CIO Pledges To Support Steel Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — The CIO's left and right wing factions got together Tuesday on at least one issue: they pledged full support to Philip Murray's 25-day-old steel strike.

The 51-member executive board, meeting to prepare for next week's free-swinging showdown between the leftist and anti-Communist leaders in convention, adopted a unanimous resolution on the strike.

It pledged "full moral, organizational and financial support in this strike which the steel industry, on orders from Wall Street, has forced upon the steelworkers and the American people."

Walter Reuther, red-headed leader of the United Auto Workers and sometimes regarded as a possible successor to Murray, introduced the resolution at a three-hour session of the executive board.

Reuther was chosen chairman of the powerful resolutions committee for the convention, starting next Monday. That means he and big Joe Curran, head of the National Maritime union and secretary of the committee, will have a lot to say about what happens to pro-Communist forces in the CIO.

Reuther and Curran both have been successful in battling Communist sympathizers in the ranks of their important auto and sailors unions.

One of the big fights certain to erupt on the convention floor involves the "ultimatum" of the United Electrical Workers. The demands were that unless Murray ousts the worst critics of UE's left-wing leadership and orders a stop to raiding of its ranks by right-wing unions, the UE will hold back its per capita tax to the CIO.

UE, the CIO's third largest union, holds contracts to represent about 600,000 workers in the radio, television and electrical manufacturing fields. It pays the eight-cent monthly per capita tax to the CIO on about 375,000 actual members, however. It is the largest and most influential of the unions under so-called left-wing leadership.

Fred Albert Fitzgerald and his top aides in running UE — Secretary-Treasurer Julius Emspak and organization director James Matles — were conspicuously absent from Tuesday's executive board session. Fitzgerald, a vice-president of the CIO, also missed Monday's meeting of the nine vice-presidents.

One possible development at the convention next week may be the ouster of all leftists from the CIO's executive board or state of officers.

If Fitzgerald is dropped as a vice-president, it was reliably reported that Joseph Beirne, president of the CIO's new union in the telephone industry, the Communication Workers of America, will get the nod.

The youthful Beirne, who led the telephone operators through the only nationwide strike in 1947, has the backing of the right-wing faction now in lopsided control of CIO affairs.

At a news conference, Murray said the steelworkers' union doesn't pay general strike benefits, but that any financial aid from sister unions will be distributed to needy members.

Suspect in Reuther Case Given Delay

DETROIT (AP) — The long-delayed trial of Carl L. Bolton on charges of shooting CIO union auto workers President Walter P. Reuther was set Tuesday for Nov. 21.

Amid accusations of "stalling" made by defense lawyers against the state, Recorder's Judge Gerald W. Groat denied a plea for an immediate hearing for the dapper former official of a UAW local.

Bolton, 40, was bound over for trial 13 months ago in the shotgun attack on Reuther April 20, 1948. But he was convicted last May of robbing a cooperative store in Pontiac, Mich., and is serving a 10-to-15-year term in a southern Michigan prison on that charge.

Health Exam for Thomas Before 'Kickback' Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — A physical examination by two private physicians was arranged Tuesday for Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), after army doctors refused to decide whether he is well enough to stand trial on payroll "kickback" charges.

China Communists Hammer Toward Nationalist Foothold

CHUNGKING (AP) — Chinese Communist troops smashed Tuesday at two gateway cities to Kwangsi province, the last major Nationalist foothold in south China.

Official dispatches admitted the Communists broke into Tunggan, on the main route to Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi. They said the Communists were driven out after bitter street fighting. Tunggan is 90 miles northeast of Kweilin.

Other Communist forces were trying to force their way into the province through the river port of Tsangwu (Wuchow) on Kwangsi's eastern border.

Wuchow, 160 miles west of Kweilin and 130 miles west of Canton, controls the west river invasion route into Kwangsi province. The defense ministry said fighting was in progress southeast of Tsangwu.

The Nationalists asserted they had counterattacked at the outskirts of Chihkiang, in western Hunan province 150 miles north of Kweilin. Chihkiang is the potential springboard for a Communist invasion of Kweichow, the province between Kwangsi and Chungking's Szechwan province.

Official reports also asserted a big Communist amphibious force was being wiped out on the island of Chihmen, east of the southeast China island port of Amoy. The Amoy garrison retreated to Chihmen when it was forced from Amoy recently.

Fire Alarm Starts Rescue Operation For Plane at Sea

NEW YORK (AP) — A fire in a fish factory off Port Monmouth, N.J., set off a large-scale rescue operation Tuesday night in the false belief that an airplane was in trouble at sea.

Police headquarters at first said it received a report that a "plane" was in trouble at sea.

Three police launches converged on the waters off O'nev Island while an emergency truck and several radio cars stood by in the rain.

Coast guard boats joined the search.

Then the coast guard said a later report indicated that a "flame" rather than a "plane" had been sighted.

14 Hurt As Explosion Wrecks 6-Apartment Building in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — An explosion Tuesday night wrecked an apartment house in a Dallas housing development, injuring 14 occupants.

Only four of the 14 injured were considered in serious condition.

The blast rocked buildings in a five-block area. Some persons were thrown out of bed in nearby units of the Cedar Springs housing project.

The explosion occurred in a one-story, six-apartment building.

Injured were taken to Parkland hospital.

Bob Smith, 20, a navy man home on leave and occupying a front apartment, said: "I don't know what happened."

"It suddenly went blooie. I was knocked out for about 15 minutes," Smith suffered facial cuts.

Judge Must Decide If Child to Be With Whites or Negroes

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — State Supreme Court Justice Alger A. Williams was faced Tuesday with deciding whether a child of mixed white and Negro parents will be brought up in a white or Negro neighborhood.

The case arose over attempts of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Marshall to regain custody of their five-year-old daughter, Mary, who now lives with her maternal grandparents, Marshall has Irish, Cherokee Indian and Negro ancestry.

Justice Williams said the question of whether the light complexioned child will be brought up white or Negro is only one factor in the case. But, he added, it is an important one and "we can't kick it aside."

He reserved decision Monday after a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus and referred the facts to the city probation department for investigation. Probation officers, he said, will inform him of the relative ability of the Marshalls and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Freitas, to bring up the child.

The child, meanwhile, remains with the grandparents, with whom she has lived since she was six months old.

The Marshalls claim they can provide a good home for Mary and give her a Christian upbringing. Mrs. Freitas says her daughter is "unfit to rear the child."

Soviets Demand Recall Of Slav Ambassador, Charge He Spied

Text Banned For Passage On Socialism

HOUSTON, TEX. (AP) — Houston's school board has banned a "best seller" civics textbook because its 1947 edition said the United States has "strong socialist and even Communist trends."

But Attorney Irving Welein, board member who had the book banned, said Tuesday night the city's high school students will have to go ahead studying the book — at least temporarily. He said no other texts were available. Besides, this year's classes already have studied the portion declared objectionable.

"We can't very well leave the children without any sort of a book," he added.

The text, by Dr. Frank Magruder, retired Oregon State history professor, has been used by Houston's 2,221 senior high school civics students.

Published by Allyn and Bacon of Boston, the book is described by Charles Bacon, senior partner of the company as a "best seller" in its field and in use in both army and navy service schools.

With one negative vote, the school board Monday night moved to ban the book. Welein said he feared the paragraph might cause youngsters "to think socialism and communism are good."

He declined to say who called the paragraph to his attention.

In Boston, Bacon said, the paragraph to which the board objected is in an old edition; that the 1949 edition is "entirely different."

Dr. Magruder, 67, was away from his home at Corvallis, Ore. but his wife told the Houston Chronicle by telephone: "It looks like somebody is on a witch hunt." He retired from active teaching two years ago and now spends his time working on his books.

U.S. Vice-Consul Hurl; Columbian Toll Mounts

CALI, COLUMBIA (AP) — Continued political clashes in Valle province were reported Tuesday to have resulted in a dozen additional deaths, bringing the unofficial death toll for the week-end to 53.

United States Vice-Consul Earl R. Michalka was struck by a stray bullet and suffered a slight leg wound.

Peace was restored in Cali, the provincial capital, scene of bloody riots in the past three days, but new disorders were reported in scattered communities.

No More Trees for Christmas

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — The post office stood pat Tuesday night on its decision that the postmistress at Christmas, Fla., must quit stamping tiny green Christmas trees and yuletide slogans on holiday mail.

Mrs. Juanita Tucker, the postmistress, has been putting the little green trees on mail sent out at Christmas for many years. Her rubber-stamped trees, sitting in rubber-stamped tubs and lit with rubber stamped candles, didn't change much from one year to the next. But each season Mrs. Tucker stamped a new slogan beneath them.

