Earl Banks, Iowa right guard who had to sit out the Illinois game because of a leg injury, may be able to be back in the lineup for the Homecoming game with Indiana Saturday.

High Winds Level Iowa Corn; 90-Mile Gale at Mason City

DES MOINES (AP)—Reports of damage rolled in from all sections of the state Monday night in the wake of Iowa's most severe general windstorm in many years.

One death in Iowa has been attributed to the storm. William Farmer of Spirit Lake was electrocuted while working on a high line damaged by the wind. Numerous persons suffered injuries ranging from cuts caused by flying glass to broken bones.

Winds of 57 MPH In Iowa City Down Phone, Power Lines

The most severe general property damage caused by the gale which reached a velocity of 90 miles an hour at one point was to Iowa's corn crop.

From every section came reports of flattened corn. Some estimates of corn laid low by the blast ranged as high as 60 percent. Considerable loss in harvesting is expected to result.

The highest wind velocity report received by the Iowa weather bureau was from Mason City. The wind blew in gusts of 90 miles an hour there and for several minutes blew at a sustained velocity of 78 miles an hour.

The weather bureau said winds were subsiding in all areas late in the afternoon.

Along with damage to the corn crop itself, great damage was done to corn cribs. Some steel cribs, which were under construction, were blown to pieces. Some filled cribs were toppled over.

At Maquoketa a 45,000-bushel commodity credit corporation console type grain bin was destroyed and another was damaged. In the Fort Dodge area, as well as elsewhere in the state, extensive crib damage was reported.

Midwest Hit ...

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Winds howling across the midwest at speeds up to 95 miles an hour spread heavy damage Monday and boosted weather deaths to at least 12. Damage in harvest fields was widespread.

In the east, however, the risk was heat prostration as Oct. 10, mercury records fell like tenpins. Newark, N.J., had a sizzling 92.

The northeastern states are expected to get a somewhat weakened taste of the windy weather today.

The cause of the heavy winds was development of an intense low pressure area over northern Minnesota. It was a complex result of temperatures extremes which gave the midwest summery weather while the upper plains and northwest had chill and snow.

The warm air on the edge of the plains cold front shot upward and dissipated in high altitude storms, forming something similar to a giant, inverted whirlpool hundreds of miles in diameter.

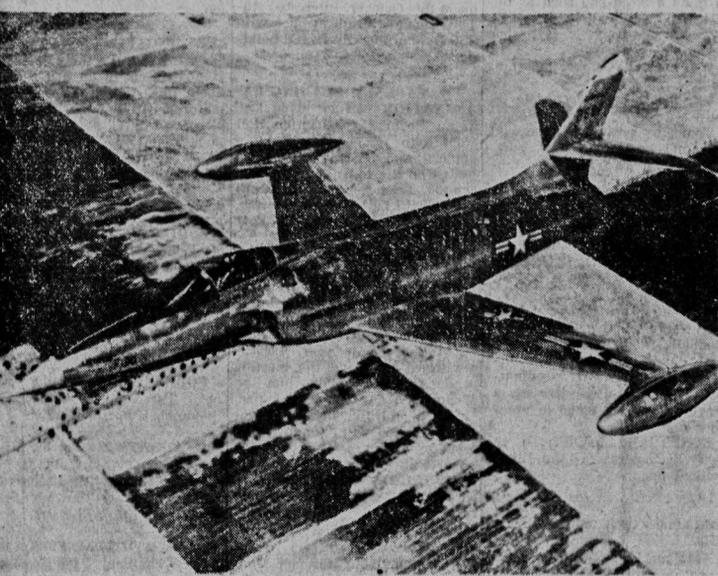

Rock Island Train Wreck Kills Five

MEADE (AP)—A Chicago-bound Rock Island passenger train piled up in a washed out road bed early Monday, killing five persons and putting 38 injured in hospitals.

Four cars and a diesel unit of the California to Chicago train, the Imperial, left the rails. Two of the cars overturned and partly submerged in a water-filled ditch.

In addition to the hospitalized injured, an undetermined number of passengers were given first aid.

New Airforce F-90 Struts Stuff

THE AIRFORCE'S NEEDLE-NOSED F-90, one of the largest fighter planes ever flown, streaks over the southern California desert near Murco Airforce base. This is the first in-flight picture made of the streamlined new twin-jet which is designed to fly far behind enemy lines.

Tree Smashes Automobile During Windstorm

OCTOBER WINDS HOWLED, trees fell, power lines snapped, store windows shattered and roofs were smashed in Denver Col., Monday. Winds in that vicinity reached velocities of 70 miles per hour at times. Policemen H. W. Price (background) and D. C. Adams, 13, are shown studying the plight of an automobile jammed beneath a fallen maple at 10th avenue and Clarkson street, Denver.

Johnson Hits Strategy Fights

U.S. Can Jail May, Garsson Brothers, High Court Reports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The supreme court Monday gave the government a go-ahead to jail form Rep. Andrew May (D-Ky.) and his convicted co-conspirators, Henry and Murray Garsson.

May and the Garsson brothers have been free on $2,000 bail since they were found guilty in 1947 of conspiring to obtain wartime government contracts for munitions firms controlled by the Garssons.

By refusing to review the verdict, the high court cleared the way for the three men to be ordered to start serving their identical sentences of eight months to two years in jail.

Justice department sources indicated it will take about 10 days for the high court action to be formally communicated to the district court here which would take steps to lock up the defendants.

May has been living quietly at his home in Prestonburg, Ky., since the sensational trial.

Defend Affidavit ...

WASHINGTON (AP)—The justice department argued before the supreme court Monday that congress could compel all union members to swear they are not Communists if they wish to use national labor relations board machinery.

The assertion was made by Solicitor General Philip Perlman during a defense of the non-Communist affidavit requirement of the Taft-Hartley labor act.

Navy's Role ...

ST. PAUL, MINN. (AP)—Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson pledged anew Monday that the navy will continue to have an "essential and honorable role" in the nation's armed forces.

Johnson told concluding sessions of the American Federation of Labor convention that there is a "deep and growing appreciation for the job of the other fellow" by the army, navy and airforce.

All three defense branches, he said, are learning to cooperate as a "united team." Johnson repeated a denial he made last June that there is any plan to "sink the navy's air arm or reduce the navy to a second class role."

The AFL delegates, before winding up their annual meeting elected 76-year-old William Green to his 26th straight term as federation president. All other top AFL officers also were re-elected without opposition.

Possibility of Mistrial Halts Tucker Hearing

CHICAGO (AP)—The trial on mail fraud charges of Preston Tucker and seven associates, expected to be long and expensive, was halted after only a few days Monday by the possibility of a mistrial.

A government witness set this stage by identifying an associate of would-be auto builder Tucker as an ex-convict. In legal procedure, this could be a prejudicial error.

Parking Lot Offer Withdrawn by Nall As Council Delays

The Iowa City council Monday night voted to postpone action on the proposed purchase of property to be used as an additional off-street parking lot.

After much debate on the issue, the council decided to delay action until the Oct. 24 meeting whereupon V. W. Nall, co-owner of the property under consideration, withdrew his offer to sell his portion of the lot.

Nall and E.R. Means had offered the 120 by 150 ft lot to the city for $45,000. The property is on Dubuque street just south of the Burlington street intersection.

The council also voted Henry L. Fisk, architect, to draw up specifications and compile estimates on the proposed repairs to the armory, which is owned by the city and used by the National Guard.

Further action on the armory renovation proposal was referred to the council grounds and buildings committee.

10 File for Position On Student Board

Ten students have filed applications to fill the vacancy on the student board of publications, Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, chairman of the board, said Monday.

Students who applied before the 5 p.m. deadline Monday were Merry West, A3, Des Moines; Everett Waller, A4, Sioux City; Marshall Berg, A4, Cedar Falls; Lloyd G. Jackson, A3, Iowa City; and Charles C. Nickell, A4, Upper Darby, Penn.

Edward Diekmann, E2, Ottumwa; Margaret Fuller, A4, Centerville; Greta Grossman, A3, University Heights, Ohio; Ben Crane, A3, Upper Montclair, N.J.; and Fenn C. Horton, A4, Davenport.

Consideration of applications will be made at the next meeting of the board, Oct. 24, when the board will make its recommendation to Pres. Virgil M. Hancher, Moeller said.

Government To Enter Steel Strike Argument

Icy Thought Brings Heated Action

NEW YORK (AP)—While New York sweltered through the hottest Oct. 10 on record Monday, Queens police searched for a stolen snow plow.

Willard Wrann told police he began thinking about winter, it being so hot, and couldn't find his snow plow. Detectives were hot on the trail.

Chinese Staff in Paris Deserts to Communists

PARIS (AP)—Chinese diplomatic staff members here deserted to the Communist regime at Peiping Monday and called on Chinese diplomats throughout the world to follow their example.

George Mong, embassy counsellor, announced that 11 diplomats — eight from the embassy and three from the consulate general — had walked out on Chiang Kai-shek and the Kung-min-tang Nationalist government at Canton. He said this left only a sick ambassador, a charge d'affaires and the consul general loyal to Canton, and that the rebels were taking charge of the embassy and its archives.

Other sources differed on the number of diplomats who deserted, however.

