May Halt Use Of Big Bands At SUI Dances

By BETTY KERR

A slump in ticket sales for this year's dances and concerts may call a temporary halt to name band appearances at SUI. A lack of interest in "musical greats" which began last year has increased even more this year and may force the Central Party committee to postpone name band engagements for next semester, committee members stated.

Poor Attendance

Committee Member Anne Smith, A4, Galesburg, Ill., said ticket sales failed to finance the appearance of both Artie Shaw and Dizzy Gillespie.

"We were able to meet the price of the Woody Herman-King Cole concerts only because of last-minute advertising in nearby cities and by importing students from Washington (Iowa) Junior college and Coe college (Cedar Rapids)," Miss Smith said.

Future name band appearances depend upon the success of ticket sales for the Jimmy Dorsey Winter Formal Friday night, Committee Pres. Jim McKenzie, A4, Appleton, Wis., said.

Only 400 Sold

The Iowa Union desk reported that by Wednesday night only about 400 of the 800 available tickets had been sold.

Whatever the reason may be for the scanty response to name bands, SUI does not hold a monopoly on the situation. The same lack of interest exists at practically all colleges and universities this year, McKenzie said.

Time was when "musical greats" kindled enough student enthusiasm to guarantee first-day sellouts. McKenzie indicated the low ticket sales could be due to high admission prices, although ticket prices are gauged only to meet the cost price of the bands' appearances.

He also suggested students may be more interested in smaller social functions sponsored by campus organizations.

Fraternities Place Second in Contest

The SUI inter-fraternity council has been awarded second place in a national contest among inter-fraternity councils recently judged in Washington, D.C.

Graham Marshall, SUI fraternity counsel of student affairs, said the award is based on university-fraternity relations, fraternity community service and inter-fraternity cooperation on a single campus.

Sixteen SUI social fraternities make up the SUI inter-fraternity council, Marshall said. Cornell university's inter-fraternity council was awarded first place in the contest.

SOME BABY

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Le Grant Bolschweiler Wednesday filed suit for divorce against his wife for her baby sitting activities. His complaint asserted the "baby" was a 16-year-old youth.

Cleared

CLEARED of conspiracy charge, Miss Helen Campbell, former secretary to Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), wiped her eye with a handkerchief Wednesday as she left the federal district court in Washington.

Rep. Thomas Drops Plea of Not Guilty; Secretary Cleared

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) Tuesday suddenly dropped his fight against charges of padding his congressional payroll and threw himself on the mercy of the court with a plea of "nolo contendere." This meant he no longer contested the charges in a four-count indictment alleging fraud and conspiracy against the government.

Federal Judge Alexander M. Holtzoff immediately set Friday, Dec. 9 as the date for passing sentence on Thomas. The maximum penalty would be 32 years in prison and $40,000 in fines.

Congressional parliamentarians said that if Thomas follows precedent, he will resign from congress. He was re-elected to his seventh term in the house on Nov. 2, 1949, six days before he was indicted.

But congressional officials said Thomas does not have to resign. The house alone judges the qualifications of its members, even in the case of a felony conviction against an already elected member. The courts have nothing to do with it.

Without objection from the government, Judge Holtzoff dismissed the charge against Thomas' co-defendant and former secretary, Miss Helen Campbell, 64, who tipped off the justice department more than a year ago about her employer's operation of a salary "kickback" scheme.

Only a few minutes before the trial ended, FBI agent Frederick Vecchery testified he had found that congressional paychecks totaling $8,873.57 had been issued to three women whom the government contended were used by Thomas for salary "kickback" purposes.

Return Convict To Ft. Madison; File No Charge

Phillip Hill, 31-year-old convict who was captured at Maquoketa Tuesday night after escaping from the University hospitals, was returned to the Fort Madison penitentiary about 1 p.m. Wednesday, Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy said.

Hill had made his escape Tuesday afternoon, after commandeering a taxi from a woman driver who had driven him over a number of roads southeast of Iowa City supposedly in search of his parents' home.

County Atty. Jack C. White, when asked if charges had been filed against Hill, said he did not know.

Won't Press Charges

Vincent Lalla, owner of the cab, said Wednesday he had not filed charges against the convict because to do so would only be "an additional expense to the state."

Lalla said an attorney had told him an addition to Hill's present rape sentence would probably be served concurrently and nothing would be gained.

The cab owner expressed praise for all peace officers who participated in Hill's capture.

Lee Stuart, 22-year-old driver who alleged Hill beat her in the face and body before escaping in the cab, said Wednesday she would not return to the taxi job she had held less than two days when the incident occurred.

Here Three Months

The woman said she had been in Iowa City about three months, and had come here from Miami, Fla. She now lives in Alberhasky's Trailer park on Highway 218, north of Iowa City.

Hill was captured by Jackson county officers after he was seen running from a garage in Maquoketa about 8 p.m. Tuesday.

He had been reported missing from University hospitals at 11:25 a.m., where he had been brought for treatment.

Instigator of Raids To Face Charges

Donald L. Myers, SUI electronics technician, will stand trial at 10 a.m. today before a jury of six persons on a charge of reckless driving, Justice of the Peace C. J. Hutchinson said Wednesday.

Myers instigated raids against the Lighthouse and Shannon's, two North Liberty night clubs, Aug. 11 and 12. He was charged with reckless driving Sept. 21 by Ivan Schmidt a part owner of one of the clubs.

Myers also is charged with running two stop lights in Iowa City. He will not be tried by jury on these counts Hutchinson said.

The trial will be held in the city hall council room, Hutchinson said.

