled the statement by former Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov on Nov. 6, 1947, that the atom bomb secret "was already long ago non-existent." Tass added:

"This statement signified that the Soviet Union had already discovered the secret of the atomic weapon and that it had at its disposal this weapon."

Tass referred to President Truman's statement Friday that an atomic explosion had occurred in Russia. Then Tass said:

"In this connection, Tass is empowered to declare in the Soviet Union, as is known, building work on a large scale is in progress; the building of hydro-electric stations, mines, canals, roads, which evoke the necessity of large-scale work with the use of the latest technical means.

"Insofar as this blasting work has taken place and is taking place pretty frequently in various parts of the country, it is possible this might draw attention beyond the confines of the Soviet Union."

These were the only statements mentioning any kind of explosion in the Soviet Union.

Tass also said that Russia "intends to continue demanding the prohibition of the use of atomic weapons."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Alexander Wiley Saturday night

called on the nation's defense leaders to get out of the Pentagon to avoid the danger of a sneak atomic attack.

The Wisconsin Republican said the sprawling military headquarters on the Potomac is a "suicidal target" now that Russia knows how to explode the atom.

He said in a letter to Defense Secretary Louis Johnson that the defense establishment should decentralize without delay and scatter its top echelons all over the country.

He told Johnson that the Soviet Union has decentralized its government "over one-sixth of the earth."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said last night Russia's possession of an atomic weapon "greatly increases the chances for war."

Douglas said he, personally, "fears the chances for war are very great."

"The fact that they have the bomb makes war much closer because it gives them the possibility of a surprise attack," Douglas said.

The Illinois Democrat made his remarks on the National Broadcasting Company's "Meet the Press" television program.

Douglas thus became one of the few government leaders to say that Russia's possession of an atomic explosive probably has brought war a step closer.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Alexander Wiley Saturday night

of World War III unless the atomic bomb, a "terrible and inhuman" weapon, is outlawed.

It called on both the United States and the USSR to renounce the use of the atomic bomb which, it said, has placed humanity on the brink of suicide.

Urey, Allison and Szillard agreed that there can be no agreement with Russia on control of atomic armaments.

"There isn't the slightest use of even discussing it with Russia now," Urey said. "We couldn't trust them anyway."

These three men proposed, as an alternative to war, the establishment of a super-government of the North Atlantic nations.

WASHINGTON (AP) — David E. Lilienthal believes that Russia's possession of the A-bomb means this country must do everything and anything necessary to establish unquestioned and unmistakable leadership in the atomic armaments race between the east and west.

The Atomic Energy commission chairman is on vacation in Martha's Vineyard, Mass. But he talked by telephone with associates here who authorized the United Press to quote him as feeling precisely now as he felt before he knew Russia had the bomb.

Lilienthal referred his associates to a statement he made before the house-senate atomic energy committee on July 6. He knew then that Russia would one day make atomic weapons.

He knew then that the United Nations' failure to agree on a world atomic control plan, which he had helped to draft, meant an atomic armaments race was inevitable.

Speaking for his fellow commissioners about the attitude with which they assumed control of the two-million-dollar atomic project two years ago, and their attitude now, he said:

"We believe as one man, and the president, our immediate superior, believes that we should let nothing stand in the way of arming this country automatically in such a way as to erect a great deterrent to aggression in the world; that we should establish unquestioned and unmistakable leadership, and in this way thus to buy time for reason to prevail."

This meant that atomic production had to "be drastically stepped up." It was, it meant that the United States "must become a nation which had a leadership unmistakable and unquestioned." Atomic experts believe it

'10-Year War'

CHICAGO (AP) — Four scientists said yesterday that an atomic bomb war probably would last at least 10 years.

"Anyone who thinks it would end in ten minutes is making a terrible mistake," said Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel Prize winner and a pioneer in developing the bomb.

Agreeing with him were Dr. Samuel K. Allison, director of the University of Chicago institute of nuclear studies, Dr. Leo Szillard, bio-physics professor at the school, and Dr. Thorfin R. Hogness, director of the university's institute of radio-biology and bio-physics.

Urey, Allison and Szillard agreed that there can be no agreement with Russia on control of atomic armaments.

"There isn't the slightest use of even discussing it with Russia now," Urey said. "We couldn't trust them anyway."

Highlanders, SUI's Band Play at Game

The 1949-50 SUI marching band of 107 men and the Scottish Highlanders presented a complete pre-game and half-time routine at the Iowa-UCLA game yesterday.

The band, an all-men's organization, had time for only two drill sessions, Director C.B. Righter said.

The band wore scarlet and black coats, black and gold trousers and service-type caps. The drum majors, Arno F. Knapper, G. Jefferson, and Nathan D. Ottens, A3, Clinton, wore gold and black West Point dress uniforms with white cross-belts and black shakos.

The two groups marched onto the field from the south end for the traditional flag-raising ceremony. The band played several numbers during the entrance and the exit.

At half-time the Highlanders presented a series of marching formations and saluted the returning Iowa students with the "Corn Song."

The band played "California, Here I Come" while forming the letters UCLA. Following this it formed a large block "I" and played "On, Iowa."

The 107 men selected to date for the band are:

Harry Alderman, Clyde Anderson, Robert Anderson, Harlan Baunter, Robert Bawden, Paul Benjamin, William Batten, Phillip Bigelow, Wesley J. Bolin, Donald Briceland, Sherwin Brotman, James Bullard, Leo Urban, Dale Crozier, John Duncan, Bruce Eller, Harold Eliakson, Charles Ellington, Albert English, Robert Erickson, Noel Evans, Henry Falt, Robert Frazer, Alan Frost, Alan Gendler, Donald Gissel, Albert Glatty, Paul Groat, Eugene M. # Isaac Walton League Elects State Officers

FORT DODGE (AP) — The Iowa division of the Isaac Walton League of American yesterday chose Clinton as the site for its 1950 convention.

Murray Russell of Newton was elected president of the organization to succeed A.W. Smith of Emmetsburg. Other officers elected at the state group's 26th annual convention:

Paul Beck, Sioux City, first vice-president; Walter Teich, Clinton, second vice-president and E. H. Kettelsen, Davenport, re-elected treasurer.

Leslie Miller, former governor of Wyoming, was the featured speaker at the one-day convention. Miller discussed conservation in general and portions of the Hoover commission report dealing with natural resources.

Mrs. Yeggy Rites To Be Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Josephine Volger Yeggy, 88, Riverside, will be held Wednesday at 9 a.m. in her home at Riverside, with burial in the Mt. Olivet cemetery. The Rev. Thomas Wolfe, Riverside, will officiate, and the rosary will be recited Tuesday evening at her home.

Mrs. Yeggy died at 3:30 p.m. Friday at her home in Riverside after a lingering illness of several years. A lifelong resident of Washington county, Mrs. Yeggy was preceded in death by her husband, Anthony Yeggy, who died February 28, 1937.

She was a member of the St. Mary's church and the Rosary society at Riverside.

Surviving Mrs. Yeggy is her son Ed Yeggy, Riverside, with whom she made her home, and many nieces and nephews.

SUI Marching Band, Scottish Highlanders Perform at Iowa-UCLA Game

SUI MARCHING BAND FORMED THE LETTER "I" during the half time intermission of the Iowa-UCLA football game yesterday. The band under the direction of Prof. C.B. Righter, played "On Iowa" before a crowd of 43,456 people attending Iowa's opening football game. During the intermission, the marching band also formed the letters UCLA.

'Ole Cap Strike' to Meet First War Buddies Here

"Ole Cap Strike" and his former army outfit, company A of the 109th engineers in World War I, are meeting for an annual reunion in Iowa City this week.

Clarence Strike, recently retired from the army as a Colonel, was the leader of the company during World War I, and says, "I was only about 26 or 27 then, but somehow they started calling me 'Ole Cap Strike,' and it has stayed with me ever since."

Strike will be the principal speaker at a banquet tonight at the Hotel Jefferson. "The 'esprit de corps' of that old outfit," Strike commented, "is unusual, because it's hard to get as many as 50 to 60 men together who served in the same World War I outfit."

The company originally was a unit of the Iowa National Guard. Strike said, and later became part of the 109th regiment in the 34th division. Many of the outfit were from the Iowa City area.

"Old Cap" is a graduate of SUI in electrical engineering and joined the regular army in 1920.

A vigorous man, he declared his 34 years of army life "has been a colorful life, because you make a lot of friends. I've never been too keen on staying in one place, and since we've traveled all over the U.S., I've seen a lot of people and a lot of the country."

Strike and his family were at Pearl Harbor at the time of the Japanese attack there. He was stationed at Schofield barracks, an infantry post. In April of 1942, he was assigned to duty with the army air corps.

Strike served with the civil and military communications system for Alaska which started in 1947. He was stationed in Seattle, where he and his wife hope to make their home.

"I've designated Ft. Wayne, Ind., as my home," the retired colonel said, "because all of our furniture is there. But I hope to live in Seattle and perhaps get into the real estate business."

"If you've always been an active person, it's hard to become retired," Strike commented, "so I hope to keep busy."

Strike said he believes that army career opportunities "are much better than they were when I first started." He said that "pay increases, training, and particularly opportunities for enlisted men, are getting better all the time. Security is the best angle of an army career," he concluded.

"I've enjoyed my work, had tough assignments, and have moved from place to place," Strike pointed out, "and I'd say I wouldn't trade it for any other kind of job."

Clocks Set Back One Hour — 'Fast Time' Over

NEW YORK (AP) — The hour of sleep donated by 50-million Americans last April 24 came back last night.

Daylight saving ended officially at 2 a.m. today in nearly all areas which observed "fast time" this year. Presumably the chore of turning back the clocks would have been handled at bedtime.

