IOWA FACES INDIANA BEFORE 46,000

Hawks Rate As 13-Point Choice Today

BY ALAN MOYER
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Iowa's 38th Homecoming will come to a crashing climax before an estimated 46,000 persons in the Iowa stadium this afternoon when Indiana's underdog Hoosiers meet the Hawkeyes in a Western conference football game.

The weatherman promises fair weather for the big Homecoming crowd, weather only a few degrees cooler than the record-breaking 90 that prevailed at last week's game.

In three games this year, the Hawks have won one and lost two. One of the losses was to UCLA, 41-25, in the opener, followed by a rousing 21-7 conference triumph over Purdue.

Dr. Eddie Anderson's injury-riddled team, attempting to get back into winning form after bowing to Illinois, 20-14, here last week, will enter this afternoon's game a 13-point favorite. An Iowa victory would extend an Indiana losing streak to 11 games.

The last time the Hoosiers left a playing field on the favorable end of a final score was Oct. 2, 1948, at Bloomington, when they edged the Hawkeyes, 7-0. After failing to win again in '48 the Hoosiers lost to Notre Dame, Ohio State and Texas Christian in games this year.

The series between the two teams has been extremely close, with Iowa in the lead, 9-8, four contests ending in deadlocks. Ten of the 21 games have been decided by an average margin of less than five points. Two years ago, when the Hawks last defeated Indiana, the score was 27-14.

Although Iowa is favored to win, the physical condition of the two elevens could make a decided difference. Three first-string members of the Hawkeye line that at times has held up so staunchly will be missing due to injuries.

Earl Banks, all-conference guard a couple of seasons back and in his fourth year as a regular, will be forced to sit out a conference game for the second straight week because of a knee injury in the Purdue victory two weeks ago.

The others are Tackle Hubert Johnston, out with a neck injury suffered in the Illinois game, and Guard Bob Lage, who hasn't seen action since being sidelined in the season's opener with UCLA.

Indiana also was riddled with injuries earlier in the campaign but is reported to be at peak strength, physically, for today's game. Coach Clyde Smith welcomed Halfback Al Tutise back this week following an injury. The left

Flush Float Favors Iowa in Homecoming Parade

A FLUSH VIEWED BY A FULL HOUSE. Twenty thousand persons saw nearly 50 floats roll along Clinton street Friday night in Iowa City's first Homecoming parade. Floats, girls, horses, bands and comedy groups made up a line of march one-and-a-quarter miles long. Awards were given to six organizations in various divisions of competition. Persons from all the surrounding communities attended the parade and the following pep rally. Dignitaries from SUI, from the city and members of the 1899 SUI football team viewed the parade from the reviewing stand at Iowa avenue and Clinton street.

20,000 Watch Hour-Long Parade

By JOE BROWN

Homecoming moved into Iowa City Friday night in the form of an hour-long mile-and-one-quarter parade, viewed by an estimated 20,000 persons.

People lined Clinton street from Burlington street to Currier hall to witness a procession unlike any in the history of Iowa City or SUI.

Phi Gamma Delta fraternity's float won first prize in the open competition for beauty.

For humor in the same competition, Beta Theta Pi fraternity took first prize.

Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Chi fraternities tied for first place in the originality division of open competition.

Phi Delta Theta received the award from Tait Cummins, Cedar Rapids sportscaster and chairman of the judging committee, after a coin toss, but a duplicate prize will be awarded to Sigma Chi next week.

The Lions club award for SUI organizations went to Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity; the Elks award for dormitories was won by South Quad, and the Kiwanis club trophy went to Sigma Nu fraternity.

The mood hanging over Clinton street might be aptly described in the words of a woman standing near the Washington and Clinton street intersection:

"I've never seen Iowa City like this in all my days!"

Spectators climbed to roof tops and into the trees along Clinton street to get a better view of the splendor, humor and ingenuity passing before them.

"You betcha' it was good," George Thomas, university policeman, said. "It's the first parade like this I've seen in Iowa City during the 30 years I've been here."

"It was beautiful," Cummins said. "It's a swell idea. They ought to do it every year."

The parade was led by Mrs. Hubert Cline, parade marshal, astride a prancing horse and garbed in a western suit.

The Scottish Highlanders, 67 strong, brought cheers from the spectators and those atop the reviewing stand.

The floats displayed everything from exquisite beauty, which

Requests Students Not to Save Seats

Members of the student body were requested by athletic officials Friday night not to attempt to save space in the student sections for late-arriving friends at today's game.

Members of the varsity "I" men's club will be on hand to aid in student seating.

Only one area of the student sections is reserved, officials stated, and that is a section for the Tailfeathers club. They are the official pep club of the university.

Officials also revealed Friday night that a portion of the Tailfeathers membership will give up their seats for the Homecoming game with Indiana to the members of the general assembly and the state officials who will be the guests of the university on Saturday.

The Tailfeathers group who will help honor the state's officials will be seated in a special cheering section in the bleachers at the north end of the stadium.

U.S. Rejects Plan For A-Bomb Count

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The United States Friday rejected the Soviet proposal for an immediate count of atom bombs in the American and Soviet stockpiles and told the United Nations Russia's entire disarmament policy is a "cruelty and a fraud."

Ambassador Warren Austin, American delegate to the Security Council, said the persistent Kremlin effort to tie atomic control to non-atomic disarmament was an attempt to "nuddy the waters" and conceal Russia's "complete opposition to any real plan of effective disarmament."

Gay Throng Cheers At Record Pep Rally

By BOB McCAFFERY

"We're just happy about everything," SUI President Virgil Hancher thus described what many called the greatest pep rally ever held in Iowa City.

Some 5,000 persons — city folks, kids, alumni and just plain students — pushed into a sardine formation at Iowa avenue and Clinton street Friday night.

Originally scheduled for the west approach of Old Capitol, the rally centered on the speakers' platform. During the parade it was a reviewing stand, but it didn't take the cheerleaders long to change that.

Spirit hit a new high, according to oid timers present. The crowd wanted to yell, so they yelled. They applauded anything and everything.

Even the announcer's plea for "let's get on with the program" got a rousing cheer.

Tackle Don Winslow, today's co-captain, was at a loss for words during his stint at the microphone, but an SUI '62 helped out.

"This is great," Winslow told the hushed crowd. "I'm really — uh —"

"Amazed!" sang out a ten-year-old voice for all to hear.

Tailfeathers' eager-beaver saleswomen were still on the job during the rally.

"Hey, how about a button!" shouted one.

"Yeah," said her comrade, "you look bare!"

The 1899 squad made a big hit with the crowd. "Ah!" and "oh!" were much in evidence when the '99 spokesman told of SUI's two-

Fair Skies Today For Indiana Game, Says Weatherman

Anxious SUI Homecoming officials and fans can take their eyes off the skies — the weatherman has promised his cooperation for today's big show.

The crowds of Homecomers began moving in on Iowa City early Friday and were greeted by warm temperatures and only partly cloudy skies.

Transportation offices here reported that the fair weather conditions insured an overflow of traffic into the city this morning.

Temperatures for the Iowa-Indiana game were scheduled to return to their recent summertime highs. A high of 69 degrees was reported by CAA for Friday and the low skidded to a brisk 43 degrees.

The forecast for today was a simple, but pleasing, fair and warmer.

Airport officials anticipated the arrival of more than 100 private planes this morning.

The bus depot reported many extra buses are arriving each hour with Homecoming visitors and authorities there said they could make no accurate estimate of the number of buses involved.

The Rock Island railroad will have two extra trains on today to accommodate the crowds. One will come from Des Moines and the other from the Tri-Cities area.

Three extra runs are being made by the Cedar Rapids - Iowa City Railway line. Double sections of cars are available on all runs.