CONVICTED FOR INCEST

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tennis Coach Leslie Jahn, 42, was sentenced to one to 50 years in prison Wednesday on three counts of incest despite a plea from his daughter that he be given a suspended sentence.

Trucks Wait to Load Coal in Last-Minute Rush

DRIVERS WAITED IMPATIENTLY to haul coal from Brazil, Ind. mines before the soft coal miners went out on strike at 11 p.m. (Iowa time) Wednesday. Shown here are a portion of the 1,500 trucks used in the operation. Drivers urged the operators to fill the trucks as rapidly as possible before the work stoppage began.

Communists Take Over Chungking

HONG KONG (AP) — Chungking fell Wednesday. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek fled his recently established Nationalist capital a step ahead of an estimated 20,000 Chinese Communists.

Reliable sources in Taipei, Formosa, Chiang's island headquarters, said Chungking was lost shortly before noon (10 p.m. Iowa time, Tuesday). It had been expected. But the latest Communist triumph pushed the Nationalists ever deeper into western China.

In Hong Kong, the Chinese newspaper, Sing Tao Man Po, reported 20,000 Communist troops under Gen. Liu Po-Cheng crossed the nearby Yangtze river from the south bank and entered the outskirts of Chungking at 1 (11 a.m. Iowa time, Tuesday). Its dispatch said Kiangph, three miles west, was occupied immediately.

Taipei informants said Chiang's personal sky-master plane reached Chengtu, 170 miles northwest of Chungking, at 11 a.m. They have no details. Government officials preceded the Nationalist commander to the indicated new refugee capital — fourth within a year.

The Communists gave the last three Chungking evacuation planes a hot send-off. "There was gunfire all around," said Marjorie Chen, secretary to the Chinese education minister, on her arrival here from Chengtu. She said the three transports, including one carrying foreign correspondents, got off safely and reached Chengtu.

Authoritative quarters at Taipei predicted Chiang would take over the Nationalist presidency in two or three days and issue an important statement — possibly charting the government's course in the present critical period.

Iowa Citian to Get Rent Violation Suit

The government will file suit this week against Glen Cochran, 515 E. College street, for violation of federal rent laws and regulations. It was announced Wednesday.

The federal housing expeditor regional office in Chicago said damages totaling $359.50 will be sought in U.S. district court in Davenport.

William Kaplan, chief of the Chicago litigation branch, said the suit charges Cochran with rent overcharges to a tenant, John Anderson, A4, from June, 1948 to July 6, 1949.

Kaplan's announcement stated the government will seek treble damages of $232 and a permanent injunction prohibiting Cochran from further violation of the rent laws.

The suit also calls for restitution of $127.50 to Anderson, who lives at 515 1-2 E. College street.

Four Children Perish As Kalo Home Burns

KALO, IA. (AP) — Four children burned to death Wednesday when their frame home was destroyed by flames as neighbors and an older brother stood by helplessly.

The four were children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clayton, Negro residents of this small community eight miles southeast of Fort Dodge. They were Katherine Jo, 4; George, 3; Rosie, 18 months, and Kevin, three months. Six brothers and sisters survive.

Wives Plan Sitdown Till U.S. Recovers Interned Husbands

LONG BEACH, CALIF. (AP) — Mrs. Ruby Smith declared Tuesday that she and Mrs. Shirley Bender intend to stage a "sit-down" in Washington until the government does something about getting their servicemen husbands released from Chinese Communist custody.

The husbands, Navy Chief Electrician William C. Smith of Long Beach and Marine Master Sgt. Elmer C. Bender of Cincinnati, have been held since October, 1948.

Mrs. Bender told the Los Angeles Mirror by telephone: "I've written hundreds of letters. I wrote the President, two congressmen, the marines, the state department, the Red Cross, and missionaries. I even wrote the Communists."

Mrs. Bender said the only word she had had about her husband was from marine buddies who said he was uninjured in the forced landing of his plane in Communist territory, and from Nationalist undercover agents who reported that Smith and Bender were alive and well cared for.

Former Governor Of Wisconsin Dies

SULLIVAN, WIS. (AP) — Former Republican Governor Julius P. Heil, 73, collapsed after a hunting trip Wednesday and died a few minutes later of a heart attack.

Heil, who served two terms from 1939 through 1942, was stricken in the automobile of his hunting companion, Henry Kuehn of Milwaukee. Huehn took him to the home of John Wade, caretaker of the Bark River hunting preserve, and summoned medical aid.

Heil died a few moments after arriving at the Wade home. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Roger Malcom.

ALASKA DEFENSE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, disclosed Wednesday the armed forces have agreed on joint defense plans to provide "adequate" security for the far northern bastion of Alaska, the U.S. territory closest to Russia.

Kapers Holds Auditions

Kampus Kapers, the all-university variety show, held its first auditions Wednesday night at Macbride auditorium.

Final auditions will be held from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. today. Director Jack Pedersen, A4, Marshalltown, said there are still a number of spots in the chorus line to be filled.

Coal Miners Strike Again As Operators Stand Pat On Terms

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The nation's 400,000 soft coal miners went on strike again Wednesday after United Mine Workers Chief John L. Lewis failed to crack the "solid front" of the mine owners during a three-week truce.

The grumbling miners tightened their belts another notch and waited to catch some hint of the union chief's new strategy when he meets with the UMW's 200-man policy committee at 10 a.m. (Iowa time) in New York.

The miners waited at the pit entrances Tuesday night hoping Lewis would extend the truce that began last Nov. 9 after a 52-day strike. But as the mid-night deadline drew closer, they dumped the water from their lunch pails and headed home. The strike was on, the fourth major mine shutdown this year.