Major Negotiations Resume This Week For Labor, Industry

(By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Crucial decisions affecting America's postwar economy may be made this week.

Strikes involving 1-million steelworkers and 115,000 Ford Motor Company employes are set for this week. The nation will learn whether the strike of 400,000 coal miners can be settled quickly or will drag on with steadily spreading idleness.

More than 600,000 workers already are idle in strikes involving a dozen industries. A steel strike would boost this number to above 1.6-million, the highest level in the postwar period.

Negotiations between the CIO United Steelworkers union and the steel industry will be resumed Monday.

The thrice-postponed steel strike is now set for 12:01 a.m. Saturday. The main issue is whether the companies should finance pensions and insurance or whether the workers should share the cost.

The nationwide coal strike went through its first week with no sign of a break, but John L. Lewis is slated to resume contract talks with the operators Sept. 29.

So far the coal strike has caused the layoff of 31,000 coal carrying railroad workers but hasn't hit industry generally.

Active Polio Case Total Rises to 30

The number of active polio cases under treatment at University hospitals rose to 30 yesterday as four new patients were admitted to active wards and three were transferred to the inactive list, hospital officials reported.

Michael Reed, 7, son of D. A. Reed, Ft. Madison, was admitted to the active wards in "serious" condition. Also admitted, all in "fair" condition, were Lena Murphy, 22 months, daughter of Robert Murphy, Iowa Falls; Larry Shive, 9, son of Mrs. Alta Krieger, Grinnell; David Kelly, 11, son of Mrs. Margaret Kelly, Clinton; and Elido Severson, 50, Waterloo.

Transferred to the inactive list yesterday were John Blaess, 5 months, Burr Oak; Mary Parson, 2, Amana; and Wayne Blackledge, 3, Cedar Rapids.

Study SUI Women's Physiques

Somatotype — human body structure — photographs are being taken of SUI freshmen women this week by Barbara Honeyman and Mrs. Margaret Tempest-Holmes, of the Constitution laboratories of Columbia Medical center, N.Y.

These pictures, which measure the three primary components of the human physique, are being taken in connection with the Atlas for Women project, sponsored by the National Association for Physical Education of College Women, and the Constitution laboratory at the Columbia Medical school.

The purpose of the project is to collect a sample of about 20,000 somatotype photographs of college women at various colleges and universities throughout the country.

The pictures will be used for extensive research on physical structure variations, and in the preparation of an Atlas for Women. This book will serve as a companion volume to the Atlas for Somatotyping Men, now under construction and based on about 50,000 somatotype photographs.

"Dr. William Sheldon, director of the Constitution laboratories, feels that there is a direct relationship between behavior and physique," Miss Honeyman said.

Analyses of the somatotype photographs together with university medical, psychological and social histories may be used to predict an individual's performance in college work.

"We are undertaking a long term project in an attempt to get a wide range of physical variations in women throughout the country," Miss Honeyman explained.

Miss Honeyman is a graduate of Smith College and Mrs. Tempest-Holmes served seven years as a major in the British Women's Auxiliary Airforce.

SUI women are the first to be photographed in the new cooperative project.

Cecil Parker Plays Lovable Royal Rogue

Not since Charles Laughton's "Henry VIII" has there been a screen portrait of pompous, dissolute, lovable royalty so powerful as that presented by Cecil Parker in Columbia's "Affairs of a Rogue" at the Iowa Theatre. According to Hollywood, Parker's characterization of the Prince Regent, in 19th century England, is even more meaningful than Laughton's "Henry," since it is set in a period in which manners and customs were very much like those of today. Parker, for example, tosses no greasy slabs of chicken over his shoulder, nor does he belch in sated satisfaction.

Starred with Jean Pierre Aumont and Joan Hopkins in the spectacular new Columbia romance at the Iowa Theatre, Parker is a stage and screen veteran of almost 25 years' experience. His recent films are "The Citadel," "The Lady Vanishes" and "Caesar and Cleopatra."

Oh, Where...?

'Two Bits' Shows Up After Wide Travels

BAY CITY, MICH. (AP) — "Two Bits", a 9-year-old collie, wandered away last December in Covington, Ky.

"His owner, Fredrick Howey searched for two days and then went back home to Dayton, Ohio, "Two Bits," he figured, was gone for keeps.

Last May the Howeys moved to Bay City, a good 400 miles from Covington. Their big, friendly dog was only a memory.

Yesterday morning, his tail wagging furiously, "Two Bits" trotted into the Howey's home and licked his master's hand.

How he'd gotten from Kentucky, or how he'd learned his master had moved from Dayton, Howey couldn't say.

The dog had been in Bay City before, while the Howeys visited relatives in a nearby farm, they said. But he'd never seen their present home.

"Let's just put it this way," the smiling Howey said, "it's real good to have him back."

Iowa Demos Hold Pow-Wow; Plan 1950 Statehouse Control

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa's ranking Democrats yesterday discussed campaign strategy and scratched heads over a seasonal deficit on the state central committee's books.

Party finances and the coming 1950 campaign were chief points of discussion at a meeting of Democratic legislators, county chairmen, vice-chairmen, and members of the state central committee.

State Chairman Jake More, the man who called the pow-wow, said the state central committee now is $1,140 in the red. He said, however, that financial condition is not unusual "for this time of the year."

Party leaders, More said, indicated they think Iowa businessmen and farmers should be tapped for bigger contributions to campaign coffers. The party in the past has relied too heavily on federal surces, he said.

During discussions, which were tinged with political informality, many names were mentioned as possible candidates for 1950 offices.

More said the party was determined to place only strong candidates on the ballot. He predicted the state "would go Democratic" in 1950 if the right names are on the ticket.

Prominent among those mentioned for governor were Lester Gillette, Fostoria; Tunis Klein, Peila, and Guy Smith, Russell.

Nylon Smuggler Quizzed By Swedish Authorities

STOCKHOLM (AP) — A Swedish foreign office spokesman said last night a Cuban diplomatic employe is being questioned in connection with an alleged attempt to smuggle 12,000 pairs of American-manufactured nylon socks into Sweden.

The spokesman identified the Cuban as Dr. Ramiro Arango y Alsina and said Swedish customs officials found the nylons in his luggage at Gothenburg.

Georgia Cronbaugh to Wed

THE ENGAGEMENT AND APPROACHING MARRIAGE OF Georgia Cronbaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe S. Ward, Brooklyn, to John F. Strain, son of Mrs. Mary Strain, Muscatine, has been announced. Miss Cronbaugh is a senior student nurse at the University hospital. Mr. Strain is a senior commerce student at SUI. The wedding will take place at 4 p.m. Friday at St. Thomas More chapel.

College Board Contest Launched by Magazine

SUI coeds interested in magazine fashion work have the opportunity again this year to enter Mademoiselle magazine's annual college board contest.

College board membership is the first step toward becoming one of Mademoiselle's 20 college guest editors who will be brought to New York next June. There they will help write and edit the annual August college issue of the magazine.

The guest editors are selected from the college board on the basis of three assignments given by the magazine during the year. The twenty women are paid a regular salary for their month's work plus round trip transportation to New York. While there, each guest editor takes part in a calendar of activities designed to give her a head start on her career. She interviews a celebrity in her chosen field to get advice on the education and training needed and takes field trips to newspaper offices, fashion rooms, radio stations, stores, advertising agencies and printing plants.

The magazine specifies the following rules for college board entries:

Only undergraduates at accredited colleges and junior colleges, available for work as guest editors from June 5 through June 30, 1950, are eligible.

Contestants must submit a report of two typewritten double-spaced pages on any phase of campus life, a new academic course, a fashion, tad, a campus activity, an interesting organization, a college trend or anything else that would interest other college students.

Contestants must submit a snapshot, complete data on college and home address, class year, college major and minor, other interests and activities and paid or volunteer jobs held. Material must be mailed to the college board editor, Mademoiselle, 122 E. 42nd street, New York 17, postmarked no later than midnight Nov. 1, 1949.

Kinney Gets $705.50 In Back Rent Suit

A judgment awarding $705.50 to Joe Kinney, Johnson county, was made yesterday by District Court Judge Harold Evans in a rental suit Kinney brought against Rufus R. and Hannah E. Eimen, rural route 6. Kinney claimed a total of $941.50 in back rent was due him for a 170-acre farm rented to the Eimens for $7 an acre cash rent per year, plus a share in the farm's produce. The final $705.50 was awarded to Kinney when the judge found Kinney owed the Eimens about $200 for a farm animal he purchased.

Four Deaths Reported At Iowa City Hospitals

Three deaths were reported yesterday at University hospitals and one at Mercy hospital. Charles Bammert, 49, Cedar Rapids, died at 1:30 p.m. Friday at University hospital. Joseph Savala, 54, Davenport, died at 8:30 a.m. and Mrs. Marie Wagner, 45, Bellevue, died at 8:45 a.m., also on Friday. Dietrich C. Baack, 48, Homestead, died at 6:16 a.m. yesterday at Mercy hospital.

Homecoming Parade Float Prizes Planned For Three Classes

Homecoming day on Oct. 15 will have a new attraction for residents and visitors to Iowa City this year — a Homecoming parade the night before.

The parade committee plans a procession of bands, horses, floats, and marchers that will do justice to the festive occasion.

William Coder, chairman of the parade committee, said three awards will be made for floats entered. They will be cups, given in three classes of competition: (1) beauty; (2) humor; (3) originality.

Coder said a number of town and university organizations have already made plans to enter floats. "The Saddle club, for example," he said, "plans to parade between 35 and 40 horses."

Surrounding communities have also been invited to make entries, the chairman said.

Cedar Rapids will not enter a float, he continued, but they will send a drum and bugle corps to represent their city.

The line of march will be from south to north on Clinton street, with the reviewing stand situated at the corner of Iowa avenue and Clinton street, facing the west.