The French foreign ministry said charge d'affaires Tuan Mao-lan had informed it only six officials had switched loyalties. Later, in a communique issued through the French news agency, Taux said only two Chinese officials had been dismissed for insubordination and everyone else was sticking loyally to his post. He could not be reached to clear up the conflicting accounts.

The development — the first of its kind in a major embassy — posed a dilemma to the French ministry for several hours.

Officials of the French foreign ministry's Asiatic affairs section met for several hours. They were particularly concerned by the threat of a rebel sit-in at the embassy. One source said they communicated with Washington and London to get the reaction there.

Finally, a spokesman for the ministry announced that it was backing up the nationalists and was striking the dissident Chinese off its diplomatic list.

So far as the French are concerned, the spokesman said, Tuan is still head of the Chinese mission here and in control of the embassy building. The ministry quoted Tuan as saying there had been no disturbance at the embassy and that he continued to occupy his offices.

First No-Cut Days Friday and Monday

All classes will be suspended Saturday because of the celebration of Homecoming Day festivities, Registrar Ted McCarrel said Monday.

Friday, Oct. 14 and Monday, Oct. 17, will be no-cut days for undergraduate SUI students, McCarrel said.

The no-cut regulation goes into effect for the 24-hour period before and the 24-hour period after any official SUI holiday or vacation. The regulation does not apply to graduate students.

Any undergraduate student who misses a class on a no-cut day is penalized by the addition of one semester hour academic credit for each hour of class missed to the number of semester hours required for graduation.

The next no-cut days will be before and after the Thanksgiving vacation, McCarrel said.

Fliers Land After 1,124 Hours in Air

YUMA, ARIZ. (AP)—Two weary endurance fliers brought their little cabin plane back to the ground Monday after shattering all records for staying in the air.

Ex-navy pilots Woody Jongeward and Bob Woodhouse set the wheels of their Aerona on the runway of Yuma County airport at 4:32.05 p.m. (Yuma time.) They had been in the air 1,124 hours, 14 minutes, five seconds. The old record was 1,008 hours.

Informal Talks Called by Ching In First Move

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The government is going to try and break up the steel strike deadlock.

U.S. Conciliator Director Cyrus Ching said Monday he is arranging informal meeting with leading steel companies, and the striking CIO united steelworkers.

It is the first peace move since the nationwide steel shutdown 10 days ago in a war over free pensions. The government made three futile efforts to settle the dispute before the walk-out.

Ching already has moved into the four-week coal strike. He got United Mine Worker Chief John L. Lewis and mine operators to agree on talking contract again this week.

The steel action had been expected at strike effects spread. But industry leader United States Steel corporation, spearheading the labor fight with Steelworker President Philip Murray, said it had not yet been notified of the government move. Comment was declined.

There also was no immediate reaction from union sources. Both sides have held doggedly to their pre-strike positions—the union for free insurance and pensions recommended by a presidential board; the industry for welfare benefits with workers helping to foot the bill.

Ching's brief statement in Washington said he is arranging a schedule of "separate and informal conferences with representatives of some of the leading steel companies and with representatives of the United Steelworkers of America."

The purpose of these meetings will be to consider the impediments which exist to a prompt settlement of the steel industry dispute, and to ascertain in what ways the service might best contribute to such a settlement.

British Report Purge Of 100 Czech Officials

LONDON (AP)—The British foreign office confirmed Monday that an "extensive purge" is underway in Czechoslovakia and that 100 or more government officials have been arrested.

A spokesman said the foreign office information was based on official reports from the British embassy in Prague. He said there was no official information as to the reasons behind it.

Hiss Requests Change of Venue

ALGER HISS (right) and his new attorney, Claude Cross, of Boston, arrived at federal court in New York City, Monday, for a change of venue plea for Hiss' second perjury trial. The trial was adjourned until Nov. 1 as Federal Judge Vincent Leibel disqualified himself from ruling on Hiss' request for a change of venue to the Rutland, Vt., federal court. He referred the argument to Judge Alfred Coxe.

A Real Danger —

Pressure administered by a group of alarmed students recently put down a threat to academic freedom in several U.S. universities. At the University of Kansas the pressure was not successful.

Several months back the boards that govern state-endowed universities and colleges in California and Texas ruled that all university employees must sign loyalty affidavits.

The regulation prohibited "the employment of persons whose commitments or obligations to any organization, Communist or other, prejudice impartial scholarship and the free pursuit of truth."

California and Texas students screamed their disapproval. "People say this thing is harmless. Maybe. But I'm a member of a religious minority group, too. I don't know how much longer it will take to get around to me."

"Useless . . . silly . . . ridiculous" were some of the most-used adjectives in describing the move.

Finally the Board of Regents and the governing board of Texas revoked the regulation.

In Kansas, however, the ruling is still in effect. There is a real danger present in the regulation.

Legislating on the thoughts of people is not only difficult—but impossible. Entering the realm of ideas, religious and political beliefs and opinions, points up a direct contradiction to the first and fourteenth amendments of the constitution.

Several years ago a law was passed in New Jersey which ruled out any political movement that might be judged subversive.

The so-called Ober law, however, was declared unconstitutional by a Baltimore circuit justice. He quoted a supreme court opinion of Justice Robert Jackson:

"If there is any fixed star in our constitutional constellation, it is that no official, high or petty, can prescribe what shall be orthodox in politics, nationalism, religion, or other matters of opinion, or force citizens to confess by word or act their faith therein."

Justice Jackson's opinion seems to be in agreement with the intention of the basic law of the land. We applaud it.

All the Way —

It looks like we're going to have to sink a quarter of a billion dollars in west Berlin industry and finance to help it recover from the effects of the Berlin blockade.

This is the gist of a report by American, British and French experts who studied the Berlin situation for ECA.

Berlin enterprise was hard hit when the Russians imposed the blockade that for months kept everything but the bare necessities of life out of the city's commerce.

Consequently, when the factories couldn't produce, they had to lay off workers. "Normal" unemployment was about 40,000 before the blockade.

Today, 253,000 Germans tramp the streets in search of work, and production is greatly reduced.

Creation of the "German Democratic Republic" has almost made it imperative that we invest in Berlin. The Republic is the new Moscow-controlled east German state. Its headquarters are in the Russian sector of Berlin.

If unemployment continues in our sector, it would be easy for Berliners to drift to the left, especially if it becomes apparent that the Russians are providing security in the area they control, even though it may be a security without freedom.

It is estimated that the Berlin blockade cost us something like $1/2-billion. Added to the new sum, it becomes evident that it is costing something to stay in Berlin.

But there is no turning back. We'll have to go all the way in the former German capital now.

"Oh, Grandma!" —

Maybe it isn't too soon to point the warning finger at a seemingly innocent movement in Czechoslovakia which begins to have a sinister aspect. The resemblance between it and the tactics Hitler employed is frightening.

Now there is a good case-in-point between the Hitler youth movement and the way Czech children are being regimented and guided into war-like attitudes.

The news items in Monday's newspapers were pretty small; maybe you didn't even see them. One concerned the children's version of the war games. The story told of the way Czech small fry shall be taught how to defend themselves under the tutelage of the Communist police and soldiers.

The second story was one which perhaps should have been run with the first story. Prizes are being offered, so the news story goes, to the Czech children who most quickly can learn the Russian language. The question might logically be raised: what advantage will it be to the Czech youngsters to learn the Russian language?

That advantage may prove apparent in the next few years. It will be at least one way of gaining Communist converts before the children are old enough to do any thinking for themselves.

There's another subtlety involved too. After the children can achieve the desired goal, 60 to 80 words a minute, they will receive Soviet magazines as prizes. And it is here that a curious parallel suggests itself:

"Oh, Grandma, what big teeth you have!" "All the better to eat you with, my dear!"

Or translated into 20th century language: "Oh, Mother Russia, what nice, pretty magazines you have!" "All the better to absorb you with, my dears!"

The Gory Truth —

When an announcement was made at last Saturday's football game asking motorists to drive safely on the trip home, a slight ripple of laughter was detected in the stadium.

This probably occurred because the announcement was made at a rather crucial point in the game.

At any rate, persons returning from the game were involved in at least one accident. At least three persons spent the night in a hospital as a result.

Sometimes we are inclined to take the possibility of an automobile accident — to us — very lightly. When there is something else on our mind — a football game, a date, a business problem, driving becomes secondary.

That's when the accident occurs. We've all heard the statistics about the number of accident fatalities over and over again. The newspaper, the radio, the billboards all proclaim their gory truth.

Well, here's another one! Take the cities of Des Moines, Tulsa, Okla., Duluth, Minn., and Syracuse, N.Y., and drop an A-bomb on each, completely destroying the cities.

You wouldn't kill as many people as auto accidents have in the last 25 years!

Maybe driving is important enough to be of primary concern when we're behind the wheel.

Interpreting the News —

Doubtful If Balkan Outbreak Would Start General War

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
(R) Foreign Affairs Analyst

There is a widely accepted idea that war in the Balkans would bring on a general war. But as the experts study the explosive possibilities of the Stalin - Tito feud many think it's not necessarily so.

Under present circumstances it is conceivable that Russia might push her eastern European satellites into Yugoslavia — might even participate directly herself eventually and occupy the country — without western military intervention.