Crowds Flock to Open House

BY BARBARA BLOXOM

Fires in the fireplaces and music in the background set the scene for SUI's annual Homecoming Open House in the Iowa Union

Friday night. Crowds of SUI alumni, faculty, students and campus administrators flocked to the informal gathering to share in the festive occasion.

Special exhibits included athletic trophies—the Nile Kinnick award, Dr. Karl Leib's "Football Man of the Year" trophy, and Athletic Director Paul Brechler's National Sportsmanship Award of 1949.

SUI maps showed proposed campus developments as well as present sites.

Old Capitol in miniature—complete with gold dome and flag—was shown in the library along with photographs of the campus dating back to 1853.

One of the most popular features was the continuous showing of movies of the Iowa-Purdue game.

Dancers filled the River room even before the appearance of a "live" orchestra at 10 p. m.

University club rooms, newly decorated in cool pastels by physical plant painters, were open to members, together with the Triangle club rooms.

In addition to the regular art exhibit, a special display of interest to alumni included portraits of former SUI deans and presidents.

Refreshments were served on long banquet tables banked with fall flowers.

Oldest alumnus registered was Charles Clarke, Babson Park, Fla., who was graduated in 1884 when three buildings and 500 students formed the campus of SUI.

Clarke, 88, marveled at the change in scenery over the years, especially the west campus.

"When I was young, there was nothing over there but farms," he said.

Clarke helped organize the Beta Theta Phi fraternity, "the first fraternity west of the Mississippi," he said.

Clarke, who left Des Moines eight years ago, always tries to span the 1600 miles from Florida each year.

"When you come back after you've been out of school over 65 years, you see second and third generations. It kind of gets you mixed up," chuckled the snowy-haired alumnus.

Asked what it was that brought him back year after year, Clarke replied:

"It's like the fountain of youth for me. I come back here and see all these young people, and it keeps me young myself."

Pass Medical Addition Plan

SUI's proposal for expansion of medical college enrollment and facilities was approved Friday by the Iowa state board of education, President Virgil Hancher said.

The work will go forward immediately," President Hancher said, "and I'm happy that the program will be under way."

The board instructed SUI to take money from presently available funds to get the program started, he said.

Funds needed under the plan to start the expansion program amount to $82,773 for remodeling and new equipment during 1949-50.

To cover increased operating funds during 1950-51, $40,180 more will be necessary.

The plan allows admission of 120 freshman medical students to the SUI college of medicine in the fall of 1950, instead of the usual enrollment of 90.

This early date was made possible by the whole program being broken into two parts, pre-clinical years and clinical years.

The plans approved Friday cover only the two years of pre-clinical training.

This was done so that plans for expanding the facilities for clinical training could be drawn up between now and the time 1850 enrollees reach that phase of training.

The plan calls for an estimated $62,223 in remodeling and renovating expenses in certain quarters in the medical laboratories building, for $20,550 to purchase additional equipment in the several medical science departments, and for increases in annual operating budgets of $40,180 in 1950-51, $74,640 in 1951-52 and $82,000 in 1952-53.

After presentation of the total program, which will include pre-clinical and clinical training, to the general assembly in 1951, there will still be 14 months after the beginning of the new biennium on July 1, 1951, to make the capital improvements, purchase the equipment and obtain the staff necessary for the last two years of clinical training.

Welcome Home—

Iowa City, normally a bustling little city of 18,000, has a swollen population at least nine months of the year. More than 10,000 students swarm over the city during these months, puffing the population to gigantic proportions.

Then for one mad weekend each year, 20,000 more persons converge upon our moderate-sized town. For at least one day, 20,000 former students return to the scene of their college days—a period dubbed by most returnees as "the happiest days of my life."

The list of homecomers reads a bit like a "Who's Who?" Gov. William Beardley, five national congressmen and a host of other prominent names will enrich the roll of homecomers.

The State University of Iowa has reason to be proud of its alumni. The purpose of Homecoming is to honor those former students.

Likewise, the alumni have reason to be proud of their university, which has grown from a small collection of teaching units to a position among the leading educational institutions.

This stature has been achieved through careful planning, founded largely upon a cooperative alumni.

The Daily Iowan joins with the rest of the university in welcoming home its former students. We follow with the wish that the university may continue to prosper in years to come.

Maybe Next Year—

Both houses of congress have passed bills calling for farm price supports at 90 percent of parity. However, the bill the farmers themselves support is gathering dust in a congressional pigeonhole.

Chances are, the Brannan plan will stay there—for a while at least.

That the farmers of the midwest favor the secretary of agriculture's plan was demonstrated by six impartial polls, taken earlier this year.

In five of them, the Brannan plan got the nod. In the sixth one, it tied with a plan similar to the ones passed by the house and senate.

Why do the farmers favor a plan that calls for cash subsidies such as the Brannan plan proposes? Because along with it will go freedom from marketing and production controls.

It is almost certain that rigid controls will be included in any compromise bill that may emerge from a house-senate committee meeting.

Farmers dislike being told what and how much to raise. It can also be bad economics. Say, for instance, that the government agreed upon a 23 percent reduction in wheat acreage for the next year.

If a short crop results, there is a wheat shortage. The farmer gets less; the consumer pays more.

On the other hand, if the farmer is allowed to raise as much as he pleases and is in turn paid a cash subsidy if a big crop brings the price down, the consumer pays less.

Of course, the consumer pays the subsidy in whatever form it may be. He will get cheaper wheat in the second instance, however. But before we throw in the towel on the Brannan plan it might help to take a look at the recent congressional action.

Each house has passed a bill calling for a continuance of supports at 90 percent of parity. Parity is an arbitrary price determined to give the farmer a fair return. Ninety percent of parity means the farmer is guaranteed 90 cents on the "reasonable" buck—in one form or another.

The senate bill calls for a sliding scale to go into effect after 1950. It could result in farm prices being supported to a low of 75 percent.

The house bill did not contain this provision. Both assemblies have indicated that they consider this difference basic. For that reason, joint action is not possible at this session.

The administration has declared that "grass roots" backing will probably be sought for the Brannan plan in the November elections.

Public sentiment may cause this more desirable bill to replace the present bills early in the next session.

Don't sell the Brannan plan short.

Watch For Upsets—

British Prime Minister Clement Attlee Thursday put the capper on Britain's guessing-game-of-the-year. He announced there will be no general election in 1949.

This is an abrupt about face for the British cabinet boss. Less than a month ago, the Labor party felt they were in a strong enough position to call an election and get themselves re-elected.

Something must have happened to make Attlee take this step and bar elections for the remainder of the year. He sounds as though he is afraid to face a general election this year and wants to backtrack while he consolidates his party's position.

Just for the record, the Laborites soundly defeated a no confidence vote proposed just after pound devaluation by Conservative Leader Winston Churchill.

Then the Laborites pushed through a strong confidence vote to support the decision to devalue the pound.

Actually, it's pound devaluation that's at the back of all the trouble now. Not only Britain has devalued, but more than 16 nations followed suit in less than 24 hours.

Thus it would seem from Attlee's hesitation to call an election that he realizes the spot his party is in. On shaky ground from its beginning, the Labor party now is beginning actively to feel the unrest stirring Mr. and Mrs. Average John Bull.

Watch for an upset, even a slight one, when the British people have a chance to express their preference again in a parliamentary representative election.

Training Ground—

The Russians have been poking around the south pole, according to Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who has spent a little time there himself.

What they are up to, is open to conjecture. Maybe they're looking for uranium deposits. Possibly they are examining the spot for possible bases from which to attack the southern part of the hemisphere.

Or maybe Siberia is becoming overcrowded and the Russian brass is looking for another air-cooled spot to send political prisoners.