No Contract Expected
A UMW official in New York predicted the new strike "undoubtedly will last for some time."

He said there was no chance of a contract settlement in the near future.

The majority of the miners appeared to be against the new walkout and there appeared to be growing unrest in some coal fields. The miners have lost some $1,200 each in wages because of the many walkouts and the three-day work week period.

In the Harland county fields of Kentucky, the panhandle of West Virginia and the great soft coal fields in western Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana, individual miners were "speaking their piece" more than ever before. Some of them expressed open defiance of the burly union chief — something almost unheard of before this year.

Miners bitter out of the pits were bitter about the strike and resentful because Lewis had not postponed the walkout until after Christmas at least.

Most of the miners appeared to be satisfied with their present wages and would rather keep on working than have to strike again for the demands made by Lewis on the operators, estimated to cost between 30 and 35 cents per ton of coal mined for higher wages, shorter hours and bigger payments to the union's welfare fund.

Lewis' maneuvers to crack the "solid front" of the operators during the truce failed miserably and operator and union sources agree that "we're closer together now than when we started."

Truman Undecided On Injunction Use

KEY WEST, FLA. (UP)—President Truman debated Tuesday night whether to use the Taft-Hartley law against the coal miners.

Truman was in constant touch with his No. 1 labor troubleshooter, John R. Steelman. Steelman was in touch with Cyrus Ching, the federal mediator who is in frequent touch with Lewis.

The President has said in the past that he would rather act on coal outside the limitations of the Taft-Hartley law. When and if a new coal strike develops, the President will act on guidance from Steelman.

The last public announcement by Truman on the coal situation was that it would have to become a national emergency before he would take action.

BUS STRIKE AVERTED

DAVENPORT (AP) — The threat of a bus drivers' strike which would tie up transportation service in the Quad cities area was averted Wednesday by an agreement to establish a three-man board to study a new contract.

DIES OF BURNS

ATLANTIC (AP) — Johnson (Zack) Wilbourn, 86, Anita farmer, died in a hospital here Tuesday night of burns suffered Tuesday afternoon.

Crashed Plane Found; No Survivors Reported

MCHORD AIR BASE, WASH. (AP) — McChord air base reported at 5 p.m. (Iowa time) Wednesday that a search party had reached the scene of a crashed airplane on Mount St. Helens in southwest Washington.

The McChord information office said the mountain party had identified the wreckage as the airforce C-54 that vanished with six aboard last week on a McChord-Portland training flight. A McChord officer said the mountain party had reported: "Got to scene of airplane crash. No survivors. Plane under snow."

Police Raid 50 Des Moines Establishments

DES MOINES (AP) — The most extensive series of simultaneous raids in the history of Iowa hit Des Moines and Polk county Wednesday afternoon.

The raids on more than 50 places began during the noon hour on orders of Attorney General Robert L. Larson. Sixty pinball machines of the horse race betting type had been hauled in by 14 semi-trailer truck moving vans.

More than 50 state agents, deputy sheriffs and Des Moines police men participated in the raids.

The raids followed by several weeks Larson's orders to peace officers throughout the state to strictly enforce all gambling laws.

While some of those in charge of the actual raiding declined to be quoted by name, they expressed the opinion that most of the machines are actually owned by a syndicate, or syndicates.

Sheriff Howard Reppert estimated the cost of the machines at $500 to $600 each.

No arrests were made, but operators of many of the places where raids were conducted were told they would be ordered to appear in court later.

Chief R.W. Nebergall of the state bureau of investigation said, "We'll have to go over the evidence to see what we've got. Any charges will depend upon that."

The sheriff also said that at West Des Moines "they got the machines out before we got there. The whole town is as clean as a whistle."

Santa Warm Up Before Dance

Well, At Least It's More Interesting

MICHIGAN CITY, IND. (AP) — Mrs. Theresa Michaels, 26, arrested Wednesday on a drunk driving charge, admitted that she had had several beers.

"I'm just learning to drive and someone told me it would be easier if I had a few drinks first," she explained.

University of Iowa vs. Iowa State

Reprinted from the Iowa State Daily. The comment is correct in the new story in last Tuesday's Daily, reporting the decision of Cardinal Guild to take action if negotiations for a resumption of athletic events between Iowa State and the University of Iowa break down, at least shows the intense interest in a possible renewal of the series. Apparently not only the students on both campuses, but a good many other Iowans are either enthusiastically for or against the idea.

The whole situation is reminiscent of a similar one in 1940. Enthusiasm for an Iowa State-SUI game ran high then too. Petitions were circulated. Newspapers and radio stations carried big stories on the negotiations. Athletic officials squirmed. But when it came to scheduling a game, too many difficulties popped up.

These same difficulties are in the way now, as we pointed out in an editorial Nov. 12. The Daily Iowan has listed them. Some of them have been over-emphasized, we feel. Others are pretty hard to get around.

We don't think, for instance, that an Iowa State-SUI game would necessarily "engender bitter feelings." The Drake-Iowa State rivalry, while keen, has generally been on a friendly level. It has never gotten out of hand to the extent of making it necessary to cancel that traditional series, although the two schools are only 30 miles apart.

We don't quite see how a game with Iowa State would put SUI in an uncomfortable position either. The Iowa-State Drake game hardly takes on minor importance, either in the eyes of the players or the fans, in spite of the difference in size of the schools.

As to the financial aspect of an Iowa State-SUI series, we must admit that it is impractical. And unless the series would benefit BOTH schools, there would be little point in scheduling it.

At this point, we're quite willing to throw up our hands and let the athletic officials decide the matter. They are the ones who should anyway. They have all the facts. Iowa State Athletic Director Louis Menze has said that the results of negotiations between the two schools will be released by Dec. 3. We're eagerly awaiting that announcement. —EJS.

