Missing Extra Had New Love

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The missing brunette film extra, Jean Elizabeth Spangler, had "a new romance" with an unidentified man, actor Robert Cummings disclosed Tuesday.

Cummings said the 27-year-old beauty told him about her heart interest last Wednesday. Miss Spangler disappeared Friday night leaving a cold trail. Detectives hope they will not be confronted with other sex murder.

Miss Spangler

The girl was working as a dress extra, as society woman in a night club scene. "I was sitting on my dressing room steps on the set when Jean walked by whistling," Cummings said. "I said 'you sound happy.' She replied, 'I am, I have a new romance.'"

"I asked her 'Is it serious,' and she said 'not exactly, but I'm having the time of my life.' Cummings and girls at the studio said they had no hint of the identity of the new "heart throb."

Detectives said that since she left her apartment at 5:30 p.m. Friday they have found only one tangible clue, her torn purse with the handles ripped off.

It was found Sunday adjacent to Fern Dell canyon in Griffith park, miles from the home of the divorcee.

Investigators said they had little to work on, in a parallel with unsolved sex killings such as that of Elizabeth Short, known as the "Black Dahlia," in January, 1947.

Windstorms Claim 21 Lives in Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — The death toll from midwestern gales rose to 21 Tuesday as cleanup crews began repairing damage to communication lines and property.

The storm that brought winds of hurricane velocity to some midwestern areas blew itself out over the Hudson bay area.

The death list showed six were dead in Wisconsin, one in Iowa, two in South Dakota, three in Illinois, four in Kansas, three in Wyoming, and two in Nebraska.

Oliver (Red) Hahnstein, former triple threat halfback at Northwestern university, was electrocuted at Aurora, Ill., Tuesday while working on a storm weakened power line. Hahnstein, a 1941 graduate of Northwestern, was a lineman for the Western United Power company.

Temperatures dropped 20 degrees in some midwestern areas in the wake of the storm, but unseasonable heat still prevailed in the east and gulf states. Temperatures were in the mid-eighties in much of the eastern seaboard area.

Showers and thunderstorms occurred in a narrow band from northern Ohio southwestward through Illinois, Indiana, Oklahoma and northern Texas.

Soldier Bails Out Of Plane on Dare

NASHVILLE, ARK. (AP) — A military prisoner bailed out of an airplane on a dare over southwest Arkansas Tuesday. He was apprehended five hours later walking nonchalantly along a highway.

The soldier, identified as Pvt. Howard Shinneman, 23, of the Forbes Air Force Base at Topeka, Kansas, suffered only a scratched finger. He said it was his first parachute jump.

Solon's Son Fights Cop, Lands in Mental Ward

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert M. Kilgore, 25-year-old son of the West Virginia senator, landed in a mental ward Tuesday after a fist fight with police.

Patrolman Vincent Fuchs said young Kilgore, an army veteran, attacked him after he responded to a trouble call at the Brooklyn apartment of Kilgore and his wife, Shirley, 24, Monday night.

His father, Democratic Senator Harley Kilgore, said his son never has fully recovered from two recent physical breakdowns.

Murray Sees Early Victory

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Philip Murray told his striking CIO United Steelworkers Tuesday they will have victory shortly.

Murray spoke to 15,000 cheering strikers at Youngstown, Ohio, as the government set out on its fourth attempt at peacemaking in the economy-crippling strike.

The CIO president ignored government olive branch waving and shouted to his men, "I assure you that before very long we will all be happy. The strike will be ended and the steelworkers will be the victors. The American people will be the beneficiary."

Murray lashed out at leaders of the steel industry for denying free pensions and insurance to their workers "while looking forward to big non-contributory pensions themselves."

He accused the industry of seeking to "drive the workers back into the mills in a state of economic submission." But "they can't do that. They aren't big enough," Murray declared in his first speech of his pep stumping tour of major steel cities.

As Murray spoke, the steel strike blow continued spreading to allied industries with the International Harvester company layoff of approximately 3,500 employees at its Chicago McCormick plant due to depleted steel supplies.

U.S. Conciliation Director Cyrus S. Ching started arranging meetings with industry leaders to see what can be done about halting the 11-day shutdown idling 454,000 steelworkers.

First session will be with Bethlehem Steel company, the nation's No. 2 producer, in New York Thursday. And by the middle of next week, Ching said, he will have conferred with three or four major producers, including the giant U.S. Steel corporation.

Labor Gains Edge In Norway Voting

OSLO, NORWAY (AP) — Premier Einar Gerhardsen's Labor government has scored a surprising triumph by winning at least 86 seats in the new 150-member parliament, tabulations from Monday's election showed Tuesday night.

On the other hand the Communists, who alone of all the Norwegian parties opposed Norway's membership in the Atlantic pact, lost all but one of their 11 seats.

The popular vote was: Labor party, 556,705; non-Socialist parties, 590,460, and Communists, 61,574.

Coer Asks Description Of Floats by Thursday

William D. Coder, Homecoming parade committee chairman, Tuesday asked all persons who have float entries in the Homecoming parade to give him a description of their float before Thursday noon.

The information will be kept secret and is desired primarily as an aid in arranging the floats in parade order, Coder said.

Soviet 'Well-wishers' Greet New Reich President

Eastern Germany Celebrates Election of Communist Head

BERLIN (AP) — Communists celebrated with fireworks Tuesday night the swearing in of aging Wilhelm Pieck, who holds a colonel's rank in the Soviet army, as president of a new German communist republic.

The 73-year-old revolutionary who fought for Communism during the days of the Kaiser, the Weimar republic and Hitler was elected at a rubber stamp session of the people's chamber and chambers of states. He was sworn in at 4:45 p.m. As titular head of the Soviet zone state, and he at once voiced thanks to Stalin and to Russia.

The ceremony put the new state into business, without the formality of popular elections, as an active opponent of the elected western German republic at Bonn. In his oath Pieck pledged to devote himself "to the welfare of the German people." He translated this to mean that the Soviet union had acquired a new satellite whose welfare is linked with Moscow.

Beaverbrook, Churchill Clash on Wage Issue

LONDON (AP) — Winston Churchill rejected the idea of a minimum wage for British workers Tuesday in a sharp split with his wartime crony, Lord Beaverbrook.

Both Churchill, the Conservative party leader, and Beaverbrook, Conservative British press lord, are ardent foes of the socialist Labor government.

Their dispute came amid increased reports that the government soon may call an election for endorsement of its planning and financial policies.

Tuesday Last Day For Fee Payments

Any SUI students who have failed to complete their registration by paying tuition fees must do so before Tuesday or their registration for this semester will be automatically cancelled, Registrar Ted H. McCarrel said Tuesday.

The scheduled fee payment period ended Thursday. A $2 fine is levied for the first day a payment is overdue and a $1 fine is levied for each additional day, McCarrel said.

"Few students failed to pay their fees before the regular payment period ended, probably because they wanted their ID cards for admission to the Iowa-Illinois game Saturday," McCarrel said.

News Chain Editor Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newspaper notables and government officials Tuesday attended funeral services for George B. Parker, 63, editor-in-chief of the Scripps-Howard newspapers who died here Monday of an internal hemorrhage.

CIO Thinks Leftists Forming New Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — CIO leaders Tuesday saw signs of the long-awaited move by left-wing unions to split away and form a third labor federation of their own.

The first sign came from the farm equipment workers (FE) whose executive board was said to have voted to merge with the United electrical workers (UE) at a secret meeting in Chicago, two weeks ago.

The CIO regards the leadership of both unions as left-wing and even, in many instances, pro-Communist in sympathy.

The decision of the farm equipment worker leadership to cast their lot with UE—third largest union in the CIO—was in defiance of a CIO executive board order that the union should merge with Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers. Reuther and his right-wing administration control the auto workers.

Gran Oaker, president of the Farm Equipment Workers, refused to comply with the CIO verdict.

Senate Fails to Settle Farm Subsidy Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a presidential plea for action, the senate recessed Tuesday without reaching a vote on the hot issue of farm price supports.

Although Democratic Leader Lucas called the senate to meet an hour earlier than usual today in an effort to clear the bill, the delay threatened to drive for final adjournment of congress this week.

Russians Offer To Count Bombs If We'll Do Same

By RICHARD WITKIN

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (UP) — Russia offered Tuesday to tell how many atomic bombs it has if the United States will do the same.

The Soviet also promptly vetoed an American proposal for separating the problem of atomic control from United Nations plans to reduce the number of non-atomic weapons.

Soviet UN Delegate Jacob A. Malik, demanding that "the cards be put on the table for an honest game," said in effect the recent Soviet atomic explosion had not altered the Soviet insistence that any census of world arms must include a count of atomic weapons.

Then he used Russia's 39th

general assembly for "information only."

"We think information should be submitted not only on conventional armaments but also on atomic weapons," Malik said.

The Soviet stand was not new but the fact that it was reaffirmed for the first time since President Truman's momentous announcement of the Soviet atomic explosion put the whole atomic picture in a new light.