There's also a possibility that basic training in the Russian army has softened up a bit, and the boys of the Politburo have sent a few thousand down for maneuvers.

But the one we like best is this: The Russians have gone to the south pole to build a ski slide. There they can secretly practice technique for the day they will be admitted to the Olympics.

Emigration Seen as Remedy To Britain's Population Woes

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

If the United States really wants to do something to help Britain permanently, the population reference bureau suggests she might provide ships to remove a third of the island's people to other parts of the commonwealth.

The bureau, a non-profit private organization of American scientists which makes a continuing study of population problems, does not approach the idea as a fantasy.

The movement of 15-million people would not be easy, it says, "but it would be much cheaper to move a 140-pound person once than to move some 1,400 pounds of food—plus other raw materials—every year to support that person if he remains in Britain."

The bureau thus adopts a belief that is gaining widespread acceptance. It is that Britain is not likely, ever again to be able to support her population in the manner to which it was once accustomed, or even to continue to support it in the emergency manner which is followed now.

Britain grew to world eminence because of an early monopoly on the tools and skills which produced what we have come to call the industrial revolution.

As her population grew it was forced to seek new means of support, and as they were found the population grew. But the world is no longer the place for pioneering that it was 200 years ago.

Competition has overtaken Britain, and her economy threatens to become more and more insular, since her natural resources at home are very slender.

The idea of emigration has received attention in Britain since the war, but has been discouraged by the cost to people who

Nearing Complete Nationhood—Canada Has Big World Role

By THE CENTRAL PRESS

OTTAWA—Canada is the United States' single western hemisphere partner is the North Atlantic pact.

Canada's financial experts took part in the recent monetary talks that resulted in Great Britain and most western powers devaluing their currencies.

Canada, along with Great Britain, has been a partner from the first in atomic research.

Realization that Russia now has an atomic bomb reminds us that Canada was the first nation after World War II to warn the world that Soviet spies were plotting to get atomic information.

World developments have greatly increased Canada's role in international affairs. Politically, economically, geographically and strategically, Canada holds a place in world relations of great importance to the United States and other freedom-loving nations.

Canada's newly elected 21st Parliament, which recently began its first session, has before it proposed legislation that would bring about the final two steps in Canada's evolution to complete nationhood.

One is a proposal to make the supreme court of Canada the final court of appeal, ending the traditional appeal to the privy council. The other is a proposal to give the Canadian parliament the right to amend the constitution of Canada, ending the traditional approval by the British parliament.

CANADA'S government involves an interesting combination of principles of both the British and United States systems, although fundamentally British in organization.

General elections are held normally every five years, although an election may be called any time parliament fails to uphold policies of the ministry.

House of commons members are elected, like our congressmen. Senators, however, are appointed for life, like members of the British house of lords.

The governor general is the king's personal representative in Canada. Viscount Harold Alexander of Tunis, who won fame during World War II as a British field marshal, is at present the governor general.

Canada's prime minister, like Britain's, is leader of the political party with the most members in the house of commons.

The Liberal party won an overwhelming victory in last summer's election. The house of commons opened its current session with Liberals numbering 186; Progressive Conservatives, 40; Canadian Commonwealth Federation 3; Social Credit, 10; Independents, four; Independent Liberal, one.

THERE WERE eight vacancies, making an authorized total of 262. Liberals were so numerous that 50 had to sit on the opposition's side of the house.

Louise S. St. Laurent is the second French Canadian to be prime minister, his predecessor being the popular Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

George Drew, former premier of Ontario, is leader of the opposition—an official designation of leadership given the leader of the party second in strength. His function is to offer intelligent and constructive criticism of proposals and actions of the government. Many Canadians believe a strong opposition is essential.

Ministers head the various government departments, as secretaries head our executive departments. Canada, however, has about twice as many departments.

By JOE BROWN

This afternoon when the announcer at the stadium says "Ladies and gentlemen, the State University of Iowa's Marching Band!" you'll feel goose bumps bursting out all over you unless you're as hard as Old Capitol's steps.

But mixed with my pride in those boys will be a feeling of understanding, as I sit there on the northern-most railing of the stadium, feeling closer to the golf course than the football game.

I know what a man has to suffer in becoming a musician.

You see, my father was a nervous man. He had all the hopes you'd expect for the success of his youngest son. But I taxed his patience to the breaking point everytime I tried my hand at music.

WHEN I WAS in the fifth grade, I decided to give the harmonica a whirl, and I almost broke up my home in doing so.

My father didn't object at first. The real trouble was in my family's expecting too much.

I decided to use "My Old Kentucky Home" for learning purposes, and you might not believe it but in less than a month I had the first five notes almost recognizable.

My father, thinking he was being patient, told me I owed it to myself to try to advance beyond those first five notes.

Try as I might, though, I couldn't for the life of me find those next little tones.

What this meant, of course, was that I had to keep playing "O, the sun shines bright . . ." time and time again, or I wouldn't have recognized the next note when I hit it.

Thousands of times I went over "O, the sun shines bright . . ." and each time I reached the end of that accomplishment I'd do one of two things.

Sometimes I'd arrive at the last note, lose confidence and simply stop. Then a moment later I'd back up to the beginning and take another running try at those elusive notes which follow "O, the sun shines bright . . ."

Usually, though, I'd make a stab at finding those notes. On these tries, I'd stumble through "O, the sun shines bright . . ." and everyone in the family would cringe deeper into their chairs as they waited fearfully for that next tone which they knew from experience was unpredictable.

Yes, it was telling on them, all right. "O, the sun shines bright . . ." was bringing a cloud of gloom and nervousness that took all the sunshine from our home.

THEN ONE AFTERNOON I came in from school and, as usual, got out my harmonica. I hadn't given up hope. I'd find those next notes. It was just a matter of time.

But because of my having come in quietly, the family didn't know I was home. I heard my father's voice, loud and frantic, coming from the kitchen.

They were holding a meeting around the kitchen table, and my father, apparently chairman, was standing, his face red and one fist pounding the palm of the other hand.

I can still see him. Looking straight at my mother, the other members of the family nodding approval, he gritted out:

"Either that harmonica goes or I go!"

I couldn't suppress my indignation. They wouldn't get that harmonica from me, they wouldn't!

I lifted the silver toned instrument to my lips and sighed with emotion as I contemplated the beauty of the forthcoming strain (singular, please note).

Through the crack of the door wafed those nerve shattering notes of "O, the sun shines bright . . ."

They didn't catch me but I had to give in eventually. My getting supper hinged upon whether I'd check my harmonica at the door.

Give those band boys a hand today. Heaven only knows what they've been through.

Churchill Hits at Laborites

LONDON (UP)—Winston Churchill warned Friday that Britain would be kept in a state of damaging uncertainty until the Labor government set a date for an election to get rid of a parliament that is "not only dead but decomposing."

Urging the Laborites to name a month next year for an election, even if they feared to hold one now, Churchill demanded that meantime the government make drastic cuts in expenditures and corresponding cuts in taxation.

The wartime prime minister, closing the 70th annual Conservative party conference, addressed 10,000 cheering followers.

He accused Labor cabinet members of keeping the country in suspense during the recent surge of election rumors until they could "agree among themselves what would pay their party best," and decided to wait.

"We are indifferent as to when the election comes," Churchill said. "We can certainly afford to wait the longer the drop, the surer the execution. But on national grounds a very grave political question arises. Can Britain afford to spend three, four or five months maneuvering about party tactics and electing a parliament not only dead but decomposing?"

Recalling the dark days of 1940 when he took office and said he could promise his countrymen only blood, sweat, toil and tears, Churchill said his party would make no weeping promises.

The laborites, Churchill said, "bribed" their way into office with promises they could not make good.

