Hungary Calls Tito Diplomats Spies, Gives 24-Hour Eviction

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY — The Hungarian government Monday night ordered 10 members of the Yugoslav legation to leave the country within 24 hours.

The government announcement accused the Yugoslav diplomats of "maintaining" spy nets with the Americans and British in Budapest to pass on Hungarian military secrets.

It stated the recent trial of Laszlo Rajk, former Hungarian foreign minister and No. 2 Communist in this country, had "proved completely that leading persons of Yugoslavia's present government took part in a plot which was aimed at overthrowing the Hungarian people's republic, the killing of leading Hungarian statesmen and restoration of capitalism and fascism as instigators and organizers."

10,189 Enroll Here for Fall

First semester enrollment at SUU totals 10,189 students, according to preliminary figures released Monday by President Virgil Hancher.

Last year's preliminary enrollment was 10,550, but the total later reached 10,886.

This year's registration, which included 7,567 men and 2,622 women, marked a decrease in the colleges of liberal arts, engineering and commerce.

Enrollment decreases were offset somewhat by an increase in the graduate and professional colleges.

A total of 4,093 veterans enrolled for the fall semester as compared with last year's 5,058. This figure includes only those veterans using benefits of the GI bill on the second day of classes.

Fetters Trial Goes To Closing Stages

WASHINGTON, IOWA (P) — Prosecution and defense attorneys Monday centered closing arguments in the 35-year-old murder trial of Oscar Fetters, 63, on the issue of insanity.

Washington County Attorney Paul Shearer told the district court jury to be sure Fetters did not know he was doing wrong before returning a verdict of acquittal.

Richard Stewart, defense attorney, said he would not attempt to "justify this deplorable act" but if Fetters was insane he was "not responsible."

Fetters, on trial for the 1914 slaying of Hugh Douglas Sr., was found insane before his first trial 34 years ago and was committed to the insane ward at Anamosa reformatory. He was released last spring after being found "mentally restored."

Truman Signs Bill Renewing Powers To Reduce Tariffs

WASHINGTON (P) — Climaxing a major administration triumph, President Truman Monday signed the bill which again gives him unhampered power to make tariff-cutting agreements with other nations.

Mr. Truman, in a statement, heralded an attack on international trade and financial restrictions. He said they have mounted since the war and will prevent higher world living standards—"out best insurance of a peaceful future."

"The United States," he said, "reaffirms its intention of pressing forward toward expanded world trade at a time when such action is most urgently needed."

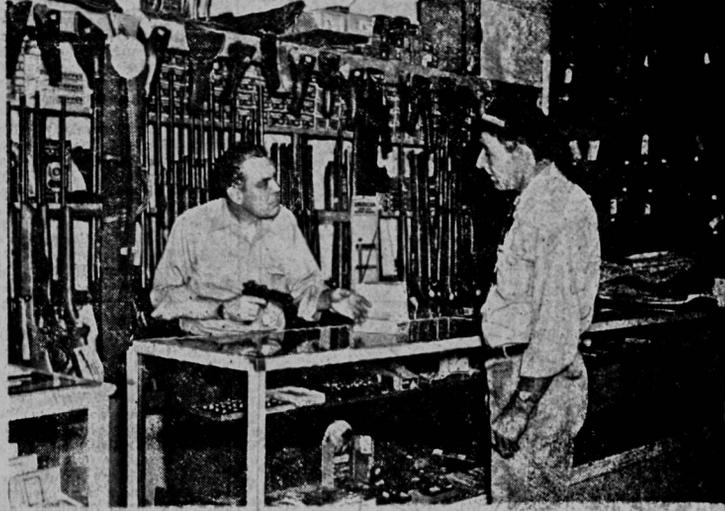

The bill extends until June 12, 1951, the President's right to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements. In these pacts, the United States reduces tariffs on other nation's products. In return for lowered duties on U.S. goods the President can make reductions as great as 50 percent.

The first such law was passed in 1935 and it has been renewed repeatedly.

The frequently-divided Democratic majority in congress got together to give Mr. Truman the bill he wanted. It rejected Republican efforts to retain "peril points." This provision in the last extension which expired in June required the President to report to congress if he made deeper cuts than the tariff commission thought safe.

"As the world's greatest creditor nation," Mr. Truman said, "it is our special responsibility to welcome imports."

Without a substantial expansion of our imports we can't maintain and enlarge our export markets, he counseled.

Loan Company Owner Demonstrates Robbery

"THIS IS HOW IT HAPPENED!" Forrest F. Meyer (left), owner of the Reliable Loan company, 109 E. Burlington street, demonstrates to Lynn "Ike" Price 110 E. Burlington street, operator of the Royal Cab company, how he was robbed Monday at 1 p.m. by three men, one of whom had a gun. The bandits made off with nine guns, three watches, a camera and about $175 in cash.

Three Men Hold Up Loan Company Here

Three men held up the Reliable Loan company, 109 E. Burlington street, Monday at 1 p.m. and obtained merchandise valued at between $300 and $400 plus $175 in cash, according to owner Forrest F. Meyer.

Meyer said the robbers were mainly interested in obtaining guns and ammunition. The stolen merchandise included two rifles, seven revolvers and ammunition for all of them, he said.

The bandits took $100 Meyer had in his billfold and about $75 from a safe in the back room. One of the robbers opened the safe after noticing the door was ajar. He took the cash, and a $30 check, but left a tray of diamonds untouched.

"The bandits forced me to lie down behind the counter before making their get-away," Meyer said.

The three fled in a maroon-colored car of unknown make but probably a 1941-42 model, he told police.

Jack Hull, 729 Page street, said he saw the robbers park their car in the alley which runs along the east side of the loan company building.

"One of them asked for a bottle of gun cleaner and another drew a P-38 (nine-millimeter automatic German pistol) when I turned around to get it," Meyer said.

The man with the gun said, "This is the real thing."

He told me to act natural and I assured him I would cooperate, Meyer said.

Meyer described the hold-up men as between 25 and 30 years of age and wearing sport jackets and slacks.

Three suspects who answered to the description of the men who robbed the loan company were picked up late Monday afternoon in Grinnell, but were later released when they furnished proof showing they were not involved.

Steel, Auto Meetings Near Strike Deadline While Lewis Stalls

By United Press

Negotiations in the threatened steel and automobile strikes entered the showdown phase Monday, while roving bands of pickets closed more mines in the nationwide coal strike.

In another major labor dispute, the CIO electrical workers union authorized a strike vote among 200,000 employees of General Electric and Westinghouse, if the companies fail to change their positions in deadlocked negotiations.

The union said it would resume contract talks with the firms beginning Oct. 4.

At The Dalles, Ore., 26 carloads of CIO longshoremen from Portland massed at the Columbia river port in an attempt to thwart the unloading of $800,000 worth of "hot" pineapple from Hawaii.

Steel negotiations got down to brass tacks when U.S. Steel sent Charles R. Cox, president of its subsidiary Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., into talks with CIO President Philip Murray. Cox has the authority to sign contracts.

The steel negotiators were working against a strike deadline of 12:01 a.m. Saturday, and Murray has warned that his 500,000 basic steel workers will not delay longer.

Nevertheless, there still was no announced break in the position of either side on the 10-cent hourly pension and insurance settlement formula laid down by a presidential fact-finding board.

Murray wanted the full pension package, with management contributing the whole cost.

Striking coal miners in a 50-car caravan invaded small truck-mining fields of West Virginia, beating three non-strikers and closing six mines.

In the coal dispute itself, negotiations were in recess until Thursday amid indications that John L. Lewis was awaiting a settlement in the steel crisis to use as a bargaining wedge in his own pension squabble.

Cordell Hull Receives a Souvenir Pen

FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE CORDELL HULL accepts a souvenir pen from President Truman Monday at the White House after the chief executive signed a bill extending the reciprocal trade agreements act and giving him a free hand to work out tariff-cutting treaties with other nations. It was the sixth time congress has extended the law since it was enacted in 1935 at the urging of Hull, then secretary of state.

House Conferees Back Full Arms Aid Program

What, No Telephone Directories?