It meant that Russia was willing to announce how many atomic weapons it has if all other nations — meaning the United States — will do the same.

Malik, who arrived late at the assembly session and is the only Soviet delegate who was in Russia at the time of the Soviet atom blast, repeated Soviet charges that "ruling circles" in the west are "preparing for war."

He ran the gamut of Soviet charges that the western powers really are trying to block any progress on disarmament and are sabotaging arms control talks in the UN.

British Delegate Sir Alexander Cadogan immediately rebuked the burly Soviet delegate, asking whether it was wise for the Russians to "indulge in a long historical review based on selected facts and considerable distortion."

Cadogan asked if it would not be better for the Soviet minority to make some concessions to the majority.

Malik snapped right back by saying that if Britain had any new proposals to make, Russia would gladly listen to them.

Russia, he said, always has demanded that "the cards be put on the table for an honest game," and the fact the west had refused to include atom bombs in the proposed arms census plan, he added, showed who did not want to turn up its hand.

"These two things (atomic and conventional arms) are inseparable," Malik said, "and would make possible control of the atom."

The west has insisted from the start of UN disarmament efforts that efforts to control old-fashioned and new experimental weapons must be kept in strictly separated pigeonholes.

The Soviet atom blast has produced no apparent change in the United States stand that it will not scrap any of its atom bombs until an effective international control agency is in operation.

Physicist to Speak On Atom Secrecy

Prof. James A. Jacobs, director of research in nuclear physics at SUI, will tell members of the Iowa City Lions club reasons why the atomic bomb could not be kept secret.

He will be guest speaker at the noon luncheon meeting of the business men's club today at Reich's Pine room.

Jacobs said Tuesday he will attempt to promote better understanding in the "disastrous weapon."

Housing Shortages Face Homecomers

About 40 SUI students will have no place for their visiting relatives and friends to sleep Homecoming weekend unless available rooms are found in Iowa City homes for them, Richard E. Sweitzer, director of off-campus housing, said Tuesday.

So far only about 20 rooms for Homecoming visitors have been listed with the office and they have all been filled. About 40 requests for quarters have not yet been filled by the office, Sweitzer said.

"The demand for housing facilities of this type for the Homecoming weekend will undoubtedly grow even larger before Friday," Sweitzer said.

Sweitzer urged any Iowa City residents who will rent rooms to Homecoming visitors to call extension 2191 and list their names with his office as soon as possible.

FARM BOY WINS

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Burton Bosch, 18-year-old farm boy of Chinook, Mont., won the Future Farmers of America national oratorical contest Tuesday with a speech on stream pollution.

Blandy Says U.S. Needs Supercarrier

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. W. H.P. Blandy declared Tuesday night that proposed cuts in the navy seriously imperil the nation's security and he urged a restudy of the stop-work order on the supercarrier United States.

Blandy said that in the case of the Atlantic fleet, which he commands, projected money cuts will reduce its force "dangerously below" minimum estimates.

He declared that disclosure of an atomic explosion in Russia is one factor which makes it advisable to re-examine Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson's decision to stop work on the supercarrier. It was estimated to cost $185-million.

Blandy appeared at a night session of the house armed services committee, currently hearing the navy's side of the inter-service dispute over the importance of the airforce and its big B-36 bomber.

In response to questions by Chairman Carl Vinson (D - Ga.), Blandy said he would be glad to see legislation looking toward construction of a supercarrier.

"The facts and circumstances require a carrier of the type of the United States," continued Vinson.

"Yes, sir," the admiral said. "Blandy declined to say exactly what numbers and kinds of ships would be taken out of the Atlantic fleet because of the proposed reduction in naval aviation.

He said he knows a protest was carried to Secretary Johnson about the number of carriers. As a consequence, he said, the number will be reduced from eight to six instead of eight to four.

Blandy said he does not consider navy morale to be at a dangerously low ebb, as others have testified. He said he prefers the word concern.

He proposed that the army, navy and airforce each should determine the weapons and devices needed to execute their own missions "without being dictated to or out-voted by officers of other services."

Other navy witnesses earlier Tuesday trained critical fire on the B-36 bomber. They suggested that Russia can shoot it down with guided rockets and that, even if the pride of the airforce should escape them, its "barbaric" atomizing of cities would strip the U.S. of self-respect.

One of them, Comdr. Eugene Tatom, stirred up angry denials and criticism with his statement Monday that you could stand in the open in ordinary clothing and escape injury from an atom bomb blast only 6,855 feet away.

Tatom quoted from a report by the medical division of the U.S. strategic bombing survey, which said less than one-half of one percent of school children who were between 6,562 to 8,202 feet from the atom bomb burst at Hiroshima were killed.

Rep. Paul Kilday (D - Texas) said an evaluation by the Manhattan district engineers' project, which developed the A-bomb, put the death rate within 7,000 to 8,000 feet of the Nagasaki bomb blast at 12.4 percent.

Other navy officers have told the committee that the B-36 can not do precision bombing from 40,000 feet, the altitude at which some airforce officers contend it could not be intercepted by enemy fighters.

Capt. John H. Sides, a navy expert on guided missiles, followed Tatom to the witness chair. Without mentioning Russia by name, he said anti-aircraft weapons which German scientists were developing at the end of World War II fell "lock, stock and barrel" into the hands of "a former ally of ours which is not now a signer of the Atlantic pact."

Rear Adm. Ralph A. Ofstie, a member of the military liaison committee to the atomic energy commission, said the theory persists in the airforce that industrial centers are the most vulnerable strategic bombing targets. Evidence from the last war proves, he contended, that they were the wrong targets for primary effort.

Brig. Gen. Vernon A. Megee, a veteran of Okinawa who is assistant director of marine aviation, told the committee that tactical planes — fighters, attack bombers and reconnaissance planes — were the decisive factor in both the Atlantic and Pacific battle areas of World War II.

SUI Gets First Iowa Army Research Unit

Iowa's first army research and development unit, one of 80 scattered throughout the nation, has been activated at SUI, President Virgil Hancher said Tuesday.

Commanding the 5569th research and development unit is Prof. Arthur H. Moehlman of the college of education. Moehlman, who served with the military intelligence division during the last war, is a colonel in the organized reserve.

Explaining the unit's job, Moehlman said it was created through the joint efforts of scientists, educators, and the armed forces "to utilize the high level of scientific and research training . . . found in universities and metropolitan centers."

Serving on the unit's university committee are President Hancher; Prof. Harvey H. Davis, executive dean, division of research and teaching and dean of the graduate college; Dr. Caryle Jacobson, executive of the division of health sciences and services.

Dean E. M. Dawson, college of engineering; Prof. Walter Loehwing, director of the botany department, and Col. W. W. Jenna, commander of the SUI ROTC.

Research handled by the unit will include work in the fields of medicine, dentistry, engineering, chemistry, the natural sciences, psychology and speech communication, Moehlman said.

Determination of what projects Iowa research unit will undertake is a two-way proposition, Moehlman explained. Some work will be the armed forces.

But a local scientist may submit a project of his own. If approved, the project may either be let out on contract or sent to one of the research units for review.

Moehlman said the old army chain of command exists in regard to administrative and personnel matters. But men on the projects and their project problems are handled directly by the armed forces unit for which they are working.

In all, there are 2,500 scientists employed by these units.

School Board Votes $30,000 for Building

The city board of education Tuesday night transferred $30,000 from the general fund for use in making payments on the Lincoln and Longfellow school additions.

The temporary transfer to the school fund will be replaced when the $182,000 bond issue, now being advertised, is sold.

Irving B. Weber, insurance committee member, made a motion that the new school insurance policy be based upon the original estimated value of the buildings, plus the contract value of the Lincoln and Longfellow additions.

The motion was carried by the board.

Upon a recommendation by Mrs. Kenneth Greene, the board agreed to purchase new playground equipment for the Horace Mann grade school.

The board also decided to allow commercial groups the use of the City high auditorium if a provision is made for additional janitor service.

Fire Officials Feel Leaf Fires Fired

Fire officials said Tuesday night someone may be setting leaf fires. The department answered seven alarms between 8 and 9 p.m. at scattered points in Iowa City.

'Gold Rush' Theme To Highlight Dance

The festively decorated Iowa Union main lounge will be the scene of this year's Homecoming dance, "1949 Gold Rush," according to plans made by the Union board and its subcommittees at their first joint meeting Tuesday night.

A large golden "Herky, the Forty-Niner" — complete with beard and pick-axe — will grace the backdrop behind Artie Shaw and his orchestra Saturday night, and the gold rush theme will be carried out in all parts of the lounge.

Frank Burge, assistant director of the Union, asked the board's support at the open house for alumni Friday night in the Union. Featured at the informal gathering may be movies of the Iowa-Purdue football game, he said.

William Tandy, A4, Pella, Union board president, introduced committee chairmen who explained functions of each committee.