Instead, he said, they had engaged in "a rake's progress of unbridled expenditure . . . begged, borrowed or exacted and spent" about $45-billion, "eaten up" more than half of Britain's last reserves—"our sacred treasure."

He gave up golf, the opera, gatherings with friends and stayed in his Manhattan apartment although he has a spacious home on Long Island.

The 61-year-old Medina went regularly to a gymnasium for a workout and rubdown to keep physically fit but he confessed to cracking joint from nervous strain twice during the nine-month trial.

President Truman appointed him to the federal bench in 1948. (For the story on the Communist trial see page 1.)

Medina's First Case Labeled 'Crackerjack'

NEW YORK (UP)—Judge Harold R. Medina gave up a $100,000-a-year law practice to accept a federal judgeship and his first criminal case was a crackerjack.

He volunteered for and got the New York communist conspiracy trial and it soon changed an affable, party-going man into a virtual hermit.

Dance Opens up 'Whole New World' for These Youngsters

(Daily Iowan Photo)

DEVELOPING POISE, control and grace through ballet lessons are these miniature ballet artists of the future. Instruction by Mrs. Humbert Albrizio teaches the youngsters to appreciate the dance through ballet training. Mrs. Albrizio contends that children the world over love to dance and express themselves through bodily motion.

Mrs. Albrizio's Pupils 'Love' It—Ballet Puts Them on Their Toes

BY JEAN SMITH

Children of Iowa City are up on their toes—if they participate in the ballet dancing classes offered by local teachers.

After a session in Mrs. Humbert Albrizio's ballet class, the youngsters agree there is much to be seen, heard and felt. One cannot reveal a child's joy and pleasure in ballet, Mrs. Albrizio says, but it does sow the seed.

Mrs. Albrizio, wife of an associate professor of art at SUI, has taught ballet dancing for three years. Her pupils' ages range from the kindergarten stage on up.

The onlooker may suppose, after observing the group, that it is a "limbering up" class in session. But the dancing instructor pointed out that these exercises are studies in poise, control and grace.

Without these extremely important preliminaries known as "bar practice", the child will lack the balance needed for free movement. Mrs. Albrizio explained. "With these basic fundamentals of ballet they can go into any other kind of dancing."

 From the bar practice the youngsters go into the "centre" practice, a combination of arm and bar work. Then they experiment with new combinations of arm and foot work.

When the combinations have been worked out satisfactorily, music is added. "We use the basic type of music, not the temperamental," Mrs. Albrizio said. Included among the selections are "Swan Lake," Chopin waltzes, "Sleeping Beauty," "Nutcracker Suite" and "Country Gardens."

With the groundwork laid for making "ballet a pleasure", the children are encouraged to give vent to their varying moods and express themselves the way they feel.

This is characteristic of children, the dancing instructor contends. "Children the world over love to dance. Movement is natural to them and they love to express themselves through bodily motion. They may be confused by ballet at first, but later this form of dance opens up a complete new world for the youngsters. They can learn to appreciate the dance through learning ballet."

Although ballet is a democratic art essentially, to some people it remains a wholly aristocratic form of art. The lavish display of art productions, the lush staging of pageantry and the rich costumes and stage settings contribute to this impression.

To others the ballet is merely a fantastic hodgepodge of vaudeville and musical comedy.

Only recently has ballet come into its own in the United States. Mrs. Albrizio commented, but now it is occupying the hot spot in our life here that it holds in England and on the European continent.

Charles KO's Valentino To Retain Title

Champion Ends Fight in Eighth

By HAL WOOD
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A crashing right cross from the lethal fists of NBA World's Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles knocked out Challenger Pat Valentino in the eighth round of their title fight at the Cow Palace here Friday night.

In a great battle that was one of the wildest slugging matches ever seen in California heavy-weight history, Charles kayoed the challenger in 35 seconds of the eighth round after Valentino had held his own and was slightly ahead on points when the end came.

With a record-shattering crowd of 20,000 fans packing huge San Francisco Cow Palace and drowning out the bell at the end of nearly every round with mighty cheers for the hometown Valentino, Charles took just one punch to finish the bout.

They came out cautiously in that fatal eighth, sparred around a bit, and then Charles let loose with that one stiff right cross to the jaw.

Valentino went down as if hit with a thunderbolt. But, he stayed on one knee while Referee Jack Downey tolled to nine. Then he tried to get up, but fell forward on his face as his knees buckled.

It was a sad ending for the challenger who came into the hat a 1-5 underdog and put up a slam-bang battle, doing the leading most of the way. Valentino came into the ring to throw punches — and that's exactly what he did from the opening bell.

The champion came out fast in the first round and immediately started gunning for the spot above Valentino's left eye that was supposed to cut easily. He reached it with his first punch and kept peppering away all through the seven rounds — but, the cut failed to open.

Meanwhile, Valentino pounded away at Charles' midriff.

The challenger's best round was in the sixth when he sank a wild swinging right deep into Charles' stomach and the champion momentarily doubled up. Charles recovered quickly and although Valentino won the round, the champion was moving at the bell.

The United Press score sheet showed Charles ahead on points in only the first and fifth rounds. Valentino won the second, third and sixth and two were even.

The huge crowd gave both

Hawklets Win, 7-0

CLINTON — Iowa City high scored an upset Mississippi Valley conference victory over Clinton Friday night with a 7-0 triumph over the River Kings.

The United Press score sheet showed Charles ahead on points in only the first and fifth rounds. Valentino won the second, third and sixth and two were even.

The huge crowd gave both

Charles and Valentino a tremendous ovation as they left the ring after the great battle.

Both fighters had gained some reputation in past battles as dull fighters. But, it was a wild-swinging affair from the start. Valentino, especially, was aiming for that knockout punch from the opening bell.

However, a lot of his rights were of the wild-swinging hay-maker variety, that Charles easily picked off in mid-air.

Up until the time that the kayo punch came in the eighth, it appeared that Charles had not hurt the challenger with any of his blows — although he landed a lot of solid shots to the head all through the fight.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An amazing Tulsa university eleven blasted Villanova college from football's undefeated Friday night in one of the year's major upsets. Led by 165-pound Dub Graves, Tulsa built up a first half lead and withstood a stirring rally to win, 21-19.

The Oklahomaans, who couldn't win a ball game all last year and had a 1-3 record going into Friday night's game, simply outgained the bigger, faster Villanova team.

It was essentially a team triumph, but Little Graves was the hero of the battle.

With Tulsa leading 7-6 in the dying moments of the first half, Graves caught a punt on his own 30 and out legged the Villanova defenders for the score that gave Tulsa a 14-6 edge.

And it was the same Graves who intercepted a pass on his own four to halt Villanova's comeback drive at the start of the second half.

A moment later he took a lateral on the Villanova 42 and banged past one tackler after another before he was stopped on the Villanova seven. Paul Barry sprinted around end for the third and winning Tulsa touchdown on the next play.

Members of the Brooklyn Dodgers getting full cuts will earn $4,272.73, about $500 less than the record received by a player on the losing club.

The all-time full share record for a winning club player was set last year by the Cleveland Indians whose 30 full share members each got $6,772. The 1941 Brooklyn Dodgers who lost to the Yankees each got $4,829 — the record losers' share.

Kid Gavilan Ten-Round Winner Over Beau Jack

CHICAGO (UP) — Cuba's Kid Gavilan bounced into contention for Welterweight Champion Ray "Sugar" Robinson's crown Friday night with a unanimous ten round decision over Beau Jack in the Chicago stadium.

IOWA

halfback has averaged five yards per try in 18 chances, which against teams like Notre Dame and Ohio State, is no small accomplishment.