All fraternities, sororities, clubs, business establishments and city or SUI organizations are urged and invited to make entries in the parade, Coder said.

"Many bands have already signified their intentions of participating," he said, "including local bands such as the Moose drum and bugle corps and the university Highlanders."

Monument Design Contest Now Open

The opening of the annual SUI homecoming corn monument design contest was announced yesterday by Duncan Putnam, E4, Waterville, Me., president of the Associated Students of Engineering.

The contest, sponsored by the ASE, offers a $10 prize and is open to both SUI students and Iowa City townspeople.

Entries must be submitted at the engineering library by Oct. 3.

Pollen Count Dips To Seasonal Low

The end of the "hay fever" season may be at hand with Iowa City's pollen count at its lowest point yesterday since the beginning of August.

The official minimum pollen count in the 24-hour period ending at 9 a.m. yesterday recorded only eight ragweed pollen granules per cubic yard of air, the SUI department of hygiene and preventative medicine reported.

On Aug. 31 the count was more than 1,400 granules, a seasonal high.

WSUI Announces New Daily Feature For Women's Hour

Special features of WSUI's Women's Hour have been announced by Flo Robinson, women's director of the university radio station.

Scheduled to begin tomorrow and continue through the semester, the special features will run from Monday through Friday mornings between 10:15 and 10:30.

The weekly Monday program is "Here's an Idea" with Merriel Curtis, A4, Milan, Ill., as mistress of ceremonies. Plans and advice for parties will be suggested.

"Tuesday's program will be a 'Double Feature' with Don Guthrie, A3, Iowa City, and Lucy Blatt, A4, Oskaloosa. The program will consist of informal chatter and humorous stories for homemakers.

Carolyn Covert, A3, Iowa City, will lead Wednesday's program of "Homemakers' Huddle." The theme will be a homemaker's exchange featuring housewives' hints sent in by listeners.

"Club Camera" will be Thursday's feature with Flo Robinson, A4, Cedar Rapids, as mistress of ceremonies. The program will include a round table discussion of an Iowa City women's club each week with three members of the group participating.

News in general from the women's world is scheduled for Friday in "Conversation Corner," a feature led by Hilda Greenberg, A3, Cedar Rapids.

The Women's Hour begins at 9:45 a.m. daily with the Bookshelf, a program featuring the reading of a novel. Flo Robinson, mistress of ceremonies, currently is reading "Let Love Come Last" by Taylor Caldwell.

From 10 to 10:15 a.m. daily the Women's hour scheduled the Cup and Saucer club, a program of popular music.

Star for Coeds' Weekend Wardrobe

Jaycees to Open Minstrel Show Tomorrow

The second annual junior chamber of commerce community minstrel show, to be presented tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday, nights is now being pushed into final form.

The three performances will be held at 8 p.m. in the Iowa City high school auditorium, with a cast of 60 persons, including 32 girls.

"Now and Then" is the title of this year's production. The show depicts the old and new with songs and dances.

Rehearsals have been under the direction of Bob Rocco, a professional director furnished by the John B. Rogers Production company. The company is also providing the costumes and scenery.

Proceeds from ticket sales will be put in the Jaycees' youth welfare fund, Walter Donahue, minstrel show chairman said.

Despite Loss, Anderson Still Confident'

UCLA Mentor Praises Hawks

By HOBERT DUNCAN
Daily Iowan Staff Writer
Coach Dr. Eddie Anderson radiated an atmosphere of optimism concerning the 1949 football future yesterday afternoon in Iowa's dressing room despite the Hawkeyes' 41-25 defeat at the hands of UCLA, when he said, "I've still got a lot of confidence in the boys."

A feeling of determination and hope, shared by Anderson and the players alike, seemed to prevail rather than a sense of despondency over the defeat.

Anderson was particularly heartened by the "grand defense" of the Hawkeyes and said, "Sure we made mistakes, particularly on passes, but we have to get our chins up. We got some bad breaks that we won't in every ball game."

Over in the winners' locker room, UCLA Mentor "Red" Sanders had nothing but praise for Iowa's plucky linemen who held the vaunted ground attack of the Bruins in check. "I felt that we were awfully lucky to come off the field leading at half time," he said. "I don't believe that I have ever seen a line that hits much harder than Iowa's, especially in the first quarter," he continued.

When it was observed that his passing attack functioned to near perfection in the triumph, Sanders said, "We noticed that the Iowa half backs were playing pretty close to the line of scrimmage and we capitalized on it. However, this was sound strategy in view of scouting reports Dr. Anderson has received of the Oregon State game in which we threw but six passes."

Sanders complimented the Hawkeyes for the spirit and morale exhibited throughout the contest and was unstinting in his praise for Jack Dittmer and Jim McKenzie. He termed them two of the finest pass receivers he has seen. He also praised Bill Reichardt, who slashed through the UCLA line and secondary for substantial gains on several occasions.

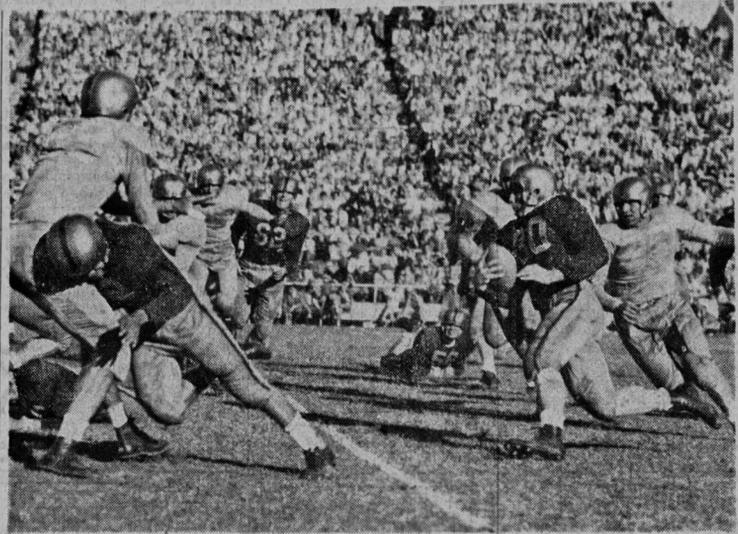

"I thought that Iowa responded mighty well to their first game," Sanders said. "In my opinion, Iowa has a much better ball club than Oregon State and I think that they have great possibilities of developing into a winning team."

Ernie Johnson, hard driving UCLA fullback, who was instrumental in frustrating Iowa's hopes for victory in the season's inaugural, was weary but happy in the Bruins' dressing room. "It looked to me as if Iowa was waiting for our running attack," Johnson remarked, "and that was one reason our passing attack was so successful. Those Iowa linemen hit plenty hard," he added in tribute to the Hawkeye forward wall.

According to Johnson, the Iowa line was nearly unpenetrated through center and that the Bruins resorted to the highly successful passing attack in an effort to disperse the concentration of defensive power in the Iowa forward wall.

When queried about the respective merits of the Hawkeyes and Oregon State, Johnson indicated, by implication, that Iowa was the better club when he said, "I hate to answer that one because I don't want to tear down a Pacific Coast conference team."

Duke Slater and Ozzie Simmons, a pair of former Iowa greats who returned yesterday to the scene of their football achievements to see the UCLA tussle, told Dr. Anderson after the game, "You'll have a good ball club as the season progresses. UCLA was no

BILL REICHARDT GOES 30 YARDS off tackle for Iowa against the UCLA Bruins in the fourth quarter of yesterday's game to advance the ball from his own 12 yard stripe to the Hawkeye 45. He then slashed to the UCLA 42 yard marker on a subsequent play after an attempted pass fell incomplete. Reichardt, a sophomore from Iowa City, averaged 9.2 yards in 10 attempts against the Pacific Coast invaders.

Under-Rated Missouri Tigers Drop 35-34 Game to Bucks

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio State launched its 1949 grid season yesterday by defeating Missouri's alert and powerful Tigers, 35-34, in as wild and woolly an opener as the Big Buckeye stadium ever has witnessed.

The two teams treated 66,510 fans, biggest opening crowd in the history of the Ohio-Missouri series, to a 10-touchdown parade. A misplaced kick for an extra point by Missouri's John Glorioso, the Tiger's outstanding player, provided the difference.

Jimmy Hogue, Buckeye end who came off the hospital list to play the entire game, booted five in a row for the victors. Three times the aroused Tigers, who haven't beaten the Bucks in nine straight contests, forced Ohio to come from behind as they scored touchdowns in each of the first three periods.

Behind by a point with three seconds to go, Missouri still had a chance to win, but Glorioso's place kick from the 31-yard line fell short, taking the Tiger hopes with it.

The "Show-Me" boys, held to 66 yards on the ground and 25 through the air a year ago when Ohio won 21-7, rolled through the big Buckeye forward wall for 250 yards rushing and took to the air for 257 more yesterday. Against Missouri's 507-yard gain, Ohio had 430.

When the valuable yardage had to be made, it was Sitko who bulled his way through. The whole story was told in the first 13 minutes of play. Michigan State took a 3-0 lead on a field goal booted by George Smith, senior quarterback from Wayne, Mich. Michigan retaliated with an 11-yard touchdown pass from its second-string signal-caller, Bill Putich, to veteran End Irv Wisniewski.

WALKER STARS, 13-7
DALLAS (AP)—Golden Boy Doak Walker did it again last night — this time carrying Southern Methodist to a 13-7 victory over fierce-fighting Wake Forest.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota's football team had too much power, poise and speed for Washington and the Gophers opened their 1949 season with a 48 to 20 victory in a non-conference game yesterday.

Washington gave the Gophers a few uneasy moments at the start. Fullback Hugh McElhenny returned the opening kickoff 96 yards for a touchdown but the Gophers, stung by the sudden score, settled down and tied it up before the first period was over.