The Road to War

Two seemingly separate actions reported in Tuesday's newspapers have a relationship too close to ignore in this war-torn world.

Number 1: Military chiefs of the 12 Atlantic powers agreed Tuesday on a strategic blueprint for the defense of the entire north Atlantic area, giving the United States charge of international bombing with Britain, backstopping it with medium and short-range bombing.

Number 2: This country announced Tuesday night that it will conduct a new series of atomic weapons tests at the Pacific at Bikini, employing weapons believed to be even more terrible than the bombs exploded in the spring of 1948.

Add the two separated items and this is a likely conclusion: The United States along with the other nations of the western world is talking peace at the UN and walking down the road to war with Russia, all the while casting fearful glances backward at the narrow and obstacle-filled road to peace.

It's enough to make you shudder. But I like it or not, the logic is there and all our actions in the past four years tend to add even more to the inexorable conclusion.

Back of the fear on both sides is the thought that someone with a nervous trigger finger may provoke a hot war in which the A-bomb would be used. Since the atomic race began when this country exploded bombs at Nagasaki and Hiroshima, neither side has spent much time vacationing from the thought that the other side was working night and day to win the atomic race.

Since neither side will budge in their stipulations, only one aid remains whose help can be enlisted to stop the cold war. That aid is the UN. It is the one remaining place where we can still sit at cross the table from the eastern nations and try to bargain.

UN assistance has been of little help so far. But the sovereignty each nation has relinquished to give the UN a chance has been a step in the right direction. World government is such a tremendous and faraway step. But still membership in the UN is a straw worth grasping.

We should guard it as though it is the only straw. It may prove to be just that.

A Revolting State of Affairs

In the wake of SUI's selection of the most eligible bachelor on campus, Ohio State came up with a contest that puts our MEBOC even in the shade.

At Ohio State, where they apparently operate on a beauty-is-skin-deep proposition, an annual affair is staged to select the ugliest man on campus.

Putty noses, outlandish clothes, coupled with a natural unpleasant appearance are all part of the equipment necessary to win the coveted crown of UMOC.

The selection is made by popular campus vote. A picture of each of the candidates is hung on a bulletin board of the Ohio State student union. Each penny dropped in a box under the candidates' pictures counts as a vote. Proceeds are turned over to charities.

The idea sounds like a pretty good one. After all, a man's stock would get quite a boost if he could boast, "I'm the ugliest man on campus."

A Case of Second Fiddle

Now that Vice-Pres. Alben Barkley is safely ashore on the seas of matrimony, it comes to mind that one more eligible is flitting around Washington these days. Who else, but the President's blue-eyed daughter Margaret.

Despite rumors linking her with dashing bachelors from the four corners of the country it looks like Margaret is contented to stay single for a while. Her music career, she says, is her main interest at the moment.

One cabinet officer is willing to bet 25-1 that Maggie won't marry in the next year. Despite this confidence, however, we've a sneaking suspicion that some gey blade will saunter into the Pennsylvania avenue apartment some day soon, and Harry Truman will become a father-in-law.

World Awaits Soviet Action Against Tito

By J.M. ROBERTS JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Andrej Vishinsky told the United Nations Monday that it was nonsense to believe that Soviet Russia organizes revolutions and seeks world domination through fomenting uprisings.

At the same time there was world speculation that the latest Cominform statement was designed to foment an anti-Tito uprising in Yugoslavia.

Vishinsky would have you forget the manner in which the Communist minorities took over Poland, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. The armed "action committees." The food and job rationing systems under which a man had to be on the "right" side or starve. The pressure of the Russian army and the organized hooligan squads. The revolt in Greece.

But the Cominform reminds that there is an "irreconcilable struggle" against "bourgeois nationalism."

That's Tito's trouble. He wants a Communist regime, but one independent of Kremlin dictation. Aside from whatever it may mean to Yugoslavia, his stand has done one important thing. It has made Russia say plainly that even a Communist nation is her enemy unless she dominates it.

Students of Russian tactics are pretty well agreed that the Tito defection represents one of the most serious challenges which Moscow policy has ever faced. In France and Italy, for instance, the Communists have always had to maintain a certain show of patriotism in order to get anywhere at all. In the United States they always profess publicly that they follow the party line only because it is what America needs.

If Tito gets away with his independence, Lenin - Stalinism, which in Russia has been absorbed by the country's traditional imperialism, might in other countries revert to Marxism and become almost lost in the general trend toward socialism.

The first impression of the latest Cominform statement, calling on Communists everywhere to intensify the battle and to exert every effort against Tito, is that it is only more of the same.

Its timing, however, coincides with independent reports that Russia is about to make some concrete move against Tito. Soviet troop movements in the Balkans are believed to have been designed to encourage the belief among underground operatives in Belgrade that they will get support if they try for a coup. Or the Greek pattern, of sending Cominform - armed Yugoslav dissidents across the border, might be repeated.

If Russia or her satellites make no move against Tito, Mr. Vishinsky may find a time when he can make his odd claims in a better atmosphere. But to Russian-style communism, Tito is a heretic. And a non-liquidated heretic represents a Communist defeat. Inaction is not indented

By JOE BROWN

THOSE University theater people did such a good job, in my opinion, on "Command Decision" that visions of it continue to float in the back of my mind.

That play and "You Can't Take It With You" were well enough done for them to step up and take a few very deserved bows.

I was once in a play myself. It was such a big event that memories of it still haunt my memory — and I use "haunt" after consideration of its meaning.