The 42 sub-committee members were then allowed to select the committee on which they wished to serve — house and library, games, bridge, fine arts, publicity, movies or tea dance.

Decorating the Union lounge Saturday morning marks the beginning of the year's work for the newly selected committeemen.

Man Can't Be Held For Two 1935 Deaths

MILWAUKEE (AP) — District Attorney William McCauley said Tuesday that Wallace Skiba, 26-year-old itinerant who confessed causing the deaths of two small boys 14 years ago, can't be charged with any crime.

McCauley said the six-year statute of limitations prevented prosecution. Even without the statute, he said, the most severe charge that could be brought against Skiba would be "some form of manslaughter."

Skiba, a husky, unkempt "drifter," walked into police headquarters Tuesday night and said his "conscience" drove him to report that he pushed a boy, Robert Vogel, 7, into the Milwaukee river in 1935. Another boy, Stephen Muraszewski, 8, toppled in with Vogel and both drowned.

Campus 'Scalpers' —

The quest of the "fast buck" has led some SUI students to make a little profit at the expense of fellow students.

It seems that ticket "scalping" has followed the sale of tickets to the Artie Shaw Homecoming dance Saturday night.

Monday at 8 a.m., 800 tickets at $3.60 apiece went on sale in the Iowa Union. Shortly after 10 a.m., they were all gone.

All students who wanted tickets didn't make it down to the Union during these hours and to had to get them elsewhere.

One student said he paid $7 for a ticket, which will admit one couple. He said the scalper was reluctant to sell, since he thought he might make more later in the week.

He probably would have. One fellow is reported to have paid $12.50 for a duet, a better than 300 percent profit on the part of the scalper.

Legally, there is little—if anything—that can be done. Morally, the scalper receives a little social ostracism, but little else.

A word about the purchasers of the inflated tickets. They must be terribly eager to see Artie Shaw.

Chain Links —

Our state department has announced tariff cuts on nearly 350 key items from abroad, cuts amounting to about 44 percent of our imports from 10 countries. This is a significant move in light of the recent pound devaluation by the British and the following devaluation by nearly 18 other nations.

State department officials say the effects of the tariff cuts won't be apparent for a number of months. And the officials are right—up to a certain point. The monetary effects of the tariff slashing won't be felt until the markets have a chance to stabilize themselves.

Where the cuts are already apparent are in the political aspects, not the economic ones. For it's in the political aspects that the economic phases must be sought. Pound devaluation by the British was the step that caused the other nations to devalue.

Tariff cuts are one of the direct results—apparent that is—of pound devaluation on a grand scale. True, the state department probably worked on the tariff cuts for nearly a year before they were finally announced the other day. But the cuts themselves are the second noticeable point in the political ramifications of the move.

The first was when France's Premier Henri Queuille offered Pres. Auriol his resignation. Now two links in the chain reaction of devaluation have been forged. Watch for discrimination against American to save dollar reserves as Link No. 3.

'The Voice with a Smile' —

The Bell Telephone company recently announced that plans are underway to revolutionize long distance telephoning. The U.S. will soon be put on a nationwide exchange. That is, there will be no identical phone numbers in all the Bell exchanges in the country.

Glenwood 8-1234 may be a number in San Francisco. So, when a person in Iowa City dials that number he will be connected with San Francisco without going through the process of having a telephone operator transmit his call.

Analyzed in the cold light of day, the announcement means that the "voice with a smile"—the telephone operator—may be on the road to extinction.

The Bell system claims that 160-million telephone conversations are carried on daily. It takes two persons for a conversation, which means that a number twice as large as the population of the U.S. use the telephone each day.

All of this talk is carried by 39-million phones, most of them equipped with automatic dial equipment.

Despite this wave of mechanization, there are still 250,000 live girl operators. The phone company points out that if it weren't for the operators we couldn't have the 39-million phones.

They also claim that they would like to employ more "voices" but there just aren't enough with proper education, temperament and modulation to fill their needs.

The average operator is about 5 feet, 4 inches tall and she weighs about 120 pounds. She may be blonde, brunette or red-haired—the only thing is she has to have a smiling voice.

In New York, if you dial MERIdian 7-1212, a live girl tells you the right time. She'll keep right on telling it to you every 15 seconds for almost two minutes, but you'll be cut off. She is relieved every half hour.

If the telephone company continues to mechanize at its present rate, the time-teller's job will be about the only one left for the smiling voices. They might even come up with an automatic time-teller.

Interpreting the News — Russian A-Bomb Statement Awaited with Little Hope

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
(AP) Foreign Affairs Analyst

United Nations interest centers intensely but not hopefully today on the atomic statement which Russia is expected to make in the security council.

Jacob Malik aroused much speculation last week when he arrived from Russia with the promise of something new.

Had Russia, now possessing bomb production facilities of her own, decided to seek a compromise in the long deadlock over proposed controls?

With further consideration, that speculation has died down. Even if Russia comes up today with anything more than the generalities to which other delegations have become accustomed, it is not expected to be an agreement with the U.S. demand for iron-clad inspection and non-veioable controls. And lacking that, no settlement is possible.

That's probably what President Truman meant when he said he wasn't interested in anything the Russians might have to say on the subject. He knew they weren't going to say the required words.

Russia wants a mere agreement to produce atomic weapons, with the western powers accepting her word that she is not doing so. If that were possible it would represent a condition of mutual trust under which there would be no cold war.

It would mark the millennium, when peace would be so secure that no atomic agreement would be necessary because there would be no international fear.

The United States is having great difficulty working out an atomic partnership with Canada and Britain, her best friends. War between them is inconceivable. But the men responsible know that they will be held accountable in their country's history for any failure to perceive even the imperceptible.

In their advance appraisal of today's situation observers recall, also, that the only concrete concession made by Russia in the cold war did not come about through public pronouncements in the various propaganda forums. That was the decision to lift the Berlin blockade.

It developed in private conversations which were conducted very carefully, with many feelers extended back and forth before decisive discussions really began.

There are good reasons for believing that this pattern will continue, and that today's statement will remain in the area of maneuver, more of an indication of how Russia intends to talk for a while than of what she intends to do.

Rich Silver Discovery Means — Canadian Town to Boom Again

COBALT, ONT. — The lure of silver and gold has built and destroyed many towns, has given and taken many personal fortunes.

Many a town has sprung to roaring, tempestuous life overnight and has seen sprawling, hastily constructed buildings spread over recently barren acres in response to the wildly spreading news of a "strike."

Often the hectic ride along the glory road was short and the demise swift for those same towns as the accessible veins petered out and the get-rich-quick citizenry moved on.

SUCH A TOWN is Cobalt, a little jumble of shabby wooden buildings and worked-out silver diggings in the rocky hills some 300 miles north of Toronto.

The village had a dizzy heyday and payday from 1903 to 1920 as a $20-million bonanza of silver was dug and blasted from the rocky earth.

Then the price of silver sank, following World War I, and most of the paying ore that could be extracted economically had long since gone to the smelters.

The population that once had reached 40,000 dwindled swiftly to 3,000 and Cobalt became a tourist landmark — as a ghost town.

For nearly three decades, it seemed that dimming memories of a one-time boom were all that the Canadian hamlet could look forward to as a future.

AT LEAST, that seemed to be the picture — until a few weeks ago. Then two events, in rapid succession, occurred that dusted off the memories and gave promise of a silver-studded tomorrow.

First British capital, reinforced by British direction and modern metallurgical knowledge, stepped in and revived hope by taking over the smelter of the Silanco mining and refining company.

The object was to take advantage of post-war industrial developments by producing industrial and agricultural chemicals from the silver, nickel, arsenic and abundant but once worthless quantities of cobalt that compose the ore strata.

This development, while promising, was unspectacular. What happened next provided fuel for the imagination and brought old-timers flocking to compare notes.

A new and rich silver vein was struck!

AFTER DRILLINGS had shown they were on the right track, engineers of the Cobalt Lode silver mine sank a shaft 400 feet under a rockbound hillside and found a vein of silver in calcite that ranged from 10 to 24 inches in width.

Assays indicate that the "strike" has turned up ore containing 3,000 to 4,000 ounces of silver to the ton. Extent of the vein has not been determined.

A big chunk of the calcite, containing large black flecks of the silver, was put on display in a store near the main intersection.

One old timer who looked it over and checked the facts of the discovery told newsmen the "strike" was easily the most important in the area since pre-World War I days.

Before the outside world even knew of the discovery, the booted miners and townspeople already had drawn their own conclusions: Cobalt would be a ghost town no more, but while silver might still be "queen," it would have to share its throne with sister elements just as important to modern technology.

During the Iowa home football games, announcements have been made over the public address system to the effect that the saving of seats for late arrivals is a practice detrimental to the welfare of fellow students who come early and nevertheless are forced to occupy inferior seats.

At the Iowa-Illinois football game Saturday we observed a considerable area of the student section in the vicinity of the 50-yard line being reserved for some privileged group.