They added four more touchdowns in the second period to insure victory, then counted once in each of the last two periods.

Wildcats Beat Purdue, 20-6

EVANSTON, ILL. (AP) — Northwestern got off to a driving start in the Big 10 gridiron championship race yesterday by bowling over Purdue, 20 to 6.

The 1949 Rose Bowl winners, held in check during the closely played first half, shifted into high gear in the third period.

In that session a crowd of 48,000 saw Northwestern strike down pass to Rounley, for two touchdowns in a total of four plays. Each team scored once in the second period at the end of long drives.

Purdue showed strength, but was handicapped by the loss of Harry Szuborski, leading ground gainer of the Western conference for the past two years. He was kept on the sidelines by a leg injury.

In the second period, Purdue counted when Ken Gorgal lunged over from a half yard out at the finish of a 54 yard drive. The try for extra point by Rudy Trbovich was blocked.

The Wildcats came back to travel 51 yards in 12 running and pass plays. Johnny Miller smashed for the touchdown from the one foot line. Eddie Nemeth converted.

Northwestern turned on the heat twice in the third period to score. Starting on the Purdue 43, the Wildcats picked up 13 yards in two thrusts through the line. Then Art Murawkowski, All-American fullback in 1948, swept around his left end, cut in and sprinted down the sidelines for 30 yards and a touchdown. Nemeth added the extra point.

Later in the same period Joe Zuravleff, Northwestern's left end, pounced on a fumble by Macioli on the Purdue 35. On the first play, Don Burson faked back and passed to Zuravleff in the end zone. Nemeth's kick was wide.

Michigan Continues Mark; Tops Spartans
ANN ARBOR, MICH. (AP) — Michigan, the nation's mythical football champion, kept alive a three-season victory string here yesterday by defeating a stubborn Michigan State squad, 7-3.

The University of Michigan's newly-expanded, 97,239-seat stadium was crammed as Michigan fought off its long-time state rival right down to the final whistle. Michigan State college thus became Michigan's 24th consecutive victim. But the newly-admitted member of the Western conference lost no prestige in making a nip-and-tuck fight of it all the way.

The whole story was told in the first 13 minutes of play. Michigan State took a 3-0 lead on a field goal booted by George Smith, senior quarterback from Wayne, Mich. Michigan retaliated with an 11-yard touchdown pass from its second-string signal-caller, Bill Putich, to veteran End Irv Wisniewski.

looked for a minute like the Hawks might not be able to go the remaining distance. Drahn's pass to Dittmer was incomplete, Longley picked up two yards but Durne Brandt hit the center of the line after Drahn faked a handoff and plunged over the goal line for the tally that made it 34-13.

This time Reichardt tried the extra point boot, but he had no better luck than Commack. The point failed and the Hawks looked out of the ball game, but not through fighting to get back in it.

Reichardt took over in the final period, ripped 33 yards on one play and 13 on another to the UCLA 42. Drahn took to the air again, spotted Commack on the 18 and hit the little sophomore from Waterloo with the 22 yard flip. Commack made it to the 14, from where Drahn hit Dittmer in the end zone with a touchdown throw. Dittmer was all alone on the play.

The Hawks had driven 88 yards in six plays, Commack hit the extra point and Iowa was on the road back, trailing 34-25 but able to gain almost at will.

The UCLA went on mighty few sustained drives, but picked up after Iowa had scored and traveled 89 yards, on the running of Howard Hansen and the right arm of Johnson. With a second down on the Hawkeye three Johnson couldn't find anybody to throw a pass to so fought his way around left end and tallied UCLA's sixth touchdown with less than a minute remaining in the game.

Hal Mitchell split the up-rights with the extra point try and the final score was showing on the big new scoreboard at the north end of the Iowa stadium.

Drahn, never quitting, hit Woodhouse with a long pass in the fading seconds, eating up 33 yards on the play but the story was over and big crowd was ready to push for the exits.

Iowa made 24 first downs, held UCLA to nine, piled up 245 yards by rushing, held UCLA to 88, completed 12 of 24 passes by Drahn, but just couldn't hold on to the ball long enough or stop Johnson's deadly passing at the right time. The Uclans were able to capitalize on Iowa mistakes and showed they deserved to win, but at the same time the Hawks gave indications that Big Ten teams had better beware of the Iowa team that has been given little chance to cause the powers of the conference any trouble.

MT. VERNON (AP) — Beautiful running and a good defensive game Hamline university of St. Paul, Minn., a 26-6 win over Cornell's Purple Rams here yesterday.

A crowd of 42,000 saw Williamson's first Wisconsin squad bury its state rival under six touchdowns, three by passing and three by the overland route. Williamson, former Michigan star and Lafayette coach, succeeded Harry Stuhldreher as Badger mentor this week.

Marquette, victory over North Dakota State last week by a 68-0 score, was set back on its heels by three Wisconsin touchdowns in the second quarter and never recovered. The Badgers added a touchdown in the third period and two more in the fourth. Lisle Blackburn converted on all except Wisconsin's fifth touchdown by placekicking.

Yesterday's game was the season opener for Illinois. Iowa State beat Dubuque, 64-0, in its opener last week. It was the fourth game between the two teams and the second that ended in a tie. Illinois won the other two.

The Yanks Become Bruner's First Victory

With the help of the explosive bat of a teammate a pitcher who was facing college batters four months ago last week gained his first major victory—over the pebban aspiring New York Yankee.

Iowa fans here at school last year remember well the big grin that would spread across Jack Bruner's face as he paced the Hawks to a three-way tie for the conference championship. And in leading Iowa the lefty with the blazing fast ball set a new all-time Big 10 mark for strikeouts, with 66 whiffs in 72 innings.

Pro offers came thick and fast once Bruner's tenure of eligibility ran out. Offers came from the Braves and the White Sox, among others, and in less than two weeks he had been signed by the Chicago White Sox and assigned to his home town—Waterloo—in the Three-I league.

Following the close of the college season he was selected to the first team all-American baseball team, one of two top college flingers in the country, as chosen by a committee of college coaches. On the second team was another Iowan, Jack Dittmer, whose batting and defensive play had helped the Hawks to the title deadlock with Indiana and Michigan.

Bruner compiled a 14-4 mark with Waterloo, his last appearance being a 15-inning playoff game in which he allowed one hit from the second to the 12th inning, only to lose in the 15th to Davenport.

From there he was brought up with several other rookies to the parent White Sox. Last week he pitched an inning against the Athletics but didn't gain a decision either way. Wednesday he did, and his major league record is now one victory and no defeats.

He isn't the first IOWA player to make the grade, but he is the first to appear in a big league game since Ham Schulte—short for Schultebench—played second base for the Phils back before the war and since Mac Brown pitched for Pittsburgh in 1940.

The most successful of the players—so far—to move up to the majors was big Brown, whose last year with the Hawks was in 1929. Brown didn't want to be a pitcher when he began his college career but his coach—Oto Vogel—saw his potentialities as a flinger and insisted the big fellow pitch rather than catch.

By the end of the '29 season a St. Louis Cardinals scout, who had watched Brown pitch for the Hawks, became so interested that he signed him to a Cardinal contract.

From the campus Brown began toiling in the Redbird "chain gang," the long road that led a few to the majors. Then Brown was shifted to Kansas City, Tulsa and other minor league spots before his record of 19 and 12, with 168 strikeouts thrown in, for Tulsa in 1934 started him toward the majors for a long stay.

The Pittsburgh Pirates had his contract by that time and in '35 he set a league record by appearing in 50 games, none of them complete. He finished 27 games the starting pitchers couldn't see through, and became the Pirates No. 1 relief pitcher.

In 1938 he appeared in 51 games, another record, winning 15 and losing 9, his top big league year. Before he bowed out in 1941 Brown won 9 and lost 13 in '39, starting 19 games, finishing 15 and making eight complete stints on the mound. In 1940, his last year, he won 10 and lost 9.

So now Bruner has a mark to shoot at, and he's already started by getting his first big time win after four months in the minors. It might be too much to expect that he stick with the Chisox next spring, but he'll always be gunning for a regular turn with whatever team he's with.

There have been other Hawkeye players to sign contracts with major league clubs. Bill Welp, a catcher, was signed by the Dodgers in 1942 and sent to Santa Barbara for a season before Uncle Sam got him. Brooklyn also inked Hal Haub, an Iowa pitcher, and sent him to Montreal, but as happened to Welp, the war intervened and far as we know neither Haub nor Welp has returned to the diamond.

Hal Mitchell split the up-rights with the extra point try and the final score was showing on the big new scoreboard at the north end of the Iowa stadium.

Drahn, never quitting, hit Woodhouse with a long pass in the fading seconds, eating up 33 yards on the play but the story was over and big crowd was ready to push for the exits.

Crash Victim's Husband Held For Murder

QUEBEC, QUE. (AP) — A slim, wavy-haired Quebec jeweler, J. Albert Guay, was formally charged yesterday with murdering his wife, who died with 22 others in an explosion-torn Quebec airways plane Sept. 9.

Pale and nervous, he was arraigned less than 24 hours after police announced they had proof explosives had been placed aboard the plane to get rid of a woman.

A key witness is Mrs. Arthur Pitre, 40, described as one of several women friends of Guay. She told police she delivered an express package to the aircraft here under the impression it contained "a statue."

Police Inspector Rene Belez described the accused man Friday as Mrs. Pitre's lover and implied a love triangle was the motive.

The charge made no mention of what police believe caused the plane's destruction — a homemade dynamite bomb. It simply accused Guay of "having Sept. 9 at Sault Au Cochon killed and assassinated Rita Morel (Guay), your wife."

Police were reliably reported last night to be on the trail of the manufacturer of the bomb.