I was a member of the sixth grade class at the time, and that being the highest grade, we were the same as seniors.

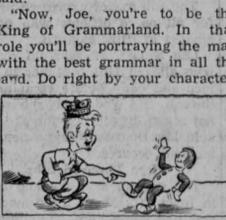

AS SENIORS, we owed it to the "children" below us and to our parents to stage a play for their benefit.

The name of the vehicle (that sounds real professional, doesn't it?) was "Alice in Grammarland," and, as I remember, it had to do with a king trying the cases of his subjects who had committed the crime of making grammatical errors.

And who should be given the leading role? None other than Mrs. Brown's young'n.

I still remember dear old Miss Hall, my sixth grade teacher. (Isn't it funny how you speak so differently of teachers years later?) She took me aside and said:

"Now, Joe, you're to be the King of Grammarland. In that role you'll be portraying the man with the best grammar in all the land. Do right by your character."

Joe. Your speech should be better than anyone else's.

"Yes'm." I said. "I ain't gonna make no grammar errors."

She winced a little, put the back of her hand to her forehead and walked away.

BUT MY memory wasn't too good at its best, and with that bunch of mothers and little brats out in front of me, my mind worked about like 40 - weight oil in 15-below weather.

However, with promptings from Miss Hall on every other cue I got along pretty well.

As King of Grammarland, I sat on the throne beside my queen (who was really my worst enemy in real life) and tried my heathen subjects who had said "ain't" and "ain't got no."

I was throwing out jail sentences right and left. I had half of my kingdom in the jug, as I remember it.

AT THE end of each court case, after I'd sentenced the murderer of the King's language, I'd always brighten up. Because at that point I always knew what my next lines were.

With the confidence of a Barrister, I'd roar (in a sixth grade voice):

"Bring on the next case!"

That was my very special line. Oh, how I loved it! It was short, easy to remember and easy to say.

I sort of fouled up the deal a few times, though, by suddenly shouting in the midst of someone else's lines:

"Bring on the next case!"

I was eager. But I did it up good in the end. Just before the play was over, I had passed sentence on some poor unfortunate who had said, "That's more better."

AS MY jailers hauled him away to the pokie, I brought my fist down and shouted:

"Bring on the next case!"

No response.

"Bring on the next case!" I shouted again.

No response.

"I said bring on the next case. Can't you hear?"

"The little queen (I mean the little queen) beside me leaned over and said:

"You dummy, there ain't no more cases."

Well, when I looked over to where Miss Hall stood and saw the look on her face, I knew a certain little king whose best bet would have been abdication.

But she stood beside the only door and it looked like I was going to have to face a hostile parliament.

Miss Hall resigned at the end of that term, supposedly to get married.

I sure hope she didn't have no bad luck in her marriage because she was about the most best teacher I ever met up with.

TO THE EDITOR:

Your editorial of Nov. 24 raised some questions about the NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People) which I would like to answer.

We have not been unsuccessful in obtaining official recognition from the university; but, because of time, we have not completed the requirements necessary for recognition — namely a charter from the national organization, approval of the state organization, and a detailed statement of the means by which we will achieve our aim of abolishing discrimination against minority groups.

With regard to your question as to whether we will concentrate on the President's civil rights proposal and other national issues or concentrate on local situations, we, as all other chapters of NAACP, will work on national, state and local issues.

Our aim is to do everything possible to abolish all forms of discrimination and segregation regardless of where they occur.

We are unable to understand your statement regarding the possibility of the local chapter of the NAACP being run by a bunch of "pseudo-reformers."

Our statement of purpose is clear, and we expect that all who join will join because of their belief in it.

Our organization operates under a constitution, and all decisions are made by a democratic vote as provided under this constitution.

If following such a procedure will mean that we are allowing ourselves to be run by a "bunch of pseudo-reformers," then we cannot help it. Our belief in democratic practice far outweighs our fears of the type of person you imply.

We invite all who sincerely desire to work for the abolition of all forms of discrimination and segregation against minority groups to join our organization.

Bachelors Tied to 'Apron Strings'

CHICAGO (AP) — The young bachelor who is hard to drag to the altar may be tied to his mother's apron strings, a sociologist said Wednesday.

Robert F. Winch of Northwestern university said that in a study of college courtship he found a "definite" correlation between the stubborn bachelor and the fact that he is very close to his mother.

But the girls, Winch said, show no such emotional ties to their parents when they are out to get a man.

Winch made a survey of parent-child ties in courtship among 435 male and 502 female students at 16 midwestern colleges. The guinea pigs were students 19 to 25 years old whose parents are still living.

He concluded that "the man who is emotionally free of his mother has a much better chance of succeeding in courtship."

The father-son relationship has little or no bearing on how a boy fares in getting married, Winch said.

Farm Income Slump Predicted Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oris V. Wells, the agriculture department's top economic forecaster, said Wednesday net farm income next year may "drift" as low as $12-billion.

It hit a high of $18-billion in 1947, when the world was looking to this country for food, then went into a tailspin that still is in progress. It is expected to total only about $14-billion this year.

Wells, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics, made his forecast before a senate subcommittee which is trying to find out why retail food prices are not falling as fast as farm prices.

Chairman Guy M. Gillette (D-Iowa) said the senators will start looking into the milk price picture on Friday with the idea of drafting "suitable corrective measures" when all the facts are in.

Mayor Asks War On City Gambling

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mayor De Lesseps S. Morrison, the crusading head of New Orleans city government, Wednesday called for war on gamblers who attempt to control American cities.

The man who drove slot machines out of his city called on more than 500 mayors, city managers and other civic officials to combat gambling and racket influences in their bailiwicks to "prove to the world that strong local government serves the people best."

