Truman Signs Farm Measure Keeping Crop Price Supports

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman Monday signed the new farm law which guarantees farmers continued high price supports on major field crops but may clear the way for downward prices on eggs and some other table foods.

The legislation was passed in the closing days of the recent session of congress as a compromise between the Aiken law, which would have reduced price supports generally, and the administration-backed Brannan plan.

The Brannan plan would have let food prices drop at the grocery level and kept farm income high through direct government subsidy payments.

The President is expected to submit the Brannan plan to congress again next year in the hope of getting it passed before a drop in price supports, deferred until 1951 under the new law, becomes effective.

If congress again rejects the Brannan plan next year, Mr. Truman may make it a hot political issue in the congressional election campaign.

The so-called Aiken law, drafted by Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt.), was approved in the closing hours of the Republican-controlled 80th congress in the summer of 1948.

The Aiken law, providing flexible price supports ranging from 60 to 90 percent of parity, was to have become effective Jan. 1.

The new law, which now becomes effective Jan. 1, wipes out that scheduled drop in government price supports and continues them on the six major field crops at 90 percent of parity at least through 1950.

The major field crops are wheat, corn, cotton, rice, peanuts and tobacco. Parity is the price a farmer supposedly should receive to guarantee him adequate purchasing power for the things he must buy.

Accent on 'Treat' Not on 'Treatment' For IC Halloween

Frigid temperatures weren't cold enough to chill the happy spirits of the hundreds of kids who took part in the city-wide Halloween party and parade Monday night.

Hundreds lined the streets to watch horses, floats and costumed children parade just before the gala party planned by the Loyal Order of the Moose.

Little kids, big kids — hundreds of kids — dressed like animals, clowns, Indians, ghosts and witches joined the six block long parade which ended at the community building where an evening of clean fun had been planned.

A crowded transcontinental bus had to wait while the parade passed the depot — but the people on board apparently enjoyed their ringside seats.

Later, at the community building, the small fry were packed in like sardines. They received their "treats" as they went in, promising not to "trick" anybody this year.

The whole program was a part of a nationally sponsored Moose program to discourage Halloween pranks. Several thousand school children signed pledges that they would do no harm this season.

Police reported a lighter run of youngsters' pranks than usual and most of the mischief reported seemed to be the work of teenagers.

One householder called in to report that someone had shot one of his house windows with a BB gun. Other incidents included a few boys throwing eggs at houses driving on sidewalks, etc.

The only potentially serious incident which had been reported by 9:15 p.m. involved a flare apparently taken from some construction job. Spilled out on the city park bridge, it charred a few planks before firemen put it out.

Britain Cuts Power Of House of Lords

LONDON (AP) — Britain's labor government clipped the power of the house of lords Monday night, clearing the way for enactment of its hotly controversial measure to socialize the iron and steel industry. The vote was 337 to 196.

It was the biggest change in Britain's unwritten constitution since women were given the vote 31 years ago. In the future, the overwhelmingly conservative house of lords will be able to block legislation for only one year, instead of two. It has no real power such as the United States senate has and cannot kill house of commons bills outright.

This means that the labor government's bill to add iron and steel to the list of nationalized industries in Britain will become law before labor's five-year mandate expires next July.

This Is Enough to Make a Man Sober

SPOOKS AND GOBLINS joined a noisy parade Monday night as hundreds of Iowa City children joined in a fun-packed but un-destructive Halloween party planned by the Moose club. Many of the kids dressed in light costumes wore heavy long underwear to protect them from the cold night air. After the parade a big party was held in the community building.

Barkley, Mrs. Hadley Shop for Ring

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Vice-President Alben W. Barkley and his bride-to-be went shopping for a wedding ring Monday, but didn't buy one.

The "Veep" and Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, 39-year-old attractive widow, said they couldn't find a ring they liked.

The nation's number one lovebirds announced Sunday night they will be married Nov. 18, thereby delighting President Truman, the political world and the hosts of friends and admirers of the two.

They called Mr. Truman before he announced and asked him to attend the ceremony, but it appeared that he probably wouldn't make it.

However, Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman, pressed with important affairs of state Nov. 18, might get to St. Louis if the nuptials were scheduled early enough and the weather were right for a fast flying trip.

The courtly Veep and his fiancée had late breakfast at his hotel and then set out on a leisurely shopping trip, accompanied by admiring throngs.

They were looking for honeymoon luggage and a wedding band for Barkley to slip on Mrs. Hadley's finger in the simple single-ring ceremony.

They didn't find a suitable ring and turned to plain window-shopping. Then they gave followers the slip and disappeared, presumably for an evening together before Barkley goes back to Washington today.

Mrs. Hadley said only a few close friends would be invited to the wedding ceremony here but that its place hasn't been decided. Both she and Barkley are Methodists and Mrs. Hadley is a member of St. John's Methodist church.

October's changeable weather kept pace right up to the end as icy Halloween winds Sunday and Monday replaced Saturday's high temperatures, ushering out a month filled with weather contrasts.

Iowa Citizens went back for heavy winter coats Monday morning when the mercury sank to 22. The best the weatherman could muster during the day was a mid-afternoon 41.

The weather bureau forecast calls for fair skies today and Wednesday, but temperatures aren't expected to creep out of the forties nor go lower than 20.

Signs of winter were evident on Iowa City streets Monday. Cold hands fumbled for loose change to feed the parking meters and workmen with foresight completed the erection of the snow fence in front of Schaeffer hall. Coffee sales skyrocketed at downtown cafes as SUI students tried to keep the chills at bay.

Monday all of Iowa City watched winter's sneak preview but it remained for a sophomore transfer student from the south to describe the day simply and accurately.

His reaction: "Ouch!"

ALWAYS READY
CORNWALL, N.Y. (AP) — The Cornwall, New Windsor and Monroe horse thief detecting society held its 144th annual election Monday and re-elected James R. Bevans president. Bevans said there haven't been any horses stolen hereabouts for many years but you never can tell.

80,000 Return To Jobs As CIO-Bethlehem Sign

Ching Hopes for Industry Peace . . .

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top government mediator Cyrus S. Ching expressed hope Monday night that the Bethlehem Steel corporation settlement "will lead to industrial peace in the steel industry, generally, at a very early date." Ching said in a statement following the Cleveland announcement of the Bethlehem settlement that it "makes me very happy."

U.S. Steel to Study Settlement . . .

NEW YORK (AP)—United States Steel corporation Monday offered again to resume bargaining with the striking united steelworkers union to "negotiate a mutually satisfactory program." U.S. Steel President Benjamin F. Fairless made the offer following announcement of the Bethlehem Steel corporation settlement.

U.S. Expels Two Czech Attaches

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States partially evened its score with Communist Czechoslovakia Monday by demanding the immediate recall of two Czech attaches from this country.

Two American diplomatic officials were expelled from Prague within the last 10 days on charges of spying which Secretary of State Dean Acheson denounced as "obviously trumped up." A U.S. embassy clerk is still being held in jail.

The Czechs ordered out were Ervin Munk, consul general at New York, and Jan Horvath, listed as "housekeeper" of the embassy here. Actually, he is rated by officials as much more important in Communist affairs than the title would indicate.

The state department said only that the two are personally objectionable to this government. The diplomatic phrase is "persona non grata."

The timing and other circumstances of the announcement, however, left little doubt that the expulsion order was intended to have a tit-for-tat effect.

Dr. Vladimir Outrata, the Czech ambassador, immediately asked and obtained an appointment with Undersecretary of State James Webb, the top state department official in Acheson's absence from Washington.

After a 15-minute talk with Webb, he said he had sought an explanation of the expulsion, but "I didn't hear any reasons." He added, however, that when a country asks a foreign diplomat to leave, it need not explain its action.

He told newsmen he was "not especially surprised" at the request.

ASKS TARIFF REMOVAL

PARIS (AP) — Paul G. Hoffman, Marshall Plan chief, urged upon Western Europe Monday the removal of trade quotas, monetary barriers and all tariffs to create a single market of 270-million Europeans for mass-production industry.

Any individual "who is a member of the Communist party, any Fascist organization, or other totalitarian movement, or who consistently pursues policies or activities directed toward the achievement of the program or the purpose of the Communist party."

CIO PRESIDENT PHILIP MURRAY was introduced at the opening of the 11th annual CIO convention in Cleveland Monday. Later in the day he announced the settlement of the month-old strike between CIO steelworkers and the Bethlehem Steel company. Jack Kroll (left), director of the CIO's political action committee, handed Murray the gavel.

Labor Wins $100 Monthly Pension Plan

CLEVELAND (AP) — A jubilant Philip Murray Monday night signed a strike-ending agreement for 80,000 Bethlehem steel company workers. He said he hoped it would hasten an end to the month-old, industry wide shutdown.

A $100 monthly company-paid pension, including federal social security, will go to employes with 25 years service at age 65 or over. A Bethlehem statement said the agreement was subject to ratification by the stockholders.

Murray, president of the CIO and the steelworkers, said the strike ended at midnight Monday in plants of Bethlehem, second largest producer in the nation. The nation-wide walkout has idled more than 500,000 basic steel workers.

He admitted there had been "a great many rumors of offers from other companies as a result of the Bethlehem settlement which had been in the air for about 48 hours."

Answering questions, Murray added "nobody in the government had anything to do with this deal."

