HAWKEYES BATTLE ILLINOIS TODAY

Senate Reverses Stand, Rejects Parity Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate turned down mandatory 90 percent of parity price supports for basic farm commodities Friday.

By a vote of 45 to 26 it reversed the decision of last Tuesday that snarled up price support legislation and sent it back to committee for a new start.

Then it pressed on toward a vote on the measure by Sen. Clinton Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture, for so-called "flexible" supports of 75 to 90 percent of parity.

(Parity is a price calculated to give farmers a "fair" return in terms of the price of things they buy.)

Iowa's United States senators agreed Friday in their opposition to rigid support of farm prices.

Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper (R) and Sen. Guy Gillette (D) voted against the amendment.

The vote climaxed an angry fight over the height of the floor under prices of five commodities—corn, wheat, cotton, rice and peanuts.

Tobacco, the sixth "basic" commodity, was not directly involved because it would get 90 per cent support under both the last amendment and the pending bill.

The 19-vote margin against the 90 percent amendment by Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga.) and Milton Young (R-ND) was a surprise even to opponents.

Brannan stated his opinions in a letter to chairman Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) of the senate agriculture committee. Thomas is backing the high percentage support amendment.

Brannan's letter to Thomas, dated Friday, asserted that "the question of level of supports for basic, storable commodities is a very small part of the entire farm price and income problem."

"The major part of the current problem, in my opinion, is the provision of adequate support for the principal sources of farm income—namely, meat animals, milk, poultry, eggs and some fruits and vegetables—and how to deal with the surpluses that are daily accumulating."

Howard Unruh, who shot and killed 13 persons one month ago, was found insane Friday and will be committed to a mental institution, from which he could be released at any time.

Under New Jersey law, Unruh could be released on being pronounced cured or under habeas corpus proceedings. But Camden County Prosecutor Mitchell Cohen said he would oppose freedom for the 28-year-old killer, "as long as I live."

Cohen already had obtained murder indictments against Unruh, who turned a quiet Camden street into 20-minutes of mass

Mize's Long Single Breaks Ninth Inning Tie

PINCH-HITTER JOHNNY MIZE of the New York Yankees stepped to the plate in the ninth inning of Friday's world series game at Ebbets field and delivered a bases-loaded single to break a 1-1 tie with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Mize is shown heading for first base while Bobby Brown and Yogie Berra head for home with two big runs. Gene Woodling, went from first to third on Mize's drive against the right field screen. Solid arrow traces the flight of Mize's hit. The Yanks won the game, 4-3, to grab a 2-1 lead in games in the fall classic. (For additional details, see Page 4)

Injured Iowa Favored to Snap Illini's 7-Year Victory Streak

BY ALAN MOYER
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

A crippled but favored Iowa football team will attempt to hurdle its second Western conference foe this afternoon when Illinois, held to a pair of tie ball games this season, invades the Iowa stadium.

The Hawkeyes, seeking to snap the mastery Illinois has shown in winning the last seven games with Iowa, got off to a winning conference campaign last Saturday by thumping Purdue, 21-7, before 30,000 Dad's Day fans at Lafayette, Ind.

But the triumph proved costly to Hawkeye manpower, as Guard Earl Banks and Quarterback Glenn Drahn sustained injuries that could be a telling factor in today's battle.

The Illini, on the other hand, are at full strength physically, after being held to deadlocks by Iowa State in the season's opener and by Wisconsin in a Big Ten contest last week.

Upward to 50,000 fans are expected to be on hand for the kickoff at 1:30, depending upon the mood of the weather man, who Friday night promised rain over most of Iowa, with an accompanying wind to bother the passing and kicking of both teams.

A jinx-breaking victory for Iowa would go a long way in getting the team off to its best conference season since 1939. It would put the record at two wins and no losses, discounting the non-conference loss to UCLA in the season's opener here Sept. 24th, and send the Hawks against one of the weaker teams in the league next week when Indiana's Hoosiers provide the opposition for the Homecoming game here.

Dr. Eddie Anderson has been forced by the injuries suffered against Purdue to juggle his starting lineup, shifting a great deal of the responsibility to the inexperienced sophomores and to the reserves.

Principal backfield replacement is slated for the signaling spot, where Fred Ruck, a sophomore gifted with plenty of football ability, will replace Drahn, the junior who has completed 17 of 37 passes, traveled 300 yards by air and tossed for four touchdowns.

His mates at the opening kickoff will be Veteran Bob Longley at left halfback, and Iowa Citizens, Mearl Naber, right halfback and Bill Reichardt, fullback. Reichardt compiled a 9.2 average in 10 thrusts at the UCLA line two weeks ago but bogged down against Purdue. However, Mike Riley, who moves like a freight train when he gets moving, took up the slack and set up Iowa's second touchdown.

In place of Banks, voted by the Associated Press as the nation's second best lineman for his performance against the Boiler-makers, will be "Junebug" Perrin, a seasoned veteran who'll be all out to capably fill Banks' shoes at right guard. In eight seasons of football, four in high school and four in college, the colorful 200-pound guard has never missed a game.

Sources close to Saechi said Crosby would sing a special group of religious songs and it was hoped he would sing in the presence of Pope Pius XII.

Lemay, chewing vigorously on one of his black stogies, refused to answer questions of newsmen. The top-level discussion was attended by Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington and Air Force Chief of Staff, Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg.

The Russians hit back at the west German republic at Bonn, on the Rhine, by creating a government of their own in the ruins of Hitler's Nazi headquarters at east Berlin.

A group of Communists and hand-picked sympathizers making up the people's council appointed themselves the government for the 20-million Germans in the Soviet zone. They claimed power over all Germany. They passed a law to legalize the regime.

A 20-point manifesto was adopted, obviously linking German territory east of the Elbe river with Moscow and the Cominform satellite states.

The new Soviet regime is "the German Democratic Republic." The government of the three western zones, covering 46-million Germans, is the "German Federal Republic."

Navy Ignored, Radford Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy's No. 1 airman Friday branded the proud B-36 atom-bomber a "billion dollar blunder" and charged that the defense high command is freezing the navy out on decisions vital to victory in any future war.