Czech Loyalty Oath O.K.'d for Catholics

PRAGUE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA (AP) — Czechoslovak Roman Catholic bishops gave ground in the church-state fight Tuesday. They said priests may swear loyalty to the Communist government and accept government salaries — with reservations.

President Klement Gottwald named his Communist son-in-law, Justice Minister Alexei Cepicka, to head the cabinet office set up by recently enacted laws to control church finances, appointments, administration and pay.

Cepicka has declared that opponents of the laws will be "broken as an enemy of the state."

The bishops took their new priests to stay out of jail. Church sources report that nearly 300 priests already have been put behind bars for opposing the church legislation.

The statement was signed by the 11 bishops of the church, headed by Archbishop Josef Matocha, temporary chairman of the bishops' council. But it was not signed by Archbishop Josef Beran, primate of Czechoslovakia, who says he has been interned in his palace since June 19, when Communist heeklers drove him from his pulpit.

(At Vatican City unofficial sources said the concessions were made on superficial matters so as not to endanger the church's spiritual mission. These sources doubted, however, that new negotiations would be undertaken on a state-church agreement without a change in the government's attitude. The sources said negotiations for a concordat would have to be directly with the Vatican.)

The new church law requires the clergy to take an oath "that I shall be loyal to the Czechoslovak republic and its people's democratic regime and shall not do anything which would be against its interests, security and unity."

The bishops said priests, in taking this oath, should add the oral or written reservation "unless it is a contradiction to the laws of God and the church and the rights of man."

Church sources previously had reported that more than 80 percent of the clergy would rather go to jail than accept government salaries.

Cepicka, 37, and known as one of the country's most ardent Communists, is listed in parliamentary records as a Catholic.

He led the government's fight to control the church here and steered the control legislation through parliament. He has publicly called the Vatican an "enemy foreign state" and declared excommunication of Communists illegal.

Cepicka will be empowered to dismiss any priest whose Czechoslovak citizenship is questionable and to investigate the eligibility of priests and pastors now in office to determine whether they "fulfill legal requirements."

Russians Reported Massing in Balkans

LONDON (AP) — A western intelligence agent, just back from the Balkans, said Tuesday that Russia is massing troops in eastern Europe in an effort to crush a vast underground movement which has murdered many minor officials in recent weeks.

Informed British sources estimate that the Russians have moved about 235,000 troops into satellite countries in the past few months. Some sources had believed the troop concentrations were a threat to "excommunicated" Yugoslavia.

Coal Crisis Might Cut Water Supply

CHICAGO (AP) — Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt said Tuesday that the coal supply for Chicago water pumping stations is critically short.

"I'm not shouting calamity," he said, "but I'm sweating out a critical situation."

Some stations have only a 15-day supply, he said. The Chicago water system serves 4,146,000 in the area.

Countries' Tie Reported Near Breaking Point

LONDON (Wednesday) (AP) — Strained diplomatic relations between the Soviet Union and Marshal Tito moved closer to a breaking point today as Russia demanded the recall of the Yugoslav ambassador to Moscow.

A radio Moscow broadcast said the Kremlin had demanded removal of Yugoslav Ambassador Karlo Mrazovic on grounds he had spied against Russia. The demand was handed to the Yugoslav embassy in Moscow by the Soviet foreign ministry Tuesday, the broadcast said.

Dispatches from Belgrade said news of the Soviet's latest action in its battle against the defiant Tito was received just before dawn.

Moscow charged that during the recent Budapest trial of former Hungarian Foreign Minister Laszlo Rajk it was established that "the present Yugoslav ambassador in the USSR, Mrazovic, had for a long time engaged in spying and subversive activities against the Soviet Union."

It added that he also had made "slanderous fabrications" against the Soviet Union in the Yugoslav press.

Mrazovic presently is in Belgrade. He returned there shortly after Russia denounced its 20-year treaty of friendship and mutual assistance with Yugoslavia last month.

Russia has not had an ambassador in Belgrade since it relieved A. A. Lavrentiev of his duties and named him a deputy foreign minister last August. The Russian embassy staff in Belgrade is headed by a charge d'affaires.

Labor Government Downfall Demanded; Economy Criticized

LONDON (AP) — Three parties — Conservatives, Liberals and Independent Leftists — called Prime Minister Attlee's economy program too timid Tuesday night and demanded the downfall of his labor government.

Attlee went to Buckingham palace for a private audience with King George. It was his second audience in eight days. The first was before he announced he had no intention of calling a general election this year.

The house of commons is to vote on four motions Thursday after a two-day debate on the economy program announced Monday at a 25 percent cut in dollar spending for imports and an eight percent cut in the government budget outlay for the year.

That program already has drawn down on Attlee the hardest criticism from the press since he took office in 1945. Critics said Attlee's economy was "too little and too late."

The first motion is by Attlee, demanding a vote of confidence.

The second is an amendment by Winston Churchill's Conservatives, declaring the government is "taking no sufficient measures" to prevent inflation and restore the national credit abroad.

The third is by the Liberal party's 10 members in the house of commons. It "condemns the inadequacy" of the Attlee program.

The fourth is a motion of censure by the independent labor group — a half dozen left wingers ousted from the labor party — which objects to the mere four percent slash in the outlay for defense.

The leftists demanded a 400-million-pound ($1,120-million) trimming of the armed budget — contrasted with the 30-million-pound ($84-million) reduction ordered by Attlee.

On Sept. 18 Britain devalued the pound from $4.03 to $2.80 with the object of fattening export trade by the slash in the dollar value of her goods. Attlee defeated a vote of no-confidence, 350 to 212 in the battle over devaluation Sept. 28. It equalled the biggest opposition vote in the eight times the government had staked its life on an issue.

Legality of Parlay Cards Questioned

ILLEGAL PARLAY CARDS? These are the parlay cards Alderman Wilber J. Teeters claimed Monday had apparently been used for gambling on the Iowa-Northwestern football game last Saturday. City Atty. William H. Bartley Monday night told the city council he will confer with County Atty. Jack C. White concerning football parlay cards allegedly distributed in Iowa City. Teeters said he understood a syndicate came here and sold the cards to Iowa City business men and that thousands of dollars changed hands after Saturday's game.

Dangerous Freedom? —

The Communists trial that ended last week provides a court answer to an old question, "Where does freedom of speech become dangerous?"

Apparently, Judge Harold Medina's trial showed that it is inconsistent for the U.S. government to allow the use of freedoms and immunities guaranteed under our constitution in an attempt to enslave that government.

Medina said that if the 11 convicted Communists had advocated, by peaceful means, any changes in the government, had criticized the President or had publicly expressed their views on any subject, they would not have been brought to trial.

In his charge to the jury, Medina emphasized that the guaranty of freedom of speech does involve some limitations.

The Communists were on trial because they had plotted the violent overthrow of our government. However, they tried to prove that the Communist party was a political organization and that the defendants were politicians. The government spent over $500,000, used 35 witnesses and 332 exhibits in an attempt to make that point.

Seven former Communists testified that the Communist party had laid plans for overthrowing our government. Many persons believe that the former sympathizers' testimony is what turned the course of the lawsuit.

At one point during the lengthy trial—it lasted nine months—Herbert A. Philbrick testified that the party's chief objective was violence, Philbrick is an ex-Communist.

When Philbrick's testimony was heard, the Communists claimed "unfair surprise."

The trial was not only the longest in U.S. history, but it was unusual because the Communists were given the chance to speak their piece whenever they wanted.

They abused that privilege so much by outbursts, taunts and attacks against the U.S. judicial system that Judge Medina sentenced six defense lawyers to jail terms. Medina claimed 82 contempt of court violations.

The convicted Communists were each fined $10,000 and given prison terms.

In view of trials in the Russian satellites, the U.S. trial hardly smacks of police state tactics. Hungary's recent trial of Laszlo Rajk lasted six days and resulted in a death sentence.

Cardinal Mindzenty received less than a square deal in his trial. Andrei Vishinsky summed up the U.S. trials in typical fashion. He called it "a violation of human rights." Human rights in Russia could be dangerous—to the Russians.

The Booming Voice —

As work stoppages induced by a double-barreled steel-coal strike creep across the nation, it becomes more and more apparent that we are living in a decade where organized labor is making itself heard. Steel shortages have caused many subsidiary plants to close. The government has requested the railroads to burn less coal. Ford has announced assembly-line production will end around Nov. 11 if more steel is not made available.

Four million persons are now idle; another million will probably be idled in two or three weeks.

John L. Lewis has joined forces with a heretofore enemy, Phil Murray, in an alliance that will provide cash for striking steelworkers.

Before we heed any "down with the unions chant," however, it might do well to look at what has gone before. In 1933, after a period of years when business was almost sole occupant of the up-front seat, 14-million persons were jobless and the nation was in the midst of its worst depression.