The western allies have no compelling interest in protecting Yugoslavia as such, beyond the threat involved in a Cominform advance to the Italian border. It would not be like an invasion of an established ally.

The west is by no means prepared for war. Try to consider the position if you woke up tomorrow to find that Cominform troops — even Russian troops — had invaded Yugoslavia.

It seems fairly certain that the west would mobilize against the possible need for self-defense, but not for intervention. Intervention would involve the risk of Russian occupation of the continent.

The odds are still against any shooting war at all, of course, although they have shortened in the last few weeks.

For Moscow to make a direct move against Yugoslavia would be playing Russian roulette, the stunt in which a man puts one bullet in a revolver, spins the cylinder and pulls the trigger against odds of one-to-five that he won't kill himself.

They couldn't really depend on the arguments against western intervention. For the satellites to invade Tito alone, or even with such Russian reinforcement as could be kept unofficial, would be to risk defeat.

Former officials from Hungary and the other countries now in exile have reported over the past year that Russia is organizing Balkan divisions to fit right into the Russian army.

But unofficial estimates of Tito's strength run to 800,000 men. This seems high, but all are agreed that he has a large army for the size of Yugoslavia, and a good one, based on the units which fought the guerrilla war against Germany so successfully.

There is a possibility, of course, that conformation of satellite divisions to fit Russian tables of organization would make it possible to transfer Russian army units directly into the Balkan armies on a "volunteer" basis such as occurred in the Spanish civil war.

That, and arguments against western intervention such as those I have mentioned, might lead Russia to take a chance.

But available information suggests that if there is any military action at all it will be confined to the type of thing tried against Greece. If it fails, as it seems it might, there will be a new situation to consider.

$120-Million for Dog Food —

'Fido' Has Become Big Business

— But Still Not a Deduction

BY THE CENTRAL PRESS
NEW YORK—According to the bureau of internal revenue, a man's dog is not a deductible dependent within the meaning of the income tax law.

The bureau figures that Fido eats the scraps from the table, contents himself with his own skin for clothing, and requires no more than a friendly pat when sick.

This view is sadly behind the times.

Today, 17 million dog owners spend several hundred million dollars a year feeding, clothing, housing, registering, grooming, photographing, showing, amusing, doctoring, and buying the 20 million canine members of the American population. Consider the statistics:

1—Dog owners bought a billion pounds of prepared dog food last year. The tab: upwards of $120-million.

"The Fancy," as dog fanciers are known in the trade, paid some $700,000 to register nearly 250,000 dogs of gentle birth in the American Kennel club, the canine equivalent of Burke's Peerage.

They paid $2-million just to attend dog shows.

One professional manager of dog shows, the Foley organization, collected $600,000 in entrance fees from 150,000 owners who hoped their pets would win cash prizes or blue ribbons.

IN ADDITION to the bluenosed American Kennel club, there is the American Field which records pedigrees of 25,000 sporting dogs a year, and the United Kennel club which registers some dogs that the American Kennel club does not recognize.

In addition, there are over 100 associations dedicated to the preservations, promotion and purity of individual breeds.

The Fancy reads over a hundred American and British magazines devoted to the dog, and writes in a half million strong for leaflets on dog care.

American businessmen have spent cold cash and feverish thought studying the market potentialities of the nation's dogs. Among the heavy findings:

1—Dog owners have $75 billion a year to spend.

2—Half the nation's dogs live on farms, and an additional 12.5 percent in rural non-farm areas.

3—Figuring in both Great Danes and Pekingese, the average dog eats a pound of food a day or half as much as a person.

4—Of 6,000 dog-owning families studied by the Psychological corporation, 26 percent reported that Brother fed the dog; 22 percent said Sister fed the dog, and 24 percent gave the job to Dad.

5—Dogs apparently like canned dog food best of all the prepared foods on the market. Dog-food manufacturers base this statement on studies made with kennels of dogs whose sole purpose in life is to serve as tasters.

6—Taste isn't the only consideration. Canners test a dog food formula first on fast-breeding generations of white rats, whose nutritional requirements closely approach those of dogs and men. Then they test them on generations of dogs.

SINCE THE WAR, the department of agriculture has set up machinery for the "permissive inspection" of canned dog food. Brands that conform to government nutritional standards and are canned under sanitary conditions may display an official seal on their labels.

Food manufacturers and grocers are not the only businessmen interested in dogs. Dog boarding housekeepers charge about $30 a month for the care and feeding of Fido when the family goes away, and 1,200 hotels stand ready to serve him if he travels with his master.

The half dozen top dog handlers in the United States earn close to $25,000 a year teaching showdogs how to behave.

Doctors as well as teachers render professional services to dogs. Many of the nation's 12,000 veterinarians work in dog hospitals.

Manufacturers Make

Cheaper Cars as

Market 'Softens'

DETROIT — Automakers are turning to the less limited lower price field for a new source of revenue in the softening auto market.

With sales competition getting tougher all the time and the buying public inclined to spend less for cars, there is a trend toward the lower price line. At least two more companies plan to join those already in the field.

Buick was first this year with its special series, priced to tempt the Chevrolet-Plymouth-Ford buyer with a "big car" name. Revival of the "special" was Buick's bid for a 10 percent share of the auto market.

Stripped of a lot of expensive chrome and some other luxuries, it FOB's for $1925 for a four-door standard sedan. Success of the new series can be measured by the company's statement that it already has surpassed 1941 sales

By JOE BROWN

My suspicions as to whether birds are really the lovely little creatures many persons insist they are has already been expressed once in this column.

"But I have further charges against these feathered 'friends.'"

A friend of mine has a dog with an aloofness and superior air which I've been trying to shatter for two years. And there's no questions about it — the dog thinks she's smarter than I.

The demoralizing effect this has on me led my hand to a little book called "The Personality of Animals," authored by H. Munroe Fox.

While searching for some clue in this book as to how to subdue this dog's superiority complex, I ran across a chapter in which the author was raving over the character of the pigeon.

He points out a number of cases in history where the pigeon played some darned important roles.

The Greeks even sent the names of Olympic game winners to their home towns by these peanut-eating birds, with messages attached to the fowl's leg, Munroe tells us.

And in World War I pigeons were used to send messages when telephones were destroyed. Oh, they were great birds, all right.

But it's obvious that these civilian pigeons you find around cities today lack the character their forebearers and military brothers have displayed.

One case will prove my point. A few years ago a friend of mine in Memphis was strolling along an uptown street, meditating upon the prospects for a date that coming evening.

Lo and behold, what should happen? There, coming toward him, was a sweet young thing he had seen often but had always thought of as being more than he could expect.

It was his day — he thought. She smiled, nodded pleasantly, and made the first gesture toward stopping for a chat.

Say, say! Ain't this nice, he thought. Imagine great and wonderful her stopping to talk to insignificant little me!

Oh, I tell you, charm simply poured out all over the place. Well, there are three details you must know before you go on with the story.

First, they were standing under the edge of a very huge store-front awning. Secondly, my friend wore glasses. And thirdly, pigeons roosted atop the awning.

Now, the conversation was going wonderfully, they were both in delightful spirits — he just couldn't believe that he was actually impressing this much-sought-after queen.

But it wasn't his day after all. Just before asking her for a date, he was in the midst of an oh-so-clever remark, when the charming lass suddenly stopped smiling.

At first he wondered what was wrong, but before he finished the thought, he had figured it out.

Yes, my old friend who stood under the awning where the pigeons roosted — the same fellow who almost got a date with this beautiful girl — the guy who wore glasses . . . You guessed it.

He was suddenly aware that he saw through only one lens.

I say that if pigeons are going to claim great war records, they should mobilize their own military police force.

I know one pigeon that ought to be court martialed.

Could Robert Frost have had in mind a week-end such as this last one, followed by a windy Monday such as yesterday, when he wrote:

"Oh hushed October morning mild,
Thy leaves have ripened to the fall;
Tomorrow's wind, if it be wild,
Should waste them all."

RECENTLY OVERHEARD . . . the laughing, but concerned, remark of a very young, lovely and fresh-appearing co-ed, posing for glamorous swim suit photos for entry in a contest: "Gosh, my mother would kill me if she saw this."

. . . the disgruntled remark of a veteran at the Quad soda fountain: "After letting myself be talked into taking that music course, the veterans administration wouldn't give me a requisition for a piano to practice on."

Consumers Shift to Oil, Gas Because Of Coal Strikes

NEW YORK (AP) — The strike by John L. Lewis' miners has caused thousands of consumers to stage a strike of their own — against coal, American coal association leaders said Monday.

Spokesmen for the association, which represents bituminous coal producers, said that every time Lewis' men walk out of the pits, many industrial and home users of coal convert their furnaces to oil or gas.

Coal still is the principal fuel in the American home and factory, they said, but the annual strikes are cutting into those markets because every walkout brings higher labor costs, and in turn, higher prices.

The oil heat institute reported that, as of last December, 3,213,166 oil burners were in use. In 1930, there were only 648,500. Oil prices have remained fairly stable, and in some places have gone down.

The problem as presented by the coal industry is twofold. It is one of price as well as the need for dependability of supply month

No Doubt That Russian Explosion Was A-Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the men who ought to know, but whose name can't be used, says there is no doubt that the recent big blast in Russia was the explosion of an atomic bomb.