No sooner had Admiral Arthur Radford, Pacific fleet commander and noted naval aviator, made his charges before the house armed services committee than a move sprang up in congress to curb Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson's powers.

All the long-smouldering unrest in the navy exploded in a flat charge by Radford that the airforce is "trying to eliminate" the navy's air arm.

The handsome 53-year-old flying admiral first unloaded a smashing derisive attack on the airforce's gigantic B-36 as an over-rated 1941 model, "slow, expensive, very vulnerable."

Then the committee, delving into policy differences on war strategy in the Pentagon, poked into the upper levels.

Rep. Porter Hardy (D-Va) wanted to know if there is in the navy a feeling of confidence in the offices of Secretary Johnson and Secretary of the Navy Francis Matthews.

In the tense hearing room, Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga) counseled: "Put your cards on the table."

And the outspoken naval veteran of two wars, speaking slowly and with carefully chosen words, replied:

"I feel the general impression in the navy is that decisions are being made in the highest offices in the defense establishment without adequate information that can come only from the navy."

Radford also observed that if opinions are requested of navy officers "they are not given enough weight."

Cuts Ordered . . .
PETERSBURG, VA. (AP) — Gen. Joseph McNarney, defense "unity expediter," revealed Friday night that the three armed services have been ordered to cut current spending about 10 percent across the board with "some leniency" toward the airforce.

The cut would amount to about $1.3-billion during the present fiscal year which ends next June 30. McNarney disclosed plans for the cutback in an address before the Quartermasters association at Camp Lee, Va.

Steelworkers Warn Of Aluminum Strike As Negotiations Bog

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The CIO united steelworkers Friday carried its fight for non-contributory pensions to the Aluminum Company of America and threatened to strike nine Alcoa plants Oct. 17.

The aluminum industry provided the fourth target in the CIO's drive for company-financed insurance and pension programs as recommended by a Presidential fact-finding board.

The giant CIO already has presented the board's recommendations for a 6-cent pension and 4-cent insurance plan in the steel industry to the automobile makers and the electrical industry.

Aside from a handful of small steel firms, only Ford Motor company made a "non-contributory" settlement acceptable to the union.

The CIO united electrical workers demanded a $500-a-year-per-employee "package" including the non-contributory pensions in negotiations with Westinghouse Electric Corp.

The latest drive was announced by James Thimmes, CIO — USW vice-president, as negotiations with Alcoa stalled.

Alcoa has not agreed to any wage increase, has rejected the union's urgent request for paid holidays and an adequate wage adjustment agreement, and has not agreed to a pension and social insurance program, Thimmes said.

Unless a settlement is reached within the next 10 days, 20,000 USW members employed by Alcoa will go on strike, Thimmes said.

The Alcoa contract was extended beyond the "basic steel" contracts with a formal 10-day notice of cancellation required before a strike.

U.S. Sends Reprimand To Chinese Communists
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States served a sharp notice on the Chinese Communists Friday that they cannot force American diplomatic recognition by "flagrant disregard" of accepted standards of international conduct.

Ching Urges John L. Lewis, Owners to Resume Coal Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Conciliation Director Cyrus Ching lectured John L. Lewis and the soft coal operators Friday on the seriousness of their 19-day old strike.

"This dispute must be settled promptly," Ching said in a statement, adding: "Each day brings the nation closer to a crisis."

Ching urged both Lewis, chief of the United Mine Workers, and the soft coal operators to resume negotiations early next week in an effort to reach a settlement.

Ching told a news conference at the end of a full day of talks with both sides that he had not given them any kind of ultimatum to settle, nor had he placed a time limit on the negotiation of a contract to supplant the one which expired last June 30.

The critical nature of the coal strike, Ching said, did not arise from a question of "stores of coal above ground."

"It is rather a question of distribution," he said, explaining that the pinch was beginning to be felt in some places.

He said he was watching the steel strike situation but had "no immediate plans" for calling in the steel strikers and steel companies.

Ching said there was "no assurance" that Lewis and the operators would be able to get together on a new contract soon, but he would watch them closely and move in when it seemed advisable.

The direct negotiations between Lewis and northern and western operators at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and the Southern Coal Producers association at Bluefield, W. Va., were suddenly interrupted Thursday when Ching invited the parties to talk over the status of their bargaining here Friday.

Russians Legalize East German Rule
BERLIN (AP) — Troubled Germany became an officially divided nation of two governments and two capitals Friday.

The Russians hit back at the west German republic at Bonn, on the Rhine, by creating a government of their own in the ruins of Hitler's Nazi headquarters at east Berlin.

A group of Communists and hand-picked sympathizers making up the people's council appointed themselves the government for the 20-million Germans in the Soviet zone. They claimed power over all Germany. They passed a law to legalize the regime.

A 20-point manifesto was adopted, obviously linking German territory east of the Elbe river with Moscow and the Cominform satellite states.

Congress Assured A-Bombs 'Instantly' Available If Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's top air force and atomic energy officials assured congress Friday that atomic bombs can be delivered to long-range, intercontinental bombers "instantly" if President Truman gives the order.

The assurances were given to the congressional atomic energy committee at a discussion so secret that even the official reporter was ordered out of the room. The legislators refused to discuss the subject of the meeting but it was clear that it involved the availability of A-bombs.

The only comment came from Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn.) chairman of the joint congressional committee. In response to questions by newsmen, he said he was "satisfied" that the atomic energy commission could turn over atomic weapons to the air force at a moment's notice.

Under present regulations, the bombs remain in the custody of the completely civilian commission unless the President orders otherwise. But McMahon told reporters that relations between the AEC and the air force are "extremely close."

The importance of the meeting was demonstrated by the presence of Lt. Gen. Curtis Lemay, who led the B-29's that battered Japan into submission, and now heads the strategic air command. He was summoned from his headquarters in Omaha last night to attend the session.

Lemay's presence apparently indicated that questions were raised about the functions of the giant B-36 bombers, the pride of the air force. They are expected to carry the brunt of strategic bombing and A-bomb delivery should war break out in the near future.