Sault Au Cochon is the timbered mountainside northeast of Quebec where the mangled bodies of the 19 passengers—including three top executives of the Kennecott Copper Corp. — and four crew members were found in the plane wreckage.

The 32-year-old prisoner, who worked during the war in a munitions plant, was brought before Judge Alphonse Garon in the court of sessions. He did not enter a plea. The preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 4.

Mrs. Guay was 28. Six other women were among those who perished with her when an explosion in the baggage compartment swung the plane into the mountainside. Police said a $10,000 insurance policy on her life, payable to Guay, was taken out only a short time before she boarded the plane for Baie Comeau.

Journalists to Hear Anti-Gambling Talk

OMAHA (AP) — Attorney General James H. Anderson of Nebraska will speak on Nebraska's anti-gambling drive before the Iowa-Nebraska Press association Friday.

Anderson was one of five speakers announced yesterday by Clyde Taylor, editor of the Dawson County Herald at Lexington and president of the two-state association.

Other speakers will be Leslie Blackman, Omaha postoffice official, who will discuss postal regulations and lottery laws; A.D. Bradley of the newspaper advertising mail service; Mrs. Kay Metz, of the Lamoni, Iowa, Chronicle, who will discuss her six-months work on Mexican newspapers as part of an exchange program.

Cal Stewart of the O'Neill, Neb., Frontier, will discuss "The Voice of the Frontier—Radio." A photography clinic will be conducted by Prof. Ray Morgan of the University of Nebraska and Lawrence Robinson of the Omaha World Herald.

Polk County Official Fights Graft Charge

BOONE (AP) — Roy J. Hild, former Polk county supervisor, yesterday filed a district court petition asking dismissal of a charge of obtaining $1,103 in Polk county funds by false pretenses.

The Iowa supreme court last week reversed an earlier conviction of Hild on another charge of obtaining $703 in Polk county funds by false pretenses.

In yesterday's action, Hild argues that three terms have passed in Boone district court without any move by Polk County Attorney Ed S. Thayer to prosecute him on the second charge.

Professor Advocates Hiking

Eldridge Keeps in Condition by Country Walks; Plans Trek Along River for Students

By GEORGE WILSON

Physical education teachers will be the first to tell you that you can get out of condition while you go to college if you don't get enough exercise. But one SUI professor has decided to do something about it.

He's Prof. John Eldridge of the physics department who believes a frequent walk in the country can do a world of good for a person.

"I don't think people walk enough around here," Eldridge says. "I know of people who never get as far out as the golf course during a semester at school. And why? We have scenic beauty just begging to be enjoyed."

So Eldridge has arranged a hike for some of his graduate students and himself today, and he plans to make the "tour" a frequent occurrence.

"We won't go far, just out along the river and possibly to the Coralville dam," Eldridge said. "Of course, since the hike is on Sunday, students will get no scholastic credit," he quickly added.

Eldridge tries to get to know his students by name, takes pictures each year of those in his classes, then attempts to memorize the names so he can associate the right face with each name.

Despite the talk of nuclear fission and atomic bombs dropping here and there, here's proof that physics professors aren't all buried in technical data. Prof. John Eldridge still finds time to enjoy the "great out-of-doors," and he invites anyone to join the group.

Industrialist Rites Set for Tomorrow

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — Funeral services for Herbert T. Cherry of Tama, 71, industrialist, who died Friday in a Cedar Rapids hospital, will be conducted in the Cherry home in Tama at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery in Cedar Rapids.

Mr. Cherry was a director of Cherry-Burrell corporation in Cedar Rapids, chairman of the board of the Mapes Consolidated Manufacturing company of Griffith, Ind., and North Kansas City, Mo., and chairman of the board of the Central Fibre Products company of Tama.

Last Week's Local Construction Permits Increase over 1948

Building permits issued by the city engineer's office for the week ending Sept. 24 showed an increase of $15,100 over the total issued during the corresponding week of last year, city hall officials said yesterday.

Permits issued by the city engineer's office last week were estimated at $42,700, compared to last year's $24,900 total.

Included in last week's totals were permits granted to Robert L. Parrott for an $8,000 residence and garage at 1018 N. Summit street; Gibbins Home Builders for a $7,000 home at 518 W. Benton street, and Roland Smith, for a $9,500 home at 518 Garden street.

Other permits for residences went to D.E. Borchart for a $7,000 home on Cedar street and John N. Bollinger for an $8,000 home on G street.

Capitol Implement Co. was issued a permit to build an $8,000 warehouse at 714 Maiden Lane. A permit to build a $500 garage was granted to Fred C. Wagner, 903 Page street.

Charles Yansky, 511 Third avenue, received a $500 remodeling permit for two bedrooms, and William E. White was issued a permit to build an additional bedroom and porch for his residence, 915 E. Davenport street.

Voodoo Sinking in Own Grave

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Voodoo still slinks in the dark corners of ancient New Orleans, but it's a dying business.

There are those who claim voodoo's curse rid the world of Hitler and Mussolini.

On a certain night back in 1941, the story goes, a hoodoo hotshot and nine black-garbed assistants filed into a graveyard. They buried pictures of the two dictators. As the yellow moon rose, tall black candles were lit on the grave.

The leader raised his arms to the moon. His aides tossed nerver-taut cats into the candle flames, and as their screams filled the night the curse was pronounced—death to Hitler by a bullet, Mussolini by hanging.

But voodoo's grip has withered, despite such modern touches as cut prices, free samples and even drug store specials.

This toothless old terror is on its last shaky legs, a far cry from the day when the merest whisper of its presence could paralyze with fear.

The latest flurry to reach local headlines involved a young white war widow. She found a black voodoo cross on her doorstep. It symbolized death or separation from friends.

The wax cross had the young widow's name on it and 43 deep thrust pins. At the top was a piece of string, knotted nine times. The maker of the cross was never traced, but police said it was voodoo professional work.

Police thought it was an attempt to extort money. Older residents in the neighborhood, wise to voodoo ways, said it was an attempt to turn the young, attractive woman against a boy friend.

There was a time when black voodoo queens ruled a realm of their own in this city of shoulder-wide streets and fancy grillwork balconies.

But the lusty days of Melane and Marie Leveau, king and queen of ante-bellum voodooism have faded into history.

The dregs that crop up today are nothing more than petty rackets capitalizing on superstition. Voodoo clings to life now by hawking "luck" to Negroes who play the ponies and numbers.

Gypsies, too, are muscling in on this old voodoo power of commanding luck. They became so active recently that police had to chase them out of town, Detective Captain Harry O. Gregson said.

Voodoo basically is a smirking little god of evil who promises anything for a fee. It is organized superstition, twisted and fanatical.

But education dug around the dark corners and finally kicked the stuffing out of weird voodoo fetiches.

Voodoo lost its lethal punch before the turn of the century. Here's what the Daily Picayune of June 24, 1894, said: "The days of . . . voodooism are irretrievably gone. People are just too busy or thrifty to spend time and money on such jugglery."

In New Orleans today you can still find Negroes crowded in smoky rooms, sweat rolling from their faces as they surge through a frenzy of rhythm.

But that's just plain and simple Saturday night bebop.

Negroes who like their beer and "doin' the huckle buck" can't be bothered with mystic rituals and mumbo jumbo.

In the better Negro neighborhoods, it's an unwise voodoo doctor who tries to open shop.

A tough detective with harsh questions will be around to see him. The neighbors don't take kindly to these charlatans with their voodoo kits. They want them out, and fast.

However, ask the colored man in the know and he might steer you to one of the fetish clan. Or a washwoman may give you an address.

For their clients, the voodoo boys can perform a wide assortment of super stuff. The fees are what the traffic will bear. But with competition from crystal gazers, gypsies, magic healers and the like, prices have to be pared.

If you're feeling bad they've got an ointment or an incantation.

If some devil of a woman is chasing your man, that can be fixed too, for a price. Maybe the "hoodoo" calls for a bag of powdered brick, or some pepper or orens. A secretly peddled book has recipes for such skullduggery. Leave that little bag around your toe and it's supposed to play havoc.

And there is always the black candle or doll to stick pins in.

But that's reserved for real mean "hoodooing." That's when you're so mad at somebody you want to pull out all the stops. The idea is to stick pins in the candle or doll, and pull them out day by day.

For the object of your disaffection—that's not good.

To make things simple, there's a drugstore or two in Negro sections that cater to demand for weird powders and articles used in voodoo witchery.

Suppose you want the boss to give you a raise. The voodoo doctor can rustle up some special kind of beans. But the order is to chew them and spit or their magic won't work.

Police tell of a voodoo sharpie who developed a new angle. He was strictly a free sample boy.

He opened a modest little place near some churches, and then began house-to-house canvassing, peddling his powder to bring luck.

He politically refused payments, but invited gullible clients to drop by his place and drop contributions in a collection box. He told police it was a church meeting hall.

These voodoo specialists are wary people, hard to contact if you're a stranger. If you find one on a phone, their likely excuse for not talking is—"I ain't working now."

Pharmacists Cancer Show Wins Award

Dean R.A. Kuever of the college of pharmacy yesterday announced one of the college's weekly demonstration show window displays had won honorable mention in national judging by the American Pharmaceutical association.

Only one display in the class was awarded a superior ranking and SUI's exhibit was one of two to be given honorable mention.

It was the fourth time the college has received this recognition in recent years.

The display was arranged by students of the SUI administrative pharmacy class, supervised by Prof. L.C. Zopf and Instructor W.L. Kerr. It illustrated how contributions of individuals can help toward a future remedy for cancer.