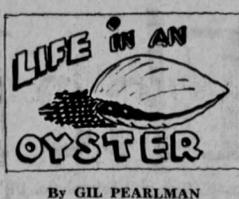

We should like to know who this privileged group might be and from whom they obtain the authority that should warrant their reservation of the better seats in the student section.

By GIL PEARLMAN

Many years ago, before the introduction of lonely hearts clubs, a man said, "A man's best friend is his dog!" Ten years later this same gentleman died from an acute case of rabies.

I can't make up my mind whether or not I agree with him. There are quite a few people on campus whom I consider friends.

As a matter of fact, I have a number of wonderful friends. With the kind of friends I've got you don't need enemies.

This all points to a much discussed question — What is friendship? When someone stops you on the street and asks, "Friend, can you let me have five until next week?" does this immediately classify him as a person you know intimately?

Before we carry this subject to its logical limits, it should be noted that there is a difference between an acquaintance and a friend.

An acquaintance is someone with whom you are acquainted who will need you if you help him.

A friend is someone who will help you if you need him. The difference, you see, is a matter of usage.

The average person will probably need a course in college algebra to count the number of his acquaintances, but when counting friends the digits on one hand will allow a surplus.

Last week I was talking to a couple, who are, without a doubt, friends. We were discussing the fact that even though we are friends, we actually see each other seldom during the school year.

It is very hard to see your friends often, since acquaintances take up so much of your time.

Maybe, that friendship is more cemented by occasional contact. This way it is more difficult for others to discover your true psychological complexes. It is much easier to "snow" people if you catch them without a shovel.

Case history which lends itself to proving the above point: Arnold and Sonia were friends. In 1946, when both were freshmen, they would stop upon seeing each other, and discuss world politics.

In 1947 Arnold bought Sonia a cup of coffee. In 1948 Arnold bought Sonia a coffee pot. They were married.

What, I ask, happened to their friendship? Did it just disappear or did it cultivate into a silent understanding, because now they rarely speak to one another.

Perhaps it would be easier to determine the qualities of friendship rather than attempting to define said term itself.

Devotion — A friend enjoys being with you. He will accompany you to the movies and dances... providing you know the manager and have obtained two free passes.

Affection — (this is not to be confused with Currier Hall at midnight on Saturdays.) This quality is the easiest to be found. Most everyone is affected.

Sincerity — A friend will not stab you in the back. If he does, he will be sincere in his actions.

Now that we understand the term friendship in its broader sense, was the gentleman of some years back correct? Does a human or a canine make the best friend?

Well, a cocker spaniel will guard your house, be a companion to any babies that happen to be around and eat the left-overs from Sunday dinner. But only a fellow man can make life unbearable.

Then again, what's a few unbearable lives... among friends?

Johnson county sales of series E, U.S. Savings bonds, total $1,782,120 for the first eight months of 1949, Roger F. Warin, state director of the U.S. bonds division said Tuesday in Des Moines.

Warin said redemptions during the same period totaled $1,194,251 in Johnson county.

Sales of all savings bonds in Iowa this year are slightly lower than for the same period in 1948, Warin said. Redemptions and maturities are slightly higher than they were a year ago.

Chinese Theme Changes Atmosphere — Currier Has Had a Facial Since Spring

Fellows who haven't picked up their dates at Currier hall since last spring or summer will be in for a surprise if they walk into either north or south lobby and the surrounding lounges.

Currier, women's dormitory at SUI, has been colorfully redecorated.

Planned with a gentleman's viewpoint in mind, lounges still remain colorful and feminine. The scheme is adapted from a Chinese theme and is effectively carried out through the rooms. Lounges which formerly resembled those in a man's dormitory are bright background for any technical movie.

Plans for the redecoration started about a year ago. Workmen have been busy since June pounding hammers, painting and re-furnishing. The job, now in the completion steps covered all of the lounges and lobbies, the dining room, the library, the new recreation room under the north wing and the little dining room for receptions and teas which is still under construction.

A committee composed of George L. Horner, university architect; Virgil Copeland, manager of dormitory operation; T. L. Rehder, director of dormitory dining service, and Lorissa Sheldon, head of women's dormitories, approved the plans.

Unique lighting and lighting fixtures are a part of every room. Picturesque both in design and color, they add a modern touch to the geometric or floral draperies and unique furnishings in the various rooms.

Structural changes in the dormitory included a new reception desk in the south lobby and the construction of the little dining room.

The painting, papering and carpentry jobs were done by the university department of physical plants according to specifications.

Lamps, tables, draperies and carpeting are all new. The wood-work has been lightened and greyed throughout the lounges to blend with the Shenandoan green and smoke grey walls that predominate in most of the rooms in the south section.

In the north lobbies, rose and aquamarine walls prevail.

New furnishings have been purchased for Currier's Green room, south lobby and one of the lounges. In the other lounges old furniture has been reupholstered, recovered or refinished.

Colors for furnishings were chosen mainly from the draperies and rugs. These basic colors carry through even to details in the specially purchased pictures which hang in every room as conservative pieces and decorative notes.

The south lobby features new plastic covered chairs and love seats in rose tone. The new reception desk is set off by lattice-type windows for a decorative note. Although they have no glass, they serve the functional purpose of transacting coeds' business from the opposite side.

Geometric patterned draperies with plastic covered cornice boards add a gay note to the room, and reflect the green and rose color scheme.

North lobby has plastic covered chairs for a new note, and the drapes which are chosen, but as yet unhung, will add a gay note, Miss Sheldon promised.

Chi Omega Pledges Pick Class Officers

Mary Ellen Steiner, A3, Armstrong, was elected president of the Chi Omega, social sorority, pledge class Monday night.

Other officers are Nancy Dickey, A2, Keokuk, secretary; Harriet Sutton, A1, Ottumwa, treasurer; Dorothy Koivun, A3, Moline, Ill., personnel chairman, and Maralyn Shackelford, A3, St. Joseph, Mo., song leader.

Ann Russell, A2, Newton, and Nancy Lauzon, A1, Vinton, were pledged to the chapter in a ceremony at the meeting.

SDT Pledge Class Selects President

The Sigma Delta Tau pledge class chose Betty Ann Dubansky, A1, Des Moines, as president in an election last week.

Other officers elected were Lesh Cohen, A1, Omaha, vice-president; Sandra Andich, A1, Rock Island, Ill., secretary, and Doris Ban, A1, Omaha, treasurer.

Girls were initiated into the active chapter last week were Judith Borden, A2, Omaha; Doiores Kennard, A2, Oak Park, Ill.; Harriette Shapiro, A2, Sioux City; Ellen Simons, A1, Chicago; Audrey Kirsch, A4, New York; Maxine Fred, A2, Aberdeen, S. Dak., and Miriam Gordon, A2, Oak Park, Ill.

Marriage Lecture Scheduled Today

"Economic and financial matters in marriage" is the topic to be discussed at the second "Major in Marriage" lecture at 3:30 p.m. today in the chemistry auditorium.

The Rev. Alfred Nickless pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Davenport, is conducting the YMCA-YWCA sponsored series.

Rev. Nickless' eight remaining lectures will deal with factors leading to satisfactory marriages, utilizing an approach essentially positive in nature.

SUI students interested in attending the weekly talks may sign up in the YWCA office in the Iowa Union.

Engagements of SUI Students Announced

MRS. HAROLD ROBERT SANDEEN, 716 Seventh avenue, announces the engagement of her daughter, Mildred, to George Evans Pease, son of Mrs. A.C. Pease, Memphis, Tenn. The bride-elect, a graduate student in commerce, is a member of Delta Pi Epsilon and Pi Omega Phi honorary fraternities. The wedding has been scheduled for Nov. 19 in the First Methodist church here.

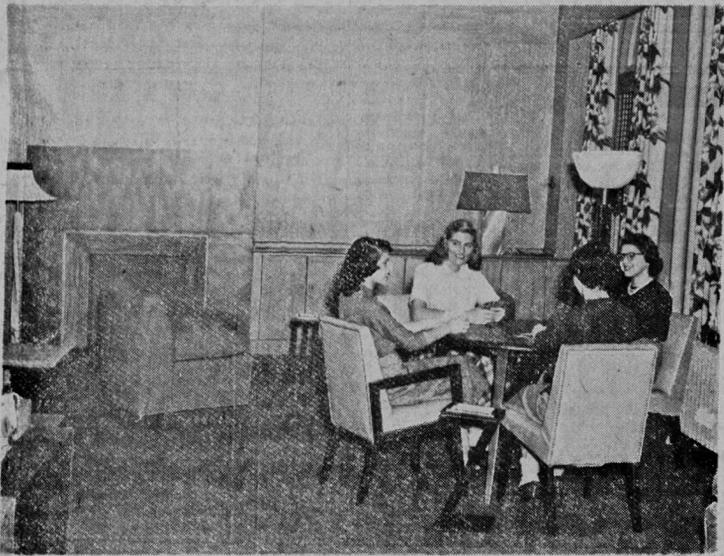

THE ENGAGEMENT of Etta Mueller, A4, Van Meter, to Lynn Frink, A2, Tama, is announced by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. E.W. Mueller, Van Meter. Mr. Frink is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G.K. Frink, Tama. The bride-elect is a member of Mortar Board and her fiancé is affiliated with Phi Beta Pi medical fraternity. This couple plan to be married in June.