WASHINGTON (P) — The senate, of all places, ran out of orators temporarily Monday. It happened during debate on a bill to raise the pay scales for the armed forces.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass) announced at 2:12 p.m. (Iowa time) he had run out of speakers. Sen. Virgil Chapman (D-Ky) said he had no more on his side of the aisle.

Since the chamber previously had agreed to vote on the bill at 4 p.m., it took an unusual mid-day recess until 3:30 p.m.

Members Deny Russia's Bomb Swayed Vote

WASHINGTON (P) — House conferees Monday scrapped their economy-sized foreign arms aid program for free nations and accepted the full $1,314,010,000 plan voted by the senate.

While leaders of the joint house-senate conference denied that Russia's possession of the atomic bomb had anything to do with the decision, it obviously was a factor in the decision.

It had been predicted that President Truman's announcement that an atomic explosion had occurred in Russia recently would lead to closer political, economic and military cooperation between the western democracies.

The amount decided on by the senate-house conferees included the full $1-billion for rearming past nations instead of the $580,485,000 voted by the house.

The remaining $314-million includes aid for Greece, Turkey and the far east. The total voted by the house was $819,505,000.

Conferees did not complete action on the entire bill. They will meet again today to consider other "non-controversial" features and perhaps approve the measure itself.

Despite grumbling disapproval by some representatives, chances seemed good that the house would reverse its earlier action and go along with the conferees in approving the larger amount.

Chairman John D. Kee (D-W Va) of the house foreign affairs committee said that he did not believe Russia's apparent mastery of the atom had any effect on the conferees one way or another.

But Rep. Charles A. Eaton (R-NJ) told reporters as he entered the meeting that the President's statement convinced him that the full arms program was necessary.

Eaton, ranking GOP member of the house foreign affairs committee, originally voted for the smaller amount.

Bevin Censures Russia For Atom Control Stall

NEW YORK (AP) — Britain's Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin blamed Russia Monday for stalling international control of atomic energy.

In a blistering policy speech to the United Nations assembly, Bevin said Britain wants the atomic bomb banned just as much as anyone else but that Britain insists first on effective control.

He called Russian blasts against the west on this point "stupid."

The foreign secretary challenged the Russians to "come out of their shell," raise their curtain and agree to the control plan approved last year by the general assembly.

Bevin was applauded heavily by a packed assembly hall. Throughout his speech he indicated Britain is willing to talk with the Russians but must be sure of their sincerity and honest intentions.

In his chief thrusts at the Soviet Union, Bevin said:

1. Vishinsky's speech last Friday attacking the western powers and then calling for a peace pact can scarcely be a help to achieve peace.

2. Greece should settle differences with all her neighbors in a spirit of conciliation and not adopt the attitude of those who "trap her."

3. In the assembly's disposal of the prewar Italian colonies, Britain must honor a pledge of freedom given to the Semusi Moslem sect in Libya during the war.

4. Only the determination of the western powers to combine against possible aggression in Berlin has brought about a partial solution of the Berlin case.

5. The Russians have made no move to put their dispute with Yugoslavia before the UN.

6. A wise approach to the Chinese situation would be in the interests of all concerned.

McMahon Denies Russ Got Secrets Through U.S. Laxity

WASHINGTON (P) — Chairman Brian McMahon (D-Conn) of the congressional atomic energy committee, said Monday night there is not one "scintilla of evidence" to support charges U.S. laxity enabled Russia to steal A-bomb secrets.

He issued the statement after Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) ranking Republican on the atomic committee, charged in a senate speech that "loose security practices" by the U.S. atomic energy commission helped Russia produce an A-bomb far ahead of schedule.

McMahon said "Russia has the bomb today because its development was principally a matter of time and hard work."

Top state department officials said Monday the United States, Britain and Canada probably will cooperate even more closely on A-bomb matters now that Russia has the atomic weapon.

George F. Kennan, state department counselor, predicted the current three-power atomic talks will be held on a "continuing basis" and confirmed that they have spilled over to include the "recent" Soviet blast.

In congress the foreign arms aid program went to a joint senate-house conference committee amid signs the house members will agree to scrap their own economy-sized bill and accept the full $1,314,010,000 program voted by the senate.

12 Dead, 24 Missing In Airplane Crashes

By The Associated Press

Twelve persons were known dead and more than 24 persons were reported missing Monday night after plane crashes in central England, Oklahoma and Mexico.

Two heavy RAF bombers collided and crashed in flames during air maneuvers, killing 12 crewmen. Two other men were reported missing. The planes, four-engine Lincolns, crashed near Newark, England.

A plane described as a B-29 crashed and burned three miles south of Tallinn, Okla. The number of persons aboard was not immediately determined.

A Mexican commercial airliner, with 21 persons aboard, crashed at the foot of Popocatepetl volcano, near the tiny Mexican town of Ecatzingo.

Three Escape Uninjured As Cars Crash Head-On

Three persons escaped injury when two cars collided head-on about 11:30 p.m. Monday near the air port on highway 218.

The autos were driven by Bill Albright, 636 S. Johnson street, and Phyllis Eckhardt, Lone Tree, Albright, accompanied by his wife, was headed north, Miss Eckhardt south.

Highway patrolmen estimated damage to Albright's 1947 Buick station wagon, which turned over twice, at $800. Damage to the 1937 Plymouth driven by Miss Eckhardt was estimated at $200.

Senate Okays Armed Forces Pay Raise

WASHINGTON (P) — The senate Monday passed a bill to give most members of the armed forces an Oct. 1 pay boost totaling more than $300-million a year. It embodies the first general revision of salary scales in 40 years.

Action was by voice vote. The bill now goes to a conference with the house, which earlier approved a bill carrying identical raises for all except a few top grades.

The senate version would boost scales in widely varying amounts ranging from $5 a month for recruits with five months' service to $300 or more a month for generals with over 30 years' service.

The increases are generally higher for officers than for enlisted men. Congressmen have explained there has been no general pay raise in the top ranks for 40 years, while enlisted men have had increases.

Senate approval of the measure came a few hours after President Truman urged that it also approve salary hikes for cabinet officials and other top government administrators.

Mr. Truman said it was a matter of "great personal concern" to him that opposition has developed to legislation which would hike these salaries, which he said are now "ridiculously low."

An informal committee of senators met, meanwhile, to revise this bill to limit the top increases to 50 percent. This would hold cabinet salaries to $22,500 a year, rather than the $25,000 now called for in the bill. Their salaries are now $15,000.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) advocated also a $2,500 increase in congressional expense accounts. House and senate members now receive $12,500 a year salary and tax-free expenses of $2,500. Although Bridges came out for an increase in the latter figure, he said later he doubts that the group will recommend it. If it does not, he said, he will drop the idea.

Bridges withdrew an amendment he had proposed be tacked onto the military pay bill. It would have directed the military establishment to absorb the cost for the current year by saving on other items for which congress has already provided funds.

He said he will seek to achieve the same end in appropriations bills.

Referring to the bill to boost cabinet pay from $15,000 to $25,000 a year and to give smaller increases to officials under cabinet rank, Mr. Truman said:

"Because of the inadequate salaries provided for these positions, it has become increasingly difficult for me to get and keep such people. The passage of the legislation now pending in the senate will help the situation materially.

"Unless it is passed, my difficulties will be greatly increased. The relatively small cost of this legislation will be repaid many times over the improved efficiency in the operation of the government."

The cost of the bill from Oct. 1 through next June 30 is estimated at $274-million. In the following 12 months it will cost about $348-million and from then on about $304-million a year.

A Giant May Fall —

It will be interesting to watch what happens as the federal government attempts to break up the grand-daddy of the grocery chains — the gigantic A&P.

The justice department has filed a civil anti-trust suit to separate the manufacturing and processing business from the company's buying and selling business.

The suit also seeks to separate the company's seven retail divisions into seven independent food chains.

A&P has announced it will fight the suit in "every legitimate way." The company is evidently still very conscious of $175,000 in fines paid early last spring for restraining and monopolizing trade in the food industry.

The company, which grossed nearly $2-billion in 1947, claims the suit is an attack on bigness for the sake of bigness. "Nothing even approaching a monopoly," exists in the present set up, according to the company.