The CIO leader pointed out the agreement provides that the steelworkers cannot strike to improve the pension plan until a year five years. A strike over wages could occur after Dec. 31, 1950.

Murray estimated it would cost the company $300-million to finance for the next five years the pension-insurance program agreed upon Monday.

Murray called the union's gain a 12-cent package and said the pension part of that would amount "to more than a dime" in cost to the company.

U.S. Steel has maintained the position that it would pay up to 10 cents for insurance and pensions as recommended by the president's steel fact finding board. But it has insisted that its 270,000 workers contribute a portion, too.

In the Bethlehem settlement, both company and employes will contribute 2 1/2 cents an hour toward a social insurance program to supplant the present welfare plan which the workers have financed entirely.

After a dramatic hotel room session lasting for nearly three hours, Murray and Joseph R. Larkin, Bethlehem vice president in charge of industrial relations, went into a news conference attended by at least 250 reporters and interested persons.

Although Larkin made the agreement in its final phases, the announcement of Bethlehem's position was made in a statement by Eugene G. Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel company.

Counterfeit $10 Bills Passed in Iowa City

Iowa City and federal authorities were still searching Monday for a shrewd counterfeiter who used the confusion of the Iowa-Northwestern football game to pass at least $200 in phony money.

Twenty counterfeit $10 bills were found after Iowa City bankers first spotted the fake bills about Wednesday in SUI receipts from the football game.

A federal treasury agent was here Saturday during the Iowa-Oregon contest, but the counterfeiters did not repeat their tactics. The presence of the federal agent was not disclosed until today to prevent tipping off the fake bill passers.

Police said the bills had only one obvious flaw. The flagpole on the back of the bill failed to connect with the building by one-sixteenth of an inch.

Yugoslav Troops Try Invasion, Hungary Says

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY (AP) — The Hungarian government charged Monday that a platoon of Yugoslav troops attempted an invasion into Hungary last Thursday night but was driven off by gunfire without casualties.

The foreign ministry said that between 30 and 40 Yugoslav soldiers crossed the border to cut a protective barbed wire fence on the Hungarian side. They were driven off when Hungarian forces opened fire, the ministry said.

Former Secretary of State Stettinius Dies

GREENWICH, CONN. (AP) — Former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius Jr., 49, the wealthy young industrialist who quit big business for a government career and helped found the United Nations, died of a heart attack Monday over his breakfast.

Stettinius, who became the $100,000-a-year head of U.S. Steel corporation at 37 and resigned at 39 to help plan national defense, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Juan T. Trippe, wife of the President of Pan-American World Airways, where he was a weekend visitor.

The handsome, white-haired former diplomat, who was convalescing from a heart attack suffered last spring, was stricken shortly after he arose this morning. When his morning coffee was brought to him, he was pale and breathing heavily. He died within a few minutes, at 6:30 a.m. (Iowa time).

His wife, his mother-in-law and his secretary were at his bedside when he died.

Mrs. Stettinius announced later Monday that funeral services will be held at St. James Episcopal church in New York City on Wednesday. Private burial will follow at Locust Valley, L.I.

Stettinius resigned as U.S. representative on the UN security council three years ago and had stayed out of the limelight since. He was named rector of his alma mater, the University of Virginia, in 1946.

Messages of condolences from the world's great poured in to Mrs. Stettinius Monday. President Truman sent a message expressing his sympathies and Gov. Chester Bowles of Connecticut termed his death a great loss for the United States.

At 24 Stettinius started work with General Motors at a salary of 44 cents an hour and two years later he was assistant to the president. At 31, he became a General Motors vice president. In 1934, the boy wonder of big business, joined the giant U.S. Steel corporation.

At the age of 37 he became chairman of the board. But he quit his post, one of the most powerful and lucrative in U.S. industry, two years later when President Roosevelt asked him to join the advisory commission to the council of national defense.

In 1944 President Roosevelt named him to succeed ailing, aging Cordell Hull and Stettinius became the nation's youngest secretary of state since George Washington's administration.

SUI Directory On Sale Today

SUI's 1949-50 university directory goes on sale today at Iowa City's book stores. Director of Publications Fred Pownall said Monday.

Cost of the directory is 75 cents a copy. The cover of this year's directory, tan with black lettering and design, was created by Carroll Coleman, university typographer.

The number of pages in the new book is 269, a drop from last year's edition of 276 pages.

The administrative faculty and staff received notices Monday that the new directory may be requisitioned through general store at the 75-cents-a-copy cost.

President Vetoes Bill Paying for Vets Autos

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Monday vetoed a bill authorizing federal payments up to $1,600 on the cost of automobiles for certain handicapped veterans of World War I and II.

Mr. Truman said the measure would create "wholesale inequities" and "lead to abuses."

Under the present law, the government supplies autos to World War II veterans who lost a leg.

The measure disapproved by Mr. Truman would have made government gifts of automobiles to veterans of both of the last two wars who lost a hand or leg or were blinded in the service.

Truman Plan on Trial —

The nation's political interests are focused this week on a senatorial election in New York scheduled for Nov. 8. Many politicians claim the election will be a good test of President Truman's Fair Deal program.

Sen. John Foster Dulles and former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman are matched in the bid for the 6.5-million votes of New York state.

Lehman, the Democratic-Liberal candidate, has been stumping the state preaching a platform espoused by President Truman, Franklin Roosevelt, Al Smith and former Sen. Robert Wagner.

Dulles, who was appointed earlier this year by Thomas E. Dewey to fill the unexpired term of aging Sen. Wagner, has denounced what he calls the trend to an all-powerful state and demanded that taxes be cut instead of increased for new Fair Deal programs.

At any rate the election, the only off-year senate contest in the nation this year, shapes up as quite a battle.

Truman backers are confident that the Fair Deal program will get a vote of confidence from the New York voters. Crystal ball gazers seem to bear out that confidence because current odds favor Lehman, 4 to 1.

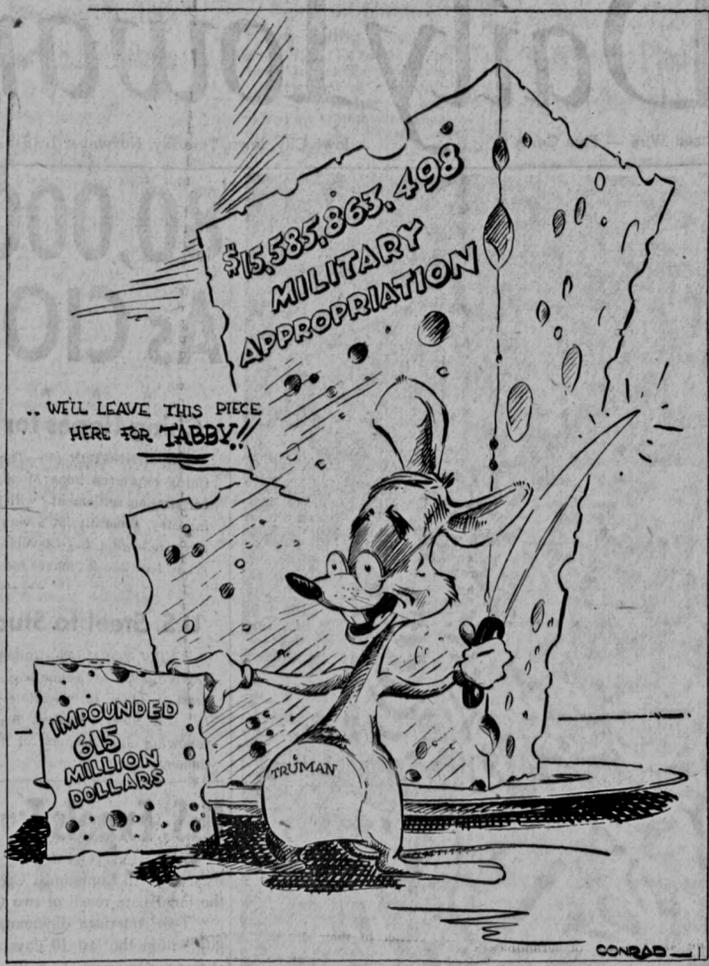

However, an interesting statement was made recently by two prominent Jews, Bernard M. Baruch and Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, Zionist leader. Both men defended Dulles' stand on the bigotry issue, claiming that Dulles is completely devoid of prejudices.

Lehman got himself in hot water last summer when he exchanged nasty letters with Francis Cardinal Spellman on a bill that provided for federal aid to parochial schools. Many New York Catholics tagged Lehman a "bigot" at the time.

As the campaign heads into the final week both parties have trotted out their first teams in an effort to win the senate seat.

The Truman plan will face a rigorous trial.

"While the Cat's Away—"

Interpreting the News — Unrest in Britain, France Makes Recovery Difficult

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
(AP) Foreign Affairs Analyst

Paul Hoffman, director of Marshall plan aid, is returning to the assault on hide-bound European trade practices at a particularly unpropitious moment.

He is asking for international unity while two key countries, Britain and France, cannot even display domestic unity. While these two governments are shaky there would seem to be little hope for concrete decisions or concrete actions.

George Bidault has just managed to form a new government in France after three weeks without one—the longest French political crisis of the kind in 50 years. And despite the good vote he received in the general assembly, there are strong doubts that he can last.