Lemay, chewing vigorously on one of his black stogies, refused to answer questions of newsmen. The top-level discussion was attended by Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington and Air Force Chief of Staff, Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg.

Kramer to Direct SUI Campus Chest
Bob Kramer, A2, Iowa City, has been named director of campus chest replacing Gaige Walters, A4, Harlan.

Walters resigned the post when he was chosen to fill a vacancy on student council by council's executive committee Tuesday. He replaces Robert Tyson, delegate at large, who did not return to school.

Council President Dick Dice, A4, Marion, announced Harlan's resignation.

Warm, What?
Calm Before Storm,
Officials Fear

Iowans enjoyed a brief siege of "Indian summer" temperatures Friday, Iowa City weather bureau officials reported the mercury soared to 85 degrees here.

Although the high mark was not a record for this date, the unseasonably warm temperatures forced many persons to shed coats for the day.

Many of those seeking relief from the heat made a rush to soda fountains, and perspiring students found SUI's classrooms unsuitable for concentration of any sort.

However, officials warned that Friday was just a part of some unusual weather around the nation and that the "mid-summer heat" would be short-lived.

Rain was forecast to move into the state today and showers threatened to dampen more than the fans' enthusiasm at the Iowa-Illinois football game.

Northern Minnesota reported rain Friday, and snow was falling in Wyoming. Friday was a pleasant day in Iowa, but weather observers viewed it as the calm before the storm.

Howard Unruh, Killer of 13, Declared Insane

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Bible-reading Howard Unruh, who shot and killed 13 persons one month ago, was found insane Friday and will be committed to a mental institution, from which he could be released at any time.

Under New Jersey law, Unruh could be released on being pronounced cured or under habeas corpus proceedings. But Camden County Prosecutor Mitchell Cohen said he would oppose freedom for the 28-year-old killer, "as long as I live."

Cohen already had obtained murder indictments against Unruh, who turned a quiet Camden street into 20-minutes of mass sanity is also characterized by incoherence of thought and action. The psychiatrists said it was their opinion that Unruh is "regularly committed" to the state hospital so people would be protected from a recurrence of impulses that led him to kill 13 persons and wound three others, who since have recovered. Unruh was shot by detectives when he barricaded himself in his second-floor apartment after the shooting.

Because of the findings, Cohen said, he had no alternative but to have Unruh committed to the mental institution.

Report from the East—

China has passed into Communist hands, the perfect example of what happens to a nation when it is torn from within.

But China won't be the last far eastern area to fade into the Communist sphere if two policies — one of them by the United States and the other by the United Nations — are continued to their ultimate outcome.

Last summer, 13 American journalists died in a Bombay air crash as they returned from a first-hand investigation of the Indonesian crisis.

Before they died, however, they told the world what was wrong in Indonesia.

It isn't a rosy picture. A few months ago it was all the Dutch. The Dutch were colonizing. The Dutch were taking advantage of war-racked Indonesia.

According to dispatches written by the ill-fated newsmen — including Pulitzer prize-winning S. Burton Heath — it wasn't, and isn't, the Dutch.

Instead, it's the U.S. state department which insists upon recognizing a totalitarian government that represents Indonesia about as much as San Francisco represents the U.S.

Known as "The Republic," the government is headed by the Sukarno-Hatta twosome. During the war they collaborated with the Japanese. After the war they led the "down with the Dutch" chant, received the official nod of the UN and the U.S., and were planted in the Indonesian driver's seat.

The Republic has never held an election. Although it represents principally the island of Java, the U.S. has backed it in all squabbles with the rest of Indonesia. This area covers a string of islands as long as the U.S., and contains a population of 70-million.

In an attempt to get at the root of unrest in Indonesia, which involved the Dutch, the Communists, the Republicans and other groups, the UN sent observers into Indonesia.

But objective reports never got out. The newsmen, who talked to the UN observers, said all reports were channeled through high ranking Americans in Batavia. Regardless of what went into the "examining board" what came out always agreed with the policies of the U.S. and the UN.

The Dutch, the scapegoats of the past, have promised to leave Indonesia by the first of the year. It was a matter of clearing out or looting out on Marshall plan aid.

They aren't keen about staying anyway. It has cost more to keep order in Indonesia than the Dutch have got out of it.

So they will leave quietly, and glorious "independence" will descend upon Indonesia.

But it will be an independence beset with strife and civil war. The other countries of Indonesia will object to the totalitarian "Republic" rule. The other groups will object to being governed by the Republicans.

It's meager army will be unable to retain order, a function the Dutch have performed well in the past, considering the momentous task it has been.

And who will benefit by civil war in Indonesia? The Communists. They thrive on nations torn from within.

Profit Motive Ethics—

Four plans — one of them President Truman's — now are being considered by congress to bring this country some form of compulsory health insurance. Some of these plans sound very plausible, and statistics prove our people need more medical care than they are getting.

The figures go something like one doctor for every 700 persons in the nation. This is not nearly enough. The reason is clear: one doctor couldn't treat 700 persons regularly, as often as the average person requires medical care.

We need more doctors in the country, a fact recognized by Iowa's interim board when it sought this summer to enlarge SUI's number of annual trainees. There's no question we need more doctors, here and all over the nation. The question is this: Is compulsory health the panacea that will cure our nationwide shortage of medical care and facilities?

Consider the situation carefully. If we come out of this congressional debate with some form of cradle-to-the-grave security, will this tend to make more of our young men seek a medical career? Just on the face of it, this seems unlikely.

True, there will be some who will go in and get through because they are guaranteed a living by compulsory health insurance. But where is the stimuli that has driven our businessmen to find security and comfort or at least a good living?

Doctors are businessmen. Make no mistake of that. The profit motive may not be the strongest feeling, but any doctor who joins the medical profession must surely have more in mind than the Hippocratic oath. Doctors must feed and clothe their families as well as anyone else. They have to get paid for their work and their skill just like any man.

Dictionaries, it is true, confer the title of profession on medicine by the limitation that giving advice makes one a professional man. But the business of giving services and advice is still just that — a business.

