Won't Interfere With Strikes, Says Truman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Truman said Thursday the twin coal-steel strikes have not yet caused a national emergency that warrants his intervention.

He said he still hopes that mediation and collective bargaining will bring about peace.

He told his news conference, however, that he will not hesitate to use the emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley act if such an emergency does develop.

But such a time is still a long way off, Mr. Truman said.

"This does not rule out the possibility that the President might make his influence felt another way," Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) suggested.

Thursday's developments in the two big strikes in this state.

STEEL — Federal Mediation Director Cyrus S. Ching was reported attempting to get Phil Murray, president of the CIO, and the striking United Steelworkers to bargain directly with U.S. Steel in New York. Irving S. Olds, chairman of U.S. Steel, has urged that direct negotiations, broken off when the strike started Oct. 1, be resumed.

The head of Bethlehem Steel took a similar position. Chairman E. G. Grace said Bethlehem is "ready and willing and anxious to negotiate a settlement and doesn't have to wait for United States Steel or anybody."

COAL — No direct peace efforts under way. Talks between northern and western operators and the United Mine Workers are deadlocked and have been broken off. Negotiations with the southern operators, representing about one sixth of the industry, are recess until next Tuesday.

Both strikes continued to squeeze on production and transportation.

Hotpoint, one of the nation's largest producers of major appliances, said the steel shortage will require a complete shutdown of its new Chicago electric range plant next week. About 5,000 employees will be affected.

More than 600 passenger trains have been pulled out of service on government orders to save coal, and business in coal mining and steel centers has been hard hit by the halt of payroll spending.

Truman Fires Admiral Denfeld As Chief Of Naval Operations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Admiral E. Denfeld, critic of the navy's position under a unified navy, navy and airforce, was fired from his job as chief of naval operations Thursday by President Truman.

Denfeld said he will step down by the end of the month.

Truman said he had made it clear that he had not changed his belief that the navy's offensive power is being whittled down under the unified defense program.

"For thirty odd years I've been kicking by my guns and if they want to kick me out, I'm still kicking to my guns," he said.

Truman said at his news conference that he was removing Denfeld from his post because Secretary of the Navy Francis Matthews said such an action was vital for the good of the country.

Matthews told the president "integrity of command" was indispensable.

Some time after the news of Denfeld's removal, some 60 members of Branch 90 of the Fleet Reserve association, called on Denfeld at his quarters at the naval observatory to express their support of him. Denfeld told them: "The navy is bigger than anything else or any individual. The navy will carry on and I will do my part to help the navy and the country."

Denfeld himself heard the news when an aide handed him a copy of a news ticker report. He was attending a meeting of the joint chiefs of staff.

Truman told reporters he did not know whether Denfeld would accept transfer to other duties or resign. Denfeld had no immediate statement.

The removal came even as some congress members demanded that the admiral not be "purged." Some others said, however, that action was necessary in view of the angry row in the armed services.

Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo.), who had warned against any reprisals arising from testimony given by admirals and generals in the recent house armed services committee hearings, said when he heard the news that he was "stunned."

Criticizing what he termed "g-ose-stepping subjugation," Rep. Lansdale Sasser (D-Mo) declared it is now a question whether congressional committees will be able to "get information from high government officials without their being threatened with removal by the president."

But Rep. Paul Kilday (D-Tex) said Denfeld has challenged civilian control of the armed services and had impaired his usefulness.

The demotion of Denfeld to unspecified "other duties" came just two weeks after the 58-year-old admiral, testifying on Capitol Hill, accused the military high command of waging a campaign to strip the navy down to a mere "convoy and anti-submarine service."

Despite official silence, Denfeld's departure from the high defense post had been heralded for days.

Navy advocates of strong naval power took another blow earlier in the day when the defense department, headed by Secretary of Defense Johnson, announced plans to slash about 11 percent of the navy's manpower.

The cutback in navy strength, sweeping cut 56,200 of the present 516,000 officers and men, will be completed by next June.

Officials explained the reduction is part of Johnson's economy program to cut the present $14,400,000,000 military budget down to $13,000,000,000 next year. Reductions in personnel for the army and airforce had previously been announced under this program.

Mr. Truman declined to comment on reports that Vice-Adm. Forrest Sherman, commander of the sixth U. S. task fleet in the Mediterranean, will succeed Denfeld. Sherman was reported en route to Washington to take over the key post.

Bidault Confirmed By French Assembly

PARIS (FRIDAY) (AP) — Georges Bidault, a wartime resistance leader who served later as foreign minister, was confirmed early today as the new premier of France.

The vote in the national assembly was 367 for him and 183 against. He needed only 310 votes.

The action meant an end to France's 23-day governmental crisis. France has been without a cabinet since Oct. 6, when the government of Henri Queuille resigned. It was unable to solve an economic deadlock caused by rising prices and frozen wages.

The vote given Bidault, a member of the Popular Republican Movement (MRP), was much higher than had been expected even by his most ardent supporters.

In November 1947, Robert Schuman got 412 votes. Since then the assembly has confirmed five French premiers, but none received more than 352 votes.

In the last three weeks Rene Mayer, a Radical Socialist, and Jules Moch, a Socialist, failed to form cabinets after they obtained approval of the assembly.

Bidault, however, took the precaution of getting prior agreement on his cabinet list in almost all details.

His proposed government is based on the three-party coalition of middle-of-the-road groups that have been governing France for more than two years.

It includes Socialists, Radical Socialists, and Bidault's own MRP, a slightly left-of-center, mostly Catholic party.

In his address Thursday to the national assembly Bidault followed almost the same program that had been outlined by Moch and Mayer.

Bidault has been working since Sunday in an effort to line up support of the Socialists and Radical Socialists for his cabinet. He reached final agreement Thursday after he had made his address to the assembly.

Allen Named Envoy to Tito

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Thursday named Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen as ambassador to Yugoslavia, a key post in one of the most important sectors of the cold war.

Allen called his new job a "terrifically challenging post." He returned to this country Thursday from London where he attended a meeting of American ambassadors from countries of eastern Europe.

Along with Allen's appointment, Mr. Truman announced he was accepting "with much regret" the resignation of Ambassador Cavenish W. Cannon from the Yugoslav assignment. Cannon is in ill health.

Cannon, a veteran diplomat, has handled American relations with Yugoslavia during the whole period of Marshal Tito's break with the Kremlin and his defiant efforts to establish himself as a Communist leader independent of Moscow's dictates.

Allen's successor as assistant secretary of state for public affairs has not yet been named but the post has been offered to Rep. Mike Mansfield (D - Mont) who is due in New York from Europe today. Officials here said as far as they knew Mansfield had not yet decided whether to take the post.

Girl Halts Testimony To Identify Mobster

BIRMINGHAM (AP) — A young girl victim of masked mobsters halted her testimony in a flogging trial Thursday to point out a man in the courtroom audience as a member of the robed band which raided her home.

Sally Burton, 17, made the identification at the trial of Coleman A. (Brownie) Lollar, former special deputy sheriff.

The man she identified was R.J. Sexton. He then was sent out of the courtroom as a prospective witness.

A few minutes later, Sexton was back for a contempt of court hearing. Miles Denham, reporter for the Birmingham Age-Herald, testified Sexton slapped Mrs. Irene Burton, mother of Sally, in the witness room.