The "third force" in which he succeeds Henri Queuille as leader, composed of Bidault's (largely Catholic) Popular Republicans, Radical Socialists, (Conservatives) and Socialists, has been badly shaken by the crisis. Talk of a new election is increasing, with a resultant bitter battle between extreme left and right.

THE BRITISH LABOR government has just been censured by 222 members of parliament for an "inadequate" economy program to offset inflation. It also faces an election between now and July. And it is obviously very uncertain of itself. Britain is in the midst of an historical economic readjustment which might, in the course of time, even remove her from the ranks of world powers.

Both Britain and France face bitter battles with inflation this winter.

In this atmosphere the ability of Europe to make any sort of daring decisions seems frozen. Instead of striking out along new lines, the tendency seems to be to grasp at the wreckage of old systems. And it is amid this atmosphere that the United States finds it must insist on new lines. One of the key reforms suggested is the elimination of import quotas — the eventual creation of one big market for the industries of western Europe among its total of 275-million people.

Freely convertible currencies, removal of tariff barriers, abandonment of the cartel philosophy — full adherence to the principles of multilateral trade — are corollary objectives. The published idea is to make Europe get off America's back without diminishing its ability to resist the pressures of Soviet expansionism.

WHAT HAPPENS IF Europe

and America are unsuccessful in these aims?

Well, for one thing, the west will be drastically weakened in the cold war.

But entirely aside from the cold war — if Russia did not exist or was a fully cooperative member of society — there would be grave portents.

The United States is deliberately damaging her own export trade to boost that of Europe, making non-profitable concessions, and spending her own resources trying to revive a good customer and sustain an ally.

Imported quotas imposed because of inconvertibility of currencies, trade restrictions of all sorts, dry up markets. Dried up markets cause depressions, and not just in Europe.

TO THE EDITOR:

This is an open letter to those ten senior football players (Dittmer, Laster, McKenzie, Banks and crew) who showed up at the pep rally last Friday night. To you fellows go my apologies.

I, as an Iowa fan, am proud of the thrilling battles you have shown me and all Hawkeye fans. I thought about the only way I could show how I felt would be to show up at the Friday pep rally and holler, yell and clap my hands.

You don't have to imagine my disappointment at seeing the small handful of people down at the bandshell. My disappointment was probably nothing compared to yours... you who have demonstrated how big time football is really played.

But let's look at the facts. What was the reason for the rally being so small? I know there are tens of thousands of loyal Hawkeye fans behind the team all the way. Proof of this is the 5,000 Iowa tickets sold for the battle next week in Minnesota and the 4,000 tickets sold to Iowa fans for the tilt at Wisconsin.

You can see we ARE behind you, but sorry to state, we are very badly organized at this point. I'm certain hundreds more would have shown up had they been better informed, or had the whistle blown more than three times. It's not for me to say where the blame lies, but believe me, Friday night was no proof of SUI student loyalty.

Give SUI students another chance to organize as a student body, a body with half the pep and spirit seen so much this and last year in a hard-fighting team. With another chance, we'll try to be there 30 times as strong and try and demonstrate that we are behind a team that has displayed so much gridiron ability and fight.

'Boss' Curley Runs For Mayor Again

BOSTON (AP) — James Michael Curley — the last of the old style big city bosses still in power — is running again for mayor of Boston.

Just as vigorous as ever at the age of 75, he looks like the man to beat in a field of five. Curley has a special reason for trying to win this time — seeking vindication from the voters for a conviction for mail fraud that sent him to a federal penitentiary in 1947.

Once before he did it — winning re-election as an alderman after serving a jail term for taking a postal examination for a friend. Curley never lost his $20,000-a-year job as mayor when he went to the penitentiary for five months in 1947.

The man the Republican legislature named acting mayor when Curley was away from city hall — City Clerk John B. Hynes — is now one of his rivals in this election.

Curley is still using the same slogan that has made him a stormy figure in bay state politics for over a half century: "Curley gets things done." And his four opponents all are raising the same cry: "Let's end Curleyism."

By JOE BROWN

THERE AIN'T been so much excitement since the First Battle of Bull Run.

That last quarter Saturday was hard on lots of throats and blood pressures, and the last 56 seconds probably took a year of several lives.

A fellow several rows below me will remember that game for a long time. He went so nearly wild when Iowa got in gear and started on their victory march that his girl had to try and soothe him.

"Just take it easy, honey," I thought I read on her lips.

But, no sir, this chap wasn't to be held. When the few silent moments occurred elsewhere in the stadium after the rally began, he continued to yell, getting redder and more excited all the time.

I forgot him, myself, during those last 56 seconds, but I saw later that the excitement had told on him.

The steps leading to the exit were crowded and the seats almost empty as I made my way out.

When I passed his row, there he and his girl still sat. His head was down between his knees, the redness had given way to a bloodless, powdery look, and she was stroking his shoulder.

I first thought it was one of those "something I et" cases. But I guess his old ticker had been overstrained. I heard the girl say: "I told you to take it easy, honey." All I heard from him was a long series of gasps.

ALL THE COUNTRY'S football spectators weren't as fortunate as we Saturday. They didn't get to see two games in one.

Some youngsters were knocking themselves out in a rugged game in front of the north bleachers.

They were using paper cups for a ball, but, nevertheless, I saw some pretty deceptive plays.

The question, though, is how far can you go with deception. I played a little game with myself to see if I could tell which youngster had the "ball" and time after time I was wrong.

You can imagine my indignation when I noticed that their deceptive plays employed the use of two "balls." No pickers, those kids!

Two of them would take off in a gallop. If one got tackled and the other went free, the free one held up his "ball" and shouted "touchdown."

When the less fortunate runner came up from under the pile-up, he was the picture of innocence. "This ain't the ball," he shouted in outrage. "This is my drinking cup."

I was about ready to go down there and set somebody straight when Longley took off on that 94-yard run.

Still another game was between our faithful and ever - helpful little pooch and a certain roll of paper.

Maybe he disapproves of a popular practice at games and thought he'd do his bit by taking at least that roll out of action.

APPLAUSE FOR both teams for their real sportsmanship.

... the Oregon man who helped to fix a Hawkeye whom he had just tackled. ... the Hawkeye who placed a friendly slap on the hip of an Oregon man when they passed each other on their ways to their respective positions on the line. ... the Iowa fans for the hand they gave an injured Oregon man when he was carried from the field.

... the Lassies in their grand finale of the season before us stay-at-homes. It was their best drill in a long time.

... the cheerleaders. They could hardly have knocked themselves about any more than they did this season. Absence of spirit couldn't have been due to lack of effort on their parts.

Seven Years Not Enough —

Nazi Group Rises in Austria

By BERTHOLD GASTER

The most significant result of the recent elections in Austria was not that the coalition between the People's party and the Socialists will continue. That was expected.

Rather, it was the large vote garnered by the new League of Independents, a party which is at best Pan-German and reactionary, or at worst neo-Nazi in character.

Twelve percent of the electorate is not great enough to control the country now. But the figure does present an ominous threat for the future.

It means that there are at least 450,000 people in Austria, not counting the Communists, who do not believe in the western democratic process.

One would think that seven years of Hitler nazism would have cured the die-hard. It did not. Competent observers have remarked that about half of the Independents' votes came from former Nazis and about half from the new voters. But who are these new voters? They lived the most vital years of their youth under Nazi indoctrination. The vote seems to prove that many of them did not learn their lesson.

The new party is headed by Dr. Herbert Kraus, a young man of 34, who emerged after the war as leader of this dissident group which for various reasons has disapproved of the coalition in power.

Dr. Kraus has been careful enough, to be sure, not to include nazism in his platform. He would not have been allowed to run as a Nazi, for national socialism is forbidden by law. But the thoughts between the lines are rather clear.

Next in command to Kraus is Dr. Victor Reimann, a Salzburg journalist, who was a member of the German army during the war but was sent to Dachau for plotting against its leaders. He is described by Austrian experts in New York as an idealist and not a Nazi.

With an astonishing turnout of 96.5 percent of the electorate voting, the total was one million greater than in 1945, when Nazis and prisoners-of-war did not vote. The minimum voting age was 21 as compared with 24 in 1945.

There had been much talk in Viennese political circles the day after the elections that the People's party and the Independents would unite in a right-wing coalition to control parliament. Austrian sources in the United States deny to a man that such a coalition is possible.

In the meantime, the problem that confronts the world is that nazism has again scored in Austria, if only to a minor extent for the time being. In any event, this development calls for a cautious watchdog attitude in the west. The memories of World War II are not that dead.

Life Begins at 70 —

Used to be that when a gentleman hit 70, he stopped thinking about matrimony and such.

Times have evidently changed. Vice-President Barkley did what everybody was expecting — and hoping — he would do when he popped the question to attractive widow Mrs. Grace Hadley.

She announced that wedding bells would ring Nov. 18. This was all quite unique in that Barkley weighs in at 72 years.

Then there's Sigmund Engel, 73, who left a trail of broken hearts — and pocketbooks — in his cross country excursions. Sigmund's standing trial in Chicago right now, but still has loyal feminine support and occasionally swoons 'em in the aisles.

On the matrimonial front, it appears life begins at 70. Next thing you know, George Bernard Shaw will be giving up carrots for a walk up to the altar with some sweet young thing.