Although the Hoosiers operate from both the single-wing and the T, air attack has been their chief weapon for eating up yardage. Quarterback Nick Sebek, a four-year veteran, does the throwing and has hit his receivers 23 of 50 times, heaving for 258 yards and one touchdown.

His inability to find Hoosier pass grabbers in the clear has resulted in his losing 91 yards by being trapped behind the line, bringing the total Indiana offense on the ground down to slightly less than a yard on each of the 119 times rushing plays have been used.

Smith has indicated he will start Sophomores Stan Wilkins and Bob Robertson at the halfback posts and Jerry Van Ooyen at fullback.

Iowa's T-offense will be handled by Glenn Drahn at quarterback. The passing star was not at full effectiveness last week because of an injured leg. He'll be flipping to his favorite ends, Jack Dittmer and Bob McKenzie, the glue-fingered wingmen who have accounted for 205 yards, and five touchdowns between them in three games.

Anderson has named Halfbacks Mearl Naber and Bob Longley, both veterans, and Sophomore Fullback Bill Reichardt to complete the backfield.

In place of Banks and Lage, Anderson will start Junebug Perrin and Austin Turner at the guards. Both are 200-pounders and have had conference experience. Bob Geigel, in his fourth season as a Hawkeye, will replace Johnston at right tackle.

Don Winslow will start at the left tackle position he has manned all season and will act as defensive captain. McKenzie will be captain while the Hawks are Gavilan, taller, with a longer reach, and heavier at 148 pounds than Beau at 141, had things his own way most of the bout. He cut Jack's lip and bloodied his nose in the first round.

By the fourth Jack's left eye was badly swollen and by the eighth, he was hardly able to see through the swelling.

Gavilan, meanwhile, coolly staved off Jack's mad dashes to get in close and scored repeatedly with his righthand bolo punch, which shook Jack to his heels at least three times, and probably scared him somewhat on half a dozen other occasions.

It was nearly a perfect fight for the Cuban kid who had lost twice to Robinson in previous encounters. He had to display only scant speed against Beau Jack, as the Atlanta scrapper, who planned to stay inside throughout the brawl, kept forcing clinches and body punching against the ropes. Gavilan never appeared pressed.

Once Jack slipped after Gavilan tagged him with a bolo and nearly fell through the ropes. But he recovered quickly and, although tired, made it an interesting brawl all the way to the final bell.

Judge Franklin Childs scored the match 58 to 42 for Gavilan, Judge Harold Marovitz gave it to him by a count of 54 to 46, while Referee Frank Sikora scored it 55 to 45.

This week the Hawkeyes have drilled heavily on the offensive power that gives all indications of being present, yet sagged so badly against Illinois. Attention was also given the need for better tackling.

Team spirit, which may have sagged with the offense a week ago, is high and Anderson has said that the team will be in "better mental condition for the Indiana game than it was for the Illinois game."

Purdue Edges Miami U., 14-0

MIAMI, FLA. (AP)—Purdue university tasted victory for the first time this season when it defeated the stubborn University of Miami Hurricanes, 14-0, Friday night in the Orange Bowl stadium before 47,835 football fans — a new record attendance for a regular season game in Miami.

The Boilermakers, making their first invasion of Florida, were able to score in the first and second periods only as Miami turned in one of its greatest defense games in the school's history.

Purdue dominated the play from the opening whistle and after driving 61 yards to a touchdown the first time they got the ball it looked like a rout by the Big Ten conference team.

But the Hurricanes, a two-touchdown underdog, managed to hold hard-driving Harry Szulborski and Norbert Adams to only one touchdown in the first period. A 35-yard pass produced the second and final score in the opening minutes of the second period.

The visitors, with a 14-0 advantage, had possession of the ball in midfield when the half ended.

In the third and fourth quarters the Boilermakers were unable to gain against the fighting Miamians.

Player Misses Train; Motorcycle Helps Out

DES MOINES (AP) — A Kansas State football player who overslept missed the train, was with his teammates in Des Moines Friday night — thanks to a fast motorcycle and a talented thumb.

The Kansas State squad left Manhattan, Kan., by train Friday morning for a game today with Iowa State at Ames.

When Reserve End Dave Torbett realized the train had gone without him, he enlisted the aid of a friend who owns a motorcycle. With the friend driving and Torbett riding behind, the two traveled more than 200 miles of the way to Des Moines.

A blowout just across the Iowa border halted Torbett, but not for long. He thumbed a ride and joined his teammates at a Des Moines hotel early Friday evening.

U-High Smashes Tigers, 33-0

BY OZZIE JENSEN
University high's Blue Hawks exploded in the second half here Friday afternoon, scoring two touchdowns in each of the last two periods, to soundly trounce New London's clawless Tigers, 33-0. It was the Blue Hawk's Homecoming game and their first win of the year after three hard-fought losses and one tie.

Capitalizing on New London's ineffective defense, U-high ran over the field almost at will, except for occasional lapses, while holding the Tigers' net yardage to practically nothing.

The Blue Hawks struck first midway in the first quarter. After taking a New London punt on the Tigers' 38 yard line, they drove in three plays to the one, from where Bill Dinsmore plunged over. Carter Morgan's dropkick was good.

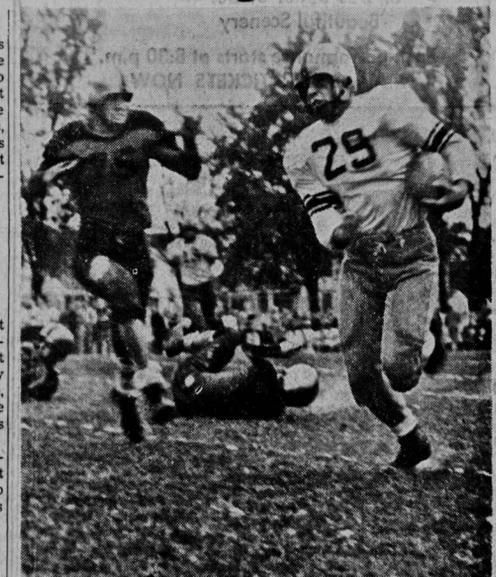

Soon after the second half began, Ronald Coldsnow skirted left end from the 20 and romped into the end zone. Again Morgan's dropkick was true.

Later in the third period, the Blue Hawks executed the "sleeper" play on the 10, with Bob Ewalt flapping a pass to End Bob Canning who raced unimpeded across the goal line. Morgan's dropkick again cleared the crossbar for the conversion.

Two plays later, Dinsmore grabbed a stray pass on the New London 25 and scored untouched. Morgan's attempted conversion was wide. Just before the final gun, U-high scored again when Dick Hradek drove over from the one to climax a march from midfield.

New London, hampered by the loss of two regulars, End Henry Boecker and Back Bob Harper, never managed to get into high gear. Harper became ill before the game, while Boecker injured an ankle in pre-game warmup.

Score by quarters:

SPRINTING TO A TOUCHDOWN is U-high's Ronald Coldsnow (29) in the Blue Hawks' rout of New London yesterday, 33-0. The fullback scored on an end run and is shown as he crossed the 10-yard line. New London's Dick McPherson (75) is on the futile chase to the goal line. The third period tally make the score 14-0 in U-high's favor.

Top Communists Jailed in Court Verdict

ON THEIR WAY TO JAIL were four of 11 top Communists as they boarded a U.S. marshal's van Friday in New York. A federal court decision convicted them of conspiracy to teach overthrow of the U.S. government by force. Doubtful That State Can Be Assessed For Street Lights

Iowa state board of education members expressed doubt Friday whether Iowa City will be able to collect $7,648 from the state as part of the cost for the new street lighting system planned for the downtown area.

The Iowa attorney general is reported to have stated that the state can not be subjected to special assessments, except in cases where city councils pass resolutions calling for paving of streets alongside state property.