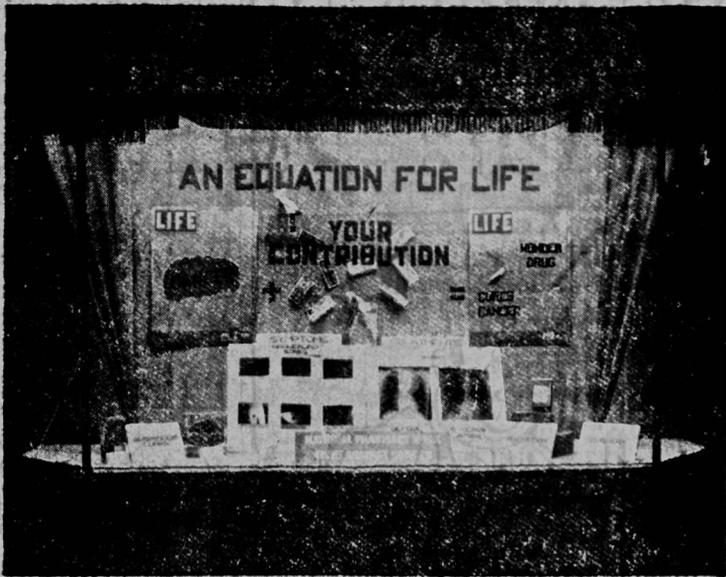

Present day treatments as well as early symptoms of the disease were presented in the display, which was illustrated by equipment and specimens borrowed from other SUI colleges.

The competition, between colleges of pharmacy throughout the nation, was held as a part of National Pharmacy week. A photograph of the display was featured in the August issue of the Journal of the American Pharmaceutical association.

Students who aided in the preparation of the prize-winning display were: Charles Harrington, Donald Hays, Ray Fotts, Walter Schiel, William Sehnert and Harold Woodley, all P4.

The same class will prepare a similar demonstration window each week during the current school year. They will be shown in the main corridor of the pharmacy-botany-chemistry building.

Oct. 10 Deadline to Apply for Medical Tests

Students wishing to enter medical school in the fall of 1950 must have their applications for the admission tests filled out and mailed in time to reach the Educational Testing service at Princeton, N.J., by Oct. 10. Dr. Robert Ebel, director of the SUI examination service, has announced.

Applications and a booklet explaining the tests are available in Ebel's office in room 114, University hall.

The examinations at SUI will be given Oct. 22 in two sessions, 8:45 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. and 1:45 to 5:30 p.m.

A second exam will be given Monday, Jan. 16, but Ebel advised students to take the earlier exam, because medical colleges begin the selection of students for the succeeding year late in the fall.

The tests, objective in nature, are designed to measure general scholastic ability, understanding of modern society and pre-medical science.

Ebel named Iowa State college at Ames, St. Ambrose college of Davenport, Drake university in Des Moines, Loras college of Dubuque, Wartburg college of Waverly and Briar Cliff college of Sioux City as the other six centers in Iowa giving the examinations.

British Geologist To Visit Professor

British Geologist Stevenson Buchan, London, England, will be a guest of Prof. A.C. Tester of the SUI geology department this weekend.

Buchan is the geologist in charge of ground water development of His Majesty's Geological Survey of Great Britain. At the 18th International Geology congress held in England in 1948, which Tester attended, Buchan directed an excursion on hydrogeology in Great Britain.

Iowa Citian Calls Leopold 'Mature,' Social Aid

The recent news that Nathan Leopold, "thrill slaver" of the 1920's would be eligible to apply for parole in January, 1953, from an Illinois prison, is of special interest to one Iowa Citian.

Miss Helen Williams, formerly a professor in the extension division of SUI, testified in Leopold's behalf at the Springfield, Ill., parole hearings for him in April this year.

Her testimony was in connection with his correspondence studies from SUI and with her several years of corresponding with and advising him.

"My contention at the hearings was that he is no longer the boy of 19 — he's now 44, a mature man, past those years," she said. "He's an entirely different person now."

"This is in addition to the fact that his brilliant mind could be put to use to help society," she added.

The convict started a correspondence high school and junior college within the Stateville, Ill., prison. Small catalogues listing entrance requirements, classes, texts, and requirements for graduation were printed in the prison print shop.

Miss Williams said she estimated Leopold was fluent in at least 12 languages. He handled the teaching of foreign languages and Richard Loeb, convicted with him in 1924 for the kidnap-murder of 14-year-old Bobby Franks, taught the English courses.

Miss Williams quoted Prof. W. F. Byron, Northwestern university criminologist and penologist, as saying Leopold had "one of the most brilliant minds in the world today."

Not long after starting his term, Miss Williams said, his first application for correspondence courses was received.

"He definitely wanted to keep his mind busy," she said.

The former professor said she had visited Leopold a number of times at prison and that she knew "a number of men who are grateful for the help received from him while in prison."

Leopold served as a guinea pig for wartime experiments on malaria cures at Stateville. During these experiments he helped with laboratory and computation work.

At one time he worked in the prison library which he completely recatalogued after taking correspondence courses in library cataloguing, Miss Williams said.

A few years ago he worked with Northwestern university psychologists in preparing a doctor's thesis entitled "A Technique for Developing Criteria for Parolability."

Because of his willingness to work and his brilliant mind, Leopold is given many difficult jobs in the prison, Miss Williams said. He served for several years as an X-ray technician.

"If he didn't know anything about a subject he'd just learn it from a book," Miss Williams said.

Leopold and Loeb were sons of wealthy Chicago families. They were convicted of killing young Franks, stuffing his body into a culvert and then attempting to collect $10,000 ransom from his parents.

Schoolboy Nemesis — This Fellow Raises Cane

LONDON (AP) — Many a British schoolboy will stand today in tribute to Eric Wildman, foremost supplier of hickory sticks and birch rods to British schools — mainly because it's too painful to sit down.

And those who can still sit will shudder at the news, just out in a new catalogue, that Wildman is offering great bargains in his rods, punishment canes and leather whipping thongs this early in the school year.

Wildman is the acknowledged top-ranking maker of devices which many British institutions still find useful in getting to the seat of student mischief.

Interviewed in his office at the CORPN (corporal punishment) educational organization, Wildman, a keen-looking young man of 30, said he expects business this term to move along at a spanking rate.

"A boy who gets birched at the start of the school year may not need it in the end," is Wildman's theory. This, he said, justifies titling his new catalogue, "good news for schoolteachers."

This term's catalogue, which is also sent to inquirers from the United States, offers as a special feature "the selected Indian nilgrihi cane."

"We are now in a position, thanks to bulk buying, to offer our famous nilgrihi natural root punishment canes at half the normal cost," it says.

These sell for about $6 a dozen. Another "good news" item is the return of the birch rod, of which the catalogue says:

"In response to the demand (not from students) for these somewhat old-fashioned but nevertheless effective implements of correction we take pleasure in offering the senior birch rod at $1.80 per pair and the junior birch rod at $1.20 per pair."

Predicts 'Candid World'

Says College Girls Can Aid in Building It By 'Bringing Home Husband or Obligating One'

By JOE BROWN

Whether the UN, and all the other efforts and devices employed, will bring us a better and more peaceful world I don't know, but there's little doubt in my mind that we're going to have a more candid or ingenious world.

And, girls, it looks as if you're to have a fair share in making it so. If you heed the advice of a well known woman columnist, it's a cinch.

The other day this young lady (I'm judging from the picture beside her by-line in using the adjective, and giving her the benefit of an assumption with the noun) came out with the charge to all you college girls that you owe it to yourselves and your family to bring home, or at least obligate, a husband before you finish college.

My initial comment concerning the idea's merit is that it sounds too much like she's saying marry for the sake of marrying. This I don't like. But I do like the honesty advocated.

The men will probably ask me where I've been. What's so new about the girls being the aggressive ones, they'll ask. Yeah, yeah. I know. There are those among the girls who are about as subtle as a delinquent notice from the registrar, but all in all we have to concede that our culture is still one in which the man pursues.

This is also okay with me. What could be more elating for a young man than the anticipation of the forthcoming evening with a young woman he's just won? And then, of course, there's the anticipation of other things.

But back to the subject of honesty. Feigned coyness is a trait deserving sympathy in my book. And 'tis been said, whether true or not, that many a maid has lost her man through prolonged refusal to confess her feelings. I hope I'm not naive enough to think a girl can be too quick about revealing her fondness, because, admittedly, there are certain facets of the male personality that would make this rather dangerous. But she could at least be matter-of-fact during her observation period. Enough of this "I don't care" stuff, me ladies!

Our female columnist says you girls will find college the best chance in a lifetime to find a young man with background and interests similar to your own. Squander your best marrying years and marrying opportunities, she says, and someday you'll blame yourself and your parents.

The thing to do, she explains, is to live yourself up as a husband while you have a whole college to choose from. If that isn't being honest and forthright, I'll eat my typewriter. What she didn't say, though, was how to go about it.

You may ask where in the pea hull I, as a single man, got the idea I knew anything about marriage. Well, I'll disappoint you and make no such pretensions. As a matter of fact, I'm rather confused about the whole idea of boy-meets-girl. Many of you girls would tell me that you can't afford to be honest; that if you tell the boy how much you like him, he'll become disinterested and leave you wondering 'wot' opened.

Of this, my maidens, I can't deny a single word in nine out of 10 cases. But then the men point out that if you show too much interest and pursue too steadily, the girls take advantage of you and you'll never know where you stand until it's before the preacher. And, men, you're so right, too.

You see, it's so confusing that I started out with the virtues of honesty and here, within a few paragraphs, I'm admitting, in effect, that I don't know who, if either, both, or neither, should be honest. If I should say we should all be honest with each other, a note of suggestiveness could be read into it, and the moralists would attack me.

And, anyway, I know a young fellow who fell deeply in love with a girl and she, supposedly, with him. But he made the mistake of being honest. He told her he had no worldly goods, that it would probably be years before he could accumulate any, and he even told her all about the skeletons in his family's closet. And guess what? She doesn't love him anymore.