Mental Hospital Burns Devices of 'Witchcraft'

ANOKA, MINN. (AP) — The Anoka state mental hospital had its own Halloween party Monday night — but it wasn't witches that went up in smoke in a huge bonfire on the hospital grounds.

Instead, 324 straitjackets, 189 cuffs, 75 straps and 25 canvas mittens were destroyed to symbolize the fact that all patients at the hospital now are free from restraints.

Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl, who lit the fire in the presence of other state officials, hospital employees and visitors, hailed the action as an answer to "witchcraft." "It is just a little more than 250 years ago that mentally - ill and other citizens were burned at the stake at Salem as witches," Youngdahl said.

"A long period has elapsed since then. We discarded the stake but retained in our attitudes toward the mentally ill the voodooism, demonology, fears and superstitions associated with witchcraft."

He will make the trip in a battery-powered portable respirator which was donated to University hospitals by the city of Tipton. Ambulance costs will be paid Veterans of Foreign Wars.

University Concert To Feature Boston Composer's Music

Modern music by an 18th century American composer will be sung by the University chorus in Wednesday night's concert, Prof. Herald Stark, director, said Monday.

William Billings, born in Boston in 1746, was the first composer of choral music in America, Stark said. His "Modern Music" will open the program Wednesday.

Billings' music was far beyond his time, however. Considered a genius at first, Billings' radicalism brought scorn upon him and he died a pauper, Stark said.

In the last 10 years his music has been rediscovered and has proved very popular, Stark added.

Billings' music is said to be unrivalled for spirit and originality. Critics have said it contains, "A strain of balladry that lends a lilt to many dull voices."

The rest of the chorus concert will consist of 11 songs ranging from a negro spiritual to a Tchaikovsky opera selection, Stark said.

Free tickets for the concert are available at the information desk of the Iowa Union.

Owen Peterson, G. Parker, S.D., will act as chairman of this week's forum.

Students participating in the discussion will be Edward Diekmann, E3, Ottumwa; Dick Dice, A3, Marion; Tom Burney, A3, Iowa City; John Korhs, A3, Burlington; and Natalie Hennessy, A4, Iowa City.

Dr. Dunnington Asks Anti-Gambling Support

Dr. L.L. Dunnington, pastor of the First Methodist church, has asked his congregation to support the state's anti-gambling drive.

In a broadcast of Sunday morning services, Dr. Dunnington suggested that his listeners write Atty. Gen. Robert Larson and assure him of their support.

He said that the attorney general can go only so far as public opinion will support him in the campaign.

Hey Guys! Gals Like 'em Too

Coeds Adopt Masculine Pajamas for Night Attire

Nightwear worn by sleeping beauties at SUJ might startle a prince charming if he saw his Cinderella.

Coeds seldom choose frills for after hour sessions in the dorm and they even swipe a man's blazer striped pajamas for nightwear.

The '49 version of grandpa's nightshirt is popular, too. Warm and comfortable, it's the choice of coed: studying in the wee hours of the "morn". Fireman's red flannel, polka dots, even bright plaids and prints are featured in the nightshirt's floor-length version.

Knee-length nightshirts are popular. Coeds choose them in cotton, flannel and rayon. The tailored version of an extra-large man's pajama top scores many votes.

The doodle coat, a new style rage, may be worn over pajamas. Of natural homespun, the doodle coat features four big pockets, each in a different color, and gay lapels.

Doodle addicts find the study coat practical to wear with blue jeans as well.

A Chinese influence is featured in 1949 pajamas and robes. Although many coeds have carefully hidden thin kimonos away in the corner of their drawer or hope chest, it doesn't mean the Chinese have been forgotten.

High collar styling is seen in every material from pure silk and jersey to red flannel, and in every color from black to dragon prints.

Professor Expands Salesmanship Text For Second Edition

SUI Prof. Carl B. Strand of the college of commerce announced Monday the publication of a second edition of his book on salesmanship.

Initial copies of the book arrived Monday and local bookstore said they expected copies sometime this week. The book will be used as a text in Strand's course in salesmanship.

The first edition of "Salesmanship for Vocational and Personal Use" came out in 1946. It went through six printings and was in widespread use as a text in many colleges and universities.

The current edition is completely reworked and expanded and contains six new chapters. Strand said he had amplified the old chapters by adding new material and illustrations.

A feature unique to this book is its coverage of salesmanship from the standpoint of applied psychology. It also places more emphasis on the cultural background of salesmen, Strand said.

Frederick G. Nichols, Harvard university, consulting editor for the Gregg Publishing company and nationally recognized authority on business education, said the book is a "solution for many instructional problems in the field of salesmanship."

The 410-page book contains several illustrations taken at various Iowa City stores showing SUI students and faculty members demonstrating salesmanship techniques. The book is completely indexed.

Ross' "Litany" won a second-place $10 award in the choral work group.

SUI's Most Eligible Bachelor To Reign at Spinsters' Spree

The annual Spinsters' Spree, sponsored by the University Women's association, will be held from 8 p.m. to midnight Nov. 11 in the main lounge of the Iowa Union, Chairman Sally Lachner, A3, Des Moines, announced Monday.

During the intermission, the most eligible bachelor and his attendants will be presented. He will be chosen from candidates sponsored by men's housing units. All university women will vote next week at their housing units.

Price of 1950 Annual Increases One Dollar Effective Wednesday

Today is the last day students may order their 1950 Hawkeye for $5, Business Manager Dan Hoffa, A4, Grundy Center, said Monday.

After today the annual will cost $6, Hoffa said. Students may sign order cards for the Hawkeye today at tables at University and Schaeffer hall. These cards will allow a $5 purchase payable any time before second semester fee payments.

Many seniors eligible for free Hawkeyes have failed to sign for them, Hoffa said. Any senior in liberal arts, commerce, dentistry, medicine, nursing, engineering, pharmacy or law is eligible for a yearbook.

Seniors must sign for the annual before Nov. 10 at the Hawkeye office in MBTA. The office will be open from 2 to 4 p.m. on week days, Hoffa said.

The yearbook eligibility cards also are used to make appointment for senior pictures. Hoffa said the cards are checked by the SUI registrar and business offices. Students found not eligible as a senior for a Hawkeye will be notified.

Finish Remodeling Program —

SUI Dental Clinic Displays New Equipment

An extensive remodeling and re-equipping program, begun in 1948, now has been completed for the SUI dental infirmary.

New equipment includes 150 chairs, 137 operating units and a color scheme for the equipment.

Another improvement is a new system of centralized records for each patient. This replaces the former system of separate records in different offices.

The new color scheme for the equipment features an inviting cream instead of the black formerly used. The old instrument cabinets have been re-finished in bleached oak to harmonize with the new chairs and units. Each new unit is equipped with an air supply, electrical connections, water and an operating light.

Each junior and senior dental student is assigned a chair, a unit and a cabinet to use as his "office" during the school year. Fifty-five of the new units were installed in 1948. The others were finished this summer.

"The present facilities provide adequately for the training of

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A SOUTHERN COLONEL, who cherishes the prejudices of his grandfather, was horrified when his gawky and strong-willed daughter elected to attend a college in New England. The daughter was well aware of his feelings, so when she actually fell in love with a Massachusetts lad she broke the news with some trepidation. "Daddy," she hazarded, "what would you all say if I married a damyankee one day?" "Say?" roared the colonel. "I'd say we were beginning to pay 'em back at last!"

When Ralph Engelsman, the insurance expert, first opened his agency, he spent a full hour convincing the owner of his building that a policy protecting him against loss by fire was a second investment. An hour of Engelsman's high-powered oratory finally broke down the owner's resistance. As he reached for his pen, he said greedily, "Tell me again what I'll get if the building burns down this very night." Caught off guard for a moment, Engelsman answered, "If there's anything in precedent, you'll get about fifteen years."

Footings Completed On Hillcrest Addition

Footings for structural columns and a few of the wall forms have been completed on the new Hillcrest addition, Supt. Harold Van Horne said Monday.

The foundation of the unit, which will house 137 male students by next fall, will be completed in about a month, Van Horne said.

Work on the project will continue throughout the winter, he added.

The addition extends from the southeast tower of the men's dormitory and is the first phase of plans made in 1946 to enlarge Hillcrest, increasing its accommodatations from 550 to 800 students. It will form the base of a "T" and will connect the present dormitory to the T's crossbar. The "crossbar" will be constructed after the initial phase of the enlargement has been completed.

EXTINGUISH BLAZE

A small fire in a trailer occupied by Lee Stewart, Iowa City, was put out Monday evening before firemen arrived. Firemen said the blaze, in a trailer parked in a camp on the north edge of Iowa City, was caused by an oil stove.

Industrial Profits Mounting

NEW YORK (AP) — Profits earned by the nation's industry turned around and headed higher in the third quarter of this year.

It was the first upward movement since the peak of earnings was reached in the third quarter of 1948, a banner year that surpassed even the fabulous 1929.

The earnings of automobile companies jacked up the profit curve and off-set a severe drop in oil company profits which suffered by comparison with their phenomenally high rate of a year ago.

A compilation by The Associated Press showed net profits of 314 companies amounted to $1,003,644,061 in the third quarter of this year, an increase of 4.3 percent over earnings of $962,102,819 in the second quarter of 1949.