In such cases a proper share of the cost may be assessed and a bill sent to the state executive council with expectation that it will be paid, David Daner, board secretary, said.

No unfriendliness was expressed toward the Iowa City aldermen, however, and Board President Henry C. Shull said that the question was simply one of whether or not the city could legally levy the special assessment against the state.

The co-operation between city and state on fire protection was pointed out by the board. "It seems to me," Shull said, "that Iowa City or Ames shouldn't be called upon to do more than they morally or equitably should."

The statement referred to concerning the legality of the assessment was one by the state attorney general, a ruling that a drainage district board could not assess the state for part of the cost of a drainage improvement benefiting Iowa State college property.

Doubt was expressed as to whether the attorney general would, in the light of the previous ruling, approve any special assessment against the state for the new lighting on streets bordering the SUI campus.

Top Communists Found Guilty Of Plotting U.S. Revolution

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's 11 top Communist leaders were convicted Friday of plotting to advocate violent revolution in the United States.

Handcuffed, they were hustled into a prison van and whisked off to jail within an hour to await sentencing next Friday. They face maximum sentences of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine each.

With the verdict in, Federal Judge Harold Medina turned on the five defense attorneys and the top defendant, Eugene Dennis, and sentenced them to jail for contempt during the nine-month trial.

Defense attorney Harry Sacher said the jury's verdict and Judge Medina's contempt sentences will be appealed. The U. S. supreme court will be the final judge.

Defense attorney Richard Gladstein said the purpose of the verdict was to outlaw the Communist party in this country.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, a Communist national committeewoman, joined the defendants in pledging that the party "will operate as usual." She said it would not go underground.

For the first two months of the trial, the defense argued that Negroes and other minorities had little chance to get on the jury.

Friday it was a Negro, Mrs. Thelma Dial, who pronounced the fate when she led the jury into the crowded, tense courtroom at 10:27 a.m. (Iowa time) after seven hours of deliberations.

The charge against the 11 defendants was conspiring to advocate the violent overthrow of the U.S. government. They are: Eugene Dennis, 44, national secretary of the Communist party in America; Gus Hall, 39, Ohio state chairman;

Henry Winston, 35, Negro and national organizational secretary; John Gates, 36, editor of The Daily Worker, Communist newspaper;

Benjamin Davis, Jr., Negro city councilman in New York; Carl Winter, 43, Michigan state chairman;

Jacob Stachel, 49, national educational director; John Williamson, 46, national labor secretary;

Robert Thompson, 34, New York state chairman; Irving Potash, 47, vice president of the International fur and leather workers union;

Gilbert Green, 43, Illinois state chairman. Judge Medina, 61-year-old Brooklyn born judge, thanked the jury and warned its members against discussing the case.

Then, as the jury filed out, Judge Medina turned on the five attorneys and Dennis, who acted as his own lawyer.

He told the attorneys they deliberately had tried to cause "delay and confusion so as to make the trial impossible, to provoke an incident to result in a mistrial or to impair my health."

Then, one by one, he sentenced the men to jail. The lawyers and their sentences: Harry Sacher of New York, six months. He defended Davis, Gates and Potash.

Richard Gladstein of San Francisco, six months. He acted for Thompson and Hall.

George W. Crockett Jr., Detroit Negro, four months. He represented Stachel and Winter.

Louis McCabe of Philadelphia, 30 days. He acted for Winston. Abraham Isserman of Newark, N.J., four months. He was the lawyer for Williamson and Green. Dennis also got six months. The trial cost the government about $1-million and the defense about $500,000.

Communists Pounce On Czech Catholics With Binding Laws

PRAGUE (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Communist-led government Friday steamrolled through parliament two laws clamping tight control over the last stronghold of outspoken resistance — the Roman Catholic church.

The laws become effective November 1.

They were being passed by an unanimous show of hands. Communist Minister of Justice Alexei Cepicka warned:

"Anyone who resists these laws will be broken as an enemy of the state."

His statement was aimed directly at the Catholic church.

The new laws provide for: 1. Making clergymen of all churches civil servants, paid by the state, and giving the government control over all church appointments, finances and administrative affairs.

2. The appointment of a cabinet minister to rule over church questions.

(The Vatican radio, quoting an editorial in the Catholic action publication Quotidiano, said the Czechoslovak government if following in the footsteps of the French revolutionaries. The editorial, titled "Persecutors of Prague," declared the government's action "will not prevail.")

Passage of the bills was assured when they first were introduced by the government in the summer.

Peggy Miller Named Queen at U-High Ball

After a 33-0 victory over New London Friday afternoon, University High topped off its Homecoming festivities with the crowning of Peggy Miller as Homecoming queen at the Blue Hawk ball Friday night.

Peggy, a senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Miller, 6 Melrose circle.

Dean Evans and Ronald Cold-snow, co-captains of University High's football team, escorted her to her throne.

The queen's attendants were Letitia Dawson, Carolyn Hornung, Louise Hagler, Faye Workhoven, Jean Marks and Donna Sue Bane.

The Homecoming dance was sponsored by University High's senior class.

Army Chief Called To Tell His Story

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army Friday night called on its chief of staff, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, to hustle home from Japan to state the army's case in the great row over U.S. strategy.

Collins was asked to cut short a current inspection tour of Far East military installations because, the army explained, current house hearings on the big dispute are "vital affecting unification" of the armed forces.

Minimum Wage Bill Set for Final Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill raising the minimum wage in interstate commerce industries from 40 cents an hour to 75 was made ready Friday for final action by the house and senate.

However, in jacking up the wage floor, the compromise bill, which was worked out by a senate-house conference committee, removes wage-hour law coverage from several hundred thousand workers now protected.

Sen. Elbert Thomas (D - Utah) said it would be impossible to determine the number so affected until the courts interpret the new language.

Sen. Claude Pepper (D-Fla) estimated that 1-million to 1.5-million low paid workers would share some $300-million a year in pay increases on the basis of the new bill.

The house and senate must approve the committee's compromise before it is sent to President Truman. Rep. John Lesinski (D-Mich), head of the house conferees, said the house probably will not act on the measure before Tuesday.

About 22.6-million workers are covered by the present wage-hour law, which blankets occupations regarded as "necessary to" the production of items moving in interstate commerce.

The conferees voted to make the bill take effect 90 days after its enactment.

Plane to Aid State Patrol Direct Traffic

A plane, spotting traffic bottlenecks from the air, will help local police and 12 highway patrolmen direct traffic here today, before and after the Iowa-Indiana game.

The plane, owned and operated by the Iowa Aeronautics commission, will patrol main highways leading to Iowa City and by means of a mobile radio unit will direct patrol cars to traffic tie-ups, Lt. C.L. Day of the highway patrol said Friday.

The plane is especially designed for this type of work, Day said. The mobile radio unit is equipped with AM and FM, and makes communication between plane, patrol cars and police station possible.

About 40 highway patrolmen with cars will be directing traffic within a 50-mile radius of Iowa City, Day said.

SUI is probably the first college in the country to use plane and radio to aid direct traffic at football games, Frank J. Havlicek, Business Manager of Athletics, said. The system was started last year.

"The Iowa highway patrol has given wonderful service," Havlicek said.

Chief Edward J. Ruppert urged all residents in and around Iowa City to park their cars on the east side of the river to avoid the heavy traffic before and after the game.

Present from Railway Livens Rallies

That loud steam whistle heard during the ceremonies Friday night has become something of an SUI tradition signaling student spirit.

The whistle sits atop the engineering building and its custodians are SUI (Omicron chapter) members of Pi Tau Sigma, national honorary society for mechanical engineers.