Morrison, president of the American Municipal Association, formally opened the 1949 session of the group here. His plea for all-out war on gamblers was echoed by Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles, a past president of the AMA.

THE TENNIS RACQUET in her hand recalls memories of England for Mary Ella Critz (above), instructor in the SUI women's physical education department. Miss Critz, who spent last year as an exchange teacher in Bedford, England, returned to this country with varied English souvenirs including a tennis racket, a hockey stick and English china. The racket features nylon strings, a comparatively new discovery there, she says, although the material has been widely used in this country for that purpose.

Teacher Back from England Tells of Sports

By JULIENNE JENSEN

After giving cricket a whirl in England as an exchange teacher, Mary Ella Critz, instructor in the SUI women's physical education department, has returned to teach her more customary courses in golf and canoeing. Mary Feaver, Bedford, England, came to SUI last year when Miss Critz went to Bedford Physical college. Both teachers continued under salary of their respective schools.

112 Teachers — The exchange system, which operates through Dr. Paul Smith of the U.S. department of education and Edith Ford of the British division, placed 112 teachers from 37 states in England, Scotland, Wales and North Ireland last year. The main difference between English and American schools, according to Miss Critz, is the segregation of boys and girls at all educational levels. The emphasis is on the arts and classics rather than sciences and vocational training.

Gymnastics are considered more important in the British physical education program than the American variety of sports. The British claim they develop poise, coordination and balance. "At least," says Miss Critz, "they do develop muscle."

Favored English sports, however, are cricket, net ball, swimming, tennis, hockey and lacrosse, a game originated by the American Indians. Folk dancing is also enjoyed by Britishers.

'Nearly Froze' — Miss Critz sailed from New York in July of 1948. "It was icy!" she recalled, and "I nearly froze from the time I got there until late in May."

She was impressed by the small size of things in England — from trains to the fields which looked like patchwork. "I became very hungry for a nice-big steak!" she said, remembering starchy and boiled English cooking. "There was plenty of food, but no variety." Miss Critz made no additions to her wardrobe during her English sojourn. She explained that British women are not style conscious and fashion is to be found only in London or Edinburgh.

On Health Panel — The doctor at Bedford Physical college, Miss Critz reports, was a member of the British Health plan panel, caring for 150 college students in addition to several hundred townspeople. "He was kept going all the time," she said.

Miss Critz explained that getting glasses or false teeth through the health plan is very slow because of the red tape involved. She said also that many foreigners take advantage of the plan. English schools recess for a month at Christmas and Easter and for six weeks in the summer. These recesses gave Miss Critz a total of five months for travel in the British Isles and on the continent. "Traveling like that costs money," she smiled, "but it's wonderful!"

Humanities Society Plans Talk on Plato

Guest speaker at the Humanities society lecture Friday will be Prof. Paul MacKendrick of the University of Wisconsin classics department.

"Plato: Anti-Democratic" will be the topic of his speech at 8 p.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Prof. George Kernodle, president of the Humanities society and member of the SUI dramatic arts department, said MacKendrick will discuss the controversy over Plato's ideas on government and other dialogues.

Many scholars, Kernodle said, claim that Plato was actually anti-democratic, though his dialogues are generally interpreted as advocating democracy and modern social and political ideas.

Open 50th Cage Season With Colorado Tonight

Iowa's 50th season of basketball opens at the fieldhouse tonight at 8, with the sophomore-laden Hawks playing host to Colorado college, the little school from Colorado Springs, Colo.

An estimated 7,500 persons will watch heavily favored Iowa try for its 41st consecutive non-conference victory on the home floor. Not since Kansas university tripped the Hawks in 1942 has Iowa finished second-best against a non-loop foe here.

Rollie Williams, head coach in the absence of the convalescent Pops Harrison, will start a team of two sophomores, a junior center and a senior at one guard position.

The newcomers to the varsity are Bob Clifton, from Boone, and Ev Cochrane, an East high alumnus from Des Moines. Frank Calsbeek, the 6-foot, 6 1/2-inch center, is a junior, who hit his season's high in the final conference game last year with a 29-point outburst against Michigan.

Guard Bob Schulz is a familiar figure to Iowa basketball, having held down a varsity spot for three seasons and now beginning his fourth. Bob Vollers, the other starter, is a senior who was used mostly on relief for the past two seasons.

Colorado, on a swing through the midwest, will try to do better than the 77-44 defeat handed it a year ago here. Guard Jack Quamme leads the attack that enabled the Tigers to come within three points of the high-geared Denver AAU Chevrolets in their opening game on Monday.

Irish Dominate AP All-American Eleven

Reichardt, Dittmer Voted Recognition

NEW YORK (AP)—Notre Dame's all conquering football legions placed three men on The Associated Press 1949 All-American, a domination surpassed in recent years only by Army's contribution of four in 1945.

A fourth Notre Dame star, Quarterback Bobby Williams, was a close contender for the first

Two Iowans Honored

Two Iowa players gained honorable mention in the AP poll. They were End Jack Dittmer and Fullback Bill Reichardt.

team places won by his teammates, Emil Sitko, fullback; Leon Hart, end; and Jim Martin, tackle.

Doak Walker, triple-threat spark of Southern Methodist, made the All-America fourth year in a row, and Charlie Justice of North Carolina placed in the backfield for the second time.

Arnold Galiffa, Army's smooth quarterback, edged out Williams for the first team. Rod Franz of California is back at guard for the second year. The first team is rounded out with Clayton Tonnemaker, the Minnesota giant at center; Wade Walker of Oklahoma at tackle; James (Froggy) Williams of Rice at end; and John Schweder of Pennsylvania at guard.