Then followed several years of recovery, and when the markets were once more saturated, the inevitable lay-offs began in 1939. The war cut short what amounted to a mild depression, and "plush" times were with us once again.

Certainly, the booming voice of organized labor occasionally works a hardship on just about all of us. Sometimes, the very purpose of a strike is defeated by long periods of idleness, where the worker spends his savings and the union funds hit rock bottom.

But on the evidence of what has gone before, we can hardly condemn what is now occurring. Labor has the power. It is probably overusing its power. Maybe in a few years we will look back on "labor's decade" and its consequences with the same solemnity with which we survey the period of the late 20's and early 30's.

Until that time, we may as well relax. You can't please everyone all of the time.

Interpreting the News —

Tomorrow Is Another Day On French Political Scene

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

For France, as far as politics are concerned, tomorrow can always be another day. As this is written, Georges Bidault is attempting to form another government. Tomorrow another French leader may be attempting to do the same thing.

The French have been without a government since Oct. 6, when Henri Queuille quit. His government had run the show for 13 months, the longest time any French group had stayed in power since the end of the war. Since Oct. 6 three men have tried to set up a new government — Jules Moch, Rene Mayer, now Georges Bidault.

The worry for us Americans is that we have poured billions into France since the war in the hope of getting a stable, anti-Communist government. We would like to stop our help by 1952, but Marshall planners say that every French political upheaval, such as is doing on now, makes that deadline more unlikely.

French soil is not considered an important anti-Communist beach-head by some people — not all — in both the state department and the defense department.

What is the trouble?

STATE DEPARTMENT men, the French embassy, Marshall planners all agree there is only one top problem right now — French prices have risen so much faster than French wages. Trade union leaders don't like it, and workers don't like it. They want higher wages the minute prices threaten to go higher.

In the past few months two things have occurred to drive French prices upward:
1. There was a drought this year. French farms produced less. Food prices threaten to go upward.

2. The French government devalued the franc, at the same time the British cut the value of their pound. That will mean France must pay more for everything it buys here, and Frenchmen will have to pay more for every product that contains American raw materials.

If French working people want higher wages they must go to their government for them on basic goods because the government still sets both wages and some prices. There is still no free collective bargaining for labor unions.

Also — and this is an old

French evil that French laboring people understand only too well — the French income tax system is very weak. Frenchmen do not pay their government in the same, sure way that Americans pay.

SINCE 1946 French governments have been caught by this race between prices and wages. Queuille's government fell on Oct. 6 partly because this year's farm crop was not so good, and prices rise threaten.

But French prices have to take a real cut to satisfy the Americans who are watching Marshall plan funds in France. They want the French to sell more here so they can be earning their way by 1952.

If French political wrangles go on until a government that permits a wage increase comes to power French prices will probably go up again, and French sales abroad will not increase.

That means more trouble in meeting the American deadline of 1952, when France will no longer get free American cotton, coal, tobacco, etc.

TO THE EDITOR:

Whenever the Sycamore family emerges from the felicity to which it abandons itself between productions of "You Can't Take It With You," there is always someone who begins to worry about the social and economic implications of the play, after the manner of Mr. Wolfson in the Letters to the Editor of Oct. 25.

This is a natural reaction on the part of anyone belonging to the life-in-earnest school, an institution whose members are numerous and to be respected.

But it remains to be considered whether good comedy concerns itself with the problems of life, socio-economic or otherwise.

On the occasion of the original production, Brooks Atkinson in the New York Times took note of the "carping of the neighborhood intellectual," finding himself in grave agreement with that individual.

"It is to be feared," Atkinson wrote, "that neither the authors nor the characters in the play are boldly facing the grave facts of life." After this admission, Atkinson goes on to say that "You Can't Take It With You" is the best comedy written by Mr. Kaufman and Mr. Hart.

And, indeed, many audiences have laughed through countless professional and amateur productions of the play since the evening in December, 1936, when Penny first went back to her war play, when Grandpa Vanderhof first revealed his predilection for Columbia commencements, and when the Grand Duchess first repeated the advice of the Czar about not being stingy with the blintzes.

It would seem as though the business of a comedy were something else than a preoccupation with social and economic implications.

A comedy may very well concern itself with life, in other words, but hardly with life's problems. There are other dramatic media to which the problem can be left.

On the basis of the present evidence, it may be inferred that the interest of Kaufman and Hart went no further than the composition of a comedy, and if a reviewer evaluates their play in terms of its success as comedy, he has done his duty.

If it is any comfort to the earnest thinker, whom, after all, everyone respects, there is always Aristotle's definition of comedy as "an imitation of those who are worse than ourselves, yet not in every sort of evil way but only in that baseness of which the ridiculous is a species."

"For the laughable is a sort of fault and deformity that is painless and not deadly..."

Several Phone-y's Frustrate Firemen

LONG BEACH (AP)—The 17-man Los Alamitos volunteer fire department may cease to volunteer if those false alarms don't cease.

There's nobody to watch the telephone all day so, by arrangement with the telephone company, whenever anyone dials the volunteers a siren is set off, and every last man of them jumps out of bed or leaves whatever he's doing and rushes to the station.

There's one catch, however. The telephone is part of the Long Beach extended system and people in Long Beach, Wilmington, Compton, Bellflower, Hynes and other towns can dial the station without charge. Whenever they call up to ask the date of the next Elks' picnic the siren sounds and the volunteer laddies rush for the station.

The 50th false alarm in 10 months sounded Tuesday.

By GIL PEARLMAN

THE ICE has been broken for the present semester. I've had my first departmental examination. Need I say more?

I probably don't need to say more, but I will. I can't help it. There is something about the first examination that stimulates discussion.

I suppose the proper time to begin a discussion of this type is the night before the exam itself. That's when the studying begins.

There is an entirely different atmosphere that pervades the confines of the student's room and mind on the eve of a question and answer period.

All engagements for cokes and movies are immediately cancelled. They would have been cancelled sooner, but the time anticipated as adequate for review study is always a gross under-estimation. The afternoon usually passes before you even find your lecture notes.

When I finally found my lecture notes I discovered that half of them were missing. I then remembered that I had loaned them to an exceedingly brilliant student who sits next to me in class.

His own notes were of little use to him, since he had taken them in shorthand. Possessing no knowledge whatsoever of shorthand, he found it difficult to read what he had written. Nevertheless, he continued under this system because he felt the time saved in writing compensated for his lack of understanding.

THE OTHER HALF of my notes I should have loaned. I couldn't read them. Diffused with words taken from the English language were a series of x's and o's.

I should mention here that the fellow who sits on the other side of me is a graduate student who has a mania for playing tit-tat-toe. The score up to date is: Bob—63, Me—0. Give me time, though, I'm not completely familiar with the rules of the game.

Being thusly trapped I turned to the books for the course. I hate to do this since they were new and I didn't want to crack the binding and soil the pages, but who has a choice?

In the middle of my crucial studying a friend called to tell me that he had devised a special system for said examination.

After five months of studying the behavior and physical characteristics of the Australian ostrich he was able to stretch his neck four seats to the left, which is approximately the sitting location of Betty, a four point student.

The next day I arrived at Schaeffer hall ready as I could be for the test. After reading the first question I realized it would have been just as well if I hadn't cancelled the engagement for that movie.

THE FIRST question read:
1. "Now" said Horace.
Fill out the above quotation. Define, give source and author and discuss in relation with question four.

At first I figured I was in the wrong classroom. However, when I saw the guy with the knowledge about the ostrich and the guy with no knowledge about shorthand racing through with apparent ease I knew I was in the right classroom — only with the wrong answers.

Only one thing I now know for sure. I must develop a new method of studying before the next examination in this particular course. Having little aptitude for animal biology I think I'll start taking my notes in shorthand.

Burning Not Advised To Kill Corn Borers
AMES (AP) — Burning cornstalks is not recommended as a means of getting rid of corn borers, Harold Gunderson, extension entomologist at Iowa State college, said Tuesday.

Burning costs too much, doesn't kill enough borers, organic matter and fertilizer are destroyed and the practice promotes erosion, Gunderson said.

He reported that raking and burning costs more than a dollar an acre and that only 50 percent of the borers are killed by that method.

Council Bluffs 'Slots' Removed

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP)—Council Bluffs charities were feeling the absence of slot machines Tuesday less than 24 hours after they disappeared from private clubs.

The Council Bluffs Non Pariel said removal of the slots Monday was attributed to a crack-down order, but no local official would admit giving the order. The Non Pariel quoted one source as saying he understood the order came from Attorney General Robert Larson; other clubs planned to keep tab on other cities to see if the so-called crackdown is general.

First effect of the loss of slot machine revenue came in the withdrawal of financial support of the city-wide Halloween party. Milton H. Etherton, assistant police chief and co-chairman of the city-wide party, said the Elks and the American Legion had withdrawn their financial assistance. They have in the past given $100 each for the party which is underwritten financially by the Moose lodge. Etherton said the party would go on, however.