The first whistle was blown about 16 years ago, according to Prof. J. W. Deegan, SUI college of engineering. Deegan was a student here at that time.

Steam for that first blast lowered the line pressure so much that the unsuspecting physical plant personnel thought the steam-pipes had sprung a serious leak.

Deegan said the whistle was donated by the president of the Rock Island lines after an SUI engineering grad had written him about the idea.

Last year the whistle was damaged during the Homecoming pep rally and the engineers drove to one of the railroad's yards in Illinois to get a replacement in time for installation before the football game the next day.

Edwin Smull, E3, and James Kauzlarich, E2, served on the tooting end of the noise during Friday night's blowing.

Contributions to Chest Fall Behind Schedule

Contributions to the Iowa City community chest totaled $9,422.28 Friday, an increase of $1,274.55 over the previous day, General Chairman Graham Marshall said.

Much of the increase came from SUI instructive and administrative personnel who had contributed $2,371.65 Friday. They were closer to reaching their quota than any other group.

Marshall said he was very disappointed with the slowness of contributions in the drive for $26,045.74, which closes today. He repeated that individual solicitors and captains had not been turning in contributions received as quickly as had been hoped.

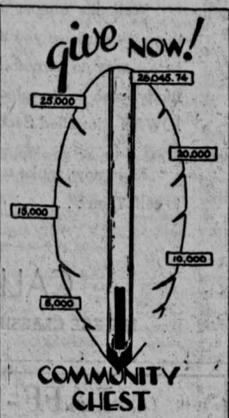

"We estimate that less than 50 percent of the solicitors have made any report," Marshall said. The size of contributions was about normal, however.

"It seems inadvisable to extend the drive," Marshall said. The chest headquarters in the city hall will remain open for two weeks to receive contributions when turned in.

Marshall urged all solicitors to complete their collections as soon as possible and to clear with workers at the headquarters.

Persons not contacted who wish to contribute to the campaign should call the community chest office to make arrangements for giving. The phone number is 8-2121.

PARADE...

sent murmurs of admiration through the crowd, to humor and comedy which brought laughter and applause.

"It was the most wonderful parade I've ever seen at a college," Fred A. Williams, member of the SUI 1899 football team said. "It was much better than lawn displays for Homecoming."

"I really thought it was beautiful," Dortha Brinker, Finkbine resident, said. "But I think it should have been held in the day time."

Little Jane Bader, 724 Clark, was most impressed with a block-long line of horsemen, riding two abreast, on mounts entered by the Iowa City Saddle club.

"It was soooo big," 6-year-old Gene Vineyard, 625 Fourth avenue, said from his father's arms.

The mood of the evening was set by SUI President Virgil Hancher's words:

"It's the greatest Homecoming since 1849."
Only one known casualty resulted from the evening's celebration.

A girl identified as Marianne Craft, A2, Hudson, was reported slightly injured when part of a float on which she rode struck a light wire and fell to the street. The accident occurred near Currier hall.

Prove 6-Year-Old Isn't Couple's Son

LANSING, MICH. (AP) — An Ohio couple's own blood Friday blasted soaring hopes that they had found their long-lost little boy.

For three days Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thompson had been almost convinced that six-year-old William Thomas O'Neill, a ward of the state of Michigan, was their son. But blood tests showed this was not true.

Once again the Thompsons will take up their five-year search. They have been hunting ever since their baby, Ronald, disappeared from their home with a nurse in 1944.

It was the striking physical resemblance to Ronnie that brought Tommy in touch with the Thompsons.

Clarence Ramsay, Children's Institute Director, said Tommy would be boarded out and later an adoption would be arranged. It won't be with the Thompsons, though. The Dayton couple have two younger children and it would not be a good arrangement for Tommy, according to Ramsay.

$750 Court Judgment Awarded for Injuries

Paul Harney, Newport, was awarded a $750 judgment in district court Friday against David Coblenz.

The judgment was for injuries suffered by Harney when a car in which he was a passenger allegedly collided with a car driven by Coblenz.

The collision occurred July 1 on highway 6 between Iowa City and Coralville.

HERKY THE HAWK DEPICTS the treatment SUI's Hawkeyes plan to inflict upon the Indiana Hoosiers this afternoon when they meet at the football stadium. Only one of nearly 50 floats, this entry brought cheers from the Homecoming-minded spectators viewing the first Homecoming parade in the history of the holiday. Herky is picking the bones of an Indiana skeleton. The Hawkeyes hope the Hoosiers find the Iowa stadium their Death Valley of 1949.

Four SUI Appointments Passed by Board

Dr. Glenn Leland Walker, SUI associate professor of ophthalmology, will become acting head of the ophthalmology department Nov. 1, Pres. Virgil M. Hancher said Friday.

The state board of education approved the appointment along with three others at a meeting Friday on the SUI campus.

Dr. Walker succeeds Dr. C.S. O'Brien, who recently resigned the position to move to Arizona. The appointment is a temporary arrangement, effective only until the position is permanently filled.

"Strong contenders" for the post are two senior members of the department, Drs. J.H. Allen and P.J. Leinfelder, a university official said.

Walker, 46, received his B.S. degree from SUI in 1930 and his M.D. in 1934.

Also approved by the state board Friday was the appointment of Harry T. Muhly as associate professor of mathematics, effective next semester.

Muhly comes here from the U.S. naval academy at Annapolis, Md., where he held the position of associate professor. He received his Ph.D. degree from Johns Hopkins university in 1940.

Effective immediately is the board's approved appointment of Dr. R.R. Rembolt, now medical director of the University Hospitals School for Handicapped Children, as director of state services for crippled children.

J.B. McGregor, dean of Cornell college, Mt. Vernon, has been approved as a part-time visiting professor in the college of education. The appointment is for this semester.

Pres. Hancher's proposal that the honorary title "emeritus" be bestowed upon all faculty members on or about to go on a part-time retirement basis, was also

City Fire Department Official Dies of Stroke

William A. Vorrbrich, 51, first assistant chief of the Iowa City fire department, died at 3:24 p.m. Friday from a stroke. Mr. Vorrbrich, who lived at 1707 E. Court street, died at Mercy hospital.

He had been a member of the department since 1926.

Survivors are his wife, Anna, a daughter, Mrs. Ivan H. Goddard, Muscatine, and three sons, Dale, Washington, D.C., William A. Jr., and Lynn Karl, both of Iowa City.

QUITS CAR PRODUCTION

DETROIT (P) — Kaiser-Frazer corporation, feeling the pinch of the buyer's market in the auto industry, Friday announced shutdown of car production for an "indefinite period."

City Fire Department Official Dies of Stroke

NEW YORK (P) — Alger Hiss Friday lost his bid to have the scene of his second perjury trial shifted from New York to Vermont.

Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox ruled there was no basis in the former high state department official's contention that the publicity given the first trial so affected public sentiment that a fair hearing in New York now would be impossible.

Hiss is scheduled to go on trial for a second time Nov. 1. His first trial ended July 8 in a jury disagreement, eight for conviction and four for acquittal.

BUS DRIVERS STRIKE

SIOUX CITY (P) — A walkout of bus drivers and shopmen, the first transit strike in Sioux City history, Friday forced 40,000 workers and shoppers to hire taxis or seek private transportation.

Local Fire Prevention Week Closes Today

Winners in a school children's fire prevention essay contest, sponsored by fire insurance underwriters in Iowa City, will be announced today, marking the end of Fire Prevention week.

Iowa City students from the fourth through twelfth grades wrote this week on "What I Can Do to Prevent Fires in My Own Home."

Firemen lecturing at all Iowa City high schools and elementary schools, enlisted students as "fire inspectors" in their own homes, Fire Department Lt. Ted Fay reported.