There has been some talk about it being a premature explosion of an atomic plant or some other kind of atomic eruption. Secretary of Defense Johnson made it a point to correct members of the senate appropriations committee, who spoke of a Russian atomic bomb. Johnson simply called it a Soviet atomic explosion and implied that the military men doubt Russia had the bomb itself.

But the unnamed official is just as close — probably closer — to atomic development. However, although he was sure it was an atomic bomb, he said it may have been the only one the Russians had.

in and month out, a coal association spokesman said.

"About all you can depend on Lewis for is a strike at least once a year," said Marc G. Bluth, Chicago, secretary of the Stoker Manufacturers association, during a coal association meeting here.

GENERAL NOTICES

GENERAL NOTICES should be deposited with the city editor of The Daily Iowan in the newsroom in East Hall. Notices must be submitted by 2 p.m. the day preceding first publication; they will NOT be accepted by telephone, and must be TYPED OR LEGIBLY WRITTEN and SIGNED by a responsible person.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS are offered for two years of study at Oxford university, to begin October 1950. Nominations will be made this October. Interested students should consult at once with S.R. Dunlap, 202 Old Dental building.

P.L.D. FRENCH READING EXAMINATION will be given Oct. 22 in Room 314 Schaeffer Hall from 8 to 10 a.m. Please make application by signing the sheet posted on the bulletin board outside 307 Schaeffer hall. No applications will be accepted after Oct. 19. Next examination given early in January.

ALL SENIORS and graduate students (exclusive of the College of Engineering) who are interested in securing positions in the business or industrial fields during the academic year, 1949-50, are urged to attend the meeting at the Chemistry auditorium on Wednesday, Oct. 12 at 4:30 p.m. Business and Industrial Placement office will conduct the meeting giving a report of job opportunities.

SOCIAL DANCE lessons, sponsored by W.R.A., will be held every Tuesday night beginning Oct. 11. Ten lessons for one dollar. Tickets are on sale in the Iowa Union lobby through Monday or can be purchased at the Women's gym. Advanced and beginning classes. Single, married, or just thinking about it — all are invited.

FORENSICS Association will meet Tuesday at 7:00 p.m. in Room 124, Schaeffer Hall.

GRADUATE Engineering Seminar, Thursday, Oct. 13 at 4:30 p.m. in Room 109, Engineering building. Francis Dawson, Director of Engineering, will speak.

IOWA MOUNTAINEERS — slides climbing outing reservations must be made with outgoing leaders John Ebert (7418) and Robert Buckles (81187) by Oct. 14. Consult club activity calendar for further information.

Coeds Adapt Gramp's Pocket Watch

By VIRGINIA BOYLE

College has attracted more than coeds. Accessories now are on the registration list.

Grandpa's watch is part of the curriculum at SUI and in colleges all over the country. Coeds have stolen grandpa's favorite pocket watch to dangle from fob chains and decorate this fall's skirts and sportswear.

The 1949 version of the pocket watch comes in colors to match each outfit. The hours are marked by Roman numerals or figures, and the face of the watch tells at a glance that it's time for a coke date.

It isn't necessary to buy a pocket watch if you can dig one out of the past. They're equally effective in old gold.

Last season's scatter pins add a different note to many costumes. These handy accessories dress up shoes, give hats a distinctive newness and clip scarves at the shoulder for a dramatic note.

Dad's ties, too, have made several appearances on campuses. Right with the "new pink shirt" they look masculinely feminine with tailored broadcloth or rayon blouses.

Rope pearls add their bit to the accessory picture. Knot them around the neck, wear them long, or drape them over one shoulder. If you're lucky you can find these in an old jewel box, and they'll brighten up any outfit from crepe to cashmere.

Pearls score, too, in pastel tones. You'll find them packaged with harmonizing powder shades so they match your make-up.

Color's the keynote in scarves, and the new multicolor ribbon scarves are gay with blouses and skirts. Chiffon squares, too, are popular. They'll add a new touch to last year's skirts and dangle from one pocket.

The oldtime favorite is back in velvet, in "in" the fashion matching belt, effective.

It doesn't account are

U. High Completing Homecoming Plans Members of P.E.O. To Meet on Friday

Like SUI, University high school is completing plans for this week-end's Homecoming festivities.

University high's celebration will start off with a pep rally and bonfire Thursday night, in preparation for Friday's game between University high and New London, Principal Myron Olson said Monday.

The game will be followed by a dance Friday night and the crowning of the Homecoming queen.

Three senior girls have been nominated for the queen title. They are Letitia Dawson, Peggy Miller and Carolyn Hornung, Olson said.

SUI Alumni Wed In Ceremony Here

SUI Graduates Evelyn Murray and Francis Fitzgibbons were married Saturday morning in St. Mary's church with the Rev. C. H. Meinberg officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Murray, 407 Melrose avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Fitzgibbons, Armstrong.

David Fitzgibbons Jr. served his brother as best man and Jeanne Murray, sister of the bride, was honor. Dr. Robert Fitzgibbons, Omaha, and Leo Fitzgibbons, Estherville, ushers.

Members of P.E.O. To Meet on Friday

Chapters E, H, JF and unaffiliated members of P.E.O. will hear a report by Mrs. Chester I. Miller on the Supreme convention when they meet Friday afternoon in the River room of the Iowa Union.

Mrs. Miller attended the convention Sept. 5-7 at the Stevens hotel in Chicago.

The program will follow a dessert at 1:30 p.m. after which each chapter will hold a business meeting.

Unaffiliated members wishing to attend are asked to phone reservations to 5153 before 9 a.m. Wednesday.

The reciprocity committees of the three chapters are in charge with Mrs. P. W. Richardson as chairman. Committee members are Mrs. B. S. Summerwill and Mrs. W. F. Schmidt of Chapter E; Mrs. W. F. Loehwing, Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher, Mrs. A. W. Bryan and Mrs. Leslie Hays, Chapter H; Mrs. F. J. Snider, Mrs. F. R. Kennedy and Mrs. W. J. Burney, Chapter JF.

Sigma Nu Initiates Five

Sigma Nu social fraternity initiated five new members into its active chapter at a ceremony Sunday morning in the chapter house.

New initiates are Robert C. Beals, A2, Iowa City; Charles Eastburn, C3, Fairfield; James L. Odum, A3, Fairfield; Thomas W. Ellison, A1, Des Moines, and Richard H. Hornaday, A4, Joplin, Mo.

Atom Smasher Shoots Nuclear 'Bullets' at Fantastic Speed, Ga

Machine Transforms Elements Under Bombardment Process

By PHIL BLUMER

If you have a few millionths of a pound of platinum that you want changed to gold, look up Wayne Arnold, research assistant in physics.

With the aid of the department's newest atom-smasher, (little brother to the atom-buster mounted east of the physics building), he might be able to do it for you if he chose.

Now almost completed in its mountings on the third floor of the physics building, the new apparatus will be used in SUI's atomic research problems.

Half a million volts of electricity will speed tiny nuclear "bullets" through five feet of vacuum tube.

These "bullets", tiny bits of matter traveling at speeds up to 370,000 miles a minute, will strike a target mounted at the receiving end of the apparatus.

The modern alchemists who work with the machine can change one chemical element to another by using these "bullets" to alter the centers of atoms.

For instance, under bombardment the element boron can be made into the metal beryllium and the gas helium. In this case, the beryllium then breaks up on its own accord and becomes another metal, lithium.

The secret behind this magic is that atoms of a single type make up a specific element — iron, gold, beryllium, oxygen, etc. — because of the way their centers, or nuclei, are made.

Nuclei of the atoms of different elements differ in the number and variety of smaller particles of which they are composed.

If experimenters can change the number or variety of the nucleus' component particles, they will have produced a different element.

To change one element to another — for instance, platinum to gold, or gold to mercury and you have to do is add the proper particle to the nucleus with your atom smasher.

The nucleus then becomes unstable and throws off another particle on its own and a different element is produced.

The particles, or "bullets", which the atom smasher adds must be moving very fast to produce such a change in elements.

How is the particle, or "bullet" given this speed?

Most of us at one time or another have noticed that you can pick up bits of paper with a hard rubber comb after you run it through your hair.

This is because the comb becomes charged with electricity as it rubs through the hair.

Since the bits of paper are charged in a different way than the comb, and unlike charges attract one another, the paper sticks to the comb.

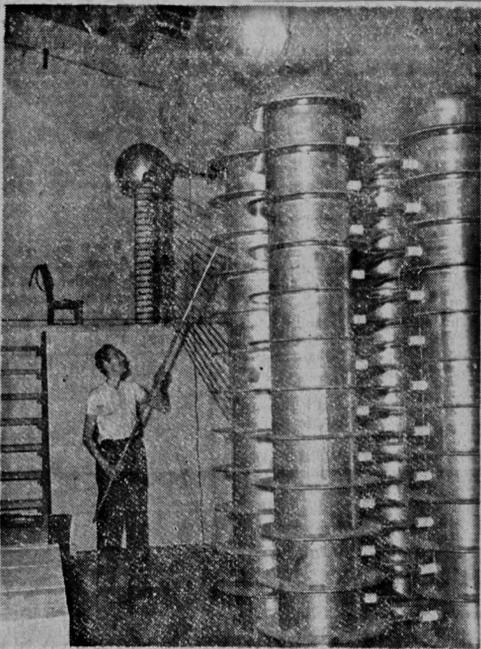

But if the comb and the bits of paper were given the same kind of a charge, they would repel each other, by the same scientific principle.