The third quarter total, however, was 4.1 percent lower than profits in the third quarter of 1948 amounting to $1,046,938,291.

Profits had been lower in each quarter since the third quarter a year ago until the upturn in the July-September period this year.

That movement coincides with the general economic trend throughout the nation and is a reflection of better times that became evident shortly after mid-year.

Two automobile companies — Chrysler and General Motors — reported profits some $98-million higher than a year ago, while 22 oil companies earned about $97-million less than they did in the third quarter of 1948.

The 21 companies in the steel group had profits 9 percent lower than a year ago and 11 percent under the second quarter of this year.

The 20 companies in the chemical group, whose total earnings were only slightly less than companies in the steel group, showed an advance of 9 percent over the year before and a rise of 14 percent from quarter to quarter.

Out of the 24 major groups, these seven increased their earnings over a year ago; automobiles, utilities, chemicals, air transport and aircraft, brewers and distillers, food products and bakers and confectioners, and drug, cosmetic and soap manufacturers.

These 14 groups increased their earnings from quarter to quarter: chemicals, air transport and aircraft, drug and cosmetic and soap makers, metal fabricators, printing and publishing, containers, automobiles, building and building materials, metal mining and processing, food products and bakers and confectioners, radio-television and electrical products, textiles, tobacco, and a miscellaneous group of 30 companies covering a wide field.

Profits were lower in the third quarter from a year ago among steel companies, automobile, coal, metal fabricators, miscellaneous, railroad equipment, office equipment, printing, containers, paper and pulp, building products, metal mining, radio-television, textiles, tobacco, oil, and machinery.

Going down from quarter to quarter were steel, utilities, auto parts, coal, brewing and distilling, railroad equipment, office equipment, pulp and paper, oil, and machinery.

Three Men Fined $132 Total Monday

Three persons were fined a total of $132 in police court Monday.

Edward C. Duffy, 510 S. Linn street, was fined $100 and costs for reckless driving and $10 and costs for operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license.

Saturday's police docket showed 17 persons were fined $36 for parking and meter violations. One case was dismissed.

Young Democrats Arrange to Hear Senate Candidate

Alvin P. Meyer of Van Meter, first Democrat to announce his candidacy for United States senator from Iowa, has been invited to make his opening campaign speech before the SUI Young Democrats.

Young Democrat President Bob Cosgriff, A4, Tipton, said he had written Meyer asking him to appear before the group at a "mutually convenient date."

The SUI Young Democrats' invitation to Meyer is not an endorsement, Cosgriff said, but is to provide him with the opportunity "to inform Democrats in this area of his candidacy."

The SUI organization also plans to invite other prominent Democrats to appear here, Cosgriff said.

The Young Democrats elected officers for 1949 - 50 Thursday night. Cosgriff was chosen president; Mary McMahon, A3, Manning, vice-president; John Shearer, L3, Cedar Rapids, corresponding secretary; Virginia Schnobelen, A2, Iowa City, secretary; and Perry Potiriades, A4, Iowa City, treasurer.

Forger Wanted by IC Police Sentenced in California Court

Albert Goldsband, 35, wanted by Iowa City police on charges that he forged a $1,725 check last May, was sentenced in Berkeley, Cal., to from three to 42 years in San Quentin prison.

Police said that he forged the signature of an Iowa City merchant to a check given in payment for an automobile.

According to a United Press report from Berkeley, Goldsband admitted that he had passed $100,000 in worthless checks in worthless checks in 24 states.

He was sentenced in federal court on three counts of forgery and received three consecutive one-to-14 year sentences.

According to the FBI, Goldsband is wanted by police in 10 cities and by the federal government in five others.

He told probation officers in Berkeley he had existed solely by passing bad checks since 1945. He gave his home as Waxahachie, Tex.

Police said Goldsband was wanted on check charges in Augusta and Rome, Ga.; Cedar Rapids; Huthison, Kans.; Lincoln and Omaha, Neb.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Charlotte, N.C.; St. Louis, Mo.; Santa Barbara, Riverside and Los Angeles, Calif.; and Milwaukee, Wis., in addition to the Iowa City charges.

Iowa Citizens See Telecast

Many Iowa citizens saw television for the first time Monday night from two receiver sets installed in the display windows of the Kirwan Furniture store at 6 S. Dubuque street.

It was the first regular telecast of radio station WOC-TV in Davenport, 58 miles east of here. The pictures appeared blurred as a continuous "wave" of "dots" seemed to travel up and down the screen areas. Store officials could not explain what caused the poor reception but said that the test patterns received in daytime were considerably clearer.

The telecast started at 6 p.m. with a puppet show which was followed by filmed programs lasting until 8 p.m.

Store officials said the station would telecast motion pictures of Saturday's Iowa-Oregon football game at 8 p.m. Thursday with pictures of next Saturday's Iowa-Minnesota game to be shown Nov. 10.

Wizard of Woo — Sure He'll Be Freed

CHICAGO (AP) — The state and defense wound up their testimony Monday in the trial of Sigmund Engel, 73-year-old alleged swindler of lonely widows, and the case was expected to reach the jury today.

The confiding Engel predicted that "I'm going to be acquitted."

"I don't hope for that, I know it," he said.

But the spectators who have jammed criminal court for a week to hear the romantic details of Engel's courtships were disappointed when he did not testify in his own defense, as expected.

Attorney J. Edward Jones announced that the silver-haired wizard of woo would not take the stand, but declined to state his reasons.

Instead the defense presented a handful of routine witnesses, several of them police officers who figured in Engel's arrest.

The master lover is on trial charged with swindling Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, red-haired Chicago widow, out of $8,700. State testimony linked him in alleged swindles with five other women, four of whom he married.

For the defense, Detective Peter Harlib testified that in a meeting of Engel and Mrs. Corrigan after his arrest she accepted the return of $5,000.

Senior Presidents To Attend Big Ten Meeting at Purdue

Two SUI senior class presidents will attend the second annual conference of delegates from the Senior Class Presidents associations of the Big Ten universities at Purdue university at Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 11, 12 and 13.

SUI Senior Class association President Bill Wallace, Williamsburg, president of the senior class of the law college, and John Doran, Boone, president of the senior class of the medical college, will represent SUI at the conference.

Doran will attend in lieu of Vice-president Harry Schott, Marquette, senior class president of the dentistry college.

SUI Alumni Association Executive Secretary Loren Hickerson said the delegates' expenses will be paid by the alumni association.

Hickerson said the purpose of the conference is to discuss and compare problems facing senior classes and to study the various systems used to handle senior class affairs.

The first conference was held last spring at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Thugs machinegunned a home in the swank Lake Vista area Monday night wounding one person, and escaped with $25,000 cash, police reported. Authorities said "three or four" gunmen invaded the home, believed to be a gambling establishment, seized the loot, and spurted several bursts from their submachine gun as they backed to a doorway.

Two to Sing in WSUI Show

Two SUI vocalists will sing on WSUI-KSUI tonight at 7:30 in the first of another weekly program in the stations' Talent Time series.

The vocalists, Mary Lou Elliot, A3, Oskaloosa, and Richard Williams, A1, Iowa City, will sing songs from "Maytime", "New Moon", "Red Mill" and "Oklahoma" on tonight's show.

Miss Elliot and Williams were selected for the weekly spot following auditions for the program given early last month.

The second weekly show of the Talent Time series, "Souvenirs of Song," features popular songs sung by Grant Eastham, A3, Greenwood, Neb., at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

"Starlight Serenade," on the air Fridays at 7:30 p.m., is the third talent show. It is a program of organ music with Mal Westley, A2, Manly, at the studio Hammond organ.

Much Too Noisy For Literary Bull

LIMERICK, IRELAND (AP) — A big brown bull walked into the public library Monday.

The bull took his stand among the non-fiction.

Lady readers screamed. Two girl librarians dashed up a ladder and covered near the ceiling. Mrs. Robert Herbert, wife of the librarian, dived out a window and called a cop.

The bull tossed the policeman, smashed a glass display case, and went snorting out the front door. On the lawn he uprooted shrubs, flowers and turf. Finally he attacked a hedge.

His owner, found in a nearby saloon, hastily came running with two cows. The bull was lured away.

The policeman went to a hospital with three cracked ribs.

Third Coffee Hour To Honor Nurses

A coffee hour honoring faculty members of the college of commerce and the school of nursing will be held Tuesday from 4 until 5 p.m. in the Iowa Union river room.

The coffee hour is the third in a series sponsored by the student-faculty relations committee.

Committee Chairman Louise Bekman, A2, Ottumwa, said all SUI students are invited to attend.

Hosts and hostesses for this week's coffee will be members of the commerce fraternity and sorority and nurses' student council.

Anderson Calls for Hard Work As Iowa Prepares for Gophers

No Hawk Injuries In Oregon Victory

Linemen were throwing passes and backs were playing in the line as Iowa's gridders played touch football in a very brief workout without pads Monday.

At least for another day the Hawkeyes kept their minds off the important Big Ten game with Minnesota at Minneapolis Saturday.

Although any mention of "Rose Bowl" is outlawed in these parts, the young and frisky Iowans now find themselves in a very favorable position for a team which was expected to land at the bottom of the conference heap this fall.