The point needs no laboring. We need to consider with extreme care any proposal to subsidize our medical care and facilities. Hospitals built for service alone are beautiful spiritually as well as physically. But under the profit system, they soon collapse unless they are run as a business.

To Our Carriers—

Today The Daily Iowan joins some 1,750 daily newspapers throughout the nation to honor more than 100,000 young men who deliver newspapers.

Newspaper boys form a very important link between the newspaper and the reading public. They act as couriers in disseminating history as it is recorded.

Carriers delivering daily papers only average $6 to $8.50 profit for their week's work. The average time to deliver the newspapers is an hour.

But that's far from the whole story. Many jurists and law enforcement agencies have asserted that the occupation of these boys as newspaper carriers is a positive deterrent to juvenile delinquency. "Busy boys are better boys."

The record of your newspaper boy bears out that slogan. Any boy who rises early to do a job and does it consistently in the face of all types of weather and other hardships has strength of purpose and ambition that will carry him far in the successes of life.

Daily Iowan carriers display leadership in their activities at school and in youth groups. Daily Iowan carriers are represented on the town's football teams, in the boy scouts and in many other groups.

The good newspaper boy is also a good student and a good leader.

Interpreting the News—

Armed Conflict Feared As Tito Flaunts Russia

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Yugoslavia's effort to discount Russia's denunciation of their treaty of friendship is not accepted at face value in American diplomatic circles, and fear of armed conflict is increasing.

It is probably safe to say that the western powers are more worried over this situation than over anything since the war except the Berlin crisis last year.

Diplomats point out that Russia has a penchant for laying a methodical groundwork for approaching events.

Having failed so far to stir up an insurrection against Tito while he continues to encourage non-conformism among other Communist groups in the satellites and China, it seems that Russia must take further steps.

What she will do has western chancelleries on edge.

And what to do if Russia takes military action, either directly, through guerrilla tactics or through the satellites, has them confused.

As I get it, the western intention now is to give Tito strong economic support, but not to supply military weapons.

Tito gives the appearance of placid security — making some Russian move seem even more important from their standpoint.

The marshal's recent amnesty for hundreds of pro-Russian political prisoners was obviously designed to serve notice that he no longer feared an underground movement at home.

But there is evidence in western hands that this is largely front. That there are people within Tito's family who are capable of, and perhaps already are, negotiating with the Russians.

As Tito constantly emphasizes, there is no love lost between him and the western powers. But if he is going to oppose Russia he will get support in the same spirit which suspicious allies gave Russia when she was fighting Hitler.

As I say, until now this support stops short of providing arms. How long this limit will stand in the face of an actual outbreak of hostilities in the Balkans remains to be seen.

Part of the answer may be arrived at — although probably not revealed — through the conference of American envoys to the iron curtain countries who have been ordered to meet in London Oct. 24.

Afraid of Starting War—

Korea Won't Take Over Communist North

By JOSEPH L. JONES

SEOUL, KOREA (AP) — President Syngman Rhee of the Korean republic said Friday that his government could take North Korea and unite the country. But, he added, he has been warned that by doing so he might start a third war.

"People in the north urged me to give them a radio broadcast message asking that loyal Koreans in the north rise up and overthrow the Communist regime," Rhee told me in an exclusive interview. "Then they would expect us to join them."

"I am sure that we could take Pyongyang, the northern capital, in three days. And an all-Korean border with Manchuria would be easier to defend than the 38th parallel."

"Then why not? Because the United Nations and United States have warned that we might, in a hot-headed fool way, start a world war."

"So we are still trying to be patient and get our Communist problem settled with the world problem. But it is nerve wracking when the guerrillas kill and burn and destroy."

The 75-year-old Dr. Rhee, who returned from exile to be elected president after Korea was freed from Japan, was talking in his home just below a steep little mountain which he still climbs for exercise.

"We need arms," he said. "Americans worry that we might start an international clash, but we are fully aware of the fact that we would suffer most if there is one. But no one can deny that we must defend ourselves."

"We need patrol planes and fast patrol boats to keep the Communists from supplying their guerrillas in the south. Weapons! Tools!

"The Communists have fast boats for the Russians have given them all they wanted. Their guerrillas are making profit out of their loot. We are strictly keeping on this side of the line, but we have to stand watch 24 hours of the day."

"The longer it lasts, the harder it will be. Guerrillas in the south are supported from the north. We could stop them if we cut off their reinforcements and supply lines."

Rhee spoke with firmness and confidence as he said: "I hope the whole Communist question will be solved before long."

American opinion here does not necessarily agree with the president about a quick outcome of the campaign he mentioned. Americans emphasize not weapons but economic aid for Korea to keep its economy running.

When the great powers divided the country along the 38th parallel, the republic lost its best coal and most of its hydroelectric power that would produce dollars in the world market. The U.S. mission here is concentrating on helping Korea to replace these lost assets.

Documents, Death Make News

CAPT. JOHN G. CROMMELIN, the naval officer who threw away a thirty year career to speak his mind on the unification program is now really a target of high navy brass.

The navy claims he was responsible for the distribution of "confidential" letters from three admirals about the state of navy morale.

ROBERT E. HANNEGAN, former postmaster-general and Democratic national chairman and later president of the St. Louis Cardinals baseball club died at his St. Louis home from a heart ailment.

Hannegan was one of the men responsible for getting Harry Truman selected as running mate for FDR in the 1944 election.

By JOE BROWN

If you're in love or about to be married, I have something for you to think about.

A friend called my attention to an article which appeared in Capper's Farmer and was written by a Jane Swanson.

The author tells us that boys and girls of the Roucouyenne Indian tribe in South America can't be married until they pass a peculiar type of affection test.

The couple is placed in a coo-coo-like hammock which is sewed tight, enclosing them as you would a sack of onions. And before the final stitch, hundreds of stinging ants, bees and wasps are placed in the bag with the alleged lovers.

If, after spending the night under these circumstances, the boy and girl are still affectionate toward each other, they are considered man and wife.