In the atom-smasher, small particles at one end of a vacuum tube are given a charge. At the same time, the point at which they are formed is given a similar kind of charge of great size.

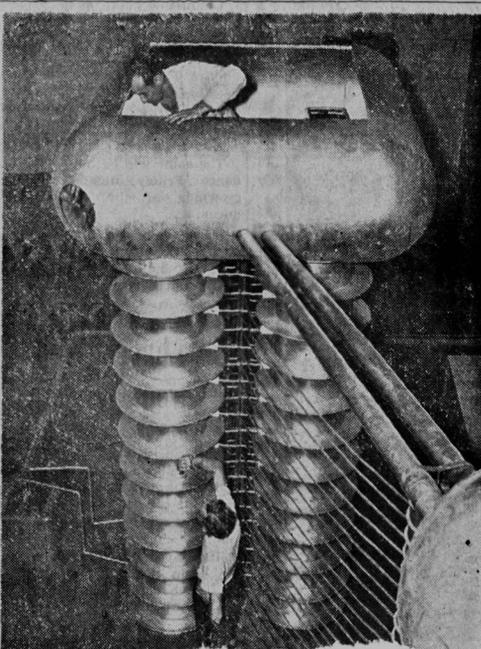

The resulting repulsion between the like-charged particle and point shoots the particle-bullet through the tube.

Arnold said plans for the machine were started about a year and a half ago. Actual construction, done by Arnold and his assistant, Joe Zajicek, started a year ago.

"This machine is unusual in the number of stages — 22 — of voltage doublers it uses to provide the high voltage necessary," Arnold said.

SUI'S LATEST ATOM SMASHER is nearly ready to work. Nuclear physics assistant Wayne Arnold applies finishing touches to the new machine. Engineered by Arnold, the apparatus took nearly a year to build. It is housed on the third floor of the physics building.

"OVER THAT WAY," JO technician Joe Zajicek as instruments in the panel control room. Finned electrical condensers used to chine.

BABY SMASHER'S HEART-BEAT is checked by physicist Arnold from the control room. The new machine will soon be blasting atoms for the SUI physics department in an effort to learn more of the secrets of the atom.

Prof. Miller to Address Kiwanis Club This Noon

Prof. Arthur K. Miller of the SUI geology department will speak at the noon luncheon meeting of the Iowa City Kiwanis club today at the Jefferson hotel on his recent study of the Alaskan highway. Miller, who has specialized in study of the northern area of North America, will show colored slides to illustrate his talk. Prof. Arthur H. Moehlman, Kiwanis program chairman, said Monday.

HEDDA HOPPER is afraid that the drastic economy now engulfing Hollywood is going to cause changes in the names of some famous motion pictures. She expects that The Best Years of Our Lives, for instance, may well be reissued as Nice Day. The Long Voyage Home may become Ferry to Hoboken. Letter to Three Wives may be entitled Memo, and Gone with the Wind be known henceforth as Phfffft.

An American merchant, traveling through Russia, sent his friends a series of illuminating postcards. The first one read, "Greetings from Free Warsaw." The second, ten days later, read, "Greetings from Free Prague." The third, after another fortnight had gone by, read, "Greetings from Free Budapest." Then there was month's silence, after which a final message arrived that was post-marked Paris. This one read, "Greetings from free Rabinowitz."

Seventeen Injured Near Here In Three Weekend Accidents

Seventeen persons were injured in three traffic accidents in and around Iowa City over the weekend, police said.

Twelve persons, including eight children, were injured Sunday night in a two-car collision north of here on highway 218.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Campbell, 412 W. Prentice street, and their four children and Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Stockdale, Waverly, and their four children were the occupants of cars which collided head-on.

They were taken to Mercy hospital and treated for cuts and bruises. Mrs. Stockdale was treated for a head injury and released at 10:30 a.m. Monday, hospital officials said.

Three persons were injured at 6 p.m. Saturday in an accident 15 miles west of here. Automobiles driven by Floyd Williams, Marshalltown, and Howard C. Gosnell, Iowa City, were involved in the collision and the William car overturned.

Williams and three passengers including his son Dean, Virginia Cornelius, and John Larson all of Marshalltown, were taken to Mercy hospital.

Williams, who was treated for an injured back, and Dean, who was treated for shock and lacerations on his face and right leg, were still in the hospital Monday afternoon.

The third accident occurred at 3 p.m. Friday at the intersection of Burlington and Dodge streets and highway 6. Ed Rinda, 52, West Branch, was taken to Mercy hospital where he was treated for a sprained neck. He was released Monday afternoon, hospital authorities said.

Rinda was a passenger in a truck driven by Walter Paulson, West Branch. The other vehicle involved, the Alden store delivery truck, was driven by E. R. Jones, Iowa City.

Automobiles driven by William A. Helger, 430 E. Jefferson street and John A. Conner, route 2, collided at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at South Capitol and Washington streets.

Automobiles driven by Donald C. Hebl, 527 E. College street, and E. Gilbert Swanson, Moline, Ill., were involved in an accident Sunday at the intersection of Iowa avenue and Governor street.

Plan New School Construction Soon

Construction on the first unit of SUI's school for handicapped and crippled children is scheduled to begin next spring, SUI Architect George Horner said Friday.

Budgeted at $750,000, the school will be located on the SUI campus, west of University hospitals. Charles Altflisch, a Decorah architect, will draw up working plans and work on the project with the SUI planning and construction office, Horner said.

Two SUI Students Married Saturday

SUI graduate Gloria B. Schone was married Saturday to Richard Clave Jacobson, A3, Tama, in the little chapel of the Congregational church. The Rev. Hewison Pollock officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. F. P. Schone, 308 Melrose court. She is affiliated with Chi Omega social sorority.

Mr. Jacobson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Jacobson, Tama. He is a member of Sigma Nu social fraternity.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Jens Anderson Jr., Archer. Allan Heishmann, Tama, served as best man.

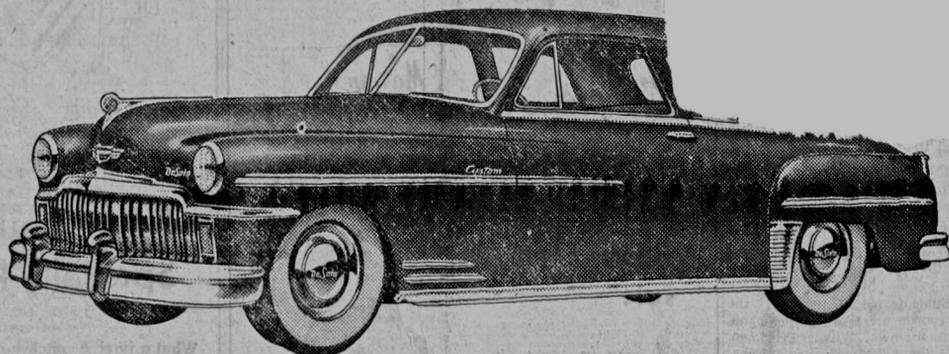

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the university club rooms of the Iowa Union.

The couple will reside in Tama after their wedding trip.

ELECT PHARMACY OFFICERS

Freshmen pharmacy students Friday morning elected the following class officers for 1949-50: Richard Tingleff, Clinton, president; William Sutter, Burlington, vice president, and Marjorie Walker, Oelwein, secretary-treasurer.

ed, Gambling Syndicate Hunt Caused Raid

Information Claims Ranch Club Guilty

Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson last weekend said the state agents' raid on the Cou Falls Ranch supper club resulted from information that gambling activities there were directed by out-of-state or national syndicates.

Larson made his statement because, he reported, he has heard rumors his office was easing off on its anti-gambling policy.

"Any such whispering is entirely wrong," Larson said. "We are continuing and will continue our policy of opposing gambling in Iowa."

"I'm not starting anything new. It's the same policy the attorney general's office has pursued for two years. Whenever we receive complaints from any locality we take them up with the local law enforcement officials and ask that the situation be taken care of."

When the Ranch supper club was raided last June 10, slot machines and numerous other gambling devices were confiscated.

G.R. Schlesselman and T.W. King, both of Swisher, were fined a total of $1,550 in district court Sept. 16, after they entered guilty pleas to the liquor and gambling charges filed against them.

Other charges of gambling violations were brought to Larson's attention in August when two North Liberty establishments were raided on similar charges.

County Atty. Jack C. White at that time said the grand jury would probably investigate the situation. Larson was in Iowa City last month while the grand jury was in session.

The jury reported its findings to Judge James P. Gaffney Friday but no mention was made of the gambling or liquor question. Twelve of the 15 indictments remain secret, however.

Student Jobs Listed At Placement Office

Odd jobs are still available to students looking for part time work, Robert Ballantyne, student placement bureau director, said Monday.