The Hawkeyes are tied with Ohio State for the Big Ten lead, both with 3-1 records. Iowa now must finish league play on the road against Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The Iowans came out of their 34-31 triumph over Oregon Saturday without injuries. Coach Eddie Anderson will send his team north to Minnesota at top strength.

Anderson said Monday he is fearful of a Gopher rebound after successive losses to Michigan and Purdue. The unexpected defeat by the Bolle-makers, for Purdue's first conference win, probably was especially hard for Minnesota to take.

To meet the expected rebound, Anderson said, he must bring his Hawkeyes up to the season's mental peak.

He planned three days of hard work for the Iowans after allowing them a light workout Monday in which they saw movies of Saturday's game and listened to scout reports.

One of the problems this week will be to fire up the line to the type of play shown in the win over Northwestern two weeks ago.

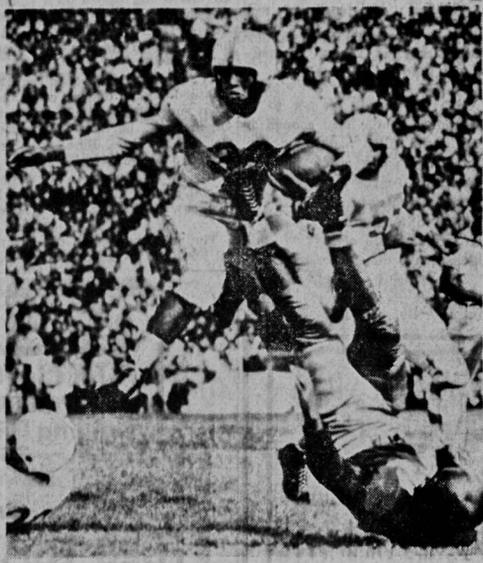

The forwards lapsed against Oregon for three quarters and yielded a lot of yardage. Against the big and powerful Gopher line Iowa will need all of its best play, if the strong offense is to work.

Anderson also plans some special work on offense, taking advantage of the speed of some Hawkeye backs to harass the Gophers.

Bill Reichardt, the fullback who has averaged 5.5 yards on 50 carries and Jerry Faska, right halfback with a 7 yard average on 45 trials and Don Comrack are the big guns in the running attack.

Leonard Raffensperger, Iowa scout who has been "on" Minnesota for the past two weeks, today will send the freshman scout team against the varsity with a demonstration of Minnesota tactics.

Iowa now has averaged about 26 points per game in the six contests and has scored 23 touchdowns and 19 afterpoints. The opponents have 129 points, making 18 touchdowns, 15 extra points and two field goals.

No Iowa team has beaten Minnesota at Minneapolis since 1921, when the Big Ten champions blasted the Gophers, 41-7.

Since that time, 11 straight have been lost. The games of 1947 and 1948 were played in Iowa City so the last appearance of an Iowa team there was in 1946 when the favored Hawks lost, 16-6.

Iowa has scored 11 touchdowns by rushing, 10 by passing and one each on punt and kick-off returns.

The Hawkeyes recovered seven opponents' fumbles and later scored and also intercepted four passes which led to touchdowns.

Jack Dittmer has caught six touchdown passes for 14, 24, 14, 43, 63 and 21 yards.

Football crowds at Iowa's five home games set a new Hawkeye record of 218,021, and average of 43,604 per game.

Largest was at the Northwestern game, 47,352 and smallest was for Oregon, 37,976. The old record of 212,298 was set in 1948.

'Time Out' Means Stockholders Confab For Pro Cage Club

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—There'll be a stockholders' meeting whenever the Indianapolis Olympians call time out tonight in their opening National Basketball association game with Denver here.

Counting the house probably will take precedence over strategy discussion the first time the former University of Kentucky stars get into a huddle.

It's a financial arrangement unique in professional sports.

The 70 shares of common stock are owned by players Cliff Barker, Ralph Beard, Alex Groza, Wallace Jones and Joe Holland, and General Manager J.R. (Babe) Kimbrough, former sports editor of the Lexington (Ky.) Herald.

They pay themselves $5,000 a year as a sort of drawing account and hire the rest of the squad. The common stockholders will split any profits at the end of the season.

The arrangement came about before the National Basketball league merged with the Basketball Association of America last summer to form the N.B.A. Both leagues were bidding for seniors from the National Collegiate Champion Kentucky squad. The N.B.L. got them by advancing $30,000 to set them up in business for themselves.

The Olympians have repaid the loan by selling 30 shares of six percent preferred stock to Indianapolis businessmen. They have the option to buy it back any time within 10 years. And they made enough money to buy uniforms and basketballs by playing eight exhibition games.

The Kentucky university team had lost only 10 games in four years. It won the N.C.A.A. championship the last two seasons. Beard made the Associated Press All-America team the last two years and Groza made it last year.

Jones was on the all-America second team last season and Barker rated honorable mention. Holland wasn't eligible because he was graduated the year before.

The Kentuckians' "hired hands" include Veteran Bruce Hale of Santa Clara, Bob Evans, Butler; Marshall Hawkins, Tennessee; Malcolm McMullen, Xavier (Cincinnati); Carl Shaeffer, Alabama, and possibly Floyd Volker of Wyoming.

Williams to Defend Title Against Dawson

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Lightweight Champion Ike Williams of Trenton, N.J., has signed to defend his crown in a 15-round bout against Freddy Dawson of Chicago on Nov. 28 at Convention Hall, Promoter Phil Glassman announced Monday night.

Glassman said Williams would receive 45 and Dawson 10 percent of a gate that he said should approximate $72,000.

Williams and Dawson have met three times in recent years in non-title bouts with the champion emerging the winner each time. The last meeting between the two was very close and many in the Philadelphia crowd that night were of the opinion the Chicago battler had won.

The two Negro boxers bring contrasting styles into the ring with Williams matching hard punches and an aggressive style against a close to the vest fighter who earns points the hard way.

Illini-Hoosiers Renew Rivalry

CHAMPAIGN, ILL.—After a three-year pause, Illinois and Indiana resume a gridiron rivalry Saturday that had its beginning half a century ago.

The game at Memorial stadium will celebrate Dad's day festivities for the Illini and will be the 23rd meeting between the Hoosiers and Illini.

After the initial game, won by Indiana, 5-0, in 1899, the Illini surged well ahead in the series.

Following a scoreless tie in 1900, Illinois won 12 of the next 14 meetings from 1901 to 1932. To date the Illini have won 14, lost six and two games have ended in ties.

In one meeting, a charity affair at Chicago in 1931, the Hoosiers gained another decision when first downs decided a scoreless game not entered in the record book.

The most famous game in the rivalry was in 1910. An undefeated, unscathed and unfined Illinois team italed a redoubtable Indiana eleven to win, 3-0, on Otto Seiler's drop kick.

Both teams had been successful in stopping the other's attack when, with only a few minutes remaining in game, Seiler booted a perfect kick through the uprights to defeat one of Indiana's greatest teams. The victory gave Illinois a tie for the Big Ten title with Minnesota.

Last time the teams met was in 1946 when Illinois swept its way to Big Ten and Rose Bowl honors. Defending Champion Indiana managed to upset the Illini, however, 14-7, for the only conference loss suffered by Illinois that fall.

Verbal Sparks Fly at Meeting; Gallagher Hits Dodger Trades

CHICAGO (AP)—Football and baseball crossed wires at the Herald-American Quarterback Club meeting Monday to set these verbal sparks flying:

1. General-Manager Jimmy Gallagher of the Chicago Cubs asserted the Brooklyn Dodgers have flooded the market, quite profitably, with players "not worth a quarter."

2. Athletic Director H.O. (Fritz) Crisler of Michigan denied a printed report there was friction in the Wolverine athletic department.

3. Crisler calculated that "maybe college athletics should go to a paid player basis, if that is the way to eliminate dishonesty and cheating" in athletic administration.

coaching. I know of no dissension at Michigan, unless it happened since I left Ann Arbor last weekend. If it came up, I came up Sunday. I haven't been back yet.

Crisler, who two years ago bestowed the Michigan coaching job on Benny Oosterbaan, was pessimistic in his views on pure amateurism in athletics.

"Maybe we should go to the paid player basis in athletics, if that is the way to eliminate dishonesty and cheating. If our noble experiment in athletics has failed, maybe we should go the other way."

"But it would have to be with our eyes wide open. We would be in direct competition with the professionals. There would have to be a ceiling on player subsidies. And if we do go that way, we would have the greatest centralization of athletic power in history. Institutions with money would corner all the athletes. Hundreds of small colleges would simply have to drop athletics."

Another speaker was Athletic Director Doug Mills of Illinois, who disclosed that Illini Halfback Johnny Karras, Big Ten leading ground gainer, is "playing on his nerve."

Karras has had a bad stone bruise on a heel since the beginning of the season. Mills explained, and wears tennis shoes in light workouts during the week. He is excused from heavy practice.

Mills lauded Wisconsin's new coach, Ivy Williamson, as a fine mentor, turning in "one of the best jobs in the Midwest."

Gallagher said the Cubs need to get out of the National loop basement are a couple of good pitchers and a "real leader on the attack" such as Phil Cavaretta used to be before age slowed down his booming bat.

These will come, Gallagher explained, either from the Cub farm system or in deals — although other clubs are cagey on swaps. "They know if you have a donkey for sale, it is a donkey."