Harold Stipp, local legion post commander was emphatic: "I suggest that the newspapers make up the donation. The club can no longer give," he said. Stipp blamed newspapers for the slot machine crackdown.

BRITISH DEBT
LONDON (AP) — Britain owes the United States $4,779,000,000 the government made known Tuesday. Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer, gave a breakdown in a written answer to a question in the house of commons.

SUI Pair Live in Old World Atmosphere

Pink Panels, Green Walls Add Contrast

An old world atmosphere in a new world setting. That's the feature of the basement apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ian Crabb, 436 Lexington avenue. Crabb is a liberal arts senior majoring in economics. Mrs. Crabb is a 1949 SUI graduate.

A "Hollandell-Sweedish" scheme dominates the rooms. Antique green wood walls are emphasized by light pink panels with hand-painted floral decorations of green and a dark rose.

A built-in bunk-type sofa below the west window in the room is emphasized by scalloped woodwork. To the left and right of this are two closets, the doors of which are effectively hidden by the contrasting floral decoration of pink on antique green.

Shelves have been built in above the bunk to hold some of the Crabbs' wedding gifts—books, record albums, and Mrs. Crabb's new hobby, her demitasse cups.

The fireplace on the northwest side of the room promises to be useful with winter approaching. It combines brick with wood.

Shelves above the fireplace are effective settings for some of the Crabbs' antiques and their royal doulton mugs from Scotland. A burnished copper teakettle belonging to Crabb's great-grandmother and his grandmother's fireplace tongs, were brought from Scotland.

A plaid robe, also from Scotland, adds another old world touch to the room. It serves as a cover for the studio couch-bed opposite the fireplace.

Unusual lighting fixtures add contrast to the rest of the room. Crabb has wired a brown earthen jug for electricity, planted ivy in it, and added a gay chinz shade.

Other lamps, including the overhead fixtures add a metallic effect to the room.

fect to the room. This is picked up and emphasized by the copper type hangings on the walls.

Dutch doors give a foreign touch to the apartment. These are in antique green with a floral design and contrast with the solid antique green north and south walls.

A tiny efficiency kitchen off the east side of the room may be isolated completely by sliding doors which open above the bar. High stools give the gay green and pink floral decorated bar a realistic appearance. The arrangement proves helpful when Mrs. Crabb entertains.

Wedding china, belonging to Crabb's grandmother, has an effective setting in the apartment. Special plate rails hold the dishes in a vertical position above the bar and also above the two west closets.

Gay drapes and curtains are a special attraction of the apartment. Red floral kitchen curtains blend with the canister set and dinnerware which rest on a small triangular open shelf. Blue and white horizontal striped drapes pull out to cover the three windows in the combination living and dining room.

The basement apartment features inlaid linoleum floors with gay throw rugs. The ceiling, of unpainted wood, has contrasting pink floral decorated panels.

The laundry unit, shower room, and an extra storage closet are just off the hall which leads into the apartment's main room.

SERVING COKES to Martha Fry, A4, Oklahoma City, and Tom Maine, A4, Estherville, are Mr. and Mrs. Ian Crabb, 436 Lexington avenue. He is a senior economics major. She is a 1949 SUI graduate. Sliding doors above the bar in their basement apartment isolate the kitchen from the rest of the room, and are a helpful arrangement when the Crabbs entertain. Plate rails above the bar hold wedding china which belonged to Ian's grandmother. The entire scheme in the apartment is Hollandell-Sweedish.

Engineer to Discuss Stream-Purification At Tri-City Meeting

Prof. M. C. Boyer, SUI mechanics and hydraulics department will talk tonight in Rock Island on the general problem of neglected river pollution in America.

Members of the Tri-Cities region of the American Society of Civil Engineers will hear Boyer give first hand information about the nation's largest stream-purification undertaking.

Boyer worked the past summer on the gigantic Schuylkill river (Pennsylvania) project. The river is Philadelphia's water source.

Boyer said $35-million is being spent on removing anthracite (hard) coal waste from the river. Another $50 to $60-million, he said, will be spent on purifying sewage, and municipal and industrial waste sources presently contaminating the river.

Boyer said he hopes the Pennsylvania project will awake the need for similar, but less costly projects throughout the country.

The Iowa Transit, SUI college of engineering magazine, will publish a full report on the project in a future issue.

Boyer is a resident engineer at the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research. For 21 years, he has been on the water resources division of the United States geological survey.

Tailfeathers to Show Movies of Football

Movies of the Iowa - Northwestern football game will be shown at 4:30 p.m. Friday in Macbride auditorium by Tailfeathers, SUI's official pep club.

President E. K. Jones urged all students to come and watch "Herky the Hawk" trounce "Willie the Wildcat."

Price of admission to the movies will be 10 cents to cover the cost of showing the film. Tailfeathers may use their membership cards for admission. Jones said

Miss Grote to Wed

THE ENGAGEMENT of Patricia Grote, graduate nurse, to Dr. Killian N. Kruse, SUI graduate in dentistry, has been announced by the bride-elect's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Grote, Yellow Springs, Ohio. Miss Grote graduated in 1945 from the college of nursing and health at the University of Cincinnati. Dr. Kruse is the son of Mrs. Catharine Kruse, St. Lucas. He has been with the department of oral surgery at University hospitals since his graduation in 1947 and is affiliated with Delta Sigma Delta, dental fraternity. The couple will be married at 9 a.m. Saturday morning in St. Thomas More chapel.

Town 'n' Campus

ALPHA XI DELTA MOTHERS' CLUB — The Alpha Xi Delta Mothers' club will meet Thursday at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. W.F. Merriam, 1225 Muscutine avenue. Assisting her will be Mrs. Clark Tanberg, Mrs. Thomas Reese will give a book review.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE STUDENT ORGANIZATION — The Christian Science Students' organization will hold its weekly meeting at 6:45 p.m. today in the little chapel of the Congregational church.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS AUXILIARY — The installation of officers and a potluck supper will be the program for the Spanish War Veterans auxiliary meeting Thursday at the courthouse at 2:30 p.m. Hostesses for the supper will be Mrs. Cassie Switzle and Mrs. Ethel Yavorsky.

IOWA CITY REBEKAH LODGE NO. 416 — The west branch of the Rebekah lodge will be in charge of a Halloween party at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Odd Fellows hall. Presiding at the business meeting will be Mrs. Gilbert Capps.

UNIVERSITY HOSPITALS RESIDENTS' WIVES CLUB — The University hospitals residents' Wives club will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Community building. Mrs. E.T. Hubbard will be guest speaker. Special guests at the meeting will be wives of interns. Chairman for the meeting is Mrs. Richard Norton. Serving with her will be Mrs. Archie Coffee, Mrs. Donald Mirick, Mrs. William Baird, Mrs. John Sulzbach, Mrs. Roy Philipps, Mrs. Bruce Marshall, and Mrs. A.B. Hendricks.

Personal Notes

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John F. Corso, 132 Westlawn park, Monday in University hospitals.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard G. Carlson, 415 E. Church street, are the parents of a 7-pound 10 ounce daughter. The baby was born at Mercy hospital Saturday.

Five men were initiated into Phi Kappa Sigma, social fraternity, Sunday morning. They are Harlan Bainter, A2, Mt. Pleasant; Howard Moldenhauer, A2, Charles City; Joe Stark, C3, Mamaroneck, N.Y.; Frank Camp, A3, West Union, and Bill Snook, A2, Freeport, Ill.

THE FIREPLACE in the Crabbs' basement apartment is an effective setting for some of their family antiques. The burnished copper teakettle belonged to Ian's great-grandmother, the fireplace tongs to his grandmother. Both these and the royal doulton mugs are from Scotland. The furnished apartment combines antique green and light pink wood with contrasting hand-painted floral decorations.

Robert Gage Plans To Attend Meeting

The problems and projects of business men in Big Ten college towns will be discussed this week in Chicago at a meeting of chamber of commerce secretaries from those towns.

Robert Gage, Iowa City chamber secretary, will leave today for the two-day meeting to be held at the LaSalle hotel Thursday and Friday.

Gage said Tuesday that subject to be considered will include student parking regulations, law enforcement, retail promotions, store hours and the taxation problem created by large areas of untaxable state university property.

Chest Fund Drive Hits $20,000 Mark; $6,000 Shy of Goal

The Iowa City community chest headed into the last lap of its $26,045.74 journey Tuesday as contributions totalled more than $20,000.

General Chairman Graham C. Marshall said $921 from the business and professional division and from national firms represented in Iowa City had been banked by noon Tuesday. Several hundred dollars awaited processing by workers at chest headquarters.