Judge Robert J. Wheeler sentenced Sexton to 24 hours in jail for contempt. The sentence was stricken when Sexton wept and apologized.

Miss Burton had testified she recognized Lollar's voice in the mob which came to her home at Dorra last June 3, took six people from it into the woods and whipped three of them.

Flier Stunts Wildly, Lands, Shoots Self

CLEARWATER, FLA. (AP) — A young aviator bent on suicide stole a small plane and dived it wildly for two hours over a terrorized populace early Thursday, then landed it neatly and shot himself to death.

Police Chief George McClamma identified the 23-year-old flier as Samuel W. Watkins of Farmville, Va.

He had been trying to find work as a flight instructor.

Watkins had few acquaintances and Chief McClamma withheld the name of the young man's girl friend whom he telephoned about 11:30 p.m. that he had decided to end his life.

John Estes to Talk At Tonight's Rally

John Estes, former Iowa quarterback, will speak at the Iowa-Oregon game pep rally at 7:15 tonight at the band shell by the Iowa Union.

Tailfeathers Pres. E.K. Jones, A3, Osceola, said Master of Ceremonies George McBurney, LI, Council Bluffs, will introduce football seniors to the crowd.

In case of rain, the rally will be held in Macbride auditorium, Jones said.

An SUI student's dad will speak at the pep rally, but his name has not been announced yet, Jones added.

The engineering building whistle will blow at 6:45 p.m. to remind SUI students of the Dad's day event.

Cheerleaders and the SUI pep band also will take part in the rally.

Wallace, Schott Elected By Presidents' Group

WILMINGTON, DEL. (AP) — Two of the eight heavily armed convicts who escaped from the state's largest prison here were captured by Delaware state police near North East, Md., just across the border, late Thursday night.

Two delegates from the association will be named later to attend the meeting of Big Ten senior class presidents at Purdue university Nov. 10, 11 and 12.

Longshoremen, CIO Plan Peace Meeting

CLEVELAND (AP) — Leftist Labor Leader Harry Bridges hinted Thursday night of a peace overture aimed at narrowing the breach between his longshoremen's union and the CIO in advance of the CIO convention.

It was the second apparently conciliatory move by a left-wing CIO affiliate threatened with expulsion at the convention here next week. The other was by the United Electrical Workers.

Bridges, at a news conference, disclosed that he and about a dozen "rank-and-file" members of his union will meet Saturday with CIO President Philip Murray.

Christmas Vacation Extended Extra Day

SUI students will receive an extra day of Christmas vacation this year, Registrar Ted H. McCarrel said Thursday.

Classes will not be resumed after the Christmas recess until 7:30 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 3, instead of Jan. 2 as the calendar in the fall catalogue states.

The change was made about two weeks ago, McCarrel said.

6 Killed As Plane Burns in London

LONDON (FRIDAY) — Six persons, including four Americans, were killed and a seventh badly injured early today when their plane crashed and burned during a take-off from Heathrow airport.

The lone survivor of the crash of the twin-engine plane, owned by the Superior Oil company of Los Angeles, was the American co-pilot. Identified only as "Sivage," he was thrown clear of the plane when it crashed into mud at the end of the runway and burst into flames.

Czechs Oust Diplomat On Smuggling Charge

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist government Thursday night accused the French military attaché of spying on her atomic secrets by smuggling uranium ore out of the country in a diplomatic pouch and ordered him and his assistant to leave within 12 hours.

A Czech note, delivered at the foreign offices to French Ambassador Maurice Dejean, charged Col. Georges Helliot, 50, with sending nine pounds of uranium ore out of the country. Helliot's secretary and aide, Marcel Salabert, 36, also was ordered expelled.

SUI Theatre Production To Have Extra Showing

Tickets for the Monday night performance of "You Can't Take It With You" have been sold out, the University theatre ticket office reported Thursday.

An extra performance of the play will be presented Tuesday night, and tickets are still available in room 8B Schaeffer hall.

Tickets may be obtained Thursday for "Command Decision," the next University theatre production, which opens Nov. 10.

State Attorney Calls War Upon Gambling

Iowa City officials Thursday reported receiving an open letter from Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson aimed at ridding Iowa of all forms of gambling.

Mayor Preston Koser's office and the police department received copies of the letter, addressed to all state law enforcement officers.

"No comment" came from County Atty. Jack C. White. Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy was out of town.

The 1,280 letters mailed Wednesday should have been in the hands of all officials Thursday Larson said.

Larson emphasized he was aiming at private clubs and organizations as well as commercial establishments, and that operation of gambling devices "by any individual or by any organization cannot be permitted."

In Des Moines, slot machines were taken out of clubs after noon Thursday. In Iowa City, the situation was varied. Some clubs had them put away Thursday night, but at others the machines continued to rattle.

At commercial establishments elsewhere in Johnson county, the machines had vanished.

Parts of Larson's letter read as follows:

"After the recent meeting of attorney generals of midwestern states it was determined that a concerted effort should be made of the several states to eradicate all forms of gambling."

Larson commented, "I will give the chiefs of the departments (such as sheriffs and police chiefs) a chance to do the job. If they don't, I will go into their departments, pick out some good men under the powers set out in the statutes to go out and do the job."

Larson's act was the most recent in a series of moves on the gambling question by county and state officials. Since June, four series of raids have been carried out in Johnson county, both by state and county officials.

List of Football Dads Who'll Watch Game Saturday Rises to 28

Ten more SUI football dads Thursday notified Omicron Delta Kappa, national honor society, and the SUI athletic department they will accept invitation to be guests at the Dad's day weekend activities and the Iowa-Oregon football game Saturday.

Committee Chairman Gene Glenn, A4, Ottumwa, Thursday said this makes a total of 28 of the 47 football dads who have accepted invitations.

The dads will wear large cardboard numbers corresponding to those on their sons' jerseys and will be seated together in a special section. At halftime they will be presented to the crowd.

Yellow identification cards will be issued to all students' dads here for the weekend when they register at booths in the Iowa Union.

The identification cards are designed for dad to sign and wear on his lapel.

Glenn said all dads will be special guests at the pep rally and the Dad's day dance tonight.

Notes accepting invitations sent to the football dads were received Thursday from Edward Lage, Long Grove; Otto B. Petersen, Clear Lake; B.I. Bostwick, Washington; Glender A. Drahn, Monro; Charles E. Gregory, Des Moines; Fred S. Giegel, Algona; W.J. Denning, Boone; W.H. Towner, Des Moines; F.C. Woodard, Fort Dodge, and Delbert G. Perrin, Cherokee.

Swiss, Portuguese Take Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN (AP) — The 1949 Nobel prize for medicine was awarded jointly Thursday to a Swiss and a Portuguese scientist for their discoveries in the function of the brain—both human and animal.

They are Dr. Walter Rudolph Hess, 68, director of Zurich university's physiological institute, and Dr. Antonio Caetano DeAbreu Breire Egas Moniz, 75, professor emeritus of neurology at Lisbon university's faculty of medicine.

Dr. Hess is one of the world's leading specialists in the circulation of the blood and breathing, and has developed important new conceptions on how the nervous system works.

Dr. Moniz is a world-renowned neurologist, author of 300 medical books and one-time member of Portugal's parliament and foreign minister.