The suit charges that A&P has made itself unresponsive to competition through vertical and horizontal integration. It further says that A&P has sold food at a loss in some areas so as to stifle competition.

Losses were made up by charging higher prices in less competitive areas, the government says.

Also listed in the charges is the accusation that the A&P secured commodities at lower prices than competitors by use of a dual threat — either to cease buying or manufacture them itself.

Other charges, all very meaty, are found in the suit.

It looks like the government has a case. A giant may be tottering.

Farm Acrobatics —

Politically suspicious farm state senators say President Truman is doing some fancy acrobatics on farm legislation in an effort to hold the farm vote.

They say the President first gave the green light in the senate for the Anderson farm program which goes halfway toward the "flexible support" Aiken program. Then he endorsed the Brannan farm-consumer subsidy plan in his Des Moines Labor Day speech.

It was later reported that Charles Brannan was given the brush-off at a White House conference when the President told the agriculture secretary he favored the Anderson proposals.

It looks suspiciously as though Mr. Truman is riding a pair of horses. He has at least one foot on the Anderson plan and another on the Brannan plan.

No matter how economic conditions go, Mr. Truman will be able to embrace a program that he can call his own. If conditions remain good, the Anderson plan will get presidential approval; if not, he'll adopt the Brannan plan as the situation-saver.

Charity Begins at Home —

A large part of the U.S. foreign policy for the past decade has concerned itself with playing Santa Claus for the rest of the world. President Roosevelt's lend-lease program, reciprocal trade treaties and lowered tariffs set the stage for the generous policy that President Truman has fostered.

In all this generosity, the U.S. has overlooked a significant segment of its own population — the American Indian.

An Indian reservation in Nebraska points up the continual want, delinquency and filth that most U.S. Indians are forced to live in.

The Rev. Frank Hulsman, a Catholic missionary, is director of the Winnebago Indian reservation. He claims that his reservation has "the characteristic of a crowded slum section in Chicago or New York."

The association of American Indians, an organization dedicated to the improvement of the Indians, went a step farther and said that the tribe lives in "hopeless poverty and slum squalor."

The chief complaint that has been registered against the government by those interested in Indian welfare has been lack of a government work program.

Such a program would give the Indian economic security, rather than the piecemeal fare that is now offered them. Occasional work is called the greatest hardship that is imposed upon the Indian.

The irregular type of life leads to broken homes, orphaned children and downright poverty.

A possible saving could be effected by disposing of separate government schools for the Indians. The current system calls for schools that teach only Indians, while another school may operate in the same area specifically for other children.

The work that Father Hulsman has been carrying on in the face of governmental indifference is certainly praiseworthy.

Perhaps a burst of generosity directed at the Indians would ease a troubled situation.

Aren't We Forgetting Somebody?

Something New Has Been Added

Interpreting the News — Wrong Action in China Could Add Fuel to Fire

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Dr. Tsiang of nationalist China has called on the United Nations to do something about Communist subjugation of his country, but he doesn't say what.

His opening address sums up the situation and paves the way for a request for specific action. But whether it will be placed before the security council or the general assembly, and what form it will take, remain to be seen.

If he asks condemnation of Russia and the Chinese Communists it's just a propaganda fight. The Communists hold a big proportion of China and bid fair to take over the rest. The UN doesn't even have real evidence that the Communist regime is not desired, or at least passively accepted, by a majority of the Chinese people.

In such circumstances a general assembly condemnation would, aside from establishing a position of some moral but little practical importance, widen the east-west split in the UN. So would a security council airing of charges of Russian intervention—if the veto didn't keep the lid on the whole thing.

Appointment of a commission such as the one which has been keeping an eye on the Greek border is a possibility. It might be Dr. Tsiang's objective. It would serve to keep the issues alive. And it would be an "out" for the UN.

The Chinese delegation, of course, has not confirmed that it will request any UN action. Dr. Tsiang may be merely preparing against the possibility of a Moscow or Peiping demand for his replacement by a representative of "all" China, meaning Communist China.

Although Mao Tse-Tung does not appear to have the material for a real coalition government like those through which the Communists established their hegemony in eastern Europe, he is making a point of broad representation in the consultative conference at Peiping. His "coalition" will be through the use of Kuomintang defectors and nationalist military deserters. Many splinter political parties will have a voice. And he has the widow of Sun Yat Sen, great revolutionary leader of 1912, whose memory is revered throughout China.

There is no question that, in China, Mao is going to put up a good front. He still seems to prefer to put his government into operation only when it really represents all or nearly all China. But political events—and perhaps Moscow—are pressing. There may be a period when there will be two Chinas. As the Nationalists are more and more compressed they might even find themselves able to hold some territory on a permanent or semi-permanent basis.

This developing situation, rather than any sort of post-mortem or moral stand, is the real problem at Lake Success.

When I got back to my seat I discovered that directly in front of me was sitting, what is loosely termed, an over-enthusiastic fan. "Take Kulmoltzick out!" he yelled. Thirteen years ago he witnessed a West Altona team, which had a guard named Kulmoltzick. Now, due to temporary loss of memory, whenever he disagrees with a coach's strategy, he yells, "Take Kulmoltzick out!"

"C'mon Riley," he continued, "I'm witcha, boy. That's it Fiske, I'm witcha, I'm witcha!" The boys down on the field, I thought to myself, are receiving bruises and broken bones, but I'm sure they will be greatly consoled when they learn that this guy is with 'em.

Protestant Program To Aid Migrants Seen

CHICAGO (AP) — A Protestant social welfare and religious action program in behalf of migrant farm workers is being developed. A conference of church leaders, sponsored by the home missions council of North America, is working it out at a three day meeting which began yesterday. About 20 Protestant churches are represented. The plan is expected to be used in 23 states. It is intended to promote better community attitudes toward migrants; to apply Christian ethics to farming; to provide more ministers for low-income groups, and to improve migrant worker relations with employers.

Building Boom Sweeps Nation

NEW YORK (AP) — The sound of the carpenter's hammer is ringing out through the land.

The nation is in the midst of a good sized house building boom. Only a few months ago there was a serious slump in home construction.

Despite this vigorous resolve of many thousands of Americans to own their own homes, one of the deepest mysteries of the country's economy is the status of the housing situation a year from now. And 10 years from now.

The double-barreled question seems to be: Will high rents drive thousands of families to build as an economy measure; or will high costs of labor and materials retard private home building?

The home building peak following World War I did not occur until 1925, seven years after the end of hostilities. Whether the post-World War II peak will come some time in the future, or whether it was reached in 1948, when housing units started totaled 931,000, is something else only time will tell.

Because building in the first few months of 1949 lagged so far behind the corresponding months of last year, it is virtually out of the question that this year's total will equal that of 1948.

In June, July and August, however, housing starts of one, two and multi-family dwellings exceeded the comparable months of last year.

June starts totaled 100,000 compared with 97,800 in June, 1948; in July 96,000 starts were made as against 95,000 last year, and the August figure was 98,000, far above the 86,600 of August, 1948.

There are several reasons for the spurge in building, according to David Ford, president of the council of insured savings associations. His organization represents a sizeable segment of New York state's savings and loan associations.

Strong resistance to the high cost of building or buying a house has broken down to some extent, Ford says. Many persons waited for a drastic break in prices. When they realized finally there would be no king-size drop, they jumped into the market.

Fortunately for the cost-conscious there has been a moderate easing of prices and costs all year. This resulted from lower price tags on some materials and the elimination of the wait for critical materials which frequently kept laborers marking time while drawing wages.

Another factor that has attracted more customers, Ford said, is that the new house of today is a better built job than its counterpart of last year. Better materials and more efficient labor contributed to the improvement.

There is conflict of opinion as to the effect of rent control on house building. Some authorities maintain the continuation of rent control has prolonged the housing shortage and is, in part, responsible for the upswing in building.

YMCA Plans Simulated UN As Student Project

Former SUI Student Wins Second Place For Bridge Design

A former SUI foreign student was recently named second place winner in a nation wide bridge designing contest, sponsored by the James F. Lincoln Arc Welding foundation.