MARRIAGE LICENSE ISSUED

A marriage license was issued in Johnson county clerk's office Tuesday to Lester L. Pike, Emmetsburg, and Flora M. Petty, Cedar Rapids.

MEN WHO HAVEN'T CALLED FOR THEIR DATES IN CURRIER'S south lobby recently may not recognize this picture as part of the women's dormitory. Currier lobbies and lounges have a new look. Designed to appeal to both men and women they are colorful, modern, and gay. Here Don Higgins, Kansas City, Mo., talks to Denna Turner, A2, also of Kansas City. Helen Goldberg, A2, Milwaukee, demonstrates the comforts offered for the letter-reader.

Iowa City Firemen Demonstrate Fire Fighting Equipment

CLIMBING AN AERIAL LADDER is just like going upstairs for firemen. Asst. Chief H.T. McNabb (top man) and Chief Al Dolezal are climbing the 85-foot ladder which is operated by Fireman Gilbert Capps from the truck. The fire prevention week demonstration was staged Tuesday noon at the Whetstone building, Clinton and Washington streets. The ladder, powered by a hydraulic pump, can be raised or lowered at any angle and is based on a turntable which revolves completely in either direction. Firemen grip rungs when climbing because they are insulated against passage of electric current in case the ladder strikes a power line.

Reserve Unit Starts Campaign to Enlist Members of ROTC

Bucks for buck privates are offered by the SUI military department in its drive to get ROTC students to join the army enlisted reserve corps.

A student who has completed a year's training in the ROTC is eligible to become a private in the reserve corps, military department officials said. At this pay grade, a student receives $2.50 a day, for each meeting of the two to four a month he attends.

At the end of two years, the student is eligible to become a private first class in the reserve corps and receive that rank's pay for attending meetings.

Any student who has completed four years training in the ROTC can join the reserve corps as a second lieutenant, ROTC officials said.

Application blanks for the army enlisted reserve corps may be obtained at the military department.

Neglected Children Need Homes Here

The Lutheran Welfare society is still in need of boarding homes for the placement of neglected and abused children in the Iowa City and Cedar Rapids area, Paul M. Thompson said Tuesday.

Thompson, director of the southeast branch of the society, said the plea made by the agency in September met with little response.

The majority of the children needing temporary homes are of school age and have been referred to the society by the county courts.

Fees ranging from $30 to $50 a month per child are paid by the county to families providing the service.

The Lutheran Welfare society helps to adjust the children to their new homes and prepares case studies which will be used later if the children are placed for adoption, Thompson said.

Dentistry Students Elect Art Hussman President

Art Hussman, D3, Waterloo, was elected president of the Associated Students of Dentistry by the organization's council Tuesday. Loy Julius, D4, Cherokee, was chosen secretary-treasurer.

The new president replaces Keith McNurlen, D4, Perry. Last year's secretary-treasurer was Henry DeJong, D4, Boyden.

TRAIN KILLS WOMAN

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Mrs. Lola Ziemer, 54, Whitefish Bay, was killed here Tuesday by a speeding passenger train.

Tucker Mail Case Declared Mistrial

CHICAGO (AP)—The multi-million dollar Preston Tucker mail fraud case was declared a mistrial Tuesday and will start from scratch again Monday.

Tucker is the man who planned a radical rear-engine automobile that never got into mass production.

Testimony of a government witness that one of the defendants had a 15 year old criminal record ended the case.

Prominent Iowans Endorse World Federation in Letter

A message endorsing world government signed by 29 prominent Iowans was sent Tuesday to Rep. John Kee (D-WVa), chairman of the house foreign affairs committee.

The signers urged the foreign affairs committee members to report favorably on the resolution which, if adopted by congress, would make world federation "a fundamental objective of the foreign policy of the United States."

The foreign affairs committee was scheduled to begin public hearings Tuesday on the resolution for world federation (HCR 64). The resolution is sponsored by 105 representatives and 22 senators.

David M. Stanley, Iowa City, executive director of the United World Federalists of Iowa, announced Tuesday that the name of SUI President Virgil Hancher was included in the group of state leaders signing the message.

Iowa congressmen as well as members of the foreign affairs committee will receive copies of the message, Stanley said.

The message called the United Nations' power to prevent war inadequate, setting forth reasons why world government was imperative to the future of all nations.

"The world government must have power to control all major armaments and to prohibit the production or use of these armaments by any person or nation," the message continued.

"Its laws must be enforceable upon individuals; the world government must have power to arrest, try and punish any leader of any nation who tries to prepare for war in violation of world law.

"A greater challenge has never faced the leaders of any nation. We are confident that the house committee on foreign affairs will support this great step toward world peace," the message concluded.

Among the signers of the message were Harlan Miller, columnist for the Des Moines Register; W. Earl Hall, editor of the Mason City Globe-Gazette; George Olmstead, Des Moines, chairman of the board, Hawkeye Casualty

$836,428 Collected In County Treasury

The Johnson county treasurer's office collected $836,428.20 during September, Lumir W. Jansa, county treasurer, said Tuesday.

Breakdown of that amount showed current taxes as the largest single item, bringing in $644,218.99.

Other items were: delinquent taxes, $1,802.88; special assessments, $389.15; miscellaneous collections, $178,591.89 and transfers to county funds, $11,425.99.

Expenditures listed by the treasurer's office amounted to $277,139.62. This included: warrants paid, $50,012.93; miscellaneous payments, $215,700.70, and transfers from county funds, $11,425.99.

Tickets for SUI Play Available This Week

Student reserved tickets for the University theater's first fall production, "You Can't Take It With You," will be available at 8:30 a.m. Thursday in the ticket office, room 8A Schaeffer hall.

Students' "I.D." cards are their season tickets to all seven shows. These cards must be presented at the ticket office to obtain reserved seats, which may be had a week before each play opens.

Iowa Citizens may purchase season tickets at the office today. Moss Hart and George Kaufman's Pulitzer prize winner, "You Can't Take It With You," opens Oct. 20 under the direction of Prof. Harold Crain of the dramatic art department.

Prof. A. S. Gillette is in charge of settings. Costuming is by Mary Louise Gaupp and lighting by Walter S. Dewey. Both are instructors in the dramatic art department.

"Command Decision" by W. W. Haines, selected by Burns Mantle as one of the best plays of 1948-49, is billed for Nov. 10 through 19. Philip Barry's comedy "Holiday" is slated to appear in December. In February the theater will present Shakespeare's classic, "King Lear," and a fantasy by David Belasco, "Return of Peter Grim," will be shown in March. The April production is George Bernard Shaw's comedy, "Man and Superman." An original new comedy to be announced later will be staged in May.

Expect 2nd Largest Crop Output in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Good harvest weather is assuring the nation of its second largest volume of crops in history and a record supply of corn for producing meat, dairy and poultry products. Reporting this in its October crop summary, the agriculture department said also that farmers in the great plains region are making good progress in seeding winter wheat for harvest next year.

Conditions were sufficiently favorable during September, the department said, to boost total production prospects one percent despite a slight drop in the corn estimate. The total crop volume is indicated at 131 percent of the 1923-32 base, second only to last year's 137 percent.

Senate Group to Consult Truman on Air Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate appropriations committee voted unanimously Tuesday to confer with President Truman about a hot senate-house dispute over the size of the air force.

The dispute is over whether to provide money for a 58-group air force as voted by the house, or a 48-group force called for in the senate measure.

The house, by a vote of 305 to 1, refused Monday to back down from the 58-group program.

Mr. Truman requested funds for only 48 groups.

Czech Police Nab More In State Wealth Purge

PRAGUE (AP)—Police were reported to have made hundreds of new arrests at dawn Tuesday in what the government indicated was a drive to wipe out remnants of this country's middle class.

As the police roundup went into its second week, transforming Prague into a city of fear, the state radio warned national security police against "former businessmen, landowners, industrialists and other wealth people" who might go underground to work against the regime.

Engineering Faculty To Discuss Utilities

Gas and electric utility plans in the Iowa City area will be discussed at the Engineering Faculty Luncheon club today at 12:30 p.m. in the dining room of Iowa Union lounge.

Speaker Robert Lind, Iowa City manager of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company, will outline the progress made in gas and electricity use in this area, Club President A. P. Boehmer said Tuesday.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

SAKI, the celebrated English short story writer, lived at his club a great deal because his home was plagued by recurrent "servant trouble." One day he jubilantly told his friends that these troubles were over: "his wife had latched on to a perfect gem of a domestic." A week later, alas, he was back at the club, explaining sadly, "Yes, she was a good cook as cooks go, and as good cooks go, she went."