The two scientists will divide prize money of 156,289 crowns, about $30,000.

Jury Still Undecided On Fate of Beckwith

WATERLOO (FRIDAY) (AP) — The murder trial of Edward J. Beckwith still was in the hands of the jury at 1:30 a.m. today.

There was no indication that a verdict was near.

OKAYS NEW PROGRAM

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Thursday signed legislation calling for a $30-million start on a program of wind tunnel construction for testing new weapons.

Rising Stocks Hit New High for 1949

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock traders put their chips on quick settlement of the coal and steel strikes Thursday and the market rolled ahead to a new high for the year.

Leading issues advanced a few cents to more than a 1/2 share, many of the year's peak prices.

Allied Chemical, in a solo performance, jumped $7 to $200 a share.

Thursday's rise was the third in a row. In the past three sessions the market value of all stocks listed on the exchange has increased by more than $1-billion.

MR. SUI DAD WILL LOOK PLENTY SHARP when he gets one of these label cards to wear at the Iowa-Oregon football game Saturday. Dads who visit Iowa City for the Dad's Day weekend will be sporting these cards, especially the dads of football players, who are to be guests of the SUI athletic department and Omicron Delta Kappa, national honor society.

A Shifted Emphasis —

Ambassadors to Iron Curtain nations are meeting in a mystery-shrouded session in London. Exactly what the purpose is, nobody seems to know for sure.

One source says moves are being planned to counteract "outrageous propaganda" being spread by Soviet-dominated nations.

George W. Perkins, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, is heading the meeting. It is evident, therefore, that any decisions the U.S. ambassadors to Yugoslavia, Romania, Russia, Czechoslovakia and Hungary may make may become planks in a new U.S. foreign policy.

Certain recent developments call for a little shifted emphasis in foreign relations if we are to set ourselves up as the real benefactors of Europe.

They are: establishment of the new Russian-controlled east German government; the fold-up of the recent French government due to dissatisfied labor groups; Tito's persistent flaunt of Moscow, and the round-robin of currency devaluation set off by the British pound devaluation.

Although the real purpose of the meeting is open to conjecture, it appears a more "get tough" policy towards Russia is in the offing.

Since recovery has not gone as smoothly as was hoped, and there is the possibility that we may be losing status in the European outlook, a more vociferous attitude may be necessary to keep the Big Bear from going on the prowl.

History Lesson —

Looks like the kids in Council Bluffs are going to have a rip-roaring time come Halloween. Plans originally were to have the usual chaste Halloween that has prevailed in the country over the last decade. But action by county officials to remove slot machines from all clubs has saved the day for Council Bluffs small fry.

There's no telling what kind of a time they'll have, but it's a cinch that given the opportunity to raise Cain, the kids'll be in there pitching.

All the local clubs and lodges that usually contribute financial support to the Halloween community party have withdrawn their proffers of money because, they say, they won't be able to afford it now.

The revenue they formerly got from the slot machines will not be forthcoming because of a gambling purge. Instead, one club even suggested the police donate the needed money, since the police department carried out the order to remove the slot machines.

This is a nice example of passing the buck. The police department had no choice but to carry out the orders of the person who issued it. Maybe the buck-passers in Council Bluffs don't remember the r history very well, that we have three branches in our government, the legislative, executive and judicial. And that if the legislative passes a law prohibiting slot machines or any form of gambling, it is up to the executive branch to enforce it.

This is what the Council Bluffs police are attempting to do, and what they are expected to do, regardless of caustic comments by disgruntled club owners.

And in the meantime, Council Bluffs small fry will have a chance to have themselves a whale of time—because club owners have forgotten their history.

A Chance to Fool 'Em —

Since Iowa's Hawkeyes upset Northwestern and Michigan compiled by dumping Minnesota, a lot of us have been smelling roses, which is another way of saying we'd like to spend a few days in Pasadena over the Christmas holidays.

But there's a long tough trip ahead, and both the football team and the student body will have to put out more than the pre-season dopsters ever believed SUI had in it.

According to the sharpies who put their heads together behind the crystal ball, the Hawks were supposed to be in, or very close to ninth place, when the padded pants were once more placed in moth balls.

A fighting team has demonstrated that it can play ball with anybody and make a close contest out of it.

A fired-up student body has shown that it is 100 percent behind the team.

But this is no time to let down. Two tough Big Ten engagements remain, to say nothing of two strong non-conference opponents.

It's going to be tough from here on in. But we feel the Hawkeyes have it in them. It's a great opportunity to show the football prophets that they can't get by by annually tagging the "second rate" label to the Iowa Hawkeyes.

Interpreting the News —

What to Do in Greece Another U

By J. M. ROBERTS (P) Foreign Affairs A

The United States, attempting to liquidate the Greek civil war — its first big underwriting job under the Truman doctrine for containing communism — is running into trouble on all sides.

On the one hand the Greeks are reluctant to reduce the army they built up to fight the Communist guerrillas. They say the whole Balkan situation is too volatile for that.

However, the government is showing signs of coming around on this angle, since it is really in no position to block U.S. wishes. The fact of the matter is that this year's appropriation for military aid to Greece was based on belief in the end of the war, and there isn't much money left.

IN THE UNITED Nations the U.S. effort to get formal settlement of the dispute has run up against the usual barrier. Cloaked by the direct demands of the Balkan states themselves, the issue remains the cold war with Russia.

One of the big projects of the "peace campaign" launched by President Romulo at the opening of the current UN general assembly was a move to get the big powers together on the Greek matter. It failed.

Russia used the question of the Greek - Albanian border to snag these initial negotiations. The western powers supported a settlement under which Albania and Greece would agree not to resort to violence over the question. Russia held out for final establishment of the border as it is now, meaning that Greece would abandon her claims.

Andrei Vishinsky tried to make this appear the only barrier to settlement. Actually, however, the whole matter of the dispute over Russian hegemony in the Balkans is involved. Russia has used the death sentences imposed on Greek underground leaders in an effort to balance the civil rights violation for which her satellites have been condemned.

Now the United States is taking a new track announced as aimed at settlement, but which seems likely to produce merely another general assembly condemnation of the Russian bloc. If this is the result, it will be the fourth important matter on which Russia has been publicly pilloried during this assembly.

THE ASSEMBLY sided with Tito and elected Yugoslavia to the security council. It upheld violation charges of peace treaty violations in the satellites in the civil rights matter. The atomic control conferences broke up with five nations accusing Russia of putting her nationalism ahead of world security.

The new step in the Balkan matter contemplates a resolution to continue the UN special commission which has been studying the dispute on the ground.

It would thereby approve the commission's latest report blaming the Cominform countries for disturbing the peace and blocking the UN conciliation committee. It would keep the conciliation committee alive to resume talks if the situation warrants.

When or how the situation might warrant is not indicated.

When his face was one-eighth of an inch away from the spout he turned the knob and a five-foot stream of water shot in the air with great vigor. He called for a lifeguard while the adjoining wall was being thoroughly cleaned without the aid of Glass-wax.

I was next. I would have rather faced the Russian winter. I lost my nerve. I ran outside, looked up at the sky, opened my mouth wide and prayed for rain.

CHICAGO (P) — Harry T. McNamara, vice-president of Blue Star Foods, Inc., of Rockford, Ill., Thursday, was re-elected president of the National Association of Popcorn manufacturers.