Advanced civilization has virtues you'd never suspect, doesn't it?

In a recent letter from home I received a clipping which I thought rather appropriate early in a semester.

In the article, Dr. Abram L. Sachar, president of Brandeis university, tells of a benediction offered by a Negro who had been attending an interracial conference.

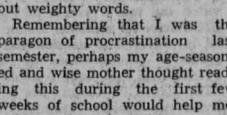

The prayer used by the Negro was one he had learned from his unlettered grandfather, and it ran:

"Lord, we ain't what we want to be; Lord, we ain't what we oughta be; and Lord, we ain't what we're gonna be. But, Lord, we's thankful we ain't what we was."

There's no desire on my part to sound satirical here. As the article states, the profundity of the prayer speaks for itself, and I'm moved by the mental picture of an old man uttering these simple but weighty words.

Remembering that I was the paragon of procrastination last semester, perhaps my age-seasoned and wise mother thought reading this during the first few weeks of school would help me.

The question is whether I could use the last line of the prayer with any conviction.

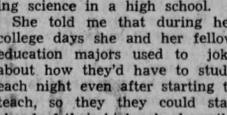

Education majors, take note. A friend of mine who received her B.A. this past June is now teaching science in a high school.

She told me that during her college days she and her fellow education majors used to joke about how they'd have to study each night even after starting to teach, so they they could stay ahead of their high school pupils.

When I saw her last she was pretty bitter toward this new enlightened generation. She has little time to go out in the evenings now, but it's not because she has to study to stay ahead of her pupils.

She said she has to stay in and study to keep up with them.

You can't deny that some of the modern kids are pretty smart. Another friend, who thinks he's a second Bob Hope, thought he'd get a laugh from bystanders at a little newsboy's expense this summer.

"I-I-I can't read," he stammered when the youngster tried to sell him a paper.

The crowd laughed at him, but not with him.

With hardly a second thought before moving on, the little fellow had said:

"Why don't you buy a paper so people won't know you're so dumb?"

Hmmmmnn. Sharp apple, that kid.

Lasansky Sells Print To Academy of Art

Indian Psychologist Visits at SUI

Compares Indian, American Customs

Children are the most precious and valued things on earth to people of India, Dr. G.D. Boaz, of the University of Madras, India, declared Friday.

Dr. Boaz is observing psychological aspects of child welfare at SUI this week under the United Nations Fellowship program.

"I was particularly impressed with the frequency of emotional rejection of the child one finds here in the states," he observed. "In India family ties are closer and there is a strong old culture and solidarity of society to draw upon."

The diminutive doctor cited an example of India progress in parent-child relationship which he says has surpassed more advanced societies.

"I attended a lecture while in this country by a leading and accredited psychiatrist who spoke on parent-child relationships," he related. "The speaker stressed the faulty methods used here during the past decade or so."

"The procedures suggested by him were the same as those used by my grandmother years ago and which are still being used by a considerable portion of families. It seems that India has skipped one phase of development in the parent-child relationship study," he added.

Dr. Boaz emphasized the frantic effort being made by India to build new educational institutions.

"Schools are few and far between there considering the extent of the country, but we are trying to increase the number and introduce universal primary education," he continued.

He remarked that under British rule there was only formal book learning, an "apology for education." Under the inspiration of Gandhi, however, India has built a new system of education to correlate it with the needs and conditions of the people, he added.

The jolly doctor had only praise for India's former leader. "Gandhi still is considered a leader although he is dead and Indians refer to him as the Father of our nation."

The American tradition of divorce puzzled the psychologist. "Compared to concepts here, the marriage procedure in India appears to be most unscientific," he said, referring to the custom of parental arrangement there.

"Yet, the Indian people seem to stay married longer. Divorce here is either a mark of progress or a tearing down of past progress. I wish someone would explain the situation," he puzzled.

The visiting doctor was impressed with the organized service for the needy here. "It is amazing," he said, "how the state and society have accepted the responsibility of providing for an orphan, a needy couple and old age benefits, for example, under the Federal Security agency."

Only now under its own rule is India beginning to appropriate money for such purposes. Dr. Boaz hopes to pattern a security arrangement for his own country similar to the one used here.

A reader in psychology at Madras university, he also maintains a private psychological clinic for both problem children and neurotic adults.

Dr. Boaz won a Carnegie Research fellowship and received his doctor's degree in philosophy in 1942 from Oxford university in England. There he studied in the fields of abnormal psychology, psychotherapy, child psychology and educational psychology.

After his four-to-five month period of observation here in the states, Dr. Boaz plans to return to India where he will present recommendations to the government as well as use his own experience in teaching and in his own clinical work.

Students Organize 'Gay Blades' Club For Fencing Sport

Latest addition to the list of campus groups is the "Gay Blades" fencing club, organized this week with seven charter members.

The "Blades" are sponsored by the SUI athletic department and have the use of department facilities and equipment, according to Pres. Rudy Wright, A2, New York City.

New members will be accepted and trained for competition, which will be limited the first year or so to intramural duals and contests within the club, Wright said.

Eventually the group hopes to enter Amateur Athletic Union competition with other colleges and universities.

Charter members of the group were all enrolled in last semester's fencing course under Michael Fody, SUI athletic department student instructor.

Other members besides Wright are Vice-president Charles Borgwardt, A3, Oshkosh, Wis.; Secretary Elmer G. White, A4, Antioch, Ill.; Treasurer James A. Wallace, A4, Clinton; Sgt. at Arms Richard Allan, A2, Davenport; Hughes C. Hoppewell, A4, Iowa City, and Larry Warn, A4, Milwaukee.

A business meeting will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. in conference room one of the Iowa Union. Those interested—women included—are invited to attend, Wright said.

Yanks Nip Dodgers With Late Rally, 4-3

Mize's Two-Run Single Offsets Dodger Homers

By GALE TALBOT

EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN (AP) — Big Johnny Mize came back to haunt the National league Friday.

A Yankee only since Aug. 22, the 36-year-old veteran smashed a two-run pinch single off the right field to spark a three-run rally in the ninth inning that just nipped the homer-blasting Brooklyn, 4-3, in the third game of the world series.