Angel R. Lazaro Jr., Rizal, Philippines, has received an award of $1,500 for his design which features two vertical girders and a steel deck of five eighth-inch floor plate.

Lazaro's design utilizes a new Y-shaped member which not only eliminates the amount of steel required but also doubles the utility of the material used.

Lazaro received a Master's degree in civil engineering from SUI last spring, and is now spending a year in "on-the-job" training with the U.S. army engineers in Portland, Ore.

His American training is being provided under the Philippine Rehabilitation act of 1946 and emphasizes the learning of American methods and techniques.

Besides experience in designing and construction of various engineering projects in the Philippines during the last 11 years, Lazaro taught mathematics at the University of the Philippines and at the Maupa Institute of Technology where he received his B.A. degree.

GIVES LECTURE

Dr. Earle Smith, head of the SUI department of prosthetic dentistry, Monday gave an illustrated lecture on denture construction before the Ft. Dodge district dental society. The importance of proper technique was emphasized in the lecture.

The purpose of "Operation UN," Davis said, is to create a more specific understanding of the United Nations and to gain an appreciation of the difficulties and practical problems that delegates to the UN face.

This will be done by actual representation of the specific foreign countries by students on the SUI campus. The local "delegate" will correspond with his country's delegate to keep posted on developments.

The program will have three phases, Davis explained:

1. To explain, discuss and study the physical make-up of the United Nations, the administration, its function and purpose.

2. To discuss the history of the organization, including some of the documents which have been developed.

3. To discuss current problems and issues as yet unsolved by the UN.

Davis added that in YMCA membership drive publicity literature, the statement was made that the International club at SUI was founded by the "Y."

He wished to stress that the International club in its present existence was formed independently of YMCA sponsorship.

Major, Wife Find Hobby in Painting Glass

(Daily Iowan Photo)

PAINTING GLASS ISN'T JUST A WOMAN'S hobby. Maj. Irvin M. Parsons of the department of military science and tactics enjoys the craft work as much as his wife. His sportsman's set includes fish, ducks, and other game colorfully and naturally reproduced on glass. The Parsons live at 123 Ferson avenue.

Doesn't Take Training —

Glass Painting Provides New Hobby

Painting on glass a hobby his wife became interested in at her craft club, caused Maj. Irvin M. Parsons, 123 Ferson avenue, to exclaim, "That's something I couldn't do."

But the pretty dark-haired wife of the professor of military science and tactics didn't agree with him. And she was right.

Now the Parsons both enjoy painting glasses in the evening and have a fine collection of artistic reproductions on glass to prove their interest.

Although the Parsons have given many of their glasses away, they are adding to the major's sportsman's set and have saved the first of the work Mrs. Parsons did.

The major and his wife plan to add to the glasses they have now and use them as gifts later. Profiting he was no artist, Major Parsons said, "I have never had any art work at all. What we've both done is to copy pictures."

The tall youthful major showed the picture of a duck which he was transferring to a cocktail glass. "There would be even more fascinating possibilities for a free hand artist," the army officer said.

There are 14 colors in the glaze set owned by the Parsons. "We find almost every color we need for copying can be obtained by blending from the original," they said.

The beauty of the whole thing, according to the Parsons, is that "if you make a mistake, you can wipe the entire attempt off. That's true at least until the glaze is baked to permanence," Major Parsons said.

"The work is something you can do piecemeal and you don't have to finish the painting all at once," he added.

Once a painting is finished, it's baked in an oven at 300 degrees for one hour. "We've used our glasses a lot and none of the color or finish has come off," marveled the Parsons.

A hobby like painting on glass isn't expensive, they said, and it is an enjoyable pastime.

Mrs. Parsons surprised neighborhood children at Easter with gifts of former cheese glasses painted with rabbits and filled with candy. The glasses make nice gifts for any occasion, the major and his wife agreed.

Although Major Parsons said his wife was the more enthusiastic and artistic, both display their glasses along with some hand-painted plates done by the major's grandmother many years ago.

The Parsons' glass-painting enterprise provides evidence that such hobbies are becoming popular with both men and women.

Anthropologist Named Sociology Professor

David B. Stout, secretary of the American Anthropological association, has been appointed associate professor in SUI's department of sociology, Prof. Harold Saunders, department chairman, said.

Stout comes here from a position as assistant professor at Syracuse university, where he taught for three years.

He will teach "Introduction to Cultural Anthropology" and "Primitive Art and Technology" here, Saunders said.

Stout will also work in conjunction with Saunders in conducting a seminar on culture and social organization.

The new professor is the author of several books and numerous articles in anthropological journals. He also is a contributor to the New International Year Book and to a handbook of Latin-American Studies sponsored by the library of congress.

In 1940-41, Stout made an expedition to eastern Panama, where he studied and lived with the San Blas Cuna Indian tribe. His particular concern in studying this tribe, he said, was to observe their cultural changes due to Euro-American contacts.

Stout received his B.A. degree at the University of Wisconsin, his M.A. degree at the University of Michigan and his Ph.D. degree at Columbia university.

He served with the U.S. navy from 1943 to 1946 in the southwest Pacific.

Mrs. Stout and their 2-year-old son have not yet arrived in Iowa City from Syracuse.

Restaurant Menus To Show Pictures

Patrons of many of the Iowa City restaurants will soon be greeted by colorful, new menus which feature pictures of the SUI campus, Robert Gage, chamber of commerce secretary, said Monday.

Try and Stop Me

THE portly comedian, Jackie Gleason, entered a clothing store near Radio City and told the clerk, "I like that suit you have in the right corner of your window." The clerk replied insolently, "And who are you not to like it?" "I was considering boffing him on the nose," said Gleason when he reported the incident, "but he kind of won my heart by adding hastily, 'Don't get sore, Mr. Gleason. I recognized you from your pictures, and was just trying to be funny. A kid about one-tenth your size once beat me up for pulling the same line on him. I remember as if it was yesterday. In fact, it was yesterday!'"

Legal Liquor for Oklahoma?

Last Dry State in Nation Goes to Polls To Vote on Prohibition Repeal

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP) — Will Rogers once said of his native state: Oklahoma will remain dry as long as the voters can stagger to the polls.

Whether the humorist was right will be tested today for the fifth time since Oklahoma became a state in 1907. Voters will cast ballots on repeal of prohibition.

Observers have predicted the biggest turnout of voters in state history for a special election.

Considerable national attention has been directed to the campaign because Oklahoma is the last state in the union with a constitutional ban on liquor. In the state itself, interest has been intense, and never before has the outcome been so doubtful.

Repealists have shown more confidence than ever before. They have staged a huge advertising campaign for legal liquor with the slogan: "You have it now. Do you want it legal or illegal?"

As in past campaigns, the wets have made the bootlegger a special target and have advised the voter to follow his "A-B-C's" — abolish bootleg control.

The dries marshaled their forces under one banner to fight what they call "the greatest moral battle in the history of Oklahoma."

In addition to their usual attacks against "the whiskey interests" and the distilleries, the dries have blasted the oil and gas industry. They contend the industry wants repeal as a means of preventing new taxes on crude oil and natural gas.

The dries have had the more prominent speakers, including Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), a prominent Baptist and ardent drier. Although a millionaire oilman himself, Kerr does not share the view of much of the oil industry, which favors repeal.

The dries also imported Rev. Sam Morris, "the voice of temperance" on Mexican and Texas radio stations, to conduct a whirlwind speaking tour over the state.

Practically the entire Protestant ministry of Oklahoma has joined the fight to retain prohibition, but the wets did corral one preacher, a Presbyterian, who said a citizen could vote wet and still remain a Christian.

SUI Graduate Appointed Public Affairs Assistant

George Mather, SUI graduate and former city editor of The Daily Iowan, was named Monday as an administrative assistant in the newly organized SUI institute of public affairs.

Mather attended Iowa State Teachers college for two years before coming to SUI where he received his bachelor of arts degree and a certificate in journalism in 1946.

Since graduation he has been employed at different times by the Ambro Advertising agency, Cedar Rapids, and as advertising manager of the Whiteside Sentinel, Morrison, Ill.