Contributions of the various divisions to date, and the percentage of their goals attained, follow:

Business and Professional	$7,844.40	66%
Residential	3,709.79	112%
U. hospitals	1,684.75	108%
National firms	2,921.00	89%
University faculty	3,329.00	79%
City schools	398.50	51%

Three-Firm Combine Buys Bonds Issued For School Building

A three-company syndicate bought the $182,000 bond issue, financing the Lincoln and Longfellow school additions, at a meeting of the Iowa City school board Tuesday.

Richard J. Gadjent, Davenport, represented the three firms: Quail and company, Davenport; Becker and Cowrie, and Wheelock and Cummins, both of Des Moines. The winning companies bid an interest rate of one and three-fourths percent per year, plus a premium of $1,825.

Art Student to Talk On Old Manuscript

"Tres Riches Heures de Chantilly," an illuminated manuscript dating back to the early 15th century, will be discussed by Earl Mueller, graduate student in the art department, at 4:30 p.m. today in the Art auditorium.

The manuscript is a medieval "Book of Hours" written and illustrated by hand for private collections of wealthy persons of the early Renaissance period.

"It is one of the most beautiful manuscripts in existence," Prof. William Heckscher said.

Mueller's talk, accompanied by color slides, is second in a series of lectures by graduate students on subjects related to each speaker's area of interest.

Lectures will include art history, theory, aesthetics and psychology, and will be tailored to the tastes of persons who are "intelligent but not initiated," according to Heckscher, faculty sponsor.

Stranger Gets Fine For Street Begging

Fred Mullins, address unknown, was fined $12.50 in police court Tuesday morning on a charge of begging in the street.

Police Judge Emil G. Trott suspended the fine on the condition Mullins leave town.

William Hannah, 410 S. Clinton street, was fined $12.50 for failing to stop for a red light.

The police docket showed 46 persons were fined $82 Monday for parking violations. Five cases were dismissed and one person chose to work out his fine. Three persons elected to have their cars checked for safety.

Policemen Start Sale Of Benefit Ball Tickets

Tickets went on sale Tuesday for the 10th annual policemen's benefit ball, to be held Nov. 8 in the community building.

Music will be furnished by Stan Stanley and his orchestra. Tickets may be purchased for $1 a person from any policeman.

Gold Prospector's Rush to Alaska

GOLD PROSPECTORS, their equipment and plane, arrived on Discovery island Monday from nearby Fairbanks, Alaska, to join a search for gold at an island fishwife reported found last Friday. They are (left to right) Charles Biderman, Earl Hirst, J. M. Magoffin and Sam Gambling.

Tiffin Club Owners May Face Charges

County Atty. Jack C. White Tuesday said charges will be filed in connection with raids Monday night on Johnson county night spots as soon as more information is obtained.

Nine slot machines were confiscated from two highway night-spots when Johnson county officials raided "Club 88" and "Ralph's Place", Monday.

The taverns are in Tiffin, eight miles west of Iowa City on highway 6.

Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy said Tuesday the night spots were raided after he learned slot machines recently had been installed there.

Six county officers participated in the raids. No arrests were made.

Model Airplane Fans Plan to Attend Show

Plans to attend a model airplane show at Davenport on Sunday will be considered by Iowa City model airplane enthusiasts in a meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at Hobby Harbor, 210 N. Linn street.

Lawrence Conover, president of the Iowa City Gas Hawks, said the meeting at Davenport's Mount Joy airport will be attended by members of the Illinois - Iowa Aeronautical association.

The association has 10 member clubs, Conover said, and the Iowa City club has 14 members, mostly adults.

STEERS HIT HIGH

CHICAGO (U) — Prime steers soared to $40 a hundred pounds at Chicago and Omaha Tuesday for another new high price of the year.

Three to Represent SUI in Competition

Three SUI students will compete Dec. 6 with students from colleges throughout the state for two positions open as state representatives to district competition for Rhodes scholarships.

William Eads, A3, Ida Grove; Myron Lunine, A3, Reading, Pa., and William Walter, A2, Council Bluffs have been chosen to represent SUI.

Four students will be chosen from the district competition, which will include students from colleges in Missouri, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas and South Dakota. Thirty-two U.S. students will be awarded Rhodes scholarships.

Soloists to Present Goethe Song Poems Over WSUI Tonight

Songs based on Goethe poems will be presented on the music hour in Studio E of the engineering building at 8 p.m. today.

Prof. Herald Stark, tenor and head of SUI's vocal music, will open the program with three songs by Schubert, "Wanderer's Nachtlied," "So Lasst mich Schneinen" and "Wer sich der Einsamkeit ergibt."

Mrs. Philip G. Clapp, soprano, will sing "Gretchen at the Spinning Wheel" and "Mignon's Song" by Schubert and "Knowest Thou The Land" and "The King of Thule," by Liszt.

Stark will return to sing "Nur Wer die Sehnsucht Kennt" by Tschaiakovsky, "Wanderer's Nachtlied" by Liszt and "Talisman" by Schumann.

Paschal Monk, baritone, will sing five songs by Schubert, "Geheimes," "Rastlose Liebe," "Meeres Stille," "Schafers Klage" and "Der Musensohn."

Stark will then conclude the program by singing "Wonne der Wehmut" by Franz, "Anacreons Grab" and "Hochbegluekt in deiner Liebe" by Wolf.

Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of SUI's music department, will accompany the soloists. The program will be broadcast over WSUI.

Seven SUI Doctors To Attend Meeting

Seven physicians from the SUI department of internal medicine will attend a meeting of the Central Society for Clinical Research in Chicago Nov. 4 and 5, college of medicine officials said Tuesday.

Dr. W.B. Bean, head of the department of internal medicine, and Dr. Murray Franklin, instructor in the department, will present papers at the meeting.

Other SUI doctors who will attend are W. M. Fowler, E. L. DeGowin, L. E. January, T. L. Carr and W. M. Kirkendall.

Spare Time Jobs Listed for Students

More available jobs than SUI students to fill them is the situation now facing the student placement bureau.

Manager Robert Ballantyne Tuesday said for the first time in several weeks more odd-jobs have been listed with his office by Iowa Citizens than he has been able to fill with student help. Most of the jobs are for raking leaves and installing storm windows.

He added that three board jobs are open for SUI students who come in to apply for them.

The decrease in student requests for odd-jobs might be because of the cold weather the last few days, he said.

Students to Travel To Wisconsin Tilt

Eight 37-passenger buses will be used to transport students to the Wisconsin - Iowa football game at Madison Nov. 12, Phil Spelman, depot agent, said Tuesday.

Spelman announced four of the buses will leave on Friday, the day before the game. These will carry the Scottish Highlanders and other students.

The following morning, four busloads of students will leave from the depot. The entire fleet of buses is to return late Saturday night.

Spelman said the trip will cause no special tie-up at the depot.

City Park Landscaping Project Nears Completion

The landscaping job on the west exit of City park is underway, Park Commissioner Francis Suplee said Tuesday.

Workmen will widen the street at the west exit, affording a better view to the motorist. The small bluffs flanking the driveway are being cut down and the dirt used to level low spots in the area.

Suplee said workmen hope to have the project completed by the end of this week.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHITNEY BOLTON discloses this bit of Hollywood lore. "While toiling in the employ of David Selznick, I received an urgent memo from him one morning which read, 'Must have a new name for Phyllis Isley Walker by Monday.' I forgot about it until I was driving my little boy to school, on my way to the studio, on Monday morning, and he began singing a kid song which goes 'We've come to see Miss Jenny Jones, Miss Jenny Jones, Miss Jenny Jones...'

"That did it. I sent this memo to Mr. S.: 'After long hours of thought, I have evolved a provocative and memorable name. It combines an unusual first name with a plain second one. It is strange, off-beat, and not easily forgotten. Jennifer Jones! I feel so strongly about this I will not clutter up your time with further useful suggestions.' Need I add that Mr. Selznick agreed with me?"

"Hey, mom," said a kid on the crowded East Side, "can Willie and me each have an apple?" "I should say not," his mother replied. "You boys seem to think apples grow on trees!"

Truman Gets Strike Report, Shuns Taking Hand in Crisis

President Truman received a full report on the deadlocked and worsening steel and coal strike Tuesday. The White House, however, said he still hasn't made any plans to take a personal hand in trying to settle the walkouts.

There was some speculation, however, that Mr. Truman may call the steel industry management and labor leaders to a white house conference later this week.

Snuffles of both coal and steel dwindled, forcing a tightening of the national belt. Arrival of cold weather underscored the critical shortage of coal.

Cyrus S. Ching, head of the federal mediation service, said no progress had been made toward settlement of either the coal or steel dispute.

In the steel strike, Irving S. Olds, chairman of United States Steel Corp., said he couldn't see an end of the steel strike "immediately in sight." He told newsmen "the public should remember that it was called by Philip Murray, the president of the union."