The two clubs were knotted 1-1 in another homeric pitchers' duel when large John unloaded the blow that broke the game wide open. Another Yankee run crossed before the Brooks recovered from Johnny's smack, and it was just as well, for both Luis Olmo and Roy Campanella smashed four baggers into the left field stands before Joe Page erased a pinch-hitter for the final out of the tussle.

The American leaguers were a badly frustrated crew up to the time Mize delivered, rns was only the fourth hit off Ralph Branca, who had pitched a tremendous game for eight and two-third innings.

Page, who relieved Tommy Byrne after the southpaw had thrown a home-run ball to Pee-wee Reese and then had loaded the bases on a single and two walks in a fourth-inning blow-up, throttled the Dodgers on one lone hit the rest of the way before Olmo and Campanella jumped him at the end.

Joe looked jittery and the crowd of 32,788 was yelling for blood when bulky Bruce Edwards went up to hit for the pitcher after Campanella's blast had reduced the Yankees' margin to a single run. But once again the great relief chucker had it in the clutch, and he sat Edwards down with his second strikeout of the inning to end the game and give the Yanks a 2-1 lead in victories.

Up to the time Branca suddenly lost his control and walked Yogi Berra with one out in the ninth, the 23-year-old fastballer had set down 14 Yank batters in succession. During that blinding stretch he looked unbeatable.

The American leaguers had made their second run of the three series games in the third inning on a walk, a single by Pitcher Byrne through the center of the diamond and an outfield fly.

Branca forced Joe DiMaggio to pop foul for the second out but Bobby Brown came through with a sharp single into right to send Yogi to second.

When he walked Gene Woodling to fill the bases, the stage was all set for Mize's entrance.

The large man who wears a No. 36 and swings a man-sized 36-ounce bludgeon, let the count go to two balls and one strike and then bunched the next one off the palings at about the 300-foot mark to send Berra and Brown dashing home and propelling Woodling around to third.

That was all for Branca. Jack Banta, another young righthander, came on to pitch to Gerry

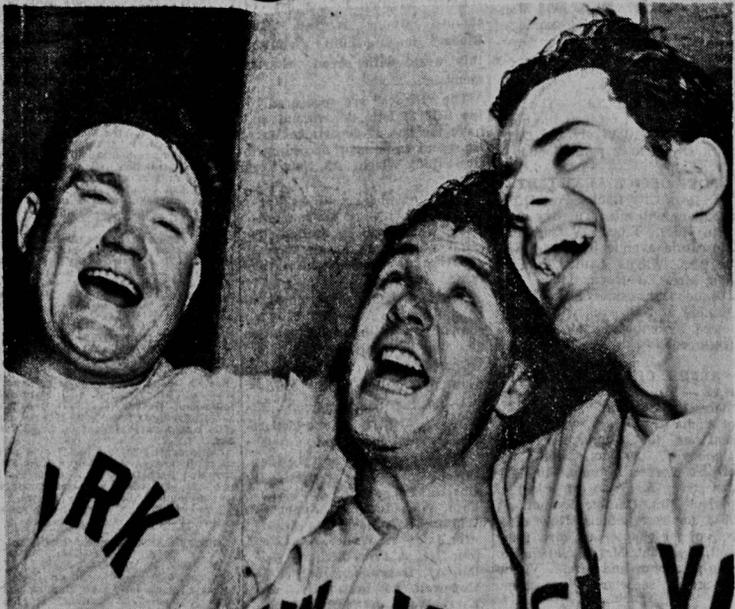

... Shotton Explains

By TED SMITS
BROOKLYN (AP)—Manager Burt Shotton of the Brooklyn Dodgers sadly expounded some baseball philosophy after Friday's world series game.

"When they get men on bases and then hit it up against the fence, there's gotta be runs," he said.

He referred to that all-important pitch to Johnny Mize in the ninth inning with the bases loaded.

Then he followed the tall, sad Brooklyn pitcher into the shower

A TRIO OF YANKEE HEROES, the big guns in the 4-3 victory over the Dodgers in the third game of the world series Friday at Ebbets field, are Johnny Mize (left), Joe Page, and Gerry Coleman, who drove in what proved to be the winning run. Mize belted a two-run pinch single in the ninth and Page got credit for the pitching victory. The Yanks lead, 2-1, in games.

room, took him by the arm, and told him earnestly:

"If you had to throw that ball 40 times it would still be right there. Only trouble is, he hit it."

The only consolation that Shotton took in the defeat was that "it had to be a Giant to do it."

The Yankees got Mize from the New York Giants of the National league Aug. 22.

The Dodgers took no pleasure in the fact that in one game Friday they hit three home runs, as many as Dodger teams have hit all together in four previous world series. The dressing room after the game was subdued and quiet. Even the home run hitters — Pee-wee Reese, Roy Campanella and Luis Olmo — were unsmiling.

Reese, captain and spark plug of the Dodgers, gave all his attention to his right ankle. He was hit there by Tommy Byrne in the first inning to get on a base, only to get caught in a double play. The ankle appeared to be swelling and showed considerable redness.

Manager Shotton refused to name his starting pitcher for Saturday, a game that may be the turning point in the series.

There has been speculation he would send in Don Newcombe, the big Negro who lost the first game 1-0 in a brilliant pitching duel. If he uses Newcombe Saturday, even with only two days of rest, he would have him available for the seventh game.

Blue Hawks Downed By Mt. Vernon, 12-6

(Special to The Daily Iowan)

MT. VERNON — A third quarter touchdown by Fullback Ken Moore gave the Mt. Vernon Maroons the necessary margin to slip past University high's Blue-hawks, 12-6, at Mt. Vernon Friday night before a large Homecoming crowd.

U high drew first blood in the early minutes of play after Guard Kenny Slade recovered the fumbled opening kickoff on the Mt. Vernon 29. Four plays later Fullback Ronald Coldsnow scored on a 20-yard end run.