He didn't succeed, would try and try again, until at last he wouldn't succeed. What is a mere human compared to the mechanical genius of a fouled-up water system?

He finally crumbled to the floor moaning. He was gently and politely pushed aside by the next in line, a young lady who wanted a good deal of room to try her method of attack.

At first she stood about 15 feet away from the fountain of youth and tried to sneak up on it. Needless to say this didn't work. Neither did her attempt to run up on it and surprise it. Neither did her attempt to bring it to its senses by banging it with a hammer she produced from her purse.

Just as often as it occurs in the desert, the hallucination known as a "mirage" then distorted her sight and reason. She skipped down the hall, merrily singing, "Why do I have to put up with this low-brow fountain when the Stork Club is just across the hall!"

THE NEXT MAN was more subtle. He assumed a natural position and then turned the knob at the side of the fountain. No water. He turned the knob. No water. He turned it again. No water. I began to think that his hand had gone to sleep and he was merely trying to exercise it.

He then put his face very close to the mechanism in order to examine it under close scrutiny. I now know why they sometimes refer to this water fountain as "Old Faceful."

When his face was one-eighth of an inch away from the spout he turned the knob and a five-foot stream of water shot in the air with great vigor. He called for a lifeguard while the adjoining wall was being thoroughly cleaned without the aid of Glass-wax.

Russian Production 'Terrible'

China's First Lady Would Deal Harshly

NEW YORK (P) — When the

CHICAGO (P) — Brig. Gen. Frank L. Howley, former American commandant in Berlin, said Thursday night that "production is terrible in Russian occupied countries."

He said that the Russians have eliminated the eight-hour day and are using a "tremendous amount of slave labor," but the output has not improved.

"Obviously," he told the convention of the National Metal Trades association, "business and politics simply don't mix."

Howley said the post-war war for control of Berlin was a "tremendous showcase" of the power of the U.S.

The lessons learned in Berlin have been harder and more learned elsewhere," he said.

The Russians could have gotten us out, they'd have had one of the most potent weapons for the annihilation of Germany and, possibly, a lot more of Europe."

Howley warned that Russia will be restrained by humanitarian impulses and will use force necessary to gain economic and political control of the world.

National Commander George N. Big of the American Legion told a convention of a Legion plan to have the pioneer spirit of self-reliance throughout the country by using "action teams" to help with specific civic projects at the local level.

'Looney' State Laws

— To 'Skull' for Iowa

BY THE CENTRAL PRESS
IF YOU FEEL like kissing your wife on Sunday in the state of Michigan—don't! It is against a state law.

If you are a lady don't lift your skirt higher than six inches when you step over a puddle of water in New York state. The law again!

Legislators now in session have added to our screwball laws. In New York state a recently passed bill makes it legal for you to display a blue light on the front of your automobile—if you are a volunteer fireman racing to a fire.

Now, for the first time since 1905, it is legal in Nebraska to stage baseball games, horse races and other sports events on Memorial day—provided they start in the afternoon.

One of the bills still alive in legislature provides for periodical fumigation of telephone booths and taxicabs in the state of Pennsylvania.

This year it's different. The legislature did pass the bill and sent it on to Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson — statesman, diplomat and dirt farmer. He proved his claim to all of these roles when he wrote in his veto message:

"It is the nature of cats to do a certain amount of unescorted roaming. Not because I love birds the less, or cats the more, I veto and withhold my approval from this bill . . . I cannot agree that it should be the declared public policy of Illinois that a cat visiting a neighbor's yard or crossing a public highway is a public nuisance."

The state of Illinois has enough to do without trying to control feline delinquency."

in New York provides that women must buy licenses to fish — for fish. It also provides that she must furnish her correct age and weight, besides the usual color of her hair as well as height and color of her eyes.

There is only one way a woman seeking a New York fishing license can beat this measure. If she'll admit that she's over 70 she will be told to go fishing to her heart's content — no license needed.

For years Illinois cat haters have been fighting for a state law to either bell or lease them. At each legislative session for 10 years, either the upper or the lower house would pass the bill — but never both houses.

Now, for the first time since 1905, it is legal in Nebraska to stage baseball games, horse races and other sports events on Memorial day—provided they start in the afternoon.

Fewer Men to Work On License Teams

DES MOINES (P) — Plans for saving Iowa taxpayers an estimated $20,000 were outlined to state patrol officials Thursday by State Safety Commissioner Alfred W. Kahl.

He told the five lieutenants and others that effective about Nov. 15 the roving driver's license examining teams will be reduced by about 10 persons.

The reductions will affect examining teams which make counties where renewals are relatively light. Twenty-three teams work the state, and one person each will be dropped from about 10 teams.

Local Music Club Assists Students

The first Tuesday of the month is reserved by approximately 100 Iowa City women for studying and participating in some form of musical program.

It is on this day that the Iowa City Music Study club meets. Founded in 1916, the local group is affiliated now with the Iowa Federation of Music Clubs, according to Mrs. O.B. Limoseth, president.

Mrs. Limoseth discussed the organization's activities Thursday morning with Mrs. Roy J. Koza, vice president, and Mrs. Robert Gibson, membership committee member, over Club Camera, a weekly women's feature of WSUI. Flo Robinson, WSUI women's director, was moderator.

"Our programs are varied sometimes given by the club members and other times by outside talent," the president said. "A paper on a composer's life is presented and the month's program usually centers on his work."

The Music Study club sponsors a scholarship loan fund to help young people in their music studies. "The project, begun in 1931 is financed by dues from our patron members," Mrs. Gibson said. "At present we have been financing the studies of Mitchell Andrews, a local pianist, at the Juillard School of Music," she continued. "He also studied at the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music for one year under the late Madame Olga Samaroff who was the wife of Leopold Stokowski."

Mrs. Koza explained that the club is composed of three membership divisions: the active membership, limited to 40 women who participate in the programs; honorary members which include the charter members of the club, and patrons who are interested in music and pay their dues.

Women in the last group may become active members by participating in the music study programs, Mrs. Koza said.

The organization works in conjunction with the Iowa City Civic Music association, the three representatives pointed out, and a majority of the Music Study club members are Civic Music boosters.

"For example," Mrs. Limoseth said, "Mrs. H.J. Thornton will discuss ballet in music at our Dec. 6 meeting and the Civic Music association will sponsor the Viennese ballet Jan. 30."

Other officers of the club are Mrs. Earl Harper, recording secretary; Mrs. R.B. Wylie, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L.O. Nolf, financial secretary; Mrs. Gerald Bixton, program chairman; Mrs. Edwin Kurtz, social committee chairman, and Mrs. Dorothy Scheldrup, scholarship loan fund chairman.

IT'S NATURAL for these women to be grouped around a piano. As members of the Iowa City Music Study club, they devote the first Tuesday of each month to a study of a composer's life and work. Standing (left to right) are Mrs. Roy J. Koza, vice president, and Mrs. O.B. Limoseth, president. Mrs. Robert Gibson, membership committee member, is seated at the piano.

Personal Notes

Pledges of Chi Omega, social sorority, were entertained at a dessert Wednesday evening by members of Pi Kappa Alpha, social fraternity, at the chapter house, 1032 N. Dubuque street.