Well, fiddle-faddle, I say! Things are not going too badly as they are, don't you think? Who are we to try to straighten things out?

As a whole, you boys and girls on this campus certainly betray no indications of frustration over whether or not to be honest.

As a waiter this summer, I overheard conversations which reflected an admirable adeptness in the art of line throwing. And I'll bet many lovely marriages result from these very tete-a-tetes.

So, by golly, you girls just go hunting and use any darned method you want. Some of you will choose the angelic role, some the philosophy-book-under-the-arm role, some the gay and worldly role — some will even resort to the aloof role with a long cigarette holder as a prop.

But, as your representative in the newspaper field says, go after 'em.

Men might know as little about women as is believed, but it's my guess that most of your little honest — sure, I'll use the word here — deceptions will be met by as many little guiles of the men.

I know I've made a complete reversal. I've repudiated honesty and I've changed my first contention that we're going to have a more frank world.

But should I be that honest?

Hollywood to Grow More Important In Video Business

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Hollywood and New York seem likely to share honors as twin television capitals of the nation.

You can find wide ranges of opinion among telecasters, producers and actors. Some emphatically predict New York will be the video mecca. Others hold out as staunchly for Hollywood.

If you average the extremes and mix in the middle ground opinion, it comes out this way:

Because of the wealth of stage and night club talent in New York, it will continue to be a major video production center, particularly for dramatic shows.

Hollywood, with its movie colony and tremendous film production facilities, will originate possibly as many as half the network television shows.

Substantial numbers of programs probably will come from Chicago, Washington and other talent and news centers.

The situation may well parallel that in radio.

The lack of a network connection with the Pacific coast and an early concentration of stations and sets in the eastern half of the country has made New York the unchallenged television capital so far.

Likewise, Broadway's theatrical colony has made a far greater contribution to television's programs than Hollywood.

To take part in network television, Hollywood's actors would have to move to New York or spend much of their time here. That would eliminate or seriously interfere with their film activities.

Hollywood's full weight probably will not be felt until completion of a television network connection to the coast — still two or more years away by all indications.

However, Hollywood will become an increasingly important factor well before then. Several independent producers are turning out movies made specifically for television, although the major studios have practically ignored production for television and concentrated instead on planning the use of television in their own operations.

Kinescoping — or film recording — is being held out now as a means of making Hollywood's talent available to the rest of the country. On a live telecast in Hollywood, a camera would be turned on the screen of a receiving set and a film made of the program.

Sen. Long Disproves 'Like Father' Adage

WASHINGTON — Russel B. Long, the senate's baby member, is busy these days proving that the like - father - like - son adage doesn't apply to him.

The 30-year-old soft-spoken son of Huey P. Long is out to make his own record for 1950, when he will run for a full six-year term.

In the year since he was elected to fill out the unexpired term of the late Sen. John Overton he has proved to the evident satisfaction of his own colleagues that he is willing to work in harness, knows how to keep his mouth shut but can speak and argue with force when the time comes.

Some skeptical eyebrows were raised when Louisiana decided to send the assassinated Huey's son to Washington.

Would this be, some members asked themselves, a younger edition of the man who entertained the galleries with talk of poke greens and pot likker, who boomed his share-the-wealth philosophy from every stump and who scared the political daylight out of even such pastmasters at politics as Franklin D. Roosevelt?

The baby member from Louisiana knew that his enemies expected him to be a brash pop-off. He decided he wouldn't be. These same enemies, he says, were predicting that he wouldn't work as part of a team but would operate as a lone wolf.

As a freshman, Long decided that the best way to make his weight felt was not to throw it around. He decided to pitch in on committee work and not to try to tell the senate how to run its business.

Discussing the differences between his and his father's views, the Louisiana senator summed them up this way:

"Maybe I'm not as far to the left as he was and I may be willing to take a little more time to reach the goals I am after than he was."

Long hasn't got his neck very far out yet. He votes with the administration about 75 percent of the time and has managed to get along with Democratic leaders pretty well despite the fact that his state went off the reservation in last November's election.

It's been noised about by people in the know that cigarets and wuskey, and wild, wild women will drive a man crazy, might even drive him insane.

Now I am no authority on wuskey, and wild, wild women, but I have been smoking cigarets for nigh on to six years and I know something about them. Pertinent facts, like—335-billion cigarets were smoked in 1948, and back in 1924, 3.68 lbs. of tobacco made 1,000 cigarets. All this is fine stuff for barroom banter.

Carrying my research a little farther, I found the Encyclopedia Britannica had this to say: "Literally a little cigar." Further on, though, they make a vital contribution that help solve a problem that has been plaguing me for a long time: "Cigarettes are popular with all classes of people in England AND ARE EXTENSIVELY USED BY WOMEN."

Now here is my problem. For years, most of America's 70-million nicotine addicts have been hustled into believing that a certain brand of cigarets is top-flight because Roy Rogers's horse Trigger chews them or some other equally plausible reason.

I imagine things were pretty rosy when all the cowboys, drug-store and otherwise, had to do was whip out the bull durham, unlace the top, spread on a scrap of paper, lick and paste up and he had a darned fine cheroot.

CHORDS AND DISCORDS

BY DRAKE MADRY

Hal Webster organized his first dance band in 1939, reorganized in 1946, and has been giving out with his own particular brand of dance music ever since.

A local boy, Hal is a University High product whose musical training consisted entirely of violin — not the bass he plays in the band. "The violin is hard to fit into a modern dance band," says Webster, "I play bass a great majority of the time even though I prefer the violin."

Utilizing nine men, two of whom have been with him since the beginning, instrumentation will consist of two trumpets, one trombone, two alto and one tenor sax, and rhythm of piano, bass, and drums.

Many of the arrangements were done by Gus Donahue. Donahue works on the west coast, and has done many arrangements for the bubbling accordionist, Lawrence Welk.

"So many dance bands forget all about the tempo, which after all is basic to American dance music. The tempo lets the dancer know what is going on. We concentrate on an easy, steady tempo. We play for the dancers," Webster claims.

In this day of cymbal banging, and flatted 7ths any interview must contain an artist's discourse on be-bop. Not so on this one.

"Bop? I never really paid much attention to it, it doesn't fit into the band at all and the people we play for wouldn't go for it. In Chicago or New York, or on the west coast it's swell, but we play dances."

Asked about the entrepreneurs of new jazz, Lennie Tristane and George Shearing, Hal replied, "Just say, I've heard of them. That's all."

As for current plans, Webster has dances booked with local fraternities and sororities, nearby colleges and towns. Of course, the Carnival of Bands is included, where he will ply his wares along with the 13 other bands and combos on campus.

Resting in back of Webster's mind is the idea of adding a baritone sax to his present crew.

"A baritone would give the band a much bigger sound, a full and more satisfying sound, I believe. I think that it would add more to a band than the average person could imagine, if arranged correctly a baritone can sound like two more instruments."

Baritone or no baritone, we have heard Hal Webster's band. If you like to dance; if you like soft, sweet music; then you will like Hal's music.

Just Loves Big Town — Keokuk to New York

— Cops Are So Polite

By CHARLES HONCE

NEW YORK (AP) — This is a story of New York. First let me explain why I am writing it.

Not long ago I produced a piece about Keokuk, defending the Iowa town of my birth against the slurs and insinuations directed at it over two or three generations. It brought mail from all parts of the country. Former Keokuk residents, as well as Keokuk guards, applauded my thesis. It turned up long lost relatives and friends I hadn't heard from for twenty years.

One cousin, who never got farther than twelve miles from the "Dam City" said she didn't know all this sneering was going on but that she would take my word for it.

Pretty soon other writers were psalming for their home towns and likewise getting reader response. That convinces me it is time to come in on the second round and write about my present home town.

Actually it is on Manhattan island which is New York county or another borough of the greater city. But for most persons (particularly visitors) Manhattan means New York, so Manhattan it is.

When I first hit New York almost twenty years ago on a vacation, I landed in the heart of Times Square in a muddy car at 2 a.m.

I shall never forget the courtesy of the first cops I met. They went far beyond anything I had known before in getting a couple of haybustlers and their sorry-looking automobile into lodging for the night.

In the two decades since the continuing politeness of New York policemen still amazes and pleases me. In this city their job seems to be to help you and not to arrest you.

Next to the cops, probably the next most striking thing about New York is the politeness of the people who live here (half of New York's eight million were born here).

If you stop somebody on the street and ask a question, no matter how silly, a New Yorker will stand on his head if necessary to provide the answer.

There is an oft repeated saying: "I love to visit New York but I would hate to live there."

Columnist Hal Boyle once turned this exactly around and with sound philosophy, it seems to me he said:

"New York is a marvelous place to live but not to visit."

What he meant was that the average New Yorker is just a small town person living in a small community. On that basis his home is an extremely livable place but as a spot to visit it can be hectic indeed.

The daily lives of many New Yorkers are bounded by personal and physical limits often as restricted as those of Warsaw, Ill.

For instance, I work in midtown Manhattan—Rockefeller Center to be exact. I live about three-quarters of a mile away. I can walk it in fifteen minutes or go by bus in eight. I spend a great deal of my life in an area less than a mile square. Many of my friends live there and I can find most of my recreation there.

Broadway is only a hop skip and a jump away but I get there only a few times a year and it is just as much a sleeper jump to me as to the average visitor.

Underwriters Cut Automobile Rates

DES MOINES (AP)—There is a marked tendency toward reduction of automobile insurance rates by independent underwriters, the state insurance department said yesterday.

"In the last couple of months a number of reductions have been made," Vernon Hill, the department's superintendent of rates, related. He added:

"Some of the companies made blanket reductions of 10 percent. Others reduced their rates according to classification, the cuts ranging from about 5 to 30 percent, based on the companies' experiences."