Most of the jobs open for men at the present time are lawn raking. Because of the recent high winds in the local area, the demand for student help to rake lawns will probably increase during the latter part of this week and through next week, Ballantyne said.

More requests from Iowa Citizens for students to help put up storm windows are reaching the office every day now, he said.

The bureau has a list of student women who desire part time employment as baby sitters. Ballantyne said not enough Iowa Citizens had contacted the office to employ the student women registered for this type of work.

All requests at the office for student women to do part-time housework have been filled, Ballantyne said.

WSUI-KSUI Plan Auditions for SUI Talent

Drama tryouts and talent auditions for three WSUI-KSUI programs will be held Thursday in the station's studios at the engineering building.

Weekly reading tryouts for two 30-minute drama productions will be held in studio "A" from 3 to 5 p.m. The two productions are "Fiction Parade," heard Tuesdays at 3:30 p.m. and "Drama Hour," a Thursday evening 8:30 show.

Glenn Starlin, the station's drama director, said any SUI student is welcome to try out. Each Thursday session will determine the castings for the following week's shows, Starlin said.

Five men and three women will be selected from those attending the first tryout session for next Tuesday's "Fiction Parade."

Auditions for the 15-minute Talent Time show series will be given in studio "E" starting at 7:30 p.m.

Instrumental groups, singers or talent of any kind will be welcome at the auditioning, Promotion Director Roger Hipsley said.

Singers should bring their own music and, if possible, their own accompanist.

Talent Time is presently scheduled four days a week at 7:30 p.m.

Navy to Sponsor College for 2,000

Want to get paid for going to school?

The U.S. Navy is looking for 2,000 high school graduates between 17 and 21 years of age to compete for its college training program.

Applications for the exams may be obtained at the university examinations service office, 114 University hall, Prof. Robert Ebel, director, said. The exams will be given Dec. 3 at a place to be announced.

This is the fourth year the navy has offered these four year scholarships. Winners will be sent to one of 52 centers in the U.S. and receive $50 a month while in school, Ebel said.

Upon graduation the cadets may receive commissions in the navy or marine corps, and two years later may choose retention in the service or return to civilian life, Ebel said.

Firemen to Parade, Demonstrate Today

The fire department will demonstrate how an aerial ladder is used at 12 noon today at the Whetstone building, Clinton and Washington streets, Chief Al Dolezal said Monday.

The demonstration will precede the fire prevention parade which begins at 12:30 p.m. at the city hall and tours the city, the chief said.

Four fire trucks bedecked with signs and banners will compose the parade which is part of the department's Fire Prevention Week activities.

The parade was scheduled for Monday but was postponed because of the wind and rain.

C of C Completing Local Xmas Plans

Iowa City business men are making final arrangements for the big Christmas opening, Nov. 26. A party for local children is planned to take place on a downtown street.

Santa Claus will repeat his last year's appearance from a roof-top and distribute free candy to the children.

There also may be a community Christmas tree erected on the corner of the Moose parking lot. Plans call for evening programs of choir groups and community singing each night after the stores close.

Chamber of Commerce Secretary Robert Gage said many Iowa City stores will decorate their buildings with balsam roping supplied by the chamber of commerce.

Foster Son Sues Mother for $18,000 Estate

Willard Clark, Johnson county, brought an $18,000 suit against his foster mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Lentz, Monday in district court. Clark is seeking to establish his rights to a share of his foster father's estate.

Clark claims he was legally adopted from a Cedar Rapids orphanage when he was 3 and one-half years old by Charles and Elizabeth Lentz. He says he came to love and respect Mr. and Mrs. Lentz as the only parents he ever knew.

He claims he worked on the Lentz farm while growing to manhood and continued to work for his foster parents until he was 35 years old.

In March, 1941, Clark entered the armed forces and was stationed in Ireland when his foster

Five New Patients Enter Polio Ward

Active polio cases under treatment at University hospitals Monday rose sharply to 20 as five persons were admitted to active wards and two were transferred to the inactive list.

Those admitted Monday were Evelyn Antalk, 13, Eddyville; Merton Benham, 38, Hampton; John Bohlken, 10 months, Monticello; Norman Eiklenbord, 13, Aplington, and Harold Honeck, 8, Alden.

All were reported in "fair" condition by hospital officials.

Maxine Kueter, 24, Bellevue, and James Fekkers, 14, Aplington, were transferred to the inactive list.

Battered Hawks Prepare for Indiana

Banks, Lage May Be Ready Saturday

The Iowa Hawkeyes went through a hard tackling session Monday, something they never resorted to last week before their loss to Illinois.

The come-back road will be sought by the Hawks as much work is scheduled this week to bolster the line.

It's possible that Earl Banks and Bob Lage, guards, will be ready for service when the Hawks meet Indiana Saturday, in the Homecoming game.

Banks, who missed the Illinois game, appeared on the field Monday and took exercises but did not get into uniform. He was picked No. 2 lineman in the nation two weeks ago, for his play in the Purdue game.

Lage has missed two games because of injury. Hubert Johnston, the tall right tackle, who was injured in the Illinois game, is also expected to be ready for action Saturday.

Another current Iowa problem is to improve the running attack, mainly by developing better blocking. The fairly fast Iowa backs had a bad day against Illinois, making only 87 yards.

The passing game, though, kept going quite well Saturday, with Glenn Drahn hitting 41 per cent of his throws. Jack Dittmer and Bob McKenzie are the leading receivers with a dozen catches for 205 yards and five touchdowns.

This Saturday marks the fourth time that Iowa has played the Hoosiers before a homecoming crowd.

Indiana has been having its troubles this season. The Hoosiers lost to Notre Dame, Ohio State and Texas Christian in their first three 1949 games, running their losing streak to 10. The last Hoosier win was over Iowa at Bloomington, 7-0, Oct. 2, 1948.

"Despite its record, Indiana is very dangerous," Scout Maury Kent reported. "In Nick Sebek, they have a good passer, who throws to the fast ends and halfbacks.

"The line is big and rugged but apparently somewhat shy on re- placements."

Kent believes that the Hoosiers may get together on any one Saturday and make it very tough for any team. He says they are "carrying no burden" and therefore are relaxed and waiting to catch some team unready.

"Indiana misses George Tallafiero, who topped their offense two years," Kent said. "But they have good running backs in Bobby Robertson and Milford Marshall."

Dr. Eddie Anderson, Hawk coach, has expressed respect for the passing of Quarterback Nick Sebek who likes to throw to Ends Sam Winston and Ernie Kovatch. Sebek completed 11 of 19 passes for 132 yards against Texas Christian Saturday.

Business Manager Frank Havlicek Monday said that tickets are available for the Homecoming game. Now he estimates a crowd of about 45,000 but says that sales this week may boost this figure later.

Irish No. 1 In Grid Poll

NEW YORK (AP)—Notre Dame is the top college football team, the experts decided Monday in the second Associated Press nationwide poll of the season.

But the fighting Irish landed the No. 1 spot by only a slim margin of 30 points over Army, which polished off last week's leader—Michigan—in a 21-7 upset Saturday at Ann Arbor.

Michigan, which received 34 first place votes a week ago, didn't get a single one this time, but the sports editors and sportscasters still thought enough of the Wolverines to give them enough other ballots to land them in the top 10—in seventh place to be exact.

Notre Dame, which brushed aside Purdue Saturday, 35-12, to remain among the undefeated and untied, collared 67 first place votes and a total of 1,489 points.

Army, which was seventh in the first poll, was right behind with 1,459 points. The Cadets got 58 first place ballots, as 172 sports writers and broadcasters took part in the poll.

Only 80 voted last week, because of primary interest in the close pennant windups in the National and American leagues, and the world series.

The third, fourth, fifth and sixth teams last week—Oklahoma, Tulane, Minnesota, and North Carolina, remained right in that order again.

A newcomer to the top 10 is Kentucky, which jumped from 15th place to eighth after handing Georgia a 25-0 shellacking Saturday.

California moved up from 10th to ninth, trading places with Southern Methodist, which was idle last week.

Yanks-Brooks Scatter; Wait For Checks

NEW YORK (AP)—The winning Yankees and the losing Dodgers began scattering for their homes Monday to await fat world series checks from Commissioner Chandler. Yankee officials also began the painful task of returning some $700,000 to fans who bought tickets to unplayed sixth and seventh games at the Stadium.

Although exact figures will not be known for several weeks, it is estimated that each full-share Yankee will receive close to $5,800 for the part he played in humbling the National leaguers, and that each Brook will be salvaged to the extent of $4,100.

The happy Yanks, who survived everything except fire and flood in their limping progress toward a 12th world championship, held a colossal victory celebration Sunday night. Manager Casey Stengel contradicted a report that he might not be back next year because of ill health.

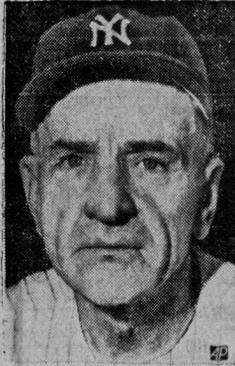

"Nothing to it," said old Casey. "Why, I'm so healthy that I'm the only guy on the club who hasn't had a doctor all year."