Gene McCormick, D3, is spending the weekend at his home in Harpers Ferry.

Members of Delta Gamma, social sorority, were entertained at a dessert Wednesday evening by Delta Upsilon, social fraternity, at the latter's chapter house, 320 Ellis avenue.

Patricia Podhaski, A1, Monticello, was pledged Tuesday to Delta Delta Delta social sorority.

David Pennell, 1931 SUI graduate now living in Midland, Tex., visited friends here Wednesday while enroute to his parents' home in Center Point. Pennell is a district geologist in west Texas at present and has been employed by several Texas oil companies since his graduation.

Placement Bureau Calls for Entertainers

SUI students who are skilled as entertainers in almost any type of act or have special talents as musicians should contact the student placement bureau in room 111, University hall.

Director Robert Ballantyne said since the arrival of cold weather most activities have been driven indoors, and he has begun to receive calls from organizations and lodges in Iowa City and nearby towns and cities for student entertainers.

He urged qualified students interested in this type of work to contact him so a list could be prepared giving their names and addresses and the type of entertaining they can do.

Any vocal quartets, trios and soloists on campus should be able to secure some engagements in this way, Ballantyne said. In past years there has also been a demand for toastmasters, after dinner speakers, individual instrument players and both tap and soft shoe dancers, he said.

Ballantyne said he could not guarantee all those who signed the list at the office would secure engagements immediately, but this would provide them with an excellent opportunity to get practical experience in the entertainment profession every time they secured a job.

With a list of available talented students, the office could funnel the requests to the students who were qualified.

Marching Band To Pay Tribute To Red Cross

The American Red Cross will be honored by SUI's marching band during the half-time of Saturday's football game.

The band will form the Cross of Lorraine, familiar as the sign of the tuberculosis drives, and play the "Triumphal March" from Aida by Verdi, Prof. C.B. Righter, director of SUI bands, said.

The formation will be photographed in color by the Red Cross and may be used for publicity during their fund raising campaign this year, Righter said.

Starting the half-time activity, the band will form a double line "O" in honor of the visitors in the east stands, Righter said.

This will change into a large "DAD" facing the west stands and switching back to the east. The band will be playing "Marching Along Together" for these formations, he said.

The Scottish Highlanders will perform a marching exhibition and leave the field playing a Scottish melody, "Will Ye No Come Back Again," Righter said.

The band will form at midfield and start the Red Cross tribute. From this they will form a large block "I" and play a special concert arrangement of "On Iowa," Righter said.

The arrangement was written by Arnold L. Oehlsen, assistant director of SUI bands.

Employment Office Plans Merit Tests

The Iowa City employment office announced competitive merit examinations for state and local jobs will be offered Nov. 19.

A number of fine jobs are available, officials said, but applications for the exams must be filed not later than Nov. 5.

Examinations will cover fields in typing, welfare and health work, accounting and several others. The purpose of the exams is to establish a register of qualified persons for filling jobs.

Applications blanks may be obtained at the Iowa City employment office in the community building.

'Warming Up' for Saturday's Tourney

(Daily Iowan Photo)

THEY DON'T YELL "FORE," but it's a good idea to duck when these members of SUI's hockey club "tee off" with the puck. These gals are warming up for Saturday's field hockey tournament here with clubs from four other midwestern colleges. Shorts are part of the standard gear, no matter what the weather man says. Well-padded shin-guards protect shapely legs from erring hockey sticks—most of the time.

Maybe It's Cold Outside, But —

Girls Don't Shiver in Shorts

— Chasing a Field Hockey Ball

By BARBARA BLOXOM

Who said women are the weaker sex? The women's hockey club here at SUI plays hockey in shorts during months when even Hawk-eye harriers shiver to think of facing frigid Iowa weather without a sweat suit.

Ignoring the plunging mercury, the SUI club will entertain at a tournament Saturday when clubs from the University of Wisconsin, University of Chicago, Iowa State Teachers college and Grinnell college meet for competition here, under sponsorship of U.S. Field Hockey association.

The girls claim field hockey is "strictly a women's game in this country," especially popular in eastern women's colleges such as Wellesley, Smith and Vassar.

Since hockey calls for more active participation than most girl's sports, keeping warm is no problem and the girls say they can "run faster in shorts."

Field hockey is played on a field divided in half and re-divided into two 25-yard areas with a "goalie cage" at each end. The eleven players of one team try to maneuver the ball with their hockey sticks until it scoots across the white line into the opponent's "cage."

Each team's "goalie" is the last line of defense and stands guard before her cage. She wears padded "shin guards"—a hockey ball is hard!

SUI's club, organized in 1934, has 24 members ranging from freshmen to seniors, many of whom are not physical education majors.

Nov. 12 the local club travels to a St. Louis tournament for the midwestern section of the U.S. Field Hockey association.

From this gathering the association will make up an "all-star" team to play in Baltimore during Thanksgiving vacation.

For Family of Three —

Market Basket Up 23 Cents

A student family of three would spend 23 cents a week more for food today than one week ago, according to The Daily Iowan's Market Basket Index.

The survey of 24 basic commodities climbed to $15.77 Thursday, but it was still 14 cents less than one month ago.

The price of coffee climbed 2 cents at Iowa City retail food stores as wholesale prices jumped as much as five cents a pound Wednesday.

The United Press reported some coffee importers forswore coffee prices as high as $1 a pound by 1950. Poor crops in South America were blamed for the increase.

Round steak jumped five cents a pound, the biggest single increase among the 10 commodities that gained in price this week. The price of steak has been sawing back and fourth for five weeks between 83 and 73 cents a pound.

Kraft "Velveeta" cheese dropped 6 cents for the two pound box, the lowest price recorded since the Iowan's survey began more than two years ago. Pork and beans, which slipped one cent a can, was the only other item to drop in price.

Flour, sugar and canned peaches each increased 2 cents and canned peas, Spry, Ivory flakes, Quaker oats, and unsweetened chocolate each gained one cent.

The Index, with a comparison of last week's prices, follows:

	This Week	Last Week
1 lb. Iowa Brand butter	$.67	$.67
1 doz. grade "A" eggs	.59	.59
1 lb. Hills Bros. coffee	.57	.55

Coon Hunters Must Wait To Train Dogs in Open

Coon hunters are warned by the Iowa state conservation commission not to train their dogs in the open until Nov. 10.

State law says coon dogs must not be trained in the wilds for 30 days before coon season opens, Nov. 10.

Coon population is still at peak level, the commission said. It reached an all time high in the past few years.

Plan Halloween At Hospital School

Children in the hospital school for handicapped children will hold a Halloween party Monday night, Mrs. Bernard Lillick, school music teacher, said Thursday.

Mrs. Lillick, who is in charge of the program, said the children have been making jack-o'-lanterns to help create a Halloween atmosphere.

YWCA girls will provide orange and black decorations for the party, and will give favors to each child.

A Junior Panhellenic group will give a skit as part of the entertainment, Mrs. Lillick said. Other activities will include a pumpkin dance and bobbing for apples. The older girls in the school are also making caramel apples for the occasion.

Poles Rely on U.S. Broadcasts, Quaker Worker Tells Students

The only source for news in Russian dominated Poland is the U.S. sponsored "Voice of America," Alfred Johnson of the American Friends' Service committee said Wednesday while visiting the SUI campus.