But that wasn't the way the CIO's 51-member executive board saw it, though. The board pledged "full moral, organizational and financial support in this strike which the steel industry, on orders from wall street, has forced upon the steelworkers and the American people."

The coal strike principals were quieter than those in the steel crisis, but just as deadlocked.

A direct appeal to President Truman to do something about ending the coal strike was made by J. Atlee Schafer, president of the American Retail Coal Association. He said in a telegram that thousands of people in hundreds of communities are unable to buy coal with which to heat their houses. He pointed out that cold weather is on the way and declared a national emergency exists.

The coal strike was responsible also for widespread cuts in the operation of coal-burning passenger trains effective at midnight Tuesday. The cut was made on order of the Interstate Commerce commission as a coal-saving measure. The order applied to coal-burning passenger equipment whose operation was to be curtailed 25 percent by roads which have 25 days' or less coal supply.

Louis Neumiller, president of Caterpillar Tractor company, Peoria, Ill., said a number of his 25,000 employees must be laid off and the work week of others shortened because raw steel supplies are running out.

The Norfolk and Western Railway company reported a decrease of 80.79 percent in the road's net operating income in September and blamed it on the coal strike. The carrier is mainly a coal hauler.

Another steel fabricating company accepted the steelworkers' demands for a 10-cents-an-hour insurance - pension package in conformance with a presidential fact-finding board recommendation.

Defense Meeting 'Harmonious'

WASHINGTON — The U.S. joint chiefs of staff held their first meeting Tuesday since their bitter public row over defense policies, and Chairman Gen. Omar N. Bradley said the session was "harmonious."

The nation's high military command met for three-and-a-quarter hours amid speculation that a shakeup among the navy's top admirals is imminent.

The speculation was heightened when President Truman conferred before the joint chiefs' meeting with Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson and Secretary of the Navy Francis P. Matthews, on the unification squabble.

Informed sources said that Adm. Louis Denfeld, chief of naval operations who criticized unification policies sharply in recent testimony before congress, would be replaced soon by Vice-Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, now commander of the sixth fleet in the Mediterranean.

Denfeld is one of the joint chiefs who met for the first time since Oct. 13. Regular semi-weekly meetings had been postponed while the top brass aired their differences before the house armed services committee.

American Sculptor Vanishes from Ship

NEW YORK — Stuart Benson, American sculptor, vanished from the ship bringing him from France to New York, it was disclosed Tuesday.

The 72-year-old former army major was feeble with dysentery which had plagued him since World War I and was confined to his cabin when he boarded the Gyndia-America line motorship Sobieski Oct. 15, line officials said.

Capt. Jan Godecki radioed Oct. 19 that Benson was missing.

Asked how the parley went, he said: "Fine, fine." "Was it harmonious?" he was asked. "Sure," he said. "I have no statement. It was just a normal meeting of the JCs." He would not say whether the navy's row with the army and airforce was mentioned.

Truman Policy Called Communicative by Dulles

NEW YORK — Sen. John Foster Dulles, (R-NY) charged Tuesday night that the Truman administration is following the communist trail.

"The present democratic administration represents the philosophy that material welfare is so important that it can be properly bought at the price of freedom," Dulles declared. "We cannot provide effective world leadership in opposition to the world-wide political welfare of Soviet communism so long as we are merely following in their trail."

In a speech before the New York Herald Tribune forum, Dulles charged that the Truman administration's new proposals involve a "clear danger to human liberty."

Reichardt Leads Big Ten Scoring Race

Brandt, McKenzie Also Loop Leaders

Iowa's Bill Reichardt and Duane Brandt are among five sophomores who dominate the Big Ten statistical charts, it was revealed Tuesday.

Fullback Bill Reichardt tops all scorers with 26 points and has kicked 14 straight extra points in conference games. Duane Brandt's five pass interceptions give him top spot in that department. Other Iowans near the top in conference figures are Bob McKenzie and Jack Dittmer who rank one-two in that order in the number of passes caught.

McKenzie has snared 11 passes for 122 yards and two touchdowns, while Dittmer has gathered in nine for 240 yards and four touchdowns.

If Sophomore Johnny Karras of Illinois who leads in ground gained by rushing, continues to pick up yardage at his present rate, not only will he wind up as the Big Ten's top running back but is likely to set a new ground gaining record.

The Argo, Ill., speedster in three games has carried 47 times for 347 yards for an average of 7.3 per rush. At his pace, Karras can surpass the conference's rushing record of 669 yards, set by Halfback Les Horvath when he led Ohio State to the championship in 1944.

In six games while Illinois will play seven this fall. Senior Don Burson is intent on making his final gridiron season his best. The Wildcats' regular signal-caller, in four games, has completed 22 of 42 passes for a .524 pitching average, 356 yards and four touchdowns to lead in that department as well as total offense.

Hawks Lead Foes In Scoring, 123-98

It's the final score that counts. That well known adage was confirmed Tuesday when a check of Hawkeye statistics was made. It revealed that the opposition has won many of statistical races in the first five Iowa games.

For example: Iowa trails in total yards, 1,629 to 1,549, opponents have had 63 more plays, and the Hawkeyes are behind in kick returns, 609 to 534.

But they have scored 123 points to 98, and have crossed the goal line 18 times to the foes' 14. They have 15 successful conversions to the opponents' 11.

Iowa has won three of five games. Jerry Fiske raced into first place in the team rushing department. He has picked up 276 yards and a 7.9 yard average per carry. Bill Reichardt follows him with 206 yards and a 5.7 average.

Of the 37 passes completed by the Hawks, Jack Dittmer has caught 13 and Bob McKenzie 12. Dittmer's gains totalled 319 yards and five touchdowns, while McKenzie has 128 yards for three six-pointers.

Dittmer leads the Iowa scorers with 30 points followed by Reichardt with 26 and McKenzie with 18.

Chuck Denning has averaged 39.5 yards on 23 punts. As a team Iowa leads in pass interceptions with six to the opponents five. Meanwhile it has lost the ball 11 times by fumbles to the foes' 13. The Hawks have been penalized 38 times for 366 yards and their rivals 40 for 337.

Losing Cards Name Parker Head Coach

CHICAGO (AP) — The slumping Chicago Cardinals of the National football league Tuesday broke up their Texan co-coaching combination of Buddy Parker and Phil Handler, then named 35-year-old Parker as the head coach.

Handler, 41, war-time head coach and associated with the Cardinals for 20 seasons, was appointed vice-president. He will be in charge of signing talent.

The change was announced by Club President Ray Bennigsen. It was not entirely unexpected in the wake of the Cardinals' third league defeat in a 24-7 loss to the Detroit Lions here Sunday. The Lions had been winless in four previous starts.

Parker will be in full command of the team. Dick Plasman and Marshall Goldberg will continue as assistants. A new aide will be Tackle Chet Bulger, who will remain an active player.

Parker has been with the Cardinals 13 seasons as player and then coach. Bennigsen did not comment on reasons for the change. But it was reported he and owner Violet Bidwell were displeased with team progress under the split command.

Cardinal personnel is virtually the same as that which swept the team to the league championship in 1947 and the western division title last season.

Injuries to such key performers as Charley Trippi, Pat Harder and Mal Kutner were reflected in losses to the Philadelphia Eagles and Chicago Bears this season. But the Cardinals were in good shape for the underdog Lions Sunday. The Cardinals defeated the Washington Redskins and Green Bay Packers in their two other starts.

Parker is from Kemp, Tex., and played halfback for Centenary college. Handler is a one-time guard for Texas Christian. They were appointed co-coaches early this year when Head Coach Jimmy Conzelman resigned.

Parker said Tuesday that there had been no friction between Handler and himself as co-coaches. During games, Parker was a spotter in the press box and Handler handled the team on the field. Now Parker will run the team on the field and Goldberg will be the phone technician.

"Tall and leathery, Parker came to the Cardinals in 1937 from the Detroit Lions in a swap for Tackle Bob Reynolds. Two years earlier, Parker had joined the Lions after captaining Centenary in 1934 and finishing that season as one of the nation's top college ground-gainers.

In 1942, a season before he finished playing, Parker became an assistant Cardinal coach. He served under Conzelman that year, under Handler from 1943 through 1945, when Conzelman temporarily left professional football, and again under Conzelman from 1946 through 1948.

Handler assumes the vice-president position which remained dormant after Conzelman's final resignation.

"Motz (Handler) formerly signed almost half of the players who came to the Cardinals," Bennigsen explained. "Now he will devote full time to that capacity."

Handler joined the Cardinals in 1930, played seven seasons and then became an assistant coach. Parker was his first assistant during Handler's 1943-44-45 head coaching tenure.

Earl Banks Returns, Set to 'Make Team'

Earl Banks, Hawkeye guard, returned to the campus Tuesday night to "try and make the football team."