In this day of specialization it is significant that the All-American line is composed of men who play both offense and defense. The backs, by contrast, were used almost exclusively for offense, but in each case were rated high in defensive capabilities.

Probably the most controversial of any of the omissions from the first three All-America teams is Eddie Le Baron of the College of the Pacific, called by Coach Lawrence (Buck) Shaw of the professional San Francisco 49ers "the best quarterback in college football this year."

There could be no sure test of his ability, however, as he played only against minor opposition.

Then in the second team backfield, along with Williams, are such stars as Chuck Ortmann of Michigan, Bob Celeri of California, and Hillary Chollet of Cornell, all responsible for leading their teams to victorious seasons. In the same category on the third All-America are Eddie Price of Tulane and John Papit of Virginia.

The 1949 All-America, selected on the advice and recommendations of more than 250 sports editors, radio broadcasters and AP staff writers, represents a turning point. It may well be the last that includes married men with World War II experience, such as Justice, Wade Walker and Franz. It represents a trend towards a younger, lighter team. Even though it has three men of 25, its average age is 22.8 years, and its average weight — in spite of Tonnemaker and Hart both of whom weigh nearly 250 — is 199.4 pounds compared to 204.3 last year.

Geographically it comprises two easterners, three men from the south and southwest, four from the middle west, one from the far west and one from Oklahoma who can be counted either in the southwest or middle west depending on the viewpoint. All the 11 men are seniors.

There might have been argument over the backfield, but no one could argue over one end position — Leon Hart, the Notre Dame giant. If ever there was a unanimous All-America, the Irish co-captain is it. He was the pivot of the Notre Dame defense, going to the side on which the opposition lined up strongest. On offense, he scored three times on passes and a fourth on his famous end-around play on which he averaged better than six yards throughout the season.

The First Team:

St. Patrick's Wins From Parnell, 55-39

St. Patrick's found Parnell to its liking here Wednesday night and waltzed to a 55-39 win.

The forward wall composed of Earl Cooney and Tom Falls provided the scoring punch that gave the Iowa City club its margin of victory. Earle Cooney hit for 19 points, while Tom Falls chipped in with 13.

St. Pat's led at the quarter, 18-12. The pace slowed down a bit in the second period with the score standing, 23-17, at halftime.

Parnell fell a bit farther behind in the third quarter with the count at 39-25 going into the final eight minutes.

Parnell's reserves won the preliminary game, 21-17.

St. Mary's Bows To St. Wenceslaus

St. Mary's couldn't hold on to a two-point third quarter lead here Wednesday night and lost to St. Wenceslaus of Cedar Rapids, 42-38.

A bucket by Guard Joe Miller put the Ramblers on top, 34-32, with 20 seconds remaining in the third quarter. But that was the last basket St. Mary's was able to garner until only four minutes remained in the game.

St. Mary's trailed at half-time, 25-21.

Bud Lenz, Rambler forward, led all scorers with 15 points.

Ex-Philadelphia Stars Rejoin A's as Coaches

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mickey Cochrane and Bing Miller were named coaches of the Philadelphia Athletics Wednesday in a move that stirred new speculation as to direction of the club after 86-year-old Connie Mack steps down as manager.

Miller's appointment had been expected. But the choice of Cochrane was a complete surprise to baseball circles.

Mickey, out of major league baseball since released as manager of the Detroit Tigers in mid-season, 1938, declared no promises had been made regarding any job other than as pitching coach.

Gophers Get 3 on UP All-Conference

By ED SAINSBURY
CHICAGO (AP) — Co-Champion Michigan, third place Minnesota and Illinois, tied for fifth in the Western conference grid race, were the only teams to place more than one player on the all Big Ten football team selected for the United Press by conference coaches.

The Wolverines, who shared the crown with Ohio State, and Minnesota each placed three men while Illinois landed two stars in Illinois' two representatives were Guard Chuck Gottfried and Halfback Johnny Karras.

Every coach in the conference picked Wilson, who plays defensive center and offensive end, for the first team. Seven mentors named him at end and two at center. Karras was only slightly shy of the terrific Badger in popularity, winning eight first place votes and one on the second team. The Illinois sophomore, from Argo, Ill., set a new conference ground gaining record during the season.

Ortmann and Tonnemaker were near unanimous choices, each being placed on the first team by eight coaches. Tonnemaker, although center, received three first place votes at guard.

Three of the first team players were on the all conference team for the second consecutive year. Grant, Nemellini and Wistert all made the 1940 honor eleven while Tonnemaker, Burson and Ortmann were on the second all conference team last year.

The first team:
Bob Wilson, Wisconsin, End
Leo Nemellini, Minnesota, Tackle
Lloyd Heneveld, Michigan, Guard
Clayton Tonnemaker, Minnesota, Center
Charles Gottfried, Illinois, Guard
Alvin Wistert, Michigan, Tackle
Harry Grant, Minnesota, End
Don Burson, Northwestern, Back
Johnny Karras, Illinois, Back
Chuck Ortmann, Michigan, Back
Fred Morrison, Ohio State, Back

The second team:
Clifton Anderson, Indiana, End
Dick O'Hanlon, Ohio State, Center
Robert Wohl, Michigan, Tackle
Jack Dittmer, Iowa, End
Fandel Savic, Ohio State, Back
Jerry Krahl, Ohio State, Back
Jerry Faska, Iowa, Back
John Kerestes, Purdue, Back

Irish Place Three on All-Opponents Team

Notre Dame, Minnesota, and Northwestern led other teams in number of players on the University of Iowa's all-opponents' football selections of the 1940 Hawk-eyes.