He didn't know of the signing of the Atlantic pact until two months ago when he arrived in New York City after spending three years in rural Poland and Warsaw.

Johnson was at SUI Wednesday talking to students about the Quakers' work abroad.

He described the American broadcasts as very successful.

He said that 5 p.m. used to be the most popular hour in the cafes. "Now they are empty at that time because the people are home listening to the 'Voice of America' which comes on at 5:45," he said.

This government control infests everything in Poland, he said. In many ways it is worse than the Nazi occupation.

"The underground used to operate easily because no Pole would turn them into the police," he said. "Now, they don't know who is helping the government and who isn't."

Rebuilding Warsaw is the 100-year job American engineers predicted, Johnson said.

The Russian-trained Polish government has cleared most of the streets. In 1947, only two streets in the city were passable, he said.

Most reconstruction work is for the bureaucrats, however. Statues picturing Russian-Polish friendship are going up all over the city, Johnson said.

"Some apartment houses are being built but most of the buildings are offices for the government," he said.

The Polish people have resigned themselves to a war between the western powers and Russia. They expected it before 1947 and especially after the Russians blockaded Berlin, Johnson said.

They do know about the atomic bomb through the "Voice of America." Thinking Poles are looking for another solution to the east-west struggle besides war," Johnson said.

Most of them feel there is hope for a free Poland as long as there is a free America, he said.

Attempted Assault Case Put on Trial

A jury of six men and six women was selected Thursday to hear the trial of the state of Iowa vs. Ralph Guy, which began Thursday afternoon.

Guy was indicted by the grand jury in 1948, and was charged with attempt to commit great bodily injury.

Chosen jurors were Walter Chudwick, first ward; Marie F. Herrick, fifth; Robert G. Kalden, third; Henrietta H. Howell, second; Hiram Ivie, first; W.H. Kirby, second.

Fred Long, Oxford township; Mary Jane Noone; Vera L. Moss, West Lucas; Edith Pyle, Hardin; Lloyd Brown, Liberty, and Marie W. Hayes, West Lucas.

Variety to Keynote Opening Chorus Concert

A program of 12 songs ranging from early American and Negro spiritual to Gilbert and Sullivan and opera has been arranged for the University chorus' first concert.

Prof. Herald Stark will direct the 190 voice chorus in the concert Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Iowa Union.

First number on the program will be William Billings' audacious, "Modern Music." Born in 1776, Billings is considered to be America's first composer.

Music has been revived lately and has proved popular, Stark said. An eight part setting of Antonio Lotti's "Crucifixus" will be sung next. "Oh Blessed are the Meek" will follow.

The final group of songs includes "The Well Beloved," an Armenian folk song arranged by Deems Taylor followed by Brahms' six part "Chorus of Homage," which will close the second portion of the program, he said.

Concluding the first third of program will be Scarlatti's "Ultate Deo." This number edited by Maurits Kasner, a former graduate student in music at SUI, Stark said.

An English melody, "Give Me Fairest Flowers," Wilby, will open the next portion of the program. This will be followed by Sir Arthur Sullivan's setting of Scott's poem, "Oh There My Babe."

THE STORY OF A GUY CURSED WITH TOO MUCH LUCK, TOO MUCH SUCCESS, TOO MUCH EVERYTHING!

Airlift Sparked German Morale, Editor Says

Frank T. Nye, associate editor of the Cedar Rapids Gazette, spoke on "With the Airlift" Thursday afternoon at the second Information First lecture sponsored by the University's Women's association.

Mr. Nye, along with 127 others, attended the fourth World Congress of Junior Chamber of Commerce, International in Brussels, Belgium last spring.

"The airlift was the most efficient operation I've ever seen," Nye claimed. He and three other members of the tour rode into Berlin on one of the planes carrying ing food to the German people there.

"It was the greatest morale builder since the war. The Germans heard the Americans and British say they could do it, and they did," he said.

Nye described the spires of the cathedral at Cologne as a tribute to the precision of American bombing. Heaps of rubble, surrounded the cathedral which remained unharmed.

"The Britons are extremely well-informed about the Marshall plan and about their own government," Nye said. However, the British stick to their traditional methods of production which are backward in comparison to American industries.

Whether or not an Englishman believes in the labor government and socialized medicine, he is willing to give them a longer opportunity to work, he said.

Another Iowan, Bill Perrin, Waterloo, attended the congress with Nye. Perrin is a student of medicine at SUI.

Hawkeyes Work on Offense In Preparing for Oregon Game

Last Home Contest For 8 Iowa Seniors

The Iowa football team continued to work on its own offense in scrimmage drills Thursday. The Hawkeyes, who meet the University of Oregon here Saturday, have spent little time on defense all week. Oregon will bring a T-formation team using a split line, something the Hawks have not faced all year.

Ducks Land

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — The Oregon football team arrived here by airplane about 8 p.m. Thursday night for its game Saturday with Iowa. Coach Jim Aiken said his squad was in good condition with the exception of Right Halfback George Bell. Aiken said Bell made the trip in spite of a bad ankle. The team will work out on the Coe college field here today and will go on to Iowa City Saturday. Aiken said he had heard Iowa has a "fine football team" and thought it would be a tough game. The air ride was "fine and easy" all the way, he said. The plane made brief stops in Salt Lake City and Denver.

He'll 'Bear' Watching Saturday

FIREMAN J. D. ISON, Baylor Bears end, is one-half of the hottest passing combination in Southwest conference football these days. Ison has caught 24 of 27 passes tossed his way by Quarterback Adrian Burk for 260 yards this season. Saturday he will match pass-catching with Texas Christian's lanky wingman, Morris Bailey, who has caught 28 passes for 412 yards.

Twenty Prep Teams Entered in Harrier Meet Here Saturday

Twenty Iowa high schools have entered 109 runners in the state championship cross country races which will be held on the SUI course Saturday morning.

The entries, made through the Iowa high school athletic association, were announced Thursday by SUI Track Coach Francis Cretzmeier, meet manager. The meet is the 28th in the series.

Largest of the four classes is AA, with 10 teams. Lincoln of Council Bluffs is the defending AA champion. There are five teams in Class A, in which Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids is defending champion; three in B, headed by Marion, 1948 winner and two in C with no defending champion. The dual race between Marquette and Iowa will precede the prep races. Class C will start at 10:45 and the other three classes at 15 minute intervals.

Teams entered are:
CLASS AA
Franklin, Cedar Rapids; Davenport; East, North, Technical and Roosevelt, Des Moines; Mason City; Ottumwa and West Waterloo.
CLASS A
McKinley and Roosevelt, Cedar Rapids; Fairfield; Keokuk and Okaloosa.
CLASS B
University high, Iowa City, Marion and Nevada.
CLASS C
Fremont and Oile.

Gophers Not Sure Of Bouncing Back

MINNEAPOLIS — Saturday's Homecoming contest with Purdue university's football team here may well prove to be the key game in Minnesota's 1949 season. It will provide the answer to the widely asked question, "Will the Gophers bounce back?"

At least a share in the Western conference title and possible appearance in the Rose Bowl remains as possible stakes. Coach Bernie Bierman is on record as believing that his charge have the ability to achieve their goals if they will strive for them with their best efforts.