Casey is working on a two-year contract calling for $40,000 per season. It would cause no surprise if co-owner Dan Topping and Del Webb should tear that one up and reward their hand-picked pilot with another reading, say, $60,000 a year.

Naturally, most of Monday's second-guessing was directed at Burt Shotton, Brooklyn's 65-year-old guiding hand.

The opinion is not unanimous that Burt will be back.

Loss of the play-off in five games, and especially the final sad rout of his strong-arm young pitchers by a Yankee club of only moderate power, could only have been a sharp blow to President Branch Rickey, who in the spring called the Dodgers "the greatest team I ever put together."

Alumni Golf Meet Planned For Friday

Frank "Bucky" O'Connor, SUI varsity golf coach, announced Monday that a links tourney will be held Friday afternoon for all alumni interested in participating.

The meet, which will begin at 1 p.m., will be a revival of a similar get-together held on Homecoming weekends before the war. Several interesting things have been planned for the gala tournament and a large tourney field is contemplated.

One phase of the meet will include an 18 hole medal play division for those who wish to cover the full distance. Alumni who feel that a full round would be disagreeable will be able to enter the nine hole event. A "blind bogey" tournament which should prove interesting to all of the returning links addicts has been planned.

Such heralded golfers as Harold Skow, Newton, Jim Rasley, Des Moines, and Mark Stewart, Iowa City, will play in the classic.

Iowa Cagers Engage Carnegie Tech Here

PITTSBURGH, PA.—Preparations for the 1950 Carnegie Tech basketball campaign and a trip to Iowa City Dec. 23 have been underway now for two weeks.

Mel Cratsley, new head basketball coach, has been putting the Tech cagers through rigorous drills in prep for the opener with Steubenville Nov. 30. Cratsley has a promising outfit this year with 10 varsity veterans returning.

Leading the returning veterans is captain Mike Theodore, the Tartans' center who has led all Skibo scoters for the past years. Other returning regulars are Jack Riehl, regarded by many as Tech's most valuable player last year, Tom Beck and Joe Matsey.

Cratsley's brightest hopes now are centered around the return of three players from the 1948 squad. Tasso Katselas, one of the finest players in the district, Dave Ellies and Len Bianchi.

Hack to Return

CHICAGO (AP)—Jack Sheehan, minor league executive for the Chicago Cubs, said Monday it is expected Stan Hack will return as manager of the Des Moines Western league team in 1950 for his third season with the club.

The challenge for a game came from Rutgers and there was to be three contests that year. However only two were played, these two being split. New Brunswick is situated in an excellent position to be the site of Football's Hall of Fame, U.S. highway No. 1 which winds up the eastern seaboard from Florida to Maine, cuts through the city's outskirts. The Lincoln highway, which runs from coast to coast runs through the city's center.

Rutgers itself is the eighth oldest college in the nation, being established by a royal charter of Nov. 10, 1766.

Minnesota Prexy Opposes Rose Bowl Pact Renewal

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—President James M. Morrill of the University of Minnesota still is opposed to the Rose Bowl pact between the Western and Pacific Coast conferences, he said Monday night.

Minnesota and Illinois were the only two conference members voting against the pact when it was instituted four years ago. It has one more year to run and Morrill said he would "do all in my power to see that it is not renewed."

Paul Brechler, director of athletics at Iowa, said, "I think there is a lot to be said for continuation of the pact; however, I don't think Iowa has made up its mind definitely. Although I don't see any move against the pact here, I think there are some things to be ironed out."

LOS ANGELES — A foot-by-foot search of vast Griffith park started Monday for pretty television actress Jean Spangler, 27, who disappeared over the weekend.

The circumstances of Miss Spangler's disappearance were similar in some respects to those in the case of Mrs. Mimi Boomhower, wealthy widow, who dropped out of sight two months ago and has not been found.

Miss Spangler has not been seen since she left for work Friday. Her purse was found Sunday by a gardener in Griffith park. Mrs. Boomhower disappeared Aug. 18 and the only clue to her disappearance was her purse, found in a market two days later.

Attorney S. S. Hahn first voiced the fear that Miss Spangler might have met foul play. The actress' former husband, plastics manufacturer Dexter Benner, also could find no motive for her disappearance.

A note was found in Miss Spangler's purse which said: "Kirk: Can't wait any longer. Going to see a doctor. It will work best while mother is away."

No trace of Mrs. Boomhower has been discovered since her disappearance Aug. 18, and on Sept. 29 a judge declared the missing widow legally dead in order that her estate might be conserved. Police, however, said their search was still continuing.

The executive committee of the Campus Chest drive will meet at 4:30 this afternoon in the Iowa Union to continue plans for the fund raising campaign which begins Nov. 8.

The small gold-colored pins which will be given to all contributors have been ordered. Chairman Bob Kramer, A3, White Plains, N.Y., said Monday. The pins are printed with a large block "I" and the words "Campus Chest."

The executive committee is seeking a slogan for the annual drive in a contest which opened Sunday. Students are invited to submit slogans to Kramer, 227 South Quadrangle, before Oct. 23.

The contest winner will receive a free ticket to the Dad's Day dance, Oct. 29 at the Iowa Union. Slogans will be judged by the executive committee on a basis of originality and usefulness in the drive.

The theme of the chest drive will be "everybody gives — no matter how much." Agencies receiving funds from the drive sponsored by the student council will be CARE, the American Cancer society, the World Student Service fund and the United Negro College fund.

Members of the executive committee, besides Kramer, are Mary Louise Anneberg, A3, Carroll, and Gil Pearlman, A3, Des Moines.

Four SUI professors will attend the 1949 Iowa Community work conference at Iowa State college in Ames, Oct. 17 and 18.

They are Profs. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts; Wayne Vasey, director of the school of social work; Robert Talbot, sociology department; and Den H. Cooper, college of education.

At the conference, the typical Iowa community will undergo a thorough examination at the hands of its own civic leaders.

Such issues as reducing the voting age to 18 years; health projects and general improvements will be discussed at the conference.

Iowa community representatives in industry, agriculture, education, government and social welfare will be mixed in audience participation forums after brief talks by prominent men in each field.

Activities soon will be under way for the '49 SUI Homecoming, the 37th annual observance of the event.

The first Homecoming day was held here Nov. 23, 1912, with the Iowa-Wisconsin football game as the main event of the day. Wisconsin won 28 to 10.

A comparison of the first Homecoming with those of more recent years shows a great deal of similarity.

One difference at the first Homecoming was the importance attached to inter-departmental sports.

Featured on the program of the first Homecoming day was the game for the inter-departmental football championship between the dental college and the medical college.

The game was the main event of the program for Homecoming morning. The dental team defeated the medical team, 2-0, to win the inter-departmental championship for the year.

Previously Ruggar, through his attorneys, Will J. Hayek and M. E. Baker, had prepared a motion asking for more specific statements from Kulhavey. The paper was lost by Hayek's law partner or mislaid in the court clerk's office, according to testimony.

Stating that he had no opportunity to defend himself, Ruggar asked the court to set aside the judgment against him. Judge Gaffney subsequently reopened the case and later set aside the judgment against Ruggar.

The 'Good 'Ol Days' —
Cigars, Cider for First Homecoming Crowd

According to the Nov. 23, 1912, issue of The Daily Iowan, at the pep-rally on the first Homecoming eve, a great deal of spirit was displayed by the student body.

The account describes the natural science auditorium, where the rally was held, as being so "crowded with students and visiting alumni the university band could hardly find room to play."

No estimate of attendance at the rally was given but the account stated there was a record turnout at the pep-rally.

According to the account in The Daily Iowan it was the first SUI pep-rally opened by the audience rising to sing Old Gold, the SUI song. Speakers at the rally included alumni and football players.

After the pep-rally an informal smoker was held in the Iowa Union for alumni who had returned. According to the account, the smoker was sponsored by the Scimitar and Fez, the senior class

Committee to Plan For Campus Chest; Seeks Drive Slogan

The executive committee of the Campus Chest drive will meet at 4:30 this afternoon in the Iowa Union to continue plans for the fund raising campaign which begins Nov. 8.

The small gold-colored pins which will be given to all contributors have been ordered. Chairman Bob Kramer, A3, White Plains, N.Y., said Monday. The pins are printed with a large block "I" and the words "Campus Chest."

The executive committee is seeking a slogan for the annual drive in a contest which opened Sunday. Students are invited to submit slogans to Kramer, 227 South Quadrangle, before Oct. 23.

The contest winner will receive a free ticket to the Dad's Day dance, Oct. 29 at the Iowa Union. Slogans will be judged by the executive committee on a basis of originality and usefulness in the drive.

The theme of the chest drive will be "everybody gives — no matter how much." Agencies receiving funds from the drive sponsored by the student council will be CARE, the American Cancer society, the World Student Service fund and the United Negro College fund.

Members of the executive committee, besides Kramer, are Mary Louise Anneberg, A3, Carroll, and Gil Pearlman, A3, Des Moines.

Four SUI professors will attend the 1949 Iowa Community work conference at Iowa State college in Ames, Oct. 17 and 18.

They are Profs. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts; Wayne Vasey, director of the school of social work; Robert Talbot, sociology department; and Den H. Cooper, college of education.

At the conference, the typical Iowa community will undergo a thorough examination at the hands of its own civic leaders.