Later in the first period, the Maroons recovered a blocked U high kick on the Bluehawks' 31. Three plays later a 20-yard pass play from Moore to Right End Duffe clicked for the score. The score remained tied until midway in the second half when Moore drove over the for the winning margin.

Two other Mt. Vernon scores were averted by quick work on the part of Dean Evans, fleet U high halfback. Once he knocked one of Moore's tosses out of the waiting arms of Duffe in the end zone.

We Had 'Em, Says Casey

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

BROOKLYN (AP) — Casey Stengel obligingly whooped: "We had them all the way" as the Yankees trooped past a waiting line of reporters and photographers into their drab dressing room under the Ebbets field stands Friday.

Stengel figured a bit of cheering was expected, but the Yanks had experienced too close a call in their 4-3 victory over the Dodgers in their third world series game to let off steam immediately.

Then it took a man-sized shout to carry on a conversation and big Johnny Mize, whose ninth-inning pinch single drove in the winning runs, took care of that in good style.

"I never hit 1,000 before," Mize yelled. "This world series stuff is all right. I only got six hits all season for the Yankees and now I've had two in the series."

"Mize came in just at the right time," said Stengel. "Shotton had Joe Hatten warming up; that's why I waited to see if he was going to change before I took out Mape. But Mize has been hitting lefthanders and righthanders for 10 years. I wouldn't have changed again."

Page, dripping with perspiration, admitted he had tired a little toward the end.

"I eased up a little, too," he added. "I took a big chance on Olmo after I had one out and eased up a little on a fast ball. He hit it for a home run. Campanella lunged at a curve for his homer."

"Anyway I believe in giving 'em a thrill." Just then Mize was called to the telephone and Page shouted: "That's Hollywood calling, John."

"Gosh," said Mize with a big grin, "did they get the pictures out there already?"

WAITING ANXIOUSLY for the ball to descend from the right field wall at Ebbets field Friday in the Yankee-Dodger world series game is Brooklyn outfielder Carl Furillo after John Mize, New York pinch-hitter had slammed a long single with the bases loaded to snap a 1-1 pitching duel. Watching the play is Umpire Ed Hurley.

Banks was helped from the field three times in the Purdue fracas, yet was back in the lineup when the going got tough and was instrumental in keeping the Riveters away from the goal line when drives three times reached inside the Iowa 10 yard strip.

Iowa's defensive play, vastly improved in the conference opener to what it was against UCLA, will try to stop the Illini's "three-K" combination of Bernie Krueger passing to Tony Klimek and Walt Kersulis.

In '41 Iowa won at Champaign.

21-0, and up to that time had not lost to Illinois since 1927, although there were two games in the series.

Dubuque Tips Hawklets, 14-

Little Hawks Fade After Early Rush

BY LELAND OLSON
Iowan Sports Writer
Battering their way to two fourth quarter touchdowns, the Dubuque Rams gave City high its year's first taste of defeat here Friday night, 14-7.

City high moved over the field almost at will during the first half and only a couple of fine punts by Fullback Mike Steve held the Hawklets to their 7-0 half-time margin.

The second half saw a complete reversal of form as the Rams employed an effective single wing attack to march 87 yards for their first touchdown.

Mixing in a bit of passing, Dubuque started its second scoring march on its own 35-yard-line which was climaxed with Garry Mihler cutting over the left side of his line one foot from goal to score with 50 seconds of playing time remaining.

To show how completely stymied the Little Hawks were in the second half, their offense netted only 11 yards after a rushing attack was successful for 138 yards in the first two periods.

Coach Frank Bates' crew received the opening kickoff and with the precision of a Notre Dame football team went in eight plays from its 42-yard-line to score.

Jerry White climaxed the drive, cutting through right tackle to score from the four, after an elapse of less than three minutes.

A second Hawklet threat sputtered on the 16 with three minutes left in the first half when the passing attack failed.

Dubuque was in complete command the entire last half. In the third quarter, City high had the ball for only three running plays. In the final period the Hawklets rushed for a net total of a minus five yards.

Have You Heard This One?— Purely Unscientific 'Poll' Fails to Find Yank Fan

BY JOHN HOLWAY

You've heard of the Gallup poll, the Roper poll and the Crosley poll? Well, this is going to be the Iowan poll and the only qualification for people appearing on it is that you can't be an expert.

We'll know pretty soon then whether the people below are qualified or not. The question this week is "Who do you like in the World Series?"

Our first victim, interviewee, was Mike Howard, Iowa's wrestling coach. Mike was mulling over a coke listening to the ninth inning of the first game. Who do you like, we asked just as Tommy Henrich unloaded his home run. "Brooklyn," moaned Mike in his best Danish accent, downed his ice and tromped off.

So we turned to the man behind the counter, Joe Gerber. "I'll take Brooklyn," Joe agreed. Thursday, after the Bums reversed that 1-0 score, Joe was in fine fettle. "Roe had that screwball working today, just like Hubbell," he rejoined, and went on to tell us about Hal Trosky who lives just six miles from Joe's home of Walford, Iowa. Trosky batted against Hubbell as a Cleveland rookie and told Joe, "Hubbell could throw it in a tin-cup."

Hubbell agreed to put it right where Trosky would like it—"and I didn't even see a 'gosh darn' thing," Trosky told Joe. But we digress.

Outside the store Jerry Faske was waiting for a bus, looking very disinterested. Jerry is from Brooklyn, so we put the question again. "I'm impartial," shrugged Jerry detachedly. "I'm a Giant fan!"

We approached Jim Anderson next because he was wearing a snazzy jacket saying "state runner-ups" on it. It turned out Jim played for Fenton two years ago when they lost the baseball crown to Mason City, playing two games the final day. He's out for freshman baseball as a pitcher and fall.

Jim very definitely is for the Red Sox, in fact, the Sox over the Cards. But if pressed for an opinion on the issue he'll confess, "I'm pulling for Brooks."

Next we contacted Professor Saunders whom we spied over the cigar store radio tent as anyone in the crowd professor sees "a very tight ship" probably going seven to one.