Crisler's comment on Michigan coaching friction referred to an item Monday by Tribune Sports Editor Arch Ward in his column. Ward quoted a Washington sports writer as saying: "There's friction at Michigan, where Athletic Director Fritz Crisler is the only non-Michigan man in the football coaching set-up."

Crisler retorted: "I have permanently retired from

Cerdan's Appearance Made Money-Eager Promoters Subside

NEW YORK (AP)—Among the other attributes of Marcel Cerdan we will remember the absolute honesty of the little French fighter who died in a flaming plane crash the other day.

For Marel was as honest out of the ring as he was inside the ropes, and that is saying considerable. His inability to tell less than the exact truth about an opponent was a big help one night in Brussels in the summer of '48.

Marcel, who had not yet been seen in the U.S., was fighting a return bout with Cyrille Delannoit, a tough young Belgian who a few months earlier had scored a surprise victory over the Frenchman in the same ring and had, as a result, taken temporary possession of the European middleweight title.

This paired Cerdan, and it also paired officials of the since defunct Tournament of Champions, a weird organization which desired to bring Marcel over here to fight Tony Zale for the middleweight championship of the world.

The T. of C. representatives who were in Brussels for the return joust with Delannoit were extremely anxious that Marcel whale the daylight out of the brash young Belgian, regain his European title and thus greatly enhance his value as a gate attraction against Zale.

But Delannoit, in this writer's stubborn opinion, did not cooperate. As we saw the fight from amidst a cluster of screaming Belgians, it was pretty close. Marcel never knocked Delannoit down nor even made the Belgian kid back up. It was a fine barroom brawl, with plenty of blood streaming from cuts over Cerdan's eyes most of the way.

At the end, we agreed with the referee's decision, all right, that Cerdan had won. But we thought, and so wrote, that Marcel had had his hands full every minute of the 15 rounds. Within minutes after the fight ended, Brussels papers were on the street with the Associated Press version.

These fell, inevitably, into the hands of the agents for the Tournament of Champions, and they were extremely upset. When we returned to the Grand hotel some time after midnight it was to a very cool reception.

We were advised, both in pain and anger, that we must have attended the wrong fight, that Cerdan actually had given Delannoit such a one-sided beating that the Belgian might not live until morning.

Several French sports writers who had come from Paris to witness Marcel's triumph began screaming, and things fast were becoming pretty thick, especially when a member of the T. of C. braintrust practically demanded we go back and write a new story, giving what he regarded as the true facts.

But just when glassware might have begun flying, Cerdan came in, patched up like a pre-war suit. He looked tired as he fell into the adjoining chair. Plainly someone had been hitting the little man from Casablanca — possibly Delannoit. We suggested this to him.

"Very hard fight," Marcel assented. "He's very strong, very hard to beat. I'm very tired," he said, sighing deeply.

That was all Marcel had time to say, for his braintrust interrupted quickly to remind the fighter he had another engagement, and whisked him away from there.

Things became much quieter in the Grand hotel after he had gone.

SMU Wins by Extra-Point Margin, But Coach Sponsors Its Abolishment

DALLAS (AP) — Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist, whose team beat Texas, 7-6, Saturday, said Monday he still thinks the point after touchdown should be legislated out of football.

Bell advocated abolishing the extra-point try several years ago but says he couldn't get any support on the national rules committee of which he now is a member.

"It isn't fair," he declared. "A team can play you on even terms — even be better than you — and score a touchdown the same as you, yet it loses because one boy kicks the ball between the goal posts and another doesn't."

Bell chose an opportune time to renew his opposition to the extra-point. The first time he came out against it was after the 1947 Southern Methodist-Texas game which SMU won, 14-13.

"I think if we'd get rid of the point after touchdown we would see better and more thrilling football," he said. "The teams would open up more, try to score touchdowns instead of sitting back and protecting a one-point lead."

"I wouldn't do away with place kicking, however. I think the field goal still has a place in football. After all, a team has to carry the ball down there in order to get a chance at a field goal."

He added that there was no greater thrill in football than the field goal. "It is a spectacular thing," Bell said.

Doak Walker's point after touchdown in 1947 knocked Texas out of the Southwest conference championship. His extra-point Saturday knocked Texas out of the conference race.

"The only thing Doak did in practice Friday was practice kicking extra-points," Bell said. "He tried a dozen. It paid off, of course. But I still think we shouldn't have it in football."

Walker was out of uniform for 10 days because of an attack of influenza. He appeared in only 11 plays against Texas and never did carry the ball. But his one appearance to kick the extra-point won the game for Southern Methodist.

Intramural Cage Tourney to Begin

The women's intramural volleyball tournament has come to a close with Currier IV taking first place in the Thursday night league and Currier II and Alpha Delta Pi tied for first in the Wednesday night league.

Intramural basketball practice will start this week. Practice will be held today, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. Additional practices have been scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 7:30.

The first rounds of play in the tourney starts Nov. 16 and 17.

Hawklets Prepare For Burlington Tilt

Coach Frank Bates' Little Hawks begin serious work this afternoon for their meeting with the powerful Burlington Greyhounds there Friday night.

Bates excused his men from practice Monday because of the reserve game with Franklin of Cedar Rapids under the lights. He hoped that the rest will help boost the team after the 32-18 rebuff West Waterloo handed them.

"The boys came out of the game in good physical shape though," Bates said. "Ken Hay bruised his knee again, but will be ready for Burlington."

Currently tied for the lead in the Little Six conference, Burlington had won 17 games in a row before Ottumwa knocked them off two weeks ago. The Tackelson crew bounced back with vengeance to crush Cedar Falls, 45-13, Friday night after a 13-13 half-time score.

Hawklet Reserves Lose to CR, 6-0

There was nothing in the City high reserves' bag of Halloween tricks that the second stringers from Franklin of Cedar Rapids could not solve Monday night.

The Franklin boys bottled up the Hawklets and scored a 6-0 win in a second-team game at City high field.

Both teams battled through three scoreless quarters. Midway through the fourth period, Franklin started out at midfield and plowed down-field mainly on straight power plays. With fourth down and two yards to go for a touchdown, Bob Petzel drove over with three-minutes of playing time remaining to give Franklin the victory.

NBA Cage Season Begins in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Stags, winners of six straight exhibition games, launch their National Basketball association season tonight against the New York Knickerbockers at the Chicago stadium.

Another N.B.A. contest, between the Tri-City Blawhaws and the St. Louis Bombers, is on a double-header program.

Other league openers will be held at Rochester and Indianapolis.

The Sheboygan Redskins play the Royals at Rochester and the Denver Nuggets will help the Olympians open at Indianapolis.

Booting Star — Gets Points Hard Way

HARTFORD, CONN. (AP) — One of the higher scoring players on the high scoring Trinity college football team makes his points one at a time.

A host of fast, hard-running backs has pretty well divided the 41 touchdowns Trinity has scored this season while beating five opponents without a loss. But Bill Vibert does all the extra-point kicking.

His 31 points compared favorably with the 36 held by Fullback Roger Hall, the leading scorer on the team.

Vibert, a 20-year-old, 155-pound sophomore from Unionville who played three years of football, basketball and baseball at Loomis Institute, might well be the team's leading scorer were it not for an off day against Norwich university. His mates gave him 11 touchdowns, but he converted only five.

Otherwise, he's been pretty accurate — four out of five against Williams, four out of six against Hobart, nine out of 10 against Middlebury, and eight out of nine against Worcester Tech.

Vibert has never tried a field goal in varsity competition. Trinity, averaging 55 points per game to the opposition's five, hasn't needed one so far.

Major League Talk Eyes Playoff Plan

VERSAILLES, KY. (AP) — Professional baseball's major league council meets here today to plan the agenda for the December major league meeting and to consider a proposal for uniform playoffs in the two circuits in event of a tie in the regular season pennant races.

The council also will have for its consideration a proposal to start the major league season early enough to complete the 154-game schedule by Oct. 1. The season customarily opens in mid-April and ends in early October.

The uniform playoff proposal stemmed from the varied systems used in the two leagues.

The American league, in event of a tie in the regular season, decides its winner on the basis of a single game. The National, on the other hand, offers a three game playoff to determine its representative against the American club in the world series.

Irish, Spartans In Top Contest

EAST LANSING, MICH.—Notre Dame, the nation's top ranking football power, and Michigan State will clash Saturday in State's Macklin Field stadium.

A sell-out crowd of more than 50,000 has been assured for months and tickets are selling for $75 a pair by scalpers.

The game will be the 17th meeting between the two schools in the series begun in 1927. The Spartans have managed to cop only two victories from the Irish while dropping 14.

Notre Dame will bring one of the greatest football records in history in the game. They have compiled an unbeaten string of 33 games, only two tie games marring an otherwise perfect record since 1945.

Coach Frank Leahy's six-year record for the Irish, prior to the 1949 campaign, stood at 50 wins, three losses and five ties.

Saturday's contest will find Michigan State a decided underdog, with even confirmed upset pickers likely going slow in predicting an Irish defeat.

The game will bring together two of the country's top backs in Notre Dame's Emil Sitko and Lynn Chandnois of Michigan State. Both have averaged better than six yards per try throughout their college careers.