Just what measure Bierman is taking to prepare the Gophers Saturday's game will remain unanswered mystery. He ordered complete secret practice for the whole week and has done nothing to tip his hand.

It's a good guess that plenty of rugged contact work is going on daily, for it was lack of aggressiveness, Bierman pointed out, as the biggest failure of the Gophers against Michigan Saturday.

There are also some radical changes in the starting Gophers lineup anticipated with Bud Gend and Bill Thiele, quarterbacks, the only individuals safe from motion. The extent of these changes will not be known until kickoff Saturday.

Tickets at $75 for Irish-Spartan Tilt

EAST LANSING, MICH. (AP) — Ticket scalpers are getting up to $75 a pair for choice seats for the Michigan State - Notre Dame football game.

Although the game isn't until Nov. 5, interest in the battle has been showing the asking price of the under-the-counter sales up steadily. After Notre Dame requests, season ticket holders and Michigan State students and alumni were taken care of there were only 16,000 tickets for sale to the general public. These went on sale June 1, and were gone in 10 days.

Most of the scalpers are small operators who snapped up a half dozen or a dozen tickets early.

'Skins Lose Center To Richmond Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal court order to prevent the Washington Redskins from using Center Joel Williams was cancelled Thursday after the Redskins promised they would leave the Richmond Rebel player alone.

The Redskins said they had sent Williams back to Richmond, and that they no longer were interested in him.

So Justice Henry Schweinhaut of the U.S. District court dropped the restraining order he had issued against the Redskins last week. A similar restraining order, against Williams himself, was kept in force.

The lawyers of the two professional football teams have been playing each other ever since Williams, a 225-pounder from the University of Texas, said he was switching from Richmond to Washington.

14 Brownies Go on Sale

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Browns placed 14 players on sale Thursday in what President Bill Dewitt said was a plan to "build for the future."

The players included the whole Brownie regular infield and "all other players over 28 years old."

This included such stars as Third Baseman Bob Dillinger, Second Baseman Jerry Priddy and First Baseman Jack Graham. Two infielders who did duty at shortstop, Ed Pelligrini and John Sullivan, also were up for sale.

Other players offered were Carl Drews, Red Embree, Tom Ferrick, Joe Ostrowski and Al Papp, Tommy Fine, Paul Lehner, Whitey Platt and Stan Spence.

Dewitt said that 23 players under 28 years old were not for sale. These included rookie of the year Centerfielder Rcy Sievers, and such standouts as pitchers Ed Garver, Cliff Famin and Bill Kennedy. Both regular catchers, Sherman Lollar and John Moss, will be retained along with Outfielder Dick Kokos.

Dewitt said he made the move to destroy "all the rumors especially out of the east" that the Browns were putting up their young stars to earn a quick dollar. Dillinger was the team's leading hitter. He batted .324 last season.

Have You Heard This One? — 'Experts' Are Sticking With Hawkeyes Again

By JOHN HOLWAY
You just can't shake the faith out of these Iowa fans! The third weekly Iowan Poll came up with a Hawkeye sweep for the second straight time with the question, "Who will win the Iowa-Oregon game Saturday?"

Since the last batch of experts all picked the winner of the Indiana game, under the rules of the poll, they can never be admitted again to the poll. So we had to run down a whole new crew of eager experts for this week.

In response to a recurring question at every interview, "What do I get if I guess right?" we would like to announce here that a prize HAS been set up under the Alan Meyer Foundation for Needy Experts (A.M.F.N.E.). To each and every one who hits the score on the head goes a free copy of Iowa City's leading morning newspaper. And if there are any complaints, the offending party is liable to get his name misspelled next time. So there!

Now, on to the predictions:
If Dick Wilson wasn't the happiest man in town this week, he had that guy beat hands down when it came to a smile. We found Dick making the rounds of his friends who hadn't shared his confidence in the Hawks last Saturday. His glowing humor was still strong as he pressed his luck by taking Iowa again, 20-12.

Next we caught Bob Jeter taking a great deal of glee out of sneaking up behind pin ball machines and tilting them. Bob stopped in his occupation long enough to pick the Hawks by 28-14. He is of the opinion that Iowa has a powerful enough offense, but that their defenses may cause trouble.

The fellow Bob was tormenting was Jack Weik, Iowa's high jumper. Big Jack is a brother of Dick Weik who pitched for the Washington Nats this season. He wouldn't be influenced by Bob's prediction and chose the Hawkeyes by 27-13.

Gib Burns, who stood by to umpire the contest between Bob and Jack, said he'd pick Iowa by 13 points, for instance, 35-28. He said he would have been more precise, but he figures it's hard to tell about a non-conference game.

Meanwhile, Bob Ausen and Bernard Woodke were hard at work trying to beat another machine. With that rapt look characteristic of all pin-ball enthusiasts, the fellows grimly stuck to the Hawks, Brb said 26-13, and Benny 21-14.

So don't throw your Iowans away, fans. Maybe this will be the week that some lucky expert will win a free paper.

Science Takes Over — Golf Game Gets Analyzed

— But Form Still Counts

By PHIL BLUMER

Golf, as with women, form is everything, the experts say. How often one does place bet just right, swing like a pro or a Demaret—and end up rough. The reasons it landed there, scholars say, are simply a matter of physics. The physicist, John Davies, applied Physics that he has applied a series of equations to just what will happen to a ball under certain conditions which may affect the ball's flight include the direction of air current in relation to the ball and amount and direction of spin.

The physicist said golf balls revolve as rapidly as 8,000 revolutions a minute as they are struck from the tee. At these speeds, he indicated, the top spin would tend to spin much more rapidly than with no spin. A ball with unspin tends to rise. Golf balls which veer off to the right usually have side spin as well as the under or over-spin. The expert's touch is getting just the right amount of spin for a particular situation.

To golf scientifically, all you need around Finkbine field is a gage, an instrument to measure the ball's spin and a ball attachment to enable you to measure it everywhere at once. But there's little help in prospect for Mr. Average Golfer — his shots will probably remain largely in the hands of Lady Luck.

Bob Zuppke Feted By Illini Proteges

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP) — Robert Carl Zuppke, a little man who ruled Illinois football for 29 years from 1913 through 1941, was honored Thursday night by the players he made great.

"Zup," now 70 and in retirement, was the guest at a testimonial banquet opening a three-day celebration to end with the Michigan-Illinois football game Saturday, marking the 25th anniversary of the dedication of the Illinois stadium at another grid scrap between a Zuppke team and the Wolverines.

In that contest, Harold "Red" Grange, an off-season ice man, leaped to national fame with four touchdowns in the opening 12 minutes. Later, he returned to carry off one more touchdown and pass for a sixth, Illinois' most famous Zuppke athlete to pay tribute to his tutor Thursday night, but others from the star-studded Zuppke era also were present.

Among them were Ralph Chapman of the 1914 team, Chuck Carney, 1920, Jim McMillen, 1923, Bernie Shively, 1926, and Lou Gordon, 1929, all prominent on national honor squads.

In addition, every living captain of a Zuppke-coached team attended.

Coaltown vs. Capot In Pimlico Special

BALTIMORE (AP) — Calumet Farm's Coaltown was rated a three-to-five favorite Thursday to edge out Capot today in a Pimlico special match race reminiscent of the never-to-be-forgotten 1938 duel between Seabiscuit and War Admiral.