He is "kind of hoping the Dodgers win" because they have a colorful outfit, but he has to say that he is a Cub fan.

Still searching for a Yank rooster, we popped the question to Flora Bolton who was serving a ham sandwich and french fries to go when we came in for supper.

"Oh, goodness," Flo exclaimed. "I haven't looked at my score." But she did agree to a stab even without the help of her astral guides.

"I'll take Cleveland," she said, "yes, the Cleveland Indians."

Homecoming Badges Go on Sale Thursday

Homecoming badges will go on sale at 7 a.m. Thursday, Tailfeathers Pres. E. K. Jones said Friday.

Tailfeathers members have divided into two teams, black and gold, to handle the Homecoming badge sales.

Jones said John Harris, C4, Humboldt, S.D., and Darrel Croot, A3, Sioux City, will be co-chairmen of the gold team. Don Davidson, P2, Des Moines, and Don Nielsen, A3, Clinton, will be co-chairmen of the black team.

Sale of Homecoming badges by two Tailfeather teams is an annual contest and part of the traditional Homecoming activities, Jones said.

'You Can't Take It with You' To Open SUI Theater Season

"You Can't Take It With You," the 1936 George Kaufman Moss Hart Pulitzer prize play, will open the 1949-1950 University theater season Oct. 20.

Production Director Prof. Harold Crain called the play "one of the best of all modern farce-comedies. Prescription: happiness through being carefree.

The action seems to revolve around "Grampa" Vanderhof (John Anderson), who has "made his peace with the world long, long ago."

His daughter, Penny (Madge Martin), is a combination of mother and playwright.

Penny's husband Paul (Thornton Klos) spends much of his time in the basement making fireworks. His cohort is Mr. De Pina (Lou Gardemal) who came to the Vanderhof home eight years ago to deliver ice and — just stayed.

Essie, Penny's eldest daughter (Sylvia Girsh) always appears in ballet shoes. Her husband, Ed (Tom McBride), accompanies her capers on the xylophone.

Penny's younger daughter Alice (Fran Artley) seems to be the only average person in the clan. She clashes with heart interest Tony Kirby (Douglas Wells) who feels her family's eccentricities are no real threat to their happiness.

The conventional persons are Tony's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kirby (Richard Smith and Jean Longwith).

To keep things hopping, the audience will meet such characters as Essie's dancing teacher, Kolenkhov (Richard Shull) and his friend, the Grand Duchess Olga (Jeanne Bolan).

An actress, Gay Wellington (Joan Pollack); Mr. Henderson (John Harkins), Donald (Albert Odel), officer (Charles Buzzard) and The Man (Richard Arnold).

Dates for the play are Oct. 20 through 22, 23 through 29. Tickets soon will be available in room 6A Schaeffer hall.

Dolphin Show to Feature Dives, Dances, Damsels Today in Iowa City

Spectacular fire dives, Hawaiian hulas, beautiful girls and swimming races will make the Dolphin show one of the highlights of the Homecoming weekend, Oct. 13 through 15.

The Dolphin queen and her four attendants will be unveiled at the first performance Thursday night, Oct. 13.

"Hawaii Calls" will be the theme of this year's show, which will be staged four times during the weekend. One show will be presented on Thursday and Friday nights, and two shows on Saturday night.

One of the outstanding acts of the show will be a trapeze performance 35 feet above the field house pool.

An innovation in this year's pageant will be the inclusion of women in the performances.

Helen Okamoto, Hilo, Hawaii, will give the show a real Hawaiian atmosphere by leading a hula line in the Hawaiian dances.

And Marilyn and Karilyn Adams, freshmen from Des Moines, will perform as a synchronized swimming duo. These twins won second place with two other girls in the national team competition last spring.

Also as a feature of the show, the varsity swimming team, along with talent from the freshman squad, will attempt to break the American 150-yard medley record.

The old American mark has been broken in each of the last two Dolphin shows.

The finale of each evening's performance will be fire dives from a 35-foot tower.

To add to the Hawaiian atmosphere of the evenings, leis will be distributed to each person attending the show.

Orchids and ginger leis, flown from Hawaii for the show, will be given to several holders of lucky programs.

The Dolphins boast the second oldest holiday on the campus, being just seven years younger than Homecoming itself.

It has been 30 years since the first Dolphin show was presented at the university. In the succeeding 26 pageants — none were staged during three war years — the performances have been more and more spectacular.

Home Economists To Attend Meeting In Iowa City Today

Seven colleges will be represented at the Iowa Home Economics association meeting here today, Prof. Sybil Woodruff, head of the SUI home economics department, said Thursday.

Miss Woodruff, chairman of the association's university and college unit, said delegates from Cornell, Simpson, Wartburg, Iowa State and Iowa State Teachers colleges and the University of Dubuque will attend the convention.

Representatives from the state department of education at Des Moines also plan to attend, she said.

Prof. Robert L. Ebel, director of the SUI examination service; William J. Peterson, superintendent of the State Historical society, and Phyllis Bennett, SUI home economics assistant, will take part in the meeting.

Miss Woodruff will be chairman of the Saturday program.

Gold Star Mothers Warned of Painter

Gold star mothers who may be approached by a man wanting to paint pictures of their sons who were killed should immediately call the chamber of commerce, Secretary Robert Gage said Friday.

Gage denied any statements made by a man calling himself A.W. Newberry, who claims he has the support and approval of the chamber.

Gage reports nearby cities have had experiences with Newberry. Newberry charged up to $75 for oil portraits.

Newberry is reported to be driving a Packard car with Delaware license plates, Gage said.

Hick Hawks to Hold First Square Dance

Hick Hawks, SUI square and folk dance group, will hold its first meeting of the year Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the women's gymnasium, co-chairmen Beth Marxmiller, A4, Dubuque, and Bob Hennesy, A3, Toledo, announced Friday.

Prof. Dudley Ashton and M.L. Crites of the women's physical education department will call squares and lead the instruction.

Hick Hawks will meet every Monday night. Their meetings are open to beginners and experienced square dancers. Both SUI students and townspeople are welcome, the co-chairmen said.