Three Officers Join Military Department

Three officers were recently added to the staff of SUI's military department, ROTC officials said Monday.

Lt. Col. John Arfman, former engineering adviser to the armed forces of the Philippine republic, joined the ROTC staff Aug. 22, to assume command of the engineers section of the ROTC. Arfman recently received the Legion of Honor from the Philippine government.

Capt. Glenn Kieffer, who came to SUI Aug. 25, was formerly stationed at Barksdale field, Shreveport, La. Capt. K. W. Stalnaker became an ROTC staff member Sept. 5, after spending several months at Brooks field, San Antonio, Tex. Both men are assistant professors in air science and tactics.

YWCA To Hold Opening Meeting

An opening meeting for all campus women interested in YWCA membership will be held at 4:30 p.m. today in the river room of the Iowa Union, Mrs. D.C. Wilson, executive director, said Monday.

Marian Neff, A4, freshman advisor, will conduct a special freshman meeting which will follow the regular session. She will explain the year's program then.

The freshman "Y" will have its own cabinet. Its president will be a member of the all-association cabinet, Mrs. Wilson said.

Plans will be made for the annual "mum sale" sponsored by the freshman YWCA. This sale is backed by a seven-year tradition. Some of the proceeds will be used for freshman Y activities.

Kiwanis Members Hear SUI Chemist

Prof. H.L. Olin, who recently returned from Mexico, will speak this noon to the weekly luncheon meeting of the Iowa City Kiwanis club, Prof. A.H. Moehlman, program chairman said Monday.

Olin, a member of the SUI department of chemical engineering faculty, went to Mexico to assist the Mexican government as a consulting engineer in a survey of coal and fuel resources.

The subject of Olin's address will be "Glimpses of Old Mexico," Moehlman said.

Courthouse Custodian Clint Stimmel assisted the sheriff tear apart several machines confiscated from the Ranch supper club at Cou Falls June 4, by state agents. Coins from the slot machines were turned over to the Johnson county school fund. Liquor confiscated in the same raid will be turned over to local hospitals for medical use.

Mountaineers Plan Movies

The Iowa Mountaineers, SUI climbing and hiking club, has arranged a series of 12 travelogues for the 1949-50 year.

Other activities planned for the year include a series of camping, skiing and skating outings this winter, and horseback and climbing expeditions in the fall and spring.

The annual summer expedition of the Mountaineers will be in the Canadian Rockies this year, from Aug. 12 to Sept. 4. Base camp will be at Lake O'Hara, Alberta. An ascent of Devil's Tower, Wyoming is planned on the homeward trip.

Travelogue series opens Oct. 9 with a program, "My Hawaii", presented by Aloha Baker, one of the world's most-traveled women. Color movies of the South Sea islands are included.

Color movies of the "Snow Sentinels of the Pacific Northwest" and highlights of the Mountaineers' 1949 summer outing will be presented Dec. 4 by last year's club members.

"Skis Over Europe," featuring winter sports resorts in the European Alps, will be given by John Hay on Jan. 29. The 1948 Olympic games at St. Moritz will also be discussed.

Second semester activities open with the story of "High Water in the Grand Canyon", Feb. 12. This program, by Alexander Grant, deals with a kayak trip through the canyon.

Robert Friars will tell of a journey through Paris, Normandy, Brittany, the Riviera and the French Alps at the Feb. meeting. "Land of the Mayas," color movies taken among the ruins of the ancient Mayan civilization, will be presented March 5 by explorer Ava Hamilton.

The March 19 travelogue is a journey through New Mexico, editorial and business staff positions are open to students of any classification and major, as an extra-curricular activity.

Freshmen Nurses Given Scholarships By Cancer Society

Six SUI nursing freshmen are among 53 Iowa girls who have received nursing scholarships from the Iowa division of the American Cancer society, the school of nursing announced Monday.

Two of the six girls are enrolled under the new four-year program for nurses at SUI. They are Aloma J. Frerichs, Lansing, and Elizabeth O'Riley, Waukon.

Others who received the cancer society scholarships, all enrolled under the three-year program, are Orpha M. Craig, Weldon; Darlene Hannam, Toeterville; Meri Hill, Nodaway, and Ruth Johnson, Missouri Valley.

The scholarships pay costs of tuition, fees, books and uniforms, according to Jean Baer, school of nursing counselor. They were made possible by an allocation of funds from last spring's cancer fund drive to help relieve the acute shortage of nurses.

Applicants for the scholarships are asked to nurse in Iowa for two years after graduation, but there are no restrictions as to race, creed, or color.

To be eligible, girls must be in the upper one-third or one-half of their high school class. Awards are also based partly on the basis of need.

WSUI Starts Program Featuring Dixieland Jazz

Tune in WSUI tonight at 9:15 if you have a hankering for fond memories of "those good ol' days" that mother and father talk about.

Old time records, many of them collectors' items, will be brought back on "Jazz You Like It," a new weekly 40-minute program which will replace "Campus Show" on Tuesday nights only.

A second WSUI program director, will bring radio listeners closer to the Iowa School for the Blind, Vinton.

Beginning Saturday, students and staff members of the blind school will conduct programs the first Saturday of each month from 11 to 11:20 a.m.

Zan Faigen, C4, will serve as master of ceremonies on the "Jazz You Like It" program. Faigen, 1946 Illinois high school state extemporaneous speaker champion, will comment on many of the selections and musicians heard on the program.

Dixieland jazz of the "New Orleans type" will be part of tonight's airing of the new program.

Typical of the old time records are some recordings, now collectors' items, of Bix Beiderbecke, coronet jazz specialist of the twenties and thirties.

Jazz, however, will not be featured alone on the program. The accent will be on music not ordinarily heard on the airwaves today—whether it be sweet swing, blues or a piano solo.

The first few programs by Vinton students will tell the story of the school's start and progress during the first few years. Musical, dramatic and documentary programs will follow in the series scheduled to continue throughout the school year.

Ballantyne Reveals Jobs for Students Becoming Scarce

Many students looking for part-time work this fall will be unable to find jobs unless the supply of potential employers increases, Robert Ballantyne, manager of the student aid and placement bureau, said Monday.

"Compared with last year, the number of students looking for part-time jobs seems to have increased this fall while the number of available jobs and potential employers seems to have decreased," Ballantyne said.

He urged people in Iowa City who wanted student help to house clean, put up storm windows, or rake lawns, to contact his office at room 111 University hall at once.

Men students with special skills such as plumbing, carpentering, and painting are also available, Ballantyne added.

More student women have applied for jobs as file clerks and part time stenographers than the bureau has been able to place. Most job offers the bureau has had this fall for student women have been for housework, Ballantyne said.

A list of student women looking for jobs as baby sitters also is available at the office.

Blast Joe Page With 4-Run 8th

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—The brawny men of Boston finally got even with Joe Page Monday, storming into the American league lead with a 7-6 triumph over the New York Yankees on a four-run blast against Fireman Joe in the eighth inning.

Breaking an exact first place tie with the Yanks, the Sox exploded two big innings for their 10th straight victory of a

Clipper May Play
Joe DiMaggio, the New York Yankees' high-priced outfielder, may recover from a virus infection in time for the last two games of the season with the Boston Red Sox Saturday and Sunday, Dr. Jacques Fischl announced Monday.

Joe became ill Sept. 18. "He will be permitted to get out of bed today and should be able to work out by Thursday," the Yankee physician said. "He should be ready to play in the final series of the year with the Red Sox this week-end."

late September surge. It was the first time this season the Yanks had been in the lead. With five games to go, this is how it looks:

	W	L	GB	To Play
Boston	49	35	5	5
New York	49	36	1	5

And so the Yanks who led Boston by 12 games the night of July 4 and had an imposing five game bulge on the losing side some 10 days ago, finally have been collared.

From now on they play at home, three with Philadelphia and a final pair with Boston Saturday and Sunday. The Sox close it out on the road, three at Washington, starting tonight, and the final two at the Yankee stadium.

The mighty Sox with the leading batsmen, home run hitter and runs batted in ace in their lineup, had to resort to the squeeze play to eke out this all-important run.