The game will also pit some outstanding linemen against each other, among them Notre Dame's co-captain Leon Hart and Jim Martin, end and tackle respectively and Michigan State's great guard combination of Don Mason and Ed Bagdon.

Johnny Papit Paces Unbeaten Virginia

PHILADELPHIA — The University of Virginia will arrive at Franklin field Saturday in the same undefeated condition that it sported in 1947, the last time the University of Pennsylvania football team played the Cavaliers.

The Virginians, headed by that southern gentleman, Jarrin' Johnny Papit, have built up a good record this season winning their first six games. They disposed of West Virginia Saturday, 19-14.

The excellent record and the fine running of Papit make the Virginians an interesting team to watch. Papit, who two weeks ago passed the record set by Bill Dudley, Virginia's all time great and little all-American, had a rushing record of 6.4 yards in 133 carries last year.

This year the big 190-pound back has carried 104 times for 774 yards and average of 7.4. He will have help in the backfield from Whitey Michels, veteran quarterback, who will share the duties with Jimmy Lesane sophomore sensation and a left-handed passer.

Steve Osisek is the speed king of the backfield, running from the left halfback position.

LOUIS TO BOX CHESHUL NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Joe Lewis, retired heavyweight champion, signed Monday to meet Joe Chesul, young Bayonne heavyweight, in a 10-round no decision bout Nov. 22 at Newark armory for the march of dimes.

Husband Kills Mother-in-Law, Wife to Satisfy 'Urge to Kill'

DETROIT (UP) — A meek-mannered businessman who complained his home was like "Grand Central station with music pupils instead of trains" hammered his violinist wife and mother-in-law to death early Monday to satisfy an urge to kill.

Balding John A. Harding, 67-year-old executive, said he killed Mrs. Mildred Compton Harding, 46, his third wife, and Mrs. Fred Thompson, 70, her mother, because he was getting a "brush-off" after 16 years of married "hell."

"Mildred had been two - timing me for two years," he told police. "She much preferred to be with younger people, and she told me the only reason she stayed with me was to use our house for her studio."

"I couldn't resist killing them. I've had the impulse for five or six weeks." He said he got "cold sweats" fighting the urge.

Harding bludgeoned them at his Toledo home where his wife, one of the city's best-known musicians, operated a school with four other teachers.

"I feel better now," he said, obviously relaxed. The pint-sized executive used a hammer he usually kept in his car, then fled to Toledo where he confessed to a daughter. She called local police who in turn notified Ohio authorities.

They broke into Harding's 10-room home and found footprints in blood leading from his wife's bedroom.

Mrs. Harding was sprawled in the door to her bedroom, her skull battered shapeless. Inside was her mother, still alive but unconscious. She died at a hospital.

Harding was a retired autoparts manufacturer of moderate means who maintained a small business selling soldering fluids. He had been under a doctor's care several weeks for a nervous condition.

He said he and his wife went to a movie Sunday night, getting to bed well before midnight.

"Then about 1 a.m. I woke up in a cold sweat," he said. "It wasn't anything new — for weeks I would break into a sweat and feel like killing somebody. Nobody in particular, just anybody."

"I got up and went downstairs. I got a bread knife and a hammer out of the kitchen, and came back. Mildred woke up and tried to stop me but I hit her."

"Her mother came in, and I hit her, too, six or seven times."

Toledo police said an autopsy showed Mrs. Harding's skull had been smashed 16 times.

Harding, sitting in a jail cell in perfect calm with the blood of his victims still on his hands, said he dressed, locked the big house and drove to the homes of his two children in Toledo.

He told them to "read the papers and find out what happened." then sped to Detroit, 75 miles north, at 70 miles an hour.

He awakened another daughter, Mrs. Marion Goodhand, and told her of the double-murder. She called local police in suburban Grosse Pointe Woods and they took Harding into custody.

At Wayne county jail he dictated a signed confession and waived extradition. Toledo police returned him to Ohio at mid-afternoon to face murder charges.

As he left he told Mrs. Goodhand, "Things couldn't have been any worse before. Be good."

Both previous wives died, Harding said. His latest marriage had lasted 16 years.

Motion to Dismiss Gambling Charges Heard by Gaffney

District Judge James P. Gaffney Monday heard evidence on a motion to dismiss grand jury indictments against Kenneth Smith, Lone Tree, on grounds he was forced to testify before the jury.

Smith was indicted more than a month ago on charges of illegal possession of gambling devices and intoxicating liquors. He was accused of having in his possession on July 13 whisky, slot machines and punchboards.

Gaffney did not specify when he would give his decision on the motion.

Smith said in the motion filed Oct. 20, he appeared before the grand jury in response to a subpoena and that he was required to give testimony to the grand jury and county attorney concerning the alleged liquor and gambling law violations.

He claimed the testimony tended to prove the charges against him, and also that minutes of all testimony taken before the grand jury were not returned as required by law.

Gaffney took the case under advisement at that time and indicated there was a question as to whether a person could be legally subpoenaed to testify before a grand jury on such charges.

Father Confesses To Daughter

Three persons suffered cuts and bruises at 6:45 p.m. Saturday when the auto in which they were riding was involved in an accident with a truck on highway 6, 17 miles west of here, Highway Patrolman J.L. Smith said.

The injured were Jack L. Good, driver, Richard Howell and C.R. Hendee, all of Colfax.

The truck driver, W.A. Mortinsen, Battle Creek, Iowa, was charged with reckless driving, police said.

Edward C. Duffy, 520 S. Linn street, was injured Sunday when the car he was driving was involved in an accident at Kirkwood avenue and Dodge street with a car driven by Robert E. Shearer, route 6.

Duffy was taken to University hospitals, where several stitches were taken in his nose.

The third accident occurred at Gilbert and Bloomington street Saturday. The autos involved in the accident were driven by Agnez Kurz, 309 Church street, and John P. Walden, 702 E. Bloomington street, police said.

Mary Sue Walden, 702 E. Bloomington street, suffered a slight back injury.

Another accident occurred Sunday on highway 218 near Iowa City. The vehicles involved were driven by John W. Hovland, 320 Ellis avenue, and Ursula M. Sweeting, 1221 Keokuk avenue. No one was injured.

An unknown driver smashed both front fenders and the grill of a car owned by Edward Kentz, 604 S. Dubuque street, while the car was parked near his residence between 9:30 a.m. and noon Monday, according to police.

Switzer Suspends First Jail Sentence

KEOKUK (AP) — Federal District Judge Carroll O. Switzer, who was sworn in last Saturday, passed out his first prison sentence Monday. But he suspended the sentence and also a fine.

Judge Switzer sentenced Frank Slocum, Mt. Sterling, to one year in a federal prison for destruction of rural mail boxes. The court suspended the sentence and put Slocum on probation for one year. The judge then fined Slocum $150 and costs but suspended that too.

Slocum had pleaded guilty.

Judge Switzer accepted a waiver of jurisdiction from Mary Trevino of Fort Madison, for trial in Iowa instead of return to Illinois. She was charged with committing a forgery at Galesburg, Ill., in April of 1947.

Despite Ill Reputation —

Stringy Baling Wire

— Gets Engineers' Approval

By DON ANDERSON

Next time you have a chance to buy something "put together with baling wire" — buy it!

Take the engineers' word for it. Baling wire is considerably stronger than its reputation in that time-worn phrase leads you to believe.

Suppose a pulling test is put to a length of baling wire just one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter (thickness).

That stringy anemic-looking piece of wire will support a hefty man weighing almost 200 pounds, according to the slide rule boys.

If the diameter is doubled to one-eighth of an inch, the wire probably won't break until four 200-pound men have all their weight pulling on it.

How then, did this piece of merchandise get such an ill reputation?

There are probably as many explanations as there are tin Lizzies still whizzing down the highways. But one professor in the SUI college of engineering explains it as logically as any.

It seems baling wire was introduced to the American farmer along with mechanized, though horse-drawn, farm equipment. And the forerunners of our modern automobiles appeared on the American farm scene not too many years later.

In those days, the story goes, the farmer was just a little more frugal than the farmer of today. Just by coincidence there was usually some second-hand baling wire lying around the barn.

So what if a bolt fell out or a bumper jarred loose? The farmer always had some baling wire to fasten the loose parts together until he had time to visit the village blacksmith.

The repair, intended to be temporary, far too often became a permanent one. A few rattles naturally resulted from the makeshift repair measure.

Actually, baling wire is as scientifically manufactured as your home appliance.

A large mild steel rod is forced through a series of round holes cut in tough, strong tool steel. Each hole is progressively smaller than the hole before it.

This operation not only reduces the rod to the proper wire size, but also puts additional strength and hardness into the final product.

Re-softening the metal by heating is often necessary in the manufacturing process, and the wire is usually heated again at the end of the process to make it bend easily.

Registered Students To Get Work Data

SUI's business and industrial placement office plans to hold a meeting at 4:30 p.m. Friday open to all students who have registered with the office, Director Helen Barnes said Monday.

The room in which the meeting will be held will be announced to students when they contact the office in room 111, University hall this week to make reservations to attend the meeting, she said.

Students who have interviews scheduled next week with company representatives are particularly urged to attend the meeting, she added.

Data on job opportunities last year and the type of jobs accepted by graduates will be presented at the meeting.

Pointers on how applicants should conduct themselves in an interview with a prospective employer will also be given at the meeting, she said.