Hill said he didn't recall any of the large eastern stock companies making any reductions.

Former IC Dentist To Be Honored

Dr. R.H. Volland, Iowa City dentist for many years, will be honored at a testimonial luncheon of the American Dental Association in its annual meeting at San Francisco October 17.

In a recent newsletter, the ADA said Volland will be awarded recognition for 20 years of service as treasurer of the national group. Previous to his position as treasurer, he served one year as president of the organization.

Dr. Volland graduated from SUI in 1902 and taught in the college of dentistry part time until 1923; from 1923 to 1944 he taught part time at Northwestern university. Since then he has practiced in Iowa City.

Iowa Mountaineers To Hold First Hike

The Iowa mountaineers will hold their first outing of the season this afternoon.

The group plans a "get acquainted" hike for all old members, new members and anyone interested in the mountaineers' activities, John Hess, chairman of the hike announced yesterday.

Hess said that the hikers will meet at the Iowa union at 2 p.m. The route planned follows the Iowa river north to Coralville and back through Finkbine golf course.

Signals in Operation At College-Dubuque

New traffic signals at the intersection of Dubuque and College streets began operation Friday and workmen began the task of removing the concrete center island there, police reported.

Underground wiring was started Thursday on the Clinton-College intersection to ready that corner for new signal installation. Both intersections are included among 12 designated by the city council for new traffic signals.

Waives to Grand Jury After Shooting Fray

CENTERVILLE (AP)—Kenneth Conn, 28, Plano, waivered to the grand jury yesterday when arraigned in connection with a shooting incident in which part of his pretty wife's face was torn away.

At the arraignment before Justice of Peace H. H. Henderson on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, Conn had nothing to say beyond waiving to the grand jury which meets tomorrow. He was remanded to the county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

At Iowa City, meanwhile, it was reported his wife, Mrs. Marie Conn, underwent an operation with her wounds. The attending physician said the operation went satisfactorily but that she may lose the sight of one eye. She is in University hospital.

Much of Mrs. Conn's nose and jaw was torn away by a 16-gauge shotgun blast Tuesday night.

Tito Urges, 'See Yugoslavia First'

DUBROVNIK, YUGOSLAVIA (AP)—Yugoslavia is dusting off its "welcome" mat for foreign tourists.

The whole world over, there's hardly a land which could challenge its sheer beauty — from the green and majestic mountains of Slovenia in the north to the Cobalt blue seas of the Dalmatian coast in the south.

The new reception is partly due to a desire to share in the world wide demand for dollars.

It is positive proof no country in the modern world can live alone and like it.

It reflects a potentially historic decision of Yugoslav's Marshal Tito to turn westward economically now that the Russian dominated Cominform countries are attempting to squeeze him out.

Tourists will find little of this in Belgrade itself, aside from the bomb-pocked evidence of its World War II suffering and the big building program at the conflux of the Danube and the Sava rivers where Tito is erecting the "new Belgrade."

CORRECTION ON MEETING

Students interested in radio-writing, acting and announcing for WSUI-KSUI will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in studio "E," located in the Engineering building among 12 designated by the city council for new traffic signals.

decrease, according to the 19th annual report of the University's department of health.

The report was prepared by Dr. Milford E. Barnes, director, and Dr. Chester I. Miller, chief of the student health division.

General decreases from the previous year are shown in seven out of thirteen communicable diseases.

Intestinal disorders, influenza and measles showed an increase during the period covered by the report, July 1, 1948, to June 30, 1949. Of approximately 11,000 students, 495 were treated for the disorders during the 1948-49 school year. The previous year's figure was 418.

No cases of polio were indicated among students during the period covered by the report. Influenza showed an increase of 82 over the previous year's record low of 107.

Malaria has continued to decrease since the war years, with no cases reported during the last year.

SUI students showed nearly 100 percent increase in broken bones, with 80 last year compared to 43 the previous year. These figures do not include students injured during intercollegiate games or in training.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

TWO salties recently made their Groucho Marx in Hollywood "The first time my wife ever saw me," he told one group, "I was on the screen. Then she opened the window and let me in."

A dinner guest at his house complained, "These sausages seem peculiar. They are meat at one end, but bread crumbs at the other." "Correct," said Groucho. "It's an expedient. In times like these, nobody can make both ends meet."

A London editor, in Hollywood to study its customs and mores, swore to the veracity of his experience. He secured a date with one of the superduper glamor girls of the moment, and resolved to behave in a manner calculated to disarm her. "I forgot all my English reserve," he declares. "I said outrageous things, and took outrageous liberties. Suddenly she burst into tears. 'I've gone too far,' I told myself. 'I am a beast.' But I had misjudged her. Recovered from her outburst of crying, she flung herself into my arms and murmured, 'You're the first fellow who's behaved to me like a genuine gentleman in four years!'"

GOP Officials Visit Campus To See Game

Guy Gabrielson yesterday charged President Truman's recent announcement that Russia has the atomic bomb was timed to take the highlight from the farm conference held in Sioux City Friday.

Gabrielson, Republican national chairman, Mrs. Gabrielson and Harrison Spangler, Republican national committee member, arrived yesterday morning at the Iowa City airport to be guests of SUI's President Virgil Hancher at the Iowa-UCLA game.

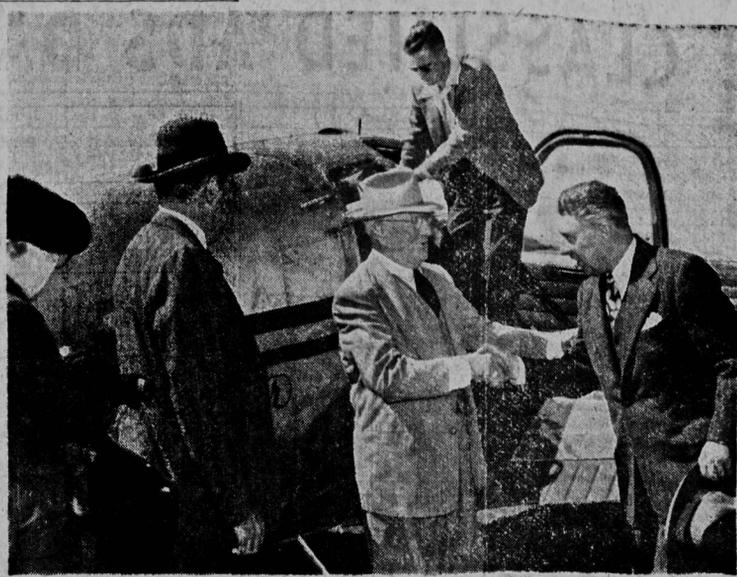

"He (Truman) wanted to take the conference from the headlines," Gabrielson said. "But he didn't get away with it," he laughingly continued.

When asked for a prediction on the Iowa-UCLA game, the national chairman laughed, pointed at Mrs. Gabrielson, and said: "There's the member of the family who does the predicting on football, baseball, boxing and all the other sports."

Mrs. Gabrielson smiled and said this was one time she didn't feel she could make a prediction. "I'd surely predict Iowa to win," Gabrielson then offered.

The top-flight Republicans were met at the airport by President Hancher after more than an hour's wait. The small private plane in which the politicians traveled was supposed to have arrived at 10 a.m., but did not reach Iowa City until 11.

The two visiting dignitaries have just completed party farm policy talks in Sioux City. Spangler last month was the target for the Iowa Republican state central committee's resolution asking his resignation as national committeeman. Gabrielson was only recently elected national chairman.

Both men are SUI graduates. This is the first visit to Iowa City for the national chairman in "about six years," he said.

55 Named to SUI Highlanders

Names of 55 women students selected as new members of the Scottish Highlanders, all-girl bagpipe band at SUI, were announced Friday by Pipe-Major Bill Adamson.

Freshman chosen to play the bagpipes include Martha Hale, Burlington; Margaret Valentine, Cedar Falls; Marilyn Peterson, Council Bluffs; Joan Durr, Davenport.

Marjorie Brickner, Decorah; Charlene Singmaster, Des Moines; Marilyn McMullen, Dubuque; Mary Saks, Earlville; Sally Irish, Forest City; and Sharon Brown and Jane Woodburn, both of Iowa City.

Sally Yeates, Greenfield; Joan McKinney, Mason City; Marianna Stevens, Oelwein; Harriet Sutton, Ottumwa; Joanne E. Smith, Rockford; Nancy Hunt, Tipton; Sandra Andich, Rock Island, Ill.; and Joyce Ann Sutter, St. Louis, Mo.

Sophomores selected for the bagpipes were: Dorothy Lauer and Virginia Wise, both of Cherokee;

Lorraine Perley, Cedar Rapids; Eloise Peterson, Dayton; Anne Fenton and Jean Slavata, Iowa City.

Elizabeth Wilson, Monticello; Nancy Smith, Rockford, Ill.; and Norma Townsend, Roanoke, Va.

Freshmen picked to play drums were: Juanita Bethke and Ann Meloy, both of Cherokee; Eleanor Glick, Creston; and Joan McLaren, Mary Lou Mortensen and Romana Albright, all of Des Moines.

Jackie Schneider and Arden Streeter, both of Fort Madison; Margaret Arley, Hampton; Margaret Justen, Ann Murray, Gwenn Seales, Barbara Wicks and Shirley Workman, all of Iowa

City, and Dolores Rorabaugh, Keokuk.

Tomato Canners Swap Labels, Save Freight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some food processors are meeting increased transportation costs with an ingenious "tolling" arrangement.

For instance, an eastern and a western canner both pack tomatoes. The easterner will pack his own as usual, but in addition will pack some eastern tomatoes under the brand of the westerner, to be sold in the east. The westerner will do the same for him. Both save freight.