... And the Bosox Take Over First

Bobby Doerr's squeeze bunt to First Baseman Tommy Henrich moved Johnny Pesky home with the tie-breaking run against Page. Most of the big throng of 66,156 roared with Catcher Ralph Houk in a strenuous beef at plate Umpire Bill Grieve on the play at the plate. It was close but the ump ruled the sliding Pesky safe.

Almost everything that could happen did happen during the nerve-racking, three hours and 18 minute thriller as the Yanks recovered from a three-run Boston first inning to move out front with four in the fourth.

Adding to their advantage in the sixth and seventh, they crumbled in the big eighth as Page lost his fourth straight ball game. It was Joe's third failure within a week.

For a time it looked as though lefty Page, the capable reliever, was enroute to another of his sparkling performances. Coming in to replace Fred Sanford in the fifth he sailed through the sixth and seventh without trouble. The end came suddenly and he wasn't all to blame. A line drive single by Dom DiMaggio that Phil Rizzuto wasn't able to hold following a single by Birdie Tebbetts and a walk to Pinch-Hitter Lou Stringer, the telling blow. Little Phil leaped as far as he could go but simply couldn't hold Dom's smash which rolled into short left.

Coach Leonard Raffensperger expects the squad to be swelled by at least 15 or 20 players this week. Equipment was checked out and a practice session dealing mostly with getting acquainted with the players was the work completed Monday.

Raffensperger said the primary emphasis will be on fundamentals and that the squad will drill for a few weeks before cutting of the squad takes place. Raffensperger added that a complete roster of frosh players would be released today.

Golf Team Tryouts To Begin Wednesday

Golf tryouts, open to all SUI students, will start Wednesday, Coach Bucky O'Connor announced Monday. Play in the 72-hole open has to be completed by Oct. 4. O'Connor said the object of the tryouts is an attempt to find the top golfers for the varsity season in the spring.

Nearly 100 Frosh Out for Football

Football drills began Monday for approximately 100 Hawkeyes turning out for the SUI freshman squad. Coach Leonard Raffensperger expects the squad to be swelled by at least 15 or 20 players this week. Equipment was checked out and a practice session dealing mostly with getting acquainted with the players was the work completed Monday.

PONDER WINS AT BELMONT

NEW YORK (AP)—Ponder, chief claimant to the three-year-old title, took another big stride in that direction at Belmont park Monday by winning the Lawrence realization as Calumet farm and Jockey Steve Brooks crashed through with four triumphs.

Billiard Shot Nets Iowan Hole-in-One

The second hole-in-one in the career of Major Everett A. McDonald, former SUI student, is leading people to believe that he is combining golf and billiards. Word from Fifth Air Force headquarters at Nagoya, Japan, where McDonald is stationed, says that he recently half-topped the little white ball as he drove from the tee at the fourth hole of the Nagoya Country club links. The ball hit the road near the green at 170-yards, where it was deflected, only to circle and finally drop into the cup.

A similar shot in the United States in 1947 netted Major McDonald his initial hole-in-one. Major McDonald played football and basketball at Tipton High school before entering SUI in 1947. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.H. McDonald of route 6, Iowa City.

Dyer Still Not 'Sure'

Takes Nothing for Granted Despite Redbirds 1 1/2 Game Lead with 5 Tilts to Go

By JOE REICHLER
PITTSBURGH (AP)—Eddie Dyer, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, is taking nothing for granted despite the fact his team is leading the Brooklyn Dodgers by a game and a half with only five to go. "Look, partner," he said, "baseball is a very funny business. You're never 'in' until the other team is mathematically out. Of course, I think we'll win, but you can't depend upon anybody else."

The ruddy-faced skipper from down Texas way reiterated his intention of starting George (Red) Mungler, his ace right-hander, against the Pirates here tonight. He will be opposed by southpaw Willie (11-12) Werle.

The 30-year-old Mungler owns a fine 15-7 record, but he has been rather roughly handled by the Bucs, who have beaten him four times in five decisions. They drove him out of the box in two other starts, but another Card flinger was charged with those losses. Werle's record against St. Louis is 0-2.

The two teams, who stand even in 20 clashes thus far, meet again Wednesday afternoon in their season's finale against each other. The game originally was scheduled for Thursday, but league President Ford Frick granted permission to move the game up one day to forestall a possible rain and cancellation.

Pirate leader Bill Meyer already has named Murry Dickson for that one. The little right-hander possesses a modest 11-14 record, but he's won nine and lost only three since July. He holds four victories over his former Cardinal teammates.

Dyer is undecided between sighthanders Gerald (10-9) Staley and Fred (6-0) Martin for his Wednesday pitcher.

Then for the first time in many days, the Cards will field their regular lineup. Dyer reported that nearly all of his "cripples" were sound again. Chuck Diering, he of the sprained left ankle, will be in center. Enos Slaughter, who was lightly shaken up Sunday in a collision with Chicago's First

Cross-Country Team Preparing for Meet Against Illini, Oct. 8

Cross-country runners at SUI were reported in "fair" condition Monday but Coach Francis Cretzmeier said that there will be plenty of work for the Hawkeyes prior to the Illinois meet here Oct. 8.

A 13-man squad, which has been working for a week, will report to the squad on Monday.

Bill Snook, highly-regarded sophomore from Freeport, Ill., has been hampered by a chipped bone in his toe but should be ready for the Illinois meet. Jack Davis, Iowa City, is another sophomore with good running ability.

Veteran track men expected to bolster the squad are Jack Copeland, Des Moines; Keith Brown, Cedar Rapids; Bill Bye, Odebolt and Elliott McDonald, Davenport.

Other squad members include Jack Griswold, Clarinda; Mel Rosen, Brooklyn, N.Y.; John Hargrove, Jackson, Mich.; Dick Fishbaugh, Shenandoah; Bill Crow, Waterloo; Ken Carman, Cresco; and John Collins, Chicago, Ill.

Gehrmann to Lead Wisconsin Harriers

A strong University of Wisconsin cross country team, headed by Don Gehrmann and Jim Urquhart, will be gunning for its fifth conference title in the past six years this fall.

Gehrmann, who was captain in 1948 and elected captain again this year, is the ace of the Badger squad. Only one man finished ahead of him in cross-country competition last year. Robert Black, Rhode Island, beat him in the NCAA meet.

Gehrmann has been the conference champion for the past two years and has twice received the Bill Goldie trophy for being an outstanding performer at Wisconsin.

Urquhart placed third in the conference meet and eighth in the national meet last year.

Other major lettermen who will help Badger prospects are Dick Randolph, Glenn Weeks, Richard Beck and Carl Metzker.

The Wisconsin team is coached by Guy Sundt.

Vogel Begins Fall Baseball Practice

About 40 candidates were on hand for the opening of fall baseball practice on the Iowa diamond Monday.

Coach Otto Vogel said the group included about nine frosh moundsmen that he wants to get a look at before winter sets in. He said he expects about 50 varsity men to be working out regularly, after practices get into full swing.

Monday's workout consisted mainly of limbering up.

The squad will continue daily practices as long as the weather permits. Vogel said that last year the team practiced until Nov. 2.

Iowa Cage Center Enters Vanderbilt

Al Weiss, member of the Iowa basketball squad last year, has not returned to school this fall. He is now enrolled at Vanderbilt university, Nashville, Tenn.

Weiss is a 6-foot, 4-inch center from Chicago, Ill. He attended Kelyvn Park high school, where in his senior year (1947) he was selected on the all-city squad.

Weiss, as a member of the Hawkeyes last season, started most of the non-conference games but saw only limited action in conference games.

To Defend Titles

Nine members of the 1948 Michigan State cross-country squad that scored the first "grand slam" in cross-country history by winning the ICA meet, the NCAA title, and the NAAU crown, will be on hand to defend the titles during the 1949 season.

Hawks Get Ready for Purdue With Pass Defense Practice

Coach Eddie Anderson put his Hawkeyes to work Monday in preparation for Saturday's conference opener against Purdue at Lafayette, Ind.

Anderson had numerous objectives in mind, such as elimination of fumbles, bolstering the pass defense, and co-ordinating some of that offensive power which at times spluttered against UCLA.