Banks left for his home in Chicago immediately after the Northwestern game Saturday. He missed practice Monday and Tuesday. Tuesday night he told Coach Eddie Anderson he would report for practice today.

The 200-pound senior, all-Big Ten guard in 1946, injured his knee in the Purdue game, Oct. 1, while playing one of the best games of his college career. Banks missed the following two games against Illinois and Indiana and was in for only a few plays in the 28-21 win over Northwestern.

Banks offered no reason for his trip home and his two-day absence from practice. He said he hopes the matter is dropped, and, for personal reasons, he would rather not discuss it.

"I think right now," Banks said, "I'd just better try and make the football team. That's my big worry now."

U-High in Home Final Friday

Must Reach Peak For Michigan: Eliot

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. — Illinois is a team which has shown surprising strength as the football season progresses, receives its acid test Saturday when the Michigan Wolverines travel to Champaign to try and knock the Illini out of first place in the Big Ten standings.

"We'll be outweighed, outmanned, and far short on a vital thing called experience," Coach Ray Eliot said.

"Illinois will have to be at its peak physically and mentally to have a chance against the Wolverines."

The physical peak will not be difficult, barring injury in practice sessions. Eliot's squad came through the Purdue tussle without mishap and Sam Piazza, junior left halfback, who missed the game because of an ailing back should be ready by Saturday.

The mental peak? Incentive number one is that the Illini usually play their best game of the season against Michigan.

Then Saturday is Zuppke Day on the campus, and Eliot's squad will be trying to win this one for Zup."

Add to that a 25th anniversary of the Memorial stadium dedication game in 1924 when Red Grange ran wild to beat the Wolverines, 39-14.

Hawklet Yearlings Beat Marengo, 12-6

Don Hoffer's 27-yard slant through left tackle for a touchdown late in the fourth quarter gave the City high frosh-sophomore football team a 12-6 win over Marengo here Tuesday afternoon.

It was the fourth straight victory for Coach Bob Whites' crew. City high scored first on Keit Hopp's plunge from the two-yard marker in the second quarter. Marengo tied the score in the third period on a sustained downfield drive.

Hawkleys Now 2nd
In Valley League, Face Waterloo Here

City high, a team that was given only an outside chance of winning more than a couple of games this year, is now perched firmly in second place of the Mississippi Valley conference standings with four wins and only one defeat.

An upset of Davenport in their final conference games would give the Little Hawks at least a share of the Mississippi Valley championship. But that is a long way off.

Before that time comes, Coach Frank Bates gridmen have to tackle two more of the toughest teams in Iowa high school ranks. First, there will be West Waterloo Friday night in the last home game for the Hawkleys.

Last week, West Waterloo tied North high of Des Moines to remain on top of the Big Six standings.

Then next week City high travels to Burlington to tangle with Harold Tackless's Grayhounds. Burlington had been unbeaten in 17 straight games before Ottumwa upset them Friday night. However, that defeat will make the Grayhounds that much more tougher for City high.

Redskin Chief Says
No Coaching Shift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Owner George Preston Marshall subdued his ire over the floundering fortunes of the Washington Redskins Tuesday and said that Coach John (Billik) Whelchel and his staff will be retained—at least for the rest of the season.

In a heated blast over the Redskins' 49-14 National Football league walloping by the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday, Marshall had termed the game "as horrible an exhibition as we've ever given" and threatened that "something must be done about it."

After a conference with Leo DeOrsey, a director and minority stockholder of the club, however, Marshall said:

"I'm going to keep the coaches if the coaches are willing to stay. I never fired a coach in the middle of the season. I won't make any statement one way or the other as far as 1950 is concerned."

Prep Track All-American — Gardner Two Sport Standout — As All-State Gridder

By JACK SQUIRE

When Clyde Gardner was a freshman in high school they said he wasn't good enough to make the track team. Four years later he was selected to Look magazine's all-American scholastic track squad.

Gardner, a 19 year-old freshman from Newton, is one of the reasons Track Coach Francis Cretzmeier envisions better days ahead for his Hawkeyes.

If "Creepers" high school background is any criterion, he should do a lot to restore Iowa's prestige in that sport.

Clyde's chief claim to fame is his discuss heave of 179 feet, two and three-fourths inches, good enough to set a new national inter-collegiate record. This prodigious feat was performed last year at the Central Iowa conference meet at Ames, and topped the former mark of Bert Thompson, the same Mr. Thompson who won that event in the Drake Relays in May.

The fact that Gardner even participated in that meet, let alone establish a new record, is surprising.

Only two days prior to the event he was bed-ridden after having a pair of infected teeth extracted.

"I hadn't even planned on going to the meet," he explained, "but changed my mind at the last minute. It was just one of those lucky days I guess."

It must have been a lucky day, too, when Gardner decided to take up the discuss. He had originally gone out for the sprints but excess weight soon killed any aspirations in that direction.

"The coach told me I wasn't fast enough for track," the 6-foot, 1-inch, 200-pound husky recalled, "so I decided to try the discuss just to stay on the team."

The added poundage, though, didn't do any harm when it came to football, in which he gained a berth on the all-state squad at halfback. However, that old bugaboo, lack of speed, has caused Clyde to voluntarily switch to end in the freshman eleven.

What he will do next spring, when the outdoor track season competes with spring football practice, presents a minor prob-

Have You Heard This One? —
Nobody Caught More
Flatfooted Than Jerry

By JOHN HOLWAY

Iowa is on the march to break a scoreless tie early in the second quarter. The ball goes back to Drahn. It's a pitchout to Jerry Faske who has been running shreds into the Northwestern line all afternoon. The Wildcat defenses reep in as Faske starts out on one of his patented end gallops.

But wait. Faske stops short—and passes! Into the end zone to Bob McKenzie. Iowa leads and they're never headed in the ball game again.

Faske had a great running day against the vaunted Wildcats, but that one pass was possibly his toughest play of the day.

I told Jerry that his pass—his first of the season and his third in two seasons with Iowa—sure caught Northwestern flatfooted.

"Caught THEM flatfooted! It caught me flatfooted, you mean!" "That play should have been saved for later in the game. It should have been set up by a lot of end runs. If it didn't work the first time, we couldn't use it again."

Imagine the pressure. The Hawkeyes had been running through that one play all week, knowing they could only use it once, knowing it was a sure touchdown if it worked, knowing it would have to be scrapped if it didn't work the first time.

One reason Jerry put on such a brilliant show Saturday might be that his father had flown in from Brooklyn for the game.

It was only the second time the elder Faske had seen Jerry play for Iowa. He saw the Notre Dame game last year. Jerry said his father thinks Iowa showed a lot more spirit Saturday than they did a year ago.

Jerry tried to hide a proud grin when I asked him what his father thought of Iowa's left halfback. "Aw, he didn't say much," he mumbled.

If a visit from the pater is going to bring those kind of fireworks from Jerry, let's start a campaign to get Mr. Faske out here for the Minnesota game!

The following adventure, as described by Joe Grothus, Iowa guard of the last two years, is not recommended for any of the readers:

Joe and a friend were driving over the City park bridge when Joe dared his companion to "jump in." "Darters go first," his buddy replied, so what could Joe do but accept the challenge?

City park bridge must be about 20 feet above the river, but Joe just mused the railing and was off.

He says sometime on the way down, it occurred to him that he should have tested the depth first. As it was too late to do much about it by then, Joe just flattened out as soon as he hit.

When he came to the surface he put his feet down and stood up waist deep in water!

It's a good thing he didn't try it in low tide.

What's the right way to raise the flag while the National Emblem is played? At the ceremonies before Iowa games, the flag goes up slowly so that it reaches the top when the music ends.

It seems to me that some boy scout once wrote in to Yankee stadium about six or seven years ago and pointed out that such a procedure, which was in vogue in all the big league parks at the time, was incorrect.

The flag should be raised briskly, he said, quoting from the "Handbook for Boys". The Yankees looked into the matter, adopted the new brisk procedure and soon all the clubs were following suit.

Anybody around here got a "Handbook for Boys"?

Rickey Wants Lt. Davis As Brooklyn Outfielder

NEW YORK (AP) — Branch Rickey, boss of the Brooklyn Dodgers, admitted Tuesday that he was interested in Lt. Glenn Davis as an outfielder, but he refused comment on reports he had offered the onetime Army football star a $40,000 bonus to sign up.

Davis, backfield coach of the Army plebes, said Monday he had talked with several baseball officials about a possible professional career after he was eligible for discharge next June.

Veep's Gal Visits Jeweler; Barkley Squelches Rumor

ST. LOUIS (AP)— Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley showed up in a jewelry store at St. Charles, Mo., Tuesday with Vice-President Alben Barkley.