Such issues as reducing the voting age to 18 years; health projects and general improvements will be discussed at the conference.

Iowa community representatives in industry, agriculture, education, government and social welfare will be mixed in audience participation forums after brief talks by prominent men in each field.

Activities soon will be under way for the '49 SUI Homecoming, the 37th annual observance of the event.

The first Homecoming day was held here Nov. 23, 1912, with the Iowa-Wisconsin football game as the main event of the day. Wisconsin won 28 to 10.

A comparison of the first Homecoming with those of more recent years shows a great deal of similarity.

One difference at the first Homecoming was the importance attached to inter-departmental sports.

Featured on the program of the first Homecoming day was the game for the inter-departmental football championship between the dental college and the medical college.

The game was the main event of the program for Homecoming morning. The dental team defeated the medical team, 2-0, to win the inter-departmental championship for the year.

Phi Kappa Psi Float to Lead Homecoming Parade Friday

The first four floats in Friday's Homecoming parade will be those representing Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, Iowa State Band and Trust company, Currier hall and Sigma Delta Chi fraternity. William Coder, parade chairman, said Monday.

The position of float entries within their groups was determined Monday at a public drawing held in Coder's office.

Walter Goetsch, SUI's dean of students, drew organization names, which were rolled inside capsules, and Coder read each name aloud at the drawing.

Floats may be placed on display at the stadium Saturday, Frank Havlicek, SUI's athletics business manager, said Monday, provided they are confined to the eastern edge of the east roadway running along the east side of the stadium.

The floats must not be placed on the track outside the stadium, Havlicek emphasized. And they must not be moved to the stadium later than 10 a.m. Saturday nor removed later than 6 p.m. Saturday, he said.

The floats may be left at the stadium Friday night after the parade, Havlicek said, but doing so will be at the owners' risk. Guards will be on duty only between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m., Coder said.

The drawing held Monday did not determine the lineup of the parade. Capsules containing organization names were placed in four boxes, designated as fraternities, dormitories, town and university.

The fifth fraternity drawn, for example, will be the fifth fraternity float in the line-up, but not fifth in the parade, Coder said. However, there will not be two floats in succession representing the same group, he added.

The drawing resulted in the following sequences of floats:

Fraternity group—Phi Kappa Psi, Delta Tau Delta, Phi Gamma Delta, Alpha Tau Omega, Theta Xi, Phi Epsilon Pi, Delta Chi, Sigma Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Upsilon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Kappa Sigma, Sigma Nu, Pi Kappa Alpha and Phi Delta Theta.

Dormitory group—Currier hall, South Quadrangle, Westlawn,

Quadrangle, Eastlawn and crest.

Town group—Iowa State and Trust company, American Legion, KXIC, Jackson Electric First National bank, Dunlap's, Sales, Knights of Columbus, Kelly cleaners, Sidwell Ice Company, Junior Chamber Commerce, Iowa Supply, I. Marcino-Grupe company, M. Renger's cleaners, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts.

University group—Sigma Chi, Panhellenic, Delta Sigma Mountaineers, Town Men, Athletic department, American Pharmaceutical association, Psi Omega, Eta Kappa Nu, Panhellenic committee and Alpha Phi Omega.

'49 Corn Monument Nears Completion

The first outdoor display of the 1949 Homecoming corn monument is set for Wednesday afternoon, when the monument will be moved to the west approach of Old Capitol.

Work on the monument has been carried on since Tuesday in the mechanical engineering laboratory by volunteers of the Associated Students of Engineering, SUI organization sponsoring the monument's construction.

By Monday afternoon the monument was taking on a definite finished appearance. Wilfred Rogers, E4, chairman, the ASE corn monument committee, and his volunteer crew had all the framework in place and most of the multi-color lighting equipment installed.

Details of the monument are secret, by tradition, until it is ready for public display. The monument is a replica of a model submitted by Richard Martin, A2, Hamburg, in the recent ASE contest for the best design.

To Hear Lee Suit

Jurors to hear a damage lawsuit brought by W. A. Lee against the Oscar-Mayer Packing company were chosen in district court Monday.

Lee is seeking $1,335 for alleged damages to his truck in an accident which occurred last January. Another truck belonging to the packing company was involved in the accident.

The twelve jurors chosen to hear the case are Robert Bratton, John Sterba, Mable Fry, Frances Poduska, Robert Kalden, Roy Ewers, Sara Daykin, Marie Hays, Edith Pyle, William Cambridge, Mary Miller and Mary Glenn.

BERAN HITS LAW
PRAGUE (AP)—Archbishop Josef Beran appealed Monday to Roman Catholic priests to oppose the government's new church law and "not be bought for the silver of Judas."

A meeting of Sigma Alpha Mu, national social fraternity, will be held in the YWCA rooms in the Union at 7:30 p.m. today, according to Harold Arkoff, G, Iowa City. The meeting is for the purpose of organizing a chapter of the fraternity on the SUI campus.

NOTED EDITOR DIES

WASHINGTON (AP)—George B. Parker, editor-in-chief of the Scripps-Howard newspaper chain, died here Monday at the age of 63. The Pulitzer-prize winning editor was stricken with an internal hemorrhage last Wednesday. He died early Monday morning at Emergency hospital.

Music written by three friends inspired by the same classic German drama will be performed by the SUI symphony orchestra conducted by Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp at the Goethe anniversary concert, Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The three, Wagner, Liszt and Berlioz, interpreted Goethe's Faust in three forms and all achieved success with it.

When Wagner finished his composition he sent it to Liszt for criticism. Liszt replied he thought the overture needed a more lyrical part in the anthem of Gretchen. The version to be played Wednesday is the third revision of the piece, Clapp said.

After he had done parts of his contemplated selection, he sent them to Goethe for approval. Goethe was no expert on music so he called in a friend who was a conservative but expert musician.

He told Goethe it would be a mistake to allow the publication of "that radical fellow's music." Goethe told Berlioz he could publish what was written but not to write any more.

Berlioz went on anyway but reverted to the older Faust legend where Faust doesn't win his entrance to heaven as in Goethe's work. Berlioz, therefore, called his "The Damnation of Faust."

Tickets Sold Out

Tickets for the "1949 Gold Rush" SUI Homecoming dance were sold out completely two hours and 10 minutes after sales began 8 a.m. Monday in the Iowa Union, according to Union board committeeman Don Guthrie.

The ticket line began forming at 6:15 a.m., and by 10:10 800 tickets had been purchased, Guthrie said.

Plans for the informal dance will be completed at a Union Board and sub-committee meeting today.

Richard Spencer, managing editor of SUI information service and senior instructor, is working on designs for the backdrop behind the band stand, which will be centered around "Herky, the Forty-Niner" theme.

To give you a finer cigarette Lucky Strike maintains AMERICA'S FINEST CIGARETTE LABORATORY

America's largest cigarette research laboratory is your guarantee that Luckies are a finer cigarette!

YOU SEE HERE the largest and most complete laboratory of its kind operated by any cigarette manufacturer in America. For many years Lucky Strike scientists have delved into cigarette research on an extensive scale. Out of this has grown an elaborate system of quality control. Every step in the making of Luckies—from before the tobacco is bought until the finished cigarette reaches you—comes under the laboratory's watchful eye. As you read this, a constant stream of tobacco... samples from every tobacco-growing area... is flowing into the laboratory in Richmond, Virginia. These samples are scientifically analyzed, and reports of their quality go to the men who buy at auction for the makers of Lucky Strike. Armed with this confidential, scientific information—and their own sound judgment—these men go after finer tobacco. This fine tobacco—together with scientifically controlled manufacturing methods—is your assurance that there is no finer cigarette than Lucky Strike!

Testing tobacco. Samples from every tobacco-growing area are analyzed before and after purchase. These extensive scientific analyses, along with the expert judgment of Lucky Strike buyers, assure you that the tobacco in Luckies is fine!

So round, so firm, so fully packed. Typical of many devices designed to maintain standards of quality, this mechanism helps avoid loose ends... makes doubly sure your Lucky is so round, so firm, so fully packed.

So free and easy on the draw. This meter draws air through the cigarette, measures the draw. Samples are tested to see if they are properly filled. Tests like this guarantee Luckies are free and easy on the draw.

We know: LUCKIES PAY MORE for fine tobacco (millions of dollars more than official parity prices)

We are convinced: LUCKIES PAY MORE for cigarette research

Missing Extra New

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A missing brunette film actress, Elizabeth Spangler, was seen in a romance with an actor, Robert Cummings, on Tuesday.

Cummings said the beauty told him of interest last Wednesday. Miss Spangler disappeared Friday night leaving a cold trail. Detectives hope they will not be confronted with other sex murders.

The girl was working as a press extra, as a society woman in a scene.

"I was sitting on the steps of the room when she walked by whistling," said Cummings. "I said 'you're a beauty.' She replied, 'I am, romance.'"

"I asked her if she said 'not I'm having the time of my life.' Cummings said they had the identity of the girl.

Detectives said they left her apartment Friday they have found a tangible clue, her to the handles ripped out of a door.

It was found Sunday to Fern Dell canyon park, miles from the divorcee.

Investigators said to work on, in a solved sex killings since Elizabeth Short, known as "Black Dahlia," in a