"Purdue has the personnel to be a fine football team and probably will give us all sorts of trouble. I expect that Harry Szulborski will strengthen the Purdue attack," Dr. Anderson said.

He said that in general he was not discouraged with the play of the Iowa team Saturday.

"We made a lot of mistakes which were costly. I think the men learned a lot and the sophomores will be more sure of themselves in the second game," the coach declared.

Maury Kent, Iowa scout, came back to Iowa City with the story that Purdue showed flashes of the old-time Purdue smoothness in the 20-6 loss to Northwestern.

"Of course, as Szulborski goes, so goes Purdue — and the half-back who led the conference in yards gained rushing for two seasons did not play. With him in the lineup, the Purdue attack undoubtedly will be many yards greater in efficiency," Kent said.

Purdue has a big and active line, Kent warned, but he obviously miss Bob DeMoss as a passer. Bob Hartman and Kenney completed 9 of 17 for 191 yards, but Northwestern rushed them hard and threw them for more than 50 yards of losses.

"The whole Purdue team looks capable of coming back very strong, and the return of Szulborski will give them a big lift," Kent said.

Iowa was fortunate Saturday in that no players sustained any injuries that will handicap them.

Of Iowa's 33 players who saw action Saturday, 14 were entering collegiate competition for the first time.

Bill Reichardt, sophomore full-back, had a 9.4-yard average by rushing and Don Riley, the other sophomore fullback, averaged 4.8 per crack. Jerry Fakke carried the ball five times for a 9-yard average.

The Hawks averaged 4.6 yards per play on the ground against UCLA's 2.2. Iowa picked up a total of 447 yards, which was the greatest made against a majoring team during the coaching of Dr. Anderson here.

Football Coach Stu Holcomb. Szulborski sat out Saturday's opening loss to Northwestern because of a leg injury. Holcomb said the crushing left halfback would start against Iowa in the Boiler-makers' home opener.

The Purdue squad reviewed a scouting report on the Iowa-UCLA game Monday and then ran through a light conditioning drill. Holcomb said his squad would be at full strength for Iowa, barring injuries in practice this week.

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Handicapped by time and a dismal debut, Coach Bennie Oosterbaan began pulling his Michigan champions together Monday for Saturday's clash with Stanford on the coast.

The Wolverines must be ready to leave by plane Thursday, giving them less than the usual week's practice.

Oosterbaan, recovering from a respiratory ailment, started the boys off slowly today with lectures and drills. A step-up in tempo is due today.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Head Coach Bernie Bierman put his Minnesota Gophers through a light workout Monday, a breathery they earned in Saturday's 48-20 rout of Washington.

Most of the 45 players who saw action against the Huskies ran through signals. There was no contact work except for the tail end varsity men, who scrimmaged the freshmen team. Practice was brief, with a chalk talk afterward.

Tom Krueger, 220 pound Duluth sophomore, worked out at the second string left guard berth. He replaced Gene Fritz, who suffered a broken leg Saturday.

BLOOMINGTON (AP)—Indiana University counted its football injuries today as its battered team began preparations for its Big Ten opener at Ohio State Saturday.

Bill Smith, a versatile junior, was moved to left guard as a replacement for sophomore Joe Balaban and veteran Walter Bartkiewicz. Balaban suffered a torn knee cartilage against Notre Dame Saturday and will be out for the season. Bartkiewicz, just recovered from a splintered bone, was re-injured against the Irish.

Jack Dolan was shifted into the number one center spot in place of Bob Stebbins, also hurt in action against Notre Dame. Coach Clyde Smith said Stebbins may not be ready for the Buckeye clash.

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State's first-string griders were excused Monday from a brief scrimmage in which the second-stringers tied the third and fourth squads 6-6.

AMES (AP)—The Iowa State Cyclones ran through a light football drill in the rain Monday. There was no contact work.

The Cyclones, in high spirits after Saturday's 20-20 tie with Illinois, worked on blocking assignments and kickoff coverage.

Didn't Use Hawkeye Plays, Says Sanders

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coach Henry (Red) Sanders of UCLA said Monday he made no use of information on Iowa plays given him by a former Hawkeye player before Saturday's game.

Iowa supporters said Sanders had received telephone calls from Jim Lawrence, a former Iowa griddier, UCLA won, 41-25.

Sanders said none of the information did him any good. "I've never felt more un-guilty about anything," he told a football writers' meeting. "I consider the whole thing a joke and the way we played in the first half proved it."

Asked if any of the three calls from Lawrence at Iowa City had been made collect Sanders replied: "One was collect. I make it a policy always of accepting collect calls. I got one of the best football players I've ever had that way."

Illini, Wisconsin to Renew Old Grid Fued

One of the oldest Big Ten football rivalries will be renewed Saturday when Illinois and Wisconsin clash in Memorial stadium at Champaign, Ill.

As on nine other occasions since the rivalry began, the two teams will be out to gain a series lead. In 25 previous meetings the Illini and Badgers have each won 11 times with three contests ending in a draw.

During the longest string of annual meetings from 1914 to 1923, both teams made a practice of frustrating the other's title plans.

In 1920 and 1924, the Badgers knocked the Illini championship aspirations into a spiral. In 1922 Illinois dashed Wisconsin's crown hopes when Rune Clark beat them on a drop kick, 3-0.

Trippi Paces Cards To 38-7 Triumph

CHICAGO (AP)—Charging Charlie Trippi and Bulldozing Pat Harder sparked the Chicago Cardinals to a 38-7 triumph over the Washington Redskins Monday night in their first National football game of 1949.

Trippi, a Georgia star, kicked the dirt into clouds as he carried the ball 10 times for 129 yards, a 12.9 yard per try average, returned two punts for 36 yards and caught three of Paul Christman's passes for a total of 50 yards. He dodged for one touchdown on one of the passes and he tore three yards through the line for another tally.

But Harder, the league leader in scoring last season with 110 points in 12 games, took a rocket start toward another such campaign with 20 mighty points for this first night of play.

Jack Spencer Named Aide to Pops Harrison

Jack Spencer, basketball guard during the Murray Wier era, has returned to his old haunts, this time in the capacity of assistant coach to Pops Harrison.

Hawkeye officials said Harrison had selected Spencer as his aide for the coming year.

TITLE FIGHT SET? NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing club, said Monday the postponed world middleweight title bout between Jake LaMotta, New York titleholder, and Marcel Cerdan of France would be reset for sometime in December if possible. The fight, originally scheduled at the Polo Grounds here next Wednesday night, was postponed last week because of a shoulder injury which LaMotta received in training.

HALLIBURTON RETURNS Jim Halliburton, Iowa halfback who left the squad early in pre-season practice and who was reported to be headed for the University of Minnesota has enrolled for the fall semester. Nothing has been said about a return to the Hawkeye football team.

Homecoming Parade Scheduled Oct. 14

Festivities Include Open House, Dance

Iowa City will be a center of colorful festivity Oct. 14-15. On those two days, students, residents and visitors will observe and participate in what is planned to be the most gala occasion of the year, "Homecoming Day."

Further plans were made Monday at a meeting of the Homecoming committee to arrange a schedule which will attract, in addition to alumni, families and friends of students and residents and visitors from all the neighboring communities.

Clinton street will be the site of Iowa City's first Homecoming parade. Passing a reviewing stand at Clinton street and Iowa avenue Friday night, Oct. 14, will be a line of floats, girls, marchers and horses celebrating the meeting of the Iowa Hawkeyes and the Indiana Hoosiers the following day.

A Homecoming open house will be held at the Iowa Union Friday night after the parade. Louis Zopf, chairman of the Homecoming committee said.

Everyone — alumni, students, townpeople and visitors — is welcome to attend, the chairman said. "It will be no stiff-shirt affair," Frank Burge, assistant director of the Union, emphasized.

Refreshments will be served and all homecomers can make the Union a central spot, Burge said.

An informal dance will be held in the River room of the Union at 10 p.m. the same night, for those not attending other attractions.

There will also be a registration of alumni at the Union from Friday noon throughout Saturday for the convenience of homecomers in locating old class mates.