Pre-race betting odds listed the Greentree stable entry at even money despite the fact that the three-year-old won the Preakness in 1:56 over this same track earlier in the year and upset Coaltown in the Sysonby mile at Belmont park less than a month ago.

But even with the odds favoring Coaltown, most of the 25,000 racing fans who were expected to throng to old Hilltop today rated the $15,000 winner-take-all match a toss-up.

The Daily Iowan's — Pick of the Top Games

Once again, we summon all the prophetic power we can muster and delve into the maze of week-end football games to come up with what we hope are the winners.

Last week, the grid results were riddled with upset triumphs and our accuracy percentage of .700 reflected these unanticipated scores.

We hope to do as well selecting the outcome of the Hawks' game this week as last when it was observed by the Des Moines Register that The Daily Iowan and Chicago Tribune were the only papers in the country predicting an Iowa triumph over Northwestern.

Iowa over Oregon — Iowa's Hawkeyes, boasting a 28-21 triumph over Northwestern last week and second place in the Big Ten conference race which has been fired to white heat by recent upsets, should whip this inter-sectional rival in their last home appearance of the season. The Hawks have displayed increasing strength as the season progresses and, barring a disproportional let-down after the Wildcat tilt, will halt the Pacific coast challengers.

Minnesota over Purdue — The Golden Gophers from Minnesota, unceremoniously stripped of their invincibility by Michigan last week, will return to Big Ten power with a vengeance this week against mediocre Purdue. The Boilermakers have a record of three setbacks and no wins in conference play and must wait at least another week before breaking into the win column.

Michigan over Illinois — With Chuck Ortmann back in the Wolverine lineup spearheading the once again potent Michigan attack, league leading Illinois is due for a loss of prestige and position this Saturday. The Fighting Illini could drop from first to fourth in the torrid Big Ten race if they are whipped.

Ohio State over Northwestern — This is one of those selections that drastically reduce prediction percentages every week.

On a hunch that the Bucks have more depth we'll vote for OSU.

Wisconsin over Indiana — Despite Indiana's surprising success against Pittsburgh last week, Wisconsin merits the favorites role in this Big Ten contest. The Badgers have been inconsistent this season, but they should be good

Columbus Junction Tests U-High Today

A vastly improved Columbus Junction team will invade the University high stronghold this afternoon in an attempt to stretch its victory string to five games.

Soundly beaten in their first three games, the Columbus Junction team has come back to hold their last four opponents scoreless and capture four impressive victories.

U-high's first team scrimmaged against Columbus Junction plays Wednesday afternoon in order to polish their defense against a powerful running attack which has consistently gained most of its yardage through the center of the line. In Thursday's practice the Blue Hawks went through a light signal drill.

Blue Hawk Coach Bob Weber will field the same lineup as started the West Liberty game last week. The kickoff will be at 2:30 on the SUI practice field.

In the key game in the conference tonight, league-leading Winfield will tangle with second-place Mt. Vernon. A Winfield victory would leave Winfield unchallenged in first place, while a victory for Mt. Vernon would throw the two teams into a first-place deadlock.

Saturday morning at 9:30, the U-high freshman-sophomore squad will meet the McKinley of Cedar Rapids freshmen-sophomores on the SUI practice field.

W. Waterloo City High Foe Here Tonight

City high will be aiming to protect its record of five wins against one defeat in the final home game of the year against a strong West Waterloo club here tonight.

It will be the last time that nine seniors in the tentative starting lineup will be performing before hometown fans.

They are the ends, Bill Fenton and Howard Grandrath, Jim Forward at tackle, Ray Meeker and Ray Kupka the guards, and Bill Hay, Al Krall and Jack Lind in the backfield.

Frantz will be replacing regular Center Tex Katzenmeyer who was declared scholastically ineligible for the remainder of the season this week.

The Little Hawks have been working hard all week in an effort to devise a defense against Art Landau, tailback in the Waterloo offense.

Last week against North high of Des Moines, Landau carried the ball 17 times and rolled up 211-yards for an average of 21-yards per carry.

West Waterloo, who beat Mason City, 25-6, recently is on top of the Big Six conference. The Little Hawks met the same Mason City team earlier in the season and managed to tip them, 20-14, after coming from behind in the final minutes of play.

Gets Grid Power Thru Hand Mower

ABILENE, TEX. (AP) — Abilene parents aren't having as much trouble as usual getting Junior to mow the lawn these days.

That's because Junior knows Brad Rowland, McMurry college's mighty halfback, is now leading the nation's scorers and has galloped 903 yards with the ball in six games.

Brad reported in top condition to Coach Wilford Moore after a summer of cutting grass. "Brad didn't do it like the rest of us would, though," Moore says. "He did it at a dog trot, for three months."

"We had a lot of rain this summer and the grass grew a little too fast," Rowland recalls ruefully.

Brad's teammates were surprised when news came this week that his 78 points was topping the nation. That is 30 points better than he made all last season, but the Indians figured some team with a weaker schedule would have the top scorer.

Father of SUI Student, Elkader Breeder, Dies

ELKADER (AP) — George A. Auer, 57, widely known Brown Swiss breeder, died at his home Thursday after a long illness.

Besides his widow he is survived by five children including a son Greg, who is a medical student at the State University of Iowa.

Swimming Instructions

The women's physical education department will offer an hour of swimming instruction and recreational practice for all women faculty members and faculty wives at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Instructor Miriam Taylor announced that suits and towels will be furnished, but swimmers should bring their own caps and shower clogs.

Youth Dies of Polio; Active Case Admitted

One polio death was reported Thursday at University hospitals. Active cases under treatment remained at 11 as one patient was admitted to the active list.

Albert Clark, 15, Clinton, died of polio at 7 a.m. Thursday, hospital officials said.

The new patient was Genevieve Clay, 8, Nashua, who was in "fair" condition, according to hospital officials.

Coffee Hour Planned For Future Nurses

The SUI school of nursing will play host to a group of pre-professional nursing students and their advisors at a coffee hour from 3 to 4 p.m. today school of nursing officials said.

The coffee hour will be held in the Westlawn lounges.

The group of students and advisors are part of a group of 180 attending a one-day pre-professional conference sponsored by the SUI division of health sciences and services.

Student Council Plans Lost-and-Found Office

Plans were molded for an all-campus lost - and - found office at Thursday night's meeting of the SUI Student Council.

The office will be located at Student Council's new headquarters in the northwest corner of the first floor of the Old Dental building.

A letter from Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity, which will operate the department, was read by Vice-Pres. Murray Kniffen, A4, Rock Rapids, setting forth tentative plans for its operation as follows:

Articles collected from campus buildings will be brought to the office and tagged with the name and address of the finder, and the date and place the article was found.

A person coming to claim the article must appear at the office in person, describe the article, tell approximately where the loss occurred and produce personal identification.

If the article is unclaimed after a duration to be specified later, the finder will be notified. If he does not report in two weeks, the article will be "donated to a worthy cause."

A committee was appointed to arrange plans for a Christmas sing in co-sponsorship with the Iowa Union board.

Pres. Dick Dice, A4, Marion asked the executive committee and Mary Van de Steeg, A4, Burlington, to select a chairman for a committee to start plans for an all-state student government congress at SUI next spring.