H. L. Mencken defines puritanism as "the haunting fear that someone, somewhere, may be happy."

Bob Sylvester covered the opening of a nobby night club recently—one of the "clip joint" variety. In his report he noted that one patron had discovered a pearl in his oyster—"enabling him to almost break even."

Sylvester also stated that the chanteuse of the evening was so near-sighted they should have changed her theme song to "I've Lost My Glasses: I Wonder Who's Kissing Me Now."

Prehistoric, Classic, Modern Works Feature Art Exhibits

The SUI art building is currently the scene of a number of exhibits featuring works ranging from the so-called caveman era to those done by last semester's art students.

The display of earlier works represents the department's annual ancient art exhibit, supervised by Art Instructor Delmar Nordquist.

This includes examples of prehistoric European art, tracing first known technical development to the end of the paleolithic era when painting on cave walls flourished.

Also included are examples of Mesopotamian, Aegean, Roman and Egyptian art forms.

The display will also feature illustrations of Greek athletics and festivals of the fifth century, and will show prints of the famous Parthenon frieze.

In the more modern category are two exhibits of recent student work. Oil paintings done in the last year, including these works, are being shown in the art auditorium.

The student print group this month is exhibiting a collection of their prints in the main gallery. The exhibit includes examples of the various processes that can be used and combined in print making.

The pictures are printed from metal plates. For engravings, the design has been dug out with a sharp tool. On other prints, acid has been used to etch the pattern on the plates. Most prints being shown combine the two possibilities and many demonstrate the use of color.

With the use of these combined processes, it takes a person up to six months to complete a print. The printing exhibition will be followed by a November display of student sketching and life drawing. December will feature work in art education. The art department invites the public to attend the departmental exhibits which will continue with design in January, painting in February and drawing in March.

POLIO DROPS TO 19

The number of active polio cases under treatment at University hospitals fell to 19 Tuesday as one patient, Marvin Lindberg, 19, Iowa Falls, was transferred to the inactive list.

Class Officers Chosen By Freshman Nurses

Marjorie Hundertmark, Otton, was elected president of the SUI school of nursing freshman class, Jean Baer, counselor in the school of nursing, said Tuesday.

Other officers are Patricia Shirley, Perry, vice-president; Marcia Wieting, Des Moines, secretary-treasurer, and Barbara Dwigans, Manly, social chairman.

Pharmacy Sophomores Elect Robert Osterhaus

The sophomore class of the SUI college of pharmacy Monday elected officers for the 1949-50 school year.

They are Robert J. Osterhaus, P2, Dyersville, president; Thomas C. Veach, P2, Bellevue, vice-president, and Jean Roberts, P2, Cedar Falls, secretary-treasurer.

Marching Band to Honor Former Director

Special feature of the half-time music at Saturday's Homecoming game will be a tribute to a former director of SUI bands, Dr. O.E. Van Doren.

Van Doren directed SUI bands from 1911 until 1937, after his graduation from the SUI college of dentistry, Prof. C.B. Righter, Van Doren's successor, said.

Members of the band will form the letters in the name of a march, "Men of Iowa," as they play the selection. The march was composed by Van Doren. Righter invited the former director to come for the game but illness will prevent his appearance. Van Doren now lives in Clarinda, Righter said.

The dentist-musician also conducted the SUI symphony and directed the Methodist church choir at one time during his stay was student-director. Later he became full-time director, said Righter.

Before there was a professional director of bands, Van Doren was student-director. Later he became full-time director, said Righter.

Earl Banks Back to Practice As Hawks Prepare for Indiana

As Dr. Eddie Anderson continues to prepare for the Homecoming game with Indiana Saturday, it appears that the Hawks might not be in much better physical shape than they were for the Illinois battle.

However, one bright bit of news came Tuesday afternoon when Guard Earl Banks reported for practice in uniform for the first time since he was injured in the Purdue game. Banks said his leg felt "much better" and was looking forward to being able to play Saturday.

Another guard, George Vrame, had a tooth pulled Tuesday afternoon and was absent from practice. Tackle Jim Shoaf, who has been sidelined all season because of an injured leg, jogged around in a sweat suit but isn't expected to be ready for the Hoosiers.

Hubert Johnston, 18-year-old sophomore tackle who injured his neck against Illinois, is still taking heat treatments but will probably be able to play Saturday.

Anderson didn't expect Bob Lage to be in shape after Lage again hurt his knee Sunday when he slipped on a sidewalk.

Meanwhile, it was announced that Bob McKenzie will handle captaincy duties on offense against Indiana while Don Winslow, left tackle, will be Iowa's defensive leader.

Anderson is preparing the Hawkeyes to go against an Indiana team which physically will be in the best shape of the season, according to information from Coach Clyde Smith.

Al Tuttle, left halfback, will be ready for full-time duty for the first time in two weeks. So far he has averaged five yards per crack at the line.

"We are working on our pass defense, knowing that Nick Sebek, the Indiana passer, is back in his 1947 form. He completed his first eight against Texas Christian and they tell me he has 23 completions in 50 throws for 258 yards," Anderson commented.

His ace receivers are Left End Cliff Anderson, who has grabbed eight passes for 91 yards and Right End Hugh Craton, with 105 yards in six catches.

Tuesday the Hawks worked on defensive patterns against Indiana plays and spent some time polishing their own running game.

At Indiana ...

The move was designed to get the speed that Indiana has lacked at that position all season. Wilkins is a sprinter who has run the 100-yard dash in 9.8 seconds.

Mickey Marshall, moved from left to right half a week ago, and who was on the doubtful list because of an injury earlier in the season, was rounding into shape and is expected to be available for Iowa Saturday.

Eight Hawks of 1899 To Be Homecomers

Eight members of the 1899 SUI football team will be in Iowa City this weekend to attend the team's golden anniversary in connection with the Homecoming celebration, SUI officials said Tuesday.

The eight men will be guests of the Homecoming committee and will be members of the official party during the pep rally following the Homecoming parade Friday night.

Those who will attend the Homecoming ceremonies are Lloyd Howell, Houston, Tex.; Moray Eby, Cedar Rapids; Fred A. Williams, Salem, Ore.; Charles Briggs, Red Oak; Willis C. Edson and Dr. V. E. Herbert, Storm Lake; Dr. Ray Morton, Sioux City, and Dr. F. L. Siberts, Hampton.

Only five of the 13 surviving members of the 1899 squad will not be able to attend the golden anniversary celebration.

Young Boxer Dies; Eighth Ring Fatality

DETROIT (AP) — A young Negro boxer, felled by a smashing head blow in the ring Monday night, died Tuesday with a blood clot on the brain. Death of Talmadge Bussey, 26, was the eighth recorded ring fatality in the world this year.

The Negro lightweight fell unconscious in the ninth round of a furious battle with Luther Rawlings of Chicago. Referee Herman Spinelli called the fight and awarded Rawlings a knockout. Rushed to St. Mary's hospital, Bussey was operated on for a blood clot. He died 11 hours later without regaining consciousness.

The young lightweight, a native of Camden, Ala., entered the ring as a professional in 1945.

Over 25 Teams to Enter Prep Mile-Run Saturday

More than 25 Iowa high schools will enter teams in the annual one mile run here Saturday morning, Hawkeye Track Coach Francis Cretzmeier said Tuesday.

Titles will be decided in Classes AA, A, B and C. The runners will compete on the cinder track between the fieldhouse and stadium, beginning at 11 a.m. The 1948 champions were Clinton, AA; Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids, A; Nevada, B, and Central City, C.

Ex-Hawk Drops Plan For Suing Anderson

Jim Lawrence, former Hawkeye football center, said Tuesday that he intends to drop plans for a law suit against Iowa Coach Eddie Anderson.

Lawrence said he is doing so upon the advice of UCLA Coach Henry "Red" Sanders.

In a letter to Lawrence, Sanders said, "I doubt if you can gain anything by instituting the suit against Dr. Anderson, regardless of the extent of his error. Since you have done absolutely nothing to damage him, or Iowa, I think you will be amazed at the rapidity with which the matter will be forgotten."

The threatened suit arose following revelation of telephone calls from Lawrence to Sanders before the Iowa-UCLA game.

At that time Lawrence admitted that he had called Sanders but explained that the calls were "personal."

Blue Hawks Drill For New London

U-High Coach Bob Weber is stressing both offense and defense in Blue Hawk practice sessions this week for their game with New London Friday.

Weber gave his Blue Hawks, weary from last week's bruising loss at Mr. Vernon, a day of rest Monday.

Favored U-High hopes to break into the win column against New London which has lost four times. The Homecoming game will start at 2:30 p.m., one-half hour earlier than usual, on the Iowa practice field.