An all-university student dance will be held Saturday night from 8-12 with Artie Shaw's orchestra playing, Burge said.

William Coder, chairman of the parade committee, said there was a possibility that the floats participating in the parade Friday night might also be put on display somewhere in the vicinity of the stadium so that visitors not arriving in the city until Saturday could see them. This feature of the plans is not certain, he pointed out.

"There seems to be no question about the number of entries in the parade," Coder told the committee. "It's going to be large."

The parade committee chairman said last week that 35 to 40 horses would be entered in the parade by the local Saddle club.

Active Polio Cases Down; One Death

One death, three admittances and six transfers to the inactive list Monday brought the total number of active polio cases under treatment at University hospitals down to 26.

The polio victim was Charles Madison, 32, Cedar Rapids, who died at 8:25 a.m.

Michael McFarland, 3, was admitted to the active list in "serious" condition, according to hospital officials. Also admitted, both in "fair" condition, were Chris Onnen, 3, Lone Tree; and Vicki Wood, 2, Waterloo.

Transferred to inactive wards were Maurie Nordsman, 32, Cedar Falls; Robert Specht, 18, Bellevue; Mary Brogan, 17 months, Waterloo; Alfred Lingle, 2, Clinton; Barbara Patchin, 18 months, Waterloo; and Michael Perry, 3, Eddyville.

Wife Shows All Except to Hubby

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Almost everybody saw more of his wife than he did, Actor Paul Valentine complained Monday, winning a divorce from Strip-teaser Lili St. Cyr.

Valentine said he made a home for his silver-blond wife, but she refused to give up her career. As a result, the only time he got to see her was when he could get her billing in Hollywood. He charged that this constituted mental cruelty.

Valentine, who also is the dancer's manager, said he will continue to create and stage her routines. She is filling an engagement in Montreal, and was not in court.

Two Evicted Old Ladies Invited For Dinner, Remain for Week

By LAURA ETZ

CHICAGO (UP) — Two "sweet" old ladies, who went to dinner at a befriender's home and wouldn't leave until police action was threatened, turned up Monday night in a dingy backyard.

Earlier they had picked up their belongings in a red coaster wagon, leashed their two big hounds and disappeared from the garage quarters where they had stayed for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Madonia, who offered them the dinner and then couldn't get rid of them, sought police action because the dogs "were driving us crazy."

The women had said they were Nancy and Catherine Adams, sisters, and over 65.

In the yard, Nancy Adams said that "we are well able to take care of ourselves."

"We are members of an old respectable Chicago family," she said, drawing herself up proudly.

It was learned in the neighborhood that the sisters had occupied an $11 a month basement apartment, but were evicted for non-payment of rent.

They spoke vaguely of "owning a building" and having a room there, but appeared to have no place to go. They said several times that they "didn't want to be bothered."

Mrs. Madonia saw the women standing forlornly by a pile of baggage while she was on her way to the grocery store last Monday. The two hounds, one black and one white, were beside them.

In small voices they said they were the sisters Nancy and Catherine Adams, and "both over 65." They had been evicted that morning.

"I felt sorry for them," Mrs. Madonia said. "I brought them some hot milk and asked them home to dinner and told them they could stay in our garage for the night."

That was the start of the Madonias' troubles. The old ladies settled down in the garage and made no move to leave. The hounds bayed lustily and ate up all the scraps from the Madonia table. The ladies ate heartily too.

Mrs. Madonia said she kept asking them every day when they were going to leave.

"Tomorrow, they would say, always it was tomorrow," Mrs. Madonia said.

Finally, although it was "against my principles," Mrs. Madonia decided to go to the police. When she first inquired about a warrant, police came to her home and questioned the old ladies for hours.

The sisters smiled at each other and kept telling the police "We're Nancy and Catherine Adams, both over 65." They added vaguely that they had been living with a brother, who had died recently.

Mrs. Madonia went to the police station to swear out a disorderly conduct warrant against them. But while she was gone, the old ladies loaded up their wagon and trudged off. No one knew where.

Bury Police Sgt. Shot by Daughter In Mercy Killing

STAMFORD, CONN. (AP) — Police Sgt. Carl Paight, killed by an adoring 20-year-old daughter who said she couldn't bear to see him suffer from cancer, was buried Monday. His daughter Carol did not attend the services. She was under guard at Stamford hospital.

A crowd of nearly 1,000 filled the First Methodist church for the funeral. Miss Paight's physician said her "highly nervous" condition and frequent hysteria made it impossible for her to attend the funeral. She still did not realize that she had fired a bullet into her father's head last Friday night as he lay in a hospital bed, half conscious from the effects of anesthesia used in an exploratory operation only a few hours before, the physician said.

Mrs. Paight and her son, a few years older than Carol, attended both services, but the officer's 90-year-old mother was unable to join her other five sons and four daughters who were among the mourners.

What immediate action would be taken against Carol, a senior at New England college, was uncertain. Formally charged with murder, she must await the issuance of a coroner's finding and the summoning of a grand jury before she is brought into superior court at Bridgeport.

Vandenberg Enters Michigan Hospital

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich.), entered the University of Michigan hospital Monday night for a possible operation on a lung lesion.

Dr. John Alexander said he would examine the 65-year-old senator tomorrow to determine whether an operation will be necessary.

"Sen. Vandenberg is here for examination and diagnosis," Dr. Alexander said.

"The nature of his illness is not definitely known. Several days will be spent in examinations. Whether or not he is to have an operation will naturally depend on the conditions we find."

Physicians in Washington reportedly have urged Vandenberg for months to have the operation. He had postponed the action while major foreign affairs issues cleared through the upper house.

Vandenberg, who earlier this year announced plans to retire from public office at the end of his term in 1952, recently underwent a preliminary checkup at the hospital here.

Robert E. Farrell, company official, said the accident was caused by a defective switch. He said that the point of the switch was raised, forcing the flange of one wheel ride on top of the switch thereby derailing the car.

This caused several wheels on several cars to rise up over the switch," Farrell said. About 10 cars derailed before Brakeman L.B. Post could bring the train to a halt, he added.

Farrell estimated the damage to be approximately $900. He said

Faulty Switch Derails Crandic

Confusion aplenty to passengers traveling between Iowa City and Cedar Rapids late Sunday night and Monday morning was caused by the derailment of a Crandic railroad freight train about 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

The derailment took place nearly midway between the company's repair barn and the dispatch office in the Cedar Rapids yards.

Passengers to and from Cedar Rapids had to leave their coach and walk about 450 feet along the tracks before resuming their journey.

Robert E. Farrell, company official, said the accident was caused by a defective switch. He said that the point of the switch was raised, forcing the flange of one wheel ride on top of the switch thereby derailing the car.

This caused several wheels on several cars to rise up over the switch," Farrell said. About 10 cars derailed before Brakeman L.B. Post could bring the train to a halt, he added.

Music Group Launches Membership Drive

Don't be surprised this week to see people running around in bright red "gob" hats like the one Mary Martin is wearing in the current musical hit, "South Pacific."

The persons under the hats are obtaining memberships for the Iowa City Civic Music association concert series.

A drive for 1,200 memberships was launched Monday evening at a pre-kick-off dinner for about 125 guests in the main dining room at the Hotel Jefferson. The drive ends Saturday, Oct. 1.

Charles Jones of the Chicago Civic Music office told the group a successful drive could bring such well-known artists as Eleanor Steber, Patrice Munsel, Gladys Swarthout, Jan Pierce, Thomas L. Thomas and Robert Merrill, for concerts in Iowa City.

Civic Music, which started in this country 28 years ago, is depending more and more upon American artists for its concerts, Jones declared.

Of last year's series, all three concerts featured American artists; John Creighton Murray, violinist; Iva Kitchell, satiric dancer; and Dorothy Eustice, pianist.

Mrs. Robert Gibson, mistress of ceremonies, stressed the importance of student memberships. Four representatives from each of Iowa City's four high schools will seek memberships among their classmates, she said.

Special student rates will be available to SUI students, also. These may be secured at Civic Music headquarters in the lobby of the Hotel Jefferson.