Cash prizes and theater tickets for winning essays will be awarded by Iowa City insurance agencies.

Fire prevention inspection of all business places, churches, apartments, fraternities and corporations was conducted by the department this week.

Fire Chief Al Dolezal said inspectors looked for oily rags and rubbish, frayed wiring, improper fuses, and faulty furnace pipes.

Fire extinguishers are also checked to make sure they are up to date.

All firemen took part in inspections to have a chance to become acquainted with the buildings, the Chief said.

"It helps a lot in fighting a fire if you know the building," he said.

Roosevelt School children thrill to the sight of Fireman Adrian Rittenmeyer sliding down the pole at the fire station just as he would in answering a fire call. The children visited the fire house as a part of the department's week-long community lessons in fire prevention. Firemen looking on as Rittenmeyer demonstrates the proper technique were Harold Rogers (left) and Raymond Hess.

Kids Can Have Fun Without Doing Harm On Hallowe'en Night

Iowa City youngsters will have lots of fun Halloween, Oct. 31, without destroying or damaging any property.

There will be a big parade early in the evening, followed by a professional vaudeville show and a dance, when the local young people take part in a nation-wide "Honor day" sponsored by the Loyal Order of Moose.

J. Edgar Frame, director of the Iowa City recreation center and chairman of the Halloween program, said the local Moose lodge is co-operating with its national organization in planning the big party for the kids.

Frame said the young people will sign pledges in school about a week before Halloween stating that they will not "deface, mutilate, or destroy property, or perform any act harmful to others during the Halloween season."

The parade, which begins at 6 p.m., will include hundreds of "young citizens" dressed in costumes appropriate for the season. Prizes for the best costumes will be awarded later in the evening.

A professional vaudeville team from Des Moines will play to the youngsters after the parade in the Community building, Frame said. It will be followed by a dance lasting until 11 p.m.

SUI Dames Plan Rushing Program

The SUI Dames club will hold a "rushing coffee" at 8 p.m. Monday in the Wesley annex.

The fall theme will be carried out through the table decorations.

A receiving line composed of the club officers will welcome the new guests including forty rushes. Officers are: Mrs. Glenn Roberts, president; Mrs. John Atkinson, vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Bell, recording secretary; Mrs. Jean Quigg, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Rudy Bauer, treasurer.

The following women will pour: Mrs. Paul Vermillion, Mrs. Merritt Ludwig, Mrs. Jean Purnoy and Mrs. Raymond Light.

Additional guests will be Mrs. A.W. Jones, sponsor, and Mrs. F. D. Francis, honorary president.

Lots of Pumpkins Assured for Kids

There should be no local shortage of pumpkins for Halloween jack-o-lanterns if C.J. Brenneman has anything to do about it.

On his "Greenacres" farm a mile east of Iowa City, Brenneman raised several hundred pumpkins, just for the jack-o-lantern trade. He "late-planted" several acres to be sure there would be enough to go around.

"I don't think I ever raised pumpkins as big as they grew this year," Brenneman said. Some weigh up to 50 pounds and are nearly two feet in diameter.

It was a good year for pumpkins, he said, although thousands of bugs have invaded his fields scarring the yellow fruit.

Brenneman did raise some "pie pumpkins" but his big interest is in this country on such a fellowship.

SUI Doctor Named As Commissioner

Dr. James H. Allen, professor of ophthalmology in the SUI college of medicine, has been appointed North American commissioner of ophthalmic education.

The commission, a part of the Pan-American Association of Ophthalmology, represents North American countries from Panama north. Ophthalmology is eye treatment.

Allen's duties will include the advancement of teaching of ophthalmology and assistance in setting up teaching programs in various North American nations.

The assistance includes selecting men for fellowships in ophthalmology in the United States. Dr. Luciano Barrere, Lima, Peru, who has been studying under Allen, is in this country on such a fellowship.

SUI Women to Stage Saturday Hockey Meet

The traditional Homecoming hockey game between members of the Women's Recreation association hockey team and SUI women graduates who participated in the game while here will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday morning on the hockey field south of the Iowa Union.

SUI students participating in the game will be Pat Key, Phyllis Bullerman, Marian Tomfeld, Mary Lou Thomas, Pat Walter, Constance Morrell, Jeri Greenlee, Margaret Nolte, Marian Thornton, Joan Blair, Marilyn Jensen, Ada Parker, Helen Falk, Janet St. Clair, June Korab, Challie Thornton, Nancy Lauzon, Gertrude Clark, and Arline Silverman.

The contest will be open to the public with no admission charge.

BUILDING PERMITS
Building permits issued by the city engineer's office during the first three days of this week totaled $39,400, with new residence permits accounting for more than two-thirds of the total.

SUI Radio Officials To Attend Meetings

Two WSUI - KSUI officials will leave this afternoon for Ann Arbor, Mich., for the 24th annual convention of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters which starts Sunday.

Director Carl Menzer and Program Director Richard Setterberg will travel to Chicago for a longer meeting after the two-day Michigan convention ends Monday.

Studio officials said a television demonstration will be given at the three-day Chicago meeting, the 13th annual School of Broadcast conference.

Both meetings concern colleges or universities with educational broadcasting programs through their own radio station, or through another station's facilities.

TIDE MAGAZINE reports a phone call received by a New York advertising agency named Rickard and company. "Connect me with Mr. Rickard," demanded the voice, "I'm a switchboard operator."

"Mr. Rickard has been dead for ten years." "Oh," said the voice. "In that case, let me talk to his secretary."

Irwin Edman, the absent-minded philosophy wizard at Columbia, was waiting for a conferee one day when he experienced a sudden thirst. He pinned a note to his door which read, "Edman will be back in 20 minutes" and went down to the corner for a soda. When he returned, he saw his own note and sat down patiently in the corridor to wait for himself.

Homecoming Corn Monument Has No Corn

By DON ANDERSON

"It's beautiful! But where's the corn?" said the pretty sophomore coed. She was looking at the corn monument on the west approach to Old Capitol.

If you find any corn in the 1949 monument it won't be the engineers' fault — unless a rebel from their ranks sneaked by the guards and added the merchandise.

Little or no corn has been used on monuments since 1947. The winning designs simply did not specify corn. Another factor probably has been the high cost of the little yellow kernels.

But some of the previous monuments did have plenty of corn! Whole ears — or split and nailed — or shelled and glued — and in a variety of color.

Sixty bushels went into the 1922 monument and 50 into the 1934 structure.

Encouragement of the Homecoming theme rather than the corn theme now seems to be the trend in the selection of the winning monument design.

This year's monument features a cut-out of Herky the '49er.

22-foot-tall structure. Richard Martin, A2, is the monument's designer.

The SUI Homecoming committee annually bears the construction costs. This year, $200 was allowed the builders, the Associated Students of Engineering. Actual cost ran about $180, according to James Bingham, E4, ASE publicity chairman.

A Homecoming tradition for 35 years, the monument was first built by students in the hydraulics department.

— Since 1934, all the engineering departments have joined in making the monument, the college of engineering's contribution to the Black-and-Old-Gold event. This is done through the SEA, only SUI organization open to students in all engineering departments.

On some Homecomings between 1914 and 1934, engineering departments sponsored three projects. The civils' built a victory arch; the mechanicals' built the monument, and the electricals' built huge illuminated signs.

Corn Pickers Warned By Extension Director

A warning to farmers to be especially careful to avoid corn picker accidents was issued by the Johnson county farm bureau board of directors, at their monthly meeting Monday night.

Last year, 434 Iowa farmers were seriously injured while picking corn, Emmett Gardner, county extension director, said.

These accidents could be reduced if farmers would not attempt to unclog the machine while it is running, or if they would observe common sense safety measures at all times, he added.