Hawks' Opponents Gain Lead In Several Statistical Areas

With Illinois gaining an overwhelming yardage advantage over the Hawks Saturday, the opposition moved ahead of Iowa in several statistical departments for the Hawks' three games to date. In other sections, however, Iowa held its own.

Total yards gained now stands at 850 for Iowa to 938 for the opponents. The Hawks have made 473 yards on 122 rushing plays for a 3.9 average to the foes' 684 in 165 plays for a 4.1 average.

In forward passing, Iowa continues in the lead. The figures are 377 yards on 22 completions out of 61 passes, to the opponents' 254 yards on 19 out of 44.

Iowa is tops in kick returns, 383 yards to 308, and in first downs, 40 to 37. Punting average for Iowa is 37.7 yards to 42.1 for the opponents.

Three soph more backs top the individual gainers. Bill Reichardt replaced Don Riley as No. 1 with 119 yards in 19 carries for a 6.2 average. Riley has 107 yards in 25 tries for a 4.2 average. Third is Don Commaek with 81 yards in 18 carries for a 4.5 average.

Glenn Drahn has a passing percentage of .411 on 21 completions in 51 tosses for 367 yards and five touchdowns.

His leading receivers are Jack Dittmer and Bob McKenzie.

Big Ten Leaders ...

CHICAGO (AP) — A couple of Big Ten sophomore halfbacks are proving that speed on the track can be translated into fancy football capering.

Ranking conference ball carriers, according to official statistics released Tuesday, were Johnny Karras of Illinois, former Illinois high school quarter-mile champion, and Dick Gregory of Minnesota, ex-Montana prep 100 and 220-yard dash finalist.

Karras, 180-pounder who is a combination of a power runner and a change-of-pace scooter, has piled up 236 yards in 28 rushes in two conference games against Wisconsin and Iowa for a 8.4 average. Karras also leads in scoring with three touchdowns for 18 points and total offense with 250 yards.

The 173-pound Gregory, fastest Gopher back since George (Son-

Karras' 236 aggregate tops the conference, followed by full-back Johnny Kerestes of Purdue with 173, also in two games. Ohio state's Jerry Krall with 129 in one game for a 10.7 average, best in the league, and Gregory.

In passing Quarterback Dick Flowers of Northwestern is the pace-setter with 10 completions in 17 attempts for 114 yards and a .588 percentage in two games. Sophomore Chuck Denning of Iowa is the top punter with a 43.8 average on six punts, while another sophomore, Northwestern's Dick Alban leads in pass receiving with five catches.

Track Meet Friday Open to SUI Men

Francis X. Cretzmeier, head Hawkeye track and cross country mentor, announced Tuesday that an all-University track and field meet will be held Friday afternoon at 4 p.m.

This classic has been planned as part of the Homecoming festivities. All University men who wish to participate in the meet are cordially invited to do so. Anyone who plans to enter the meet should get in contact with Cretzmeier this week.

There will be a complete schedule of field events, including shot put, discus throw, high jump, pole vault and broad jump. For men who would like to enter the sprint races there will be the 100, 220 and 330 yard dashes. The half mile run is the only distance race listed. Other running events include the 60 yard hurdles and 120 yard low hurdles. This meet is being held primarily for returning alumni who are interested in the school's athletic program. Cretzmeier said one does not have to be out for athletics to participate in the meet.

Night Intramural Games Scheduled

Intramural Director Frederic Beebe said Tuesday that the medical and dental fraternities will play their touch football games under the lights at the varsity practice field this year.

Four consecutive varsity football games here on Saturday afternoons threatened to force them out of the fall competition, Beebe explained.

The nocturnal contests will get underway at 7:15 p.m., with action limited to the lighted area at the west end of the field.

Series Over, Talk of Major Trades Begins

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, having settled the question of who's better in the World Series, Tuesday turned their attention to the equally pressing problem of who stays and who goes.

Hardly had the World Series ended when Dodger Manager Burt Shotton said, "We'll be back next year and we'll beat the Yankees."

Yankee Pilot Casey Stengel also is confident his club will repeat in 1950, although he admits it can stand strengthening.

George Stirnweiss, Johnny Lindell, Fred Sanford, Ralph Buxton and Frank (Spec) Shea all are on the Yankees' available list.

Satisfied with the work of rookie Gerry Coleman at second base, Stengel is willing to part with Stirnweiss, providing he can obtain a pitcher in return. The Detroit Tigers are interested in Stirnweiss but are reluctant to give up a top-flight hurler for him.

Despite a timely home run in the next to last game of the season which helped the Yankees beat the Red Sox, Lindell fell far from expectations with his .229 batting average. The Philadelphia Athletics are interested and may make a deal for the rangy outfielder.

Other Yankee players who are expendable are Charlie Keller, Johnny Mize, Fenton Moe, Hugh Casey, Gus Niarhos and Ralph Houk.

According to the National League grapevine, plans already are in the process for "major Dodge deals."

Brooklyn players on the market are Dick Whitman, Mike McCormick, Paul Minner, Erv Palica and Eddie Miksis. Rex Barney and Gene Hermanski also are available but the asking price is considerably higher.

The Chicago Cubs, in desperate need of another infielder, are willing to go high for the versatile Miksis but Branch Rickey's price is said to be a fabulous $300,000.

Onslow Out? ...

CHICAGO (AP) — The Sun-Times said Tuesday that Paul Richards, who managed the Buffalo Bisons to the International League pennant, was "almost certain" to succeed Jack Onslow as pilot of the Chicago White Sox.

The newspaper said Richards, former New York Giants and Detroit Tigers catcher, "was approached by both major and minor league clubs with managerial offers for 1950." It said he "committed himself to no agreement, pending disposition of talks with the White Sox."

Onslow, who came up from Memphis to manage the White Sox to sixth place this season, has one year of his contract to go. "Lane (General Manager Frank Lane) and I will do some build-

Have You Heard This One? — Jay Berwanger All-Time Great from Dubuque

By JOHN HOLWAY

The beautiful thing about holding pep rallies on the lawn next to the Union is that it's so big. It's so big, in fact, that it could have held three or four crowds the size of the one that turned out for the rally Friday.

JAY BERWANGER

Remember the official Saturday who had his eyes on the line play when Duane Brandt intercepted an Illinois pass behind him and proceeded to run right up the arbiter's back?

The man in the striped shirt was one of the greatest backs developed in the past 25 years. Some say THE greatest. He was Jay Berwanger, the one-man ball team for the University of Chicago in the 30's, and a high school star at Dubuque, Iowa.

Berwanger said after the game that "those things sometimes happen." He also said that the Iowa crowd, which was inclined to be pretty critical of everything he called after that, was "fine."

Berwanger made every all-American team in the nation in 1931, playing for a weak Chicago team. That winter he became the first collegiate player to be drafted by a pro team. That was the first year of the college draft, and Berwanger was the first choice. He went to the Philadelphia Eagles.

Berwanger was also the first man to receive the Heisman trophy, as the nation's most valuable player, which was also first awarded in 1935.

Johnny Karras, another one-man scoring punch who helped ruin Iowa Saturday, said he thought the Hawks picked up a defeatist complex sometime during the game.

When he was asked how Russ Steger, the Illini fullback who caught a knee square in his nose during the game, was after the game, Karras quipped: "Russ was his natural self—a little punchy, but his natural self."

Johnny Estes, the Iowa half-back who was crippled two summers ago with a spine injury, has been down to both Hawk home games this year.

Johnny's sister, Betty Jo, says that he will be in Iowa City again Saturday for the Homecoming game.

Betty Jo says he goes up and down steps by himself, drives the family car and uses crutches only to go out on the street.

Johnny has been out of the hospital since April and was walking by the first of June, after being in a bed at University hospitals for about 10 months.

Betty Jo says Johnny will take a year's apprenticeship with his father in the undertaking business. After that he may return to Iowa, or go on to an emblaming school.

High School Honors Behind Him — 'Big Foot' Don Comes to SUI

— Eyeing All-Time Iowa Greatness —

By JACK SQUIRE
Iowan Sports Writer

While everybody is focusing attention on the doings of Dr. Eddie Anderson's eleven, there is a 19-year-old freshman from Wellman quietly performing for the frosh griders.

Don Swartzendruber is the name, and unless a lot of competent observers are way off the beam, this youngster can't miss becoming one of the big names in Iowa sports.

Swartzendruber is one of those gifted individuals whom even the most untrained eye can immediately spot as a "natural athlete." He comes to the SUI campus heralded as one of the finest all-around athletes the state has produced in a number of years. A look at his high school record will certainly bear that out.

All "Big Foot" did last year at Wellman was gain all - state honors in football and basketball, win the state Class B high jump and high hurdles championship in track, and receive honorable mention on the all-American high school football team. That is just about par for anybody's course.