Results of the ballots showed that Notre Dame placed three men and Minnesota and Northwestern each two on the first team.

Three most popular players were John Karras, Illinois half-back; Bud Grant, Minnesota end; and Leon Hart, Notre Dame end.

One of the surprises was the placing of Bob Williams, Notre Dame quarterback, on the second team, behind Don Burson of Northwestern. Emil Sitko of Notre Dame also was a second team choice, with Gaspar Perricone of Northwestern as the winner. Leo Nemellini, Minnesota, failed to place as a guard or tackle.

Here are the first and second teams picked by the Hawks.

First Team:
Bud Grant, Minnesota, End
Bob Tonnemaker, Michigan, Guard
Camir Witucki, Indiana, Guard
Clayton Tonnemaker, Minnesota, Center
Chester Daniels, Oregon, Guard
Jim Martin, Notre Dame, Tackle
Leon Hart, Notre Dame, End
Don Burson, Northwestern, Back
John Karras, Illinois, Back
Bill Bye, Minnesota, Tackle
Gaspar Perricone, Northwestern, Back

Second Team:
Clifton Anderson, Indiana, End
Jim Tate, Purdue, Tackle
Charles Gottfried, Illinois, Guard
Jerry Groom, Notre Dame, Center
George Sundheim, Northwestern, Guard
Lou Karras, Purdue, Tackle
Bob Wilkinson, UCL, End
Bob Williams, Notre Dame, Back
John Pettobon, Notre Dame, Back
Norbert Adams, Purdue, Back
Emil Sitko, Notre Dame, Back

Nurses Arrive To Serve Here In Polio Wards

The first of 15 Red Cross nurses for emergency service in polio wards at University hospitals arrived in Iowa City Wednesday, hospital officials said.

The request for more nurses followed an offer by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the American Red Cross to secure nurses for emergency service to hospitals.

Other nurses of the 15 requested by University hospitals will follow as soon as they can be recruited, hospital officials said.

Mrs. Lorna Mathes, executive secretary of the local Red Cross chapter, said Wednesday that telegrams have been received from four other Red Cross nurses saying they will arrive soon.

The nurses are being met by the Red Cross motor corps, and will stay at Westlawn, she said. The nurses will remain at University hospitals as long as the emergency exists, officials said.

The necessity for emergency nurses was attributed to the recent upswing in polio cases combined with the large percentage of serious cases still under treatment.

The number of respirator patients is as high as during the late summer peak of polio cases this year.

Many of these more serious cases require a greater number of hours of nursing care, hospital officials said.

Most of them will be midwest Red Cross nurses, Mrs. Mathes said. The Red Cross supplies funds to pay the nurses in the emergency program.

POPULATION RISE

SYDNEY (AP) — Officials estimate Australia will have 10-million people by the end of 1957. It now has about 7-million.

1950 Iowa Plates Go on Sale Today

New Iowa license plates go on sale at 8 a.m. today at the Johnson county treasurer's office.

County Treasurer Lumir Jansa Wednesday asked drivers to bring their 1949 registration certificates to speed up issue of new plates. Jansa warned applicants not to send checks for the same amount they paid for plates last year because fees have increased.

Old license plates from vehicle owners who do not wish to register should be brought to the treasurer's office by Feb. 1, and the vehicle stored, Jansa warned. This applies mostly to owners of trailers, on which the fee has been raised this year.

Funeral Rites Held For Schillig Infant

Funeral services for Michael Schillig, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Schillig, 528 S. Governor street, were held at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Oathout funeral chapel.

He was born Friday and died at Mercy hospital early Wednesday morning. Burial was in Oakland cemetery.

2 Men Fined $300 Each For Drunken Driving

Lawrence Asa Gruwell, Cedar Rapids, and Carl W. Schoenbeck, Wisconsin, were each fined $300 in Johnson county district court Wednesday, when they pleaded guilty to charges of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Three Grass Fires Cause No Damage

No damage was caused Wednesday afternoon by three grass fires, firemen said.

The fires were at 935 E. Market street, 116 Ferson avenue, and in the 500 block on Rundell street.

LAST YEAR'S PRESENTS for a navy electrician have not yet been opened. Standing in front of the Christmas gifts are Mrs. Ruby Smith and her two children, Michael, 2½, and Patrick, 11 months. Their husband and father, William C. Smith, together with a marine, disappeared into Communist territory 13 months ago.

$12,000 to Be Sent Johnson County Schools

Checks totaling $12,437 will be sent in about a week to Johnson county school districts. The checks represent the first installment of state aid to public schools for 1949.

In all, 1,774 school districts in Iowa will share first installment checks of $1,782,498. The Associated Press reported Wednesday.

Folk county schools will get the largest share — $48,939, and Dubuque county schools the smallest — $3,830.

Another final payment totaling $1.2-million will be sent later to the same schools and about 700 more schools when the state department of public instruction receives needed additional information.

The 1949 legislature increased the aid from $18 to $30 for each transported child. This change with a formula change increased the 1949 appropriation to $3-million. Only $2-million was appropriated in 1948.

Next week's checks will be based on the old formula and the $18 figure because the new law didn't become effective until July 14.

2 Men Get 5-Year Prison Sentences

Hosea Bess, 39, and Joseph Coleman, 42, pleaded guilty to grand larceny in Johnson county district court Wednesday, and were sentenced to five years hard labor at the state penitentiary at Fort Madison.

The two men appeared Wednesday for arraignment on grand jury indictments filed against them Nov. 28, for theft of clothing from a parked car and Iowa City stores.