Mrs. Hadley, attractive 38-year-old widow and frequent "date" of the Veep, said, however, there was no romantic significance to the jewelry store trip nor to the fact that the couple have been guests at the "Skyline," an estate of friends near St. Charles, since Saturday.

She said she and Barkley went to St. Charles to get a jade necklace of hers restrung and to pick up some groceries. They visited three jewelry stores without success but at the last were recognized. Barkley then signed a number of autographs for the jeweler and a group of teen-agers.

After leaving the jewelry store, the couple went to a variety store to get a souvenir of what Barkley called "this quaint town." They picked up the groceries and drove back to the "Skyline" for "just a nice quiet visit in the country with friends."

Barkley, she said, arrived here Saturday by commercial air liner and will leave tomorrow for Washington.

'Do What You Like,' Businessmen Advise Col'legiate Chamber

Students were told Tuesday night that the best key to success in business is getting lots of experience in a job they like.

That statement was made over and over by a panel of four businessmen who discussed the problems of a small business at the chamber of commerce. The meeting was held in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

Frank Williams, president of the the Iowa City First National bank, urged students to regard credit as the most important factor in business.

"Credit is to a business as good health is to the body," he said. Choosing the right location for a store was emphasized by Roy Ewers, Iowa City clothier. He also told students to "get into the business they liked—but to be sure they could finance it."

One hundred and fifty persons heard Joe Enzler, president of the Cedar Rapids retail merchants, speak of the importance of checking the credit ratings of any customer asking for credit.

"You must be a good collector," Enzler said. "Letting collections drag does not promote good feeling between the buyer and creditor."

Starting businessmen should invest money wisely, Stanley Davis, Iowa City laundromat owner, warned.

Pair Found Guilty Of Assault Charge

Two Des Moines men were sentenced to 30 days in the Johnson county jail Tuesday after they were found guilty in district court of assault and battery.

The men, Albert Lee Cady and Charles McCaughey, were a paroled to County Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy for one year. All but three days of the 30-day sentence was suspended by District Judge James P. Gaffney for good behavior.

A Johnson county grand jury indicted McCaughey and Cady more than three weeks ago on charges of assault with intent to commit great bodily harm.

Raymond Meeker, Iowa City high school student, charged McCaughey and Cady beat and kicked him on a street here July 30.

Judge Gaffney found them guilty of the "lesser and included offense of assault and battery." McCaughey and Cady have been in the county jail here for 88 days.

Federal Housing Loans Increased by $2 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)— Legislation providing $2,275,000,000 of new government authority to insure or purchase mortgages on homes was signed by President Truman Tuesday.

The extension of the government's lending authority was passed in lieu of a more comprehensive bill designed to encourage private construction of moderately priced homes.

Several phases of the home mortgage insurance program had been scheduled to expire Nov. 1.

'Veep' Has to Pay Parking Meter, Too

VEEP AND MRS. HADLEY GO SHOPPING—Vice-President Alben Barkley drops a coin into the parking meter as Mrs. Carleton Hadley looks on before a shopping tour Tuesday in St. Charles, Mo. The Vice-President has been visiting Mrs. Hadley, 37-year-old widow, since Saturday, but news of his visit did not leak out until Tuesday.

Administration Says Two-thirds of Vets Applied for 'GI Bill'

WASHINGTON (AP)— Nearly two-thirds of all World War II veterans have applied for government-paid training in colleges and vocational schools, the Veterans administration reported Tuesday.

The program already has cost between $8-billion and $9-billion and there are still 5-million ex-G.I.'s who have never applied for free education or job training. VA said many of them never will apply, and some of those who have applied will not actually enroll in classes.

But officials pointed out that only 138,938 of those who already have used the free-school laws have exhausted their benefits. Thus billions more dollars may be spent by the time the program ends July 25, 1956.

As of Oct. 1, VA said, 10,033,464 veterans had applied for training benefits under the G.I. bill of rights and the disabled veterans training law. On Oct. 1 a year ago 8,817,682 had applied.

This year, it said, college enrollments have declined while high school and vocational schools have signed up an increased number of veterans.

First Iowa Short Form Income Tax Blank Filed

DES MOINES (AP)— An Iowan used the new state income tax "short form" for the first time Tuesday.

The individual came to commission offices and said he was leaving the state and would have no more income in Iowa this year.

His net income after paying federal income taxes was less than $5,000. Tax officials said it took him "less than three minutes" to fill out and file the form.

The new forms will be distributed for general use after Jan. 1.

'NO COMMENT'

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. (AP)— Jesse Orville Dunn, 63, killed himself leaving a note saying "no comment," police reported Tuesday.

Non-Profit Group to Speed Armory Repairs

The way is now clear for much-needed improvements to be made on the local armory without cost to the city, City Atty. William H. Bartley said Tuesday.

The armory, owned by the city and used by the National Guard, has for some time been in need of renovation and repair.

The National Guard Armory board has authorized from $35,000 to $40,000 to be spent on improvements, but legal entanglements have prevented realization of the necessary repairs.

The cost of renovation will be borne by the state, but much of the money will come through federal aid laws, Bartley said. These same federal laws, however, prohibit the state's financing any improvements on buildings not owned by the state.

Hence, the non-profit corporation, the Iowa City Armory corporation has been formed as a legal device to conduct business between the city and the armory board.

The title to the armory will legally be held by the state, since the board of directors is composed of six National Guard officials and four city council members.

Mayor Preston Koser will serve as corporation president by virtue of his position as presiding officer of the council. Lt. Col. Paulus, commanding officer of the local National Guard garrison, will act as corporation secretary.

The newly formed corporation will mortgage the building, using the funds derived therefrom to finance improvements on the armory and to complete payments on a prior armory mortgage.

The money authorized by the armory board will be used to pay off the new mortgage and interest thereon in the form of 20 yearly payments.

Thus, at the end of 20 years, all mortgages against the building will be paid off, the necessary renovation will have been completed, and title to the armory will go back to the city—all without any cost whatsoever to the city.

Henry L. Fisk, local architect who designed the original armory, recently gave a copy of the original plans to armory officials, asking them to indicate where improvements are needed.

Fisk will draw up a revised set of plans after needed repairs are stated, and the new plans will be submitted to the state armory board for approval.

The whole building is to be revamped, with emphasis on security devices such as heavy wire screening, a steel and grill door for the arms room, and blocking in unnecessary windows.

The south end of the armory which houses the 34th reconnaissance company's mechanized units, is expected to be floored with concrete to replace the rutted dirt floor.

Iowa Newspaperman To Describe Travel On European Airlift

Frank T. Nye, associate editor of the Cedar Rapids Gazette, will speak at the second of the Information First series of lectures at 4:30 p.m. Thursday in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol.

His topic will be "With the Airlift." The Information First project is sponsored by University Women's association.

Nye was one of 128 men who accompanied the Junior Chamber of Commerce representatives in April to the fourth World Congress of the Junior Chamber of Commerce International in Brussels. While there he traveled through Europe by catching rides with the airlift.

Geologist to Describe Alcan Highway Scenes

Color slides of scenes taken this year along the Alcan (Alaska-Canada) highway will be shown at today's meeting of the Engineering Faculty Luncheon club in the dining room of the Iowa Union. Prof. A. K. Miller of the SUI geology department, who took the slides, also will talk to the group.

Major Ed Wall, Harvard, '40 -Flying Executive, U.S. Air Force!

Born in Newark, N. J., he moved to Boston at an early age, graduated from the public Latin high school in 1936, entered Harvard the same year, where he majored in economics and government.

"Active on the campus" — he played football, earned his letter on the boxing team. He worked part-time in a variety of jobs from bouncer to baby sitter, received his AB degree in 1940.

He enrolled in Harvard Law School, left at the beginning of the war to become an Aviation Cadet. In December, 1942, he won his pilot's wings, received a Reserve commission as Second Lieutenant.

Assigned to anti-sub patrol duty, he flew B-25's and B-17's before going overseas in 1944, where he flew 30 missions as a B-24 pilot. Shot down over Germany, he was a prisoner of war for 3 months.

Back in the States with his English wife, he earned his Regular commission. Then he returned to Harvard under the Air Force college training program, receiving his LLB degree in 1949.

Now, he is confident about his future and security. As a pilot and legal officer of Bolling Air Force Base, D. C., Major Ed Wall is a typical U. S. Air Force flying executive... with a challenging career.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 28½, with at least two years of college, consider a flying career as an officer in the U. S. Air Force. You may be able to meet the high physical and moral requirements and be selected for training as an Aviation Cadet. If you do not complete Aviation Cadet training, you may return to civilian life or have opportunity to train at Officer Candidate School for an important officer assignment in non-flying fields.

Air Force officer procurement teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for their arrival—or get full details at your nearest Air Force Base, local recruiting station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.