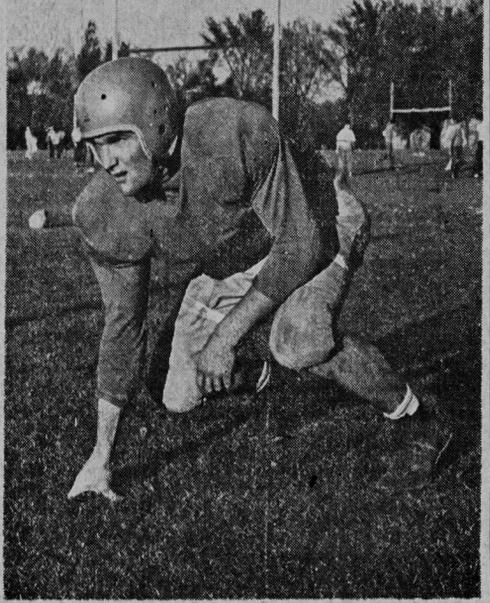

Last summer Don was selected to participate in an all - star football game at Corpus Christi, Tex., which pitted the best prep stars of the east against a similar western squad.

Oddly enough, a dearth of ends caused the coaches to switch Swartzendruber from his customary fullback position to end. Showing his versatility, the 6-foot 2-inch, 212-pound star scored his team's only touchdown on the receiving end of a pass.

Don is no stranger to Iowa City. Performing against University high last year, he left an indelible impression, tallying five times on runs of 50 yards or better.

Naturally such athletic prowess didn't go unnoticed, which more than accounts for the long list of colleges that showed an interest in Don.

DON SWARTZENDRUBER, 19-year-old Iowa freshman, is one of the better than 100 candidates for the freshman football team. The 6-foot, 2-inch high school star in track, football and basketball, is from Wellman, where last year he received honorable mention on the all-American high school football team.

May is now common folklore among the townspeople of Wellman. It seems that Louisiana State University, an institution noted for its fondness of "pretty girls, husky athletes, and just plain book larnin'," flew Swartzendruber to Baton Rouge, gave him the keys to the campus, and zoomed him back home, all in a weekend.

"They really showed me a good time," recalled Don, "and I guess

I disappointed them by coming here."

Although Don did not enroll at Iowa until the beginning of September, he never intended to leave the state despite rumors to the contrary.

"I always wanted to play here in the fieldhouse and the stadium," he explained. "Besides, I feel that Iowa athletes should stay in Iowa."

SUI Graduates Write for 'Transit'

Three technical articles by SUI college of engineering graduates are included in this year's first issue (October) of the Iowa Transit magazine.

Ah Leong Kam, 1949 civil engineering graduate, is the author of an article on the cold-weather problems of concrete highways in the United States.

William A. Hockett, 1924 civil engineering graduate, writes about the role of engineers in today's international business operations.

Problems of mechanical vibrations are the subject of an article by E.S. Titus, chief engineer of the Robinson Aviation corporation. Titus received his B.S. degree in 1931 and his M.S. degree in 1933 in mechanical engineering.

Another article summarizing the fourth triennial conference of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research held here June 12 to 15 is written by W. Douglas Baines, research associate with the institute.

A sketch in blue of the partly completed $1.5-million SUI library is the cover illustration on the 32-page magazine.

Publication of the Iowa Transit is directed by General Manager Alfred George, E4, Grinnell.

Officers on the magazine staff include George as Warren, E4, Mount Pleasant, editor-in-chief; Charles Lazenby, E4, Orion, business manager, and Harold Birka, E4, Iowa City, assistant editor.

SUI engineering students, faculty members and alumni receive copies of the magazine, published monthly October through May.

Officers Announced For 6 Engineering Students' Societies

Officers for the fall semester in SUI's student engineering organization and in SUI branches of national engineering societies have been announced by Prof. F. M. Dawson, college of engineering dean.

The student organization and society officers are:

Associated Students of Engineering (ASE)—Duncan Putnam, E4, Waterville, Me., president; Claude Peterson, E4, Mankato, Minn., vice-president; Richard Larew, E1, Iowa City, secretary, and Richard Hovey, E3, Cedar Rapids, treasurer.

Institute of Radio Engineers (IRE)—John Atkinson, E4, Crawfordville, president; Roland Vander Hamm, E4, Ireston, vice-president; and Richard Truesdell, E4, Cedar Rapids, secretary.

American Institute of Electrical Engineers (AIEE)—Edwin Bartlett, E4, Marshalltown, president; Eugene Hennekamp, E3, Cedar Rapids, vice-president; and John Scanlon, E4, Iowa City, secretary.

American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE)—Charles Johnson, E4, Fairfield, president; Cloyce Messenger, E3, Wapello, vice-president; Edgar Jeffrey, E4, Burlington, secretary, and John Berger, E3, West, treasurer.

American Institute of Chemical Engineers (AIChE)—Edwin Bartlett, E4, Iowa City, president; Dale Faas, E4, Marengo, vice-president, and J. Nelson Reed, E4, Iowa City, secretary-treasurer.

American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME)—James Bingham, E4, Cedar Rapids, president; Claude Peterson, E3, Mankato, Minn., vice-president; Luther Smith Jr., E4, Des Moines, secretary, and Robert Murphy, E4, Austin, Minn., treasurer.

All engineering students at SUI are members of the Associated Students of Engineering, an SUI organization, Dawson said, but juniors and seniors only are allowed to join the student branch of a national engineering society.

Dawson said that times and dates of the various groups' meetings are posted on bulletin boards in the several engineering buildings.

Homecoming Pins On Sale Thursday

About 35,000 Homecoming badges will be distributed tonight to the two Tailfeathers bands that will begin selling them at 7:30 a.m. Thursday.

Prof. Louis C. Zopf, Homecoming committee chairman, will address the pep club meeting at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Macbride auditorium, President E.K. Jones said Tuesday.

A special meeting for members unable to attend tonight will be held from 4:30 to 6 p.m. today in conference room 1 at the Union Jones said.

IMPOSTER SENTENCED
ROCHESTER, MINN., (AP)—Lawrence Bartholomew, 29, Garden City, Kan., was sentenced to five years in prison Tuesday for posing as a Mayo clinic patient while hiding in a steamer.

He claimed he had hidden in a steamer which he had about a month.

He can see, but his movements are because of his blindness.

He hadn't checked for a month. The last time he knew his money was still at a month ago.

He paid four months for the ceiling in the little home. Betty has asked police.

Detective Harold Wednesday night said he is being investigated.

Betty said the money taken anytime since he was in the box in the attic, and around well, the loss covered until Sunday.

Chemistry Professor To Attend Symposium

Prof. Stanley Wawzonek, SUI chemistry department will attend the electro-organic symposium of the electrochemical society in Chicago Thursday and Friday.

He will present a paper describing the behavior of certain chemical compounds at the dropping mercury electrode. The dropping mercury electrode is used in the polarograph, an instrument used in chemical analysis, Wawzonek said.

Holeroyd Elected Head Of Delta Chi Pledges

Dale Holeroyd, C3, Estherville, was chosen president of Delta Chi social fraternity pledge class at elections Monday night.

Other new pledge class officers are Bill Gordon, secretary-treasurer; Duane McNall, social chairman, and Roy A. Barron, scholarship chairman.

Unemployed Lists Here Down To 17

Only 19 Iowa City men and women are now listed on the unemployment rolls, the smallest number in many months, it was announced Tuesday.

Mrs. Nellie Verdin, manager of the local Iowa Employment Security agency office, said the Iowa City unemployment total is the lowest in the state, to her knowledge.

There is still a slight net labor shortage in Iowa City, despite the 19 persons on the unemployment list, she said. This is because some of the unemployed are not suited for the jobs offered at present.

The employment office has orders for construction laborers, stenographers and workers in local enterprises which it is not able to fill.

Work is expected to open up soon for construction workers now among those unemployed.

For Seniors, Grads

Seniors and graduate students planning to find jobs through SUI's business and industrial placement office should attend a meeting at 4:30 p.m. today in the chemistry auditorium.

A brief report of the job situation in the fields of commerce and industry for the past year and how it looks for the coming year will be given at the meeting, Director Helen Barnes said Tuesday.

Breese, Means Named Lions Committee Heads

Ed E. Breese, 526 Johnson street, was recently appointed chairman of the Lions club committee on civic improvement and Elza M. Means, 520 Brookland Park drive, was named chairman of the committee on community betterment, President Arlo Woolery said Tuesday.

Investigate Death of Man

DAVENPORT (AP)—Police Tuesday investigated the death of an unidentified man whose body was found floating in the Mississippi river near the Illinois side.

Mike Voss, Davenport fisherman, found the man's body in the river.

Board Says Navy Clear In Forrestal Death Leap

WASHINGTON (AP)—The death plunge of former Secretary of Defense James Forrestal did not result from any naval negligence, a navy court of inquiry report said Tuesday.

The board held that Forrestal's death "was not caused in any manner by the intent, fault, negligence or inefficiency of any person or persons in the naval service or connected therewith."
